Fine firsts: There were a couple of them in Canton on Friday. There was the first golf outing at the new 18-hole Pheasant Run Golf Club, and the first hole-in-one at the club. The much talked about "school-within-a-school" signed to offer ninth and 10th graders an alternative to attending school with 4,500 students will be piloted this fall at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Called "Spectra," the schoolwithin-a-school will feature team teaching, an inter-disciplinary urriculum, and 120 students Students will be enrolled at Canton and Salem high schools, but will be housed for four hours each day at Salem. The remaining two hours will be electives that can be taken at either school.

"I feel lucky to be part of this; it's terrific," said high school area coordinator Sharon Strean, who helped teachers Cyndi Burnstein and Mary Beth Carroll design the

With 4,500 kids, the park is very large. Certainly, a very large majority do very well here. But some students may do better in a smaller, more intimate learning environment. We think we have students for whom that's real critical," said Strean, who will be Spectra's evaluator.

"Our high schools are really well-run, safe, positive and good places, but I'll say one thing. The red tape and bureaucracy are really cumbersome," Burnstein said. "One of the things we wanted to do is cut through all that."

Spectra already has been able do so. "I had a parent call me this summer saying she was really concerned; her daughter is very shy. The mom wanted to know

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Wayne County commissioners voted 14-0 Thursday to restrict movies shown to prisoners at two downtown jails.

Although many of the commissioners would prefer to ban movies at the jails, a 1988 Wayne County Circuit Court order requires that recreation be provided to prisoners, including "movies, chess (and) checkers." "We are hamstrung by this Circuit Court order which says we have to show movies," said Commissioner Andrew Richner, R-Grosse Pointe, who introduced the the movie-restricting ordinance amendment that was passed Thursday.

Co-sponsoring the amendment were commissioners Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township; Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township; William O'Neil, D-Allen Park; Kenneth Cockrel Jr., D-Detroit; and Robert Blackwell, D-Highland Park.

Duke picnics benefit road group

Duke Realty Investments, the management company for office buildings in Livonia and Southfield, is using company picnics to raise money for the Eight Mile Boulevard Association.

The Eight Mile Boulevard Association is formed by the 13 communities and three counties along Eight Mile from I-275 on the west to I-94 on the east, plus the Michigan Department of Transportation. The organization was created to make Eight Mile Road function and look better for the people who live, work and drive along it. Duke has said it will donate $1 to the Eight Mile Boulevard Association for every employee at the Southfield TechneCenter who shows up at the "tenant employee picnic" Wednesday, July 26, at Eight Mile and Lahser roads.

Duke is challenging its 50 TechneCenter tenants to contribute 25 cents to $1 for each employee attending. The total dona-

Duke Realty will also donate $1 per employee at a similar picnic Tuesday, July 25, at its Seven Mile Crossing office park at Haggerty and Seven Mile in Livonia. About 950 individuals are employed at Seven Mile Crossing, which is owned by Schoolcraft

Consumers' customers pay less

Consumers Power Co.'s typical residential electric customer pays a monthly bill less than what is charged by approximately 70 per-cent of the nation's electric utilities, according to a recent survey by state government regulators.

The survey determined that 132 out of 190 electric utilities charged higher rates than did Consumers Power for a typical residential customer using 500 kilowatt-hours per month

The survey indicated that the rate Consumers Power charged a residential customer per kilowatt-hour, 7.6 cents, is 1.7 cents below the national average of 9.3 cents per kilowatt-hour.

