Summer reading: Parents and their kids follow along with stories read by Canton librarians.

Kids and books meet

You don't have to be able to read to participate in the Canton Public Library's Summer Reading Program.

"It gives all children a positive experience at the library — that the library is a fun place," said Michelle Durbin, Canton youth services librarian.

The younger crowd — 2-5-year-olds — who cannot yet read are nonetheless experiencing books and the library this summer with the program. "It lets little kids be part of it," Durbin said.

About 100 little ones recently took the library outdoors — for one session in which they got a chance to be up close with farm animals and another in which they got a chance to participate in reading activities with parents and librarians.

"We do action songs and action rhymes," Durbin said. "We give them stories that they can participate in." The kids made pictures to accompany the stories that were read to them.

For the younger kids, the reading program encourages parents to read to their children and get them acquainted with books and the library. Kids receive free stickers for every book their parents read to them. "Parents can't start read-

Cable efforts to start

■ Workers from Ameritech are expected to start this summer on a new $8 million cable system that will offer Canton residents interactive television and other new services.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton residents can expect to see construction crews this summer building Ameritech's new $8 million cable system while other crews upgrade Omnicom's existing system.

"They will be working with coaxial cable," said Sue Folsom, Canton engineer. "They will open a hole and bore the cable through the ground."

Ameritech New Media will begin what is expected to be a year-long building program starting in areas along Sheldon Road, between Ford and Warren. Construction will be in public easements, many that run through residents' back yards. Other construction, particularly along main roads, such as Sheldon, will be along overhead lines, Folsom said.

Canton trustees Tuesday night approved a 15-year cable franchise agreement with Ameritech New Media Enterprises. The move is considered historic because of the competition both cable companies will bring to the community as well as Ameritech's dive into cable television and interactive two-way television.

"We are providing an opportunity to residents of Canton to choose this service," said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack. No one spoke in opposition or support of the new franchise during Tuesday's public hearing. Trustee John Burdziak, an Ameritech retiree, abstained from voting. Trustee Phil LaJoy was absent.

Residents can expect to see construction crews with NTS, Ameritech's contractor, in their back yards this summer. But residents will be forewarned with door hanging notices when crews are nearing their subdivisions.

Though crews plan to bore the coaxial cable underground, there may be some areas where ditches will be dug. "If they disturb someone's yard, they have to restore it," Folsom said.

Residents also are cautioned that during construction they may lose certain utility services because crews are digging in easements where electrical, telephone and cable lines are buried. "If by

Employee to maintain streetscape

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Now that the streetscape on Ford Road in Canton is finished, someone needs to maintain it.

Canton trustees agreed July 11 to create and fill a position to maintain the streetscape, including the new landscape and brickwork along Ford Road in the Downtown Development District.

The township's Municipal Services Division, which won the bid to provide maintenance for 14 months at a cost of $62,080, will hire a full-time employee, who will earn $10.64 an hour. The township received only one other bid for the work. Municipal Services was the lowest bid.

Municipal Services officials will later ask township trustees to amend the grounds maintenance budget to cover the cost of the new employee and other contract costs.

The $2 million streetscape will be dedicated July 27. Ground was broken for the project May 14, 1994. The streetscape runs along Ford, from Sheldon Road to Morton Taylor. The district also

School board OKs hiring of 11 new teachers

BY M.B. DILLON

The hiring of 11 more teachers was approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last week. Board members approved the hiring of 17 teachers and learning specialists at a previous meeting.

The new hires are replacing 64 teachers who accepted an early retirement package offered by the district.

Among the new teachers to start at Isbister in the fall is an Eastern Michigan University graduate who has two relatives the district, one of whom teaches at Isbister. Laura Riegal's aunt, Linda Guenzel, teaches at Isbister. Her brother, James Riegal, teaches at Bentley Elementary.

According to board policy, relatives of district employees can be hired, as long as the board is informed of it and relatives don't supervise one another.

Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations and personnel, notified the board of the situation last week.

A couple of trustees questioned whether relatives teaching in the same elementary school might present a problem.

"I spoke with (Isbister principal) Lee Harrison, and the individual (Laura Riegal) has been a long-term sub there. They were very impressed with her," said Goldman. "I don't have a problem with it."

Trustee Barbara Graham said, "I'm uncomfortable with them being in the same building. It will be very difficult if we continue the same trend."

An administrator evaluating an employee with a relative in the same building is presented with a difficulty, she said. "I'm not particularly fond of the idea if we go too far. I wonder if there is some way to remedy this in the future."

Goldman said, "The difficulty is you want a committee at each school doing its own hiring. They want the best available. I don't believe our administrators will have any difficulty with evaluation."

Dogs aid golfers' cause

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

Louie and Deli aren't golfers, but they sure know how to handle a golf club — especially if you are hoping they will hand it to you.

Louie and Deli are service dogs, trained by Paws with a Cause, and they were on hand for the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club's Hole-in-One Shootout to raise money to help a community resident get such a dog.

"We had 65 people come out on the first Saturday," said Civitan member Gene Kafila of Uniglobe Travel in Plymouth. "The weather was windy and cool. But from noon on we got activity. And Sunday was better."

The Civitans sponsored the shootout for two weekends, July 8-9 and 15-16, at the new Pheasant Run Golf Club practice range in Canton. The money raised will help the Civitans buy a $8,500 service dog for a community resident who is handicapped and is in need of a dog to help.

In the first weekend of the shootout, the Civitans sold 850 balls at $1 a piece. Golfers who qualified will move on to a regional shootout and then to a final shootout where winners are eligible for a number of cash prizes, including a $1 million annuity. At the local level, golfers were driving the ball 105 yards with a goal of getting either a hole-in-one or shooting closest to the hole.

"There is a dog in training and designated for this person," said Kafila, who added that the person who needs the dog will not be identified until later. "They have to be compatible with each other."

The dogs are trained by Paws with a Cause to answer telephones, open doors, and do just about whatever is needed for the soon-to-be new master. "Those dogs brought tears to my eyes," Kafila said, referring to Louie and Deli, who picked up golf clubs, carried buckets of golf balls and generally encouraged participants in the shootout.

Precinct changes win approval of board of education

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

School precincts in Plymouth-Canton are being realigned, but don't look for school and government precincts to have the same configurations now — or any time soon.

As convenient as it would be for voters to go to the same polling place for both school and government elections, it wouldn't be practical or cost-effective, say school officials.

The Board of Education changed the boundaries of school district Precincts 3 and 5 in Plymouth Township at its meeting Monday night. Trustees also eliminated from school district Precinct 8 the portion in Plymouth Township. Affected voters will be notified of the changes by mail.

"It's a convenient time for the township of Plymouth to give us the needed help in this project, since they are realigning many of their own precinct boundaries," said Ellen Schroeder, Plymouth-Canton elections clerk.

Changes in Canton precincts to accommodate the township's growth are expected next.

"Canton Township has indicated to us that some changes will be coming in the near future that will dictate our realigning school precinct boundaries in Canton. We will also be creating a new school precinct in Canton," said Schroeder. "At this point, all precincts that include the city of Plymouth, township of Plymouth, and township of Canton will not overlap one another."

Superintendent Charles Little said, "Periodically, the townships and city realign their precincts in an effort to economize. When Plymouth realigned this winter, we joined them. This allows us to use the same notification postcard system. Canton will realign in the fall, and we can use the same mailing with them to inform voters so things are clear and economical."

Apparently, despite receiving cards in the mail, some voters were unsure where to vote in the school district's election last month.

Newly elected Trustee Michael Maloney said, "One of the things that really frustrates voters is when their voting place changes. We should be able to explain, because it's going to cause the same frustration." Maloney said he came across a voter election day who was so exasperated that she said to him, "They are trying to discourage me from voting."

Speaking of election day, Plymouth City Commissioner Robert Jones told the board that he encountered a woman who'd come to the wrong precinct, and was unable to find out where she was supposed to vote. "This went on to the point where she didn't vote. She wasn't going to vote for the 2.3 mill anyway," he said. "I think we should be able to tell people where they vote. If this is a particular problem, I hope it's looked at before the next election."

Little said each polling place posts a map. In addition, said Schroeder, all election workers have to do is call her office, open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. every election day.

"Questions can be answered quickly and accurately that way," said Little.

"How difficult would it be to make the master list available at every precinct?" asked Trustee Jack Farrow. "That's possible, but not right now," said Dave Rodwell, research and technology director.

Schroeder said the last three elections have gone smoothly.

There's been talk of matching school and government precincts, she said. "There may be a push for it, but frankly, I don't see how it would happen. The cost would be tremendous, and practically, it's just not conceivable. Government has 43 precincts. We have 17. We'd be looking at almost 200 precinct workers. We have less than 100 now." Equipment would be a huge added expense, Schroeder said.

The district spent $18,000 on the June 12 election.

Realigning government precincts with school precincts wouldn't work either, "because they have more voters than we do, and a greater voter turnout," Schroeder said.

"Where people get confused is in some small school districts, they can do it real easily. We have six governmental units to serve."

The process will be further streamlined when the district switches to a computerized system, Schroeder said.

Friends of the Playscape will meet Tuesday evening

■ CONNECTION

Anyone who would like to participate in a new organization, Friends of the Playscape, that will help maintain the new Heritage Hideout structure in Heritage Park, is asked to attend an organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 18, in the park pavilion by the playscape.

The Friends group will be comprised of a board of 6-7 members who will work cooperatively with township staff to maintain the structure that was built by volunteers in early June.

The Robert S. Leathers architects/consultants, who helped design the playscape and who supervised volunteers during construction, provided organizers with a maintenance schedule.

"This Friends group will be in charge of following that maintenance schedule," said Christine Donaldson, who spearheaded the playscape effort. "This meeting is for anyone who wants to be on the board."

A reunion of organizers and volunteers is planned for next June when parts of the playscape will likely need resanding and resealing.

Fear of stalker's abuse dominates woman's life

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

In her heart, she knows he'll be back.

But this isn't someone she's waiting for. This is the man who she says for more than 10 years raped, beat and stalked her.

Now Debbie has prepared arguments to keep her stalker, Daryl, in prison. He is up for parole in August, six months after his imprisonment for aggravated stalking, a felony for which he was sentenced on March 27 to 1½-to-five years. Daryl's attorney, Mary McDougall, did not respond to the Observer's inquiries.

"He sent me letters during the trial dealing with death and separation. They were sent to 'Dear Nicole' and signed, Love, OJ," said Debbie, who has three children by Daryl, two of them from reported rapes, the third from an alleged unreported rape.

Daryl, who is in the Richard Handlon Michigan Training Unit in Ionia, declined to comment, according to Roger Gillespie of the Ionia prisons.

When Daryl was sentenced in March, Debbie returned to her Canton apartment to find newspaper clippings about death pasted to her door. Harassment and threats over the years came in the form of bullet casings and a dead rose left on her front porch, endless phone calls, damage to her car and continual stalking.

The alleged beatings, rapes, threats and harassment, have left Debbie, 27, with health problems, a delayed education and uncontrollable fear. She sought out counseling with First Step to help put her life back together.

"When this happens to someone, their ability to look at a broad picture is not there. They don't have the ability anymore to ask questions. It is all about survival. It would be difficult for her to make decisions that make sense to anyone," said First Step counselor Karen Porter.

Meeting him

Debbie's story with Daryl began when both were students at Bishop Borgess High School in Redford. She was an honor student involved in school activities and engaged to a young man in the Navy. That relationship ended when she says Daryl began to dominate her life.

"Daryl saw me in the hall in school. He then started moving things into my locker. We never had a relationship."

