Plane crash stuns neighbors

Two men were seriously injured and residents in the Nottingham Forest subdivision were in shock early Saturday evening when a single-engine air-plane, apparently out of Mettetal Airport, plunged into the subdivision near Ford and Lilley, crashing onto the sidewalk and bursting into flames in front of a home on Avon Street.

The victims were identified by Canton Police as Malcom Stinson of Canton and Phillip Kahler of Ypsilanti Township. Kahler is a flight instructor, according to police, although it was unclear who was in the pilot's seat.

"I looked out my window and saw the plane, it just dropped almost straight down," said Michelle Loveland. "It barely missed our house. Then (her husband) Bob rushed out with the neighbors to try and help.

Another resident, Mark Shapona, said the Cessna 150 "was about the next block over when I saw it turn one wing up. It was on its side kind of and then boom."

"It was flying real low, Shapona said. "A guy on bike said he was following it for a couple miles as it flew really low.

The airplane landed in the yard of Ronnie Sebuck, who heard a big crash. "I looked out my window and saw a wing sticking out of the ground," said Sebuck. "I was certainly shocked."

It was the neighbors who may have saved the men, who were taken to University of Michigan Hospitals in Ann Arbor. A bunch of us got garden hoses and fire extinguishers to put out the fire," said Bob Loveland. "Some of the other neighbors actually lifted the wing of the plane and helped get the pilot and the passenger out.

In fact, Loveland said while neighbors were lifting the wing and attempting to get the second man out, a fire ignited

As of late Saturday, one man was in critical condition and the other is serious. Both were treated in the ER, according to hospital spokeswoman Sally Pobojewski. No one on the street was injured, said Sgt. Ernie Sayer of Canton Police.

Children were playing outside in the Nottingham Forest subdivision due to the nice weather. Shapona said it was amazing that no one on the street was

Books only part of the story at today's library

First-graders from Field Elementary went on a tour of the Canton Public Library earlier this month to see what the library has to offer during the seventh annual First Grade Round Up.

In addition to storytime, a puppet show and a tour of the library, some of the youngsters signed up for their very first library card.

A library card at the Canton Public Library can do so much more than check out books.

"If you're eligible for a library card then you're eligible for a MetroNet account which gives you free Internet access," said library Director Jean

Schools get $5.3 million in Durant suit payout

While many late tax filers were delaying until the last minute to pay the State of Michigan on Wednesday, April 15, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools finally got its refund from the state - to the tune of $5.3 million.

The windfall comes from the Michigan Supreme Court's mandated settlement in the Durant case. Last year, the high court ruled in favor of 84 school districts claiming the state owed them for failing to pay for special education and other mandated services over a 17-year period.

While the Plymouth-Canton district claims it deserved $12 million, the court settlement paid less than 50

Teens take judicial role in District court effort

Parents many times experience the realization their teenage sons and daughters listen to their friends more than the time-tested wisdom of Officials at 35th District Court are hoping to harness that peer pressure by developing a teen court that eventually will be judge, jury and "executioner" for youthful offenders.

"After admitting what they've done upfront, the youth offender will come to the teen court with the idea a jury of their peers will listen to the circumstances of the offense, deliberate and deliver the sentence," explained Judge Ron Lowe. "We're hoping to deal with youth on a more serious level and intervene in their lives, redirect them. Maybe then we won't see them as adults in the system."

Teen court won't be for everyone, only those youths identified by the probation department as teens who will benefit from the program.

The court serves five communities, including Canton

The Bad Frog issue first came up before the planning commission March 16, when commissioners unanimously recommended a variance from the required brick facade. The Louisiana Bayou theme of the Bad Frog Tavern features a stained cedar building.

On April 6, the planning commission voted 4-3 on a recommended approval of a site plan for the 5,520 square-foot restaurant. The township board has final authority.

Area Close Up students visit and study Washington, D.C.

Editor's note: The following is Salem High School student Jessie Lobenherz's story about the annual Close Up trip to Washington, D.C. She also photographed her fellow students on

BY JESSIE A. LOBENHERZ

Malcolm Forbes once said, "The purpose of education is to replace an empty mind with an open one.

Recently, students from Salem and Canton high schools had the opportunity to enhance their ninds and their education when they spent a week in Washington, D.C., over their mid-winter

While in Washington, students were able to see first-hand how our government works, as well as meet new people, see new things, and have new experi-

Students were given their first-hand experience of how our government works on a day devoted to the exploration of Capitol Hill. Students could attend House and Senate committee meetings, visit the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Supreme Court and surrounding buildings, or tour the Capital.

Students were had a chance to meet with Michigan Rep. Lynn Rivers, who represents Plymouth and Canton in the 13th Congressional District. They were also given the opportunity to meet with legislative correspondents to Michigan senators Carl Levin and Spencer Abraham, as well. Lynn Rivers posed for photographs with all of the students. Spencer Abraham, although he was unable to speak with the students as a group, did pose for photographs with some students who he met on one of the trolleys that connect parts of the Capitol In addition to meeting with Michigan's representatives in Congress, I attended a Senate committee meeting on foreign relations, at which the effectiveness of using unilateral trade sanctions against Asia was debated. I also visited the Senate and the House of Representatives, although only the Senate was in session

In order to visit either the Senate or the House of Representatives, you must have a pass. Before you enter either of the chambers, you must check all of your belongings and pass through metal detectors.

