Non-union pay plan contested

Canton Township is looking at using a new pay scale for nonunion township employees that would have new workers starting at lower salaries. The move has angered some township workers.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Some nonunion Canton employees are concerned about a proposed new pay scale that would provide lower salaries for new employees.

"Is it the Merit Commission's feeling that we want to have a new pay scale? Is it coming from you folks?"

Recreation Supervisor Bob Dates asked the three-member commission, which recommends salaries for nonunion employees. "I don't see what was wrong with the old pay scale reflecting some new categories."

The commission has presented two proposed pay scales. The first, which ignited hard feelings among employees because of its apparent decrease in salary levels, was replaced by a second proposal. If adopted by the Township Board, it will take effect Jan. 1, 1995. The proposed system has a greater number of pay levels.

Commissioner Don Voyles said that existing employees would remain on the current scale. New employees would fall under a new scale, as would employees who are promoted or who change jobs within the township.

But Diane Neihengen, senior citizen coordinator, told commissioners that the system could create tension between existing and new employees. "We want cohesiveness in this township," Neihengen said. "Why can't we find the flexibility to address these (additional) tiers into the existing system?"

Changes in the pay scale, according to commissioners, come from the need to provide flexibility by allowing lower wages at entry levels. The existing pay scale has higher starting wages for certain positions, said commissioner Bert McCartney.

A hearty welcome: Bob Dates, Canton recreation supervisor, welcomed Santa with a key to the township as he arrived at 9 a.m. Friday at the Canton Cinema Six. Hundreds of kids were treated to a visit with Santa, as well as treats, refreshments and a free movie, "Beethoven's 2nd." The event is sponsored by the Canton Chamber of Commerce and Canton Township.

Teachers to picket meeting

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Frustrated with a stalemate in contract talks, teachers plan to picket before tonight's 7:30 p.m. Plymouth-Canton Board of Education meeting at Bentley Elementary School on Sheldon south of Cherry Hill.

Chuck Portelli, president of the Plymouth-Canton Teachers' union, predicts a turnout larger than the 300 that picketed last week's board meeting. "We have informed the board office we will be there," said Portelli, adding that no other bargaining employee groups have been requested to take part.

A mediator met for the second time Tuesday with negotiators for the union and the school board at the administration building. However, little progress was made in bargaining which began at 7 p.m. and dragged on until 4:30 a.m.

At issue are wage re-openers for this year and next, the 1995-96 school calendar and contract language concerning school improvement plans and site-based decision making.

Superintendent Charles Little said, "Both sides worked diligently to try to arrive at a settlement. There was recognition that our current financial position doesn't permit us to provide the increases which are being requested."

"The teachers' bargaining team, board of education members and administration tried very hard to come up with a creative solution to the finance problem. Unfortunately, we were not at a point of total agreement when the session ended after 4:30 a.m."

Police 'feel good' about salary hike

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton police officers will receive a 3-percent salary increase in each year of a three-year contract recently reached by the officers union and township officials.

"We felt it was a reasonable contract," said Det. Bill Keppen, president of the Canton Police Officers Association. "Considering comparables (salaries) in other communities, we feel good about it."

In the last contract, officers received 7 percent increases. But in those days, Keppen said, Canton police officers earned less than officers in other comparable departments and communities. Officers' salaries are now more on par with those in other similar departments.

"We believe it is a contract recognized by both parties as in the best interest of both parties," said Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Township to revise its massage law

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton officials are revising the township's massage ordinance to conform to state changes as well as in response to a July police raid at a Canton tanning salon.

Amendments to the 1980 ordinance were introduced by the Township Board Nov. 14. Changes include definitions of erogenous zones, massage and school of massage. The changes also cover massage technician license requirements, refusal and revocation of licenses, unlawful acts, and appeal and hearing requirements.

The Township Board also introduced fees for massage establishments and technician licenses. Though the township has been allowed to charge fees since 1980, no one applied for a license so no fees were set. The clerk's department now has applicants interested in obtaining licenses, said Clerk Loren Bennett.

To obtain a license to operate a massage business, the township will charge $200, and $25 for a massage technician license. The Department of Public Safety will conduct an investigation when the clerk receives an application for a license. Fingerprinting fees will be charged in addition to the license fees.

Canton police raided the Ocean Brite Tanning Salon in the 43000 block of Michigan Avenue July 26. Police had received a complaint about the business. Two women were arrested during the raid. Police confiscated U.S. currency and other evidence.

Owners of the Ocean Brite Tanning Salon have since applied for a massage establishment license but did not receive a certificate of compliance. "That particular use didn't fit that zoning district," said Supervisor Tom Yack. McCartney said.

The proposed amendments require the township to conduct a hearing if requested from an applicant who has been denied or a licensee whose license has been revoked or suspended.

The amendment also makes massages for sexual gratification unlawful acts. Licensed massage therapists in Canton also are prohibited from treating or massaging anyone younger than 18 unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

"The whole intention from the beginning was not to adversely affect people who are already here," McCartney said.

Township Supervisor Tom Yack said that in the last couple of budget sessions, officials have expressed an interest in changing the current 12-level pay scale.

"We recognized that our first-level positions start at high salary levels," Yack said. "We wanted to add steps at the bottom of the scale."

Yack said change is needed to provide flexibility, in light of the need for new employees with Canton's two big projects, the community center and Pheasant Run Golf Course. A byproduct of the change is saving money, he added.

The current pay scale has not been changed since 12-14 years ago. "We are taking what was a smaller operation back then and jumping it into the 1990s, where we have more positions and a wider variety of positions," said Dave Medley, personnel manager.

Yack acknowledged employees' concerns and hard feelings, particularly about the first proposed pay changes, which employees said were inequitable. "Individuals saw the possibility of going to make. They won't be affected financially, but psychologically they feel they aren't being paid what they're worth."

Employees at the Nov. 15 Merit Commission meeting, however, expressed concern about proposed pay inequities and that existing employees could make less if they were promoted or if their jobs were reclassified.

"I have a problem with that because you are affecting current employees," said Susan Kopinski, township finance manager. "We feel we should stay within the current pay scale if we are promoted or reclassified."

According to the employee manual, employees receive a 5-percent increase for each grade or step. With the proposals, if an employee is reclassified at a higher grade there is the potential to start at the same salary or get only a 1- or 2-percent increase, Kopinski said.

"We could put language together if that is a concern," commissioner Voyles responded.

Administrative Services Director Dan Durack tried to reassure employees. "I don't think the township is short-sighted or foolish enough to think this is an opportunity to stiff our non-union employees."

Medley said he doesn't believe that existing employees will make less money if they are promoted under the proposed new pay scale. "I have got to believe if you are promoted, you are promoted."

Merit commissioners told employees they will continue to refine the proposed pay scale. It will go into effect until the Canton Board of Trustees approves a proposal.

POLICE/FIRE CALLS

Listed below are some of the Canton fire and rescue incidents reported during the past week, as well as fire safety tips and programs available free to the community. Year-to-date runs for the Canton Fire Department, 3,216 (compared to 3,070 total in 1993). In the past week, the department had 72 runs, 14 runs on Thanksgiving day alone.

the 43000 block of Hanford, just before 2 p.m. Nov. 13.

Firefighters said the boy contacted a neighbor when he saw his father on the floor. The neighbor called 911 for help. The man was transported as a high priority to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, for treatment.

■ FIGHTER BITTEN

A Canton firefighter was bitten by a dog as he tried to announce the fire department's arrival to a woman who called for emergency medical help just before 11 a.m. Nov. 16.

The resident, who lives in the 40000 block of Koppeneck, told emergency dispatchers that she was having severe leg pains and felt as though she would pass out. She also told them that she had a dog in the house.

Canton police and Critter Control met firefighters at the house. A firefighter who opened the front door just to let the woman know they arrived was bitten on the arm and leg by the dog.

Critter Control managed to back the dog into a closet, allowing rescue personnel upstairs to help the woman, who had stayed on the phone with dispatchers. Both the woman and the firefighter were treated at Canton Oakwood Health Center.

■ MAN STABBED

Canton firefighters transported a 22-year-old Garden City man to Annapolis Hospital after the man called 911 to say he had been stabbed by a girlfriend and was at a pay phone at a nearby bakery on Cherry Hill and Haggerty roads, Nov. 24.

At 3:26 a.m. firefighters were dispatched to the pay phone where they found the man collapsed but still conscious. He had stab wounds in his upper chest. It appeared to be a superficial wound. Police also arrived at the scene.

■ SAFETY TIP

With Christmas less than a month away, firefighters are reminding residents to be careful with electrical outlets and live

Christmas trees.

Residents should be careful not to overload outlets with too many Christmas lights. Live trees should be well-watered daily to prevent drying out, which can lead to fires.

Firefighters urge residents to use decorative lights that are UL approved. Unplug all Christmas lights if you leave the house or when you go to sleep.

■ PROGRAMS OFFERED

Canton residents and businesses are reminded that a number of programs are available to them for free from the fire department.

Programs include CPR and basic first aid classes, juvenile fire setters, babysitter awareness and tours and department presentations.

years on the job won't earn the same as officers already on the job prior to ratification.

Other significant changes in the contract include the township providing bullet proof vests to those officers who do not yet own one. Before this contract, officers bought their own vests if they wanted one. "If they request one, they must wear it while on patrol," Keppen said.

