The Canton Township Board of Trustees has approved an increase in ambulance rates for advance life support runs. The bills are typically paid by third-party medical insurance carriers.

BY SCOTT DANIEL STAFF WRITER sdaniel@oe.homecomm.net

The price of riding in a Canton ambulance just went up.

The township board of trustees Tuesday set rates of $350 for residents and $500 for non-residents for advanced life support runs. Previously, the township charged residents $200 and nonresidents $350 for all runs, basic or advanced.

"We had never established an advanced rate," said Canton Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher. "About 65 percent of our runs are for advanced life support."

The rate for runs involving basic life support will remain unchanged, he added.

An advanced life support response is defined as any run where paramedics must administer drugs or use invasive techniques such as starting an intravenous drip, said Rorabacher.

Basic service includes transportation, backboarding and oxygen therapy, for example.

The township began charging for ambulance service in January of last year. Rorabacher first proposed the idea of charging for EMS in 1993. The issue was dropped until 1997 when the township began talking about expanding services to include advanced life support techniques. After months of training that culminated last spring, the service began in June. Canton's new advanced-run rate is reflective of what insurance companies will pay, Rorabacher said. He noted that roughly 80 percent of township residents have medical insurance coverage. "Residents should incur no out-of-pocket costs

Abused cat on mend, looking for new home

BY SCOTT DANIEL STAFF WRITER sdaniel@oe.homecomm.net

More than a week after being shot with a toy arrow, "Beau" the cat is recovering nicely in a foster home.

The 18-month-old domestic male was discovered Sept. 9 by Canton resident Robert Harbin and his wife. It wasn't the first time the couple, who live in and he was making weird breathing noises."

The couple took Beau, who had been coming around for a few weeks, into their home and tried to get help. After hours of calling, Harbin gave up until the morning.

He wound up taking Beau to the Michigan Humane Society's Westland center hours later.

Man says co-workers assault then rob him

BY SCOTT DANIEL STAFF WRITER sdaniel@oe.homecomm.net

A 34-year-old Canton man was the victim of an armed robbery early Thursday.

Two men stole stereo equipment and jewelry from the Murray Hill Street resident's home at about 5:30 a.m. after knocking him unconscious.

The township man had been drinking with the two suspects. believed to be work acquaintances, at an area bar and at his home, according to Canton Police Captain Laura Golles.

"He was hit once with a metal extension pole for painting," she added. "It was enough to knock him

- out for a short time " The victim refused medical attention, according to police reports.

Canton officers later apprehended one of the suspects, Carl Boone, 27, at his home in Wayne without incident. He was arraigned Friday on a charge of armed robbery, which, for the suspect, carries a potential life sentence.

"He was on parole." Golles said of Boone. He has a previous felony conviction, she added

Detectives have strong leads on the second suspect.

"We know who he is," Golles said. "We now have to find him."

According to police reports, the township man met Boone and the

"We were outside on the porch smoking a cigarette at about 2 a.m. when we saw him," said Harbin, who works nights. "At first we thought he was carrying a stick in his mouth and thought 'You silly cat.'"

But as Beau got closer, they could see he was in pain. The animal had been shot - deliberately - with a toy arrow.

"It went down the left side of his nose and through the roof of his mouth." Harbin said. "It was about three inches in.

"He looked pretty had. There wasn't any blood, but his eyes looked funny. Harbin was able to remove the arrow before the trip. He cleaned the wound with hydrogen peroxide. The Canton man said Beau couldn't eat or drink because of his injuries, however.

"It-looked like somebody was trying to get him," Harbin added.

Unfortunately, Beau is one of thousands of cats and dogs abused each year in Michigan, according to the Michigan Humane Society.

The agency investigates 5,000 cases of cruelty annually, spokeswoman Lisa Acho said. Another 6,000 animals are rescued by the humane society each year, she added.

As for Beau, Acho said he stayed at

Homeowners to see tax rollback in 2000 budget

BY SCOTT DANIEL STAFF WRITER

sdaniel@oe.homecomm.net

If death and taxes are inevitable, rising taxes might not be - at least in Canton

The township will likely cut taxes by 0.2 mill for fiscal 2000. For a home with a taxable value of $100,000, that means a modest rollback of $20

"Anytime there's a reduction," Mayfair Village subdivision resident Kristy Engle said, "it's a good thing "

Canton's Board of Trustees will officially set next year's millage rate at its Sept. 28 meeting. A board study session Tuesday (7 p.m.) will dissect the township's budget in great detail.

"There will be blood spilled on this vary carpet," Supervisor Tom Yack joked at a public hearing on the millage Tuesday The reduction comes from Canton's police fund.

The department operated on 5.0 mills in 1999. That level will drop to 4.8 for fiscal 2000.

Finance Director Tony Minghine said the township's continued residential, industrial and commercial growth allowed for the rollback

He emphasized that the cut will not mean a corresponding drop in police service. The department actually intends to add officers

Canton's overall proposed millage rate for fiscal 2000 is 8.85 mills. It's the township's lowest rate since 1982.

Besides the police department's 4.8 mills, fire and general township operation rates remain steady from a year ago at 2.94 and 1.11, respectively

PCEP band steps off to another season

They're back - and the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Marching Band is stepping faster and playing harder music

"This is an extraordinarily fast-moving piece," said PCEP band director David McGrath of portions of this year's program. "It is the fastest that they have marched since I have been here. They are literally running."

This is McGrath's fifth year directing the award-winning band, which has placed in the top 10 of the nation's bands for 11 straight years. Last year the PCEP performers completed a stellar season by placing second among the 81 top high school bands from 14 states at the Bands of America Grand National Championships in Indianapo-the end of the show the theme "should be pretty darn obvious." The opener will immediately capture the audience attention with a piece entitled "Circuits" that produces that kind of nonmelodic sound, McGrath said. "That gets everything pushed into our systems," said Salem senior trumpet player Brian Hoffmeister. "Doing it over and over again helps us to get better each time we do it. It takes up a lot of time, but in the end it is all worth it."

Field commander Julie Scott agrees. "I don't think that I have ever been in an activity that works that hard," said the Canton junior. She has marched the last two years and found the competition, especially nationals, to be very exciting.

"It makes all the practice and all the hard work worth it," she said. "I think maybe that's something that brings you back to the band But part of coming back is the

Commission overrides McNamara's budget veto

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

Wayne County commissioners overrode a veto Thursday by County Executive Edward McNamara to approve $10 million in budgets for legislative operations of the commission and the auditor general.