At the Senate, Salem Close Up teacher Bill Boyd kept setting the metal detector off, and he was asked to empty his pockets (which contained close to $10 in I met some Washington, D.C.

having passed through the metal detector three times, and setting it off each time, Boyd had to be scanned by a guard with a handheld detector. Finally, he was allowed to enter the Senate. although it was never determined what exactly kept setting the alarm off. This incident is testament not only to the security found at the Capital and all around Washington, D.C., but also to the once-in-a lifetime experiences that can occur on Another great aspect of the Washington, D.C. trip is all the new people we were able to meet. At our hotel, there were students from Delaware, Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, North Carolina Texas. Washington and, of course, Michigan. Students roomed with one person of their choice from their own school and two people from another state. This was a great way to learn about the differences and simiarities between life in Michigan and life in other states. My roommates were from Minnesota and from them I learned a lot about their high school and their lives in Minnesota. I also had the opportunity to meet interesting people around Washngton, D.C. while standing in line at McDonald's at Union Station. For example, I talked with a man from Maryland who told me about his job working at a Dirksen Senate Office Building. At the Vietnam Memorial, I who was selling merchandise. Space Museum, two friends and throughout the city, or all of the other students from the different areas of the country who were on the trip and stayed at the same In Washington, D.C., there were also many places to visit, and during the week spent in the city, the Close Up students visited almost all of them. There were museums, such as the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, the National Air and Space Museum, the Newseum, and the National Museum of American History. There were memorials, such as the Malcolm X Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial, the Vietnam War Memorial, the Korean War Memorial and the Iwo Jima Memorial. There were other attractions such as Arlington National Cemetery, the Washington Monument and the White Students visited many restaurants, such as the Hard Rock Cafe and Planet Hollywood. In their workshops or assigned groups, students also visited neighborhoods, such as Shaw and Adams Morgan.

In the neighborhood Adams Morgan, I ate at an Ethiopian restaurant for the first time and discovered that you don't get silverware. Instead, you use sponge-like bread to eat your food. Also, everyone's meal is served on one giant plate, and you serve yourself from this

The Washington, D.C. trip was full of once-in-a-lifetime experiences. All of the students had the opportunity to attend a performance of the humorous musical group "Capitol Steps." Students on bus three (workshops five and six) visited the Taipei Economic and Cultural represenative in the United States and received an 834-page 1997 "The Republic of China Yearbook" and a soda pop. At the Capitol, I and other workshop students saw President Pro Tempore Strom Thurmond. Students and teachers watched two male students sing "Heaven" at the Close Up banquet talent show.

The Washington, D.C., Close Up trip was an excellent opporudge's office. On Capitol Hill tunity for all involved. It was day, I met a reporter from truly a worthwhile experience. Malaysia who told me about the Students were taught to open Newseum in Virginia. I also met their minds to new people, new a Senate building maintenance places, new experiences and new worker in the elevator of the ideas. Only by opening one's mind can one realize one's full potential. CHEF RICK HALBERG

Pure and honest is the way food ought to be t was 1971, and I just arrived in Tucson, Ariz. I didn't have much money and knew I better get a job and quick. I'd been traveling around the country for a couple of years, searching for myself and what to do with my life. I took odd jobs here and there, and the work that best suited me seemed to be cooking.

Tucson in the early 1970s was known as "the center of the universe," it seemed as if everybody who ever had a radical thought or was practicing some new kind of spirituality was living there. The job market was tight. Wandering around downtown, I found myself lunching on beans and rice at a vegetarian "health food" place called The Aquarian Farmary Before I knew it, I had secured the job of dishwasher, and was earning 90 cents an hour. It didn't take too long until I was running the kitchen. That job was the start of a journey that would take me careening head first and eyes wide open into the profession I am in today.

Revelation

This was an amazing time in my life, all of a sudden I found myself being exposed to so many new types of cooking. Vegetarianism was the thing. Southwestern cooking had not even been discovered yet, and we were experimenting with chilies, tamales and true Mexican cuisine There was a large macrobiotic community, and the exposure to the Japanese way of life by means of cuisine in its very simple form, was a revelation to me. I learned about bok choy, miso and seafood. But more important, I was developing my philosophy as a chef. I learned that for me, food had to be pure and honest, whether it was a simple dish of rice or an elaborate feast of many courses. The food must speak for itself.