The survey was conducted by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners, a nonprofit organization comprised of regulatory bodies of the 50

Consumers Power is currently requesting that the Michigan Public Service Commission eliminate the subsidization of residential customer rates by its business

Even with complete elimination of rate subsidization, Consumers Power's typical residential customer would still pay less than what 61 percent of the nation's utilities charge, based upon the most recent NARUC survey

Consumers Power Company, the principal subsidiary of CMS Energy Corp., is Michigan's largest natural gas and electric utility serving more than six million of the state's nine and one-half million residents in all 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Don't let the dog days get you down

hese are the dog days of summer. Days when it's so hot outside, you could fry well, you get the picture. Not being a big fan of central air, the Janes Casa looks like one of those sultry homes in New Orleans with ceiling fans swirling the warm night air through open windows and billowing curtains. Now I know where the saying "Slaving over a hot stove" came from. When it gets this hot, I don't want to cook, and my main philosophy is simply just trying to stay cool. A nice cool, air-conditioned restaurant would be just the ticket but unfortunately, the Visa bill just came in from last month's vacation and I'm already pushing the limit. The fridge is doing everything it can just trying to keep the milk cold and I'm hungry. The grill you say? It's far too hot to eat something hot. It's about all I can do to muster the strength to make it to the pantry.

Kitchen cupboard

Ah, the pantry. We called it a cupboard growing up in Wyandotte. I guess when the top shelf is stocked with the likes of fruit vinegars, exotic mustards, anchovies and Snack Well's, yuppiedom calls it a pantry. Our cupboard in Wyandotte was stocked with Stokley's canned green beans, canned corn, Campbell's Chicken Noodle soup, a box of Creamette macaroni and a jar of peanut butter. Every now and then a large can of Dinty Moore Beef Stew would find its way in, but we knew that was going to be a dinner when momma had an early bingo game to hit. We grew up on meat and potatoes and the only vegetable we ever ate was canned corn. The green beans were always mixed with cream of something or other soup and topped with canned onion rings and served only during the holidays. Those were some of the best meals I can remember.

Now, back to my dinner. Something filling, something healthy, something I can make a lot of and eat within the next two days. Something I don't have to cook. Something out of a can. My eye slipped away for a moment and landed on that bag of yellow onions, just beginning to poke through the mesh with lime green sprouts. Well, whatever I choose better have a good chop of onion" I said to myself. Let's see, canned pate,

Rhapsody in blue

BY JOAN BORAM

It's almost impossible not to love a blueberry. They're attractive - one of the very few blue foods that nature provides - and they come with their own protective covering. The silvery sheen on the blueberry's dark blue skin is actually a natural waxy coating. Native Americans called these summer sweets "star berries" because of the starshaped calyx on top of each berry. Blueberries are tasty, and they allow you to indulge with a clear conscience. They're loaded with vitamin C, they provide some vitamin A, iron, potassium and magnesium. They're a good source of fiber and carbohydrates, they're low in sodium and have no cholesterol. They're low in calories (42 calories per half cup), and very reasonably

And, above all, blueberries are versatile. They can be eaten directly out of their plastic "jewel-box" carton (they don't even drip!), they can be sprinkled on cereal, ice cream or yogurt, used in salads, muffins, pancakes, pies, cakes, and sauces Our colonial ancestors found wild blueberries waiting for them, and made them the basis for dishes with names like "grunt," "buckle," "slump," and "flummery."

And, if all that isn't enough, we Michiganians are fortunate to live in the number-one blueberry-producing state. Michigan produces 60 million pounds of blueberries annually. There are many "u-pick" opportunities, if you want to freeze or otherwise preserve the sweet little nuggets, or if you just want a pleasant outing and a couple of blueberry pies. If handled properly, blueberries will keep fresh longer than any other summer berry. Sort the berries, discarding any that show signs of mold or soft spots, and store them chilled, covered and dry, for up to two weeks. Do not rinse before storing!

"There should be a good crop in 1995," said Margaret Agius, who, with her husband Joseph, owns and operates Sandy Acres Blueberry Farm, in Belleville. "But they're going to be a little later than usual, because we had a late spring. Usually, our U-Pick operation starts around July 4, but this year it's going to be mid-July."

