Developers, residents spar

■ Planned unit development agreements made between developers and the township in the 1970s continue to plague the township and its residents today. Commercial development on corners near homes is a particular concern.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

Sometimes things you did 20 years ago that seemed right at the time can return to haunt you, or your successors.

In Canton Township's case that thing is called a "Planned Unit Development Agreement," or PUDs, of which 20 were signed in the 1970s.

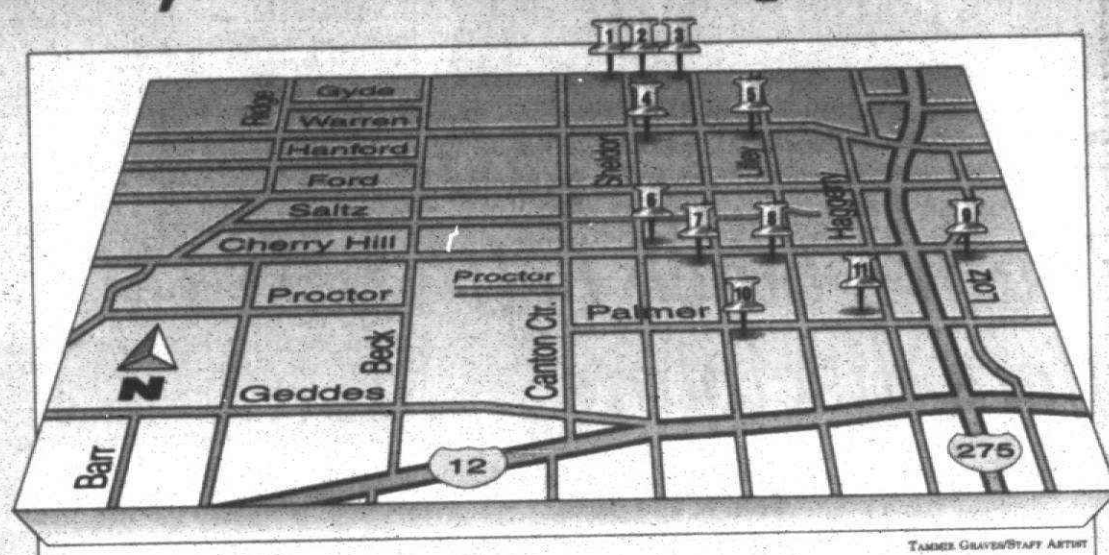

"I hate them," said Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

"They're a terrible burden to us," said Trustee Melissa McLaughlin, who also sits on the township planning commission. "They really are."

The concept was that each section of the township so designated would have a combination of "uses," including houses, shopping centers and gas stations.

"Downtowns were dying," McLaughlin said. "The wisdom at the time was that downtowns were a

Pilot remembered for his love of flying

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Al Krugler of Canton Township was the one who kept the local Experimental Aircraft Association's scholarship program going. The program will now be named in his memory.

"That was Al's pet project," said Doug Shumard, former president of the EAA Chapter 113 at Mettetal Airport. "He kept reminding us how important it is. He was the one who maintained contact with the high schools."

Krugler was killed when his small plane, a Sonerai 2, crashed on takeoff Wednesday, Nov. 22, at Willow Run Airport, said Don Zochert, spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration, which is investigating the crash.

The plane with only Krugler aboard took off at 11:47 a.m. and crashed two minutes later in a wooded area, about a half-mile south of the airport in Ypsilanti.

Krugler, 53, spent the past 10 years building the Sonerai 2. "This was the first flight," Shumard said.

Ed Purdy, EAA president, and past president Al Bosonetto were with Krugler before takeoff. "All three of us went over that plane together," Purdy said. "He wanted us to go over it."

Although Purdy and Bosonetto did not actually see the plane go down, they saw that the plane was having trouble. "He had trouble immediately. The airplane was out of trim. It kept nosing up. Al managed to recover three or four times. But it kept getting lower to the ground."

Purdy said he was trying to photograph the takeoff but found he was too far away. "We did not see it hit the ground," he added.

The Sonerai 2 flying was fabricovered with aluminum wings. It was a tandem seat and a well-proven design, Purdy said. "It's one of the things that we may never know what happened."

Family and friends, including members of the EAA, spoke of Krugler's love of flying. It was his hobby and his avocation. "His wife asked that donations be sent to the national EAA. That is a reflection of his love of aviation. His wife said flying gave him a chance to get away

They put out 275 chairs for the Judy Rosin funeral Nov. 22 and it wasn't enough.

About 300 mourners packed the David Brown Funeral Home of Belleville to remember the Canton Township teen-ager killed Nov. 16 in an auto accident, five days after her 17th birthday.

At least half of those in attendance were among the friends Rosin had at Belleville High School, where she was a senior this year.

Many of the teens, sporting jeans, T-shirts, Belleville High School jackets and pro sports team jackets, perhaps wished to remember Rosin in a less formal sense.

Other teens wore their Sunday best as they walked slowly, hand in hand to the front of the room, to view the body of their friend as some of Rosin's favorite country songs played in the background.

Nearly everyone, however, wore a red ribbon to call attention to the ap-

Trained: Instructor Bill Prewitt (left) works with Bobby Marsh, who has already earned a black belt in tae kwon do.

Youth's black belt offers discipline

BY JOHN BARR
STAFF WRITER

■ As a top-ranking student in the junior class, Marsh is a leader and role model, often setting the standard and leading classes in exercises and drills, said his father, Bob Marsh Jr.

Look out, Bruce Lee. An up-and-coming master of the martial arts will be challenging you soon. Plymouth resident Bobby Marsh is only 12, but already he has a black belt in tae kwon do.

Marsh has been practicing for 4½-years under the instruction of Bill Prewitt, a third-degree black belt, who runs the Independent Black Belt Tae Kwon Do Studio in Canton. Marsh is the first junior student of the IBBT to achieve the coveted rank since the studio opened in 1990. He trains three hours a day, three or four days a week.

And this training has paid off. He has competed in five tournaments and achieved a like number of first-place finishes, one for sparring and eight trophies. In one tournament Marsh performed eight board breaks by several kicks and arm movements and a flying side kick over four people.

As a top-ranking student in the junior class, Marsh is a leader and role model, often setting the standard and leading classes in exercises and drills, said his father, Bob Marsh Jr. He also trains lower-ranking students, he said. "He's outstanding and all look up to him," Prewitt said.

Prewitt, who has been studying martial arts since 1985, teaches 55 students this year and five of them have achieved black-belt status.

Becoming a master of the martial arts takes motivation and perseverance, Prewitt said.

"Tae kwon do is learning to become the best you can be," he said. "It's best to not compare yourself to someone else."

Achieving black-belt status is very tough and many students burn out just before achieving it, having to train hard and long. "Many students joined and quit, but Bobby stuck it out," he said. However, IBBT students are encouraged to advance at their own pace.

Although Marsh never approached burnout, he was out of the sport for a few weeks this fall after having appendicitis. "This was pretty hard on him," Prewitt said. "Sometimes he's too involved, but we've encouraged him."

Why did Marsh take up the board-breaking sport? Probably a typical reason, you might expect.

"My parents just asked me. I was so little and they thought I needed to learn self-defense," Marsh said. "I saw how it was beneficial."

He also enjoys it for physical fitness. Because tae kwon do, a sport involving 80 percent feet and 20 percent hands, takes up so much time and concentration, Prewitt told him to focus on one activity and strive to be the best. This meant quitting soccer, baseball and basketball, sports Marsh also greatly enjoyed.

Although tae kwon do emphasises backing away from fights if possible, Bob Marsh Jr. said, many kids start martial arts for the idea of being able to beat someone up.

"For that reason, there are many students we do not allow to become black belts," Prewitt said. Students must develop self responsibility and respect in the sport, he said, as well as hygiene.

"They teach you respect. You have to bow to your opponent and say, 'Yes sir,' and 'No sir.'" Students must also keep clean and keep their nails cut, Marsh added.

Taking tae kwon do has improved Marsh's maturity and responsibility, his father said, and he is very dependable helping with daily home chores.

"We've just supported him along the way. It's really boosted his self-esteem and helped him in school," he added.

Marsh achieved honor roll status several times last year as a sixth-grader at West Middle School. After school he delivers to 35 customers on his two-year-old Plymouth Observer paper route which he shares with his sister Kristin, 10, and for which he always meets his collection goal.

Although practicing tae kwon do, doing his paper route and his homework keep him pretty busy, he still finds time to play basketball. With his family, including mother Michelle and sister Kortney, 4, he golfs in a Hilltop Golf Course league and does downhill skiing.

"Bobby will become a great master someday," Prewitt said.

Subdivision rules create tension

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Increasingly restrictive rules governing Canton Township subdivisions are creating tension, as new residents violate rules they've never heard of and volunteer homeowners association officers wonder if they're supposed to double as police officers.

"Covenants and Restrictions," a.k.a. C&Rs, are similar to condominium association rules and deed restrictions.

C&Rs vary greatly from subdivision to subdivision, with the older subs tending to be the least restrictive.

Restrictions vary

Typical restrictions include prohibitions against above-ground pools, fences, outdoor clothes lines, sheds, outdoor antennas, basketball backboards, window air conditioners and outdoor parking of recreational vehicles.

In some cases, C&Rs specify what color and shape mailbox residents may have and what color basketball backboards must be. In other cases, residents must get approval from a committee to plant a shrub.

The C&Rs in newer subs, said Trustee Melissa McLaughlin, "are gigantic, and they're difficult to administrate."

Officers of the Canton Homeowners Advisory Council told the township board Tuesday, Nov. 21, that many new residents know nothing about C&Rs.

"A lot of these folks move in and say, 'I bought a house. Isn't it great,'" said Advisory Council Secretary Glen Reimer of Forest Brook. "They don't know what they bought."

So it's not unusual for these people to install backboards, antennas, sheds, or other forbidden items, then get upset when someone tells them to set things aright. Sometimes they even have a building permit from the township government for the offending fence or pool.

The township is not responsible for enforcing the private C&Rs, so the officers of each homeowners association must do it, which makes the volunteer presidents feel like cops.

"Everybody looks to the association to enforce," Reimer said.

"Because neighbors don't want to take on neighbors," added Advisory Council Director Sherry Paszko of Pheasant Run.

"What happens is, we become the government or the police," said Advisory Council Vice President Karl Zarbo of Franklin Square. "I want a voice in my community and my neighborhood, but I don't want to be a cop."

Paying dues

Another problem is getting residents to pay their dues to the associations.

"The average homeowner doesn't know why they're paying dues," said Advisory Council Director Michelle Hall of Carriage Hills.

People often wonder why they have to pay the association to plow the snow in their subdivision because it is technically the county government's responsibility to do that.

"They look at a community the size of Canton and they assume it's a city," said Canton Township Trustee Melissa McLaughlin.

When she tells people that Canton Township is often stymied by Wayne County, McLaughlin said, "It's almost like they don't want to believe you. It frustrates people a lot."

Association presidents get frustrated when homeowners stop paying the dues that are needed to mow grass in common areas, clean retention ponds and perform other chores around the subdivision.

They must then take the time to go to court to be paid. And sometimes that doesn't work either.

Advisory Council President Nancy Spencer said a Glengarry resident who refused to pay dues was taken to court and found guilty, but the amount of money the magistrate ordered the resident to pay to the association is less than what was owed.

"How can people spend $200,000 for a house, then not be interested in paying $200 a year (in association dues)?" said Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Spencer would like Realtors to distribute copies of the C&Rs to everyone who buys a house in Canton. "It would be so nice to have this up front and to say, 'This is how it's going to be when you come here,'" she said. "If you know ahead of time, at least you've got a heads up on what's coming."

Hall said her association, Carriage Hills, goes to court every year because someone refuses to pay dues.

Spencer said she has resorted to publishing the names of scofflaws in Stonegate's newsletter. "It irritates me that people are getting services and not paying for them," she said.

To try to solve the problems of the associations, township officials have agreed to arrange a work session in February that could include real estate brokers, township planning staff, builders, developers and the homeowners association volunteers.

New laws?

Township officials have also discussed the idea that laws that might be created, or that the government might provide services, to help associations enforce C&Rs.

Some think the township should solve the problem by adopting many of the C&Rs as laws that would apply throughout Canton.

Yack seems to oppose this. "How much do you want to dictate taste?" he asked McLaughlin at an October study session.

Pet project

Canton youngster hits the airwaves

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

At the tender age of 9, Canton Township author and poet Nicole Anderson is getting a taste of the radio business with "Radio Aahs," a station devoted to children's programming.

Since April, Anderson has been the pets reporter for the fledgling radio station WDOZ-AM broadcasting from Dearborn at 1310 kilohertz.

WDOZ is part of a network of stations that bring Radio Aahs to kids around the country. Radio Aahs began in 1993 with one station in Minneapolis, Minn., and has since gone national with 27 affiliates.

