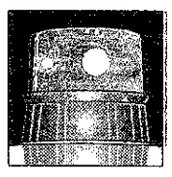
Police make arrest in killings



Canton Police officers spent Wednesday tracking down a man suspected in the early-morning slaying of his estranged wife and her boyfriend at her Mott Road residence.

A 32-year-old Canton man was taken into custody late Wednesday afternoon by township police in connection with the early morning slaying of his estranged wife and her boyfriend.

Brian William Sewell surrendered on foot and without incident about 4 p.m., near Gottfredson and Ford Road, police said. Police had been searching the area most of the day and had previously been able to contact Sewell by cell phone.

Nikki Sue Sewell, 30, of Canton, and Ricky Wayne Jones, 32, of Ypsilanti, were both found dead shortly after 2 a.m. in Nikki Sewell's Wagon Wheel mobile home. They died as a result of multiple gunshot wounds, according to police.

Brian Sewell, 32, of Canton, recently lost his job at Industrial Tools & Technologies in Plymouth Township and had separated from his wife, police said.

The separation was fraught with conflict and Nikki Sewell had obtained a personal protection order against her husband on Sept. 9, 2001, according to Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

Brian Sewell's pickup truck was found early Wednesday in Independence Park, off Denton and Geddes roads, by a Canton police officer. The officer found an open gun case with no weapon inside.

Lindsey Cerilli shuffled her feet down the hallway from her bedroom to the living room, rubbing her eyes after a nap. She rubbed her head, sparsely covered with the remainder of her baby-soft blond hair.

Her mother, Lori, folded laundry while she matter-of-factly described a chain of events so dramatic other mothers would be numbed. She explained her 9-year-old girl has leukemia, and is fighting a life-or-death battle against the disease.

Lindsey needs a bone marrow transplant, Cerilli said. Her parents, and sisters, Annie, 10, and Kim, 5, were not matches. Next month, the Cerilli family, Red Cross, and Bentley Elementary will host a blood drive and bone marrow screening at the school.

Cerilli described her daughter's bone marrow tests and spinal taps, chemotherapy and the side effects.

"I haven't had enough time to worry. I'm too busy to lose it," she said.

Despite Lindsey's exhausted gray eyes, and despite potential outcomes of her battle, her soft voice and shyness remain reminders she's just 9 years old.

TAG fate worries parents

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Nearly a dozen parents of students enrolled in Plymouth-Canton's Talented and Gifted program have voiced concerns the current TAG curriculum will be modified, or even eliminated.

They were responding to a draft report by Superintendent Kathleen Booher which suggests changing the delivery of the TAG program. Currently TAG is a magnet program, in which elementary TAG students are all bused to Miller Elementary while the middle school TAG students are taught at East Middle School.

Booher, in her report, suggests making the TAG program a part of each elementary building, which would open the program to more students, and save on transportation costs. Presently, there are 150 elementary students enrolled in the elementary TAG program and 180 in the middle school program.

■ 'Returning the TAG program to home schools ... will take a step backward in their (students) educational process.'

–Don Salata, Canton resident

However, parents of TAG students told the Board of Education Tuesday night they like the program the way it is.

"The rationale of returning the TAG program to home schools in an effort to expand it in reality suggests that students who have been identified as having a high capacity of learning will return to an environment where their needs cannot be met and will, in effect, take a step backward in their educational process," said Don Salata of Canton, who represented members of

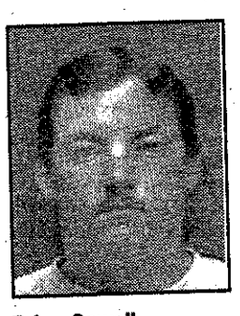
The officer ran the truck's plate, and headed to Brian Sewell's last known address in the Mott Road mobile home park. The officer found a key in the partially opened door and Nikki Sewell and Jones dead in the bedroom.



Brian Sewell

A witness told police he heard what might have been gunshots at about 12:30 a.m. The witness said he then saw someone running east from the home, carrying a firearm. Canine units from Canton and Michigan State Police ran a track from the mobile home east, but lost the scent after a short distance.

Some time Wednesday morning, Brian Sewell made calls to his sister and to a friend from his wireless phone. Sewell's sister helped put a police negotiator in contact with him, according to Santomauro. Sewell continued to call the negotiator through the day.

Residents near Independence Park were evacuated from their homes late Wednesday morning in order to secure the area where police believed Brian Sewell was hiding.

After officers searched the wooded area, they shifted their focus to homes in a nearby subdivision.

Man arrested following chase on Canton Center

A 24-year-old Westland man is facing multiple charges after leading Canton police on a Sept. 14 chase.

Gary Allen Rowley was arraigned Sunday on charges of fleeing, fourth-degree and OUIL. The fleeing and eluding charge is a two-year felony and/or a $500 fine while OUIL is a 93-day misdemeanor.

Rowley was spotted by a Canton police officer at 5:20 p.m. turning north on Canton Center Road from eastbound Summit Parkway. Rowley took the turn at a high rate of speed and cut inside of another vehicle, which was turning in the same direction, and passing it, according to police reports.

At that point, the Canton officer turned on his emergency lights and siren and began pursuing Rowley, who was driving a blue Cadillac El Dorado. Rowley then began passing vehicles in the on-coming southbound lane of Canton Center and then on then on the road's soft northbound shoulder, police said. The pursuit ended when Rowley approached the intersection of Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads. With the intersection heavily clogged with traffic, he had nowhere to go and got out of his car and surrendered to police.

The Canton officer arrested Rowley. On a blood alcohol test, Rowley registered 0.20 percent, which is double the state's 0.10 legal limit. Rowley was arrested and released on $500 bond.

Trustees meet Tuesdays

The Canton Township Board of Trustees holds regular meetings at 7 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday each month at the municipal complex, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Fire

Canton firefighters responded to a fire in the Wagon Wheel Mobile Home Park Tuesday at approximately 9:50 a.m.

Upon arrival, firefighters found flames coming from the home. The home was occupied at the time of the fire, but a mother and child safely escaped before the firefighters' arrival.

Once on the scene, firefighters were able to quickly extinguish the fire. The specific cause of the fire is under investigation by the Canton Public Safety Department's Fire Investigations Team. Damage estimates are not yet available, but it's believed that the home and its contents were a total loss.

Chaplain chase

Canton Police Chaplain Wayne Byrum foiled a store robbery Saturday.

Byrum was shopping at Meijer. When he got out of his car, he heard someone yell, "Stop!" He looked around and saw a man running through the parking lot. Three security guards were chasing the running man. He was throwing the items he stole as he ran across the lot.

Byrum caught up to the man, a 36-year-old Ypsilanti resident, and grabbed him by the arm. The man broke free and took off running again. Byrum caught up to him again and the chaplain identified himself as a Canton police officer. The man told Byrum he couldn't go back to jail and began running again.

The third time, Byrum caught him, he told the man not to run because he wouldn't be able to get away. The man told Byrum, "I did something really stupid and I'm sorry."

Meijer reported the man had stolen less than $18 worth of merchandise, including socks, ring bologna and intimate apparel.

A few minutes after Byrum detained the man for the third time, Meijer security officers caught up to them.

Goose grab

A 32-year-old Canton w[oman] reported someone stole a [con]crete goose from her lawn Sun[day] night.

The woman said the [week] prior, someone had put the[se] on her the porch of her [Ply]mouth home as a prank.

She also reported later [that] neighbors were the victi[ms] vandalism, and someone [had] painted graffiti on their ho[use].

The goose is three feet [tall], and valued at $170.

Fledgling fire-starter

Canton police questioned [an] 8-year-old boy after he threa[tened] to burn down a neighbor's [home].

The boy had set the G[arden] Road mobile home on fire [two] before, according to [police] reports.

Sunday, the boy threate[ned] a repeat performance after the homeowner asked him to [leave] her house. The boy had been playing with the victim's [son], but when asked to leave, he threw a rock at his playmate and threatened the family.

When police questioned the boy, he said he was "just kidding." In prior police reports, the boy's mother said he had been in some trouble at his elementary school last year for "acting out violently" toward classmates.

Pigeon patrol

Canton police were called to a home in the 5800 block of Heath-away to follow up on a neighbor dispute.

The victim, a 40-year-old man, told police someone had been shooting birds, which flocked to his bird feeder. Police have been called to the residence several times this year.

Sunday the victim heard pop-ping noises coming from behind his home and found a dead pigeon in his yard. When police questioned a neighbor, the neighbor said he didn't shoot the bird, and he had also found two dead birds in his yard.

The neighbor told police the whole neighborhood is angry with the victim because his large bird feeder attracts hundreds of birds and creates a nuisance and a mess.

Physical Therapy UPDATE
Hands On Center
Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy

KEEP IT UNDER YOUR CAP

Pain in the kneecap may be due to an outer thigh muscle (the stronger vastus lateralis) that pulls the kneecap to the outer side of the leg with greater force than the weaker vastus medialis (the teardrop muscle) can oppose. This causes the kneecap to track off center, which grates cartilage and bone. To prevent this problem, strengthen the inner thigh muscle with partial knee extensions. Strap a 5-pound weight to one ankle. Sit on a chair and bend your knees 90 degrees. Let the weighted ankle until the calf is parallel to the floor. Then, lower it halfway (45 degrees). Lift it back to parallel. Do three sets of 15 (going from 45 degrees to straight) with each leg.

In other words, it's not that you're getting older, rather, your body is registering a protest against improper exercise technique and the use of less than optimum gear and equipment. The answer is hardly to retire to the armchair, instead, take charges of your health by asking your physician for a referral to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY, located in Plymouth, at 479 Forest Avenue, Suite 2[illegible] sessions to make the necessary adjustments for a return to smooth, pain-free functioning. To learn more, call 455-8370.

P.S. Cyclists often experience pain in their kneecaps owing to years of pedaling that overdevelops the outer thigh muscle.

Canton course is training ground for area SWAT units

BY CAROL MARSHALL

cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

Two dozen officers from around Michigan are testing their skill and stamina as part of the Canton Police Department's Special Weapons and Tactics certification course, which runs until the end of the month.

"The training is a real benefit to any officer," said Canton Police Lt. Rob Cripe. Although an officer may only encounter SWAT situations a few times a year, the training affects the manner in which the officer handles nearly all stressful duties.

"It makes them mentally tough and more disciplined. Even on a domestic call where someone may be getting right in the officer's face, he'll be able to stay more calm. Or on a traffic stop that leads to a chase, his physical conditioning will be that much better," Cripe said.

Tactical rappelling, assault procedures, weapons training, dynamic building entries and barricaded gunman situations are just a few of the areas in which students are training.

According to Cripe, the three-week course has several purposes beyond SWAT certification.

"This course instills big-time discipline," he said. "It's by far the toughest school we run. It's very intense and physically demanding. It requires a 100-percent commitment from each student."

A team of instructors, including Canton Police Sgt. Todd Mutchler, have taken on training duties.

"It's a big commitment for the instructors and the participating departments," Cripe said. "It's mentally and physically draining on them as well."

SWAT school began this week with a physical pre-test for students. Each must run 1.5 miles in 12 minutes or less, be able to sprint 100 yards in less than 16 seconds, do 45 push-ups and sit-ups, 5 palm-out pull-ups and do a 180-pound fireman's carry over 100 yards in less than 45 seconds.

Four officers were sent home the first day, when they failed to meet standards during the pre-test. One officer also excused himself from training later in the week.During an average training class, three or four of the two dozen students don't pass the pre-test.

"The physical and mental demands are very challenging, especially for officers who aren't used to the physical exertion," Cripe said. "The first week or two students ask themselves why they are being run to death. But that's the only way to exert that much stress on the body."

Students spend most mornings in physical training, then go for a run before proceeding to field training.

"They say it's an 8-hour day, but the day isn't done until all the training is complete," Cripe said.

Graduation ceremonies will conclude the school on Sept. 28. Cripe said the school produces highly effective and more disciplined police officers.

"Each officer goes back to their department and is ready to step onto their SWAT team," he said.

Township to follow suit

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER
cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

■ 'The leadership series is not only geared toward police and fire, but for all groups in municipal government. That's never been done before.'

–John Santomauro,
Canton Public Safety Director

Canton Township will follow its police department's lead by breaking into the business of education and training. The leadership training will mean better service for Canton residents, but could also mean revenue for the township.

The police department already trains more than 900 officers from other agencies annually, earning more than $90,000 on the programs after expenses.

The township will offer its first phase of Canton Leadership classes for township employees. The program was scheduled for last week, but had to be postponed due to the terrorist attacks.

"When we started developing training courses for our own employees, it was to develop our personnel," Public Safety Director John Santomauro said. "We didn't imagine at that time we would ever make money on the training programs. We had hoped they wouldn't cost the department anything."

The programs benefited the department by ensuring a highly-trained public safety department. As programs grew, there was an opportunity to improve Canton's image as a forerunner in police training, as well as to build revenue for the township, by holding the training sessions for other police departments.

They now afford the department a level of prestige and revenue which exceeded the township's goals.

Canton U?

The training programs have been so successful township officials considered several years ago the creation of an institute for municipal employees, said Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

The rest of the township employees will get their first taste of Santomauro-influenced training, which has the potential to expand in a fashion similar to public safety courses.

"The leadership series is not only geared toward police and fire, but for all groups in municipal government. That's never been done before," Santomauro said.

Not only does the across-the-department-lines training benefit a greater number of employees and the Canton residents they serve, but also offers a broader perspective to those attending the classes.

"It's important for all government employees to understand how government works, and what's a millage, or where does it come from," Santomauro said.

While Santomauro projected the township will have the opportunity to offer training to municipal employees from outside Canton, Yack stated he's not sure if other municipalities will be willing to invest in their employees the way Canton has.

"Most agencies do not spend the kind of money they need to on training," he said. "Chances are in these times (of economic uncertainty and decreased tax revenues) you're looking to reduce staff, not enhance the abilities of the staff you have."

According to Santomauro, the greatest benefit to the township is not necessarily an entrepreneurial one.

"In most organizations, they miss the point that the most important thing we provide is leadership," he said. "An organization that has strong leadership internally simply does a better job of providing service."

Local students named merit semifinalists

Five seniors from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have been named as semifinalists in the 2002 National Merit Scholarship program.

Named as semifinalists were Tekla Bude, Daniel Christensen, Ross O'Hara and Jack Zhe from Canton High School and Michael McDonald from Salem High School.

More than 1.2 million students in over 20,000 U.S. high schools entered the 2002 Merit Program by taking the 2000 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which served as an initial screen of program entrants.

The nationwide pool of semifinalists was designated on a state representational basis; the number of semifinalists in each state is based on its percentage of the national total of graduating high school seniors.

Q & A

Q:Who invented the Popsicle?

A: One chilly night, Frank Epperson (11 years old) absentmindedly left a mixture of powdered soda and water on his family's porch. He awoke to find it had frozen, with the stirring stick still in the cup. Little Frank dubbed his invention the Epsicle and served it to his friends. As an adult, Epperson continued to make Epsicles, which his children called "Pop's 'sicles". The commercial potential of his Popsicle struck Epperson in 1923 as he was selling lemonade at an amusement park. He applied for a patent for "frozen ice on a stick," went into business and five years later had sold more than 60 million Popsicles.

Hot Topic of the Week

■ Autumn Equinox! Saturday, Sept. 22, is the first day of autumn in the Northern Hemisphere. The word "equinox" is derived from two Latin words that mean "equal night." On this day, the daylight hours are nearly identical to the number of nighttime hours all over the earth - about 12 hours, 8 minutes. This is because the sun is positioned directly above the equator. In the Northern Hemisphere, this heralds the arrival of autumn and signals that winter is approaching, and in the Southern Hemisphere, it's the arrival of spring.

the TAG Advisory Council. "Many parents of current TAG students have stated they moved into the Plymouth-Canton school district in an effort to obtain admittance for their children in our excellent TAG program."

Ellen Mozurkewich of Plymouth, who has a child in the TAG program, understands the financial aspect of the recommendation, but believes a change could mean further loss of state money for the district.

"The current TAG students represent about $2.25 million in foundation grants. I think the board should consider the possible loss of foundation grant money as parents look for alternatives in order to receive what they perceive to be appropriate instruction for their children," said Mozurkewich.

Booher said the recommendation is in the early stages of discussion and still needs to be hashed out by the board and parents. However, she does say there are some parents who have asked for changes in the TAG program.

"Because this is merely a proposal, it still needs to go forward through the long-range planning committee for discussion, and the parents of current TAG students are a voice that needs to be heard," Booher said. "Any program that has been in place for any number of years deserves to be examined to see how it can be improved. I have many parents who have told me their child has been eligible for TAG, but they didn't choose it because they didn't want their child to travel to another school."

Board president Liz Givens acknowledged there are a variety of opinions on the TAG program, all of which need to be discussed before a final decision is made.

Lindsey just being a little tired," Cerilli said. "We never would have known. Other doctors would have put her on antibiotics and it could have gone on for months, but her doctor was right on top of it, and kept ordering tests."

Uncommon cold

Lindsey came home lethargic from her last days of school last spring, a simple blood test for mononucleosis led to a leukemia diagnosis.

Lindsey spent 50 days since July 20 at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. She came home last week for a break from her treatments, but returned to the hospital over the weekend for a second round of chemotherapy.

"She had never been sick," Cerilli said. "When I took her to the doctor, we were getting ready for a two-week trip to Florida. We went, and she was in the pool every day, and eating lobster."

When the family returned, Lindsey was scheduled for another blood test. Then, her doctor referred her to a hematologist.

■ 'People started dropping off dinners from day one, and it hasn't stopped.'
–Lori Cerilli

"I called the number she gave me, and when they answered, they said 'Cancer center.' I thought, they're sending us to the cancer center?" said Cerilli.

Lindsey went on Friday, July 20, for testing at 8 a.m. By 5 p.m., the family's world turned upside-down.

"The doctor called and told us, 'There's no nice way to say this, but Lindsey has leukemia,'" Cerilli recalled. "I'll never forget that."

Lindsey was admitted to Mott that night, and didn't come home for nearly two months.

Community efforts

As soon as word got out, the community began to rally behind Lindsey and her family.

"One of the really hard things is I still have two other children at home to take care of. I wish I could be in two places at once," Cerilli said. "But people started calling me right away to offer to take care of my other kids. People started dropping off dinners from day one, and it hasn't stopped. One of the hardest things in the world to do is to admit you need help. But I have realized I really can't do this alone."

Teachers from Lindsey's school, Bentley Elementary, called and visited and brought activities for Lindsey to do in the hospital.

Her third-grade teacher, Carole Brooks, even spent the night at the hospital to give Lindsey's parents the night off.

"I would hope that if I were sick, someone would do that for me," Brooks said. "But if you met Lindsey, she's such a special kid, you'd do it in a heartbeat, too. You'd do whatever you could to help."

It's the generosity and thoughtfulness that has touched Cerilli so deeply her eyes fill with tears at the mention of the kind acts.

"The words 'thank you' are not enough to express how I feel about this community. It's so warm to see there are still such nice people in the world. The community has really come to our support," Cerilli said. "But I feel guilty because there are 12 little boys and girls on the seventh floor of the hospital that need help, too. That's why we're doing the blood and bone marrow drive. I would be really surprised if there was a match for Lindsey right here in the Canton community. But if there was a match for just one of the other kids, that would be more than I could hope for. That would be the greatest."

The drive will be held 2-8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 3, at Bentley Elementary. For more information or to make an appointment, contact Lisa Clanton at (734) 397-2167.

How to help

■ Blood and bone marrow drive: Oct. 3, 2-8 p.m. Call (734) 397-2167 for more information or to make an appointment to donate.

■ My Friend's Care: is a bone marrow fund-raising organization. Checks can be donated in Lindsey's honor. Make the check out to My Friend's Care, but write Lindsey Cerilli's name on the memo line. Checks can be mailed to: My Friend's Care, P.O. Box 871783, Canton, MI 48187.

■ Pennies for Patients: The children at Bentley Elementary will be holding a penny drive from Oct. 26 to Nov. 15 and welcome donations from the public. The money will be donated for research. Money and checks can be dropped off or mailed to Bentley Elementary, 1100 S. Sheldon Road, Canton, MI 48188.

Landfill plans raise stink with neighbors

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER
cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

Canton Hills subdivision residents say their neighbor's property is a dump. To be fair, it's a landfill.

The residents appeared in front of the Canton Planning Commission Monday to express concerns about health hazards, noise and smell at the landfill.

They said the Sauk Trails Hills hasn't been the best neighbor, and has caused their quality of life to diminish.

"There's no credibility," said Canton Hills association president Emily Brock.

The meeting was scheduled to inform the commission about Sauk Trails Hills' plans to relocate a leachate evaporator from a location in the landfill's center to a location 1,600 feet from Michigan Avenue and Lilley Road.

The evaporator releases steam from the landfill's leachate, the water substance that escapes as garbage decomposes. It is burned off using methane gas, the other byproduct of decomposition.

The 50-foot high, silo-shaped evaporator has been in operation on the property for four years, according to Eastern Michigan Landfill General Manager, Brad Green.

Brock wasn't so sure the relocation wouldn't impact her property, where she has lived since 1974.

"If someone says there's not going to be any noise (when the evaporator is relocated), how can we believe them? If someone said there's not going to be any health hazard....any smells, how can you believe them?" said Brock.

Brock said nearby home owners were "sold" on the dump when representatives promised the property would eventually be rehabilitated and would be used as a recreational and skiing facility.

They were also told the dump would only be active for eight years before rehabilitation would begin. The landfill was allowed to expand, and it grew from 90 feet high to 120 feet.

The landfill has remained active for 20 years, and there's no sign of a ski lift in sight.

Hindsight has told the landfill operators and the township that it was unrealistic to expect to use a rehabilitated landfill for a ski area, said Canton Township Municipal Services Director Aaron Machnik.

■ 'If someone says there's not going to be any noise, how can we believe them? If someone said there's not going to be any health hazard....any smells, how can you believe them?'

–Emily Brock,
Canton Hills homeowner

"Over the years as material decomposes there is a change in the land patterns," he said.

The landfill company never really intended to rehabilitate the property, homeowners said.

"They knew they were deceiving us (when they presented the plans), so there's a lack of credibility," Brock said.

According to Machnik, both the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and Wayne County are satisfied with the landfill and the way it is operated. Wayne County inspects the property weekly, and the MDEQ inspects the landfill quarterly.

Green said the evaporator does not release any smells into the air, but residents argued they smell garbage all the time.

"Most of the odor anybody has experienced was from the removal of the old landfill (immediately to the east). I admit that was difficult. We took 20-year-old garbage and moved it," to a new location, which is secured with a liner underneath, Green said.

Machnik offered to facilitate a meeting between residents and Sauk Trails Hills representatives, to which everyone agreed.

"What we're offering to do – whether it takes it four hours, or it takes four days – is to answer the questions we hear from you," Machnik said. "I consider this a top priority."

Metro deals with tight security and financial worries

Y TIM SMITH
TAFF WRITER
smith@oe.homecomm.net

The world of air travel turned pside down following last eek's terrorist attacks and subequent security changes rdered by the Federal Aviation dministration.