McNamara had vetoed $7.8 million in county commission expenditures and $2.1 million in auditor general expenditures after commissioners approved budget reductions for several departments. "I am convinced that at the time the budget was enacted, most commissioners did not fully appreciate the adverse operational impact of the proposed budget cuts," McNamara stated in his veto letter dated Sept. 9. McNamara said several elected officials and department heads were not provided an opportunity to communicate their concerns with respect to the proposed budgetary reductions.

In a letter to commissioners, Chairman Ricardo Solomon defended the budget reductions, stating that they were "very modest" totaling $2.8 million or 1 percent of the $2.73 billion budget. Solomon also said the commission's Committee on Ways and Means conducted more than seven days of public hearings on the budget.

Solomon also said with the veto, the executive branch "hopes to politicize the budget, fragment the commission, and divert the commission from important oversight duties involving the airport, APCOA and other county contracts, the collapse of the juvenile justice block grant program and other important county business. Solomon also criticized McNa-. mara for taking a "meat ax" to the commission's budget. "It is interesting to note that, of the entire budget of $2.73 billion.

Mr. McNamara could not find concerns with the $2.72 billion that falls outside of the body charged with providing oversight on the functions that he and other elected officials execute daily in the name of the people,' Solomon wrote.

McNamara said in his veto letter that the general fund revenues only increased 2 percent, yet the commission and auditor general budgets increased by 9 and 26 percent, respectively, indicating a "disproportionate share" of the county's revenue growth is "going to fund legislative activities at the expense of other judicial and executive branch services.

Commissioner Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, called McNamara's veto "pure politics." Bankes was the lone vote against the budget's approval two weeks ago because she didn't agree with the commission's move to place $48 million of the juvenile justice grant into a contingency fund.

But Bankes, who also serves on the Committee on Ways and Means, the committee that conducted budget hearings, voted with 13 other commissioners to override McNamara's veto. Bankes wondered why McNamara vetoed the commission's budget and not the recommended revisions in the budget.

Bankes believes the commission's budget process needs revision similar to what is used at a state and federal level in that a commission subcommittee acts like a state conference committee where the legislative and executive branches meet to

It was a good week for the Livonia Stevenson boys soccer team.

The Spartans started with 9-0 win Monday against Walled Lake Western and capped it off with a 4-1 triumph Friday over host North Farmington as Jeff Budd scored three goals and Mike White tallied one.

But the big victory came on Wednesday against Western Lakes Activities Association rival Plymouth Canton.

The host Spartans, who lost their only two matches of the 1998 season against the Chiefs, earned a 1-0 triumph at home on Tom Eller's goal from White just minutes into the match.

The game-winning goal came off a methodical buildup from the back.

We had a lot of chance in the second half, but in the second half they pressured us and became more dangerous, especially the last 15 minutes," said Stevenson coach Lars Richters, whose team is 5-0-1 overall. "Canton also makes life difficult, no matter who is on the field.'

Stevenson goalkeeper Joe Zawacki posted the shutout with the help of his back-four defenders sweeper Tommaso Mainelaa, Josh Swim, Matt Koontz and Budd.

Raj Grewall tallied the lone goal for North, now 4-2 and 1-1 in the Lakes.

Ian Riley scored three touchdowns as Plymouth Canton got its revenge against Livonia Churchill Friday with a 34-13 football triumph at Canton.

The victory pushed the Chiefs' record to 3-1; they are 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division. Churchill slipped to 1-3 overall, 0-2 in the division.

"Our kids played great defense against the run," said Canton coach Tim Baechler, whose Chiefs lost 14-0 to Churchill in '98. "They got down and got after it."

Oliver Wolcott tossed a pair of touchdown passes to Riley in the opening quarter to get Canton started. His first covered 15 yards, his second traveled 16 yards.

Wolcott nailed both extra-point kicks and the Chiefs had a 14-0 lead.

Which concerned Baechler, whose teams are noted for their power running attacks. Against Livonia Franklin a week earlier, the Chiefs threw just one pass in a 41-13 win.

"In the first half, we didn't want them to get comfortable with our offense because last year they just teed off on us," the sec-ond-year coach said. "We wanted to keep them guessing with our multiple looks, but we got stagnant.'

Churchill trimmed the lead to.

Volleyball clinics

A series of volleyball skills development and conditioning clinics for girls will be conducted at the Schoolcraft College physical education building.

The clinics will be divided into two age groups: seventh through ninth grades and 10th-12th grades.

There will be three clinic choices Choice One will be 5-7 p.m. on eight consecutive Sundays, from this Sunday through Nov. 7. Choice Two will be 7-9 p.m. on consecutive Sundays on the same dates, starting this Sunday and again going to Nov. 7. Choice Three will be 7-9 p.m. on eight consecutive Mondays, starting this Monday and continuing through Nov. 8.

Cost is $150 per person.

The clinics will be conducted by SC and Plymouth Salem volleyball coach Tom Teeters; Nikki Stubbs, currently a player in the Midwest Pro Volleyball Association; and Jodi Thompson, another MPVA player.

Each session will be divided into two one-hour sessions, with conditioning and training emphasized in one hour and skills development in the other hour.

Stevenson running back Dan Wilson touched turned to gold Friday night in the Spartans' game against Plymouth Salem.

Madonna too tough for UM-Dearborn

Less than one-quarter of the collegiate volleyball season has been played, and Madonna University is already displaying a tendancy to do what it must to make a run at the NAIA Tournament.

Diversify

The Lady Crusaders have two potent front-court weapons in Brandy Malewski (from Redford Thurston) and Stephanie Uballe. In Thursday's straightset win over visiting University of Michigan-Dearborn, they showed they have more than just those two in their offensive arsenal.

True, Uballe led Madonna in the 15-8, 15-12, 15-7 win with 10 kills, adding five solo blocks and eight block assists. But additional offense was supplied by Erin Cunningham, who had eight kills to go with a teambest 18 digs and four block assists.

Kelly Artymovich added four kills, same amount as Malewski. Artymovich totaled 13 digs, while Malewski had 14;

Malewski also had two service aces, five solo blocks and nine block assists.

VOLLEYBALL

Several others contributed to the lopsided victory that ran Madonna's record to 8-3 overall. Jen Wing had 27 assists to kills, two aces and seven digs. Donna Birkenhier had two kills, two solo blocks 10 block assists and six digs; and Marylu Hemme (from Plymouth/Livonia Lady wood) chipped in with 11 digs.