Officers' life insurance was increased from $35,000 to $50,000. They also received an increase in long-term disability. The monthly benefit is 60 percent of base wages, not to exceed $2,000 per month, compared to $1,000 per month in the previous contract.

"That was the only group in the township that didn't have that coverage," said Dan Durack, township administrative services director.

The new contract also features changes in the employee fitness allowances of $250 for employees who meet minimum fitness levels. Officers with 16-20 years service and more than 20 years also received increases in vacation time.

While the union has formed a crisis team, talk of a strike is premature, said Portelli.

"The executive board has not even discussed it," said Portelli. "We are optimistic about the process and want to give the process a chance."

"A crisis team is formed to deal with the situation — to keep members informed, and it also takes suggestions and ideas from members and tries to form some type of plan to help deal with the situation," Portelli said.

Asked how likely a strike is, district spokesman Richard Egli said, "I wouldn't say. The teachers do have a contract, and I think that pretty well says it all."

Under terms of a new state law that takes effect April 1, striking teachers can be docked a day's pay on every day they strike. If they do, the union can be fined $5,000 per day.

In the event of a lockout, individual school board members can be fined $250 per day and the district cannot pick up the cost.

Bargainers for the district's cafeteria workers, custodians and paraprofessionals associations also have reached impasses and have gone to mediation.

Goodfellows hit the streets for needy kids

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth Goodfellows have been raising money for needy kids and families for more than 30 years, and they're back at it on Saturday, Dec. 3.

And among the Goodfellows selling special newspapers will be a family that used to benefit from the Goodfellows' help.

"They say the only Christmas they knew was a Goodfellows Christmas," said Clara Hill of the Plymouth Goodfellows Association.

The group's motto is "No Kid Die Without a Christmas." Their fund-raising activity pays for presents for needy kids at Christmas. The Goodfellows find out about the families through the Salvation Army and other sources.

"We talk to the parents and find out what the kids want on their Christmas lists," Hill said.

Last Christmas, the Plymouth Goodfellows raised $6,500 to aid 58 recipients, buying clothing, toys and family food certificates.

Last year marked the first time in four years the group raised enough to meet the needs of needy kids brought to their attention. The group hopes to raise enough money to meet needs this year, through newspaper sales at street corners on Saturday, Hill said.

The group was founded in Detroit 53 years ago. It was then called the "Old Newsboys," as a former newsboy got the idea to get other former newsboys together to sell newspapers to raise money for needy kids.

While membership in the Plymouth Goodfellows has dipped in recent years, it's now heading back up. Hill said 25 members came to the October Goodfellows meeting, and there are about 50 members in all.

"All proceeds collected go 100 percent to the needy, minus printing costs," Hill said.

If there's any extra money, it goes to other service activities like the purchase this year of a used refrigerator for the Goodfellows stocked with food for an elderly resident whose refrigerator had stopped working, Hill said.

Meetings are held on the first Wednesdays of October, November and March. The group also meets informally for breakfast on Saturday morning and sometimes during the week at the Main Street Deli, she said.

For information on joining the Goodfellows or making a donation, call Hill at 455-8611.

Homegrown poets are featured in new publication

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Some Plymouth poets have joined others from western Wayne County whose works are published in "Poems From Home," a 1995 engagement calendar now on sale.

It's the second year Karen Gould of Plymouth has published an engagement calendar featuring the work of local poets.

"There's a lot of good ideas that never get published," Gould said, adding poets typically have to apply to a national magazine to get their poems published.

"I know when I first got published it was the greatest feeling in the world," Gould said, adding she wants to spread that feeling around.

The books, at $9.95 suggested retail, are available at the Little Professor Book Center, Richardson's Drugs on Ford Road in Canton, and the bookstore on Schoolcraft College's main campus. Other outlets are planned.

While last year's calendar focused mainly on Plymouth poets, this year's edition includes the works of Schoolcraft College students and members of the Livonia Writer's Group. Also represented are Plymouth-Canton schools students, members of the Plymouth Poets, and Canton poets.

"It's a little wider in scope," Gould said. Five judges looked over 180 poems by 63 different poets to choose 56 poems for inclusion in the calendar.

"Each judge had a packet of 30 poems. They each selected favorites and made a second list of good possible poems. It's not all one person's vision of what poetry should be," Gould said.

The youngest poet is Matt D'Avanzo, 7, with "Spring." The senior citizens included declined to compete for the title of Oldest Poet," Gould said.

Gould's publishing company operates out of a small office in her Old Village home. Her husband, Stephen Wroble, a computer graphics instructor at Schoolcraft College, provides graphic design advice.

Gould said she intends to seek additional material from local writers this year as she is investigating the potential market for a collection of stories from senior citizens about days gone by, and the poetry or essays of children and young adults.

Township seeks grant for historical survey

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

With all of Canton's growth, the Historic District Commission has set its hopes on conducting a study of some 25 houses and buildings to capture the township's agricultural history.

"Any of the homes we have that fall under the historical umbrella are farmhouses or part of an agricultural-based economy," said trustee Melissa McLaughlin, a historic district commissioner.

The commission received township board approval to apply for a grant through the Michigan Bureau of History to conduct a survey of the properties between the years 1805-1945.

Trustee Bob Shefferly opposed the grant application. He also asked for a study session in the future to discuss the amount of money allocated for historic preservation.

The study of the buildings, including farmsteads, will be intensive, with a slide show and photographs. "It's sort of a public education and awareness tool," said Mike Ager, township resources development manager.

The survey is expected to cost $13,000. The grant would provide $7,800 or 60 percent, while the township would provide $5,200 or 40 percent. Commissioners have asked that the money come from its unused allocation in the 1994 budget. If the grant is awarded, the township board would approve the budget change.

"It is important it be done given the rate we're developing at," McLaughlin said.

The township's designation as a Certified Local Government allows the commission to have access to historic preservation money. But there's a catch. The designation requires the commission to conduct surveys of historic properties.

"If we don't complete survey work, we stand the chance of losing our CLG," McLaughlin said.

Communities designated under the federal Certified Local Governments program - administered through the state - are considered part of an elite group. "It's kind of a prestige thing that we take historic preservation seriously," Ager said.

The buildings that will be studied are not designated historic sites in Canton. The survey would be part of the designation process, but buildings would not be automatically designated. The buildings are privately owned. "The owners are not impacted by this step," McLaughlin said.

Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter questioned whether the commission's $5,200 match for the proposed grant could be applied instead to continuing restoration of the Bartlett-Travis House on Ridge Road. She also questioned whether money was available for the survey in the 1994 budget.

Santa to arrive via helicopter

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

The public is invited to greet Santa Claus when he arrives by helicopter at 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 3, at Builder's Square on Ford Road.

"We will pick him up in a pick-up truck and drive him to the store," said Dale McGriff, plumbing sales manager and vice president of the store's employee club.

Aware that Santa comes by helicopter to the city of Westland annually, McGriff started thinking. "A friend of mine owns a helicopter. We had talked about it and he agreed to do it for us."

Santa - an employee in disguise - will be delivered to Builder's Square on a helicopter owned by William Clark, owner of Quadrants Inc., Wixom.

Kids are invited to greet Santa when he arrives. Santa will be available for personal visits inside the store. "They can talk to him. We will give the kids coloring books and candy canes," McGriff said.

The Canton Fire Department will be on hand for the long-awaited landing.

Employee club members will photograph kids with Santa for $1.50, which will cover the photography costs, McGriff said.

Santa will return 1-5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 3 at Builder's Square where kids may again visit with him and tell them what they are expecting for Christmas.

"Our corporate office thought it was a great idea," McGriff said. "I would like it to be an annual event."

High court rejects suit against schools

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled against a Canton family that sued Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for the wrongful death of their 8-year-old son in March, 1993.

Stephen Nalepa, a second-grader at Gallimore Elementary School, died of asphyxiation after slipping his head into a looped belt used to a rail on his loft bed.

The court ruled that school officials, charged with gross negligence by Lawrence and Debby

Nalepa, are entitled to governmental immunity. Citing the federal case "Ross vs. Creighton University," the appellate court found that "the ultimate responsibility for what is learned remains with the student, and many considerations, beyond teacher misfeasance, can factor into whether a student receives the intended message."

Recommended for fourth-through ninth graders, the film was not screened by staff at Gallimore before it was shown "Nobody's Useless" hasn't been shown in the district since Stephen's death.

Attorneys for the Nalepas are considering an appeal to the state Supreme Court. Roland Thomas of Plymouth-Canton school board president in 1990 and still a trustee — said he preferred not to comment.

Debby Nalepa is recovering from injuries she received when she was hit head-on by police in a recent high speed chase in Oakland County. She said she is still "too upset for words. I can't imagine why the court would cite a federal law regarding a university student. Why would that have any bearing? If anyone has a first- or second-grader, they'd wonder how the court could possibly compare the two on an equal level."

Nalepa said her case included testimony from a Canton mother whose son, formerly a student at Gallimore, tried to kill himself in 1985 after seeing the same movie. The boy, who still attends Plymouth-Canton Schools, tried to commit suicide by tying a noose around his neck, climbing on top of a freezer in the basement and pretending to jump.

The mother testified she was told by Gallimore Principal Joyce Deren that the boy's actions could not possibly be connected to the movie.

