Airport runway shift shot down

Township officials have told the state to take its Mettetal runway shift and shove it in the wake of news that state officials knew the airport was out of compliance with federal guidelines when it was purchased in 1994.

BY CAROL MARSHALL STAFF WRITER cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

The Canton Township Board of Trustees grounded plans to shift the Mettetal Airport runway when it unanimously voted down the action Tues-

At the heart of the denial to shift the runway 240 feet to the south was the balance between pilot and Joy Road motorist safety - and the concerns expressed by Coves of Canton condominium residents.

Also weighing heavily in the vote was the board's hostility about falsehoods reported to them when the state bought the airport in 1994.

The big lie

"The FAA and MDOT, people who are supposed to look after our safety and welfare ... intentionally lied to the people who are involved," said Trustee Melissa McLaughlin. "They lied about FAA standards they are now trying to

The Michigan Department of Transportation Bureau of Aeronautics and the Airport Advisory Board brought the proposal to the board earlier this year, stating new FAA standards would require a shift.

Representatives from MDOT told the board pilots had grown concerned over pilot and motorist safety, and the runway's proximity to Joy Road.

The runway is 50 feet south of Joy,

Supervising Engineer Mark Noel said the shift to the south would decrease the likelihood of an aircraft sliding off the end of the runway and onto Joy.

Noel said the proposal is a shift, not an expansion, and the pavement at the north of the runway could be torn up or left in place to provide a paved buffer between the runway and the road.

By contract, the 2,500-foot runway cannot be modified without a resolution from Canton and the state.

However, the board recently learned

Toast to Canton wine tasting event set

BY CAROL MARSHALL STAFF WRITER cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

Canton wine aficionados and amateurs alike will gather for a Toast to Canton next week.

Leadership Canton Alumni, the Canton Chamber of Commerce and Holiday Market will co-sponsor the event, which will be held at Yazaki North America. Leadership Canton Alumni President Paul

Schrauben said the event not only raises money for local community groups, but offers Canton's wine connoisseurs and wine-curious the opportunity to do something new. The Toast to Canton will feature a wide variety of hors d'oeuvres and about 150 wines, and for the first time will also offer beers to sample. As usual, nondrinkers as well as drivers will not have to miss out on the fun, and there will be a table of sparkling and non-alcoholic beverages for tasting as well.

Another change will be the location. In the past, the wine tasting was held at the Summit, but Schrauben said Yazaki North America offered to host in its new building on Haggerty Road, and Leadership Canton couldn't pass on the offer.

"A lot of people are curious about Yazaki, and we thought this would be a unique opportunity for people to go inside and check it out," he said.

Last year's Toast was Schrauben's wine tasting debut. He said that, although he's not an experienced wine drinker, he wasn't intimidated by the event.

"You see a lot of people that obviously know wine," Schrauben said. "And the distributors are there. But then there are a lot of people like me that say 'Huh. Besides color, what's the difference between red and white?"

Nancy Williams, Leadership Canton alumni, said the wine tasting has been a good time and a great education.

For two years, Williams and her husband, Pat also Leadership Canton alumni – have paid extra for the privilege of being volunteer wine pourers.

"It's a blast," Williams said, adding she plans on being a pourer again this year. "Of course drinking the wine's not so bad, either."

Williams said the education about wine she receives while pouring is the reason she loves volunteering at the event.

"You don't have to know a thing about wine," she said. "But you come away with a little more knowledge and have more of an appreciation for it.'

The event has raised $12,000 during its two years, and Schrauben said he hopes it will bring in more than last year's $7,000.

Schrauben said proceeds from the third annual vine tasting gala will benefit the Canton Historical Society, Leadership Canton Alumni Scholarship and the Canton Firefighters Charity Foundation. Schrauben said Leadership Canton chooses different community groups annually and they're chosen

SIMPLY ELEGANT If lilies were movie stars, they would be Audrey Hepburn. Few, if any, flowers can match the sheer elegance of lilies. White longiflorum lilies, in particular, seem to be dressed for a black tie affair. Their graceful form fairly trumpets classical appeal. Thus, lilies require scarcely more than a clear glass or crystal vase for a monochromatic simple arrangement. The transparency of the vase allows the deep green, elongated leaves and graceful stems to play their valued supporting role. In addition, white longiflorum lilies are long-lasting and exude a wonderful scent. Each bud opens slowly, and the lower ones can be removed as they fade. This flower with star quality puts on a wonderful performance.

Like spring's social butterfly, lilies can attend both elegant and informal affairs with ease. At HEIDE'S FLOWERS & GIFTS, we would be happy to help you decorate for your occasions. Located at 995 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, we provide excellent service and the most knowledgeable staff. To place your order by phone, call 453-5140, or visit our website at www.heidesfloers.com.

Worldwide wire service available, and your satisfaction is always assured. Since 1899, HEIDE'S has been making our community beautiful. Look for our next article in two weeks.

HINT: Put a bunch of smooth rocks in the bottom of a vase of lilies to lend support to the stems and a natural element to the display.

when the state bought the airport in 1994, the FAA standards requiring longer safety zones at the end of the runway were already in place and had been since 1989. The board alleged the bureau lied in order to push through the state purchase of the airport.

McLaughlin quoted a 1990 memo from Wendell Proudfoot, manager with the Bureau of Aeronautics, to Peter Serini, manager with the FAA.

Proudfoot stated, "The drawing (of the runway) does not depict any future development, land acquisition or obstruction removal. ... We have intentionally omitted Runway Safety Areas, Object Free Areas, and similar FAA standards, because we believe depiction of those areas would diminish and obscure the objective of converting this private airport to one owned and operated by a public agency. Once we have a public sponsor serving the 120 or so aircraft at this facility, we will then evaluate steps required to make the airport meet standards."

Safety standards

Plymouth resident Carl Schultz approached the board, asking it to reconsider the

"I would like to suggest that your goal of killing the airport needn't be (accomplished) by take off and land with 2,200 feet jeopardizing public safety," he said. "I don't know how any politician can come down against safety."

Township Supervisor Tom Yack said the resolution to deny the request suggested the state seek a more appropriate and safer location for an airport.

Schultz, who serves on the. advisory board and whose son is a student pilot said, "Vote your conscience because it may come back to haunt you."

Canton pilot Henry Moore! asked the board whether it had; considered what to do in the event of a Joy Road accident between a pilot and a motorist.

"Are you clear legally for a lawsuit?" Moore asked.

"We would defend ourselves, naturally. The entity that really. has to worry about this is. MDOT," Yack said. "They only: have deceived us and lied.'

Trustee Philip LaJoy said if the board denies the request, the township should send a letter to the FAA and MDOT addressing the safety concerns the bureau brought forward in requesting the shift.

"They really need to remedy that situation," he said.

Former U.S. Navy aviator Greg Pappas of Plymouth suggested if MDOT and FAA are "really interested in making the airport safer. ... They should either restrict the airport to only those aircraft that can easily of runway or close the airport."

Canton man writes book on making organizations work

BY CAROL MARSHALL STAFF WRITER cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

Scared out of his wits, Ron Koller looked out at the 250 people in the audience. They came to the Catholic Relief Services World Summit in October, clad in nearly every ethnic and cultural dress in the world, and outfitted with headphones to hear their interpreters.

"I was sort of freaked out," Koller said. "It reminded me of the United Nations. And there I was, little old me from Metro Detroit."

Koller was called away from his Canton home to address the summit in Tampa because its attendees were planning a major change in how they respond to disastrous events around the globe. And Koller, a consultant, had earned a reputation for facilitating change.

Just one

Koller said that experience was just one of the many that preceded the release of the book entitled Whole-Scale Change: Unleashing the Magic in Organizations he co-authored.

For eight years he's worked with senior leaders from Catholic Relief Services, Sun Microsystems, United Airlines, BASF, City of Boston, NASA and other large organizations.

The book was a collaborative effort, with 15 people working on it in the beginning, back in 1996. "By the end, there weren't so many of us," Koller said. The book came off the presses early this year. Koller said Whole-Scale Change was written by him and his former colleagues at Dannemiller Tyson Associates. He said he and some of his colleagues had been teaching and consulting for some large firms, including Ford Motor Co. and even for other large consulting firms.

"A lot of people told us we should take the information in the class and put it in a book, so here we are," Koller said.

Helps organize

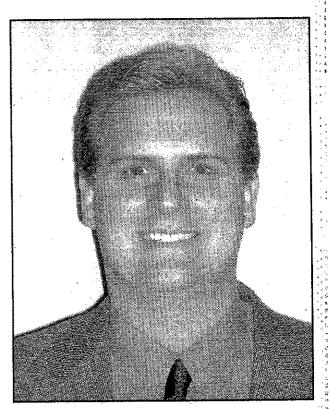

Koller said the book helps organizations uncover and combine the knowledge and wisdom of their employees to dramatically increase business performance. The process, he said, empowers employees and leaders to change their workplaces and communities.

Koller said he believes the untapped wisdom within organizations is the key to success. Very often, he explained, a company will call in consultants and trainers to tell its managers how to address problems or run a better business, when the best solutions would likely come from the organization's own employees.

By the time the consultant plops a fat report on the desks of a handful of top managers, any good ideas that may be contained in the plan will be met with resistance.

Where his philosophy differs from that of other consultants is his belief in inclusion.

"Trainers come in and begin by telling. We come in and begin by asking," Koller said. And he asks questions of everyone in an organization from upper management down to the entry-level employees.

"The Whole-Scale Change approach is just plain common sense. When everyone's voices are heard and valued, it's like magic," Koller said. "People support what they help create."

Consulting

During the five years since he began working on the book, Koller and two of his associates from Dannemiller Tyson broke away to join Performance Development Associates in order to consult for more high-tech companies.

Koller knocked on his kitchen table twice when he reported PDA will sign a deal to consult for Microsoft this week.

Whole-Scale Change: Unleashing the Magic in Organizations and its toolkit is available in local bookstores. For more information about the book or toolkit, call Barett-Koehler Publishers at (800) 929-2929, or visit the Web site at www.wholescale.net.

Plymouth man injured in accident

By TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

A Plymouth Township man was injured when the car he was driving collided with a pickup truck at the intersection of Joy and Sheldon roads Monday afternoon.

Peter Warne, 64, reportedly had the green light when he entered the intersection, but was hit by a Livonia man who failed to stop for the red light.

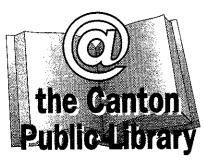

"The driver of the car (Warne) was traveling westbound on Joy Road and had the green light when the pickup, which was going north on Sheldon, came through the red light ... and boom," said Scott Dugan, 17, of Canton, who witnessed the accident from his car. "The truck spun around and the car stopped on the corner. I called 9-1-1 with my cell phone."

Joe Koontz, 32, of Livonia was driving the F-150 Ford pickup that hit the front quarter panel of the Dodge Stratus.

"I was looking down, playing with the radio, and looked up and saw the red light," he said. "By then, it was too late. Luckily the man wasn't seriously

Q and A Q: How did Gatorade originate?

A: Gatorade originated in 1965 when researchers at the University of Florida in Tampa decided that their football team needed to replace the minerals and fluids lost through strenuous exercise. The drink was developed to provide water (to prevent dehydration), sugar (energy), salt (fluid balance) and potassium (nerve transmission). In 1983 Quaker Oats purchased the brand name and sells the drink in different flavors. More than 423 million gallons of Gatorade are sold every day.

Hot Topic of the Week ■ National Arbor Day is Friday, April 27. The Committee for National Arbor Day has as its goal the observance of Arbor Day in all states on the same day, the last Friday in April. This unified date would provide our citizenry with the opportunity to better learn the importance of trees to our way of life. This date is also a good planting date for many states throughout the country. The first observance of Arbor Day was April 10, 1872, in Nebraska, where it is still a state holiday. More than half the states now observer Arbor Day on the proposed April Friday.

Unsolved Mysteries TV show features Plymouth murder

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Acting Plymouth Police Chief Wayne Carroll put in hundreds of hours to solve a murder case involving the dismembered body of former Plymouth resident Tracy Islam.

Last Oct. 3, a Wayne County Circuit Court jury convicted her estranged husband, Azizul Islam, of killing his estranged wife, mutilating her body, and dumping the body parts in Dearborn and Ohio.

In the end, the jury's verdict came down to fresh paint and blood stains found in the basement of Azizul Islam's Roe Street home.

The case was widely publicized. So much so, that when the network program Unsolved Mysteries heard about it, producers knew it would be a hit.

Carroll and Dearborn police Det. Paul Keiper met this past week with crew members of the show, who flew in from Los Angeles to film the segment in Plymouth. They taped interviews and re-created scenes at a vacant house on South Main Street with the star.

No, not actor Robert Stack, who is the host of the program. And, it wasn't Carroll. Top billing went to Eagle, a German shorthair-Doberman cross who helped solidify Carroll's murder case when he sniffed out blood and human remains inside the Islam home.

"I was skeptical in the beginning," admitted Carroll. "I didn't think Eagle would be so valuable. But, he did a damn good iob.'

It's Eagle who is being documented on Unsolved Mysteries, for his work in finding evidence in a Lapeer missing person's case, and his work during the Islam investigation in Plymouth.

"Even though this case is solved, there's still a mystery,' said Dan Gomez, director for Unsolved Mysteries. "How does this dog do what he does? He can spot bones under 150 feet of water. I think that's a mystery."

That's what Eagle did in Lapeer. While film crews were recreating a murder scene, Eagle motioned in the water. Divers found more human remains.

"I've seen drug dogs, and bomb dogs, but Eagle is really something special," Carroll confessed.

As for his part, Carroll said stardom hasn't gone to his head. "I didn't mind doing the interview, but I wasn't in my element with the re-creations, so I was a bit uncomfortable" said Carroll. "I'm geared to be a cop." Plymouth police officer Al Cox was used as a stand-in, as was Paul Schulz of Motor City Ent., who owns the production company based in Plymouth.

"When a production company comes from out of town, they're unaware what's available to them," he said. "They had a crime scene and they needed a house with a basement to reenact the crime, and the exterior of a home like the Islam's. That's where I come in, finding the locations."

Schulz said an effort was made to film inside the Islam house; however, he was told it wasn't available.

The Unsolved Mysteries segment is expected to be broadcast sometime in September.

Club stages cultural heritage show

Members of the Asian Pacific American Club at the Plymouth Canton Educational Park will host their third annual cultural heritage show Friday and Saturday in Canton High School's Dubois Little Theater at 8415 Canton Center Road.

The show begins at 7 p.m. Tickets are $3 for students and $5 for adults.

