Bennett tops clerk primary field

Tuesday's primary election for Canton clerk drew few vot-ers but Republican candidate Terry Bennett led the race with 50 percent of the vote over her Republican and Democratic opponents. She will face Democrat Kathleen Raven in the April 18 general election.

By Joanne Maliszewski Staff Weiter

Republican candidate for Canton clerk Terry Bennett captured Tuesday's primary race with 50 percent of the total votes cast.

"I don't think in any election you can take for granted the people who put you in office. You have to do your work and meet your constituency," Bennett said, when the vote totals came in Tuesday night.

In the race that drew only 3,092 voters, including absentee ballots out of 34,921 registered voters - her Republican opponent Ralph Shufeldt came in with 26.3 percent of the vote, compared to Democrat Kathleen Raven with 23.7 percent.

In unofficial vote totals, Bennett received 1,476 votes, Shufeldt, 775, and Raven 701.

Raven and Bennett will vie for the remaining two years of a four-year term previously held by clerk Loren Bennett, now a state senator representing a portion of Canton. Terry Bennett is married to Loren Bennett.

The candidates will share the April 18 ballot with a $12 million bond proposal for road improvements and an $8.8 million bond request for renovation and expansion of the Canton Public Library.

Round one: Democrat Kathleen Raven and Republican Terry Bennett, candidates for Canton clerk, review primary vote totals with Brad Thompson, township municipal information services coordinator. Bennett, who took 50 percent of the vote, will square off with Raven in the April 18 general election.

Local politicians and their friends and families who gathered at Canton Township Hall for the vote returns attributed Tuesday's low voter turnout to a primary that didn't include the proposed tax increases for roads and the library, as well as inclement

"I think the ratios would have been entirely different had we had different weather today. With it being a clerk's race, it was not enough of an issue. It was very disheartening," said Shufeldt, 54, secretary/treasurer of the Canton Downtown Development Authority and chairman of the Nankin Transit Authority.

Planning commissioners weigh land use changes

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAPF WRITER

If those vacant commercial corners near your neighborhood have you wondering, the Canton Planning Commission will address that issue at its March 20 meeting.

"We have made recommendations for changes on the master land use plan," said Jeff Goulet, Canton community planner.

The corners are part of planned unit developments, which came about through agreements between the township and developers in the 1970s. The PUDs included single-family houses and commercial development, generally on the corners.

"Market dynamics have changed.

There was too much acreage allocated to commercial in the PUDs in the 1970s," Goulet said.

The planning commission will consider amendments to the future master land use plan March 20. If those changes are made, township officials can work with developers on those corners to change the PUD agreement for another use.

"We are not taking away the zoning. We are not taking away anyone's rights. We are trying to be proactive on this," Goulet said.

A PUD agreement was in place that allowed Arbor Drugs, for example, to build on the northwest corner of Warren and Canton Center roads, despite complaints from nearby Sunflower subdivision residents.

Last year Canton officials agreed a review was needed of vacant commercial parcels under PUD agreements.

The plan was to look at future land use and to determine if commercial as designated under the PUD agreements is relevant now, Goulet said.

The changes recommended by the township planning staff won't change zoning or the PUD agreement. The changes are recommended to the future master land use plan, which serves as a planning goal or guideline for the township. for the township.

"Our future master plan is our goal.

Madonna University launches $5 million improvements

Madonna University has embarked on a $5 million project to upgrade technology and expand and maintain facilities at its campus on Schoolcraft at Levan in

The improvements - which include purchase and remodeling of the former Pfeister Co. building across Levan - will be funded b a February bond issue that Ma donna officials believe is the first by a private, four-year university n Michigan to include a Stan dard& Poor's investment rating.

The "A-" rating benefits the university by lowering the interest rate paid over the 10-year life of the bonds, said Leonard Wilhelm. Madonna vice president for business and finance.

"The bond issue also allows us to pursue these projects now, rather than waiting for a benefac tor or finding money in the gener al fund budget," Wilhelm said.

The bond issue is the first for Madonna, the second-largest Catholic university in Michigan. Other state schools including the University of Detroit Mercy, Marygrove College and Aquinas College have issued bonds.

Sister Mary Francilene, Madonna president, said the largest portion of the project, about $2 million, will be devoted to technological improvements. These include replacement of the university telephone system and installa tion of a campus-wide fiber-optic network and computer hardware/ software systems.

The upgrades will allow interactive transmission of voice central point to classrooms on old." and off campus.

Kindergarten registration planned

Kindergarten registration for the 1995-96 school year will be held in all elementary schools the week of March 27.

Children are eligible to attend kindergarten if they will be 5 years old on or before Dec. 1. While registration can be made anytime during the year, parents are urged to register their children during this period in order to permit adequate planning for fall kindergarten classes.

If the attendance area is unknown, parents should contact Ginnie Murdoch, pupil accountant, at 416-4842

To register, parents or guardi-ans need to bring the following items to the elementary school in the child's current attendance

Introducing Detroit Edison's Energy-Efficient Home Construction Program.

If you're building a home, we have a special program just for you. It's our Energy-Efficient Home Construction Program.*

You can earn incentives up to $5,000 when you install certain energy-efficient features. This program can also make you eligible for our special time-of-day rates which can save you up to 60% on your annual energy costs. What's more, building energy-wise now will be a selling point in years to come and can actually increase the value of your home.

To get the money-saving benefits of our Energy-Efficient Home Construction Program, please call 1-800-833-2786. And don't build the house that Jack built, build the one Jack should've built.

A good part of your life.

*This program expires Dec. 31, 1995 and is subject to availability of funds.

say stuff should last. Stuff like cars and lawnmowers and lunch boxes. These things shouldn't break. At least not for a long time.

But Tony's lunch box did break - the very day I bought it. The hook closure thingamajig snapped off. The lunch box was now a piece of junk. My son's lunch was doomed to fall out on the street where a bus would come by and squish

But then I remembered we had Super Glue in the junk drawer.

I got down to work. I squeezed the closure thingamajig with one hand and then with the other I squeezed two drops of glue out of the tube. That ought to do it. I slipped my thumb and two fingers away from the repair site. Tony called out to me, "Don't glue your fingers together.

"Very funny, Tony," I told him. "I'm not a nitwit. Give your poor mother a little credit, will

It's a dog day at the DKC

Kathy Smith and Lorie Carlton are going to the dogs on Sunday. It's the annual Detroit Kennel Club's benched dog show, a great place for future dog owners to find out more about their favorite breeds.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO

tiously play with her dogs, which look like giant teddy bears, whenever she takes them to visit schools. They can't go to the beach with her because if they see children splashing around in the water, their natural instincts would tell them to save them. "They'd stress out; they're that noble," she said.

