Funeral set for Canton

Janice D. Nowacki-Tobin, the Canton nurse who died in a helicopter crash Thursday, once told the Observer, "Flying to get the patient is not stressful; arriving at the scene is, because we never know what to expect."

By JEFF COUNTS

Funeral services for Janice D. Nowacki-Tobin, 43, the Canton nurse who died Thursday in an air-ambulance helicopter crash, will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Thomas A'Becket Catholic Church, Canton.

Also killed instantly were Dr. Terry Racicot, 37, of Troy and the pilot, Richard Elliott, 42, of Superior Township.

The Midwest MedFlight Agusta 109 air-ambulance helicopter crashed at 10:07 a.m. in northeast Ann Arbor on its way to McPherson Hospital in The crash is being investigated by the Federal Aviation Administration in Chicago.

The craft crashed four minutes after takeoff, according to Margo Burrage, a spokesperson for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Med-Flight provides air ambulance service to the hospital.

The craft was about 50 feet from the ground when it lost power, fell and cut the top off a 15-foot tree before rolling over on its side in a field

Mrs. Tobin had lived in Canton Township for 10 years and is survived by her husband, Mike Tobin; a son, Philip Nowacki; and a daughter, Jennifer Nowacki. Mrs. Tobin and her husband were married seven months

Also surviving are her mother, Lorraine Cartwright; a brother; and three

School district gets tough on student smokers

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

This school year marks the first time students caught smoking more than twice at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park will have contact with police and Wayne County Probate Court. The intent is to put teeth into the district's no-smoking policy.

How effective it will be is yet to be seen. The first cases of the year are surfacing now in probate court, where hearing officers can assess discretionary fines, said Canton Police Officer Tammie Colling.

According to the policy, first-time offenders must attend a five-day before- or after-school smoking clinic. Second offenders receive a day of inschool suspension and a parent is contacted. The health hazards of tobacco are reviewed. The third offense entails police contact, a one-day, out-of-school suspension, and a parent

Fourth and fifth offenses also involve police.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING TO INSTITUTE A SUMMER PROPERTY TAX LEVY FOR PLYMOUTH-CANTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

Administrative Offices: 454 S. Harvey St., Plymouth, Telephone No.: (313) 416-2740

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on December 12, 1994, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at the E.J. McClendon Educational Center, 454 S. Harvey Street, Plymouth, Michigan, the Board of Education will hold a meeting at which will be offered for adoption a resolution to impose a summer property tax levy of all (100%) of its annual school tax levy upon property located within the school district.

Passage of the proposed resolution would result in the annual levy of all (100%) school property taxes on July 1 against property located within the school district. The Board of Education, under Act 333, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, amy impose a summer property tax levy of either one-half (50%) or all (100%) of annual school property taxes. Currently, the School District has imposed a summer property tax levy at the one-half (50%) level. If a summer property tax levy is imposed, the school district may enter into agreements with each city or township in which it lies, or a county treasurer, for collection of the summer property taxes, or may collect such taxes itself pursuant to said Act 333.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Edu-

Auto anti-theft options

Insurers offer tips to keep your vehicle safe auto show takes place in January. Car manufacturers know that in the depths of winter consumers want something to dream about like a new car, slush free roads and warm winds.

To help insure that these new cars stay in their owners garages, Help Eliminate Auto Thefts (HEAT) offers 10 theft deterring options to look for when buying a

Make sure the automobile has an alarm system. If not, purchase a theft deterrant device.

Many dealerships etch car windows with the vehicle indentification number (VIN) which helps police identify stolen automobiles. If the dealership doesn't offer this service, many insurance companies do.

■ When considering expensive options, keep in mind that tires, wheels and hub caps are the most easily and most often stolen automobile parts.

B Factory installed radios are often easier to steal than after market models. In either case, look for options with detachable face Insurance industry representative report that consumers are sometimes not aware that their cars come equipped with alarm systems. Ask the dealer to be sure. And remember that insurance companies often offer discounts for cars with alarms.

Some automobile keys are now imbedded with computer chips that send a signal to start the engine. Without the specific key and computer code, the car will not engage. Look for this and similarly sophisticated key lock systems. Look for models which have automatic systems that lock the doors when the car is put into reverse or after a predetermined number of seconds in gear.