"People have to realize this happened in 1985 to a 7-year-old and again in 1990 to an 8-year-old," she said. Nalepa said her son was a talented artist with an IQ of 132 whom she still misses greatly. "Anyone out there will know the heartbreak I am going through."

The Nalepas have another son, Jason, a senior at Plymouth-Canton High School.

"I want to make sure everybody knows I have, or had, two special boys in my life, and one, right now, is quite a young man," said Nalepa. "He's applying to the Air Force Academy. He's at the top of his class and has received many high honors. He's maintained a 4.0 average all through his high school years."

Plymouth-Canton school board president David Arley hasn't yet read the opinion, but said, "Nothing can lessen the loss the Nalepas suffer. They lost a son and it had a tragic effect on their family. I have a lot of compassion for that. I'm a parent and a grandparent, and I can only imagine the tragedy, hurt and pain they feel."

Arley maintained the district is not guilty of negligence. "I do not now, nor did I at the time, feel that the school district was at fault. I never saw that cause-and-effect relationship. I think a tragic, terrible accident occurred. I would hope that they can deal with their tragedy and go on about their lives, but never forgetting the child they lost. They need to deal with it and move on. It's not a family of one child, and that other child needs his parents."

Hunters busy

Hunters from Plymouth and Canton have been successful in the woods and fields as deer season continues.

Vic Comersky of Plymouth bagged a 9-point buck on the opening day of the firearms season for deer. The buck had white hoofs. It was Comersky's second buck of the year. He got one during the bow season.

Curt Salmon, 18, of Canton got two bucks during bow hunting season: A 4-point buck Oct. 4 in Alcona County near Fairview and a 6-point buck Oct. 20 near Chelsea. Salmon also rifle hunts, and this is his fifth year hunting.

The Observer lists the names of successful hunters in the community Buck Pole column which runs through deer season.

To report success, call us at 459-2700, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

State Rep. Whyman labels lawsuit 'frivolous'

By JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

State Rep. Deborah Whyman says that a lawsuit over campaign literature, filed against her by former Democratic opponent Donna Clark, is frivolous.

"It's ironic she is willing to throw mud, but when she gets it thrown her way, she gets upset," said Republican Whyman shortly after she was served with notice of the lawsuit Nov. 21.

Steve Markham, Whyman's attorney, said Clark's libel suit filed Nov. 7 has no basis. "Eventually we will move for summary disposition and dismissal of the case. To bring a libel suit on the basis of a disagreement between candidates is without basis. Exchange is pretty free in a campaign," Markham said.

Clark filed a two-count suit against Whyman and a group called the League of Wayne Voters for literature she believes was defamatory. The first charge, against the league, involves literature issued the week of Oct. 31 that appeared like official, yet false, tax-increase notices from Canton and the Buren townships. In the literature, the League of Wayne Voters claimed that when Clark's recently increased salary as a Van Buren Township trustee is divided by the time she works, Clark earns $420.50 an hour.

Clark's attorney, Dan Hoekenga, on numerous occasions unsuccessfully requested a retraction from the League of Wayne Voters.

On election night, Clark said that if she made that much, she wouldn't have been seeking election to a state job that pays far less.

The charge against Whyman involves literature designed as a chart responding to claims against Whyman. In each issue refuted by Whyman, the literature says in bold print: "Donna Clark Lied."

Hoekenga said the literature that prompted Whyman to respond with the "Donna Clark Lied" material was not issued by Clark in the first place. "We sued her because she put out literature that Donna Clark lied, and that's just not true," Hoekenga said.

He said the claims against Clark hurt her efforts to win the state House seat from incumbent Whyman. "We were contacted by people who were persuaded not to vote for Donna Clark," he said. Hoekenga added that Clark sued Whyman on principle. "I think public officials should be held accountable for what they put out."

Whyman said that as a candidate and elected Van Buren board member, she is considered a public figure or official.

Markham said that public figures are subject to a different standard than private citizens. But he nonetheless believes Clark has no basis for a suit against Whyman.

Hoekenga, on the other hand, said he intends to prove that the information published by Whyman's re-election committee is maliciously false or reckless. He also wants to seek a retraction from Whyman. But Hoekenga said he will not seek punitive damages from Whyman because a retraction was never sought previously.

However, Hoekenga intends to seek actual and punitive damages against the League of Wayne Voters, which has a Northville mailing address. He also claims that the league did not file proper papers to serve as a committee or to issue literature.

"They haven't done anything that would allow them to do anything under an assumed name," said Hoekenga, adding that more people may be added to the suit.

Airport casino idea draws lukewarm response

By RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Area officials have mixed reactions to county Executive Edward McNamara's idea to put a gambling casino in a new terminal at Metro Airport.

McNamara announced Nov. 15 that he wants Metro Airport's new terminal to include a gambling casino for passengers.

While characterizing gambling as "evil," McNamara said an airport casino would come in handy to help pay for improvements to Metro.

To get his wish, McNamara would need the approval of the state Legislature and the governor.

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said he would be "surprised" if such approval is given, considering the "general reluctance to expand gambling" on the part of Lansing lawmakers.

"Personally, I'd be very reluctant to vote for expansion of gambling," Geake said. "Michigan Wayne County might as well be permitted to engage in it." County Commissioner-elect Bruce Patterson, a Canton Township resident, said he's "not categorically against" gambling at Metro Airport.

Commissioner Michelle Plawcki, D-Deerborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township, chairs the committee that has oversight responsibility for Metro Airport.

Plawcki said she needs more information before she makes a decision. "I'm not in favor of it right now because I don't know anything about it," she said.

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township, said he doubts the Federal Aviation Administration would permit a casino to be built at Metro. "The FAA has not been receptive to a lot of new ideas," Amann said.

No one from McNamara's staff returned the Observer's phone calls by press time.

Seminar focuses on fundraising

A grantmanship seminar called "Collaboration: The Key to Survival" will occur 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 30, at the University of Detroit Mercy Conference Center, West Outer Drive at Southfield Road in Detroit.

The seminar offers community groups and other nonprofit organizations various how-to sessions on proposal writing, fund raising, corporate giving, strategic planning and other topics.

To register, send name, organization, address, telephone number, and a $40 check — payable to New Detroit Grantmanship Seminar — to New Detroit, 2900

Penobscot Building, 645 Griswold, Detroit 48226.

According to New Detroit President Charlie Williams, the seminar is offered to promote the organizational development of community-based organizations and to help them to become more effective competitors for foundation and corporate grants.

The program will feature morning and luncheon presentations from local speakers.

Jacqueline Jones, executive vice president of United Community Services, will give the morning address.

During the luncheon, Angela Brown, assistant to Detroit Mayor or Dennis Archer, will speak on "Effective Strategies for Community Collaboration," the keynote address.

Participants will attend two half-day workshops or one full-day workshop of their choice, in addition to the plenary session, luncheon, and a reception.

I have a confession to make. I often obsess about lunch. Since my days are largely spent prowling the malls and mainstreets for interesting finds to share with you, I have the opportunity to try out many different lunch spots...

Craving a Greek salad? Gayle Roberts of Birmingham and Eason Marinelli of Bloomfield highly recommend Greek Islands Coney Restaurant, 250 N. Woodward...

Kathy Twomey of Bloomfield relates two of her Birmingham "quick bite" choices. "I love Elle's, 263 Pierce, for burritos and tabouleh and Amer's Deli, 166 W. Maple, for its fun atmosphere and giant sandwiches..."

Also received several kudos for the Coffee Exchange, 112 S. Woodward, Birmingham and The Boardwalk location in West Bloomfield. A good strong "cappuccino" will clear your head for the next round of power shopping...

Friends Anita Walker and Kay Mueller of Birmingham enjoyed their first trip to the tea-house on a recent Thursday. "We felt completely relaxed and unhurried..."

It's The Ritz in Birmingham looks back on 30 years of retailing "traditional fun." Linda Bachrack shops for classic holiday tales to read by the fireplace.