The Crusaders travel to play Concordia College in a Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference match Tuesday, then visit the Palm Beach Atlantic Invitational in West Palm Beach, Flat this weekend.

Ocelots win again

Schoolcraft College kept its volleyball win streak alive with a three-game sweep of Mott Community College Thursday at Mott. The victory, the Lady Ocelots' fifth-straight, improved their record to 9-7 (2-1 Michigan Community College Athletic Association's Eastern Conference).

SC coach Tom Teeters was impressed by the victory.

"This is last year's regular season and conference champions and we beat them threestraight games." Teefers said." We're definitely in an upswing. The team is looking very consistent and very strong.

Lauren Ruprecht, from Livonia Churchill, had a 357 hit percentage with 13 kills and three blocks to lead the Ocelots. Danielle Wensing, from Livonia Franklin, had five service aces. three off her jump serve, while Rebekah Thornton, of Livonia Ladywood, contributed two aces Cindy Maloof led the team in digs with 12. Nicole Boyd, from Livonia Franklin, had five kills, three digs and two blocks.

"Danielle had a great setting game. She and Lauren make a good combination," Teeters said.

For a first dual meet of the season, this one had positives for both Plymouth Salem's and Plynouth Canton's swimmers.

The Rocks did secure a hold on the biggest of the positives, however - the final score, which they had the better of, 115-75 Thursday at Canton.

"We had some very good. races," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "That first dual meet is always hard. You're not exactly sure what someone can do in mpetition

"But it was a good meet." Jeremy Kemeny, Canton's first-year coach, agreed with his Salem counterpart. "I saw a lot that I liked," Kemeny said. "And I saw some things we have to vork on. For a lot of our swim mers, this really was the first dual meet in their high school areers. In individual events, there was ust one double-winner: Canton's Danielle Drysdale, who was first in the 200-yard individual medley (2:22.76) and in the 100 freestyle (57.35) "And those aren't even her best events." said Kemeny. "Obviously, Danielle swam great and Rogers capturing the 400 for us. It's nice to have someone put in anywhere and know she'll get a win for us." The Chiefs had two other first-place finishes: Erin Rogala in the Amber Lysakowski in diving 176.40 points).

"We'll need to get more fast and furious, that's for sure," said Olson.

"I expected that we'd lose the meet," he admitted. "Salem's just a very good team. Last year, we lost to them by 38 points and this year it was about the same positives and take it from there." How far they take it is the question. The Chiefs' schedule for the remainder of the month is a busy one. They have three events scheduled for next week, against Saline Tuesday and Livonia Churchill Thursday. On Saturday, they travel to the West Bloomfield Invitational.

The week ahead for Salem isn't easy, either. The Rocks go to Livonia Stevenson, winner of the last eight WLAA titles, for a 7 p.m. dual meet Thursday, then host the Rock Invitational at 1.

New quarterback sparks Harrison; Western rips Pats

Cheryl Crow got it right sometimes a change will do you

John Herrington switched quarterbacks in the second half Friday night and Lou Hadley lit up the Farmington Harrison offense like a bolt of electricity.

The visiting Hawks held only a 10-7 halftime lead - thanks to a sparkling defense that only let the Mustangs have one first down all night long - when Herrington decided to put Hadley in to give Harrison another option in the backfield.

It worked like magic as Hadley engineered three third-quarter scoring drives that sent Harrison running to a 38-7 victory at Northville

Hadley capped the first drive with a 30-yard keeper, streaking into the right side of the end

The second ended with a 13yard pass from Hadley to Brian Nelson and the third culminated in an 8-yard keeper by the senior quarterback on a bolt into the eft corner of the end zone.

Nelson also had a great game punting, kicking the ball four times for an average that exceeded 41 yards per punt. His punting gave Harrison excellent field

Rockets shatter Northville Hawks top Borgess

When Farmington Hills Harrison girls basketball coach Pete Mantyla discussed Redford Bishop Borgess before Thursday's non-league matchup, "winless" wasn't one of the adjectives he

No one would have bought it. The Spartans brought a winning tradition into Harrison's gym, winning three of the last six Class C state championships. They are talented, quick and aggressive, and well coached, which makes them dangerous against any opponent.

Borgess had lost to four ormidable non-league teams, ncluding Observerland's Plynouth Canton, and for Harrison to be the fifth Mantyla knew it would take one of the Hawks' better efforts.

and didn't fold when Borgess made a final push, winning 57 50 to improve to 4-2 overall.

Coach, you can call them winess now. "This is the best team we've beaten," Mantyla said. "They are really aggressive and physical and I thought tonight was our best night in terms of getting a ot out of everyone.

The points were well distributed for the Hawks, who made 11 of 20 field goal attempts in the second half. Senior guard Emily Jackson led with 15 points, followed by junior guard Becky Zak with nine and 10 rebounds and sophomore guard Ayana Richmond and junior guard Kelly laylor with eight points each.

The Hawks scored six of the final seven points after Borgess' guard Michelle Catchings scored on a steal and layup to end a 6-2 run and cut the lead to 51-49 with 3:15 left.

Richmond made consecutive short-range jump shots and junior guard Gayle Ternes, who finished with seven points, split two free throws to put the Hawks up 56-49 with about two minutes left.

BASKETBALL

Jackson scored seven points in the first half and eight in the second and more importantly took control of the ball when the ball-hawking Spartans were trying to mount a comeback.

The Spartans held a 41-31 rebounding advantage but shot only 21-of-60 from the floor. Catchings was the only Spartan in double figures with 12 points. Sophomore forwards Joei Clayburn and Raechelle Hampton added eight points each and junior forward Stacey Cobbs conributed seven.

Harrison built its biggest lead, Harrison led most of the way 35-25, midway through the third quarter before Borgess made a run, scoring 10 of the next 14 points to cut the deficit to 39-35. Borgess coach Dave Mann was assessed a technical foul for arguing a call and Ternes split the free throws to put the Hawks up 40-35 heading into the fourth. The Spartans were called for 22 fouls compared to Harrison's 17. The most disturbing one for Mann came with 1.0 seconds left in the first half when Ternes was fouled more than 30 feet from the basket in the act of shooting, drawing three foul shots. She made all three to give Harrison a 27-20 halftime lead.

