Historic preservation questioned

A tussle is developing in Canton Township over spending on the renovation of an old house. A lone Canton trustee voted against additional money, contending that enough is enough. Preservation supporters argue that history pays off.

BY JEFF COUNTS
STAFF WRITER

What price history?

That's the question that Canton Township Trustee Robert Shefferly is asking about the renovation of the historic Travis House.

"We've already spent about $1 million on the renovation of three old schools. How much more are we going to spend?"

Shefferly was the lone vote on Aug. 8 against more Travis House spending when the issue came before the Canton Township Board.

The Travis House, which is under renovation, is on Ridge Road just north of Cherry Hill. It's in the Cherry Hill Historic District, which includes the renovated Cherry Hill schoolhouse.

Shefferly voted against the latest expenditure on the house, which will hit about $225,000 by the time it's done. He contends the figure is higher, probably about $250,000.

Supervisor Tom Yack told the board the recent request for $9,750 is in the budget and that more material instead of labor is needed to finish the task.

According to township figures, $113,837 has been spent on the home's move to the site and ongoing renovations. For the 1994-95 budget, $97,812 has been budgeted for work on the home's exterior and $25,000 for interior work.

However, Canton Trustee Melissa McLaughlin, who is a member of the Canton Historic District Commission, said that $50,000 of that money came from a State Equity Grant and $50,000 from the Historic Distric Commission. She voted for the spending.

Also, she explained that much of the money to renovate three one-room

Pilot to keep flying

BY JEFF COUNTS
STAFF WRITER

It was a different world. The stock market was booming and about to bust, and there weren't any jet airplanes.

It was 1927 and Charles Lindbergh had just crossed the Atlantic on a solo flight to Paris in the Spirit of St. Louis.

Lindbergh's description of the flight came crackling across a crystal set radio and into the southwest Detroit home of Orlo Maxfield.

"That description inspired me to fly. I was a kid at the time and listening to him," said Maxfield, 76, of Northville, whose restored 1948 Funk is based at Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport.

The love of flying is still alive in Maxfield and he recently received a trophy with a statue of his hero, Lindbergh, on it for his plane at the well-know Oshkosh Air Show in Wisconsin.

"It made me feel real good to get the trophy with Lindbergh on it. He's the guy who inspired me," Maxfield said.

The plane is always getting curious glances, Maxfield said.

"I'm only the second owner. I bought it in 1968 from the Funk brothers. It was 10 years old at the time and had been used as a factory demonstration," he said.

At one point during the years he has owned the craft, it was mothballed for about three years.

"I've got seven kids and there were other priorities," he said.

The restored Funk wasn't his first. He harbored a love of flying through the 1930s during which time Maxfield attended Henry Ford Trade School and became a tool engineer.

Residents air concerns about solicitors

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you don't want solicitors bugging you at your home, there's something you can do about it.

"If anything looks suspicious to them, they should call police," said Gerri Svec, Canton Public Safety administrative assistant.

The Canton clerk's office and police have received plenty of calls lately from homeowners complaining about groups or organizations that are sending — in most cases — young people door-to-door to sell products, such as magazines and candy bars.

"This week it has been really bad," Connie Roessler, deputy clerk, said Aug. 10. "People are calling and saying they have had these people come back three or four times."

Residents are reminded that the township can take action when it comes to people or organizations who are peddling, canvassing or soliciting. Under township ordinance, anyone who sells a product in Canton must be licensed by the township. This includes the familiar ice cream vendor. Those who are licensed are required to carry identification on themselves and in their vehicles.

Licensing requirements do not apply to nonprofit organizations and those referred to as interstate commerce companies, which take orders for products that are then shipped from outside the state to homes. This includes companies selling magazine subscriptions.

Regardless of license requirements, all solicitors must comply with the ordinance, such as soliciting only between the hours of 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.; solicitors 12 years of age and younger must be accompanied by an adult; and solicitors younger than 17 years of age must have a state permit.

Some of the homeowners' complaints have targeted a charity that uses teens to sell boxes of candy. "They usually stay in a hotel if they are not local from Detroit," Roessler said. "The teen-agers are left at a subdivision and picked up later for lunch and then they are driven back to a subdivision and picked up at the end of the day. They are basically unsupervised."

If problems arise with the nonprofit groups and their solicitors, the groups can be called and informed of the problems, Svec said. But homeowners must contact the police or the township.

Putting up a "no soliciting" sign on a window or door of the house is the best thing a homeowner can do. If a solicitor then refuses to comply, the police may be contacted. The same goes if a solicitor who has been asked to leave, refuses.

"But the resident has to sign a complaint," Roessler said. If homeowners observe solicitors breaking the law, they should also call the police.

Anyone who wants to confirm whether someone is licensed should call the clerk's office, 397-5467. Residents who have a concern about a specific solicitor or organization should call police.

Young families get help finding clothes for kids

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Cheryl and Hozefa Shamsher don't have children. But they know plenty about children's clothes.

"We don't have any kids. Isn't that wild?" said Cheryl, who with her husband, Hozefa, owns the new Once Upon A Child children's clothing and equipment resale shop in the Harvard Square shopping center.

The Canton residents opened the store in June and having been going gangbusters in Canton, which the couple says is a community full of families with young children.

"We have moms coming in right now and they are thinking about winter clothes," Hozefa said.

The Shamshers say the success of their business is based on the cost of new children's and babies' clothing and the fact that kids grow out of their clothing pretty fast.

"With the prices right now, people just don't want to pay it," Hozefa said. In a department store a Baby Dior outfit might cost about $20 or more. At their resale shop, a mom could buy the same outfit for $6-$8. A new crib at $400-$600 would cost maybe $200 at the resale shop.

Once Upon A Child offers clothing sizes 0 to 14. But the store also offers used cribs, high-tech strollers, car seats and toys. "We check all the recall lists. We don't buy anything that isn't safe." The Shamshers also won't take clothing that is stained or has unsafe beads or other decorations.

The most popular name brands are Oshkosh, Guess, Gymboree, Baby Dior, Carter's, Health Tex and Lord & Taylor. "Cost and quality is the issue," Hozefa said.

To help, Cheryl and Hozefa have employees — such as Shelby Lepper and Angela Fluckes, both of Canton — who are moms and thoroughly know babies' and children's clothing.

Hozefa's mom, Khadija, is in from India to help with the store as well. His dad, Saify, has already returned home.

Cheryl and Hozefa came to open the store in a roundabout way. Cheryl

Rain definitely drenched the more than 120 golfers who participated in the annual Canton Chamber of Commerce Men's and Women's Golf Outing Aug. 8.

"It all went pretty well," said Linda Shapona, chamber executive director. "The first nine holes were wet. The second nine holes were dry."

The outing at Fellows Creek Golf Course was a fund-raiser for Special Olympics. Prizes were awarded in various contests throughout the day. The following golfers walked away as winners:

- Closest to the pin: Dave Painter, Mary Ann Lynch.
- Straightest drive: Tim O'Rourke, Brenda Walker.
- Crooked drive: Jerry Jobbitt, Barbara Doyle.
- Longest drive: John Bartle, Carol Gerulis.
- Putting contest: Ameritech.
- Mixed first place: Detroit Edison; mixed second place: Hollowell Engineering.
- Women's first place: Fellows Creek Golf Club; men's first place: Fellows Creek Golf Club.
- Men A flight, first place: Fellows Creek Golf Club; men A flight, second place, Canton Police Department; men B flight, first place: Canton Waste Recycling and Cleary College; men B flight, second place: Fairway Club Apartments; men C flight, first place: A.D. Transport Express; men C flight, second place: American Waste Technologies Inc.
- Golf Cup winner: Fellows Creek Golf Club.

Major sponsors of the event were Blackwell Ford and First of America. The Hole-In-One sponsor was Sunshine Honda and U.S. Air. Pit stop sponsor was Canton Chamber of Commerce. The straightest drive sponsor was Regal Construction and Prudential Prime Properties for the men's crooked drive. The women's crooked drive was sponsored by Silver Sounds Professional DJ. The longest men's drive was sponsored by A.D. Transport and closest to the pin was sponsored by Alphagraphics.

Teen breathing with new lungs

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

■ Cystic fibrosis is a genetic disease that primarily attacks the respiratory and digestive systems. The disease produces an abnormal accumulation of mucus in the lungs and other organs that can suffocate and starve the victim.

Fifteen-year-old Greg Unger of Canton, who just received two new lungs during a transplant operation in St. Louis, is breathing on his own — with his new lungs.

Paige Nielsen, spokeswoman for the St. Louis Children's Hospital, where Greg received the new lungs early Sunday, Aug. 6, said he is listed in good condition, has been removed from the ventilator, and was expected to be up and out of bed walking Friday, Aug. 11.

Greg was diagnosed with cystic fibrosis when he was six months old. Cystic fibrosis is a genetic disease that primarily attacks the respiratory and digestive systems. The disease produces an abnormal accumulation of mucus in the lungs and other organs that can suffocate and starve the victim.

The transplant came just a few days before his 15th birthday Aug. 9. A family friend asked all of his supporters to send birthday and best wishes to Greg at 10330 Oxford Hills Drive, Apt. 8, St. Louis, Mo. 63146.

Greg's father, Bill Unger, told the Observer shortly after the transplant that the right decisions were made at the right time. Doctors told him that Greg's lungs were in bad shape. The new lungs, from an unidentified donor in Georgia, are somewhat larger than Greg's lungs.

The call saying the transplant was a go came about midnight Saturday, Aug. 5. Greg's family, including his mom, Barbara, of Canton, and a brother and sister, were on hand for the six-hour operation.

The transplant came exactly one month to the day after the Ungers moved to St. Louis to wait for a phone call that said it was Greg's turn for new lungs.

Throughout the year leading up to the transplant, fund-raisers were held in Canton and Plymouth to help defray the transplant and relocation costs.

Canton firefighters and police officers spearheaded two benefit hockey games with the Red Wings Alumni to raise money for Greg. Firefighters have kept up with Greg's progress through a hot line that anyone can call, 458-0222.

Greg is expected to remain in the hospital for a few weeks and will stay in St. Louis a few months, during which time he will be monitored and educated on his medications and how to watch for signs of illness.

Greg will remain on anti-rejection medication his entire life. He will continue to have digestive problems associated with his illness that can be treated with medication, according to hospital officials.

In 1942 while working on an aircraft project, he became interested in a 1940 Funk, which was a recreational aircraft.

"I was working with a guy from Funk and he was trying to get me to buy one, but my wife found one advertised in the newspaper. I bought it and flew it for about two years, until I went into the Army Air Corps," he said.

During his World War II years, he was a crew chief on various aircraft at bases in the U.S.

"I was flying six days a week then. And when I got out, I figured I had exhausted eight of my nine lives, so I didn't fly for about 15 years," he said.

But then there was that day in 1958 when a friend flew him to Toledo for coffee one morning and "the bug bit me again."

That's when he bought his current Funk and he has been flying it ever since. Some of those air hours are spent with his son, John, a corporate jet pilot for the Chrysler Corp. John made the recent trip to the Wisconsin air show with his father.

"He's the only one of seven children to become a pilot. My wife, Virginia, says he's my one and only child. He's going to inherit the plane," he said.

But that won't be for some time.

"I'm going to fly to the end of time," he said. "My wife said she's going to put my pilot's license and a blank check in my pocket when I go, so I can keep flying."

was an assistant bank manager. Hozefa held on to his work as a food service manager with Chrysler Corp. in Detroit. They wanted to get into the Play It Again Sports stores. But they weren't available. The Shamshers learned about the clothing resale shops and immediately got interested. It is owned by the same company that owns the sports resale stores.

"The store was started in Toledo by a mom that had two sons and too many clothes," Hozefa said.

Switching to the retail life has been an adjustment. "Working for yourself is gratifying. You get a better sense of satisfaction. You see the results right away," Cheryl said. But it can be tough. "I'm here more than I am at home. I work 60-70 hours a week. We have to make time to be together."

The Shamshers and employees stay on top of clothing trends. They visit department stores and specialty shops to learn about styles and prices.

The store also sells some new items, but primarily 80 percent of dollars coming into the store are on used items and 20 percent on new. The Shamshers buy clothing from moms and dads who come in the store, who often turn around and buy something else for their children.

"We try to price items half of what they might cost in a department store," Hozefa said. When customers come in to sell items, the Shamshers provide them with a computerized quote of what they will offer.

Sometimes, the store has clothes that just don't sell. The Shamshers turn around and donate the clothing and other items to the Pregnancy Crisis Center and the Girls Foundation.

The employees admit that it is mostly the moms who do the shopping. But occasionally dads will come in — especially when they are in search of a crib or a larger item.

And tradition still holds. "Boys are still in primary colors and the girls in pinks and pastels," Lepper said.

Young builders create 'house'

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

"Here's a nail that needs to be taken out and redone," instructor Mary Mack told a student. "It's a little bit crooked," she said to another, "but you're doing a good job. You probably need a bigger hammer. That's right; now you've got it."

Mack, of Plymouth, was helping her "Young Architects and Builders" class put the finishing touches on a wooden playhouse the 8- to 12- year-olds built at the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

"They did all the work themselves. It was a lot of work, especially in the heat. But they were real good about it," said Mack of the eight-week; outdoor class.

"We designed this class so kids could build an actual structure," she said. "There's a gap in art education. Kids don't learn until middle school that woodworking is an art form. We were brainstorming what to do about that, and came up with this pilot class."

The students, who hail from Plymouth, Canton and Garden City, started with "some sample woodworking skills," said Mack.

"To build a house, we had to develop skills. We did some projects and the kids learned to use a hammer, saw, builder's square and level. They learned how to measure and cut a straight line," said Mack, who also teaches photography and Sunday school.

The students and Mack enjoyed the last day of class. A highlight came when the group hoisted the roof onto the structure. "Once we got the roof up and students saw the whole thing, they said, 'Wow, this is cool.' It gave them a real sense of accomplishment," said Mack.

At the end of class, Mack treated the students to cookies and pop. While they were enjoying their refreshments in 90-degree heat, Mack, in keeping with tradition, sawed a branch off a nearby bush. She nailed it into the apex of the playhouse.

"It's traditional to plant a branch at the apex. It's sort of a good luck thing," she said.

Mack, and parents who came to see the finished product, felt proud.

"We have a lot of bent nails, and a few scrapes, but other than that, the kids did a great job," said Mack.

Not only that, but they had fun.

Cherri Buijk, 7, of Plymouth was one of two girls among the 14 students.

"I thought it was a really fun class. I got to do something that not many girls could do," said Cherri, who says she's considering becoming a carpenter or an architect when she grows up.

Jon Gagnon, 12, of Canton, said, "I signed up mainly because I wanted to get better working with wood and building stuff. I really enjoyed learning and making the house. That was the best part. It was a very worthwhile class."

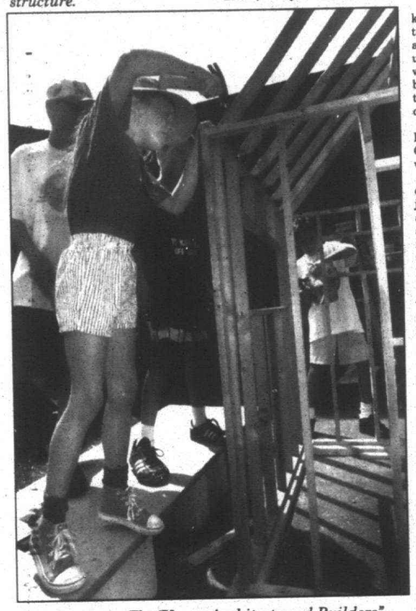

Jayce Ostrowski 9, of Canton agreed. "It's fun, because you get to make stuff out of wood," he said. On his own at home, Jayce has made bird and squirrel houses.

Jayce's mom, Susan Keegan, was glad she enrolled her son.

"He's always making things around the house, and I thought this would be something he would enjoy," she said. "I think young kids should get involvd with activities like these."

The playhouse eventually will be covered with siding and a roof. Its permanent home will be the arts council, where children will play in it, said Mack."

The other "Young Architects and Builders" included Brett Reidsma, 11, of Plymouth; Nick Gizzi, 8, and Steven Gizzi, 10, of Plymouth; Gregory McComas, 10, of Garden City; Samuel Hargis, 10, of Canton; Alexa Smith, 11, of Plymouth; Joey Le, 8, of Plymouth; Nathan Cooper, 10, of Canton; Grant Zoschnick, 9, of Plymouth; and Jimmy Chrzankowki, 9, of Canton.

Landfill causes big stink

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you remember the day you smelled something pretty awful in late July-early August, it was indeed the Woodland Meadows landfill in Canton.