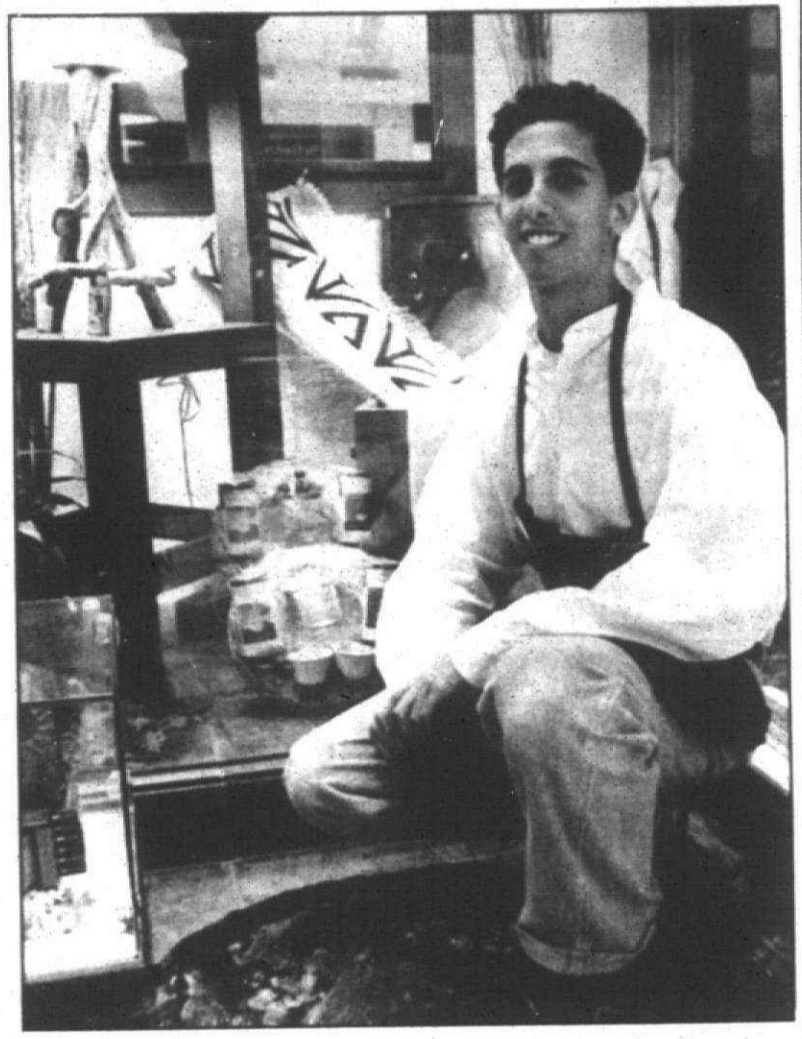

Salesman delivers mirror and service

This story comes from Sharon Newman-Bordine of Rochester, who reports she was surprised and delighted by the professionalism of a sales associate at the Nature Company in the Somerset Collection in Troy.

"I've been on a difficult search for the right mirror for our classic Connecticut 1700's type bathroom. While walking by The Nature Company at the Somerset Collection in Troy, I spotted a quite primitive mirror. It had possibilities..."

On my first visit to the store, John spent time measuring and explaining how I could get a second mirror if I needed it, since the store only had one. He listened to my design dilemmas with genuine support...

That extra mile: John Cianciolo of The Nature Company at the Somerset Collection in Troy "is a charm," according to one shopper who was touched by his care and attention to details.

Kiddlywinks' in-town move doubles the fun

Take one cup of durable. Add a big dollop of warm. Sprinkle with lots of ornaments. Fold in a dash of fun. Set the price tags to moderate.

Kiddlywinks also sells one-of-a-kind children's antiques on the premises which are warmly integrated into the shop's decor — a child's oversized dressing room. The interior was designed by Sara Cullen and Ron Rea who have placed much of the merchandise in wicker trunks and dresser drawers.

Kids' closet: Cindy Obron Kahn stands in her new Kiddlywinks shop in Birmingham where she's doubled her floor space and introduced antique furnishings for children.

Customers walk into Kiddlywinks as if the shop was home. They're usually greeted by name, by a staff that includes Obron Kahn's mother and occasionally her 7-year-old daughter.

To some birds, Michigan is like Key West in winter

BY TIMOTHY NOWICKI
STAFF WRITER

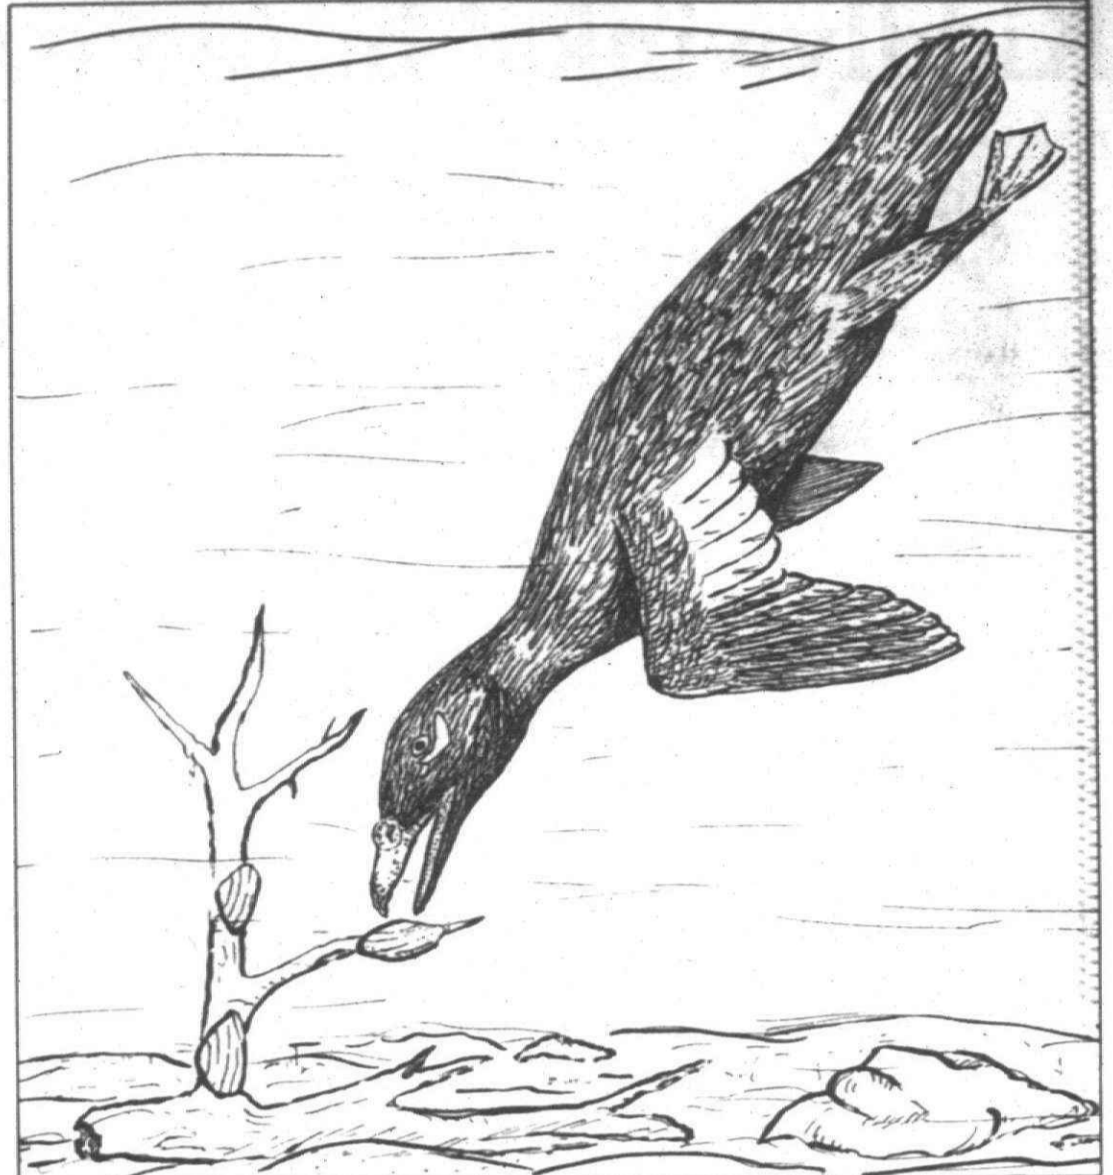

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

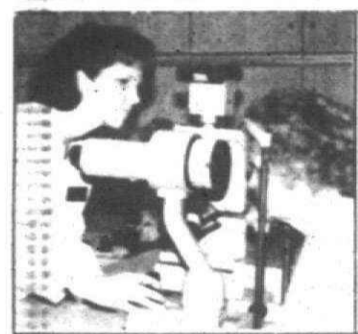

NATURE TRAILS
Now that most of the "snow birds" have headed south to spend the winter in Florida, we also see the real snow birds that visit southeastern Michigan for the winter. To birds like the tree sparrow, pine siskin and the dark eyed junco, the Detroit area is their Florida. It's relatively warm here compared to their northern Canada breeding grounds. Many species of birds move south in fall because winter conditions are too harsh and food is unavailable. If it were not for that slight tilt of the earth's axis, climatic conditions would be spring- and fall-like all year. But because winter causes cold temperatures, insects become dormant, water freezes and consequently birds like warblers and ducks cannot find food in their summer breeding grounds of northern Canada. A trip to Belle Isle in the Detroit River will allow you to see some of the northern Canada residents that consider the open water of the Great Lakes a good place to spend the winter. Many species of waterfowl migrate to the east coast where the water doesn't freeze. But a regional population of several species will linger, or stay, in the Great Lakes if the water is open and food is available. For many years canvasback, redhead, goldeneye, bufflehead and scaup have used the St. Clair river flats and the Detroit River as stopover areas on their way south or east. Some populations will stay until the water freezes and then move south just far enough to find open water and food. Those individuals that do not migrate as far as others may be the first in spring to reach the breeding grounds and be able to get first choice of nesting sites. Along with several species of ducks, scoters have been seen along the Detroit River more frequently than in the past. Scoters specialize in eating mollusks from the lake bottom. I can't help but think that those scoters that stop here are finding a plentiful supply of zebra mussels on which to feed. If they can find food and not have to migrate any further, they may stay around longer and ultimately make the Detroit River area part of their regular stopover places.

Thanks for memories, Mr. Gingerbread Man

If I had to guess, I would guess that just about everybody loves gingerbread. Ask any of your gourmet-type friends, and more than likely they will tell you they do. My guess is that they will also tell you their favorite kind of gingerbread, who used to bake it, how it was made and where they ate it.