Doors which can be locked and disabled from the driver's seat can keep children in and crimi-

Many manufacturers provide a valet key which operates only the doors and ignition. This option will keep unscrupulous attendants from opening the glove compartment and trunk.

A side view mirror on the pas senger side of the vehicle will help the driver spot problems before they happen.

Unfortunately even the most cautious individual may have his car stolen. To help fight auto related criminal activity, the public can call HEAT at 1-800-242-HEAT. Information reported on this confidential, state wide tip is relayed to local police departments which investigate suspected illegal activity ewards of as much as $10,000 if a tip results in the arrest and binding over or trial of suspected theft ring members and chop shop op-erators. As much as $1,000 is awarded if a tip results in the arrest and prosecution of individual suspected car thieves. And $2,000 is awarded if a tip leads to the arrest and binding over for trial of a suspected car-jacker.

HEAT was launched in October, 1985 and is funded by all of the auto insurance companies in Michigan. During the past nine HEAT has awarded $1,185,540 for 821 tips called in from across the state which contributed to the recovery of 1,793 vehicles valued at $18,867,246.

For additional information, call Lovio GeorgeInc. at 313-832-2210. The confidential HEAT tip line is 1-800-242-HEAT.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Veal is flavorful yet controversial

o longer content with traditional veal dishes that do nothing to dress up this delicately flavored meat, today's chefs are tampering with the classics. Whether opting for mild, somewhat bland tasting milk fed veal, or the more flavorful meat from naturally raised animals, chefs are using veal in colorful dishes that help enhance its flavor and tenderness.

The best veal preparations are credited to Italians who treated veal very much the way they do pasta or risotto - as a flavor carrier for a variety of sauces and ingredients. You might think it's the veal that makes a great piccata, but experienced foodies know that lemon and capers carry the dish. Using veal as a canvas, metro Detroit chefs are creating dishes with broad strokes of flavor.

Past practices

But, veal has a distorted past, one that many Americans would just as soon forget. Milk fed veal was introduced to the United States in 1962 by a Dutch company that developed Provimi feed (PROteins Vitamins Minerals) which incorporates dairy by-products into the feed. Prior to Provimi veal, white veal was veal from calves slaughtered right after birth, and calf veal was from calves allowed to nurse a few weeks before being slaughtered.

To this day, calves are still tethered in wooden stalls only slightly larger than their bodies which restrict movement, preventing their muscle tissue from toughening. Advocates say there are also other reasons for the cramped quarters.

"Farmers who use their stalls have better control of feeding and health. Farmers can watch individual calves better, make more frequent inspections of the stalls and help control sanitation," said Dr. John Albright, a professor of animal sciences at Purdue University.

Now, I'm going to go out on a limb and profess that I am a great fancier of veal. It's my belief that the animals are allowed to live for any length of time only because they provide meat. Nevertheless, there are alternative ways to raise veal calves in which the animals are kept in small herds, suckled and allowed to walk and

The meal produced by these methods is not white but pink. Although "pink" veal is more expensive than milk fed veal, its flavor can be superior. I speak of flavor because it is my opinion that pink veal has more taste than white milk fed Provimi veal.

This story really has two sides, and it's the veal farmer who's in the middle straddling the fence. White, milk fed veal outsells pink veal three to one, and in order to supply the demand, farmers have to do things that some people find very objectionable.

Basic cuts

When you see veal in the supermarket or butcher shop, it's helpful to know the basic cuts, and what they're best used for.

Veal shoulder is usually purchased boned before cooking, and makes a flavorful roast. The veal rack is usually cut into rib chops. The veal breast, is the most economical for braising. The veal shank, synonymous with Osso Buco, can be used for stew or ground meat with the marrow inside the shank considered a delicacy. The veal loin is by far the most versatile and can be roasted whole with the bone in, cut into chops or boned and cut into medallions for sauteeing.

The yeal rump is best roasted with the bones intact to prevent it from falling apart when roasted. A veal hind leg is usually cut into roasts or steaks.