"It should be resolved by now," said Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson of Canton.

Apparently the odors coming from landfill — that mostly permeated the city of Wayne — came from the storage of compost materials in plastic bags for too long before disposal.

"I really didn't have many complaints from Canton," Patterson said. "I would say there are landfill smells. But this one was particularly pungent. I can't say how long it was in the plastic bags."

Jim Longsden of Woodland Meadows, which operates the landfill at Van Born and Hannan roads, was unavailable for comment.

But under a one-time permit from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Woodland Meadows was allowed to bury the stinky compost. The project was expected to be completed by Aug. 5.

If residents notice any more odor problems, they should call Patterson, (313) 224-0944, or Mike Droze at the Wayne County Environmental Health Division, (313) 326-4920.

Firefighters do good deed for day

Listed below are some of the Canton fire and rescue incidents reported during the past week, as well as fire safety tips and programs available free to the community. Year-to-date (Jan. 1-present) runs for the Canton Fire Department: 2,356; last year's total: 3,445. Last week's total runs: 78*

■ GOOD DEED
When you don't know who to call, most people call the fire department. A homeowner on Parkway Court did just that Aug. 2 when the family dog chased a skunk under the deck and got stuck.

When firefighters arrived they removed about three boards from the deck and rescued the dog, who is doing just fine.

■ CAR ACCIDENT
A motorist was treated and transported to Annapolis Hospital with chest and hip pains and cuts on his hands following a multi-car accident at Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads, Aug. 2.

Firefighters were returning from another rescue call when they came upon the accident right near fire station 1 on Canton Center at Cherry Hill.

■ ATTEMPTED SUICIDE
Firefighters treated and transported a Canton resident who lives on Stacy to Annapolis Hospital following a suicide attempt, Aug. 2.

When firefighters arrived they found the resident injured with multiple cuts to the neck, arms and stomach.

■ GAS LEAK
Firefighters responded to a report of a natural gas leak on Cherry Hill Road, just west of Canton Center, Aug. 3. Although firefighters were uncertain what caused the leak, it was nonetheless considered substantial.

Firefighters stood by for about three hours until gas crews arrived to correct the problem.

■ ROLLOVER ACCIDENT
A 21-year-old man refused treatment when firefighters arrived in the 42000 block of Barchester, east of Lilley, after the man rolled his Ford Bronco over, Aug. 4. The man escaped injury.

■ SAFETY TIP
Firefighters remind residents, particularly senior adults and children, to be cautious during the extremely hot and humid weather. Residents are reminded not to overexert themselves during the hot weather, to take regular breaks and to drink plenty of fluids. Firefighters caution that alcoholic beverages and caffeine tend to dehydrate the body and should be avoided during hot weather.

■ PROGRAMS OFFERED
Canton residents and businesses are reminded that a number of programs are available to them for free from the Canton Fire Department. Programs include CPR and basic first aid classes, juvenile fire setters, baby-sitter awareness, and tours and department presentations.

■ CPR/FIRST AID
Groups may sign up for training for adults, infant/child and CPR and first aid classes. Groups may be as small as three or four people. Most of the classes are about four hours in length. Participants receive a card that says they completed the course. The only cost to participants is the purchase of a textbook. For more information contact Sgt. Jim Davison, 453-4114.

■ SAFETY HOUSE AVAILABLE
The fire safety house is available for groups, including homeowners associations and civic organizations. Firefighters use the house to teach home safety for adults and children, as well as fire prevention. For more information, call Canton fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ JUVENILE FIRE SETTERS
This is a program for youths whose parents, teachers or school principals are concerned about fire setting, pulling fire alarms or abnormal fixations with fire. Firefighters meet with parents and children. If counseling is needed, a referral is given. For more information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ CLASSES AND TOURS
Groups, homeowners associations and businesses interested in learning fire prevention and fire safety, such as the use of extinguishers, may contact fire prevention, 397-5348.

New diner garners approval for Class C liquor license

■ CONNECTION

A new 1950s-style diner planned for 6620 N. Canton Center Road will be able to serve up beer and wine along with nostalgia.

The Canton Township Board on Aug. 8 approved giving the Central City Diner a Class C liquor license. Diner owners say they will apply for a tavern license, which allows beer and wine sales and consumption, but not liquor. The tavern license, however would count against the township's quota for Class C licenses, leaving only three left through the year 2000.

The diner will serve breakfast, lunch and dinner and will close by 11 p.m., according to the partners in the establishment. They include Thomas M. Alonzo, Randy W. Baylock and Keith T. Kwasny.

One Canton neighbor spoke against the project. Lisa Kennedy, who lives in Fox Hills subdivision, said she is opposed to the liquor license, saying she didn't want a bar in her neighborhood.

"I don't see where a liquor license fits in," she told the board.

Elaine Kirchgatter, Canton treasurer, said, "We've met with them numerous times and talked to them. We've been looking at the plans for two years."

Police to have armor

It's not exactly a designer item, but Canton police officers will have an addition to their wardrobes.

Bullet-proof vests are being purchased by Canton Township for officers as part of the union contract with police. The purchase of 25 such vests was approved Aug. 8 by the township board.

"The vests will also work in the case of a knife attack," said Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

He said the vests are good for about five years at which time the material used in them starts to deteriorate.

The township purchase of the vests, which will cost about $10,000, was negotiated during the 1994 contract with officers.

Santomauro said that Canton, unlike many other communities, uses a quartermaster system to purchase uniforms and does not give uniform allowances to its officers.

Library closes

The Canton Public Library will be closed on two consecutive Fridays — Aug. 18 and Aug. 25.

On Aug. 18, the library staff will literally move the entire adult non-fiction collection to another part of the library. The change means videos and audios will be housed on shelves close to the entrance. Librarians are trying to make better use of existing space.

On Aug. 25, librarians will be in a seminar that will feature speaker Bill Erbes who will talk about customer service in the age of automation.

School district offering free immunization clinic for students

A free immunization clinic for new students starting the Plymouth Canton schools this fall is being offered by the Wayne County Health Department.

A mobile clinic is offered on Monday, Aug. 14, at the east parking lot of Plymouth Salem High School, 46181 Joy, Canton. The clinic hours are: 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The first day of school for Plymouth-Canton students is Tuesday, Aug. 29. Under a new directive, all students must have their required immunizations before the are allowed to attend classes.

The requirements are:

■ For ages 4-6, four doses of diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis shots are required. If a dose was not given on or after the fourth birthday, a booster dose of DTP is required. Most children will have five doses.

■ Three doses of polio shots are required. If a does was not given on or after the fourth birthday, a booster dose of DTP is required. Most children will have four doses.

■ Two doses of measles, mumps and rubella shots must be given on or after the first birthday. The second dose must be given at least 30 days from the first dose and at or after 15 months of age.

To attend the free clinic, students must provide immunization records and be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

For additional information or a for a listing of other area free clinic, call the Wayne County Health Department at 467-3355.

schoolhouses in Canton came from state and federal grants, and donations from service clubs such as the Canton Rotary Club.

"We also had a lot of help from volunteers to do the work," she said. "More than 40 showed up at the Travis House to do some of the dirty, nasty work."

McLaughlin said the dispute over the home's renovation is as much philosophical as it is a money issue.

Shefferly acknowledges that.

"I don't think it's necessary. The historic commission did a study that I looked at that said in other communities government gave only 25 percent. And those were to projects where people would really go, people would come in from outside the community to see," he said. "If people want to go see that stuff, they can go to Greenfield Village."

■ 'I don't think it's necessary . . . If people want to go see that stuff, they can go to Greenfield Village.'

Robert Shefferly

He also contends the Travis House isn't being done in an authentic way, pointing out that metal braces were used on the porch instead of using the traditional style of wood bracing.

"The Travis House makes me mad. It's not that historic. You could go out and build one like it. My daughter lives in a new house with a porch on it like the Travis House and it only cost $155,000," he said.

He contends that historic preservation should be done with private money and not government money.

However, McLaughlin said that unless government invests in historic preservation, it's difficult to attract private donations.

"We've had a lot of success interesting developers in historic preservation because of the work we've done," she said, citing a recent project in which a developer plans to renovate the Hanford House.

"This was private money," McLaughlin said.

Also, she said Canton is different from other communities. "Plymouth has 'in your face' history every where you turn. We just don't have that in Canton. It's scattered around and much of it is gone."

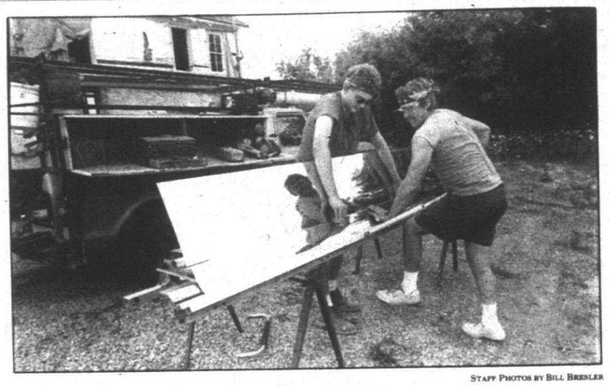

She said newer residents want to know about Canton's past. "They think it's as old as Meijer's. Historic preservation is as important as library books. It's important to preserve our heritage."

Also, there are local funding efforts going on, she said, adding that the historic commission is raising $27,000 to build a barn where old farm equipment and other artifacts of farm life in Canton can be preserved.

"In Canton where there is so little history, we can have little islands of history so people have a sense of their roots and a heritage," McLaughlin added.

Hamilton sticking here — official

BY TOM BAER
STAFF WRITER

Ownership of Alexander Hamilton Life may have gone south, but the company and its 390 jobs are staying in Farmington Hills for the "indefinite future."

At least that's what one company official promised following news Thursday that Alexander Hamilton Life and its individual life and annuity business had been acquired by the Jefferson-Pilot Corp. of Greensboro, N.C. for $575 million.

Thomas Ritter, vice president of government affairs and public relations for Household International of Prospect Heights, Ill., the present owner, called the the sale "positive news."

"We're being purchased by a company . . . whose primary function is the insurance business," said Ritter, a Farmington Hills resident.

With the acquisition, Jefferson-Pilot will become a $14 billion company and be one of the top 20 companies dealing in insurance and annuities in the nation, Ritter said.

As far as the Farmington Hills facility — that red brick colonial edifice on 12 Mile Road, east of Farmington Road — staying occupied by almost 400 employees, Ritter said the future looks good.

"Yes," he said, "it does for the indefinite future . . . at least for a year, possibly two years. The issue of human resources has yet to be examined."

Alexander Hamilton, the 12th largest taxpayer in Farmington Hills, had a positive presence in the community under the leadership of Richard Headlee, the company's president until his retirement earlier this year.

Headlee, an unsuccessful candidate for governor, took an interest in local civic affairs as well.

The annual State of the Cities Breakfast, featuring talks by the city managers and school superintendent, has been held in the Alexander Hamilton dining room recent years.

"Alexander Hamilton has been a supporter of the Chamber of Commerce and the community since . . . well, since before I came here," said Jody Soronen, director of the Farmington/Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce.

"Everyone I've ever worked with who had anything to do with Hamilton has been friendly and fun to work with," she added. "I hope some of those individuals stay in place."

The Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of America received its state insurance charter in 1964 and in 25 years was ranked in the top 100 life insurance companies in North America.

At 25th anniversary ceremonies on May, 5, 1989, an 11-foot bronze statue of Alexander Hamilton, the company's namesake and the first treasurer of the United States, was unveiled in the building courtyard, as numerous community leaders watched.

Terry Sever, then mayor of Farmington Hills, read a proclamation that said in part: 'Alexander Hamilton Life's motto, 'Someone in Here Cares,' philosophically identifies its personal connection to the community, to the people it services and to its employees, and reflects its commitment to the high ideals and virtues that strengthen our society."

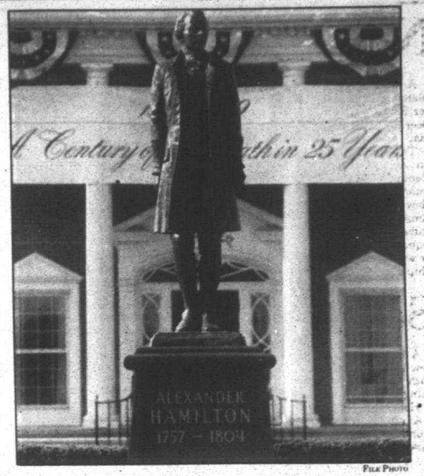

For current Alexander Hamilton policy holders — 330,000 nationwide and 30,000 in Michigan — "the transaction will be virtually unnoticeable," said Lawrence Bangs, Alexander Hamilton's president and CEO.

"All policy holder assets will be preserved and due to the financial strength of Jefferson-Pilot, policy protection will be strengthened," Bangs added.

According to company officials, the purchase of Alexander Hamilton enables Jefferson-Pilot to strengthen its presence in the Midwest, North and Northeastern United States, as well as broaden its base distribution channels throughout the country.

Jefferson-Pilot is already widely recognized for its activity in the South and Southeastern regions of the U.S.

Household International, owner of Alexander Hamilton since 1977, is a provider of finance and banking services in the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom. According to William Aldinger, president and CEO, the decision to sell Alexander Hamilton was part of an effort to refocus Household International's in the consumer lending area, its main interest.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Editor's note: Listed below are some construction projects, including residential and commercial developments, as well as road projects, that may interest Canton residents. This column will be published intermittently to keep residents abreast of development in the community.

- Bridge work: Two bridges are slated for repair and repainting this fall by Wayne County, which may impact traffic in those areas. One bridge is on Lilley, just north of Michigan Avenue over the Lower Rouge River, and the other is on Denton, just north of Geddes over the Fowler Creek. Work will include steel blasting the paint off and repainting both bridges. Contractors will be wearing special clothing as a protective measure. Floats will be placed in the water to catch all old paint, which will then be properly disposed of. Work on each bridge will take several weeks. During construction, both Lilley and Denton will be reduced to one lane of traffic. Residents with questions may call engineer Ken Belknap in the Wayne County Public Services field office, 595-6504.
- Residential developments: Another planned development project is starting through the Canton planning system. Called the Lower River Rouge Planned Development District, this project includes three subdivisions, which skirt the Rouge River in the area of Beck, Newton and Geddes roads. North Woods Place with 46 lots, Hidden River Estates with 37 lots and Huntington Place No. 2 with 49 lots, are proposed as part of this development, which incorporates about 62 acres of property. All three subdivisions will come before the planning commission on Aug. 21 for final approval of the planned development district and for tentative preliminary plat or conceptual plans for the subdivisions.
  In the nearby Pheasant Run Planned Development District, which runs through the Pheasant Run Golf Club, the second phase of one of three single family subdivisions was approved Aug. 8 for final platting. Fairway Pines at Pheasant Run, west off of Canton Center, south of Beck. A third subdivision in the development, Pheasant View at Pheasant Run, just east of Beck and south of Cherry Hill on the back nine of the new course, is also moving toward the final plat stage.
  The other subdivision in the PDD is The Fairways at Pheasant Run, south of Cherry Hill and west off of Beck, where new homes are under construction.
- Road projects: Those planned for the near future include the paving of Koppernick, east of Haggerty; the paving of North Drive, South Drive and Woodbrook in the Canton Hills area, which is off of Lilley between Michigan and Palmer; the extension of Morton Taylor from Ford to Warren by Wayne County, which is currently doing an environmental assessment of the area; and the widening to five lanes of Canton Center Road, Cherry Hill to Ford, which could occur next spring. Bids will be awarded soon for Beck Road paving, Geddes to Cherry Hill, which may occur yet this year.
- Cable work: Ameritech New Media is continuing cable installation in the back yard easements of Mayfair Village and will begin in the Carriage Hill area in the coming weeks. Most of the initial cable installation work is focusing in the area of Sheldon Road, between Ford and Warren, although work will be done through much of the township. New Media representatives are using door hangars to let residents know prior to beginning work in rear yard easements in individual areas. During the next year, Ameritech and the current cable operator Omnicom will work in rear yard easements in Canton to install up-to-date cable systems. If you have questions about the Ameritech New Media construction or want information about their product, call toll free at 1-800-327-1010.

Code violations noted

By JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton Plymouth Mettetal Airport pilots still have a little bit of time to comply with fire and safety codes in their airplane hangars.

Canton fire officials provided airport and state aeronautics administrators with the remaining list of code violations, primarily in individual hangars, as well as the main terminal. "We are not in the business of issuing violations, but we are in the business of safety," Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro told the Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Advisory Board recently.