"Health Food" was a new fad, and I seemed to be at the epi-center of it. Our little restaurant was very highly regarded in the town. All sorts of people stopped by from Timothy Leary to Alan Watts, along with many of the very high practicing yogis of the time. Listening to these people speak about their ideas about a "new" way of life reinforced my own convictions about honest food. It was 1971, I was 22, and had found my life's work. What a time for learning, and my education continues. Now we eat healthy as a matter of course, and it's getting easier all the time. However, in our pursuit of health, it is wise to know what we are eating, and to be sure that we study the labels on these so called "healthy foods" to learn what is going into our bodies.

Eating healthy has a totally different meaning to me today than it did 25 years ago. Then I was a strict vegetarian and ate almost no fat, no protein or dairy. Quite an extreme. Now, I'm eating most everything, but I eat in moderation, and I am enjoying food so much more. What could be better than a soothing batch of rustic polenta with fresh spring vegetables? Sure, the polenta has butter and cheese, but that is the way it is supposed to be prepared. I don't eat it everyday, and make sure those fats are balanced with plenty of fresh fruit and raw vegetables.

World of choices

The food world has certainly changed a lot since the 1970s. What we found unique, unusual or exotic 20 years ago is common today. Who ever heard of Italian Balsamic vinegar 20 years ago? Or Jerusalem artichokes. or even tofu? Just look at the variety of mushrooms, from the common button to shiitake, oyster, cremini and portabella, not to mention morels and chanterelles.

Fresh from the oven cookies and the aroma of baking bread make a house a home. Still, as much as we like the idea of baking, we're often frustrated into giving it up altogeth-

In a recent survey commissioned by Land O'Lakes, one out of three Americans who bake said they struggle with at least some basic elements of the process.

Thirty-six percent said their biggest challenge is "knowing when the baked goods are finished." Thirty-two percent said "finding the ingredients and equipment needed," was a struggle. Other baking challenges included "getting the final product to meet their expectations, measuring ingredients," and "understanding recipe instructions."

General Mills took some of the mystery and aggravation out of home baking with the Betty Crocker "Ginger Cake Mix" introduced in 1947 after four years of laboratory research. Instead of gathering and measuring a lot of ingredients, and following detailed directions, all you had to do is add one cup of water and mix. "Ginger Cake" was an instant hit followed by "Party Cake" and Devil's Food mixes in 1949.

Cake mixes are a delicious option for those of us who want home baked goods in a "jiffy," but knowing the basics, such as to preheat your oven 10 to 15 minutes before baking, helps guarantee success.

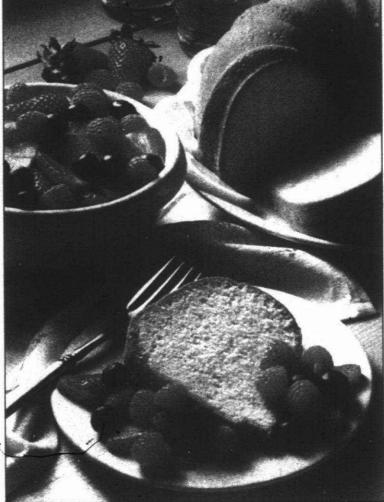

Lois Thieleke of Birmingham, an Extension Home Economist for the Michigan State University Extension — Oakland County, fields ques-tions from anxious home bakers every day.

"If they have doubled a recipe they want to know if they should double the baking time too," said Thieleke. That's not how it works. Say you're baking a cake in an 8-inch pan. You want to double the recipe, and bake it in a 9-by-13-inch pan. I cannot automatically say you need 10 to 15 minutes more. It depends on how thick the batter is. Test the cake at the normal time and see where you are. If it's not done, continue baking, but test it every five minutes or so. Then write down the time so the next time you double the recipe you'll know how long to bake it."

The same is true if you half or quarter a recipe. "You have to continually test it," said Thieleke.

Besides not being sure when a baked product is done, people are afraid to experiment with ingredi-

"People will call and say, 'The recipe calls for buttermilk, but I don't want to go out and buy a quart of buttermilk.' You can substitute sour milk, yogurt or sour cream, but they're afraid to try it on their own. Buttermilk has a little more butter flavor, but in a cake or quick bread it won't make a difference.

"We have had calls from people who say, 'I have pecans, but the recipe calls for walnuts. Can I use pecans?' Of course you can, in fact, you can leave them out altogether.

Weather can affect how a baked product turns out too. "You can never make divinity on a cloudy day. It has to be sunny and clear, my mother and grandmother used to say. Clouds usually bring rain, and humidity. That changes the product.

It's not as fluffy That's true for meringue and angel food cake, which are also made with egg whites. If you're making a lemon meringue pie, don't have corn on the stove boiling. The steam will change the make-up of the meringue.