Purchasing pink or naturally raised veal is as easy as finding it in the meat case of your local grocer. Look for chops for grilling, steaks for broiling, and momma always added "a good hunk of ground veal for flavor and tenderness' when preparing her signature meatloaf. Then, there is her always requested " city chicken." It's made from veal stew that is braised until it literally falls off the skewer. The trick is to think of veal as two totally sep-ate meats. White, milk fed Provimi veal, on the other hand, is a bit more arduous to locate. My favorite way to cook Provimi veal is to sautee it in an equal blend of butter and good olive oil. I serve it with a flavorful sauce consisting of garlic, lemon, capers, artichokes and sour cream. I buy pink, naturally raised veal, for roasting and grilling. See Larry Janes' family-tested recipes inside. Chef Larry is a free-lance writer for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. To leave a voice mail message for him dial (313) 953-2047 on a touchtone phone, then mailbox number 1886.

From simple items like squirt bottles and spatulas to slow cookers, sharp knives and cookware. You'll be surprised at what area chefs want for Christmas. Take a hint from them when shopping for people who love to cook.

BY LARRY JANES STAFF WRITER

You would think that people deeply involved in the food business would have stateof-the-art kitchens, nouveau cookware and every gadget known to God and man.

When the holidays roll around, I would assume that the last thing on Betty Crocker's Christmas wish list would be a rolling pin

Ah, but being deeply immersed in Metro Detroit's food scene doesn't automatically qualify you to the world of copper cockware, built-in marble slabs for cooling chocolate and truffle slicers.

You might be surprised at some of their

Take for example Chef Marcus Haight, executive chef for eight years at the venerable West Bloomfield eatery, The Lark. Haight is in the process of moving into new digs, with a custom-built kitchen that most of us could only dream about.

Asked about his favorite kitchen gadget, Haight said: "I really search out my superfine, stainless-steel sieve/strainer whenever I cook because it does everything from drain pasta to strain sauces and purees.

When asked what he needs or hopes to find under the tree, the young chef laughed, took a deep breath and announced: "A $2,000 gift certificate from Kitchen Glamor, so I can uy one of every gadget in the entire store.

He added that The Lark is offering gift certificates for Haight's esteemed cooking classes. They feature a five-course meal and wine for $75.00. Call (810) 661-4466 for more information.

People who think the restaurant business is exciting and glamorous would really appreciate Joanie Sinclair's job as manager at DePalma's Restaurant in Livonia.

Sinclair has worked at DePalma's for five years. Her normal workday begins at 8 a.m., and she never leaves before 6 p.m..

Asked what her favorite kitchen gadget is, Sinclair immediately responded: "I would be lost without my slow cooker. I put something on before I leave, it's waiting for me when I return, and the house smells great when I enter."

When Sinclair was asked what she wanted for Christmas, she yelled - without even thinking - "A bigger slow cooker, maybe coupled with a Cuisinart Food Processor to make the preparation a little faster and easier.'

Visitors to the stylish Cafe Bon Homme in beautiful downtown Plymouth would never realize that chef/owner Greg Goodman's favorite kitchen gadget is a set of those kitchy plastic catsup and mustard squirt bottles.

I thought Goodman might have been standing a little too close to the broiler with a response like that, but I was amazed at what the Bon Homme chefs can do with them.

We fill one with red pepper purees and another with chocolate sauce and use them to squirt on a plate as a garnish or embellishment that really makes the dish presentable," Goodman said.

In addition, he said his favorite electric kitchen gadget is a Cuisinart hand-held immersible blender that "can go in everything from soups to sauces."

Santa had better make room under the Goodman Christmas tree because the chef would love to get his hands on a small counter top "salamandre" - what you and I would call a broiler - "just to finish off a glaze or a fancy dessert," he said.

Not all of us are wonderkids in the kitchen or the restaurant industry. So I thought it would make an interesting comparison to find out what a grill cook has and wants for Christmas.

I thought about my favorite diners and it was obvious that I just had to talk with Marie McGregor of Farmington, the day hamburger flipper/grill cook at Bates Hamburgers at Nine Mile and Middlebelt in Farmington.

McGregor has been flipping those great Bates burgers for almost two years now. Not an avid cook "because who wants to cook after you've been flipping burgers all day," Mc-Gregor said she enjoys going out to eat as often as possible.

But when the fire lights up the McGregor fry pan, she claims her favorite kitchen gadget is a spatula. "It flips, it stirs, it beats and does a multitude of jobs around my house," she explained.

Gifts are toast of the season

While there's probably nothing wine aficionados like more than a great bottle of wine, they also appreciate learning more about their beloved beverage. Filling this bill are recently published wine books. some in stocking stuffer size and others as heavyweights to place under the tree.