This year's theme for the show is "Back from the Mountain." According to club officials, some of the first generations of Asian Pacific Americans immigrated across the Pacific seeking a "Gold Mountain," referring to America, the symbol of freedom and opportunity.

These Asian Pacific Americans faced a new identity struggle: How do we preserve the traditional and embrace the new? Newer generations of Asian Pacific Americans have defined themselves as not simply "Asian" or "American" but have created a whole new experience - the experience of an Asian Pacific American. This show allows the members of the Asian Pacific American Club to go "from the mountain" back to some of the cultural aspects of the life that earlier generations experi-

The APAC members dedicate the show to their parents, for "their love and support. They have made us who we are, and we thank them for allowing us to explore our identify as Asian Pacific Americans and for giving us the opportunity to revisit our heritage," a club member said.

Back from the Mountain will feature traditional dances and songs representing Filipino, Chinese, Korean and Vietnamese cultures. A fashion show will display traditional as well as modern forms of dress. Guess speakers include Roland Hwang, an attorney for the state of Michigan on Friday night and Marcella Lee-Kuo, Channel 4 reporter, on Saturday night.

The latest census figures reported that Asian Pacific Americans now comprise 9 percent of Canton's population and 4 percent of Plymouth Township's population. This growth is reflected both in Michigan, where Asian Pacific American population grew by 71 percent, and across the nation, where the Asian Pacific American population has increased by 43 percent. These figures do not include households that checked more than one racial category.

Zero tolerance in schools is trying on the patience

A 6-year-old student was suspended from school for passing out some lemon cough drops to other students. In another school district, a seventh grader was suspended for three days for giving a cough drop to a classmate. And in another school, a 14-year-old was suspended for 10 days for handing out some Certs.

These are but a few of the incidents that have brought under fire the so-called "zero tolerance" school policy in place at many, if not all, school districts across the country.

Zero tolerance is a policy that at best does little good and at worst subjects students, parents and staff to some of the most wretched and ridiculous examples of discipline in the country.

Fortunately, none of the local districts has shown bad judgment in their handling of zero tolerance — yet. But so long as they have such policies, they are risking embarrassing themselves while tragically jeopardizing their students' academic careers.

Zero tolerance is a deceptively straightforward program. In essence, it says that no infraction of school policy forbidding such things as guns, drugs, disruptive behavior, dress code or conduct, however minor, will be tolerated. Students charged with such infractions are routinely suspended and expelled.

In light of the recent school shootings, few would argue against a zero-tolerance view toward guns in school. Guns should not be allowed except in those extremely troubled districts that have to resort to having police patrol the halls.

But declaring the sharing of cough drops as a violation of a school's prohibition against "chemical substances," as happened in Colorado Springs in 1997, is absurd.

Increasingly, school districts are reevaluating the wisdom of zero tolerance. In fact, all school districts should re-evaluate this principle and discard it in favor of a more sensible approach to discipline.

Zero tolerance in schools is an outgrowth of the federal drug policy that was created in the early 1980s. At that time, the federal government began confiscating boats, cars and even bicycles owned by persons caught possessing even tiny amounts of illegal drugs. This raised a growing tide of protest from people who lost substantial pieces of property over traces of illegal drugs.

By 1990, the U.S. Customs Service dropped its zero tolerance policy. But by then two schools districts, Orange County, Calif., and Louisville, Ky., adopted their own form of zero tolerance, tailored for the schools.

The districts basically told the kids: Break any of the rules, and you risk being thrown out on the street. Period.

Soon, school boards across the country were adopting zero tolerance policies, which became educationally fashionable. But, as with many simple solutions to complicated problems, zero tolerance has Zero tolerance is a deceptively straight-forward program. In essence, it says that no infraction of school policy forbidding such things as guns, drugs, disruptive behavior, dress code or conduct, however minor, will be tolerated. Students charged with such infractions are routinely suspended and expelled.

There are numerous stories — even entire Web sites on the Internet — devoted to zero tolerance horror stories in which school administrations have seemingly gone mad, crushing students and staff alike for the slightest infraction of school rules.

Proponents of zero tolerance can point to the recent school shootings as support that the policies are needed. But in fact, the numbers don't support the emotional argument. The National Center for Education Statistics in Washington, D.C., for example, rated student tardiness as the most serious discipline issue reported by school principals in 1996-97. Absenteeism followed, along with fighting and use of tobacco. According to the NESC, violent crimes occurred at a rate of 53 incidents per 100,000 students.

Only 2 percent of principals reported gun possession and sale of drugs on school grounds as a serious issue. These are not to be minimized, nor is a single shooting less of a tragedy because it is a rare incident, considering the thousands of school buildings across the nation where no one has ever been shot. But in reality, as horrific as school shootings are, they occur rarely.

Other factors come into play as well. The Department of Education Office for Civil Rights surveyed 3,000 school districts and found that African-American students consistently are suspended at a rate higher than other students. And then there is the question of what happens to students who are expelled. Most end up on the streets, where they can become a larger problem.

The numbers — and simple logic — should bring into focus the fact that every case of student discipline needs to be treated on an individual basis with its own specific circumstances to consider.

Some school boards — justifiably — have brought heaps of scorn upon themselves for such wrong-headed rulings as the suspension of a 6-year-old who was charged with "sexual harassment" for kissing a classmate.

Let common sense — not zero tolerance — prevail.

■ Ruling troubling

I am disappointed in the recent ruling by U.S. District Judge Bernard Friedman against the University of Michigan's Law School admissions policy. What Judge Friedman seems to be saying is that a well-intended effort to remedy past societal and educational discrimination is insufficient unless particular acts of discrimination against specific individuals are being remedied by the law school's policy.

Unfortunately an unintended consequence of the ruling, if upheld, likely will be another future court scenario that drags the law school back into court when a specific minority student is not admitted, sues, wins, and the court rules that a well-balanced admissions policy (similar to the current one) should be implemented.

When major Fortune 500 corporations submitted amicus briefs in support of the law school's position, they were arguing from a similar position, i.e., past discrimination is wrong; cultural diversity is a business asset and important for employees and customers; therefore, including cultural diversity as one criteria with regard to either a pool of qualified employees or vendors is a rational road upon which to proceed?

This common sense reasoning is why the business community is making much more progress than the criminal justice system in developing an inclusive society. For example, if one examines the criminal justice system, profiling and warehousing of prisoners (a disproportionate number of whom are cultural minorities) are major problems. Clearly, with regard to those issues, the state does have a compelling state interest - and would benefit from a more diverse pool of candidates for judgeships and other legal positions. Currently, most criminal justice institutions reflect primarily the white community and show little representation from communities of Judge Friedman, despite the ruling, did have one excellent suggestion: reducing the reliance on LSAT scores, which research has shown are not a reliable predictor of either law student or law graduate success. The primary message, however, in this federal court decision is that diversity among student populations is not important and can be ignored as a major educational objective.

I hope that a better-reasoned and more thoughtful ruling will occur during the appeal process. Unless diversity initiatives such as the law school's admissions procedure are accepted, institutions will never become inclusive

Our institutions and communities need to mirror more closely, not just some of us, but all of America's people.

■ Give peace a chance

In writing, my hope is that we will all unite in taking action to bring peace to our communities. I, like you, have seen the effects of a world at unrest. We have seen wars, hatred and much death. This death is not only upon foreign lands, but also right in our schools and homes. On April 20, 1999, the tragedy of Columbine High School occurred. On March 6, 2001, almost two years later, we had another horror in a school in Santee, Calif. This shows that we have done nothing to change the hearts and minds of the students to make sure this does not occur again. Unless we get to the cause of these tragedies, unless we stop trying to put a Band-Aid on the symptoms of a sick society, we will continue to mourn without hope of change. My hope is that you will see there is a "Peaceful Solution" and a positive way to change the way our society is heading.

On Feb. 23-25 the Third Global Conference on Peace was hosted by The House of Yahweh in Abilene, Texas. It was co-convened by Dr. Yisrayl Hawkins, from Abilene and Dr. Oryema Johnson from Canada. There were 16 countries represented there, including men and women from China, Russia, Israel and Nigeria. Representatives from various peace organizations across the United States were also in attendance.

Though the people came from many nations, the problems all stemmed from the same cause: a lack of education in the laws of moral principles. It was agreed upon by all, that with proper education, starting at a very young age, all forms of the negative effects that we see in modern day society would be eliminated. "The only way to stop hate and killing is through education, taught through the laws in the Peaceful Solution," said the representative from Israel. The representative from Armenia totally agreed with this statement. These two men have seen the devastating effects of their countries at war, because only war is taught there. Now they will be taking back with them hope, through the teaching of the Peaceful Solution.

What is the Peaceful Solution? The Peaceful Solution is a set of moral principles that can be taught to all people. Everyone who is taught and practices The Peaceful Solution will greatly benefit from these principles.

I urge you to obtain and consider this information. Free samples of this program are being offered. To receive your free copy, call (888) 613-9494, or write to The Peaceful Solution, P.O. Box 2442, Abilene, Texas 79604; or email: info@peacefulsolution.com and request the Peaceful Solution program which was offered at the Third Global conference on Peace in Abilene, Texas.

You have the opportunity and the responsibility to do something to make a change.

■ Tragic mistake?

The fact that Russia presently has an inventory of 6,000 nuclear warheads on 2,300 missiles, thanks to our aid, still poses a definitive threat but worse than that is the armament and personnel being maintained and increased by China.

It presently maintains the world's largest standing army with 2.5 million troops under arms. It has a Navy with 260,000 sailors, 60 conventional subs, six nuclear submarines and a surface fleet of 40 frigates, and 20 destroyers, all of which carry anti-ship cruise missiles.

Keep in mind that those missiles were useless a few years ago. They could shoot them into the air at any time and they never knew where the missiles would land. Today, they have the technology to pinpoint their targets accurately thanks to having undeniably purchased the technology from Bill Clinton and the National Democratic Party.

In addition, China has 50 amphibious landing ships and a massive shipbuilding program. Its air force has 5,300 combat aircraft, 650 transport aircraft and more than 400,000 personnel. With the additional aid of U.S. technology this despotic nation has built 18 silos for CSS-4 ICBMs capable presently of hitting the United States. Is it any wonder that its sabers are rattling with increasing frequency? In the last 20 years China has steadfastly maintained that the United States is its enemy.

Throughout history it has been adequately depicted that a nation could ensure peace through strength. The last president to prove this was Ronald Reagan. Now with all that is going on and with Russia arming the rogue nations, our congressmen are spending precious time in the hallowed chambers of the House and Senate and arguing over McCain-Feingold and how best to spend our money for their individual re-elections.

You figure. Only those who have lived through the era of Pearl Harbor can fully appreciate the enormity of this tragic lapse in the defense of our country.

■ Intelligent design

Talk about folly! On Thursday, March 29, Phil Power wrote an editorial discrediting state Rep. Robert Gosselin, R-Troy, and his efforts to amend the science standards in the state model school code.

As someone who is supposedly interested in disseminating truth in the public media and education, Mr. Power is woefully off course in publicly condemning a legitimate scientific theory and encouraging others to join in. Intelligent design has always been a credible scientific theory. This theory is finally receiving the respect it deserves in the scientific community.

The theory of evolution, however, is currently being challenged by many scientists. Two powerful arguments against it are probability and irreducible complexity. The scope of this letter can allow only the briefest of explanations, but for those who seriously desire to pursue the truth about the origins of the universe, there are many good books including Darwin's Black Box by Michael Behe.

Probability argues against the theory of evolution. Since astronomers have determined that the universe is has a finite age, there simply has not been enough time for all the necessary mutations to have occurred. Scientists calculated the length of time required for the average random genetic mutation to take place. Then, they multiplied it by the number of mutations necessary to acquire some high level life form.

GUEST OPINION

Even with the most conservative numbers, the mathematical probability that humans could have evolved by random mutation is a statistical impossibility. The argument of irreducible complexity from microbiology argues convincingly that cells, organs and biological systems cannot have been created by the process of evolution. They cannot have been formed one mutation, or genetic change, at a time. If even one part of the whole is missing or different, the entire thing cannot function in any capacity and no evolutionary path could, therefore, have led to it.

There are many other serious problems with the theory of evolution, such as the apparent extreme proliferation of complex species in fossil form in the Cambrian era, and the question of how life can evolve from nonliving substances at all.

This is why evolution remains a theory, which by definition, is unproven. It should be presented along with other competing scientific theories of our origins, such as the plausible and elegant one of intelligent design.

Archer's accomplishment was to end city-suburb feud

A lot of newsprint got consumed last week in printing all the commentary - most of it "on the one hand, on the other" variety — that followed Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer's surprise decision not to run for a third term.

On the plus side, Archer contributed substantially to economic development in his city. Comerica Park, Ford Field, the casinos (love 'em or hate

Phil Power

'em), and the Campus Martius redevelopment featuring the Compuware headquarters would not have happened without Archer's quiet and persuasive work with the business community. On the minus side, there are still terrible problems in the neighborhoods and in getting the city bureaucracy to function properly. There are still thousands of vacant homes waiting to be torn down. The streetlights (not to mention the city-owned power plant) don't work all the time. Deep-seated problems remain with both the fire department and the police. Archer never seemed to get around to confronting the powerful and entrenched municipal unions, and he had to be dragged by Gov. John Engler and the Legislature into facing up to the mess in Detroit public schools.

But any fair-minded assessment of Dennis Archer's tenure as mayor must begin - and, in my view, end — with the reality that his election ended the petty and increasingly nasty estrangement between Detroit and the rest of the state that was the primary sad legacy of Coleman A. Young's too-long term in office.

It was a terrible time for anybody who believes that Michigan simply cannot stand to let its largest city float off into the Detroit River. On the surface, Young pitted the city against the suburbs; underneath lurked worsening race relations and naked racial politics. Repeatedly ignored and occasionally insulted, the business community basically picked up its briefcase (and checkbook) and went home. The news media, initially entranced with Young's tough-talking (read: "profane") style, soon began to ask tough questions about how things were really going in Detroit. Things were very bad. And nobody could see a way out until there was a new mayor.

When Archer decided to run for mayor in 1992, early on he called Nellie Varner, then my colleague on the U-M's board of regents, and me. He needed expert academic help, he said, in developing a program for the city. But he couldn't rely on the folks at Wayne State, who were probably in Coleman Young's pocket. So, he asked, could we pull some experts together to help him think through Detroit's problems.

For months, we met every couple of weeks in my office in Livonia, ironically at that time one of Mayor Young's main targets in the "all-white

Watching Archer in those meetings was a revelation. We all knew he was smart, well educated, a distinguished lawyer. But he showed us an open curiosity, a willingness to learn, a capacity to put together seemingly unrelated things into a coherent political package.