"I thought we did a horrendous job adjusting to the way the game was called," Mann said. "We have no control over whether the game is going to be called tight or loose. Our kids can't seem to distinguish between denial and help position on defense. Everyone is in denial, no one is in help.

Grouse hunting looks good

With crisp fall-like weath- 1998. OUTDOOR er forecast for much of northern Michigan, expect hunters headed afield for opening weekend of grouse season to encounter exceptional hunting. While ruffed grouse numbers in Michigan tumbled during the early '90s the flock has rebounded nicely and is at or near the top of a 10-year cycle. PARKER

"The outlook for the season is as good as it's been in years," said Al Stewart, upland gamebird specialist with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. "I anticipate increased flush rates over last year. We had an excellent reproduction season for ground nesting birds and our drumming counts are up.

BIL

Overall, things look pretty good." Yolunteers travel through prime grouse mating habitat several times each spring and listen for drumming males. This spring volunteers checked 176 different routes across the state. The average

Last year, hunters experienced a flush rate of 2.6 birds per hour, per hunter, the highest flush rate since 1988.

The regular grouse season opened veste day, Sept. 15, and runs through Nov. 14 statewide. A special late season runs Dec. Jan. 1 in the Lower Peninsula.

Stewart estimates hunters will take som 450,000 grouse this fall. The daily bag limit is five in the Lower Peninsula and three in the Upper Peninsula. The possession limit is 10 in the Lower, six in the Upper unters. For whatever reason -- declining habitat in breeding and/or wintering grounds is one theory - woodcock numbers have been declining at a rate of 1.4-percent per year since 1968.

This year's breeding woodcock survey, conducted each spring throughout the central region, which includes Michigan, is down a whopping 13.4 percent from last year.

"While grouse numbers are up, woodcock number of drumming males heard per route numbers remain on the downside and we 48009. Fax information to (248) 644-1314 or was 13.9 this spring, compared to 11.7 in anticipate a decrease in the harvest over last call Bill Parker evenings at (248) 901-2573.)

vear." Stewart said

Hunters are expected to take upwards of 150,000 woodcock during the 44-day season, which runs Sept. 25-Nov. 8.

Hunters are reminded of the late start to the woodcock season, which traditionally opened Sept. 15, along with grouse season. The reason for the late start?

Since woodcock are migratory birds, they fall under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Three years ago the service set down framework for the woodcock season that called for the opener throughout the Central Region to fall on the Saturday closest to Sept. 22.

Before long, Winkleman Hulce and the rest of the series committee were wrestling with the decision to choose only three acts. It was difficult, but The Raisin Pickers lead off the series with their down-home music Friday, Sept. 24, followed by a drama about Mark Twain and finally the song and patter of soprano Pamela Jordan Schiffer and tenor David Gordon.

Dressed in "blues," gold badge shining on his chest, Plymouth Police Chief Robert Scoggins looks the part of the city's top law enforcement officer. Then, as if suddenly transformed, this symbol of authority begins speaking about singing with his gospel group, The Chapels. His face softens and his words become almost lyrical.

'In a time when role models seem to have diminished, we're an example of what role models can do," said Scoggins, who studied music for three years at Kent University and trumpet with the first chair of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra in the 1960's. "We've carried it through our lives. Music is something you have to love to do - not just a love for singing but a love for singing for Jesus.

Scoggins, who is retiring as police chief after serving nine years in the position and 25 years on the force, plans to do nothing but sing with the trio - Ron Newsome of Allen Park and Jim Talbott Jr. of Redford, and "believes eventually we'll do this for a living." After all, look how far they've come since Scoggins formed the group in 1990. Four recordings later, the group's gone from carting around their equipment in a truck and trailer to a bus.

"My gospel ministry has had more effect on my police work than vice versa," said Scoggins, who goes by the stage name of Bobby Crumpler. "I look at my police work as a ministry. I try not to judge other human beings but accept them for who they are. I truly like people and have a respect for human life and that has an effect on my police work. Even dealing with my employees I try to bring in the humanistic side.

"Most people have no idea how stressful a police officer's life is, not only on the job but then they frequently take it home with them. I try to do what I can to help by sometimes just listening."

Following in his footsteps

Live on stage at the Plymouth Fall Festival on Sept. 12, when his father died. "I remember at age 3 standing on a piano bench singing at Masonic Temple. He made quite an impression on a little guy."

Second generation gospel

Scoggins, Talbott and Newsome "all have a heritage in gospel music and car-rying on that tradition." Each of their fathers were involved in gospel music. Ron's father sang with the Good News Quartet for 50 years and "grew up being a huge Statesmen fan." Talbott's father, an accomplished musician, played piano for the Toney Brothers for 15 years. Talbott Jr. began his gospel music career playing keyboards and guitar in a rock band while a student at Olivet Nazarene University in Illinois. After-wards, he played with the Christian rock band Crossfire, and then with Crimson.

"We have a tremendous friendship," said Newsome, a former Westland resident. "I think the Lord puts together people who have the same interests. Our childhoods were all around great gospel music. We were all sitting on piano benches around great gospel singers."

According to Newsome, gospel music is not as cutthroat a business as the rest of the music world, so it was easy to form a friendship. Even when writing music for their recordings, each of the members takes turns. No one hogs the spotlight.

Talbott, who spent time with his father traveling on the buses and waiting backstage at concerts, agrees the three musicians share much more than singing.

"The camaraderie is special," said Talbott, network administrator at J.P. Bender & Assoc. in Farmington Hills. "We get along musically and relationship-wise."

Spreading the word and Stephen Sondheim, these two performers of musical theater's best can't be missed. You'll have the world on a string.

"We wanted to do something at a very minimal cost - diverse programs of drama, music and classical," said Winkleman Hulce. "We scouted the Midwest for the talent we're bringing in, something they wouldn't necessarily see somewhere else."

Arts council executive director Jennifer Tobin is especially looking for ward to seeing The Raisin Pickers again. She can't forget their music and the way the group makes you feel right at home

"I love The Raisin Pickers," said Tobin. "When I left The Ark my toe was tappin' and I was happy for days. Even now, if someone mentions their name, I smile. They play many instruments. In Ann Arbor, first one fiddler came out, then another and another. Even the clogger came out with a fiddle. There was this fiddle chorus. It was a fun surprise."

Scoggins led off the concert with the group's signature song, "My Heart is a Chapel." It was originally recorded in 1957 by the Statesmen, his father's gospel group. Other tracks from The Chapel's latest album, "Listen," followed. Singing over the top of the harmonies, the 51-year old tenor gave it everything he had. Before long the crowd was clapping to the toe-tapper as Scoggins moved around the stage to the uplifting music.