"Sometimes the biggest problem is a recipe doesn't go into detail. If you've never made an angel food cake you don't know that you have to turn it upside down to cool," said Dan Rowlson of Farmington Hills, chef instructor at Oakland Commu nity College in Farmington Hills and Pastry Chef at Franklin Hills Country Club. Rowlson also teaches a variety of classes at Kitchen Glamor

"Baking is a hobby, some people really enjoy working on things. Patience is so important. It takes Having the right equipment helps to. "You need a timer to check said Rowlson who the toothpick test to see if a cake is done. If the toothpick is wet, it's not

"Every oven is different," he said. "Invest in an oven thermometer to check the temperature." Just because you set your oven dial to 350°F doesn't mean that it is 350°F. Rowlson's favorite piece of equipment is a stand-up KitchenAid Mixer that sits on his kitchen

Keep on hand these 13 ingredients

- taining a combination of baking soda
- combined with an acid, such as buttermilk or sour cream, it causes baked goods to rise.
- Brown Sugar Available in light or dark, the taste and color comes from molasses.
- Butter Adds flavor, color and texture. Use salted or unsalted sticks; avoid using reduced fat products, which have a higher moisture content than butter.
- Chocolate Adds rich, sweet flavor. Available in a variety of forms and flavors such as: semi-sweet, white or milk chocolate, baking chocolate, unsweetened, etc.
- Eggs Besides adding color and flavor, eggs hold ingredients together. Use large eggs in recipes.
- Flour Gives baked goods structure. The most common used is all-purpose (bleached or unbleached).
- Milk Activates leavening agents and provides moisture, color and flavor. Use regular (whole), 2 percent, 1 percent, or skim.
- Oatment Gives baked goods tex-ture and flavor. Use old-fashioned rolled oats or quick-cooking oats for
- Powdered Sugar Also called confectioners' sugar, powdered sugar is finely crushed white sugar used in frostings and icing.
- Sugar Known as granulated or white sugar. It is the most common sweetener used in baking:

Lots of us want to get back to basics, especially in the kitchen. "Each year, we receive countless calls from consumers expressing a desire to bake, but they often struggle with many of the primary skills, said Lydia Botham, director of the Land O' Lakes Test Kitchen & Consumer Affairs. "After all, the true rewards of baking are the satisfaction of creating something with your own two hands and the gratitude

For more than 850 years, the name Brolio (the oldest family-controlled winery in the world) has been associated with Tuscan wines. In 1141, the Ricasoli family settled in the region of Gaiole in Chianti, near Siena, Italy, on a hill known as "brolio." They planted vineyards and built their fortified residence, now called Brolio Castle, parts of which still stand Without going into detail about unfortunate circumstances some family-owned companies get themselves into, suffice it to say that through the late 1970s and all of the 1980s Brolie wines suffered a quality decline. That ended in 1993 when Francesco Ricasoli assumed the presidency of th Brolio Estate Vineyards. Francesco, born in Brolio Castle in 1956, developed innovative viticultural techniques for the Brolio vineyards and became the high-tech custodian of the estate's vineyards in the Chianti Classico zone.

Today's Brolio wines showcase the caring hand and wine passion of Francesco Ricasoli and his winemaker Carlo Ferrini. Brolio wines are back, regaining the reputation they once had!
The 1995 Terricella $28 is a 100 percent barrel-fermented Chardennay that spent nearly seven months in new Fresch oak: "New barrels are a necessity for good Italian chardonnay," Francesco Ricasoli insisted. This wine with its ripe melon, honey and sound dellop of balanced oak proves his point. Brolio 1995 Chianti Classico $13 is an amazingly good value. Chock full of black cherry, dark plum, black raspberry and violet aromas, it packs a fruit FIEANOR HER punch in the finish along with peppery, anise and assorted spice notes. For more intensity of all elements and lots of vanilla oakiness, try the 1994 Chianti Classico Riserva $18.

Super Tuscan is the name given to powerful wines. innovative departures from traditional chianti styles. Brolio's super Super Tuscan is 100 percent sangiovese and named Casalferro. The 1995 is $32 and worth every penny.

"In bigger, more complex wines, finesse is most important to me," Ricasoli said. "I find it lacking in many wines." It's not lacking in this benchmark!

If you've ever had a bad day and found solace whacking weeds; if you've ever gone into a trance kneading soil; or if you know the exciting anticipation that comes with planting a seed, then you have an idea why gardening is good for you.

"It gives you a calming effect and a sense of well being," according to Julie Darling, Michigan State University Extension in Wayne County. "Nature slows you down and it's relaxing," said

Darling who is developing a horticultural program for youth throughout the county. The idea is that gardening will give children self-grow and take pride in knowing that they were responsible. Adults benefit, too.

You don't have to be sick to reap the benefits of feeling connected with nature and watching something that you've cared for flourish. Your garden offers a refuge in the spring, summer and fall and place of wonderment during the winter thinking about what you may do in the coming months.

Aside from the emotional and mental benefits, gardening can by physically good for you, too.

"Studies show that 30 minutes a day of moderate activity, such as gardening, decreases the risk of numerous chronic ailments, including heart disease, stroke and type II diabetes," according to "The Saturday Evening Post."

In fact, gardening can get the heart pumping and body fat melting as quickly as the machines at your favorite health spa. Your neighbor who is out digging, raking and planting every Saturday morning is getting the same physical workout as if he were snorkeling, playing volleyball or walking briskly.

