School voters head to polls

The school tax increase would cost the owner of a $100,000 home an additional $115 in taxes. The owner of a $200,000 home would pay an additional $130 in property tax. The 2.3-mill levy would expire after two years.

Plymouth-Canton voters will decide the outcome on Monday of two tax proposals and eight would-be school board members.

Voters are being asked to elect two school board members; approve a two-year, 2.3-mill property tax increase; and to renew 18 non-homestead mills on commercial and industrial property for 10 years.

"This election is exceptionally important to everyone in our community," said Superintendent Charles Lit-"The most important thing now is that people remember to vote on Monday, June 12."

Volunteer workers: Canton's Playscape at Heritage Park started taking shape on Wednesday with the help of volunteer workers such as Nancy Behr, who made sure the holes for the supporting beams were the right depth. The project is still in need of volunteers. Just show up during work hours from 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Financial donations are also needed.

Canton police mull tougher false alarm policy

Canton police are irritated by the number of false alarms in the township and are reviewing a nuisance ordinance with financial penalties.

Some 206 calls were received dur-ing the month of April. Most were of careless rather than malicious origin.

"Of those runs some 99 percent were false," said Officer Lou Stevens, of the Canton Police department. "We're trained to react quickly."

These false alarms endanger officers who treat each call as legitimate. As they speed off to the scene, the likelihood increases that they will be involved in an (traffic) accident, Stevens said.

A minimum of two police officers respond to a break-in call. "Each call takes an average of 20 minutes," Stevens said. "That's 40 minutes of officers respond, Stevens said.

Most false alarms are attributed to "user error," Stevens said. "An employee doesn't know the proper code and triggers the alarm."

Employees who are not trained properly, businesses with a high employee turnover, and no retraining when combinations change, all increase the chances for false alarms, Stevens said.

In addition, parents do not train

The current nuisance policy for alarms allows no penalty for the first offense, $10 for the second false alarm and $25 for every false alarm thereafter, Stevens said.

5 candidates vie for 4 seats on S'craft board

Besides voting in their local school board elections Monday, voters will choose four representatives for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. Incumbents Mary Breen of Plymouth Township, Harry Greenleaf of Livonia and Steve Ragan of Plymouth are running for three six-year terms expiring June 30, 2001.

They are challenged by Brian Broderick of Plymouth, an attorney with Leikin & Ingher of Southfield Trustee Carol Strom of Livonia.

Regional people are different, They come from the ranks of local elected officials, but they tend to change when they reach the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

"People in regionalism are a cut above others in politics," Wayne County Probate Judge Milton Mack recalls being told. "They ook beyond their immediate constituencies. They do it at some degree of risk. You are participating in an activity your constituents don't really understand, Mack said on his own behalf. The Southeast Michigan Coun-

Vote no on millage

he proposed 2.3-mill property-tax increase sought by the Plymouth Canton Community Schools (PCCS) comes at a time when PCCS grant funding from the State of Michigan is increasing, thanks to community growth in Canton Township.

773 new single-family housing permits were issued during 1994, as reported by the Canton Township Building Department. Those houses are now becoming occupied.

The latest U.S. Census population update for 1993 from SEMCOG reports Canton households had an average family size of 2.87 people. These new families will add on average one new student to the school population. With this growth of students, the school population which has been stable over the past several years is climbing.

The current foundation grant for PCCS approximates $5,500 per student per school year. These new students will add $4,251,500 to the school revenue budget annually. This money over three years will match the revenue created by the 2.3 mills and will keep coming every year, forever, as opposed to the millage, which only serves us for two years.

Matching this substantial residential growth is strong commercial expansion that will bring even more revenue from an increasing property tax base. With all this new revenue, which was downplayed in current school advertising material, the school administration is still asking for a tax increase to cover technology spending that was questionably allocated in the last

Promises are to use the money for the benefit of the teachers and the students. Should I

I personally will not donate more cash to an institution that has historically shown by their past actions a lack of financial accountability. This is only the tip of the technology spending iceberg. Count one no vote on the millage increase.

am writing in regard to the upcoming Plymouth-Canton School District election to be held June 12.

I understand, that due to the inequitable distribution of state funds under the 1994 tax proposal, our district is forced to request a 2.3mill increase. Said increase to be used solely for textbooks and other pertinent learning tools. Also, due to this same 1994 proposal. this will be for two years only. Since we have until just 1997 to have the luxury of spending all of our locally raised revenue entirely in our community, I strongly urge our residents to approve this measure.

If these new funds were earmarked for salary increases, I would be opposed to the millage issue. Due to tenure and numerous other reasons, our teaching staff members are adequately compensated. For the naysayers out there, I would only ask, if we refuse to give our children the learning tools and materials they need for an excellent education, how will they be able to obtain well-paying jobs?

And without these jobs, who do you think will be able to pay the price you expect to receive when you sell your property, either now or in the future?

I am reminded of an old adage about a person being "penny wise and pound foolish." This might be an appropriate phrase to carry into the ballot booth. James P. Huddleston, Canton

Buffy Berthelot had a good sense of proportion and utility. "My most valuable contribution," she wrote, "was telling him (Williams) what I saw going on, whether it was good or bad.'

Campaigns in those days relied on volunteers who made things work, not on brilliant issues wonks or expensive media mongers: "It wasn't that I didn't understand the issues and voice my pinions frequently. It was simply that my delight was making the wheels of the campaign go smoothly."

The air at the reception was, literalthick with old memories. They got me to musing about the contrast between the politics of an era

School code gets religion in the guise of history

. You can fool all of the people some of the time. .

- A. Lincoln Doug Carl, a Macomb County Republican and chief spokesman for the Religious Right in the state Senate, fooled the entire body May 31 with a pair of "American Heritage" bills. Carl's seductive song was that they will give school kids "better access to certain historical information," implying that important documents are being hidden. He and Sen. Phil Hoffman, a Jackson County Republican, circulated a wild story that some teachers, some place, were refusing to have kids recite the Pledge of Allegiance on the grounds that it contained a religious reference, "under God."

It so happens that Carl's bills came out of the Senate Education Committee about the time TV evangelist Pat Robertson was unveiling his "Contract with the American Family." Some folks in Lansing insist this was just a coincidence. Yeah, sure.

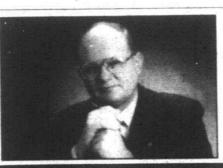

The Religious Right line, in case you haven't caught Robertson's "700 Club" and others' writings, is that the secular humanists have kicked God and Jesus out of the public schools, and it's time to get even. It matters not, Robertson has said, whether a school board candidate knows anything about budgets, hiring or policymaking; just elect Christian parents. It's the equivalent of the 18th Century laws that only members of a certain faith could hold office.

In a public hearing, the Michigan Jewish Congress was less than thrilled about the Carl-Hoffman bills. "A Trojan horse to permit religious instruction in public schools," said MJC's

"To my knowledge, school boards aren't censoring now," said Tom White, lobbyist for the Michigan Association of School Boards.

The driving force behind the measures was the Foundation for Traditional Values. It publishes books and videotapes whose message can be summed up: America's founders were Protestants whose political acts were motivated by their sectarian beliefs, and those scoundrels in the public schools are covering it up, "The Greatest Story Never Told" reveals how Christians colonized America. "America's God and Country" and "Founding Father Quotes" are compendiums of religious quotations from the Founding Fathers.