Debbie admits that she was not worldy enough to understand what was happening or how to stop it. The legal and social services system offered her little help or hope until she met Canton Detective Jerry Hardesty in 1993.

"I tried to investigate this case the way I would anything else," Hardesty said. "I brought her in and let her tell her story." Daryl failed his polygraph test. "I felt something had gone on. I didn't feel he was being truthful."

The 1993 stalking law brought hope for Debbie and others in similar situations. Under the new law, more than 80 reports of stalking were made in Canton from Jan. 1, 1993 to April 1, 1995. "First the person has to know they are to stay away. The law also requires that there is fear for your life," Hardesty said. "A lot of people who stalk use fear to control."

Ignored by the system

Debbie believes that because she knew Daryl and had his children, the legal system ignored her plight. "I have been judged because I gave birth to my children. They are not responsible for the way they were conceived."

Debbie says she was first raped at a high school graduation party. She planned to attend college out-of-state, a fact she believes ignited Daryl's obsession. She called Detroit police. "As soon as they realized I knew him, they told me to go home, take a shower and forget it ever happened."

The resulting pregnancy led her to the state Department of Social Services for medical insurance and food stamps. Debbie did not see Daryl for two years. But word got out that she had a biracial baby. He knew it was his, Debbie said.

A social services representative told Debbie that Daryl had a right to see his child. Years later Debbie learned that she didn't have to let him in her house or see her children — his name was not on their birth certificates.

In August 1988, Debbie allowed him to see their daughter at his mother's house. She said later in the year, harassment escalated with more phone calls. She say he followed her to work, disrupted her work and talked to her friends. "There was no such thing as stalking then."

In November 1988, she said she was raped again in Detroit. "The police said, 'you've got a child together.' " Nothing was done. When she reported the rape to the DSS, Debbie was told that as long as their daughter wasn't harmed, she couldn't prevent Daryl from seeing her.

"I think she felt social services had more authority than she did," Hardesty said.

One-third of all women in domestic violence shelters are the victims of stalkers. "The core issue is power and control," said Porter of First Step. "It includes intimidation, threats, sexual abuse, economic abuse. If you choose to remove yourself from that person, then there is the pressure of obsession."

Debbie maintains that when police were called, Daryl would cloud the picture, posing the incidents as passionate fights, while keeping her at bay with threats. "I found that as long as I didn't fight him, I didn't get hurt."

Porter said it is not at all unusual that pregnancy results from rape. "There is victimiza-

Storm knocks out power

Thursday brought a triple whammy to Plymouth and Canton.

Mother Nature unleashed two of the miseries — a sultry heat wave with temperatures close to 100 and an early evening storm that blackened the sky and led to downed trees and power outages throughout the area. A funnel cloud even was reportedly spotted near Livonia.

On Friday, Detroit Edison spokeswoman Mary Kay Bean said, "We had 4,800 customers affected by outages as a result of the storm."

"As of 2 p.m. we still had 3,900 customers without service," she said. "We've been concentrating on wire down calls right now, because it's very important to protect the public safety.

She said Edison expected the majority of affected Plymouth customers to have power restored by Saturday. "We'll be working through the weekend," she said, adding 100 additional line workers were coming from Pennsylvania to work with the usual Edison crews and private contractors to restore power.

Outages were caused by storms Thursday with 50-60 mph winds and lightning strikes. "They have the ability to have a tremendous impact on trees, lines and equipment," Bean said.

In Canton, trees and branches were down, but there were no major problems reported, according to officials.

The third calamity struck at 6:30 a.m. and came not from Mother Nature but from our high-tech society. Thousands of local residents spent the day without telephone service when a switch failed at an Ameritech building at 11770 Merriman, Livonia. Some 65,000 telephone lines in Livonia, Westland and Garden City were out for most of the day, said Jonathan James, Ameritech spokesman.

The summer storm hit about 6 p.m., bringing a bit of relief from the steam of the day. The sky darkened, fingers of lighting spread across the sky, trees rocked and swayed and torrents of water fell.

With the storm came a loss of power, to homes, businesses and street lights.

Officials investigate garage fire

Listed below are some of the Canton fire and rescue incidents reported during the past week, as well as fire safety tips and programs available free to the community. Year-to-date (January 1-present) runs for the Canton Fire Department: 2,044; last year's total: 3,445. Last week's total runs: 95

■ GARAGE FIRE
Fire officials are investigating the cause of a fire in a maintenance garage at the Sherwood Mobile Home Park on July 7. It appears someone lit brush on the outside of the garage, causing the fire to climb the wall, roof and into the attic.

Firefighters were able to extinguish the fire and save most of the garage.

■ ELECTRICAL FIRE
Firefighters were contacted after a homeowner on Kings Court extinguished a fire that appeared to have been caused from a six-plug electrical strip, July 3.

The homeowner called firefighters to make a report about the fire. The electrical plug on the strip was found melted, as were computer components.

Firefighters warn that electrical plug strips should not be placed where they can collect heat, such as under carpeting.

■ KIDS AND MATCHES
Firefighters were called to the 6500 block of Powderhorn July 5 on a report that kids were using matches and setting paper on fire in the street.

■ GREASE FIRE
Minor damage to a stove hood and adjacent wall resulted from a grease fire on a stove in a house in the 46000 block of Bartlett, July 2. Firefighters extinguished the fire and used a positive pressure fan to clear smoke and bring clear air into the house.

■ COOKING FIRE
Firefighters responded to Michigan Avenue and Sheldon on a report of heavy smoke, possibly a plane crash, July 2. When they arrived, they discovered a cooking fire in a barbecue on Herby.

■ SAFETY TIP
Canton firefighters remind adults and children that should their clothing catch fire they must stop, drop, cover their face and roll on the ground to extinguish the flames.

Many people have the tendency to run when their clothes catch on fire, but firefighters say the best way to smother the flames is to roll them out on the ground or floor.

■ PROGRAMS OFFERED
Canton residents and businesses are reminded that a number of programs are available to them for free from the Canton Fire Department. Programs include CPR and basic First Aid classes, juvenile fire setters, baby-sitter awareness and tours and department presentations.

■ CPR/FIRST AID
Groups may sign up for training for adults, infant/child and CPR and First Aid classes. Groups may be as small as three or four people. Most of the classes are about four hours in length. Participants receive a card that says they completed the course. The only cost to participants is the purchase of a textbook. For more information contact Sgt. Jim Davison, 453-4114.

■ JUVENILE FIRE SETTERS
This is a program for youths whose parents, teachers or school principals are concerned about fire setting, pulling fire alarms or abnormal fixations with fire. Firefighters meet with parents and children. If counseling is needed, a referral is given. For more information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ CLASSES AND TOURS
Groups, homeowners associations and businesses interested in learning fire prevention and fire safety, such as the use of extinguishers, may contact fire prevention, 397-5348.

ing to their kids early enough," said Jill Halpin, Canton youth services librarian. "Activities that encourage reading help further the love of books."

The Summer Reading Program has drawn 1,100 kids, ranging from toddlers to eighth-graders, into the library. The older kids set a reading goal for the six-week program. Every time they read for a certain period of time they receive a ticket leading up to free books, as well as other incentives, such as coupons for bowling and McDonald's. Participants also receive a certificate of completion.

chance they hit a line, there's a possibility that service will be disrupted," Folsom said, adding that crews will be responsible for fixing the problem.

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with Omnicom for a renewed cable agreement. But as the incumbent cable service in the community, Omnicom may upgrade its system without a new agreement. Rick Collman, new general manager for Omnicom, could not be reached for comment.

"It's ongoing," said Mike Ager, Canton resource development manager, referring to negotiations. "We are hoping to get something soon."

Omnicom is going through a number of technological changes, including the installation of 50 miles of fiber-optic cable that will reduce service interruptions for customers at the end of the service line.

Omnicom is switching customers' converter boxes — used for premium channels such as Disney — to what is called an addressable system that allows communication between the customer and Omnicom. The company is also rebuilding its system and will increase available channels from 53 to an expected 110.

Ameritech New Media Enterprises will construct its 750-megahertz fiber-optic system throughout Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and the city of Northville with the expectation of about 300 new jobs.

At the start, New Media will provide traditional cable television services with approximately 80 channels, including the in-demand History Channel and Travel Channel, and pay-per-view services. Ameritech also has a joint venture with Walt Disney Co. to create new video programming and interactive services.

When the digital technology is available, New Media will provide a complete telecommunication system, offering video, voice and data services. It offers a promise of hundreds more channels and more sophisticated digital two-way services, such as banking and grocery shopping from home.

runs north up Sheldon to the first entrance of the Harvard Square shopping center.

The streetscape features brick walls on the north and south sides of Ford Road, as well as decorative street lights and landscaping. At each intersection of the district, a limestone sign is in the brick identifying Canton. Each business in the district was given the option of having the brick wall with limestone cap in front of their buildings.

A resident asked township trustees if the maintenance employee would be responsible for clearing up signs — for example, for garage sales and new homes — placed in the rights-of-way along Ford Road.

But the maintenance employee will only be responsible for the DDA district, including cleanup, mowing, weeding, flower maintenance and snow plowing.

The resident told trustees that she believes crosses and other memorials put up along the roadway where fatal accidents have occurred are hurting the appearance of the thoroughfare.

"I think we need to realize that some of that has to come to an end," said the resident. "It's not that I want to hurt anyone's feelings, but it's been 1½-years (since a particular accident). We have to move on."

Supervisor Tom Yack told the resident that she is welcome to remove signs and other items placed in the right-of-way. "Any citizen can remove that, because it is in fact trash."

Yack asked Aaron Machnik, municipal services director, to have his staff address the problem along Ford Road.

The Downtown Development Authority paid for the streetscape through a state-allowed Tax Increment Financing Authority. The DDA collected money to pay off bonds that were sold to finance the project.

The DDA has siphoned off taxes when the current assessed value of property in the district exceeded the initial assessment when the district was created. The taxes would have otherwise gone to the school district and other taxing agencies.

■ The township's Municipal Services Division, which won the bid to provide maintenance for 14 months at a cost of $62,080, will hire a full-time employee, who will earn $10.64 an hour. The township received only one other bid for the work.

Parent Lucy French told the board her daughter was fortunate to have Laura Riegal as a teacher last year. "It worries me that nepotism might override competency," she said. "She really is an outstanding young lady."

Newly elected Trustee Mike Maloney said he was part of the committee that screened teaching applicants and made hiring recommendations at Allen Elementary School recently.

"The committee spent 50-60 hours on this. I'm absolutely convinced we got excellent teachers in the process," he said.

Superintendent Charles Little, who proposed the "stakeholder" hiring committees, said the system is "designed to identify the highest quality teachers available."

New hires include Field Elementary teachers Karen Brackett, a graduate of the University of Michigan, and Delene Franchi, an Eastern Michigan University graduate.

Headed to the Tanger Center are Olivet College and University of Michigan graduate Christie Czajkowski; Oakland University and University of Michigan graduate Walter Jurewicz; and Eastern Michigan University graduate Heather Ogden.

Reporting to Allen this August will be Elaina Plakas of Michigan State University, and Dayna Rugh, a Central Michigan University graduate who taught for a year in the Oak Park school district.

Beth Schinelman, a University of Rhode Island graduate, will teach at Fiegel Elementary. Lori Love of the University of Michigan and Nicol Shaney of Eastern Michigan University will teach art at schools to be determined.

Program lauded for excellence

Family Service's Alternative Intervention Method (AIM) program was honored with the Richard F. Huegli Award for Program Excellence at the United Community Services annual meeting in June.