When Archer was elected in 1993, most people were enthused. Here was an honest, intelligent, well-meaning man with the political skills to survive a tough election and a stated intention to bring the city and the state back together.

By and large, that's what Dennis Archer has accomplished during his eight years in office. Sure he can be criticized for not being a detailoriented, kick-butt manager, and he can be blamed for being unwilling to hire somebody who was. His style - fair-minded, even juridical, always seeking to build consensus - sometimes seemed more well suited to a court or boardroom than to the rough-and-tumble politics of a blue collar city.

But these criticisms pale, at least in my mind, next to his great achievement — an achievement that is necessarily linked to precisely the dignified, well meaning and honest person he is: He brought Detroit back into the mainstream of Michigan.

Other succeeding mayors may be tougher managers or better street fighters. Maybe they'll be able to face down the unions, restore the neighborhoods, change the nonchalant bureaucratic culture. But at least they won't have to figure out how to reconnect Detroit with the civil society of Dennis Archer is a fine man, a man of integrity and good will. As Mayor of Detroit, he performed an enormously valuable service to his city and his state. And, possibly most of all, he displayed uncommonly good judgment in knowing when to step down without overstaying his welcome.

Are Americans disconnecting from neighbors?

Mike Malott

The neighborhood I grew up in the 1960s was, by today's standards, no great shakes - just rows of cracker box houses in northwest Flint. I wouldn't buy that house today, or one like it.

But we knew all the neighbors for half a block around. And it wasn't just because I was a kid. My parents made several lifelong friends before they packed their bags for suburban pastures.

My wife and I bought our first house in Pontiac in the '80s. After living there five years, I'd gotten to know only three neighbors. And in my last neighborhood, I moved out after nine years without having had so much as a single conversation with another resident more extensive than "Hey, how are ya."

Maybe I'm just not a very social guy. But if that's true, I've got a lot of company.

"That's not unusual," said Mariam Noland, president of the Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan. "A lot of people tell us they have a similar experience."

In fact, Harvard Professor Robert Putnam began noticing that Americans are increasingly disconnecting from their neighbors and communities resulting in a "decline in our social capital," as he puts it – back in 1995. He wrote an article on the declining attendance of bowling leagues across the country, despite the fact the sport overall appeared to be more popular than ever. Eventually, he authored a book about the phenomena called "Bowling Alone: The Collapse and Revival of American Community.

In it, Putnam concluded from his research that Americans spend about 35 percent less time with friends than they did 30 years ago. Families have dinner together roughly two-thirds as often as they used to. Club attendance over the past 30 years had dropped by almost 60 percent. Furthermore, Americans entertained in their homes only about half as often as they used to.

Why is it happening? It seems to have everything to do with how we live. Instead of residing in tightly packed rows of homes, we prefer spacious subdivisions so well designed to preserve our privacy they don't even feature sidewalks.

"Every 10 minutes of commuting time cuts all forms of social involvement by 10 percent," Noland said. In a region where almost everybody spends a half hour to an hour on the road to get to the office each day, that's a substantial cut in the time and energy people have to chum with friends.

Then there's television. "Television is the only social activity that actually produces a reduction in social capital," Noland contended.

Things aren't quite as bad as they sound. The Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan pitched in with 36 similar organizations earlier this year for a Social Capital Community Benchmark Survey of 11 categories of socializing.

Americans spend about 35 percent less time with friends than they did 30 years ago. Families have dinner together roughly twothirds as often as they used to.

The seven-county region turned out to have some real strengths. In fact, every community included in the survey turned out to have strengths. Very few fell below the national averages in all 11 cate-

Southeast Michigan has strong religious affiliations, ranking three points above the national average. The region did well in categories of giving and volunteering and involvement in politics. But it got its highest scores in membership in groups, 18 points over the national average, and informal socializing, 21 points over.

One area that surprised Noland was that area residents spend more time than the average socializing with their colleagues from work, a trend she believes will help to reduce workplace

The survey, Noland explained, will serve as the benchmark against which future studies are compared. There are plans to continue to the survey in future years to track any improvements or declines.

And the Community Foundation will also be looking for programs it can sponsor to "invest" in social capital. The foundation supports nonprofit organizations through grants, so it will seek programs that can increase socializing in the region.

Of course, we can all contribute, even without money. Pick up a phone, or have friends over for a chat. It turns out that it's your civic duty.

As a city celebrates 300, we can hope for a new tomorrow

Several years ago on a trip to DisneyWorld, we caught the act at the comedy club on Paradise Island. The MC asked people in the audience where they were from. One young woman said she was from Farmington Hills. "What's that near?" the MC asked. "Oh, it's, um, a > Arbor," she replied. Quite a stretch. But maybe the woman felt that being linked to the athletic prowess and academic pretensions of the city on the Huron was preferable to being linked to the decaying, crime-infested city on the Detroit River. Maybe she was part of that growing group in western Oakland and Wayne counties who think of downtown Ann Arbor as "Downtown," and rarely venture into Detroit except for a baseball game now and then.

suburb of Ann

Hugh Gallagher

Her response was not typical, of course. For most of us when we're out of Michigan and someone asks where we're from, we say, "We're from Detroit," meaning not the city but the wider area that includes at its hub the city and then the towns fanning out in three directions. The stigma is a bit less than it was when the woman decided to link up with the university town. A new baseball park and the Fox Theatre have given the city a little boost. The crime rate is down. The mayor

But, the fundamental divide remains. The racial and economic divisions and presumptions are still in place.

This is a good year to reassess both the city of Detroit and the wider region that is identified by its name. This year WE celebrate an anniversary.

In July Detroit celebrates its 300th anniversary. Antoine Laumet de Lamothe Cadillac created a settlement on the north shore at the narrows of the river connecting what are now Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie. That settlement was named Fort Ponchartrain du Detroit. From this small reginning an industrial giant would one day rise, The Arsenal of Democracy," "The City of Chamions," "Motown." And its story is our story, because this celebration marks not just the beginning of the city but of the metro area itself. We are an outgrowth of that founding, of that distant French outpost.

The ribbon farms of the French settlers were the first "suburban" settlements, away from the central fort. And the city has been growing out

Our suburbs grew in different ways to meet changing needs, but each began with settlers who first landed in Detroit. Plymouth and Farmington began as farm towns. Garden City was created to provide affordable housing for young workers. Livonia began as a farm community but grew into the archetype of the modern suburb, a bedroom community with an industrial core, as both workers and their jobs moved out of the central

While we celebrate and chronicle life in the suburbs, we also honor the mother city that gave birth to these suburbs and with which these suburbs are forever linked. Detroit has a vibrant past, famous for its auto industry, its storied sports teams, its soulful music. For decades its downtown stores were a magnet for city and suburban shoppers alike. Its theaters and nightclubs kept things going to the wee hours of the morning. For many out of towners, Detroit was a "hot" place to be.

Detroit's promise of jobs brought people from distant places. My family left the coal mines of Pennsylvania to find a brighter future in the auto industry. Black and white sharecroppers left fallow Southern fields for the same reason. Poles and Syrians brought their relatives from the old country to share in their prosperity. Detroit was a beacon of opportunity, a chance for a new and better life. We owe it more than a shrug. We need to join together in its renewal.

Detroit has taken severe blows since the devastating riot of 1967. The abandonment of the business community and the middle class (black and white) have furthered the deterioration. But, when the tall ships sail past the RenCen this summer, it will be the perfect opportunity to rededicate ourselves to rebuilding that once great city on the bend in the river.

Patterson proposes sewer upgrade bonds

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalott@homecomm.net

"I picked a number for this bond that is staggeringly large, but if you look at the numbers of what it will take to fix this problem, it may not be staggeringly large enough," said state Rep. Bruce Patterson, R-Canton.

He has introduced legislation. House Bill 4625, to issue general obligation bonds worth $1 billion for upgrading municipal sewer systems across the state in the hopes of eliminating overflows.

But estimates for what is need go much higher, he pointed out. In the southeast Michigan

'This is a legacy item. This is something that we could do for our grandchildren, something that would still be here long after I'm gone.'

> Rep. Bruce Patterson R-Canton

region, repairs necessary to sewer lines and plants have been estimated at a cost of $13 billion to $15 billion. Statewide, the numbers may get closer to $50

If approved by the Legislature, the $1 billion bond issue would go on the ballot in 2002 for approval by voters. If they too give a go-ahead, the state would issue bonds, essentially taking a loan, to make funds available to municipalities. The money could be handed out as grants, aid or loans to be paid back to the state at low interest rates.

For the bond, Patterson said the state can get interest rates as low as 4.5 percent. "That's not bad." he said. Over the 40 year life of the bond, the state would have to pay some $667 million in interest.

"This is a legacy item. This is something that we could do for our grandchildren, something that would still be here long after I'm gone," Patterson said.

He said he is proposing the bond in conjunction with a proposal already under consideration in the Senate to make $25 million available each year, for 5 years, from the state's rainy day fund for sewer upgrades. Proposed by Sen. Ken Sikkema, R-Grandville, the bill would make money available to match federal grants for sewer work.

After state regulators found extensive problems with sewer overflows in Macomb County last year, they surveyed communities to find out how many had experience sewer overflows in the past five years. An overflow occurs in a sanitary sewer system was wastewater overwhelms sewer lines or treatment plants and result in a release of untreated sewage into rivers or streams.

In the survey, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality learned more than 200 communities had experienced previously unknown sewer overflows during that time.

House proposes to simplify Michigan tax filing process

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalott@homecomm.net

Tax cutting may be seen as a rich man's game, but those at lower income levels are more likely to be the ones who overpay because of missed deductions and credits, according to Michigan House Tax Policy Chair Nancy Cassis, R-Novi.

"The complexity of filling out state and federal tax forms has a tendency to produce inequity." she explained. "Those with the means can get more understanding of their deductions by seeking outside help. Residents with less means might not take advantage of their due deductions and end up overpaying."

Cassis recently assigned a five-member subcommittee to the task of studying the state's tax filing process and coming up with recommendations this October for simplification.

The subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Steve Vear, R-Hillsdale, will hold hearings in Lansing throughout the summer to take input from citizens, professional tax-preparers and accountants, as well as the state's own Department of Treasury, all aimed at making it easier to fill out tax forms. Also on the committee are Reps. Randy Richardville, R-Monroe, Bob Brown, D-Dearborn Heights, Leon Drolet, D-Macomb, and Paul Wojno, D-Warren.

The subcommittee is also assigned to the job of eliminating duplication, combining forms and making increasing use of efiling, tele-filing and fax filing.

"As an accountant who helps prepare tax returns, I am well aware of the complexity of figuring out income taxes. It's just wrong," Vear said. "As the old saying goes, 'There's nothing certain but death and taxes.' We can't do anything about death but we can and must make sure our tax system is fair and easy to understand."

Michigan tax forms might already seem simple compared to those used by the federal government, but that is not true of all state taxes, Cassis said.

"The Single Business Tax almost always requires the businessperson to have to hire someone else to fill out those forms," she said.

And even state income tax forms are not as simple as they could or should be, she said. "We had a goal of putting everything on a post card that you could mail back, but we didn't quite make that," she said of an earlier effort at tax simplification.

Cassis said a recent paper studying federal tax filings supports her position that it is those at the lower income levels that most often miss their deductions and credits and wind up overpaying on their taxes.

Of course, that would suggest the tax simplification task force could end up cutting tax revdegree, but how much is not yet known. Still, Cassis said the potential for a revenue cut won't slow down her push for simplification, even if the economy does moderate or go into a recession.

"Absolutely not," she said. "It's enues to the state to some a matter of fairness. People should only pay as much as they owe. Besides, when an individual can keep some money in his wallet and not have to send it off to Lansing, they can use it and spend it in ways that boost the economy."

Haggerty Road was closed Tuesday between Hines Drive and Plymouth Road in Plymouth Township for road and bridge reconstruction. The start date on this one has kind of bounced around because of a problem with availability of material for the new bridge.

This Wayne County project should last until early or mid August, depending on weather, etc. The posted detour will be via Lilley to the west, accessible via Plymouth Road from the north or Ann Arbor Road to the

The construction crew will be raising the elevation of the road at the bottom of the hill to reduce the currently steep incline. This should make travel there much safer, especially in the winter.

The new road will be a twolane steel reinforced concrete pavement built to last 30-35 years. The bridge over the Rouge River will be a four-lane structure (to anticipate possible future widening of Haggerty Road) and should last at least 50

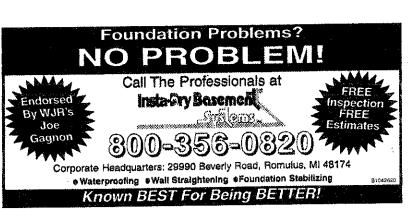

Finally, for anyone who may be participating with the March of Dimes walk this Saturday, arrangements are being made with the organizers of the event to allow them access to shuttle participants down the hill from a parking area to the walk site so no changes in those plans will be necessary.

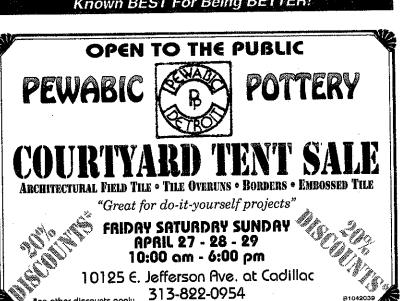

Sen. Smith will speak at UM-D May 6

State Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith will be the main speaker at the University of Michigan-Dearborn commencement ceremony on May 6. Approximately 800 students will receive bachelor's and master's degrees at the ceremony, which will be held in Crisler Arena on the Ann Arbor campus. The ceremony was moved to Ann Arbor for this year because the Fieldhouse on the Dearborn campus will be undergoing renovations.

Smith is serving her second term in the Michigan Senate, where she represents most of Washtenaw county, including the cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsialanti.

Set in Philadelphia in 1919, the play was written by Laurence Carr. It premiered at The Attic Theater in Detroit in 1986.

"It's a slice of life of vaudevillian people boarding at this time in Kit Turner's house," said director Barbara Bloom who grew up in Farmington Hills. "There's a British singer, an Irish tenor, a Jewish straight man in a comedy team, an African American song and dance man, each have their story. create a signature piece like 'Yiddish Cowboy.' Many of the roots were Yiddish theater from the turn of the century. You have to remember the past to understand what you're doing now. Vaudeville is the roots of musical theater. There are definite lines of continuation. Jack Benny, Bob Hope, George Burns and Gracie Allen were all vaudeville comedians.

"But it's a play as opposed to a musical, or a vaudeville show with the routines and patter. This is the back stage. This is a vaudeville house where they lived."

Like Bloom, Barbara Mathers loves the era. The Walled Lake resident plays Kit Turner, owner of the boarding house and mother of 16-year-old Kitty.