At this point, you have to remind yourself -Carl won't remind you - that many Founding Fathers wanted state taxes to support their favorite churches. Let us consult a Virginia legislator named Thomas Jefferson on this point.

"By the time of the Revolution, a majority of the inhabitants had become dissenters from the established church but were still obliged to pay contributions to support the pastors of the minority . . . But the first republican legislature which met in '76 was crowded with petitions to abolish this spiritual tyranny. These brought on the severest contests in which I have ever been engaged. "Our great opponents were Mr. Pendleton and Robert Carter Nicholas, honest men but zealous churchmen . . . (A)lmost daily from the 11th of October to the 5th of December, we prevailed so far only as to repeal the laws which rendered criminal the maintenance of any (dissenting) religious opinions, the forbearance of repairing to church, or the exercise of any (other) mode of worship. .

"For although the majority of our citizens were dissenters, as has been observed, a majority of the legislature were churchmen.'

The point is that Carl and Hoffman are sponsoring bills carefully crafted to advance the views not just of the Jeffersons but of the Pendletons and Nicholases who wanted to use the force of government to ram their sectarian views into the faces of everyone else.

Well, the Michigan Senate bought that line on a 36-0 vote. Sens. Robert Geake, R-Northville, and Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, were absent. If the House is similarly bamboozled with this "American Heritage" siren song, we'll see Pat Robertson's agenda inserted in nothing less than our School Code.

COMMUNITY LIFE

KAREN MEIER

Good-bye came too soon, I feel ast Tuesday, beneath a glorious blue sky, beneath a tall and majestic pine tree rooted in the gentle slope of a grassy hill, our family gathered. We gathered on that beautiful late May day to say farewell to a great and gentle man, Steve J. Meier. Last Tuesday we buried my husband's father. My father-in-law. My Dad-at-

He was a man so full of life and strength and goodness and gentle laughter. I don't know why he was called home like that. But God called him, suddenly, out of the blue, a few days ago, in the middle of an ordinary May afternoon. And nobody said good-bye before he went, or at least a good-bye that was right, a good-bye that said loud and clear and as plain as day. "I love you. Forever." I hope Dad knew that's how we felt. I hope Dad knew that more than anything else there is to know. I hope and I pray that.

He died at home by himself. Everyone else was going about their business, absorbed in the daily routines and tasks of life. Ma had gone out; it happened to be a day she was scheduled to work for the Red Cross as a volunteer at the blood drive.

So Dad, retired now after 25 years at the plant, stayed home to do ordinary things that afternoon. His five children, all grown and on their own now, of course, were busy doing Thursday sorts of things, working at their jobs, tending to life's many tasks.

Wrecks beckon diving enthusiast

■ It all started with a love of SCUBA diving. Now, David Trotter spends his summers - 17 to date searching the Great Lakes for the wrecks of such ships as the City of Milwaukee, the Detroit and the Minnedosa, all of which he has found.

By Christina Fuoco

David Trotter admits he is addicted to finding shipwrecks.

"It becomes almost an obsession that you can't figure out," Trotter said describing his passion for diving The last object of his affection was the 250-foot, four-mast-wooden schooner, the Minnedosa. For nearly 15 years - two years shorter than the span of the Canton resident's hobby - he searched for the Minnedosa, considered to be one of Michigan's most important shipwrecks. "It was certainly one of the most mysterious," Trotter said. "It had several unique attributes. It was a four-masted schooner, and one of the biggest sailing ships to have ever been built in Canada. She went down with all hands, and it was quite a mystery for many, many years because of conflicting stories about her loss.

According to reports, the Minnedosa, carrying 75,000 bushels of grain, abruptly disappeared Oct. 20, 1905, during a treacherous autumn storm. Stories circulated that the ship, which had been weathering the storm, may have been over-

It was also controversial because the Minnedosa was towing another ship, the steamer Westmount, and a second barge, the Melrose, was following. When Trotter found the Minnedosa, it appeared as if the tow line had been cut with an axe.

"Certainly, it got to be difficult on everybody," he said of the 15-year search. But as volunteers dropped off the project, Trotter stuck to his guns and his staying power paid off last summer. He and a group of volunteers, collectively known as Undersea Research Associates, found the ship northeast of her assumed location.

'Certainly, it was very exciting," he said. "When we found this particular shipwreck, we thought it might be the Minnedosa, but we were almost even afraid to say it."

With the Minnedosa behind him and 200-250 shipwrecks worth finding ahead of him, Trotter kicks off a

the Fox Theatre,

hen Walt Disney's "Pocahontas" opens nationally June 23, a young Livonia native will be excited to see how audiences react to the historical romance he has helped bring to life.

While growing up in Livonia Keith Sintay never dreamed his drawings would end up on the big screen. Sintay was one tors creating "i between" drawings for "Pocahontas."

The 27-year-old Orlando resident explained that in-between drawings help smooth out the character's movements. At 24 drawings per second of film speed that adds up to about 1 million drawings per feature film. Sintay could hardly contain his awe at working on such a project during a phone interview from Walt Disney Studios.

"I can't tell you how excited I am when I imagine the fact that I'm creating this drawing that's going to be seen by millions of people," he said.

"Pocahontas" is, of course, the famous love story of the Native American heroine Pocahontas (the voice of Irene Bedard) and handsome sea captain John Smith (Mel Gibson) set in Jamestown, Virginia, in the 1600s. The folk tale features music by Academy Award-winning composer Alan Menken ("Beauty and the Beast" and "Aladdin") and lyrics by Broadway veteran Stephen Schwartz ("Pippin," "Godspell" and "The Magic Show Sintay drew Pocahontas interacting with Captain John Smith as she teaches him that every rock, tree and creature has a living spirit and then explains how to "paint with the colors of the wind."

He also drew her talking to her pet raccoon, a masked mischief-maker who serves as her constant companion through thick and thin, and to the 400year-old mystical spirit Grandmother Willow who lives in a tree in the Enchanted Glade.

"I got to draw Pocahontas herself, the lead character, so every single line you put down has to be perfect - no burrs, bumps or thin spots in the lines," said Sintay, a graduate of Livonia Bentley High School, Central Michigan University, and a former Observer carrier.

Sintay competed with hundreds of other animators simply to intern at Disney as an animator. After successfully completing his three-month stint, he signed a five-year contract with Disney. All animators for "Pocahontas" worked under the art direction of Michael Giaimo.

Sintay, who is currently working on concept art for the film's creative merchandise, says it's extremely difficult to synchronize animators when part of the talent comes out of the Disney studio in Florida and the rest from California.

"You can't imagine the logistics of getting characters to interact with one another when animators are on different coasts," said Sintay.

The release of "Pocahontas" follows the unprecedented success of Disney's "The Lion King" which shattered all previous box office records for the studio and animated film and now ranks among the top four films of all time.

According to Richard Cook, president of Buena Vista Pictures Distribution and Marketing, Disney plans to eventually separate its animation studios on two coasts with the hopes of creating two features a year in the future. Disney's next animated film, the "Hunchback of Notre Dame," is scheduled for release in 1996.

To kick off the media blitz for "Pocahontas," Mickey Mouse, Aladdin, Snow White and the Lion King are all coming to town June 16-22 when Walt Disney Pictures and the Fox Theatre team up to present a special showing of "Pocahontas," Disney's 33rd full-length animated feature film, together with a live stage show featuring classic Disney characters. The "Pocahontas Summer Spectacular" at the Fox is one of only five venues in the country for the Disney extravaganza.

