Fast track makes Canton boom

Already this year approximately 360,000 square feet of industrial use is coming to Canton. The additional boon is that this year's group of industrial buildings has more equipment taxable as personal property.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

It's not just the housing boom that's drawing attention to Canton. Industry is setting its own track record.

"I think there is a big upsurge everywhere in industrial growth," said Jeff Goulet, Canton community planner.

What makes Canton attractive for locating industry is the administrative — not legislative — process that business owners go through in the township. Industrial projects are reviewed and approvud by the planning staff without having to go through the Planning Commission and Township Board.

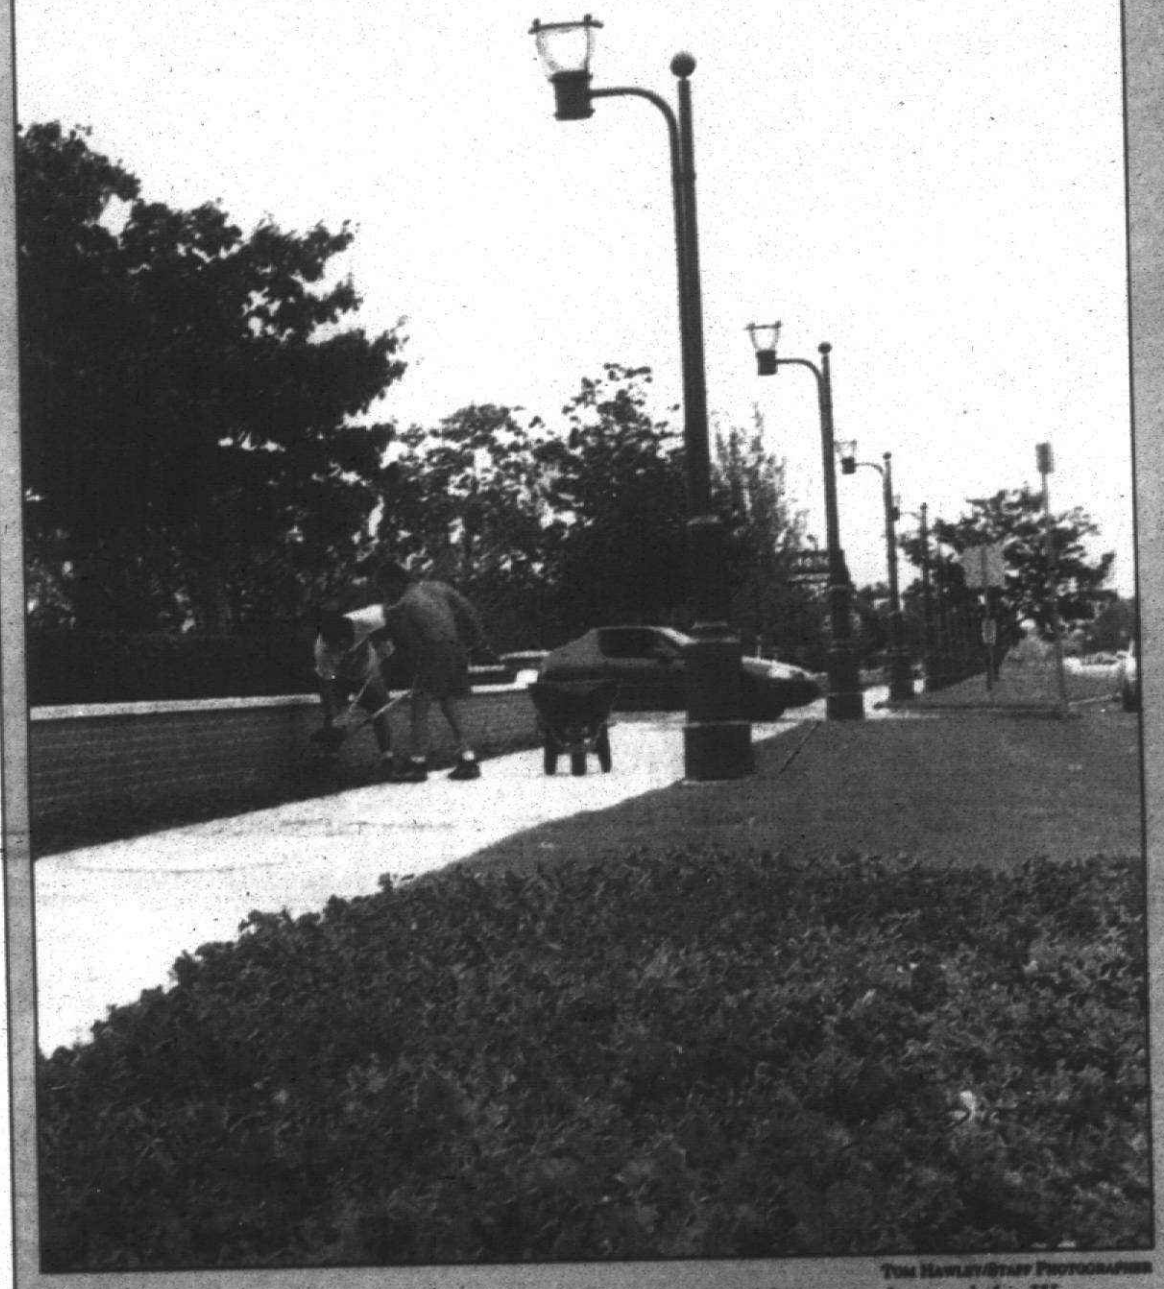

"With Canton, we are on the fast track for industrial. That's an incentive. We have cut two to four weeks out of the in-house approval," Goulet said.

So far this year, Canton is welcoming an additional 360,864 square feet of industrial uses. That's compared to a total of 560,000 square feet in 1994. Also significant is that in 1994, a lot of the square footage was devoted to warehousing and distribution. Companies that are either newly locating or expanding in Canton this year will use more equipment and will provide Canton with more personal property to tax.

INDUSTRY

"Most of the new companies are in manufacturing or testing. We are seeing smaller manufacturing companies," Goulet said. For example, Antech, south of Koppernick and east of Lilley, is a tool and die company, while International Hardcoat, south of Michigan, west of Haggerty, is an

Ford Road dedication caps years of work

At long last, the Downtown Development Authority streetscape that decorates Ford Road is an official part of Canton Township.

"People are saying good things about the streetscape project," said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack during dedication ceremonies for the Downtown Development Authority's $2 million streetscape Thursday. "They are all struck by the simplicity of the design and how neat in appearance Ford Road has become."

Members of the DDA, property owners and the Chamber of Commerce, as well as township officials, including former Township Supervisor Jim Poole, were lauded for their efforts in bringing plans for the improvements to reality.

DDA members Ralph Shufeldt, Cathy Foege, Canton trustee Melissa McLaughlin and Yack, as well as Canton Chamber of Commerce executive director Linda Shapona were among those who clustered around the big red ribbon and officially christened the streetscape. Shapona toasted the event with non-alcoholic champagne.

Work and planning for the streetscape began in 1994. The plan was "a vision for improv-

Be seeing you

Young cornea recipient is eloquent spokesman

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

"I'll be seeing you."

That simple message on a Michigan Eye Institute postcard designed by Patrick Pruitt, an 11-year-old Canton boy, holds poignant meaning for Patrick; his parents, Lynn and Dave; and the Michigan Eye Bank.

By virtue of a corneal transplant, Patrick is now an ambassador for the Michigan Eye Institute and spoke at the ninth annual See Art . . . See Food Buffet, a fund-raiser to benefit the Michigan Eye Bank's Eye & Vision Research Program.

Proceeds totaled $10,000.

"I like giving the speeches," said Patrick, who will attend East Middle School in the fall. "I'm glad that I have my sight back."

Patrick lost vision in his left eye following a viral infection at age 5. "His eye turned red and we thought it was pinkeye," said Lynn Pruitt.

The loss was particularly devastating.

"Patrick taught himself to read at age 4, but after losing sight in one eye, he lost interest in books," said Marilyn Lindenauer, president and chief operating officer for the eye institute.

Today, after a successful corneal transplant, his vision is improved. Patrick wears glasses and is nearsighted, but there's nothing unusual about his vision now.

Patrick is an avid reader who also enjoys writing stories. He plays baseball; occasionally teases his sisters, Stephanie and Beth; and is a self-proclaimed Lego maniac.

Legos are brightly colored plastic pieces that can be assembled into a multitude of shapes, sizes and things, limited only by the user's imagination.

"If you can't see, you can't do any of your favorite things," said Lindenauer.

This year Patrick was recognized not only for his active support of donor awareness education, but as an individual whose ability to provide art for his own enjoyment and the betterment of the community is made possible because of a corneal transplant.

While he is among the Eye Bank's youngest recipients, he speaks eloquently and to the point. As eye institute spokeswoman Jan Welborn-Nichols quotes Patrick: "I hope more people will donate their eyes so more people can see. Just like me."

Since 1967, the Eye Bank has provided 22,217 corneas for sight-restoring surgical transplants in 1994 alone.

However, corneal transplants are a remedy for only 10 percent of blinding eye diseases.

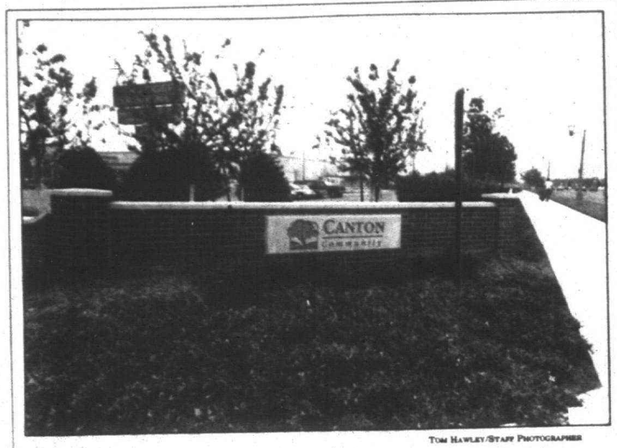

For the remaining 90 percent of eye disorders, like glaucoma, retinitis pigmentosa, and others which do not respond to transplant surgery, research is the only answer, institute officials say.

ing Ford Road and creating a downtown area in Canton," Yack said. "We ended up with a project that was a streetscape improvement. If I think about this project for any length of time, two words come to mind — patience and perseverance."

The streetscape features brick walls on the north and south sides of Ford Road, as well as decorative street lights, landscaping, and brick walkways. At each intersection of the district, a limestone sign in the brick wall identifies Canton. Each business in the district was given the option of having the brick wall with limestone cap in front of their buildings.

The district runs along Ford Road, from Sheldon Road to Morton Taylor. The district also runs up Sheldon to the first entrance of the Harvard Square shopping center.

"I had a hard time visualizing the plans from the blueprints when I started out. But it was fun to watch it come together. It turned out so nice," said Angela Wolosiewicz, township planner and DDA project coordinator, who served as a liaison between the township, businesses and the contractors.

The hope is to expand the streetscape west to Canton Center and east to I-275. "If we are successful we will present a plan to the DDA board and then the township board for support," Yack said.

The DDA paid for the streetscape through a state-allowed Tax Increment Financing Authority. The DDA collected money to pay off bonds that were sold to finance the project.

The DDA captured taxes when the current assessed value of property in the district exceeded the initial assessment when the district was created. The taxes would have otherwise gone to the school district and other taxing agencies.

The 10-year-old streetscape project was plagued by a number of obstacles, including a lawsuit by property owners, who claimed that the DDA was not properly constituted. An out-of-court settlement changed the DDA's plans.

But other property owners, DDA members and township officials, hung in there and now hope other businesses along Ford Road take the concept and use it in front of their businesses to help beautify the state thoroughfare.

Ramco-Gershenson, which owns the New Towne Plaza on the northwest corner of Sheldon and Ford, used the same concept of brick wall and landscaping, for the front of the center. The owners of Harvard Square and North Harvard Square on the northeast corner of Sheldon and Ford renovated the facade of the adjacent shopping center to complement the new streetscape.

"We are really increasing our employment base in the industrial sector," Goulet said.

This year is bringing new companies and companies that are expanding to Canton primarily in the Koppernick, Ronda Drive, Haggerty and Michigan Avenue.

"It comes down to what they are looking for," Supervisor Tom Yack said, happy that the industrial projects further expand the township's tax base.

The proximity to the I-275 corridor is what Yack believes is drawing industrial projects to Canton, as is the availability of land in the township along the north-south thoroughfare.

"I'd say there's a fair absorption of the land," Goulet said. "We have land available on the south side of Koppernick, east of I-275. There's a lot of land that's not even developed."

Recreational facilities are also coming into industrial areas, such as on Lilley, where indoor soccer wants to locate, and Dekhockey on Michigan Avenue at DeWitt. "It's good because it gets industrial off the main roads," Goulet added.

Here's a list of the industrial companies that are either new to Canton or are expanding current facilities, or adding new facilities:

- Antech Tool Co., south of Koppernick, east of Lilley, 11,375-square feet.
- Admiral Industrial Park Subdivision, south of Koppernick, east of Lilley, land only; final preliminary plat.
- McKeegan Sales, south of Joy, west of Ronda, 16,125 square feet.
- Baron Drawn Steel, south of Koppernick, west of Haggerty, 57,025 square feet.
- Sumitomo Electric/Captial Warehouse Lot 14, south of Captial, west of Haggerty, 18,114 square feet.
- Motor City Mold, south of Koppernick, west of Haggerty, 14,130 square feet.
- B/W Development, east of Canton Center, north of Yost.
- Arctic Cold Storage-phase 2, south of Michigan, west of Haggerty, 60,640 square feet.
- Miesel-Sysco Food Service addition, north of Van Born, west of Haggerty, 11,420 square feet.
- Admiral Industrial Park subdivision, south of Koppernick, east of Lilley, land only, final plat.
- International Hardcoat, south of Michigan, west of Haggerty, 62,800 square feet.
- Pacer Manufacturing, addition, south of Joy, east of Ronda, 6,000 square feet.
- Sterling Services, south of Koppernick, west of Haggerty, 15,000 square feet.
- Rea Auto Parts, addition, west of Belleville, north of Van Born, 4,500 square feet.
- American Yazaki addition to Daikin Clutch, south of Koppernick, west of Haggerty, 27,600 square feet.
- Dynamic Metal Treating, south of Joy, east of Ronda, 15,505 square feet.
- Westland Controls, south of Joy, east of Haggerty, 33,700 square feet.
- Accuflex House, addition, east of Ronda, south of Joy, 6,930 square feet.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Editor's note: Listed below are some construction projects, including residential and commercial developments, as well as road projects, that may interest Canton residents. This column will be published intermittently to keep residents abreast of development in the community.

- Road projects: Bids are to be taken later this summer or early fall for the paving of Beck Road, south from Cherry Hill to Geddes. Work by Wayne County is underway on the resurfacing of a portion of Lilley Road, Greenwood to Hanford. Construction is complete on the Canton Center-Palmer Road-Summit Parkway intersection, allowing easier access through the area and to the Pheasant Run Golf Course and residential areas. A traffic light is also planned for the intersection. Projects planned for the near future include the widening of Canton Center Road to five lanes, Cherry Hill to Ford, which is expected to be bid and constructed in 1996. The new year will see construction of a new section of Morton Taylor, Ford to Warren.
- Tree trimmings: Detroit Edison is trimming trees in the Joy/Canton Center and the Joy/Lilley areas. Edison will notify residents affected by the trimming. Planning Services has a map highlighting these areas for review.
- Industrial plans: Six industrial site plans are moving through the planning process. All industrial projects are reviewed and approved administratively by the planning staff. Projects include: A storage area for Rea Auto Parts, west of Belleville Road, north of Van Born; A 27,600-square-foot addition to Daikin Clutch, west of Haggerty, south of Koppernick; Auto Lab, north of Ford, west of Canton Center; Dynamic Metal Treating, a 15,505-square-foot building, east of Ronda, south of Joy; Westland Controls, a 33,700-square-foot building, east of Haggerty, south of Joy; Accuflex, a 6,930-square-foot addition, east of Ronda, south of Joy.
- Other industrial plans: New buildings planned for the Haggerty area include a 15,000 square feet for Sterling Services; a 6,000-square-foot addition of Pacer Manufacturing; an 11,076-square-foot facility for Capital & Market Street Properties, southeast corner of Market and Capital. These projects were approved July 6. In the Michigan Avenue area, a 62,800-square-foot building is planned for International Hardcoat, and an 11,420-square-foot addition to Miesel-Sysco, as well as the second phase of a building for Arctic Cold Storage is in the process.
- Residential projects: Utility installation is underway this summer for the Northbrook Condominiums, a private residential project on the northwest corner of Palmer and Hannan roads. The site condominium neighborhood will have 16 homes on six acres on a cul-de-sac named Northbrook Court. Also approved by the township board July 11 are the two final phases of the Glengarry subdivisions at Palmer and Canton Center roads where 123 homes are planned on 57 acres, as well as Camden Park, west of Lotz, south of Cherry Hill, which will have 34 new homes on 20 acres.

Canton to add sergeant to aid police supervision

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

Canton police will create and fill a police sergeant position by next week.

John Santomauro, director of public safety, explained the need for the new position: "In January 1995, we evaluated those functions performed in the staff operations division and whether the existing one supervisor would be adequate . . . Since that time, other areas within the division — such as the supervision of the DARE program, records bureau operations, and most importantly, computer services — continue to demand the supervisor's attention. It was no longer efficient for one command officer to adequately supervise all those areas."

The position will be filled through the patrol division, Santomauro said.

At a recent board meeting, Santomauro outlined a comparative analysis. Canton with its population of 60,000 has 36 square miles. The department has 61 sworn officers and 11 command officers. The ratio of command officers to police officers is one to 4.55. Some 51 patrol officers are on assigned patrol. Twenty-two civilians are employed in the Police Department.

A total of 83 people are employed in the Police Department. Canton's 1994 total budget is $5,901,334. Sworn officers are 1.02 per 1,000 residents.

Attorney remembers Romney from 1960s

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

George Romney's death Wednesday sparked some memories for Plymouth attorney John Stewart, who met the former governor in 1963.

"I was a Boy Scout honor guard working in the fort on Mackinac Island. I went down every morning and raised the flag on the governor's mansion," said Stewart, who grew up in Wyandotte.

"There was Lenore on the porch drinking an orange juice, and George was out on the lawn swinging a golf club," he said.

The governor eventually came to the Scout barracks one Sunday night for ice cream and a softball game.

"He shook hands with every one of us," Stewart said, explaining a large framed photo he owns that captures the moment.

"He stepped on the field and was catcher. The Boy Scouts were impressed that he knew which end of a baseball bat to pick up; this is from a kid's perspective," Stewart said.

Stewart, who served as a Plymouth Township trustee and has been active in Republican Party politics, said Romney was a mentor of sorts.

"He was forthright, principled, strong. It was a different era, a different generation."

Stewart's family was also involved in the Republican Party. "My parents went to Romney inaugurals and were appointed to commissions. I also remember seeing him come to the UAW hall hall in Wyandotte, and he was pelted with marshmallows and he kept his cool.

"He sat down and said, 'I know where I'm at.' It had to be kind of humiliating to be pelted with marshmallows, but he kept his cool. He said, 'I'm still going to talk with you; I'm going to listen to you.' He had to work with Democrats; he was the first Republican governor in two decades."

"He was a citizen politician that brought business practices to state government, and who better than somebody who had been in the private sector? He had been at Rambler for almost 25 years."

"You used to have to earn your soldier's stripes in the private sector; now we have career politicians at 22," Stewart said.

"George Romney was a progressive, moderate Republican. The bottom line with the guy was he was always intellectually honest. Nobody could think of defeating George Romney in the '60s.