"I love it because it's a period piece," said Mathers who's worked with the Rosedale Community Players for 23 years. "It can teach us about where theater came from. The whole show from beginning to end is fun.'

There won't be a dry eye in the place, though, when Jim Christianson takes the stage as Mack Maxwell. This is only the third production for the Livonia resident who's been offstage for 35 years.

"Mack is in his 60s and of Eastern European background," said Christianson. "His dog has been his partner for 15 years and he dies in the second act. It's the first time I've ever had an emotional

'Phantom' characters take off masks to talk about show

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

When Rebecca Pitcher first heard the music from "The Phantom of the Opera" she fell in love with the Phantom not Raoul.

"Why is Christine in love with Raoul. I thought he was a weenie," said Pitcher, who portrays Christine in the touring production of "The Phantom of the Opera" now playing at the Masonic Temple Theatre in Detroit.

To her the Phantom seemed more masculine, more romantic. But after she saw the show. Pitcher saw his dark side and understood why Christine falls in love with Raoul.

She's happy with her leading man. "John Cudia who plays Raoul is very attractive, and has a beautiful voice," said Pitcher. "He brings a lot of energy to the role."

First impressions

Talking about first impressions is fun. Can you imagine making your living as Christine or the Phantom? "He's just a nice man to work with," said Pitcher recalling the moment the Phantom, portrayed by Ted Keegan, grabbed her from behind for a hug. "Here he was just wearing shorts and full the Phantom both on Broadway and with the touring company of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "The Phantom of the Opera."

The audience won't be in tears for long if David Thompson is anything like his character, Tim O'Reilly. The 30-something Irish tenor will have them in stitches.

"I like the role because it's not a stereotype," said Thompson of Fairhaven. "It's a brand new character. And it's a simpler but harder time but they didn't know it because they didn't have cell phones back then."

Keeping the nonsense rolling

Brian Johnson keeps the nonsense rolling as Jackson Washington, the African American song and dance man. Johnson's character is certain he'll make it, he'll be able to go legit if he only gets a break. Johnson knows how he feels. The Redford resi-catacombs of the Paris Opera House. He falls in love with Christine, an innocent soprano, and nurtures her talent as an "Angel of Music." Christine falls in love with Raoul, and the Phantom is outraged.

"The Phantom is a misunderstood character," said Keegan. "He has his own concept of right and wrong, and is never accepted by society."

So many things to love

Romance, pyrotechnics, dancing, humanity, magic, spectacle, beauty, gorgeous costumes, music, there are so many things to love about "The Phantom of the Opera."

"There is humanity in the show that touches people," said Keegan. "It's very clearly written and easy to understand."

Winner of seven Tony Awards, including Best Musical, "The Phantom of the Opera" has mesmerized U.S. audiences since it opened in New York on Jan. 26,

"I think it's the mystery of the story," said Pitcher. "It's full of love, growth, it's just magical, it's a spectacle, people see it, and want to be a part of it."

That's certainly the case for Keegan and Pitcher, who both saw the play while they were in college and decided then that the Phantom and Christine were roles they wanted to play.

"It was a dream," said Pitcher. "I remember saying, 'Man this is a show I would love to do and six years later I was doing it," recalled Keegan.

"The story itself is amazing; you'll fall in love with the characters," said Pitcher. "The Phantom is trying to capture and hold Christine. It's kind of like when your parents don't want to let go of you. Christine is really confused.

In addition to his work as the Phantom, Keegan recently recorded a CD "Ted Keegan Sings" featuring some of his favorite songs, including "Music of the Night." To find out more about it, www.tedkeegan.com

Trinity House arms itself for battle of the sexes

By KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER kwygonik@oe.homecomm.net

William Shakespeare's way of speaking isn't something you'd hear on a street corner, but his stories are just as relevant today as they were when he wrote

Men and women still fall in and out of love, play hard to get, and parents interfere creating madcap chaos.

Trinity House Theatre is giving "The Taming of the Shrew" Shakespeare's classic tale about a battle between the sexes, a 1960s makeover in a production opening this Friday.

"It's kind of over the top comedy," said Scot Martin of Redford who portrays Vincentio. "You could see Charlie Chaplin doing it - it's very physical - it's got charm, and it's funny."

Vincentio is the father who goes to visit his son Lucentio and finds that his son and servant have been up to some trouble. Kind of the equivalent of discovering your child had maxed out your Visa card.

"Shakespeare is for everyone," said Martin who teaches English and history to high schoolers at Pearson Education Center in Redford. "This is one of those plays that ages 12 and up can get something out of. It's about the way men and women act and relate to each other.'

Guy Snyder has been wanting to do Shakespeare at Trinity House Theatre ever since he made a couple of trips to England and saw the Royal Shakespeare Company in action.

Can we get actors, overcome a natural reluctance to the antiquated language? - these were some of the questions Snyder, a member of the theater's board of directors, pondered before suggesting they do "The Taming of the Shrew."

"It's a good first play," he said. "It's Shakespeare at his finest in terms of entertainment. Come for a very good laugh. It's a very good farce, a comedic look at the marital relationship. We're talking about the stirrings of feminism. What is the role of marriage – it's a partnership. Love within a marriage was a radical concept in Elizabethan times."

Snyder, a Livonia resident, assistant directs and portrays Gremio, an elderly suitor to one of the women in the play.

Setting

Laura Gumina of Farmington Hills is directing, and decided to set the play in the 1960s.

Here's a brief plot summary, compliments of the theater.

Katharina the Shrew matches wits with a "mad brained bridegroom" to create "such a marriage that never was before."

The feminist, Kate, has to make peace with a real "macho guy," Petruchio. "It's a battle royale that triumphs in a "Groovy Kind of Love" as modern today as it was in Shakespeare's

"It's so much fun," said Gumina about the play. "I did research on the Elizabethan era. There was an expectation for women to be demure, soft-spoken, unseen. Katharina is rejected by her dad because she was so self-confident. Her sister Bianca is every man's dream. She giggles a lot, plays up to men.

"If Kate had lived in the 1960s she would have been one of many young women asking for equality, to be taken seriously, and be allowed to make her own choices. There was a social revolution going on in England when Shakespeare wrote this play much like the 1960s.

Gumina likes the battle of words that goes on between characters in the play. "It's really funny, clever," she said. "I have good actors, I just got lucky. They're all young. There's a number under 25. They're full of mischief and energy."

Trinity is an intimate theater space where you'll feel part of the action, just the way Shakespeare intended.

Intimate space

"When you walk on stage you're almost on top of the audience," said Snyder. "There's a synergy between the cast and the audience. You feel energy from the audience.

Trinity should be rocking

with laughter."

'Bridget Jones' Diary' is better in book form

BY MATT WOLF ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

London (AP) - For a film whose heroine obsesses over her weight, it's a shame that Bridget Jones's Diary should be such a slim affair.

That's unlikely to matter to the hordes of readers who turned Helen Fielding's 1996 chronicle of the lovesick Londoner into an international best seller.

Told in diary fashion, the book charts a year in the life of the hapless publishing assistant who wants nothing more than to settle down with a man, cut back on cigarettes and booze, sort out her fractious relationship with her parents and lose some weight.

Go for it, girl!

Which is exactly what the Bridget of Fielding's delightfully larky book does, aided no end by her supportive trio of friends Shazza, Jude and Tom and some good luck in the romance sweepstakes.

The novel even boasts an ending that manages to revel in the same swoony romantic literature complete with a four-poster bed - that it gently sends up. Relationships are indeed possible, Fielding suggests, especially if you can manage not to judge a

More problematic is the fact at least to an American observer resident in London - that although her vowel sounds are accurately pitched, Zellweger never really seems British.

Partly, that's to do with a lot of "face acting" (scrunched-up cheeks, a downturned mouth and the like) that a different, more seasoned director might have toned down.

And Zellweger hasn't quite managed to forsake the overingratiation so much used by American performers and so scorned by their British col-

It's as if no one trusted the very real charm of the book, whose 32-year-old heroine is sure she'll die "fat and alone' only to end up with the dishy Mark Darcy (played by Colin Firth). Zellweger projects eagerness in a most un-Bridgetlike way, insofar as this is a woman who imagines railway announcements blaring to all and sundry the state of her thighs.

The aim, presumably, was to make Bridget Jones a lovable Brit-blockbuster on the order of Four Weddings and a Funeral and Notting Hill and with Hugh Grant once again on hand as the

'Josie' barely scratches out a plot on screen

BY DAVID GERMAIN AP MOVIE WRITER

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It's a bad sign when a reviewer gets in to see a movie for free, yet still wants his money back.

People who plunk down nine bucks or so for Josie and the Pussycats will really have something to yowl about. Though the movie has a few mildly funny moments and its cute as kittens, Josie is one of the emptiest films imaginable. There's barely a whisker's worth of plot, and what does transpire is so shallow it's like watching a bunch of defanged, declawed felines try to get at the catnip inside a toy mouse. They'll bat it around a bit, but

Adapted from the comic book and 1970s cartoon series, the movie stars Rachael Leigh Cook as determined singer-guitarist Josie, Rosario Dawson as brassy bass player Val and Tara Reid as ditzy drummer Melody. Their band is stuck playing bowling alleys in their hometown of Riverdale until they're spotted by cunning record exec Wyatt Frame (Alan Cumming), who needs a new group in a hurry. No matter that he's never heard them play - Wyatt signs the Pussycats because all he needs are fresh faces to foist off on the passive youth of America.

Under the guidance of label CEO Fiona (Parker Posey), the Pussycats get a hasty makeover, are hurled into the studio and land their first single atop the record charts. Screaming teenagers chase them and declare Josie and the Pussycats the best "Does anyone think it's strange that all this happened in a week?" Josie asks.

Turns out the Pussycats are pawns in a scheme to implant subliminal messages in music that turn listeners into consumer zombies. Snooze. Josie and the Pussycats is colorful and busy with pretty images. But co-writers and directors Deborah Kaplan and Harry Elfont seem content to toss in a bit of music-video style and only trace elements of wit.

The movie tries to spoof the marketing and packaging and force-feeding of music and merchandise. Only it does so on such little cat's feet that those hucksters who do all that marketing and packaging come through without a scratch.

Good thing for the movie, too, since under the guise of lighthearted satire, Josie and the Pussycats is itself the worst sort of product-placement whore. There's barely a scene that isn't shilling for a soft drink or a brand of toothpaste or a music. channel Web site.

And of course the movie itself is a long-form video promoting its soundtrack (now in stores and selling like hotcake, singular). Like the film, the songs are pleasantly benign and thoroughly forgettable.

This was a questionable movie? project from the outset. Other cartoons and comic-book adaptations such as The Flintstones and X-men had sizable follows: ings. While many people remema; ber the Josie cartoons and comics fondly, it's doubtful any one was hyperventilating in anticipation of a live-action ver-say Kyle Fischer got more than an education while going to college. He got a rock band too.

Kyle Fischer (guitar/ vocals), with along Caithlin De Marrais (bass, vocals)

William Kuehn (drums) are Rainer Maria, a rock trio that took its name from 19th Century Austrian Poet, Rainer Maria Rilke. "The three of us met at the University of Wisconsin," said Fischer, during a recent phone conversation. "Bill, our drummer and I actually met going to punk rock shows in Madison, Wisconsin.'

Kuehn convinced him to join a punk rock band and Fischer began playing guitar. But the two soon wandered into creating a new sound - music that didn't

Some might quite fit the punk rock mold. "I'd from the start. The trio began by started writing stuff, that we weren't using," recalled Fischer. "I decided, this is more interesting to me."

Enter the missing link, the lovely Caithlin De Marrais. "I met Caithlin at a University of Wisconsin Poetry Workshop," said Fischer. "We were sort of becoming friends." He organized extra sessions for his classmates to meet and discuss poetry - but had an ulterior motive in mind. "I really hoped Caithlin would show up, which of course she did. was like 'Score!' She moved into my place July or August of that year."

That year was 1995 and by September, Rainer Maria had come into form. "She hadn't even sung before," he remembered. "She picked it up for the band."

Poetic past

The lyrical and rhythmic influence of its poetic past has flowed through Rainer Maria's sound transforming poetry into song. "We had this like great sort of well. Every week a poem was due in class. You get in the habit of writing that stuff."

Far from the poetry classroom these days, the New York City transplants released their seventh effort, appropriately titled A Better Version of Me, on Polyvinyl Records in February. Rainer Maria proved once again to be the kids at the head of the indie rock class, weaving visions of love, heartache and beauty through some familiar quest to search out meaning in life. De Marrais' fragile voice resonates above the shush of Kuehn's drums and clatter of Fischer's guitar, sharing a depth not easily or often achieved. Songs like Čeremony, Artificial Light and The Contents of Lincoln's Pockets leave you feeling rattled and above all, like a good poem, make you think.

"It's a very different experience, listening to a song or reading a poem," admits Fischer. "For a really effective song, I think it helps if the song communicates most of what it has to offer (the first time), even in a live setting. You get everything in the first listen. On one hand the song asks for a certain level of more simplicity. The music helps you along. In some ways you don't have to be as dense with the subject matter."

For this album, the band again worked with producer/engineer Mark Haines and Elliot Dicks at Smart Studios in Wisconsin. Like a return home to where they first created this distinct mix of emotion and instrumentation, Fischer said he wasn't looking for a new sound or another producer. "People started really paying attention after Look Now Look Again." After the last record made Spin's Top 20 Albums of 1999, Rainer Maria didn't want "to risk it" with

As with any project, there were a few surprises. For Fischer it was the sheer evolution of the album's opening track. "I never ever thought that Artificial Light would be the first song on the album. It's the second song we wrote for the album. When we were playing it in New York it was like it was going over people's heads...We weren't ever going to record it."

But Mark Haines did get the tune. He knew just how to mix it and where to put it. "Low and behold, Artificial Light is my favorite song," said Fischer. "I would put it up against any other song."

The band approaches its work openly. "We're always all-forone, one-for-all. Everyone has parts they have they do. We're three parts of a triangle." The system works well. Fischer is perfectly content with the finished product. "It's so exactly the way we sound as a band. It is a better version of us."

So what does Kyle Fischer do when he's not writing? Write of course. He is working on songs for a solo project. Call it a nonstop cycle for the utterly dedicated. "It's mostly acoustic guitar. It's what I do on my days off" round noon about six years ago, while on duty as a Franklin village volunteer firefighter, Lori Grundy wished there was some place close she could go for lunch.

She made her wish come true. When the business owner of The Village Barn gift shop in Franklin wanted to retire, Grundy, a 10-year Franklin resident, bought it.