Gingerbread is a holiday favorite that fills the air with wisps of ginger, molasses and nutmeg. It is also a comfort food that warms the soul, the mind and hearts of young and old alike.

In the Janes Gang family tree, different women made different types of gingerbread. Momma would only bake old-fashioned gingerbread in her heirloom 8- by 8-inch square pan.

We'd usually enjoy it with a big dollop of Cool Whip immediately following Sunday dinner. Any leftovers would be eaten by dad with his ritual morning pot of coffee.

Raisin eyes, nut noses

Aunt Phyllis, on the other hand, was the proverbial gingerbread people creator. Her early-American decorated home would have a multitude of gingerbread families adorning the Christmas tree. Plates of gingerbread men, women and children would be garnished with raisins for eyes, nuts for noses and dots of frosting for buttons and dresses.

Aunt Edna was known for a gingerbread layer cake that could have won a prize for good looks at the Pillsbury Bake-Off. Momma said it was too bad she always overcooked it because, "Aunt Edna was well past 80 years, she had a hard time seeing the dials on the stove, but it was still good drenched in a hard whiskey sauce."

Stories, in the end, are the stuff of memories, and I like to think that when you make one of these gingerbread maven's recipes, you'll be providing loved ones with a few new stories and some delicious memories.

Royal pedigree

Gingerbread and its making is steeped in history. Queen Elizabeth I supposedly invented the gingerbread man while playing with her gingerbread. Of course, where would we be without the story of Hansel and Gretel and the gingerbread house that turned out to be the witch's den?

In her first edition of "The Boston Cooking School Cookbook," Fanny Merril Farmer featured five different recipes for gingerbread. She wrote: "Gingerbreads vary from the simplest eggless mixture made with hot water, to a rich and buttery sour cream concoction which makes no pretense of being inexpensive."

Surprisingly, Ms. Farmer chose not to incorporate gingerbread people because "that was a craft item whereas good gingerbread is best served warm as a luncheon bread or with afternoon tea."

As with just about any other great recipe, the best gingerbreads are made with the best ingredients. In her book, "Entertaining On The Run" (William Morrow, 1994, $25), author Marlene Sorosky suggests that the best gingerbread is made with the freshest spices.

Fresh ground cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger are a must, especially when most of us have spices older than the cars we drive. Ground spices lose 10-15 percent of their potency every year, especially when exposed to air and humidity.

If you use fresh cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger, the dish will be 50 percent more aromatic and tasty. Simply grate these fresh, whole spices on the finest side of your hand grater/shredder.

You can also expect better results when using pastry or cake flour, rather than all-purpose flour. Cake flour is usually triple sifted and certainly is not a prerequisite for making great cookies, but it does make a difference when baking cakes and pastries.

The folks at General Mills, makers of the Softasilk brand of cake flour, claim their product is milled with a smaller grind and has a lower protein level for more tenderness.

Heavy bleaching of the flour also helps break down the gluten and allows for better distribution of the fats and therefore better moisture retention.

Personally speaking, I get excellent results when preparing gingerbread by using a heavy, commercial-grade bakeware or oven-proof glass. Aluminum tins and pie plates have a tendency to brown the bottom crust and make a drier product.

Living in the holiday season on a healthy note

Seasonal Treats: Ajluni and her son, Steven, await their guests. Lemon Peppery Mushrooms with pita chips are a family favorite.

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

Samar Ajluni has several good reasons for serving healthy foods when she's entertaining.

She's married to cardiologist Steve Ajluni. She has an 11-month-old son, Steven, and she is expecting a second child in March. For years she's been an active member of the American Heart Association's Michigan affiliate and is currently working on the group's Heart Ball in February.

Ajluni is among the many area hoets and hostesses who will be serving their guests good and healthy food during the holidays.

"I not only feel that I have a responsibility to serve my family and guests good, nutritious fare, but I also like low-fat and low-calorie, heart-healthy foods," Ajluni said. "Nutritious foods make me feel better and give me more energy. In addition, with today's emphasis on being fit, prepared, healthy

Round up kids for jolly afternoon of baking

QUAKER OATS

Holiday magic: A cookie decorating party is lots of fun for kids of all ages.

An afternoon of cookie baking and decorating can be a terrific creative outlet for kids. It also has all the markings of a holiday party when each child invites a few friends to join the fun.

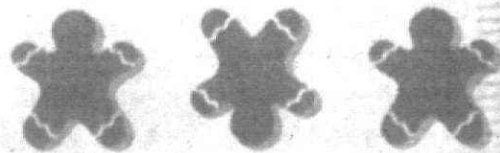

Organization is key to ensuring peace and goodwill, especially if you've invited a mixed-age crowd. Let the older kids take over the kitchen and bake while the younger ones turn the family room into Santa's workshop and decorate cookies baked the day before. At least one grown-up Santa's helper should be in each location to supervise and lend a hand if needed.

Little decorators will have lots of fun "dressing" the "Chocolate Teddy Bear Cookies," a recipe created by the Quaker Oats Company.

The ready-to-spread frosting you can buy in the supermarket is great glue for small candies, and it can be used to make mittens, ties, shoes, and other accessories.

Give each child a small plastic knife for safe spreading. Muffin tins or small unbreakable bowls will keep candies and sprinkles organized and easy to use.

Put the bakers to work mixing the dough for "Kris Kringle Shortbread." What makes this cookie such a snap is the mixing method. The ingredients are measured into a large resealable plastic bag, then squeezed and kneaded into a smooth dough. To shape, pinch off small pieces of dough and drop on the cookie sheet. Or, for more evenly shaped cookies, roll dough into balls. Using two fingers or the tines of a fork, flatten cookies then decorate with colored sugar, sprinkles or other small holiday candies and bake.

Tied with ribbon and a small ornament, they'll be sweet remembrance of a magical afternoon.

Here are some more "Kids in the Kitchen," cookie baking tips from the folks who make Sun Maid Baking Raisins.

■ Get ready to bake - select the recipe you want to bake. Discuss the baking project with mom, dad or an adult helper.

■ Keep several thick potholders handy.

■ Read the recipe entirely before beginning, making sure you understand the instructions.

■ Review the list of ingredients to make certain you have everything on hand. Gather all of the ingredients on the kitchen counter or table.

■ Assemble all of the kitchen utensils and any other items you will need.

■ As you add each ingredient, put it back in its correct place. That way, you won't be confused about whether or not the ingredient has been added.

■ Clean up spills as you go along.

foods now taste good." She added that her mother, Phoebe Stropm, of Brownstown Township, has been an excellent role model. "She always served healthy meals and has stressed the importance of being active and being fit. This is how I am raising my nine-month-old son, Joey."

Hamba said she substitutes low-fat or no-fat ingredients in her recipes. "My guests often marvel at how good the food I serve tastes. And they don't believe it's also healthy."

Dips are an important part of Hamba's entertaining menu. She especially likes the cranberry-orange dip and the Mexican bean dip from the "Lean and Luscious and Meatless" cookbook, by Bobbie Hinman and Millie Snyder. Jan Westver of Troy also serves healthy food when she entertains, because, like Hamba and Ajluni, she is an AHA Heart Ball committee member, and she's married to a cardiologist and has a nursing background. Westver is also the mother of four children, ages four to 20.

"Healthy foods help us (she and her husband, Doug) and our kids have the energy to keep up with our busy schedules," Westver said.

Another reason she and her husband need lots of energy is that they serve as foster parents to babies born with crack and other drug addictions.

Cookies Oatmeal-raisins: holiday favorites

Americans consume nearly 15 billion pounds of cookies annually. The cookie of choice may be debated in your family, but cookies made with oatmeal seem to be the favorite of food editors.

An informal survey of 20 food and lifestyle magazines found oatmeal cookie recipes printed more often than any other cookie recipe over the past four years. Armed with this knowledge, the folks at Sun-Maid invite you to savor the raisin oatmeal flavor in honor of their newest innovation — Sun-Maid Raisin Raisins.

These moisture-rich raisins were specifically selected for baking. During processing, moisture is locked into each raisin, making it extra plump and juicy. This moistness results in a soft, tender crumb that adds a rich raisin flavor and chewy texture to favorite baked goods and ensures extra freshness.

After testing dozens of variations, Sun-Maid created the ultimate holiday treat — Classic Raisin Oatmeal Cookies.

These delicious cookies combine the soft, chewy goodness of oats and raisins with a touch of vanilla and cinnamon for a one-of-a-kind taste that can't be beat.

Add Sun-Maid's Raisin Oatmeal Classics to your repertoire and you'll have an easy, new family favorite for your holiday baking list.

What's in coolest box in the house?

A peek into the nation's refrigerators has revealed Americans have a love of USO's — unidentified shriveled objects. A recent survey of consumers' refrigerator habits by Whirlpool Corp. uncovered year-old lettuce firmly stuck to the vegetable tray, massive mold, fuzzy beans and a fruit cake of unknown vintage.

In addition, respondents looked inside the coolest box in the house and found a TV remote control, gym shoes, car keys, one dead parakeet and a dead snake, and one set of very frosty false teeth.

The three most commonly found items on refrigerator shelves are milk (83 percent), eggs (37 percent) and butter (36 percent). Preserves, jams and jellies (10 percent), pickles (6 percent) and condiments such as mustard (7 percent) and ketchup (6 percent) are most likely to linger in the chilly environs of U.S. iceboxes, some for as long as a year.