"It's an exciting occasion when 600 artists working for four years finish one of our animated handmade features Cook said. "The reason we picked Detroit is because its a great Disney market, a great family market and the Fox is such a unique theater. Every part is cast with a Detroit singer or dancer. The talent pool is fabulous in the Detroit area."

Colorful kaleidoscope show mirrors childhood memories

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Kaleidoscopes with their moving rainbow of colors are the focus of "Fireworks Captured," the largest show of kaleidoscopes in the Midwest, June 25 to July 2 at Chameleon Galleries Ltd. 370 S. Main Street, Plymouth.

Last year's show was so well received that hameleon owners Denni and Jim Englehart decided to do it again, this time offering more than 100 handcrafted scopes by artists, 12 in all from the Pacific Northwest to the East Coast.

A special appearance by Cozy Baker, a leading authority on kaleidoscopes with more than 500 antique and contemporary ones in her collection, kicks off the exhibition noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 25. The public is invited to the opening reception noon to 5 p.m.

Cozy is the author of four books on the subject including "Kaleidoscope Renaissance" and "Kaleidorama," a handy kaleidoscope companion brimming with everything a kaleidophile needs and wants to know

You can make your own kaleidoscope at a workshop on Saturday, June 24. The cost is $150.

Reservations are required.
"I used Cozy Baker's recommendations to invite the top kaleidoscope artists recognized in the field today. They are innovative, creative and have the best mirror systems which I think is the most important part of the scopes because without it the images are poor and distorted," said Denni Englehart. "Kaleidoscopes bring back childhood memories and it's made in an art form."

Artists exhibiting their kaleidoscopes include Corki Weeks, Henry Bergeson, Janice Chesnik, Don Doak, Luc and Sallie Durette, Sheryl Koch, Steve Kittleson and Peggy Burnside, Glen and Ben Straub, Will Smith, and Sue and Bob Roux.

When it comes to contemporary scopes, variety is the name of the game. Besides traditional handheld and pedestal styles, there are scopes to display on desks and coffee tables. Among the most

Beneath the stars, "Kiss Me Kate," a musical-within-a-musical, inspired by Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew, lights up the summer night at times. At other times, this production, directed by Jervis McMechan, is just a bit under the

Much of its brightness is pro-vided by Bloomfield Hills actress Dianne Mather Ryding as the spirited Lilli Vanessi/Kate. Equipped with a substantial voice, plenty of warmth and sparkly charm, the attractive performer probably succeeds best as the lovelorn actress Lilli - although this may be because Kate seems like such a confusing character these days. As Lilli, Ryding's first act rendition of Cole Porter's great tune, "So in Love," is one of the highlights of this production. With it Ryding seems to weave a kind of enchanting,

Soul Coughing has some fun with the devil

■ Soul Coughing is not exactly an alternative rock band, a jazz-rap combo, or a beatnik poetry project. They take all of that, crumple it in a tight little ball, and pitch a fresh "alternative" to radio-tired music

Love This Way - Tearjerks

Dual personality syndrome is a lus in the case of Detroit's Tearerks. With two distinctive singers, the Tearierks fluctuate be tween being a straight-ahead pop and a roots rock band on their debut "Love This Way" (Smash-

Singer/guitarist Mike Nolan is the primary vocalist/songwriter on the album providing the pure pop edge to "Love This Way." On some tracks like "May Be Better Off" and "Yesterday's Girl" his es. However, Nolan is still able to portray the emotions in his tear-jerky tales (hence the name). The CD kicks off with "Maybe Better Off," which describes the ending of a troubled relationship: "I've been rehearsing tragedy, letting only sorrow into me. So I can't begin to remedy situations that don't belong to me. So maybe you're better off without me. I waste my time and say goodbye and it's too many times to cry. I let you in forgive my sin, and my hopeless side 'cause I got no right and I've got no one tonight."

"Do The Same Thing," the obvious hit on "Love This Way," is sort of the companion piece to "Maybe Better Off" telling why relationships are nerve-wracking in the first place: "I know it sounds a little dark to just pretend I have no heart, but I fall in love and I fall apart when I do the same thing they do." The 5-minute song ends with a sing-along with some of Detroit-area acoustic heavyweights Priscilla Ederle, Adam Druckman, and Scott Fab, as well as members of Spank and Sister Seed, former Tearjerks singer Leah Jacobs, Karen Koski, Brian Nolan, and Charm Farm's Eric Meyer. (The CD format of "Love This Way" includes a remix of Meyer's "Space Dub" of "Cry For Me.")

Guitarist Mikey Brown's growling vocals on "Rocket" and "I Can't See" give "Love This Way" a roots rock feeling. Brown shows his ability to write crafty lyrics on "Rocket," another of the album's highlights. "She had to be a rocket, burning like the sun. You had to be a rocket, can't fall for anyone. You had to be a rocket, lighting up the sky, and you burned me forever the day that you flew by." His subtle, yet strong guitar work carrie

Mudhoney swears show will have feline appeal

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

If everything goes according to the plan that Mu-dhoney singer Mark Arm has conjured up, cat fanciers will love his band's show at the Phoenix Plaza Amphitheatre in Pontiac this weekend.

"We're trying to get this huge drum riser that see 15 feet up. You know how Danzig has this huge skull thing in front of his? Well, we're going to have the rear end of a cat, and the tail is going to wag back and forth to the music." Arm said swearing all this was true. "There's going to be this rim all the way around the stage that's filled with kitty litter. You know that ZZ Top tour that they had in the '70s when that ZZ Top tour that they had in the 70s when they had cattle on stage? Well, we're going to have cats. Hopefully we won't be stepping on them when we do the wah wahs and stuff."

Now, Mudhoney's latest album is titled "My Brother the Cow," so why not have cows on stage?

"We all have cats. None of us have cows so we

The logistical problems are keeping Arm from verifying that they're actually going to pull this off. "You know how cats love moving vehicles. It's going to be hard getting the cat box and all that kitty litter moved from place to place. Even if the record company doesn't pay for it, we'll pay for it ourselves. It's important for us to give the kids a good show."

Let's say that Arm was pulling our legs. Mudh ey promises that June 10 will still be a good day for their fans. The Seattle rock band, which includes grunge forefathers Arm and guitarist Steve Turner, will play tracks off "My Brother The Cow," including "Today, Is A Good Day," as well as older songs. Fans who have heard "My Brother The Cow" will notice that Mudhoney returned to the the strippeddown punk sound of their earlier years, steering away from the keyboards and fluffed up production of "Piece of Cake" and "Every Good Boy Deserves

"We didn't really add anything," Arm said of the recording of "My Brother The Cow," "When it got to the point of recording these songs on this record, they really didn't seem like it needed any of that.

It's too bad because I bought a Hammond organ a couple months before with the complete intention of using it on the record," Arm said. "There's still marimbas. There's harmonica on one song and sax on another."

Mudhoney's show this weekend marks the first time in almost two years that the band has played Detroit. Arm said that he's excited about playing the area, from which many of his influences hail "The whole Detroit sound of the late '60s and early '70s was pretty influential," he said. Echoing the Smashing Pumpkins' Billy Corgan at last year's Lollapalooza, Arm snickered and nar-rowed down his "whole Detroit sound" comment. "Bob Seger and Ted Nugent really don't mean

DINING

Spruced-up eatery serves Middle Eastern cuisine

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

Diners desirous of discovering adventuresome might consider sampling the Lebanese cuisine at El Barmakki in Garden City.