Programming includes music, weather reports, knock-knock jokes, quizzes and birthday announcements. Locally, WDOZ employs about 14 volunteer reporters ages 9-12 covering a range of topics, each with his or her specialized area of expertise. These junior news hawks were recruited from among 300 kids who auditioned in area malls last winter.

Anderson — who lives with mother Brenda Plecha, sisters Betsey Brohman and Julia Anderson, dogs Spike and Mickey, cats Cloe and Anita, and a guinea pig called Pumba — records weekly reports on pets that are broadcast during the 10-minutes-per-hour that WDOZ doesn't transmit the national feed.

The local reports begin at 10 minutes after each hour.

The reporters are given free rein to find and report their own stories, said WDOZ Program Director Robert Kucken, "I want them to tell me what's interesting to them," he said.

Recently, Anderson researched and taped a piece on edibles to keep away from pets. For example, cats shouldn't eat dog food, and dogs shouldn't eat chocolates. "They have a chemical in them that their body can't break down," she said.

Kucken characterized Anderson as "definitely one of our better reporters."

Certainly the girl is mature for her age, having already learned the custom of offering a hand to be shaken.

Bob Bauer, a former WLLZ rock jock and WXYT talk show host, said that kids getting started in radio at Anderson's age have a great opportunity to get a foothold in the business.

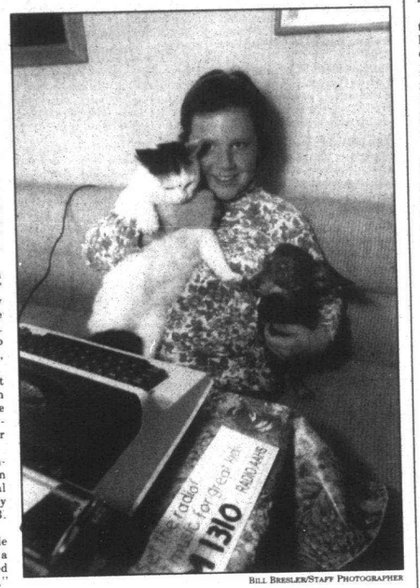

"I think that would be an excellent experience for kids," he said. "Just as long as they don't have to put up with the garbage from the front office. As long as you don't have to deal with the three-piece suits, you're all right."

Anderson, however, isn't interested in a radio career. An avid reader and writer, she hopes someday to make a living with her pen, not her mouth.

Anderson has already composed short stories, both fiction and non-fictionm, and several poems. She even penned a play about suffragette Susan B. Anthony.

Anderson credits first-grade teacher Shirley Wake with a part in her success. "She used to read us lots of stories," Anderson said. "And she made writing fun. She always reads stories (aloud) that students wrote."

Said Wake: "(Anderson) was such a joy to have. She was writing stories and reading them back to me when she first came to the first grade. She was a very creative child coming in. She had a very vivid imagination. She had that expressive quality already there. It was easy to pull her along because she had it in her."

Animal lover: Nicole Anderson, 9, is the pets reporter for Radio Aahs, a syndicated radio station aimed at kids. Anderson is in a good position to be knowledgeable about pets. Her family has two dogs, two cats and a guinea pig. Here she holds Cloe the cat and Spike the dog.

In fact, Anderson is already a "published" author. In the third-grade class of Patricia Rupert, she wrote a story inspired by the movie "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" called "The Strange Girl," which was bound and illustrated as part of a class project.

In an about-the-author section, Anderson wrote of the story, "I wanted to try to scare somebody."

Santa planning to visit Canton

■ Santa, however, will be coming to Canton in a different way — "Santa on Wheels" in a recreational vehicle. The dates for his arrival haven't been determined yet, but Santa will meet with kids at the Target store and the Kmart (New Towne) shopping center, both on Ford Road.

Santa didn't come to Canton the day after Thanksgiving like he has in the past. But that doesn't mean he isn't coming here.

"It was a really nice program. But it doesn't meet the chamber's goals of getting people into the stores," said Linda Shapona, Canton Chamber of Commerce executive director.

The chamber-sponsored program brought Santa to the Canton Cinema Six on Ford Road to meet with kids, who were treated to a movie. "There was no non-profit organization to take it over," Shapona said, adding that efforts are under way for an organization to continue the program next year.

Santa, however, will be coming to Canton in a different way — "Santa on Wheels" in a recreational vehicle. The dates for his arrival haven't been determined yet, but Santa will meet with kids at the Target store and the Kmart (New Towne) shopping center, both on Ford Road.

"Santa will be coming to Canton more often than he did before," Shapona said, referring to the Santa on Wheels program.

As soon as Santa unveils his travel itinerary, the chamber will announce his arrival.

Suicide victim found near school

A "sleeping person" in the woods reported by a school child to authorities turned out to be a deceased 21-year-old Plymouth Township man.

The child, who attends Smith Elementary, spotted the body near the school about 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. School officials notified Plymouth police, who identified the victim.

"The cause of death appears to be a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head," said Plymouth Sgt. Steven Hundersmarck. "We are still awaiting results from the medical examiner."

It's unknown whether the man was under the influence of drugs or alcohol. "We should have the results back next week," Hundersmarck said Friday.

Officers found a shotgun but no vehicle near the body. Police are unsure how the man reached the woods.

The body was spotted in the wooded area behind Smith School.

"The child saw what he thought to be a sleeping person in the woods and reported it to the principal, who in turn called us," said Hundersmarck. "We went over there, and upon closer examination discovered a deceased body. School children were never close enough to see that it was in fact a deceased body. The body was found across the creek that divides the school and the woods."

Goodfellows Christmas project garners support from chamber

The Observer will publish monthly news, tidbits and scheduled events of the Canton Chamber of Commerce. For more information about chamber events, call 453-4040.

■ HELPING GOODFELLOWS

The chamber will help the Canton Goodfellows at its annual holiday party Dec. 1 by auctioning decorated Christmas items that will be donated by chamber florists and stores. All proceeds will go to the Goodfellows cause, "No child without a Christmas."

Rescrvations for the holiday party may be made by calling the chamber.

■ DECEMBER LUNCHEON

Phyllis Wordhouse of Wordhouse Financial Planning will speak at the December luncheon at noon Wednesday, Dec. 6, at the Summit on the Park.

Wordhouse will speak about controlling your tax dollars by choosing to give them as gifts to your favorite charities, consequently increasing the community's net worth. To make reservations, contact the chamber.

■ SANTA ON WHEELS

The chamber's retail committee will sponsor "Santa on Wheels" for children again this year. Committee chair Bruce Guastella thanks Target manager Sue Lamerise and Kmart manager Chuck Wagner for organizing and offering their shopping centers for the event. The dates for Santa's arrival have not yet been set.

Santa will be stationed in an RV in the parking lot of the stores. A package of goodies will be given to each child who visits Santa. Chamber members who want to get involved in the active retail committee should call the chamber.

■ STATE REPS. TO SPEAK

State Reps. Deborah Whyman and Eileen DeHart will speak on business-related issues that are soon to come before the state House at the Third Thursday Update at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 21, at the Old Country Buffet, 5849 N. Sheldon Road. Sponsors for the December Update are attorney Mike Gerou, Scott Koll and Summit Cuisine.

■ ANNUAL AUCTION-DINNER DANCE

The date has been set for the chamber's major fund-raiser of the year — the annual Auction-Dinner Dance at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, March 16, at Summit on the Park.

Blackwell Ford is the major sponsor of the event, which is expected to draw an even larger crowd this year. The evening begins with a preview party 5:30-7 p.m. with dinner at 7:15 p.m. The auction will begin at 8:30 p.m. The evening will offer a variety of silent, raffle and live auction items.

Sponsorship levels will be gold, silver and bronze, which entitles the sponsor to be entered into a "sponsor only" drawing for a Las Vegas trip for two. Early bird reservations for the event are being taken at $40 each until Feb. 1. Call the chamber to reserve a sponsorship, donation and reservation for the auction.

Busy weekend has Canton in a whirl

The peak of Canton Township's social season is nearly upon us as residents, business persons and government officials get ready for a weekend of activities.

The long weekend begins 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 30, when everyone is invited to attend the annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony at the Summit center.

The free event includes caroling, refreshments, a magic show, a stuffed animal giveaway, clowns and the Canton Seniors Kitchen Band.

Most of the activities will occur inside the Summit.

Next in line is Canton's Project Arts with the third annual Fine Arts Exhibition beginning with an artists' reception Friday, Dec. 1, at the Summit.

Admission is free beginning Saturday, Dec. 2, through Sunday, Dec. 10.

For more art show information, call 455-9009.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce members will gather 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1, at Fellows Creek Golf Course for their annual holiday party.

During the day on Saturday, Dec. 2, the Canton Goodfellows will hold their annual paper sale to raise money for food baskets for needy residents. Call 397-8975 to help.

From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Canton Parks and Recreation will sell used athletic equipment from a vacant store near Kmart on Ford Road.

But the big event Saturday is the Canton Historical Society's "Canton Country Christmas" tour of nine historic buildings. Tours run from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets are $12. For more information, call 451-1126.

Then on Saturday night the "Evening at the Summit" dinner will occur to raise money for the Canton Historical Society and the Canton Historic District Commission.

The sold-out event will include piano music by Alden Schell and entertainment by the AYU Quartet. Proceeds go for restoration projects related to the Cherry Hill Historic Village District, the Bartlett-Travis house and a barn to house antique farm equipment.

Sunday's big event is the Hall of Fame reception 3:30 p.m. at the Summit, where farmer Roy Schultz will be inducted. Ten other individuals or groups will also be honored as "Community Achievers." A quartet from the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will perform.

thing of the past. Because there was this gas crisis, we would need neighborhood shopping. The idea was that people would walk down to this neighborhood shopping. They wouldn't have to get in the car and drive anywhere.

However, as Canton grew, the subdivisions were built, while the PUD parcels intended for neighborhood shopping centers remained vacant.

The market wasn't there to support the commercial, said Canton Township Community Planner Jeff Hoglet.

Until now.

Homeowners aren't fussing over vacant parcels of land in their communities and they liked how the shopping centers are operating in and nearby neighborhoods.

Now the value of those parcels is rising, traffic increases and they found the anticipated problems, smells and sights of a commercial area just beyond the back yard.

Township officials would like to change the PUDs and require houses, condos, apartments or small stores be built, but the agreements are ironclad. "There are no 'To be done by' dates," McLaughlin said. "There are no sunset dates. There's nothing. There's nothing."

Furthermore, the PUD agreements are so written than today's developer can build according to rules that were in effect at the time the agreement was signed, meaning they may put up bigger buildings and do less landscaping than what is currently required by zoning laws.

So if a developer wants to build a supermarket strip mall next to a subdivision, as is the case on 10 acres at Cherry Hill and Lilley, the nearby residents and the township officials can do nothing to stop him.

Although the Market Development Co. officials have agreed to abide by most current township building regulations regarding construction of Cherry Hill Court Shopping Center, they have exercised their right to erect a much bigger building than current law allows.

Noting that the Cherry Hill PUD permits the developer to ignore current zoning laws in favor of rules that existed in 1972, attorney Joseph Galvin said at a recent planning commission meeting, "We have generally, throughout this project, not asserted our rights."

Said Goulet: "The rules were stated in contract form. Unless there is mutual consent to amend the PUD agreement we have to live with what's there."

The township's only recourse is to persuade developers to build houses, condos, apartments, or small stores instead of the larger, commercial developments that are allowed.

They've managed or nearly managed to do this twice. The Cavalier Village PUD has a nine-acre parcel at the northeast corner of Cherry Hill and Sheldon where a supermarket could be built. But developer Andrew Ansara has been convinced to put in a small shopping center anchored by a drug store.

The Century Farms PUD has a 14-acre parcel at the northwest corner of Palmer and Haggerty. The owner of the land, Bayberry Park Inc., may build condominiums instead of a shopping center, Yack said, but the issue isn't settled yet.

Still, there are other PUDs out there where nearby homeowners could someday face the spectre of a monolithic grocery store built by a developer who wants to exercise his legal rights.

Yack said the township's only defense against such developments is to convince developers that it is in their own best interest to follow current building and zoning rules. In that way, the resulting stores will be equally pleasing to the eye as stores required to be built under current rules.

"If they're going to be a competitor, they've got to look as good as or better than whatever else is going in," Yack added.

Greenery to abound at garden club sale

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

If you'd enjoy the chance to Christmas shop in a cozy setting and support a good cause at the same time, put Friday, Dec. 1, on your calendar.

The Plymouth Branch Woman's National Farm & Garden Association hosts its Holiday Greens Mart 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Mayflower Hotel lobby in downtown Plymouth.

Shoppers will find "fresh wreaths, different crafts, boxwood and holly, red velvet bows that are weatherproof, and very reasonable Christmas arrangements," said association spokeswoman Jo Ann Harreld. "We'll also have home-baked items.

"This is our main fund-raiser of the year," said Harreld. "We use the proceeds for our scholarships, civic projects and for our plantings."