"He was a progressive Republican who supported conscientious business principles, he gave us the basic funding from the state income tax, in 1965 he founded the Michigan Coucil of the Arts. He streamlined government, too; he reduced it to 20 basic departments," Stewart said.

"He was certainly the right person for Michigan for the mid-'60s."

School district investigates a 20-year taxation snafu

Plymouth-Canton school officials are looking into a snafu that may have resulted in the loss of tax revenue for the past 21 years.

Indications are that taxpayers in a small portion of the district have not been assessed the same debt retirement — 2.08 mills — being paid by the rest of the district. The taxpayers, however, have been paying the same amount of operating mills levied elsewhere in Plymouth-Canton.

The taxpayers — about nine families and a handful of companies — own property along Napier Road between North Territorial and Five Mile roads in Salem Township. Historically, the area was part of Northville schools. A 1974 transfer placed the Washtenaw County parcel in the Plymouth-Canton school district.

Retired Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben recalls that according to the agreement reached in 1974, "those homeowners would be responsible for the debt they incurred while part of Northville schools, and assume new debt in our area. They were paying two different entities, the way I understood it. They should be paying the 2.08 mills."

However, a review of Salem Township tax records by the South Lyon Herald newspaper revealed that the property owners have been paying 1.04 Northville debt retirement mills, but no Plymouth-Canton debt retirement mills.

"If anything is owed, we'll have to look into it," said Ray Hoedel, Plymouth-Canton associate superintendent for business. "Nothing seems to be very clear. The bottom line is, we have to see the actual tax statements to determine what they were charged, and what district they paid."

While the schools supply the municipalities within the district with tax information, it's the municipalities, not the school district, which prepares and sends the tax bills, said Hoedel.

Hoedel has scheduled a meeting with Northville school officials for Aug. 8 to investigate the matter. The Wayne County intermediate school district is also researching the situation.

Diane Barnes, director of finance for Plymouth-Canton, said the 2.08-mill debt retirement levy amounts to an annual total of $669 in what is called "Plymouth-Northville" school district. She said she gets her information about whom to bill from the Wayne County assessor's department, because the district is primarily in Wayne County.

Gary Rentsch, director of the assessment and equalization for Wayne County, says his office concerns itself only with Wayne County land. "My reporting ends at the county line," he said.

Salem Township treasurer Dick Rhinehart, who sends out the tax bills, said he depends on the schools for information about tax rates. He said he was not aware of a problem with the transfer district.

At least six property owner in the district, Kent Stanbury, grew up in the tonate district. Stanbury, who attended Plymouth schools in the '60s, said some of his neighbors went to Plymouth schools and some to Northville schools. Kids up the road went to Northville, and I went to Plymouth," he said. "It was my choosing. There was always a dispute about where the boundary was at the time."

Stanbury said he is unaware of anything amiss with his tax bill.

It's unclear exactly how much tax revenue is involved, or whether it can be recovered.

"The amount won't be overwhelming; I think it's just 11 parcels," said Hoedel. Pinpointing the amount of revenue involved "is so complicated, I wouldn't even venture to guess until after an investigation," he added. "I have no conclusions to draw on. When we went through bond programs in 1986 and 1991, we restructured the existing debt. Some of the old debt was at a high interest rate, so we comingled some of the old debt to get a net decrease in our interest costs. In our financial analysis, that would have to be considered."

As for whether taxes could be levied retroactively, Hoedel said he'd have to consult the district's tax attorney.

"There may be a limitation of a number of years that we could go back," he said.

Hoben said the boundary dispute first came to light "when someone from town moved out there, went to vote, and couldn't. He found out he (and the eight or nine other families sending their children to Plymouth-Canton schools) were not in our district. That started the procedure. The onus is on the school with the illegal students," said Hoben.

The U of M transfer can take you just about anywhere you want to go.
You could start the trip this August.

This August, 1995, the University of Michigan Dearborn has just the ticket for everyone's career path. We call it Michigan Advantage Month. What it means for you is that admissions counselors are waiting to tell YOU how you can transfer to U of M Dearborn. They will show you how to transfer your college credits, how to organize your course plans and answer questions on the ever-vital area of financial aid.

"Michigan Advantage" or "one-stop" service, the effect is the same. We check to see that you meet our admissions standards. Then you get the advice and direction you need to walk away with a Fall course schedule and a start on your degree from U of M.

And our advisory services are not just for undergraduate students. We will talk to anyone interested in graduate and professional programs in engineering, education, management, public administration and other fields. U of M Dearborn was rated a "best value" by U.S. News and World Report. That is a ranking based on the quality of the institution measured against the cost for students.

Ten days in August have been set aside for walk-in students or those who take the bus. We will also be glad to schedule appointments with students who can't make it to campus during the open days. Interested students, and we hope that means you, should call the Admissions Office at (313) 593-5443. Of course, if you're electronically driven, you can get us at our E Mail address. That's umdgoblu@umd.umich.edu.

Chamber offers golf outing

It's time again for the annual Canton Chamber of Commerce Men and Women Golf Outing Tuesday, Aug. 8.

The outing is a foursome scramble with an 8 a.m. shotgun start at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton. The outing includes 18 holes of golf, a cart, continental breakfast, lunch and refreshments on the course and early dinner. There will be prizes of all kinds, including a goody bag full of surprises for each team member. The event includes many special events, including a putting contest and will conclude with an awards banquet and trophies for teams and various sponsors.

The events has two major sponsors — Blackwell Ford and First of America Bank. A portion of the outing's proceeds will go to the Special Olympics. Foursome reservations can be made by calling the Canton Chamber of Commerce, 453-4040.

CANTON CONNECTION

Golf outing

There's still room for golfers to participate in the Friends of the Canton Public Library's first-ever golf outing Sept. 13 on the new Pheasant Run Golf Course.

The public is invited to participate in the outing, which will begin with an 8:30 a.m. shotgun start in a scrambles format. Breakfast, lunch and dinner will be served.

A hole-in-one contest will net the winner a 1995 Dodge Stratus from Century Dodge in Taylor. A traveling trophy will be offered, as will other contests and prizes.

Outing fees are $100 for a single golfer and $500 for a foursome. To sign up contact the Canton Public Library, 397-0999.

Outdoor concerts

Canton parks and recreation is sponsoring a series of summer concerts in the amphitheater at Heritage Park. All but the final concert of the series are free and begin at 7:30 p.m. every Thursday.

The next concert in the series is Doug Jacobs & the Red Garter Gand on Aug. 3, the Sassy Band on Aug. 10. The final concert will feature the Larados with Jonathan Stars at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 17. Admission of $5 per carload will be charged for the Larados.

Guests are invited to bring blankets or lawn chairs for the concerts. Amphitheater seating is available.

Cedar Point trip

Canton residents are invited to join the fun with a bus trip to Cedar Point Saturday, Aug. 19. The trip is sponsored by Canton parks and recreation.

Space is limited. Tickets are $27 per person, including amusement park admission and bus transportation. Canton residents may register until Aug. 14.

Barbara Bergenty will be missed

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

The accomplishments of Barbara Bergenty reads like a fine-tuned resume.

Bergenty has been president of the Canton Homeowners Association for two years.

The township board recently honored Bergenty's community-mindedness as they prepare to bid the Bergenty family goodbye at the end of the month.

She and husband, Don, who works for the Musicland Group, will relocate back to New Jersey where she grew up. Don has been transferred there.

Bergenty said that her parents are ecstatic that their grandchildren Melissa, 9, and Julia, 5, will live so close.

"This (the Association) has been the closest thing to my heart," Bergenty said.

Helping residents be aware of community issues has been her goal.

"Many long-time residents in our community devote many hours of volunteer service to the community, helping service or civic groups, working on government communities or boards, and through their homeowners associations or churches," said Canton supervisor Tom Yack. "A perfect example of that is Barb Bergenty. Barb has been active in her homeowners association; been president of the Homewoner Advisory Council over the past two years. She helped to rejuvenate the group along with folks like Nancy Spencer (community services officer).

"She has worked on several school district committees and Canton's Essential Services Committee and helped represent the community on the Mettetal Airport Advisory Board.

The Bergentys have resided in the Pickwick Village subdivision. Concerned with a neighborhood vandalism problem several years ago threw Bergenty into action.

Without realizing it, Bergenty became both a community activist as well as an expert on various neighborhood issues like rejuvenating older subdivisions, beautification, and parks and recreation issues.

She received the Canton Community Foundation's Woman of the Year Award.

"This has been the easiest government that I have ever worked with," Bergenty said. "Everybody has always been so accessible."

While other residents took the "cocooning" trend literally, Bergenty was an iron butterfly in the making.

Eventually, she was even encouraged to run for school board. "I never saw myself as an individual to get involved," Bergenty said. "Everything snowballed and I grew."

SECTION 2

Severability. If any clause, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances, shall be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances by said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case or controversy in which said corporation, legal entity or circumstance then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of the body that the ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not be included in the Ordinance.

SECTION 3

Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

SECTION 4

Savings Clause. The balance of Chapter 73, except as herein amended, shall remain in full force and effect. The repeal provided herein shall not abrograte or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending fees, assessments, litigation or prosecution of any right established, occurring prior to the effective date thereof.

SECTION 5

Publication. The Township Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

SECTION 6

Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective upon its publication.

CERTIFICATION

This Ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 25th day of July, 1995, and was ordered be given publication in the manner required by law.

Beware of calling-card thieves-Ameritech

Ameritech is warning customers to be on the alert for telephone fraud.

Although a computer system installed last year alerts Ameritech personnel to unusual use of accounts, fraud still occurs as thieves get customers to reveal their calling-card numbers, said Ameritech spokesman Jonathan James.

The most popular scam, James said, is when a caller who claims to be from Ameritech or "the telephone company" asks the customer for his or her calling-card number and its related personal identification number, saying the numbers are needed to resolve a computer error or to investigate a case of calling-card fraud.

The calling-card numbers then are used to fraudulently charge calls to the customer's phone.

In many cases, James said, the calls charged to the customer's bill are made to or from overseas locations.

Another popular scam is this: Someone posing as a telephone operator calls late at night claiming to be handling a collect call regarding a medical emergency.

The caller deliberately asks for someone who doesn't live at the house he is calling.

When told he has gotten a wrong number, the caller then asks the customer to reveal his calling card number so that his account might be credited for the call.

The caller then uses the number to fraudulently charge calls to the customer's phone.

Another way con artists obtain calling-card numbers is to look over the shoulders of telephone users in public places, James said. This is called "shoulder surfing."

Darryl Miller, Ameritech security manager, says customers should never give out their calling card number or PIN to someone who calls and asks for it.

"No telephone company, including Ameritech, would ever need to ask a customer for his or her calling card number or PIN," Miller said in a press release. "People should guard their calling card numbers just like their credit card numbers."

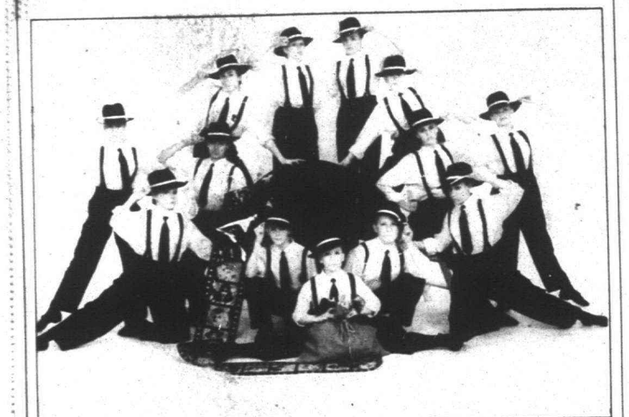

Anyone who receives these types of calls should report them by calling (313) 221-4455.

Plymouth Poets set contest

The Plymouth Poets have announced their third annual Plymouth Poetry Contest.

The contest is open to poets in the Plymouth-Northville-Canton-Ann Arbor area. Plymouth Poets organizer Rod Reinhart said, "It is the only non-school city poetry contest we know of in Michigan.

"Past winners Amy Furmanic and Douglas McClennen challenged and inspired us with poems recounting the history, industry, and myths of our town," Reinhart said. "We know that you are each capable of creating literary visions to entertain and guide us through the changing seasons to come."

By the contest rules, entrants can submit only one original poem no shorter than four and no longer than 100 lines. Poems can be written in any style, but must relate directly to the life, history, struggles, problems, stories or natural beauty of the Plymouth-Canton community. Poems in bad taste may not win.

Poems must be turned in to the Plymouth Poets in care of Reinhart at 50750 Van Buren in Plymouth, 48170, or to the Community Crier no later than Aug. 10.

The contest will be judged by a committee of local teachers and writers. First prize is a $20 gift certificate from the Little Professor Book Store.

First, second and third prize winners will be featured readers at the poets Fall Festival of Poetry Sept. 14 at the Plymouth Coffee Bean Co.

The contest is sponsored by the Plymouth Poets, Plymouth District Library, Broadside Press, Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affiars, Plymouth Community Arts Council, Plymouth Observer, Community Crier, Detroit Firends of the Library, Plymouth Coffee Bean Co,. Little Professor, Ideas Ink, Operation DOME Press and the Poetry Resource Center.

A Message From The Michigan Department Of Agriculture

'Everything is under one roof' at Schoolcraft College branch

BY LEONARD POGER
STAFF WRITER

■ Schoolcraft has had a Garden City presence for more than 20 years to serve adults in Garden City, Westland and nearby communities. At first, the college had classes in the former Florence Elementary before moving to the larger Harrison School and finally to the former Garden City Junior High.

Many retail businesses like to brag they are "one-stop" convenience centers for shoppers.

Now Schoolcraft College officials feel the same way about their Radcliff Center, housed for the past 10 years in a former Garden City Junior High School near the Westland boundary on Radcliff, south of Ford and east of Wildwood.

"Everything is under one roof," said Mary Morand, coordinator of college centers and academic services, whose office is in Radcliff Center.

There are services provided by the Women's Resource Center as well as the Learning Assistance Center, which provides tutoring and academic support, career placement/planning, academic and financial aid counseling as well as a book store.

In trying to maintain state-of-the-art equipment, the center's computer lab has completed with new terminals, she said.

Morand said a recent survey showed that many residents know about Schoolcraft College but a small percentage are aware of Radcliff Center. The same is true of Garden City and Westland residents where the college is in their backyard.

Morand says she is a good example of how Radcliff Center can help adults who have been out of high school and college for many years and want to take specific courses to improve their job skills.

Several years ago, she took a marketing class with only 20 students. Some were in their 40s and 50s with many in their 30s and a majority in their 20s, she recalled.

"Some (of her classmates) started college before and didn't do well," she said. "They got a job and now need additional skills or knowledge."

The coordinator said people may not know about Radcliff because the "economy is good, they are out getting jobs and may have upgrade their skills and look for potential promotions."

A new reason for adults to take advantage of Radcliff Center is the newly-approved weekend classes which lead to an associate degree in general business in three years or in general studies with no specific time limit.

Some classes will meet on alternate weekends with students doing independent work during the "off weeks," according to a just-published Schoolcraft publication.

The degree-related classes will be held both at Radcliff and on the main campus on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile, Livonia.

The weekend classes are held Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

Subjects include accounting principles, health care, nutrition, anatomy/physiology, computer-aided took detailing, chemistry, electronic publishing, English composition, Microsoft Office, electronic imaging, algebra, material science, American government, human relations, analytical methods, medical terminology, speech, computer orientation, keyboarding, music instruction, Microsoft Word, and arc welding.

Schoolcraft has had a Garden City presence for more than 20 years to serve adults in Garden City, Westland and nearby communities. At first, the college had classes in the former Florence Elementary before moving to the larger Harrison School and finally to the former Garden City Junior High.

It bought the school and made major renovations.

For information on Radcliff Center, persons may call 462-4700. On the new associate degree program, persons may call 462-4770.

Omnicom producer wins honor

The winners of the Michigan Cable Television Association Innovative Cable Excellence awards were announced at a ceremony held in late June at the Royal Oak Music Theater.

The judges were especially impressed by the diversity, quality and quantity of programming being produced by local production departments in cable systems across the state of Michigan.

Congratulations to Davonna Lividini from Omnicom of Michigan for winning in Innovative Cable Excellence Award for her "Sports Collage" in the Promotional Programming category. Her winning promotional spot featured video of local high school athletes cut to an fluid action music bed. Davonna is Omnicom's Local Programmming sports producer, responsible for developing, coordinating and producing area high school and community recreational sports programming.

Davonna is committed to sports projecting a positive image of young people and their accomplishments, both athletic and academic.

Young and old alike, from beginning Little Leaguers to high schools students destined for scholarships, Davonna is dedicated to giving them equal representation on the local channel with her motto "From the backyard to the big time. . . Omnicom Sports!"

Diabetes and exercise topic for meeting

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia will hold a diabetes support group meeting from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 9, in the hospital auditorium.

Guest speaker Roger Ajluni, M.D., and staff from the Medical Fitness Center, 17940 Farmington Road, Livonia, will talk about diabetes and exercise.

There is no charge to attend the meeting and registration is not required. For more information, call St. Mary Hospital at 591-2922.

SEMCOG recommends end to auto emmissions test

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Stop the mandatory auto emissions tests, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is telling Uncle Sam.

"It's not needed, other programs are cleaning the air, and the existing test equipment is becoming outmoded," Birmingham Mayor Dante Lanzetta Jr. told the SEMCOG executive committee.

Since 1986, motorists in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties have been paying $10 per vehicle annually — $29 million a year — to have their engines tested for emissions at their local service stations. Those failing must be repaired.

Lanzetta, chair of SEMCOG's Environmental Policy Council, got unanimous voice approval of the resolution asking an end to the AET. The Michigan Legislature, prodded by the Environmental Protection Agency and SEMCOG, passed the program in response to the EPA's declaring the tri-county area a "non-attainment" zone.

"The existing program in southeast Michigan is producing minimal reductions," Lanzetta's group said. "There is a concern that if the program is terminated and EPA disapproves of the action, economic sanctions could be placed on southeast Michigan."

But SEMCOG's data shows hydrocarbon emissions are less than 2 percent of mobile source emissions and less than one percent of total emissions. Ending AET tests will have an "insignificant" result, its report said.

SEMCOG's data placed the cost of removing hydrocarbons at $22,000 a ton — too high a price for the benefit.

Meanwhile, SEMCOG staffer

■ John Amberger, SEMCOG executive director, said the Oakland County Road Commission cuts emissions by not mowing on ozone action days and treating them as 'rain days.'

Donn Shelton said residents are well aware of the "ozone action day" program to cut emissions on hot summer days. "Last July our survey showed 52 percent awareness of ozone action days," Shelton said, "and this year it's 78 percent."

Last year 35 percent made some effort to reduce their contributions to the atmospheric smog, and this year 64 percent are cooperating, Shelton said.

"The most popular action continues to be not mowing the lawn," he said to great laughter. "Second is not refueling, or delaying refueling until the cooler evening hours, on ozone action days."

John Amberger, SEMCOG executive director, said the Oakland County Road Commission cuts emissions by not mowing on ozone action days and treating them as "rain days."

The region has had only a handful of "exceedences" — days on which air quality is below federal standards. Most are days on which the temperature is above 90 degrees.

Emissions tests have been politically controversial from the beginning. Although SEMCOG in 1986 lobbied for state legislation, lawmakers in Lansing complied only reluctantly.

Two years ago, EPA threatened to extend the non-compliance zone beyond the populous tri-county region. That might have meant more stringent and more expensive tests, along with fuel pump attachments to control fumes, and even higher quality grades of gasoline.

And EPA also threatened the Grand Rapids-Muskegon area with a non-attainment designation. West side politicos denounced the idea bitterly, blaming any bad air on the winds from Chicago, Gary and Milwaukee.