Santomauro announced that Canton Fire Marshal Art Winkel will conduct an inspection of the premises in about 30 days.

"We don't necessarily schedule it," said Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher. "Art will announce when it will be."

The list provided to the airport contains violations such as removing carpeting in hangars, rewiring of light fixtures, gasoline storage, mounting fire extinguishers, and removing other items such as motorcycles from hangars.

"There has been a big improvement. Much of it has been an educational process," Rorabacher said. "Once they realized what the rules are, they have been readily complying."

■ 'We are not in the business of issuing violations, but we are in the business of safety.'
John Santomauro
Canton Public Safety Director

Randy Coller, state Aeronautics Bureau licensing and enforcement manager, said that the state, which owns the airport, has been helping comply with codes. The airport has about 107 hangars.

"Some of the things are tenant responsibilities. We own the terminal and we feel that is our responsibility," Coller said. "Some people probably aren't happy with the speed at which we are getting these things done."

When the state bought the airport a couple years ago, fire officials considered it a code occupancy and inspected the premises for code violations.

Intriguing 'Suspects' keeps you guessing until the end

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

■ REVIEW

From the beginning you know it's gone way wrong. On the boat where a heist has just taken place, a mysterious figure douses the deck with gasoline while another man, injured, looks on. A flick of a match and the ship turns into a inferno.

How the caper crumbles is at the heart of "The Usual Suspects," a complicated thriller about five guys who unite for a fateful bit of larcenty. It opens Friday for an exclusive run at the Maple and Main Art Theatres.

Flashback several days earlier. Five guys, small and big time hoodlums, get dragged into a New York police station on suspicion of hijacking a truckload of guns. Most are strangers to each other, but by the time they're sprung, they've hatched a plan that takes them to the West Coast.

Giving away the twists and turns that follow wouldn't be fair, but the boys do get involved with the legendary Keyser Soze. Some say he's the devil; others are skeptical that he even exists.

Gabriel Byrne, who specializes in downbeat characters, plays Keaton, the most notorious of these hoodlums. Verbal Kint (Kevin Spacey), the quick-talking brains of the outfit and a cripple, sees little of the coldblooded killer that the police insist Keaton is.

As sole survivor of the failed boat heist, Verbal is dragged in for questioning by a relentless police inspector (Chazz Palminterri) and it's in this sparring, with two stage-trained actors, that the performances in "The Usual Suspects" really shine.

Byrne can play this kind of part in his sleep and appears to do so on several occasions. The others (including Stephen, least talented of the busy Baldwin brothers) don't have enough personality quirks or background to make them stand out from the crowd.

Producer/director Bryan Singer, a recent winner at Sundance, approaches the movie with a certain amount of flair. He uses slow zooms in the interrogation scenes and places his actors at the edge of the frame, as if he's afraid that he'll lose his audience if his shots grows too static.

Maybe I've been spoiled by the films of Quentin Tarantino, but Christopher McQuarrie's dialogue doesn't read all that cleverly. Sure it's hardboiled and hotheaded, with well-placed profanity, but often self-consciously so.

With its intentionally confusing narrative structure, "The Usual Suspects" certainly keeps an audience on its toes. But at the heart it's really no better than a superior episode of one of TV's current crime dramas.

To leave a message for John Monaghan, dial 953-2047, mailbox number 1866, on a touch-tone phone, fax him a note at 591-7279, or write him in care of Entertainment, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Tricky Lyme Disease diagnosis spurs hearing

BY KAMI BUCHHOLZ
STAFF WRITER

Tired. Achy. Feverish.

The symptoms followed the Troy eighth grader into high school. "I was always fatigued and had aching joints. I kept thinking I was getting the flu all the time," said Angela Beyer, now 17 and starting her senior year later this month at Troy High School.

Beyer saw 10 different doctors before being treated for a diagnosis of Lyme Disease, a bacterial infection spread by the bite of an infected tick.

A stumbling block to physicians finding the cause of her ailments is the disease's mimic ability; it is frequently mis-diagnosed in its later stages as lupus, multiple sclerosis, chronic fatique syndrome/Epstein-Barr, arthritis or syphilis.

Yet even in its early stages, Lyme Disease is tricky to identify.

"It's really tough to diagnose, especially after the red ring (bulls-eye) goes away. And sometimes there's not much of a rash (or ring), or it's in a place on the body that the patient can't see," explained Dr. Dean Dalbec, medical director of the emergency department at Crittenton Hospital.

The rash, often resembling a bulls-eye ring, isn't always present on the skin either. For fair skinned people, it's common only 60 percent of the time, and for some people the early sign of the disease appears as a bruise.

"You don't feel the tick crawling or biting, and it's only poppyseed-size. The ticks really love to be on the ground in a shady, humid area, and you can find those conditions anywhere," said Tom Forschner, executive director of the Lyme Disease Foundation in Hartford, Conn.

Not every tick carries the infection agent, Borrelia burgdorferi (Bb).

But for people who become infected, early detection and antibiotic treatment curbs the progress of Lyme's effects.

Since 1980, the U.S. has recorded 71,373 cases of Lyme Disease, according to Lyme Disease Foundation statistics. The highest case numbers are New York (27,461), Connecticut (9,731) and New Jersey (6,952). Michigan had 528 cases as of June 1995.

Critics of the statistics believe the number of Lyme Disease cases is considerably higher.

The possibility of under-reporting of Lyme Disease prompted Republican state Reps. Penny Crissman of Rochester and John Jamian of Bloomfield Township to organize public hearings to examine how Lyme Disease is tracked and reported.

Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson is slated to join the state lawmakers at one hearing. His daughter was diagnosed with Lyme Disease at age 17 after battling fatique and extreme weight loss.

The hearings are from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 22, at the Rochester High School Auditorium, 180 South Livernois, Rochester Hills; and from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 24, at the Willard Harris Auditorium, Genesee County Administrative Building, Third Floor, 1101 Beach Street, Flint.

People wishing to give statements or testimony should provide that in writing (in advance of meetings) to Mitzi Curry, administrative assistant to Rep. Crissman, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48913.

"If Lyme Disease is under-reported, it's going to be underfunded in terms of research," said Forschner, who heads the only national voluntary health organization dedicated to Lyme Disease education, advocacy and research.

Beyer will be among the expected 200 people to attend the special hearing in Rochester.

She said she hopes one outcome resulting from the hearings will prompt more doctors to look for Lyme Disease.

Local residents wanting more information on Lyme Disease can attend monthly Lyme support group meetings the first Thursday of each month (7 to 8:30 p.m.) at the Troy Public Library, or call the Lyme Disease hotline at 800-886-LYME.

A SIMPLE EXTRACTION
When an erupted tooth must be removed by the process of simple extraction, the dentist will first desensitize the area with an injection of local anesthetic. Then, it is usually a matter of loosening the tooth in its socket by gently rocking it back and forth with forceps and lifting it with elevators. These instruments booth loosen the hold that the periodontal ligament has upon the tooth and stretch the semi-rigid alveolar bone of the tooth socket. Once it is loose, the tooth is removed in one piece. After the socket is cleaned of any debris, inflamed tissue, or cyst, bleeding is controlled to the point where blood will coagulate to form a clot which must remain undisturbed while healing progresses.
At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, our purpose is to help people reach and commit to the highest level of dental health personally appropriate to them. We believe regular dental care is one of the best investments you will ever make. Good preventative dental care can help avoid unnecessary pain, expense, and possible tooth loss. Joe Muer to cook for high bidder

BY JILL HOCKMAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Planning a dinner party, but don't know what to serve? Detroit restaurateur Joe Muer will prepare a salmon dinner for eight to 10 people in the home of the highest bidder.

The bidding starts at $500, and money raised will fund scholarships for Schoolcraft College students, many of whom are preparing for careers as chefs. Muer's meal will include a baked salmon and asparagus in mustard sauce, in addition to wines from the Merchant of Vino.

Muer said he and his wife, Jane, will prepare a whole salmon baked in kosher salt and garnished with parsley lemon caper butter. The recipe is Muer's, and it is unavailable in his restaurants.

Muer now spends most of his time managing his business, but still loves to cook. "When I have the time, it's a lot of fun," he said.

The package also includes a serving staff. Retired television news reporter Jim Herrington will work as the butler, and Channel 7 news reporter Cheryl Chodun will serve as the waitress.

The stunt is part of Schoolcraft College's Fourth Annual Culinary Extravaganza, which will be held 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 17, at the school's Waterman Campus Center. The annual fund-raiser features gourmet food from more than 60 Metro Detroit restaurants, in addition to hors d'oeuvres and dessert prepared by the school's master chefs.

Tickets cost $40 each or $75 for a pair, and are available at Schoolcraft College. The event will likely raise more than $50,000, Schoolcraft officials said.

"A college like this needs private support for its programs," Muer said. "It's a wonderful social event."

Sealed bids for the Muer meal will be accepted and opened at the Culinary Extravaganza. Bids can also be submitted by mail. Muer owns two seafood restaurants, Joe Muer's in Detroit and Joe Muer's Grill in Southfield. His grandfather opened the downtown Detroit restaurant in 1929, and Muer grew up around the family's business, said Joe Crowell, general manager of Joe Muer's Grill, a smaller and slightly less expensive restaurant that opened last year.

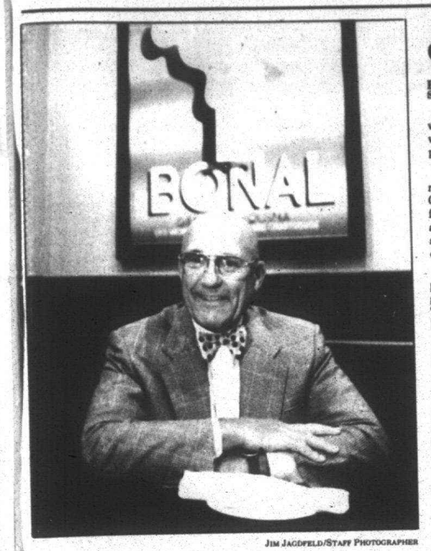

Muer was not formally schooled as a chef, but he is a friend of Schoolcraft College for obvious reasons: Muer often looks to Schoolcraft when hiring chefs for his high-end restaurants, said Saundra "Sam" Florek, director of institutional advancement for the college.

"They have one of the most fine culinary schools in the country," Muer said. "They support my industry, so I support them."

For those who can't afford to shell out more than $500 for a dinner party, raffle tickets cost $5, or three for $10. Prizes include two tickets to anywhere in the continental United States on Northwest Airlines, airline tickets to Chicago for a weekend at the Whitehall Hotel, two tickets for every opening-night show for the Fisher Theater's upcoming season, jewelry from Orin Jewelers, and leather luggage.

The raffle tickets are available at the college and at the event, and are also good for $5 off a meal at the following restaurants: City Grill, Cozy Cafe, DePalma's, Joe Muer's Grill, Joe Muer's, MacKinnon's, Old Mexico, Peacock Tandoori and Water Club Seafood Grill.

To bid by mail on the dinner by Muer, send bids by Sept. 13 to Ann King, Muer Dinner Silent Bid, Institutional Advancement Office, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia 48152.

Michigan Humane Society hosts annual 'Care Fair'

Hundreds of adoptable pets looking for good homes will be on hand at the Fourth Annual Michigan Humane Society Animal Care Fair 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 26, and Sunday, Aug. 27, at the Southfield Civic Center on 2600 Evergreen, between 10 and 11 Mile roads.

"The Animal Care Fair is one of our most important events," said Sherry Silk, MHS Director of Operations, in a press release. "Last year we were fortunate to find homes for 129 homeless dogs and cats."

More than 30,000 people attended last year's fair, which raised $67,000 to benefit the Humane Society.

In addition to on-site adoptions, other fair highlights include the finals of the "Best Dressed Pet In Detroit" contest, pet care clinics and demonstrations by canine Frisbee champions.

"Sticker Shock Absorber: 8.9% APR car loans up to 60 months."
Apply by phone to get things rolling quickly.
Our car loans are loaded with attractive features. A sticker shock absorber comes standard: a low 8.9% APR fixed rate for new cars, good for any available term up to 60 months.*
Maintenance is low—you can apply toll-free by phone or visit any of our nearly 200 branches. And selection is high. This special rate also applies to RV and boat loans. And we've lowered rates for used cars and used RVs, too.
We'll even throw in an additional ¼% discount on any loan if you arrange automatic payment from a Michigan National Bank checking or savings account.
There's an important safety feature, too. The peace of mind you enjoy from dealing with a financial institution that's been around for more than 50 years. It's always nice to ride with someone you trust, don't you think?
You must apply by August 31, so call now. To avoid sticker shock, stick with us.

Reader wants to get started on sourdough

Juliette May of Troy called to request a recipe for sourdough starter. Making starter is a two-step process. First, you need to create the base starter. Then you need to feed it for a few days. Rye flour is one of the best starters to make because rye flour is highly responsive to the fermentation process. Here's the basic recipe. Regular all purpose flour can be used, but organic stone ground is preferable.

RYE SOURDOUGH STARTER

1/2 cup water (spring or bottled is best)
2/3 cup rye flour
1 teaspoon dry yeast

In a tall 2-3 quart plastic container with a tight-fitting lid, stir together the water, flour and yeast. Scrape down the sides with a rubber spatula. Cover tightly and place in a moderate (74-84 degree) room for 24 hours. Do not stir with anything metal. On days 2, 3 and 4, stir in 1/2 cup of water and 2/3 cup of flour on each day. Stir with a wooden spoon or rubber spatula until well mixed. After the fourth day, the basic starter will be ready to use.

If not using starter immediately, refrigerate for up to three days. if you wish to continue, add 1/2 cup water and 2/3 cup flour every three days. Makes 6-7 cups starter.

Recipe from "Bread Alone" by Daniel Leader and Judith Blahnik, (copyright 1993, Morrow Publishers, $25.

■ An anonymous reader called requesting information on how to take a basic baked recipe and make it in a different size

If you begin with a muffin recipe, it can easily be made into loaves or bundts. Decrease the temperature of all loaf or cake recipes to 350 degrees F. Decrease the liquid (water or milk) by 1/4 for making muffins in a loaf pan. You will also have to increase the cooking time significantly. For best results use a cake tester or long wooden toothpick or skewer to test for doneness.

For a bundt pan, you can easily double a standard recipe for 12 muffins, and of course, cooking time varies. For best results, the bundt should be tested for doneness in the same fashion mentioned above. Be careful; if a recipe calls for preparation in an 8-inch square pan, and you decide to make it in a 9 by 13-inch pan, the resulting product will be dried, crisp, and possibly burnt.

■ Bob DeMarco of Southfield needs a basic vanilla ice cream recipe. It can't get much more basic than this Bob. Stir in fresh fruits just before the churning stops, if desired.

BASIC VANILLA ICE CREAM IN A CHURN

4 cups heavy cream, divided
3/4 cup sugar
Pinch salt
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla (or the seeds scraped from a 2-inch piece of vanilla bean)

Scald, but do not boil, 1 cup of heavy cream. Remove from the heat and stir in, until dissolved, sugar and salt. Chill. Stir in vanilla and add remaining 3 cups of heavy cream.

Pour into a churn and freeze according to manufacturer's directions. Makes about 5 cups, approximately 9 - 1/2 cup servings.

Chef's secret: a few drops of rose water, some crushed peppermint stick or chocolate are great additions.

■ Eastern Market is blooming with the freshest produce Michigan has to offer on Saturday mornings in Detroit. I was shocked to learn that many folks think the recent fire at Gratiot Central Market destroyed the entire Eastern Market area. This is far from the truth friends. A fire destroyed the Gratiot Central Market, but Rocky Peanut Company, J.R. Hirt, Raphael Spice, Tim McCarthy's Wine Shop, Al's Poultry, and a host of other businesses in the market area are still open. The shops are open Monday through Saturday. Porch entertaining: Bob and Betty Ryan share a sundown supper with friends on their porch in Plymouth. The menu includes chicken, carrot and potato salad, and fresh strawberries.

SIMPLE PORCH SUPPER SUMMERTIME JOY

BY DENEE SKOGLUND • SPECIAL WRITER

Summertime, when the cooking is easy. At least it should be, especially if you want to spend less time in the kitchen and more time on your porch.

Betty and Bob Ryan of Plymouth know there's something special about a big, old-fashioned front porch and a summer breeze that makes food taste better. Their new front porch, completed in June, has become their favorite place for morning coffee and casual entertaining.

"It's also great to watch thunder and lightning storms from," said Betty.