It's always advisable to call before coming out, cautions Agius. For one thing, there are several varieties of blueberries, and there may be a time lapse between their availabilitheir cereal in January." Blueberries are so easy to freeze it's a wonder we don't all have a big bagful in our freezer compartment. "You can freeze blueberries with or without sugar," said Chris Venema, Wayne County MSU Cooperative Extension Home Economist. "If using sugar, make a simple syrup of 50 percent water and 50 percent granulated sugar. Heat until the sugar is dissolved and pour the

We've all seen dried blueberries in gourmet stores; can't we just dehy-drate them like Native Americans

"Not in Michigan," Venema said. "To dehydrate successfully, you need a temperature of at least 85 degrees and zero to 10 percent humidity, and 10 percent is really pushing it." See recipes inside.

What to keep, toss after power outage

Summer storms have left residents with spotty power outages during the past week and has left people like Georgia Clark of Livonia scratching their heads about what they can salvage from their refrigerators and

Clark, who lives in the Six Mile-Farmington Road area, found herself without power from Thursday until Sunday and a refrigerator full of fresh produce and a freezer full of butter she had found on sale.

Luckily, a friend had some spare room for frozen meats in her freezer so Clark wasn't left Home economist Sylvia Treitman of the Michigan State University Extension Service offers some advice as summer storms are likely to recur.

The best thing to do right away is try to get some indication from the power company on how long the outage is expected to last," Treitman said. "Don't just sit back and watch your food go bad."

If it appears the power is off for the long haul, Treitman suggests calling friends to see if you can move some items into their freezer. If this isn't an option, go out and buy ice to pack into your freezer and into ice chests for refrigerated items. Dry ice works well, but be sure to follow handling directions as it can be dangerous. Use a thermometer to make sure the temperature remains at about 40 degrees or less. Once the refrigerator, ice chests or freezer are packed, try not to open the doors of these appliances as the cold air will be released.

"Generally, refrigerated items are only good for about four hours," Treitman said. "Condiments like mustard, ketchup, relishes and salad dressings will keep longer."

Lunch meats, hot dogs, milk, yogurt, and some leftovers should be tossed after four

Native Americans found stars

North America from North America. gathered a variety of wild, sapphire-colored berries as a food staple. The Indians called these fruits "star ber-the star-shaped calyx on the top of each berry. Today, we know them as blueberries. The Indians ate them fresh, stewed, and dried and mixed with meat and other foods. Dried blueberries were also used for medicines, dyes and food preservatives. When European colonists arrived, they took to the new fruit immediately. They created pies, cobblers, preserves, syrup and wonderful other desserts.

Wild blueberries are small and tart but hold their shape during cooking. Almost all of the entire wild crop is taken for commercial blueberry muffins and pancake mixes. Although most of us do not have access to wild blueberries, the sweeter, larger cultivated blueberry is available from July to October. The annual North American blueberry harvest starts in mid-spring in Florida and ends

Generally blueberries are sold in cardboard containers with cellophane covers. Make sure these containers are not stained or have any evidence of mold. When you get them home, pick them over and remove any berries that are squashed or any that may have some mold. They will keep in this container in the refrigerator up to a week. Fresh blueberries are perishable and need to be

To freeze blueberries, make sure they are clean, not washed before freezing. Spread blueberries in a single layer on a cookie sheet. Place the cookie sheet in the freezer. When the berries are frozen transfer them to a freezer bag or container and store until you are ready to use. Frozen berries will keep at least a year. Blueberries contain a

If the batter contains a large amount of baking soda, blueberries can turn greenish-blue. These color changes do not affect the flavor of the berries. Using hard frozen berries in batters will reduce color streak

When making pancakes and wattles, add the fresh blueberries as soon as the batter is poured on the griddle. If you are using frozen blueberries, make sure they are heated through before serving.

When making a blueberry pie that you don't want to cook over in the oven, and want to keep the berries nice and plump, cook half the filling first. ### One fish, two fish fans dig Blue Fish

f you ask a Blue Fish devotee to describe her fascination with the artful line of clothing designs, she will express her feelings for her favorite piece in terms like magical, childlike, comfortable, fun, free and whimsical. What more could you ask of an organic cotton jumper or a ong vest layered over a vagabond pant?