The proceeds make it possible for club members to plant flowers and greenery in Plymouth Garden Club Park; Kellogg Park; in the planters and barrels around town and surrounding Plymouth Township Hall; as well as at Our Lady of Providence school.

The Farm & Garden Association grants several scholarships a year to students at Canton and Salem high schools. The scholarships range from $500-$700, depending upon how much money is raised. Last year, the club granted two scholarships and renewed a third.

"We hope each year for recipients who are going into horticulture. But the field is growing very small. So we've opened it up to everyone," said Harreld.

Greens coordinators are Jill Ginder and Marge Grybas. Stephanie LaGosh and Marge Kappler are coordinating the bake sale.

The garden club has purchased playground equipment at Garden Club Park; participated in Detroit's Festival of Trees; distributed tree seedlings to grade school students; and supported the Matthaei Botanical Gardens as well as other community ventures.

wasn't a jokester. He wasn't a boor either. He was unassuming."

A favorite story about Krugler was his usual volunteer job at the EAA's well-known annual pancake breakfast. Every year, Krugler minded the parking lot. At one of the events, a visitor to the breakfast asked Shumard if he knew just exactly who he had minding the parking lot.

He was shocked to see a high-ranking Ford engineer in the parking lot," said Purdy, who knew Krugler for 25 years.

The two met when both were involved in model airplanes. After Krugler left that hobby and organization, Purdy lost track of him for about 10 years. They ran into each other again at Mettetal Airport where both went to learn to fly.

"It was a logical extension from model planes. I think what he and I shared was that we enjoyed flying and we enjoyed puttering. I know Al was very meticulous. The icing on the cake was building your own plane."

Funeral services were at 10:30 a.m. today at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church on Penniman in Plymouth. The Rev. John J. Sullivan officiated. Arrangements were made by Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home.

Krugler is survived by his wife, Judy, two daughters, Amy and Becky, brother, David R., and sister, Christine Sevald.

The family asks that donations may be made to the EAA or to Our Lady of Good Counsel, in care of the Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home, 46401 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth 48170.

someone had a problem or just needed someone to talk to."

Rosin was a rare teen who cherished her brothers, her sister, her mother and stepfather, Cence said.

"Although Rick (Morgan) wasn't her biological father, he was her dad, and she loved him," she said. "(And) no mother has ever been loved as much as Judy loved her mom."

The Rev. Kenneth Miller of the First Assembly of God delivered the eulogy.

"You must never think of death as punishment, even if it comes in this cruel and unusual way," he said. "There are many times when injustice seems to be dominant. (But) only through great suffering and solitude can we come to know what God is really like."

To Rosin's mother, Jeanie Morgan, Miller said, "You will find comfort in knowing that God lived in your daughter."

Later, he said, "We don't die. We just simply wake up in a better place. Thank you, Lord, for using her to brighten our lives just a little."

After the ceremony, the mourners shuffled past Rosin's body one last time.

Two attendants outside the door carried two boxes of Kleenex each to distribute to those who wept, and there were many.

As the teens gathered in the hallway to await the call to join the procession to Knollwood Memorial Park, they stood in virtual silence, sniffling, crying, sighing and hugging each other.

"She had a lot of friends from school," said Stephanie Dalton.

MADD kicks off safety campaign

People will once again see red ribbons tied to car antennas, door handles, mirrors, and any other place on a vehicle that will remind motorists to drive safe and sober through the holidays and throughout the year.

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) kicked off their annual holiday safe and sober driving public awareness campaign with a "Tie One On For Safety" rally Tuesday at the Capitol in Lansing. The rally was followed by a motorcade through downtown Lansing consisting of law enforcement officers, government officials, MADD members and the public.

Now through Jan. 1, 1996, MADD encourages motorists to tie a red ribbon onto a visible place on their vehicle as a promise to drive safe and sober (alcohol-free), especially throughout the holiday season. MADD began the popular traffic safety holiday campaign in 1986 to help decrease the number of deadly alcohol-involved crashes that occurred during the holiday season because of increased traveling, celebrating, and drinking and driving.

"It's hard to believe we've been tying on red ribbons for a decade," said Bethany Goodman, executive director, MADD, Michigan.

"Ten years of change, from tying one on to 'Tie One On For Safety.' In these 10 years we've seen Michigan's alcohol-involved traffic fatalities drop from 800 to 530. Yes, we've made progress, but that's 530 too many. That's 530 families shattered by a very preventable crime."

Carol Korf, MADD, Kent County, shared the heart of the holidays and the real reason for the red ribbon campaign.

When Korf's 15-year-old son missed his curfew one evening eight years ago, she thought she would "feel it" if something were wrong or if Deane were hurt. The last thing she expected was a knock on the door and the officer bearing devastating news.

"The best gift you can give your family and friends this holiday season is to promise to be alcohol-free when you get behind the wheel," said Korf.

"Plan a safe and sober celebration. As you prepare to gather with your loved ones during this festive time of the year, join with the thousands of families who have learned, sometimes through the very tragic message of personal loss, that we can give new meaning to the phrase 'tie one on.'

"We ask you to proudly and publicly display your red ribbon as a symbol to "Drive Safe, Drive Sober!"

The MADD Red Ribbon "Tie One On For Safety" project is again cosponsored by the Office of Highway Safety Planning (OHSP). The annual traffic safety promotion is also widely supported by law enforcement agencies.

Alcohol-related fatalities are down in Michigan. In 1993, almost 41 percent of our fatal crashes involved alcohol. But in 1994, that figure went down to 37.4 percent.

To obtain a red ribbon or to conduct a local campaign, contact a MADD chapter or the MADD State Office at (517) 631-MADD.

How to call 'Toys for Tots'

The 800 number published last week in a story about the Marine Corps' 48th annual Toys for Tots campaign cannot be used if calling from the 313 area code.

Residents in western Wayne County can call (313) 824-8401 or (313) 824-8402, or fax information to (313) 824-8400.

The 48th annual Toys for Tots campaign began Thanksgiving Day and continues until collection day Dec. 21.

Toy donations are needed for youngsters from infants to 12 years old.

"The need has become greater, unfortunately," said Gunnery Sgt. Winfred Littles, public relations coordinator for the Southeastern Michigan Toys for Tots. "But we do our best to rise to the occasion."

Last year alone, the southeastern region collected and distributed more than 109,000 toys.

Toys for Tots is a community-based nationwide program that was instituted by the Marines nearly a half-century ago. As the program grew, the reserve Marine Corps was enlisted and now involves the efforts of many individuals and businesses in each local community.

Those donating toys should look for something in the moderate, $10 to $20 range. Explained Littles: "As a rule of thumb, when you go to the toy store, try to put yourself in the shoes of a child and say, 'If I could only get one thing, what would I like to have?' "

Many volunteers are needed for screening applicants, sorting, collecting, transporting and distributing toys.

According to Littles, more business involvement would be greatly appreciated.

There is a need for collection sites, storage space, transportation in the form of trucks and vans, secretarial help, cellular phones, publicity, and thousands of helping hands.

Madonna project seeks tutors

The Tutoring Team of Madonna University is seeking tutors for a program 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays at O.W. Holmes School in Southwest Detroit.

The Tutoring Team is a project directed by Sister Mary Martinez of the Office of Multicultural Affairs at Madonna University in Livonia and supported by funds from Blue Cross Blue Shield, MichCon Foundation, Ford Motor Co. and Myron P. Leven, a Southfield attorney.

Thelma McNichol from the Detroit Public Schools will serve as the education coordinator, and Alicia Juarez as the tutoring coordinator. The team is made up of college students, professionals from business and industry, and retirees. Each tutor will work with one or two students in the areas of language arts and math.

Individuals interested in becoming members of the Tutoring Team can call (313) 432-5541 to sign up or for more information. Orientation is scheduled for 10 a.m. Jan. 6 at the school library. The school is two blocks south of Michigan Avenue at 4833 Ogden. Tutoring begins Jan. 13 and continues until March 30, 1996.

The Tutoring Team is in its fifth year at O.W. Holmes School. "The Saturday tutoring sessions have had significant impact on the achievement, attitudes and self-esteem of our children," said school Principal Gerald Ernatt.

O.W. Holmes has an enrollment of 650 youngsters, with more than 40 percent coming from bilingual homes.

New shopping center gets planning commission nod

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

Thanks, but it won't work, was the reply from the attorney of a developer who wants to build a new strip-shopping center next to a subdivision at Cherry Hill and Lilley.

Attorney Joseph Galvin told the planning commissioners of residents in the Cherry Hill Charles subdivision that homeowners' alternate plans for the shopping center just won't work for the area.

Would it examine the plan that was proposed by the homeowners? In addition, we looked at all items the staff report," Galvin said. "My regret is to inform you ... and we really do regret ... unfortunately as we feared at the last meeting the drainage is not adequate for the site."

Planning commissioners recommended approval of a site plan for the Cherry Hill Court shopping center, despite pleas from homeowners to deny the request. The recommended approval includes a number of contingencies for the developer who must provide completed plans by the time it reaches the township board for final consideration.

"I certainly feel for the people living next to this project. I think this commission has no recourse but to recommend it to the trustees," said commissioner Ron Lieberman. "The property owner has a right to develop that property."

The property on the southwest corner of Cherry Hill and Lilley is bound by a planned unit development, in which the property was zoned commercial. Though bound by the rules of planning and development of the 1970s when the agreement was signed, the developer, Market Development Co., has exceeded required regulations.

"We do ask that if the proposal is granted that it be made contingent on a DNR (Department of Natural Resources) wetland determination — that it be made part of the motion itself," said homeowner David Heinowski, reminding commissioners that it appears that part of the property is a wetland.

But Jeff Goulet, community planner, said commissioners could not make that request part of their motion. The developer is responsible for determining the likelihood of wetlands and for obtaining a permit from the DNR.

Commissioners expressed disappointment with their lack of choice but to recommend approval for the project. "We are trying to make the best of this project in the '90s," said Vic Gustafson, commission chairman, urging the developer to work hard on the center's landscaping and appearance.

Residents were equally disappointed, but apparently not surprised to hear that their alternate plan was not accepted by the developer.

"It just seems like you are wasting a lot of my time and that of the people in this room," homeowner Eric Rissman told Galvin, reminding him that he willingly asked for suggestions and alternate plans. "I don't see much that you have done at all."

A report from township engineer Tom Casari about homeowners' proposal for a linear detention pond to create a swale between the supermarket and homes further confirmed the difficulty of accomplishing the homeowners' plan.

Casari, who said he would be willing to look at a plan, explained the swale would be difficult because the width of the pond depends on the depth of the on-site storm sewer. Because a certain slope is required, the pond would have to be at least 50 feet wide.

"I'm also not comfortable permitting some of the commercial sites' drainage being directed to the rear storm sewer in the subdivision. I'm not sure there is capacity and I'm quite sure easements would be necessary, unless it could be established that this area presently drains to the rear yard storm system," Casari wrote in his memo.

With the homeowners' plan, storm water would have to be directed around the grocery store because it couldn't be routed under it, meaning the pipes would have to be longer and deeper and the pond wider.

"We are working to create a greater buffer in the area of the property," attorney Galvin said. "We have, I think, in good faith tried to bend over backward to meet each request."

Resident Dennis O'Beirne asked why calculations for volumes of storm water that were requested as they were preparing their alternate plan were not provided. "The question is whether the design of the pond can be done with the site configuration," Casari responded.

O'Beirne also asked about creating a drainage path between buildings in the shopping center. "I am not personally convinced all the homework has been done."

Contingencies, concerns accompany developer's plan

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

Residents in the Cherry Hill Charles subdivision offered several reasons why multiple-use development would be bet- a shopping center on 10 neighborhood to their homes.

But planning commissioners said they had no legal to recommend approv- with contingencies of a Cherry Hill Court shop- center submitted by Market Development Co.

The contingencies include:

- Revising screen wall plantings and increasing the area to at least 5 feet wide.
- Reducing the height of parking lot lights from 25 to 20 feet because some portions of the building are only 16 feet tall.

Attorney Joe Galvin, who represents the developer, said efforts are being made to move the building forward to provide more room between the back of the building and homes.

According to planners, the site plan for the shopping center incorporates many design elements required today, but not in effect when the planned unit development agreement was made in the 1970s, including separate buildings with a courtyard, sign tower and pedestrian areas.

Residents also offered concerns about PUD language promising there would be no adverse effect from development, open space requirements for recreation; and a legal description of the property.

In response to those concerns about the PUD agreement, township planner Angela Wolosiewicz provided responses, based on a letter from Galvin.

Those responses included:

- That language promising no adverse effect covers the entire planned unit development, which includes the Cherry Hill Orchards subdivision, not just the commercial portion. The agreement shows there was no adverse effect by the whole development on property outside the PUD.
- The requirement for open space applies to residential land, not Market Development's property.
- Changes in legal description were approved by the township when it approved the subdivision plat.