One place she can take her Newfoundlands is the 77th annual Detroit Kennel Club Dog Show at Cobo Conference Center in Detroit Sunday, March 12.

Smith, a breeder who raises Newfoundlands at Hickory Ridge in Canton, has participated in the show since 1987. She said the Cobo show has one advantage over other

"The Cobo show has a lot to of-fer," she said. "They have rare dogs from all over mouth, agreed but said the show offers a wide array of benefits.

The best thing about Cobo is they're benched there. They're there the entire day.

"Those (spectators) especially looking for a breed of dog can get an opportunity to view all of them and see the activities that they can get involved with. The vendors that are there have much better quality and quantities of various items that are useful to them," said Carlton who is bringing eight dogs to the show.

Seeing and visiting with the dogs, who are benched 8 a.m.-6 p.m., is important for people who are considering buying a certain breed of dog, Carlton and Smith said.

"People who are really looking for dog (can) go there and see them. They can get an overall picture of what's involved with each dog. Once they learn about it, maybe it's not the dog for them, maybe they shed too much or drool too much," Smith said.

Smith makes sure that potential owners learn all they can about Newfoundlands before they are pur-

"It's a good place to get potential puppy people. I'm real picky. I don't sell dogs to sell dogs. I don't have many puppies," she added. Her Newfoundlands, Smith said, are always popular with kids.

"There's like 100 kids failing all over the Newfoundlands, and the dogs are licking their faces," Smith

Canton has zoning opportunity anton Township has a tremendous opportunity to set the tone for what Canon will look like as development moves to the western portion of the township

Let's hope township officials take that opportunity to zone out strip malls and retain some of the natural landscape and wetlands. Two of the most often-heard complaints in Canton are that there are too many strip malls and that the natural beauty which attracted many residents to Canton is disap-

Proper zoning and development are the keys to those issues. Township officials pay lip service to such issues, but those beliefs will be put to the test on April 19 when the rezoning of 680 acres of farmland west of Beck Road comes before the Canton Planning Commission.

Residents who are concerned about too many strip malls and the destruction of the natural landscape by homes and lawns should attend the meeting to voice their concerns.

Also, at a later date there will be hearings on the rezoning of an additional 300 acres to the west of Beck Road. That property is located south of the Stuart Farber acreage and south of Geddes Road.

If the look of newer subdivisions under construction along Canton Center Road is any evidence, there is reason for concern about what. development is doing to the landscape. While the homes are larger and on large-sized lots and there aren't any strip malls on the corner. the land use has created a desert as far as wildlife and aesthetics are concerned.

Large, green lawns may look stately, but produce nothing but grass clippings that must be disposed of in landfills or mulched. To maintain them, tons of chemical fertilizer is

Also, subdivisions chew up the small wetland areas relied on by wildfowl. Although not large, they do provide stopping spots for ducks

When it comes to aesthetics, leaving some open, wild areas in a subdivision does provide a rehef from the sight of green lawns and homes.

However, the acid test is the money issue. There is some hope that open space will be provided. As one Canton official put it: "The cost of the homes will depend on the land and development costs. They will provide open space so you probably will get some more ex-

That means the consumer is willing to pay for a natural landscape. So now it's up to Canton Township planning officials to see that the farmland is developed in a way that retains some of the natural beauty and doesn't become just another subdivision.

Keep up efforts to improve air ow we know it can be done. And we also know we've got to keep The air is cleaner in southeastern Michigan, according to a federal directive, and the region can drop plans for stricter vehicle tailpipe pollution testing.

The full seven-county region, which includes Oakland and western Wayne counties. was redesignated recently to "attainment" status, which means it has not exceeded federal limits for ozone (smog) levels four or more | the Detroit area without being subjected to times in any single year for the past three

That's wonderful news. After almost 17 years of effort by business, government and the citizenry, southeastern Michigan has been officially designated as being in compliance. with clean-air standards for ground-level ozone, the primary component of smog.

This success is why we're urging the continuation — and possibly even the expansion of the current vehicle emission inspection program. Most southeast Michigan drivers are close to a violation under certain w required to have their emissions tested yearly.

Currently, the test is waived for new vehicles and old ones over a certain age. Older cars should be tested too, we think.

Yes, we know that many residents, and even some auto industry insiders, considerthis test to be ineffective as well as a hopeless bureaucratic boondoggle. But it's better than nothing. It is, we believe, one of the factors that brought "attainment" status.

Certainly, the simple, inexpensive emissions test is better than what the feds had in mind for us if the region remained in non-

Overall, area industry will save about $55 million a year in additional controls, according to press reports.

Stricter tailpipe testing won't have to be implemented, and gas stations will not have to install equipment on nozzles to prevent the escape of vapors.

Businesses now will be able to move into pollution abatement requirements of "non-attainment" areas, a spokeswoman for the federal Environmental Protection Agency has

But southeast Michigan could quickly slide back into trouble with the EPA if the air qualditions, we're told

So let's keep testing and working for a better economic and environmental future for southeast Michigan.

"We hope that we can draw strength from this victory to move to a swimmable Rouge River and Lake St. Clair, and maybe even a regionally funded transit system," said John Amberger, executive director of SEMCOG, the regional planning authority.

Now that would be something to celebrate.

Program needs

spent two days last week in Muskegon visiting past president of the Canton Comunity Foundation Bill Myers. I had the good fortune to share with him the continued good work of the foundation, especially the continuation and support of human-service programs. He was so pleased to hear of the efforts on behalf of human services, especially those that he worked so hard at implement-

It was during the Myers administration that we worked to firmly establish the need for human service programming. During his year as president, I undertook to establish Canton Family Services, to provide counseling to Canton families in a time of need. After the program was off and running I had the pleasure of hiring for the foundation the first intake worker, Joan Noricks, the current foundation executive director. I enjoyed training Joan and especially enjoy now seeing her success in continuing the programs we started in 1989. Some of the programs may change, but the mission of service to the community

On a personal note, I was most pleased to be able to attend the first Canton Winter Ball. With nearly 900 people in attendance, the Board of Directors of the foundation and President Bob Paciocco should be commended for expanding on the concept of pulling people together in a social setting to celebrate all that . s good about the Canton community. Having organized the five annual Celebrate Canton Dinner Dances, I full well know the benefit of having a large banquet hall to accommodate the hundreds of people who want to be part of the community. Just wait until the Summit

Bruce Patterson regarding the amount of attention paid to Canton's roads by Wayne County. In his effort to show support for the local millage issue, Patterson unfortunately chose to wrongfully attack the county's record as justification for his support.