"Exactly one year, 18 days and 16 hours after taking occupancy of the building, I opened for business as the Franklin Grill in late February," she said.

Grundy had never been in the restaurant business.

"I had a vision," she explained. "I knew what I wanted and I launched it with gut instincts."

At the outset, there were many challenging hurdles. The village of Franklin had not had a restaurant in a quarter century. To preserve uniqueness, historic downtowns have building restrictions and sign ordinances.

"It was all new to me," Grundy continued. "I learned as I went along, but that was the business side. What I learned personally was that if you don't have guts, you'll never make it. You can't let anything stop you from fulfilling a vision."

Its roots created it as such. While the restaurant vision was just that, Grundy had the good fortune of hiring Chef Keith Dysarczyk of It's Ready catering in Troy for a party in her home. She shared her vision with Chef Keith, who literally waited two years for its fulfillment. "I knew in an instant that Lori was a different kind of person,' Chef Keith maintained. "When you know it's right - it's right." Amid the frustration of finding a contractor, Mike Hyde, owner of MJT Contracting in Plymouth, re-entered Grundy's life. Twenty years earlier they were high school classmates. With his experience in contracting work for other small eateries, Hyde guided Grundy through all the permits and licensing paperwork in addition to remodeling the gift shop into a classic old-fashioned diner gone modern.

Menu offerings at breakfast and lunch are the joint inspiration of Grundy and Chef Keith who learned to cook from his grandmother and mother.

After apprenticing in a number of area restaurants and at a country club, Chef Keith began his private catering business.

Now his catering and Franklin Grill are a single enterprise. Because the restaurant is closed in the evening and on Sunday, it is available for private parties. Catered events outside the restaurant can also be arranged.

Every menu item is also available for carry-out.

No. 1 at breakfast is Chef's Ultimate Omelette. Portobello mushrooms, onions, spinach, roasted red peppers and Canadian bacon are stuffed into a threeegg omelet filled with goat cheese and served with hash browns and toast. At $6.95, this is a tummy filler for the day.

Be creative

If you want to be creative you can also build your own omelet with six or more fillings from a list of suggested meats, vegetables and cheeses. All omelets can also be made with your choice of egg whites or egg beaters.

Make an entire lunch from the appetizer section. Most favored to date is the Grilled Portobello Mushroom, marinated and served over spinach leaves and topped with roasted red peppers and goat cheese.

Soup of the day may include Canadian cheese or Creamy Portobello Mushroom. A Crock of

In addition to a variety of delistyle sandwiches, two lunch entrees have risen to most-popular status. Couple tackles specialized renovation for their children

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

ine years ago Kathy and Kevin Renas moved to Farmington Hills because they wanted better schools for their children and they liked the sense of community. But the 1,600 square-foot ranch home didn't suit their family's needs. "The old homes don't really accommodate for wheelchairs," Kevin said. Their two children, Lydia, 12, and Nathan, 14, sit in wheelchairs. Lydia, a student at Warner Middle School, has cerebral palsy, Nathan, 14, who is considered severely multiply impaired, attends Cloverdale Development Center in Farmington Hills.

Kevin and Kathy expanded their home to make it easier to care for Lydia and Nathan. "You just don't want obstacles in the way," said Kevin.

They did their research, and found that with a little persistence, and elbow grease, you can tackle a specialized renovation, and stay within a budget.

Getting started

First they received three estimates from contractors, ranging from $85,000 to $96,000. 'We just didn't have that much to spend on it," Kevin said.

So in December 1998, Kevin and Kathy rolled up their sleeves. They drew up plans, then visited Farmington Hills architect Carl Gaiser. "He was very helpful," Kevin said, "He laid out the bathroom a little differently with a second

Kevin contracted the work to subcontractors and completed some of the work himself with assistance from co-workers and Kathy's father, Huston Prall, a retired Ford engineer. After notifying neighbors of his intentions, and > obtaining variances from the city to expand the home toward the street, Kevin went to work.

Renas removed a brick wall from the south side of the house, and two trees, poured a concrete foundation in front of the house, opened up the hallways, enlarged the bathrooms and added two new bedrooms.

Meanwhile, the family of four "relocated" within the house. Lydia's room was to become an accessible bathroom, so Lydia slept in the living room. Nathan remained in his old bedroom (today that's a computer/office room) and Kevin and Karen slept in the family room. The renovations presented some inconveniences. Nathan was sometimes bothered by project noise, Kathy said.

They expanded an adjacent hallway by moving the south wall. They widened several doorways from the standard 36 inches to 42 inches. Renas also installed four solid core doors, including three interior ones.

Easy and accessible

The bathroom can be characterized as a textbook example of how a bathroom can be created for wheelchair-bound individuals while keeping the additional open space aesthetically pleasing.

The sink has no cabinet under it and is lower in height than usual so Lydia can sit close to wash or use a mirror. Drawers line the left side of the sink for convenience. (Lydia is left-handed).

Ceiling tracks in the bathroom allow the parents to lift their children out of their wheelchairs. Prefabricated shower doors fold open on two different

"We can open the top and leave the bottom closed so we don't get wet (during showers for the children)," said Kevin.

Of course, plumbing was required on the converted bedroom, a job that also was contracted out. Kevin installed "blocking" or 2-by-8 or 2by-10 pieces cut to fit in between the studs.

"Walls always have 16 inches between studs, but when you want to put in grab bars, they don't come in a 16-inch length (for installation purposes)," Kevin said. That blocking was installed around the bathroom to allow them to place the grab bars in any location they want-

Kevin tiled the bathroom himself using information from The Tile Shop in Farmington Hills. Lydia and Nathan's new bedrooms on the south side of the street are designed for easy wheelchair access. Kevin and Kathy's bedroom sits just beyond the expanded bathroom. Nathan's new room is about 18 1/2 feet by 14 feet. That additional room helps the Renases and a nurse they hired to care for Nathan.

Added support

Light switches were lowered, and wall outlets raised during installation for Lydia's convenience.

Lydia's wheelchair weighs between 325 to 350 pounds. "I was concerned about the support of the floor," Kevin said. But he worked with the rough carpenter in doubling every other floor joist for added support.

The Renases purchased commercial grade nylon carpeting with no pad for Lydia's room, similar to what they had installed in the family room. "With a pad, my daughter's wheelchair would have torn it up bad," Kevin said.

They hired subcontractors to complete rough carpentry, electrical, plumbing, heating and roofing, concrete and drywall jobs. Kevin did some finish carpentry himself, such as moldings and baseboards, along with the bathroom tile work and landscaping and pavers outside.

The finishing touches included tumbled stone brick pavers laid by Kevin for a natural flowing wheelchair access - eliminating the need for a wooden ramp - to enter the front door.

The Renases experienced little frustration, Kevin said, which was "amazing." He kept a list of projects, subcontractors and costs, checking them off as they were completed. "I was hoping to have a builder, so I wouldn't have the headaches," said Kevin, "But I didn't have a significant number of problems. I was astounded."

Kevin appreciates the help he received from Kathy's father and Tom Martin, a friend of Kevin's, who helped install the solid core doors.

When the Renases finished, the total cost was $62,000. Not a small chunk of change, but when compared to the bids, a significant savings.

"I knew some of the basics on how a house went together," Kevin said. "It was a lot of work and a lot of time but we saved a lot of money."

Many of the contractors were gracious and helpful, knowing that they were helping children with disabilities, Kevin said.

"We had to get a variance to be closer to the lot line, and the city was very good about that," said Kevin. Neighbors were notified, and Kevin put stakes in the yard to show them what they were doing. "The neighbors were terrific," Kevin

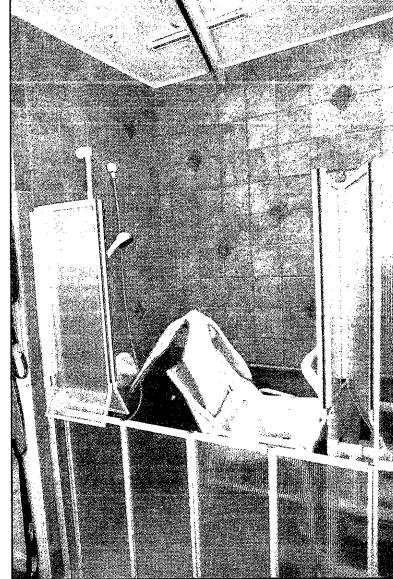

Life is a little easier for them with the wide

"It makes a big difference with the right layout," Kevin said. "(Lydia) likes the big room and her own space.

"For us, it makes the care incredibly easy."

Down the hall: Kathy Renas stands in the widened doorway of daughter Lydia's room adjacent to a hallway built wider than the standard 36 inches.

Accessible: The bathroom's enlarged shower area folding shower doors so Kathy and Kevin Renas can remain outside and dry when assisting their children during showers.

That means less mess and less time between what your bathroom looks like now and a completely new appearance. For a limited time only, bathtub liners are on sale from $389 installed. Complete systems, which include bathtub liner and wall surround, are on sale from $1295. That's about ½ the cost replacing an old tub and ceramic tiles.

Budget Bathtub Liner is able to offer the low prices, according to Dean Hartley, because of the large volume of business it does.

"We're the largest distributor of Acrylic Bathtub Liners and Wall Surround Systems in

Jerry Baker opens store Saturday

Jerry Baker, America's Master Gardener, will appear Saturday, April 28, at the grand opening of his Factory Outlet Store, 53400 Grand River, in New Hudson, just south of I-96 between Wixom Road and Milford Road.

Baker will be broadcasting his radio show "On the Garden Line" from 8-10 a.m., then feature seminars at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on his "home remedies."

Book signings and garden give-aways will be featured until 3 p.m.

all gardeners, novice or more experienced.

Lavender: The Grower's Guide, Virginia McNaughton (Timber Press, $29.95), includes more than 200 lavender species and cultivars.

McNaughton explains how to recognize the many plants in the genus as she describes each cultivar. Growing instructions and garden placement as well as the botanical history are featured. Photos and line drawings help with identification.

Tea-riffic

Two small books from Storey will delight tea lovers.

Herbal Tea Gardens: 22 Plans for Your Enjoyment and Wellbeing, Marietta Marshall Marcin ($16.95), shares the beverage's history and directions for making a perfect cuppa.

Line drawings accompany each of 93 herbs described; included are recipes for specific ailments. Among the garden titles are "Arthritis Care" and "Aphrodisiac." A quick reference chart and list of resources are nice additions.

Tea With Friends, Elizabeth Knight ($14.95), is filled with delightful ideas for every month. Some are related to events with which we are familiar, such as St. Patrick's Day; others such as Hogmanay High Tea will need a little explaining.

Each tea has been carefully planned with clever invitations, centerpieces, music and special activity. The history of tea and descriptions of the various types, brewing time and serving suggestions are helpful.

Malcolm Hillier has done it again with Flowers: The Book of Floral Design (DK, $40), which features more than 150 display ideas for all seasons that will keep many flower arrangers inspired for years.

A key to average days the arrangement will last, best time of season to make it and degree of difficulty is a thoughtful addition. The plant directory includes a photo, season to use. care and vase life.

Scientific

Two books from Timber Press are scientifically based and will astound readers with the unusualness of the plants.

The first, Aroids: Plants of the Arum Family, Deni Brown ($34.95), is the updated version of her earlier book. She has brought the classification of the plants up to date, due to the discovery of many new species.

Did you know that skunk cabbage, some orchids, calla lily and philodendron, voodoo lily and taro are all related? You'll learn about them as well as about the many other plants in the family, and how well they reproduce (some by luring pollinators by their structure and scent). Most interesting.

The second, Mosses and Other Bryophytes, Bill and Nancy Malcolm (published by Micro-Optics Press and distributed by Timber, $39.95), has fascinating magnified photos. They reveal amazing details and surprising beauty of the nearly 400 mosses, liverworts and hornworts.

Energy efficiencies may work against consumers

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

JOE GAGNON

Department of Energy minimum energy-efficiency standard for clothes washers was finalized, setting new targets for washers manufactured after January 2004,

months ago,

a new U.S.

increased efficiency again for units made after Jan. 1, 2007. A coalition of environmental organizations, state and regional energy officials, washer manufacturers and many consumer groups, supported the rule.

Washers manufactured to meet the 2004 standard will be 22 percent more efficient than today's baseline clothes washer. Units that meet the 2007 requirements will be 35 percent more efficient.

What it means

What does this mean to you and me?

First of all, this means that everything I wrote and talked about 6 months ago has come true. Yes, the government has finally taken their hands out of the toilet and put them into the washing machine. They have spent their efforts these past several years making sure that toilets use less water. You can ask millions of Americans what they think of their new toilet today. Never before in the history of mankind has the potty been the focus of so many dinner conversations. That won't stop until the new mandate on water consumption is reversed.

■ Never before have we had such an escalation in the price of a simple toilet.

Never before have we had such an escalation in the price of a simple toilet. They just keep going up and up. I wonder what is next on the agenda that might boost the price of a normal product. We could end up seeing a new law that requires every home owner to build a new outhouse.

Now the government is checking out the washers and their energy efficiency. Under these new requirements it is hoped consumers will save energy and water but one day washers will probably cost you so much more than what you pay for one today. The young couple getting started in life today can spend as little as $269 for a washer. That washer will be removed from the market altogether. Tomorrow's unit might be priced at a "low" price of $600, but use less energy. I just can't figure all this out unless the manufacturers are jumping with joy over these upcoming increased prices.

You could say that appliance manufacturers are going to make a real killing on all of this energy efficiency. Weren't they a part of the coalition group that pushed the U.S. Energy Department to mandate this new stan-

Price gouging?

I just recently read an article in Business Week magazine that Maytag priced their Neptune front load washer at $800 when it was first introduced and then within a few days changed to $1,000 the purchase price. The reason stated by the then chief operating officer was that consumers would pay extra to save energy. That may very well be true, but what about the subject of gouging? I believe that was the case and will be again when these new washers are created with all their little tricks.

I am going to live to be an old man before you can make me believe that a washer using less water does a better job than the one I have in my basement. They have washing machines out there today without agitators and they tell me they out-clean what I have.

First of all, let me give you some old-fashioned facts. Except for those people who work in certain fields, the majority of my clothes and yours are not dirty to begin with. What, sweat that is in our clothes is not considered dirt, it's moisture. I can wash that out by swishing a shirt near the shore of a lake. But if a manufacturer can make you believe that their product out-washes another, you will buy

Look at Frigidaire's up-anddown agitator of 30 years ago. They boasted of its cleaning action that was so much better than anyone else's and yes, they sold millions. If it was so good, why didn't anyone else copy it when it went out of production?

portray the subject. Should you move in tight or keep your distance? Is one camera angle better than another? Is early morning or late afternoon light better to enhance your image? Perhaps a greater focal length lens will add greater impact.