Spring doesn't begin in March if you're a gardener. It begins on the coldest wintry days when seed catalogues fill your mail box and your imagination becomes fertile with ideas of decorative borders and filling your freezer with homegrown vegetables and fruits. High speed Internet technology is coming ... really n Wheaton, Ill., a lot of people start their morning at the Bits and Bagel Cybercafe. Home-made bagels, gourmet coffee and Internet-wired computers let the customers surf the world and feed their hunger for food and information.

But these days, the customers are also getting something most Net Surfers can only dream of. Fast Internet access. How fast? How about downloading the latest 11 Megabyte version of the Netscape Communicator web browser in two minutes? If you've tried that with your 28.8 modem, you know that it usually takes a couple of hours. If you're lucky. What does the Bits and Bagel Cybercafe have that we don't? A new high speed technology called ADSL.

"What it gives me is a 'Wow Factor' for my customers," says Dwight Hawley, the owner. "They come in and, what takes minutes to bring up on the Net with a regular connection, I can do in seconds. Invariably, they take a look at a high bandwidth site with a lot of graphics and go, 'Wow.' "

The technology is called Asymmetrical Digital Subscriber Line, or ADSL. Sometimes, it's just abbreviated as DSL. It uses the existing copper phone lines that already run up and down your street and into your house to deliver Internet speeds up to 1.5 megabits-per-second (Mbps), or about 50 times faster than the 28.8 bits-per-second speeds used by most conventional modems Wheaton was a test city for Ameritech. Last December, Ameritech brought it to Ann Arbor. Now, the company is ready to bring it to the metro Detroit area. Over the next several months, it will be introduced in Royal Oak. (Call 800-910-4369 for informa-

"As customers spend more time on the Internet, they've asked us for faster speeds. And this really delivers the goods," claims Valeri Marks, president of Ameritech Interactive Services. ADSL is what is called a dedicated connection. That means it's always on. You don't have to dial in anywhere. There's no more busy signals. No disconnects or service interruptions. And because it is so fast, it's perfect for hungry, high bandwidth Internet features like realtime video and audio. Eventually, many believe you'll be able to download fulllength movies over ADSL Internet conWhat it gives me is a 'Wow Factor' for my customers. There are some limitations, however. For one thing, you need to be within a mile or so of an Ameritech ADSL center. Sort of like cellular phones need to be near cellular antenna towers. And it's going to take some time for Ameritech to build enough centers around the area to make the service available to every-

And, it's more expensive. The service will cost $49.95 per month for unlimited usage, plus a one time installation charge of $150. A special ADSL high speed modem is also needed. That runs about $200 but Ameritech says it will waive the charge as part of an introducspokesperson in Detroit, promises that ADSL will be available within three years for seven out of every 10 customers in Southeastern Michigan.

The technology is being tested across the nation by a half dozen Baby bells and other telephone companies. Intel and Microsoft are heavy investors in the technology. Microsoft's Bill Gates has said he believes ADSL will be the most common means of accessing the Internet within the next few years.

Suzuki Method makes music fun and unique n a recent Saturday, Jeff and Kathy Marzolf's Livonia basement was the gathering place for a group of students taking classes in the Suzuki Method of guitar instruction. An unexpected visitor might think the atmosphere was more like a play session than a serious lesson. But that's the idea behind Suzuki training. Instead of teaching students to read music and plod through notes one by one, the Suzuki Method makes playing an instrument

Before Shannon, the Marzolfs' daughter, started guitar lessons Jeff spent hours researching the Suzuki Method of teaching on the Internet. For two months previously Marzolf studied guitar with a teacher using the traditional method, so he wanted an alternative to the boring and sometimes unproductive sessions he'd endured Shinichi Suzuki's method differs from traditional teaching in a number of ways one of which is teaching children to play before learning how to read notes. Just as children talk first before learning to read, the Suzuki Method promotes imitation and repe-

Learning music

"The difference between the Suzuki Method and traditional ways of teaching is to internalize the music, you know the music before you play it, said Suzuki instructor Marc Michaud of Westland. "They do learn to read music later on."

Five times a week, Shannon and the rest of the Marzolf family listens to Suzuki tapes of songs played during the lessons.

The traditional style of teaching doesn't use the Mother-Tongue approach," said Jeff Marzolf. "You're playing notes but you don't know how it's supposed to sound. When you listen to the tapes it doesn't have to be a concious effort. Sometimes we listen during dinner.

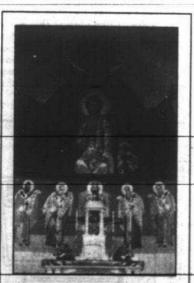

The Suzuki approach, unlike traditional methods, encourages children to start music training at a young age. Parents should begin playing the tapes for children at birth with formal training commencing at age three. Michaud recommends lessons begin at age five and over but for gifted children at age three. He agrees, children should "listen to the tapes beginning at age zero." The mother or father attends all lessons with the child so they become familiar with the learning process and can work with the child as a home-teacher.