While Patterson seems to feel Canton's roads have been "neglected" since Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara took office in 1987, the roads themselves show anoth-

Since 1987, Wayne County, working in close partnership with township officials, has paved, widened or resurfaced 20 miles (or 41 percent) of the primary roads in Canton Township. The improvements include major work on Palmer, Sheldon, Warren, Beck, Haggerty, Joy, Cherry Hill, Morton-Taylor, Ridge and Hannan roads. These roads were able to be improved, in large part, because of Canton Township officials' commitment to providing good roads and their willingness to work cooperatively with Wayne County to make that happen. In fact, the reason Canton's roads have fared better than some other communities is because of its willingness to produce local funds to make county involvement easier.

This year, Wayne County will-further invest in Canton by building a brand-new road on Morton-Taylor and will reconstruct Canton Center from Cherry Hill to Ford, widening it to five lanes. Also, the reconstruction of Canton Center from Ford to Warren has been approved for 1996. The cost of these projects will exceed $6.5 million, while Canton's share will Besides road improvement projects, Wayne County, led by McNamara, created the county's first and long sought-after natural beauty roads in Canton. It also struck a deal last winter with Canton Township officials to provide for improved winter maintenance along 8.6 miles of local roads in Canton.

Wayne County's Department of Public Services supports Canton's upcoming road millage proposal. In the scramble to find funding for road improvements, it is becoming increasingly important to have local support. Local funds raised by Canton Township can effectively be used to leverage future available road funds to provide better and safer roads for all.

POINTS OF VIEW

SMART needs a map more than more money

am concerned that many people seem to regard the proposed new routes and tax increase as a simple solution to the existing problems with the SMART bus system, when in fact the plan is too little and far too late.

I am a metropolitan Detroiter — born and raised. I have never owned my own car, though there has always been one in the family. I recently graduated from law school and am actively seeking employment as an attorney in an extremely tight job market. In the meantime, I am working as a temporary secretary all over the Detroit area.

My efforts to remain consistently employed have been stymied, in part, by the lack of available transportation An assignment in Bloomfield Hills required a two-hour commute from my home in Southfield, by bus, and if I got out even five minutes late, I missed the second bus and had to walk six miles from the Royal Oak terminal.

I have briefly lived in other cities with excellent transportation systems. Philadelphia's bus and subway system is efficient, and while the individual train stops are not always sufficiently manned, the system as a whole is very effective, San Francisco's system, which Philadelphia's is modeled on, is extremely regular; if you miss one bus, another will be along with 10 minutes

If not, a refund is offered for the fare. Both cities have weekly and monthly passes, at affordable prices, available at both terminals and all major department stores, as well as other locations. Riding on Seattle's bus system is during the day, or 15-20 minutes at free (as is the system in Baltimore, Md). Businesses in Seattle voluntarily invested in the transportation system as being not only a good way to get employees to work, but as an incentive for the tourists to ride in the downtown safe, affordable and effective "Metro" system of bus and train transportation, linking the District with Baltimore and the suburbs of northern Virginia. SMART, by comparison, with an average wait time at any stop of 30-35 minutes, is a nightmare for commuters, especially in wet or cold weather. Further, most of the routes stop at 6 p.m., while some commuters are only just getting off work or to the stops. Increasing the system by nine routes will do nothing to decrease the wait times. on existing routes, or to help commuters who work late.

Nor will the proposed routes help commuters in the suburbs to any great extent; the map of the new routes shows one new route on Telegraph, but Southfield, Evergreen, Lahser, Greenfield and Coolidge are still largely unconnected. The mile roads remain

Additionally, while weekly tickets and monthly passes exist, they can only be purchased at the system's terminals, which are not staffed during weekends or evenings, but rather are manned only during the day — when most commuters who need the passes are working and cannot buy them.

The cooperation between SMART and DDOT, which has been much touted lately, consists of shared routes. This is nonsensical - instead the solving the suburban transportation problems, it doubled the number of ouses on downtown routes that were already more than adequately covered by DDOT alone.

What should have happened instead s that SMART buses should have been rerouted to the suburbs. This would not even have required a tax in-

This area has a wonderful grid system which, if properly utilized, could solve the transportation problems that exist here. We may indeed need a tax increase to completely solve these problems, but I think that what is truly necessary is a complete redesigning of the routes SMART buses use.

SMART leadership should sit down and take a good long look at a regional map. Before they try to sell taxpayers on an increase that will only add a few new routes and doesn't correct any of the existing problems, they ought to try redesigning the current system. If a tax increase is then necessary, I'd be all for it, if wait times decreased, fares dropped, and the routes went where I, and other auto-less commuters need to go. But I won't vote for an increase to cover the proposed plan, and I urge other taxpayers to think twice before

Guest columnist Amy Washburn relies on suburban busing for transportation from her home in Southfield to jobs all over the suburbs. The Observer uses guest columns on a regular basis. For more information about writing one, call Jeff Counts, the editor, at 459-2700.

Governor's beliefs take back seat to practical concerns hat age-old conflict between ideology and practicality has reemerged as a dominant fact in today's political landscape, as triumphantly conservative Republicans take on the responsibilities of governing.

When in opposition and out of power, it's easy — heck, it's fun! — to be a flamethrower, pure and savage with the true belief. But once in office and saddled with the responsibility to get something done, ideological purity of ten takes a back seat to practical reali-

The evolution in office of Gov. John Engler offers a wonderful case in point.

Item: Last week, the governor announced creation of the Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA), a panel of state and private gubernatori al appointees that would hand out tax breaks aimed at companies that expand or locate in Michigan and create

I remember what Senate leader En gler (then in the opposition) said back in the 1980s when Gov. Jim Blanchard tried to play an activist role in job creation. Engler argued that tax incentives were a fraud, an expensive lesson why government could not - certainly should not - "pick winners and osers" in the economic marketplace.

And you should hear the snarls from Engler's free market cronies now. Talk about loss of ideological purity! Item: Gov. Engler unveiled at last week's Society of Automotive Engi-

Michigan Auto Partnership. Intended to replace the 10,000 skilled auto workers who will retire over the next seven years, the Partnership will link the state, its leading industry and educational institutions to provide skills for young people. "What industry has been telling us of Automotive Transportation, "It's like the movie "Field of Dreams": If you build it, they will come. And what we need to build is a manufacturing base. People will come to that." Doug Rothwell, chief executive of the running a state, you have to do what Michigan Jobs Commission, argued: "The state or region that fills this need first will have an advantage for job growth. We're told by industry that if we're successful, this would be a significant determinant as to where they make future investments."