Are you beginning to see what is happening? You are starting to go through a conscious, planned-out thought process to produce a photograph that says it all about the subject. You see, you're starting to make photographs, not take snapshots.

Let's go further. Use all the depth-of-field available to you.

Ask yourself how best you can as a perfect "frame." How about the stream or fence that "leads" you into the scene? These techniques will shift you into the "making photographs" mode.

You'll often want to place the subject off-center to add a dynamic dimension to your photograph. Consider the use of filters to enhance a blue sky, add some color to a dramatic sunset or add a "starburst" of excite-

Survivors, supporters focus on cure

Celebrating a decade-long commit-ment to breast cancer research, The Race for The Cure didn't slow down this year, despite the gloomy gray skies and intermittent rain that loomed above.

The unpredictable Michigan weather wouldn't dampen the mood of the more than 28,000 participants that flooded the area surrounding Comerica Park in downtown Detroit on April 21. As one of that massive group, I've never been surrounded by such emotion and positive energy. This was my second year in the race and I left feeling even more touched by the out-

Growing strong

The 5K race/walk usually held at the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak found a new home this year, offering an opportunity for runners to make their way up Woodward Avenue and back, around the new baseball stadium. "I think it went really well," said Martha Button, spokesperson for the event. "We outgrew the Zoo. Last year at the Zoo, it was really congested. They just didn't have enough room."

Much has changed in the past 10 years since the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute has served as local sponsor for the event. For one thing, the number of participants has grown exponentially. "The first year they expected a few hundred and 3,500 showed up," said Button. "To go from 3,500 to 28,000 is pretty good."

Seventy-five percent of the proceeds are donated locally for cancer screening, educational programs and to assist women with low incomes in obtaining additional tests after an abnormal mammogram. The remaining 25 percent of the funds are donated to The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation to fund national research, education, screenings and treatment.

According to Karmanos Cancer Institute information, last year more than 6,300 women in Michigan were diagnosed with breast cancer.

Hometown help

Plymouth resident Shari Franko and her team, Salon Connection, are likely to be the largest contributors to this year's total, expected to reach about $1 million.

In 1997, she gathered organized a group to attend the Race for the Cure. Her team, Salon Connection, turned out to be the fourth largest at the race that year. By 2001, they have changed the focus to raising money for the Friends of the Cure.

Calling it "50 for the Cure," Salon Connection focused on finding 50 people to each raise $500 for the Race. The team exceeded its own expectations by bringing in $30,000 so far, and the deadline is May 15.

Reaching out

Franko is also a breast cancer survivor. This year marked something special for the team. "This was our fifth year and it's a special year because it was my fifth year of being cancer free," she said.

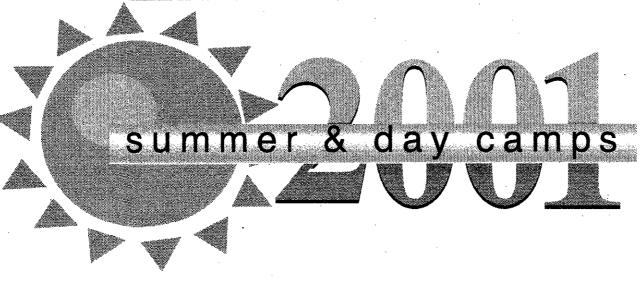

Franko was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1996 after she discovered a lump during a self-examination. "I was 35 at the time and had no family history. I led a very healthy life. It came as a very big surprise."

Franko found comfort in education. By learning about breast cancer, she was better able to discuss care with her physicians. "I was very positive right from the beginning," she said. She's maintained that healthy attitude and has had the opportunity to spread her message about early detection on a very personal level. As the owner of Variations Salon in Dearborn, Franko reaches out to women each day with her message. Like the thousands donning pink hats who raced, jogged and walked the COPA course, Franko is an inspiration to others. "It was exciting and emotional, in a good way," she said. "I was happy to be there. It was a great new location." For more information on the Race, see www.karmanos.org. Stephanie Angelyn Casola is a features writer for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Hardly a pro runner, she finished with the first 5,000 at this year's race. E-mail scasola@oe.homecomm.net.

here are several creative, challenging and unique opportunities for children, preschool to 18, to participate in this summer. Programs range from an Australian Outback art camp in Canton to an invention camp in Livonia. It won't be hard for you and your children to find one or more things for them to do this summer.

Camp Invention

■ Camp Invention, a national summer day camp that encourages children to develop their innate creative abilities will be offered at Grandview Elementary in Livonia July 16-20 and Hillside Middle School in Northville from July 30-Aug. 3. The $175 camp fee includes snack and a t-shirt. A 10 percent discount is offered for siblings. Call (800) 968-4332 to register or visit www.invent.org

The camp is designed to promote creative learning by providing children with hands-on, interactive activities that encourage creative solutions. Children participate in five inventive modules each day, which may include: Disassembling old machinery and using the parts to make their own inventions, crash landing on an imaginary planet and figuring out how to get back to earth, and discovering all about stretchy, strong and sticky polymers while they're making their own plastic.

The Salvation Army

■ The Salvation Army Summer Day Camp gives kids an opportunity to see old friends and make new ones. The first session begins June 18-July 13 and the second July 23-Aug. 17. Ages are 6-12 years old and camps run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday. Fee is $125 per session at the Plymouth Township Park. $150 per session for Base Camp (building). Registration starts 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 11. Scholarships are available. The Salvation Army of Plymouth is located at 9451 S. Main Street. Call (734) 453-5464.

Living Science Foundation

■ Living Science Foundation has eleven weeks of day camps from June 1-Aug. 24. Summer day camps introduce campers to live animals from all over the world. For information on the Web visit www.livingscience.org

The Goodness of God

Do you ever realize that when you awake each morning, God has given you another wonderful day to rejoice and celebrate the gift of life? Rather than thinking about all the things we want to get done, spending a moment "counting our blessings" before we face the day might help us be more mindful of how good God has been to us! We all have an occasional tendency to be overly concerned about inconsequential things instead of focusing on what is really important in our lives and each new day gives us the opportunity to change that.

For the Lord is good; His steadfast love endures forever, and His faithfulness to all generations. R.S.V. Psalm 100:5

GREAT OFFER!

Attention Movers, Shakers, and Rumblers-You're gonna love this!

Run a transportation ad in your hometown classified section - sell your van, boat, go-cart, RV, motorcycle, ATV, jet ski - whatever moves - and we'll run your classified ad until it does move....right on out of your garage!

Is this a great deal or what? We'll keep running your classified transportation ad until it sells.

Limited time offer, two time minimum, private parties only, other restrictions may apply

So if you have a mover, shaker, floater, or rumbler, park it with us until it's sold.

St. Edith football

The St. Edith football program will conduct a sign-up session from 2-4 p.m. Sunday in the St. Edith gymnasium for all new and returning players. St. Edith is located on Newburgh south of Five Mile.

The St. Edith program offers freshman (3rd-4th grade), junior varsity (5th-6th grade) and varsity (7th-8th grade) football. Those who attend St. Edith school and/or parish, as well as those in the parishes of St. Colette, St. Aidan, St. Kenneth and St. Maurice are eligible to participate.

For further information, call coach Brad Dickey at (734) 459-9788, or email him at Edithfootball@aol.com.

Bird School golf outing

The first annual Nellie E. Bird Golf Outing is set for a shotgun start at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, June 2 at Salem Hills Golf Club, 8810 W. Six Mile, Salem Township. Registration begins at 12:30 p.m. Cost is $100 per golfer.

The golf outing will help raise money for the 50th anniversary celebration at Bird School in Plymouth Township.

The outing is a scramble format. Following golf, participants are invited to an outdoor barbecue picnic. Putting contests, straightest drive and a raffle will also be featured along with prizes for closest to the pin and longest drive. A silent auction offering sports memorabilia, vacations and dinner packages is planned.

Nongolfers are welcome for dinner (7 p.m.) at $25 per person.

To reserve a foursome or to become a sponsor, call Marlene Butzow at (734) 455-6638 or Ellen Gregory at (734)-454-4186 for tickets.

Fishing derby

Canton's Recreation Division is sponsoring its annual Kids Fishing Derby on Sat., May 5, at the Heritage Trout Ponds.

There is a fee of $1 per child payable on the day of the event before fishing. Only Canton residents are eligible and advanced registration is not required.

Only children ages 12-under can fish from 8:30-11:30 a.m. Kids 15 and under can fish from noon-3 p.m. From 3:30-dark is open fishing for all Canton residents.

The Heritage Park ponds will be stocked with rainbow trout. Individuals are responsible for their own fishing equipment and bait.

For more information, call 397-5110.

Correction

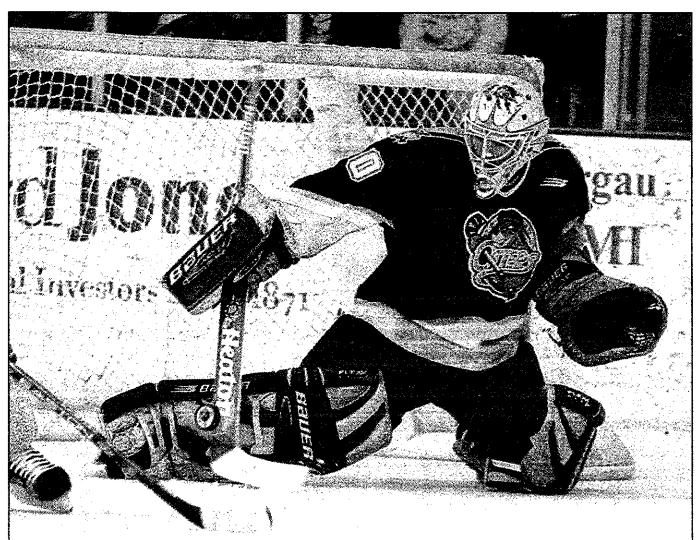

In Sunday's Observer, it was reported that Plymouth Salem singles tennis player Jon Machnacki was out of action early this season, recovering from pneumonia.

In fact, Machnacki played at Salem's first Tournament, the Monroe Invitational March 31, and earned a gold medal. Machnacki and Andy Fenton are the Rocks' co-captains.

Erie stops Whalers to even Series at a game apiece

SPORTS

Hard to beat: Erie goalie J.F. Perras (above) gave up an early goal to Chad Wiseman, but after that he continually frustrated the Whalers, often stopping scoring chances with the puck in the crease. Perras' efforts were certainly the difference in the game, although there were plenty of hard hits applied by both sides, as indicated by the Whalers George Nistas (10, at right) and the Otters' Scott Dobben.

SPORTS EDITOR cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

Less than a minute remained and there was James Wisniewski, lying in his own crease, at that particular moment in time feeling very, very alone.

Wisniewski, a junior at Plymouth Canton HS and a first-year defenseman with the Plymouth Whalers, had misplayed the puck while trying to clear it away from the Whalers' unguarded net. With Plymouthgoalie Rob Zepp already pulled for an extra attacker, Wisniewski retrieved the puck in the crease but mishit it. The Eric Otters' Brandon Cullen pounced and knocked it into the empty net.

In truth, the goal meant next to nothing. Instead of losing by two, the Whalers lost by three, falling 4-1 on Tuesday to the team that recorded the best regular-season record in the Ontario Hockey League.

What the loss did mean was this: The Whalers would not waltz through the playoffs undefeated - not that they ever expected to, but going into Tuesday's game they had won nine straight - and very little of what could commonly be expected would occur in this series.

Example No. 1: Home-ice advantage.

"I'm not sure there is a home-ice advantage," Otters' coach Dave MacQueen said, then added, "Once you get to this point, it doesn't mean a whole lot.'

But when these teams meet, it never means much. Although the Otters were the OHL's best team this season, Plymouth had a 3-2-1 record against them. In fact, the Whalers were unbeaten against Erie in Erie (2-0-1).

By the same token, the Otters were 2-1 against the Whalers at Compuware Arena.

That was during the regular season, but the first two games of the Western Conference finals haven't altered anything. Plymouth blanked Erie 3-0 in Saturday's opening game, in Erie. And the Otters won by three goals over the Whalers Tuesday at Compuware.

Example No. 2: The power play. A team like Erie, with a 40-goal scorer (Joe Guenther), two with more than 30 (Brad Boyes, 36, and Cory Pecker, 33) and two more with more than 20 (Jason Baird, 26, and Nikita Alexeev, 24) figures to have a potent power play.

player — and that was by Plymouth's Tomas Kurka. Erie is 0-for-11 thus far in this series (at 1-for-9, Plymouth isn't much better). "I thought we got some pretty good chances

But only one goal has been scored in two eventually going to come." What's going to come in this series is anybody's guess. It's a best-of-five-games showdown now, with Game Three tonight in Erie. The Whalers host Game Four at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, with a return trip to Erie for Game Five at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Plymouth did what they wanted to once again Tuesday, striking early with a power-

Canton shocked by Northville, 3-1

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS EDITOR cirisak@oe.homecomm.net

This wasn't the way it was supposed to be.

Hey, Plymouth Canton had nearly everyone back from a soccer team that reached the state championship game last year. It only figured the Chiefs would be hungrier than ever this season, after coming so close — isn't that right?

To say things aren't going exactly as hoped would be an understatement. On Monday, Canton lost its second-straight game, 3-1 at Northville.

That makes the Chiefs 2-2-1 on the season (they lost to Livonia Stevenson and tied Birmingham Seaholm), but more importantly they are 0-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western

"I don't know (what the problem is)," said Canton coach Don Smith. "We're going to have to change some things around.

"We started out well against (Northville). We had them ducking and on their heels defensively. But then they scored and got the momentum."

Kara Marsh gave Canton a 1-0 lead early in the match, with an assist from Anne Morrell. But the Mustangs retaliated with two first-half goals, then clinched it with a third marker with about eight minutes left.

Lindsey Dunmead paced Northville with a goal and an assist. Larisa Fill and Lindsay Miglio also scored goals, with assists goign to Emily Cabott and Maggie Ossola.

All four goals scored in the match came off mishandled balls by the keepers, which resulted in rebound opportunities for the opposition. Briana

Neino's 1-hitter keeps Chiefs perfect in WLAA; Rocks stall

Greg Neino improved his personal record to 3-1 and was instrumental in improving the record of Plymouth Canton's baseball team to 7-3 with his one-hit pitching performance in the Chiefs' 12-2 victory Monday at Canton.

The mercy-rule game, stopped after 4 1/2 innings, made the Chiefs 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Churchill is 4-5 overall, 0-2 in the WLAA.

Canton scored twice in the first inning, then added six runs in the second. Everyone in the lineup got a hit as the Chiefs collected 10 of them.