A $1,000 award, made possible by the Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan, was presented to Family Service to further the work of the AIM program. The Huegli Award has been given each year since 1988 by United Community Services to a current program of any public or private nonprofit organization in Wayne, Oakland or Macomb counties.

AIM is a juvenile delinquency diversion and treatment program based in Westland. AIM's service area includes Canton and Plymouth. "Evidence suggests that family functioning is often a factor in many delinquency cases. AIM's emphasis on helping the entire family is what makes it so successful," said AIM program manager Jim Thomas of Canton.

AIM accepts clients from courts, police and youth assistance programs and offers youth and their families a chance to redirect their lives. It was created in 1989 to respond to increasing juvenile delinquency in Wayne County.

The core services of AIM are family-focused and include home-based counseling, behavioral contracting, parenting courses, life skills groups, community work service and a recreational section.

Statistics now show that AIM is successful. Out of 331 families who have completed AIM since its inception, 78 percent have not had further contact with the juvenile justice system. AIM uses a follow-up process to measure recidivism. The criteria for success is the client's lack of contact with the juvenile justice system.

"Family Service's AIM program confronts a serious social problem with measurable results. The outcome is reduced juvenile crime and delinquency, improved family functioning and better problem-solving and decision-making skills by young people," said Bill Bishop, Family Service president.

This is the second time Family Service has received the Huegli Award. The agency's Parent-Infant Beginnings program won the first Huegli Award in 1988. The program offers expectant parents volunteer mentors, assessment and referral services.

tion that happens over time. In the final stages, the individual's ability to problem solve and look beyond the moment is limited. I have known numerous similar cases," Porter said. "Why wouldn't she let him come by the house where she had a feeling of control over something."

Abuse continues

When Debbie moved to Canton in 1989 with her eldest daughter and a new baby — born prematurely after a number of beatings — Daryl found her. He watched the kids for her while she worked. "I guess we were becoming friends." But Daryl didn't work and the fights and harassment continued.

Daryl then joined the U.S. Air Force and went to the Persian Gulf and returned in February 1991. "He beat me several times. The police came. He was convincing. They wouldn't even escort him off the premises."

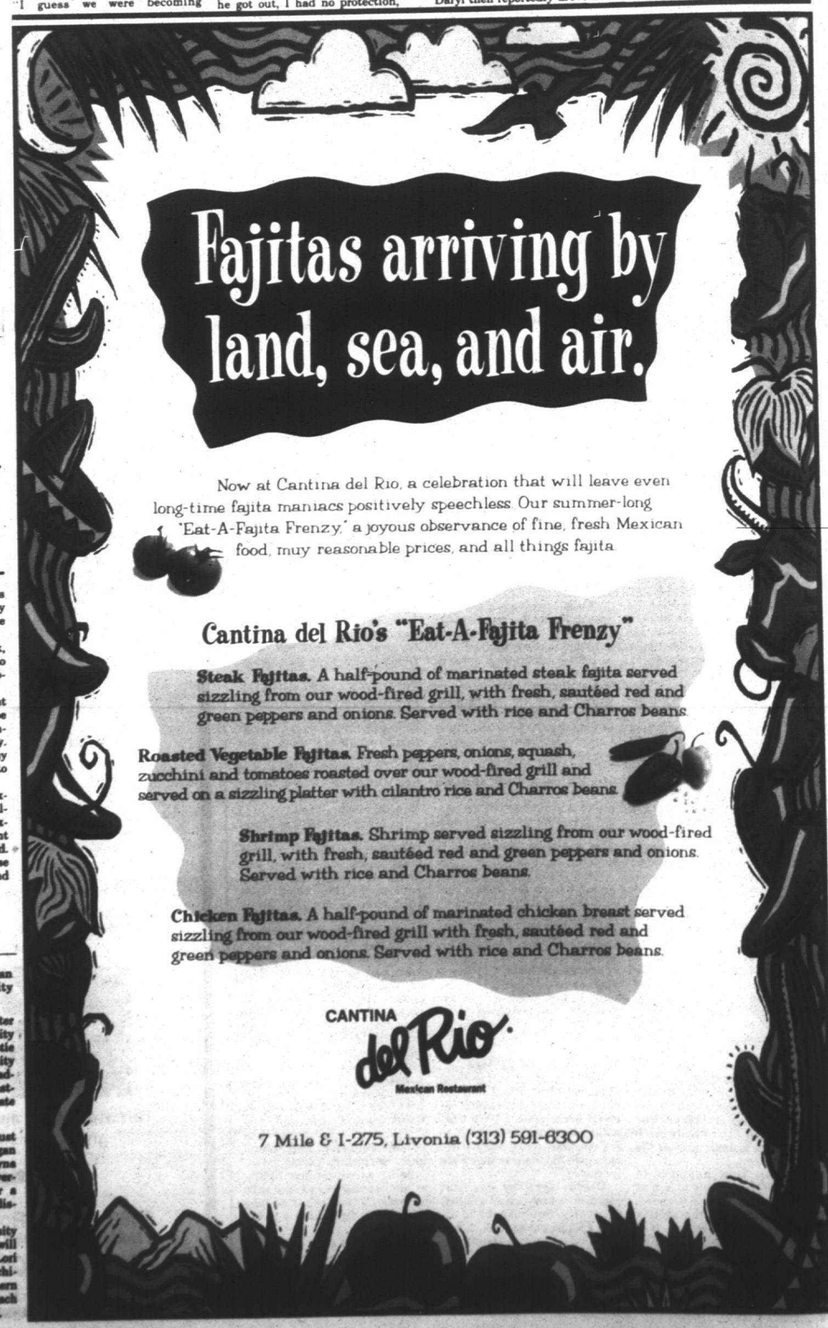

Three restraining orders followed. In 1992 he was restricted from her house, her children's school and her parents' house. The order expired while Daryl was in Canadian prison serving time for drug trafficking. "When he got out, I had no protection," said Debbie, who had already had her third baby. "He wanted to come back under the same premise of 'I want to see my kids and I found God in prison.'"

Debbie established rules for Daryl's visits. But on Aug. 8, 1993, he raped her again in front of the children. Daryl was arrested and convicted of criminal sexual conduct-4th degree. He was out of prison less than a year later. "Things started happening at my house. Flowers would be dug up and planted somewhere else," Debbie said. "We started getting death threats."

Daryl then reportedly drove her off the road in Canton. By November 1994, with a history of restraining orders and the sexual assault conviction, Canton police arrested him.

Debbie's life didn't get easier. Restraining orders from Daryl's family against her followed, as did continual threats and harassment while he was out on bond.

"This man was my only sexual experience," Debbie said, reviewing the incidents she had with Daryl. "I have three children. What would I say to somebody about all that?"

Death penalty amendment is 'narrowest' yet

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

One thing is different about the latest in a 27-year series of efforts to bring the death penalty to Michigan.

"Mine is the narrowest proposal yet," said Rep. Chuck Perricone, R-Kalamazoo, as the House Judiciary Committee opened hearings July 13 on his HJR N, a proposed constitutional amendment.

The freshman lawmaker's plan would allow prosecutors to seek the death penalty in first-degree murder cases under these circumstances: (1) two or more murders, (2) murder committed in a terrorist act "intended to intimidate or coerce a civilian population," or (3) an attempt to influence governmental policy "by assassination or kidnapping."

The panel's meeting was help up for 40 minutes for lack of a quorum. Absentees included Reps. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, and James Ryan, R-Redford.

Perricone has 13 Republican and one Democratic co-sponsors. Committee Democrats revealed their hostility to the proposal.

Perricone said he rejected efforts by many fellow Republicans to include killing of a police or corrections officer. Nor does he want to include "crimes of passion and gas station holdups where it (killing) wasn't intended."

He said arguments over whether execution deters crime and is racist aren't pertinent because "we have an unusually high murder rate" for which execution in some cases is appropriate.

Rep. Alan Cropsey, R-DeWitt, advised Democrats to work on Perricone's compromise because if lawmakers fail to put it on the 1996 ballot, "this could go to the petition process, and if it does, it's not going to be as narrow."

A two-thirds vote of each chamber is needed to put the constitutional amendment on the ballot for voters in 1996. Although Gov. John Engler opposes the death penalty, he has no power to veto the resolution.

Democrats such as Rep. Ted Wallace of Detroit denounced the plan as racist, with blacks being executed in greater proportions than whites.

"I find it revolting," said freshman Rep. Laura Baird, D-Okemos. "It's an immature social impulse to seek revenge."

Said Rep. Mary Schroer, D-Ann Arbor: "It's odd that you (Republicans) trust a jury (in death penalty cases), but for weeks I've heard you don't trust a jury in product liability and malpractice cases." She referred to GOP efforts to limit jury awards in civil suits for non-economic "pain and suffering" damages.

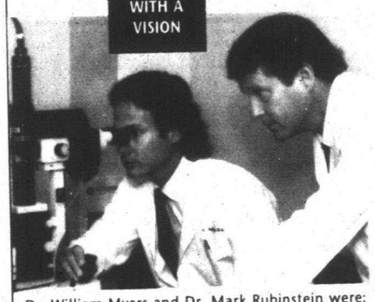

Michigan was the first jurisdiction in the English-speaking world to ban the death penalty after the wrong man was hanged in the 19th century. Voters rejected a death-penalty amendment in 1931. Talk and petition drives revived after the 1967 Detroit riot. Despite poll support of 75-80 percent, however, petition drives have always faltered.

House Judiciary Chair Michael Nye, R-Litchfield, used the hot week and the Appropriations Committee room to give conservatives in his caucus public hearings on controversial proposals. A day earlier the panel had an overflow crowd on proposals to end affirmative action programs in the state.

■ The plan would allow prosecutors to seek the death penalty in first-degree murder cases under these circumstances: (1) two or more murders, (2) murder committed in a terrorist act, or (3) an attempt to influence governmental policy 'by assassination or kidnapping.'

Governor's veto cuts court funding

Capitol capsules:

Gov. John Engler heated up the debate over trial court reorganization by vetoing $25 million in aid to outstate courts, much to the disappointment of western Michigan politicos.

"The governor's veto is unfortunate . . . We want immediate action on restructuring," said Tim McGuire, executive director of the Michigan Association of Counties. MAC has a suit before the state Supreme Court that would force the state to pay core costs of trial courts in the 82 outstate counties.

In 1980 the Legislature took the first step by picking up the costs of Wayne County and Detroit courts but never took the second step until this year when lawmakers voted an extra $25 million for courts.

But Engler vetoed that line item, saying he wants "major near-term decisions" on trial court reorganization as well as on "the appropriate number, location and jurisdiction of trial judges. Until these decisions are made, I cannot support additional funds for local courts."

While Engler has yet to be specific on what kind of court reorganization he favors, leaders of the State Bar are proposing a single "trial court" to replace circuit, Detroit Recorder's, probate and district courts. A joint legislative committee is studying restructuring.

But Engler praised the Legislature for voting a separate lump-sum budget for the judiciary instead of a series of line items.

Indian aid saved

Engler didn't veto the Indian tuition waiver program, as he had threatened, but announced he doesn't want it in next year's budget.

"A veto would merely deprive public colleges and universities of reimbursements for waivers granted in prior years," he said. "I will not support further appropriations to reimburse (universities and colleges) for tuition waived for Native American students (in the future)."

A foe of special line items and complex budgets, the governor wants all aid programs lumped into a single account. For example, Engler vetoed a $250,000 line item for the Nursing Opportunity Program "because it is a new program that focuses financial aid on a subset of students and a single occupation rather than providing funds for all students that are in need."