Evidently, the Engler Administration proposes to expand the idea to other key Michigan industries facing a labor shortage, such as plastics and food processing.

Back in the 1980s, I chaired the Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council in the Blanchard Administra tion. We tried to do much the same sort of thing. And, of course, the ideo logues attacked the program as an

Irish

BY KYLE GREEN SPECIAL WRITER

Regardless of one's cultural background, every year on March 17 we all come Irish.

It's not as though the Republic of Ireland's patron saint saved us all, but on that day we all have permission to sport green clothing, talk with a fake sccent, and simply be Irish.

Even though metro Detroit is thouands of miles away from the Emerald Isle, there are enough activities in metro Detroit to help you celebrate like a native.

Over the past 10 years, Irish born Mick Gavin of Redford has seen the St. Patrick's Day celebration he helped organize grow from several people to a packed hou

This year's Irish Music Song & Dance Fest will be 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. Fri., March 17 at the Bonnie Brook Country Club in Redford. The celebration features traditional music from Ireland, Scotland and Cape Breton. There will be over 40 entertainers singers.

"It is not a pub type thing, it is more of a family festivity," said Gavin.
"In Ireland St. Patrick's Day is a holiday or holy day. It's a day we celebrate the wearing of the green. It is a tradi-tion that the Irish started due to the oppression against them, and it is a tradition today."

Last year, the festival attracted over 700 people. It also offers a cash bar, and corned beef and cabbage dinners are available for purchase.

Other featured performers at the Irish Music Song & Dance Fest are Ed McGlinchey, Mick Gavin and John Sands, Steve, Tom & Jim McNeil, The Kitty Heinzman Ceili Dancers, and members of the U.S. and Canadian Champion City of Detroit Pipe

Shannon Watkins, 14, and Kelly Bonner, 12 of Westland, students at the Tim O'Hare School of Irish Dance in Plymouth, will be among the step dancers. "You meet a lot of people from all over the United States, and it keeps you in shape," said Watkins explaining why she enjoys step dancing.

Bonner said he enjoys the dance competitions, making friends, and just the challenge of it. Watkins, Bonner, and other dancers from the school will also be participating in the St. Patrick's Day Parade sponsored by the Gaelic League/Irish American Club. Botsford Inn's meal provides an alternative to Americanized Irish cuisine. "It is important in the sense that there is a tremendous amount of Irish culture that we are celebrating on the day, and it is not with green beer,' said inn owner Creon Smith.

SRO (Standing Room Only) Productions cur-rently offers Neil Simon's farce, "Rumors," at "The Burgh" in Southfield. Director Nancy Harrower offers a very fast-paced evening filled with silly anec-dotes and standard Simon jokes and one-liners. The humor in "Rumors," however, seems to have been pulled out of Simon's standard one-liner bag of jokes. It's familiar, yet it can still tickle a funny bone if delivered properly

For the most part, SRO's production offers well-timed comedic delivery. Unfortunately, the highlevel, starter pistol energy used to open the show leaves little room for the comedic tension to build.

The "Rumors" begin at the anniversary party of Charley and Myra Brock. Charley has, rather inappropriately, shot himself in the earlobe and is unconscious from too much Valium; Myra is nowhere to be found.

Party guests Ken and Chris Gorman (Marc Rosati and Kathleen Ternes) connive to keep this assumed marital conflict/possible suicide attempt undercover to save the host and hostess from possi-

Rappers I.C.P. sign to Jive

he world apparently won't end after South field-based rappers I.C.P. release their sixth album. The rappers, who dress in clown outfits, have signed a "long-term deal" with Jive Records, according to I.C.P. spokesman Bruce Lorfel

In an October interview with Street Scene, .C.P. said, "Every album is a joker card. By the time the sixth joker card's released . . . the world's gonna be over with." Lorfel couldn't reveal if a "long-term deal" meant more than three albums, but we assume so.

Jive - which boasts a line-up that includes R Kelly and his alleged teenaged bride Aslivah of Detroit Shaquille O'Neal and Too $hort - is one of the top rap and R&B labels in the United States. Lorfel speculates that I.C.P.'s third album the first with Jive) will be out in early summer as a joint venture between Jive and I.C.P.'s label. Psychopathic Records.

The first video will be filmed during an April 7 performance at The Ritz in Roseville. Lorfel isn't sure which song it's going to be but, "We're enrouraging kids to show up in clown outfits. A lot of them do anyway . . . because we're going to shoot (film) these kids as part of the video," Lorfel said. For information about the show, call (810) 778-

His life turned around when he hooked up with the industrial rock band Red Square Black, which ncludes former Oxxy Osbourne band member Rand Castillo. When Oge heard their debut EP "Square" (Zoo Endetainment), he called it "a cracker."

Red Square Black's music and Lowery's look are a far cry from his days in the high school band Dirty Tricks. "We won all these battle of the bands, the high ol talent show when I was not even in high school yet. I had all these newspaper clippings of Dirty Tricks. I'm wearing this Ralph Lauren huge Polo sweater in one picture. Now I'm covered in tattoos and things like that."

Musical fortune rises for Droge

He worked at a pizza joint with Pearl Jam's Mike McCready, moved on to a spot on the soundtrack of "Dumb and Dumber." How he's opening for Tom Petty. Pete Droge's musical fortunes are on

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO

The scenario sounds almost like another twentysomething film: two guys working at a pizza joint, talking music, occasionally going to a party and jamming. They were a little more serious about their dreams than two long hairs in a movie, though. One half of the duo was Mike McCready, thenfuture guitarist of Pearl Jam. The other was Pete Droge, who scored a hit with "If You Don't Love Me (I'll Kill Myself)" thanks to, ironically, a movie - "Dumb and Dumber."

"When we met at the pizza joint, we realized we had quite a bit in com mon musically, as far as the philosophy of music and taste in music. said Droge who, like McCready, always wears wide-brimmed hats. "He turned me on to music that I hadn't been exposed to before.

Now Droge's working his way up to being as popular as McCready. The 25-year-old Droge is surprised he's gotten this far, but it's something he always imagined.

"I thought positive thoughts about it for a long time; I visualized it," he

The road to the spot opening for Tom Petty on his arena tour, was rough - literally. Shortly after his debut "Necktie Second" (American Recordings) was released, he did a 'residency tour" where he played in the same city, one night a week for a month. That amounted to a different city each night.