Residents also expressed concern about heavy trucks using Cherry Hill and Lilley roads, which are designated as Class B roads. A typical grocery semi-truck would exceed the limits on these roads. But that just means the trucks can't be fully loaded.

Wayne County could place restrictions on the trucks when it comes to giving a permit for the driveway to the center. Weighmasters would enforce these rules.

"Chances are good the policing of this would not be very good," said Trustee Melissa McLaughlin, a planning commissioner.

Many Dems join GOP on welfare reform

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

After much fulminating, a majority of Democrats joined all Republicans in approving two welfare reform bills advocated by Gov. John Engler.

House Bill 5353 won 82-25 approval on Nov. 9. Of area Democrats, only Reps. Maxine Berman of Southfield, David Gubow of Huntington Woods and Tom Kelly of Wayne voted no.

Voting yes were Lyn Bankes, R-Redford; Eileen DeHart, D-Westland; Gerald Law, R-Plymouth; Jim Ryan, R-Redford; and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

The bills failed to get two-thirds for immediate effect and cannot become law until about next April 1.

Law praised the bills as "the most comprehensive changes (in welfare) in the nation. The plan rewards those with initiative. Applicants who demonstrate responsibility will not be turned away. Those who decide not to comply will face tough penalties."

Opponents said the bills give the Department of Social Services, to be renamed the Family Independence Agency, too much power with too little legislative oversight. They argued too little attention was paid to day care for mothers with small children.

In a compromise, mothers of newborns would not have to seek work until the infant is three months old. An early version of the bill required them to seek work after six weeks. The compromise establishes parenting, child development and nutrition classes as options for the period from six weeks after birth to three months.

Engler called the bills "a strong sign to Washington that states have an abundance of ideas to solve problems and the conviction to carry them out."

The bills make these changes in welfare:

- Require minor parents to live with a parent or in an adult-supervised household before they may receive aid. Current policy sets up teen mothers in their own quarters, often resulting in poor care of their babies and more births, critics of welfare said.
- Mandate that adult welfare recipients spend at least 20 hours a week in employment, Work First programs, education, training, community service or self-improvement activities.
- Require recipients to cooperate in the establishment of paternity and the securing of child support from the fathers.

Here is what opponents had to say:

Rep. Tom Kelly, D-Wayne: "For this Legislature to abdicate its responsibility and oversight of the Family Independence Agency is totally abhorrent to me."

Rep. Nick Ciaramitaro, D-Roseville: "It is not welfare reform; it is legislative abdication . . . I am especially concerned about that delegation when the House refused to give minimal direction such as Rep. (Eileen) DeHart's (D-Westland) suggestion that we continue formula and diapers for infants whose parents have not fulfilled their obligations. Sanction the parents — do not starve the infant."

Rep. Lynne Martinez, D-Lansing: "Welfare reform will not work without child care. I have a serious objection to the Legislature's neglect of the need for safe, quality day care in this bill. We have abandoned this state's long commitment to requiring that day care be licensed and regulated. We have opened the door to the predatory use of children for profit with no oversight by the state."

The Senate is expected to take up the bills early in December.

Readers want to cut fat in favorite holiday recipes

Julia Patrazano of Redford called for a healthy version of pumpkin pie.

Here's a fat-free pumpkin pie recipe from Nick Malgieri author of "How To Bake," (copyright, 1995 Harper Collins Publishers, $35).

FAT-FREE PUMPKIN PIE

Vegetable cooking spray
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 small (about 2 pounds) pie pumpkin or 1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1/2 cup water
4 egg whites
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger or 1 teaspoon fresh grated ginger
1/4 teaspoon fresh grated nutmeg
1 1/2 cups evaporated skim milk

Set rack in the middle of the oven and preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Spray a 9-inch Pyrex pie pan generously with vegetable cooking spray. Press bread crumbs against the pan. Chill.

Rinse, stem and halve the fresh pumpkin. Scrape away the seeds and filaments and cut the pumpkin into 2-inch chunks. Use a paring knife to remove the rind and place pumpkin in a large baking dish.

Add the water, cover and bake for 1 hour or until soft. Cool the pumpkin and puree in a blender or processor. Lower the rack in the oven to its lowest level. Scrape the pumpkin into a bowl and whisk in egg whites.

Whisk in remaining ingredients. Pour the prepared filling into the prepared crust. Bake for about 1 hour or until the filling is set. Cool on a pie rack. Makes about 8 servings.

■ Marshall Beitman of Canton wanted a low-cal scalloped potato recipe.

SLIM SCALLOPED POTATOES

2 pounds russet potatoes, peeled and sliced 1/8-inch thick
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves, crumbled
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
3 tablespoons all purpose flour
2 cups skim milk
1/2 cup shredded light Swiss cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Coat a 13 by 9-inch baking dish with vegetable oil cooking spray. Arrange the potato slices slightly overlapping in a single layer in the dish. In a medium-sized saucepan, melt the butter or the margarine over medium low heat.

Stir in the onion, thyme, salt and pepper. Cook 4-5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until the onion is softened. Stir in the flour until frothy. Let the mixture bubble for 2 minutes, stirring to prevent browning. Gradually stir in the milk until well blended. Increase the heat to medium and simmer until sauce is thick, stirring constantly. Spread the sauce over the potatoes. Cover the dish with foil. Bake for 45 minutes or until the potatoes are tender. Sprinkle cheese over the top, continue baking for 10 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes before serving. Serves 8.

■ Maria Martinuzzi of Redford wanted a "white" gingerbread recipe.

CONSTRUCTION GINGERBREAD

1 cup solid white shortening
2 cups old-fashioned molasses
1/2 cup warm water
7 cups all purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
3 teaspoons baking powder
3 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt

Melt shortening and stir in molasses and 1/2 cup warm water. Mix in dry ingredients until smooth. If necessary, knead last of flour into dough until flexible and smooth. Chill for at least 2 hours or overnight, tightly wrapped.

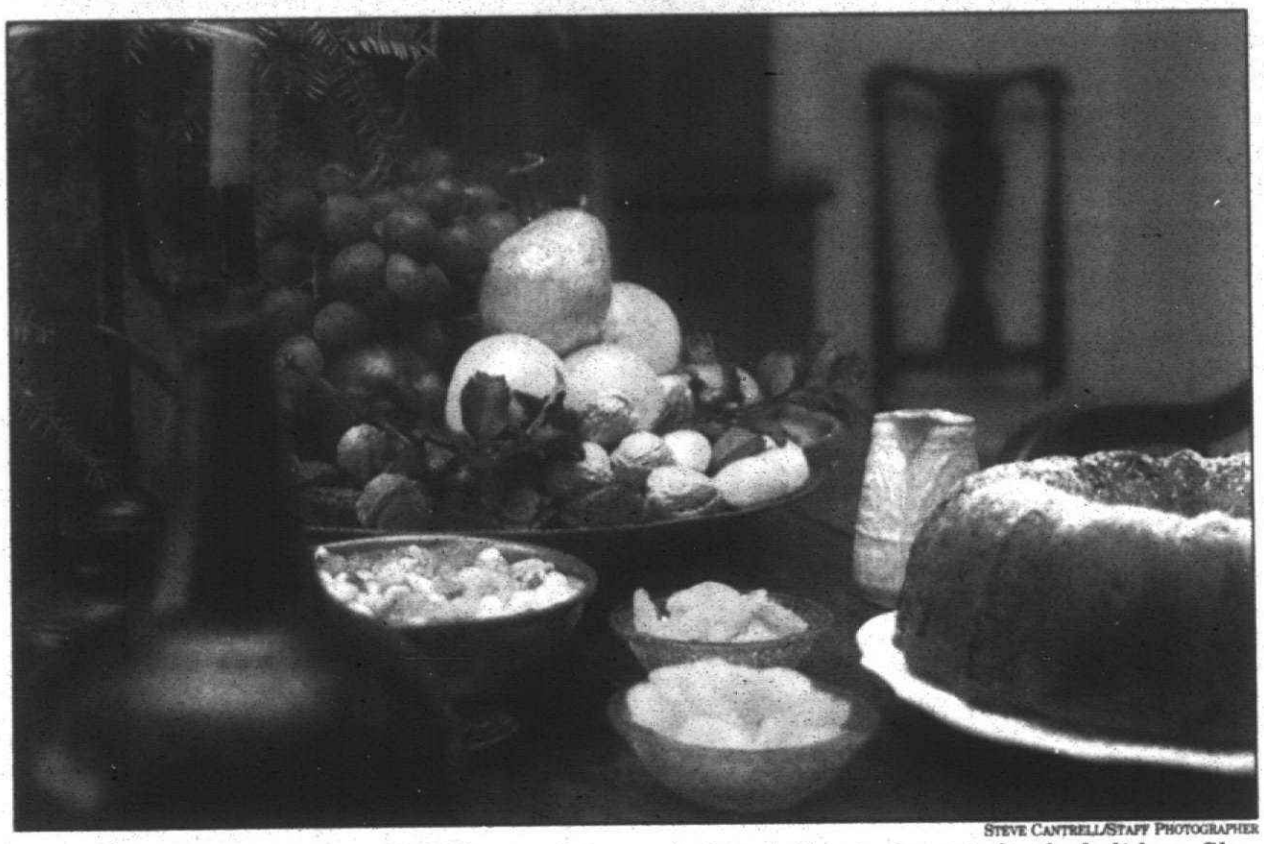

To use: roll dough to about 1/8-inch thick on cookie sheets. Cut out patterns and transfer to a baking sheet covered with parchment paper. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 12 minutes. Makes a medium-sized house. Can also be used to make cookies or ornaments.

Naturally decorated: Margaret Dildilian makes use of what she has to decorate for the holidays. She adds fresh fruits for a festive and natural look.

Decorate with gifts from NATURE

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

When it comes to decorating for the holidays, Margaret Dildilian of Birmingham just looks around her home and makes use of what she has, then adds a few more things, including fresh fruits. The result is a festive and natural look.

Dildilian, who is co-chairing "The Birmingham Holiday Antiques Show" at The Community House with her sister-in-law, Marlowe Marderosian of Franklin, is an avid collector of period American furniture pieces and accessories.

"My husband and I have an interest in New England furniture dating from the early 18th century through approximately 1830. These pieces are primarily constructed of American pine and in their original state, some finished in the red and black paints popular at that time," said the mother of three grown children.

In addition to the furniture, the Dildilians have accessorized their home with china, porcelain, pewter and wood pieces, and lighting fixtures from this early American period. It's these pieces that form the basis for holiday decorations.

"I take my various bowls and fill them with apples that I have polished to a bright sheen, add a few natural greens, such as boxwood, and place them on the table," Dildilian said. "I also fill bowls with boughs of pine, pine cones, berries and other fruits to create natural decorations."

With a belief in simplicity ("less is better," she said), Dildilian has created festive and eye-appealing centerpieces for her holiday tables using lemons, boxwood and a pineapple ("a traditional symbol of hospitality," she added).

Another addition to her holiday table is candles, lots of candles. "In early America, New Englanders burned lots of candles to create a festive mood. Often times, whole families would work together and make the candles, which were naturally cream-colored, for their tables, windows and mantels for the holidays," she said.

Patricia Higgins, a mother of six who lives in Southfield, also uses an abundance of candles for her holiday decor. And she uses a wealth of natural items with them.

"I make a slit in the top of apples, place a candle in them and maybe a cinnamon stick, tie a bow around the base of the candle and use them either in a group in the center of the table or at each place setting," she said.

"Green Granny Smith apples look especially good with red candles, and I use white candles with red apples. The great thing about this decor is that I use the apples later in pies or in apple cake."

Higgins does not believe in being wasteful when it comes to decorating. "Also, I try not to spend a lot on money on decorations, nor do I like having an abundance of things that need to be stored."

Higgins is so successful with her flair for decorating that she is often asked to create table creations and other decorations for her church, St. Ives in Southfield, and for her children's schools, Mercy High School in Farmington Hills and U of D High School in Detroit.

"Creating things is both a hobby and avocation – something I have been doing since I was a young girl," she said. "Over the years I have picked up various ideas that have worked out well."

One idea that has proved both economical as well as attractive is her use of the odd stemware that she's acquired through garage sale visits. "I put a little water in these glasses then add a votive candle. I place all of these (and you can use as many as you have) on a cloth runner down the center of my table. They're all different sizes and shapes and once the candles are lit, they create an elegant table," she said. Sometimes she'll add greens from the evergreen trees outside her door, put bows on the base of the stemware and sprinkle cranberries on the greens.

Higgins often uses other fruits on the greens to create a natural look, including grapes or orange slices. But she sugar coats them first.

It is an easy process. "Using a small paint brush, I coat the fruit with a thin coat of egg whites that have been diluted with a small amount of water," she said. "Then I sprinkle the fruit with super fine refined sugar. I let the fruit air dry or I place them in a slow oven overnight.

"The nice thing about these sugar-coated fruits is that they make a nice sweet treat after I'm done using them for decoration."