It is a world needing major nancial help, said Wayne Coun- Executive Edward McNamaa, who supports a multi-billion ollar bailout of the industry om the federal government. everal air carriers, including lorthwest Airlines, the core airne at Detroit Metropolitan Airort, reportedly have – or are bout to – cut operations by bout 20 percent.

"The airlines have taken a ouble whammy here," said lcNamara, namesake of a $1.2 illion world class terminal still et to open at Metro in January, 002. "The economy was failing nd the airlines had some pretty eavy drops in passenger loads. nd then this tragedy came long and really crippled them adly.

Ed McNamara: Wayne County Executive

"They need some help. Some airlines are talking about bankruptcy. If we're going to have competition, we have to keep them alive."

Not only are airlines fearing tough times, McNamara said any substantial drop in airport business could make it tougher to pay off more than $1 billion in bonds for the new Edward H. McNamara Terminal, slated to be Metro's new home for Northwest.

"If the airlines reduce by 20 percent then already our income for taking care of the bonded indebtedness of the airport is reduced by 20 percent," explained McNamara, talking about the $4.50 passenger fare charge (per ticket), expected to be the primary means of generating revenue to pay off those bonds.

Despite the current unsettled economic situation, McNamara remains hopeful. "I don't see us going out of business."

But adjustments will need to be made "on everybody's part" to help restore the air transportation business that is an American mainstay.

Some changes are already in place at Metro and other U.S. airports, those having been implemented by the FAA.

Trade-off

"What the terrorists used, ... those items probably could have gotten through any airport in the country," McNamara said. "So, the FAA gave us a list of changes and we've made all of them."

The increased public safety presence is something McNamara thinks people "take solace" in.

But security is coming at the price of convenience and camaraderie.

■ For starters, passengers know they must arrive earlier and cannot have their bags checked at curbside. Greater scrutiny from security officials also is a reality.

"The lines are longer than

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

They make us all proud in their finest, darkest hour

We joke about their poker games. We give our votes to politicians who promise to make them work more for less. We measure them with a stop watch and grumble when they fall short of our expectations.

But this week, firefighters and rescue workers all over America are standing taller and once again school children are answering the question "What do you want to be when you grow up?" by saying proudly, "A firefighter."

We have new heroes. More than 300 New York firefighters are missing and presumed dead following the attack on the World Trade Center. Survivors tell of passing firefighters on the stairs. While they hurried to safety, the firefighters climbed into the inferno hoping to save more people.

As New York Mayor Rudolph Giuliani said about a fallen fire chief, he died the way wanted to die. The fire chief knew the dangers and accepted them, because that's what a firefighter does. He could not do less.

And still, more than a week later, New York's firefighters, police officers and rescue workers, joined by professional volunteers from around the country, are working 24-hour shifts in desperate hope of finding survivors and in grim recognition that they are gathering last remains.

We join in saluting the undaunted courage and the unyielding dedication of New York's firefighters. And we are also reminded that our own local firefighters take the same pledge to duty and willingly endanger themselves to save property and lives.

Next time you meet a firefighter, say "Thank you!"

Tedd Schneider

Dear Sarah,

It's different now. Things have changed since the first day of school, when you were so excited about your second-grade teacher, Mrs. Irvin, being a familiar face from kindergarten. Different from that too short trip over Labor Day weekend, our collective mood sunny as the daytime sky, as cool and carefree as the early September evening breeze.

Different for certain from the way it was before Sept. 11 – when all that was good seemed to crumble before our eyes, in tandem with the towers at the World Trade Center. When our psyche, which we Americans believed was invulnerable to the political turmoil that rocked the rest of the world, lies buried in the rubble in New York, at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., and in the crater near Pittsburgh where the fourth jetliner crashed.

I believe you know things have changed, even though we haven't talked yet about the specifics in ways you would understand. How, after all, do you explain massive death and destruction to a child who believes the most mortal of wounds is the one suffered skinning her elbow as she learns to ride a bicycle sans training wheels? How do you tell someone you love that the tears streaming down the faces of these surviving moms and dads, sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, friends and co-workers, won't go away after a kiss and the magic words? ("Ichabaad boomerang." Don't ask.)

But I see it in your face, when you wonder what your parents are whispering about at the dinner table, or as we rush to turn on the TV after tucking you in at night. I know, too, that your school had an assembly last week and your class is collecting money for the "needy." Funny huh, how these people weren't needy – at least not in this way – just 10 days ago.

You know that we're counting American flags, dozens of them, flying in our neighborhood as we ride to school each morning. And you know it's not Memorial Day or Independence Day.

I guess I expected a slew of questions when I walked in the door last Tuesday or Wednesday night. Questions prompted by talk at recess, or in the lunchroom. "Daddy, what's war?" "Daddy, do we know any terrorists?" "Daddy, is our house safe?" That would get me off the hook. I'd have to respond, of course, but at least I wouldn't be forcing the issue on you. I'd be clarifying things, putting these unsettling ideas that someone else gave you into context. Making things better, rather than intruding with cold, hard realities.

That hasn't happened though. Maybe everything's just too fragmented now. Maybe you need more time before you can make enough sense to put your thoughts into a coherent question. God knows, I feel that way and I've got a few (OK, three dozen) years on you.

So I can see the burden is going to fall to me, probably sooner rather than later. I'll be the one who bursts your soap bubble perceptions about the world around you. No, it wasn't an accident. Yes, there are terrible people who do terrible things. And good people who feel backed into a corner and respond by doing terrible things as well.

I'll tell you that individuals make decisions and carry out heinous acts, not religions or homelands. You need to learn that evil isn't something you detect in a person's skin color or accent.

I'll be the one who tells you that good things can come from tragedy, that our nation's spirit will grow as we pick ourselves up off the ground. I'll tell you that maybe now we have the will, the courage and the allies to wipe terrorism off the face of the earth.

I'll tell you these last two things even though I'm not sure I believe them myself. But I need, I ache, for you to put faith in them because when the next generation takes the reins it will require a positive attitude to have any chance of success.

One thing I do believe, I'll say, is that we can't go back to the way things were before Sept. 11. Things have changed. But as long as human minds fed by human hearts make the call, tragedy can remain the exception rather than the rule.

All my love,
Dad

We are strong

My rage still burns hot inside me, 30 hours after you did your awful deeds. It will not be diminished until you face the world for what you have done, and face it, you will.

You claim divine guidance from your god. I know many people who pray to the same god. Good, kind people who strive for a better place for their families. A better place to work where they are rewarded for their efforts. A better place to raise their children. A place where those same children can learn freedom and democracy. That better place is America. The place you would destroy.

If you are so fervent in your cause, why do you hide? If your cause is so just, why must you pursue it from shadows?

You call me your avowed enemy, yet you don't know me. Your hate runs deep for a people so unassuming as to allow you to attack us from darkness. Those same people share in a freedom of thought you won't allow. You would like to take our freedoms from us, but you will fail.

I am old now. My back and legs are tired. I am weary from my days of working for what I enjoy today. My country says we have younger, more able bodied men and women who are glad to do that for me. They will face you on the battlefield or the streets, on the water or in the air, but where will you be? I will fight you but I will not choose your weapons. I will face you at any place of your choice, just you and I. But you will have to come out from hiding to accept. You will have to show the world who you are. If your cause is so just and so pure, showing all of mankind your mandate will surely glorify you.

You see, mine enemy, you don't know us. What you see as weakness, is strength. What you see as dispassion, is passion. What you see as an irreverent attitude is a rage unlike that which you will ever see again.

What you seek to destroy is born into us, my enemy. It is our freedom. Until the last drop of blood runs from the veins of the last living American, we will fight with a vengeance unknown to you. Until you can stand on the grave of all who would rather die for our freedom, than have it taken from us, you will have failed.

My challenge stands, my enemy. Just tell me where to meet you.

Poem captures spirit

In response to your request on the front page of Sunday's Canton Observer, I am sending you a copy of a poem I wrote last Friday, Sept. 14, 2001. It was our national day of prayer and remembrance, so I wrote this poem in an effort to capture the spirit and emotions of our country ... and our community.

Rising from the ashes
Through the steel, the glass, debris,
Past the rescue workers
Working oh, so carefully.

Up into the heavens
Where we know it's safe to stay
Are all those very precious souls
Whose lives were lost Tuesday.

Surrounded by God's comfort,
His love, and all our prayers,
Our loved ones are at peace right now
They know their country cares.
The anguish in our hearts prevails
While our courage struggles through
With faith, support, and confidence,
We'll know just what to do.

Stand tall all proud Americans
Stand up for what is right
The world is watching, so take the lead
Arise: it's worth the fight!

God Bless America

Tuesday when I turned to Channel 4 and saw the second plane hit the WTC second tower I thought this was a movie of some kind. Then I saw the breaking news headlines across the television and realized that this was real.

This whole week has left me numb to the center of my being. There are no words to describe the horror and pain I felt for the people aboard the planes and in the buildings in New York, Washington, D.C. and in Pittsburgh. My husband and I went to church on Sunday as we always do. We sang "God Bless America" and "My Country Tis of Thee," the words and feeling with which everyone sang moved everyone to tears.

Someone said recently that they never knew how wonderful it was to be a United States citizen until this horrible tragedy and I agree.

God Bless America and the families and victims are in my prayers.

I am angry

When the attack first happened, I was shocked. Then I was scared, and maybe still am. Finally, came anger.

I'm angry that my 7-year-old daughter tries to understand but can't, because I can't seem to explain it. I'm angry that my 21-year-old son could go to war someday, and I can't save him from it. I'm angry that this may threaten the security of my husband;s job, and I can't reassure him it won't. As a travel agent I'm angry that I worked hard for years to build my business to my expectations, only to see it fall apart in one day.

And I'm angry, or maybe embarrassed, that out of 40-plus homes I noticed while driving today, I counted only 10 that were showing our nation's colors. Not a flag, not even a ribbon.

Above all, I'm angry that I even feel this way, when I should be counting my blessings. And I cry for all those people who lost their lives, and those who loved them.

Fly your flag, Canton, Fly your flag! It helps the anger.

On gas gouging

Local gas stations have some nerve.

On my way home from work Sept. 11, I had decided that I would stop into the gas stations that line Michigan Avenue in Canton and ask the questions that everyone wants to. The questions we all say we want to ask, but are afraid to.

I visited the Amoco and 7-Eleven gas stations located at the corners of Michigan and Canton Center Roads to ask why they were charging close to $2 per gallon of gas. I asked the station attendants or owners why I could pay $1.65 per gallon at the Michigan/Sheldon Mobil station and yet they had the nerve to charge over two dollars! I was first told of a "gas shortage" but I didn't buy it, and neither should you.

Eventually, I was told the real reason .... that "competition" on the corners forced them to raise their prices. I continued on and found a more indignant slap in the face from the Amoco station at the corner of Cherry Hill and Canton Center roads, where not only was the asking price over $2, the American flag flying overhead wasn't lowered to half-staff to show respect for the dead!

I continued on to Ford road to witness the same gouging from Meijer and Speedway. All the while, the three Mobil stations at the Cherry Hill/Lilley, Michigan Avenue/Sheldon and Warren/Sheldon intersections priced their gasoline at or around $1.65 per gallon.

I don't want to hear one more excuse about gasoline or crude oil shortages from our local gas stations. We all talk about gouging and complain while we refuel. And yet, when I spoke to two of the Mobil station owners, they told me directly, "There is no gas shortage." One owner whose prices were reasonable even agreed to lower the flag and apologized many times for not doing so earlier.

If you own one of the gasoline stations that raised prices and are reading this now, you should be ashamed of yourself for gouging citizens and lying about shortages in the wake of the terrorist attacks on our Country. Your indignant attitudes and greed won't be tolerated for long. Canton isn't that big of a city that motorists couldn't drive or even push their vehicles to a lower priced competitor to refuel.

I suggest we "shop around" and take note of those stations like Meijer, Amoco, Clark and Speedway who took advantage of a national tragedy to make an extra 40 cents on the gallon.

And as an aside, if you are going to fly the American Flag, learn to do it with the respect and honor that has been earned by the deceased. If you don't know how, ask a veteran or go to the library and look up flag etiquette.

Not broken

Thousands of people died today
Who cares? some say
In Palestine it's a holiday.

We call on our leaders to lay the blame
Two towers of concrete wreathed in flame
Two steel raptors, so many lives shattered
Two smoking pillars, left hung in tatters.

Now is the time when the sun is blocked
Our world as we know it, shaken and rocked
Now is the time when the sun is obscured
From the tears we shed our vision is blurred
As we sit and pray, our thoughts confounded
Only memories now where once words resounded

Some clamor for justice, others for blood
As the grief of our nation swells out in a flood
The day is over, now the night descends
Shadows cover the world from end to end
A nation lays down to rest, darkness o'er its heart
As it trembles and wakens, in jitters and starts

The spinning cycle of man's eternal struggle
Two lighted towers, two piles of rubble
We begin to cope with the lesson we've learned
It burns in our mouths and sets our stomach to churn
Through hazy dust our eyes do see
The weakness of our own mortality

Now is the time when we must be strong
To ward against the night that comes
Starlight shall lay the way before us
Against the yells of soldiers, and the sounds of drums

We are battered, yes, but far from broken
Our flag flies proudly for all to see
Stalwart, constant, against all terrors
Crowned by purple mountains majesty
We are America, the proud, the home of the free.

Exterminate rats

Those dirty terrorist rats used U.S. planes, airports, training and people in the U.S. to carry out their evil plot. Now it's time for the U.S. to utilize their people, governments, soil and informants, possibly bribed with the U.S. dollar, to hunt down and exterminate those dirty rats forever, no matter how long it takes!

Salute to heroes

Heroes Among Us
To sit and watch
To feel helpless and lost,
To watch tragedy unfold
To feel our blood run cold.
We watch with eyes, things we wish not to see
The hurt of our brothers has become reality.
Though I'll never understand hatred so vile
I know we'll get through this, but it will take a while.
I see the human spirit shine through the metal and dust,
And I'm proud of our people - the HEROES AMONG US.

Policeman, fireman, those in the medical field,
Citizens of all walks whose efforts won't yield.
A proud people we are, for us it's a must
To be leaders of the world we must earn your trust.
To those who choose our lives to disrupt,
You can knock us down, but we'll get back up.
Our secret is our freedom and the life we hold dear,
Freedom for all both far and near.
We move ever forward after lessons hard learned,
We look for what's right at each and every turn.
Together, hand in hand, we'll get through this - we must,
And be stronger than ever and still remain just.

And I'm proud of our people - the HEROES AMONG US.

Praise for station

Thank heaven there are at least some honest proprietors in Canton. I was surprised when I went out Tuesday evening to get gas for my near empty van to see that many of our neighborhood gas stations, including Meijer, Speedway and Clark on Ford Road had increased their prices from $1.62 in the morning to $1.89 that evening. It angers me to think that anyone would think of profiting from the blood and suffering of our slain citizens.

Refusing to pay these prices and running on empty, I turned north on Sheldon to head on home and was encouraged to find that the Mobile station at Sheldon and Warren was selling fuel for $1.65, the same as it had been on that terrible morning. The employees were kind and efficient in trying to route the traffic around the building in an orderly manner so that everyone could be served.

I have always been impressed by the community support that this Mobile station lends to the people in Canton. Hardly a summer weekend goes by without some youth group, church group or school group having a car wash to raise funds because of the kindness and support of Tim Chan and his gas station. The Bible tells us we reap what we sow. I hope that we will all patronize business owners like this and drive on by the stations that clearly have dollar signs in their eyes instead of kindness and honesty in their hearts.

Turkish Americans feel the pain, anger

Sept. 11 was a day that faceless cowards destroyed the lives of all Americans and threatened our Democracy. Terrorism is one of the most disgusting acts any one person can do to one another.

All Turkish Americans feel the pain and anger that has come across our great Nation. Turks have dealt with the horror of terrorism for more than 20 years at the cost of losing 40,000 innocent lives around the world and within our beloved America.

Having suffered more terrorist casualties than any other country in the closing decades of the last century, Turks have spent $150 billion trying to fight terrorism.

The Turkish American Cultural Association has represented more than 1,000 Turkish Americans living in Michigan, mainly the greater Metro Detroit area, since 1972. We understand all too well the extreme shock, disgust and sadness the families of the victims will feel deep in their hearts for much of their lives, and as a nation we shall never forget!

This act targets the United States of America, but also targets the human race and the way of free life we all believe in. This incident goes beyond borders, race, citizenship and religions.

We, Turkish Americans, have suffered too much and too long at the hands of international terrorists. This is the time all Americans, Turks and the rest of the world unite to end the horrors of terrorism in this world!

All Turkish Americans fully support and understand the role that our president, George W. Bush, must achieve. God Bless Us All!

Dog found boy

I am sending this e-mail in regards to an article that was in your paper on Thursday, Sept.13. The article was in the Canton Observer (Page A2) about a little boy found in the subdivision of Meadow Village of Canton on the morning of Sept. 11.

After reading the article I noticed that some of the facts were wrong and the story printed was incorrect. It said that the little boy was noticed by a jogger when in fact it was my dog Angel who led to the recovery of this boy. My dad, "the jogger," was taking my dog out and was headed back in the house when my dog sat down and started to gruff at whatever she saw.

My Dad thought it was a skunk or a critter of some sort and was trying to get the dog back in the house while she still proceeded to gruff at the object of her attention so my Dad gave a second look and noticed it was a little boy in his pajamas.

My Dad then went and picked the little boy up and brought him in the house and called the Canton police. Your article just mentioned the "jogger" and went into detail about this officer who lives in our sub. My dog is the real hero of this story. I don't want to take anything away from the many great men and women who serve our country with pride, especially after last week's tragedy. I bless the fact that we have an officer living in our sub, but I would like to give credit where credit is due and that is to my dog.

This was how I started my Tuesday morning before I went to work and then the terrorists attack happened. I would like to take the opportunity to thank the people who serve and protect our great country. I am attaching a photo of Angel so you can see my hero. She would make a really good search and rescue dog but she is an even better pet.

No to 'authority'

I am writing concerning the Senate committee, apparently led by Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron), which is planning on setting up an "authority" to oversee contracts at the Detroit Metro Airport.

Open-ended comments concerned with "not having an airport like it is now 10 years from now" are being bandied about. It is pretty obvious to me what is going on.

DeGrow, from Port Huron, says that he doesn't want to have the state muscle in on the airport to make it a moneymaker. This is a strange position. Considering that this "authority" would have control over contracts, hiring, firing, development, construction and insider information regarding major airline usage at the airport, it seems ridiculous that Senator DeGrow, all the way from Port Huron, would say that the state appointees and cronies are not going to increase the moneymaking capabilities of the airport for the state as well as anyone with this privileged insider information. It seems he is saying straight out, that they are not there to make money, but to take money.

DeGrow from Port Huron seems to be singularly intent on the activities in southeast Michigan, specifically Detroit. He is encouraging "education" changes while ignoring the continuing flood of illegal immigration in other parts of the state and seemingly abetting the continual flood of illegal drugs into the area by his silence against them.

I believe that Metro Airport does not need an "authority" designated by a senator from Port Huron or from a governor who is still befuddled by the monster he has created with the Department of Environmental Quality.

I call to DeGrow's attention in Michigan Criminal Laws and Rules' 2000 Edition, Chapter 259, Aviation – the Aeronautics Code of Michigan has already made due and created in the year 1946 an aeronautics commission.

What I believe I see here is a desire to make sure that the state has adequate jobs available for the representatives, senators, governor's office appointees and others that are going to lose their job when the present bungled state administration is sent packing at the next election day.

I urge you not to support this seemingly small endeavor sponsored and forced upon us by DeGrow. Port Huron is not Detroit, and is not even in league with Detroit Metro Airport. I feel that any attempt by the governor to create another entity regarding aeronautics in Michigan will be wasteful.

The governor seems completely unaware of the current systems in place and will do anything he is told to do. DeGrow would be well advised to keep his attentions to his own local area, which is crawling with illegal immigrants and supports a thriving drug community rather than attempting to choke off the economic advances being made at Detroit Metro Airport.

The creation of "authorities" during the Depression were because local governments had become totally corrupt and bankrupt. The result has been that over the years, except for the monolithic and wasteful Metropolitan Transportation Authority in New York, they have all been pushed aside.

We have a good State of Michigan, we have a good City of Detroit, and it is going to get better, as long as we keep the politicians out of our pockets.

Certainly there must be other work for Senator DeGrow from Port Huron to do other than interfering in our local affairs. The way Sen. Glenn Steil (R-Grand Rapids) puts it: "...we'll do what we have to do...," is apparently a strong arm threat.

I suggest the Sen. Steil also look elsewhere for profit.

Thoughts from past conflicts provide comfort for tragedy

Considering the tragic events of last week, I feel it would be impious to write this column on the usual subjects. Instead, I've tried to find some lines that either cast light on our present circumstance or help comfort my prayers.

Many have compared the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon with Pearl Harbor. Without doubt the comparison is apt, both as to the crushing damage of a surprise attack and the doubts about America's will to fight a sustained conflict. Here's what President Franklin D. Roosevelt said just after that attack, nearly 60 years ago:

"Always will we remember the character of the onslaught against us. No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated invasion, the American people in their righteous might will win through to absolute victory. I believe I interpret the will of the Congress and of the people when I assert that we will not only defend ourselves to the uttermost, but will make very certain that this form of treachery shall never endanger us again."

Phil Power

Almost certainly, the spawning grounds for these attacks are the desert sands of the Arab world, where religious fanaticism seems an evolutionary adaptation necessary for survival. The Irish poet, William Butler Yeats, caught a glimpse of it:

"Hardly are these words out,
When a vast image out of Spiritu Mundi
Troubles my sight; somewhere in the sands of the desert
A shape with lion body and the head of a man,
A gaze, blank and pitiless as the sun,
Is moving its slow thighs, while all about it
Reel shadows of the indignant desert birds."

I wouldn't be at all surprised if last week's attacks will go down in history as the first big engagement of what's likely to turn out to be World War III. This time, however, the enemy is not an imperialist or dictatorial nation state, but cultural battle pitting us against a widespread network of true believers who consider those who compassionately tolerate differences to be merely weak. Yeats, again, foresaw it:

"Things fall apart; the center cannot hold.
Mere anarchy is loosed upon the world.
A blood-dimmed tide is loosed, and everywhere
The ceremony of innocence is drowned.
The best lack all conviction, while the worst
Are full of passionate intensity."

How, then, can we come to understand the terrible tragedy of the loss of so many wholly innocent people? In part by recalling with the English poet,

There is no doubt that we have suffered a defeat in the deaths of thousands of innocent people and in our collective loss of innocent security.

Rupert Brooke, the sad details of the daily divinity of the lives of those we never knew and who we have now lost:

"These hearts were woven of human joys and cares,
Washed marvelously with sorrow, swift to mirth.
The years had given them kindness. Dawn was theirs,
And sunset, and the colours of the earth.
These had seen movement, and heard music; known
Slumber and waking; loved; gone proudly friended;
Felt the quick stir of wonder; sat alone;
Touched flowers and furs and cheeks. All this is ended."