Jeff Parker, head of the Bay Mills Indian Community and chair of the Michigan Inter-Tribal Council, asked Engler to reconsider because "we have a unique historical relationship with the state as a result of treaties. The tuition waiver is the result of a 1934 agreement giving Native American land to form the state of Michigan in exchange for certain rights . . . including tuition."

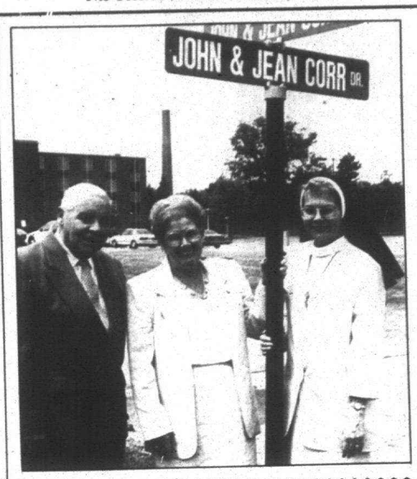

The higher education budget provides a 3 percent cost-of-living hike for all 15 universities and a handful of special adjustments.

Double-bunking

Prison double-bunking will continue at a state prison in Plymouth Township under the Corrections Department budget bill, which Engler signed.

It provides full-year funding for 471 new double-bunked beds, including 275 at the Western Wayne Correctional Facility.

The $1.3 billion corrections bill also provides $4 million for minimum security facilities and increases the county jail reimbursement program by $5.8 million to $14 million.

AN UNHEALTHY COMBINATION

Inside from all the other unhealthful effects caused by smoking and drinking excessively, each of these bad habits has been associated with a number of oral cancers, including those of the mouth, throat, esophagus, larynx, and tongue. To make matters worse, when smoking and drinking are combined, it leads to an effect whereby the alcohol seems to multiply smoking's risk of causing cancer. To begin with, smoking a pack of cigarettes each day increases the smoker's risk for developing oral cancer by 52 percent over the non-smoking teetotaler's risk. When the smoker drinks one drink per day, the cancer risk rises 400 percent. Those who both smoke more than two packs a day and drink more than two drinks a day expose themselves to a risk for oral cancer that is 15 times greater.

There are more reasons to quit smoking if you have not done so already. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we will assess your oral health needs, consider your preferences, and then discuss and help you select the options that will meet all the necessary goals. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where your optimum health is always our main concern. Smiles are our business. Please call 478-2110 to schedule a convenient appointment. 'Phantom Tollbooth' play designed with kids in mind

"The Phantom Tollbooth," a play by Susan Nanus based on the children's book with the same name by Norton Juster, will be presented Tuesday and Wednesday by Redford Youth Theatre.

The performances will be 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, July 18-19, in the auditorium of Thurston High. All tickets are $3 and seats are reserved. Tickets may be bought at the door or in advance at Thurston from 9 a.m. to noon in the auditorium. Parents are asked not to bring children younger than age 3.

The Redford Youth Theatre production is the result of a four-week (60-hour) workshop in which students from grades 3-11 have been working on scene study, improvisation, costume design, set design, painting, singing and dancing.

"We try to offer students the opportunity to do as much as possible in a production because that's where the learning begins," said director Nancy Florkowski. "Besides, kids want to feel like they have contributed something to a production rather than having everything done for them.

"Of course, this is not always possible. For example, when we did 'Oliver' in March this year, there were almost 60 students in the production so the kids did a great deal of rehearsing while we left the technical work up to the adults.

"Speaking of kids, some of our teachers have been high school students themselves. For example, our choreographer for 'Oliver' was Ceilia Keenan Bolger who will be starting her senior year at the Detroit High School for the Fine and Performing Arts this fall. Jody Florkowski, also a senior at DSA, has been teaching improvisation for two years now.

"Evette Griffore, a senior at Thurston High, helped her sister, Janette, a couple years ago and is now teaching scenery and prop painting for our production of 'The Phantom Tollbooth.' Steve Vedder, 1995 graduate of Thurston, also taught scene study in our spring workshop this year."

Redford Youth Theatre was started in February 1990 when Florkowski, drama teacher at Pierce Middle School in South Redford School District, decided to make it her master's project for her degree in drama/theater for the young at Eastern Michigan University.

The program started with about 20 students and grew continuously the past five years. The youth theater has more than 300 members on its mailing list today. In fact, at one time, students had to be turned away after a program filled up.

The classes are at various places, depending on where space can be found. "We usually need a few classrooms as well as a large room such as a gymnasium for dance classes. We like Thurston's auditorium for performance because it is just the right size for a small audience. Unfortunately, it isn't always available because of school activities, so we try to schedule around other people," said Florkowski.

"Many parents like the program because it keeps their children busy in a positive way. They meet new friends and gain self-confidence while having a lot of fun. Teamwork is also an important factor in Redford Youth Theatre productions. The show can't go on unless everyone cooperates."

Anyone interested in joining Redford Youth Theatre may call 535-8962.

Service dogs bill signed

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Rep. Penny Crissman won Gov. John Engler's signature on a bill to allow guide and service dogs to enter both private and public buildings during their training.

"Introducing guide and service dogs to a variety of situations during their training is crucial to proper socialization," said Crissman, R-Rochester."

Her House Bill 4052 will take effect Jan. 1.

"Its passage gives us legitimate reason backed by lawful support to bring these animals into public facilities during their training," said Bill Hansen, president of Rochester Leader Dogs for the Blind. The bill was also supported by Paws with a Cause, the Michigan Humane Society and the Michigan Association of Doctors of Veterinary Medicine.

The new law will require that training dogs must be at least a year old and wear a harness with a blaze orange leash and collar, along with a hearing-ear cape or backpack. Instructors must carry picture identification.

Persons refusing to admit dogs and trainers may be charged with a misdemeanor that could cost them $100 and 90 days in jail.

Heir bill advances

An Oakland County missing heir problem will be taken up by the state House when it returns to Lansing in September.

The House Judiciary Committee on July 13 unanimously approved a bill by Sen. Mat Dunaskiss to shorten from 10 years to five the waiting time for distributing an estate when one heir is a "disappeared person."

Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, won Senate passage on behalf of Laura Walker, an Independence Township homemaker and mother of four. Her father died in 1982, leaving an estate to her and two brothers, but one brother dropped out of sight in 1988.

"My parents gave up on him. We have not seen Clifford since 1981," Walker told the House panel. The family learned he had spent six months in jail for being AWOL from the military. The Social Security Administration has no record of him since 1988, the year he got a Texas driver's license.

Walker said the family suspects Clifford was involved in drugs or importing illegal aliens. Meanwhile, attorneys' fees have mounted, she said.

Subpoena bill OK'd

Gov. John Engler has signed Senate Bill 85, giving county prosecutors the power to issue investigative subpoenas.

The controversial bill had been opposed by both liberals and conservatives, who feared it granted grand jury powers too loosely.

Ed McNamara turns 'bulldog' loose on Rouge

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

■ 'Most people have never known the Rouge as a place for recreation. They have only known it as a sewer. But with the help of the federal government the Rouge will once again be a place for boating, swimming and fishing.'

Ed McNamara
County executive

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara likes to reminisce about how he and his childhood buddies swam in the Rouge River during the 1930s and kept an eye out for the cops whose job it was to keep small boys out of the river.

The Rouge wasn't entirely safe for swimming then, and it's less so now, but McNamara hopes to change that.

"Someday soon the Rouge will be ready for swimming again, and I plan on doing the first cannonball off the dock," he said two years ago in his State of the County speech.

The annual Friends of the Rouge volunteer cleanup, going on its 11th year, has raised awareness and pulled tons of debris from the river and its tributaries.

And the federal government's Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project, a $1 billion-plus, 20-year endeavor begun two years ago, could make the annual cleanup look small-time if Congress doesn't cut funding.

"Most people have never known the Rouge as a place for recreation," McNamara said in 1993. "They have only known it as a sewer. But with the help of the federal government the Rouge will once again be a place for boating, swimming and fishing."

Now McNamara has added his 16-inch gun to the campaign in the form of Deputy Executive Michael Duggan, who will take on the Rouge as his next big project.

Duggan is chiefly responsible for getting voters in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to approve a property tax for the SMART bus system earlier this year. He has a reputation for finishing what he starts, often against the odds.

"He's such a bulldog," said Jim Graham, director of Friends of the Rouge. "When he concentrates his efforts, things happen."

Duggan said the particulars of his Rouge project haven't been set yet, but he has gotten a feel for the river environment by canoeing the Rouge with deputy parks director Dan Navarre.

"You feel like you could be in the jungle somewhere," Duggan said of his trip. "It looked like (a scene from) 'The African Queen.' Our biggest problem was climbing over the poison ivy."

Said Graham: "It's really very pretty there, and I think most people don't think about that. It doesn't make sense that we have to go 100 miles north to put a canoe in the water."

Although Duggan and Navarre put their canoe in the Rouge, the practice is not recommended for the general public. With more than 100 sewage overflow pipes still dumping waste into the river with every hard rain, the Rouge is still plenty polluted. In 759 tests on the Rouge from April to October 1994, the water met state standards for full body contact just 20 times.

Construction of 11 basins to catch the overflow from combined sewer systems is expected to be completed by the end of 1998, reducing sewage in the river by 33 percent. But that's the Wet Weather Demonstration Project.

Duggan's efforts are less ambitious. "I don't see taxes or new fees (to pay for it). We're going on the assumption that we're going to be creative within existing resources. We might take prisoners from the Hamtramck jail and have them clean the river."

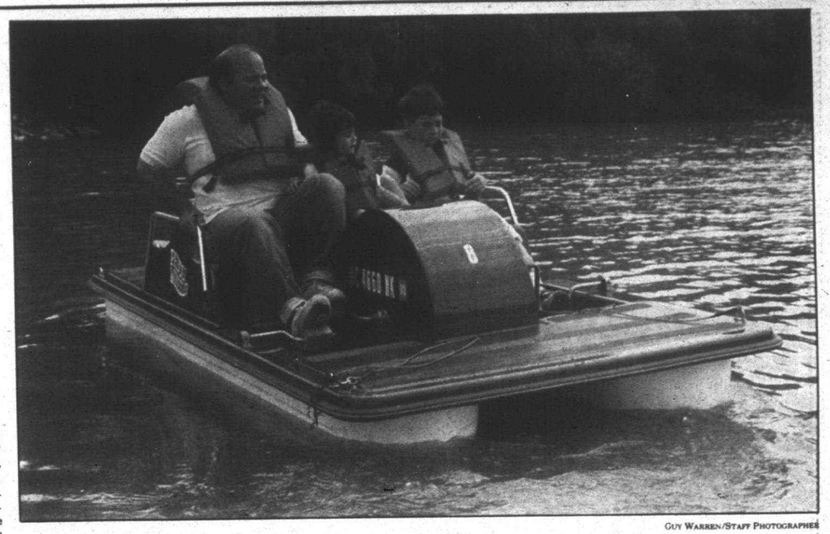

Cleanup efforts will likely be restricted to portions of the river west of Merriman Road, Duggan said, adding that there are 50 logjams to be cleared.

Graham agreed. The Friends of the Rouge, he said, "can only get to a fraction of them. There are so many that are not easily accessible for volunteers."

Wayne County Public Works Director Vyto Kaunelis said that the separation of combined storm and sanitary sewers in Livonia, Westland and Plymouth Township makes a significant cleanup possible between Newburgh Lake and Merriman Road.

Duggan envisions a day when full body contact with the Rouge River won't be reason enough to visit the hospital emergency room.

"Within 10 years we can put a beach on Newburgh Lake and have swimming," he said. "It's possible that by 1998 we'll stock that lake with fish and you'll be able to eat the fish you catch."