The federal hammers to punish non-attainment areas include holding up highway aid and refusing smokestack permits for new industries. Amberger said the General Motors Lake Orion plant might not have been built if the region hadn't had an emissions test program.

You want a fresh look this fall, and we have the solution.

SEMCOG praises small bus move

By Tim Richard
Staff Writer

SMART, the suburban bus service, won praise for plans to shift to smaller buses from members of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments executive committee.

Otherwise, there was little "review and comment" as SEMCOG, a seven-county regional planning agency, casually scanned the $59.3 million budget of an agency that was dying just six months ago.

"It's really a continuation budget," SMART staffer Jim O'Shea told SEMCOG delegates July 28, but with one big difference: Past budgets had used red ink; this one anticipates a $6 million surplus.

Voters in most suburban Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County communities during May and June approved a one-third-mill property tax hike to pump $16.4 million into the ailing SMART system.

The SMART budget for the fiscal 1996, which began July 1, will be $8 million greater than the prior year, however, because some federal and state funds are drying up.

"We're responding to criticisms we heard during the campaign," O'Shea said. "We're purchasing a lot of smaller buses, and we're making many east-west route changes. The changes will come by fall or January.

"Probably in two months, the SMART board will approve a revised budget," he said.

Barbara Moorhouse, a delegate-at-large representing the League of Women Voters, asked whether any communities that had opted out of the SMART millage vote had changed their minds and wanted to opt in.

SMART's $59 million in revenue will come from: federal aid, $4.4 million; state aid, $24.6 million; property taxes, $16.4 million; line-haul operating revenue, $7.4 million; paratransit operating revenue, $2.1 million; and restricted revenue, $3.9 million.

Its $53.8 million spending will go chiefly to:

- Line-haul operations, $31.3 million.
- Paratransit, $9.4 million.
- General administration, $7.1 million.
- Bus purchase for coordinated service, $68,000.

Reaction mixed to Clinton's plan

AP — President Clinton's no-apologies defense of the government affirmative action programs that he once seemed ready to roll back drew a mixed reaction Wednesday in Michigan.

Clinton did order federal agencies to review their race- and sex-based preference programs and eliminate any abuses or inequities.

But the president added, "Let me be clear: Affirmative action has been good for America. We should have a simple slogan: Mend it, but don't end it."

The heads of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission and the Department of Civil Rights applauded that approach and said they would be working with Gov. John Engler's office to review affirmative action programs in Michigan.

"It is important for Michigan citizens to fully understand that racism and unlawful discrimination continue to exist in our nation, state and local communities," commission Chairwoman Sondra Berlin and department Director Nanette Reynolds said in a joint statement.

"Statistics continue to show significant disparities between whites and racial and ethnic minorities, women and handicappers. The numbers also show relatively few reverse-discrimination complaints and/or lawsuits, and even fewer substantiated cases."

But a Macomb County lawmaker, state Rep. David Jaye, said Clinton's decision would keep in place policies that give minorities preference in jobs, business and education.

Jaye is sponsoring a proposed constitutional amendment that would bar affirmative action in employment, education or business in Michigan.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole promised to introduce legislation next week "to get the federal government out of the group-preference business."

Clinton argued that government preference programs offer a reasonable middle ground between those who would ignore discrimination and those who would impose Draconian quotas.

Rather than scrapping preferences, Clinton issued a directive to federal departments and a 100-page report advocating reforms to ensure the programs benefit those who need help the most.

Jaye said Clinton was "trying to sugar-coat the bitter pill of racial discrimination by calling minority quotas "goals" and "inclusive treatment."

"A new shade of lipstick and shoes doesn't make a prostitute a religious woman, nor new clothes a respectable thief. Clinton is unforgivably pimping for certain minorities at the expense of all other Americans," he said.

Berlin and Reynolds defended affirmative action as a "viable program for preventing discrimination. It is also an effective way to assure that qualified individuals will have an opportunity to fairly compete and be judged on ability, rather than race, gender or handicap."

Dentistry in the 90s

by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S

THIN VENEERS

When the surfaces of permanent teeth become stained, pitted, or worn, the dentist may suggest that they be treated with veneers. This calls for the placement of a thin layer of composite, plastic, or porcelain over the entire tooth surface, much in the way that artificial nails are applied over fingernails. Veneers can be applied to any nonchewing surface and require very little alteration of the natural tooth. In this respect, veneers are quite different from porcelain crowns, which require that the accepting surface of the tooth be etched with acid or treated to a slight reduction in the enamel. When completed, a porcelain veneer offers a durable, stain-resistant, and natural look.

At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, our primary goal is to restore teeth to their normal form, beauty, and proper function. We use porcelain veneer crowns to restore teeth that have been disfigured by extensive decay, breakage, abrasion (wearing), imperfect development, or discoloration. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we provide a full range of dental services in a warm and caring environment. Smiles are our business. Please call 478-2110 to schedule a convenient appointment Mon., Tue., Thu. & Fri. 8-5, Wed. till 9 p.m.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

So long ketchup; more of us are choosing salsa

Quick - Can you name America's favorite condiment?

Ketchup? Used to be, but not anymore. Mayonnaise? Not with all that fat. Mustard? Mucky Duck might be the local favorite, but it's far from America's favorite. Salsa is the correct answer. Americans now spend more money on the sauce from south of the border than any other dip, spread or topping.

Chilies are the main ingredient. Among those frequently used, in ascending order of fire, are ancho, poblano, Anaheim, serrano, jalapeno and habanero. Tomatoes are the next basic ingredient, followed by onions and garlic.

You're probably sitting there saying, "no way Chef Larry, tomatoes are the main ingredient in salsa." Unfortunately, that's what most of us think. Our Americanized version of salsa is something that comes out of an Old El Pasa jar that we can purchase at the grocery store right next to taco shells and packaged taco seasoning.

Cookbooks

"Salsas are the Caribbean, Mexican and South American counterpart of Indian chutneys and chow chows, Eastern European pickles, North American relishes and Far Eastern ginger-mustard-soy sauce combinations," writes Irena Chalmers, author of the "Great Food Almanac," (Collins Publishers, copyright 1994, $25). Salsas can also include fruit, fresh herbs, and spices, legumes and other vegetables.

There are at least 2,000 brands of salsa sold in the United States. Americans are spending over $800 million a year on salsa, and industry experts expect this figure to double within the next five years. By the way, Americans still eat more ketchup than salsa, but salsa costs twice as much.

Chris Schlesinger and John Willoughby, co-authors of "Salsas, Sambals, Chutneys and Chow Chows," (Morrow Publishers, copyright 1993, $20) write "the most important thing to remember about salsas is that, like the Latin dance that shares their name, the best ones are wild, loose and loud." They go on to say, "Now that Americans have become accustomed to the vibrant flavors and spicy, chile fueled edge of the table salsa of our southern amigos, we may be ready to move on to the many variations and permutations of the genre."

My interpretation of that heady last statement is that most of us are now putting salsa on tortilla chips and everything from steak to eggs, and even fish and seafood. Schlesinger and Willoughby also recommend adding salsa to steamed vegetables, rice, and even stirred into stews and soups to add flavor.

Flavor, not fat

Salsa is just about one of the healthiest condiments on the market. Pace Thick and Chunky salsa contains only 50 calories per four ounce (/4 cup) serving.

I make my own low-fat dipping chips. I cut flour tortillas into triangles, spray them with a little "I Can't Believe It's Not Butter," sprinkle on some Mrs. Dash's Table Blend and cumin, then toast under the broiler until golden and crunchy. You can make a big batch and store them in airtight containers.

One of the best selections of salsa I've seen is at Rocky Peanut Company in the Eastern Market area of Detroit. Also check out specialty food markets, including The Merchant of Vino.

Here are some mail order sources for salsa

D.L. Jardine's, P.O. Box 1530, Buda, Texas 78610, 1-(800) 544-1880; El Paso Chile Co., 909 Texas Ave., El Paso, Texas 79901, 1-(800) 27-IS-HOT; Salsa Express, P.O. Box 3985, Albuquerque, N. M. 1-(800) 43-SALSA.

On these "dog days of summer" serve a blazing salsa at sunset with a Margarita as a cool companion.

families 'pool' together for supper

These cooks can't stand the heat, so they get out of the kitchen and head to their family swim clubs.

Skip and Linda Scully of Southfield, and their twins Jennifer and Joey, 12, have been eating Sunday dinner, weather permitting, at Cranbrook Swim Club in Southfield for a number of years.

"It's just nicer to cook outdoors when the temperature is high. It's not only cooler eating at the swim club, but it is often very social because so many families traditionally have Sunday dinner at the club," Linda said.

The Scullys are sometimes joined by the MacCallums, also of Southfield. "Anytime we have a group, we bring our own meat, but share the side dishes," said Mary Beth MacCallum, who with her husband Neil have three boys, Sean, 14, Michael, 10, and Patrick, 3. "Sharing food makes for a better meal for everyone."

According to Mary Beth, "the biggest advantage to eating at the club is that the children have many different things that keep them occupied, like the playground, pool, tennis and basketball courts. "This gives the adults the chance to enjoy each other's company without being constantly interrupted by the kids."

Most area swim clubs encourage families to picnic at their facilities. Many, including Cranbrook and Woodbrooke Hills Swim and Tennis Club in Farmington Hills, provide tables and grills for their members.

Tom and Mary Beth Wilkinson of Farmington Hills, and their two children, Courtney, 11, and Brad, 8, like to join other Woodbrooke members for Sunday dinner at the club because it's a relaxing way to end the weekend.

"We try not to get too elaborate, after all that would defeat the purpose," said Mary Beth. "We like to bring simple and good dishes, like chicken to grill, and a family favorite, black bean corn relish salsa. When it comes to eating at the club, I believe in no fuss."

"No fuss" is also part of the Scully creed. Skip, who often does the cooking, says the simpler the better.

"My Cajun steak, which always receives the compliments, is made in a cast iron skillet on the grill. I use prepackaged blacken steak seasoning, and whatever steak is on sale that week," he said.

His wife says that while they enjoy the steak, the kids have their favorite barbecue meal of hot dogs. "That's what's nice about eating at the club. You can cook a number of different things on the grill to please everyone," Linda said.

While Skip is at the grill, Linda sets the table and tosses together a salad. "One of our favorites - and the choice of many of the other club members - is 'Grandma's (Shirley Yentz) Salad.' This salad just takes a few preparations at home," she added.

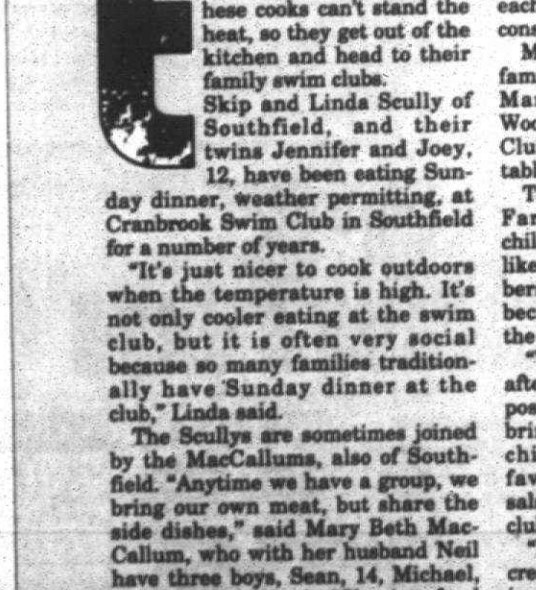

While the flavorful salad marks the Scullys, the MacCallums are known for their Taco Rice.

"I got this recipe from an American friend while we were living in Germany. It's a great recipe because even the kids are wild about it," said Mary Beth MacCallum.

"I make it up before going to the club and then put it in the oven to keep it warm. Right before dinner, Neil runs home and gets it. This is a good way of having a hot meal without having to eat in a hot house."

According to all the families, one of the best reasons for Sunday dinner at their clubs is that it's a good way to get the family together in one place. And that it's a wonderful way of "creating wonderful memories while the kids are still around."

QUAKER OATS

Crunchy: Fruit & Honey Granola is worth the effort. Topped with skim milk and fresh fruit, it's a cool start.

No-cook cereal has summertime appeal

When the mercury climbs, it's only natural to crave cooler, lighter foods. The challenge is choosing foods that deliver maximum nutrition along with great taste.

"Many people don't realize what a nutritional powerhouse a simple bowl of cereal can be," said Anne Rejent-Scholtz, a St. Louis area dietitian. "And especially in hot weather, a cool, no-cook cereal breakfast is appealing."

"Cereal can be a smart start to the day, if you're careful about the portion size," said Gail Posner, of West Bloomfield, a registered dietitian. "Look on the back of the box to check the serving size, and measure it out. Without realizing it, some people eat two to three times more than they think they are. Cereal can be a great dinner too. Because it's cool, low in fat, and you're getting some calcium in your milk or yogurt."

Rejent-Scholtz notes that a bowl of cereal makes a smart start to a summer day for several reasons.

Cereals, especially whole grain cereals like oats, are important sources of carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals and fiber. When topped with skim milk, most cereals are reasonably low in fat. And, a cereal breakfast offers so many options for adding variety.

When pouring a bowl of cereal, look beyond the obvious milk and sliced banana, suggests Cindy Bishop, supervisor of the Quaker Oatmeal Kitchens.

Substitute vanilla or fruit-flavored low-fat or nonfat yogurt for the milk, sprinkle the banana slices with cinnamon, combine two different berries, or pair a fresh fruit with a dried fruit.

Experimenting with muesli and granolas is another way to keep summertime breakfasts cool and interesting.

Muesli (MYOOS-lee) was developed by Dr. Bircher-Benner, a Swiss nutritionist, nearly 100 years ago. The classic muesli is made with oats and often contains dried fruits and nuts. The addition of fruit juice or yogurt, and refrigerating overnight, gives muesli its creamy texture.

RED TABLE SALSA FROM THE LAND OF THE BIG WAVES

3 large very ripe tomatoes, diced small
1 cup tomato juice
2 tablespoons minced chile peppers
1 red onion, diced fine
1 teaspoon minced fresh garlic
½ cup fresh chopped cilantro
½ cup fresh lime juice (about 4 limes)
Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste

Mix together. Salsa will keep, covered and refrigerated about 5-6 days. Makes 4 cups salsa.

Recipe from "Salsas, Sambals, Chutneys and Chow Chows," by Chris Schlesinger and John Willoughby. (copyright 1993, Morrow, $20).

SPICY NUT SALSA WITH BLUE CHEESE

3 tablespoons olive oil
4 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons ground allspice
½ cup hazelnuts or walnuts, chopped fine
½ cup pecan pieces, chopped
½ cup slivered almonds, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
1 cup crumbled blue cheese (about 5 ounces)
2 tablespoons honey

Heat the olive oil with the mustard and allspice in a large heavy skillet over medium heat. Add nuts and saute until nuts are golden, about 7 minutes. Transfer to large bowl. Stir in celery, cheese and honey. Season to tate with salt and pepper. Makes about 4 cups.

FIERY THAI SALSA

3 cups chopped, seeded, peeled cucumbers
1 cup chopped green onions
¾ cup chopped radishes
¼ cup fresh mint, chopped
3 tablespoons minced and peeled fresh ginger root
3 tablespoons fresh lime juice (about ½)
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon minced garlic
1½ teaspoons hot chili oil (available at Asian markets, and the Asian section of many specialty food stores)

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl. Season with salt. Cover and refrigerate until juicy, about 1 hour. Toss before serving. makes 3½ cups.

GRANDMA'S SALAD

Salad:
1 head lettuce, cleaned and torn into pieces
1 bag fresh spinach, cleaned, torn into pieces
Handful fresh bean sprouts
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped fine
8 slices bacon, fried, drained, crumbled
Salt and pepper to taste

Dressing:
1 cup vegetable oil
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup ketchup
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 medium onion, chopped fine

Mix salad ingredients together in large bowl. Put dressing ingredients into a closed container and shake. Pour on salad and toss. Serves 8-10.

Recipe submitted by Linda Scully.

TACO RICE

1½ pounds ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 (14½ or 16 ounce) can cup up tomatoes — don't drain
1 can (from tomatoes) water
1 cup rice
1 package taco seasoning mix
Shredded cheese of your choice
Chopped lettuce

In large skillet brown ground beef with onion. Skim off fat. Add other ingredients and stir together.

Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer for 25 minutes or until liquid is absorbed.

Serve with chopped lettuce and tomatoes. Top with shredded cheese. Serves 6.

Recipe submitted by Mary Beth MacCallum.

BLACK BEAN CORN RELISH

1 bag frozen corn
2 cans black beans
1 can Great Northern white beans
1 red pepper, chopped
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons olive oil
Black pepper to taste

In non-stick pan, saute corn in water until warm. Place corn into large bowl and add other ingredients. If desired, add Tabasco sauce or jalapenos for added spice.

Serve as a side dish or a salsa with pita bread.

Recipe submitted by Mary Beth Wilkinson.

MARY BETH'S CHICKEN MARINADE

⅔ cup Italian salad dressing
½ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Mix ingredients together. Use to marinate chicken. Mary Beth uses it for chicken breasts.

Mary Beth Wilkinson.

and vanilla low-fat yogurt in combination with oats and fresh or frozen peaches that have been thawed and diced. It needs to be made the night before, but it can be stored in the refrigerator up to four days. The berries are added just before serving.

Another make-ahead breakfast cereal, Fruit & Honey Granola, pairs wholesome, whole grain oats with crunchy pecans and chewy diced mixed dried fruits — apples, pears, apricots and raisins. Honey, cinnamon and melted margarine are simply tossed with the oats and nuts, and the mixture is baked. Stored tightly covered, the granola will stay fresh a week or more and is easy to transport for a breakfast or snack away from home.

Southwest salad: This and many other salads make great side dishes or can be served as a main course with bread or rolls.

Build salad with color, crunch, grain sughead: Building a better salad

Smart and satisfying summer salads aren't just thrown together using the same old tired ingredients year-round. They're creatively constructed using the nutritious building blocks that summer's bountiful harvest provides.

Color is one of the best guides for choosing nutritious salad fixings. Bright orange, yellow and green usually mean vitamin-rich produce, such as the vitamins E and K in dark green leafy vegetables. Colorful peppers, broccoli, tomatoes and oranges pack a lot of vitamin C and beta-carotene.

Crunch is a good sign of dietary fiber in vegetables like carrots, red cabbage and cauliflower, to name a few. Potatoes, zucchini and cucumbers also add fiber if the skin is left on. Crisp pears and apples, as well as peaches and nectarines, are good fiber sources and add a sweet tang to summer salads. Even without crunch, legumes like lentils, garbanzos and kidney beans pack a healthy fiber punch.

When constructing a salad, avoid high-fat items such as avocados, bacon bits, regular-fat cheeses, seeds and nuts. Just a quarter of an avocado adds 8 grams of fat and a tablespoon of bacon bits adds 2 grams. Use a low-fat or fat-free dressing and apply dressings sparingly so they don't hide the flavor of the fresh ingredients.

Take a break from iceberg and substitute deeper greens: sweet, crunchy kale; biting radicchio; pungent mustard greens; crisp spinach, chard or sorrel; nut-flavored arugula; or peppery cress. For a change, top salads with cooked miniature vegetables, such as corn, carrots, zucchini or pattypan squash. Or brighten a salad with berries, grapes or mandarin oranges.

Summer is also a great time to try a grain salad. Barley, bulgur, wild rice, couscous or brown rice paired with the season's freshest vegetables and herbs makes a great salad. Tabbouleh salad is made with bulgur and tomatoes, seasoned with fresh parsley, fresh mint, onion and lemon juice. A brown rice confetti salad can be made with brown rice, thin strips of yellow squash, small broccoli florets, sliced radishes and sliced green onions, seasoned with fresh dill, fresh parsley and grated lemon rind, and tossed with a dressing made from ⅓ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard and ⅓ teaspoon freshly ground pepper.