There is no doubt that we have suffered a defeat in the deaths of thousands of innocent people and in our collective loss of innocent security. And there is no doubt that what we now face will be long, difficult and perilous, calling for more wisdom and creativity than military might. Winston Churchill, the English Prime Minister during World War II, caught these shifting emotions in preface to the first volume of his monumental work, The Second World War:

In War: Resolution.
In Defeat: Defiance.
In Victory: Magnanimity.
In Peace: Good Will.

My wife, Kathy, and I planted spring bulbs over the weekend, an act of hope and confidence.

usual, but people expect it," McNamara said. "They're not smiling, but they're not growling or complaining, either. They realize it's for their safety."

■ Once ticketed passengers get through security, however, they are on their own as the FAA also now prohibits friends and family members from going to gate areas. That change alone could take a hunk out of revenue hoped to be generated at the Edward H. McNamara Terminal, where original plans called for 125,000 square feet of mall-like retail space – featuring 85 shops and restaurants.

The county and Northwest might be forced to re-draw those plans, moving the location of metal detectors, so that more people can enjoy those facilities.

■ Several short-term parking lots located within 300 feet of terminals were re-opened following approval from the FAA. But, in order to park there, motorists will have their vehicles visually inspected. Those areas include the short-term section of the parking deck and lots located in front of the Berry International Terminal and across from the Airport Marriott Hotel and L.C. Smith Terminal.

McNamara said the elimination of curbside check-in points will eliminate plans to open such a facility inside the airport's new 11,500-space parking garage and wipe out 24 curbside check-in locations.

But he isn't giving up on the plan, which would be a unique service for customers. "If we can do it without sacrificing safety, then we will ask the FAA to consider it."

About curbside luggage check-ins being eliminated, customers will be inconvenienced.

"But the new airport will be much larger, more spacious," noted McNamara. "These things can be done better than in the Davey" terminal.

Northwest officials could not be reached for comment.

minute information on parking conditions at the airport.

■ Due to heightened security, only ticketed passengers will be allowed through the airline security checkpoints. Meeters and greeters picking up passengers at the airport will not be allowed into the gate areas, and are encouraged to identify a meeting place beforehand with their passengers.

Meanwhile, terminal curbfronts are open, but are reserved for active loading and unloading only. Unattended vehicles are prohibited and may be ticketed and towed.

■ Minimizing the number of carry-on bags will quicken the security screening process, according to the airlines.

Granhom warns about charity scams

Attorney General Jennifer Granholm Michigan warned residents to be on the lookout for charity scams that she believes are almost certain to materialize after the recent terrorist attacks in New York and Washington.

Fraudulent solicitations that exploit the tragedy have already been reported in other states, she said.

She said the Attorney General's office has already heard of one e-mail scam that provides a link to what a citizen would likely think is the Red Cross, when it is actually a private web site collecting credit card numbers.

The Attorney General's Charitable Trust Section licenses most charities that solicit donations in Michigan. She urged residents to call that office before deciding whether to donate.

"Charity and skepticism would not seem to make good partners, but a healthy skepticism is the best way to ensure that the money you send is used for its intended purpose," Granholm said.

Granholm warned state residents to be especially wary of telephone or Internet solicitations that require an immediate donation or a credit card number.

She pointed out that her office has posted a list of some of the better-known charities and ways to contact them.

Other information on how to help the victims of the terrorist tragedies and their families can be found on the state's website at www.michigan.gov or the U.S. government's website at www.firstgov.gov.

To call the Charitable Trust Section to check on a specific charity, call (517) 373-1152. To check on a police or fire organization, call (800) 769-4515.

BoRics raises money for crisis with haircuts

On Sunday, Sept. 23, every BoRics in the United States and Canada will be open for business noon to 5 p.m. BoRics stylists who have volunteered their time and talent will work, with 100 percent of proceeds from haircut sales to be donated to the Twin Towers Orphan Fund.

It is expected that BoRics will be able to donate upwards of $100,000 on behalf of team members and clients.

The Twin Towers Orphan Fund is a national fund-raising program for the children of parents killed in the attacks.

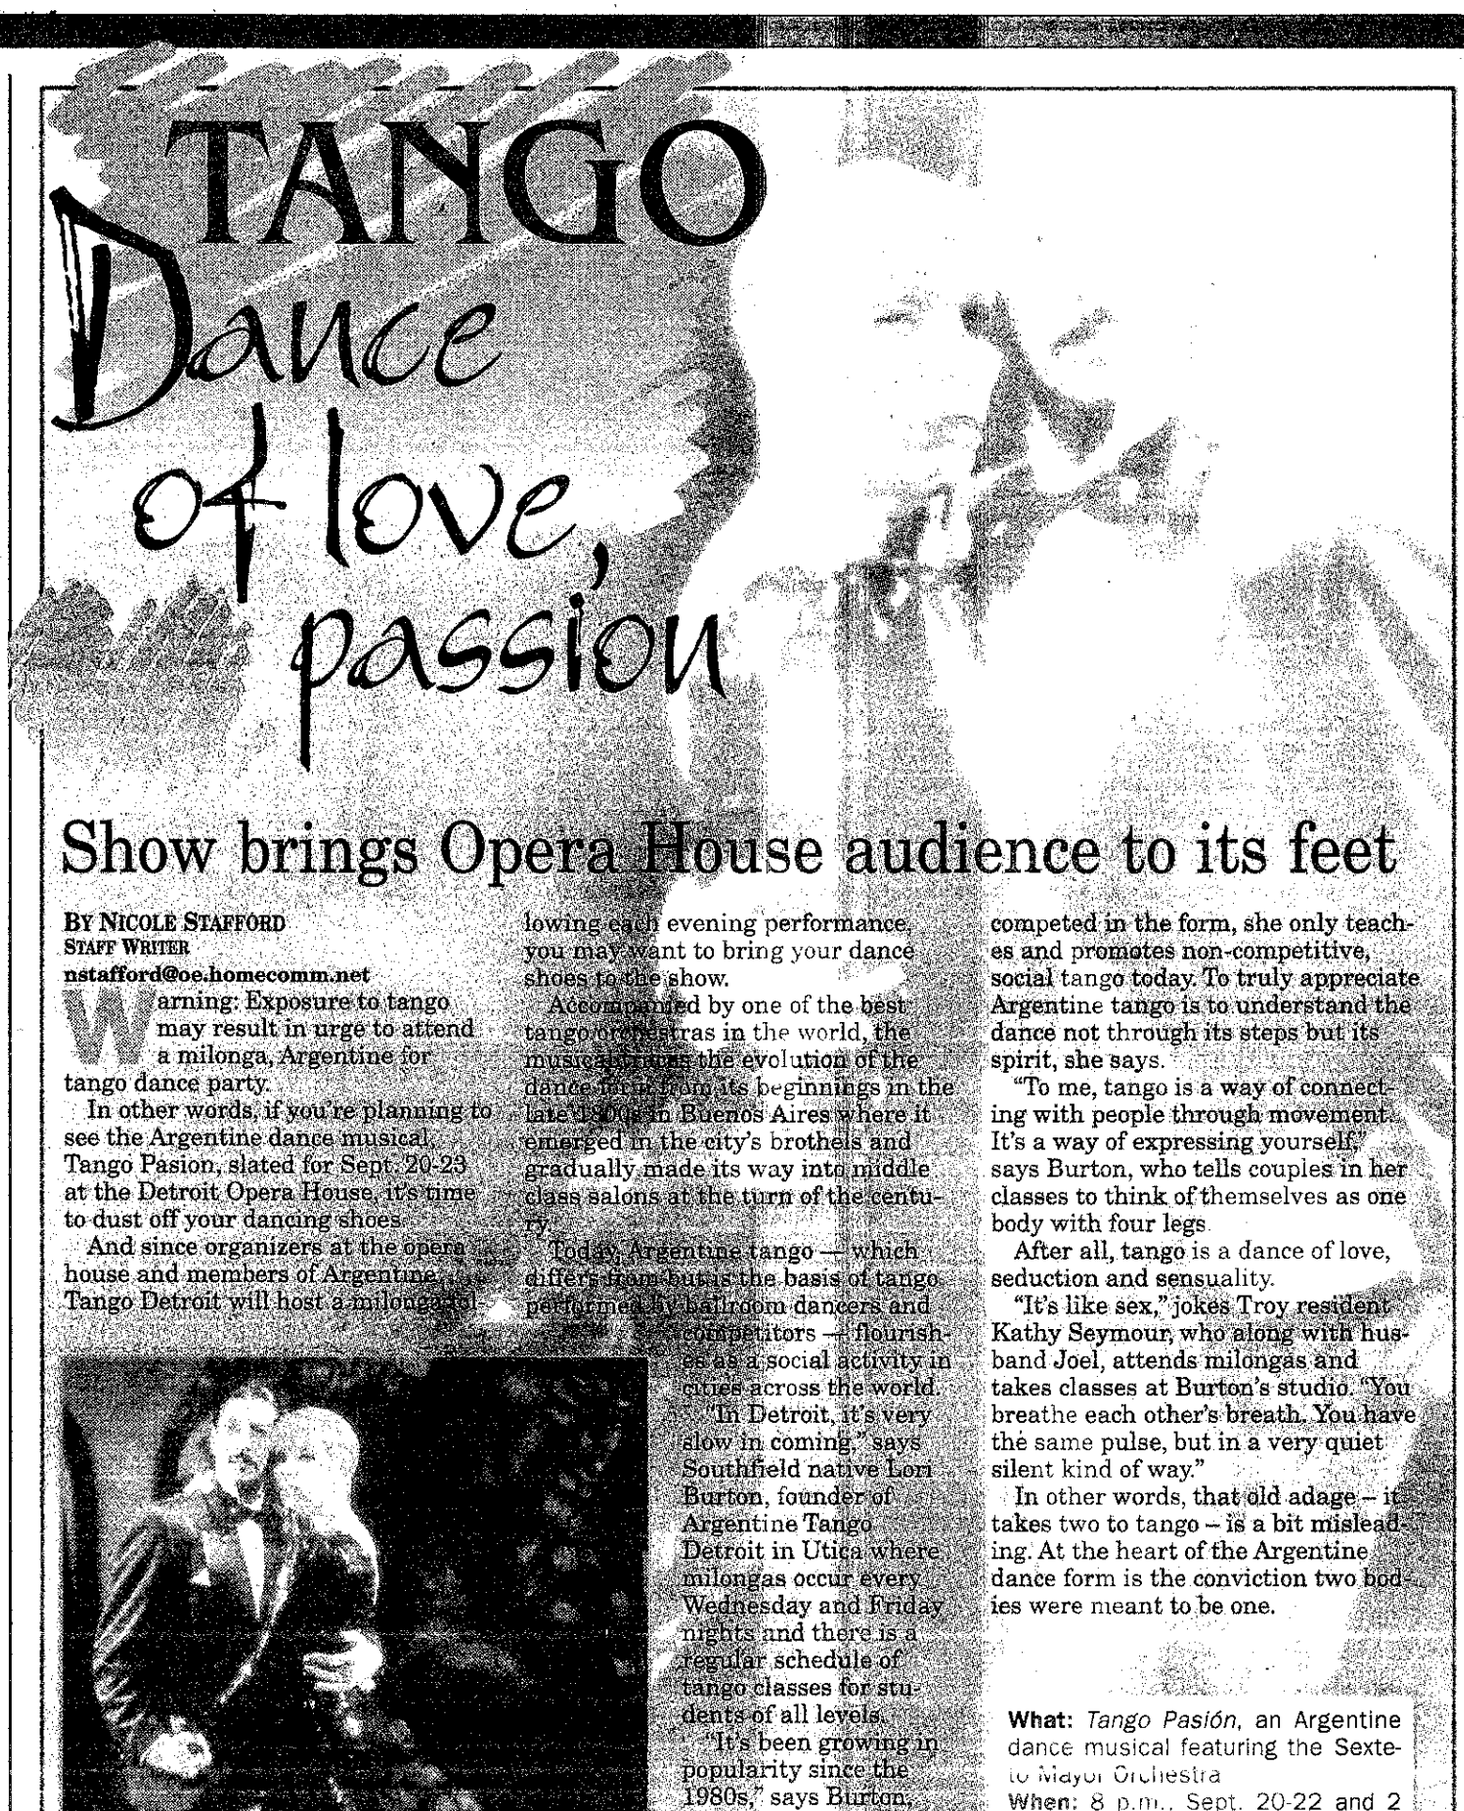
TANGO
Dance of love, passion



Show brings Opera House audience to its feet

BY NICOLE STAFFORD
STAFF WRITER
nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

Warning: Exposure to tango may result in urge to attend a milonga, Argentine for tango dance party.

In other words, if you're planning to see the Argentine dance musical, Tango Pasion, slated for Sept. 20-23 at the Detroit Opera House, it's time to dust off your dancing shoes.

And since organizers at the opera house and members of Argentine Tango Detroit will host a milonga following each evening performance, you may want to bring your dance shoes to the show.

Accompanied by one of the best tango orchestras in the world, the musical traces the evolution of the dance from its beginnings in the late 1800s in Buenos Aires where it emerged in the city's brothels and gradually made its way into middle class salons at the turn of the century.

Today, Argentine tango — which differs from but is the basis of tango performed by ballroom dancers and competitors — flourishes as a social activity in cities across the world.

"In Detroit, it's very slow in coming," says Southfield native Lori Burton, founder of Argentine Tango Detroit in Utica where milongas occur every Wednesday and Friday nights and there is a regular schedule of tango classes for students of all levels.

"It's been growing in popularity since the 1980s," says Burton, due in part to productions like Tango Argentina, Forever Tango, and Tango Pasion.

Burton originally taught and competed in ballroom dance. In 1993, she took up and fell in love with Argentine tango.

"I left everything else behind because the tango drew me in."

Though Burton once competed in the form, she only teaches and promotes non-competitive, social tango today. To truly appreciate Argentine tango is to understand the dance not through its steps but its spirit, she says.

"To me, tango is a way of connecting with people through movement. It's a way of expressing yourself," says Burton, who tells couples in her classes to think of themselves as one body with four legs.

After all, tango is a dance of love, seduction and sensuality.

"It's like sex," jokes Troy resident Kathy Seymour, who along with husband Joel, attends milongas and takes classes at Burton's studio. "You breathe each other's breath. You have the same pulse, but in a very quiet silent kind of way."

In other words, that old adage – it takes two to tango – is a bit misleading. At the heart of the Argentine dance form is the conviction two bodies were meant to be one.

Passionate Dance: Two become one as Argentine Tango dancers move in sync.

What: Tango Pasión, an Argentine dance musical featuring the Sexteto Mayor Orchestra
When: 8 p.m., Sept. 20-22 and 2 p.m. Sept. 23
Where: Detroit Opera House, 1526 Broadway in Detroit
Tickets: $36-205, call the box [illegible] for Ticket[illegible]

■ Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances are preceded by an exhibition of dance by Argentine Tango Detroit students and followed by a milonga (tango dance party). Milonga tickets are $15 per person.

Tango lessons

■ Argentine Tango Detroit, 7758 Auburn Road in Utica, (810) 254-0560: Beginner tango, 8 p.m. Wednesday and Friday followed by milonga (open dancing) from 9-11:30 p.m.; Argentine tango basics, 11 a.m. Tuesday; classes for all levels available throughout the week

■ Argentine Tango Club of Detroit (of Dearborn Heights), (313) 561-3236: group classes, 8 p.m. Monday at La Casona, 5658 West Fort Street in Detroit; 8 p.m. Tuesday at DanceSport Academy of Michigan, 23666 Park in Dearborn; 7 p.m. Thursday at Pittsfield Grange, 3338 Ann Arbor-Saline Road in Ann Arbor; and 8 p.m. Friday at Farmington YMCA, Farmington Road, just north of 12 Mile Road.

At the Opera House: The tango was born in the brothels of Buenos Aires and became as socially acceptable as ballroom dance at the turn of the century.

Ann-Margret in starring role at Fisher

Ann-Margret plays the madam in The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, but looking as good as she is at age 60, one might think she's cast as one of the Chicken Ranch's sexy young recruits.

The still-sultry veteran of 52 films who has been nominated twice for the Academy Award and six times for an Emmy, makes her theatrical debut as Miss Mona in the Broadway musical-comedy that runs from Sept. 18-Oct. 7 at Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

According to Peter Masterson, co-writer of The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas, the ageless wonder's role in the script is long overdue.

"I wanted Ann-Margret to do Whorehouse since 1983," he said. "That's how long I've been thinking about her playing Miss Mona."

This is Ann-Margret's first time back to Detroit since the early 1990s when she appeared in concert at the Fisher Theatre.

The concert coincided with a snow storm, which extended her stay and brought back memories of her childhood in the Chicago area where she moved with her family from their native Sweden.

"I loved it," said Ann-Margret, who lives in Los Angeles. "We don't see much snow."

Ann-Margret, a five-time Golden Globe award winner who three times was named "Female Star of the Year" by the United Motion Pictures Association, enjoys playing Miss Mona — who is considered classy as madams go.

Trinity House Theatre opens 2001 season

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
SPECIAL WRITER

Nestled within a collection of trees and an office building, the red-painted Trinity House Theatre isn't easily noticeable while driving down Six Mile Road.

Its unassuming facade and nature of its shows lends to the theater board's nickname for its venue – "the best kept secret in Livonia."

"It's easy to drive by and not know we're there," said Kathy Kitzmann, president of the Trinity House Theatre board of directors.

"For years, even before the freeway was there, Six Mile and Haggerty roads was the country. Not anymore. It's certainly in a prime area and it's easy to get to us now."

But, she admitted, it's discouraging that few folks are familiar with the theater, which specializes in offering Christian musicians and theater performances. But it is sticking to its mission to provide "brave, truthful, necessary works of art."

"We want artists who are artistically excellent. There's also a real passion for artists that explore, through their music, issues of faith," said Bill Keith, who has served on Trinity House's board of directors for two years.

"We somewhat stay away from the typical contemporary Christian music artists. There's not a lot of interest in doing that. We're more interested in artists where the faith aspect weaves through their music as an undercurrent, but not a dogmatic thing."

Trinity House is celebrating those beliefs during its 21st season, which began Sept. 7. Local favorites Matt Watroba and Robert Jones, as well as an "Evening of One Acts" and "Around the House," a two-day multi-media variety show are among the events on the unusually busy Trinity schedule. Like last season, Trinity House's board decided to concentrate more on music than theater.

The centerpiece of this year's schedule, however, isn't musical, according to Keith. It's "An Evening of One Acts," featuring Babel's in Arms and Time Flies, by David Ives, and The Picketers by Jeffrey Adams. It runs Oct. 19 through Nov. 11.

"The board looks at wherever there's a passion at a particular moment. We tried out a few concerts a couple years ago and had some pretty good success. There's been a snowballing process Chicken Ranch customers) are pitted against Miss Mona and her "girls."

"(Miss Mona) is really 'strict.' " she said, laughing as she remembered some of the directives. "'There's no kissing on the mouth — this ain't no Junior Prom. There's no three or more in a bed — this ain't no circus. No whips or rough stuff — this ain't no marine corps.' "

Her co-star is Gary Sandy, a theater veteran best known for his role on the television sitcom WKRP in Cincinnati. Sandy plays "Sheriff Ed Earl Dodd" who is pitted against "Miss Mona" and her "girls."

"It's the first time I've done a book show character from beginning to middle to end," Ann-Margret said. "I'm enjoying it so much and look forward every night to going to the theater. It's an incredible cast.

"This is very exciting, a live audience, going on stage, the rules of the theater. It's a new arena for me. I've done theaters with my own show on Broadway but this is different. There are other rules...three stage managers. I get notes all the time."

Ann-Margret, married 34 years to actor Roger Smith, who played Jeff Spencer in the 1960s television hit 77 Sunset Strip, doesn't anticipate slowing down her stage appearances.

"I'm a happy person and love my work," she said. "I would have to quit immediately if I didn't love it because I'm a Taurus, stubborn, you can't make me do it."

since then. There's a lot of passion for that (music) there," said Keith, a 1985 Plymouth Salem High School graduate.

Kitzmann added that the Trinity House decided to focus on concerts because, like many area local theater organizations, it is struggling to find enough people to work during its productions.

"Theater productions are really labor intensive. You need producers, directors, check people, actors, everything. So when we do a concert, it's one night or two sometimes."

"As board president, I want to keep doing them but I think we really also feel that we're not going to take on projects that we can't support, that we don't have personnel to do," Kitzmann added.

"I think all community theaters face the same struggle – finding people to do the work. It's discouraging, too, when you don't have a big audience. We run the plays for 12 performances and average 40 people a performance. You just feel like you've worked and worked for weeks and the results are sometimes discouraging. Sometimes people have a lot of things drawing their interest for their leisure time."

But the musical direction has been successful, leading to a slew of sold-out shows. Singer-songwriters Sarah Masen, Madison Greene, Vigilantes of Love and Keri Noble are the most popular acts who have performed there.

Trinity House Theatre was founded by Paul Patton, the now-former pastor of Trinity Church in Livonia. Originally, the theater was part of the church but it was later incorporated separately.

Patton, who now works as a professor in Virginia, made a guest appearance at the beginning of last year's 20th season in the summer of 2000.

Keith, who serves as station manager at Plymouth Salem and Canton high schools' radio station WSDP-FM, attended performances at the theater for about seven years before officially becoming a part of the organization. For the last two years, he has served on the board of directors.

"It seemed like the productions that they were doing were plays that really made people think, that had just different or interesting aspects to them. There was a wide mix, too, and a wide variety of talented actors and insightful productions."

Theater aims for 'brave, truthful' works of art

STAFF WRITER

Kathy Kitzmann, president of the Trinity House Theatre's board of directors, says people frequently tell her that her venue's mission statement – "brave, truthful, necessary works of art" – comes across as arrogant.

But Kitzmann defends it and looks forward to challenging her audience with the Evening of One Acts, Oct. 19 through Nov. 11. Board member Bill Keith calls the event the centerpiece of this year's schedule.

"People say, 'Well that's (the mission statement) pretty egotistical of you to think that only you are doing that,'" Kitzmann said.

"But we would like to know that what we are doing challenges people, makes them think about life and truth. We do come from a Christian orientation, and we don't want to preach at people. It's not our goal.

"It's not our goal to proselytize but to have people face the questions of life and think about them."

This year's Evening of One Acts features Babel's in Arms and Time Flies by David Ives and The Picketers by Jeffrey Adams. Kitzmann describes them as "absurdist dramas" that are best suited for those ages 13 and older.

For example, Time Flies tells the story of two mayflies who are courting and discover, through a television show, that mayflies have just 24 hours to live. Their purpose, they learn, is to be born, mate and then die.

"So they're just struggling with that. ... But we all have some kind of struggle with time going by too fast," said Kitzmann, who also teaches chemistry at Mercy High School in Farmington Hills.

Each year, Trinity House Theatre goes through the arduous process of choosing which plays to perform during the Evening of One Acts. The decision is so difficult that it has somewhat hampered the theater program at the theater.

"That's one of the reason why we've cut back on doing mainstage plays. It's hard for us to find plays that we really want to do.

"We have a committee now, the play advisory committee. Their task is to read as many plays as they can and to present to the board suggestions for what they think would be good plays for us to do."

Birmingham troupe says 'I do' to comedy

BY SHARON DARGAY
STAFF WRITER

When Angela Lentine dons her white bridal gown and veil on Friday, her father will begin dabbing tears.