Grilled veggies

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Try grilled vegetables; they're sweet as candy

Americans are beginning to discover that vegetables, like beef, chicken and fish, take on a completely different character when cooked over wood or coals. The natural sugars in some vegetables, such as onions, garlic and bell peppers, caramelize when grilled, imparting a depth and richness that no amount of sauteeing could ever achieve.

Other vegetables, such as eggplant, acquire the same woodsy smokiness as a great grilled steak. And Portabellos, those giant mushrooms, taste like the finest filet when grilled and doused with a little Italian vinaigrette.

Methods vary, but almost any vegetable can be cooked on the grill. There are a few guidelines.

Cooking guidelines

Vegetables have no natural fat. They must be either marinated in an oil based mixture or brushed with oil, not butter which has a tendency to burn, so they won't stick to the grill.

To ensure even, thorough cooking, the grill chef must frequently turn the vegetables and carefully regulate the heat of the coals.

Finally, vegetables have a tendency to absorb off flavors, so the grill rack should be as clean as possible, and the coals free of chemical starters before beginning.

Several basic grilling techniques are all that is needed to bring out the full flavor of vegetables. Larger vegetables can be sliced or cut into chunks. These chunks are easily handled when threaded onto a wooden skewer that has been soaked in water for at least one hour to prevent burning. Some vegetables, like broccoli, cauliflower, and potatoes require some form of precooking or they will dry out and burn on the outside before softening within. Of course, anytime you cook any vegetable in foil, it will cook perfectly on the grill, barring of course, any overcooking. Broccoli and cauliflower florets, will cook perfectly when brushed with herb infused oil if you blanch them first in boiling water for 2 minutes.

Vegetable wrappers

Natural vegetable wrappers such as corn husks help keep vegetables moist and tender. Purists might wish to remove as much of the silk from cobs as possible, but yours truly simply fills a bucket of water and soaks the corn for at least an hour. Onto a covered grill it goes, only to be turned about every 10-15 minutes until the kernels are tender.

Smaller loose vegetables such as green beans, pea pods and green onions can also be grilled. You can wrap them in foil, but personal experience suggests wrapping them in corn husks purchased from a Mexican grocery store, and then soaking for an hour before cooking. I'm not a big fan of wrapping my vegetables in foil because it has a tendency to steam the vegetables rather than grill them. A good grill rack with small holes allows me to "stir grill" smaller vegetables.

When it comes to grilling vegetables, I rely a lot on my handy dandy grill baking sheet. This large square of heavy metal has smaller holes drilled throughout the surface. It can be placed on any grill, and is especially helpful in keeping smaller vegetables from falling through the grates. They're available all over town wherever good cookware is sold. A word of advice: you get what you pay for. Cheaper grill racks will warp when heated and not lie flat on the racks. Expect to pay about $15 for a good grilling rack, but with minimal care and careful storage, it should last for years to come.

For dousing vegetables or brushing on great taste, you can't beat a basic Italian vinaigrette or salad dressing. Bottled is acceptable, but homemade is even better. Herbed infused oils offer a richness that can't be duplicated. Being on a healthy eating regimen, my grilled vegetables are basted with a good balsamic vinegar. Sometimes I'll add a few chopped fresh herbs from the garden, but for the most part, I rely on the flavor and taste of a great vinegar.

There are many vinegars out there, in addition to balsamic, that would be outstanding on grilled vegetables. Invest in a cheap spray bottle for uniform coverage; however, they have been known to plug when using vinaigrettes with herbs and spices. A natural hair small paint brush (not plastic) also works well as a baster.

HENRY FORD MUSEUM & GREENFIELD VILLAGE

Summertime sweet: Greenfield Village pastry chef Tom Preniczky and Nancy Brinkerhoff of Westland with "Poor Man's Lemon Pie" inside the George Matthew Adams House.

Pastry chef sweet on old-fashioned recipe

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
SPECIAL WRITER

Greenfield Village pastry chef Tom Preniczky of Westland, hopes to satisfy a lot of sweet tooth as well as a bit of curiosity at the Village's "A Taste of History" weekend July 22-23. He and his staff are preparing over 15,000 sample-size servings of sweets once baked in wood-fired stoves and hearth ovens a century or two ago.

All of the foods offered at the event were selected for their historical significance and practicality.

"We don't alter the recipes a whole lot. We want to give people the historical experience, but we must make sure we give them good quality."

Given Preniczky's credentials, quality is assured. He's a graduate of Schoolcraft College's culinary arts program, and has plied his sweet trade at such notable establishments as the former Chez Raphael in Novi, Les Auteurs in Royal Oak, and the Hyatt Regency in Chicago. At Greenfield Village in Dearborn, where he's worked for the last three years, he oversees both the Henry Ford Museum and Village kitchens.

"It's been a nice place to work. Never a dull day," he said adding that "A Taste of History" draws in quite a few visitors. "It's really getting to be a popular weekend, especially if we have nice days."

During "A Taste of History," culinary demonstrations representing America's cultural and ethnic heritage will take place throughout the Village.

"I guess the old saying, 'you are what you eat,' is appropriate," said Diane Thomas, Greenfield Village spokeswoman. "You can discover how people used the resources available to put food on the table. You can see how people brought their ethnic traditions to the table."

Preniczky will be making "Poor Man's Lemon Pie" in the George Matthew Adams House, once a Baptist parsonage in the mid-1800s. Back then, when lemons were in short supply, inventive cooks substituted vinegar. But Preniczky said there's no need to pucker your lips.

"We use apple cider vinegar, sugar, and a little lemon. You really can't taste a strong vinegar flavor," he said. "It's mostly the cider and lemon. Just a small hint of vinegar."

Besides the pie, which is part of an old-fashioned church picnic menu at the Adams House, Preniczky and his sweet-loving crew will prepare huge amounts of Indian pudding, rice corn bread, Irish apple cake, and German pepper nuts.

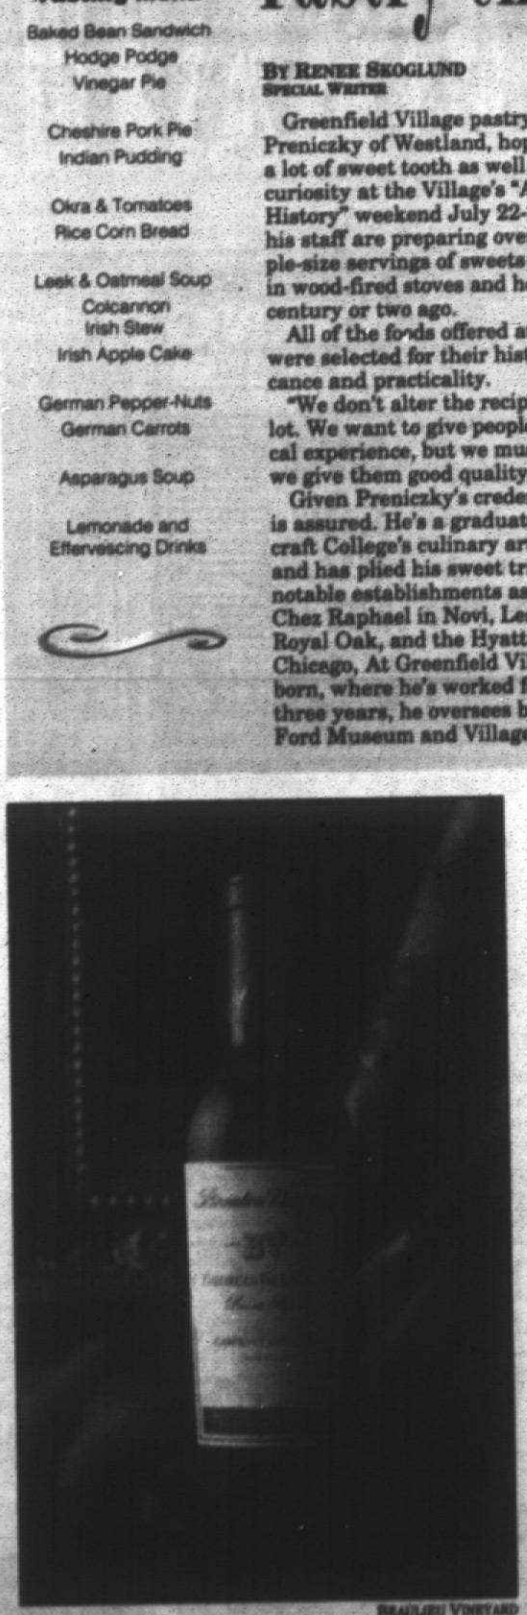

When asked if he ever overdoses on sweets, Preniczky chuckled before answering.

"No," he finally said. "But that's a fun question. I just do a little taste test to test the quality of things. Really, my job involves checking the quality and overseeing the production."

Besides the fabulous sweets produced in Preniczky's kitchens, sample-size portions of soups, stews, meat pies and vegetable dishes will be served in a tasting tent on the Village Green. Food samples cost 25 to 75 cents. Tickets are sold at the tent.

In addition to food sampling, "A Taste of History" offers lots of family activities including potato sack races, pie eating contests and an edible auction.

BEAULIEU VINEYARD

First release: 1990 Tapestry is the first release in Beaulieu Vineyard's new Signet Collection wines.

Beaulieu Vineyard is back on the fast track

FOCUS ON WINE
BY RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

According to recent statistics reported by Gomberg, Fredrikson and Associates, wine industry analysts, table wine sales reached a record $2.6 billion last year. Fueled by strong consumer demand for premium varietal wines, California table wine sales grew five percent, turning in the strongest performance in more than a decade.

The growing popularity of red wines and robust chardonnays were the key trends contributing to strong growth and revitalization for some California producers - Napa Valley's Beaulieu Vineyard is one of them. New releases from this legendary winery are turning heads. They turned ours too.

In late winter, the 1990 Georges de Latour Private Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon was released. As a fabled 100 percent Cabernet Sauvignon wine, it has always carried a hefty price tag. This bottling was no exception at $40, however the wine underwent substantial refinements. The addition of merlot as a blending varietal and aging in 50 percent French oak made this a stunning wine.

Beaulieu winemaker Joel Aiken related some history about the Georges de Latour Private Reserve, a wine we had presumed was always 100 percent Cabernet and always aged in 100 percent American oak.

"When we did some research, we found out that

Heat grill. Brush broccoli with some of the garlic oil. Place broccoli on a grill rack and cook, turning occasionally while brushing with the oil for 10 minutes. Brush lemon slices with the oil and cook over the grill for about 1 minute on each side. Transfer broccoli and lemon slices to a serving platter. Drizzle with lemon juice and remaining garlic oil. Season with a pinch of salt and good crackling of fresh ground pepper. Serves 4.

the very first Private Reserves (made by legendary Andre Tchelistcheff) did have some merlot and were aged in French oak," he said.

"In 1938, when Tchelistcheff first came to Beaulieu, the 1936 vintage was still in barrel. Those 60 barrels were all French oak. Beaulieu didn't switch to American oak until 1939, when the onset of World War II made it impossible to obtain French oak.

"Back then, American oak was basically whiskey barrels, bent over steam and not charred. American oak became an established tradition over a period of years. Merlot has been added for a touch of softness, not to impose any of its own character on the wine."

Aiken also pointed out that using tightly grained French oak mellows cabernet's natural tannin structure. A medium-heavy toast level specified for coopering helps reduce tannin levels and offers flavor subtleties.

Also sporting refinements in label design, this wine indeed honors an ages-old tradition and brings the wine to fast-track competition in the ultra-premium cabernet sauvignon market segment.