For connoisseurs and novices alike, Alexis Bespaloff's "Complete Guide to Wine" (Signet, New York, 1994, $5.99, paperback) covers wine territory by country, region and varietal. Tightly written, each paragraph is filled with essential, no nonsense information. A great stocking stuffer.

At the other end of the spectrumis the 1,088 page, five-pound, clothbound volume of "The Oxford Companion to Wine," (Oxford University Press, New York, 1994, $49.95), edited by Jancis Robinson. It is the definitive, everything one ever wanted to know, 3,000-entry wine encyclopedia. In editing this work, Robinson, one of the world's great wine authorities in her own right, sought out contributions and advice from over 70 other experts worldwide. Complete with maps, illustrative photography and cross references, this volume is a library in itself.

"The World Atlas of Wine," fourth edition, Hugh Johnson, (Simon and Schuster, New York, 1994, $50) is the most complete guide to the world's vineyards published in any language. Serious wine lovers who want to know the origins of wines they purchase will appreciate the well-written text and impeccably detailed maps.

Take time to read a holiday classic

he winter holidays have inspired some delightful children's literature and what better time than now to snuggle in front of the fire with your children and communicate the magic and spirit of the season through a shared story. Whether you start a family tradition of choosing a new holiday book each year, or you enjoy old favorites, the read-aloud experience will be long I consulted children's book expert Cammie Mannino, owner of Halfway Down the Stairs, 114 E. Fourth St. in downtown Rochester, for he top picks this holiday season. Her list includes books for all age groups, culled from the huge se-lection that fills the shelves and tables of her inti the Somerset Collection in Troy. The Remarkable Christmas of the Cobbler's Son is told by Ruth Sawyer with illustrations by 90-year-old Barbara Cooney. It is about a goblin king in Austria during World War I who provide a needy family with riches and food. Wait until you read of his unexpected generosity. ($14.99)

Hershel and the Hannukkah Goblins ($6.95) by Eric Kimmel and In the Month of Kislev by Jaffe ($15) are both memorable and joyous tales

An all-time classic, The Polar Express by Chris Van Allsburg is available this year in a gift package that includes a tape and silver bell ($24.95). The magical story for ages four to adult, is about a boy who listens for Santa's sleigh bells on Christmas eve, hoping to prove to himself that there really is a Santa Claus. Instead, he hears the arrival of the Polar Express, a train that takes him to the North Pole where Santa presents him with a silver bell from his sleigh that only those who believe can hear.

Santa's Book of Names by David McPhail is a special story about a Christmas adventure that teaches a boy to read while realizing his deepest dreams, ($14.95)

On Christmas Eve by Rita Collington is dedicated to chimneyless children. This wordless tale is beautifully illustrated with illuminated fairies.

World War I Appalachia is the setting for The Year of the Perfect Christmas Tree by Gloria Houston, illustrated again by Barabara Cooney. This cozy story instills good values. ($15.50) Older children, ages 10 and up, will love Cynthia Rylant's Children of Christmas, a poignant account of people from different walks of life who connect and find one another. ($5.95) One of my holiday favorites is Christmas Joy by Birmingham author Cynthia Holt Cummings. Introduce your kids to the family of bears who live in the house with circular stairs. They'll also love the bear antics in Christmas Ribbons and Christmas Memories, available at The Village Barn in Franklin and M.T. Hunter in Birmingham and Northville.($8) Share the spirit Coveted book titles are often passed through families. Such is the case with Sheri McCurley of

Selling hip and funky and still going strong

Debbie and Frank Caruso are partners in life and business. From their shops in downtown Birmingham they are vanguards of fashion who look

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO STAFF WRITER

In 1993, Sportswear International magazine named It's The Ritz to their top 10 list of Who's Who in the American sportswear market.

This year, the Birmingham-based specialty shop made the list again. Owners Debbie and Frank Caruso consider it fitting tribute to 20 years of hard work. When they talk about It's The Ritz and their adjoining store, Caruso-Caruso, words like "visionary," "European concept" and "hip to what's happening," are tossed about.

"In 1974, we started It's The Ritz at Grand River and Lahser in Redford as a vintage clothing and artdeco furnishings store," Frank explained. "That same year we moved to Birmingham next to the Birmingham Theater. By the end of that year we decided to move to Beaubien and Lafayette. But we were ahead of our time.