Her other decorating ideas include using circular candy canes – found in many stores during the holiday season – for napkin rings. Or she ties a bow with a few artificial greens and berries around the napkins.

A favorite decor of the Higgins children, who range in age from 11 to 23, is the gingerbread cookie place cards. "I make gingerbread people – but these can be purchased – and then I put each family member or guest's name on one of them with frosting. These I place at each table setting."

QUAKER OATS

Winter warm-up: Nothing warms up a tummy on a cold morning better than a bowl of oatmeal. For a tasty flavor twist, these two bowls of oatmeal start with quick or old-fashioned oats cooked in fruit juice.

Start your day with hot, hearty oatmeal

If you greet most chilly mornings with a steaming bowl of oatmeal, you're in good company. According to a recent Gallup poll, oatmeal ranked number one as the breakfast that makes us feel good, especially on a cold morning.

Two-thirds of those surveyed said oatmeal makes them more productive and satisfies their hunger until lunchtime better than cold cereal, toast, bagels and other breakfasts. And of all breakfast choices, respondents chose oatmeal as the best and healthiest breakfast.

So how much oatmeal do we eat? The average American eats 27 bowls of oatmeal a year, and the majority of those bowls are eaten during the four coldest months of the year _ November through February. Kids 12 and under eat 48 bowls per year while adults age 65 and over eat a whopping 68 bowls of oatmeal each year.

Oats are good for your heart and brain. In her book, "Superfoods 300 recipes for foods that heal body and mind," (copyright 1992, Warner Books, $26.95), Dolores Riccio writes, "a good-sized bowl of oatmeal at breakfast lowers the artery-clogging LDL cholesterol shortly after eating and, later on, raises the artery-cleaning HDL cholesterol.

Oatmeal is a good source of choline, a chemical precursor of the neurotransmitter acetylcholine, which plays an important role in memory function."

Oatmeal stabilizes blood sugar and insulin, which makes it a good choice for diabetics.

Riccio recommends storing oatmeal in the original container for a month or more on the pantry shelf, or in the refrigerator in a tightly closed jar for up to a year.

Tops among oatmeal toppers are sugar, brown sugar, milk and cream, followed by fruit, maple syrup and honey. Raisins win hands down for the most popular dried fruit topping; bananas take top banana in the fresh fruit category.

Beyond the basics, oatmeal provides plenty of delicious opportunities for creativity. Replace water with apple juice for a fruity flavor. Add fresh or dried apples. Try Granny Smith for a tart-sweet flavor, Red or Golden Delicious for the sweetest flavor

Orange juice used in place of some of water adds a citrusy tang, and mashed banana contributes creaminess. Go for the quick oats for the smoothest texture; the old-fashioned cooks up into a heartier cereal.

Smart Reasons to Eat Breakfast

- Breakfast eaters tend to have higher intakes overall of fiber and vitamins and minerals, especially calcium, vitamin C and folic acid.
- Eating breakfast can improve concentration and performance while reducing fatigue and irritability in the late morning hours.
- Preliminary research suggests that breakfast eaters burn more calories throughout the day. Breakfast skippers have metabolic rates that are 4 percent to 5 percent below normal which can result in a weight gain of one pound every seven weeks (about 8 pounds a year) even if the same number of calories are consumed.
- Eating breakfast may help with weight control by reducing overall fat intake and minimizing impulse snacking and overeating at other meals.
- Preliminary studies have shown the overall intake of cholesterol, saturated fat and total fat to be lower among those who ate a ready-to-eat cereal for breakfast than those who did not eat cereal or skipped breakfast entirely.

■ Carmen and Jamie Sappiro of Bloomfield Hills just returned from the Hot Air Balloon Festival in Albuquerque, New Mexico. While there, they enjoyed some venison chorizo sausage that was grilled with a mixture of peppers at a trendy restaurant.

They were hoping I could locate a recipe. This was an easy one Carmen and Jamie, and we hope you enjoy it.

Venison Chorizo

28 dried mild red chiles, preferably ancho

¼ pound salt pork, cubed
½ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons vinegar, preferably white
10 cloves garlic, minced
2 teaspoons cumin seeds, toasted and ground
2 teaspoons dried oregano, crushed
1½ teaspoons salt

½ teaspoon ground coriander
Pinch cinnamon

Preheat the oven to 300 degrees F. Break the stems off the chiles and discard seeds. Place the pods in a single layer on a baking sheet and roast them for 5 minutes. Break each chile into several pieces.

Transfer the chiles to a blender or processor and process until evenly ground. In a medium bowl, grind the venison with the salt pork and the onions. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well.

Cover and refrigerate at least 24 hours. Stuff into casings or use chorizo in bulk form. Makes about 2 pounds.

Quick, before it's too late: Try these pumpkin recipes

AP — Although the most popular food use for pumpkin is the traditional pumpkin pie, pumpkin can also be used in a variety of dishes — from soups and stews to breads and desserts. In the recipes below, pumpkin cheesecake ripple coffeecake can be served for breakfast, brunch or dessert. Pumpkin walnut pie is a delicious variation on tradition.

Some other facts about pumpkins:

■ Pumpkins are grown in almost every state. The top five pumpkin-growing states are New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, California and Illinois.

■ Pumpkins generally weigh from 18 to 25 pounds, but have been recorded weighing over 200 pounds. Miniature pumpkins vary in size from a few ounces to just over a pound.

■ Pumpkins are a good source of potassium and vitamin A.

■ Canned pumpkin is easy to use and available year-round, but if you decide to make your own cooked pumpkin, be sure to buy a pumpkin that is meant for cooking and is no larger than 4 pounds.

Coffee drinks to make at home

AP — One of the pleasures of breakfast in France is a steaming bowl of cafe au lait. In Italy, it's called caffe latte and is made with espresso or an Italian roast.

Make cafe au lait or caffe latte by pouring equal amounts of brewed coffee and hot milk simultaneously into bowl-sized cups. You may want to strengthen the intensity of your coffee so it will be strong enough to stand up to the milk.

In a microwave oven, heat one cup of milk on 100 percent power (high) for two minutes. You can also warm milk on top of the stove. Boil a cinnamon stick or whole vanilla bean in the milk to flavor it. Make a batch of the flavored milk ahead of time and store it in your refrigerator. Reheat as needed.

If you like instant coffee, heat equal parts of skim milk and water until boiling and then dissolve one teaspoon of coffee crystals in the hot liquid. For a quick caffe mocha, stir in one tablespoonof chocolate syrup and top with several shakes of pre-sweetened cocoa.

LINDA BACHRACK

Festive touches can be quick, easy

Last week's column described some holiday decorating ideas shared by Martha Stewart Living senior associate editor Darcy Miller. Her presentation at Hudson's Twelve Oaks store in Novi, had audience members like Marty Brick of East Lansing, eager to design new and festive tabletops.

Brick, who attended with her daughters Kerry Zoigo and Bridget Brick, is a pro at sugaring fruits for her centerpiece, but this year she'll add Miller's suggestion of cranberries and red roses in a clear glass vase. She'll also tie her napkins with waxed linen thread strung with acorns.

Other creative napkin ideas include simply rolling the napkin and tying with red ribbon adorned with a sprig of pine. Or make napkin rings and from millinery flowers or a sprig of oregano bound with florist's wire. Use dried leaves as place cards, sit them atop the napkin and pen the dinner guest's name in silver ink across the leaf.

Napkin notable

Start a holiday tradition by giving antique napkin rings to family members. The ensuing collection will enhance memorable dinners for years to come. If grandchildren are a major presence at your table, consider paper napkins embossed with your initial.

"Candles are a big part of holidays," said Miller Line a mantel with votives and antique candlesticks. Place the votives in shells or terracotta pots and scent with oil-based plant essences. Simply scatter chunky cathedral candles of different heights down the length of your table. Table runners are easily crafted from felt trimmed with pinking shears or a salvaged length of sumptuous velvet. For a holiday season wedding or anniversary, drape tables in organza and glue ivy or holly to the fabric.

What do you give the party hostess? Take photos of the fete and present her with a special memory book or give holiday recipe cards tied with ribbons. If you purchase a gift, wrap it in pastel paper tied with silver ribbons or tinsel and personalize the paper with stamped-on silvery stars.

Local source

If you have a hard time envisioning these decorating ideas, help has arrived. In downtown Birmingham, Festivities opened recently at 377 Hamilton Row. Mary Beth Winkworth, her husband Doug, son Rob and daughter-in-law Diana pooled their creative talents to open the ultimate party planning shop.

Using hand-crafted gifts and unique accessories, a variety of tables are set within the store, each for a different occasion. Dried flowers, freeze-dried vegetables and vegetable-shaped pottery decorate the woodland table in the window. Velvet napkins add an elegant touch.

The "Up North" table features twig placemats, hammered tin chargers, a denim cloth and checked flannel ribbon tied around the napkins. For a more traditional holiday table, place your Spode china on lipstick red chargers. Embroidered and appliqued felt stockings hang on the backs of chairs with a small favor placed inside. Also look for Kwanzaa and Hannukkah-themed tables.

A former event planner who longed for a single source for her entertaining ideas, Winkworth has positioned her shop as that one-stop emporium for everything from invitations to linens and ribbons with an emphasis on one-of-a-kind accessories.

Linda Bachrack is a Birmingham resident. She welcomes column ideas and information about unique merchandise to share with readers. Reach her via fax at (810) 644-1314 or call (313) 953-2047, mailbox 1889.

Employee purchases chocolate company

■ Going from sales associate to owner of the company is easy according to the new proprietor of Sydney Bogg Chocolates. The secret is to love your work and not eat the inventory.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Candy queen: Judy McGuire of West Bloomfield bought the Sydney Bogg Chocolate Company. She promises to maintain its high standards of quality and Made-in-Michigan proud spirit.

When Judy McGuire started working behind the counter at Sydney Bogg Fine Candies and Chocolates 15 years ago, she never dreamed she'd end up owning the company.

But in August, McGuire and husband Jim, remortgaged their West Bloomfield home to buy the 60 year old business. The company has retail locations at Maple and Lasher in Bloomfield Hills, at the Great Oaks Mall in Rochester Hills, on Main north of 10 Mile in Royal Oak, and at Seven Mile and Woodward in Detroit.

McGuire's goal is to maintain the quality that goes into making Sydney Bogg's secret recipe chocolates. She said she simply loves the business and the people it's brought into her life.

"The candy business is a very unique business. People don't want to get out of it. There's a real camaraderie between candymakers," she said, placing a box of petite chocolates on a backroom table in the Bloomfield Hills store.

"This box, for instance, has a long tradition. 'Ethel's Hostess Box' is named after an original employee of Very Best Candies (fore-runner of Sydney Bogg confections). Ethel is in her '90s and still wants to do foils so she remains part of the business."

Very Best Candies opened in 1912 on Woodward at Seven Mile in Detroit. This factory/store is where Bogg first learned to make candy while working as a bus driver.

Bogg peddled his candy on the side to bus riders until Howard Vier sold him the confectionery business in 1935. Bogg and his wife Dorothy, owned it until 1960 when ownership passed to Ralph and Doris Skidmore who taught McGuire the ropes of creating melt-in-your-mouth chocolates, still made in the kitchens of the store on Woodward.

Originally, McGuire sought work at Bogg to pay for books she needed to complete graduate courses at the University of Michigan after quitting her teaching job at Benedictine High School in Detroit. The Bloomfield Hills location is the number one selling store of the four. More than $500,000 worth of candy was sold there last year.

"I liked the business from the moment I started. It's a happy business. People coming in are generally happy. All of us work together, all age groups, all races. I hated to see the company swallowed up and moved to Chicago or New York," said McGuire. She does not plan to expand the number of locations but she might add a mail order catalog.

"I want to preserve the quality and integrity of the business. I'm very proud of the fact the we were one of the first retailers to concentrate on Hannukkah and offer Kosher candy. When I started in the business we didn't do anything for ethnic holidays. Mrs. Skidmore gave me the freedom to alter candy-selling traditions."

McGuire's seen a lot of changes in the candy business during the 18 years she's worked at the Maple Road and Lahser shop. She credits those she comes in contact with daily for the success of the company — the 80-100 people she employs and her patrons.

"I learn a lot from my customers who travel all over the world. They bring back news of different candies that keep me up-to-date."

constitutes the bulk of Bogg's sales, the stores offer everything from jelly bellies to gummy bears and dried fruit.

"Party orders comprise about 50 percent of sales," said assistant Kate Gholston. "Years ago people used to come in and buy candy to make up their own trays or dishes. Now with busy lifestyles, people don't have time."

Personalized mints coordinated to party colors are proven best sellers. A chocolate star on a stick is a favorite with parents wanting to reward a child for good grades or other noteworthy achievements. But overall, it's Bogg's turtles (tons of chocolate poured over pecans and caramel) that keep people coming back.

"That's because of the quality of our ingredients. We use whole pecans not pieces and real whipping cream," McGuire boasted.

Exactly what is it that attracts people to chocolate? McGuire says, for one, chocolate affects the brain in the same way as when people fall in love, by producing the chemical serotonin.