Fast on the heels of the refined Private Reserve, came Beaulieu's introduction of a Signet Collection and its inaugural release, the 1990 Tapestry, a red Bordeaux varietal blend and a new competitor in the Meritage category.

Aiken said the Signet Collection wines give Beaulieu's winemaking team freedom to experiment with different varietals. In her song, Carole King defined the Tapestry of life as "... an everlasting vision of an everchanging view," Aiken said. "This describes our directional plan."

The 1990 Beaulieu Tapestry, $20, is 40 percent cabernet sauvignon, 32 percent merlot and 28 percent cabernet franc with blackberry, currant, black cherry, black raspberry and fine tobacco aromas. With 20 months, French oak aging, it's rich and finesseful, structured for cellaring.

Other wines, not yet released, but planned for the Signet Collection are Maestro Pinot Noir, a tribute to Andre Tchelistcheff, a Napa Valley Zinfandel; and Rhone varietal blends. Watch for them. Beaulieu is a winery back on the fast track of premium wine production in California's Napa Valley.

Old-fashioned recipes offer a 'Taste of History'

See related Taste of History story on Taste front.

POOR MAN'S LEMON PIE

1 cup sugar
1½ cups water
3 tablespoons cornstarch, dissolved in ½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
3 eggs, separated, yolks slightly beaten
8 tablespoons cider vinegar
⅛ tablespoon salt (less than ½ teaspoon)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
9 tablespoons sugar
Unbaked 8 or 9 inch pastry shell

Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Mix one cup sugar and water and bring to a boil. Stir in dissolved cornstarch/water mixture. Boil until clear and thick. Remove from heat.

Add butter, beaten yolks, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. Stir well and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake ½ hour.

■ The recipe for Smothered Pork Chops represents a recipe Grace Matton of Georgia may have prepared for her family during the Great Depression. Her home, the Mattox House, has been moved to Greenfield Village.

Beat egg whites until foamy, then slowly add 9 tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon at a time. Beat until stiff. Spread meringue over pie. Bake an additional 15 minutes until top is golden brown. Cool. Store in refrigerator.

Recipe from Chef Tom Preniczky, Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village.

SMOTHERED PORK CHOPS

6 (1-inch thick) center-cut pork chops
2 tablespoons bacon drippings (or substitute your choice of oil)
1 lemon, thinly sliced
2 medium-sized onions, thinly sliced
1 small green and/or red bell pepper, cored and sliced into rings
4 large ripe tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and coarsely chopped
1 cup water
2 tablespoons distilled white vinegar
Pinch of ground cloves, allspice, cinnamon, celery seed, cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons sugar
Salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste

Brown the pork chops in bacon drippings in a heavy skillet. Add lemon and onion and bell pepper slices, and continue to saute. Mix tomatoes, water, vinegar, spices, sugar, salt and pepper in a small bowl until they are a thick sauce. Pour over pork chops. Cover skillet and simmer the pork chops over medium heat for 45 minutes, or until they are tender and the tomato mixture has turned into a gravylike sauce.

Smothered pork chops are usually served with rice, so that the sauce from the chops can become the gravy for the rice.

Adapted from a Grace Mattox recipe. The Mattox house from Georgia was lived in from the late 1870s to early 1940s by three generations of one African American family. Smothered Pork Chops represents a recipe Grace may have prepared for her family during the Great Depression. The Mattox House was moved to Greenfield Village.

BEATEN BISCUITS OR MARYLAND BISCUITS

¾ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups sifted flour
½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup milk

Sift sugar and salt with flour, blend in shortening and just enough milk to make a very stiff dough. Knead on floured board until dough becomes soft and pliable.

Run dough through a meat grinder or a biscuit machine using a coarse knife or beat steadily with a wooden potato masher for 30 minutes, or until dough blisters, keeping edges turned in.

Roll to ½-inch thickness, cut with a biscuit cutter (or round cookie cutter), prick with a fork and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. The biscuits should be a very delicate ivory color. makes about 1½-dozen biscuits.

Adapted from "Mrs. Owens' Cook Book," 1884 and "U.S. Regional Cookbook," 1947. This recipe is typical of foods prepared in tidewater Maryland in the 1860s.

Shopping Centered

Linda Bachrack

Now is best time to buy sun styles

How nice to receive an unexpected midsummer invitation for sunset cocktails, a luncheon in the garden, or even a backyard barbecue. But what to wear?

Had the event been long anticipated, you could have picked the perfect party dress back in April, when summer fashions were fresh and new. Don't despair. Your wardrobe is probably ready for a boost right now, and the sale racks are brimming with pretty, summer season sensations that will wow all the guests at that alfresco soiree.

So hit the mall on a hot Saturday afternoon and look for the big SALE signs. Sometimes it's fun to discover that designer-label bargain that just didn't look quite so smashing on anyone else last spring. It was right there waiting for you all along.

I perused the markdowns at Hudson's and Saks Fifth Avenue at Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn and Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection, Troy, looking for summer's most popular trends. My shopping list included a pastel linen suit, preferably with Chanel lines; a chiffon floral-print dress; flowing pants with a long sleeveless vest; a short satin and Lycra dress; a big straw hat and a billowy chiffon scarf.

Neiman's third-floor suit department yielded just the Chanel-inspired suit I was looking for — a Rickie Freeman powder blue linen blend with a double-breasted jacket and tiny gold knotted buttons ($289).

If you prefer the practicality of a dress and jacket, I found a very feminine pink linen chemise by Constance Saunders. The white-collared jacket featured pearl buttons and a silk flower ($308). Both ensembles take you beautifully to a garden wedding or afternoon reception.

Long, flowing and flowery dresses are summer staples and there are plenty of them left on the rack. Saks has a daisy-print skirt ($55.90) and tie-back peplum top ($35.90) that could be mistaken for a dress. It's a Private Label outfit in pale yellows and golds. Also, check out the flirty floral chiffons at Ann Taylor and Laura Ashley in the Somerset Collection. Most have fitted bodices and bell-shaped skirts.

If you're looking for a more sophisticated summer evening dress, Hudson's has a pale pink crepe chemise with flounced hem and sheer draped collar by DW3 ($158) and a Datiani empire-waist crepe and georgette dress with a shirred bodice and deep slit in taupe, aqua or peach ($168).

Back to Saks for the palazzo pants and sleeveless vest. Kristian Steinarr designs this duo in black and white mini-dots for the pants and an ecru long vest with black satin buttons ($137.90). Looks a little like an updated tuxedo with pizazz. Add Oscar de la Renta's black straw hat adorned with cotton pique bows ($39.90). Finally, the short satin and Lycra dress for dancing under the stars. Though it may look a little prom-like, the satin/Lycra combination is a hot dress trend for summer. A halter neckline or spaghetti straps accent the form-fitting bodice, while the mini-skirt is full and swingy. Shown in electric blue, this sexy special-occasion dress is available at Hudson's. Look for similar styles at Saks and Neiman's.

And to wrap up your summer party frock? Toss a large square silk chiffon scarf over your shoulders ($100 at Saks). You'll be the belle of the backyard ball.

Linda Bachrack invites local retailers and shoppers to present ideas for this column, as well as details about and photos of special merchandise worthy of featuring. To participate, call her at (313) 953-2047, mailbox 1889, or fax (810) 644-1314.

Shop caters to folks fighting addictions

Ever need words of encouragement? The proprietors of a new shop insist that sooner or later everyone does for one reason or another. They hope to be able to help.

By Linda Ann Chomin
Staff Writer

Jon Lightfoot and Annette Lewis opened The One Stop Serenity Shop in Plymouth with two thoughts in mind.

First, they wanted to help customers celebrate their triumphs over addictive behaviors; and second, they hoped to renew the strength needed on a daily basis to maintain recovery.

Lightfoot, 22, knows that battling an addiction is never easy. The Plymouth native is a recovering alcoholic. He and Lewis started the shop to educate and service the local community.

The store is patterned after similar stores in California that cater to the needs of people in recovery. To launch the store, the pair invested half of the profits from their year-old Wellington Fragrance Company, marketing incense at the Countryside Craft Mall as well as the Gibraltar Trade Center.

Most of The One Stop Serenity Shop's merchandise is aimed at people taking part in the 12 Step Programs of groups that include Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Al-Anon. The shop also carries items for those trying to quit smoking. Customers will find motivational materials like books, tapes, literature, t-shirts, posters, coffee mugs, and greeting cards lining the shelves.

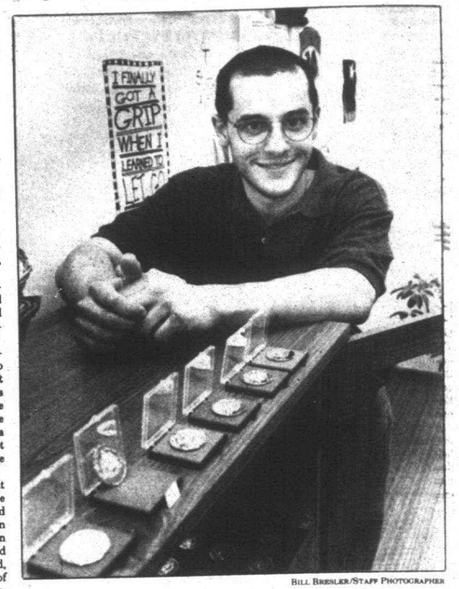

And the store tries to help those affected by addictions. Family and friends of people in recovery, as well as those still drowning in their addiction, can find a friendly ear here.

"When my drinking was out of control, my mom and dad had nowhere to go when they needed help," Lightfoot said. "The One Stop Serenity Shop is not behind closed doors. We're here to help the community. If people have a family member or friend with a problem they can come in, talk, get literature. We'll steer them in the right direction."

Lightfoot said he began drinking at age 15. In the years that followed, he lost two close friends in drinking and driving accidents. While living in California, he faced the decision about the road his own life would take. He sought treatment. Afterward, Lightfoot decided to dedicate part of his life toward helping others recovering from addictions.

"If even one life is saved by the efforts of The One Stop Serenity Shop,

Fash Bash celebrates art and fashion

By Susan DeMaggio
Staff Writer

If fashion is indeed art, then it's fitting that Hudson's annual Fash Bash benefits the Detroit Institute of Arts each year.

Combining the latest looks for the fall/winter season with music, dance and theatrical sets, Hudson's elevates the fashion show itself to an artform — this year for the 26th time, at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 2, at the Fox Theater in Detroit.

"We'll present six segments of fashion, showing everything from ballroom to business casual," said M.J. Burns, of Hudson's Fashion Office. Burns and a team of staffers prepare for Fash Bash almost a year ahead of the production.

There are two new elements to the '95 production; a 5,000 balloon drop sponsored by Jules Schubot Jewellers (inside one ballon, a one carat diamond valued at $5,000) and a commemorative pin representing Rodin's Thinker by artist Bonnie Kondor. The pin will sell for $35 at Fash Bash and the DIA Museum Stores located in Twelve Oaks and the Somerset Collection and the museum gift shop.

According to Burns, fashion followers will see "spring silhouettes refined for more comfort and wearability." Lower heels replace the stiletto, the fitted glamour suit is still strong, but in menswear fabrics like tweeds and grey flannel. Dresses are back bigtime in the form of sleeveless sheaths topped by jackets or coats. The winter coat comes in three styles — the bathrobe wrap, the chesterfield, the pea coat.

Burns said men will appreciate the classics this fall like pinstriped business suits as well as business casual separates including vests, polo shirts and shirts with banded collars. Look for "urban rustics" — colors that are rich and pulled from nature.