Nick Musselman was the only one with two hits; he also had a run batted in. Jay Sofen had one hit, scored two runs and drove in three, while Brent Kwiatkowski had a hit and three runs scored. Russ Caid also had a hit and three RBI, Oliver Wolcott had a double and two RBI, Jon Loos had one hit and scored twice, and Mark Hanson, Mike Tomasaitis and Brian Rossow each had a hit and an RBI.

Although Neino allowed just one hit, he walked five and hit two batters. Only one of the runs he gave up was earned; he struck out seven.

Canton committed just one error; Churchill made three.

Churchill's Misiak no-hits the Chiefs

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER

bemons@oe.homecomm.net

Plymouth Canton softball coach Jim Arnold couldn't remember the last time his team was no-hit.

"It's been a long time," said Canton assistant Larry Bober.

But on Monday, Livonia Churchill's Meghan Misiak refreshed their memory.

The junior hurler, throwing under windy conditions, came up with an 11-strikeout gem, allowing just one ball to reach the outfield as the Chargers downed Canton, 4-1, in an early season Western Division showdown in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Churchill is now 6-0 overall and 2-0 in the division, while Canton, the defending division champion, dropped to 2-2-1 and Misiak allowed just three Canton batters to reach base, two coming on walks and the other on a strikeout coming off a wild pitch.

Churchill second baseman Sarah Carter, who was also a hitting hero, snagged a line drive off the bat of Canton shortstop Danielle Webber to preserve the no-hitter.

Carter had a two-run single in the second inning to stake Churchill to a 2-0 lead. She then scored from third on a Canton infield error.

In the bottom of the fourth, Carter came back with a double and scored on Jenny Long's groundout to make it 4-1.

The Chargers had a total of seven hits off Canton sophomore hurler Michelle Roelofs, who was making her varsity debut.

"I'm proud of how we hit the ball, especially in the middle of the order," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "We had a lot of people contribute. That's going to be the key to our season.

"Today Sarah (Carter) had some big hits. Last year she was a courtesy runner for us, but worked hard during the sumCANTON

Misiak and right fielder Ashley Crawley also collected a pair of hits for the Chargers

Canton scored its only run in the top of the fourth when Pam Hudson drew a walk, went to second on wild pitch and scored all the way from second on a fielders choice by Weber.

"Our game plan was to do a lot of bunting, slapping and be aggressive on the basepaths like we did when when scored that run from second on the bunt." Arnold said. "It's unfortunate, but we didn't get a lot of runners on base to make things

Credit Misiak's pitching for keeping the Chiefs off balance.

"She (Misiak) keeps it low and it works, then she goes high on the batters and that makes it tough," Arnold said.

Canton was somewhat shorthanded, playing without its starting outfield, shortstop and pitcher.

We had some seniors who left for Easter break and the girls that stayed and practiced played today," Arnold said. "We brought up a couple of JV players and I thought our pitcher (Roelofs) didn't do a bad job at all.

Roelofs struck out four, fanning Churchill hard-hitting catcher Sheila Gillies twice. She hit one batter.

The Chargers made just one

"We were well prepared for what they were going to do,' Hardwidge said. "We knew they had a lot of team speed. We didn't want to buy into their aggressive lead-offs. We tightened up our infield and for the most part we played pretty good defense."

The early win over the Chiefs puts Churchill in position to challenge for the Western Division title.

"Any time you beat a time like Canton, it's a plus because you know they're going to be wellcoached, well-disciplined and have heads-up players. They've won several division titles.'

Rocks get a split with River Rats

The wait was worth it for Plymouth Salem's softball team.

Salem worked 12 innings Tuesday to defeat host Ann Arbor Huron, 4-2, in the second game of a doubleheader after the River Rats blanked the Rocks, 2-0, in the opener.

Salem scored two in the second to grab a brief lead in the second game. Dawn Allen doubled, Rachel Heide singled her home, Mandy Bradley singled and Janesse Chapman followed with an RBI single.

Huron tied the score with single runs in the second and third and the game remained that way until the 12th.

Dawn Allen started the winning rally with a walk, Jen Allen advance her with a groundout, Maggie Tudor followed with an RBI double and Rachel Heide made it 4-2 with an RBI single.

Kristen Miller went the distance to earn the win for the Rocks. She gave up five hits, walked four and struck out four.

Heide went 4-for-6 in the game while Bradley went 3-for-6. Chapman and Jen Allen had two hits each. Dawn Allen had a double as Salem pounded out 14

"We played another nice defensive game," Coach Bonnie Southerland said. "I thought we hit well, too. "The girls came along at the end of the game and didn't give up. That's why we got a win." They didn't get a win in the opener because they didn't have many baserunners and they didn't get a clutch hit.

Liz Bergstrom baffled the Rocks with a 12-strikeout, fourhit performance.

Jaskot had two singles, Kelly doubled and Chapman singled to account for all the Salem hits.

Jill Posler took the loss. "But she pitched a good game," Southerland said. "She only allowed five hits, didn't walk anybody and struck out one."

The River Rats picked up their runs in the third. Val Giysson's RBI single got one in and the other scored on a fielder's choice.

Miller pitched a five-hitter Monday for Salem's first victory of the season. The host Rocks defeated Livonia Stevenson, 6-1. Salem was left at 1-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association while Stevenson (2-2) dropped to 0-2 in league play. Bradley had a triple and single to lead the Rocks, while Chapman contributed a two-run single. Allen also collected two hits. Canton took the lead with a the sixth. Chapman singled to score Amy Szawara and Bradley. "Defensively, they played really well," Southerland said. 'Miller pitched a really good game." Stevenson's only run came in the sixth inning when Nicole Dwojak singled, stoled second base and scored on Emily Campbell's single. Losing pitcher Amanda

Depleted Canton squad still takes a 4th at Elks

Plymouth Canton's boys track team resumed its season after a week off for spring break by finishing fourth at the 12-team Dearborn Elks Relays last Saturday.

Canton, the defending Elks cochamps, scored 31 points. Redford Catholic Central won the title with 41 points, edging out Dearborn, which was second with 39, and Adrian, which scored 37. Plymouth Salem placed ninth with five.

Several key performers were missing from both Canton's and Salem's squads, due to the spring break. That made the final result of Saturday's meet satisfying to Chiefs' coach Bob Richardson.

"For the lineup we were able to put together, we were real, real happy," he said.

Canton had one first-place finish, in the pole vault with a combined total of 33-feet. Jordan Chapman, who scored in the top three in four events, had the best vault of the meet, clearing 13-feet, 6-inches. Brian Page and Jon Chapman were also part of the winning relay.

The Chiefs also got seconds in the high jump relay, from Jordan Chapman, Brad Waidmann and Ken Page, with a total of 16-6 (Chapman's 5-10 was the also the best jump of the day); in the shuttle high hurdles relay, from Dane Kobus, Pawel Paszkowski, Ken Page and Chapman, with a time of 1:08.1; and in the 3,200-meter relay, from Aaron Schmidt, Tony Mize, Brian Page and Marty Kane (8:27.3).

The long jump team of Chapman, Ken Page and Kobus placed third (54-11 1/2). So did Corey Walser, John Szlinis, Brian Page and Ken Page in the 400 relay (46.3), and Scott Gillen, Kane, Brandon McClellan and Aaron Lanning in the 6,400 relay (20:00.9).

Canton, which hosted defending Western Lakes Activities Association champ Farmington Harrison in a dual meet Wednesday, goes against Northville — which has already edged Harrison this season in a dual — next Thursday.

CC wins Elks

Redford Catholic Central's track team followed a Saturday win at the Dearborn Elks' Relays with an 85-43 win over De La Salle on Monday in a dual meet.

Tom Grant took three wins against the Pilots, grabbing the long jump (19-7 1/2), high jump (5-6) and the 100 hurdles (15.07). CC also got wins from Mike Banaszak in the 100 dash (11.9), Matt Daly in the 1,600 run (4:41.4), Randell Means in the 200 dash (23.39) and Dan Krawiec in the 3,200 run (10:03.4).

CC also won the 800 relay with Jeff McMichael, Means, Brad Mathis and Banaszak and the 400 relay with McMichael, Means, Mike Mach and Banaszak.

The Shamrocks took four firsts Saturday in totaling 41 points.

CC won the shotput relay (Scott Bowling, Dan Zimmerman, Brian Jackett, John Mulroy; 164-7 3/4), the high hurdles relays (Chris Meagher, Bill Makela, Michael Siwicki, Grant; 1:06.20), the intermediate hurdles relays (Meagher, Jim Kempa, Siwicki, Grant; 1:26.61) and the 6,400 relay (Ryan Lowry, Doug Gibbons, Kyle Jekot, John DiGiovanni; 19:01.56)

The Shamrocks also took thirds in the distance medley relay (Tim Henderson, Mathis, Chris Muncy, John Krawiec; 11:16.8), the 3,200 relay (Jekot, Gibbons, DiGiovanni, Lowry;

8:37.5), discus relay (Jackett, Bowling, Dan Zimmerman; 335-7) and the high jump relay (Grant, Zach Fellrath, Steve Wasil; 16-6).

Frosh/Sophs sparkle

An underclassmen Canton team that was without several of its top performers, who were with the varsity squad at the Elks Relays, still managed to score 55 points at the six-team Pirate Relays, hosted by Pinckney HS. Canton placed fifth.

Top performances for the young Chiefs came from Matt Trevarthen, Shane Azizi, Russell Hinckley and Matt Ealy, who were second in the 1,600-meter relay (4:02.9); from Bryan Frawley, Damon Adams, Mark Erchenbrecher and Rich Hensel in the 400 throwers relay (no time available); and from Andrew Leinart and Ben Holland in the high jump relay (9-10 total).

Dan Driscoll and Steve Kilijanczyk took third in the pole vault relay (17-6); so did the team of Ealy, Trevarthen, Tim McGookey and Driscoll in both the 400 (48.7) and 800 (1:43.4) relays.

In this instance, it was the Farmington Falcons that were on the low end of the score. Six different players scored for the Rocks, who led by just 1-0 at the half.

Salem improves to 4-1 overall, 2-0 in the WLAA and 1-0 in the WLAA's Lakes Division.

Marissa Sarkesian and Danielle Portelli each had a goal and an assist for the Rocks. Stephanie Baron, Janae Bucks, Shara Huggins and Kellee Mullin added a goal apiece. Sara Schupra also had an assist.

For keeper Jill Dombrowski, the shutout was her fourth of the season.

Clutch hitting earns Agape a pair of wins

Late rallies carried the day for Canton Agape Christian.

Agape, with Margie and Amy Henry each hurling complete game wins, took two of three games from two different opponents early in the week.

A three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh Tuesday, capped by Sylvia Moore's ground RBI single down the third base line. gave Agape a 7-6 victory over Taylor Light & Life in the first game of a doubleheader.

Light & Life captured the second, 12-8, behind the nine-hit pitching of Aleta Fowler.

On Monday, Agape scored 10 times in the top of the sixth to take a 14-6 victory win at Warren Zoe.

The three games left the Wolverines with a 6-4 record. Light & Life is 6-4.

Amy Henry scattered four hits and survived nine walks in the first-game win against visiting Taylor. She struck out three.

Light & Life had scored twice in the top of the seventh to take a 6-4 lead but Amber Cross reached on an error and stole second to start the game-winning rally.

Andrea Hough singled her in to shave the deficit to 6-5. She advanced on Tarah Armbrester's groundout to first and scored the tying run on a single by Alice Muench.

Muench advanced on a groundout and scored the winning run on Moore's ground single past third.

Hough went 2-for-4 in the game while Margie Henry went 1-for-2 with a run scored.

Margie Henry went the distance and took the loss, giving up 10 hits and three walks;

while striking out three. Amy Henry went 2-for-3 with a double and three runs scored while Cross went 2-for-4. Hough also went 2-for-4 and scored a run while Muench had a double and scored a run in a 2-for-4 game. Dana Hames had a threerun double in the game.

Margie Henry pitched a threehitter Monday to defeat host Warren Zoe. She walked two and struck out one.

Sarah Maus was the victim of the 10-run rally that gave Canton Agape its 14-6 win.

Cross went 3-for-4 with a double and also scored three times while Hough went 2-for-4 and Muench went 2-for-3. Margie Henry scored two runs.

Canton trailed, 4-1, after four innings but scored three times in the top of the fifth to tie. Zoe answered with two in the bottom of the sixth but Agape tacked on 10 more in the top of the inning and staved Zoe off.

Ladywood 1-1, Regina 0-5: Livonia Ladywood (6-2, 3-1) won the opener to earn a split Tuesday in a Catholic League Central Division double-header with host Harper Woods Regina (7-2, 3-1).

Shelley Moros pitched a threehit shutout in the opener. She struck out four and walked two. .

Ladywood tallied the game's only run in the top of the eighth when Missy Mitchell walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and came around to score on consecutive Regina errors.

Dawn Rini and Shawn Fallon had the only hits for Ladywood. Regina took the nightcap, 5-1.

the first game of Tuesday's doubleheader, giving up four hits, striking out 13 and walking three. Only one of the runs he allowed was earned.

Ari Carmer went four innings for Jewish Academy of Detroit and took the loss.

Agape was hurt by five errors but benefited from three by Zoe Christian.

Sophomore Bommarito had a single, three RBI, scored a run and stole a base. Anthony went 3-for-4, including a triple, drove in two runs, walked and stole two bases.

Mike Ossana had a single, an RBI and scored a run.

The game was scoreless going into the fourth, when the Wolverines rallied for four runs. They added one in the sixth.

Zoe had one in the fourth and two in the seventh.

The big blow for Agape in the four-run fourth was a two-run triple by Anthony.

Bat power carries Madonna to a sweep

Madonna University's softball team saw a lot of zeroes on Tues-

Madonna was shut out twice by visiting Spring Arbor, 3-0 and 1-0, Tuesday, collecting 10 hits combined in losing the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference doubleheader.

Jenny Tenyer (6-10) went the distance in the first game for Madonna, pitching a five-hitter with two walks and one strikeout.

The Cougars (19-28, 12-16) broke through for a run in the fourth and added two in the sixth. Holly Davidson tamed the Lady Crusaders on four hits, walking two and striking out a Frederick walked four and struck out three in blanking Madonna (14-26, 7-13).

Missy VanDoorn (7-10) went the distance for the Lady Crusaders, allowing seven hits. She walked two and struck out two.

Pam Konwinski went 2-for-2 for Madonna and Angela Litwin went 2-for-3.

The bats responded in a big way Sunday as Madonna University's softball team swept a WHAC doubleheader from Tri-State University, 10-2 and 11-6, at Livonia Ladywood HS.