Residents may remember the Middlebelt Road restaurant as Joseph's, which it was dubbed until Khalil and Mike Habhab (father and son) bought it in June

The Habhabs spent $200,000 renovating and redecorating the restaurant, and re-opened on Sept. 21, 1994. Their efforts were recently recognized by the Garden City Downtown Development Authority, which gave them an award for the outstanding renova-

Among the changes were adding three bay windows, which bright en the interior, which previously had no windows at all, considera-

The Habhabs have also built a new entrance, eliminated the game room and bricked the exteri-

Inside, the red carpeting and tables in five dining areas are new and complemented by brown trim and Middle Eastern artifacts.

Behind the scenes, the kitchen exhaust system is new, as are the refrigerator, the grill and the gyro machine.

About all that remains from the Joseph's kitchen are the tables; "stuff that never goes bad," said Mike Habhab, whose previous restaurant experience includes ownership of a pizzeria and work as a waiter at the Southfield Manor banquet hall.

The restaurant comes with a full bar, Red Dog, Labatt's Blue and Bud Light on tap, six bar stools and several booths in dark corners for a touch of privacy. All in all, the main dining room accommodates 125 individuals. A private banquet room seats about 20. A larger banquet room seats 40, but the Habhabs may convert it to a game room with pool table and darts.

The El Barmakki menu contains a plethora of choices for lunch and dinner, but heavily emphasizes Middle Eastern dishes that are prepared by chef Mahmoud Itani, who previously worked at Sultans in West Bloomfield Township.

Habhab said he plans to change the menu to "eliminate some of the entrees that aren't selling and add more American food."

Already added are prime rib for $12.95, shrimp kabob for $9.95, half of a roasted chicken for $8.95 and fish and chips for $7.95. A children's section will also be added to the menu.

"We're even thinking of changing the name (of the restaurant), Habhab said. "A lot of people don't know how to pronounce (El Barmakki)."

Other prices range from a falafel sandwich for $2 to deboned chicken for $9, stuffed grape leaves for $6 and lamb chops for $12. A vegetarian menu is also available, as are four seafood items and a coterie of Italian

A woman who had the stuffed grape leaves for lunch recently said she is a repeat customer and remembers the place from when it was Joseph's. "It's completely different, she said. "There's no comparison. The food is completely different."

The woman, who requested anonymity, had praise for waitress Susie Kataya. "The waitress is very nice," she said.

At the next table, Garden City resident Dustin Nelson ate lunch with Livonia resident Heather Bryan.

Nelson said the food at El Barmakki is better than at another Lebanese restaurant he has eaten pair of mistakes were made in Monday's story on Plymouth Salem vs. Livonia Franklin baseball.

First and foremost, it was not Mike Brannan but Jeff Mackiewicz who slugged the solo home run in the bottom of the fourth that tied the score at 3-3, then added a run-scoring single in the Rocks' six-run sixth.

Also, Salem was the Western Lakes Activities Association runner-ups, not the champions, losing to Farmington Harrison 2-1 in eight innings in the championship game May 26.

Ladywood golfer 12th

aura Kowalski, of Plymouth and Livonia Ladywood, made the first-round cut Friday and wound up tied for 12th individually at the state Class A golf finals held Saturday at Forest Akers in East Lansing.

Kowalski, a junior, shot an opening-round 86 and ended with a total of 181 after a 95. She was tied with Gina Pellerito of Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central

anielle Mortiere, a standout in softball while at Plymouth Canton, has achieved similar success at Daytona Beach Commu nity College, where she was named female athlete

Mortiere helped guide DBCC to a conference championship twice, the Florida state title this season, and to a fifth place finish in the national tournament.

Mortiere has also been successful in the classroom, making the dean's list for four-straight semesters at DBCC.

Her achievements have earned her an academic/ athletic scholarship at Stetson University in Deland, Fla., where she will pursue a degree in business administration.

Golf winner

What is better than settling for second, after all. Dolly Vettese of Plymouth did just that, tying Mary Gene Stefanac of Dearborn for the best low gross score (93) in second flight at the weekly Women's Suburban Golf Association tournament, this one at Warren Valley Golf Course Friday.

There were other Observerland names that popped up: Mary Frandsen of Livonia tied Lillian Vandenbroker of Dearborn Heights for best low gross in first flight (90), and Lori Wilson of Livonia topped the third flight leader board for best low gross as well (101).

Sue Beaton of Livonia posted the top low net score in second flight (67), and Mary Cunningham of Westland did the same in third flight (73).

Rocks' rally gets them to final

Plymouth Salem will get what it wanted - a shot at a state championship, thanks to its victory in the state semifinal over Brighton.

BY C.J. RISAK

As the sun slowly sank into the west, one could envision the hopes of Plymouth Salem's going with it.

With the second half of Wednes day's Class A state semifinal against Brighton seven minutes old, fate seemed to be operating against the Rocks. A defensive mistake had left them trailing 1-0 at the half, and their best two chances had both bounded off the crossbar.

But one thing about the Rocks: The further they're pushed, the harder they play.

With 33 minutes left, they were pressuring heavily. Kelly Lukasik won possession of a free kick near midfield and fed it to Mari Hoff. Hoff turned and sent the ball to Jodi Coyle racing down the right Brighton keeper Joann Buck came out to challenge, which delighted Coyle. She pumped the ball over the charging keeper and into the net, tying the match at 1-1. And reversing the tide.

Three more Salem goals were quickly forthcoming, sending the Rocks (17-3-3) to a 4-1 triumph and into Saturday's 1 p.m. state final, which they will host.

"It was surprising," was how Coyle, a sophomore, described her goal. "Suddenly it was in the net. It was the same thing I've done 100 times in practice — I'm just glad it went in.

So were her teammates. Less than tree minutes later, Hoff took a pass from Stacey Delong, turned and shot at the net from 20 yards out. Buck made another mistake, allowing the ball to slip through her fingers to give Hoff a goal and Salem a 2-1 lead.

Mia Sarkesian, the Rocks' freshman "Bee", accounted for the two insurance goals with the Bulldogs pressing. She headed a pass from Lukasik into the net for a 3-1 lead, and in the game's waning moments she capped her performance by drilling a centering pass from Colleen Kirby into the net.

"They've got quite an offense," said Brighton coach John Boots, whose team bowed out at 21-2-1.

That offense proved more than the Bulldogs could handle. "If we could've cleared the ball, it would have been a different g couldn't clear the ball out of our defensive third."

Lost in Salem's second-half offensive explosion was the defensive first half.

Pressure shot: Jodi Coyle (7) beats Brighton's Audrey Mooradian to the ball to get off a pass. Later, Coyle got off a shot that ended up in the net, tying the game at 1-1.

"Mari Hoff," is Johnson's ultimate choice. His current star has more size than Estey and should be a candidate for the state's best player. Of course, he added, "I'd liked to have had them both on the same team."

He'll have no future candidates. At least not in girls soccer. The beginning of the end is at hand for the Salem coach; he announced long ago he would coach the Rocks' girls team this one last season.

Next fall, the end of the boys season will mark the end of his coaching tenure at Salem. He retires from Detroit Diesel Dec. 1; shortly after that, he plans to pull up stakes and move to Deland, Fia.

"The games. I love the games," he said without hesitation. "They're a lot of fun." He helped make them so, certainly.