Blue Fish creator Jennifer Barclay, 28, a design school dropout, was tie-dying and handpainting T-shirts in her parents' garage just 10 years ago when she conceived the idea for her clothing line. Her parents told her to follow her heart. She did, and she shares that advice through the marketing of her unique clothes. Barclay is especially proud of the synergy and communication that her designs promote. People always recognize a Blue Fish piece and it's a conversation starter. If you wear Blue Fish, be prepared for people to stop you on the street and comment on your outfit. Bryna Frank of Bloom field Hills knows the feeling. "I love being stopped,

"I feel arty and unusual, yet I always look dressed. could have a Blue Fish trunk show at my house, I have so many pieces.

Schooled in pairs

Frank was one of many fans who stopped by the Hannah Rose boutique in Bloomfield Plaza to ogle the fall and winter collections. Those who came in wearing designs from past seasons quick ly realized that the new colors and shapes easily coordinated with their old pieces, an added bonus

Representative Julie George pointed out that anyone can wear Blue Fish - old, young, big, lit tle. "It's all about attitude and doing your own thing," she said. "It's for those who like to be different and comfortable." Fall's gypsy colors and laid back styles are inspired by the Bloomsbury literary group. Remember Vanessa Bell and Virginia Woolf? This season's hand-painted symbols include flowers and herbs, birds, artists' tools, autumn leaves and village houses. Another hallmark of Blue Fish is the vintage and handmade buttons that adorn jackets, vests and dresses. Further individualize with colorful fabric strips called Ripples, that gather up fabric to create unlimited looks. Hike up a skirt or cinch in a waistline. Sales of the Blue Fish label have increased from $4 million in 1992 to $8 million last year. Essen tially, the company sells the clothes as fast as it can make them.

This fall, look for thermal knits, cotton jersies, lycra, even chenille robes. "Wonderful, easy, fun," summed up Caren Rapp, a teacher from Bloom-field Township. "Perfect for the classroom." "Timeless status symbols," added Holly

Pharmer of Milford. "In 10 years, I'll be able to tell people, 'this is my Blue Fish from '95." If you believe in the magic of clothing, as does Jennifer Barclay, you believe in her vision of Blue Fish — always evolving, constantly changing, open to inspiration. It's about the artistry of life.

In addition to Hannah Rose, find Blue Fish at Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection, Troy, and Basic Goods in Birmingham. The new Blue Fish children's line will be available at Kiddlywinks in Birmingham.

We all learn to read on a conscious level. We start by having to think about the sound a letter makes. Next we learn we learn the meaning of these words. reading cannot become automatic (subconscious) until these skills are established. And if reading is not automatic, children have to work especially hard to get information in, so their comprehension and understanding

According to Di John Jacobi, a locally known expert on vision and learning. having 20/20 cycsight means that a child can have even more at stake than just slow and choppy reading. Also at risk may be their self-esteem behavior, success in school, and even future employment

The Vision Improvement Program (VIP) can help the child place basic learning and visual processing skills into the subconscious level where they belong. Then the child will not put his or her energy into processing the material, but into understanding it.

VIP was developed by a team of visual. psychological, and educational professionals. The program attacks the causes of learning problems.

The 10-week program produces dramatic results, with an average improvement of 3.1 years in the child's ability to comprehend, stay on task, work faster, and handle more complex tasks. Outstanding results are the norm because it is an intense, one-on-one program with a highly trained therapist who specializes the program to meet each child's specific learning needs.

To identify a child who could benefit from this program, a comprehensive screening consisting of 18 different tests is provided without charge to children ages 6 to 15. If the results reveal a problem processing visual information. the program can begin immediately to help head toward a more successful future and a better self-esteem.