"It's wild. I know my dad will ball," Lentine said. "I'm the youngest of five and the last to be married. My dad says he's bringing Kleenex."

Talk about a convincing performance. Her father's tears may be real, but her vows are scripted.

Lentine, 23, of Clinton Township will get hitched on stage at the Village Players of Birmingham playhouse in the comedy, The Father of the Bride.

"I heard about the audition through an advisor at Wayne State," said Lentine, who is studying business at the university.

"I thought, 'Oh heck, I'll try out.' I didn't think I'd get the part. I was so amazed I did."

The Birmingham troupe opens its new season with the play, which stars Lentine as Kay Banks; Kevin Kowalski as Buckley Dunstan, the groom; Barbara Underwood as Mrs. Banks, the bride's mother; and Christopher Crossen, as Mr. Banks, the bride's father.

"Everyone keeps telling me that this is in preparation for what I'll go through," said Crossen, of Beverly Hills. "It's about a poor guy who works hard and is fairly oblivious to what's going on around him, who finds out his daughter is going to get married."

■ The original 1950 Vincente Minnelli film included Elizabeth Taylor and Joan Bennett. Martin, Diane Keaton and Kimberly Williams play in the 1991 version, which also starred comedian Martin Short.

Crossen won't have to worry about marrying off his daughter any time soon — she's only 12.

But he's having fun in the part that both Spencer Tracy and Steve Martin filled on screen. He saw the original movie version just before being cast in the role.

"I'm glad I saw it. Our play is set in the 1950s. We have not updated it," he said. "The set is decorated like a typical '50s home."

The original 1950 Vincente Minnelli film included Elizabeth Taylor and Joan Bennett. Martin, Diane Keaton and Kimberly Williams play in the 1991 version, which also starred comedian Martin Short.

Crossen took on the father's role after another actor backed out of the part.

"The person who was cast accepted something else that came up the next day. He withdrew and they called on me to step in," he explained. "It's a wonderful role and a great production."

It also demands a bit of juggling, because Crossen is fulfilling an off-stage role. He's president of the Village Players this year.

"The president's job is pretty time consuming and this is the beginning of my incumbency, so this has been a time to get everyone together and get organized," he said.

Crossen said the first show of the new season always challenges the group because casting and rehearsals start in August, while some members are still savoring the last few weeks of summer.

"There are 16 cast members in this play," he added. There are some real minor roles, which actually makes it more difficult to cast because most people don't want to audition for a minor role. Even with a minor role you're still committed to nine or 10 performances and the rehearsals."

Crossen served as the troupe's treasurer for two years and has designed sets, worked lights, sound, props and performed on stage during his 10 years with Village Players.

Lentine isn't a member, but plans to join the group. She acted in plays at Utica Eisenhower High School and attended Cranbrook's summer school several years ago.

"I live in Clinton Township, so I go home, feed my animals and I'm back in the car going to rehearsal," she noted. "The rehearsals have been grueling but they've been fun, too."

'Hardball' tosses out some emotion

BY DAVID GERMAIN
AP MOVIE WRITER

Hardball is a two-hankie sports soap opera, but don't hold that against it. With surprising melodrama, the film packs some powerful emotional swings that will hearten the toughest of jeering crowds.

The title sounds severe for a film about a down-and-out gambler goaded into coaching a youth baseball team. After all, isn't this going to be one of those touchy-feely, cutely comic family flicks about a loser who finds direction in his life as mentor to a misfit bunch of inner-city kids?

The thing is, Keanu Reeves and director Brian Robbins are playing hardball here. This is not The Bad News Bears in the ghetto or The Mighty Ducks on the diamond.

Hardball has lighter moments and loads of sentiment, but that's all neatly stitched into a package of somber grittiness, bitter life lessons and teary tragedy.

The combination shouldn't work, but it does. Hardball blends its seemingly disparate elements into a coherent film that's entertaining, funny, sad and even a bit uplifting and inspirational.

The movie was inspired by Daniel Coyle's book about his time coaching a baseball team in Chicago's housing projects. Reeves plays Conor O'Neill, a chump who scalps tickets to finance his real occupation: Losing heaps of money on sports bets.

Early on, Hardball establishes a dark, hopeless tone as Conor spirals further into debt.

"You looking for faith? Forgiveness?" asks a priest who encounters Conor in deep prayer at a church.

"I'm looking for the Bulls to cover the spread," Conor replies in quiet desperation.

In deep to bookies threatening to rearrange his anatomy, Conor turns for cash to his old pal Jimmy, an investment banker. Jimmy (Mike McGlone) helps out with a weekly check as long as Conor takes over his coaching chores for a boy's baseball team in the projects.

"Jimmy, I ain't no good with kids," Conor pleads.

But the kids – and the audience – know better.

Conor reluctantly sets out to mold his little band of Sammy Sosa wannabes into something resembling a team. The boys, hungry for a father figure, see decency and determination in Conor that he himself doesn't know he possesses.

Slowly, Conor evolves from a bench-warmer in the game of human relations to a man who's at least awaiting his turn in the on-deck circle.

Along the way, Hardball trots out cliche after cliche, yet Robbins manages to weave them into a credible whole.

Coach Conor bonds with the boys over pizza. He finds a love interest in the youths' teacher (Diane Lane). He clashes with a by-the-book league official and an opposing coach (D.B. Sweeney) whose players are clad in swanky uniforms to Conor's boys' skimpy T-shirts.

And there's nothing terribly original about the mean-street milieu the boys move through.

What is original is how well Robbins combines engaging comic interaction among Conor and his players with stark urban drama. The film holds together nicely even as it twists from despondency to giddy humor to startling calamity and, finally, to uncertain hope.

Generally a better brooder than actor, Reeves delivers one of his best performances, infusing Conor with an effective mix of seedy street hustle and awkward paternalism.

The boys, many of them Chicago natives making their film debuts, are a delightful gaggle whose camaraderie captures the rambunctious team spirit of youths united in a common cause for the first time.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Scheduled to open Friday, Sept. 21

THE VERTICAL RAY OF THE SUN
The story takes place over the course of a month and deals with the close relationship of three sisters, each keeping her own dark and paralyzing secret. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

HALLOWEEN: THE HOMECOMING
A group of six teenagers stage a live Internet chat from the house Michael Myers grew up in, and, sure enough, he soon shows up to do some nostalgic slicing and dicing. Featured players include Jamie Lee Curtis, Tyra Banks, Brad Loree, Busta Rhymes and Sean Patrick Thomas. Rick Rosenthal helms the thriller.

LIAM
The story centers on a working-class family during the Depression as seen through the eyes of a 7 year old. Liam, a young schoolboy, struggles with his family's poverty and his stuttering impediment. Featured players include Ian Hart, Claire Hackett, Anne Reid and newcomer Anthony Borrows as Liam. Stephen Frears directs the drama, his first since High Fidelity in 2000.

Parker & Lily say 'Hello Halo'

STEPHANIE A. CASOLA

Parker Noon and Lily Wolf have reached the point where they finish each other's sentences. Some might say the closeness of this musical couple reflects in the atmospheric soundscapes they're creating.

And that's just fine for New York's Parker & Lily.

Once the secret weapons of Valentine Six, Parker Noon and Lily Wolf broke from the rock act to pursue something of a slower pace, something more refined. Going simply by their first names, Parker & Lily produce an eerie and beautiful life soundtrack that soars and haunts the imagination. It's music almost a decade in the making.

■ 'We have a phobia about modern music and modern musicians. There's been a long, dark period from 1978 to '94 or '96.'

Parker Noon
Parker & Lily

Going back

"We met at college 10 years ago," said Lily, "Bennington in Vermont." But neither half of the couple finished college. Instead, they left together to pursue music. "We were advised by a professor to fly away and learn the tricks of the trade," she adds.

But Lily Wolf had already had plenty of experience with the tricks of this business. As a little girl she learned to play piano under the watchful eye of her grandmother's best friend – a concert pianist and "amazing talent." "She was always around and it made sense that I should start taking piano lessons when I was 5," Lily explained. In the beginning she was almost forced into practicing. Once she came proficient enough, though, she liked what she was hearing. "It is the best instrument for composing. You have the entire range at your fingertips." Piano led to college, and college led to Parker.

"I fell in love with him and his record collection," Lily said with a bright laugh.

Two Valentines

From Bennington College the two flew off to Texas to start Valentine Six, an octet that scaled down to a sextet and then settled to five members. Still Parker & Lily were in charge. "Valentine Six wasn't doing very well," recalled Parker, frankly. "We got to the point where we didn't much care."

He and Lily found themselves switching focus, musically. "Valentine Six music got so much more modern, more romantic," he said. "It sounded a little gauche." Deciding to take this new direction, to forget the loud, fast Valentine Six of the past, the duo took on its new name in 2000 and started over. "It's much easier touring with two people than touring with six," said Parker.

"I wasn't digging what Valentine Six was doing," he added. So, he took time out and wrote down his 50 favorite songs "in the world." "They are all soft, all melancholy," Parker said. "Even with louder forms of music, it was the softer (songs). I decided I should go off and write some of these."

The result? Parker & Lily released Hello Halo on Orange Recordings. It was very much an equal effort.

"We do almost everything together," Parker said. "I do all the drum programming. I do all the lyrics. For the most part she does all the chords. She's a damn genius."

Lily takes that compliment and gives another. "He has all the bits that I'm missing," she said. "I'm really good with the details."

Packing for two

The couple plans to release another record and EP within the next six months. Recording seems almost too easy. But taking this show on the road is another story. "We're really just sort of finding our legs in terms of a live show," admitted Parker.

Live, the duo's sound takes on a denser feel. It's not the sparse, floaty ambiance of the record. The 1950's style analog drum machine gives an added dimension. "I sort of hot-wired and distorted it," said Parker with pride. "It's hard to sustain the whole sparse, moody thing without drums. It's real difficult to record a whole album without drums. Live, it just tends to fall."

The last thing Parker & Lily want to do is bore their audience. "I didn't want to be a museum exhibit," explained Parker. It's quite a switch from the raucous audiences that flooded Valentine Six shows. Now the two are greeted with what Lily can only describe as a "strange hush."

"It was scary to leave the rock thing behind," she said, knowing the music she's making today means so much more.

"We have a phobia about modern music and modern musicians," said Parker. "There's been a long, dark period from 1978 to '94 or '96." He blames techniques like multi-tracking, the lost art of tube reverb, and radio formats for this shift. "When I made the list of my favorite 50 songs, most of them were singles in 1954 or so."

That was a time when a band could spend three days in the studio perfecting one single, rather than rushing to get 12 songs down in the same amount of time.

"When we came to write this stuff, we decided to go to sparse instrumentation," he said. "We don't trust other musicians."

That isn't entirely true. Parker & Lily features some guest musicians on Hello Halo, friends, if you will. Matt Verta-Ray (The Oubliettes, Speedball Baby) taught the two everything they know about programming. Tony Corsaro filled in on drums – that is before he wandered off to be the "Harlem Gospel Choir's only white guy," said Parker. And Bruce Wolf came in with trumpets and saxophone.

A new wave in subtlety

Somewhere amid this wafting, subtle beauty, Parker & Lily win comparisons to The Tindersticks, Stereo Total, Arab Strap, Bardo Pond and Broadcast. Don't call them influences. Parker & Lily started out oblivious to many of these performers and recently became fans. "We didn't know Broadcast," said Lily. "People assumed we drew from them."

Some songs on Hello Halo were written for a film titled Winterland, which was scripted by a friend but has yet to see the light of day.

"We take all the soundtrack work that comes because we love it so much," said Parker. He believes film soundtracks leave a profound mark on us, one that sometimes we don't even realize. The works of Henry Mancini are rooted in his memory.

Parker & Lily return just over a month after their last area performance – at the now-closed Gold Dollar in Detroit. "It's a damn shame," said Parker of the news. "I was asking everyone where to go."

Parker & Lily settled on Detroit Contemporary, 5141 Rosa Parks Boulevard in Detroit. Catch them Thursday, Sept. 27 with openers Recorder and The Climax Divine. For details call (313) 898-4ART or see info @detroit contemporary. com.

Stephanie Angelyn Casola writes about popular music for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Call her at (734) 953-2130 or e-mail at scasola @oe. homecomm.net.

Together: Lily Wolf and Parker Noon have been making music together for over a decade. Once part of Valentine Six, now an unconventional duo hinged on the sounds of "Lil's" piano and Parker's knack for programming, Parker & Lily are a New York commodity. Don't miss them at Detroit Contemporary later this month.

Gene Shalit, TODAY
"'HARDBALL' IS ALIVE WITH VITALITY, HEARTBREAK, AND MANY PLEASURES. REEVES EXCELS. ...an uplifting screenplay... For a change, here's a picture that's not a concentration of special effects. 'Hardball' is filled with human emotions, and that effect is most special of all."

Ugliest bathroom gets a beautiful facelift

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER
kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

When Pamela Hass of Westland entered the Ugly Bathroom contest earlier this year, her finances were tight, as she was going through a divorce.

"I wanted to remodel the bathroom, but I just couldn't afford it," Hass said.

But Hass filled out an entry form, took photographs and mailed them in. Out of 700 entries, her bathroom was deemed by judges as the ugliest in the Original Ugly Bathroom contest, sponsored by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, WJR-AM 760 Radio, Mathison Supply of Livonia, Canton and Garden City, and the Building Industry Association of Southeast Michigan in Farmington Hills. Hass won a remodeling job on her bathroom worth approximately $10,000, installed by Complete Home Improvement of Livonia.

Judges reviewed Hass's photos, which showed how water damaged a wall near the tub and created a hole, exposing pipes. That hole was covered with plastic.

The bath tub had rust stains, Hass said. "The toilet always ran." The yellow tile also was dirty and deteriorated from years of use.

"I took the 'worst' photos I possibly could," said Hass.

Homeowners entered the contest at Home Improvement shows conducted throughout metro Detroit in February and March.

Judges examined the entries last spring. (Judges included Frank Mathison, Mathison Supply; Richard "Lefty" Frizzell and Mark Roberts of Complete Home Improvement; Denise Rosenthal, public relations assistant; Rosalie Land, show manager for the BIA of Southeastern Michigan; Joe Fisher of Elect Sales, a sales manager for Jason; Mary Klemic, editor of the Eccentric's At Home section; and Ken Abramczyk, editor of the Observer's At Home section.)

Frizzell, Roberts and Lefty's son, Rich, worked on the bathroom. They ripped out the vanity and the yellow wall tile. They replaced the old tub with an air-masseur massage bathtub by Jason. Other suppliers included cabinetry by Bertch, faucets by Harden, and an Ultra-Flush toilet by Gerber.

"We put in a new tub, new (wall) tile, a new vanity, new faucets," Frizzell said. A countertop sink by U.S. Marble was installed, along with new white tiles.

"We also had to fix the walls before we tiled," Frizzell said. "There was also a hole there where [illegible] answered any questions we had.

Hass's children – Andrea, Erica and Adam – enjoy the new bathroom, too. "They love it," their mother said. "They're excited. They couldn't believe we were picked."

Frizzell enjoyed helping Hass. "When you help someone who needs it, it's nice," Frizzell said.

Hass expects to enjoy her new bathroom for a long time. "I love it," Hass said. "Somebody was looking over me."

If you think your bathroom is the ugliest, you don't have to wait until next year to enter next year's contest. Entries and accompanying photos will be accepted for the 2002 Ugliest Bathroom contest, which officially begins at the Fall Remodeling and Furniture Show Oct. 11-14 at the Novi Expo Center. That contest will run through late March 2002.

Conversation blooms about flowering tree

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

If you are planning to plant a tree this fall, a small flowering tree may be "just what the doctor ordered" to spruce up the landscape.

Sometimes we may want to stretch the zone limits a little and see what happens. For instance, we are generally in zone 5, but a protected area could be zone 6.

Gloria and Merrill Dixon of Troy planted a tree that has become quite a conversation piece, especially when it blooms as it did this year. It is a Southern Mimosa, also called the mimosa of the Eastern States or Silk-tree. The botanical name is Albizia julibrissin.

The couple brought the tree with them from Cumberland, Md., in 1986 when it was very small. Each fall the branches kept dying back to the trunk, but by 1995 it began to show steady growth when new "bumps" appeared and branches grew from them.

It has had "very few" blossoms up until this year, 15 years from the time they planted it. Gloria and Merrill attribute this to the fact that the summer was so hot and humid.

The fragrant, powder puff pink, pincushion flowers are striking and appear in July and August. They look as though a puff of wind might blow them away. Gray-brown pods 5 to 7 inches long follow the flowers.

Care

Patience is a virtue, and the flowers are the reward. Gloria and Merrill did nothing special to enrich the soil when they planted the tree in the lawn. It is fertilized when the grass is fertilized, although for the last few years they have been giving it Muracid.

The tree is approximately 30 feet high with an umbrella-like shape.

The leaves are similar to sunburst locust leaves and are a rich grass green, tropical looking with a form that resembles a fern. The new growth is lighter. It is interesting to watch the leaves at night, as they are light sensitive and fold up then.

Michael Dirr, the tree expert, says this tree is cold tolerant to zone 6, and when the temperatures are around -5 to -10 degrees Fahrenheit stem dieback is likely, which corresponds to what the Dixons experienced.

He also says this variety is susceptible to insect and disease problems, although the Dixons' tree hasn't had any of those problems.

Dirr suggests the variety A. rosea "Ernest Wilson" because it is considerably more cold hardy than the typical species and tolerates -15 degrees Fahrenheit.

Health

I want to caution you to be extremely careful about Lyme disease when you are outside this fall. I have three friends, one in New Jersey and two in Rochester Hills, who have the disease.

The best protection is to wear clothing that covers you well and to examine any places on your skin that look suspicious. The most noticeable symptoms are fatigue and also fever, headache, muscle stiffness and joint pain.

The only way to find out if you have the disease is by a blood test. Ask your doctor to perform the test if you have any symptoms. Use a product labeled to resist the tick that carries Lyme disease.

Now to pets: Grow Info, a publication of the Master Gardener Association of Wayne County, reports that if you use cocoa mulch, watch to see if your pet exhibits symptoms of restlessness, panting, pacing or anxious behavior. It might be a reaction to theobromine, a central nervous system and cardiovascular stimulant, a compound in all parts of the cocoa plant.

The phone number for the ASPCA National Animal Poison Control Center is (888)4-ANI-HELP.

Chores

Here are a few fall chores to do now:

Dig and clip off the green tops of summer bulbs such as dahlias, cannas, gladiolus and callas. Store bulbs in a cool, dry place for the winter.

Compost and composted manure can be added to the soil while it is still warm. As the soil expands and contracts, these products are churned into the soil.

Remove fallen fruit from the ground to prevent overwintering of insects that could cause trouble next spring. Add the fruit to the compost pile.

Fallen leaves under rose bushes may harbor insects and fungus over the winter if they aren't removed. Rake them up and add them to the compost.

Refill your bird feeders to invite birds into your garden. Set a few near a window so you can watch the antics all winter long.

Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (734)953-2047 on a touch-tone phone. Her fax number is (248)644-1314.

We'll Pay You $400 Cash Trade-In For Your Old Furnace

■ Plus, you get our 5-year parts AND labor warranty.

There's usually NO CASH TRADE-IN for older systems. Most old systems are so outdated or expensive to repair that they have little or no value. We hardly ever hear of companies anywhere in the United States offering cash for trade-ins, but since our local Technical Schools need several old systems to help train their students for the Winter term - you can get $400 cash for your trade-in — no matter how old!

We'll either hand you a crisp check for your old trade-in, or give you a fat discount when you get your new one. It's your choice. But we must warn you, this offer will end when enough systems are traded in to help train the Winter students.

This is a double bonus FOR YOU — 1) The unusual cash trade-in value and 2) Our 5-year parts AND labor warranty. But there's more...

In the bargain, you'll be getting a brand new heating system that is GUARANTEED to save you 25% in energy consumptions. (This averages between $360 and $520).

The guarantee is just this simple: "Get a new furnace from Climate Control Systems, installed by our highly trained technicians using our unique methods and skills. If, after a solid year of use, it doesn't save you at least 25% in energy consumption over your old heating system, we'll write you a check for the difference." That's it. You're guaranteed cash savings all year long.

Our other great benefit is our 5-year parts and labor warranty. This warranty is so complete that you CAN'T spend a cent in repairs for the next 5 years. We cover you with complete protection from repairs, so you can relax in total comfort — year after year—and not even think about repair bills.

But to take full advantage of this huge bonus offer, you must call before we get all the trade-ins we need. Remember, there's normally NO trade-in allowance on older furnaces, but for the next couple of weeks you can get up to $400 cash for yours.

So call Climate Control Systems today at (248) 486-9330 to set up your FREE, no-obligation survey. Call (248) 486-9330 before we get all the trade-ins we need!

Man pleased after fixing timer on washing machine

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

JOE GAGNON

A young man with a family approaches me and asked if I had a few minutes to spare so he could talk to me. His name is Chris, and he wants to talk to me about his washer.

Chris arrived home one day to discover water all over the place. The tub inside the washer remained half full after the washer reached the end of the wash cycle. He set the timer into the spin cycle and the washer dumped the rest of the water out, then advanced to the off position. He then set the timer to a wash cycle and set the load size for a small wash. The machine began to fill until the tub contained one-third of a load of water and then the agitator began to swish around.

All was going well until he noticed that the water had not stopped flowing into the tub and he waited until it was about two inches from the top and then he shut off the timer. At this point the water stopped coming into the machine. He realized why the washer overflowed. He figured that the pressure switch worked properly and the water valve was OK as well.

■ He proceeded to take the timer out of the console are and took it apart to find little pieces of lint inside the timer. One of the tiny contact points had a piece of lint jammed inside, causing the points to weld shut.

He proceeded to take the timer out of the console area and took it apart to find little pieces of lint inside the timer. One of the tiny contact points had a piece of lint jammed inside, causing the points to weld shut. He separated the points and cleaned them with a little emery board, then put them back together.

The washer works just fine now. Chris saved himself over $100, which would have been the cost of a new timer. He did it himself and he was very proud in relating this story to me. His closing comments made me feel very worthwhile. "I read everything you write and listen to many of your radio shows. From all of that, I've learned so much from you." I am pleased when someone thanks me.

On Oct. 11, I will begin what I call the home tour shows. I will broadcast my weekend show from the Novi Expo Center, and I will be there for four days answering questions for hundreds of consumers. You will see many ads for this home improvement show announcing exact times.

I get such pleasure in talking with the readers of this column. I had a person tell me the other day that ABC Television did a story on the General Electric dishwasher recall, a topic I've written about before. (It's nice to know that television producers may read this newspaper, too.)

The subject of major home appliances may not fall into the category of exciting reading, but this newspaper decided six years ago to give it a try. I'll bet that very few people in the newspaper business have tried it. This is a shame because this column is dedicated to informing and educating the consumer.

Appliances are expensive to buy and always costly to repair. Knowing the little secrets of the service industry, which you can gain by reading will definitely save you money down the road. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard Saturday and Sunday on 760 WJR. He is a member and past president of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals. His phone number is (313) 873-9789.

