Canton man, 45, killed in robbery

■ Restaurant manager Gary Urban was adored by co-workers and family. Urban was shot to death Wednesday night during a robbery outside the Dearborn Heights Ponderosa steak house.

In some respects, Gary Urban was an average guy.

The Canton man worked an ordinary job. He lived in a nice neighborhood, loved his family and his dogs.

The thing that made him unique, the thing that made him special to those around him was his heart. Simply put, Urban would do most anything to help anybody.

"He was a wonderful husband and a terrific father," said his wife of 23 years, Linda. "He was very proud of his kids. He was always generous with his time with them."

Chamber to build office on Hanford

BY SCOTT DANIEL
STAFF WRITER
sdaniel@oe.homecomm.net

After years of searching, Canton's Chamber of Commerce has a permanent home.

The chamber has bought a one-acre parcel on Hanford Road just west of Canton Center. The undeveloped site, which sold for $117,000, was owned by Plymouth-based Community Federal Credit Union.

"It positions us to continue the progress and good work of the chamber in the Canton community," said Executive Director Ryan Ambrozaitis. "It also makes good business sense for us to own our own building."

According to chamber building committee chair Mike Gerou, the facility will be 2,500 square feet in size and feature residential architecture.

"It's important for us to be a good neighbor," he said. "We want it to have a nice flow with the rest of the neighborhood."

A groundbreaking date hasn't been set. The chamber's board was scheduled to meet Friday to determine a construction timeline, said Ambrozaitis.

The chamber has been at the Canton-Ford Crossings office complex for nearly a decade. Efforts to find a new home began in earnest about four years ago.

Earlier this year, the chamber had all but settled on a one-acre site on Morrison Avenue. But concerns over wetlands on the site and other factors nixed the deal.

Since then, the chamber has looked at three sites. All were within or close to the search area bounded by Warren Road in the north, Ford in the south, Haggerty on the east and Canton Center on the west.

"This was our No. 1 priority," Gerou

Trustees OK cable transfer

AT&T and MediaOne will be the only conduit for Canton residents seeking high-speed cable Internet access — for now.

Canton trustees Tuesday unanimously approved an unconditional transfer of the township cable franchise to AT&T, which is seeking federal approval for its planned merger with MediaOne.

The move is bad news for OpenNET, a coalition of Internet service providers seeking to block the cable company from being the exclusive provider of high-speed Internet access over cable lines in Canton and adjacent communities served by MediaOne.

The coalition includes the giant America Online, as well as dozens of smaller service providers. Ameritech,

Field trip

Student's 'retrace' famous expedition

Students from Plymouth-Canton's Farrand Elementary and New Morning School in Plymouth Township journeyed 8,000 miles this week, developed friendships with Native Americans and learned how to survive some of America's most treacherous territories as they traveled from St. Louis to the Pacific Ocean and back.

In reality, the elementary scholars from both schools traversed Maybury State Park in Northville, walking the trails and experiencing the expedition of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, commissioned in 1804 by President Thomas Jefferson to locate a Northwest Passage.

"We stopped at Mandan Village, picked up Sacajawea (a Shoshone Indian) and traded with the Indian chiefs to get horses," said Lewis.

Final superintendent interviews begin Tuesday

tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Second interviews for the three Plymouth-Canton Schools superintendent finalists begin this week as the board of education works to have a new leader by the first of the year.

The interview format for the three candidates will require two full days each.

Trustees will have dinner at Ernesto's with the candidate the first evening. The next day the finalist will meet with district employee groups, tour the high school complex and have lunch at the Rock Cafe, take a driving tour around the district and talking with the public.

"We feel it's important to give the public a chance to talk with the candidates and ask any questions they may have," said Judy Evola, director of communications.

The public receptions with the candidates will take place from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m. and again from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the E.J. McClendon Educational Center, 454 S. Harvey, in Plymouth.

Interviews with the board of education are slated for 6:30 p.m. that same day. They are expected to last longer and be more in-depth than the initial one-hour interviews. They are also

Plymouth firm's workers help North Carolina flood victims

(PRNewswire) - When Hurricane Floyd caused massive flooding in eastern North Carolina last month, roads, airports, bridges, phone lines and power plants shut down.

But the "human spirit" didn't, and at Simpson Industries' Greenville plant, a group of people pulled together and solved a manufacturing challenge that threatened to shut down production lines in locations across North America.

At Simpson headquarters in Plymouth, 47603 Halyard Drive, the call immediately went out company-wide for contingency workers.

Part of a plan put in place in 1997 to ensure that Simpson deliveries would not be interrupted, the voluntary staffing plan recruited 35 people - including salaried, "front office" staff and hourly workers - from Simpson plants.