"It was really grueling, we had a lot of driving. Some of us started to get really sick at that time. We had prob lems with our van, too. We had brake problems, alignment problems. It was a real tough leg," he said. His Detroit shows were at A.F.B., a popular watering hole on Woodward Avenue in Detroit. The first night was packed, the second was lessthan-stellar, but by the third, lister ers had "become hip to the music.

But his most vivid memories of De troit relate to the city's nickname of "Motor City."

"My memories of Detroit, immediately, are of the certain Ford garage and the large sums of money being shoved into our van. Detroit was the place where we had a lot of our repairs done. What better place to get the car fixed," Droge said.

The big break

The residency tour helped him establish a name for himself, but his big break came when "If You Don't Love Me" was added to the "Dumb and Dumber" soundtrack. The release of that single, he said, is a good segue for people to explore the rest of Necktie Second.

"Things are going very well for me right now; everything's on the upslide right now," said Droge who now lives in Oregon. "We're getting more press attention, more radio play and that ("Dumb and Dumber") definitely helped that.

Parts of the album were recorded in very unlikely places, including the bathroom of Room 306 at the Hampton Inn in Atlanta, Ga.

"I just set it up in the bathroom in the motel room where there's tile and a natural reverb," he said explaining the technicalities. "The bathroom's a little bit more reflective (of the sound).

From playing in the bathroom to gigging in clubs to opening for Tom Petty in arenas wasn't a hard jump for Droge. "I found it surprisingly easy to make the adjustment it takes to do that (play arenas)," he said. "I was really flattered. A lot of the promoters and a lot of the people around had a lot of nice compliments "Your timing has to be a lot more precise between songs. Playing club you can tweak your tuning, lean back and tell a little story. In arenas, you gotta be ready to end one song and go nto another directly."

One of the stories he likes to tell at shows is that "If You Don't Love Me" doesn't reflect his current state of

" 'If You Don't Love Me' . . . defi nitely not' it's more of a glimpse into the past," he said. "It was what I was thinking about when I was 12 or 13 when, you know, you meet a girl, you nass notes back and forth. You're an item, you're dating and she dumps you. You get all bummed then you realize it's not life or death."

His new material is more reminiscent of "If You Don't Love Me." It possess more of an edge and is more

"A good portion of the songs that I've been writing lately are more band-oriented rock songs . . . a little

Francke extracts reality from reality

BY KYLE GREEN

Many musicians live in a self-induced fantasy world filled with musical icons and self-love.

While living in the real world of day-to-day living, Stewart Francke has created an imaginary world where his own musical characters can survive with their trials and tribulations on his debut release "Where the River Meets the Bay" (Schoolkids Records). This musical world is a long stretch from his middle class upbringing in Saginaw, but well worth the ticket, he said.

"Saginaw is geography where the river meets the bay, so it has set up some sort of mystical place," Francke said. "I am trying to create a fictional andscape so that the characters can live and breathe and take shape. Every artist's job is to extract reality from reality."

The easy-flowing 11-track release took a year to plan, record and market with material which touches on daily trials and tribulations, all within the realm of reality.

"(The songs) were written over the last five years about a certain sense of place and the people that move around the place," Francke said.

That is an idea that many of the top 40 superstars tend to shy away from, with the exception of Sheryl Crow, Edie Brickell and Lisa Loeb.

"I cannot write a 'starry' pop tune," Franke said "This contains the rhythm and the details of life and that is important to me and that is what I wanted to do. I think I succeeded with what I want ed to do. "The most important thing is to try to get the specifics and the details right so that the songs reflect the day-to-day as much as possible. I try to write songs that are short stories. Francke credits his 11-month-old daughter Tess and his wife of seven years, Julia, with keeping him centered and focused. Julia inspired Francke to ame his publishing company after her, Ailuj Pub-

"Where the River Meets the Bay" is Francke's first formal entry into the music world, but the 36year-old has been performing since he picked up a guitar in his early 20s.

Along with a number of headlining gigs, he has opened for the Cowboy Junkies, Sam Phillips, The BoDeans, Warren Zevon and Grammy Awardwinner Sheryl Crow. Francke has seen some national spotlight attention as well. He has twice showcased his music at the Songwriter's Hall of Fame Series in New York.

Right now he is more concerned with the quality of his music than the amount of attention he receives nationally

"Some people have found great success with (the Hall of Pame Series)," he said. "I just want to gather a relatively loyal and attentive audience. I just want to write creative pieces."

Writing is nothing strange to the quality-based musician who is also a music reporter for national and local publications. Talking to recording artists is just part of the job and not an invitation to ask advice, Francke said.

advice, Francke said.

"T've interviewed Yoko Ono, Bruce Springsteen, John Mellencamp, Mitch Ryder, Bob Seger . . . I have spoken to all my idols," he said. "I don't even tell them I am a writer. As soon as people think that you want something out of them, they shut off. I want to do something for myself."

As for his own career, Francke is proud of his first effort with the recording industry. What will the future hold for him in 10 years?

"I hope I am still alive," he said followed by a

Thread — Reigndance

One day this past summer, Andre Comeau came to the beach I worked at. Comeau is the lead singer of Reigndance, a band whose biggest exposure thus far ahead, Buffalo Tom-style rock has come from his stint as one of the first castmembers on MTV's "The Real World." The buzz has main problem. 1994's "Thread" kind of died down around the band since then, but when word in that vein, only with The Sec got out that he (along with some ond Album's obligatory "growth" friends who may or may not have been other band members) were sitting down on the grass near the beach, you would have thought it was 1965 and the Beatles had gan freaking out. Now, I can see how he might be a little tired of people babbling on are simply overused phrases like about Eric from "The Grind" or "Guilt is written all over your face asking him, "Are you Puck?" But ("Don't Look to Me")." Then MTV a lot: they always threw in a as expressed in titles like "Time gan State University.

shown up. Everyone generally be-few seconds of the band rocking away in some sweaty club every couple of episodes, and every time I've seen an ad for them to play, the words "AS SEEN ON MTV'S 'REAL WORLD'" are almost as big as the band's name. Nomads travel to tropical paradise

BY ETHEL SIMMONS STAFF WRITER

When the Nomads air travel club recently flew to Huatulco, Mexico, Delores and David Maylen of Lathrup Village were on board for their third trip to the golden Pacific Coast destination.