"Remember this was before Trapper's Alley. We couldn't make it go in Detroit. Debbie had strong feelings about Birminghwn so we moved back to town in 1977. We settled into one of the townhouses near Peabody's. We painted the building a bright, hot pink and opened our store. In 1986 we moved to our present location at 193 West Maple.'

The Carusoes opened the store next to It's The Ritz as Caruso-Caruso and stocked it full of 4,000 unique jean designs and cotton tops. These include Replay denim, the hottest jeans in Europe today. In 2,700 square feet of retail space the couple sells "traditional funky clothing for Americans."

Webster's dictionary defines funky as "having an earthy quality or style, derived from early blues music." Debbie describes funky as "hand-knit sweaters, clothing patchworked from vintage cloths, and lots of dresses in silk and crushed velvet.

"Our clothing is an attitude, when you put it on you must feel wonder ful" she said. "There are no age limits at all on who would shop here rope it is fun, It should be fun."

"Fun-ness" according to Debbie, is what lies ahead at a third Caruso operation scheduled for a spring debut across the street in the old Kiddlywinks shop space.

"To celebrate our 20th year, we're planning a third store," Debbie announced. "I can't release the details yet, but it will be very relaxed, comortable. Right now, it's veiled in concept. But it will be fun. Hopefuly, it will mark the Carusoes as more than just retailers. It will involve society and community.

Frank and Debbie live in West Bloomfield. They've raised two daughters, now married, and a 13year-old son, Lennon. They have four grandchildren. They speak about Midwest values and have a long history of donating merchandise and making financial contributions to support Birmingham schools, churches and charities. They end their greetings to friends and customers with "God Bless Before striking out on his own,

Frank spent years in retail at a time when stores like the Village Green, Midwest Trouser Exchange and Head West were the rage. He met Debbie when he hired her to work in a store he was managing. His father was in the men's clothing business and his grandfather was a tailor. According to the couple, It's The Ritz got its name from an old Clark Gable movie where he sings "Put

The Chiefs' despair was evident as they trudged off the court after their state tournament semifinal loss to Flint North-

Chiefs fall to Vikings in semis

■ What stood between Plymouth Canton and a trip to the Class A state final in girls basketball was an obstacle that, quite simply, proved too big to overcome.

If anyone had doubts, put them to rest. Plymouth Canton was definitely the underde among the Final Four teams going into Thursday's Class A girls basketball semifinals at Battle Creek's

Kellogg Arena. And not just because its record (19-6) was the worst among the semifinalists.

The "biggest" problem facing the Chiefs became quickly apparent before their semifinal against Flint Northern even started Thursday. A quick look at the Vikings during warm-ups confirmed it.

The Chiefs started 5-foot-10 Sarah Warnke at center, with Kristi Fiorenzi (5-10) and Jackie Nicastri (5-7) at the foresards.

(5-7) at the forwards.

(5-7) at the forwards.

Here's the front row for Flint Northern: Sheree Bates (5-11), Deana Nolan (5-8) and Tawana McDonald (6-4).

Puns aside, that was the (big?) reason for Canton's 60-49 loss to Northern. The Chiefs could not counter the Vikings' size.

The Chiefs' tournament run (five wins, one loss) gave them a 19-7 final record. Northern took a 24-2 slate into Saturday's championship against defending champ Detroit Martin Luther King (23-1).

Canton coach Bob Blohm's reaction to the biggest of the Vikings—McDonald, a freshman center:

McDonald, a freshman center: "She's a shot-blocker extraordinaire. That big gal, she's going to make you think what you want to

As Amicie Crayton pointed out, McDonald wasn't the first sizable opponent Canton has faced. But, the senior guard noted, she was the best: "Definitely. She didn't fall for anything (inside). She's going to be a good player."

Then Crayton corrected herself.

Then Crayton corrected herself.