The reception is similar to ones Scoggins remembers his father Denver Crumpler, a legend in Southern gospel music, receiving. Scoggins grew up listening to the gospel music Crumpler sang before his early death at the age of 43 in 1957. Crumpler sang with the Rangers Quartet in the 1930s and '40s and then with the Statesmen Quartet from Atlanta, Ga., in the 1950s. He was inducted into the Gospel Music Hall of Fame in Nashville in 1973.

"Everywhere we sing people still remember him," said Scoggins, who was 9

But Adrienne Daniels has a reputation for getting things done and she has not acquired her nickname, the Dragon Lady, for oothing.

As she struggles to get the station to the top of the heap, she encounters plenty of roadblocks. For one thing, star deejay Spy-

Prepare your skin for colder days

Acquiring a great pair of suede pants or a new shade of lipstick is only half the battle when it comes to making the transition from summer to fall. We should not only new makeup colors,

skin imperfection shows more in a dry environment. Even oily skin has more trouble; it reacts to dry conditions by excreting more oil

One treatment for all skin types to consider is a deep -cleaning facial to remove summer debris. With an arsenal of treatments out there, my advice is to clean the face thoroughly and decide later whether you want further treatments. Dermabrasion, laser treatments and acid peels are a few such treatments.

My preference is a gentle power peel. It reduces fine lines, enables topical solutions to work at their full potential, occurs slowly over a series of sessions and targets acne and pigment imperfections. However, this procedure should be performed by a dermatologist or licensed facialist. Margot's Euro Spa in downtown Birmingham offers the treatment for about $150 per session

Interestingly, as technology progresses, skin care choices become more challenging. Skin care regimens are like diets: every manufacturer claims to have the best one. And, to make matters worse, the results of new skin care products are more difficult to detect than those from dieting. After all, in a few weeks you know whether the diet is doing the job. But can you really detect whether your skin is pecoming firmer?

Everyone's skin is different. Perceptions are different, too. What I may notice at first glance, like crows feet, may not be what's bothering my client. Just keep in mind you need to see the whole picture, rather than zooming in on a single, tiny imperfec-

Moreover, many woman read about particular products and procedures and decide they must have it without much regard for whether it's right for their skin. Slow down when selecting new treatments.

Also, it's always a goo mine what you want to achieve before buying anything.

While new skin care technology can do amazing things, too much of anything is rarely a good idea. And, in my opinion, many women are mixing too many products. Renova, foundations with alpha-hydroxides, moisturizers with vitamin C - too many products can be overwhelming, causing flaky, irritated and tired skin.

I try to avoid high-tech treatments. leaving those matters to the medical professionals

However, I do believe everyone needs to clean, tone and moisturize. Also, use an eye cream every day, but omit this step at night since the cream may seep into the eye and cause puffiness. Eye gels, however, are good for night use.

Price varies from brand to brand, but I think a good moisturizer is a real value at nearly any cost. Ask for samples or purchase a small amount until you find a moisturizer that works well for you. I like a new Italian product line called Giovanni.

When first starting with a new skin care system, use moisturizers by day only. This will allow the skin to adjust to the new regime.

On a personal note: Thank you for your letters. The response to my first article last month was overwhelming. It's your questions and comments that offer insight into the issues that need to be covered.

Youthful traveler loves visit to Down Under

BY SARAH WESTRICE SPECIAL WRITER

Sarah Westrick of Livonia is a ninth grader at Churchill High School in Livonia. This is her account of a trip she took earlier this summer.

From June 29 to July 16, I had the privilege of going on a trip to Australia with 40 of my peers. I went with an organization called People to People Student Ambassadors.

President Dwight Eisenhower founded People to People in 1956. He believed that individuals reaching out in friendship to people of other countries could contribute significantly to world peace. The program's goal is to have students return home with a better understanding of world affairs and a genuine respect for their country.

Delegations from all over the United States and Canada travel to various places around the world. This year, the Wayne-

Oakland County delegation traveled to Australia. During my three-week trip, we made our way down the east coast from Cairns to Sydney. From Michigan, we flew to Los Angeles, and after a two-hour layover, we had a 14-hour flight to Sydney. To complete the very long journey, our last flight was from Sydney to Cairns. . We arrived in Cairns in the afternoon. Outside the airport, we were greeted by waving palm trees and mountains covered with lush green trees. It was yery beautiful. The rest of the day, nothing else was planned, so I rested. At night, we went to the beach to see the sunset.

For the next few days, we were very busy. We took a gondola sky-ride over the rain forests. sky-ride over the rain forests. From up there, you can see all of Cairns and the coastline. On the other side of the mountain, there was a small Australian cultural center. There we saw Aborigines perform traditional aboriginal dances. They also demonstrated how to throw a boomerang and a spear and how to play a didgeridoo, a musical instrument made from a long, hollowed-out piece of timber. You play a didgeridoo by blowing through it. At the center, called Rainforestation, we got to hold koalas. The marsupials, which look like small bears, were cute, but they smelled strongly of eucalyptus leaves

The very next day, we headed

Billabong: A standing pool of water in the Australian outback near the town of Charter Towers. The typical Australian billabong involves an intermittent river that flows only after heavy rains.

for the Great Barrier Reef. We took a large boat out to a huge floating dock in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Once I changed into my bathing suit and collected my mask, snorkel and flippers, I was ready to go.

After I jumped in, I was in awe over how spectacular it was down there. I saw a lot of colorful fish, some as small as my pinkie finger and others that were 50 pounds or more. There was such a variety of colors, shapes and sizes.

The coral was exactly the same - such a variety. It was filled with many colors like blues, greens, yellows, browns and pinks. All were unique, with a. definite shape. For example, staghorn coral looks like deer antlers, and brain coral really looks like a brain. That is an experience I will never forget.

Over the second week, we went to the outback on a farm stay in Charter Towers. There isn't much out there, just miles and miles of bush and a couple of and each person in my group stray trees. stayed the weekend with an Aus-

We went to Billabong Sanctuary outside of Townsville. It was a small zoo with all kinds of animals native to Australia. We saw kangaroos, koalas, wombats, kookaburras. We got to handfeed the kangaroos, too.

While we were traveling to South Molle Island, we stopped in a city called Ayr. There we met with government officials from the Burdekin Shire Council and received an official civic welcome.