Southwest salad can be a delightful side salad or a colorful main dish when served with bread, rolls, rice or another grain dish.

SOUTHWEST SALAD

1 16-ounce can kidney or pinto beans, drained and rinsed
1 cup frozen corn, thawed
1 cup green or red sweet pepper, chopped
1 cup tomato, chopped
½ to ¾ cup red onion, shopped
4 tablespoons cider (or other) vinegar
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1½ teaspoon chili powder
⅛ teaspoon sugar
Dash of salt (optional)

Combine all the vegetables in a medium bowl. In a small bowl, whisk together the vinegar, oil, chili powder, sugar and salt. Pour over the vegetable mixture. Cover and chill for at least 30 minutes so flavors will blend. Can be refrigerated one or two days. Stir before serving.

Each if the four servings contains 205 calories and 4 grams of fat.

Quaker Oats looks for adults and kids

To mark its sixth anniversary, the Quaker Oats "Bake it Better with Oats" recipe contest has an added category just for kids and a parent or other grown-up.

Any adult-child duo can enter the Just for Kids category by submitting a cookie, muffin/bread or dessert recipe that has special kid appeal. In addition to the new kids category, there are two other categories — cookies and muffins/breads. To be considered eligible regardless of category, the following criteria must be met:

- The recipe must be original, created just for this contest.
- Recipe can contain no more than 12 ingredients (excluding water and salt).
- Cookie recipes must use at least 2 cups, uncooked Quaker oats, other recipes must use at least one cup. Oats must be used whole, not ground into flour.
- Recipes must be submitted on an 8½-by-11-inch sheet of paper and include category, name of recipe, number of servings, list of ingredients and complete preparation instructions.
- Each recipe must be mailed in a separate envelope with a proof of purchase (UPC code or cash register receipt) from Quaker oats.

Finalists will be kitchen tested and judged by a panel of professionals on the basis of taste, convenience, appearance and creativity. The recipe judge "best of contest" will win the $10,000 grand prize. One first-place winner in each category will receive $2,000, and six runners-up each will receive $500. Quaker Heritage Cookie Tins and cookbooks will be awarded to 50 honorable mention winners.

Recipes shoula be sent by Oct. 31, 1995 to: Quaker Oatmeal Recipe Contest, P.O. Box 530, Barrington, IL 60011.

To receive the official rules, tips for baking with kids and a free set of recipe cards featuring past contest winners, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Quaker Contest Rules, P.O. Box 1370, Barrington IL, 60011.

Banana cookies made to taste good

From the chewy, chocolatey banana-oatmeal cookie, to the ice cream and sauce, Go Bananas Cookie Sundaes are indescribably delicious.

GO BANANAS COOKIE SUNDAE

1 cup (2 sticks) margarine or butter, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1½ cups mashed ripe bananas (about 4 medium)
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2½ cups Quaker oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
1 cup (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
Ice cream
Ice cream topping, any flavor

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Beat together margarine and sugar until creamy. Add bananas, eggs and vanilla; beat well. Add combined oats, flour, baking soda and salt; mix well. Stir in chocolate pieces; mix well. Drop by ¼ cupfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets about 3 inches apart. Spread dough to 3½ inches in diameter. Bake 14 to 16 minutes or until edges are light golden brown. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire rack. Cool completely. To serve, top each cookie with a scoop of ice cream and ice cream topping. Makes about 2 dozen cookies.

Each cookie (without ice cream or topping) has 11 grams of fat and 225 calories.

Muer restaurants publish cook book

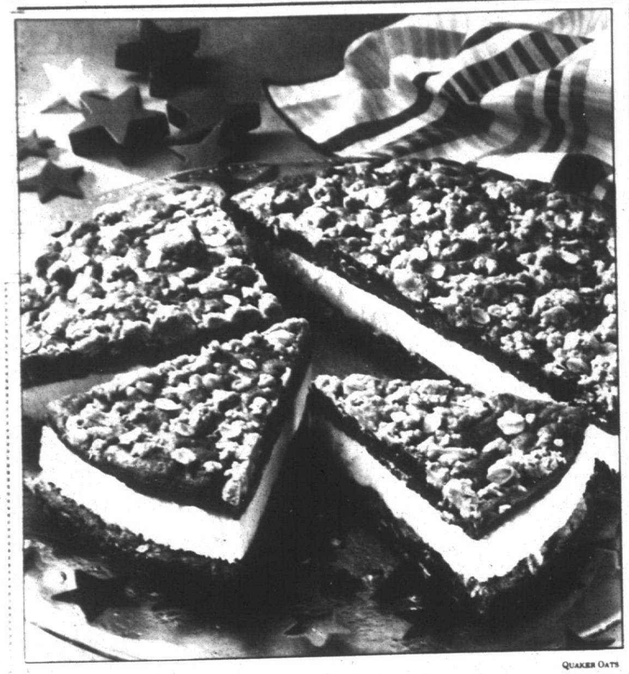

Something new is cooking in the Muer kitchen . . . The Simply Great II Cookbook.

The famous recipes of the Chuck Muer restaurants are revealed — from soups and salads to entrees and desserts in the new "Simply Great" cookbook. Favorites like house bread, Martha's Vineyard Raspberry Chicken, Texas Barbecue Whitefish, The Shaft Baby Back Ribs and Key Lime pie are included in the book.

All recipes have been carefully reviewed and scaled down to portions appropriate for the home cook. Each section is introduced with a brief history and fascinating stories about the origins of various dishes. The cookbook also contains tips and tidbits for offering a complete dining experience.

"The Simply Great II Cookbook" is a tribute to the late Chuck and Betty Muer, originators of the CA Muer Corp.

QUAKER OATS

Cool cookie: Chill out with Colassal Brownie Ice Cream Sandwich. This super-sized ice cream creation serves 12 and is best eaten with a fork.

Make chilly ice cream treat when temperature climbs

When the temperature climbs, a frosty dessert offers welcome relief. And ice cream and cookies tops the list of the most popular chilly treats.

This proverbial summertime favorite can be as simple as a dish of ice cream accompanied by a favorite cookie. Or, you can take a walk on the wild side and duplicate cookie 'n' cream creations benefitting an ice cream parlor in your own kitchen.

The two most critical ingredients are, of course, the cookie and the ice cream. First the cookie. Should it be chewy or crisp, oaty or chocolatey, peanuty or coconuty, plain or chock-full of chips? The answer is any of the above. They're all delicious.

Now, the ice cream. Choose the flavor to complement the cookie and any other ingredients such as sauces and toppings. Whether you opt for ice cream or frozen yogurt, be sure to buy top quality and keep solidly frozen until you're ready to scoop.

To provide inspiration, the Quaker Oatmeal Kitchens have created two cookie and ice cream concoctions that are real attention-getters.

Colossal Brownie Ice Cream Sandwich is so big it needs to be cut into wedges and eaten with a fork. The cookie part of this sweet treat is two giant fudgy brownies covered with peanut butter-oatmeal cookie crumbles. "Sandwiched" between is a cool, creamy layer of vanilla ice cream.

Equally delicious Caramel Apple Cookie Sundaes take their flavor cue from the all-American caramel apple. Soft and chewy oatmeal cookies dotted with bits of sweet juicy apple and crunchy peanuts are what make this sundae stand out in the crowd. For added convenience, the cookies can be baked ahead and frozen.

To make a sundae, crumble a cookie into a dish; top with a scoop of ice cream, a spoonful of caramel topping and another crumbled cookie and dig in!

These tips from the Quaker Oatmeal Kitchens will guarantee great results.

■ For oatmeal cookies and brownies with more texture, use the old fashioned oats. Quick and old fashioned oats are interchangeable in cookie recipes, however.

■ Cool cookies and brownie layers completely before assembling desserts. If cookies are baked ahead and frozen, thaw covered at room temperature before using.

■ Soften ice cream in the refrigerator for easier scooping. Allow about 10 minutes for pints, 20 minutes for half-gallons, depending upon the firmness of the ice cream.

■ To prevent ice cream from sticking to the scoop, rinse scoop and dry with a paper towel between scoops.

COLOSSAL BROWNIE ICE CREAM SANDWICH

Topping:
½ cup oatmeal (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup peanut butter
1 tablespoon margarine or butter

Browine Layers:
1 cup (6 ounces) semisweet chocolate pieces (or substitute, 2 ounces (2 squares) unsweetened chocolate and increase sugar to 1 cup.)
½ cup (1 stick) margarine or butter
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup all-purpose flour
¾ cup oatmeal (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)

Filling:
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Line two 8 or 9-inch round cake pans with aluminum foil, allowing foil to extend over sides of pans. Spray with no-stick cooking spray or grease lightly. For topping, combine oats, flour and brown sugar; cut in peanut butter and margarine until mixture is crumbly and set aside.

For brownie layers, in medium saucepan over low heat, melt chocolate pieces and margarine, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Stir in sugar and vanilla. Add eggs; mix well. Add combined flour, oats, baking powder and salt; mix well. Divide evenly between prepared pans; sprinkle each with half of reserved topping, patting gently. Bake 22 to 24 minutes for 9-inch pan (20 to 22 minutes for 9-inch pan) or until center of brownie is set. (Do not overbake.) Cool completely in pans on wire rack.

Soften ice cream in refrigerator, about 15 to 20 minutes. To assemble, spread ice cream evenly over one brownie layer while still in pan. Lift second layer out of pan; remove foil. With topping side up, place second brownie layer on top of ice cream, pressing gently. Cover with foil; freeze several hours or overnight. Remove from freezer 10 to 15 minutes before serving. Lift from pan using foil edges. Remove foil; cat into wedges. Yield: 12 servings

CARAMEL APPLE COOKIE SUNDAES

Cookie:
1¼ cups (2½ sticks) margarine or butter, softened
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups oatmeal (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
1 cup chopped apple (about 1 medium)
½ cup chopped peanuts, walnuts or pecans

Ice Cream/Topping:
Vanilla ice cream
Caramel ice cream topping

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Beat together margarine and sugars until creamy. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add combined oats, flour, baking soda, cinnamon and salt; mix well. Stir in apple and nuts; mix well. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire rack. Cool completely. Yield about 2½ dozen cookies, enough for 15 sundaes.

To prepare sundaes, crumble one cookie onto bottom of dessert dish. Top with a scoop of ice cream and about 1 tablespoon ice cream topping; sprinkle with one additional cookie, crumbled.

Individual sundaes may be made ahead and frozen. Assemble as directed above, using plastic beverage cups. Cover with aluminum foil; freeze several hours or overnight.

Enjoy vacation eating without crimping the diet

Whether you're headed to the beach or the mountains, on a cruise or a cross-country car trip, chances are good that the end of vacation will find you a few pounds heavier than when you began.

Can you beat the odds and end up with no vacation weight gain. Florine Mark of Weight Watchers says you can with some common sense tips and advance planning.

■ When driving, plan your meals as carefully as you do your route. Don't leave meal times to chance. Pack a cooler with fresh fruit, seltzer and juices or diet soda. Prepare sandwiches before you leave home. Low-fat yogurt is also a good choice for a cooler.

■ If you decide to stop along the road, use common sense. At diners, choose plain turkey or roast beef sandwiches, without mayonnaise. For breakfast, select cereals with skim milk, plan bagels with jam or jelly, or poached eggs on plain English muffins. Of course, if you stop at a place known for great pancakes, you can plan to enjoy them, and eat sensibly for the rest of the day.

■ At fast food restaurants, stick with plain, grilled chicken sandwiches, baked potatoes or salads with dressings on the side.

■ When you reach your vacation spot, decide each day where you will have each meal. If you can, prepare breakfast and lunch yourself. Then enjoy dinner out, but be sensible about portion sizes and high-fat choices. If you decide to enjoy a specialty of the house that's not usually part of your food plan, increase your activity the next day and make lower fat choices for your next meal.

■ Take advantage of local fresh fruits, vegetables and resort specialties like fresh fish and seafood. Try to enjoy these with a minimum of added fat.

■ Limit alcohol, particularly fruity drinks around the pool. These tend to be very high in empty calories.

■ If you are on a cruise ship, you'll soon realize that food is entertainment. Enjoy the sight of spectacular displays, but make your choices carefully. Decide whether something is worth the calories before you indulge. Remember to compensate for these choices with extra physical activity and lower fat choices at other meals.

■ If despite your best efforts, you return home a few pounds heavier, forgive yourself and get right back on your diet plan.

Dietitian gives answers to summertime questions

Here are some answers to nutrition questions from registered dietitian Karen Collins of the American Institute for Cancer Research.

■ When going out for ice cream, is soft serve always lower in fat than hard ice cream?

Soft serve products are often frozen yogurt or ice milk, considerably lower in fat than ice cream. But you can't count on it; ice cream can be made as a soft serve product, too.

Soft serve products are made with special combinations of ingredients and amounts of incorporated air to allow them to be served at higher temperatures than hard ice cream. Frozen yogurt and ice milk are great choices to enjoy frozen treats with less fat, and are available as both soft serve and hard products.

If you want a low-fat choice, ask about the identity of soft serve frozen desserts; don't just assume they're ice milk.

■ Is it safe to partially precook chicken in the microwave before grilling?

It is safe as long as you precook the chicken or poultry immediately before placing it on the grill. Partial cooking may not destroy all bacteria, and any surviving bacteria would find the temperature of warm food ideal for rapid growth. Since some bacteria produce toxins as they grow, a second partial cooking later on might still not make it safe to eat, and food poisoning could result.

■ Does it really matter whether summer fluid needs are met by water or by soda, juice and beer?

All drinks provide fluid, but other ingredients can change how our body handles it. Caffeine and caffeine-related substances, found in tea, coffee and many kinds of soda pop, are diuretics (substances that increase your body's elimination of fluids). Alcohol is also a diuretic.

High concentrations of sugar in regular soda pop and juice cause more body water to enter the digestive tract, which can also lead to dehydration when these drinks are the main source of fluid. While these beverages provide liquid, the total effect is that your body is not getting to keep as much as it seems.

All of the above drinks are fine for supplying some of your body's liquids, but do drink a few glasses of water, mineral water, or unflavored seltzer each day, too. A good way to get into the water-drinking habit is to alternate water every other glass with other liquids. Or if you're often on the go where bringing water is difficult, stick to water when you're home to balance things out.

Summer job seekers push unemployment rate up

Summer job seekers helped push unemployment rates up in all of Michigan's 10 major labor market areas in June, according to estimates compiled by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"June unemployment rates were up substantially in most areas," MESC Director F. Robert Edwards said in a press release. "Eight areas had rate increases exceeding a percentage point."

In the area composed of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Lapeer and St. Clair counties, the unemployment rate was 5.8 in June 1995, 4.7 in May 1995 and 5.5 in June 1994.

Among the state's major areas, Flint had the largest unemployment increase as its rate climbed from 6.2 percent in May to 7.9 percent in June.

The Upper Peninsula reported the smallest gain for the month as its rate edged up to 8.3 percent from 7.9 percent.

In June, the Ann Arbor area had the lowest jobless rate at 4.7 percent, while the UP had the highest rate.

"All areas but Lansing and Benton Harbor reported labor force increases as workers began entering the summer job market," Edwards said.

While work force levels rose, employment dropped in nearly every area. "Job losses among state and local schools with the start of summer vacation periods caused employment declines in most areas," Edwards said. "The losses offset seasonal employment gains in the retail trade and service industries."

Manufacturing employment was mixed with gains and losses around the state.

In the Detroit area, for example, short-term production adjustment layoffs in the auto industry resulted in manufacturing job losses.

The result was the largest unemployment rate increase among the major markets.

In the UP, seasonal hiring in retail trade, services and construction, along with manufacturing increases, caused overall employment to increase and reduce the impact of summer job seekers entering the region's job market.

■ 'June unemployment rates were up substantially in most areas.'

F. Robert Edwards
MESC Director

All of the areas had higher unemployment rates this year than they did in June 1994.

Supreme Court shuts door on repressed memory suits

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The Michigan Supreme Court has shut the door on "repressed memory" suits in an Oakland County case where a woman sued her father's estate, her mother and an aunt for what happened more than 50 years ago.

Justice Patricia Boyle's opinion said the statute of limitations protects defendants "from having to defend against stale and fraudulent claims." State law, Boyle added, gives a people a one-year "grace period after the disability is removed to file suit." Any change in the law is up to the Michigan Legislature, not the court, she said.

Bruce A. Lazar, Farmington Hills attorney who defended the mother and the estate, added, "If they (lawmakers) look at it, we will be heard." Because the Supreme Court decision was 7-0, there's not much the 58-year-old plaintiff can do in court any more.

House Bill 4518 would change the limitation period for sexual abuse cases but hasn't been adopted yet. At least 28 other states are considering extending the limitation period.

Marlene Lemmerman, the plaintiff, said she was sexually and physically abused by her father, the late Benjamin Fealk, and her aunt, Rachel Levy, for 10 years beginning in 1939. Lemmerman was 3 when the alleged assaults began. She charged her mother, Bella Fealk of Southfield, denied the allegations, took no action and even threatened her with scissors.

"As a coping mechanism, (Lemmerman) maintains that she developed a second personality who took her place during the abusive episodes" and repressed memory of the abuse, wrote Boyle.

On May 18, 1989, Lemmerman said she confirmed knowledge of sexual abuse by confronting her father, then a patient in a psychiatric hospital. She showed her father a childhood picture of herself and told him he "had done something very bad to this little girl." She said her father replied, "I'm sorry. I loved you so much. You were so beautiful — so intelligent." She said her father said he was sorry six times, according to Boyle's opinion.

Lemmerman said that after several months of therapy, she realized the sexual abuse wasn't her fault and could then seek a remedy in court. Benjamin Fealk died in May of 1990. Lemmerman filed suit May 18, 1990, a day short of one year after her father's alleged admission.

Oakland Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin dismissed the suit. Templin was reversed by the Court of Appeals, which said Lemmerman was within the one-year statute of limitations. The Supreme Court upheld Templin July 5 and is due to send a dismissal order this week.

Lemmerman is believed to have moved out of Michigan. Her Ann Arbor attorney, Lore Rogers, was on vacation and couldn't be reached for comment.

The high court also ruled in a similar Macomb County case. Attorney Lazar noted a rash of "repressed memory" suits around the country and great interest from television talk shows.

"As a general rule," Boyle wrote, "untimely filed tort claims are barred by the statute of limitations . . . A claim accrues 'at the time the wrong upon which the claim was based was done, regardless of the time when damage results.' . . . The statute of limitations bars plaintiffs' claims in the instant cases, absent some exception, because the assaults are alleged to have occurred some 40 to 50 years ago."

In a concurring opinion, Justice Elizabeth Weaver, joined by Dorothy Comstock Riley, noted the American Medical Association and American Psychiatric Association don't agree "on the viability and reliability of repressed memory syndrome."

Weaver called the syndrome idea a "still-evolving theory" and said it would be "unwise and premature to recognize the repressed memory syndrome" as a basis for a suit.

Grant to aid elderly, disabled

AP — Eight Michigan communities have been awarded grants totalling $840,000 for assistance for elderly and disabled public housing residents, Sen. Carl Levin said Wednesday. Benton Harbor, Flint, Inkster, Jackson, Livonia, Plymouth, Port Huron and Saginaw are among 193 housing authorities nationwide to receive money for service coordinators this year. The Michigan housing authorities will all receive $90,000, except Flint and Saginaw, which will receive $150,000. "In the wake of the deadly heat wave which took so many lives in the Midwest, this assistance is welcome news," said Levin, a Democrat from Michigan. "The coordinators who will be hired with this money gives residents of public housing the security of knowing someone is on hand to help them out in an emergency." The grants were awarded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to hire service coordinators responsible for assuring the elderly and disabled are linked to support services.