By the way, a farewell story (at least in girls soccer) on Ken Johnson would be incomplete without my most vivid memory Again, it goes back to the '87 cham-

Government sites easy to find, use for O&E Onliners

a major role in developing the Internet should expect to ernment information on the Net. And we can. In fact, there's more about gov-

Because the

DANIELS ernment than any single person could ever hope to explore. But when you want it, it's there for the asking - via Telnet, Gopher, the Web, and File Transfer Protocol (FTP) for legislation.

One beginning point for O&E Onliners is to go to the Internet menu and select Gopher. System operator Greg Day has listed some very useful government sites and made it very easy to use. Start burrowing. But not all of my readers are O&E Onliners, yet, so let's continue. At most Gopher sites look for "Government Information Resources" as a key menu item. On Greg's Gopher list is the census bureau which also can be accessed on the Web at http:// www.census.gov/index.html. Those with a Web browser will want to go to the Library of Con lchp.html or to http://thomas.loc.gov. The Library of Congress' Web Page provides access to Congressional bills and the Congressional Record and contains some very nice historical exhibit halls. There are a couple of nearly one stop sites, although for government information this probably isn't possible. One is FedWorld, a network of access points to several (an understatement) government agencies, departments, and information points. Telnet to FedWorld by typing "open fedworld.gov:23" at the Telnet prompt or use your Web browser to point to http:// www.fedworld.gov. Another very useful and lengthy list of government resources has been put to ether by Pat Casey, Associate Press reporter in Oklahoma. I included a link to his page at my home page which you can access at http://oeonline.com/(tilde

Carved in stone

Since ancient times, people have immortalized meaningful messages by inscribing pictures and words in stone. English Gardens at 6370 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield (call (810) 851-7506) features stones, naturally shaped by erosion, that are inscribed with words and phrases that evoke moods and meanings about life, nature and time.

Riverstones by Stoneworks Gallery are meticulously inscribed with sentiments, phrases and personalized messages so the letters cast dramatic shadows on the surfaces. In addition to the pre-acribed messages, Stoneworks Gallery encourages people to develop their own inspirational statements. The company's only requirement is that all personalized messages be positive.

Riverstones are made from granite, sandstone, schist, gneiss, basalt or, bluestone and other natural materials. Unlike perishable cast stone, concrete and ceramic, these types of stone have been around for millennia and will continue to withstand the test of time.

English Gardens' Riverstones range in price from $69.98 to $99.98 for large stones and $54.98 for medium-sized stones. Riverstones can be specially ordered through English Gardens in sizes ranging from two-pound pebbles to 300pound boulders.

In stone: Riverstones at English Gardens in West Bloomfield are stones naturally shaped by erosion that are inscribed with words and phrases. ("Flowers and Song" is the Aztec metaphor for poetry.)

Artist Rockwell lands on different cover

One of the most popular illustrators ever, Norman Rockwell created whimsical covers for the Saturday Evening Post that embodied the meaning of hearth and home for many readers. To salute this American treasure on the Rockwell cover: The new Saturday Evening Post/Norman Rockwell Home Furnishings Collection features custom bed and window coverings and cut yardage exclusively licensed by Carole Fabrics. On the bedspread shown here, "Stockbridge Quilt," a commemorative fabric, depicts against a quiltlike background the buildings of the Massachusetts town Rockwell called home for the last 25 years of his life. The pillows and shams feature a coordinating print.

100th anniversary of Rockwell's birth, Carole Fabrics was chosen to exclusively license custom bed and window coverings and cut yardage for this new collection.

The Saturday Evening Post/Norman Rockwell Home Furnishings Collection features eight theme fabrics inspired by the artist's magazine covers, including "Doctor and Doll" (with doctor placing a stethoscope on a frightened little girl's doll), "Triple Self-Portrait" (Rockwell at the easel, painting himself from his image in the mirror) and "Important Business" (a golfer heading out from the office to the course). A special commemorative pattern features the charming houses of his adopted hometown, Stockbridge, Mass.

Each pattern is complemented by fabrics that mirror the motif with coordinating prints, stripes, plaids and solids, for a total 40 fabrics in multiple colors. Retail pricing ranges from $16.75 to $79.95 per yard.

Carole Fabrics, a Hunter Douglas company, is the nation's leading manufacturer of custom window and bed coverings and fashion accessories, which are distributed nationally through specialty stores, department and furniture stores and interior designers. For more information about the Rockwell collection, call Carole Fabrics at (800) CAROLE-2.

Signing registry builds gift ideas

Looking for a way to tell family and friends you'd really like a set of power tools, outdoor lighting or even a new kitchen counter for a wedding gift? Now you can tell them by registering at any one of the six metro Detroit Home Depot stores' bridal and gift registry.

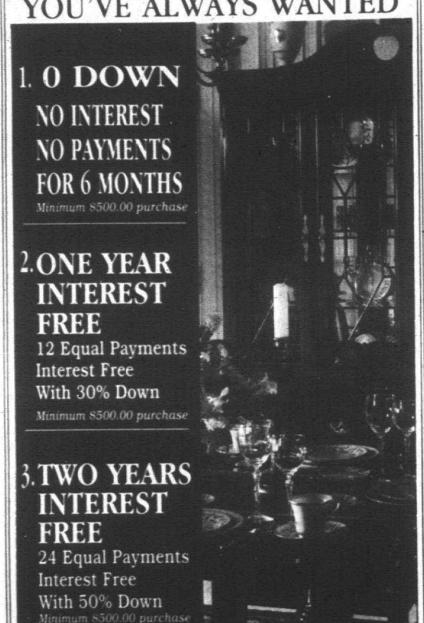

Simply fill out the Home Depot registry form at any store, and friends or relatives from the Detroit area or across the country can pick out the perfect (and practical) gift at any one of 346 Home Depot stores nationwide. This special registry service is free and can be used for weddings, graduations, anniversaries, Mother's Day, Father's Day or any special occasion.

Home Depot, based in Atlanta, has six stores in southeast Michigan, including Canton, Redford, Northville and Pontiac. It will open six new stores in Michigan within the next year.

How illuminating, lighting gets better there be light - and there was light." Thomas Edison improved on that, if possible Wonders never we should have the soft glow of general lighting after dusk. We NAOMI STONE also must provide excellent reading light wherever required. How to fulfill these challenges is vital to everyone's well-ments on the improvements it is difficult to encompass all of them in one session. I took a refresher tour of a Michigan Chandelier showroom to ac quaint myself with many of the NEW ER light sources, and there are a vast number of these. When President Bush worked with the Energy Conservation Act he did all of us a service. Many of the former incandescent bulb sizes were . discontinued, to our betterment. We all save money on the replacement wattages, what a joy.

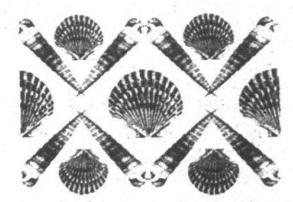

The name "Halogen" will soon be come a household word. It is a tiny but powerful light source. The use of a dimmer and/or transformer make them ever more versatile, bright when required, muted and luminous when desired. I suggest you, too, should browse through a lighting fixture shop and become acquainted, ask cogent questions It will brighten your future!