Changing door locks is simple

ASK DAD

HARRY JACHYM

A few weeks ago, my wife and I, like many other parents, moved our kids back to college as they took residence into unfurnished, second-floor apartments. It took my pickup truck, a trailer and a lot of muscle to get them, and their furnishings, in.

That evening we returned to rest in our very quiet house. Life is good.

Since that Saturday, Dave's been home two weekends, then Aimee returned one weekend, plus dinner on a recent Sunday, and both are talking about future visits. This got me thinking about a column on changing door locks....

OK, so I'm not going to change the locks on the kids, but if your locksets are worn, they need replacing. You may wish to replace them anyway, for better security.

How to change them

For this project, we'll assume all the needed holes are in the door. That means only a screwdriver should be needed, but a utility knife or chisel may be required to refit the faceplate or strike plate.

Removing the old lock is simply a matter of removing two connecting screws found on the thumb-turn plate. Once removed, the cylinder and thumb-turn are pulled away from the door. Remove the two screws holding the faceplate in the edge of the door and slide the latch-bolt shaft from the door. Remove the strike plate from the doorjamb and you're ready to put the new one in. In some cases, the strike plate may not need to be changed.

Installation is likely the reverse of how the old one came out, but follow the instructions that came with the new lock. The utility knife and chisel will make simple work of necessary modifications for the face or striker plates. I learned this weekend that some doors with older deadbolts are drilled too small for new ones. In this case a rasp, file or hole saw (depending on door construction) may be needed to enlarge the hole.

What to look for

Stay with a name brand lock. Look for locks with hardened bolts and reinforced strike plates. Reinforced strike plates may be a bit more difficult to install, but this extra work is well worth the increased security. Use 3-inch or 4-inch long screws to secure the strike plate. These will penetrate the wall stud. Also, the longer the bolt, the stronger the hold.

Budget Bathtub Liners

Company offers solutions for tub troubles

When was the last time you did a fantastic job cleaning your bathroom, only to realize the tub still looked less than stellar?

If the finish on your bathtub is chipped, peeling, faded or permanently stained no amount of cleanser and scrubbing will do the job. The bathtub needs to be fixed.

Visit our 12,000 sq. ft. factory showroom located in Madison Hgts. where we sell over 6,000 bathtub liners and wall surround systems annually. We also sell a complete line of Whirlpool, soaker tubs and hydrotherapy massage tubs.

Reglazing is an option, but only a temporary one. There's no guarantee the finish won't go bad again,and the reglazing process is difficult and involves many dangerous chemicals.

The bathtub could be replaced, but there is even more mess involved, not to mention the cost.

There is another solution, though,and Budget Bathtub Liners Co., with showrooms in Lincoln Park and Madison Heights, has the answer: a new bathtub liner or total complete system consisting of bathtub Liner and Wall Surround system.

One of the hottest trends in bathroom remodeling, bathtub liners and wall systems fit over not only existing bathtubs, but also ceramic walls in your bathroom. That means less mess and less time between what your bathroom looks like now and a completely new appearance.

For a limited time only, bathtub liners are on sale from $389 installed. Complete systems, which include bathtub liner and wall surround, are on sale from $1295. That's about 50-75% less than the cost of replacing an old tub and ceramic tiles which average about $3,000 to $5,000 and more..

Budge Bathtub Liner is able to offer the low prices, according to Dean Hartley, because of the large volume of business it does.

"We're the largest distributor of Acrylic Bathtub Liners and Wall Surround Systems in the country," Hartley said. "I'm proud of that."

When a homeowner places an order for a new liner, employees take 15 different measurements and several photographs of the existing bathtub. The measurements and photos are then sent to the company's factory, where a custom liner is made using one of 750 molds in stock.

In addition, seven colors and faux marbles finished are available along with a complete line of Delta and Kohler fixtures.

All Bathtub Liners and Wall Surround Systems are made of DR/ABS Owens Corning High Impact Acrylic and carry a Lifetime Warranty. This is the same material football helmets, and bowling balls are made from and the liners are about three times the thickness of those found at home improvement stores and are guaranteed not to chip or peel and to retain their finish. In addition, installation, which can usually be done in one day, is guaranteed.

Budget Bathtub Liners Co. is at 25170 John R. Madison Heights and 3387 Fort St., Lincoln Park between Emmons and Champaign adjacent to Mickey Shorr. The showroom is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.. Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and 11:00 a.m.to 5:00 p.m. Sundays. For more information, call Budget bathtub Liner at 1-800-BATHTUB.

For increased security on glass doors or doors near windows, double cylinder locks (keys both outside and inside) are often recommended. However, many building codes don't allow double cylinder locks. It's too easy to forget where the key is in a panic situation leaving people trapped in a burning building.

If you must use a double cylinder, be certain to leave the key in the lock when the home is occupied.

Relatively new on the market are keyless deadbolts. These are available in a variety of keypad and remote control configurations. Most of these are easy to reprogram and keys aren't necessary. Remote locks, like those commonly used on autos, allow you to unlock the door from a distance for quicker entry to your house. For more information on many keyless locks, visit http://853111.site.yahoo.net/853111/index.html.

CREATIVE LIVING

Give your photos exposure at home

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

If you're like many amateur photographers, your pictures don't get much exposure—in your home, that is. Many of your good shots are packed away in drawers and closets, not placed on the wall where they belong.

Your home should reflect your personality with a selection of photographs to complement the other furnishings in your rooms. Your own pictures and those of other photographers whose work you admire will add to the decor of your home and your enjoyment of it.

Of course, attractive matting and framing enhance the presentation of a photograph. Pre-cut mats in standard sizes can be bought from most art supply or camera shops. You can also buy inexpensive mat cutters, and with a little practice you'll be cutting your own professional looking mats.

Simply measure equal borders around your already mounted photograph and carefully cut your mat. Make sure the blades are sharp and use fine sandpaper or an emery board to eliminate any rough spots on the edges.

To produce a collage of pictures, perhaps of the entire family, just cut as many "windows" out of the mat board as you'll need. Then tape each picture to the board from behind and back them with another piece of mat board. You're now ready to add a frame.

You've been framed

Frames come in many styles, colors and prices. For photography, simplicity is the best guideline.

Plain metal frames don't draw attention away from the impact of the photograph, yet at the same time they lend a complementary finishing touch to your picture. Metal frame kits are available in all photo, art supply and frame shops. Buy sections in the lengths you need and your frame can be assembled easily in a matter of minutes.

Be sure to use glass, too. Glass not only protects your photograph, but also adds to the appearance of your finished work. Regular, single-strength glass works best. Non-glare glass reduces the "snap" of your photo and makes the colors look dull.

Other types of frames are available. Plain wood frames will enhance many photographs, while more modern Lucite frames will add a contemporary touch.

Most pictures look best when hung at eye level. Try a grouping over a large piece of furniture such as a sofa or buffet, or over a fireplace. Place a larger picture in the center, surrounded by a few smaller ones.

Hanging photographs in your home will not only smartly decorate your rooms, but living with them daily will encourage your photographic growth.

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (734)953-2047 on a touch-tone phone. His fax number is (248)644-1314.

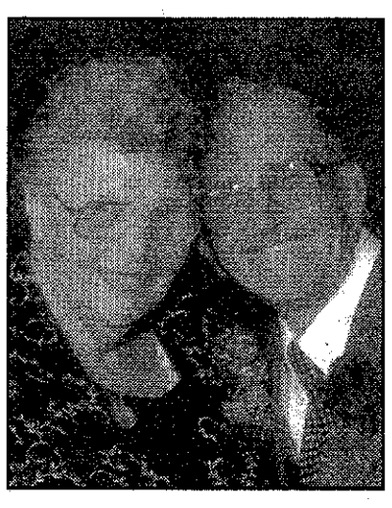
ANNOUNCEMENTS

Kehrer



Richard and Helga (Olterstorf) Kehrer of Marion, Mich. will celebrate 50 years of marriage this month. The couple wed Sept. 22, 1951 at St. Mary Church in Wayne.

They have four children: Charles Kehrer of Garden City, Mary Masura of Canton, Timothy Kehrer of Canton and Paul Kehrer of Brighton. They also have eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Richard Kehrer retired 11 years ago from his job as a tool and die maker. Helga Kehrer retired three years ago from her work as a health care assistant.

Richard Kehrer is an avid fan of the Detroit Tigers and University of Michigan Wolverines. He enjoys gardening.

His wife, Helga, spends time knitting, crocheting and making quilts.

To celebrate the occasion, the couple will renew their wedding vows at St. Mary Church and be guests of honor at a reception at the Dearborn Inn. Congratulations.

McKendry

William and Esther McKendry of Plymouth are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this month. The couple wed Sept. 29, 1951 at St. Gregory in Detroit. They have lived in Plymouth for 28 years.

The McKendrys have nine children: Barbara, Tom (Colleen), Larry (Karen), Kathy, Pat (Theresa), Paul (Gail), Marilyn (David), Nancy (Steve) and Eileen (Mark). They also have 11 grandchildren and another on the way.

To celebrate the occasion, the couple will renew their vows at St. Thomas a Beckett and will enjoy a dinner party, given by their children, at Laurel Manor.

RENEÉ SKOGLUND

Life with my mom has never been boring

I always knew my mother was a good actress. Her face can radiate a transition from joy to despair in seconds, and her voice can quiver on command. She's good. Oh, she's very good.

However, I didn't know how good until I received a recent speeding ticket on Beck Road in Northville. I had taken my mother out for a ride and stopped at Cloverdale's for an ice cream cone. Afterwards, we went for a short ride in the country.

Never, never, NEVER drive down Beck Road while helping your mother spread napkins on her lap to keep a strawberry cone from dripping on her slacks. To do so necessitates leaning to the right, which puts pressure on your right leg, which puts pressure on the accelerator, which makes you the perfect bait for a cop tucked into a side street.

Spry: A dancing Margaret Cartier.

"Oh, oh, mom. I think we're about to be pulled over."

"Pulled over? You mean by a policeman?"

"Yep."

This is when my mother's Oscar-winning performance began.

"Don't worry. I'll get you out of this," she said

[illegible] sharply. She is a news junkie who stays up all night and brags about all the call-in talk shows she listens to on the radio. A few weeks ago she won a coupon for two dozen hot dogs for being a "lucky caller."

She tells me all the time she's gaining brain cells rather then losing them, and just before we were pulled over she had recited the names of all the presidents since Washington.

You wouldn't have guessed she had a brain cell left when I rolled down the window to let the cop's serious face in. Before he could say one word, my mother went into character.

"Ooooh, officer, why are you pulling us over?" she crooned. "Did my daughter do something wrong?"

"Yes, ma'am. She was going 15 miles over the speed limit."

"Ooooh, it's not her fault. You see, I just got out of the hospital (not true) and she took me out for an ice cream cone. She's a good girl."

I couldn't believe it. My mother had metamorphosed from a super sharp senior to a 140-year-old woman who had lost her mind. I had to stop her.

"Mom, let this man do his job," I said with a touch of venom in my voice. She wasn't listening.

"Ooooh, officer, you're not going to

FRIDAY'S Child

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON

Instead of American Girl dolls or Barbie accessories, 6-year-old Ali Johnson of Canton was hoping to receive dog food and kitty litter for her seventh birthday.

"I really like animals and it was just something that popped into my head one day," said Johnson.

The Canton elementary school student told her parents, several months before her birthday, she'd like to ask guests to bring money or pet supplies to her party in lieu of gifts.

Ali told her mom she thought if she received $100 in cash she could "solve all the animals problems at the Humane Society."

"I wasn't that surprised that she thought of doing that, but I figured by the time her birthday rolled around she'd have forgotten about it or changed her mind," said Barb Johnson, Ali's mother.

When it came time for her mom to send out invitations to family members and friends, the little girl hadn't changed her mind, and asked for her request to be written on the inside of the cards.

"I feel bad because the animals at the Michigan Humane Society have no one to live with," said Ali, a second-grader at Erikkson Elementary School in the Plymouth-Canton School District.

Ali Johnson was nominated in September for the Friday's Child feature by her mom.

Wish is granted

Everyone who attended Ali's birthday party honored her wishes. In total she received $380 as well as dog and [illegible] Humane Society in Westland to bring in Ali's donations.

"The manager of the clinic told Ali how very grateful they were, how the money would be used and that the food and supplies would come in handy," said Barb.

"We're really proud of her and of the fact that she didn't even consider changing her mind," added her father Pat Johnson.

A longtime animal lover, Ali has several pets she's responsible for at home including three cockatiels and four [illegible]

The Johnsons say Ali has always expressed an interest in caring for animals. "That probably comes from our visits to the Michigan Humane Society to donate towels, newspapers and other things for animals," said Barb.

The Canton family are also regular participants at the MHS Tailwaggers Bowl at Woodland Lanes. The annual fund-raising event supports MHS shelters in the area.

The 7-year-old is involved in many activities outside of school [illegible] and vacation bible school at First United Methodist Church of Wayne. For the second time she attended a week-long Pony Camp this summer at a farm in Plymouth Township where she learned to care and groom young horses.

Although she's only in the second grade, Ali says she hopes to become a veterinarian when she grows up.

"I'm having a hard time deciding between being a veterinarian or opening my own pet rescue center. For a long time I've just loved animals," said Ali. "I just like everything about them."

Power Team leaves audiences in awe

BY ALICE ASHMORE
STAFF WRITER

The sanctuary of the Plymouth United Assembly of God took on the feel of a construction zone, with scaffolding, bricks, and boards – but the church wasn't building anything except enthusiasm.

The Power Team, a Christian ministry billed as "The world's greatest exhibition of power, strength, speed, inspiration and motivation," was in the house.

Dust and smoke wafted through the sanctuary during the service as members of the Power Team broke stacks of flaming bricks to the applause of a standing-room-only crowd.

Matthew Berger, 11, of Livonia, was seeing the Power Team for the third time "because what they do is great – telling people about Jesus and breaking stuff."

"It's really impressive," he added.

His mother, Yvonne Berger, said the program is unusual as well as educational. "It shows how lives are changed."

Berger said she appreciated the group's strong anti-drug and abstinence message.

Marc Wilkes, Jeff Warner, a former WWF wrestler known as "J.D. Storm"; Hayden Hendrix, who at one time guarded the President; and Willie "the Train" Raines, were the Power Team members who made the trip to Plymouth.

At 260 pounds, Warner was the smallest man in group.

"Thou shall not be bored in church – that's the 11th commandment," Hendrix said. "The Power Team is a faith building program."

The audience was anything but bored as the men broke a pair of double-locked handcuffs and slammed their way through stacks of brick and concrete.

"These bricks represent something in your life that needs to be broken – pride, racism ... These walls are coming down!" Hendrix yelled.

In another feat, one of the Power Team was sandwiched between two beds of nails while another team member bench pressed a 300 pound log on top of him.

The men also broke baseball bats across their thighs and bent one-inch-thick steel bars while holding them between their teeth.

"We're trying to show how God's power can overcome anything in your life," Hendrix said.

Raines said his life was changed by the Lord six years ago.

"I was a drug dealer and a gang-banger. I had cars and money, but I had no peace and happiness," he said.

In 1995 Raines was arrested on five felony counts of possession of cocaine.

"I had everything that the world thought was good," he said. "On July 14 I was saved on my bunk in jail. Right then I understood I was a sinner and was on my way to hell. I left that jail cell and went back and told my friends that I had given my life to Jesus," Raines said.

He said that because of the change in his life, "The judge pardoned me of 33 years in prison."

"They (the students) absolutely loved them," said Andy Lapins, assistant pastor at the church. "I've never seen kids get so excited."

Lapins said bringing the Power Team to Plymouth was a unique way of attracting people to the church. "We want to 'win the lost at any cost,'" he said. "It's something that is going to get un-churched people into the building."

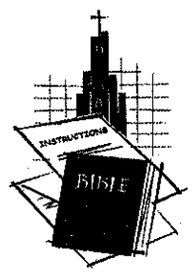
Read the Instructions.....



Whenever we purchase a new appliance or piece of equipment, we should always carefully read the instructions or manual that accompanies it. It is a good idea to file this information away for future use, in case the item breaks or doesn't work properly. God has given us the Bible, which has wonderful instructions for our life. However, unlike these instruction manuals, the Bible is not something that we should put away and read only when something in our lives is not working right. Just as we should keep a good relationship with repairman and mechanics who can help us when something breaks down, we should also maintain a good relationship with our Lord. We should be aware that we will always need our Heavenly Father's help, and remember that God's loving kindness is always there for His people. The Bible tells us that if we draw near to God, He will draw near to us, and if we seek the Lord, He will answer us and deliver us from all of our fears.

Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is the Lord.
R.S.V. Jeremiah 17:7

Youth make commitment of abstinence before marriage

To help turn back the tide of sexual promiscuity in America today, the True Colors Youth Ministry of Praise Chapel (36115 Plymouth Road) of Livonia, will be hosting "Purity 2001: Dare to be Different." The seminar will challenge teenagers to commit themselves to a life of sexual purity before marriage at 6 p.m. Sept. 23.

Following a time of praise and worship music, special singing, and drama by True Colors Youth Ministries, Donald Nichols, special guest speaker, will encourage and challenge teenagers to hold themselves to a higher standard and live sexually pure lives outside of marriage.

At the conclusion of the service, students will have an opportunity to take a vow of purity. Those who wish to participate will receive a token of purity to remind them of their commitment.

There is no admission charge but a $3.00 per person donation will be requested to cover cost for pop and pizza.

Nichols is a licensed psychologist. He teaches at Oakland Community College and is an adjunct professor at Madonna University, and a licensed lay minister at Redford Baptist Church.

"Don Nichols is a Christian minister and doctor of psychology with a genuine love for young people," said Chuck LaParr, Praise Chapel director of youth ministries, "and his message is presented in a real down-to-earth fashion."

"Unfortunately, many young people receive their sex education from the media," said LaParr. "In 1991 the average high school student had the opportunity to watch 14,000 acts of sexual intercourse or innuendo on prime time television. That's one every 6.3 minutes of prime time television. In 2001 that number will nearly double."

"God created sex to be used and enjoyed. But he created it to be used within marriage as an expression of total commitment and unity. Out of control it can destroy reputations and even life itself," said LaParr. "This is why we as pastors, parents, teachers and concerned Christians must do everything in our power to educate our young people on what the Bible teaches about purity. That is why it is our heartfelt desire to reach young people with the sexual purity message. Purity 2001 is dedicated to the message of sexual abstinence before marriage," said LaParr.

Please contact Chuck or Kim LaParr, True Colors Youth Directors at (734) 513-5174 or by e-mail at TrueColors@praise-chapel.org.

Local genealogy event draws near Genealogy wizards and wanna-be's will want to take notice of a major event in the field of genealogy titled "Inkwells to the Internet: A Genealogical Conference of the Old Northwest Territory Oct. 18-20.

The three-day seminar will feature over 40 sessions with 16 speakers on topics ranging from ethnicity/locality and history to methodology and computers. The seminar is sponsored by the Michigan Genealogical Council and by three genealogical groups in Southeastern Michigan: Farmington Genealogical Society, Oakland County Genealogical Society and the Western Wayne County Genealogical Society (based in Livonia).

In addition to numerous workshops and resource opportunities, there will be lectures by six nationally recognized genealogical speakers including: Dr. John Phillip Colletta, Tony Burroughs, Wade Hone, Roger D. Joslyn, Paul Milner and Jim Slade.

On Thursday, Oct. 18 three pre-conference workshops will be held. The afternoon speakers scheduled are Jim Slade, "Practical Use of Technology;" Diana Smith, "Mining Collateral Lines;" and E. Wade Hone's workshop "Myths About Migration."

Shopping opportunities will be available for people interested in buying maps, charts, books and other genealogical resources. The exhibit hall at the Northfield Hilton Hotel will be open at 8 a.m. Friday and Saturday with over 25 commercial and society vendors including Ancestory.com; Michiana and Ye Olde Genealogie Shoppe.

Some of the lecture topics throughout the three-day event include "Finding New England Ancestors in Print," "Women and the Law," "Finding Your Michigan Ancestors in Upstate New York," "Out of the Mouths of Slaves," "Tracing Your Voyageur Ancestor in Fur Trade Records," "What Killed the Pioneers: Death and Mortality Records," "Genealogical Research in Michigan Copper County," and "Tiptoeing Through the Tombstones."

The event also provides lunch and dining opportunities and the Northfield Hilton (5500 Crooks Road, Troy) has reserved a block of rooms for seminar attendees from the 17th through the 21st of Oct.

The deadline to take advantage of these rates is Sept. 27. Call the hotel at (248) 879-2100. For further information visit www.rootsweb.com/~mimgc or to obtain a registration form write: 2001 Seminar, 24462 Broadview, Farmington Hills, MI 48336-1810.

give her a ticket are you?"

"Yes, ma'am. I am."

"Ooooh ... "

"Mom, keep quiet," I hissed.

The officer assured me that that my mother wasn't being a problem. Judging from his appraising look, I was convinced he had me pegged as a mean daughter bullying a helpless mother just out of the hospital. He disappeared into his car, apparently checking my record for speeding tickets and parental abuse charges. Five minutes later he was back.

"I'm giving you a ticket for five miles over," he said.

"Fine, write it up for any amount."

I wanted to get out of there before my mother ad-libbed another line. The cop handed me my ticket and winked at my mother. She took this as a sign to continue.

"And officer, did you know her husband just retired from the FBI?"

That was it. I knew she'd work my husband's former profession in there somehow. I peeled off and rolled the windows up before she could utter another word.

"Mom, did you have to be so dramatic?" I asked as she resumed eating her cone.

"Well, he gave you a less expensive ticket, didn't he?" she retorted.

I guess he did. Thanks, mom. Another great performance.

Scoring attack

Andy Power, a Plymouth Salem graduate now at Siena Heights, netted three goals for the Saints in leading them to a 4-1 win at Indiana Tech Saturday.

Power scored once in the first half and added two more in the second as Siena Heights improved to 5-2 overall. Sam Skeels assisted on all three of his goals.

Power also picked upan assist on the Saints' fourth goal, scored by Tim Beehler in the first half.

Player of the week

Brian Wozniak, a junior at the University of Buffalo and a Plymouth Salem graduate, earned player of the week honors for the school after posting back-to-back shutout victories last week.

On Sunday, Buffalo battled back from a 1-0 deficit against University of Detroit Mercy with a second-half goal by Patrick Beckley, then withstood two overtimes to earn a 1-1 tie in Buffalo. UDM's only goal was scored by Eric Scott (from Livonia Churchill).

The Bulls improved to 3-0-1 for the season. Wozniak has allowed just two goals this season, giving him a 0.46 goals-against average.

Dombrowski shines

Jill Dombrowski, a freshman setter for the University of Albany's volleyball team and a Plymouth Salem HS graduate, continued to sparkle last week for the Great Danes.

Dombrowski posted a season-high 36 set assists to go with five kills, five digs and three service aces in Albany's win over Vermont last Sunday. In Saturday's loss to Colgate, she had 30 set assists, five kills, four digs and four aces.

Dombrowski leads Albany (now 2-5) in assists with 207, ranking her eighth in the America East Conference.

Whalers rescheduled

The Plymouth Whalers home opener, which was scheduled for last Saturday against the Erie Otters before being postponed, has been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 3 at Compuware Sports Arena. Tickets for the original home opener will be accepted on Oct. 3.