"It's drawn Shannon and I closer together, because I take over during the week in our home," said Jeff Marzolf, "and I'm learning to play as well."

Michaud, a certified Suzuki instructor who began playing guitar 12 years ago, said "a lot of parents are under the misconception that students train in the Suzuki Method in groups. The monthly group lesson is a culmination of half hour private lessons students receive once a week.

for the sake of community

Grassroots momentum behind Farmington Festival of the Arts

Finding your way: "Lakeshore Path," an acrylic by Danguole Jungutis, recently named the Farmington area's artist-in-residence for 1998.

omehow, Nanette Reid's two kids and husband haven't complained. At least, not too loudly.

Not even when Reid spent five hours a day to help organize last fall's Festival of Dance in Farmington. And not these days, entering the final, hectic stretch before the opening of the eight-day Festival of the Arts, which she co-chairs.

Going about her business as she clutches a thick notebook filled with the names of contacts and volunteers, Reid embodies the neversay-die attitude of today's most dogged arts advocates

"Nan has all of our phone numbers," said Sally LePla-Perry, cultural arts coordinator for Farmington-Farmington Hills. "Once you're in her book, watch out."

A dancer by choice, and an advocate by necessity, Reid is one of the many volunteers who are transforming the identity of Farmington-Farmington Hills from a blissful suburb with a rolling landscape into a locale of thousands of citizen-artists.

Glorious: "Pattern Dancing."

The idea may sound utopian, but it is clearly rooted in democratic yearnings.

"My government is me," said Reid. "If there aren't people coming together along the way, (the arts) aren't going to go anywhere.'

Reid only needs to check her perpetually growing Rolodex. She's hardly alone.

Friends explore the field of photography

Melissa Turmel met in September at Wayne State University in a drawing class. As they became friends and shared their love of photography, they seemed destined to show their work together at Frame Works.

Colleen West, Rebecca Brain, and Turmel originally came up with the idea, but it was West who said, "I know just where we can do it." West began working at the Plymouth frame shop and gallery when she was 16.

For the past few weeks, the trio has been scurrying to prepare for two shows - the "Exploring the Field," exhibit opening Friday, April 24, at Frame Works, and Wayne State University's undergraduate show, which opened Friday.

"We'd be together all the time if we didn't live so far apart," said West. "We inspire each other." West lives in Plymouth, Brain in Macomb Township, and Turmel in Warren.

When Brain discovers an abandoned house, one of her favorite subjects, she asks Turmel to

Civil War historian discusses pivotal Wilderness campaign

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

A hundred and thirty-three years ago this month Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox Courthouse, Va., ending four years of bloody battle unprecedented in the history of warfare to that time.

The fascination with every aspect of that conflict continues to this day. People north and south of the Mason-Dixon Line seem to have an insatiable appetite for every detail, every nuance of what happened and

The Abraham Lincoln Civil War Round Table will welcome historian Gordon Rhea 8 p.m. Thursday, April 23, at the Botsford Inn in Farmington. The meeting is free and open to the

Rhea will discuss his two recent military histories, "The Battle of the Wilderness, May 5-6. 1864" and "The Battle for Spotsylvania Court House and the Road to Yellow Tayern, May 7-12. 1864." both published by Louisiana State University

Rhea will discuss the initial engagements between Grant and Lee, centering around an unsung hero" of the battle at Bloody Angle.

"I find it's more exciting if you can see something through the eves of someone who was there, Rhea said.

The lawyer-historian said he is not a partisan in his descriptions of the war. His books move back and forth between Union and Confederate armies and between the generals and the soldiers in the field. Rhea said that though he was born in Virginia and now lives in South Carolina, he was educated in the north (Indiana. Harvard and Stanford).

"I've tried to put together a presentation that is fair to both sides. It's the story of Americans fighting Americans. So many have ancestors that fought in the war." he said.

Makeup tips apply to all

Some Good News for Fall! For those who have E-mailed me, to ask if there would be any more openings for personal makeovers/consultations, I am pleased to answer that "yes" there are! But, more about that

If you are unable to see me in person, I thought that what I would do in this column is outline the top 12 makeup tips for the average woman.

Keep in mind that the outline is generic, but I feel useful. It pertains to the most often asked questions of me (usually at dinner or on an airplane, alas!) So here goes:

1.) Foundation should always be 1/4 of a shade LIGHTER than your natural skin tone (this way you do not have to extend your base to your collar).

2.) Undereye concealer is applied AFTER your foundation has been applied. You do not want your concealer to "swim," and by wards, it stays put. 3.) Contour i applied UNDER your cheekbones, in the hollow. Come in only as far as the outer corner of your eye. To exceed that widens your face, and tends to make you look a bit fuller.

applying it after-

4.) For those of you who have a tendency to lose color during the day, try combining a creme rouge antee it will stay with you for the entire day. 5.) Eyebrows should be seen and not heard. Use a brush-on-rather than a Magic Marker-like pencil. Remember! The product is to fill in gaps, NOT to color the hairs! 6.) You CANNOT get away with only one shade of eyeshadow. The first rule of art is "lightness brings out.