Our car loans are loaded with attractive features. The sticker price is a low 8.9% A.P.R. fixed rate for new cars, good for any available term up to 60 months.

Maintenance is low—you can apply toll-free by phone or visit any of our nearly 200 branches. And selection is high. This special rate also applies to RV and boat loans. We've lowered rates for used cars and used RVs, too.

We'll even throw in an additional 1/4% discount on any loan if you arrange automatic payment from a Michigan National Bank checking or savings account.

There's an important safety feature, too. The peace of mind you enjoy from dealing with a financial institution that's been around for more than 50 years. It's always nice to ride with someone you trust, don't you think?

Call now. Before these special rates hit the highway August 31.

1-800-CALL-MNB

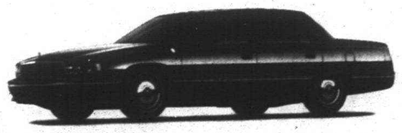

Michigan National Bank

*Applications must be received by August 31, 1995. Down payment requirements for a new auto 10%, new boat 15%, and 20% an RVs. Repayment terms vary depending on vehicle. For example, a $15,000 auto loan at 8.9% APR would result in 60 monthly payments of $210.65 in principal and interest. A $35,000 boat or RV loan at 8.9% APR would result in 120 monthly payments of $441.47 in principal and interest.

It's autumn 1995. The leaves are beginning to turn, nights are crisp, and public education just took a giant leap into the future.

THE FUTURE OF EDUCATION. RIGHT HERE. RIGHT NOW.

Located in the recently-closed Titus School building at Henry Ruff and Cherry Hill Road in Westland, the Monroe Developmental Academy will offer a quality tuition-free public education for children age 5-12. This 40,000 square foot facility will include before- and after school child care, recreation programs, and a full-service vision therapy clinic.

The Monroe Developmental Academy is Western Wayne County's First Public Charter School and Michigan's Largest Public Charter Elementary School. We're also a Member of the National Association of Quality Schools, an organization dedicated to improving the American Educational System to a world-class level. Our educational outcomes will surpass the Michigan State Board of Education's requirements for a Model Core Curriculum.

As parents, all we've ever wanted was a choice in our children's education. The opportunity to choose affordable, quality schools that will prepare our children for the realities of the 21st Century. Unfortunately, like many parents, we have found our hopes and dreams and energy consumed with neighborhood school closures, program cuts and an unresponsive public school bureaucracy.

Our situation isn't unique, but our opportunity is.

In September, Michigan's largest charter public elementary school will open in Western Wayne County. Each and every aspect of the Monroe Developmental Academy will focus on one outcome—meeting the needs of our children by providing a quality, world-class public education.

We would like to invite you and your children to become part of history.

For complete details and registration information, please call the Monroe Developmental Academy.

Exchange students need host families

People who match foreign exchange students with American families have long struggled with the phenomenon that host families tend to prefer girls to boys.

"In the nearly 14 years I've been working with exchange students, it never ceases to amaze me that there are always more families that want to host girls than boys," said Sue Franck of Nacel Cultural Exchange.

"What's wrong with boys?" Franck wonders. "My three host sons were terrific! I found them to be easy-going, flexible — delightful additions to my family. They got along with everyone, and were really fun to have around."

"Our 20 years of experience with Nacel confirms Franck's observations," said Evelyn Prince, Nacel's Michigan coordinator. "Year after year, we still have many boys to match with families after all the girls have been placed. Michigan families who volunteer to host these boys on short notice adore them and usually find that they are easier to host than the girls. In fact, many of the people who act as Nacel local representatives, and the families who host year after year, started with Nacel this way."

If you would be willing to host one of the 24 unplaced French or Spanish boys for four weeks beginning July 31, call Evelyn or Julian Prince at (810) 626-6641 or the Nacel's national office at (800) 622-3553.

Car raffle will benefit homeless animals

The purchase of a $2 raffle ticket gives area residents a chance to win a new Pontiac Sunfire and help homeless animals at the same time.

Second and third prizes are a 25-inch color TV and a cordless telephone.

The annual raffle, sponsored by the Michigan Humane Society, raised $34,000 in 1994 to benefit the organization's Cruelty Investigation and Rescue Divisions.

Tickets ($2 each or three for $5) are available at any of the three Michigan Humane Society locations in Detroit, Rochester Hills and Westland, and will also be sold during the two-day Animal Care Fair, to be held Aug. 26 and 27 at the Southfield Civic Center.

The raffle drawing will be Sept. 16 at the MHS Fall Mutt March, held at the Nankin Mills Station on Edward Hines Drive in Westland. You need not be present to win.

The Michigan Humane Society responded to over 6,000 complaints of animal cruelty last year, and rescued over 7,000 stray, injured and at-risk animals.

Proceeds from the raffle go directly to support these programs.

For more information, or to help the MHS sell raffle tickets, please call 313-872-3400.

■ The raffle drawing will be Sept. 16 at the MHS Fall Mutt March, held at the Nankin Mills Station in Westland.

Take a turn at the plate to help heart association

Tigers fans may stand at home plate in Tiger Stadium and try to hit a home run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 24, for $500.

The event will consist of teams of four individuals each.

The teams will compete against one another to see who can hit the most home runs.

Pitching will be done by a machine. Each batter gets 15 swings.

Entry is limited to the first 50 teams that sign up. Registration fee is $500 per team.

Proceeds benefit the American Heart Association.

For more information, call (810) 557-9511.

Madonna learning center accepting fall applications

Madonna University's Learning Center is accepting applications for enrollment in the fall term, which runs Sept. 18 to Dec. 7.

The tutorial sessions are designed for pupils in grades 1-12 who have trouble reading. Individual or group sessions, consisting of two pupils, are available.

Participants meet weekly on whatever day is most convenient: 4:30-5:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday, or 4:25-5:30 p.m. Thursdays.

Costs include a $20 registration fee, an $85 assessment fee and $168 for group sessions, or $204 for individual sessions.

Call (313) 591-5180.

At Standard Federal, getting the lowest mortgage rate is a lock.

RATE LOCK or LOWER

No matter what mortgage rates do next, you can get the lowest Standard Federal interest rate possible with our unique Rate Lock or Lower feature.

If you're thinking about buying a home, or refinancing your current mortgage, you've probably been keeping an eye on the recent drop in mortgage interest rates.

You can make interest rate changes work to your advantage with Rate Lock or Lower at Standard Federal. When you apply for a mortgage or for refinancing, Rate Lock or Lower not only locks in your interest rate at the time of application to protect your rates from going up – it also guarantees you that if our interest rates have gone down by the time you close, you get the lower rate while your Lock or Lower commitment is in effect. (Rate Lock or Lower not available on certain No-Point/No-Fee Mortgages.)

That's right – you get the rate at the time of application or at the time of closing – whichever is lower.

By getting the lowest rate possible, you could save cash every month over the course of your mortgage. That's why now is the time to talk to Standard Federal about our unique Rate Lock or Lower opportunity. Give us a call at 1-800/643-9600 or stop by your neighborhood Standard Federal Banking Center today.

Davey gets promoted

Tom Davey, a 1991 Plymouth Salem graduate and a pitching prospect in the Toronto Blue Jays' farm system, recently received a promotion from the Class A team in St. Catherine's, Ont., to the Class A team in Hagerstown, Md.

Davey, who attended Henry Ford Community College for two years, was 4-3 with a 3.32 earned run average and 29 strikeouts in 38 innings with St. Catherine's, the Blue Jays' lowest Class A team. He won his first start with the Hagerstown Suns, the second of three Class A teams in the Toronto system.

Call her coach

Sarah Ruete, another 1991 Salem graduate, has been hired to coach the freshman girls' basketball team at Hemlock HS, located just west of Saginaw.

A tri-captain on last year's Saginaw Valley State women's basketball team, Ruete injured a knee at the start of the season and received a medical redshirt. Now a fifth-year senior studying occupational therapy, Ruete is still undecided whether or not to use her final year of eligibility at SVSU.

Her coaching career will begin in the fall at Hemlock HS.

Flat rock results

Westland's Steve Cronenwett took sixth and brother Tom Cronenwett added an eighth in the American Racing Club of America 30-lap late model feature race July 22 at Flat Rock Speedway.

Joy Fair of Pontiac won the race, sponsored by Metro 25 Tire Centers 150.

Canton's Mark Sherrard was a heat champ in the ARCA Street Stock event.

Upset win

The Western Wayne Wildcats 11-and-under girls basketball team didn't come back from their trip to New Orleans for the AAU National Championships without several memorable moments.

The greatest is easy to figure: the 'Cats' 50-49 comeback win over the Oklahoma Sooners in their first game of the tournament.

The 'Cats trailed by 15 points at the half, but a full-court press brought them back. Then, with eight seconds left, Jenna Van Wagoner hit the game-winning shot.

What made the win more remarkable was that the Sooners were 45-0 prior to the loss. It didn't stop them in the double-elimination format — they went on to claim the national championship.

The 'Cats were 4-3 for the tournament, finishing 18th out of 53 teams. Team members are Kaie Kelly, Jenna Van Wagoner, Angela Neu, Dawn Allen, Becky Kowalski, Summer Smith, Angela Strong, Heidi Zalvalney and Marie McLeaghan. The team is coached by Marsha Kowalski, Pat Kelly and Dave Van Wagoner.

Hoff, Lukasik earn high marks at soccer camp

By C.J. Risak
Staff Writer

Opinions differ, that's certain — which is to be expected. But anyone bothering to keep a tally on such things must note that Michigan's success placing players in the Olympic Development Program's regional girls soccer pool is superb.

For the second-straight year, Michigan boasted the largest number of qualifiers among the 13 states (and 14 teams — Ohio has two teams) to the four age-group teams. A total of 25 players from the state were selected for the regional pools at the U.S. Youth Soccer Association's Midwest Regional Camp, held July 6-16 in DeKalb, Ill.

Each state sent a team of 18 players (Ohio sent two) in each of the four age groups (born in 1981-82; 1979-80; 1978; and 1976-77), making a total of 252 players per age group trying to make the regional pool. Players were selected to their state team pools in a process that began last August.

Those from the state that were chosen to the Midwest regional pool (a group of 30 field players and four keepers) included 17 from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area.

In the '76-77 age group, reigning Class A state champion Birmingham

Marauders squash Britannia, 9-0

After the disappointment of the previous week, this game was good for only two things:

- The release of an awful lot of frustration;
- A ticket to the next round of the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League playoffs.

The Marauders needed both, badly. Just a week before Friday's playoff opener — a game the Marauders completely dominated, posting a 9-0 victory over AFC Britannia at Livonia's Jaycee Park — they played poorly at Jaycee Park and ended up losing for the first time this season by a 3-0 score to Bud Light of Flint.

They followed that with another loss to Bud Light, this time in Flint and this time by a 3-1 margin. In each, the Marauders managed to miss a penalty kick, adding insult to injury.

Last Friday against AFC Britannia, the offense continued to struggle, although the final score wouldn't reflect it. The Marauders led just 2-0 at the half; they misfired on scoring chances throughout the match.

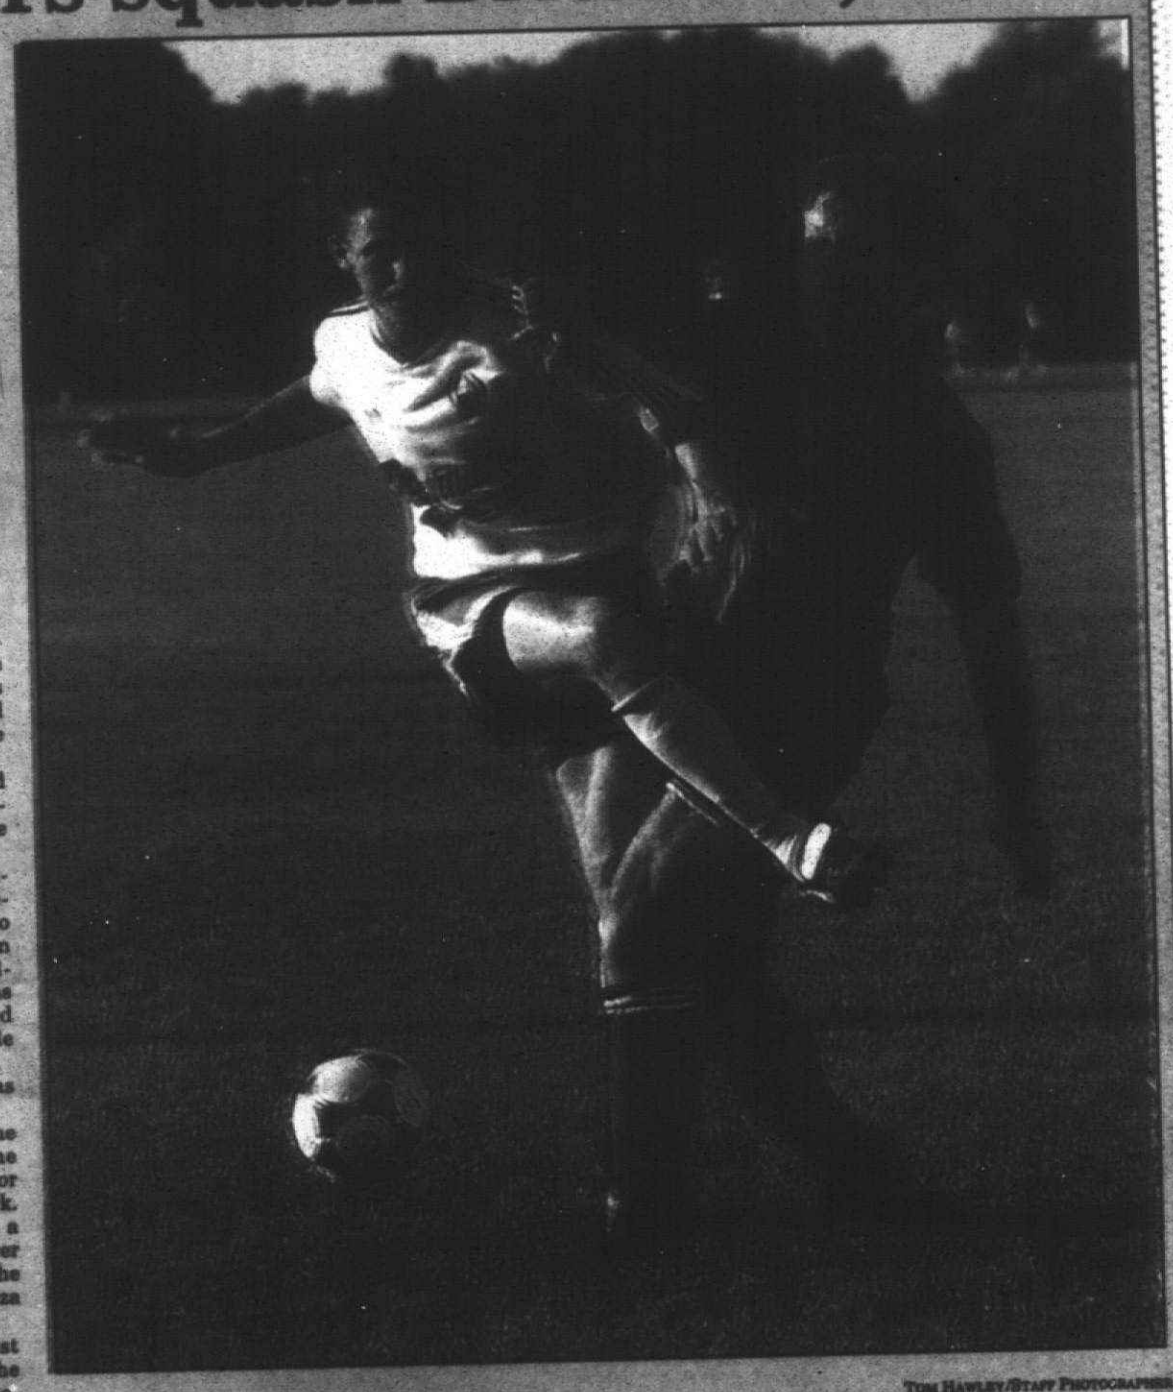

But Britannia, which finished near the bottom of the league's second division, could not match the Marauders' overall talent.

Bob Hayes (from Livonia Franklin) and Lars Richters (Livonia Stevenson) each scored two goals to lead the Marauders. Brady Ericson (Livonia Churchill), Paul Kaliszewski (Stevenson), Jeff Thomas (Stevenson), Brian Thiel (Redford Catholic Central) and John Gentile (Churchill) each put one in the net.

Kal Kaliszewski (Stevenson) was in goal for the shutout.

The Marauders advanced to the league's second round in the playoffs, meeting the Ann Arbor Hattricks yesterday at Jaycee Park. The Hattricks advanced with a come-from-behind 2-1 win over O'Connell Friday at Jaycee, the game-winning goal scored by Reza Sadjadpour as time expired.

Should the Marauders get past the Hattricks, they'll move to the league semifinals against an opponent to be determined — perhaps a rematch with Bud Light. That game is tentatively set for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Jaycee.

Late rally lifts Decision

By Steve Kowalski
Staff Writer

Decision Consultants pitcher Mike Borkowski didn't feel so inspired after letting Michigan Honig's take a 3-2 lead in the top of the seventh inning of Friday night's Livonia Collegiate Baseball League first-round playoff game.

Jim Jacobelo/Staff Photographer

But his spirits changed in a hurry after hearing the other end of the DCI battery was positive.

"I said 'We're going to get you two (runs) right here and get you the win,' " said DCI catcher Brian Hicks (Garden City/Redford Catholic Central), repeating the conversation he had with Borkowski in the dugout at Livonia's Ford Field. "I told coach (Mike George) 'This is our game.' "

The conversation proved to be prophetic as DCI rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh to beat Honig's 4-3 and make Borkowski the winning pitcher. Midseason addition Luke Bonner pitched the final two innings to earn the save.

The win moved DCI, the second seed, into the winner's bracket of the LCBL playoffs which were decided Sunday. See Thursday's Observer for results of the Saturday and Sunday games.

Borkowski scattered five hits, walked three, struck out three and allowed only one earned run. DCI had four errors behind the big right-hander from Eastern Michigan University, including a two-out error on a grounder hit by Jason Rice that led to Honig's go-ahead run in the seventh.

Andy Hood followed with a single and the next batter, Todd Sweet, hit an 0-2 pitch for a single to drive in Rice with the third run.

"Mike came off the field upset because he gave up an 0-2 hit (to the ninth hitter)— he didn't say anything about the error, and that's a sign of a mature pitcher," George said. "The key was Mike didn't have great stuff, and we didn't do a good job defensively, but he pitched on guts."

DCI started its winning rally in the bottom of the seventh with a lead-off walk to Jeff McGavin. Honig's coach Ed Hood chose to replace starting pitcher Joe Bailey with Chris Hesse and the first batter he faced, Kurt Wilczynski (Madonna Uni-

Finesse captures state crown

Finesse won three straight games to capture the U.S. Slo-pitch Softball Association Michigan State Championship July 15-16 at Liberty Park in Sterling Heights.

Now 27-7 overall on the year, Finesse will travel this weekend to Atlanta, Ga., for the USSSA World Tournament.

Finesse took the state title by defeating Michigan Sports (11-5) and the Mid America Mustangs of Canton twice (9-7 and 12-2).

Outfielder Jenny Woody (Garden City) batted .636 with a team-high seven hits and seven RBI.

Jenny Bauer (GC) added six hits, while Marci DuPont (Plymouth Canton) went 5-for-6, including a pair of doubles, with a team-high .833 batting average.

Pitcher Melissa Bako (GC) gave up only three earned runs in the opener, while Kristen Zabalavicius (Eastpointe East Detroit) won the final two games.