For additional information, call (734) 453-8400.

Blue Oaks win tourney

The Canton Blue Oaks under-9 boys select soccer team was undefeated at the Northwest Ohio Soccer Festival, posting a 3-0-1 record. The Blue Oaks beat the PaceSetters Red 2-0, the Michigan Wolves 2-1 and the Novi Jaguars 5-4. They also tied the Maumee (Ohio) Express Cup 2-2 in their final game.

Wildcats perfect

The Canton Wildcats, a Great Lakes Soccer League open girls under-10 team, went undefeated and were unscored upon at the Maumee (Ohio) Soccer Festival Aug. 17-19.

Team members are Allysen Geoffrey, Abbi Giaier, Jesseca Heck, Kirsten Holland, Jamie Houdek, Shelby Jones, Jordan Larocco, Laura Morgan, Andrea Revels, Rebecca Smith and Sylvia Swierszczyk. The team is coached by Chris Holland, Manfred Heck and Ben Holland.

PAL golf outing

The Milford Police Athletic League is sponsoring a parent-child golf outing, beginning with a shotgun start at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14 at Mystic Creek Golf Course, located inside Camp Dearborn.

Teams will be flighted by the child's age. Divisions are: eight-and-under, 10-and-under, 12-and-under, 14-and-under, 16-and-under and a seniors.

Cost is $50 per person, which includes 18 holes of golf, a cart, buffet dinner and trophies to the top two teams in each division.

The Livonia Stevenson boys soccer team raised some eyebrows on Saturday with a 1-0 win over No. 2 ranked Rochester Adams.

But Wednesday's 2-0 dismantling of visiting Plymouth Canton, previously unbeaten and the state's No. 1 rated team in Division I, was like a quarterback sack from the blind side.

"It's still early in the year and I'll remain cautious about what I say until I learn more about this team," said Stevenson coach Lars Richters, whose team was rated No. 3 going in. "It's great to be ranked, but it really doesn't matter in September. What matters most is what happens in November."

The speedy Spartans came out with a flurry and kept up their relentless pressure throughout the entire 80 minutes, giving Canton little chance to catch its collective breath.

Not even a 25-minute delay during halftime because of lightning could slow down the Spartans' furious pace.

Stevenson struck early as senior midfielder Ben White ripped a rocket of a shot from 20 yards out, eluding a helpless Canton goalkeeper Greg Musser. The goal came just 2 minutes and 44 seconds into the match.

"They kicked our tails," said Canton coach Don Smith, whose 8-1 Chiefs have knocked off several top 10 teams already this season. "That helped when they were able to stick in that first goal in the first minute or so. It boosted their morale.

"The first half we just watched. The second half I thought we got back to playing good soccer."

Canton, however, had nothing to show for its renewed effort during the final 40 minutes of action.

With wingers Nik Djokic and J.T. Katikos making life uneasy for the Canton defense, the Spartans continued to carry the play and created several golden chances, only to be repelled by either Musser or simply an errant attempt from close-range.

Djokic, however, all but sealed Canton's fate when he scored with 27:35 left in the match on a short cross from Katikos, the latter whom also assisted on the first goal.

"When we get all three of those guys — J.T., Nik and T.J. Djokic — are all playing well, it helps our team and makes us more unpredictable," Richters said. "But the reason we're doing so well right now is not so much the speed, but what we're showing is some maturity. These guys have been playing now a couple of years together."

Canton had a chance to cut the deficit to one goal with just under 21 minutes remaining, but Stevenson defender Jeff Wilson was able to clear the ball out just before it crossed the goal line.

The Stevenson defense, made up of Wilson, Dave Novara, Patrick Kolodziejzak and Joe Lubinski, dominated the backline and sealed off the goal area most of the night for keeper Charlie Knoll to earn the shutout.

"All four played varsity last year and they've been a unit since the first day of preseason," Richters said. "Fortunately they [illegible] us to jell each game.

SC coach felled by cancer

Other than their love of soccer, Joe Kurta and Dominic Scicluna don't seem to have that much in common, really. Kurta was born and raised in Hungary; Scicluna is home-grown, a former standout at Redford Catholic Central.

One grew up somewhat of a rebel, combative; the other was more disciplined.

To Van Dimitriou, it didn't matter. Which is why both of them, Dimitriou's assistant coaches at Schoolcraft College the last couple of years, spoke of their former boss the same way: "He was like a father to me."

Van Dimitriou
SC soccer coach

Dimitriou, SC's coach for 17 seasons, passed away Wednesday after a long bout with colon cancer. He was 58.

He is survived by his wife of 33 years, Helen; a son, Robert; a daughter, Becky; and three grandchildren: Alex, Paige and Caroline.

Dimitriou graduated from Dearborn Fordson HS, then earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State — where he played soccer for three years — in 1967. He taught physical education and geography and was a counselor at West Junior HS in Taylor for 32 years, retiring in 2000.

He served as an assistant to Larry Christoff, SC's first varsity soccer

Chiefs stay on schedule, defeat Rocks

BY C.J. RISAK

So far, Plymouth Canton's golf team is right on line.

The Chiefs' coach, Tom Alles, had established a course for his team prior to the season. With seven of their 11 Western Lakes Activities Association meets to be played at Hilltop, Canton's home course, Alles knew the Chiefs had a chance to be in the hunt for the WLAA championship going into the league tournament Oct. 9.

On Monday, Canton took a big step in the correct direction when it beat cross-creek rival Plymouth Salem, 157-165, in a meet at Hilltop. The victory boosted the Chiefs' WLAA record to 3-0; Salem fell to 2-2.

"So far," said Alles. "That's the plan — to win at home. Right now, I couldn't really ask for more.

"It's nice to see us have a couple of players break 40. If we can keep the others around 40, we'll be in every meet."

The minus-40 scorers were the difference against Salem. Ryan McKendry played a steady, near-perfect round with an even-par 35 to earn medalist honors. McKendry had one birdie and one bogey for the day.

Next best scorers for the Chiefs were Scott Oliver with a 38, followed by Michael Baracy at 41 and Ryan Van Loozen at 43. Andrew Wagner added a 46.

The Rocks were paced by Jon Gordon with a 38. Bobby Jones had a 41, Dave Wallen a 42 and Andy Thackaberry a 44. The non-counting scores came from Ryan Williams and Aaron Cheesman, each with a 46.

"We're right on schedule here," said Alles. "There's a lot of competition on the team — that helps keep everyone sharp."

Which is exactly what Canton has been this season: sharp.

Salem edges Franklin

Salem's depth proved a bit better than host Livonia Franklin's Friday as the Rocks edged the Patriots 162-169 in a WLAA match played at Idyl Wyld.

Bobby Jones was tops for Salem with a 38, followed by Aaron Cheesman (40), Dave Wallen (41) and both Andy Thackaberry and Jon Gordon (43 apiece). Ryan Williams was next for the Rocks with a 44.

Franklin's Mike Bokun earned medalist honors with a 37. Next best for the Pats was Cole Muncy's 41, followed by Joe LaBelle (45) and both Matt Williams and Drew White (46 apiece).

The loss left Franklin with an 0-2 record.

Losses leave Chiefs juggling their lineup

There hasn't been a whole heckuva lot to cheer about for Plymouth Canton's girls tennis team thus far this season, but Monday there was. The Chiefs hosted Western Lakes Activities Association rival Walled Lake Central, and they got their first win this season by a 5-3 score.

That made Canton 1-2 in WLAA dual meets.

This will be a year of adjustment for the Chiefs and, according to coach Barb Lehmann (formerly Hanosh — she was married last summer), next season could be much the same.

"We lost 10 seniors from last season's team," Lehmann said from a squad that placed third in the conference and was 7-3 in duals, "and we have eight seniors this year."

That's a lot to lose. So how many of those players lost from the 2000 team were pivotal?

"Every one of them," Lehmann replied. "They filled my varsity. They all played for four years. All of them made an impact."

One player who did return is senior Katie Maloni, who played No. 4 singles last season but has been elevated to No. 1 this year. Against Central, she was the only Chief to record a win in singles play, beating Jessica Godziebiewski 6-3, 6-4.

The Vikings swept the rest of the singles flights. At No. 2, Laura Slusher bested Canton's Beth Treadwell 6-4, 6-4;

Rocks have makings for a WLAA title run

For Plymouth Salem's girls tennis team, Monday's match may have been a turning point.

The Rocks entered the season with high hopes — well, sort of. "Our original goal was, 'Can we be in the top three?'" coach Tom Kimball said. "Now that we keep making adjustments, we're thinking maybe the top two."

Salem has a right to have its confidence soaring. On Monday, the Rocks visited long-time Western Lakes Activities Association powerhouse Northville, a team that — together with North Farmington — had ruled girls tennis in the conference. Indeed, those two teams finished one-two (North first, Northville second) last year.

"We're used to going up there and getting beat 8-0 every year," said Kimball, noting last season they managed to win one flight in losing, 7-1.

That scenario of domination was not repeated this year. Collecting wins in three of four singles flights, Salem managed to tie the Mustangs, 4-4.

That made the Rocks' WLAA record 2-0-1; they are 2-1-1 (they lost to Brighton, 5-3) overall. Northville, which also tied North 4-4, is 1-0-2 in the conference.

"We're on a pretty good high," noted Kimball. "We went into their house and took it to them."

BASKETBALL

Amy Henry riddled Westland Huron Valley Lutheran for 16 points and nine assists to lead Canton Agape Christian to a 55-36 triumph Tuesday in a girls basketball game played at Garden City United Christian.

Agape outscored Huron Valley 12-4 in the first quarter and led 27-15 at the half as it improved to 5-1. The Hawks fell to 2-3.

Henry got some assistance from Kelly Hayes with 13 points and Emily Tong with 12. Lisa Ther added seven points and eight rebounds for the Wolverines.

Huron Valley got 19 points from Lauren Merian.

Agape 58, Franklin Road 14: Canton Agape Christian built a 47-6 lead by halftime, then eased up (thanks to a running clock) in the second half in routing Novi Franklin Road Christian Monday in Novi.

Amy Henry's 19 points topped the Wolverines. Lisa Ther added 12.

Franklin Road (0-2) got 10 points from Karen Metcalf.

Chiefs race to a 2nd at Ludington

BOYS X-COUNTRY

All five Plymouth Canton runners placed in the top 25 Saturday at the Ludington Cross Country Invitational, and that was good enough to boost the Chiefs to a second-place finish in a field of 23 teams.

Muskegon Mona Shores finished first with 51 points. Canton had 71, followed by Petoskey with 120 and Fremont with 135.

Leading the Chiefs was Aaron Lanning, who placed fourth overall in 16:55.63. Mona Shores' runners grabbed the top two spots: Lance Vanderberg was first (16:12.30) and Levi Frasier was second (16:50.44). Fremont's Nate Stranthof just edged out Lanning for third (16:55.38).

Canton's other scorers were Steve Debien, seventh overall (17:00.54); Patt Pruitt, 17th (17:16.64); Jon Western, 19th (17:25.35); and Brandon McClellan, 24th (17:29.73).

The Chiefs other runners were Casey Maloney, 26th (17:31.31) and Ross O'Hara, 58th (18:15.51).

Canton is idle until Saturday, when it runs at the Monroe Jefferson Invitational.

Salem finishes 3rd

Once again, the best teams competing at the New Boston Huron Invitational Saturday were familiar ones to Plymouth Salem. They should be — the top three in the 20-team race were Western Lakes Activities Association squads.

Finishing first overall was Livonia Churchill with 68 points, followed by Livonia Stevenson with 95. In third was Plymouth Salem with 112, followed by Ann Arbor Huron with 117.

Other WLAA teams were North Farmington, which was seventh (240), and Westland John Glenn, which was 18th (522).

"I was pretty happy," said Salem coach Geoff Baker. "Our teams are still dropping and we're still without Chris Vraniak.

"We're still coming."

Vraniak, a junior who was sidelined with an illness, ran a 17:52 in the junior varsity race and should be back in a week.

Top finisher for Salem was Justin Hajduk, who took second overall (16:21). Jim Leddy placed 15th (17:11), Randy Bearden was 21st (17:18), Adam Warner finished 29th (17:27) and Jason Lewis was 45th (17:55).

Other Salem runners were Dave Anderson, 51st (18:00) and Erik Ness, 59th (18:13).

On Saturday, the Rocks' varsity runners will be at the Jackson Invitational. The rest of the squad travels to the Catholic Central Invitational.

CC beats DeLaSalle

Redford Catholic Central took the top four spots and 13 of the first 14 as the Shamrocks rolled over De La Salle on Monday, 16-47, at Cass-Benton Park.

Ryan Lowry and David Lucas crossed the line together with winning times of 16:55.

John Krawiec was third in 17:09, Kyle Jekot was fourth in 17:12 and Brian Doot was sixth.

On Saturday, Lowry was the overall winner as the Shamrocks came in third at the Holly Invitational with 135 points, just behind Portage Northern (121) and Traverse City West (134).

Lowry won in 15:53 while Lucas was 16th (16:37), Jekot was 21st (16:48), Doot was 47th (17:27) and Dan Horgan was 50th (17:51).

Salem 5th at Invite

GIRLS X-COUNTRY

So how tough is the Western Lakes Activities Association in girls cross country? At last Saturday's New Boston Huron Invitational, Plymouth Salem finished fifth out of 23 teams — and the Rocks were third among WLAA teams.

Livonia Churchill won the race with 51 points, followed by Livonia Stevenson with 67. In third place was Southview (Ohio) with 88 points, followed by Ann Arbor Huron with 150 and Salem with 156. A fourth WLAA squad, North Farmington, placed eighth with 215.

Underclassmen led the Rocks' effort. Kristin Mastic, a sophomore, placed 17th in 20:41, followed by Lauren Kane, a freshman, 24th in 20:51. Next best finishers for Salem were three juniors: Stephanie Hajduk, 36th (21:19); Liisa Keski-Hunnila, 38th (21:23); and Erin Jensen, 41st (21:40).

Other Salem runners were senior Jill Grey, 47th (21:51) and sophomore Halle Burton, 49th (22:07).

The Rocks are idle until Saturday when they send teams to the Jackson Invitational and to the Catholic Central Invitational.

GRID PICKS

PAUL BEAUDRY

A few odd items to take care of before we start the show:

■ Chatted the other day with a friend of mine's wife, who happens to teach at Detroit Urban Lutheran. Seems she took umbrage the other week when we referred to the football-only merger between Dearborn St. Alphonsus and Urban Lutheran as St. Als.

"Urban Lutheran never gets any publicity as it is," said the woman, who will remain nameless so she doesn't feel I'm picking on her too much. "We would like a little recognition."

From now on, we use our backup plan. We'll refer to the team by its acronym – DUL – which we hope, at 1-3, doesn't reflect the team's offensive strategy.

■ From now on, we're not going to pick any Harrison games. We're going to make up opponents for them like NFL or college teams. Picking Harrison is like having Tiger Woods in a fantasy golf pool: You know everyone is going to take him, so what do you gain? This week's opponent? Read on.

■ Will the Brother Rice fans behave themselves this week against Catholic Central, or will they revert to the childish form that got their team dropped from the annual Boys' Bowl a few years ago?

■ A couple of weeks ago, Redford Union coach Miles Tomasaitis relayed a message from his wife, Judy, who informed me that picking RU to lose to Dearborn Heights Robichaud proved to be a little off the mark. Or something along those lines. (OK, it was like, "Hey dummy ..." and then she got really mean. I cried.)

So the next week, I picked RU to beat Thurston. Naturally, I was wrong again and Thurston beat RU.

For the record, Maria Snell, wife of Thurston head coach Bob Snell, didn't hold a grudge for my picking RU.

■ A year ago, I thought these picks were so easy a child could do them. After a 12-3 showing last week, it's apparent a child can do them, but I can't. So once again, I trudged out to a football game and asked the students in the stands to make the picks.

Will the students at the Westland John Glenn–Plymouth Salem game fare better than the Four Stooges? It will be tough, but my money's on the kids.

For the record, Brad Emons, the scourge of Livonia and Westland, went 15-0 and 51-9 overall. Dan O'Meara, who really puts the "ing" in Farmington, went 14-1 and 48-12, I'm 12-3 and 46-14 overall and C.J. Risak, the best thing to happen to Plymouth and Canton since free flu shots, went 12-3 and 45-15. As for the kids, we'll let you know how they do next week.

Friday's Games

(All games 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Garden City (1-3, 0-3) at Wayne (3-1, 2-1), 7 p.m.: "Garden City, because they had a strong varsity team last year and I don't like Wayne." – Dan Cover, 14, John Glenn. (His dislike might also give new meaning to the term "drop and run for Cover." Gotta live in the present, Dan.) PICKS: Wayne – Beaudry, Emons; Garden City – O'Meara, Risak.

Redford Union (1-3, 1-2) at Southgate (3-1, 2-0), 7 p.m.: "RU, because Southgate doesn't have that good of a team. All the years I've followed Southgate, they haven't. OK, I've never followed Southgate, but heard RU had a good squad." – Brandon McCullen, 16, John Glenn. (Apologies to Brandon and Judy Tomasaitis. Got to disagree with the kid about Southgate. It's a really good squad.) PICKS: Southgate – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Thurston (3-1, 2-1) at Trenton (2-2, 2-1), 7 p.m.: "Trenton, I like them better because I heard they had a good team." – Kim Hagelthorn, 14, John Glenn. (I also heard that Thurston has never beaten Trenton. Don't know if it's true, but don't think it will happen this year.) PICKS: Trenton – Beaudry, Emons, Risak; Thurston – O'Meara.

Westland John Glenn (3-1, 2-0) at N. Farmington (1-3, 1-1), 7 p.m.: "Glenn will win because I go to school here and our team is good this year." – Chelsea Janks, 15, John Glenn. (And I'm never picking against Rocket Boy Chuckie – who in his 30 years of coaching has at least 110 wins – again. At least not this week.) PICKS: John Glenn – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Churchill (1-3, 0-2) at Harrison (4-0, 2-0): "Harrison? Because they have a good team? No?" – Angela Strachan, 15, John Glenn. (I don't care which Chargers they're playing – Churchill, Hillsdale or San Diego – I'm pickin' Harrison.) PICKS: Harrison – Beaudry, O'Meara, Emons, Risak. San Diego – None.

Canton (3-1, 1-1) at Franklin (2-2, 1-1): "I think Canton's going to win because the have a good team this year. Canton's got a strong first string." – Hillary Kind, 15, Salem. (Second and third strings are pretty darn good too. And after last week, they've got something to prove.) PICKS: Canton – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

W.L. Central (3-1, 2-0) at Stevenson (2-2, 1-1): "Walled Lake Central will win because they play really good as a team and I know some of the kids that go there." – Anna Sowinski, 17, Salem. (I don't know any of the kids who go there. But I do feel that Stevenson is smelling upset.) PICKS: Stevenson – Beaudry, Risak; W.L. Central - Emons, O'Meara.

Farmington (0-4, 0-2) at Salem (0-4, 0-2): "I think Salem is a good team and a strong team. If they pull together, they will win. If they put their mind to it, they will win." – Natalie Beattie, 15, Salem. (They should be able to put their minds to it or my name's not C.J. Risak.) PICKS: Salem – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Riv. Richard (0-4) at C'ville (4-0): "Riverview because my mom grew up there and I heard they had a really good team." – Aubrei Bone, 16, Salem. (Psst, Aubrei. They don't. Clarenceville does.) PICKS: C'ville – Beaudry, O'Meara, Emons, Risak.

Luth. East (1-3, 0-3) at Luth. W'sld (2-2, 1-2): "Lutheran East, but I don't know why. They're a better team than the other one." – Joe Terry, 14, John Glenn. (Two-straight losses by the Warriors might give your argument some credence, Joseph. But not this week.) PICKS: Luth. W'sld – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

St. Agatha (1-3, 0-2) vs. Holy Redeemer (1-3, 1-1) at Ham. Keyworth Stadium: "Holy Redeemer, because they have a good team and big guys, too. I went to one of their games when they played. Ummm, I don't remember against who." – Kevin Combs, 11, Westland. (And after the Lions hung a 53-0 win on Wyandotte Mt. Carmel, I might be inclined to agree with him.) PICKS: Redeemer – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Saturday's Game

A.A. Richard (1-3, 1-0) at Borgess (4-0, 1-0), 1 p.m.: "Ann Arbor because they are good and they have a good running back. I don't know who he is, but I went to one of their games last year." – Kyle Shemanski, 8, Canton. (And Kyle was adamant about his seeing a Richard game too. He should start going to Borgess games. He'll see several good running backs.) PICKS: Borgess – Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Sunday's Game

Catholic Central (3-1, 2-0) vs. Brother Rice (3-0, 2-0) at Pontiac Wisner Stadium, 1 p.m.: "For some reason, I think CC's gonna win, but I really don't know why. I just have a gut feeling they're gonna win." – Andrew Thorn, 12, Westland. (Dunno, maybe they have something to prove from last year? Then again, maybe Rice does too.) PICKS: CC – Emons, Beaudry, O'Meara; Rice - Risak.

Shamrocks overcome slow start in dropping DePorres

FOOTBALL

Redford Catholic Central prepped for Sunday's meeting in the Boys' Bowl by shutting down Detroit DePorres on Saturday, 19-6, in a Catholic League football game at Detroit's McCabe Field.

After a scoreless first half, the Shamrocks finally got on the board with 3:49 left in the third quarter as Mike Banaszak capped a strange drive with a 1-yard touchdown. CC (3-1) took the opening kickoff in the half and marched to the DePorres 36, but quarterback Tom Jakacki threw an interception. On the next play, the Eagles (1-2) fumbled and CC recovered – scoring six plays later.

Banaszak scored again with 15 seconds left in the quarter on a 10-yard run, then Randell Means made it 19-0 with 5:45 left in the game on a 7-yard TD run. Carl Grimes cut the lead to 19-6 with 4:03 left in the game with an 8-yard touchdown.

Derrick Brooks led CC's rushing attack with 66 yards on 21 carries, while banaszak had 45 yards on 12. Jakacki went 5-for-15 passing for 106 yards – four of the competions to Ryan Worbleski for 85 yards. In all, CC had 255 yards in total offense, while DePorres had 209.

Kevin McKee and Brian Hanley had eight tackles each, while Hanley added a fumble recovery. Mike Farnick added seven tackles, while Means blocked a field-goal attempt and Landom Langham added an interception. Jakacki also averaged 47.5 yards on four punts.

CC now plays Brother Rice at 1 p.m. on Sunday at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium in the annual Boys' Bowl as well as first place in the Central Division. Both teams are 2-0 in the league, while the Warriors are 4-0 overall.

A good start

Madonna women stop Cornerstone in WHAC opener

Madonna University's women's soccer team opened its Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference season with a dominating offensive performance that resulted in just one goal — which, fortunately, was enough to carry the Lady Crusaders to a 1-0 win over Cornerstone Tuesday at Farmington's Founders Park.

The game's only goal came with just 8:07 left to play. Susannah Bryant scored it, finishing a play started by Megan Thiry. Thiry dribbled the ball into the right corner and, from the end line, threaded a pass to Becky Guibord. Guibord sent the ball to Bryant in front for the game-winning goal.