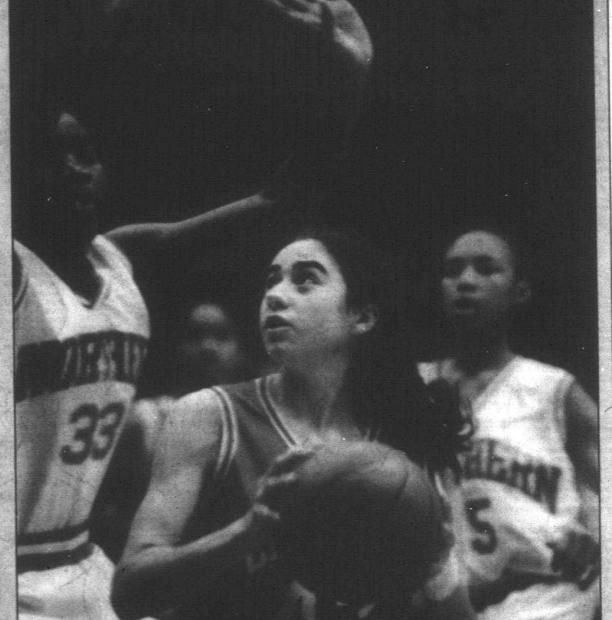

"She is a good player."

Northern didn't take advantage of its superior size immediately. The Chiefs, though, started slowly, going 0-for-5 from the field — which Biohm felt cost them severely.

"One of the things we've been able to do is get out early," he said. "Today we couldn't. I think their big girl was a big part of that."

day we couldn't. I think their big girl was a big part of that."

Still, after falling behind 8-1 Can-ton closed to within 12-11 by quar-ter's end. Warnke accounted for sev-sn of the Chiefs' points.

Where to now: Canton's Jackie Nicastri (42) finds herself facing an imposing obstacle in Northern's 6-4 center, Tawana McDonald (33). McDonald blocked eight Canton shots.

But it was downhill from there. With Bates scoring eight and McDonald and LaShawn Grays netting six apiece, the Vikings outscored Canton 22-7 in the second quarter to pull out to a 34-18 half-

The Chiefs never got closer than the final margin in the second half. "We had our ups and downs," said Northern coach Leteis Hugh-ley. "We had some turnovers, but overall I'm satisfied.

"I knew (Canton) had an inside girl and we watched a tape where they heat one of the best teams in our city by 15 points. So we didn't want to relax and say, 'Oh, we can beat them,' because we knew they had an inside game." But the Chiefs never got much of a chance to dictate the game's flow and tempo, as they did in Tuesday's quarterfinal win over Walled Lake Central.

"I thought we could have gotten after them more defensively, but we didn't," said Blohm. "The second quarter just took us out of the game, and everything from there was just trying to dig us out of that hole.

That hole was awfully deep. Scoring has been Canton's biggest draw-back all season; the Chiefs seemed to overcome that problem in the tournament by dumping the ball into Warnke in the paint. Although she was always facing bigger post opponents, her sthletic ability allowed her to deal with it.

In Tuesday's quarterfinal, Warnke burned Central's 6-2 Becky Cummings for 20 points. She man aged to do some damage against Northern as well, connecting on 8of-17 from the field to finish with a career-high 25 points.

But no one else reached double figures for Canton. Next best was Crayton with nine. Crayton also had 10 rebounds and five steals. Warnke had seven boards, playing most of

Canton's seeking a repeat

Two key factors that made Plymouth Canton successful last season a lightning attack and a swarming dewill make a return engagement this season.

Whether or not that will be enough to keep the Chiefs atop the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball standings is another question.

That's because despite their talent, the Chiefs have lost a lot from their 15-7 league championship team.

Gone are four starters: leading scorer Matt Paupore, who's starting as a freshman at Wayne State, Tadarjus Rachal, Ryan Ostach and Rob

Also gone is coach Dave Van Wag-oner, who resigned. Replacing him is Dan Young, Brighton's coach last

What will be most difficult for Young to replace is the outside scoring ability of Paupore and Rachal, and the rebounding supplied by Ostach and Radney. Young still isn't certain where that will come from. but he has candidates.

First, however, here's what he does

Ted Docks is back for his senior season, and it's already started impressively. A 5-foot-10 point guard, Docks became the first Canton boys basketball player to sign with an NCAA Division I team when he committed to Morehead State (Morehead, Ky.) last month. The anxiety of finding a suitable college is gone, but now Docks will be facing other pressures. He will count-going defensively," said Young of

The other key returnee is 6-3 unior forward Ron Hunter, who filled the sixth man role last season and did it well. A great leaper, Hunter supplies both size and puickness, he should be one of the Observer's top players.