For two nights, we stayed at South Island, which is part of the Whitsunday Islands. It was a tropical paradise. We climbed to the highest point on the island, and we had a 360-degree view of the whole place.

Next we stopped in a small town called Yeppoon for a night. Yeppoon is home to Olsen's Capricorn Caverns. The caverns are a large chain of open caves. We took a tour, and I learned lots of things about caves.

That night, we visited a crocodile farm. The crocs were huge. For dinner there, you could try some crocodile soup. I decided to try a little ... it tasted a bit like chicken but chewy. Later on, while it was dark, we tried to spot crocs' eyes with flashlights.

I had fun that night even though I jumped a few times. In the final week, we split up, and each person in my group stayed the weekend with an Australian family in Gladstone. It was a good way to learn about the everyday life of a family there.

Another girl in our group and I stayed with the Davie family. They had a daughter my age, Jemma. While staying with Jemma, we went to a dance at her school. We also visited the Tropic of Capricorn, went to an Australian mall and a McDonald's, which was very much like our McDonald's here in Michigan.

On our travels from Gladstone to Sydney, we visited the Cape Byron Lighthouse in Byron Bay and also Rainbow Beach, famous for its variety of colored sands.

The last couple of days we spent in Sydney. It's a beautiful city. We went to the Visitor Center where the Sydney 2000 Olympics complex is being built. We toured the famous Sydney Opera House, viewed the Harbour Bridge and also spent an evening at Planet Hollywood.

Our trip came to an end in Sydney, and we flew from there to Los Angeles and then home to Michigan.

This whole experience was educational and rewarding, and I am proud to have had the opportunity to represent our country as a People to People Student Ambassador.

Sydney: One of the many new structures being prepared for the 2000 Olympics.

COOKING CONQUESTS

SCOTT PETERSON

Cast your line for fresh fish streamside

As the cooler autumn weather approaches, my thoughts turn to sports. I am not talking about football season but rather the start of a great fishing season. When I moved here from Idaho a few years back, I thought I was leaving quality fly fishing far behind. Boy, was I wrong! A good friend of mine recently invited me to join him at an out-of-the-way stream north of Mt. Pleasant. This little-known stream afforded us the opportunity to cast continuously to the eager yet unsuspecting trout, surrounded by a serene, beautiful setting.

By late afternoon we had released a dozen trout each but also kept quite a few for dinner. A cast iron skillet, some butter and lemon were all we needed to prepare the perfect meal.

For the freshest-tasting fish, catch your own and cook it streamside. If this is a luxury time does not afford as is the case for most of us - the next best thing is to note that most grocery stores have a wide selection of quality fish and seafood from which to choose It is, however, very important that you know what to look for, and smell for, in store-bought seafood.

Buying tips

Fresh fish should have clear, bulging eyes, bright red gills and shiny skin. The flesh should be firm and springy to the touch. If you prefer to buy fish already cut into filet or steak form, the flesh should be brightly colored with no dryness or washedout colors. Ask to smell the fish you wish to buy. Fresh fish will smell sweet and, well, fresh. Avoid any fish that smells of bleach or ammonia, or, believe it or not, fish. That "fishy" smell is an indication that the product has been at the store a few days, and your meal will not taste as good The best-quality fish will most likely cost a little more, but considering the alternative, it is worth the extra money that you will spend.

The popularity of fly-fishing is rapidly growing, so my friend made me promise not to divulge the location of the wonderful stream. Fortunately, he didn't say I couldn't share the recipes we used!

hef Daniel Hugelier is cooking up something of Olympic proportions at Schoolcraft College. As a master certified chef and culinary arts instructor at the Livonia college, Hugelier signed on this year to coach the American Culinary Federation's Team U.S.A 2000 for the International Culinary Olympics. These Olympics are the world's largest and oldest culinary competition, held every four years in Berlin, Germany. In October 2000, about 7,000 chefs from more than 30 countries will compete to further research and development in the culinary arts field. No stranger to the event, Hugelier participated in the 1980, 1984 and 1988 Olympic competitions Hugelier was asked to coach the team nine months ago. He said he accepted the opportunity because of the people he would have a chance to work with and the advantages of gaining knowledge in culinary arts.

"I get pure enjoyment out of seeing young people move up the ladder," said Hugelier. "When I can be a part of that, it's as good as it was for me (to participate)."

Hugelier was able, for the first time, to bring the national team into Michi-gan and to Schoolcraft College. On Friday Aug. 27, team members flew in from around the country to practice with Hugelier and perfect their dishes. These practice dishes were exhibited Monday, Aug. 30, at the Waterman Center on the Schoolcraft College campus in Livonia.

Michigan team member

Derin Moore, the only national team member from Michigan, was really feeling the pressure. Moore is executive chef of the Golden Mushroom restaurant in Southfield and the third Michigan chef ever to make it to the national level. Moore said it's wonderful to be chosen as one of the five top chefs in the country. He's been competing for 14 years and working at the Southfield restaurant for more than two years.

"It takes a lot of practice in order to get to this level," said Moore. "Chef Dan Hugelier had a lot to do with it. He's respected world-wide. He was on three separate teams, a span of 12 years representing the U.S. He knows what things need to get done.'

Alfonso Constrisciani of New Jersey agreed. "He goes that extra mile for us.

He's a great inspiration for us."

Along with the support and supervision of coaches such as Hugelier, Moore said he is fortunate to have a position at the Golden Mushroom that requires him to perform on a high level every day. He's been incorporating what he's learning for the competition into daily specials at the restaurant. Involvement in the competition has forced Moore to push himself further, he said, and to look at food from a different perspective.

Moore isn't the only Golden Mushroom chef competing in the Culinary Olympics: Deni Smiljanovski, a Clinton Township resident who works there as a night chef, will also be on his way to Berlin. He will compete as an individual rather than part of Team U.S.A. Moore said Smiljanovski bounces ideas off of him, but the two are careful not to work too closely together when practicing for competition Smiljanovski will prepare a cold buffet platter and six different appetizer plates. He said he was concerned about the time limit and different working environment he will be faced with during the competition.

Slice of American food culture "I believe we affect the food culture in America," said Hugelier of the event. "We get to really taste the culture.