"Chocolate's been around since before Christopher Columbus, and the Inca Indians drank something very similar to hot chocolate," she instructed. "Why do people like chocolate so? It brings back memories. For nine seconds you're a kid again."

At Sydney Bogg candy is sold by the pound, by the piece, or in holiday gift containers unique to the company.

RAISE A GLASS TO HEALTHY TEETH
It would be hard to imagine a more cost-effective way to preserve the good health of your teeth. Fluoridation is both an inexpensive and reliable way to improve the dental health of children and adults of all ages. For an average cost of fifty-one cents per person per year to fluoridate the water supply, that person realizes about forty dollars in savings on dental care costs. If only the return on all our investments were this good! Unfortunately, the benefits of fluoridated water are not available to everyone. About one-third of U.S. communities have yet to add fluoride to their water supplies. Those who live in these communities are advised to ask their dentists about getting their fluoride in other ways. According to the American Dental Association, these people would benefit from professional fluoride treatments every six months if they have had a cavity within the past three years.

P.S. Those who do not live in areas with fluoridated water would benefit from a daily fluoride rinse at home regardless of their cavity risk.

All-State soccer

The best team in Class A got one player on the Michigan High School Coaches Association all-state dream team and one more on the Class A second team.

Plymouth Salem's Ronny Mashni, a senior midfielder/forward who was instrumental in the Rocks march to the state title, was selected to the dream team (which also put him on the all-Class A first team). Senior teammate Drew Drummond, also a midfielder/forward, was named to the Class A second team.

In addition to Drummond, Plymouth Canton keeper George Tomasso, a senior who last year helped the Chiefs win the Class A championship, was a second team selection.

Other Observerland players named to the all-state teams were Livonia Stevenson senior midfielder Steve Williford to the dream team; Livonia Churchill senior midfielder Brian Zawislak to the Class A first team; Stevenson senior midfielder Matt Quinter to the Class A second team; and Redford Catholic Central senior defender Chris Kennedy to the Class A second team.

Receiving honorable mention were Salem senior defender Matt Simons and Canton senior defender Todd Stonestreet. Others receiving honorable mention were CC seniors Tom Derhake, a midfielder, and Dan Mulvihill, a senior forward; Farmington senior midfielder Chris Meyer; Livonia Franklin seniors Eric Bowman, a midfielder, and Rob Vega, a forward; Stevenson seniors Jim Grewe, a keeper, Scott Sersen, a defender, and Jeff Urbats, a forward; and Redford Union senior Mike Ferrarotti, a defender.

In coach of the year award balloting, Salem's Ken Johnson — who retired at the end of the season — was chosen the coach of the year in the Class A's Region 6.

All-State golfers

The Michigan Interscholastic Golf Banquet was held Nov. 17 in East Lansing, and a pair of Plymouth residents were selected to the all-state Class A teams.

Brandon DiPaolo, a senior who attends Redford Catholic Central, and Laura Kowalski, a senior at Livonia Ladywood, were both named to their all-state first teams.

Two other CC golfers were honorable mention choices: Brian Karabelski and Chris Misiak.

College standouts

Stephanie Gray, a sophomore at Northern Michigan from Plymouth Canton, saw 18 minutes of action in the Wildcats basketball season-opener, a win over St. Francis. Gray totaled 11 points, five rebounds and two steals in the victory.

In a win over Southern Indiana, Gray played four minutes and scored four points . . .

Ryan Burt, a senior at University of Michigan from Plymouth (Dearborn Divine Child HS), helped the Wolverines finish 11th at the NCAA Men's Cross Country Championships last Monday at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa.

Burt was the fifth finisher among the Wolverines and the 144th overall in 33:42. U-M scored 267 points; Arkansas won the title with 100 points . . .

Hope College, the defending champions in women's swimming for the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association, started right where they left off by beating conference rival Alma 120-96 in their season opener.

Among those with individual victories to their credit was freshman Kari Jackson, a Plymouth Canton grad. Jackson finished first in diving.

Hope extended its win streak in MIAA dual meets to four 16. It's been four years since the Flying Dutch have lost a dual.

Trophy winners

The Canton All-Stars, an under-10 team competing in the Girls Superior Division of the Great Lakes Soccer League, were awarded the runners-up trophy after finishing second in their division. The team scored 40 goals while allowing only 14.

The offense was led by Kelly Lepper and Chrissy Simon, with Rachel Rudzis, Carley Schwan and Anne Bernacki all solid in goal.

Other team members were Marissa Austin, Brittany Cervi, Paula Chamberlain, Jessica Darmanin, Erin Drepa, Lisa Ealy, Amy Lajoie, Danielle Malone, Kelly Owens, Katie Polera and Lauren Reed. All-Star coaches were Frank Bernacki, Thom Polera and Mike Owens.

PCJBA registration

Those interested in playing in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association, take note: Registration for girls will be Saturday, Dec. 2, from 9 a.m. until noon at Pioneer Middle School. The league is open to girls in grades nine through 12.

Registration for boys will be Saturday, Dec. 2, from 9 a.m. until noon at East Middle School. The league is open to boys in grades nine through 12.

Not quite enough

Salem battled right to the end, but Marian won in OT

■ It was there for the taking, the Class A regional crown. A basket here or a free throw there, and Plymouth Salem would have extended its season and advanced to the state quarterfinals.

Dribbling through: Salem's Amanda Abraham (with ball) slices past Marian's Andrea Gac, beating the Mustangs' pressure. Unfortunately, Salem couldn't beat Marian.

Birmingham Marian's girls basketball team had plenty to be thankful for over the holiday weekend.

On Thursday, the Mustangs counted their blessings among family and friends around the dinner table. On Friday, Marian had its prayers answered on the basketball court with an exciting overtime playoff victory, 49-47, over Plymouth Salem at Berkley High School.

Marian claimed its second regional championship in three years when sophomore guard Breen Walas threw up an off-balance shot from five feet away with just five seconds remaining in the overtime. Salem raced right back downcourt but did not have enough time to counter Walas' shot.

"It was one of those kinds of games where you had to hang in there and make the play at the end," said Salem's veteran coach Fred Thomann. "And they made the play."

Marian (16-8) now advances to the Class A state quarterfinal scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at Ferndale High School against Walled Lake Central. The Mustangs are excited to be among the eight teams remaining in the state tournament.

"We took our lumps all year and I never thought we could have 16 wins," said Marian coach Mary Lillie-Cicerone. "We never dreamt we'd be this far. We're very happy.

"But our bench has come up and played well and the seniors have played well. We got beat by some pretty good teams this year," she said.

And Salem was another good team that gave Marian fits.

The Rocks, who finished with a fine 17-7 overall record, enjoyed a big rebounding edge and matched the Mustangs with an aggressive defensive style. In the end free throws proved to be a key element. Marian was 11-of-15 from the line while Salem was 10-of-19.

The Mustangs held a slim 22-20 halftime advantage, but the Rocks bounced back with five of the third quarter's first seven points to take a 25-24 lead. The lead bounced back and forth through the rest of regulation time.

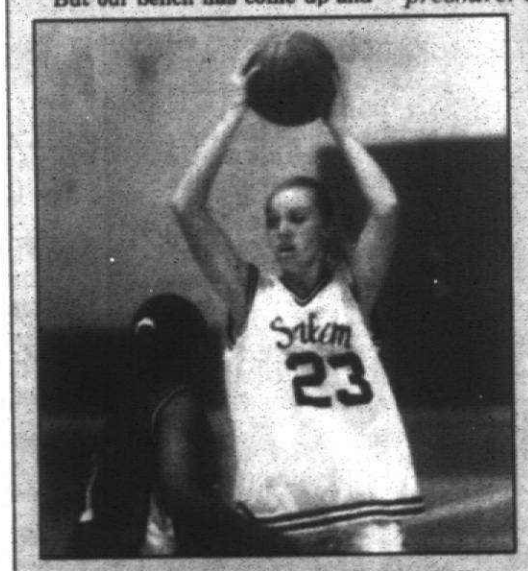

Salem's Angela Sillmon and Amanda Abraham converted back-to-back lay-ups to put their team up 41-38 with 4:22 remaining in the fourth quarter. Marian tallied the next three points on a basket by Walas and free throw by Alexis Koenings and regulation ended with the teams tied at 41.

Senior guard Brandi Bentley put Marian up by three quickly in OT with a driving lay-up and the accompanying free throw after she was fouled. But Salem countered on its trip down the court when junior Janelle Sterling swished home the only three-pointer of the game to tie the score again.

Each team then made three free throws, the last two by Salem's Abraham, to tie the score at 47-47 with 15 seconds remaining. Marian in-bounded the ball to Walas who raced downcourt, found a slight opening and threw up a wild, line-drive shot that rattled home for what proved to be the game-winning basket.

"I don't like to call time-out in that situation because the other team has time to set up their defense," said Lillie-Cicerone. "If you

Rocks dispose of Oak Park

By C.J. Risak

Perhaps it's too much of an assumption to say that, even with the three disqualified players, there was no way Oak Park was going to beat Plymouth Salem Wednesday in the Class A girls basketball regional semi-final at Berkley.

It is safe to say that question will never be answered.

And, taking into account the focus and determination the Rocks illustrated in the midst of endless distraction, the belief here is the players in question would have made it a better game than the 54-32 rout it became, but the outcome would still have favored Salem.

In fact, their performance illustrates how far the Rocks have come in terms of mental maturity in 12 days. Because 12 days earlier, after losing to rival Plymouth Canton, they showed little life and paid for it by falling to Northville on a last-second desperation shot.

Afterwards, Salem coach Fred Thomann explained how difficult it had been to prepare for a rather meaningless game against Northville when his team had come so close to making it to the Western Lakes Activities Association final.

"But those are all excuses," Thomann said, in conclusion. "The bottom line is, we didn't play as well as you need to play to win."

Against Oak Park, the Rocks overcame far more and performed superbly.

To start with, their game had been originally scheduled for Monday. But a court injunction prevented the district final at Ferndale, scheduled for the previous Friday between Oak Park and Detroit Pershing, from being played until a court ruling on the three players' eligibility could be rendered.

That caused Monday's game to be cancelled. On Tuesday, the circuit court ruled in favor of

Shamrocks cruise past Holt for title

By Steve Kowalski
Staff Writer

John Spolsky sat to the right of Redford Catholic Central football coach Tom Mach in the press room following Saturday's Class AA state football championship game.

Fitting, because if ever a player qualified as a coach's right-hand man it's Spolsky, the inspirational leader on both sides of the line of scrimmage for the Shamrocks.

Spolsky softened up Holt with inside yardage, gaining a AA finals game record 109 yards on 22 carries, as the Shamrocks won their fourth state title, 24-0, before 17,602 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

The Shamrocks led 6-0 at halftime and added two touchdowns and a field goal in the second half.

They scored on a two-yard run by Spolsky, a four-yard run by junior fullback Rich Deptula, a 13-yard pass from quarterback Greg Call to tight end Eric Gilbo and a 26-yard field goal by Eron Kosmowski.

CC's scoring drives covered 63, 66 and 51 yards. The Shamrocks had a 313-49 edge in total yardage and had a time of possession of 32 minutes, 43 seconds to Holt's 15:17.

"I kept telling myself before the game, don't think of fancy plays, just give it to John," Mach said. "He was the man we rallied around. We needed to give it to him."

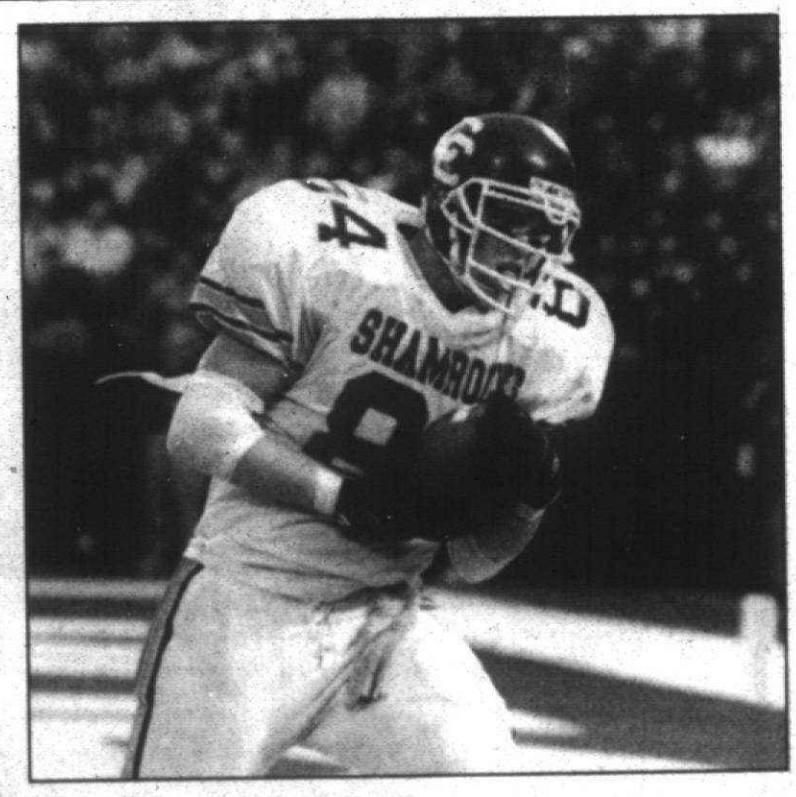

The Shamrocks finished 13-0, duplicating what the 1992 team accomplished when it defeated Saginaw Arthur Hill in the AA final.