(first) and a blusher (second). I guar-

Darkness hides. 7.) Eyeliner defines the eye. If you have a problem getting the liner on thin enough, try applying mascara first. This way you will have a hard base to rest the eyeliner on. 8.) Mascara is ALWAYS black! Everyone knows you're wearing it, so 9.) Lipliner is used to OUTLINE the mouth, not to give you the McDonald's arches! If you were born without an upper lip, blame your parents! But, spare the world the camel humps!

10.) If you "lose" your lips after a few hours, try combining lipstick AND lipgloss at the same time on your lip brush. That way you will get a moist look without appearing overly greasy. 11.) Loose powder is used to "set' your makeup, and your compact is used to "touch up" throughout the day. Don't reverse them! 12.) When people ask me the most important part of makeup, I have answered, "your fingers and your Blending is everything! (I know that you've heard that a million times, but it's true!) You don't know how to blend? Then come see me! (How's that for a shameless plug?) Sessions with Jeffrey

You, who read this column faithfully, know that my appointments for personal makeovers have been sold out for the past four months. The good news is that I have just added several days in May, in honor of Mother's Day. I will be working privately at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham.

There are four women in a session. I make you up personally, teach you how, take you through the skin-care lesson, and then advise you on your hair. This session is 2 1/2 hours long and there is a $125 minimum which is applied to any Jeffrey Bruce products that are used on you that day. There are no application fees!

If that is a bit-rich for you, please come visit me at one of my salons. Starting next weekend through May 1, I will be in the following areas: Livonia, Waterford, Highland, Clinton Township, Brighton, Canton. These sessions include five women and last for one-half hour. I recommend the proper colors for your new makeup, as well as record the correct hair style, cut, color, and length that will most flatter you. Your $50 includes a consultation with me, as well as your makeup application, lesson and skincare education by a consultant trained by me. If you have any questions, please feel free to visit my website at: http:/www.jeffreybrucecosmetics.com. My "E" mail address is: jwbb@worldnet.att.net. Or call us, toll-free, at 1-

Fashion flashback

Femininity returns for Spring

Femininity prevails this season, and with it, a feeling of nine, especially when embellished with beading, shimmer as do intricate print patterns, and gauzy sheer fabrics.

"Spring fashion is truly wearable," commented T. J. evoke an element of sophistication; simple yet elegant. The beautifully draped fabrics are a wonderful backdrop for this season's refreshing new designs; the spectrum of colors is vibrant and exciting.

Top Fashion Trend: Understated Glamour This year's fashions focus upon art of simplicity, but with attention to detail that gives way to subtle glamour. The sheer essence of Spring is color. Gray is possibly the single most important shade. . . it's everywhere. Pantsuits, camisoles, dresses and sweaters sport this hue. Pair a gray suit with a pastels: pale yellow, mint green, ice blue, baby pink and soft lavender.

The spice tones such as cinnamon, burnt orange, mocha and beige continue their popularity from Fall. White, of course, epitomizes summer dressing, but this season a little goes a long way. . . a white tailored blouse.

white linen pants, a long flowing white gauzy skirt. Dresses and skirts definitely take precedence over pants. An attractive new look: the return of the sheath dress. This season, it's sleeveless and sophisticated; simple in its design; elegant in its appeal. This is the perfect dayto-evening outfit; pair with a long jacket for day, wear alone at night with high heeled sandals. As for skirts versus pants, the legs definitely "have it. The length varies considerably, both long and short are in vogue. In terms of the suit, the most stylish length is just jacket. below the knee. Look for side slits and gentle contouring.

What captures a midsummer's night eve more than a understated glamour. The dress and skirt are back — in a gorgeous long chiffon dress? The look is soft and romantic; multitude of lengths and styles. All are flattering and femidetails like embroidery, beading and lace update the look,

Capri pants are also quite stylish. The big difference: today's versions are much dressier than those of past Maxx fashion consultant Laura Cervone. "The clothes years. For an ultra chic look, pair with a slender jacket or

For the first time, the athletic influence appears in casual career dressing. Hooded knit 'sweatshirts' come in soft, luxurious knits and look terrific with skirts. Drawstring pants can now be worn with blazers; French terry oullovers are a versatile wardrobe staple.

Accessories are few One or two at the most will usually do it: a simple straw tote or single strand of pearls Instead, concentrate your efforts on shoes. Heels are going even higher, in pearlized metallics and form fitting stretch fabrics. They really do "make" an outfit.

The 10 "Most Wanted" List

1. The sheath dress, especially in lilac or fuschia.

 Anything in gray – pale, metallic or shimmering. 3. The updated suit - contoured, elongated jacket with fitted skirt right below the knee.