Madonna improved to 14-24 overall, 7-11 in the WHAC. Tri-State slipped to 20-22 overall, 6-11 in the conference.

In the first game, a five-run second inning gave the Lady Crusaders a 6-0 lead and a fourrun third boosted it to 10-2. The game was stopped after 4 1/2 innings by the eight-run mercy

In the second game, Madonna trailed 2-0 - until the third inning, when they pushed across 10 runs. Stacie Wilson led the offense in this game, going 3-for-3 at the plate with two RBI and two runs scored.

Devon Fletcher added two hits (including a double) with two runs scored and two RBI, McDonald had two hits and an RBI, and Fowler contributed a single, two runs scored and an a RBI.

Missy VanDoorn started and got the pitching win, going 3 2/3 innings and allowing four runs (two earned) on six hits and three walks. She was relieved by Kristie Givens, who gave up two runs (one earned) on four hits and three walks in the last 3 1/3 innings.

Brianne Williams got the loss for the Thunder.

Crusaders get a split with Tech

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

1954 PA PROCEEDINGS NOTICE OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENT HEARING CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN

TO: THE RESIDENTS AND PROPERTY OWNERS OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AND ANY OTHER INTERESTED PERSONS:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that as a result of Petitions of property owners within the Township signed by the record owners of land whose front footage constitutes more than 50% of the total front footage of the hereinafter described Special Assessment District and the Township Board of the Charter Township of Plymouth proposes road paving improvements in the Glenview Subdivision and to create a Special Assessment for the recovery of the cost thereof by Special Assessment against the properties henefited therein.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth has tentatively declared its intention to make the hereinafter described improvement:

The proposed improvements shall consist of a two lane, one and a half inch (11/2") asphalt pavement overlay with the required base and subbase improvements constructed over the existing asphalt road (approximately 8200 feet). The project commences at the south right of way line of North Territorial Road and proceeds southward along Glenview Road approximately 1700 feet to the point of terminus. Also along Bonnie Brook from the intersection of Glenview Road east approximately 140 feet. Also along Betty Hill between Glenview Road and the point of terminus approximately 1450 feet. Also along Drury Lane between Betty Hill and Glenview approximately 2050 feet. Also along Danbury Court between Drury Lane and North Territorial approximately 300 feet. Also along Le Blanc Road between Drury Lane and Betty Hill approximately 1150 feet. Also along Danbridge Road from Drury Lane to Le Blanc Road approximately 1200 feet. Also along Danbridge Court from Danbridge Road to the point of terminus approximately 200 feet. That it has further been tentatively determined that the following described lots and parcels of land will specially benefit from said improvements and will constitute a Special Assessment District against which the cost of said improvement shall be assessed:

> The district limit for frontage along Glenview Road, Bonnie Brook, Betty Hill, Drury Lane, Danbury Court, Le Blanc Road, Danbridge Road, and Danbridge Court consists of Lots 1 through 2, and Lots 6 through 87, both inclusive of "Glenview Subdivision" located in the North-West ¼ of Section 28 of T.1S., R.8E., of Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth shall meet on Tuesday, May 8, 2001 at 7:00 p.m. at the Plymouth Township Hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth Twp., Michigan 48170, for the purpose of reviewing said proposed Special Assessment District, and hearing objections to the improvement, creation of the Special Assessment District, and the assessment thereon. All persons may then and there appear and make any objections they may have to such improvement and assessment, Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the amount, if any, of the special assessment to the state tax tribunal. An owner or party in interest, or agent thereof, may appear in person at the hearing, or may file an appearance or protest by letter. All parties or agents appearing in person at the hearing for purposes of protest should request the appearance be entered into the record of the meeting.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the plans, specifications, estimates of cost and recommendations of the engineer for said proposed Special Assessment District have been filed with the Township and are available for public examination at the office of the Township Clerk. The estimate of costs of such construction is in the approximate amount of play goal from Chad Wiseman at 5:47 of the opening period. Stephen Weiss set up the play, getting the puck from Kurka and skating into position to the left of Erie goalie J.F. Perras. Weiss couldn't score, but Wiseman buried the rebound.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that periodic re-determination of costs for the proposed Special Assessment District may be necessary and may be made without further notice to the record owners or parties in interest in the property.

That lead lasted less than halfa-minute. Guenther tied it at 1-1 27 seconds later, scoring on what appeared to be a Zepp misplay. Brad Yeo assisted.

"We lost some momentum after their first goal," admitted Plymouth coach Pete DeBoer. "This is a game of momentum. When you have two quality teams like this, you don't want to get down two goals."

With 3:33 of the second period elapsed, the Otters took the lead for good, Yeo knocking home a loose puck that several Whalers failed to clear. Assists went to Guenther and Pecker.

Brad Boyes made it 3-1 at 7:01 of the second period, carrying the puck into the Whaler end on a 2-on-1 break. With Plymouth's defenders charging back to get into the play, Boyes opted to shoot instead of pass, and he beat Zepp. Baird and Carlo Colaiacovo assisted.

After that, it was the Whalers best of it, stretching its unbeaten scrambling to get something going, but unable to do so. They were either a step behind the Otters, or their passes were slightly off-target, or they just couldn't quite finish the play against Perras.

"You've got to give their goalie credit, he made a lot of good saves," said DeBoer. "When their goalie is the No. 1 star in the game, vou know vou're in for a long night."

It was a good night for the Otters, who knew it was a mustwin situation. "We had a couple of meetings with our guys (after Saturday's debacle) and told them if we're going to compete with these guys, we can't stand around and just watch," Mac-Queen said.

'We've got guys in that room who are better hockey players than they showed. They took it upon themselves."

Now it's the Whalers turn to do the same.

Good start

The first game of the OHL's Western Conference finals was expected to set a tone for the remainder of the series. If that's the case, then Plymouth got the playoff streak to nine with a 3-0 win Saturday in front of a packed house (5,531 fans) at Erie's Tullio Arena.

The Whalers got a goal in each period and solid goaltending throughout from Rob Zepp, who turned away 21 shots to record the win, his first shutout of the playoffs.

Damian Surma got Plymouth started early with an unassisted goal 3:07 into the game. At 3:42 of the second, defenseman Cole Jarrett powered a shot past Otter goalie Adam Munro to make it 2-0. Chad LaRose assist-Jarrett's goal prompted the removal of Munro. J.F. Perras replaced him.

That didn't alter Erie's fortunes, however. The victory was all but assured (unless you're the Red Wings) when Tomas Kurka scored short-handed with 8:28 remaining to play in the game.

be — from the third inning on. The Spartans blanked Plymouth Salem over the final five innings Monday and came back from a 5-1 deficit to post a 7-5

WLAA-Lakes Division win. Stevenson (5-1, 2-0) got a three-run home run from winning pitcher Gary Zielke in the fourth-run third inning to tie the score and added the winning runs in the next inning.

Dan Wilson nailed down the victory with a scoreless seventh after Zielke struck out seven Rocks and walked four over the first six. The two combined on a four hitter.

Both teams committed three errors but only one of visiting Salem's runs was earned.

Chris Trott went 2-for-4 with a double for Salem (2-4, 0-2), whose Kevin O'Bierne took the Brian Campbell went 2-for-3 with an RBI for Stevenson, as did Bill Marsack. Stevenson had a 10-hit attack.

CC 5-6, DeLaSalle 6-0: To say Sunday's De La Salle-Catholic Central doubleheader was a pitchers duel would be an understatement.

The Pilots and Shamrocks split their twinbill – with De La Salle taking the opener, 6-5 and CC coming back in the nightcap for a 6-0 win – with the winning pitchers in the two games combined for 33 strikeouts.

"We needed to get the split to keep pace with U-D Jesuit," said CC coach John Salter. "There was good pitching on both sides."

In the opener, the Pilots' Mike Moljewski gave up five hits and walked seven, but struck out 18 to earn a 6-5 win. Even with his pitching, the Pilots had to scratch for a run in the bottom of the seventh to win.

After trailing 5-1 though four innings, CC (8-3, 4-2 Central Division) got a run back in the fifth on a bases-loaded walk by Anthony Coratti, then two more in the sixth when Charlie Haeger doubled home Dave Tovey and Kyle Crapeau.

Mike Wadowski led off the seventh with a solo homer to tie the game at 5-5, but Moljewski then struck out the side and the Pilots (4-2 Central) used a single, a walk and two wild pitches to win the game.

Haeger (4-0) was the strikeout king in Game Two as he fanned 15 batters and gave up just four hits and three walks for a 6-0

"Charlie was really dominant in the second game," said Salter. "He mixed his pitches up real

CC led 2-0 through six, but kicked in for four runs in the seventh to ice the win. Mike Wadowski had sacrifice flies in the first and fifth innings to score Crepeau and Kevin Entsminger, respectively. Phil Marrone was 2-for-2 in the game with a walk and a sacrifice, while Crepeau also had two hits.

The dock may be yours

We bought property on a lake where there is a dock we've used for years. Other people have also used this area of the property.

Our next-door neighbor claims we have not had exclusive use of that property, which, I understand, is one of the requirements for adverse possession.

MEISNER

For adverse possession to be obtained, that is, the right of a person to acquire title to a property even though it didn't achieve a deed to it, a person must show possession that is actual, visible, open, notorious, exclusive, hostile, under cover of claim of rights, and continuous and uninterrupted for a 15-year statutory period.

The Michigan Court said "exclusivity," had not been defined in previous decisions.

The court in citing a previous decision of the Supreme Court of Michigan and an out-of-state case recognized that the "exclusivity," required for adverse possession doesn't extend so far that a someone claiming adverse possession must be the only one to have used the land for the 15year statutory period.

If you have, by way of example, cleared the land of underbrush and used the dock on the property, even though other people use the dock, you may still be able to establish adverse possession if the other facts required for adverse possession fall into place.

You should, of course, consult a real estate lawyer to examine the particular facts of your case.

It takes a heap o' cash to make a house a home

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

Buyers face a host of ongoing expenses besides the monthly mortgage payment when acquiring a home.

Consider property taxes to support municipal and educational services and homeowners insurance to repair damages from weather, fire or vandalism.

Then there's operational expenses electricity, gas and water. Those bills depend on specific use, vary widely in scope and usually arrive monthly, every other month or quarterly. You have telephone, cable TV and Internet access fees which, while not essential, usually are considered indispensable in this day and age.

Condominium owners pay a monthly association/ maintenance fee that can run a couple hundred dollars depending on the services offered.

Buyers of homes in brand new developments often pay an annual association fee of several hundred dollars to maintain and beautify entrances and common areas.

First-time buyers coming out of apartments often need a refrigerator, range, microwave, washer, dryer and lawnmower for their new castles.

Landscaping

Parts periodically require replacement. Roofs, water heaters, carpeting and appliances don't last forever.

In spite of all this, millions of people choose to own homes, and Realtors tout the advantages of ownership.

"It's the largest tax write off we have," said Lynn Baker, an associate broker with Hall & Hunter in Birmingham. "For individuals, it's the largest investment they're going to have unless they own a business.'

Home buyers can glean information on costs from a variety of sources.

"We try to keep them informed about all real estate costs - mortgage, property taxes and insurance – so they're not surprised in that area," said Carol Mountain, an associate broker with Century 21 Hallmark West in Water-

"A lot of these questions come up in home inspections that 99 to 100 percent of people have. They kind of learn about their house," she added.

Also, many tenants-turned-owners are aware of utility costs through the renting experience, Mountain said.

Jack and Virginia Tornga of Plymouth recently moved into their fourth house since 1954.

"I think it's the one of the best investments a person can make," Jack said. "Pride of ownership, I guess, goes with that scenario."

Tornga said he doesn't think firsttime buyers give much thought to all the expenses associated with home ownership because ownership has become so ingrained.

"The mindset of people today is my folks had a house, I'm going to have a house, too. They had a house. I'm going to have a bigger house.'

Bryan Rizzo, a single, bought his first house in Livonia last September. Previously, he lived with his parents. "I think it's a good investment," he said. "I never wanted to rent. I see it as throwing money away and not getting something out of it." Surprises?

"I was a little stunned when I got my first heating bill," Rizzo said. He also had to repair some minor damage caused by ice damming last winter.

"It's nice to be on your own," Rizzo said. "I'm happy I made the decision. But it is a lot of work."

Loans can be too good to be true

PHILLIPS

A very frustrated home buyer recently phoned me because her loan officer would not get her the mortgage he had promised. Almost crying, the borrower explained that she was supposed to get a no-cost, no-point, no-fee mortgage at an interest rate about 1/2.

had seen in months. I silently thought, "If something sounds too percent better than I good to be true, it probably is not true." Every mortgage has expenses that must be covered. Lenders will not commit money unless they know all about the subject property and the prospective borrower. Appraisals, surveys, credit reports and title searches are customary.

Borrowers also usually incur processing or underwriting fees, a closing fee, a document preparation charge, and a filing fee to make the transaction accurate and legally binding.

Lenders may refer to these costs by other names, but these expenses are real and they must be paid.

Since it is the buyer – not the seller or the lender - who requires a mortgage, the loan's costs belong to the bore.

If a lender tells you that you have a "no-cost" loan, you need to figure out 🧍 who is paying your loan's costs.

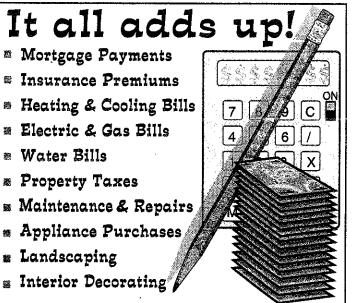

Just as a magician shuffles a marble under three cups, lenders can manipulate how a borrower pays for a mortgage's costs. Borrowers normally cover their mortgage costs with cash from their pockets, with money from the seller, out of equity in their current home, by paying a higher interest rate, or by some combination of these.

In the above scenario, the loan officer made a promise he could have never delivered. He quoted this client a wholesale interest rate, then offered to cover her mortgage costs, too.

The loan was not possible under those terms and market conditions. It? was no surprise (to me anyway) that her loan officer let her loan die. His only course was to pay a thousand dol-were the best... Our customers seem to think so, too!

We've always known our Real Estate One professionals

Having completed nineteen career related relocations during which Robin and I have bought and sold ten homes, thanks to your professionalism and that of your staff, this relocation to San Juan, Puerto Rico has been without question our easiest. From the original listing meeting through the closing process, we always felt our interests and concerns came first, no matter what the issue or question was.

Communication throughout was excellent, we were never left wondering as calls were promptly returned, and as needed, messages left on multiple answering/voice mail systems to insure receipt while traveling. Purchase and closing documents were

More importantly, our goal to sell and relocate prior to Christmas was met, no small