The national survey was conducted in observance of Whirlpool's first National Clean Out Your Refrigerator Day on Nov. 16.

The hectic lifestyle of today's families was reflected in the survey respondents' casual refrigerator cleaning habits. Just over half completely dismantle their refrigerator for cleaning. Only 12 percent wipe down the shelves and drawers weekly, with most taking on the task monthly (32 percent) or just twice yearly (21 percent). Although the average consumer may not boast a sparkling clean refrigerator, one startling trend was noted: most do eliminate outdated food on a monthly (27 percent), bimonthly (12 percent) or weekly (19 percent) basis. Perhaps that's why almost three out of four people polled confidently predict they would pass a special inspection by the "refrigerator police."

As an added note, although one might expect to find caviar and champagne in the "refrigerators of the stars," Whirlpool's survey identified that celebrity refrigerators are mainly stocked with familiar beverages. Troy Aikman, quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys, reports you can always score milk, orange and apple juice in his refrigerator, while Michael Bolton sings the praises of his ever-available supply of bottled water, half and half cream and orange juice. TV show host Regis Philbin puts skin milk, strawberry jam and leftover take-out food in the spotlight. Only Martin Yan of "Yan Can Cook" fame prefers a more exotic assortment: packages of tofu and pot stickers, a 1/2 pot of jook, Asian pears and baby bok choy.

 Ready-to-spread frosting
 Assorted small candies

Beat together margarine and sugar until creamy. Add eggs, vanilla and melted chocolate. Add combined oats, flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Cover, chill about 1 hour. Gingerbread takes over B'ham First Presbyterian Baking holiday cookies is a tradition at First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, but it's not just for fun.

For several weeks in November, the church kitchen becomes a cookie factory, a giant gingerbreadcookie factory, to be precise. Several dozen volunteers prepared 15,000 gingerbread cookies. The treats are given to visitors at the church's "Hand-in-Hand" holiday exhibits Dec. 3-8. Hours are 1:30-6:30 p.m. For more information, call (810) 644-2040. The church is at 1669 West Maple Road, east of Lahser Road and West of Southfield.

Organizers estimate that 12,000-14,000 people will participate in the event in which church rooms are decorated to portray different aspects of the Christmas season. Each visitor will leave with a gingerbread man cookie. "It's hard work and it's a lot of fun," said Sue DePup, who is the First Presbyterian's cookie coordinator.

She estimated that 100 women volunteers will spend 20 hours preparing the gingerbread men. They mixed 27 batches of a batter (the recipe can be found at the end of this story) which makes about 48 dozen cookies per batch. "We roll it and cut it and bake as many as we can in a morning or evening," said DePup. The cookies are wrapped and stored in egg

Enjoy all those cookies without feeling guilty

Holiday memories often include the aroma of home-baked cookies. Unfortunately, many cookies are loaded with fat.

For example, refrigerated cookie dough may have 5-6 grams of fat per serving (usually 2 cookies). Box cookie mixes may have 6-10 grams of fat per serving, even if one follows the lowfat preparation method.

So in a heart-healthy diet, is it possible to have your cookies and eat them too? Yes, if one follows some easy recipe modifications, according to Rozolana Karanec, a dietitian with Henry Ford Heart and Vascular Institute.

For a healthier holiday, Karanec suggests trying some innovative fat-skimming "tricks" that will result in delicious cookies.

- Dried fruit such as raisins, prunes or apricots into the cookie dough instead of high fat ingredients like nuts and chocolate chips.
- Use smaller amounts of nuts (1/4-1/2 cup per recipe).
- For a satisfying crunch, leave the nuts in larger chunks.
- Replace half the fat in the recipe with an equal amount of pureed fruit such as ripe bananas, stewed prunes, applesauce or canned pumpkin.

Here's a recipe to try:

SUGAR COOKIES

1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup tub margarine
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 egg whites
 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
 1/2 cup vanilla non-fat yogurt

1 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 Vegetable oil spray

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Cream sugar and margarine. Mix in vanilla, egg white and yogurt. Mix together flour, baking powder, baking soda and nutmeg. Add gradually to yogurt mixture. Mix well. Chill.

Divide dough into 3 equal parts. Roll each part 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Cut with 2-inch cookie cutter. Place on cookie sheet sprayed with vegetable oil spray. Decorate with colored sugars.

Bake until no indentation remains when touched, approximately 6 to 8 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies. Each cookie is 57 calories, 1 gram of fat.

Eat right to put yourself on 'The Road to Wellville'

Responding to consumer confusion about conflicting scientific nutrition messages reported in the media, Bruce Obink, president of the California Table Grape Commission, offers this commentary on the state of the American diet:

"Want to lower your blood pressure? Eat 10 to 14 pounds of grapes a day — but nothing else — and your high blood pressure will be eliminated. Sound like another 'miracle' diet? Well, it was — in the 1870s. The proponent was Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, creator of Corn Flakes and the subject of the best-selling novel, 'The Road to Wellville,' and the just-released movie of the same name.

Kellogg was the director of one of the first American diet clinics, Battle Creek Sanitarium. There Kellogg treated patients with peculiar nutrition and exercise regimes few could follow outside of the confines of the sanitarium: For the weak of heart it was grapes, grapes, grapes; for skinny patients it was 26 feedings per day, their stomachs weighted with sandbags to increase the absorption of nutrients. All the rest ate bran, bran and more bran.

"Bran does not irritate," Kellogg enthused, "it utilitates!" More than a century later, our inclination is to regard Kellogg as a huckster and possibly a kook. But in our 20th-century smugness, are we any closer to Wellville, that mythical land of fitness and good nutrition where everyone lives to a ripe and vigorous old age? Think for a moment about thigh cream, liposuction, the passing frenzy over oat bran, and the screaming diet guru hosting television infomercials. Are we on the superhighway to Wellville or out-of-control and in the ditch? One thing's for sure, scientists know more about human nutrition and fitness than at any time in history.

Unfortunately, the consumer perceives that the current information interstate is clogged with conflicting facts. Take anti-oxidant vitamins; don't take killer anti-oxidant vitamins. Eat healthy ethnic foods; don't eat Italian, Chinese and Mexican food with their payloads of killer fat. And don't ever touch movie popcorn, fast-food french fries or anything else that tastes good.

It's no wonder that the American Dietetic Association found during a recent study that one-third of Americans no longer want to be bothered with nutrition. Another third knew they could improve but they don't want to. The remainder think they're on the Road to Wellville already, so bug off.

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale? Good. We knew you were intelligent. In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better. And if knowledge is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

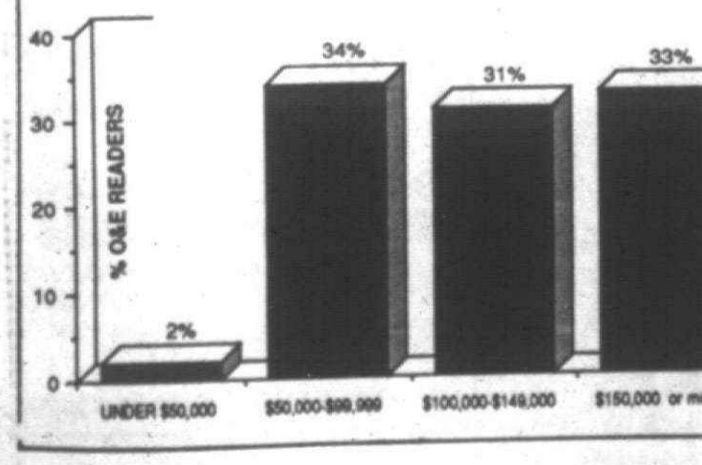

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

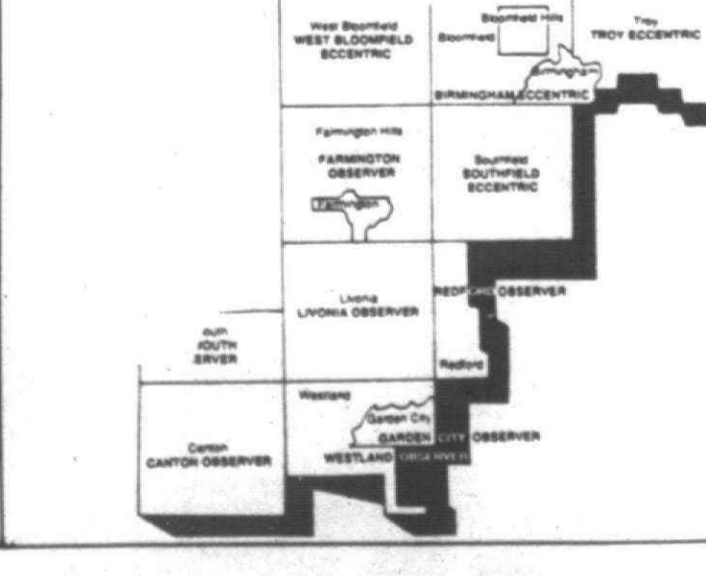

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes. Now, that's something to smile about.

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper — a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else. That's us.