The seniors on this year's team did not lose on the freshman or junior varsity level, either.

Holt's speedy tailback Justin Dungey gained 10 yards on his first carry, and finished with only 11 yards on eight carries.

"Holt is a very good team and I'm happy at the way we went after them," Mach said. "We were tough defensively and offensively tried to keep it as long as we can and put it in."

Crusaders men, women suffer losses

■ BASKETBALL

Poor shooting and poor rebounding usually adds up to one thing: poor results.

Madonna University's women's basketball team did not shoot the ball well in its Wednesday game against visiting Lake Superior State, nor did it board well, which is a good reason why the Lady Crusaders absorbed a 75-67 loss.

The defeat left Madonna at 3-3 for the season.

The Crusaders were led by Mary Murray, who totaled 21 points and seven rebounds. Francine Williams added 13 points and Dawn Pelc scored nine.

Which shows the starting front line for Madonna did its job scoring, going 19-for-39 from the floor (48.4 percent). But they grabbed a total of just 16 rebounds between the three of them, the Lakers outboarded Madonna 47-30.

And the Crusaders starting backcourt of Meegan Marlatt and Katie Cushman were off-target, converting only 4-of-24 from the field combined (16.7 percent). Cushman did contribute four assists.

For the game, Madonna made 28-of-78 from the floor (35.9 percent) to Lake Superior's 29-of-68 (42.6). Katie Hoy led the Lakers with 19 points and three steals. Heather Hopkins added 17 points and Chris Nance chipped in with 15 points and a team best eight rebounds.

The Crusaders kept it close for a half, trailing 34-33 at the intermission. But their fortunes faded in half No. 2.

■ Oakland U. 104, Madonna 74: The Fighting Crusaders managed to make a game of it for a half, trailing just 44-39 at the break Tuesday at Madonna.

After that, well, it was a different story.

The Pioneers (now 1-4) outpointed the Crusaders 60-35 over the final 20 minutes in rolling to the win.

Frank Zielinski led Madonna with 25 points and nine rebounds. Jeff Kennedy contributed 14 points, eight boards and four assists, and Christian Emert finished with 10 points. Paul Whiting came off the bench to score nine.

QU got 27 points from Tom Marowelli, 19 from Kevin Kovach, 14 from Denny Amrhein and 10 from Matt McClellan. Jason Burkholder finished with nine.

Zielinski also had a team-best five assists for the Pioneers, but he was a mere 6-of-20 from the floor (20 percent). The team was 25-of-67 from the field (37.3 percent) to the Pioneers' 35-of-69 (50.7 percent).

Beaver aids reopening of Big Beaver

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

What a nostalgia trip last week as "The Beaver," Jerry Mathers, came to town to help celebrate the re-opening of Big Beaver Road in Troy.

He made an appearance at Thunderbird Lanes on Friday which he signed autographs and bowled with some of his fans. It was a fun time for those who showed up to bowl or just visit with Mathers.

Jerry makes regular appearances on various radio and TV shows, makes the lecture circuit and is busy as an executive with Digital Imaging Systems in California.

Hats off to the Troy Chamber of Commerce for turning a road construction project into a memorable event.

■ The Michigan Majors Bowling Association held its Hall of Fame banquet recently at the Hawthorne Valley Country Club. The new inductees to the Hall of Fame were Russ Schaffer, Dale Strike (is that a great name for a bowler or what?), Harry Campbell, Doug Bradford and Bernie Kennedy.

Bradford was the bowling writer for the Detroit News for more than 20 years and was very supportive as a sports journalist. Kennedy is another bowling writer, having served in that capacity for the Macomb Daily News for 27 years.

Both Kennedy and Bradford were selected in the Meritorious Category while John Busley received the "Bob Garrett Sportsmanship Award" exemplifying congeniality, neatness and open sportsmanship for his fellow members.

The 28th Annual Championship was dedicated to Tom McKay for his many contributions to the sport of bowling.

■ Entry forms are now out for the Greater Detroit Bowling Association's 53rd annual tournament. There is a good cash prize fund in Team, Doubles, Singles and Mixed Teams.

All bowling is at Cloverlanes in Livonia running from March 23 through April 28. Entrants must be members of the GDBA or DWBA. For more information call (810) 773-6300.

Spolsky's inside running opened up the outside for junior quarterback Greg Call, who finished with 66 yards on 13 carries. Junior tailback Greg Alcala added 72 yards on 12 carries with a long of 28.

It was Spolsky whom the Rams feared most. The Rams were no slouches, bringing a defense that shut out three teams and limited opponents to 72 points in 12 previous games to the Silverdome.

"He ran a lot, even if he got hit, he kept his legs moving," said Rams quarterback/defensive back Paul Anderson. "We didn't wrap him up very well."

CC finished with 19 first downs, which ties a AA finals game record, and held the Rams to five, a new AA record.

CC sacked Anderson four times, led by junior defensive end Chuck O'Connor with 1½. Deptula had one sack, while Spolsky, Gino DiGiandomenico and Bryan Jeffords finished with a ½ each.

Call and Brian Teefey each had one interception.

BASKETBALL

Borgess' road to another title remains clear

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Bishop Borgess' road to a third-straight Class C girls basketball state championship remained smooth Wednesday night, as the Spartans defeated Detroit St. Martin DePorres, 70-29, in a regional final at Petersburg-Summerfield.

Borgess, 23-2 overall, jumped to a 19-2 lead after one quarter. Things were so easy that the Spartans' top player, senior guard Mazann Reese, went scoreless until three seconds remained in the first quarter when she rebounded her only miss and scored on a five-foot shot.

The Spartans led 40-7 at half-time and 56-20 following three quarters.

The win sends Borgess to Tuesday's quarterfinal at Armada High School.

No one scored in double figures, but six Spartans had at least seven points. Reese, sophomore guard Christina Anderson and junior center Candice Finley scored nine points each.

Senior guard LaZandra White and sophomore forward Koren Merchant had eight points each and senior guard Adriane Bryant added seven.

Reserves Regina Respert and Brandi Carafelli had six points each.

White finished four of five from the field. She had no trouble finishing on the fast break, which is something coach Dave Mann has been discussing with her.

In Monday's regional semifinal victory, Mann reminded White she's not Michael Jordan after White missed a layup on a fast break.

"Dave was getting after me to slow down on the break," White said. "This time I laid it in there like Joe Dumars or something. I don't have a problem with (not) scoring as long as we win games. Our mission is complete once we win the state."

Finishing plays on the fast break is one of the things the Spartans still have trouble with, according to Mann.

"I told them at halftime we did a much better job of being efficient on the break," Mann said. "We have too many kids, when they catch the ball on the break, they have an 'all or nothing' mentality. We're trying to get them to come to 'jump' stops, have their body under control."

The Spartans held DePorres top player, 5-6 junior guard Shari Hill, scoreless through the first half.

She scored her first basket with 5:05 remaining in the third quarter on a left-handed hook in the lane, and finished with four points. Sophomore guard Carmen Woolfolk led DePorres, 15-7 overall, with 11 points.

The Spartans used a box-and-one defense against DePorres. Bryant, Reese and Anderson took turns guarding Hill.

The Eagles made only two of 23 shots in the first half. They were outrebounded 27-8 by the taller Spartans by halftime.

"We knew they were going to try to shut down Shari," DePorres coach Tony Taylor said. "Our other players didn't step up like we anticipated."

Merchant, nicknamed "Koo," was one of the few Spartans who heard from Mann on the sidelines. She was fine on the offensive end, but too lackadaisical on defense, according to Mann.

"I want to play defense, but my legs won't do what my brain tells them to do," said Merchant, half-grinning, with Mann listening during the post-game celebration.

don't make the basket you still go into overtime.

"(Breean) knew exactly what to do the moment she got the ball. You could see it in her face all the way down (court). It was an off-balance shot, but we'll take it.

"Breean is one of those I-want-the-ball kind of persons," said Lillie-Cicerone. "She works hard and wants the ball in that kind of situation. And today she got the glory."

Walas and Bentley finished with 14 points each. Koenigs added seven points.

Salem's point leaders were Abraham, a sophomore guard, with 14 points, and Sillmon, a freshman guard, with 11 points. Andrea Pruett and Shellye Sills contributed nine and eight points, respectively.

"It was an outstanding game. Both teams competed hard and wanted it bad," said Thomann, whose team last played in a regional championship game five years ago. "I thought our players did a real nice job of handling their pressure.

"This was good for our team. We need to look at our season as a tremendous year for us," he said.

the Michigan High School Athletic Association, and the players stayed ineligible. Tuesday night, Oak Park beat Pershing for the district title, putting the Knights into the regional semifinal opposite Salem.

Whatever had led to the back-to-back Canton/Northville defeats, it could not have matched these distractions: a game cancelled; practice times altered; holiday plans changed; preparation for an opponent, and even what players would be playing, impossible since it was unknown until Tuesday.

Maybe it wouldn't have mattered. Although the Knights brought a 21-1 record into the regional with them, they would have been hard-pressed in handling Salem. At the end of one quarter, it was 14-10, in the Rocks' favor. It never got any closer.

That's because Salem ran off 13 unanswered points in the second period. Oak Park missed all seven of its floor shots and turned the ball over six times.

The gap grew to 21 — 41-20 — by the end of the three quarters. The Rocks' offense and defense both worked well, handling the only weapon the Knights really had: quickness.

"We lost a lot of height," said Oak Park coach Alice McGuff, referring to the missing players. "So we tried to make up for it in quickness."

That just didn't work, in great part due to the all-around play of sophomore Amanda Abraham, Salem's point-forward, if you will. The 6-foot Abraham collected 15 points, 14 rebounds, four assists and four steals in wrecking the Knights.

Shellye Sills was also superb, netting 14 points and eight boards. Angela Pruett finished with nine points and Nicole Van Hees totaled eight, with six rebounds.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

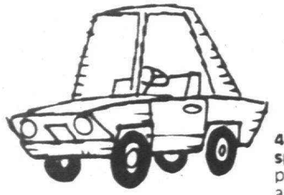

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

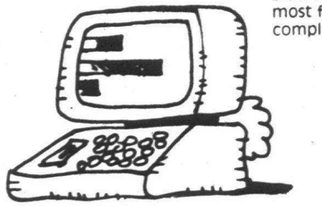

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

HENRY FORD MUSEUM & GREENFIELD VILLAGE

ROCHESTER HILLS MUSEUM

Christmas exhibit: Rochester Hills Museum volunteer Pat Brown with one of the rocking horses on display at the museum through Jan. 28.

Museums, mansions "Deck the Halls"

Holidays are happy times spent with family and friends. Everyone has a favorite memory – going to see the big tree at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, singing carols at Noel Night, and strolling through Meadow Brook Hall at Oakland University.

There's lots to do, and see. You might even start some new holiday traditions this year.

■ A holiday filled with the sights and sounds of American history awaits visitors to Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village in Dearborn through Jan. 1. For information call (313) 271-1976. Admission is $12.50 adults; senior citizens, 62 and over, $11.50; children 5-12, $6.25; children under 5 free. Admission the museum and village is separate. Combination tickets are available.

"Traditions of the Season" offers visitors a wealth of opportunities to bask in the glow of holiday lights and be dazzled by decorations and hands-on activities while listening to the songs and stories of this most festive of times," said Mary Lynn Heininger.

"Our holiday visitors will discover how Americans have celebrated the season through the centuries and can even start some traditions of their own. A visit to the Museum and Village during the holiday season has become a ritual for many families, and our teams of dedicated staff and volunteers have been working for months to present holiday experiences that will become cherished memories."

An indoor winter wonderland greets Henry Ford Museum visitors as they encounter a three-story tree that sparkles with light. Santa will greet youngsters to hear their wishes daily through Dec. 24.

Outdoors, Greenfield Village visitors can experience a variety of seasonal celebrations at the 19th-century Firestone Farm and Edison Home. Visitors to the Sarah Jordan Boardinghouse will discover how Mrs. Jordan prepared for America's first lighting exhibition. Many of Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratory workers lodged at this home, which enjoyed a flash of fame on New Year's Eve 1879 with Edison's first public demonstration of his electric lighting system.

■ The Henry Ford Estate – Fair Lane, is just minutes away on the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus on the northwest corner of Michigan Ave. and Evergreen. From Dec. 1-31, the 56-room estate, home of Henry Ford and his wife, Clara, for 35 years, offers a variety of ways to celebrate the season. It is surrounded by a 78-acre wildlife refuge. For reservations or a schedule of events call (313) 593-5590.