The display at Schoolcraft on Aug. 30 resulted in more than 100 individ ual dishes, which created a mouth

Wine Picks

- Pick of the pack: 1997 Mirassou Showcase Pinot Noir $32. Best Mirassou has made.
- We're not alone in saying this, it won Best of Class honors at the recent California State Fair Wine Competition.
- Spanish wines are the new headliners. Get to know some of the best Spanish wines and rec ognize the big taste difference between a Ridja and a Reserva Rioja. This pair is a good example: 1995 Marques de Caceras Rioja $11.50 and 1992 Marques de Caceras Reserva Riola $17,50. These are new releases and have been significantly bottle aged before release
- I 1999 Michigan State Fair Wine Judging Best of Show Winners: 1998 Chateau Chantal Chardonnay, Proprietor's Reserve $20; NV Fenn Valley Vineyard Capriccio (a blend of Chambourcin and Chancellor grapes) $12; and NV L. Mawby Blanc de Blanc $17.
- Got casino fever? Satisfy it with 1997 Murphy-Goode Liar's Dice Zinfandel $18. It's no chance bet!
- Oysters have begun their season. The following are oyster lover specials: 1998 Hogue Fume Blanc $8; 1997 Robert Mondavi Sauvignon Blanc, Stags Leap District $20, 1998 Dry Creek Vineyard Fume Blanc $12; 1998 Bernar dus Sauvignon Blanc $14; and 1998 Groth Sauvignon Blanc $14.

Reserve is a wine word that troubles us Riserva on an Italian wine label means that the wine had extended aging before release. so it's OK. It doesn't necessarily speak to quality, but at least we know what it means. Among French wines, top Bordeaux chateaux don't use the word reserve.

There's no need. Time has endowed the Grands Vins with singular recognition. Chateau owners put their reputation on the line every vintage. In poor years, lesser wines are sold to a negociant or are bottled under a second label. While you may have sticker shock with the over-fueled prices of top-growth Bordeaux from recent vintages. if you're willing to pay, you know what you're getting.

Wines sold in the International Community (EC) cannot be called Reserve

For wines made in the U.S., the word Reserve has been abused because there is no legal definition. Sometimes it's a marketing gimmick. Pick overripe fruit, load the wine up with oak, label it "Reserve" and ramp up the price.

Judging the worth

How, then, do you judge the worth of the term Reserve? That's easy - by the produc er who understands that Reserve is a word in the high-quality, ultra-premium equation, evoking descriptions such as delicious complex, rich, balanced, elegant and finesseful.

Fetzer Vinevards

That said, we put the spotlight on Fetzer Vineyards and its limited release Reserve Collection wines which represent the personal passion of Fetzer's Director of Winemaking Dennis Martin

"What I'm trying to do with the Fetzer Reserve Collection is craft distinctive wines from California's most prestigious growing regions and its top vineyards," he said.

Many domestic Reserve wines are essen tially best lots, best barrels wines - top grapes showing the most barrel develop ment. What Fetzer has done in creating its Reserve Collection is different. Knowing its vineyard sources well, it set out from there to design its Reserve Collection

"Fetzer recognizes that vineyard sources must be sustainable to have consistency vintage to vintage," Martin said. "We've gone heavily to French oak and the word is out among our more than 350 growers that

Byrd's Choice Meats celebrates anniversary

BY HEATHER NEEDHAM STAFF WRITER

Over the past 40 years, Byrd's Choice Meats Inc. has grown from a small meat market operated by four people to a 4,800square-foot meat and gourmet products market staffed by 20

Byrd's is celebrating its 40th anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 19. It opened in mid-September 1959 on Five Mile Road east of Farmington Road, where it existed until 1971, when it moved to Schoolcraft and Merriman. In 1976, it moved to its current location, 33066 W. Seven Mile Road, two blocks east of Farmington Road in Livonia.

Not only has Byrd's location changed over the years, but there have also been some strik ing changes in consumers' tastes, owner George Byrd said.

"People are buying more fish and poultry now," he said. "People are more diet conscious with everything." Beef sales have plummeted at the same time fish and poultry sales skyrocketed, he added.

But all meat products, including leaner products like fish and poultry, have received some negative press over the past few years, Byrd said. This combined with increased competition means Byrd's has 10 fewer employees than it did 10 years ago, he said. Regular customers still remain

loval to the store. "I get people who move away and still come back," Byrd said. Customers are drawn from Livonia and several surrounding communities. "We just have a lot more competition, that's all." The small store Byrd opened in 1959 was 19 feet wide by 60 feet long. It sold the basics of the time - meat, bread and milk. Today the store sells a number of gourmet companion items such as marinades and sauces for cooking a variety of meats. The increased number of women in the workforce has area," he said. "It's just grown." been a strong driving force behind some of Byrd's changes In 1959, it was common for families to eat several cooked-fromscratch meals a week - even if it meant slow-cooking something like a pot roast for hours.

Nowadays time-strapped peo ple want convenience foods. To meet that demand, Byrd's sells several grill or oven-ready meat products and gourmet items like shish-kabobs. Some items, like turkey roasts and beef roasts, are even pre-cooked, requiring only heating "Customers want more things done when they get home," Byrd The secret to the store's success has little to do with the store's price tags in comparison with competitors such as Westborn Market

"Quality and service over price," Byrd said of his store's philosophy. Another key to its success has been location "Livonia's been a very stable . pink. Serves 6.

Life isn't over after a stroke

BY KURT KUBA SPECIAL WRITER

here are few afflictions in life that can be as devastating as having a stroke. Victims not only have to face the tragedy of the stroke itself, but, for those who don't know where to turn for proper help, the months and years that follow can be a minefield of frustrations, anguish and isolation. Fortunately, our community possesses a host of groups and programs that have been set up to assist stroke victims in recovering their lives and become functional mem bers of society again. Since strokes can affect people in so many ways, it is important for survivors to know what network can best serve them After a stroke has occurred, patient and loved ones need to confer with their physicians and decide what is the best way to proceed. For many stroke survivors, an in-patient rehabilitation program is a good first

"Usually, 80 percent of patients who have suffered a stroke would benefit from inpatient rehab. It will give them a better chance at having a more functional life," said Kathleen Urban, director of rehabilitation services at Garden City Hospital, one of a handful of area hospitals that provide such a service.

Urban, who has been with the Garden City stroke program since its inception 12 years ago, noted that the best time to make a decision about in-patient rehab is before leaving the hospital. This is because the best results can be attained in the first few months following the stroke.