Other Finesse members include Jackie Bayliss (Westland John Glenn), Cassie Entsminger (Canton/Livonia Ladywood), Jenny Kruzel (Ypsilanti), Kristy McDonald (Redford Thurston), Megan Brady (John Glenn), Billie Jo Cavallaro (Walled Lake Western), Jennifer Trott (Plymouth Salem) and Stefanie Volpe (Salem).

The team is managed by Bill Martin. His assistants are Tommie Walker and Bill Eskew.

Injury can't keep runner from victory

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

For most of 1993 and '94, Kerry Barnett wondered if he'd ever run a competitive race again after suffering a fractured kneecap.

"I fell on the ice . . . skating," said Barnett, who won the eight-kilometer Roadrunner Classic July 22 in Northville, one of the metro area's biggest road races, in 24 minutes, 20 seconds. "I took out my neighbor's kids and said, 'I can do this,' but I found out the hard way.

"I split my kneecap in half. I came back very slowly. I didn't take a step for a year. I started out jogging a mile in my rehab."

Barnett, 35, who resides in Saline, was a late entry into the event, which attracted over 1,000 runners.

"Sharon Springer (one of the race officials) knows my wife and she had heard I was doing pretty well competing," Barnett said. "I got a complimentry entry and it worked out kind of nice."

Barnett set the pace throughout the five-miler, staying ahead or even with Ann Arbor training partners John Sherer (24:37), Pat Lenceoni (24:40) and Rich Stark (24:52).

"I prayed a lot the last two miles, especially when you have guys like that stalking you," Barnett said. "I always tried to be in the lead, or right with the leaders. I was trying to get away from them."

Barnett eventually pulled away and gained great satisfaction in winning. He was able to finish 17 seconds ahead of his friend Sherer.

"The competition was pretty stiff," said Barnett, who is a technical research program project manager for NCMS of Ann Arbor. "And the course, from my perspective, was fairly tough. A lot of turns and some long hill stretches.

"But it was a great race and the people who ran it treated me just wonderful."

Barnett is a graduate Pontiac Central High and ran collegiately for Western Michigan University.

"I went to NCAAs a couple of times, but it was not a stellar college career," Barnett said. "I missed qualifying (by provisional time) for the '84 Olympic Trials by less than a second.

"I'm not training for the Olympics or anything. I try to take things low key and have fun, and they (his training partners) do, too."

This weekend, all four runners will head to Howell for the state 5K championships.

Meanwhile, Ann Arbor's Laurel Park, who repeated as Roadrunner women's champ, is eyeing an Olympic Trials shot.

She covered the 8K course under Saturday's humid conditions in 27:38, only five seconds off her personal best.

"I thought the course was tougher," said Park, alluding to the course changes this year. "The first mile was very fast, but the second mile was uphill and it didn't give you a good chance to get into a good rhythm.

"But I'm pleased. Plus, it's such a fun race."

Park is gearing up for the Bobby Crim, a 10-miler on Saturday, Aug. 26 in Flint. She also plans to run a half-marathon the first weekend in October.

The second woman overall was former Livonia Stevenson High standout Bridget MacKinnon, who finished in 29:33.

MacKinnon, who broke a personal best by over a minute, will be a sophomore this fall at DePaul (Ill.) University.

Clinic has young outlook

STEVE KOWALSKI

It was easy for some to show their age during a free clinic given Thursday by tennis great Jimmy Connors and Prince prior to the start of the Mentadent Champions Tournament at The Fairlane Club in Dearborn.

Let's count the ways.

■ Some participants used a two-handed style because, frankly, that's the only way they could hold a racket as big as themselves.

■ When it came to granting their first-ever interviews with a reporter, two little girls proved they didn't tell a taxi driver how to find this place.

"What city are you from?" they were asked as they waited in line to return a volley over the net.

Melissa Stokoski, 5, just shrugged her shoulders.

"Michigan," said the other girl who was too busy to give her name or age.

■ One of the participants, tiny Sophie Judson, got tired of the heat and climbed into the arms of Prince sales representative Tom Judson, who happens to be her father.

Most of the children were between the ages of 7 and 12, but it never gets old watching preschoolers learn a game for grown-ups.

Free clinics are a part of every stop on the 35-over Champions Tour, which is modeled after the Professional Golf Association's Seniors' Tour. Last weekend's tournament was the third of 11 scheduled on the Champions Tour, which began in 1993 with only three events.

It grew to eight last year and could expand to as many as 20 events by 1998.

Connors, the No. 1 seed who won a record 120 singles titles, including eight Grand Slam events on the regular tour, is the perfect role model for young players.

The 42-year-old left-hander helped start the Champions Tour and cares about the future of his sport which has become dominated by big hitters, especially on the men's regular circuit.

Getting a few tips from Connors is even more worthwhile than watching him play a seniors match against his longtime rival on the regular tour, Bjorn Borg.

Each of the participants also went home with a prize, which was either a T-shirt, water bottle, hat or poster. They also were granted a discount on a ticket for the first night of the tournament.

"Kids are what the game is all about," Connors said. "Ours is an alternative style to the boom, boom (hitting of the regular tour). We keep the ball in play, move around and use the whole court to our advantage."

Dearborn's Manny Fonseca, a 16-year old who works at the club, acted like a kid in a candy shop both at the clinic and during the tournament as a ball boy. By Thursday evening he already got 11 of the 12 players to sign their names in Magic Marker on his gray shirt.

Redford Thurston's Jaclyn Lillis also got to rub elbows with the stars as a ball girl.

"I've got everybody's autograph but Johan Kriek and that's only because I haven't gotten to him yet," said Fonseca, who wasn't worried about the autographs washing away. "I've got Permanent Marker in my pocket."

Instruction also came from Jessie Oberoi, a 24-year-old graduate of Garden City High who is a professional instructor at Fairlane.

Oberoi played three years of varsity tennis at Garden City, making all-league his last two years. To find an accomplished tennis player from Garden City is rare, of course, because most of the tennis courts in his neighborhood were a place for weeds to grow not kids to hang out.

Oberoi started taking tennis lessons in the eighth grade at the Dearborn Indoor Racquet Club.

Teaching youngsters the game is nothing new for Oberoi, who began giving lessons at the Indoor Club before moving to the Fairlane Club last year.

He remembers a particular 4-year-old who wasn't able to hit a ball, let alone return one over the net on the first day. Improvement came in big doses, however.

"It was inspirational to see him rally back-and-forth," Oberoi said.

'Waterworld' has thrills amidst the silliness

■ REVIEW

Long before shooting concluded, Hollywood insiders branded the movie "Fishtar" and "Kevin's Gate." They reported on the bad weather, ego trips, and massive script changes that pushed the budget to $175 million, making it by far the most expensive movie ever made.

Forget for a moment that Kevin Costner is among the screen's blandest actors. Tell yourself that plot isn't that important in an action movie. Tilt your head just right, squint a little with one eye open and you may actually have a good time at "Waterworld."

Long before shooting concluded, Hollywood insiders branded the movie "Fishtar" and "Kevin's Gate." They reported on the bad weather, ego trips, and massive script changes that pushed the budget to $175 million, making it by far the most expensive movie ever made.

Part of Costner's problem had to do with his character, The Mariner, who fights for survival in a world where melted polar ice caps have covered the planet in water. Costner, who also serves as co-producer, thought his cold fish character would turn audiences off, so adds bits that make him a more sensitive, '90s kind of guy.

You might say you're in trouble when the first shot of the entire film is Costner's posterior, even if he is urinating into a device that provides him with precious drinking water. Amazingly, there are none of the bare butt shots that audiences come to expect from a Costner picture.

For the most part, Costner swashes and buckles effectively, deftly operating his Rube Goldberg-style sailing ship while fleeing from the movie's jet ski-riding villains, called Smokers. They're led by Dennis Hopper, whose eye patch-wearing baldie is over-the-top even by his standards.

"Waterworld" is essentially "Mad Max" with the ocean standing in for the Australian outback. Visually it has a limited palette of muted browns and blues (when the weather cooperated) that can grow pretty dull after while.

Director Kevin Reynolds offers sweeping shots of The Mariner surveying the horizon high above the mast, but doesn't hold our interest during the slower scenes. Had he stuck to his guns (or better yet hired another actor) The Mariner could have been an action hero to contend with, silent and steely-eyed like Clint Eastwood and without all the mush.

Fortunately much of the budget went into the action sequences, some of which are astounding. At first his shipmates don't understand why the Mariner drags behind the boat with a harpoon gun until a monster fish takes a gulp at him and he blasts it from the inside.

The Mariner has webbed feet and gills behind his ears, allowing him to swim like a dolphin and breathe underwater. In one of the movie's few romantic moments that isn't incredibly corny, he provides the heroine with underwater mouth-to-mouth while Smokers' bullets whiz by.

After the liberating effect of Linda Hamilton in the "Terminator" movies, it's hard to watch a heroine who just sits there while the guy does all the work. The main reason for Helen (Jeanne Tripplehorn) and her young charge Enola (Tina Majorino) is to soften the Mariner and create a post-nuclear family.

If Hopper hasn't chewed up all the scenery, you can savor the details, like The Mariner's gadgets and treasures (paper is a valuable commodity in the watersoaked future) or the rusted hull of the Exxon Valdez where the Smokers make camp. In slower scenes you can take in the costumes, which appear fashioned from fish skins or castaway rubber.

Another clever bit occurs even before the credits roll, as the Universal logo (the earth as seen from space) transforms into a world of water.

Kevin Costner

Though hardly worth 175 mil, this might be worth the price of matinee admission. On a hot summer afternoon, after you've seen most everything else, c'mon in. "Waterworld's" fine.

"Crumb" (USA - 1994). Aug. 4-6 (call for showtimes). Another amazing documentary that didn't get the attention of last year's Oscar, this fascinating, disturbing portrait of cult cartoonist Robert Crumb defies all expectations. Director Terry Zwigoff has been a friend of the reclusive Crumb for years, yet he doesn't let his obvious respect keep him from exploring the artist's troubling darkside. The most unforgettable moments occur during interviews with Crumb's disturbed brothers.

Horse-set family has 'Something to Talk About'

Warner Bros. and Spring Creek's "Something to Talk About," a comedy-drama starring Julia Roberts, Robert Duvall, Gena Rowlands, Kyra Sedgwick and Dennis Quaid and directed by Lasse Hallstrom opens locally Friday, Aug. 4.

The story follows Grace Bichon King (Roberts), a contemporary

■ When she learns that her husband has been unfaithful to her, Grace suddenly steps back and examines her hustle-bustle life from a new perspective — for the first time she asks herself what she wants from her life, and many changes ensue.

"Something to Talk About": Eddie (Dennis Quaid) and Grace (Julia Roberts) in a new comedy-drama coming to theaters Aug. 4.

■ PREVIEW

Southern wife and mother who works for her family's horse-breeding farm, volunteers for the local charity league and, generally speaking, does all the things expected of her by her family and friends. But when she learns that her husband Eddie (Quaid) has been unfaithful to her, Grace suddenly steps back and examines her hustle-bustle life from a new perspective — for the first time she asks herself what she wants from her life, and many changes ensue.

She reconsiders her traditional Southern-gentry family — her strong-willed father, Wyly King (Robert Duvall), who has built a horse-breeding empire by making sure his word is law — her gracious, genteel mother, Georgia (Gena Rowlands), who has quietly acquiesced to Wyly's will for decades — her feisty sister, Emma Rae (Kyra Sedgwick), who's the one person in the family who sees things as they really are — her young daughter, Caroline (Haley Ault), already an experienced horsewoman, but determined to ride a challenging, bigger horse in an upcoming competition — and, of course, her husband, Eddie (Dennis Quaid), Grace's college sweetheart, whose gradual disenchantment with their marriage has been all but invisible to Grace, until now.

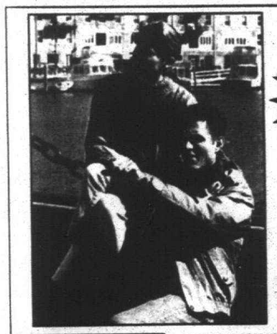

Julia Roberts' early credits include a co-starring role in the HBO film "Baja Oklahoma." She received critical acclaim for her role in "Mystic Pizza," then won the coveted role of Shelby Eatenton in "Steel Magnolias," leading to the first of her two Oscar nominations. Her next film, "Pretty Woman," was the top-grossing film of 1990 and brought Roberts her second nomination, followed by a series of hit films including "Flatliners," "Sleeping With the Enemy" and "Dying Young." Roberts then starred in "The Pelican Brief" with Denzel Washington and "I Love Trouble," and appeared in Robert Altman's "Ready to Wear."

Robert Duvall won the 1983 Academy Award as Best Actor for "Tender Mercies," after receiving Oscar nominations for his work in "The Godfather" in 1972, "Apocalypse Now" in 1979, and "The Great Santini" in 1980.

He received a Golden Globe as best actor for his performance as Gus in "Lonesome Dove" and was honored again with the same award for his portrayal of Stalin in HBO's "Stalin."

Duvall made his big-screen debut in "To Kill A Mockingbird" as the mysterious and misunderstood Boo Radley.

Produced by Paula Weinstein ("Fearless") and Anthea Sylbert ("Overboard"), "Something to Talk About" is directed by Academy Award nominee Lasse Hallstrom from an original screenplay by Callie Khouri. Academy Award winner Goldie Hawn is the executive producer.

LINDA BACHRACK

It's back to school and all that's cool

Believe it or not, tomorrow is Aug. 1 and the month usually evokes thoughts of back-to-school. Time to start pondering book bags, lunch boxes, school supplies and that all-important "first day of school" outfit.

If, like most moms, you're looking for affordable and stylish clothing for the kids, check out your nearest Target store. You've probably seen Target's fashion commentator, Corbin Seitz, on Oprah, Regis and Kathie Lee, and the Today show where she spotlights seasonal trends and provides tips for wardrobe-building on a budget. Yes, those great-looking clothes are actually in the stores and if you've only shopped Target for household needs, you should browse through the kid's department this month.According to style consultant Seitz, the "must haves" for back-to-school include jumpers, floral-print granny dresses, bright-colored artic fleece skiwear, denim vests, flannel shirts, thermal henleys and pleated, cuffed trousers for guys and gals. Clothe the kids in these hot trends for less that $30 an outfit.

And just how do you make the back-to-school shopping excursion an easy and positive experience for the whole family? Seitz says planning is the key.

Plan and plot

Spend some time with your children looking in their closets. Discuss what they like to wear and why. "Chances are you'll hear words like comfortable, favorite color, and in style," says Seitz. Focus on those points, so that you won't end up with clothes that just hang in the closet. When kids have favorites, they'll wear them to death.

Jot down a list of the items they really need. And, remember to keep the day loose and unstructured. Eat when you're hungry, rest when you're tired. Plan a fun diversion, like a few minutes in the video arcade or a quick game of putt-putt.If your back-to-school shopping tradition includes a trip to Jacobson's, (Rochester Hills, Birmingham, Livonia and Dearborn) you won't be disappointed with their selection of denim and rayon challlis jumpers by Jonathan Martin ($40), cute denim scooter skirts ($17), and red plaid and denim "skirtalls" (overall styling with a skirt instead of pants, $45). In addition to ever-popular denim outfits, look for fleece pullovers in red and black buffalo checks ($62), flannel workshirts ($24), rugbies ($44) and trendy Tommy Hilfiger sweatshirts ($48) and backpacks ($58).

Other views

At Loretta Lorion, 3620 W. Maple in Bloomfield Hills, new fall trends include sporty techno-fleece separates, flannel, thermal-weave cottons, pretty floral print dresses, denim with faux-fur collars and cuffs and corduroy jumpers.

Adina Ungar of Oak Park was shopping with her mom and younger brother when she eyed a smashing red cotton floral dress by Plum Pudding, smartly trimmed in corduroy ($60). "I love flowered dresses and skirts for school," she said. A black corduroy jumper with a striped thermal top by So Fun also caught her eye ($62).

Among the season's best picks is a pink plaid flannel dress with a cotton thermal-knit bodice ($64), a long flannel zip-front tunic top over blue leggings ($48) — and zippers are IN, leather jackets with faux fur collars, and great yellow slickers with corduroy collars, flannel cuffs, shiny metal hooks and a matching hat ($40).

Jos. A. Bank drops its lines for women

Citing falling sales and the move towards casual business dressing, this very traditional retailing and manufacturing firm, has decided to drop its women's lines and expand its collections for men.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Jos. A. Bank Clothiers has decided to dump its womens' fashion division and concentrate on retailing men's business attire by years end.

Customers at both metro-Detroit stores in downtown Birmingham and Laurel Park Place in Livonia, bemoan the decision and have taken to writing protest letters to the company's headquarters in Hampstead, Md.

"Ugh! Where am I going to get my business suits from now on?" Jan Wilson of Troy demanded of ladies department manager Hilda Fischer in the Birmingham store. "I get so many compliments on these clothes and people think I've spent $500 on a suit when I've only spent $250."

Fischer said Wilson's reaction is typical. Women are upset.

"We offered great fashion value to the professional working women — lawyers, bankers and such," she said. "This is especially bad for downtown Birmingham. Now, when our ladies department is gone, where can a woman shop for business clothes in Birmingham except for Jacobson's or Redwood and Ross."

Janice Hayes, a spokeswoman for Jacobson's said she was "disappointed" to hear the news.

"We hate to see anyone go out of business because a good retail mix benefits us all," she said. "But what affect if any, Jos. A. Bank's decision to close its women's divison will have on Jacobson's sales, well, it's too early to tell."

At Laurel Park Place, spokeswoman Susan Azar said the mall is sad to see the women's line of clothing go, "but the store will be expanding the men's line and adding big and tall selections."

Fischer said all fall/winter clothes for women will come in at 25-percent off, likewise merchandise from the catalog. The store in downtown Birmingham will be used as a clearance center as Jos. A. Bank's ladies departments around the country close-out.

Livonia Mall prepares for auction, concerts

Why wait for the holiday season to pick up some unique gifts for loved ones? Autographed celebrity items will go to the highest bidder, throughout the day on Saturday, Aug. 19 at the Livonia Mall — and all proceeds benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Who on your list would like an arrow signed by rocker Ted Nugent? A RoseAnn script autographed by its television star? A film poster signed by Forrest Gump himself? Or a baseball cap and glove autographed by a Tiger?

Mall marketing director Bill Checks said merchandise donated by top personalities in the worlds of film, recording, sports, books, and politics, has been arriving at the shopping center since April. It will go on display throughout the mall a week before the sixth annual auction.

Checks still needs local celebrities to donate services and merchandise to fill out the auction menu. The bidding lasts from early morning to midnight. Refreshments and entertainment help make the event a family affair, so volunteers are needed to work on a variety of tasks the day of the auction.

If you're interested in helping the mall raise money for Jerry's Kids through the Muscular Dystrophy Association, please call Checks at (810) 476-1166.

Where can I find?

We've almost been stumped!

Just two calls came in to help Helen Watt of Redford's search for a doll buggy for her granddaughter in an exact replica of the Silver Cross English Pram Baby Buggy from Great Britain.

One caller suggested she forget the metro Detroit market all together and instead try Sarnia or Windsor for the British influence.

Another caller, Kathleen Finch of Birmingham, said she has "a gorgeous Royal Pram" for sale from her own collection, bought many years ago for her children by special order from Hudson's. She's willing to sell it to Helen. Phone numbers were exchanged.

Here's the next challenge:

"My boyfriend and I are Michigan alumni in search of local New York and/or Mediterranean-type delis similar to the Ann Arbor ones like Zingerman's and Amer's. Do any exist in Wayne and Oakland county? We've gone to the phone book but the listings give no indication of what the deli is like or what's on the menu. Any recommendations would be immensely appreciated! Thank you." — Lisa Rigg of Livonia.