The Ryans, busy parents of 11 and 13 year old girls, like to keep their get-togethers with friends simple. When asked her idea of the perfect porch supper to serve guests, Betty said "I'd probably make hot and sexy potato salad and a fresh fruit salad. I'd stick to something like cold chicken drumsticks. Finger food."

Betty's sexy potato salad recipe comes from Audabon, Pennsylvania, their former home state. Although it requires taking your stove out of its summer hibernation for 30 minutes, the results are worth it.

"It's warm and it's good,"said Bob. "It's a real nice combination, not overly spicy."

Rob Fisher of Bloomfield Hills, an agricultural consultant, doesn't mind a little spice in the summer, especially when it comes from his garden. He likes it even better when his wife Marcy makes her famous Grilled Herb Chicken and serves it in their large, breezy screened in back porch.

It's all part of a porch lifestyle, according to Rob. "Sitting on the porch you see dirt, so you put in a garden, Marcy cooks from the garden, so she makes all kinds of recipes," he said.

Marcy, a writer of children's books, is creatively random about her choice of herbs. "Because I just go out in the garden, pick whatever herbs are there and throw them on the chicken," she said. "Sometimes I'll put basil pesto on the chicken or rosemary and thyme or oregano." She uses the same herbs on salmon steaks with the same delicious results.

Because of Rob's profession, the Fishers are homebound in the summer. They don't mind, since they consider their porch the equivalent of a summer home. With four children, ages 9 to 15, plus family and friends who like to visit, there's always lots of activity, and lots of good food.

"A typical porch dinner would be gazpacho, grilled chicken with whatever herbs I have that night, and vegetables - eggplant, zucchini, summer squash or red peppers," said Marcy.

She suggests brushing the vegetables with teriyaki sauce and sprinkling them with a little kosher salt before grilling. And unless you don't mind losing a veggie or two to the hot coals, always grill them on a non-stick tray. "Vegetables are done when they appear translucent," she said.

Roberta Granadier doesn't quite have a porch on the Birmingham home she shares with husband Bob and their three small children, ages nine months to five years. She has a Florida room. However, she does have a porch mentality when it comes to entertaining and loves serving guests in her backyard. Her specialty is desserts, and she likes them simple and fruity.

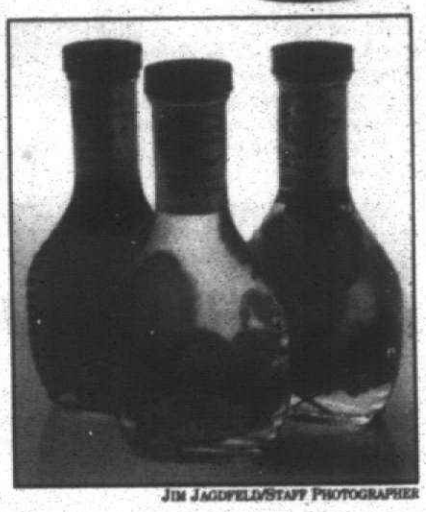

Of her blueberry tart recipe, she said "It's very homemade, delicious, not something you would find in a bakery or grocery store. It goes with anything or it's good by itself. I make it often, two a week in the summertime. One for us and one to give away."

Granadier, who recently attended a porch desserts cooking class at the Community House in Birmingham, said her recipe is an heirloom. "It's family recipe. It was published years ago in some Cleveland cookbook. It's my mom's. She's the best cook I know."

When asked if she had any plans of building a porch, perhaps one day giving her blueberry tart a proper summer house, Granadier said "Absolutely. My husband has high hopes for that Florida room. We have plans to change that room into something airy."

Summer essence: Jabars Complements all natural vinaigrettes are beautiful to look at.

Friendship blossoms with flavorful vinegars

BY BARBARA WILSON
STAFF WRITER

Barbara Klaserner and Julie Stumbaugh were ahead of the times 10 years ago when they started Jabars Complements, a line of fruit-flavored wine vinegars.

Now, flavored vinegars are very popular, even trendy, and their business is growing.

The two Milford women create and manufacture their products from a commercial kitchen in Walled Lake making Jabars another blossoming "Made in Michigan" food industry. To their line of vinegars, they have added marinades and sauces, dip mixes, seasonings and even barbecue sauces to offer a complete, flavorful complement to dinner tables.

"We feel we've been really guided by God in this effort," Klaserner said. "Neither of really used vinegars much in cooking, but it just felt like a good thing to try."

The ladies met each other in a career orientation class. Both were in the middle of divorces and trying to get their lives on track. They gravitated to one another immediately and have been friends ever since.

"We were the only "old' people in the class and we both liked to cook and had cooked for our families," Stumbaugh said. "We really didn't have a lot of other skills so we wanted to find something we felt comfortable with."

Klaserner and Stumbaugh have definitely found their niche here. Jabars vinegars are made with all natural ingredients, including a "goodly" helping of real wine.

"The vinegars you buy in the store don't really make use of wine," Stumbaugh said.

Beautiful to look at, the bottles are filled with the liquid vinegar as well as the fruit flavoring. The lemon lime vinaigrette has slices of lemon and lime and whole herb stems. The peach vinaigrette has slices of the fruit resting on the bottom of the bottle.

Attractively presented, the dressings are also tasty and versatile. Their best sellers, the lemon lime vinaigrette, peach wine vinaigrette and raspberry wine vinaigrette, are great on fresh greens, fruits and pastas. They also work as delicious marinades for ham, chicken, duck, beef and pork when mixed with a little oil.

When they decided to expand their business, they experimented with dried ingredients to create "rubs" for meats, poultry and fish, and mixes that could easily be made into dips for fruit, vegetables or crackers.

They purchase their ingredients locally and they are mixed and packaged in Walled Lake.

Their marinades are sold under the label Pepper Tree Square; and their newest effort, barbecue sauce, should be available soon under the label Road Kill Roy.

Currently Jabars Complements are sold at Vic's World Class Market in Novi and Beverly Hills, Papa Joe's in Rochester, Strawberry Hills in Farmington Hills and Jacobson's department stores.

Baby okra, and other reader-requested recipes

See Chef Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

■ An anonymous caller requested information on okra — a lovely, tender, sweet tasting vegetable that is slippery and slimy. It can be found year-round, but is most abundant during the summer.

Pick okra in the its baby stage. The torpedo-shaped pods vary in length, between 2-4 inches for best taste. Purchase it with no signs of spotting or molding. Check for dryness or flabbiness. Okra keeps poorly and should be used within a day or two. It can be steamed, boiled, pickled, sauteed, deep-fried, braised or made into a soup or salad.

The tiniest, baby fresh okra, if you're growing it, should be blanched and served like asparagus. Sliced and added to soups during the last 10 minutes of cooking, okra will thicken with remarkable power.

Here's a tasty recipe.

Okra, Tomatoes And Onions

5 ounces bacon, cut into a small dice
1 large onion, cut into a medium dice
1 pound young okra, rinsed and patted dry
1 pound plum tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped (about 6)
½ cup water
Pepper to taste
Minced parsley for garnish

Gently cook bacon in a heavy skillet or flameproof casserole until well browned. Skim out pieces with a slotted spoon and reserve. Add onion to fat, drain off a little fat, if desired, and cook until onion is soft, about 7-8 minutes.

Trim off caps of okra and cut okra into ½-inch slices. Add onions to tomatoes and water in non-reactive saucepan. Bring to a simmer. Stir in okra. Cook, partially covered, over moderate heat until okra is tender, about 10 minutes. Toss with the bacon and add pepper to taste. Sprinkle with parsley and serve hot. Serves 4.

■ Josephine Tomoranski of Troy wanted a basic Melba Sauce (non-fat) that she can serve over fresh peaches, angel food cake or ice cream. Here's a recipe from Momma's recipe box.

Melba Sauce

1 package frozen raspberries (not packed in syrup)
½ cup currant jelly
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Pinch of salt

Combine all ingredients in a stainless saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and stir with a wire whisk while simmering for 5 minutes. Strain mixture through a fine sieve and chill for at least 1 hour before serving. Makes about 2 cups of sauce.

■ Looking for an incredibly easy dinner on one of these "dog days of summer" eves? This recipe can be made while camping, and the kids will love it too!.

Cheese Fondued

2 cups Swiss cheese, cut into small cubes
12 ounces beer, dry white wine, chicken broth or apple juice
1 clove garlic, chopped or 1 teaspoon chopped garlic
3 tablespoons flour or cornstarch
Salt and pepper to taste
Vegetables and bread for dipping

Place liquid in a heavy saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce to a simmer and stir in garlic. Sprinkle chopped cheese with flour or cornstarch. Stir into simmering liquid. Stir over low heat for 4-5 minutes.

Serve with vegetables — broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, zucchini, mushrooms, pepper strips, etc., and a good, crusty bakery style bread cut into cubes. Serves 4.

Betty's Hot And Sexy Potato Salad

6 medium potatoes
1 can (10¾ ounces) cream of celery soup, undiluted
1 cup (8 ounces) sour cream
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mild cheddar cheese
½ cup chopped celery
4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
¼ pound bacon, fried, drained, and crumbled into bits

Scrub potatoes and boil in water for 30 minutes. Drain and cool slightly. Peel and cut into cubes. Combine soup, sour cream and cheese in bowl and mix well. Add potatoes, celery, eggs, onion and mix until blended. Spoon mixture into a 13-by-9-by-2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with bacon bits.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Approximately 8 servings.

Recipe compliments of Betty Ryan.

Summertime Carrot Salad

4 large carrots, coarsely grated
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup sour cream and ½ cup mayonnaise, mixed
2-4 tablespoons dark brown sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Toss lightly in large bowl. Refrigerate until serving. Approximately 8 servings.

Recipe compliments of Betty Ryan.

Here are some flavorful marinades for 6 skinless chicken breast halves, or 6 salmon steaks.

Basil-Parsley Herb Paste

2 tablespoons walnuts
4 tablespoons olive oil
10-12 fresh basil leaves
3-4 spigs Italian parsley
1 clove garlic

Thoroughly wash and dry basil and parsley. In a food processor, chop walnuts, olive oil, basil, parsley and garlic. Spread mixture on chicken or salmon and grill. Garnish with fresh basil leaves.

Rosemary-Thyme Sauce

4-6 branches fresh rosemary (set aside a branch)
2-4 branches of thyme
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons Teriyaki sauce
1 clove garlic
Paprika and black pepper to taste

Baste chicken or salmon with Teriyaki sauce. For a more intense flavor, marinate for several hours. Pull leaves off rosemary and thyme branches and chop with garlic. Add to oil. Brush chicken with herb mixture.

Sprinkle with paprika and pepper. Grill chicken or salmon. Sprinkle whole rosemary leaves on chicken or salmon while grilling for more intense flavor.

Lemon-Dill Marinade

Juice of one whole lemon
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 sprigs dill, chopped
1 clove garlic
Salt and pepper to taste

Marinate chicken or salmon in lemon juice and oil for several hours. Spread garlic and dill on chicken or salmon and grill.

Recipes compliments of March Heller Fisher.

Roberta's And Rita's Blueberry Tart

Tart crust:
1 cup sifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
½ cup butter (1 stick)
1 tablespoon white vinegar
Fruit Mixture:
1 cup sugar (or less according to taste)
2 tablespoons flour
Dash of cinnamon and nutmeg
4 cups blueberries (or a mixture of blueberries, raspberries, and blackberries)

To make tart crust — mix flour, sugar and salt. Blend butter into flour mixture using a fork or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add vinegar. Pat dough into a 9-inch springform pan, spreading dough 1-inch up sides of pan. Refrigerate until ready.

To make Fruit mixture: Mix sugar, flour and spices. Toss with 2 cups of blueberries. Place in springform pan. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Remove from oven and immediately place remaining two cups of berries on top. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Recipe compliments of Roberta Granadier and Rita Pearlman.

Peach Lemon Supreme Cake

1 lemon cake mix
⅓ cup oil
Powdered sugar
½ cup Jabars' Peach Wine Vinaigrette
Blend cake mix, oil and vinaigrette. Bake as directed on cake mix. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Cucumber Salad

2 or 3 cucumbers, sliced
½ red onion — cut into rings
¼ cup lemon-lime vinaigrette (or any other fruit flavor)
1 teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup vegetable oil (optional)

Combine all ingredients and chill before serving.

Fruit Salad With Raspberry Vinaigrette Dressing

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 (12 ounce) container Cool Whip
¼ cup raspberries — optional
½ cup Jabars' Complements Raspberry Vinaigrette
1 large can mushrooms
1 cup walnuts
6 apples — cut up
½ cup raisins

Mix olive oil, vinaigrette, Cool Whip, and raspberries until thickened. Blend in mushrooms, raisins, walnuts and apples. Yield 1 quart.

Zucchini is easy to prepare, good for you

We're told you can never get too much of a good thing. However, if your vegetable garden is currently overflowing with zucchini — and you've given away all that neighbors, relatives and friends will take — you'll welcome some new ideas for using this prolific produce.

While not as vitamin-packed as their winter counterparts, summer squash like zucchini contain healthy amounts of vitamin C and A as well as other vitamins and minerals. They are very low in calories and sodium. That (coupled with almost excessive availability) is why you'll want to include lots of zucchini in your menu planning.

Serve it simply steamed or broiled with a bit of butter, celery salt and grated Parmesan cheese. Try the classic French ratatouille to use zucchini with eggplant, tomatoes, green peppers and onions, seasoned with garlic, thyme and basil. Slice young zucchini with cucumbers and romaine lettuce in a salad with a light vinaigrette dressing. Or make a goulash of zucchini, onion, mushrooms, lean ground beef, minced green pepper and peeled, ripe tomatoes, seasoned with paprika, basil and parsley.

Grated zucchini is an excellent add-on to baked goods such as muffins, breads, cakes or cookies. The zucchini makes them moist, delicious, and more nutritious, and few will ever guess the secret ingredient.

Don't overlook zucchni as an add-on to your favorite ethnic dishes. Use it as a pizza topping, in a stir-fry recipe, or as filling for enchiladas or crepes. Include shredded zucchini in a frittata or in pancakes — puree it and use in a variety of casseroles and soups. It's great for making relish or pickles as well.

When zucchini grows too large for other uses, stuff it with some of your favorite foods. Simply parboil it until tender, scoop out and discard the pithy part and seeds. Then fill the cavity with diced vegetables, stir-fries, Spanish rice — whatever you'd like. Here's a recipe from the American Institute for Cancer Research.

Zucchini And Tomatoes

1 small zucchini, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 small onion, sliced into ¼-inch wedges
Vegetable oil spray
1 tablespoon water
2 small tomatoes (or 1 large tomato), cut into small wedges
½ teaspoon garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 oz. cooked pasta (optional)

Using a 9-inch skillet sprayed with vegetable oil, cook the zucchini and onion over medium heat. Add water as the zucchini and onion start to stick to the pan. Add the remaining ingredients and cook on low heat for 3 minutes or until the zucchini has reached a desired tenderness. Stir constantly to prevent sticking. Serve over cooked pasta. Serves 2, each serving contains 52 calories and 1 gram of fat.

Fall's shoes make strides in fashion

Feminine slingbacks, shiny mock croc pumps, chunky-heeled loafers, nostalgic T-straps, mod patent-leather boots and sexy satin party shoes. These are the footwear silhouettes that will complement fall's decidedly glamorous and spirited fashions.

The shoes, like the clothes, are wearable (bypass the stiletto heels) believable and have a modern attitude with retro styling. I looked to Edward Dorian Shoes, 237 Pierce in Birmingham, for a selection of new fall footwear trends.

Owner Nancy Paley pointed to Martinez Valero's rich brown mock croc straight-heel pump for a classic and refined dress shoe ($103). Another new contour is the alluring chocolate suede T-strap, also by Valero ($121), and the stacked heel, square-toe bootie by Seychelles, again in a dark mocha leather ($104). "The animal influence is also hot," said Paley. Franco Sarto designs a very tailored loafer with a furry jaguar-patterned inset. You'll also be seeing leopard-print dress shoes and boots. And check out Michigan's own Hush Puppies, the waterproof blucher in new for-the-'90s colors, including lilac.

Made for walkin'

For all of you wild flower children, the season's newest trend is the sleek, high-luster go-go boot. White patent leather is the obvious choice of the truly fashion-forward, but Gucci shows a more conventional black patent boot with its signature silver horse bit.

For casual days, look for lug-bottom boots, chunky loafers accented with sliver I.D. bracelets and gold bits, and soft leather high-shaft lace-up boots. All of these styles are available at Enzo Angiolini at Twelve Oaks mall in Novi. The kids crave the shoe styles they see on their older teenage idols, and the folks at Greg Shoes, 6325 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield, are determined to give them what they want. Rebels is a line of canvas play shoes that feature black or white chunky heels and lug soles in boots ($45), low-tops ($32) and T-straps ($32), and red hot for fall — the same styles in nubuck and suede.