There are some handsome Haloger contemporary drop fixtures that could hang over your dining or breakfast table, adding to the decor. There are also stunning over-sink lights for the bathroom. We have seen the strips of bulbs ad infinitum, and it would be fun

130 years ago the Civil War ended. Now, what am I leading up

It is also the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II AND of the Peace Rose, In 1939 Francis Meilland, a French nurseryman, discovered that he had produced a beautiful rose with much promise. To preserve the rose from the ravages of the war, he sent cuttings to growers in Germany, Italy and the United States. The package intended for grower Robert Pyle of Pennsylvania was luckily carried aboard the last plane to leave Lyons before France was occupied by Nazi forces in 1940.

Four years later Pyle wrote to Meilland, "Whilst dictating this letter my eyes are fixed in fascinated admiration on a glorious rose, its pale gold, cream and ivory petals blended to a lightly

In 1945 it was officially christened Peace at the Pacific Rose Society's spring show; then on V-E Day, May 8, 1945, at the first United Nations conference in San Francisco, each of the 49 UN delegates was presented with Peace; Aug. 15 of that same year Peace received the All-America Rose Selections award of honor, the highest distinction in the U.S. rose industry. This rose is still one of the most popular

These are the products you want to think about at this time of year. These are also the products that I would ask you to write me about anytime you have

Several years ago I wrote a five page booklet on the care and maintenance of your refrigerator.

Millions of service calls are performed on refrigerators each year beginning now and through the summer. The biggest reason for this onslaught of ser-don't know they have to clean the refrigerator condenser. The condenser is the bunch of black tubing that is located on the back of the product but usually underneath it.

Compare it to the radiator on the automobile which is used to get rid of the heat from the engine. In the cold winter months, many times we will see the school bus with a piece of cardboard covering the radiator. It won't overheat while it is relatively cold, but as soon as the temperature starts to climb, off comes the cardboard. If they didn't do this, the engine would overheat, the water in the radiator would boil and it could cause the engine to possibly seize up. This analogy is described this way so you can understand that the same thing can happen to your refrigerator in your home. It certainly happens to many millions of consumers across this many ways DSS is similar to the satellite service that works with the bit outside antenna.

DSS's main competition for your entertainment dollar is the local cable system. Among cable's advantages: local origination channels such as school, library, city. Another is that cable broadcasters must carry the bit broadcast stations.

The biggest advantage of the RCA system over any previous satellite TV system is the small size of the dish antenna. You can put the 18-inch dish wherever it has a good view of the southern sky. You can mount it on the roof, on a chimney or on a free-standing pole or even froman apartment balcony - if the landlord says OK in writ-

Another advantage of any satellite TV system is that you can select (and pay for) just the services you want. If you want AMC but not TNN, you don't have to pay for TNN.

And you can get programs that are available but your local cable system does not carry. For example, relatively few cable systems in the Detroit area offer The History Channel, ESPN II or The Comedy Channel.

The disadvantage to satellite TV systems is that the dish antenna will not bring in local channels. You have to have a separate antenna.

Another is that only your cable system broadcasts local channels such as library, school, city, locally produced programming. You can't get these from

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

Flowers make good pick for subjects and colorful subjects for your springtime and summertime camera is flowers. So plentiful are they that the choices of presenting them photographically are numerous in-

You might, for example, select the cloheart of the flower, the delicate texture of the stamen, minute drops of moisture, or a single petal that becomes a picture in itself. Or you may prefer to show the character of a single whole flower, or a grouping, or even an entire

The best time to photograph flowers is in the morning when they are freshest. Hot, afternoon sun may cause flowers to look limp and wilted. Diffused sunlight from either behind or the side is best. It will give your flower intimate texture and full color extra sparkle.

To fill the viewfinder with a single flower or part of a blossom, you'll need closeup equipment such as closeup filters, extention tubes or a macro lens. All work well and will give you pleasing

Because you'll often need a small aperture to maximize depth-of-field, a tripod and a cable release are a must to keep your camera steady during the long shutter speeds you'll require.

As always, watch your backgrounds!

A distracting or "busy" background can ruin a picture. So be sure to check yours after composing your shot. Look over the entire viewfinder and use your camera's depth-of-field preview to check out the background, You'll often want it as a soft, non-distracting blur

Better still, carry a small piece of black posterboard or cloth in your camera bag and place it behind the flowers. The background will go totally black,

Cindy Drager gives new meaning to the phrase "working at home"

Little things:New wallpaper and wood mouldings can make a world of difference in brightening a room.

On the cover

A minimum of changes turned an office into a well-lit, formal dining room in Cindy Drager's home.

BY LOGA ANN CHOKIN SPECIAL WRITER

hinking about revamping your living space but a tight budget is preventing the makeover? Cindy Drager and her small
Plymouth home, built in 1929, are living proof of what a little paint and a whole lot of perspira-

Drager did most of the house's renovation work herself, painting and puttying on weekends and weekday evenings after work. The only project for which she hired a contractor was to knock out a wall for the addition of a shower in the bathroom. After scraping and removing three layers of wallpaper, patching holes in the walls, tearing out the old brown and gray carpeting to reveal beautiful oak flooring then adding gallons of paint and sweat equally, today Drager's 1,400-square foot house is like a spread out of House Beautiful magazine.

"I didn't want to do a major renovation. I took the character of the home and simply spruced it up," said Drager, a corporate administrator for Sunshine Accura in Farmington Hills.

The 55-year-old Drager applied the colors of eggshell and lilac to tired walls throughout the house. Ugly rubber molding in the formal dining room, which used to be an office, was replaced with wide oak trim. The most important point is that all this was done on a shoe string budget. There are plenty of ideas for do-it-yourselfers here. Drager makes it look easy.

Makes it look easy.

Have an old coat closet just hanging around? Drager took one in the hallway leading to the bedrooms that had long outlived its usefulness and turned it into a linen closet.

In the master bedroom lilac is the dominating color, but ingenuity is what sets this room apart. Bordering the ceiling, not the walls, is a floral wallpaper sporting _what else? _lilacs. The combination of color and innovative application of paper lilacs imparts a cozy garden-like feel to the space.

"I always wanted a Victorian" bedroom. People thought I was crazy when I used the wallpaper to border the ceiling instead of the upper portion of the wall, but I like lying in bed and looking up at it," said Drager, who for the last 20 years has helped family and friends brighten up their houses and offices.

Now she is starting "Spruce It Up," a consulting firm to help others do the same.

Creative thinking is key to freeing space instead of building an addition, says Drager. In the hallway where the bathroom is, she removed a door and cabinet to build a shower. The estimated cost to build an addition including the shower ran $3,000. Instead the unneeded doorway to the attic (moved to another location at the rear of the house) and a cabinet were transformed into space for the shower. A contractor did the work for about $1,000.

Drager chipped away the old black and white tiles in the bathroom herself. Wainscotting on the lower portion of the walls in the bathroom was installed in its place then painted white. The remaining upper portions were ragged in eggshell and lilac

"It's the little things you do that make a big difference. The colors in the bathroom tie the house all together."

Like the wide oak molding in the formal dining room, which was simply wiped down then covered with a clear urethane finish by Drager.

Want to brighten up the aging cabinetry in your kitchen but the cost for new cabinets is out of the question on your budget? Drager chose to keep her knotty pine wood, painting it white. Purists who say never cover wood with paint might not take to the idea, but it worked for Drager. Black wrought-iron hinges and handles provide a snazzy contrast to the white clean-looking cabinets.

Born and raised in Virginia, Drager values her well-bred East Coast roots. The back garden where nothing but grass used to grow now touts irises from an aunt as well as other plants from friends and relatives. The addition of an octagon-shaped porch provides a place to enjoy the fruits of her labor.