Several people from the Plymouth operation agreed to help.

Those going to North Carolina from the Plymouth operation (for anywhere from two to 10 days) included Marie Eicher (Litchfield), Joe DeVerna (Plymouth), Dick Hardin (Westland), Steve Zimmerman (Canton Township), Jerry Harkiewicz (Jackson), Rob

Hewitt (Plymouth), Dick Leonard (Wayne), Sarah Prosser (Canton), Nancy Johnson (Dearborn), Rick Noetzel (Canton), Eric Swanson (Lansing), Matt Mattson (Garden City), John Rembisz (Howell) and Bob Rehley (Canton).

Jim Strahley, vice president for human resources at Simpson in Plymouth, said the workers traveled by bus down south and were put up in local hotels.

The firm's employees collected about $18,000 to help Simpson workers in Greenville who were flooded out of their homes.

Simpson Industries manufactures engine products and chassis components found on most cars and trucks. Among the firm's customers is GM's Delphi Automotive plant in Ohio.

Simpson executives found the company's Greenville facility surrounded by floodwaters in the days following Hurricane Floyd.

Bridges were closed, highways barricaded, and the airport was under water. The governor declared a state of emergency. But worst of all, devastated residential areas meant that plant employees were in serious trouble too.

"We had 18 people who lost everything," says Mike McCall, plant manager of the Greenville plant, "and many others who were evacuated and couldn't get back to their homes. For me the worst part was just trying to find out about our people."

Management had closed the Simpson plant the night before the storm hit and made advance shipments to Simpson's customers to cover for the shutdown. But when rivers reached 500-year levels after the storm, flooding cut the region in half and threatened to halt production shipments indefinitely.

The machinery at the Simpson plant was unharmed by the hurricane, and floodwaters did not get inside. Instead, the flooding surrounded the plant, isolating it from roads and employees.

Highways were closed for miles around and all but one bridge in Greenville was impassable. The Greenville airport was 12 feet under water. Employees were stranded at inland shelters far from home.

Additional assistance to North Carolina employees came from Cummins Engine, Mack Truck, and several suppliers who sent a flow of cash, food, clothing and other goods to help.

"What impresses me the most," says Roy Parrott, chairman of Simpson Industries, "is the commitment on the part of our people. Despite their own horrific conditions, they were concerned for each other and came in to get the plant running."

Rusty Dennis, a machine operator and 12-year employee, said: "My family is living in an RV now. We were evacuated three times in all ... Simpson met most of our financial needs. They told me to take all the time off that I needed. They brought us food and water. And everyone keeps asking, 'What can I do? When can I help you work on your house? Do you need any money?' From the office to the floor, people have just stepped right in."

Simpson Industries supplies powertrain and chassis products to original equipment manufacturers in the automotive and medium and heavy duty diesel engine markets.

Revenues were almost $500 million in 1998. The firm has been profitable since it went public in 1972.

Drive continues for Vietnam monument

DETROIT, Nov. 9 (PRNewswire) - The Michigan Vietnam Monument Commission (VMC) today announced the status of its "Path of Life" campaign. The Commission, to date, has raised approximately $2 million and is entering the last phase of fund-raising required before construction can begin on the Michigan Vietnam Monument in Lansing.

"We're well within reach of our goal and this is an exciting time," said Brigadier General John Kulhavi, chairman of the VMC. "We've done an outstanding job raising money given the fact that we're still without a major corporate sponsor," Kulhavi continued.

Michigan Vietnam Monument Commission (VMC) has expanded the campaign to include Michigan veterans of all wars who have honorably served their state and country.

The decision to expand the campaign stemmed from the recent move to cancel plans for the proposed All Veterans Park in the state capital. The original intent of the "Path of Life" campaign was to honor Michigan's Vietnam Veterans.

Commemorative star pins are available for $26.49. Personalized, engraved bricks are still available in single size ($100) and double size ($150). Duplicate bricks can be ordered for half the cost of the actual brick that will be placed along the side of the Michigan Vietnam Monument (the "Path of Life").

"These bricks are a great way to commemorate those who have sacrificed their lives for our freedom," concluded Kulhavi. The money raised from the brick campaign will go towards building the Michigan Vietnam Monument, which is scheduled to be completed by Veterans Day 2000.

TRAVEL

Turn back the clock in Chicago suburb of Oak Park

BY DOUG JOHNSON
STAFF WRITER

If you're seeking a low-impact weekend and like looking at and touring vintage homes, consider a trip to the old Chicago suburb of Oak Park.

Here you'll find wide, tree-lined streets and old, lovingly restored and maintained homes.

Here, also, is the legacy of America's greatest architect, Frank Lloyd Wright.