Young is counting on both players. "Hunter and Docks are definitely going to have to score for us to be successful," he said. Still, it'll hardly be a two-man show for Canton. Young figures to get "balanced scoring," some of it rom two seniors who saw limited action last season and should start this season: 5-11 guard Mark Sanborn and 6-5 forward Brian Samulski.

Eagles from soaring

Plymouth Christian Academy coach Dan Brandel would have reason to think he's cursed. Coming off a 9-13 year, an outsider might be optimistic when looking at the pre-season roster for the 1994-95 Eagles. First, last year's leading scorer Dan House is returning, right?

Well, at least PCA will be able to count on Aaron Jones, an experienced center, coming back for his final season - right?

Wrong again. Brandel learned last summer that Jones moved with his family to Virginia, taking his 12 points and 8 rebounds a game with him. Then came soccer season. That's when House injured his knee; lost were his 18 points and 7 rebounds a game. Cursed? On the contrary. Brandel still believes he has as good a team from top to bottom as he's had during his nine years at PCA

- even as good as his 17-4 squad "Depth-wise, this is the best team I've had here," Brandel said. "I'm not sure if we'll be able to equal the record of the 1985 team ecause we're playing tougher competition now, but I do expect us to compete for the league Brandel expects all 12 of his players to contribute in some way as the season progresses. If the team forms continuity, Brandel expects the Eagles to be in the hunt for the Michigan Independent Athletic League title. Leading the many returnees i senior Ryan Thomason, who will be starting at point guard for the fourth straight year. Thomason (8 points, 12 assists) is coming off two consecutive all-conference years and is well adapted to being the team leader, according to Junior forward Jamie Neil (6foot) was averaging close to 18 points and 12 rebounds a game ast year until he injured his ankle. Brandel believes a fully recovered Neil will greatly improve

"If you know Jamie, you can't ers will have some self-sacrificing be more hungry to play than he to make."

Joining Neil on the front line will be junior Mike Roose (6-0). Roose returns after a year of public school; he'll be a force to be.

reckoned with, inside or outside. "They may be able to cover Jamie or Mike, but they won't be able to cover both of them," Brandel warned.

Senior Kevin McAllister (6-1), who sat out last season after transferring to PCA, will play guard and forward. Brandel considers McAllister a deceptive slasher-type with a quick first step to the basket. The Eagles will rely on senior Chris McCoy (5-8) to guard the. opponents' top scoring threat. McCov can also score, averaging eight points off the bench last Junior Dustin Hudgins (6-3), who also sat out last season after transferring, will fill Jones' voidat center. Brandel said the loss of Jones was neutralized with the addition of Hudgins. The bench is stocked with talent, led by senior Mike Roose, an intense defensive player. Junior Jeremy Hsia will rest Thomason at point guard, and freshman Ben Davis should see time at center.

Senior guard Russ Robillard will be counted on for his longrange shooting and junior guard Brian Fair will provide some playmaking at either the guard or forward position. Junior Shaun Walker will also contribute at forward, according to Brandel.

"I've never had a team this deep," Brandel said. "I can go to anyone on the bench and feel confident. This should also be a good. year for us because a lot of other teams in our league are down this

In particular, Brandel noted that perennial league power Oaks land Christian lost six players "Winning the league title is not long shot for us," Brandel added. "We'll have to avoid injuries to key people and become cohesive as a team. Some of the playhelp some bowlers, as they are designed to support the wrist, preventing a weak

What's Your Retail Management Experience Worth At Arbor?

Assistant Store Manager Open House and Find Out

Assistant Store Manager Open House Wednesday, December 7 9 am to 3 pm Troy Marriot 200 W. Big Beaver Rd. (Big Beaver, East of I-75)

On-the-spot interviews will be held

If you have retail management experience - in fast food, discount etailing or home building supplies - and you're interested in managing a multi-million dollar business with great growth potential to store manager and beyond, you owe it to yourself to attend Arbor's Assistant Store Manager Open House.

You'll learn about Arbor's fast track for success program: personalized on-the-job training, a solid promote-from-within policy, and the opportunity to quickly move up in the Arbor organization based upon your hard work and performance.

If you have retail management and/or college experience, make fast tracks to our Assistant Store Manager Open House. If you're unable to attend, please send your resume to: Arbor Drugs, Inc., Human Resources Dept. OE120594, P.O. Box 7034, Troy, MI 48007-7034. Or call (810) 637-1660. Fax: (810) 637-1669.