"I wanted to keep it heirloom," Drager said. And she did. Drager
space.

On a shoesting: Cindy Drager turned her small, dark fixer-upper into a spacious looking, light and airy abode by painting knotty pine paneling above her fireplace in a warming eggshell color.

these plants are always welcome. I have gone through my rose file and will share some of my findings, although I haven't tried them all.

When planting, the union or graft area should be planted two to three inches below the ground surface, if a rose needs to be transplanted, do so in the fall Blackspot can be controlled with a solution of one tablespoon soda thoroughly dissolved in one gallon of water. Spray every three to four days, the banana peels as a fertilizer - it's high in potash - each month (except when the weather is very hot - then don't fertilize at all). Mash them into the soil around the rose bush and cover them lightly with soil.

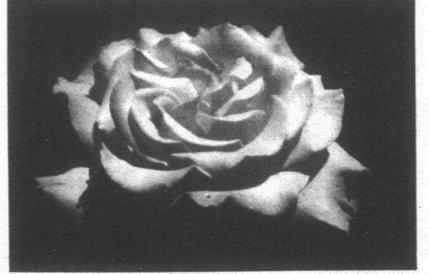

Remove roses at the end of the stem. not back to the first five-leaflet bud the plant will perform better with as many leaves as possible left on it. Keep the beds around roses scrupulously clean. Roses like to be planted with members of the onion (allium) family, including the ornamental ones. Rue, lambs-ears, thyme, French tarragon and sage are also suitable compani

Stick summer rose cuttings about halfway into a 14-inch block of Oasis foam, set on a tray. Keep cubes wet and place in a shaded spot. Pot them when roots come out of the cubes (about four to six weeks). Terminal cuttings can be taken after rose petals fall, dipped in a hormone product then inserted in a slit in a potato after the eyer have been cut out. The potato will assure moisture around the cutting in the beginning (this from Alice Burlingame).

"The Natural Rose Gardener. Lance Walheim ($17.95, Ironwood Press), will take you through the steps to achieve beautiful roses with little less care than is usually supposed. It examines the idea that chemical controls may not always be the best. Horticultural information is clear and to the point and is accompanied by excellent line drawings. Sidebars give at-aglance information, from pegging a rose to natural garden tips and information about roses in containers.

"The Graham Stuart Thomas Rose Book" ($39.95, Timber Press) is a compilation of three of his other books about roses. It is divided into parts for specific roses, for example Old Shrub, Species and Modern Shrub, and Climbing, and devotes one section to caring for these beloved plants. The descriptions and photographs are excep-tional, as one would expect from an author such as Thomas; a must-have for rosarians. This volume is revised and updated to provide the best possible formation available.

may be the scourge of the lawn ranger, but upon close examina tion they are a beautiful flower. In large dense patches their golden color is as bright as the fields of vellow rocket. Even when the flower has developed to a white seedhead it still shows a golden color.

The golden color associated with the seedhead of the dandelion comes from the goldfinch. By now the male American goldfinch has molted from its dull olive green winter plumage into its bright breeding plumage. Males are a brilliant golden yellow with black wings and a black cap.

As I pass by areas of white-topped landelions I sometimes cause goldfinch to fly away. I've disturbed them from eeding on seeds of these prodigious plants. At times they bounce off the ground a few inches and stab at the

The most efficient technique I've observed is when they sidle next to the base of the dandelion stem and then flutter to try and grab hold of the stem with their feet. The farther up the stem they try to grab, the more likely the stem will bend due to their weight. If they grab hold of the stem with their feet near the cottony transparent seed head they can ride it down to the ground. Once on the ground they can pluck the seeds from the top without having to expend very much energy. This general procedure is also used by a sparrow, much larger than the goldfinch, known as the Harris' sparrow. While watching these birds on migration in North Dakota several years ago, I saw them feed on dandelion seeds. But their larger size allowed them to walk the length of the stem and cause the seedhead to bend down to the ground. With their feet holding the stem near the

is. Or maybe it's just that he hasn't thought about it. George has several problems, not the least of which is a brain as steeped in alcohol as an old fruitcake.

Pretty soon, he has more problems As he sits down to hack out new movie material, somebody drills his computer screen with a high-powered rifle. Then they drill George. Twice.

Before the dust settles in this 1990's showdown, Sheriff Jules Clement - a University of Michigan alum - has to deal with (among other things) two murders, a suicide, abandoned children, a flood, disgruntled lovers, bar fights, bad food, migraines, drunken high school seniors partying on the edge of disaster, plus all the blood, sweat, tears, and other body fluid that generally accompany the grind of daily life.

Along the way, you'll meet George's red-haired, off-putting brother, Ray; George's wife, Mona, as mean as she is obese: Bunny McElwaine, so named because he is the hairiest man in Blue Deer, nice-guy high school principal, John Dribnitz; flaming liberals, Pete and Alice; and Ada Santoz, a shark in Chanel suits, who runs the town news

At 'Edge': Author Jamie Harrison set her first book, "The Edge of the Crazies," in a small Montana town.

Designs evaluated

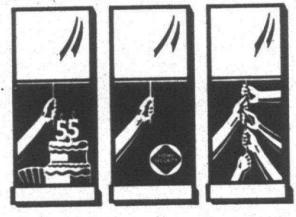

Well-known jeweler and sculptor Nancilee Wydra, author of "Designing Your Happiness," will visit The ArtCafe, 211 E. Washington in Ann Arbor, 12:30-3 p.m. Saturday, June 10.

"Designing Your Happiness" explains the principles of Feng Shui, an age-old Chinese practice of furnishing and decorating a home or workspace so it is in harmony with the rhythms of successful living. Wydra will offer free, 15-minute Feng Shui evaluations Saturday. People may bring a photo, sketch or floor plan of the space they would tors will have the opportunity to view Wydra's sculptures and jewelry. Call The ArtCafe in advance at (313) 665-6464 to schedule an appointment with Wydra is a Feng Shui master and lectures throughout the United States. She has degrees in psychiatric social work and interior design, and studied city planning. She will be at Borders in Ann Arbor for a book signing and lecture Thursday, June 8.

CARDAMOM SPINACH MUFFINS

- 2 cups all purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
- I tablespoon sugar
- 16 teasnoon sea salt 1/2 small onion, chopped fine
- 10-12 ounces fresh spinach, stems removed, washed thoroughly and chonned fine
- cup buttermilk
- 2 tablespoon melted butter 4 cup light Swiss cheese, grated
- 1/4 cup fresh Parmesan cheese,
- grated fine
- large egg

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Spray a muffin tin with no-stick cooking spray.

Sift all dry ingredients into a large glass bowl. In a separate bowl, add the onion, spinach, buttermilk, meited butter, half of each cheese, and the whole egg.

Make a well in the dry ingredients, add the liquid/spinach and onion mixture. Stir combining all ingredients.

Carefully spoon the batter into the muffin tins in equal amounts

- sprinkle on the remaining cheeses

Place on the middle shelf of the oven and bake for 25-30 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove the muffins from the oven and and let cool in their tin for approximately 6 minutes --serve. Yield: 12 full-sized muffins Skewers of Small New Michigan Potatoes, Fennel & Mushrooms

Soak the bamboo skewers overnight to prevent them from catching on fire.

Boil the new potatoes and fennel (amounts will depend on how many you are expecting and how long your skewers are - if the skewers are small, give each guest two), cook until fork tender.