Marauders fumble chance

It could have all ended for the Marauders Friday night. They could have wrapped up the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League title with a victory on their home field over Flint Bud Light. Instead, they chose a more difficult

By C.J. RISAK

It seemed beyond comprehension, to one and all of the Marauders. A record that had been unblem-ished in Great Lakes Men's Soccer League play was gone. Adding to the frustration, what made the situation even more befuddling: There was hardly any struggle involved.

The Marauders simply did not put up much of a fight. They allowed Flint Bud Light to take, first the leads second — control and

- the lead; second - control; and third - the game. The final score was 3-0, in a match played Priday evening at Livonia's Jaycee Park. All three goals came in the second half, the first two on rebounds and the last after a quick centering pass.

Doug Comsigny netted the first 12 minutes into the second half, after a direct kick from the corner at the Marsuders' end of the field. Marauder keeper Kal Kaliszewski punched the direct kick out, but Comsigny was there to drill home the rebound.

Josh Landefeld popped in the sec-the match, Damon Rensing finished the scoring converting a quick pass from the corner. The team that had carried a 7-0

The team that had carried a 7-0 mark onto the field hardly looked the part leaving it. The win pushed Bud Light's record to 6-1-2.

"It was ugly," admitted Dan O'Shea, a Livonia Franklin and Oakland University graduate who coaches the Marauders. Much of the blame fell on O'Shea's switching to a new some defensive system prior to a new sone defensive system prior to the match.

Still, the game was scoreless at the half and, with 25 minutes left in the second half, the Marauders had a chance to tie it at 1-apiece when Rob Ludwig was hauled down in the penalty area by a Bud Light defender. But Paul Kaliszewski's penalty kick sailed high and wide to the right, missing everything.

It wasn't a change in defensive strategy that caused that miss. Still, as O'Shea explained: "Not everything can be blamed on the switch, but it does take everyone's mind off what they're supposed to be doing on offense. They start thinking too much, instead of playing.

"I think you can attribute more of (the loss) to the switch than it

And whatever problems the change did create earlier in the match were doubled when, less than two minutes after Paul Kaliszewaki's missed penalty kick, Bud Light's Landefeld scored to make it

The loss certainly made things much more difficult for the Marsuders. They came in thinking they had the regular-season title just about wrapped up. Now, depending on the outcome of their return match with Bud Light yesterday in Flint, they may have to play (and win) Wednesday before opening the playoffs at Jaycee Park at 7 p.m. Friday against an opponent to be determined.

This time, however, the Falcons dominated, scoring the first five goals of the game en route to a 13-8 triumph in a Metro Sum-mer Hockey League game Thurs-day at Plymouth Ive Arena.

There was only one thing certain after Friday's Livonia Collegiate Baseball League action at Ford Field - the mosquitoes would not be leaving anytime

That's why this game was mportant," Decision manager Mike George said. "If we both tie, they (Hines Park) win the series 4-3."

Pydyn walked the first batter and George went to the bullpen, summoning Eric Butler. Hines Park proceeded to send

'Indian in Cupboard' is thoughtful family fare

BY DAVID GOODMAN AP NEWSFEATURES

In the hot summer months still to come, vacation-weary parents have a choice. You can take the kids to a film like "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers" where they might learn to do a really nasty karate kick while watching something virtually indistinguishable from most television cartoon fare. But then there is "The Indian in the Cupboard," where kids will learn about values, responsibility and compassion while getting 96 minutes of high entertainment in

The grownups will like it, too. It's one of those rare children's movies that will captivate adults because the themes are powerful and the performances top-notch.

The movie starts in the middle of a birthday party for a 9-yearold New York boy named Omri (Hal Scardino). His presents include an old wooden cupboard and a miniature plastic figure of an American Indian.

Later, his mother (Lindsay Crouse) rummages around for a key to fit the lock. It's the last thing her mother gave her before

Maxima gets high marks

Tick, tick, tick It only happens when you hit about 45 miles an hour. Tick, tick, tick, tick Driver: "Did you hear that?