This year's theme is "The Spirit of Christmas." The historic rooms of the residence are decorated by local florists. Historical interpreters guide visitors through the estate and riverside Powerhouse. Tours offered 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m. 2 & 3 p.m. Monday-Saturday; 1-4:30 p.m. Sundays. The cost is $7 per person, senior and children rates available.

Special events for children include Breakfast with Santa, 8 a.m., 9:15 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 2 (cost $9 per person, call for reservations) and Santa's Workshop 5-8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15 and 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday, Dec. 16 (cost $5 per person, reservations required for groups). After visiting Santa in his workshop, children receive a special gift and sample a cup of hot oyster soup.

Tea, Tour and Christmas Treasure, 1 & 2 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5, and Wednesdays, Dec. 13 & 20 offers a traditional English Cream Tea, tour and 10 percent discount at the Estate Shop, (cost is $10 per person, call for reservations). Holiday Luncheon Concerts will be presented 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 8, Tuesday, Dec. 12, & Thursday, Dec. 14 (cost $19 per person, call for reservations). Dine in the glow of candlelight, and end the evening with the music of the season 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17 ($38 per person, call for reservations) or tour the estate by candlelight 6-8 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday, Dec. 26-28. Tour ends with spicy mulled cider. (cost $7, reservations required for groups).

■ Thousands of visitors will visit Meadow Brook Hall at Oakland University during Christmas Walk, now through Dec. 10. This is the 25th anniversary of the annual Christmas Walk. Thirty-two local floral designers and merchants donated their time and expense to decorate every nook and cranny of the former home of Alfred G. Wilson and Matilda Dodge Wilson, widow of auto pioneer John Dodge.

Christmas Walk, begun in 1971 by Marian Mitchell of Bloomfield Hills, quickly became an annual tradition and a major source of income for maintenance and preservation of the hall.

In keeping with the silver anniversary theme, the hall's decor is highlighted with silver. Toys and trees and lights and music make this an ideal family outing.

The Christmas Walk is open for a 1:30 p.m. tour Monday through Wednesday, Nov. 27-29. It is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 30 through Dec. 10. The only

'Nick' wastes time with improbable thriller story

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

In "Nick of Time," Johnny Depp plays a regular guy apprehended by police, given a gun, and told that if he doesn't assassinate the governor this afternoon his daughter will die.

One of the more captivating premises of the year is given the added twist of being filmed in real time, the action set roughly between noon and 1:30 p.m. on a typical Los Angeles afternoon. Instead of peaking our interest, however, "Nick of Time" only serves to remind us that movies manipulate time for a reason.

The script mines several Hitchcock staples — the average guy caught up in intrigue seemingly beyond his control and a distrust of law enforcement. It soon becomes evident that not only is Christopher Walken's renegade cop in on the plot; so is the governor's entire security staff.

John Badham is no Hitchcock. The director of "Saturday Night Fever" and "War Games" proved with last year's "Drop Zone" that he's become pretty much a hack for hire. He seems oblivious to the plot holes that fill the screen.

I'm sure Depp's character was too much in shock to turn the gun on the kidnappers as soon as it was given to him. But why does he have to stand in plain sight on a glass elevator as he's trying to make his escape?

Time is one of the cinema's best suspense techniques (You mean he's only got three minutes to destroy that bomb?) In "Nick of Time," when Walken's villain says, "Your last chance to kill the governor is at 1:20," a collective groan emanates from the audience. You mean we have to wait another 18 minutes for something exciting to happen?

It might have helped if so much of the action wasn't limited to the mirrored-glass towers of L.A.'s Westin Bonaventure, which reminds us not only of Detroit's Ren Cen but also "In the Line of Fire," a superior thriller whose climax was filmed here.

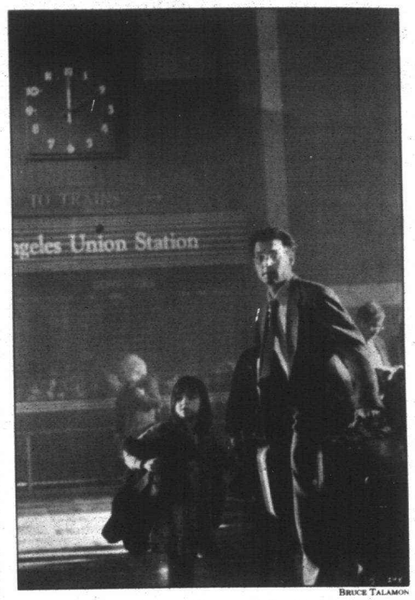

As a villain, Walken again employs the menacing, almost otherworldly quality that he brings to most of his roles. Dressed in a dark suit and Secret Service wire, he is believable even when appearing out of nowhere to foil Depp's latest attempt to get help.

A man of few words aside from threats, he does deliver a lengthy anecdote about killing "a Mick" that smacks so much of Quentin Tarantino's self-consciously hard-boiled dialogue (and is so out-of-place here) that you can't help but snicker.

Depp, meanwhile, has the first adult role of his career, yet it's a step backward to his days on the TV series "21 Jump Street." His furrowed brow and ultra-serious approach to a dopey script represents the kind of acting he's transcended since in unusual roles from Ed Wood to Edward Scissorhands.

Movies at their best make you forget about time. "Nick of Time" was one of those moments when, as the minutes ticked slowly by, I realized just how much time I spend with movies as mediocre as this. I looked at my watch at least as much as the characters on screen.

Down in the dumps? BMW 318ti Club Sport is your ticket

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti News Features

I was peeved. I had been stuck in Chicago all afternoon, trying in vain to get a flight home. I had been on standby for three flights, finally getting one.

The flight attendant tells me there's no room for my carry-on, so it had to be checked. Seemed like a minute after I gave her the carry-on, the door slammed shut and the plane pulled out.

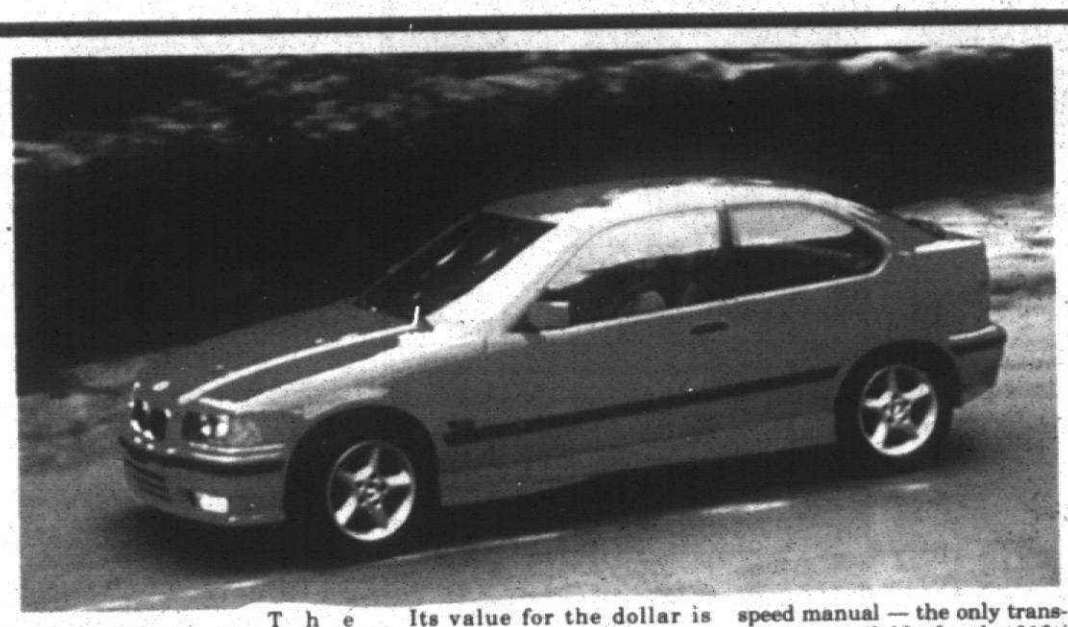

Without the carry-on! With the keys to the BMW 318ti Club Sport in it! Idiots!

A harried 90 minutes later, the carry-on miraculously appeared in baggage claim and, still irritated, I sulked and muttered to anybody who would listen all the way out to the Green Lot, threw everything in the trunk and buckled up for the ride home.

By the time I got home, some 45 minutes later, the radio was blaring, I was stomping on the gas and clutch and had a smile on my face from ear to ear.

What does that tell you about how fun it is to drive this car? Lots and lots of fun.

Even though I got such a lousy start because of the airline, this baby Bimmer made everything all better.

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

The BMW 318ti Club Sport is a limited edition version of the 318ti and is a product of BMW M, which is the company's subsidiary that specializes in M cars, motorsports, technology and is its "vehicle individualizing" arm. It also puts out all the exclusive edition models — like last year's 540i Sport and the M3.

The 318ti is BMW's most affordable car at a base price of $19,900. The 318ti Club Sport carries on that affordability by starting out at a comfortable $23,650.

Its value for the dollar is impressive, to say the least.

Powered by a responsive, fuel efficient 1.8-liter dual-overhead-cam 16-valve 4-cylinder — yes, 4 cylinder — the 318ti Club Sport moves when you want it to, and without complaint, I might add. Stomp on the gas pedal and it goes, and goes, and goes . . .

Ohhhh, the handling. This car is so solid, you feel like you're one with the car. Every move you make, it makes with you, in fluid motion. It couldn't be more in sync if the two of you were linked with Saran wrap. And the steering response is so fine that the slightest turn of the wheel will yield results.

The 318ti is nearly effortless to drive. Give thanks to the same suspension specially fitted and tuned by BMW M. That special suspension is outfitted with firmer springs, shock absorbers and anti-roll bars than the average car. The 5-spoke alloy wheels are an inch larger in diameter than those of the 318ti Sport.

I had a hard time, for some reason, getting used to the 5-speed manual — the only transmission available for the 318ti Club Sport, by the way (as it should be). It gave me a little trouble when shifting from second to third and by the end of a weeklong evaluation, I was still having a hard time getting it into reverse.

The list is so long on standard equipment it would take way too much room, but here are the highlights: Engine-speed-sensitive variable-assist rack and pinion steering, 4-wheel disc brakes with anti-lock brakes, 2-speed windshield wipers with car-speed-controlled intermittent operation and heated washer jets, dual power heated outside mirrors, a take-out flashlight in glovebox, height-adjustable front sports seats that recline, adjustable head restraints, split folding rear seats, power front windows with key-off operation, microfiltered ventilation and a CD-ready, six speaker anti-theft AM/FM stereo radio/cassette system.

Optional equipment includes limited-slip differential, a premium audio system with 10 speakers, a power two-way sunroof with key-off operation, a remote keyless entry security system, a six-disc CD changer, cellular phone and roof-rack carrier.

Safety, always a priority with this German automaker, is evident with dual air bags, high-adjustable front seatbelts with automatic tensioners (they drove me crazy by tightening at the wrong time) and a full barrier in front and rear. It's also got side-impact beams that meet 1997 standards.

This is a pretty car. The one I drove was bright red, but it also comes in jet black. Its aggressive stance is further enhanced by neat foglights, M mirrors, M front spoiler, side sill's and a rear apron. Leather seating is plush and comfy.

And, lo and behold, this is a rear-wheel-drive car. Hallelujah! Up here in Michigan, most people say FWD is best in snow and ice. Improved traction, they say.

I say, hey — how many times a year in the past five did we really have snow? Not much. Rear wheel drive gives you superior handling in normal weather conditions, which is what most driving happens to be.

BMW evenly distributed the weight (51.4 percent front/48.6 percent rear) in the car to compensate a little for the car being rear wheel drive. It accomplished this by lengthening the wheelbase and mounting the battery in the rear. Well done.

Pretty car. Fun to drive. Affordable by most. 'Nuf said.

Today's Technicians Shedding 'Grease Monkey' Stereotype

(UN)-The men and women who repair our vehicles will probably always need a few wrenches and some soap and water to clean their hands at day's end, but the "grease monkey" stereotype is passing into history. Technicians with hand-held engine analyzers and on-site computer terminals are becoming the norm.

Today's auto technician faces components and repairs virtually unheard of a generation ago. Among the advances are on-board computers, electronic fuel injection and unibody frame construction.

Twenty years ago, a mechanic needed to understand 5,000 pages of technical text to be able to repair any auto on the road at that time. To perform the same feat today, a technician would have to decipher 500,000 pages of technical text--the equivalent of 250 big-city phone books.

The non-profit, independent National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence has been a driving force behind the professionalization of the auto technician. ASE is dedicated to improving the quality of automotive service and repair through the testing and certification of the repair technicians.

For a free brochure about today's auto technician, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: ASE, Dept. NU-95B, 13505 Dulles Technology Drive, Suite 2, Herndon, VA 22071.