4. The athletic look - a soft, hooded sweatshirt or draw-5. A brightly colored knit tank top.

6. Ice and spice tones - sherbet icy pastels and spicy col ors make the season. 7. The classic sweater set; try wearing the cardigar wrapped around your shoulders. 8. A beautiful long flowing dress - soft, sheer and gauzy 9. Capri pants very chic when worn with a long, slender

10. High heeled sandals or pumps.

Many retailers offer a registry serrice these days - from discounters to hardware stores to card shops.

Traditional retailers hope to keep your choices formal, but even they are admitting that brides aren't setting up the traditional homes like their moms and grandmoms used to.

Searching the web uncovers a great Mexican vacation

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

Searching the net for travel information and deals has become a popular way to plan vacations.

Though a travel agent is still likely to provide a traveler with the latest and best information on what's available, searches on the net and a quick call to a travel agent can sometimes result in happy travel opportunities at low prices.

That was the case for Lonie and Fred Erdman of Redford and their friends when a search on the Internet located an all-inclusive vacation in Puerto Vallarta.

"It was an all-inclusive deal we couldn't pass up," said Lonie Erdman. "It included food, drinks, non-motorized sports, entertainment every night, water aerobics, volleyball, basketball, a hot legs contest for men and, for a little extra cost, massages, facials and all that

This package at the Qualton Club and Spa was $948 per person, including air fare.

The Erdmans had traveled to Mexico before, to Cancun. And though this trip, Jan. 10-17, to Puerto Vallarta was less active, Erdman said it was worth the Happy travelers: Lonie and Fred Erdman of Redford took advantage of a good deal to travel to Mexico.

"They treated you like royalty," she said. "We didn't venture off too much from the hotel because they had everything we needed."

The surf was kicking up and surf boards and boogie boards were taking advantage of the high waves. Erdman said they confined their swimming to the hotel's pools but she said the ocean was "postcard blue."

Best of all, their 11th floor room sported dramatic views in every direction.

We had planned the trip since July." Erdman said.

She said she and her husband weren't really planning on a big vacation this year, but when the friend who had planned the Cancun trip in 1996 came up with this trip, it was too good to pass

Whalers knocked out by Guelph

Plymouth Whalers' goaltender Robert Esche didn't go out the way he wanted, but upon further examination, maybe he did. With the Whalers trailing the Guelph Storm 3-0 after two periods in the fourth game of the Ontario Hockey League playoff semifinals Friday night, Esche stayed on the bench and let Robert Holsinger play the third period. The Storm were on their way to sweeping the series behind the superb goalteding of Chris Madden, and this was Esche's way of passing the torch to Holsinger a little sooner than expected.

The Storm held on and won 5-2 before 3,431 at Compuware Sports Arena, to earn a berth in the finals against Ottawa, but Esche is as much a winner, according to coach Peter

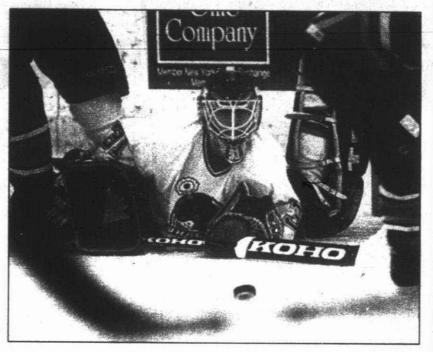

"I gave Robert the opportunity to hand over the duties to Holsinger or play and he chose to let Holsinger play," DeBoer said. "That shows the class and leadership he gave us for the last three years. Holsinger is the future of our team in net and he got in a period of great semifinal experience as a Esche is one of only a handful of Whalers not expected back for the 1998-99 season, according to DeBoer.

"I know when it comes time to move on and let others take your spot," said Esche, who stopped 18 of the 21 shots he faced. "I wanted to let Holsinger in, make sure he isn't scared to go in next year in the playoffs. It was in his best interest to go in. He is going to be a great goalie.

"Three or four of us will be gone and it's tough to say good bye. It's sad to leave Junior hockey. It's been the best part of my career and I owe it all to my teammates. The Storm gained a two-man advantage less than a minute later when Wasylko was sent off for tripping and Guelph's Jason Jackman opened the scoring with a goal in the slot at 8:00 of the first period.

With Boulerice still serving his match penalty, the score grew to 2-0 when Brian Willsie scored from short range after fanning on his initial attempt with 9:48 left.

But since style and artistic flare don't count in baseball, the Blue and White will simply take its sweep over Ypsilanti High. Besides, nobody ever said winning had to be pretty.

"It was an ugly game," Salem coach Dale Rumberger said of his team's 16-15 win in the nightcap. "We had four errors, which is a little more than we've been making this season.'

The Rocks (5-2) took the opener 14-5. Salem played a doubleheader with Dearborn Fordson yesterday (after Plymouth Observer

In Thursday's first game, Salem got a strong pitching performance from Kurt Berlin. He ran his record to 3-1 by going the first five innings.

Berlin allowed four runs, one of which was earned, four hits and four walks while striking out four. Scott Hay pitched the final two innings in relief.

Salem led all the way. The Rocks scored nine runs in the first three innings to take a commanding lead.