Also, the neon colors popular last year have been replaced with the "techno brights" — Taxi Yellow, Superman Blue and Lipstick Red.

then the store will be a success," he insisted. "We're a way for people to celebrate their recovery. We have all kinds of merchandise here. You can apply the 12 Step Program to anything — overeating, controlling emotions like grief, or anyone working on self-esteem. Everyone can benefit from a 12 Step Program."

Lightfoot attends AA meetings weekly despite the fact he's been in recovery nearly five years. He designed a line of inspirational T-shirts for the shop. Ten different images ranging from angels to a guy hanging from a rope above an alligator pit spout sayings like "Sometimes, all we can do is hang on!"

Lightfoot met customer and friend, Michael Miller, 21, while both were students at Plymouth Salem High School. Both took the road to alcoholism and drug addiction. A drinker from the age of 11, Miller said he "drank because of peer pressure and to get away from my problems." Today he's into the martial arts instead, having left behind the bottle 5½ years ago. He recently visited the shop.

"This really is a specialty shop," Miller said. "It's a positive way to reinforce recovery," he said.

Co-owner Annette Lewis graduated from John Glenn High School in Westland. She talked about the need to send works of encouragement to loved ones fighting addictive behaviors.

"Our books, tapes, posters and T-shirts send a positive kind of note. A card or coin (marking the anniversary of time spent in recovery) is a perfect way to let someone know you're proud of them," she said.

Customer Michele Marsh, 20, of Canton Township especially liked the coins. A member of Al-Anon for the last 2½ years, she deals daily with her father's and brother's alcoholism.

"It's taking it one day at a time," she said. "When it gets to where I can't take it anymore, I just get out and come some place like here. It's nice to be able to come to a store like this in the middle of the community. The coins are a nice way of seeing your growth."

The One Stop Serenity Shop is at 470 Forest Ave. Downtown Plymouth. It's open daily from 10 a.m. For more information call (313) 459-9030.

Fash Bash's entertainers will be Motown's Contours (remember, Do You Love Me? Can You Do It? First I Look at the Purse); The Ballet of the Dolls from Minneapolis; Pan Dimensions, a three-piece Afro-Caribbean band; and Soprano Maria Jette of the Et Machina Baroque Opera Company.

Has your Mom had a mammogram?
The risk of breast cancer increases with age. It is one of the leading causes of death among women 65 and older. Early detection through regular mammograms could prevent many of these deaths. Yet as women get older, they are less likely to get mammograms. Has your Mom had a mammogram? If not, encourage her to get one. It might be your chance to give her good advice.
Call us. We can tell you everything you need to know about mammograms. Free.

Urban parks not forgotten in the business rush

Antony to the Roman crowd:
"He hath left you all his walks,
His private arbors and new-planted orchards
On this side Tiber; he hath left them you,
And to your heirs for ever; common pleasures,
To walk abroad and recreate yourselves.
Here was a Caesar!"
Shakespeare. Julius Caesar Act III

■ 'One of our highest environmental risks has turned out to be the degradation of our urban environment — lack of open space, diminishing recreational opportunities, decaying parks and community centers.'
Joey Spano
state Natural Resources Commission

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Ancient Rome and Renaissance England better understood the need for urban recreation than does modern Michigan, say Joey Spano and her friends.

"One of our highest environmental risks has turned out to be the degradation of our urban environment — lack of open space, diminishing recreational opportunities, decaying parks and community centers," said Spano, a member of the state Natural Resources Commission and chair of the urban recreation task force.

"It's been a battle. People tend to vote in parks and recreation money last, but recreation programs are the first to go (in a budget crunch). I'm talking about kids in suburbia as well as Detroit. We've got kids here drinking in third grade."

Appointed by Gov. John Engler in 1991, Spano is the first parks and rec professional ever to serve on the Natural Resources Commission, a body generally populated by old-time hunters and anglers and a few environmentalists.

Since 1982 Spano has directed the West Bloomfield Township parks and recreation program and soon will shift jobs to work in community education for her local school district. That will give her a chance to practice what her task force preached: cooperation between general government, school districts and the state in providing urban recreation. Key tools: taking inventories of what's available, making joint use of facilities, promoting their use.

Many natural resources fans knock Engler for his Caesar-like emphasis on business growth. Not Joey Spano, though she's apolitical. "Obviously, there's an interest in the governor's office," she said.

She recalled the aggressive way Engler interviewed her for the NRC post four years ago. "He asked me tough questions. He was right in my face." She counts him a fan of revitalized urban recreation.

Her task force had support from Eric Reickel, former county parks chief in Oakland and Wayne, now in Lansing; as well as mayors and city managers in Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids; and many professionals.

"I want to get (Department of Natural Resources) staff and resources assigned (to urban recreation)," Spano said, noting the DNR already has appointed longtime employee Ron Spitler as urban fisheries biologist. And there is renewed talk of connecting existing open space on the Detroit River front in a single, long path.

Spano praised Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer and his parks director, Ernest Burkeen, for reopening recreation centers, particularly in the Seven Mile-Dequindre area of northeast Detroit, where she grew up and learned sports.

She has her own accomplishments. "When I came here in 1982, we had 57 acres of parks. Today, we have more than 400 acres, with a millage, state and federal grants," she said. "But it's been a battle."

Spano's urban task force isn't looking for vast sums of new money or land. "We're not trying to reinvent the wheel and acquire great acreages. We have to make the best use of very limited dollars. We (the state) own two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula now. How much more land do we need?"

After 18 months of work and public hearings, her task force on June 19 recommended:

■ A state DNR inventory of park facilities and needs in urban areas, with an eye out for "regional" parks that serve multiple communities.

■ DNR cooperation with urban governments, police and parks professionals to assure safety in parks.

■ Environmental programs for urban and suburban kids. "We need to teach youth respect for natural resources — give them positive experiences in camping, fishing, walking through a woods. Our natural resources are second to none in the world. Can they (kids) experience it instead of seeing it on video?"

■ State help to cities, townships and schools in recycling tax-reverted land, abandoned sites, empty school buildings and other surplus properties for parks and recreation.

■ Aggressive promotion of the benefits of parks and recreation. "That sounds self-serving," she said, "but if we don't get out and beat the drums, nobody's going to do it for us. We need quality recreation for families."

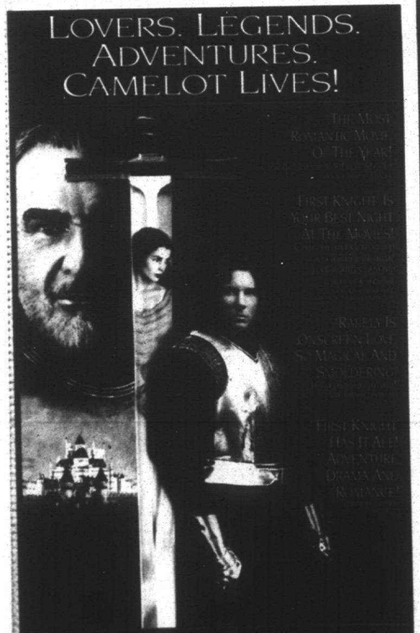

She paused.

"If I could do anything in my four years (on NRC), it would be this and the Rails-to-Trails plan. I've been the most vocal proponent of Rails-to-Trails. But we now have a group called TART — Taxpayers Against Rails-to-Trails. Their attitude seems 'NIMBY: not in my back yard. I don't want to see people.'

"We feel we have to justify the importance of parks and recreation in our society. Many times public officials forget that parks enhance the quality of life and relieve social programs."

Type O blood supply low here

The supply of type O negative blood is low at the Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region of the American Red Cross, according to agency officials.

Local blood needs are being supplemented by importing blood from other Red Cross regions in the country that collect more than they need.

However, the number of donations is down across the country, making it more important that southeast Michigan meet its own needs.

To avoid an all-out emergency appeal, the Red Cross is seeking organizations to sponsor blood drives and asking those that have drives scheduled to increase recruitment efforts.

Blood donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh more than 110 pounds and be in good general health.

The donation process takes a little more than an hour.

To make an appointment, call (800) 448-3543.

For information on sponsoring a blood drive, call (313) 494-2746.

DECKS • PATIOS • CONCRETE POOL AREAS

Rain, snow, sun leaves and pollutants cause wood decks to crack and rot. Make your deck, patio, driveway, sidewalk or pool areas look like new again!

WHAT WE DO:

Too tired to tango?

When you need help call S.O.S. for all your outdoor maintenance needs. Why bother calling ten different companies to solve your problems when one call does it all? Relax and enjoy life - take the time to "tango."

He's in perfect health. Yet Scout's the victim of a deadly epidemic that's sweeping through our neighborhoods. It's called overpopulation. The effects of this epidemic on the Michigan Humane Society have been staggering. Our shelters take in more than 150 new animals every single day of the year. Unfortunately, this number far exceeds people willing to adopt a pet. And it threatens to grow even larger without your help.

Please make a donation to the MHS. By doing so, you will help provide these homeless animals with food, shelter and medical attention. And most importantly, you'll buy them something they desperately need. Time.

Please give. Because only with your help will Scout, and other victims like him, have a fighting chance.

To make a contribution, send a check to the Michigan Humane Society, 7401 Chrysler Drive, Detroit, MI 48211. Or call us at (810) 852-7420 to place a donation on either your Visa or your MasterCard.

Return of the King

Eddie Feigner, the still-reigning king of the softball world, makes a return trip to the area Saturday when he and his four-man team, known as the King and his Court, come to Westland John Glenn for a game to benefit the Rockets' softball team at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Eddie Feigner softball king

The game will be played on the John Glenn football field. Cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 14 and under.

This will be Feigner's first trip through this part of Observerland in five years, and it marks the 50th year of Feigner's "road trip."

In that span, the 70-year-old master of trickery has pitched more than 11,000 games and shows, has recorded more than 138,000 strikeouts (10,000 while blindfolded) and has won more than 8,000 games.

He manages this with just three teammates, while competing against a nine-player team.

In the past, his pitches were reportedly clocked at 100 mph; he says he can still reach the 90s.

The game is co-sponsored by Remerica Pickering and Master Carpet Care.

Runner-up golfer

Madonna Nadeau of Canton finished second in her flight at the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament Wednesday.

Nadeau, playing in the third flight, shot a 53-52/105 at Bogie Lake Golf Course in White Lake. The winning score in third flight was carded by Pauline Cody of Detroit, who fired a 48-47/95. Livonia's Beverly Stoops posted the best low net score in third flight with a 71.

UM-Dearborn offerings

Those looking for sports excitement this summer may want to take a look at what the University of Michigan-Dearborn has to offer.

A sand volleyball tournament is slated for Saturday and Sunday at the school's sand volleyball courts, which are off Evergreen between Michigan and Ford. On Saturday, there will be two-person men's and two-person co-ed teams competing. On Sunday, the tournaments will be for four-person men's and four-person co-ed teams.

The format is round robin, followed by a single-elimination tournament. Each team is guaranteed a minimum of six games. Cost is $25 for two-person teams and $35 for four-person teams. Entry deadline is 5 p.m. Friday. For more information, call Ann-Marie Carravallah at (313) 593-5671.

A summer tennis tournament is set for Friday through Sunday, July 28-30, at both the UM-Dearborn and Henry Ford Community College campus tennis courts, off Evergreen between Michigan and Ford.

The tournament will have three divisions: men's A singles, men's B singles and women's A singles. Entry fee is $8 per player, which includes all matches, prizes, balls and refreshments, or $13 with the addition of a UM-Dearborn tournament T-shirt.

Entry deadline is 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 26. For more information, call Ann-Marie Carravallah at (313) 593-5671.

Connors, Borg lead field

Jimmy Connors and Bjorn Borg will be the top attractions at the Mentadent Champions tournament at The Fairlane Club in Dearborn July 27-31.