Place the potatoes in a bowl with light olive oil, parsley, marjoram and fennel seeds -- lightly toss until well covered.

Cut the bulbs of fennel into quarters, place into a bowl of equal parts --- light olive oil and fresh lemon juice.

Brush the mushrooms with light olive oil.

Thread the vegetables onto the skewers, grill on an oiled outdoor grill or on an oven top grill until desired doneness - season with sea salt and fresh black pepper. Serve hot.

During the months when the Detroit River is navigable, a mail boat delivers mail addressed to people on board the passing ships and picks up outgoing mail from them. The mail boat operates out of the River Station at the foot of 24th

Mail being sent from the ships is lowered to the mail boat in a pail fastened to a rope. Deliveries to the ship are made in the same way. The little mail boat will snuggle up to a freighter's side, maintain equal speed with the larger vessel, and the mail is passed in a bucket lowered on a line.

The mail boat, however, isn't owned by the Postal Service. Its services are obtained by government contract with the J.W. Westcott Co. The river mail service began in 1895 with the boat "Florence B." Today's mail boat, the J.W. Westcott II," is the sixth boat to

More details next week on the 100th anniversary of the Detroit River boat mail service and the special cachet cover being prepared.

A new "Legends of Hollywood" pos tage stamp series was launched June 1 when a sheet honoring Marilyn Monroe was issued nationwide. The series will showcase individuals who embody the magic of motion pictures and are appreiated worldwide.

The special design of the sheet includes 20 stamps bordered on the right by a stunning enlargement of the stamp portrait. The closeup portrait is framed above by the heading "Legends of Hollywood" and below by Monroe's distinctive signature.

Marilyn Monroe was born Norma Jean Mortensen on June 1, 1926, in Los Angeles and spent most of her childhood in orphanages and nursing homes. Her nude photograph on a calendar led to her film debut in "Scudda-Hoo! Scudda-Hay!" in 1948. She is best remembered for her classic movies: "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "How to Marry a Millionaire," "The Seven Year Itch" and "Some Like It Hot." She completed 29 films before her death in 1962.

You may buy the Monroe sheet at any post office. Free first day of issue souvenir cancels are available by mail. Buy and affix the new stamp(s) to envelopes addressed to yourself or others, insert a postcard-thick card, tuck in the flap and mail in a larger envelope by July 1 addressed to: Marilyn Monroe Stamp, Chandler Station, 11304 Chandler Blvd., North Hollywood, Calif. 91601-9991.

World view: Jeff Shell of Cushman & Wakefield maps out strategies for helping companies with their real estate needs globally.

Commercial Realtors go global

■ Times change. Manufacturers and retailers look overseas to expand their markets. Commercial real estate firms forge relationships in other countries to serve those needs.

By Doug FUNKE

s more businesses here expand globally, com-mercial real estate firms with local roots form networks with counterparts in other countries to service clients and expand their busi-

Cushman & Wakefield established a partnership about three years ago that now includes seven organizations on four continents.

The beauty of it is a company deals with us lo-cally and we deal with our affiliates around the world," said Jeff Shell, managing director of the Southfield office. "We act as their single point of contact locally and give access all over the world."

The issues can range from finding property for manufacturing or retail expansion to researching real estate costs to getting tax information, Shell said. Same day or next day service is common.

Cushman & Wakefield specifically has worked with Kmart, Ford and Chrysler, Shell said.

We saw our clients, because of competition, saturation at home, started going to other parts of the world," he said. "We decided that to serve our clients and maintain relationships, we had to go to other parts of the world."

Even large companies with their own real estate divisions would have difficulty competing with real estate networks, Shell maintains.

"It would nearly be impossible for their staffs to have correct, precise information we have with our affiliates. You have to physically be there to know what's going on in a market."

CB Commercial, with an office in Southfield, also belongs to an international network, DTZ, which has offices throughout Europe, the Far East and the Middle East.

CB Commercial also has several affiliations with counterparts in South America and China.

"It has been the globalization of the economy that has clients demanding interi vices," said Scott Elliott, managing officer of the

He identified clients as the Big Three auto manufacturers, major suppliers, Blockbuster Video and Kmart.

"Services range across the board," Elliott said. "We do site selection, leasing of office and retail space, plant locations. Also, a fair amount of consultation work that would involve a client considering several different countries for a plant.

Business does come back in this direction, especially in Detroit . . . to supply the auto industry," Elliott said. "And investor action comes this Manufacturing executives and managers na-tionwide indicated in a recent survey that availability of real estate services is a key element for international expansion, reported Cushman & Wakefield Worldwide.

"After labor, real estate costs are the largest expense on the corporate balance sheet. Successfully managing these costs is critical," Shell said.

Some 300 management types were interviewed by telephone.

The findings:

Two-thirds said knowledge of the local real estate market would ultimately impact the viability of international expansion.

Manufacturers were twice as likely as service-oriented companies to envision a need to expand internationally.

Four out of five respondents said they find a single, experienced organization with consistent standards providing a broad range of real estate services to companies expanding or setting up overseas to be valuable.

Fifty percent indicated that situation would be extremely or very valuable.

Knowledge, cost savings and time savings were cited as the value of one-stop shopping for international real estate services.

Companies at either end of the spectrum _ sales greater than $200 million or less than $100 million _ are more likely than medium-sized companies to see international expansion as a key to future financial success.

Consequently, larger and smaller companies also are more likely to view knowledge of the real estate market as important.

Attorney must provide good customer service

Q. Our board is divided on whether to keep our present attorney, who we have had for 6-7 years. We hired him because he was recommended by the management company and was, frankly, substantially below the cost of other condominium attorneys However, over the last 6-7 years, he has increased his fees at the rate of $10 per hour each year, which was approximately 50% of his original fee. I suspect that now that he has garnered a sufficient number of condominium associations coming in under market, that he is now raising his rates to a "captive audience." However, because he is so busy, he never returns our phone calls in a timely fashion, and usually delegates our work to someone else in his office who charges the same rate. We just fired the management company that recommended him as they were too large and unresponsive and the attorney strongly objects to it. What should the board do?

A. In the 1990s, it is becoming increasingly more difficult for law firms to raise their hourly rates in proportion to the increased costs of doing business. Some firms have even lowered their rates to become more competitive. In your situation, the marketing plan of the attorney apparently was to obtain, in effect, a captive audience and then raise the hourly rates to achieve a higher return on the attorney's time. That was, of course, a very prudent marketing plan. The attendant problem is whether the attorney can then service the client adequately with relatively limited resources based upon the limited return received by the attorney for his time in the past. A 50% increase in the hourly rates over a 5-6 year period is indeed substantial, but what is even more important is the fact that the association is apparently not getting the benefit of its bargain with the attorney. As in dealing with any other professional, the association deserves to have the very best service it can reasonably obtain for a fair stipend and may wish to evaluate what other attorneys can provide. The board should also be questioning why the attorney was so outspoken, apparently, about the dismissal of the management firm to determine whether in fact that opinion had anything to do with the fact that the management firm had apparently recommended the attorney in the first instance. As previously stated, generally, you get what you pay for.

One of the first important decisions you'll need to make is whether you want to co-mingle your resources into a common pool or maintain separate ownership of your income and assets.

CPAs suggest that one of the best approaches is to set up a joint acint for living expenses and savings, while keeping some money separate. This compromise can facilitate your day-to-day money management while allowing each spouse some financial