"The Huatulco Sheraton Resort is a tropical paradise, which we had visited three times with the Nomads," Delores said. The weeklong trip was the first of many that the Maylens have planned for 1995. It was their 139th adventure with the No-

The Maylens have been members of the metropolitan-Detroit club for 30 years and each has flown more than 682,000 miles with the group. On the return flight from the recent trip, Delores declared, "The passenger handling, trip planning, destinations and friendliness have improved over the years to a point of near perfection. Dr. Ronald and Joyce Huey of Bloomfield Hills found time for golf, swimming, water polo and deep sea fishing during their stay at the Sheraton Huatulco Resort on the beach of Tangolunda Bay near Santa Cruz. "The fishing turned out to be great fun, as well as productive," Ronald said. "We brought back one of the Yellowtail tuna to the hotel for dinner. The chef did an outstanding job in its preparation. Although it weighed more than 10 pounds, it didn't last long when shared with our Nomad friends."

Playing the well-kept, 18-hole golf course near the hotel was fun for Bill and Marilyn Schmitt of West Bloomfield. Marilyn said the course was "long for women and difficult due to trees place directly in line of the greens on some holes. A real challenge!"

Choosing an easier way to unwind were Joel and Alice Goldberg of West Bloomfield, who preferred sun, sand and lounging around the pool.

Salem, Canton set for state

Perhaps the results weren't quite perfect for Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton at last Saturday's state regional gymnas-tics meet, but it came pretty close. Both teams qualified for Friday's state team meet, and members of both will seek honors at Saturday's individual championships.

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

Final analysis: The best rise to the occasion when it counts most.

So, too, does Plymouth Canton. The two teams placed second and third, respectively, in the regional— which accomplished what they wanted. Both will compete at Fri-day's state team gymnastics meet, hosted by Troy.

In addition, members of both ams will vie for honors at Saturday's individual finals, also at Troy. If there was any kind of disappointment at the regional, it was that neither Salem nor Canton could come away with first place. That went to Northville-Novi, which scored 141.9 points.

Salem, however, posted its best team mark of the season in placing second. The Rocks scored 141.05; Canton took third (139.8). Ann Arbor Huron was a distant fourth (133.55), just ahead of Westland John Glenn (133.5). The top three teams qualified for state.

(See statistical summary on 5C.)
"We got everyone back," said Salem coach Pam Yockey, whose team has been plagued by injury and illness all season. "We peaked at the right time. I guess we could have scored nine-tenths of a point more."

That would have placed the

That would have placed the Rocks ahead of Northville; they'll get another shot at the Mustangs Friday.

What aided Salem's return to a what along Salem's return to a ranking among the state's best—the Rocks were state champs in '93 and finished third last season—was Brooke Kilby's comeback. The sophomore had been out with a foot injury, which prevented her from competing in the vault. But she did place ninth in the balance beam [8,2], 10th in the preven parallel. Among the best: Salem's Melissa Hopson will once again challenge for the title of state's best gymnast.

team," said Yockey.

Of course, there were a couple of other valuable parts.

Like Melissa Hopson, a senior whose competition has been limited due to a knee injury. Hopson may not be quite 100 percent still, but it hardly showed at the regional; she battled Canton's Katey Gilles (also recovering from an injury) for the recovering from an injury) for the Division I all-around title throughout the meet.

Gilles ended up with the victory, scoring 37.65 points to Hopson's 37.60. Salem's Kristen Kosik placed third with 36.05.

Hopson won the beam (9.45) and placed second in the floor (9.5), bars (9.45) and vault (9.2). Gilles claimed victories in the vault (9.6) and floor (9.55); she finished third in the beam (9.1) and bars (9.4). Kosik was third in floor (9.25), fourth in vault (8.95), fifth in beam (8.75) and sixth in bars (9.1).

"Katey came through, especially on vault," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "Give Katey her due, but the kids I want to spotlight are in Division II. They all worked really hard."

Gilles is the only Division I gymnast Canton has, Salem has Hopson, Kosik and Kilby.

And yet, when looking at the Division II results, the spotlight first must fall on a Salem gymnast: Zoe Yockey, daughter of the Salem coach. Yockey enjoyed her best meet of the season continues the all of the season, capturing the all-around championship (34.95).

Yockey was first in both bars (8.85) and vault (8.65), second in floor (9.25) and tied for 13th in beam (8.2).

First of all, what must be realized is that both teams have to reach the regional final before trying to win it.

days later to start the state tournament against a mediocre opponent that nonetheless presented all sorts of problems during the regular season.

That's what faced Plymouth Canton Monday, when the Chiefs took on Livonis Franklin in the opening round of the Novi district tournament. On Feb. 3, the Patriots were within five points of Canton in the final quarter before tailing off and losing. 54-37.

So what would happen this time?
It seemed an ideal setup for an upset. "I worried about that all day today," said Canton coach Dan Young. "Are we going to be ready to play?"

Fear not, coach — the Chiefs were never in trouble in this cakewalk, simply because they put three guards on the floor to start the game who are far better than anything Franklin could counter with.

The final result was 62-45, but it could have been worse for the Patriots. After all, they trailed 15-4 after one quarter, 30-16 at the half and 48-30 through three quarters. With just under six minutes left in the game, the score was 55-31; the Chiefs scored just seven more points and still won

The determining factor was displayed early: The far-quicker Chiefs forced 11 first-quarter turnovers while surrendering a meager four shots from the floor. Canton shot well in the first half, but not great (12-of-27, 44 percent); Franklin, however, managed to get off just 13 floor shots in the first

"That's not going to win it," admitted Patriot coach Larry Jackson, whose team ended its season with a 7-14 record. "We felt we did a decent job on the defensive end, where they didn't run wild with 10- or 12-point awings.

"We had a very good meet," said Cunningham. Canton, however, is capable of better, the Chiefs bettered 140 at a dual meet in Traverse City.

Cunningham figured Gilles has a solid shot at successfully defending her Division I state championship in the individual all-around Saturday, and he thinks both Wall, in the beam, and Jackson, in the vault, are good enough to win individual titles in Division II.

As for the team champion the Canton coach figured Holland, the defending state champ,

'Jesus Christ Superstar' traces Christ's last 7 days

When Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice sat down to create "Jesus Christ Superstar" in 1969, they began a most unlikely journey to the stage.

Now, some 25 years later, the musical is back on stage, making a stop at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor March 28-29.

Based on the last seven days in the life of Jesus of Nazareth, "Superstar" has Ted Neeley recreating his role of Jesus Christ from the popular motion picture 22

Originally created as a tworecord rock opers released in the U.S. and Britain, the album sold 21/2 million copies and was such a success that it spawned numerous concert tours

Webber, Rice, and Robert Stigwood (at the time their manager) then created a "Jesus Christ Superstar" for the Broadway stage that opened in October 1971, with a then-unheard-of advance sale of more than $1 million. The original Broadway production played more than 700 performances, followed by a sold-out national tour.