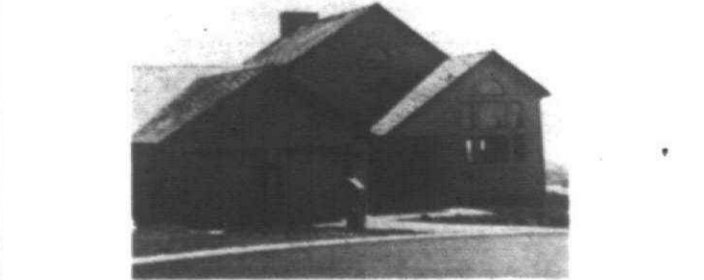

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers? Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE — a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone. Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

Baaki excels at Colgate

Bill Baaki, a 1993 Redford Catholic Central graduate, has three goals and two assists in seven games as a freshman forward on the Colgate University hockey team.

Baaki, a right wing, is tied with another freshman for second on the team lead in goals. Prior to last Monday, Colgate was 3-3-1 overall and 0-3-1 in the East Coast Athletic Conference.

Warnke leads Canton girls to quarterfinal

Plymouth Canton's girls basketball team is making plans for Tuesday's Class A quarterfinal round following Wednesday's win over Birmingham Marian in the regional final.

BY MIKE ROSENBAUM
STAFF WRITER

After watching Birmingham Marian jump on top of Farmington Hills Mercy early in Monday's regional semifinal, Plymouth Canton Coach Bob Blohm was determined not to let the Mustangs roll over his Chiefs the same way.

The keys to a quick start against Marian in Wednesday's Class A regional final?

"Rebounding and getting some easy scores inside," said Blohm. And the key to accomplishing those feats was junior center Sarah Warnke.

Warnke dominated the glass at both ends of the court in Wednesday's first half, leading the Chiefs to a 51-46 victory.

Canton, 18-6, meets Walled Lake Central in quarterfinal action, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Walled Lake Western.

Marian finished 15-8.

Warnke and Canton's first-half dominance was the difference. The Chiefs led 28-17 at halftime, thanks mainly to Warnke's 12 points and strong rebounding.

"Sarah killed us inside," said Marian Coach Mary Lillie-Cicerone. "We tried a lot of different people on her."

Marian senior center Atiya Bussey guarded Warnke at the start, but Bussey was benched after receiving two quick personal fouls. Lillie-Cicerone later second-guessed herself for pulling Bussey. Bussey held Warnke to four second-half points, despite playing with four personals for most of the fourth quarter.

Another key for Canton was successfully navigating the Mustangs' full-court press.

"We were able to handle the pressure," Blohm said. He praised his players for using simple fundamentals — such as catching the ball with two hands and keeping well-balanced — to beat the Marian press.

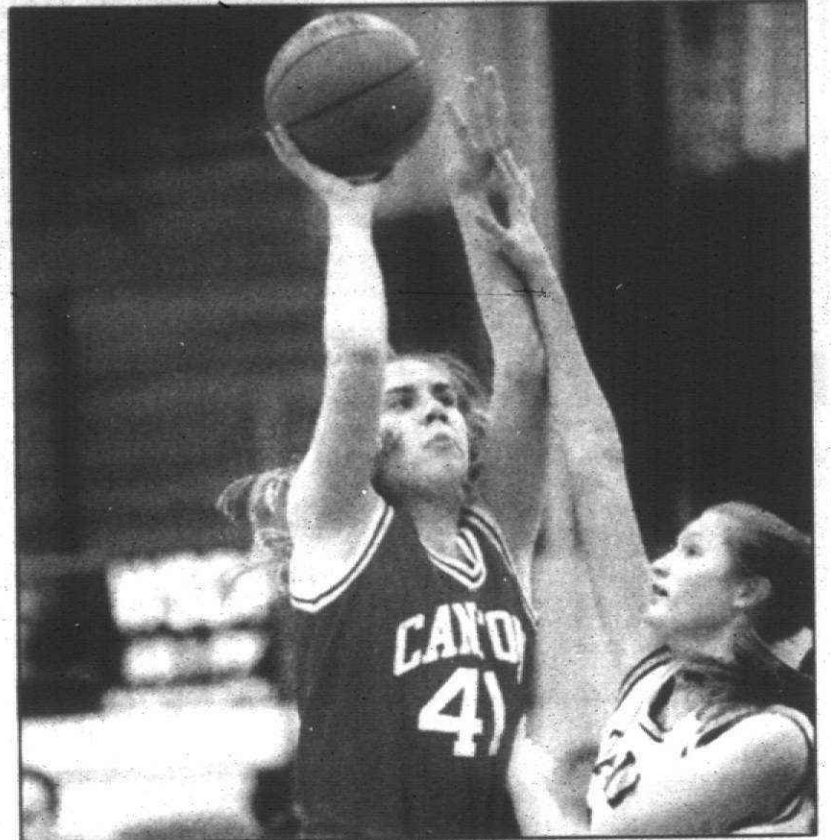

"They picked apart our press," agreed Lillie-Cicerone. "They were composed."

Warnke led all scorers with 16 points. Amicie Crayton added 15. For Marian, Bentley scored 12 and Julie Storen 9.

Canton never trailed Wednesday, taking a 6-0 lead before Marian finally cracked the scoreboard with 2:50 remaining in the period. Warnke's basket at the buzzer gave the Chiefs an 11-6 lead after one quarter.

The Mustangs quickly trimmed the lead to 11-10 on baskets by Storen and Bussey, but like all of Marian's runs, this one fell short. Sophomore forward Kristi Fiorenzi answered with a basket, then Warnke completed a three-point play to give Canton a 16-10 cushion. Led by Warnke's seven second-quarter points, the Chiefs went into halftime with an 11-point lead.

The Mustangs played more aggressively in the second half, switching from a 2-3 zone to a man-to-man defense and pressing at every opportunity. But Canton handled the pressure well and never lost its lead.

The Mustangs' first run of the half began immediately, with three-point plays by junior forward Sabrina Kasab and senior guard Megan Roehrig trimming the lead to 28-23, 1:08 into the half. Despite several chances, however, Marian couldn't pull closer than five points during the quarter. A 7-0 Canton spurt, featuring five points from Crayton, helped the Chiefs take a 41-31 lead into the final period.

Leading 45-35 with 5:42 left, Canton ran some time off the clock. With the help of an offensive rebound, the Chiefs took 1:17 off the clock before turning the ball over. But when Marian's junior guard Brandi Bentley scored off of that turnover, it started the Mustangs' final run.

Storen and Bentley scored in the next 1:14 to pull the Mustangs within 45-41. Marian then missed three opportunities to cut the lead to two points.

"If we could've just scored that basket, we wouldn't have had to get into fouling," said Lillie-Cicerone.

Unfortunately for the Mustangs, they did have to foul. And it was Warnke, who was quiet for most of the half, who sank two free throws with 1:26 left to give Canton some breathing room, 47-41. Canton then sank four of six free throws in the final 1:07 to secure the victory.

Borgess advances to final 8; Garden City loses, 74-49

BY STEVE KOWALSKI

Redford Bishop Borgess limited Detroit Benedictine's star Marlina Walker to seven points Wednesday and the Spartans posted a 62-34 victory in the Class C regional final at Petersburg-Summerfield High School.

The win advances Borgess, the defending Class C state champion, to Tuesday's quarterfinal at Sandusky High School. The Spartans will face Goodrich, an upset winner over Sandusky.

Walker, a Division I college prospect, scored 34 points in Benedictine's 70-69 upset victory against Sand Creek two days before the Borgess encounter.

Borgess junior guard Adriane Bryant had the responsibility of guarding Walker, but help came from several sources.

"She was unbelievable on Monday, not that I haven't seen her play unbelievably before, but the only way you can stop her is to put two players on her," Borgess coach Dave Mann said. "Adriane was on her and every time she touched the ball, Maxann (Reese) would double-team her."

Bryant also shouldered some of the offensive burden, scoring a game-high 15 points, including nine in the third quarter.

Reese was the only other Spartan in double figures with 10 points. Senior center Marrie DuBose, fighting a cold, and freshman center Aiysha Smith added eight points each. Charmaine Nixon had seven points and Octavia Satchel and Candice Finley added six apiece.

The Spartans led 16-8 after one quarter and 31-13 at halftime. Benedictine, which ended the season with a 14-8 record, was led by Kulema Williams and Samantha Doty with eight points each.

"The quickness and offensive rebounding, getting the second and third shots, killed us," Benedictine coach Dennis Rogers said. "That's the best team we've faced without a doubt. Our game plan was not to run with them, because that's what they love to do. But in the first quarter, we started to run with them, and I don't know why we did."

One of the brighter spots for the Spartans was the contribution of sophomore forward Regina Respert, who scored her first two points of the year in a reserve role.

Respert joined the Borgess lineup recently after recovering from off-season anterior cruciate surgery. Just like her brother Shawn Respert (Michigan State guard) did in his senior year at Borgess, Regina suffered a knee injury during the Class C semifinal game last season.

She was holding the regional trophy proudly.

"I'm hanging on to it like it's my baby. It's taking me to Battle Creek (site of the final four)," Respert said. "I dream about this. My goal is to help the team reach the final game."

■ PIONEER 74, GARDEN CITY 49: Garden City trailed only 21-20 after one quarter in Wednesday night's Class A regional final against Ann Arbor Pioneer, but that wasn't a good sign for Cougars coach Marshall Henry.

"We can't get in a game like that with these people," Henry said. "Their big kids were a lot quicker than ours. They had fire power and quickness that wore us down. Their bench also did a better job."