Connors will pair with Eddie Dibbs to take on Borg and Andres Gomez in a doubles match to open the tournament at 7 p.m. July 27. Both will also play in the singles tournament, with Connors meeting the winner of the Mel Purcell-Peter Fleming match and Borg taking on the John Lloyd-Mansour Bahrami winner on Saturday.

Others in the 12-man singles tournament are Roscoe Tanner, Guillermo Vilas, Johan Kriek and Jose-Luis Clerc, as well as Dibbs and Gomez.

The semifinals are scheduled for 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, July 30; the championship will be 7 p.m. Monday, July 31.

CC grad Brusseau signs with Spartans

By Steve Kowalski
Staff Writer

Brusseau

Mike Brusseau sat in the Joe Louis Arena stands during last winter's 50th annual Great Lakes Invitational and paged through the program as Michigan and Michigan State University prepared to play in the championship game.

Brusseau stared at the MSU roster and turned green — with envy.

"I remember looking at the roster and seeing four goalies," Brusseau said.

Brusseau, a 1994 Redford Catholic Central graduate who played for the Cleveland Barons of the North American Junior Hockey League during the 1994-95 season, didn't think MSU would be in the market for a goalie.

But before long, Brusseau received a call from MSU coach Ron Mason who was interested in offering a hockey scholarship. Turns out two of the four goalies on last year's roster were on the team for practice reasons, and another, Mike Buzak, graduated.

Brusseau accepted Mason's offer without hesitation.

"All of a sudden, I got a call

League's champ to confront north stars

Now there's something at stake, something to play for.

Keith Pietila, commissioner of the Metro Summer Hockey League, confirmed that a two-game, total-goals-scored series will be played between the MSHL's champion and a group of all-stars from the Copper Country Summer Hockey League, which operates in and around Houghton.

The series will be Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12-13, at Michigan Tech in Houghton. The MSHL will provide two nights of lodging and all ice time; players, according to Pietila, will be counted on for their own transportation "and enough goals to win this series."

A Saturday morning golf outing, featuring four-man scrambles teams, is optional for interested players and parents. Cost is $20.

HOCKEY

■ Wildcats 7, Wolverines: In a battle featuring the MSHL's two once-beaten teams Thursday at Plymouth Ice Arena, the Wildcats broke on top with three first-period goals and hung on to defeat the Wolverines.

The win pushed the Cats' record to 6-1; the Wolves slipped to 4-2.

Two goals by Jeremy Klosowski and one by Mark Pietila staked the Cats to a 3-0 lead. They maintained a three-goal lead until the Wolves got a goal from Bob Nagy to close the second period and two others from Eric Norman and Rob Fleury to open the third, tying it at 5-all.

But Jim Pietila scored with 6:04 left to put the Cats ahead, 6-5, and Mark Pietila scored again — his third of the game, to go with one assist — with 1:52 to play to ice it. Nagy scored his third goal of the game for the Wolves with 18.8 seconds remaining to trim the final margin.

Dave Elenich (from Livonia) added a goal and an assist for the Cats. Ron Pietila, Keith Pietila, Josh Wiegand (Plymouth), Jake Wiegand (Plymouth) and Eric Laho each contributed two assists. For the Wolves, Norman had a goal and two assists, and both Fleury and Kevin Mankowski had a goal and an assist.

■ Falcons 5, Bulldogs 4: It's not getting any easier, that's for sure.

The MSHL's only remaining unbeaten team, the Falcons, were taken to the limit Wednesday by the Bulldogs, but they escaped with their unblemished record intact thanks to Dan Brady's game-winning goal with 48 seconds remaining.

Brady's goal, his second of the game, pushed the Falcons' record to 6-0. The Bulldogs slipped to 1-4-1.

The game started out easily enough for the Falcons. Two goals by Mike Kneiding (Livonia) sandwiched around Brady's first goal gave them a 3-0 lead heading into the third period.

But it didn't last. The Bulldogs quickly tied it, getting scores from Edward Kruschka (Livonia), Krikor Arman and Todd Kesler (Livonia) in a 5½-minute span. Jesse Hubenschmidt (Redford) recaptured the lead for the Falcons with 7:37 left, but the Bulldogs retied it on a goal by Kris Cantu just 45 seconds later.

Jesse Hubenschmidt had two assists to go with his goal. Jim Hubenschmidt (Redford), Paul Schloss (Livonia) and Scott Hands also had two assists apiece for the Falcons. Ryan Skaleski had two assists for the Bulldogs; Kesler had one to go with his goal.

Brian Guillery (Farmington Hills) was in goal for the Falcons.

■ Spartans 10, Huskies 5: Vic DeCina (Canton) was a one-man wrecking crew for the Spartans Wednesday at Plymouth, scoring four goals and assisting on three others in helping his team improve to 2-3.

Steve Jones contributed a goal and four assists for the Spartans, with Jeff Lupu, Kevin Kerch and Brady Priest (Livonia) each collecting a goal and two assists. Matt Capaldi (Canton) had a goal and an assist, and Kevin Haggarty scored a goal. Ted Patterson (Canton) totaled three assists and Wes Blevins (Westland) added two.

The Huskies (2-4) got a goal and an assist from both Jason Weber (Livonia) and Tony McGee. Their other goal-scorers were Andrew Perry (Livonia), Mike Forbes and Kevin Beaudoin; Dustin Sventy had two assists.

■ Wildcats 6, Huskies 3: The Wildcats broke open a close game with four third-period goals, two by Mark Pietila, Tuesday at Plymouth.

Jake Wiegand (Plymouth) chipped in with a goal and an assist, and Dave Elenich (Livonia), Jim Pietila and Josh Wiegand (Plymouth) got a goal each. Eric Laho and Ron Pietila had two assists apiece for the Wildcats (5-1).

Andrew Perry (Livonia), Tony McGee and Brian Halas (Canton) scored goals for the Huskies.

The game was tied at 2-all after two periods, but Mark Pietila put the Wildcats ahead for good with two goals in a 2:35 span of the third. Halas' goal narrowed the gap to 4-3 with 2:08 remaining, but the Wildcats scored twice in the final 1:14.

from Ron Mason and he says he's interested," Brusseau said. "All you hear around here is Michigan, but I've always disliked Michigan and liked State. I will love it (wearing MSU green). It's the best feeling in the whole world."

Brusseau led CC to the 1994 Class A state championship, the school's first-ever hockey state title. He was first team all-state and an All-Observer goalie as a senior, recording a 1.35 goals-against average with five shutouts.

But it's hard for high school players to get college hockey scholarships. Just ask current Dallas Stars forward Mike Donnelly, who was not offered a scholarship after scoring more than 50 goals in his senior year at Livonia Franklin during the 1980-81 season.

Donnelly ended up playing a year of junior hockey after high school, then went on to star at MSU.

It sounds like a script Brusseau could like.

"My first goal is to just play, the second is to play well," said Brusseau, 5-foot-8, 175 pounds.

Neither Mason or Barons coach Tim Alexander were available for comments.

Brusseau is expected to battle sophomore-to-be Chad Alban for the starting job. Alban, who played for the Kalamazoo Jr. Wings in high school, played 13 games last year.

MSU finished 25-12-3 overall and lost to the University of Wisconsin in the first round of the NCAA tournament last year. The Spartans were third in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association with a 17-7-3 record.

MSU last won a national championship in 1986 and was runner-up in '87. The Spartans were third in both '89 and '92.

The Spartans lost seven players to graduation, including three on the power play. Their top player, All-American Anson Carter, is expected back for his senior year.

Brusseau had a 3.5 goals-against average and .911 save percentage for the Barons, who finished fourth in the regular season but lost in the final round of the NAJHL playoffs.

Brusseau said the area he improved in mostly was protecting and deflecting rebounds.

"I got better either trying to absorb them or deflect them where I wanted them to go," Brusseau said. "It is a step up from high school, I definitely improved a little on everything."

The Barons played about 60 games, compared to a high school schedule of about 25. Another thing junior hockey taught Brusseau was how to endure long road trips.

"I got pretty good at card games (on the bus)," said Brusseau, who also had a job on an assembly line that paid $5.35 an hour.

Brusseau said his style is a lot like that of Chicago Blackhawks' star Ed Belfour, who likes to use his stick along the ice. It's not the preferred style in the Brusseau home.

"My dad (Norm) and I sit and watch hockey on TV, and he always says me and Belfour are identical, putting the paddle of the stick on the ice opens up too many other areas," Mike said. "But hey, it's working for him."

Goalie school

Heights feel guilty about attending last week's Rick Heinz Goalie School at Redford Ice Arena?

Because at age 28, Kliemann is only a kid at heart.

"My wife (Kim) and all my friends think I'm crazy; they're all concerned whether I can stay alive, and me, too," Kliemann said, sitting in a dressing room following a Monday workout with about 20 kids half his age. "But I want to learn more skills. I have a 1½-year-old son who someday I'd like to pass along knowledge to."

The camp came at a good time for Kliemann, who was off from his job at Ford Motor Co. due to a two-week shutdown at the Michigan Truck Plant in Wayne. The first week off, he and his wife vacationed in Petoskey.

"She'd rather have me at home, but fair is fair — one week for her, one for me," said Kliemann, who plays Senior Tier A hockey.

Heinz, who played five years in the National Hockey League, mostly as a backup goaltender with the St. Louis Blues and Vancouver Canucks, welcomes anyone over the age of 7.

It's still growing

Heinz started his goalie schools seven years ago with two camps in his hometown of Toronto, Ont. The number grew to 30 last year and this summer his camps are at 54 sites, five in Michigan.

Heinz has schools in Los Angeles, Las Vegas and as far south as Dallas. He will be back in the Detroit area Aug. 21-28, when his school will be held at the City Sports Center in downtown Detroit.

Heinz said when he was learning to play as a kid, there were no camps specifically for goalies.

Heinz sets up several different stations, including one that specializes in stick-handling, a skill which has become increasingly important over the years to goaltenders.

"Camps were dedicated to shooters; all the goalies were were targets," Heinz said. "They'd put the goalies in the net, bring in shooters and say, 'Stand there and take a blast.' The parents got ripped off.

"Goalie play has improved overall. Look at the NHL; you see guys with 2-point-something goals-against averages."

This is the fifth year Heinz has been in Redford. The regional coordinator is Cheryl Rivard, whose son John is a veteran camper.

Heinz's camp is held 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily. He brings a full-time staff to all the sites and also gets help from local high school standouts. At last week's camp, Redford Catholic Central players former and present Neil Bratcher, Matt Giordano, Nick Kaleniecki, Dan Hunt, Tony Spezia, Jeff Helsner, Bob Beckman and Brad Przysiecki were shooters.

"For the little kids, I try to shoot at their pads to give them more confidence," said Przysiecki, of Livonia. "Against the big kids, I'm going all out to score."

One of the goalie instructors was Canton resident Stacey Chuhran, 18, one of the top-flight female goalies in the state.

"I know she's good because she use to play for the team my brother Aaron played on," said Ryan Zielinski, 13, a camper from Canton.

Good company

Heinz said three former campers and instructors, Mike Torchia, Rob Dopson and Derek Wilkinson, are now playing in the NHL. Torchia is with the Dallas Stars, Dopson with the Pittsburgh Penguins and Wilkinson with the Tampa Bay Lightning.

Heinz might not ever see or hear again from Kliemann, but the two share a special bond that Heinz doesn't have with most campers.

"Like me, he's bald," said Heinz, lifting his baseball hat above his head.

For information on the next Detroit camp, contact Joe Zielinski at (313) 981-4476. Cost is $325.