The win boosted Madonna to 3-2 overall, 1-0 in the WHAC. Cornerstone is 3-4 overall, 0-1 in the conference.

The Crusaders took a whopping 33 shots on goal compared to just two by the Golden Eagles. Jennifer Barker (from Livonia Stevenson) made just one save in earning the shutout for Madonna; Laura Hamlyn made 14 saves for Cornerstone.

SOCCER

The pre-season leading into Madonna's WHAC opener had featured a bit of everything: wins, losses, cancellations.

The Lady Crusaders went into Tuesday's opener on a high note, beating Trinty International 3-0 Saturday in Marion, Ind. All three Crusader goals came in the second half, and Sarah Pack (Canton/Westland John Glenn) had a hand in all of them.

Kelly Delaney scored the first six minutes into the second half, with Pack assisting. Pack accounted for the next two goals, scored at 61 minutes and 68 minutes, with Emily Jackson (Farmington Harrison) assisting on both.

Barker stopped all four shots she faced in goal to earn the shutout for Madonna. Meghan Cox faced 15 shots in goal for Trinty.

The Crusaders' match last Friday at Indiana Wesleyan University was cancelled for the national day of prayer for the terrorist attacks earlier in the week.

Madonna men slide

Madonna's men's soccer team entered the season with high hopes, but those hopes took a major blow when Salvatore Piraine, who became the school's all-time goal-scoring leader when he registered the only marker in a 1-0 win over Saginaw Valley State in the season-opener Aug. 28, was lost for the season with a torn quadriceps muscle.

The Fighting Crusaders have struggled ever since, losing five of their last six matches, including a pair last weekend.

On Saturday, Florida Southern scored three second-half goals to pound out a 4-1 win over Madonna in Lakeland, Fla. On Sunday, the Crusaders found themselves on the losing end of a shootout with Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., falling 6-5.

In the loss to Rollins, at least Madonna displayed some offensive prowess, something that had been missing in three of its previous four matches, a stretch in which the Crusaders scored just two goals. Patrick Griffin, a sophomore from Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth, accounted for three Madonna goals, two of them coming in the final 8:03.

Rollins improved to 5-1 with the win; Madonna fell to 2-5.

The match was tied at 3-all at the half, Rollins' Adrian Nunez scoring first at 4:21 before Griffin knotted it at 6:55 following a corner kick by Nick Szczechowski (Plymouth Salem).

Nunez's second goal put the Tars back on top at the 9:52 mark, but Madonna re-tied it on a goal by Szczechowski at 17:58. Martin Heckmann regained the lead for Rollins at 29:14; Matt Koontz (Livonia Stevenson) tied it again for the Crusaders with 4:10 left in the half, with Griffin assisting.

Rollins put the victory on ice, or so it seemed, with three goals in a 7:23 span of the second half, Clayton Chesarek (who had two assists in the first half) getting two of them and Peter Hitchen collecting the third.

Madonna didn't surrender, however, thanks to Griffin's two goals, the second narrowing the gap to 6-5 with 5:09 to play (assisted by Szczechowski). However, the Crusaders could not get the equalizer.

Doug Koontz (Plymouth Canton) faced 14 shots and made eight saves in goal for Madonna. Justin Corrado also had eight saves in goal for Rollins.

Saturday's game at Florida Southern was a bit more tranquil — only five goals were scored. Madonna got the first, from Mike Healy just 7:23 into the match. Szczechowski assisted.

The Crusaders' lead didn't last. Alex Myers knotted it for Southern at 16:55 following a Trevor Clark free kick, which is the way the half ended; in the second half, goals by Clark, Jon Odum and Adam Lemnouni made winners of Southern.

Matt Strabbing (Plymouth Canton) made four stops in goal for Madonna; Johan Linell had four saves in net for Southern, which improved to 5-1.

LEGAL NOTICE

1954 PA PROCEEDINGS
NOTICE OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENT HEARING
Charter Township of Plymouth
Wayne County, Michigan

TO: THE RESIDENTS AND PROPERTY OWNERS OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AND ANY OTHER INTERESTED PERSONS:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that as a result of Petitions of property owners within the Township signed by the record owners of land whose front footage constitutes more than 50% of the total front footage of the hereinafter described Special Assessment District and the Township Board of the Charter Township of Plymouth proposes road paving improvements in the George Robinson Subdivision and to create a Special Assessment for the recovery of the cost thereof by Special Assessment against the properties benefited therein.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth has tentatively declared its intention to make the hereinafter described improvement:

> The project consists of approximately 7,500 feet of existing gravel road along Gilbert St., Russell St., Morgan Ave., Brownell Ave., Francis Ave., Butternut Ave., and Ferguson Ave. bounded by Haggerty Road, Interstate 275, Ann Arbor Trail and The Middle Rouge River to be paved with bituminous concrete. The proposed improvements shall consist of two-lane asphalt pavement constructed over the existing gravel road as well as miscellaneous driveway and drainage work which may be needed to facilitate the placement of the asphalt road pavement.

That it has further been tentatively determined that the following described lots and parcels of land will specially benefit from said improvements and will constitute a Special Assessment District against which the cost of said improvement shall be assessed:

> The district limit along Russell, Morgan, Brownell, Francis, Butternut, Gilbert, and Ferguson consists of Lots 6 through 9, 21 through 53, 58, through 87, 92 through 119, and 124 through 137, all inclusive of "George H. Ocelot win streak stretched to 13; Crusaders bump off Saints, Cards

■ VOLLEYBALL

That's just what Schoolcraft College's volleyball team is doing right now.

The Lady Ocelots improved to 4-0 in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's Eastern Conference with a pair of home-court wins Tuesday, beating Oakland CC 30-19, 30-9, 30-27 and Wayne County CC 30-12, 30-11, 30-16.

Combined with last Thursday's 30-14, 31-29, 30-23 victory over Henry Ford CC and a sweep to the championship of the Mott CC Tournament on Friday and Saturday, SC improved to 18-2 overall and stretched its winning streak to 12-straight.

The crowded schedule, which featured nine matches in a three-day span and 11 in six days, didn't seem to bother the Lady Ocelots.

In the wins over OCC and Wayne, SC got a total of 17 kills and six service aces from Amy Kiefer; 13 kills, three aces and 10 digs from Fran Hamilton; five kills and eight aces from Andrea Kmet (Westland/Livonia Franklin); eight kills from Carly Szajnecki; five kills, seven aces and eight digs from Katie Drews (Livonia Stevenson); 28 set assists and five kills from Jana Nitschke; and 12 set assists and five aces from Kellie Kern.

At the Mott CC Tournament, the Ocelots opened with wins over Delta (30-19, 30-17), Glen Oaks (30-17, 26-30, 15-10) and Genesee (30-19, 30-16) on Friday, then followed it on Saturday with wins over Mott (30-23, 30-23), Owens Tech (31-29, 30-23), Genesee again (30-21, 30-23), Mott again (30-21, 30-21) and, in the championship, Owens Tech again (23-30, 30-26, 15-12).

Hamilton paced SC's attack with 65 kills and a .518 attack percentage in the tournament. She also had seven service aces and 33 digs. Kmet contributed 56 kills (.281), eight aces, a team-best 41digs and eight blocks, while Noelle Swartz (Canton/Westland John Glenn) had 26 kills (.417), five aces, 19 digs and 10 blocks.

Other major contributors included Kerstin Marshall (Livonia Franklin), 23 kills (.526), eight aces and 16 blocks; Szajnecki, 21 kills and 12 blocks; Kern, 16 kills, five aces, 84 set assists and 39 digs; and Ioana Vescan, 97 set assists, six aces and 23 digs.

On Thursday, SC hosts Mott in a conference match. Game time is 7 p.m.

LeBlanc sparks MU

Madonna University kept its Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference match record perfect with a 30-16, 30-24, 30-27 win Saturday over visiting Siena Heights.

The Lady Crusaders improved to 2-0 in the WHAC with the win. Siena Heights slipped to 5-7 overall, 0-2 in the conference.

Kate LeBlanc (Livonia Stevenson) paced the Madonna attack with 11 kills (.333 attack percentage). Donna Birkenhier added nine kills (.348) and three blocks, Jennifer Frost had nine kills and 17 digs, and Tera Morrill (Livonia Franklin) had six kills (.357) and 11 digs.

Other contributors included Amanda Suder (Plymouth Salem) with three service aces and 20 digs, both team highs and Jennie Wind with 36 set assists, 10 digs and three blocks.

The Crusaders' scheduled trip this weekend to the Sailfish Classic Tournament, hosted by Palm Beach Atlantic in West Palm Beach, Fla. has been cancelled.

No make-up is planned.

Crusaders sweep Cards

Strong offensive play from Kate LeBlanc and Tera Morrill carried Madonna University to a 30-21, 30-28, 30-28 victory over non-conference foe Saginaw Valley State Tuesday in Saginaw.

LeBlanc had 14 kills (.542 kill percentage) and Morrill added 12 kills (.632), to go with five digs and two service aces. Jennifer Frost had eight kills and five digs, Donna Birkenhier had six kills, Amanda Suder collected 15 digs, Marylu Hemme (Livonia Ladywood) had 13 digs and Jennie Wind totaled seven kills, seven digs, three blocks and 29 set assists.

The win boosted Madonna's overall record to 9-6. The Cardinals are 3-10.

Steeler varsity gets a win; Lions JV splits

Shawn Little threw for one touchdown and ran for another in quarterbacking the Plymouth-Canton Steelers junior football league varsity team to a 14-12 victory over the Ypsilanti Braves Sunday.

Little tossed a 20-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Rork for the Steelers' first touchdown, then scampered 5 yards for the second. Romeo Young booted the two-point conversion following Little's TD run.

James Donaldson and Anton Furman led the Steeler defense, Donaldson pressuring the quarterback and Furman pressuring the receivers.

The Steelers' junior varsity and freshment teams didn't fare as well Sunday against the Braves. The JV Steelers lost, 15-0; Deshon McClendon, Spencer Tobin and Devin Murphy led the offense and Spencer Tobin and Brandon Fender keyed the defense.

The freshmen squad suffered a 26-0 loss, despite Jeff Greer's offensive efforts. Zach Faust, Brian Miller and Greer were the top defensive players.

One major victory was recorded by the Steelers' and Braves' organizations and fans Sunday. A total of $1,000 was raised during the games to benefit the New York diaster relief fund.

On Sept. 9, the Steelers' freshmen squad, led by Todd Turfe's two-touchdown effort, managed to beat the Belleville Cougars 16-12. Turfe scored in the first quarter, adding an extra-point, and rambled on a 57-yard TD run in the second, followed by Donny Barlow's extra point. Milik Rich's 45 rushing yards in the second quarter gave the Steelers strong field position.

The JV and varsity teams, however, had their games terminated by inclement weather (lightning). Both were replayed Monday, Sept. 10.

The JV squad got a 15-0 win over the Cougars, with strong offense provided by Deshon McClendon and James Judge and solid defense by Alex Avermoski and Spencer Tobin.

The Steelers' varsity wasn't as fortunate, losing 6-0 to Belleville. Jeffrey Piper and Kevin Bradley both excelled offensively and defensively, with Little playing well offensively.

Lions JV splits

The Garden City Cougars shut out the Canton Lions junior varsity squad 6-0 Sunday in Garden City, dropping the Lions to 1-1 following last week's season-opening win over Farmington.

Lions who shined defensively in the loss were John West, Tim Longeway (interception) and Justin Scott (fumble recovery). Offensively, the Lions were sparked by Vernon Stewart and Chris Fischer.

Against the Farmington Rockets Sept. 9, the Lions' JV earned a 12-0 victory at Farmington Hills Harrison High School. Running back Chris Fischer accounted for both of the Lions' TDs, scoring from 1 and 28 yards out in the first half.

Defensively, the Lions were paced by Fischer, Andrew Coogan and Justin Scott. Chris Woudstra also had an interception for the Lions.

Brother Rice shuts out CC

■ SOCCER

Considering the way their seasons have been going, Birmingham Brother Rice's 2-0 soccer victory Tuesday afternoon over arch-rival Redford Catholic Central was fairly predictable.

Heading into the Catholic League match-up played at Southfield's Inglenook Park, the defending state co-champion Warriors had allowed only four goals in 10 games. On the other hand, the Shamrocks had scored just once in five games.

Rice simply dominated the action, outshooting CC by a 15-4 margin. The Warriors scored both goals in the first half and had numerous second-half scoring chances that deflected wide or over the net.

Rice goalie Mike Timlin registered his sixth shutout of the season and the result merely exaggerated those telling scoring statistics. The Warriors have now allowed four goals in 11 games and CC has now gone six games with only one goal.

"We've only given up four goals all season - and two of those have been on penalty kicks," said Brother Rice coach Jay Louis-Prescott. "We've been playing tough.

"Each team played with intensity and I thought CC was much improved over last year. It was a good game," he said. "They struggled offensively and that was obvious in the number of shots. They played hard, but they couldn't create any offense."

CC is winless in six games (0-5-1) and coach Dana Orsucci is concerned that the lack of offense will take a mental toll.

"I thought we created some decent chances, but we're just not confident right now," said Orsucci. "I thought we moved the ball well, but we can't find that final pass that would finish off a play. We're just not clicking on that last third of the field.

"The thing is we played hard. It was a typical CC/Rice game. It was physical. It was hard, but fair play," he said. "Brother Rice is a good team and plays as hard as anybody we'll play all year. I thought we did well in the second half. But we just have to work on finishing because that's just frustrating us to no end right now."

Brother Rice opened the scoring midway through the first half on a highly-skilled goal by forward Mark Djurovski. Defender Justin Iavarone booted a high ball that bounced in front of Djurovski. Instead of letting it hit the ground, Djurovski booted it right out of the air and into the far corner of the net past a surprised CC goalie Ryan Koet.

Fifteen minutes later, Devin Siler made it 2-0 as he finished off a corner kick by Brendan Rosenbergh with a goal that stayed on the ground and rolled into the right corner of the net.

Rice had a second-half goal disallowed by an offsides call.

Timlin had very little action in the net as CC did not produce one solid scoring chance. The Warrior defense of Iavarone, Dominic Mazzetti, Josh VanCleef, Mike Zande and Todd Schreiber thwarted the Shamrocks on every trip down the field.

at No. 3, Liz Murray topped Susan Franck 6-2, 6-0; and at No. 4, Nicole Austat defeated Lauren Kazmierczak 6-2, 6-4.

The doubles belonged to the Chiefs. Pam Tokarski and Laura Ulmer beat Amy Rathsberg and Michelle Gallant 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 at No. 1; Jessica Leadford and Jenna Delaney topped Melissa Bootley and Ashley Haaseth 6-0, 5-7, 7-6 at No. 2; Megan Coultas and Pam Hudson defeated Ashley Rice and Mandy Stapula 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 at No. 3; and Jenny Bedard and Julia Fabiszewski bettered Cathryn Newman and Ashley Stromer 3-6, 6-4, 7-5 at No. 4.

Thus far, it's been a season requiring more than a bit of juggling for Lehmann. Pushing Maloni from No. 4 to No. 1 in singles wasn't the end of it; No. 2 Treadwell (a sophomore) and No. 3 Franck (a senior) were Canton's No. 1 doubles team last season. Those three and Delaney (a senior), at No. 2 doubles, are the only returning starters from a year ago.

"That's it," said Lehmann.

Although her lineup is somewhat set, it isn't a certainty. There could still be some changes.

"It's still 'Time will tell' time," she said. "So far, everyone's had a really good match and a really tough one.

"I may (make changes). Right now, I'm pretty pleased with the way they're playing."

Canton, which lost to Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western in WLAA duals before beating Central, has a tough slate awaiting it — including a meet with Northville Friday.

"Northville and North Farmington are right there at the top," said Lehmann when asked who the league favorites were. "There are a couple of others who have some really good girls, that have made some improvement."

Figuring in the group just behind North and Northville are Plymouth Salem, Livonia Churchill and Livonia Stevenson. Canton should be in the group just behind those three.

How far they move up depends on how fast the Chiefs improve. At present, Lehmann isn't as concerned with the won/loss record.

"I want them to stay focused," she said. "Don't necessarily keep your eye on the winning portion of it — it's the way you play.

"That's what you want to concentrate on. Play your best."

The theory is, do your best and good things will happen. How many good things happen for Canton is problematical.

NOTE: The Canton Tournament, scheduled for last Saturday, was cancelled.

"Several teams pulled out," said Canton coach Barb Lehmann. There weren't enough remaining to stage it.

At present, there are no plans to reschedule it.

Salem tennis from D1

boost in confidence, Salem was it. "It surprised us almost as much as it surprised them," admitted Kimball.

Northville started out well, getting a win from No. 1 singles Lauren West, who beat Salem's Niki Hlady 7-5, 6-2. But the Mustangs won just one other set in singles play.

At No. 2, Salem's Lindsay Pyle topped Allison Long 6-3, 6-4; at No. 3, Jacqui Slebodnick stopped Sarah Prince 4-6, 6-3, 6-3; and at No. 4, freshman Maranon Swasey whipped Christy Tal 6-2, 6-4.

In doubles, the match that "really put us over" the top came at No. 1, where the Rocks' Missy Nelson and Mandy Bradley teammed to beat Lauren Farris and Sarah Poivier 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Northville dominated the rest of the doubles; its No. 2 team of Jamie Lindholm and Erica Dobson beat Salem's Amy Geick and Aarti Bakshi 6-1, 6-1; at No. 3, Stephanie Patterson and Kelly Harrison defeated April Aquinto and Sam Newton 6-3, 7-5; and at No. 4, Amanda Retzbach and Megan Bensette bested Kerry Griffith and Erin Ross 6-0, 7-5.

It's been a strong start to the season for a team that lost three key players from last year's squad to graduation: No. 4 singles Sheema Rabbaig and doubles players Kristen Thomas and Krystal Finney. However, the Rocks' newcomers could make the current team even better.

"We have a lot of experience coming back — our No. 1, 2 and 3 singles," Kimball said. "And our No. 4 girl (Maranon Swasey), she's only a freshman, and she's got a game."

The doubles teams have been shuffled somewhat and need to improve if the Rocks intend to keep pace with North and Northville. It's certainly a possibility, considering Salem has just one senior in its starting lineup.

There are plenty of key dates on the Salem schedule, a couple of them converging in the first week of October. The Rocks play at North on Oct. 1, then host Farmington Harrison on Oct. 3 before meeting Plymouth Canton on Oct. 4.

The North match will be vital. "We'll be the underdog," Kimball said. "We'll go in there with nothing to lose."

And a lot to gain.

Salem 2nd at Invite

Last Saturday at the eight-team Warren Mott Invitational, Plymouth Salem placed second, capturing one flight championship and boasting 10 medalists.

The Rocks' win came from Jacqui Slebodnick at No. 3 singles.

The tournament was won by Troy Athens, ranked ninth in the state.

Prior to Monday's dual meet at Northville, Salem had beated Walled Lake Central 6-2 and Livonia Franklin 8-0 in WLAA meets. In a scrimmage last Wednesday (Sept. 12) against Canton, Salem won 7-1.

The Rocks play at Farmington in a WLAA dual at 4 p.m. Friday, then travel to the Saline Invitational Saturday.

Sventickas lifts Ladywood past Marian

bemons@oe.homecomm.net

BASKETBALL

In an early fall classic, Ruth Sventickas came up huge Tuesday in host Livonia Ladywood's 50-46 girls basketball victory over Birmingham Marian.

The 6-foot junior forward had a double-double — 21 points and 11 rebounds — to propel the Blazers in the Catholic League Central Division opener for both schools.

Sventickas, a starter a year ago as a sophomore, provided a steady shooting hand. She was nine of 14 from the field and three of four from the free throw line.

During the off-season, Sventickas worked with a shooting coach.

"It's confidence, I guess," she said. "You can't be afraid to shoot it and when it leaves your hand you feel you're not going to miss."

Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski has also noticed a difference from last season.

"Ruth is looking for her shot, it's all a matter of confidence," said Gorski, whose team improved to 5-2 overall. "She stepped up for us again. She's a versatile player and her range has increased."

Marian, which falls to 4-2 overall, was without leading scorer Kate Solner. The senior guard was out with a bruised kidney suffered in the game against Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

"That hurt us a lot because she (Solner) is not only averaging over 20 points, but she also does a lot for us defensively," Marian coach Mary Ciccerone said. "She really does everything for us."

Ladywood broke a 46-all deadlock when Jana Beumel, who finished with 11 points, scored a rebound basket after putback misses inside by teammates Liz Obrecht (10 rebounds) and Nikki Watts with 56 seconds left.

Marian then turned the ball over with 46 seconds to go, but Ladywood repaid the favor 12 seconds later.

The Mustangs tried to tie it with just 15.6 seconds remaining and couldn't convert. A scramble on the floor for the loose rebound resulted in a jump ball possession with the arrow pointing Ladywood's way.

Ladywood guard Amber Willoughby was immediately fouled on the inbound pass and calmly converted both free throws to put the game away.

"We played hard and came together at the right time," said Sventickas, who has averaged 18 points in her last three outings. "Marian plays an awesome game. They have hard defenders. You've got to box out because they were in there battling as much as we were."

Rebounding played a factor in Ladywood's victory. The Blazers were also able to withstand the 6-2 Obrecht's early foul trouble, which sent her to the bench in the second period.

"You just have to work with what you have, keep going and fight for the win," Sventickas said. "We just had to keep our heads in the game and stay focused."

Marian led 15-13 after one quarter thanks to senior guard's Kennice Halloran's long-range three-pointer at the buzzer. Ladywood then pulled ahead by one at halftime by one, 28-27, and it was all even after three quarters, 38-38.

Halloran, who hit two big triples in the fourth quarter, finished with 14 points. Her free throw with with 1:53 to play tied the game at 46.

But the Mustangs came up empty down the stretch, turning it over twice and failing to convert on two shots.

Although junior forward Rachel Jarnigan helped pick up the slack with 10 points, Solner's absence was never more evident than in the fourth quarter when Ladywood held a 12-8 scoring edge.

"We made so many mental mistakes," Ciccerone said. "And how many times did we give them extra shots? We didn't do a good job of boxing out and I was disappointed with the offensive execution. That's what bothers me."

Ladywood employed a zone defense following Obrecht's foul trouble.

"We went zone a few possessions because Marian was too comfortable driving to the basket," Gorski said. "But they have four people who can knock shots down from the perimeter.

"The first three quarters I don't know what happened, but in the fourth quarter we got offensive and defensive rebounds. That's what wins games for us. We hit the boards hard and gave them just one shot. We didn't give them as many chances."

coach, until 1984, when Christoff resigned and Dimitriou took command.

"He had a way of communicating with the kids, and he had a real knowledge of the game," said John Gelmisi, who was Dimitriou's assistant from 1984-89 and his friend for more than 40 years.

Visitation is scheduled from 5-9 p.m. today and noon-9 p.m. Friday at Harry J. Will Funeral Home, located on Six Mile east of Newburgh. Service will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at Holy Cross Church, located on Middlebelt between 10 and 11 Mile.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Schoolcraft Foundation in care of the Van Dimitriou Memorial Scholarship Fund.