The current production, directed and choreographed by Tony Christopher, returns Broadway's 'Jesus Christ Superstar" to its rock roots, using contemporary theater technology like state-of-the-art, hand-held and headset wireless microphones; fiber optics; and computer-generated lighting.

It has received rave reviews and played to sold-out audiences in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Cleveland and Minneapolis.

With 1990s high-tech whistles and bells, this production is the razzle-dazzle realization of Rice and Webber's original intent, said The Baltimore Sun.

Rice believed that he and Webber, who had previously collaborated on another biblical story, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," were mining fertile territory. "If Christ cannot be taken to the streets. into the fields and into the houses, then he has no meaning at all," he said.

"Jesus Christ Superstar" has been seen in 37 different countries and is responsible for bringing millions into theaters for the first time.

Tickets for the two 8 p.m. shows at the Michigan Theatre are on sale now at $29.50 and $34.50 at TicketMaster outlets, or by charge by calling (810) 645-6666. The Michigan Theatre also charges a $1 theater restoration fee per ticket.

Impatiens makes impressive show hen readers call with information about something they've grown, we all learn more about gardening - and it helps me with a column idea. Such is the case with John Halbert of Royal Oak.

Last year he bought a plant from Mr. Uhlinak, who has a greenhouse in Armada and a stall at the Royal Oak Farmer's Market, and was pleased and surprised with the result.

John gardens on a typical suburban plot, with partial shade, and he has transformed his back yard into almost all garden with many shade-loving plants (and a few sun lovers for the sunny areas). Many flowers grace the front of the house, too. Hydrangia, Asian and Oriental Lilies, Chelone (Turtle Head), Astilbe, Amaranthus, Ferns (nursery and ivy), Hostas, Lily of the Valley, Evening Primrose, Balloon Flowers. False Dragonhead and others make up the garden scene

Impressive Impatiens

Many plants are grown in pots, Last year he maintained 91 pots of flowers! The plant he wanted me to see (an old variety) is a relative of the Impatiens, I. glandulifera, which was towering in its pot at least seven feet tall from the soil line with nine-inch, lance-shaped, serrated leaves. The main flower stem is hollow and can grow as large as eight inches in circumference - his was two inches at the soil line. The leaves (one 13 inches long) form along the stem and as secondary stems form, smaller leaves are produced.

Blooming begins at the top of the plant around mid-July and later buds open on the secondary stems allowing the plant to flower until late August. The flowers resemble a Lady's Slipper with two-part, two-tone pink petals. The bottom of the flower is slightly

Sometimes the flower color is clear pink, mulberry red (or a blend) or white, according to the book "Annuals for Connoisseurs" by Wayne Winterrowd.

Cold facts

This author suggests that seeds need winter cold to germinate and should be sown in place in moist or well-watered friable garden soil in the garden or in a nursery. Chilling in the refrigerator for a month will work also, then sow on sterile compost. Able to endure some frost, the plant will grow quickly when warm weather begins. Thinning is recommended. Fertiliz-ing usually isn't necessary.

John grew his tall plant in soil he had composted with grass, used no fertilizer or sprays. It did receive hot afternoon sun, but stood up Winterrowd considers this plant quite "promiscuous" as the seeds scatter readily. I wonder how John will feel after a couple of seasons, but we must try new things in our gardens. Where else could we have more fun?

I have checked many companies for seeds for cross stitching for the twins her daughter's expecting in August. "I like what I'm left with when I'm done, the end result," said Williams "I enjoy cross stitching so much and sharing it with people." Shop stocks finery

That is apparent in her shop. Stitch N-Time sells the finest linens from Ireland, Germany and Switzerand to cross stitch your memories on.

Ready-made pillows, tote bags, clocks, towels, hats, light switch covers and samplers, some of them from their heyday in the 1700 and 1800s await, ready for the stitching. A red Raggedy Ann doll on a black sweater is an example of the popular duplicate stitch, so called because the stitcher simply follows the stitches found naturally in the sweater. Stitch-N-Time stocks more than 3,000 pattern books but if you're searching for custom creations they'll put you in touch with a Michigan company that designs cross stitch patterns from a photograph of your dog or whatever your heart's desire. "There's a lot you can do. It's almost as if they can make it, you can stitch on it.

Nine years ago Williams opened with 1,000 square feet of wares including the bins and bins of colorful floss. Today she's tripled the size of the shop, proof of the needleart's in-

Quilting classes

Quilting is the key to creating future family treasures at Village Patchwork. Owners, Kitty Cole and Jan Williams offer not only the fabrics at their Old Village shop, but classes on how to make them.

"I've seen a 10-12 percent growth trend in the last year in more people ecoming involved with quilting," said Cole of Milford. "Since adults and children are not earning to sew, as a quilt shop owner I feel a responsibility to offer classes to both so we don't lose this American art that connects us with our foremothers. "Throughout our history it's been a danowski, a medical technologist at me quilting respresents a link to the past from my greatgrandmother to my mother to me. It's linked to a woman art or craft because it's love."

Quilting is a little more costly than cross stitch. Classes run $45 add another $35 for fabric and initial investment of $30 for tools. Eleven Village Patchwork instructors including one male teach everything from creating Victorian Crazy Quilts to Machine Piecing. On a modern-age note, workshops on Computers and Quilts keep stitchers on the cutting edge of quilting technology.

Machine vs. hand

If you plan to get into this art be aware that the old-fashioned method hand quilting is less expensive than quilting done with a sewing machine due to the major initial investment. There is a debate between quilting purists as to the integrity of machine quilting but Williams says to choose the form of needlework most suited to your lifestyle

"There's also a debate in the quilting community whether it's an art or craft. Quilting is very creative. It's an artistic expression that we enourage. Hopefully what we're doing is helping people make their dreams and their mories," Williams said.

ERA succeeds with Seller's Security Plan

About 15 years after Electronic Realty Associates began its Seller's Security Plan guaranteeing, "If we don't sell your house, ERA will buy it!", the plan is still going strong. "It's worked real well," said Matt Kenkel, owner of ERA Banker My's Realty in Farmington Hills. "What it really does for us is it gives the seller a certain level of comfort. If the house doesn't sell, they have this program to fall back on."

In the past year, Kenkel said, his office has used the plan four or five times. He added that it is ideal for people who are relocating. "It's peace of mind," said Dani

Pett, a Realtor with ERA Rymal Symes in West Bloomfield.

ERA on average receives 372 appli cations a year from people who want to sell their homes through the plan.

the program last June, eliminating application fees.