Oak Park and nearby River Forest offer a remarkable variety of homes done in the Prairie style, the architectural design made famous by Wright and several other Chicago architects. Wright was the acknowledged master of the Prairie house.

The style is "among the more short-lived styles having flourished and declined in the years between 1900 and 1910" according to Virginia and Lee McAlester's "A Field Guide to American Houses" (Knopf, 1997). Their book has extensive drawings and photos of all types of American homes from pre-colonial to present.

The 1893 Winslow House in River Forest was probably the first Prairie house.

These houses emphasized horizontal lines mimicking the flat, horizontalness of the American prairie west of Chicago. Also, Prairie houses often have massive square porch supports, flat chimneys, low-pitch, hipped roofs, ribbons of windows tucked under the ultra-wide eaves, and hidden entries.

To the first-time visitor to Oak Park, the Wright houses may seem "modernistic" but in fact some of them are more than 100 years old.

Here's a summary of details about an architectural and historic tour of Oak Park:

■ Call the Ginkgo Tree Bookshop at the Wright home and studio and pay $4 for the "Architectural Guide Map" and have them mail it to you. The excellent map contains clear photos and addresses of all Wright homes and all other architecturally significant homes in Oak Park. You will immediately see how little walking there actually is to be able to see many Wright homes and Unity Temple, his first public building. Phone (708)

Spectacular: Tours of the Moore-Dugal house have been suspended due to a death in the family. The home has been open on weekends for tourists.

■ The Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio Foundation maintains his home and studio and offers daily tours. They also offer walking tours of nearby streets. Tour hours are 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. daily and every 15 minutes from 11 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. on weekends. Weekend reservations are suggested. Tours are prompt. Phone (708) 848-1978.

■ Each May, the foundation sponsors inside tours of several Wright homes. The 26th annual Wright Plus Housewalk tour in 2000 will be May 20, and you will be permitted to tour 10 homes.

■ You can see 14 Wright homes' exteriors in a short mini-tour near the Wright home. Some of the first homes you see on the self-guided tour are Queen Anne designs, and others done after 1900 are Prairie style.

■ One interesting "Wright event" Oak Park visitors might try, to fully steep themselves in details of Wright's architecture and life, is an overnight stay at Cheney House, a bed and breakfast establishment.

Cheney House, 520 North East Avenue, is one of the Wright houses in Oak Park and is about four blocks from his home/studio.

It may even seem romantic to stay in one of the two-room suites given the history of Cheney House.

A recent documentary about Wright on Public Television revisited the famous details. An architectural commission for electrical engineer Edwin Cheney led to a love affair between Wright and Mamah Borthwick Cheney, the engineer's wife. Cheney and Wright left their families for a year in Europe in 1909.

This part of his life ended five years later when Mrs. Cheney and her children were killed by an insane servant at Wright's retreat in Wisconsin. Their "free love" relationship scandalized Oak Park and the nation.

Rooms at Cheney House are $155 a night and include a continental breakfast. The home has been owned by Chicago attorney Dale Smirl and his wife for 22 years. Call (708) 524-2067 for reservations.

The red brick Cheney House

Modernistic: This red brick house near the Wright home/studio looks like a recent addition to the area, but it was built in 1902.

No tourists: A careful reader can see a "no tourism" sign in this house's window, indicating not everyone in Oak Park likes visitors looking over these beautiful homes.

has many typical Wright details: a large overhung hip roof, hidden front entry, bands of windows tucked under the eaves and a stone sill surrounding the structure.

■ The magnificent, high-gabled Moore-Dugal home very near the Wright home and studio has been offering inside tours until recently; a death in the family has stopped these tours, offered on Saturday and Sundays April through October. Local inquiry with the Oak Park Visitors Center is recommended as it handles the tour tickets; (708) 848-1500. Just walking around the edges of the fenced property is worth the short walk from the studio center.

■ Under the Ginkgo Tree Bed and Breakfast, 300 N. Kenilworth, Oak Park is a Queen Anne Victorian home built around 1890, air conditioned, with a wraparound front porch. It is just one block from the Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio. Savor a light breakfast in the elegant dining room or bright homey kitchen; weather permitting, breakfast is served on the veranda. Phone (708) 524-2327.

■ Several other famous people are from Oak Park: Ray Kroc, founder of McDonald's, Edgar Rice Burroughs, creator of Tarzan, Ernest Hemingway, psychologist Carl Rogers and TV star Bob Newhart. Hemingway's birthplace home and museum, two separate facilities, can be toured. Phone (708) 848-2222 for information on either. This past summer the city hosted a gala celebration of the life and times of Hemingway on the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Oak Park is a turn-of-the-century gem. Going back in time 100 years seems particularly appropriate as we move into the 21st century.