Passenger: "Nope." Could I be hearing things? There it is again!

Tick, tick, tick, tick ..." It's strange to hear anything like a tick, tick, tick in any of the new cars these days. Especially since Nissan promises the 1995 Maxima is the quietest it's ever been.

There it is again - tick, What is tick, tick, tick, Strange. that sound? Rythmic. Constant. Mighty annoving, too.

Tick, tick, tick, tick-tick, tick, tick

OHHHHH! That's what it is! It's the little red ribbon tied to my door handle making that noise. The ribbon ends are ticking on the side of the car.

You see, Nissan, together with Mothers Against Drunk Driving, sponsors a program around the holidays to give a new meaning to "tie one on." The red ribbons are attached to the test car as part of Nissan's "don't drink and drive" effort with MADD.

OK, now that the mystery that was ticking us off is out of the way, let's get to the meat and potatoes of this 1995 Maxima. Quiet is what the new redesign provides minus the red ribbon, of

The new Maxima is still the same overall length and width as last year's, but the wheelbase has been extended 2 inches, due to a smaller engine and suspension. More damping in the engine compartment and in key areas of the car - like soft-mount upper and lower shock absorber mounts - make it whisper-quiet on the inside. You don't even hear the engine running with the windows rolled up tight.

And the ride and handling rival the first Infinitis. The rear struts have been replaced by a multi-link beam suspension package that provides wonderful ride comfort due to minimum camber change during cornering, and softer bushings, springs and shocks.

Because of the new suspension and its compact placement, there's a larger rear seat (over an inch more leg room) and front and rear head room is about a half inch more as well.

Exterior changes are evident in the first redesign for Maxima. The front has been smoothed out and has rounder corners. The rear deck has been lifted for a more aggressive look.

On the interior, there's comfort all around. The instrument panel is exactly like Infiniti's - soft white backlit numbers on an allblack rear. The needles are also a brighter white, making instrumentation pleasing. It's also analog all around. The switches and controls are placed strategically and placement of the stereo and climate controls are easy to reach and easier to operate than the previous-generation Maxima.

This four-door is spacious in the interior and the doors open wide for easy access. The trunk area is larger than most four-doors; bet you can fit six bags of clubs back highway.

The car tested had a power driver's seat that I had a hard time getting comfortable in. It was difficult to operate because the switches are so far back on the seat you have to open the door to make them work. You have to fiddle around too much because it's not obvious what each of the two buttons do, unless you get out and look at them.

One more concern - this car cries out for a truckrelease latch. It's a shame to have such spacious cargo and have to open the trunk with a

The 3.0-liter dual overhead cam V-6 powerplant is 50-percent lighter than the previous- generation V-6. It's a quiet engine that provides 190 horsepower and has respectable acceleration for an automatic - 0-60 in 8.8 seconds. That's 2 seconds quicker than the Maxima's previous engine. Its redesign included placing the alternator, airconditioning compressor and power steering pump in strategic areas to reduce the overall size of the engine. This engine is also 80 percent lower in surface roughness and friction.

It's smooth, it's quiet what more do you want?

The new Maxima gets better gas mileage than before, too, with the 5-speed you'll see 22 mpg in the city, 27 on the highway; with the 4-speed automatic you'll get 21 in the city and 28 on the

On the safety side, there are dual air bags up front, anti-lock brakes are standard, three-point belts for all outboard passengers, child safety door locks, energyabsorbing steering column, front and rear crumple zones and it meets 1997 federal side impact standards.

With the new Maxima, Nissan hopes to conquest mostly Honda Accord, Toyota Camry and current Altima owners who want to move up, as well as current Maxima

'We've increased the wheelbase, increased roominess and taken it up a notch on the luxury side," said Earl Hesterberg, vice president and general manager of Nissan Division. "It's a responsible luxury sedan that surpasses the high standards of the current Maxima."

That's about right. Anne Fracassa is senior editor of Avanti NewsFeatures.