Casual chic

Finally, for all the casual-Friday guys out there, Timberland defines classic footwear styling. The new Wingtip is waterproof with a lightweight "dress" outsole and a glove lining ($150). It comes in walnut, a rich, golden brown that's perfect with khakis. A leather chukka bush hiker features oil-tanned Nubuck leather and a removable EVA footbed.

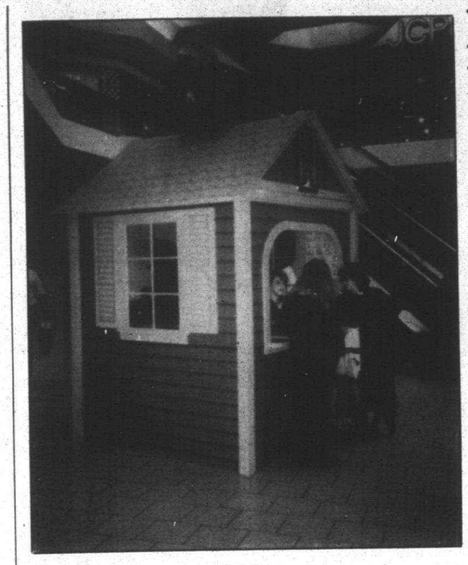

Available in eight colors, the original Pinnacle workboot is covered with silicone and offers thermal microfiber insulation ($140). Of course, Timberland also manufactures trail-friendly Euro Hikers and several rugged styles for women. Available at fine retail stores including Mr. Alan's and Sherman Shoes.

New mall program benefits education

Lakeside, Twelve Oaks and Fairlane shopping centers have a program that turns customer purchases into dollars for education. The malls expect to donate about $250,000 in supplies and materials to schools around the state.

Because they know how hard educators and PTAs already work, and because they know how tight funds for education can be, and because they want you to shop at their centers exclusively, three shopping malls have come up with a program to benefit local schools.

Called "Be True To Your School," the program runs Monday, Aug. 21, through March 31, 1996, at Lakeside in Sterling Heights, Twelve Oaks in Novi, and Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. Shoppers simply look for the red schoolhouse booths strategically placed throughout the malls and show their store receipts for credits toward educational materials for the school of their choice.

The "schoolhouses" will be staffed by mall personnel during regular mall hours. Shoppers' receipts will be stamped, returned to them, and applied to their school's running tally. All administrative details will be handled by the shopping centers. Receipts are totaled daily and computer-tabulated; reports of credits earned are sent monthly to participating schools.

When "Be True To Your School" ends in March, schools can use their credits to purchase materials from the most-respected educational vendors in the country — National Geographic, PBS Video and Follett Library, to name a few.

"The receipts can come from anything you buy at the mall," explained Ava Demonja of Fairlane. "Like a cup of coffee from the Coffee Beanery, a refrigerator from Sears, a movie ticket from the mall's cinema. The only requirement is that the purchase be made between Aug. 21, 1995, and March 31, 1996." Receipts do not need to be credited the same day of the shopping trip.

Demonja said the "Be True To Your School" program was piloted in both Washington, D.C., and Baltimore for several years before being adopted for the metro Detroit area. She estimated that schools earn a $1 credit for every $200 spent, and the amount accumulates quickly since the program runs during the most-shopped months of the year, fall through the holidays.

Tel-Twelve welcomes its Media Play

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Media Play is open at Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield with a "concept that's so right for the '90s," according to manager Tom Klein.

"Where else can you go for one-stop entertainment shopping?" he asked. "We've got everything from books to music to computer software to films — thousands of titles all under one roof for everyone in the family."

The Tel-Twelve store is the second Media Play in metro Detroit. The first opened in July on Telegraph in Pontiac across from Summit Place Mall. Two more Media Plays are about to open in Roseville and Utica.

The Southfield store completes the build-out of Tel-Twelve Mall and assures "a whole new population of mall traffic," according to mall manager Richard Fair. "Media Play anchors the south side of the center," he said. "And although Media Play has a separate entrance and is not accessible through the mall, we expect many of their shoppers to visit mall stores, too."

Media Play was founded in 1992 in Rockford, Ill., as the growth arm of the Musicland Stores Corp., which also owns Suncoast Motion Picture, On Cue and Sam Goody. Based in Minneapolis, Musicland is the leading specialty retailer of pre-recorded home-entertainment products in the U.S.

At the Tel-Twelve Mall store, the second floor holds the books and children's department, while the lower level houses videos, compact discs, tapes, computer software, motion-picture memorabilia, and a Euro-style cafe.

Media Play offers 40 percent off hardcovers on the current New York Times list of best sellers. In the music department Billboard's Top 25 selections are also discounted every day.

Interactive displays in each department allow shoppers to sample music and preview films and video games.

Media Play plans craft and story hours for children, book signings and poetry readings for adults.

Spokeswoman Kathleen Davies said customers spend an average of 1½ hours in the store during their first visit. "And they buy," she said. "Sales in the 13 Media Play units opened in 1994 averaged $9.2 million."

Media Play encourages shoppers to linger with comfortable seating and well-marked departments that lead into one another.

"No one pulls entertainment together like we do," Klein said. "We're just so right for the '90s. With approximately 50,000 square feet of sales floor and an inventory of 200,000 stock-keeping units, (SKUs) we're like the rage of retail these days, the superstores."

Retailers can submit announcements of upcoming events and promotions for Added Attractions. The deadline is the Wednesday before publication on Monday. Send the facts to: Malls & Mainstreets, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009. Or fax to: (810) 644-1314.

'customers of tomorrow," she continued. "We believe in their education. We want to build a positive relationship with the communities that support us. If all goes well, we hope to continue this program for many years."

Elaine Kah of Twelve Oaks said that during informal discussions about the program with educators and mall merchants, their response was "overwhelming and enthusiastic."

"We knew we had a good thing going," she said with a smile. "Now we hope shoppers think so too. The program was made easy for both educators and shoppers. The malls are doing all the work! The shoppers just have to shop, and the teachers just have to pick out learning materials in the spring."

Receipts can be applied to any school in Michigan, public or private, grades kindergarten through 12. The schools are expected to order videos, CD-ROMS, computer software, books and other reference materials from the credits earned by their supporters.

Last year in Washington, D.C., 300,000 receipts were credited during the program's eight-month period.

To kick off "Be True To Your School," a savings bond sweepstakes will be held Aug. 21 through Sept. 30 at Lakeside, Twelve Oaks and Fairlane. Shoppers who stop at the schoolhouse booths can enter to win savings bonds valued at $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000. Three winners will be drawn at each mall on Oct. 2.

"It's a great bonus for families with children," said Lenore Twoey of Farmington Hills after learning about the program. "It seems we're at the mall every weekend anyway, buying shoes, clothes and music for the kids. Now our dollars will go further. It's a wonderful idea."

■ SHOPPING SPREE WINNER

Milton Stearn of Southfield won a $250 shopping spree from Tel-Twelve Mall by entering a random drawing contest during the mall's sidewalk sale days. When asked how he would spend his windfall, Stearn and wife Bertha said, "We're thinking of getting either a refrigerator, an electric stove, or possibly a car phone." Or they just might treat their granddaughter to a back-to-school wardrobe.

■ BOOMING BASKETS

Basket Kreations of Canton has moved and expanded to a new location in the same plaza, Golden Gate Shopping Center, 8465 Lilley. Owner Stella DeLap welcomes inquiries at (313) 453-4040.

■ SEAMSTRESS RELOCATES

Veronika Braslavsky of NIKA, Fashion and Design Alterations, moved to 920 East Lincoln in Birmingham, Suite 8. She uses her European training in combination with a fine-arts background to create new designs and alter existing clothing. For details, call (810) 433-3262.

■ HUDSON'S BREAKS GROUND

Construction of a new Hudson's store is under way in Port Huron at the Birchwood Mall. The store will open in the fall of 1997, becoming number 23 for the department store chain.

■ TOSS UPS DOING WELL

Kevin Morford's Toss Ups restaurant on Woodward just south of Maple in downtown Birmingham is doing so well he's planned a second location for the new Somerset North food court in Troy. "All my entrees are low fat or no fat," Morford said. "That includes the cheeses and dressings. I have no-fat cheesecakes and brownies, too. It's the way to eat if you want to live longer and feel better." There is seating in the Toss Ups cafe and pickup and delivery service. Inquiries are welcome at (810) 647-7272.

■ UNIQUE DESIGNS SHOW

Objects of Art hosts a Wearables Show through Saturday, Sept. 9, at 6243 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Shoppers will find one-of-a-kind silk scarves, whimsical vests, practical purses, hand-painted separates and knitwear. Call for details, (810) 539-3332.

Mall to hosts MDA auction

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Behind the scenes: Livonia Mall is set for its annual auction of celebrity items to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The excitement begins at 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 19, when TV2 meteorologist Chris Edwards picks up the auctioneer's microphone. Gathered to promote the event are: (from left) Janice Morrow, Gary Vartal, Beverly Schmitz and Brett Marquard. The American International Circus will also perform throughout the day.

Mall computer spotlights city hall

Laurel Park Place, in a joint venture with the city of Livonia, has unveiled the "City Hall in the Mall" computer information kiosk at the Six Mile Road entrance to the mall.

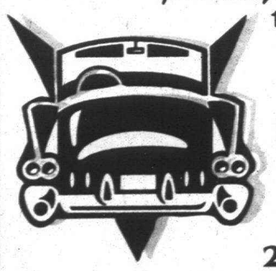

This new, state-of-the-art, touch-screen terminal allows shoppers to get information about Livonia city services, events and elected officials.

"This is the first time in Michigan that government and the private sector have worked together to provide information to area residents in a user-friendly format such as this," said councilman Dale Jurcisin.

BEEF INDUSTRY COUNCIL

Steak out: Lemon-Herbed Steak and Vegetables is easy to prepare and ready in 30 minutes.

Lemon steaks easy to fix in 30 minutes

Looking to liven up your next dinner? Just grab a lemon to add some real zest and a terrific flavor spark to beef steak.

Easy to prepare (under 30 minutes) and simply sizzling with a zesty blend of lemon peel, garlic, thyme and pepper, Lemon-Herbed Steak, a recipe from the Beef Industry Council, is sure to become a fast favorite this summer.

LEMON-HERBED STEAK AND VEGETABLES

1 boneless beef top sirloin steak, cut 1-inch thick (approximately 1¼ pounds)
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
Salt to taste
1 package (16 ounces) frozen vegetable mixture
Seasoning:
2 large cloves garlic, crushed
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon pepper

In small bowl, combine seasoning ingredients; mix well. Remove 1 tablespoon seasoning; press evenly into both sides of beef steak. Stir butter, lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon salt into remaining seasoning in bowl; set aside.

Place steak on grid over medium ash-covered coals. Grill steak uncovered 16-20 minutes for medium rare to medium doneness, turning once.

Meanwhile, prepare vegetables according to package directions. Combine vegetables and reserved butter mixture; toss to coat.

Trim fat from steak. Carve steak crosswise into thick slices; season with salt as desired. Serve with vegetables. Serves 4.

Canton Lightning strikes

The Canton Lightning, an Under-12 boys soccer team, went undefeated in four games to win its fourth-straight tournament Aug. 6 at the Cherryland Invitational Tournament in Traverse City.

The Lightning, who will be playing in the Little Caesars Premier League in the fall, beat the Rochester Knights in the championship game, 3-2.

Team players include Jeffrey Bennett, Jai Bilimoria, Daniel Boylan, David Daigneau, Ryan Foley, Nick Houdek, Brent Kwiatkowski, Daniel Longpre, Pat Meyn, Randy Palis, Jason Priebe, Aaron Schmidt, Kevin Schopieray, Matt Strabbing, Ken Taylor, Ben Wielechowski and Jamie Zdrodowski. The team is coached by Watson Zdrodowski, Leroy Schopieray and Michael Longpre. Lyle Wensley is the trainer.

Boots resigns post

John Boots, who posted a 24-11-4 record in two seasons as the varsity boys soccer coach at Livonia Churchill, has resigned.

Boots, who guided Churchill to the 1993 Western Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association, informed Churchill principal Rod Hosman of his decision two weeks ago.

"John said he sent Don Albertson (Churchill's athletic director) a letter in June, but Don said he never received the letter," Hosman said. "John called me and said he was having some pressure as far as traveling with his business. It was a time commitment issue."

The Churchill principal said he has a strong candidate in mind and plans to name a replacement by today to coincide with the start of preseason practice.

Hosman said Boots' junior varsity coach, Roy Larner, must also be replaced.

Boots, who is heavily involved in coaching club soccer, was formerly the varsity coach at Redford Catholic Central High before he was relieved of his duties.

Hosman said he is not aware that Boots has taken another boys varsity position.

"John's always been a straight shooter with me and I'd be a little disappointed if he's at any other high school boys job this fall," Hosman said. "I talked to him a couple of times in the spring and he had planned to come back.

"But from the standpoint of the timing, it hasn't given us a lot of time. Luckily we have somebody in mind who works and has coached in our district."

Boots could not be reached for comment on Friday.

Livonia Lynx 1st

The Livonia Lynx, a boys under-15 soccer team, recently captured a tournament in Traverse City with victories over the Leelanau Sting (6-0), Brighton Express (7-1), Sault (Ontario) Civics (3-0) and the Livonia Turbos in the finals (4-0).

Members of the Lynx, who will become the Livonia Wings in the boys under-16 Little Caesars League next spring, include: Newell Bentley, Scott Cashmore, Jim Franko and John Griffin, all from Redford Catholic Central High; Mike Friedland, Tom Pichler, Joel Stage and Matt Wysocki of Livonia Churchill; Bryan Radcliffe; Tim Davis and Paul Glaspie, Livonia Stevenson; Ben Davis, Plymouth Christian Academy; Nate Cooper, Southfield-Lathrup; Bob Brenner and Scott Garrant, South Lyon; Matt Hoger, University of Detroit Jesuit; Jason Pinard, and Wayne Memorial.

The Lynx are coached Larry Brenner, Jacques Pinard and Eric Radcliffe.

Murinas tourney runner-up

Katie Murinas of Plymouth Salem took second place, losing by one stroke to Katie Nolan of Saline, in a playoff hole at the Herb Fowler Junior Golf Association Tournament at Huron Hills in Ann Arbor. Murinas finished the three-day tournament with a score of 257 to tie for first place and force the playoff hole.

Canton golf tournament

The Canton Parks and Recreation Services sponsored its Annual Junior Golf Tournament, which attracted 41 participants.

The top three finishers for each age group of the nine-hole event won prizes.

Brad Volas recorded 35 to win the 15-18 year old division. Adam Allen was second, 47, and Tim Lueck and Matt Heiss tied for third 48.

Aaron Nephew won the 12-14 division with 41, one stroke ahead of Steven Lueck and Matt Leon, who tied for second. Ryan Nimmergath placed third with 46.

Brian Germain took first place in the 11-12 age group with 42. Alex Stojek was second, 47, and Branden Volas, Bobby Groat and Brian Chiesa tied for third, 49.

Another thrill for Mill — Lions TD

Mill Coleman was on familiar turf again Thursday, contributing a touchdown to a Detroit Lions preseason victory.

By Dan O'Meara
Staff Writer

When he played for Harrison High School, Mill Coleman threw touchdown passes in the Silverdome but probably never thought he would catch one there.

Coleman, now a free-agent rookie trying to make the Detroit Lions team, was finally on the receiving end Thursday night.

The former Michigan State wide receiver caught his first professional touchdown pass in the Lions 19-3 preseason victory over the Jacksonville Jaguars.

"It was nice to catch my first TD here in front of my family and friends," said Coleman, who knew where to find his parents in the crowd of some 44,000. "When I came back to the sideline, I saw my mom waving to me.

"Obviously, the high school and pro ranks are two different levels, but when you score a TD you still get the same type of feeling inside."

It was Coleman's first game in the Silverdome since he guided the Hawks to a last-minute, comeback win over DeWitt in the Class B championship game six years ago.

Coleman played in three consecutive state finals as the Harrison quarterback (1987-89) and led the Hawks to back-to-back titles as a junior and senior.

"I was joking with my roommate (fellow rookie/wide receiver Kez McCorvey from Florida State) and telling him I worked my magic here in high school," Coleman said. "I told him I made a move at this spot on the field."

The circumstances are different for Coleman now. He isn't the All-American quarterback and star player.