If you know where Lisa can find such delis, please give Malls & Mainstreets a call at (810) 901-2567. We'll print your responses! You can fax an answer to (810) 644-1314. Or write Where Can I Find, c/o The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009. New shopping challenges are also welcome through these avenues. Thank you!

Neon Man Loves Soccer

Mall fun: Laurel Park Place will host the Detroit Neon Soccer players from 1-3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 5, as they offer tips and autographs to young fans in the Parisian Court. A cardboard replica of team mascot Neon Man will be used as a goalpost during a kids kick competition at 2 p.m. The event travels to Wonderland Mall on Aug. 26 from 1-3 p.m. Free water bottles to the first 200 fans.

Retailers can submit announcements of upcoming events and promotions for Added Attractions. The deadline is the Wednesday before publication on Monday. Send the facts to: Malls & Mainstreets, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009. Or fax to: (810) 644-1314.

Big Band Boom

Also at Livonia Mall, The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra strikes up on stage near Crowley's, Thursday, Aug. 3 from 5:30-8:30 p.m. This free concert is an encore appearance for the musicians who entertained hundreds of shoppers last year. "They were dancing in the aisles," one mall official said. "It was heartwarming — and not all the fans in the audience had grey hair!"

On Saturday, Aug. 5 "The Munchkin Talent Contest" takes place at 11 a.m. on stage near Crowley's. Local children will compete with acts that range from song-and-dance numbers to magic shows.

Families will want to visit the American International Circus when it takes to the mall's stage Aug. 18-20. Free performances Friday at 2,4 and 7 p.m. Saturday 11 a.m. 4 and 7 p.m. and Sunday noon, 2 and 4 p.m.

New to Twelve Oaks

Origins opens: From the Lauder Cosmetic Co. comes Origins, a 5-year-old upscale, ecologically-conscious line selling total well-being through items priced $1-$200. Although some Hudson stores have Origin boutiques, this freestanding store at the mall in Novi is the first of its kind in Michigan. It's on the second level, upstairs from The Body Shop and H2O Plus, stores with similar merchandise and concerns.

■ CO-ED PASTA SPIRIT

The Village Barn in Franklin proudly introduces pasta in the shape of college logos, and packages of "Team Spirit" — spice blends to add to sauces and olive oil. Gift shop owner Sandy Barr said she discovered the fun food on a recent buying trip in Atlanta and immediately ordered some U of M pasta M's, and Michigan State Spartie green pasta packages. She's selling 6-ounce pasta bags for $3.50 and the spices for $2.50.

"Notre Dame pasta is on the way," she assured. The college pasta business is owned by a young couple from Tennessee.

By the way . . . get ready for the Village Barn's annual sunrise sale, 8-10 a.m. on Aug. 19. All merchandise (except Christmas stuff) is reduced 30 to 50-percent to clear the way for fall items.

■ LAUREL PARK NEWS

Nine West opened at Laurel Park Place in Livonia with a full line of shoes, boots and handbags for women according to manager Kristin Smith. Other new stores set to open include Mrs. Field's Cookies and the Genghis Khan Mongolian Restaurant.

■ SHOPPING SPREE WINNER

Milton Stearn of Southfield won a $250 shopping spree from Tel-Twelve Mall by entering a random drawing contest during the mall's sidewalk sale days. When asked how he would spend his windfall, Stearn and wife Bertha said, "We're thinking of getting either a refrigerator, an electric stove, or possibly a car phone." Or they just might treat their granddaughter to a back-to-school wardrobe.

For best color photography: Barb Dreher of Southfield, Frank McIsaac of Lake Orion, Deanna Navarre of West Bloomfield, Diane Patterson of Dearborn, Mort Henick of Troy, Samuel Prisk of Livonia and Bob Longshore of Dearborn.

■ SHOE OUTLET OPENS

Wonderland Mall introduces the grand opening of the Baker Shoe Outlet in the Montgomery Wards wing. Prices on shoes, hats, and handbags run $3.77 to $9.77.

■ SHERRI'S TRUNK SHOWS

Leathers by Toby, Aug. 3-11 and Knits by Roberta, Aug. 4 and 5, will be available for viewing and special orders at Sherri's of West Bloomfield in the Orchard Mall, Maple and Orchard Lake roads. On Aug. 11 and 12 see the exclusive collection of gowns and dresses by Steven Yearick. For special occasion silk suits, dresses and gowns by Miri Couture, shoppers should stop by Aug. 18 and 19. Call for hours and more details, (810) 626-7470.

■ RETAIL INDEX MIXED

Michigan retailers reported mixed sales results for June. Although nearly half increased sales from a year ago, a growing number of retailers worked hard just to keep pace with 1994 figures according to Larry Meyer, chief executive officer for the Michigan Retailers Association.

Meyer said May's numbers had shown a sharp and welcome turnaround from April's sluggish figures. During unseasonably chilly April, only 41 percent of retailers reported increases from a year ago and 45 percent reported declines. Two-thirds of members said they expect year-to-year sales to increase during July, August and September.

■ LOCAL DESIGNERS SHOW

Objects of Art hosts a Wearables Show, Aug. 3 through Sept. 9 at 6243 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Shoppers will find one-of-a-kind silk scarves, whimsical vests, practical purses, handpainted separates and knitwear. Call for more details (810) 539-3332.

■ SOCCER SHOP KICK-OFF

Soccer Corner West opens Aug. 4-6 with specials and promotions to mark the event at the southwest corner of Five Mile and Newburgh in Livonia. Co-owners Jan Callaway of Livonia and Jerry Parent of Canton, will hold drawings for Adidas balls, Reebok bags, and other soccer merchandise. Call the shop for more details, (313) 432-0222.

■ ACCOUNT AWARD

Anderson Paint Company of Livonia and Ann Arbor has been named Maxum Ultimax Account of the year for 1994 by Premier Coatings of Elk Grove Village, Ill., manufacturers of Maxum coatings and paints. This is the second year in a row the company has received the award for selling a new acrylic house and trim paint for aluminum, vinyl and wood siding which can be applied in temperatures as low as 35 degrees.

"There will be some great buys for women as we liquidate," Fischer said.

Company president Tim Finley said the decision to close the women's operation is part of the company's long range plan based on several recent factors.

"The women's apparel business has been down the last few years," he said. "And the switch to business casual has hurt our sales because we manufacture and sell very tailored, traditional clothing. The suit is our core. Our business is also 85-percent mens and 15-percent womens, yet we give 28-percent of our floor space up to women's clothing. We're expanding our mens' department will sportswear separates so we need that extra floor space."

Findley said men will appreciate the Jos. A. Bank fall catalog which is bigger than ever before, and filled with barn coats, khakis, turtlenecks and mock turtlenecks, as well as the company's regular line of suits.

Models sought

Nicole's Revival, a designer resale shop, will host training seminars for anyone who hopes to become a model. For more, details call (313) 729-7171.

There are no height or weight requirements and the program is open to all ages.

Retail Realities

The Jewelry Information Center in New York reports that the men's jewelry market has been growing 25 percent annually since 1985. It is now a $2 billion market. These days, 25-percent of all karat gold jewelry sold in the U.S. is for men!

The renewed popularity of French-cuffed shirts brought the return of the cufflink, according to the JIC. Cufflink sales have risen 15-percent annually over the past seven years. One indication of the popularity of cufflinks as wearables and collectibles is the existence of a National Cufflink Society which publishes a monthly newsletter and holds a national convention.

Feedback sought on SMART service

By Ralph Echtinaw
Staff Writer

Members of the Wayne County Transit Authority are expected to meet at 8 a.m. Friday, Aug. 4, at Wayne City Hall to finalize plans for SMART service expansion and changes.

Residents are welcome to attend the meeting and make comments or suggestions regarding SMART bus service.

Plans have been nearly finished to alter and expand bus service since voters in communities throughout Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties approved a 0.33-mill, three-year property tax for SMART in May and June.

Although the WCTA has no formal authority regarding SMART routes, SMART officials must keep WCTA members happy if they want support in getting the SMART millage renewed in 1998, said Wyandotte Mayor Jim DeSana, a WCTA and SMART board member.

Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara has agreed not to make changes in Wayne County without WCTA's blessing, said SMART General Manager Michael Duggan, who is also McNamara's chief deputy.

"We view this authority as the local communities' authority," Duggan said.

"None of us are satisfied with the way SMART has operated in past years," said WCTA member Ruth Canfield, who is mayor of Dearborn Heights.

So far, though, SMART is doing everything it promised to do before the millage vote, said Redford Township Supervisor Jim Kelly.

Here is a list of proposed changes in SMART service in the Observer zone. All of them are expected to be in place by Dec. 1.

- Weekday and Saturday service on Telegraph Road from Southland north into Oakland County.
- Creation of major hubs at Westland, Fairlane and Southland malls and Metro Airport where multiple routes will converge on facilities to accommodate transfers between routes.
- Service on Warren, Ford and Cherry Hill roads, currently dubbed "Westland-Detroit," will be changed to Route 240 Cherry Hill, Route 250 Ford, and Route 260 Warren. On these routes, there will no longer be direct service into Detroit, and all buses will be 29-footers, as opposed to the 40-foot buses currently in use.

Route 250 will be reconfigured to go along Ford to Mercury, Hubbard and Fairlane.

Route 260 Warren will discontinue service in northeast Dearborn.

- Route 265 Westland/Wyandotte will discontinue service to Dearborn, to be replaced with all-day Warren 260 Service.
- Weekday service between Westland, Redford Township and Livonia is planned with 29-foot buses. The exact route hasn't been decided yet.
- Route 285 Middlebelt will be switched to 29-foot buses and extended north to the Farmington Hills campus of Oakland Community College.
- Route 300 on Grand River will have extended weekday service hours in Redford Township.
- New service will be added from Bishop Borgess High School at Plymouth and Telegraph in Redford Township to Laurel Park Place mall in Livonia.

Expanded service is also planned in Oakland County and Macomb County.

Also, the transit subsidy SMART gives to each community has been doubled or tripled for communities that are members of the WCTA.

Livonia's municipal credit subsidy rose from $77,300 to $154,600.

Redford Township's subsidy rose from $41,700 to $83,400.

Westland's subsidy rose from $65,000 to $130,000.

Garden City's subsidy rose from $24,400 to $48,800.

Municipal credits for Canton Township ($43,700), Plymouth Township ($18,100), and Plymouth ($7,300) are unchanged because those communities are not part of the WCTA.

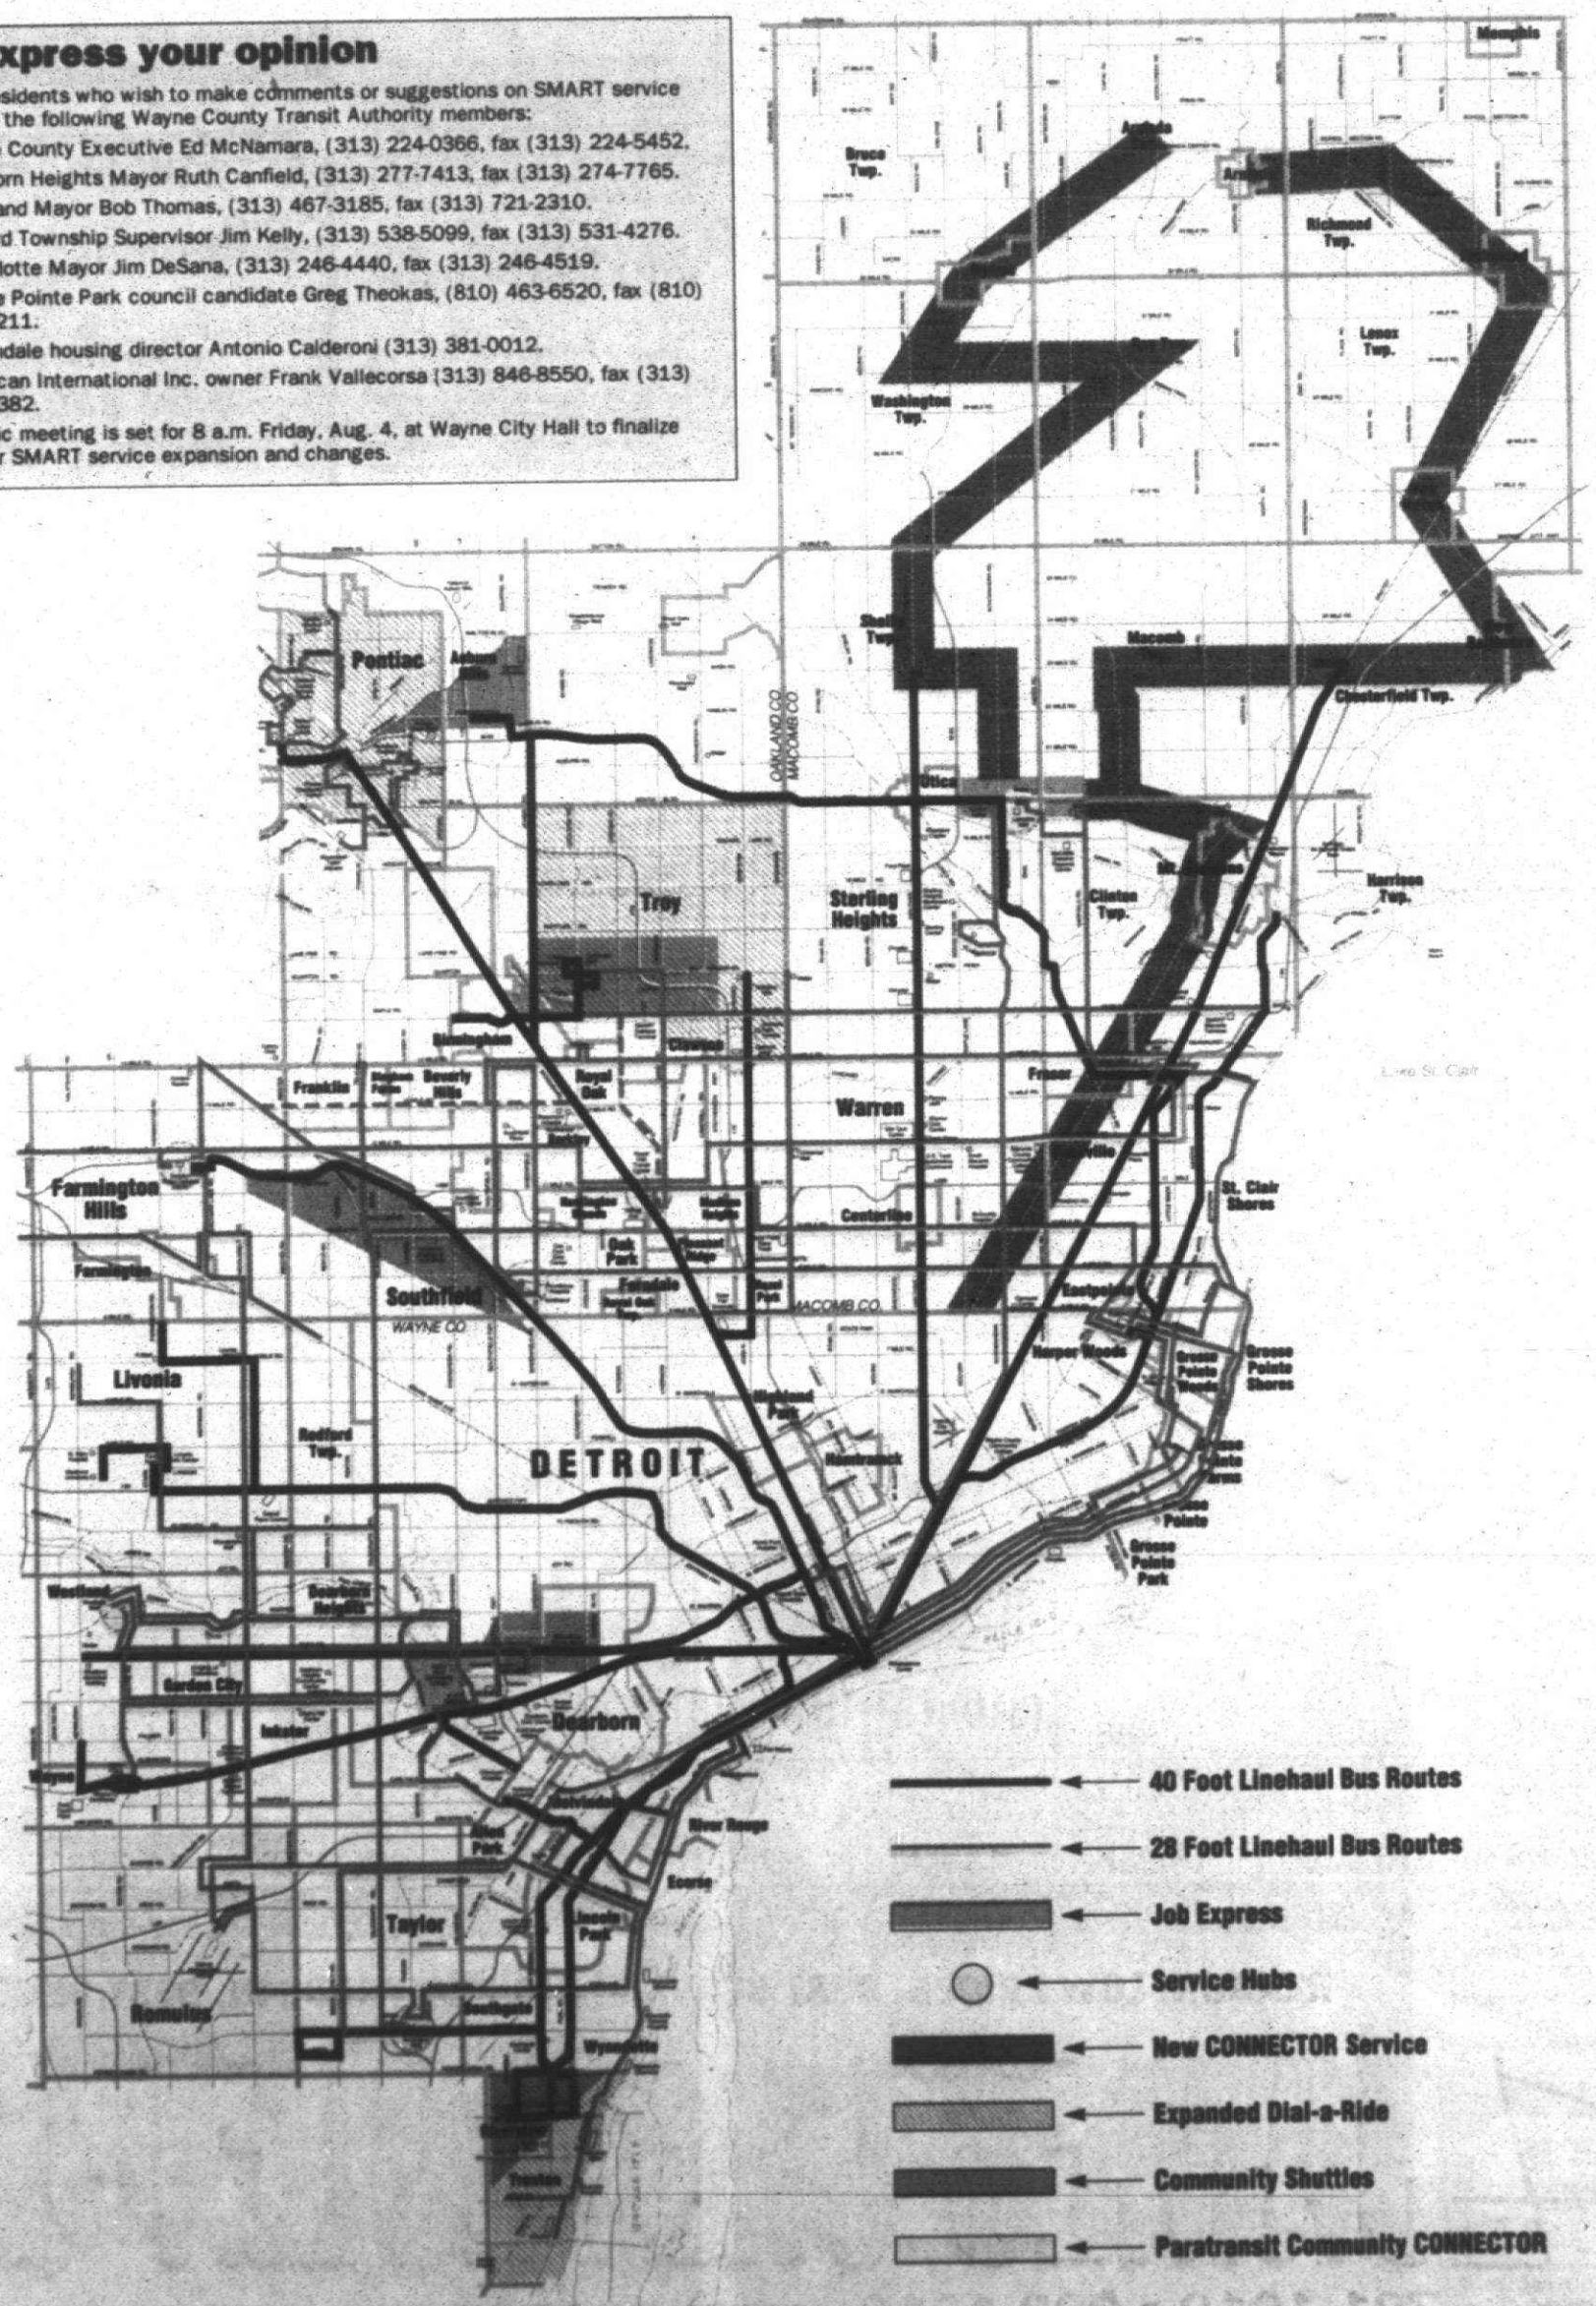

PROPOSED SERVICE PLAN

To express your opinion

Area residents who wish to make comments or suggestions on SMART service may call the following Wayne County Transit Authority members:

- Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara, (313) 224-0366, fax (313) 224-5452.
- Dearborn Heights Mayor Ruth Canfield, (313) 277-7413, fax (313) 274-7765.
- Westland Mayor Bob Thomas, (313) 467-3185, fax (313) 721-2310.
- Redford Township Supervisor Jim Kelly, (313) 538-5099, fax (313) 531-4276.
- Wyandotte Mayor Jim DeSana, (313) 246-4440, fax (313) 246-4519.
- Grosse Pointe Park council candidate Greg Theokas, (810) 463-6520, fax (810) 463-6211.
- Melvindale housing director Antonio Calderoni (313) 381-0012.
- American International Inc. owner Frank Vallecorsa (313) 846-8550, fax (313) 846-3382.

A public meeting is set for 8 a.m. Friday, Aug. 4, at Wayne City Hall to finalize plans for SMART service expansion and changes.

Montero sport utility redefines luxury

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

What's the difference between a minivan and a sport-utility vehicle?

The minivan has juice box holders.

If you're someone who refuses to buy a boring, functional minivan to haul your family around town, take a look at the sporty, rugged, fun-to-drive — and, yes, functional — 1995 Mitsubishi Montero.

The Montero sits high off the ground ... as a powerful sport utility should. Venture to say you could find yourself in 3 feet of mud and muck and probably still pull the Montero through it.

No mistaking this sport utility can do it, either; it's got Mitsubishi's own Active Trac 4WD system that allows shift on the fly at speeds of up to 62 miles per hour. That means you can shift from 2-wheel-drive to 4-wheel-drive (both high and low) by little more than shifting a floor-mounted lever.

You could also use the all-wheel-drive mode (4H) all the time, on any road surface. There is a caveat in the owner's manual however, that continuous use of 4H may cause quicker wear and tear on the 4WD system as well as premature wear on the tires.

In the 2WD mode, the Montero's synchronized clutch lets the front differential freewheel, providing optimum fuel economy. That means keep it in 2WD and you'll get good mileage. And that's really what you want in a vehicle this big.

Estimated gas mileage is 18 mpg in the city and 25 on the highway. Not bad for what amounts to a large truck.

The Montero easily fits seven people seated in all positions. It accommodates four large adults (that means infant and toddler seats are a snap to use and in a pinch another kid could fit between them) in the forward leather seats. The front seats are buckets, but the second set are bench seats with enough room, realistically, for three people.

In back of those are two basic seats — complete with belts for two other passengers. Those seats are easily removable, or can fold down, for increased cargo space, which is a more practical use.

The Montero is available in two trim levels: The basic LS and the luxurious SR, which was tested.

The Montero LS is outfitted with a new 3.0-liter single overhead cam 24-valve engine that provides 177 horsepower (168 horsepower in California). The SR is equipped with a powerful 3.5-liter double overhead cam V-6 engine introduced last year. That engine provides 214 horses.

A four-speed automatic transmission is standard on both models. There are three settings on the transmission that can fit a variety of driving moods — power, normal and hold. Power increases rpms during gear shifting, and hold is for low-traction surfaces like ice, mud and snow.

Instrumentation is easy to read and provides much more information than you really need — but it's really neat — like, oil guage, compass, voltimeter and outside temperature readouts. Those sit well with the analog clock. There are even a couple of 12-volt auxillary outlets in the front and rear of the vehicle.

And just in case you run into any trouble, the Montero has a portable emergency lamp and a cargo tool box with a flashlight.

Montero LS and SR are both equipped with four-wheel power disc brakes. ABS is an option. Standard on the LS is a driver's-side airbag, adjustable driver's and passenger's shoulder belts, air conditioning, remote keyless entry, power windows and door locks, cruise control, AM/FM cassette stereo, power-assist steering, 15-inch H-rated tires mated to alloy wheels, a full-size spare tire with lock, spare tire cover, headlamp washers, leather-wrapped steering wheel, power sunroof, rear window wiper/washer/defroster and child door locks.

The SR model adds a warm and cozy leather and wood trim package, adjustable shock absorbers and chrome wheels.

Whew! That's a lot of stuff on a 4WD, maybe more than you'll ever need. It all comes with a mighty pricetag of $34,625 base on the LS; the SR is $38,171.

Yep, it's expensive. But the Montero has Lexus-like comfort, ruggedness of a 4WD and versatility of a minivan or pickup truck. If you can afford it, it's worth the money.

Experts List Brake Trouble Symptoms

Raybestos/Brake Parts, Inc. (BPI), is a full-line manufacturer of brake parts with over 28 facilities across North America, including seven manufacturing plants in Canada and three in Mexico.

Since it began doing business in 1902, Raybestos/BPI, a division of Echlin, Inc., has become the largest brake supplier in the replacement market and a leading supplier to the original equipment market," according to Kevin Judge, Vice President of Marketing.

As a leading manufacturer, one of Raybestos' primary concerns is that consumers are aware of and understand the importance of brake safety.

The brake system is the single most important safety feature of any passenger vehicle. It is critical that proper procedures and preventive maintenance be performed regularly to avoid not only costly, but in some cases, life-threatening, brake system failure.

It is the responsibility of the technician to make sure that the results of a brake inspection are fully explained to and understood by the consumer before any service is performed. The condition of the brake system and components will indicate what service or part replacement may be required or suggested.

"The problem that we typically find is that consumers don't know the warning signs of a worn or damaged brake system, so they do not seek help. Also, if they do have their brakes inspected they are unsure about the recommended procedure," Mr. Judge said.

Mr. Judge offers consumers common warning signs and some guidelines to follow when considering brake service.

- Squeal - some noise is normal, however, excessive grinding, squeal, chatter or screeching should be investigated.
- Vibration - a vibration felt while the brake is applied may be due to rotor imperfections, tires out of round or worn brake hardware components.
- Low pedal - if almost touching the floor before activating, the pedal may need minor adjustment or more extensive repair.
- Hard pedal - extreme pressure needed to make brakes function may be a result of power brake trouble, frozen calipers or wheel cylinders, restricted hydraulic lines or damaged brake linings.
- Grab - brakes that grab with the least amount of pressure may indicate a simple problem such as contaminated linings or a more serious problem which could result in brake failure.
- Pull - if the vehicle pulls to one side when the brakes are applied, the brakes may be misadjusted or malfunctioning.
- Brake warning light - the light indicates that the parking brake is being applied or that a serious drop in hydraulic brake pressure has occurred.

It is recommended that a vehicle's brake system be inspected by a certified technician at least once a year, or every 8,000-10,000 miles. If driven in heavy traffic it should be inspected every six months.

Raybestos is committed to helping consumers understand the brake system and the important role it plays in safety. Through this commitment, Raybestos offers a consumer hotline. By calling 1-800-4RAYBESTOS — 1-800-472-9237, consumers have access to technicians who can answer any questions about the brake system or where to have Raybestos brakes installed.

Raybestos and Racing

Since the early 1950's, Raybestos has used auto racing as a forum to showcase and test its products. Raybestos' involvement in racing has allowed it to provide better products to the consumer.

Raybestos has been a major sponsor on the NASCAR Winston Cup Series since 1989. Today, Raybestos supports NASCAR driver Jeff Burton, 1994 MAXX Race Car Rookie of the Year, and SCCA Trans-Am driver Dorsey Schroeder with Tom Gloy Racing.

Additionally, Raybestos is the "official racing brake" for the Ford Motorsports division and has supplied the brake parts to every winning car in the Indianapolis 500 since 1957.

"Raybestos feels that auto racing provides an excellent way for consumers to become more aware of the Raybestos brand and to see how our brakes perform in action," Mr. Judge commented.

Auto racing allows Raybestos/BPI to test its components under extreme conditions. These rigorous testing environments enable BPI to create superior products on the track that can be applied to the product line and passed on to the consumer. Raybestos feels that if its products perform at speeds in excess of 200 mph, then they will perform on the family car.

Company Background

Raybestos/Brake Parts, Inc. manufactures over 95 percent of the product it sells. All of these braking components are manufactured within BPI's six manufacturing divisions:

- Hydraulics Inc. — disc brake rotors, brake drums, wheel cylinder assemblies, clutch slave assemblies, clutch and brake components, parking brake components, speedometer and tachometer cable assemblies, rubber components for master cylinders, and calipers.
- Friction Inc. — friction components for new and remanufactured brake shoes, loaded and bare disc brake calipers, and new riveted disc pads.
- Distex Inc. — molded disc pad assemblies, disc brake pucks, steel stampings for disc pads, drilled and bonded brake shoe linings, and rotor and splined hubs.
- Echlin Mexico — disc brake components and brake shoe linings.
- Continental Hose — hose assemblies and fittings including brake, air brake, clutch, power steering, and marine hose assemblies, as well as steel lines and hydraulic brake fittings.
- Neelon Casting, Ltd. — brake drums, disc brake rotors, damper components, flywheels, valve housings.

Combined, these six groups manufacture 35 different product lines, providing customers with the most complete line of quality brake parts in the industry.

Raybestos/BPI's commitment to being a full-line brake manufacturer is paralleled by its commitment to providing its customers with training and technology to support this diverse product line.

In 1995, Raybestos will open its state-of-the-art tech center at its corporate headquarters in McHenry, IL. The 45,000 square-foot facility will be available to all Raybestos customers for technical support and training.

"Raybestos/Brake Parts, Inc. is dedicated to servicing its customers in every way from an extensive product line to training, marketing, and sales support," Mr. Judge concluded.

Vehicle Often Safest Port in a Storm

Driving after dark through a violent thunderstorm can be a nerve-racking experience. Even with the best of headlights, defrosters and windshield wipers, it's best to get off the road.

Unless you can find shelter in a well constructed building you'll probably have to stay in your vehicle. The danger of being struck by lightening still looms. What to do? Park in an open area, if possible, away from trees and power lines until the storm passes over.

If you're on the shoulder of the road turn on your emergency flashers. Because you're shielded by metal, your vehicle is one of the safest places in an electrical storm. If lightening does strike you may have the scare of a lifetime but you probably won't be injured.

Your car may need a new paint job, however, and more! If hailstones don't damage the finish, the lightening can sear the paint right off the metal, not to mention what it can do to the various electronic components.

Another hazard: downed power lines. If one should hit your car, starting a fire, open the door and jump as far as you can from the vehicle. NEVER TOUCH THE GROUND AND THE CAR AT THE SAME TIME. If there is no fire, your best bet is to stay in your vehicle and wait for help.

Bad News/Good News

What do you do when you wake up to find your car or truck waist deep in flood water? Drain everything, dry it out, put in fresh fluids and get on with your business, says Tom Mayberry of Angleton, Texas. He did just that in the fall of '93 after this photo (courtesy Houston Post) was taken and, he reports to the Car Care Council, his pick-up now is about to roll over 100,000 miles.

Not all flood victims are able to come out of their situations this well. Typically, an owner's first reaction is that his vehicle is totaled. Sometimes that is the case, but because vehicles are designed to withstand the elements, many parts are unaffected by water and others can be repaired.

Don't be too quick to "write it off", suggests the Council. Damage assessment and procedure usually requires an expert opinion and, needless to say, consultation with your insurance agent.

Things You Auto KNOW!

True or False?
Tire pressure 8 pounds low can cause up to a 5 percent drop in gas mileage.

True!

The reason:
Increased rolling resistance.

Oh Say, Can You be Seen?

How often have you had to brake suddenly with another driver right on your tail? Your eyes dart to the rearview mirror, hoping he'll see your brake lights in time.

But what if your brake lights aren't working properly? There's better than a 50/50 chance they're NOT, according to figures from a survey by American Automobile Club of Cleveland, OH. They found 55% of vehicles checked had brake lights that needed some kind of repairs. This was by far the most prevalent mechanical discrepancy found during a Car Care Clinic.

Bob Knop, manager of the Club's Approved Auto Repair Department, which conducts the clinics, says most problems were found with the third brake light, generally because of a burned out bulb.

Our Subconscious Response to Lighting

"We've grown to depend on lighting to signal our intentions," says Jack Oliver, Manager for the G.E. Automotive Lighting Division. "We respond almost subconsciously to fellow motorists' turn signals, brake lights or emergency flashers. It's a form of communication as vital to driving as road signs and center lane marking. When they're missing we're unaware of the danger ahead."

Another common lighting problem, according to Oliver, is found on vehicles with four light systems with separate units for high and low beams. Because the high beam lamps are replaced less often the lens is subjected to years of abuse from pebbles and other road debris. Eventually hair-line cracks develop and moisture works its way inside, corroding the reflector. The unit may appear to be working OK but it is not putting out as much light as it should.

Lights on for Safety

"Some day it may be widespread practice in the U.S., as it is in Canada and Sweden, that headlights be turned on whenever the car is driven. It's a proven safety measure and already is the law in the U.S. on two wheeled vehicles where lights automatically turn on with the ignition switch. Obviously, they are more visible to other drivers," says Oliver.

"An Avis traveler safety study showed vehicles with daytime running lights (DRL) had a better accident record than vehicles not so equipped."

But lights are worthless if they are not working. Oliver emphasizes. All exterior lights should be checked periodically, not only for burned out bulbs and flashers but also for poor illumination of headlamps due to damaged reflectors.

The best way to check your system is to have one person turn on the lights, the emergency flashers and turn signals and apply the brakes while someone else walks around the vehicle to see that everything is working.

It's also a good habit during every gas fill-up to check for dirt (and ice) on all lenses, front and rear. To help maintain cleanliness you can apply a glass treatment such as RAIN X™ to help repel rain, sleet, and snow.

Proper Headlight Aim is Important

At one time or another most of us have been blinded by the glare of oncoming headlights. You flash your high beams to signal the oncoming driver to dim his lights. He responds by turning on his high beams, indicating it was his low beams that had been blinding you. They were aimed too high.

Are you sure your headlights are not blinding others? Here, from G.E., is the recommended way to check headlight aim.

1) Put your car on a 35-40 foot stretch of flat or evenly sloped pavement such as a driveway facing a wall or garage door.

2) Shine your low beams on the door from 2 to 3 feet away and outline the bright spots on the door with a pencil or tape.

3) Back the car to about 25 feet from the door. The top of the low beams should shine no higher than the top of the marks on the door or lower than the center of the marked circle. If your vehicle has four headlights the center of the high beam (the inner or lower two lights) should align with the top of the low beam marks. If you have only two headlights, the high beams are automatically aimed when you aim the low beams.

For most accurate aiming take your vehicle to a professional. If, on the other hand, you're a "do-it-yourselfer", follow these instructions from G.E.:

Remove the outer trim for access to the adjustment screws. To raise the beam turn the top adjustment screw clockwise; counter clockwise to lower the beam. Turn the side adjustment screw clockwise to move the beam to the right and counterclockwise to move it to the left.

Bring each beam into its final position by turning the adjusting screws clockwise so the headlamp will be held against its tension springs when the operation is completed.

If your lights continue to be out of adjustment, consult a service technician.

Is Your Car Ready for a Vacation?

The joys of spring! Doing those home and garden chores you've put off until the weather broke. Suddenly it's summer and you realize your faithful car has been deprived of attention, still running on dirty oil and aging spark plugs. It's filthy inside and out, including the cooling system.

Two reasons for maintenance neglect are the popularity of self-service gas pumps (which leaves under-hood checks to the driver) and lack of understanding of what checks and services need to be done periodically.

Systems and components usually requiring seasonal attention include:

Cooling system
- Flush, drain and replace antifreeze.
- Test, inspect and replace needed parts.

Engine
- Diagnostic and tune-up services as needed.
- Oil and filter change (check all fluids).

Tires/wheels/brakes
- Rotate and inspect tires.
- Balance and check alignment.
- Inspect braking system.

Vision
- Replace/aim headlights.
- Replace worn windshield wiper blades.

Appearance
- Clean and polish/wax exterior.
- Clean interior, repair/replace damaged or worn fabrics.

Pay Attention to Boat or Camper Tires

Anyone towing a boat or camper dreads the thought of having to leave it parked on the side of the road because of a flat tire or damaged wheel bearing. The abandoned trailer is highly vulnerable and precious recreational time is lost. So, if trailer towing is in your plans for this summer, heed this reminder from the Car Care Council: high speed driving puts an extra burden on small trailer tires and wheel bearings. Here's why:

A small wheel turns at about triple the speed of a standard wheel. On a 2,000 mile trip it may have traveled the equivalent of 6,000 miles or more at speeds the equivalent of 200 mph!

Also, a common cause of failure on recreational vehicle tires is "dry rot" due to exposure to the elements over a long period of time. They deteriorate from age rather than wear.

Inspect tires carefully, looking for cuts, bruises and signs of deterioration. Replace tires in marginal condition.

Check tire inflation frequently and include the spare. Despite the greater vulnerability of these tires, spare tires on boat and camper trailers are often found to be flat or otherwise useless. In fact, these trailers often have no spare tires at all.

Boaters take note: Boat trailer tires and wheel bearings are especially vulnerable because of repeated immersion on the launching ramp; rubber is easier to cut and wheel bearings are susceptible to rust. Clean and repack them at least once a year with a good grade of marine type of bearing grease.

If boat trailer tires are wearing unevenly, check the trailer frame alignment. U-bolts projecting from the axle can become hung up on protruding rocks or other underwater obstacles, pulling the frame out of alignment.

Keep in mind that you're less likely to hear the thumping of a bad tire or the whining of a dry wheel bearing when you're cruising down the road with windows closed, stereo and air conditioner turned on.