Pioneer took control with a 17-7 advantage in the second quarter to open up a 38-27 halftime lead. The Pioneers added to the lead by outscoring the Cougars 18-10 in the third quarter and 18-12 in the fourth quarter.

The game, played at Taylor Kennedy, ended Garden City's season with a 19-6 record.

Junior forward Connie Hart and senior guard Rachel Dobberstein led Pioneer with 12 points each. Junior guard Kristin Quinn had 11 points and sophomore for-

Madonna programs lose games

The Madonna University men's basketball team fell to 1-3 on the season following a 107-65 loss Tuesday to host Oakland University.

It was a far cry from last year's record-setting shootout, won by Oakland, 189-107.

Frank Zielinski, a Birmingham Brother Rice product, led the Pioneers (1-0 overall) with 25 points and 15 rebounds.

Tom Marowelli came off the bench to contribute 23 points, while Jason Burkholder contributed 14 points.

The Pioneers shot 53.3 percent from the field (40 of 75).

Madonna's leading scorer was Brandon Stone, a sophomore from Plymouth Salem. He scored 21 points. Center Jason McNab added 13 points, while Juaonni Dimes contributed eight points and 11 rebounds.

The Crusaders were outrebounded 71-44, but committed only 13 turnovers.

They couldn't overcome a 49-23 halftime deficit.

■ SAGINAW VALLEY 81, MADONNA WOMEN

81: On Tuesday, host Saginaw Valley State, led by Melanie Moore's 17 points, cruised to an easy non-conference women's triumph.

The Lady Crusaders (2-2 overall) couldn't overcome a 49-19 halftime deficit.

Angela Birchsmeier and Angie Suggs added 12 and 10 points, respectively, for the host Cardinals. Plymouth Canton's Julie Nicastri had six points and eight rebounds.

Stephanie Creiley was the Lady Crusaders' only scorer in double figures with 15 points. Francine Williams added nine.

Madonna shot only 27.4 percent from the floor (17 of 62) and committed 25 turnovers.

Churchill wins season opener

Churchill third-year coach Jeff Hatley said, "I think he learned a lot from his rookie season." Felker left his crease briefly in the third period for equipment adjustment.

Harrison wins 7th state crown

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER... Whoever said statistics are for losers will get an amen from the Farmington Hills Harrison football team.

Those numbers usually tell a different story, but the Hawks won the game with three big plays — two by Jason Granger and one by Nick Williams — and a Kyle Vessell field goal.

Central two-way player John Roark said. Then the game got tight and more interesting than Harrison wanted.

Debbaudt missed the extra point and Harrison's lead was 17-13 with 2:24 on the clock. Central recovered its onside kick at the Harrison 46 and threatened to win the game.

Despite being shadowed by Alsup in Central's box-and-one defense for the better part of three quarters, Dayton-bound senior guard Courtney Ruffing scored 17 points and nearly brought the Highlanders back from a 51-40 deficit with 5:08 remaining.

Cummings, who had 10 points, nine rebounds and one block in the second half, missed a one-and-one opportunity and Adams Schmidt collected the rebound.

Salute to Dancers for Life offers hope and insight

BY JOHN CROOK

Canada's leading dancers are at the top of their form in Salute to Dancers for Life, an hour-long special premiering Thursday, Dec. 1, on CBC.

Veronica Tennant, former principal dancer with the National Ballet of Canada, is producer and hostess of the special, which airs on World AIDS Day. She is joined by co-hosts Brent Carver (Kiss of the Spider Woman) and writer Tomson Highway.

It was Tennant herself who came up with the idea of a telecast built around Dancers for Life, the annual Toronto gala designed to raise both funds and awareness for AIDS and HIV-related issues. It took some three years to bring the idea to reality, however.

"I was involved in the performances over the years, and there was something very special about this assemblage of talent, people really touched and moved and believing in raising AIDS awareness for numbers of reasons," she says. "The spirit was so remarkable that I just said, 'Well, this has to be shared with more people.' I went to CBC with the idea and they loved it. They said it was very exciting and important. So now things have come to beautiful fruition.

"I just can't overemphasize the generosity of spirit these dancers have, and have had, over the years. They basically really wanted this TV show to happen, and the show is a tribute to their generosity."

Tennant also credits the Ministry of National Health and Welfare for helping make the telecast a reality.

"It was with help from their AIDS Strategy Department, their support and financial commitment, that helped us make this show happen," she says. "They said that to have people of the visibility and the talent and stature of our cast, talking openly and positively about how this is something that involves all of us, this was very important to them."

"The anguish in this show was in keeping it down to one hour, because there were so many performers and companies that wanted to be involved."

Standing out in a consistently excellent program are:

- Margie Gillis' poignant recollections of her brother Christopher, also a dancer ("He was my world,

...the most important person in my life") before performing her own solo dance to a Sinead O'Connor song.

- Highway's salute to his late brother, dancer Rene Highway.

- The Danny Grossman Dance Company in a gender-bending finale set to music by Jelly Roll Morton.

One of the most striking moments is Carver's a capella rendition of the ballad "Scarlet Ribbons." While the song dates back to a time when HIV was only a random series of letters, the haunting melody and ambiguous lyrics struck the singer as appropriate.

"I had thought of the song quite awhile ago, and just was humming it to myself. And they said, 'Well, when you host and say a few words, if you want to sing it, that would be great,'" he explains. "The song kept coming back to me: 'Scarlet ribbons, scarlet ribbons.' And the actual story of what goes on within the song, it's just the idea of a child in prayer asking for scarlet ribbons and this fellow is wandering through town looking for them, because there ARE no scarlet ribbons. Where are they? He finally finds them, and it's the mystery of what this scarlet ribbon is about, and what those 30 red ribbons are about.

"He says, 'If I live to be 200, I'll never know from where came those scarlet ribbons.' At this point, I think that if any of us live to be 200, hopefully someone may find out where it (the HIV virus) has come from."

Anyone working in the arts is living in a time of loss, Tennant says, and programs such as Dancers for Life provide a necessary catharsis and wellspring of hope.

"Our friends in New York say they're almost shell-shocked by it," she says quietly. "You become numbed by all the facts and figures - and the names, and the constant memorial services you find yourself going to.

"With events like Dancers for Life, there is a message there of hope and buoyancy and determination. It's courageous for performers to talk so openly about things so close to them, as Margie and Tomson did."

Greenspan documents Lillehammer Olympics

BY JEFF PLASS

Bud Greenspan, the world's foremost writer, producer and director of documentary sports films, has outdone himself again with the official film of the 1994 Olympic Winter Games.

Lillehammer '94: 16 Days of Glory.

premieres Sunday, Nov. 27, on The Disney Channel.

"We tell the stories of a remarkable country and several outstanding people who personify the Olympic spirit," Greenspan says.

"It almost reminded me of a Sonja Henie movie," he says of his experience in Lillehammer last winter. "The snow was perfect. It was cold as hell, but you didn't mind it. You saw horse-drawn sleds in the middle of main street. People lived in tents along the cross-country skiing course for two weeks, getting the best seats. It was like a tailgating party at a football game. I've never seen anything like it."

"It was a grass-roots Olympics with all the modern trimmings, and it was the people of Lillehammer who made it that way. And in this day of Dream Teams and $90 million salaries for guys who can't play, it was something very special for all of us."

Part 1 includes profiles of American speedskater Dan Jansen and 16-year-old figure skater Oksana Baiul.

Part 2 will air next Feb. 12, the first anniversary of the opening of the Lillehammer Games.

SOAP WORLD

Soap star among celebs in Portraits of Life book

BY CANDACE HAVENS

If you are looking for a Christmas gift with a special meaning you might consider the new book Portraits of Life, With Love.

The hardcover book is a photographic essay featuring more than 100 celebrities. Photographer Joan Lauren compiled the photos to take readers into the hearts and souls of well-known people in photographs with their families, friends, children and animals. Royalties from the $30 coffee-table book go directly to the Hands On Care Foundation, which benefits children and their families living with HIV and AIDS.

Elizabeth Taylor, Andy Garcia, Melanie Griffith, Patrick Swayze, Whitney Houston, Clint Black, Christian Slater, Antonio Sabato Jr., Nicolette Sheridan and soap opera star Kate Linder. Esther, The Young and the Restless are just a few of the famous faces in the book.

The book also includes a forward by Elizabeth Glaser, an opening quote from Barbra Streisand, an introductory quote from Julie Andrews and a personal message from each celebrity expressing intimate feelings on love and life.

QVC will be selling the book on selected days, or check with a local bookstore for more information.

Dear Candace: I have been very interested in the Alzheimer's story on As the World Turns. From what I have seen so far it is very true to life. Mac is still in the early stages, but sometimes it takes years for the disease to progress.

I have watched two of my own family members suffering with this disease on a daily basis, and it is terrible. People don't realize how awful it is for the people who have the disease and their families. Every day is such a struggle.

I would like to write ATWT and tell them how much I appreciate them showing this story. Could you please give me the address? - S. T. in New York

Dear Reader: Write to As the World Turns C/O CBS, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10112. There are also many support groups like those portrayed on the show.

Send your comments to Candace Havens, Soap World, Features Dept., TV Data Technologies, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12804. Because of the volume of mail received, personal replies cannot be sent.