Instead he's trying to impress the Lions coaches with the goal of just making the team.

"All I can do is come out and work hard, do the things the coaches ask me to do and hope they like it," Coleman said. "I try to stay alert and not make mental errors; I just try to do the right things.

"I think I've been having a good camp, but there's no report card or evaluation on how I played. I don't ask (the coaches) 'How am I doing?' "

Coleman was asked if his performance Thursday — two receptions for 22 yards and two punt returns for 14 yards — will make it hard for the Lions to not keep him around.

"You'll have to ask coach (Wayne) Fontes that," he said, "but that's what I'm trying to do.

"I'm trying to make it hard for him to keep me off the team. I've been busting my butt all summer just to have the chance to play in the NFL."

After standing, kneeling and sitting on the sideline in the first half — Coleman knew he wouldn't play that soon — he was on the field every other play for the first two offensive series of the second half.

Of the first six plays, Coleman ran his pass routes while the ball went to someone else (five passes/one run). Then came the 7-yard TD toss from backup quarterback Don Majkowski.

On third down, Coleman cut across the middle of the end zone and was suddenly wide open. He raised his hands to draw attention, but it seemed like forever before Majkowski spotted him.

"The ball seemed like it was coming to me in slow motion," Coleman said.

"I wasn't his primary read. I think he got flushed out of the pocket. He was stepping up to avoid the rush, and I came into his field of vision. I just wanted to make sure I caught it."

After scoring the TD, Coleman, always reserved and never a showboat, did something college rules had prohibited. He spiked the ball.

"I said to myself 'Hey, I can spike this ball. I'm not in college anymore.' "

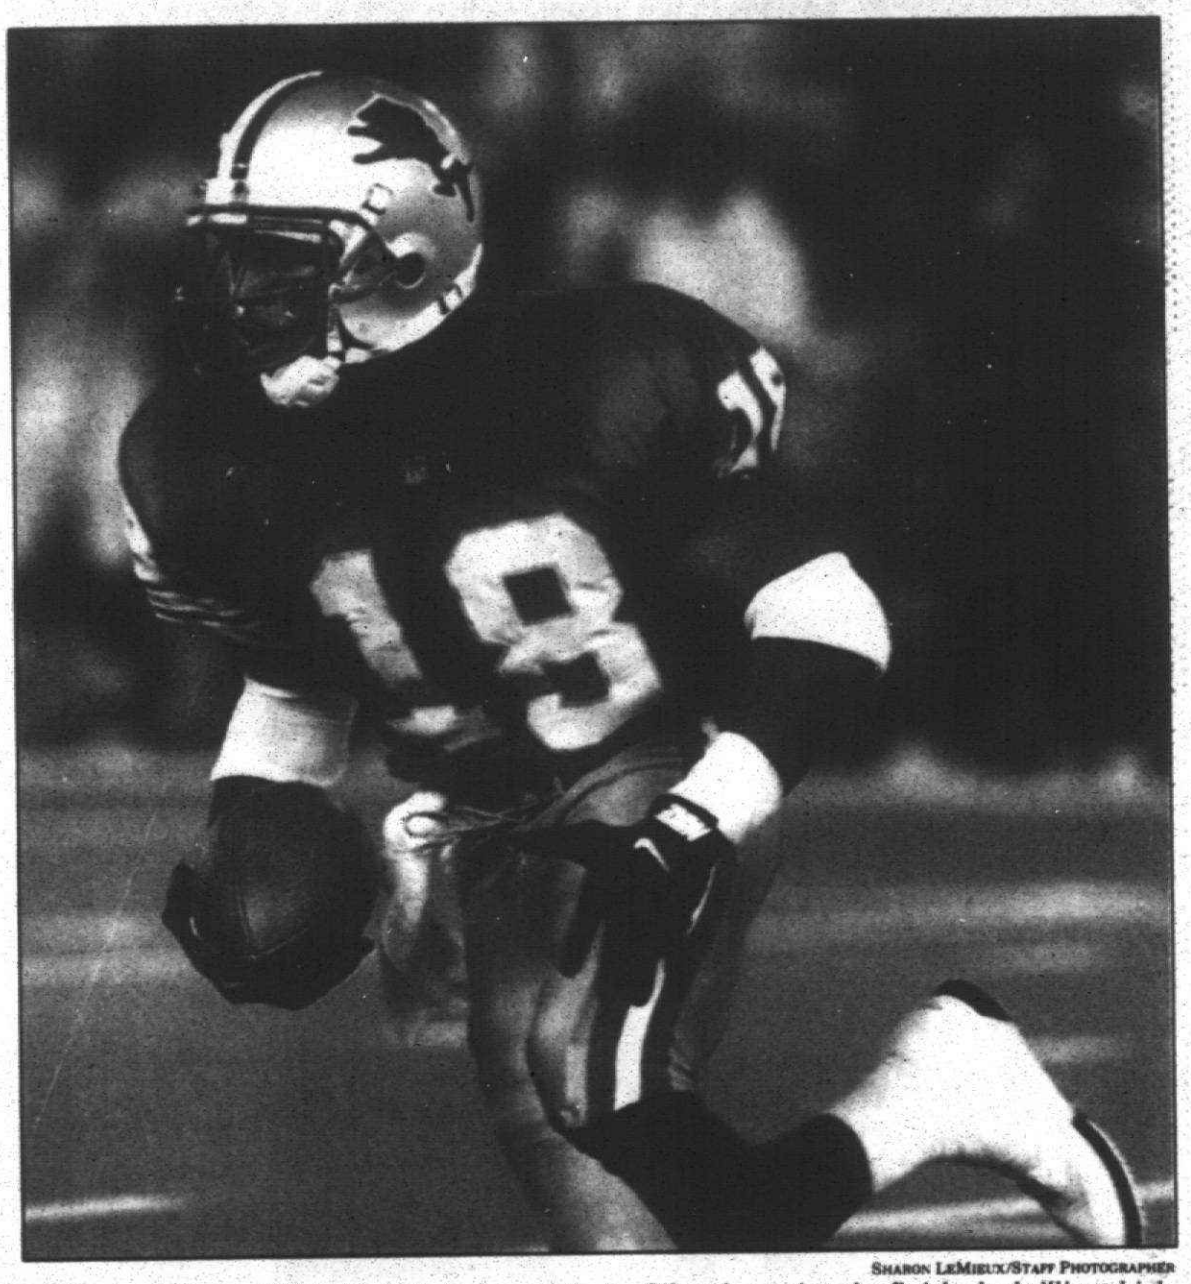

"I was really happy; I was on Cloud Nine, but I came back down to earth and put it back in perspective when I got to the sideline."

Coleman reminded himself that it was only a preseason game and, with several still to go, he can't afford to get too comfortable.

But he does hope results like that register with the Lions coaches.

"It's all about getting out there and showing the coaches something and convincing them I'm capable of being on this team," he said.

"I've been picking things up and working hard. I just want to see my name on that final roster list when the preseason camp is over."

Roberts: Drug tests for preps not likely

Jack Roberts, director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, recently discussed current sports issues with members of the Observer & Eccentric sports staff.

The two sides covered a variety of topics which will have impact on the 1995-96 school year.

Here are the questions put to Roberts and his responses.

Q: What's the MHSAA's official stand on the national drug policy recently acted upon by the U.S. Supreme Court, which allows school districts to test student-athletes?

A: "Due to the expense involved of testing, no one thinks it's going to become pervasive in the schools. Also, because of the lack of justification of for doing so. There is no evidence that athletes abuse drugs more than other students. In fact, the evidence suggests otherwise; so why would we be testing a group of students who use less? It would be a bit out of perspective.

"Florida adopted a policy to test, then found it couldn't afford it. I haven't heard of any schools that will test without reasonable cause."

Q: Lacrosse has become an increasingly popular sport (in certain areas). Is there a possibility it will become a state-sanctioned sport over the next couple of years?

A: "There are between 40 and 50 (lacrosse) teams identified with schools, but fewer than 12 are sponsored by a school. Only when the number reaches 70 or more does the MHSAA sponsor a tournament. That's only 10 percent, and we're a long way away. Forty or 50 reflects growth, but a dozen is a pretty flat number.

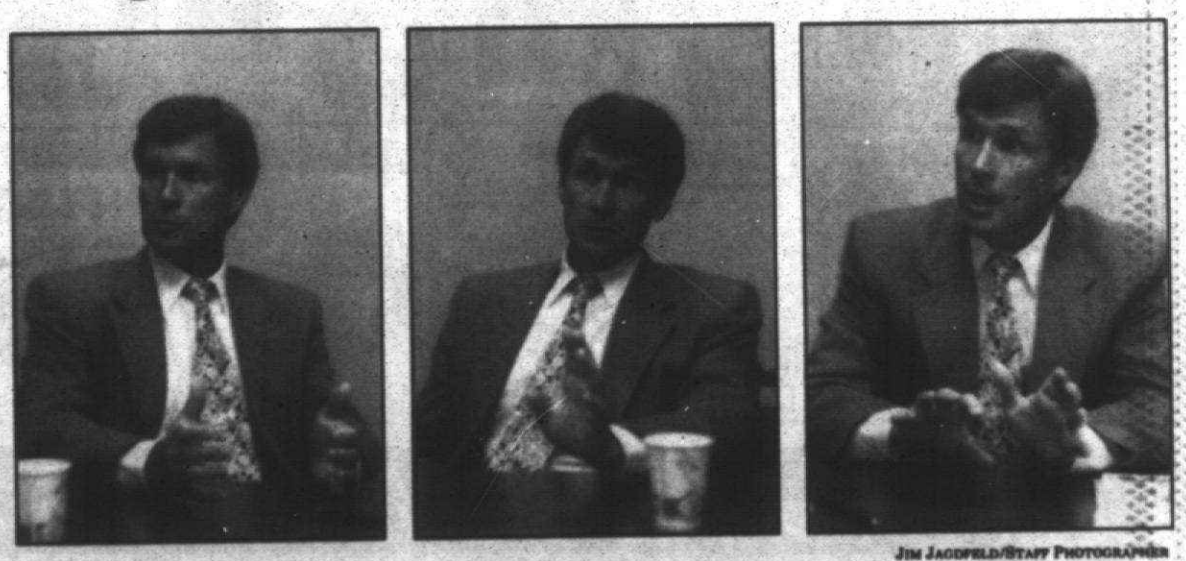

"Long before lacrosse is boys volleyball. There are 100 to 200 schools ready to go. Boys want to play, but schools may be reluctant to sponsor because they have attained equality in the number of sports between boys and girls.

"There are close to 70 (boys volleyball) teams identified with schools, but not officially sponsored by schools. Nineteen are actually sponsored.

"From time to time, boys want to demonstrate they can play on girls teams. We all remember the time four boys won the girls (state) bowling championship in Illinois. Hence, the policy is boys are not permitted on girls teams in tournaments."

Q: Most schools in the area and a number of other counties already employ mega conferences or they are looking into them. Is this a trend that the MHSAA is alarmed

CC graduate McCaul seeks defensive help

By Steve Kowalski
Staff Writer

When Steve McCaul joined the Detroit Neon last year as a rookie, he accepted the team's request of him to concentrate on defense.

Now he's asking some of his teammates to make a similar commitment.

McCaul, who played forward throughout his amateur career at Redford Catholic Central and Michigan State University, said he feels helpless on some nights as a Neon defender. The Neon are 1-13 overall and in last place in the Eastern Division of the Continental Indoor Soccer League.

"I still love it, but it's not much fun realizing you're 1-12," McCaul said in a telephone interview prior to Thursday night's loss to Anaheim, the Neon's 10th straight defeat.

McCaul said one of the problems is the system the Neon use with midfielder Drago, who was the second-leading scorer in the CISL last year with 53 goals and 60 assists.

After losing seven of their first eight games, the Neon chose to employ a "runner" system with Drago. What that means is Drago plays offense but doesn't have to play defense.

When the ball crosses midfield into the Neon's end of the field, Drago heads to the bench on the fly and is replaced by a "runner," who happens to be the speedy Earl Parris.

■ 'Drago says his defense takes away from his offense, but it's hurting us, you can't play like that, especially in the indoor game. The pace is so quick and Drago isn't exactly in a hurry to get off the field.'

Steve McCaul
Neon defender

With 14 games remaining, Drago has seven goals and 16 assists, which is far off his production of a year ago. His popularity, however, with fans probably helped earn him a berth in the All-Star game, which will be played Tuesday in Portland.

"Drago says his defense takes away from his offense, but it's hurting us, you can't play like that, especially in the indoor game," said McCaul, a Livonia native. "The pace is so quick and Drago isn't exactly in a hurry to get off the field. Earl is faster than hell, and I admire him, but by the time he gets on the field there's already a three-on-one break. The big problem is not everyone gets back on defense — and the major one is Drago — and it's showing right now."

Drago, uh, defends the system, which he believes will benefit the Neon in the last half of the season. He scored three goals and three assists in a 14-7 loss Aug. 5 at Las Vegas, so maybe he's ready to break out of his slump.

"The first eight games, I'm basically (playing) a defender, by God," said Drago, reached by phone Friday. "I'm the best in the country at going forward, for me to spend so much energy chasing players around the field doesn't make sense. It's much better to create a 'runner.' I rarely get excited about players, but Earl has such a big heart. He's one of the best in what he does."

Andy Chapman, who is only the third player in indoor soccer history to score 600 goals, is the Neon's other All-Star representative. Chapman became player/coach last month after the Neon fired Chris Keenan. He was unavailable for comment Friday night.

McCaul missed five games this year after twisting his left knee in a loss July 9 to Pittsburgh. When he's been healthy, McCaul has been considerable action. He has one goal, no assists and 10 blocks.

Two of the Neon losses in their current slide have been especially heartbreaking.

Steve McCaul

On July 22 against Dallas, the Neon wasted a 7-1 lead and lost 9-8 on a goal with three seconds left at the Palace. On Friday, Aug. 4 at Arizona, the Neon took a 4-3 lead with 18 seconds left on Bobby Harmon's goal, only to watch the home team force overtime with a goal with six seconds remaining.

Arizona won the game 5-4 in overtime.

McCaul watched in disbelief from the bench as Arizona tied the score with an extra attacker on the field after pulling the goalkeeper.

"Joe Murtagh was sitting next to me and we both thought, 'It's about time we turn it around.' Then they scored, we looked at each other and said, 'What the hell,' " McCaul said.

about? Or, is it really of no concern as long as the teams are in some kind of alignment?

A: "It makes for fewer, but better thought-out proposals (coming to the MHSAA) because of the diversity and the different size schools within a (mega) conference. There's a better debate before it even reaches the MHSAA.

"There are 38 schools now in the Ottawa-Kent (OK) Conference and 31 in the Macomb-Area Conference.

"Because of sub-divisions in mega conferences, same size schools and schools with the same caliber of play are more able to fill out and complete schedules.

"We have no authority for conference realignment. Administrators determine the advantages.

"These large conferences may lobby for a point of view, but if they represent a larger group of schools they represent a more reasoned point of view than in the past."

Q: How does the MHSAA view the state wrestling tournament. The state and individual tournaments seem to greatly conflict with one another. At the (team) district and regional levels at state, it's kind of a joke with teams forfeiting all together and certain individuals saving themselves for the individual tournament. Is there a problem as far as the MHSAA is concerned?

A: "The problem is no greater than in the sport of baseball. We see schools not showing for district tournaments with less reason than they might have in wrestling.

"If a coach treats it that way (withholding individuals), it's unfortunate because it sends a terrible message that some individuals are greater than the team. Some of the things we try to teach are contradicted by certain practices or actions.

"It's up to the coaches to promote their sport. The team wrestling tournament was part of an effort to rejuvenate the sport at a time when the numbers were going down. A coach is absolutely right to be critical of another coach (when he doesn't send his best kids out on the mat or voids matches.)

"My favorite two hours in high school sports are the semifinals of the team wrestling tournament (at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena). It's speaks volumes because of its competitiveness. Of all that we have going on, I try not to miss those semifinals of the team tournament. It's terrific."

Q: Has the MHSAA considered holding separate tournaments for public and non-public schools? Has anyone considered changing the transfer rule from sitting out one semester to a whole year?

A: "I don't think separate tournaments are in our best interest. We strive to accommodate public and non-public schools and make the playing field as level as possible."

Q: Does the MHSAA need added staff to handle complaints regarding allegations about recruiting and undue influence of student-athletes?

A: "If you have statewide schools of choice, in effect you're going to have recruiting.

"When you give aid based on academic need and academic performance, it's difficult to investigate, but the MHSAA's Representative Council has added one more requirement to the investigative procedure.