"The most functional return will probably come within the first six months, or so. After this, patients will continue to make progress, but they won't need in-patient rehab. They will be at a different level. either out-patient or home care,"

Urban said. Since each stroke victim is affected differently, rehabilitation programs like the one at Garden City offer a variety of therapies. Some patients work on physical mobility. while others focus on speech and communication skills. Each therapy is composed of exercises that can be difficult for struggling patients.

"You have to keep up with the therapies. That is very important.

You have to do whatever it takes so you can go home," said Charles Martoia, a three-time stroke victim who is in the Garden City in patient rehabilitation program for the second time.

Martoia, who suffered mobility problems on one side of his body, noted marked improvement after only a week.

"The whole focus of rehab is to maximize a patient's ability, not focus on their disability. Each patient sets their own individual goals according to their needs. Not everybody will be able to walk again. But you don't need to walk again to go home and take care of your basic needs," Urban said, noting two of the greatest concerns are that each patient recovers function al mobility and continence

Another place that stroke surivors can turn for help is a stroke support group or club. There are many in the area, and they can usually be located by asking a physician or contacting a commu ty senior citizens center. These support groups provide an environ ment in which fellow survivors and their caregivers can discuss common problems and give mutual encouragement or to simply social

Urban conducts a support group at Garden City Hospital for current and former rehabilitation patients. Another such club is the First Step Stroke Group, which meets Tuesday afternoons at the Farmington Hills Senior Center.

"The most important point of ou club is to get stroke survivors and their caregivers active," said Carolvn Eskandari, First Step Stroke Group director, and one of several volunteers that works with the group that has grown from its original three couples to more than 40. Eskandari refers to the members of her group as "fighters" because of all the obstacles they face. Two of the greatest hurdles are low selfesteem and bouts of depression. Because of their condition, stroke survivors often feel like a burden to their loved ones or are embarrassed to go out in public. These feelings are often compounded when friends and relatives melt away, because they don't know how to act around someone who has had a stroke

The fact is, stroke affects more can be just as devastating to that person's family, particularly a spouse who is thrust into the role of main caregiver. A caregiver's life normally becomes just as altered and difficult. Because of the severe emotional swings of their spouses, First Step caregivers talk of frequently kicking walls in frustration. Other strategies include biting a tongue, or just leaving a room and having a good cry.

"I think the caregivers have a tremendous role. Their lives are consumed with helping the stroke survivor. Their role in our group is just as important," said Eskandari. While support groups and rehabilitation programs can be helpful, one of the best places for a survivor and caregiver to turn for help is to family and friends. Their support can go a long way to relieve the pres sures that both individuals face.

"When one of our children asks what they can do, I tell them to pick something. Anything. We all have to remember that the most profound things we can do are little, simple tasks," said Joe Choro ba, a caregiver to his wife Phyllis.

Both are members of the First Step Support Group. "A family member can come over and take the survivor out, and get them out of the house for a couple hours, just so the caregiver can stay home and have some quiet time. Believe me, this is just as meaningful to us," said Grace Bonfiglio, another First Step care-

Bonfiglio said she is happy when someone comes over and takes her husband Joe out for lunch, or even up to the local car wash.

I think what most caregivers would like to have at some point is a quiet time without having to worry about what is happening to their spouse," Eskandari said.

Ultimately, one of the most aportant goals of a stroke club or a rehabilitation program is to help a stroke survivor feel like a whole rson again. Family members can aid in this effort by adding encouragement, but in the end it is a matter of when the survivor reaches a comfort level and acceptance with their condition.

"A stroke changes your life forey . But your life is not over. It is important for stroke survivors to nderstand that they are still worthwhile people and a gift to their family," Urban said.

BY KURT KUBAN SPECIAL WRITER

If you have ever wondered just how destru tive a stroke can be, all you have to do is ask meone who has had to endure one. Someone like Delores Elam, a Redford resident who recently had her first stroke.

"I wouldn't wish this on anyone. This whole experience has been so frightening," said Elam who was recently admitted into the in-patient rehabilitation program at Garden City Hospital to help her recoup some physical mobility lost because of the stroke. If nothing else, strokes are very proficient at shattering people's lives. Not only can a stroke cause physical damage to the body, it can also inflict severe depression on its victims and break up entire families. "The prospect of a stroke is very scary.

because it can be so devastating for so many years. It can take away your freedom, it can take away the money you have saved, and it can take you out of the work force," said Pat Berkopec, a health coordinator for Life Line Screening, an organization that travels around the region providing ultrasound screenings.

Everyone needs to be aware of the threat that strokes present because they are so common in our society. Stroke is the third largest killer of Americans among diseases, trailing only heart disease and cancer. There are over 500,000 Americans who suffer a stroke every year. 150,000 of whom die from the affliction. The American Heart Association estimates that there are over three-million people living in this country who have had a stroke sometime during their lives

While there are different types of strokes, all are a result of the blood supply to the brain being cut off. This blockage causes the cells in

"Once the damage is done to the brain, it can't be totally reversed. A lot of work, a lot of vation, a lot of therapy can all do wonders for many people. But you don't go back to 100 percent. Stroke leaves you with some type of damage," said Berkopec

Knowing the risk factors is important In addition to those with diabetes or high blood pressure, individuals who smoke, are obese, or have a high-cholesterol intake are oftentimes most likely to suffer a stroke.

Smoking is a huge contributor to stroke because it constricts arteries and restricts blood flow. There are other factors to take into account, such as genetics. People who come common hypertension, are at a greater risk. As are blacks and Latinos.

For a small fee of about $35 per test, Life Line checks the arteries for plaque build-up by using a method of ultrasound. Last week, the company gave a screening at the Livonia YMCA and will be back there on Nov. 16.

Berkopec says that typically 15 percent of the people at each screening have some type of abnormality or blockage detected, which then calls for some type of medical treatment. "Our objective is to reach everyone we possibly can that is 45 and older. We want to educate them, so we can all avoid the possibility of a stroke," Berkopec said, noting it is usually during the mid-40s that plaque build-up begins to be a problem.

For those who may not have the money for the services provided by Life Line, there are other options available in helping them determine if they are at risk for a stroke

"I would think that cholesterol screenings, blood sugar screenings and blood pressure screenings would be just as worthwhile. because they can get at the problems before you would need an ultrasound to diagnose a blockage. Most of these services are frequently given for free at different community centers," said Andrea Jungwirth, the medical director for from families with a high number of strokes or Garden City Hospital's physical medicine and rehabilitation program