What the plan does is assure sellers their houses will sell. When sellers list their house with a participating ERA office, provided the house qualifies for the plan, and it does not sell within 210 days from the application date, ERA will buy it at a price the Realtor and seller have agreed on earlier.

"It's a guaranteed safety sale. It's ike a safety net," said Sharon Menard, coordinator at ERA's national office in Overland Park, Kan.

ERA keeps the house on the market for seven months before buying it from the seller, allowing it to be purchased by a home buyer. "If nobody else has come in within seven months and made an offer, we will close with them." Menard said. If sellers find a house before the seven months are up, they have nothing to worry about. "When they go to purchase a home, their home is sold for all practical purposes," Menard

For a house to qualify, it must be a single-family, owner-occupied dwelling up for resale, appraised at more than $35,000. And the seller must agree to purchase a new home through a broker with ERA affilia-

Through the plan, sellers may receive up to $100,000 in equity on their old home to use as a down payment on a new one.

Another nice point about the plan, Kenkel said, is that if ERA does end up taking the title to the house and if the sellers end up losing money on the deal, they are not required to make up for it. But if they make more money than originally agreed on, the profit is passed on to the sellers. "There's really not a whole lot of ERA takes the title.

Listing a home through the Seller's Security Plan is not much different from a regular listing, he said. There is a chance sellers may have to pay an appraisal fee, but in the end they get t back when they sell house.

Along with benefits to the seller, there are advantages to the Realtor, too. "The benefits for us are we sell more houses," Pett said. "It's a list-

Kenkel said he sometimes gets calls from potential customers after they have seen the program advertised in the newspaper. Other times, he gets calls from people who have listed their property with another Realtor but have had little success. The benefits for us and the franchise are it brings us business we sued. Can we sue the seller arguing represented, even in light of the "as is" clause?

Court of Appeals decision, I believe there is a basis for you to pursue the seller, in spite of the "as is" clause. The court in a recent case found that it is not reasonable to assume, as a matter of law, that every purchaser should examine the local building inspector's records before - Becky Burns, special writer | purchasing a residential home.

Whether such assumption should be made in your case, as was the case in the Court of Appeals, is a question of fact for the fact finder, either a judge or jury. Therefore, you may have a reasonable basis, based upon the facts of your case, to pursue the of rental incomes retained may vary, depending upon the region, but there are management companies that collect as much as 50 percent of the rental fees from the co-owner/landlords.

For example, in Aspen, Colo., there are a number of hotel condominiums where the management company collects a stipend from each rental property, but there are also, significantly condominium associations that have retained their own personnel to manage the hotel.

Therefore, there are no fees collected from the rental, except as is necessary to fund the operations of the hotel condominium. Depending upon the locale, and the size of the condominium, the condominium association should explore what alternatives are available on a competitive basis to most efficiently operate the condominium project.

Houses offer access to lake, freeways

It's not really close in terms of miles. But a pair of area builders with sterling reputations have a subdivision under construction that provides lake living with great freeway access.

BY DOUG FUNKE

Eden Gardens. a subdivision with 31 lots, has good Donald Pratt, a residential builder in Troy, and Fred Capaldi, a Rochester Hills residential builder, have joined forces to erect houses in the rural community of Fenton Township. Each has won Builder of the Year designation from the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. Each has served as president of that professional group. Each continues a family tradition in the building industry.

Capaldi and Pratt have scaled down the best elements of floor plans they've previously developed for Eden Gardens. They offer a story and a half, a two story and a ranch. Prices start at $154,900.

The partners can build each other's plans and will alternate jobs. About half of the lots front on Dollar Lake, a no-wake waterway perfect for rowboats, pontoon boats or sailboats. Lakefront lots carry a premium of $18,000.

One of the things we were looking at was getting into the affordable market," Pratt said. "Up here, affordable is $180,000 and under."

The draws out here, naturally, are the water and the country living." said Capaldi. "These are nice size lots, 90-by-135 feet."

The development has good ac-cess to 1-75 and US-23. Even though the site is as close to Flint as O&E communities, the drive would be reasonable for workers in Oakland County and Ann Arbor.

the builders agree.
"I thought we'd be a good drawing card for people who work in Auburn Hills," Pratt said. "The (Chrysler) tech center is 30, 35 minutes away."

"This is a phenomenal spot for getting around the state," Pratt wers and well water. The subdivision will have streetlights but no sidewalks. The property is in the Lake Fenton Community Schools.

Two models are on site. The Shorewood, a 1,700-square-foot story-and-a-half, features the master bedroom suite on the main level and two bedrooms and a full bath upstairs.

The master showcases a separate tub and shower and walk-in closet. The first floor also has a formal den, great room, kitchen/eating nook, half bath and laundry.

A two-story foyer greets visitors at the front door. The great room has a sloped ceiling.

"We can't get custom out of our system," said Capaldi, who built the model.

The basic Shorewood is priced at $164.900.

The Lakewood, 1,750 square feet erected by Pratt, places all three bedrooms and two full baths upstairs. The master has a shower only. Both secondary bedrooms have walk-in closets and ceiling lights.

A large great room highlights the main level with kitchen/eating nook, half bath and laundry.

MICHIGAN CONDOMINIUM

A two-story foyer rises at the main entrance.

"Again, we tried to introduce as much light as possible," Pratt said. The basic Lakewood is $154,900.

The third floor plan, the Drift-wood, a ranch of about 1,700 square feet, offers three bedrooms, 21/2 baths, great room, kitchen/eating nook and laundry for $167,900. Standard features on all floor plans include two-car garage, base-ment, fireplace, dishwasher and garbage disposal.

Vinyl siding is the standard exterior. Brick is extra.

The tax rate for residential property in Fenton Township serviced by the Lake Fenton Schools is about $23.10 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

That means the owner of a $165,000 house in Eden Gardens would pay about $1,900 yearly in property taxes.

A flat fee of $159 also is currently billed to residential property owners in Fenton for garbage colection and mosquito control.

Steve Haggard, a commercial pi-lot who regularly commutes to Metro airport, has purchased a Shorewood model with wife, Lou Ann, and sons, Jake and Sam.

The family will add a fourth bedroom and additional space in

The sub is on a cul-de-sac and won't have much traffic," Steve said. "We wanted to get to a smaller town. We've been told it has good schools."

Lake access is also a plus, he added.

"The model, I like the way it's laid out very efficiently," Haggard said. "With a fourth bedroom, there's no wasted space."

"Lakefront property is golden," said Wayne Ulrich, sales rep on site. "People sort of gravitate to that, especially in this area."

The sales office at Eden Gardens, (810) 689-8375, is open noon-5 p.m. daily, closed Thursdays and Fridays.