"If there is a pattern of disproportionality, all documentation needs to be completed when it comes to providing financial aid records.

"It bothers me when allegations are made, but there's not time to investigate that. It's up to the principals to report themselves.

"You really can't devote much time to do it. I get involved personally when the staff is already taxed. When I get a sense of that, I get involved myself."

Q: Do you think the MHSAA would ever support switching girls basketball to a winter sport or volleyball to the fall?

A: "We have the best situation with two seasons. There is some discontent in the volleyball community, but it would be tremendously divisive if we were to make that change. Probably the majority of our members would be angry about it. I can't imagine why we would make a change that's not in the majority opinion.

"Our girls are the most recruited in the country, because their sports are in season at a different time of year (as opposed to most of the nation). College coaches have more time to devote to Michigan when those sports are in season."

Q: What about the state of the football playoffs?

A: "Every year we learn a little more. Late in the year it's better to play on Saturday. It's better to have two games Saturday (at one site) instead of one Friday and one Saturday.

"We won't be doing away with the regions (in favor of a seeding format). It was proposed we award eight more points for beating a AA team, but that was defeated. The more point divisions you have the more pressure you put on conferences."

Q: Is there any plan to expand the state tennis tournaments to a 4-4 format (four singles and four doubles flights)?

A: "It was defeated again; it comes up almost annually.

"One objection is the rich would get richer, and it would be even more difficult for a Lansing Eastern to compete with an East Lansing type of thing.

"There's some thought the regionals are too big and too long now."

Q: What are some of the MHSAA's goals and concerns for the 1995-96 school year?

A: "Sportsmanship is always a concern of mine and is always important to me. We've gone forward with the anti-taunting rule that we've picked up and adopted from the National Federation's sports code.

"We're also planning to do extra work with officials. We're trying to find a way to improve our support services to officials' associations and the assigners (athletic directors)."

MHSAA announces new rule changes

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has announced several major rules changes, which were recently passed by the National Federation.

In basketball, bonus free throws will continue to begin on the seventh foul of each half, but the opposing team will now shoot two free throws instead of a one-and-one on the 10th.

Second, no field goal try will be counted if there is three-10ths of a second remaining or less. A tip-in off an inbounds pass would be permitted, but does not apply unless the clock displays tenths of a second.

In football, the two-minute drill has been given a boost. It will allow a quarterback to spike the ball immediately after the snap from center to stop the clock.

In soccer, teams can start a contest with seven uniformed players instead of the previous rule of 11.

Hines Park 2nd in NABF tilt

■ BASEBALL

Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury hitters experienced a revival of sorts, helping coach Dave Carroll's team to a second-place showing at the National Amateur Baseball Federation Tournament in Georgetown, Ky.

Hines Park, mired in a hitting slump during the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs, won four of six games to take second place.

Hines Park was eliminated in the championship game by St. Louis Denny's, 8-3.

Denny's opened up a 6-0 lead, highlighted by a three-run home run, against Hines Park losing pitcher Bryan Besco (Westland John Glenn/University of Michigan).

Hines Park split two earlier games against Denny's.

Hines Park opened the tournament with an 8-4 win over Lexington, Ky. Tom Wakefield (Spring Arbor) earned the pitching victory with a complete-game effort.

Bryan Besco led the hitting attack with a two-run home run in the first inning.

The superb pitching of Brian Paluk (Redford Catholic Central/ Saginaw Valley State) and a solo homer by Jeff Lance helped Hines Park win the second game, 1-0. Paluk scattered three hits and struck out 9.

"He was flat-out dominating, he was the talk of the tournament," Carroll said. "His last pitch (in the seventh inning) was about 89 miles per hour."

Hines Park fell into the loser's bracket, however, losing 6-0 to Denny's.

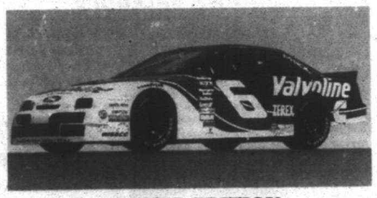

All six runs were charged to losing pitcher Craig Benedict (Plymouth Canton/Madonna).

Hines Park faced Denny's again and this time earned a 5-1 victory. Terry Hayden (University of Detroit) pitched a complete-game victory as Denny's was handed its first defeat.

One of Hayden's teammates from high school at Riverview Gabriel Richard, Kevin Foley, was an important post-season acquisition, according to Carroll. Foley, who played during the regular season with Livonia Little Caesars, had seven hits.

"Kevin Foley fit in perfectly with the kids, he's a great comedian," Carroll said. "Jeff Lance had a great weekend, he played superbly. Brian Kalczynski had a good tournament and so did the Bescos."

Huge Task

Panthers' AD leads fund-raiser

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

It rained Tuesday, so 5-year-old Michael Gibbons spent the afternoon in his parents' living room, playing with a Transformer, one of those toys children love.

His imagination was running wild, so what better time to ask him what he aspires to be?

"I want to be an astronaut, so I can go into outer space," he said. "I have to work real hard in school."

The only thing that seemed to be missing from this picture was Tang (or is Snapple the drink of future astronauts nowadays?)

Michael's father, Jim Gibbons Jr., said his son can't get his mind off being an astronaut since visiting the Kennedy Space Center on a recent family vacation to Florida.

Gibbons, the Redford Union athletic director and the man in charge of the RU Extracurricular Task Force, sees similarities between family vacations and after-school activities.

Give a kid something different from the normal day-to-day routine and something positive will come of it, he says.

Gibbons and the RU community saw one of the fruits of their labors Sunday when the second annual Red Wings Charity Softball Game, benefiting RU extracurricular activities and the Sisters of Mercy Charities in Farmington Hills, was played.

"My kid sees the Kennedy Space Center and he just gets fired up about it," said the elder Gibbons. "Every kid has a trump card, is good at something. The first time a kid is in a school play, does a good job, gets a pat on the back, it completely changes the kid. Extracurricular activities give them a variety of things to try. I wouldn't want my kids to be in a school district that doesn't have extracurricular activities."

■ 'Every kid has a trump card, is good at something. The first time a kid is in a school play, does a good job, gets a pat on the back, it completely changes the kid. Extracurricular activities give them a variety of things to try. I wouldn't want my kids to be in a school district that doesn't have extracurricular activities.'

Jim Gibbons
RU athletic director

A long haul

The day Bob Atkins resigned as RU athletic director in 1988, Gibbons received some important documents in the mail: his master's degree from Eastern Michigan University.

It was significant because Gibbons couldn't get the AD job without his master's.

If only everything else fell into place so easily.

About four years after being named AD, the RU school board voted to get rid of extracurricular activities because of budget problems. Enter the Extracurricular Task Force, which through endless hours of hard work of Gibbons, coaches, parents and people in the community has given RU and Hilbert Junior High after-school activities a stay of execution.

RU has raised nearly $300,000 to pay for extracurricular activities since the Task Force was formed prior to the 1993-94 school year.

It costs $75 per student per year to participate in as many extracurricular activities as he or she may want. Any parents who join the Task Force may get $25 of the fee back.

Participation actually has increased since the Task Force was formed, especially at Hilbert Junior High. Football and girls softball have been added at Hilbert. RU is also scheduled to start a varsity hockey program, beginning in 1996-97.

"Jim does an excellent job and the Task Force has been a lifesaver during a period of difficult financial times," RU schools superintendent Ken Johnson said. "It really speaks to the character of Redford Township and the leadership of Jim Gibbons. He lives in this community, was raised here and he gets people enthused. This is a working-class community and it really shows the value they place on kids being involved in extracurricular activities."

Along with the charity softball game, RU has an annual crafts show, auction and alumni hockey game. The RU school system is especially indebted to George Fuhst, who donated his restored 1966 Ford Mustang to be raffled off at the first auction two years ago.

A Mustang is raffled off every year now.

"We want to give good value to people and let them have fun while doing it," Gibbons said. "I feel it's my job to create value for the school district by running a diversified athletic program that offers opportunities to a lot of different interests, maximizes tax dollars and supplement it through the fund-raising. I really appreciate all the people I work with, the Task Force parents, my colleagues, fellow staff members and my secretary, Ruth Crichton, who can function as the AD if she wanted."

'Is Jim home?'

Gibbons and his wife of 12 years, Gayle, met through former RU coach Gary Fulks at a summertime softball game.

Since Gibbons was lucky enough to get a future date out of that first encounter, that night probably could have been titled "A Charity Softball Game For Jim Gibbons."

Gayle works days as a medical technologist but must feel like she moonlights as a receptionist, answering phone calls for her husband, whose busy schedule includes many night assignments.

If Gibbons isn't at one of RU's home athletic events, he's at a meeting for fund-raising or the two-year-old Mega Conference, or taking a night class in a specialist program in educational leadership at Eastern Michigan University.

Gibbons, a 1968 Catholic Central graduate, has an undergraduate degree in education from the University of Detroit, a master's degree in educational leadership from EMU and an endorsement from Madonna University as a learning disabilities teacher.

Gibbons estimates he works between 50 and 60 hours per week during the school year and 10 hours per week during the summer, which is supposed to be his vacation time, to prepare for events like Sunday's charity softball game.

"He was gone for an hour last night and boom, boom, boom, the phone rang," said Gayle, who also has a 9-year-old daughter, Kelly, with her husband.

"This time of year it's even worse, because I don't have any summer office hours, so they try me at home," Jim said.

RU regularly hosts district athletic tournaments and Gibbons has a special interest in track and cross country, which he coached along with football during the 1980s at RU.

Gibbons was tournament director and meet manager for the 1994 and '95 Class A regional boys and girls track meets at Howard Kraft Field and manager of the Observerland Relays in '92, '93 and '95.

His ability to keep RU extracurricular activities going rivals what he learned as an assistant football coach at Catholic Central in the late '70s and early '80s. The Shamrocks won the 1979 Class A state championship at the Pontiac Silverdome and playing for CC that year were several players who played at St. Valentine's, for which he coached prior to working on staff at CC.

"I'm proud to be associated with that staff (led by head coach Tom Mach)," Gibbons said. "Tom Mach's as fine a man as I know."

Gibbons' brother, Bill, also graduated from CC and their father, Jim, Sr., earned his GED from CC last summer. The elder Gibbons never graduated on time from CC because he was drafted into the United States Army during World War II.

The Rev. Richard Elmer, the former principal at CC who now is in charge of the alumni association, presented Gibbons with his GED.

The Gibbons' family gave Jim, Sr. a high school graduation party.

"I told dad, 'Now, remember, no drinking,'" Gibbons said, smiling.

Always thinking of the kids, even the ones in their 60s.

County hires Floridian to run troubled youth home

Leonard Dixon, 40, has been appointed director of the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Facility after a yearlong national search. He was chosen from a number of applicants suggested by the federal government.

"The county's children need so many things," said Dixon. "There's no way around it. What we're finding out is what people already knew, over 60 percent of the crimes are being committed by juveniles — and since we neglected them for so long — all of the negative stuff is coming out."

Dixon's appointment was critical to the county because the state threatened to take away its accreditation and the U.S. Department of Justice has threatened to sue the county and appoint a federal overseer if conditions at the youth home noted in a 1994 federal study were not satisfactorily addressed. The youth home is located in Detroit.

A Department of Justice investigation of the youth home was conducted in 1994. Federal authorities released a report in December with accounts of physical abuse, overcrowding and food containing worms, roaches and rocks.

The youth home's 101,000-square-foot detention facility, built in 1960, currently houses about 178 youths age 12-17 in 200 bedrooms.

A native of Florida, Dixon previously worked in Miami as program operations administrator for detention, non-residential and residential service for Dade and Monroe counties from 1990 until leaving for Wayne County last June. In that role, Dixon supervised 297 employees with a budget of $12.5 million a year.

Dixon has worked more than 14 years in the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in the Children, Youth and Families component of the agency.

Dixon has an associate's degree in education from State Fair Community College (Sedalia, Mo.), a bachelor's degree in sociology/psychology from Southwest Baptist University (Bolivar, Mo.) and a master's degree in child and youth care administration from Nova University (Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.).

"We looked on the national scene for an administrator," said Warren Evans, assistant county executive of the Department of Community Justice. "What we looked for were administrators who were thought highly of and who could do the job. Mr. Dixon's name was on the top of that list."

"My biggest impression of him, so far, is he's a hands-on person," said Evans. "He has a true and sincere concern for kids and he has an institutional background. A number of the other applicants had the educational background, but did not have the experience. Dixon has both."

"I think I can make a difference," Dixon said, "because I'm a child care provider. I'm an advocate for children. I have a very strong determination to help all children, especially African American children because they make up a great proportion of the population who are beneficiaries of the juvenile corrective services.

"In addition, I've been in the business for 20 years. I've seen us move from punishment to a child-caring emphasis. Today, what we should do is aspire to treat kids in a humane, caring and professional way."

Leonard Dixon

But treating kids in a professional way has proved to be Dixon's first major challenge.

"The challenges I've seen have become more professional," he said. "As an administrator, I'm asking the question, 'What does it take to help the community we serve?'"

The answers, county officials say, have not always been as simple as the questions.

"When I first got here," he said, "I realized that there were a lot of changes in store for the Juvenile Detention Facility. More organization has to go toward service. From the time the kid comes here until the time he or she leaves, there has to be some type of structure in place; and that is, accountability, consistency, and community protection.

"More than that," Dixon added, "if you're going to work in juvenile corrections, you have to know a little social work, a little psychiatry, a little law, a little growth and human development, and a little law enforcement."

Yet with all the changes and trends, Dixon said, has come the same bureaucratic red tape.

"I've worked at the Department of Juvenile Justice in Miami for 16 years," he said, "and what I've discovered is this: Detroit is no different than most cities in that there is a lack of funding and awareness afforded to children — and that is coming back to haunt us.

"We have to teach our community that government is not going to clean our houses. It's not going to mow our lawns, and it's definitely not going to raise our children because government doesn't have enough money."

But Dixon has some plans for Wayne County's juvenile detention.

"I hope to bring some professionalism to the JDF, a knowledge of juvenile justice, consistency and motivation," he said.

"Motivation for people to get involved. I mean real community awareness: the need for them to be involved with raising our children. Also, some manhood development programs are required — some female development programs, too.

"I will institute a better trained staff, a more professional staff. I want the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Facility to be one of the national models."

The Wayne County Juvenile Detention Facility is located on 13333 E. Forest in Detroit.

Indy racing car stolen

The race car of Robbie Buhl, the 1995 Detroit Grand Prix Indy Lights winner, was reported stolen the night of Sunday, Aug. 6, as it sat at a trailer rental company in Detroit.

Buhl's Indy Lights display car, painted in bright red, blue and yellow was being stored in a specially made 22-foot-long black, enclosed Haulmark trailer.

Both car and trailer were parked at Shores Trailer Rental on Nine Mile and I-94 in east Detroit.

"I don't think they knew that there was a race car inside the trailer," said Buhl in a press release. "My guess is that they just wanted the trailer and, now, might not know what to do with the Indy Lights car. If they want a suggestion for what to do with it, I know that we'd love to get the car back."

Buhl currently uses the race car as a promotional display tool for his sponsors and for his Racing For Kids charity.

Racing For Kids was created at the Children's Hospital of Michigan and consists of worldwide visits to Children's Hospitals where Buhl races.

Anybody with any information about the trailer or race car may call (313) 882-6606. A reward is being offered.

Caesars, government stress seat belt use

Little Caesars Pizza and Michigan's Office of Highway Safety Planning are working together through Labor Day to heighten public awareness about the value of wearing a safety belt.

To drive home the message, special fliers will be distributed at Little Caesars restaurants and at Shell gas stations in the area. The flier features a quiz on the value of safety belts on one side, and a coupon for buy one, get one free Little Caesars crazy bread on the other.

Little Caesars is dedicated to community safety, and to demonstrate this the pizza chains delivery drivers will wear special orange ribbons to encourage safety belt use. In addition, the orange ribbons will be attached to the antennas of all of the Little Caesars delivery vehicles that service Wayne County.

The Little Caesars delivery drivers also will distribute the fliers and orange ribbons to all Little Caesars delivery customers when they bring their food order to their door to remind them about the safety belt law.

STREET SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

■ SOUTHFIELD PUBLIC LIBRARY
Movies shown 1 and 7 p.m. Tuesdays through Aug. 29 in the Marcotte Room of the Library, Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen, between 10 and 11 Mile Roads. There is no admission charge, and registration is not required. Call (810) 948-0470 for information.

■ DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, Detroit. Call (313) 833-2323 for information. ($5, $4 students)

"Belle de Jour" (France - 1967). 7, 9:30 p.m. Aug. 18 - 19; 1, 4, 7 p.m. Aug. 20. Catherine Deneuve stars as a frustrated Parisian housewife who spends her afternoons as a high-priced prostitute. Luis Bunuel's second color film, unavailable for almost 20 years, is enjoying a major rerelease thanks to the efforts of Martin Scorsese.

"Bandit Queen" (India - 1994). 7 p.m. Aug. 21. The story of Phoolan Devi, a real-life outlaw who led a gang of bandits in a feverish wave of robbery, kidnapping, and murder.

■ MAGIC BAG THEATRE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (810) 544-3030 for information. ($4; $3 students/seniors).

"Pulp Fiction" (USA - 1994). 9 p.m. Aug. 22. The theater has turned Quentin Tarantino's supercharged comedy thriller into a "Rocky Horror" of sorts, with intermission twist contest and T-shirt and poster giveaways. You can count on one hand the audience members who haven't seen the movie at least once already.

■ MAIN ART THEATRE
118 N. Main Street at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students and matinee; $3 twilight)

"Crumb" (USA - 1994). The fascinating and bizarre documentary about reclusive cartoonist R. Crumb, best known as creator of "Fritz the Cat" and the "Keep on Truckin'" symbol in the early '70s. Director Terry Zwigoff, longtime friend of Crumb, paints a completely honest portrait of the artist, with telling interviews with friends, colleagues, and his unforgettable brothers.

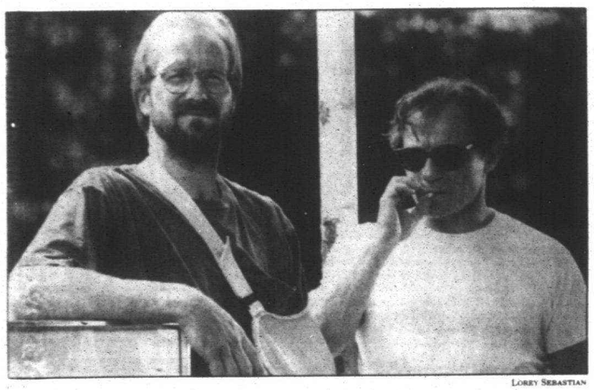

"Kids" (USA - 1995). An explosive first feature from director Larry Clark about a group of New York teenagers who indulge in every parent's nightmare: drinking, drugs, profanity, and unprotected sex. The year's most provocative movie, but also one of the hardest to watch.

"The Postman" ("Il Postino") (Italian - 1995). The story of exiled Chilean poet and diplomat Pablo Neruda (Philippe Noiret) and his relationship with an uneducated postman has proven a great audience pleaser.

"The Usual Suspects" (USA - 1995). Another heist goes way wrong in this caper starring Gabriel Byrne, Kevin Spacey, and Chazz Palminteri. (Opens Friday)

■ MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. All titles play through at least next Thursday. Call (810) 855-9090 for information. ($6; $2.95 twilight)

"Smoke" (USA - 1995). Wayne Wang directs this winning urban fable about the characters who frequent a Brooklyn cigar store. The intriguing cast includes Harvey Keitel, William Hurt, Forest Whitaker, Stockard Channing, and Ashley Judd.

Film curator Wilhelm will speak at Maple

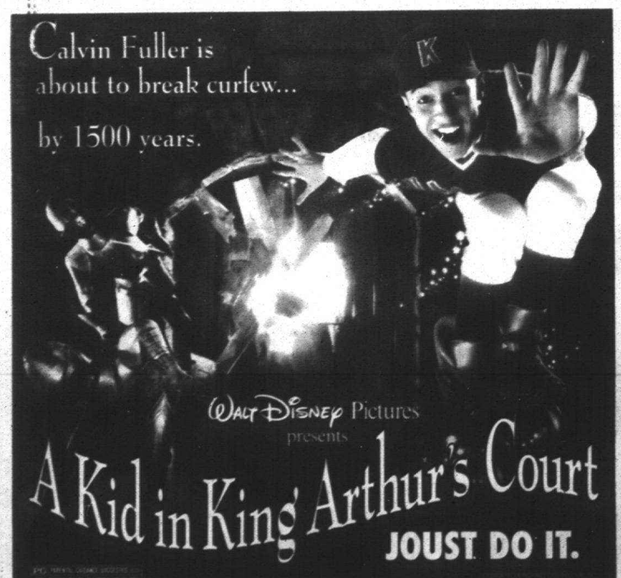

They can hear him Thursdays on WDET or occasionally introducing films onstage at the Detroit Film Theatre. Now Detroit's alternative film fans will have a chance to meet and ask questions of Elliot Wilhelm, film curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts, when he appears Sunday morning at the Maple.

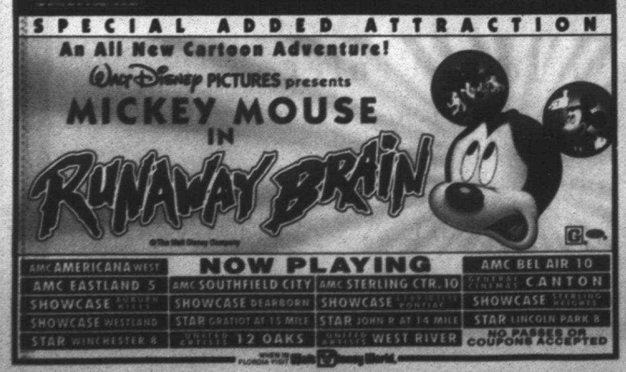

Wilhelm is the third speaker to appear at The Film Lovers Club, a free monthly program started by Maple manager Ruth Daniels. Previous guests have included Ken Droz, an advertising executive who specializes in film, and native Detroiter Jim Burnstein, writer of "Renaissance Man" and "Mighty Ducks 2."

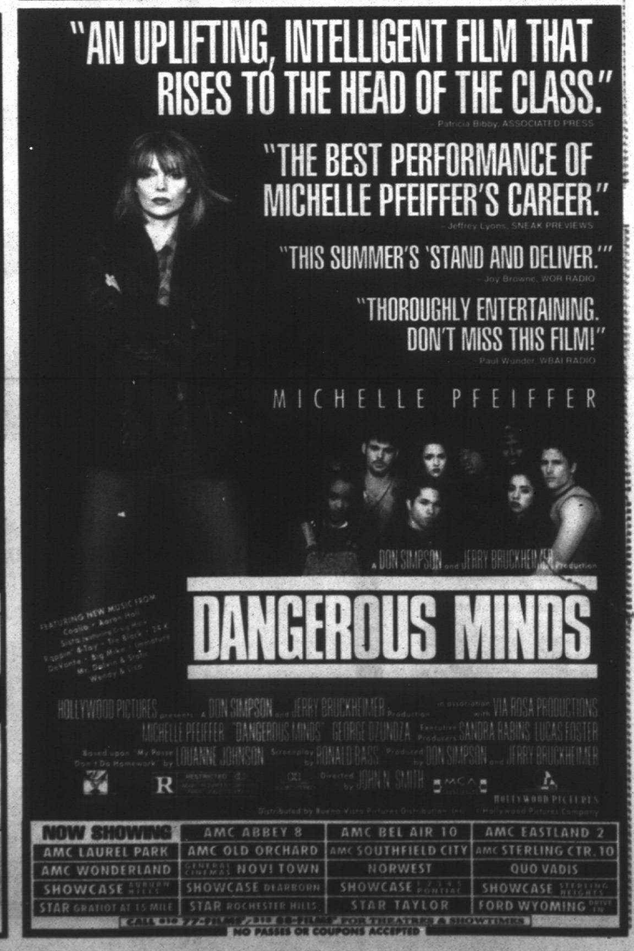

Response to these programs has been so overwhelming that Daniels has had to move Wilhelm's 10 a.m. appearance from Barnes and Noble to the Maple, where she expects to draw at least 200.

After the talk, Film Club members are invited to attend a Maple matinee at a discounted price.

Pfeiffer movie about tough school based on real life

■ PREVIEW

Based on a real life story, "Dangerous Minds," now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters, stars Michelle Pfeiffer as former Marine LouAnne Johnson, who leaves an officer's commission and nine-year military career to pursue her dream of becoming an English teacher.

But while earning her teaching credentials at a Northern California high school, she is assigned to a group of students who change her life forever. And she changes theirs.

As their new instructor, Ms. Johnson defies all the rules, creates her own curriculum and instructs the class of tough, inner-city teenagers from college-level texts.

Frustrated that her students, whose standardized scores range from average to excellent, have come to accept failure as a way of life, she cajoles and tricks them into learning. More important, she loves them and helps them believe in themselves.

One teacher's account of the education crisis in America, and her effort to make a difference, "Dangerous Minds" is a Hollywood Pictures presentation of a Don Simpson/Jerry Bruckheimer production. The screenplay by Ronald Bass is based upon "My Posse Don't do Homework" by LouAnne Johnson. Buena Vista Pictures distributes.

"This is a picture about one teacher and how she goes about getting her students' attention so they can learn," said Simpson. "She helps them understand the importance of knowledge and the ultimate power an education affords everyone in our society."

Bruckheimer agrees. "Our school systems are under-financed and under-staffed and as a result we are losing a generation of kids. Don and I would like to make teachers heroes again. We wanted to show their struggle with the system, with the kids, and with the environment in which the kids grow up — which many times is their biggest deterrent — and demonstrate that these teachers really are significant role models."

To prepare for the role Pfeiffer spent time with Johnson, read a variety of reports and studies outlining and comparing educational systems throughout the world, and for some practical suggestions, contacted two friends who are both dedicated teachers.

"It can be more difficult to portray a real person because one feels a certain responsibility to that individual," said Pfeiffer. "In a few situations where artistic license needed to be taken and we needed to alter something in some slight way, I always felt that I had to stay within the truth of LouAnne's character and not compromise the story."

Outside the classroom, LouAnne's primary relationships revolve around three of her students: Emilo, played by Wade Dominguez whose first professional audition was with Michelle Pfeiffer; Callie, played by Bruklin Harris who, although she has appeared in two other films, was found in an open call out of hundreds of applicants; and Raul, played by Renoly Santiago who has dreamt of being on the big stage for as long as he can remember.

Mixing nonprofessionals with experienced actors is director John N. Smith's trademark. The chemistry such pairing inspires leads to an exciting dynamic on set and on the screen.

"I've done a lot of work with nonprofessional actors, so I feel very comfortable introducing new film elements to people who are not experienced with film," he explains.

"Dangerous Minds" is rated R.

COMNG ATTRACTIONS

- "MORTAL KOMBAT" Action adventure features a group of fighters, some with superhuman powers, who compete for the fate of mankind on a mysterious island. Loosely based on the best-selling home video game. Stars Christopher Lambert, Linden Ashby, Talisa Soto, Robin, Shou. Directed by Paul Anderson. Rated PG-13.
- "THE BABY-SITTERS CLUB" Based on the top selling book series by the same name, the story of one summer in the lives of seven younger women in the cusp of their teenage years, bound by friendships, challenged by adventures, family crises and romantic entanglements. Ladbroke DRC reduces races

Michigan's only thoroughbred horse racetrack will cut its racing days from five to four days per week.

Ladbroke DRC has been granted permission by the Office of the Racing Commissioner to race four days a week rather than five for the rest of the 1995 season. The racetrack, which did operate Wednesday through Sunday, will be closed on Thursdays, effective Thursday, Aug. 17.

Ladbroke DRC, scheduled to end its 1995 season in November, cited a dwindling supply of horses as its reason for the reduction. "Michigan horse racing has been under a cloud of uncertainty for so long that many of our horse owners and breeders are going to other states," said John Long, president and chief operating officer, Ladbroke Racing Corporation. "Reducing our race days is the only way we can fill as many races as possible while maintaining some standard of quality."

Long said DRC is working with other industry leaders to revise state legislation to permit electronic gaming. In June, Gov. John Engler indicated he would not support electronic gaming at Michigan's eight racetracks as part of the industry's House Bill 4526. However, he said he would support increasing the amount of simulcasting and a reduction in state tax on tracks, the highest in the country.

Long said the possibility of a 1996 season also depends on available horses and the outcome of negotiations to develop new legislation. "There are no easy answers," said Long. "The new race schedule is necessary while we investigate short-term solutions like tax reductions and full-card simulcasting. We had to change our game plan until we're able to look at long-term solutions like electronic gaming."

Michigan's $1-billion horse racing industry supports more than 42,000 jobs throughout the state, with more than 37,000 of those dedicated to agriculture, according to a study by Public Sector Consultants in Lansing.

Avalon gives Toyota strong roots in U.S.

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti News Features

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

GEORGETOWN, Ky. -- There may soon come a time when Toyota is synonymous with America.

Toyota Motor Manufac-turing U.S.A. is already an American company with American holdings, building and selling U.S.-made vehicles.

Now, with the addition of Avalon, the newest flagship of the Toyota nameplate, it means more than half of the Toyotas sold in America will be built in the U.S. Right now, Toyota builds its Camry coupe, wagon and sedan, Corolla and Toyota truck on U.S. soil.

The 1995 Avalon is built in Georgtown at the Toyota Motor Manufacturing facility, the same facility that builds the Camry sedan, wagon and coupe and the right-hand-drive Camry for export, as well as more than 206,000 four-cylinder engines every year. Last year, nearly 235,000 Camrys were built here at this 7.65 million-square-foot plant.

Toyota doubled the facility's size during the past year to accommodate production of the Avalon, pumping another $903 million into the Kentucky economy. Total production capacity at the plant is now 400,000 vehicles and 500,000 engines per year. The plant's operations include a stamping die shop, body weld, paint, powertrain and assembly.

Exports of the U.S.-built Toyotas and a Toyota-badged version of the Chevrolet Cavalier to Japan, Taiwan and other markets will increase to about 80,000 units per year, said Shinji Sakai, president and chief executive officer of Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A.

Toyota's largest sedan, the Avalon will have more than 75 percent American parts in addition to it being exclusively built at the Georgetown facility. Most of the parts were designed in the U.S. as well. Michigan's Toyota Techni-cal Center in Ann Arbor worked closely with U.S. suppliers on the design of those parts.

At a large gathering of Toyota workers at the plant, Shinji commended the teamwork and commitment of the Georgetown workforce for Toyota's success.

"Toyota's growing Americanization would not be possible without your commitment to excellent craftsmanship and attention to detail," he said.

The Avalon will be the roomiest sedan ever offered by a Japanese nameplate and the first to offer six-passenger seating with an optional power plit-bench front seat.

"It will be the roomiest, most-sophisticated, best-equipped sedan ever offered by Toyota," said Dave Illingworth, Toyota's group vice president, during an interview in Detroit earlier this year. "Posi-tioned above Camry, it will be the flagship of our lineup and a key element of our commitment to the U.S. It contains more American thinking and creativity than any previous Toyota product."

The interior passenger volume is 120.9 cubic feet -- 9 cubic feet larger than Camry and 19 cubic feet larger than its predecessor, the Cressida.

Built on a stretched Camry platform, the Avalon is outfitted with a 3.0-liter six-cylinder four-cam 24-valve multi-point fuel injected all-aluminum engine that produces 192 horsepower.

The Avalon has a host of safety equipment, including driver- and passenger-side airbags, front and rear three-point shoulder belts for all passengers, rear head restraints, optional anti-lock brakes, child protector rear door locks, front and rear crumple zones and side impact beams.

Offered in two grade levels, the standard XL and top-of-the-line XLS, standard equipment on the Avalon includes a four-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission, four-wheel disc brakes, power windows, side-view mirrors and door locks and bucket seats with center console-mounted shift lever.

Optional equipment includes a leather-trimmed interior, anti-lock brakes, a power sunroof, power split-bench seat, automatic climate control, theft-deterrent system, keyless entry and a choice of stereo systems.

Attention to detail for driver and passengers' comfort was a prime concern when designing the Avalon, Illingworth said. Four-wheel independent MacPherson strut, a stabilizer bar, gas-filled shock absorbers and an anti-vibration subframe were incorporated in the vehicle to produce superb handling and ride characterstics seen on a luxury-based sedans.

"Americans say 'quality time is more important that 'quantity time,'" said Illingworth. "If there is a design philosophy in Avalon, it 'quality time.' We have designed the ride, the handling, the ergonomics and the interior of the car to provide the 'highest quality road time' of any Toyota product.

"We're confident that anyone who drives an Avalon will receive the message we're sending."

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.

Blackwell Ford can help minimize the risk you take when purchasing a used vehicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge. It's that simple. We offer new car peace of mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop in today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember...

"If You Don't Know Used Cars, Know Your Dealer."