"We respect that (Canton) team a lot and I'm sure we'll be seeing them again," he said. "I just hope this is not the defining moment for these guys. We have to keep it in perspective and just say it's a positive step and we're going in the right direction."

Note: Canton's game, scheduled for last Monday against Walled Lake Central, was cancelled after a mix-up in starting time.

Salem 2, Northville 2: Trailing 2-0 early in the second half, Plymouth Salem battled back to tie host Northville Monday.

Kevin Savitskie's goal midway through the second half made it 2-1; Brian Popeney converted a penalty kick, called when Shane Smith was pulled down in the box, to tie it with 10minutes left.

Salem is 4-5-2; Northville is 7-1-1.

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

A real estate broker claims he's due a commission on our listing agreement. The agreement said he would be entitled to a commission if he produced a buyer who would come to terms mutually agreed upon between the buyer and seller.

He found a number of buyers. But we never reached an agreement.

After the listing agreement expired, the broker produced a willing buyer, but I still refused.

He's threatening to sue me. Do I have a defense?

In a recent case, the court of appeals found that the agreement didn't provide that the commission was earned by simply producing a ready, willing and able buyer – a sale had to take place.

The court also looked at another clause in the agreement which provided that the broker was entitled to a commission because the owner wrongfully prevented him from earning it.

The default provision of the listing agreement provided that if the sale isn't consummated because the seller's inability, failure or refusal to perform, then the full commission would be due and payable upon such occurrence.

However, the broker didn't present any facts with regard to the seller's interference with the sale. It would depend on the specific terms of your listing agreement. Have an experienced real estate attorney review your agreement.

Looking good: Attractive landscaping adds appeal to a home, whether or not it's listed for sale. But nice landscaping is especially important if you want to get top dollar when you sell your home.

Neat exterior is a silent recommendation

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

Realtors who know their business know that sellers get just one chance to make a first impression. And landscaping is a big part of that make-it or break-it initial look.

"As soon as they drive up, they make observations and come to conclusions," Carol LaPerriere, a Realtor with Century 21 Hartford in Farmington, said of prospective buyers.

"From a real estate standpoint, the first thing people are going to notice is the outdoors, how clean it looks," said Tony Konja, president of Artistic Outdoor Services in Farmington Hills. "Is it colorful? Is it well-manicured?"

No like, no look

"Sometimes, if people don't like the landscaping or elevation (exterior design of home), they don't even want to go in," he said. "Even though the inside may be nice."

Wolf relates a story of an expired listing he acquired years ago.

"The landscaping didn't look appealing at all. It was overgrown. He (the homeowner) ripped out 90 percent of the old landscaping and put all new in. He spent about $800. He put a new basketball backboard and rim on the garage.

"It really looked nice, a big difference," Wolf said. "It sold in about 45 days."

Sherri Petro, a Realtor with Remerica Country Place in Canton, said the owner who acquired the house next door to hers on a repossession had big trouble selling in turn.

"The landscaping is terrible," Petro said. "The previous owner didn't take care of the grass, and it became a bunch of weeds. They had a hard time."

Ron Krueger knows the value of a well-kept property. He's chairman of the Metro Detroit Landscape Association and general manager of Mark J. Baldwin and Associates in Plymouth.

"The more inviting you can make a home look so it doesn't look like there's going to be a lot of work to do, the better off for the seller," Krueger said. "A lot of people (buyers) aren't going to like it if shrubs are hiding windows or interfering with walkways."

Sellers who update their landscaping may not recoup all of the cost, but the home probably will sell quicker, he said.

Do it now

There's still time this season to give natural materials around the house a helping hand, the experts say.

Grass seed can be sown into early October. A fresh layer of mulch can be applied to flower beds or the existing mulch turned over. Larger, unmanageable shrubs can be replaced with smaller varieties. Mums, a colorful plant, will reappear every year.

"The outside reflects the inside," Wolf said. "If landscaping isn't good ... nine times out of 10 the inside isn't looking good either."

Shirley Wall, a Realtor with Red Carpet Keim Carter Reid in Clarkston, can verify that. She's been active in the business 23 years.

"I've had a seller whose yard was littered with toys, dog dishes, just stuff," Wall said. "Dogs had pretty much ruined the grass.

"It was situated on a hill overlooking a lake, a beautiful view. But people were totally turned off. The inside wasn't so good, either."

Too-high appraisal could hurt

MORTGAGE BITS

TIM 'TIMBO' PHILLIPS

A home appraisal is an important part of almost every mortgage refinance or financed home purchase.

Lenders place huge importance on appraisals.

Your home's appraisal should be as important to you as it is to your lender, but for different reasons.

Bigger is not always better with home appraisals. Borrowers often try to eke out higher appraised values for their homes. Some simply have an emotional need to have a more valuable home. Others have a deep-seated drive to avoid private mortgage insurance by hitting that magical 20-percent equity level.

Pushing for an inflated valuation on your property can have its risks. The most negative situation would probably be when financially burdened borrowers have restructured their consumer debt with a "cash-out" refinance, then subsequently decide to sell their home. If their refinance appraisal was too high for their neighborhood, the borrowers (now sellers) might have to pay to sell their home because they borrowed too much relative to their home's true value.

In a growing market, it is difficult to comprehend that somebody could lose money in real estate, but as with other investments, unscrupulous borrowers can also get leveraged out. If you live in a neighborhood that is not appreciating quickly, the problem can compound further. One of my clients was literally banking on being able to take cash out of his home to relieve debt, but his debt has grown faster than his home's value.

If the economy does slip into a recession, it is possible that home values may decline. In fact, some lenders are already re-evaluating their guidelines with respect to how much cash you can take out of your home in that instance. Cash-out refinances are an excellent idea in certain situations. Just double-check the bases of your decisions to make sure you don't get burned down the road.

Asking for more with your appraisal may very well leave you with less.

HomeTown Digital, Realtors sign pact

Thousands of local real estate agents will now have quick and easy access to the latest set of online business tools.

The Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors has signed a trail-blazing agreement with HomeTown Digital Inc. The partnership makes available at sharply reduced cost the entire range of on line business tools developed by HomeTown to the 3,400 Realtor-members of WWOCAR.

The agreement was signed by WWOCAR President Teri Spiro. WWOCAR is one of the largest Realtor organizations in Michigan.

HomeTown Digital is a subsidiary of HomeTown Communications Network Inc., the parent company of a number of Michigan community newspapers, including the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Mirror Newspapers and HomeTown Newspapers.

■ 'We're just delighted to be working with an organization as fine as WWOCAR.'

Sam Gerardi marketing manager
HomeTown Digital

Diane Winkelmann, a officer of the WWOCAR board of directors and a Realtor with Century 21 Hartford hailed the agreement: "We are ecstatic about this far-reaching agreement as it specifically addresses the marketing factors that help an agent's ability to be successful, namely high visibility exposure in a local Internet format," she said. "This partnership with the Internet division of the local newspaper organization best serves our community and our membership."

Sam Gerardi, marketing manager at HomeTown Digital, said, "We're just delighted to be working with an organization as fine as WWOCAR. We worked closely with WWOCAR over several months to develop a special program tailored to meet the needs of real estate brokers and agents."

"As the World Wide Web has matured, Internet business models have come back home where local media companies are delivering deep local content to the communities they serve," Gerardi said. "We believe the suite of Internet-based produces we will make available to WWOCAR members will specifically address the marketing factors that help agents and brokers succeed in their business."

Sheri Bajorek, WWOCAR's marketing director, said "WWOCAR is confident that this partnership will be of value to our membership and advantageous to both WWOCAR and HomeTown Digital. We look forward to marking HomeTown's tools to our 3,400 Realtors."

Included in the range of on line marketing and advertising products that will be made available at reduced price to WWOCAR members are e-business cards and e-brochures, which include pictures of agents and houses currently listed. HomeTown Digital will also offer at discounted price HTDConnect, a high-quality, dial-up Internet service product featuring 24x7 technical assistance and local telephone-number access.

Gerardi said HomeTown Digital staff plans to hold a series of training seminars designed to help WWOCAR mem-

A NEW WAY HOME

Wall has experienced the flip side, too, when representing buyers.

"We can usually get a listing off the computer and it can appear nice with a picture. When they see that the actual house, the property, is even prettier. They're really impressed," she said.

Wall's conclusion on landscaping – "It doesn't have to be elaborate. It has to be neat. Grass has to be cut, flowers planted here and there.

Sound advice

Here some other steps sellers can take:

■ If you plan to put your house on the market during the winter months when foliage is dormant or covered by snow, take some pictures now during the height of color season.

■ An outdoor hanging flower basket or flower pot on the porch are inexpensive ways to add color to a small, confined space.

■ Pull weeds from flower beds, grass and especially cracks between sidewalk slabs.

■ Edged lawns not only look good but, after long periods of neglect, will actually "expand" sidewalks and driveways.

■ Fallen leaves, papers, twigs and other debris should be picked up on a regular basis.

■ The kids' chalk drawings on sidewalks and driveways may seem cute to you, but they're not always inspiring to prospective buyers.

■ Torn screens, broken windows and cracked concrete, while not natural materials, are part of the landscape and impact curb appeal.

bers learn about the potential of the Internet and present specific business examples of how using on line business tools can help professionals succeed in the real estate industry.

Consumers will benefit from the partnership because it will produce and deliver the first local real estate guide, he said. "Buyers, sellers and renters will find a wealth of information and resources in the new HomeTownLife. com real estate section which will be on line in November."

WWOCAR's mission is to serve its members needs and reach out to the Realtor-community by providing programs, education and an environment that will promote professionalism, enhance agents' ability to be successful, reduce risk, preserve private property rights and heighten the industry's public image.

Basic to the HomeTown Digital product line and its HomeTownLife. com portal site are:

■ Content from HomeTown's sister newspapers, including The Observer & Eccentric group, specially adapted for delivery through the HomeTownLife. com portal.

■ Classified advertising from the same hometown newspapers, presented as a searchable database in HomeTownLife. com.

■ Business listings from "yellow pages" telephone directories published by Michigan Directory Co., a sister company.

My name is Sierra and my story is a sad one! You see, I'm a mature Domestic Shorthair female who was given to my owner by her friend. Things were fine for awhile but then I had a litter. All of my babies found homes and then my owner decided it was time to get rid of me! Now that I've been turned over to shelter care, I'm really hoping to find a good home soon! I have a black and white coat that is offset with my sea green eyes. In addition, I have a great personality that I'm sure you'll grow to love. Even better, you won't have to worry about me having any more kitties since I'm going to be spayed!

To offer me your love and support, visit the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter (734) 721-7300

2002 Ford Explorer: An outstanding value

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti News Features
avanti1054@aol.com

Ford Motor Co. produced a winner when it introduced the Explorer almost a dozen years ago in 1990. Back then, we were in the infancy stages of what has become a revolutionary change in how we perceive, regard and use sport utility vehicles.

ANNE FRACASSA

It started a monumental change from the stoic minivan in every driveway and every school drop-off point to the staple sport utility vehicle taking its place in society.

For 2002, Ford produced a winner again in the revamped and redesigned Explorer. I drove a pre-production model earlier this year and didn't find a flaw. This production version was even more impressive.

First of all, it's slightly wider, but retains its overall length and height. The doors open wider and there's a lower step-in height. The overall ride and handling is superb.

And although I like the added versatility of having seven-passenger seating, it's really a pain to get anyone back there - including small children. The Explorer does have a 40/20/40 second-row seat, which allows easier access to the third row, but a heavy adult or senior would still have a hard time, I think.

My family wouldn't need that versatility on a regular basis, so I would probably be one of the few to hide that third row of seats and enjoy the added cargo space. And, that, too, is easy to accomplish. The seat completely disappears when folded down with a quick flick of the wrist. Simple. Quick.

Convenience features on the Explorer will help it continue its run as the "best-selling SUV in the world." Many of my colleagues argue that much of Ford's line-up is too simple, too out-of-date and not very tach-laden.

Sorry, but that's exactly what I like about it.

I don't really think you should have to open the owner's manual to operate anything on a vehicle. It should be easy, self-explanatory and simple to operate. I longed for many years for the advent of shift-on-the-fly because I didn't want to get a headache trying to figure out how to lock hubs and how much 25 feet to back up the vehicle really was. Gee. Was that 24 or 26 feet? Hmmm.

Before I forget to mention it, I love the new aggressive, bold, fearless front treatment of the Explorer. Its wider stance is immediately noticed. Even when it pulls away from you, it's got a cleaner rear and much more defined Ford signature.

For 2002, Ford produced a winner again in the revamped and redesigned Explorer.

Heating and cooling of the Explorer would be a much more daunting task if not for the ceiling-mounted controls for rear-seated passengers. Everyone get comfy, just how they want it.

Ford press materials back up this claim, but as soon as you get inside the Explorer, you'll notice it's even larger and has more room. The seats are farther apart. The second row seats enjoy a flatter floor and the third-row passengers have a completely flat floor.

If you're like my family, you do a lot of eating and drinking in your vehicle. Explorer has two additional cup and juice holders than the previous model - eight in all - and of those eight, two holders in the front doors can accommodate water bottles. (Another pet peeve of mine: Most vehicles don't have doors with holders. Ford gets high marks for doing this on the Explorer.)

Do you like to store lots of stuff in your vehicle? Stuff like jumper cables to help a fellow motorist in need, a roll of duct tape that can seal anything for a quick fix or a box of Kleenex for an inevitable runny nose that always crops up on a long drive?

No problem. Front doors have huge map pockets - enough to hold a three-ring binder stuffed with hockey cards.

There are two under-floor cargo areas and another under-floor bin under the third-row seat. All are removable, too.

Another convenience: The load height in the rear cargo area is exactly the same as the average shopping cart. What does that mean? Well, you'll have an easier time loading everything from groceries to hot water heaters in the rear.

Strong on power, the Explorer offers a 4.6 liter single-overhead-cam V8 that provides 240 horsepower with low-end and mid-range torque that will make you take notice. Again, this is the optional engine and a must-buy, in my opinion.

The much-improved 210-horse 4.0 liter V6 is adequate, but when you have a vehicle that needs a little more power, I would rather be safe than sorry with the V8. Don't worry too much about the added cost of ownership; there have been many improvements in servicing intervals and other maintenance issues to make up for it.

Safety and security in the Explorer are very much on the mark, including industry-first side-impact curtain air bags and rollover protection. If an Explorer is approaching a rollover situation, as determined by the system, head-and-chest side-curtain bags are activated to help protect the front passenger and keep them inside the vehicle. Pretty cutting edge stuff here.

Traction control is on board, as are driver and passenger dual-stage air bags. Seats outfitted with weight sensors detect objects and people and deactivate the air bag when necessary. And, of course, child safety seat attachments and anchors are there to properly protect your most precious cargo.

Frankly, I think this new Explorer is outstanding. My family will be buying one soon. My husband and kids are on board as well.

You, too, would be wise to take a closer look. Test drive an Explorer yourself, then get one for your family.

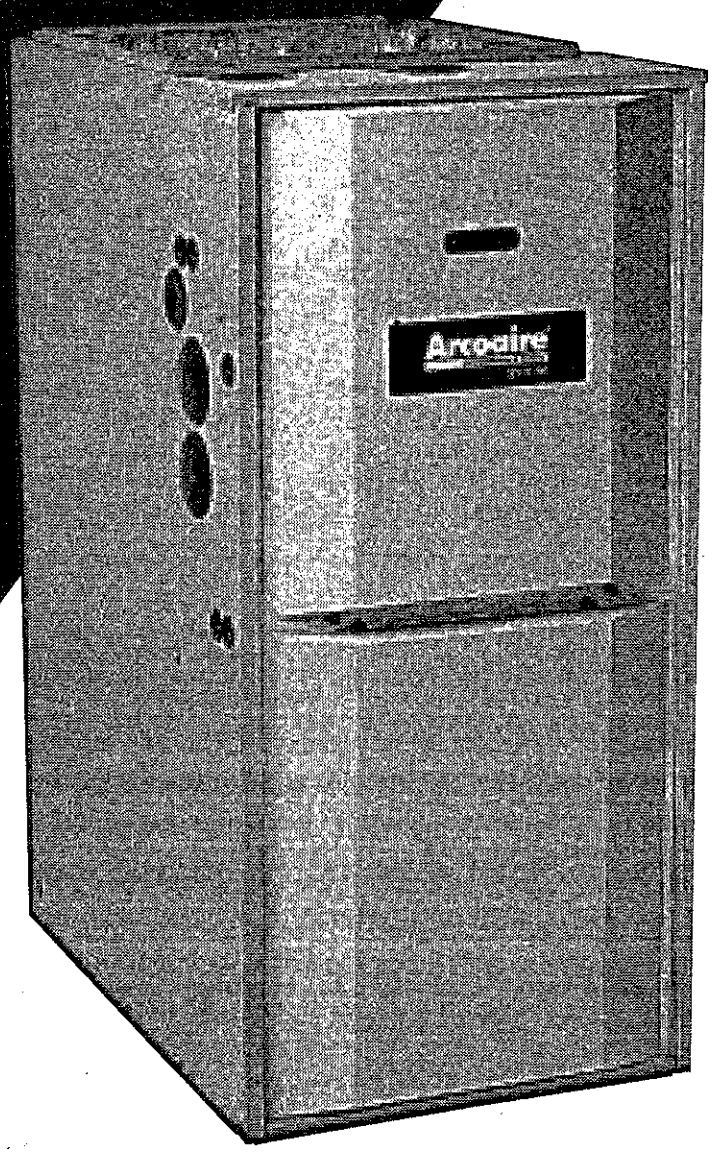
Meet The Most Work-Friendly Gas Furnace Ever

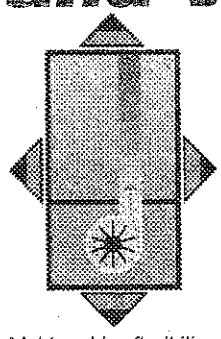


Arcoaire®
Air Conditioning & Heating

The Name To Know When The Other One Goes.

www.arcoaire.com

Versatility and variety...



Multi-position flexibility

We added great new features to the best of what you liked about Arcoaire® gas furnaces and made the new 90%+ even better! You'll appreciate how many more application options you have with these new multi-poise furnaces—most even dual-certified. And they come in a complete line of models, from single-pipe builder units with aluminized steel heat exchangers to high-end two-stage variable speed units with stainless steel heat exchangers. Plus—we standardized components, which makes servicing much easier.

Easy access...

At 40 inches high, the Arcoaire 90%+ saves space, but the design keeps components within easy reach. You'll now find a diagnostic system on all furnaces, conveniently located in the burner compartment. You can check the LED even with the furnace running.

Tested for toughness...

The new Arcoaire models, built as rugged as ever, feature an interlocking clamshell heat exchanger. The proven non-weld technology we use increases both reliability and performance. The furnaces and the heat exchangers go through the industry's toughest tests, and some of our own, to absolutely ensure reliability for the life of the furnace.

Step one, make sure you select the right contractor

Perhaps the most important step in replacing or upgrading your home's comfort system is choosing the right company to do the job.

A good contractor can help you make the right choices and give you the best value for your money.

Choosing a reliable contractor can be more important than the brand of equipment because no matter how well-made a furnace is or who manufactures it, the comfort, reliability and energy-efficiency that furnace provides is still in the hands of the company doing the installing.

If you know a good heating contractor, that is an excellent place to start. If you don't, ask your friends or neighbors for recommendations. Remember: What they charge is less important than what kind of a job they do, how honest they are and how they treat their customers.

- Avoid any company offering to give you an estimate without coming out and looking at the job.
- A good company will supply you a written proposal clearly outlining the work to be done and the agreed-on price.
- A reliable contractor will usually provide more than one furnace choice. Know the costs, quality and savings of the furnace or air conditioner you're buying.
- An estimator for a reliable company should ask about heating and cooling problems experienced with your old equipment, then offer understandable solutions.
- A good company will usually have a financing plan available.
- Most reliable contractors offer extended service agreements which include maintenance inspections.
- A well-trained, up-to-date contractor won't try to discourage you from purchasing high-efficiency equipment. If he does, get a second opinion.
- A good contractor is professional. Their people are prompt, they meet appointments, they are courteous, neat and well groomed. This neatness should be reflected in their vehicles and offices and installations.
- They should have an office/shop facility and not be ashamed to have you visit it.
- Many less qualified companies don't provide employees proper training. Rather than keep current with the latest technology, some discourage selling new designs.

Better companies usually charge more, but offer greater value. While one price may look better on paper, the most important consideration is your satisfaction with the end result. Did you get what you paid for?

Reliable companies, those meeting the requirements above, are interested in keeping you as their long-term customer. They want to maintain their fine reputation, so the price offered will usually be reasonable. If you have any questions, ask another company for a quote, then choose the best value.

Questions about the ACCA, NWHCDA

What is the ACCA?

The Air Conditioning Contractors of America (ACCA) is a non-profit trade association of service to the independent heating, ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration (HVACR) contractors.

What is NWHCDA?

Locally in the metro Detroit area, the ACCA chapter is called the Northwest Heating and Cooling Dealers Association. There is also a state chapter called Michigan ACCA (MI ACCA).

NWHCDA members maintain the highest ethical standards of selling, advertising, pricing, installation and service, guided by the principles of honesty and integrity.

NWHCDA work with local and state agencies concerned with licensing and inspections to maintain consumer safety and satisfaction.

ACCA and its members participate in a program designed to rapidly locate defective products introduced to the marketplace so corrective action may be taken without delay to avoid cost and inconvenience to the consumer.

ACCA furnishes to its members a technical and management library unequaled in the HVACR industry.

ACCA and its members work with local and state educational organizations in an effort to ensure a steady influx of trained people in order to provide consumers with the quality service they deserve.

NWHCDA members are dedicated to:

- Instilling the highest respect for their profession within their community.
- Complying with all local codes and regulations.
- Upholding the highest ethical standards in selling, installing, and servicing heating and cooling equipment.
- Yielding an excellent policy of consumer relations and upholding the policies and warranties of the manufacturer.
- Carrying the proper liability and workmen's compensation insurnace to avoid risk to the consumer.
- Supporting energy conservation efforts through federal, state, and local agencies.
- Contributing to consumer education through agencies such as local consumer affairs offices.
- Maintaining the proper state and local licenses for the consumer's protection.

ACCA explains its code of ethics

Code of Ethics

Members of the Air Conditioning Contractors of America agree to abide by and conform to the following code of professional conduct:

Instill the highest respect for heating, ventilating, air conditioning and refrigeration (HVACR) contracting profession within their communities.

• Maintain strict compliance with all laws, regulations and ordinances pertaining to the HVACR industry and business operations prescribed by federal, state, county and municipal governments.

• Design, install, service and repair heating, ventiliation, air conditioning and refrigeration systems in accordance with accepted industry standards.

• Develop and maintain an understanding of proper equipment selection to assure customers of safe, dependable and comfortable performance.

• Ensure that quality, honesty, integrity and good faith are hallmarks of contractors' business practices, including individual contractor sales, advertising, installations and service of HVACR systems.

• Maintain a clean, safe, respectable and well-identified place of business commensurate with the high standards of the profession.

• Increase the safety and efficiency of the HVACR contracting industry by participating in the education and training programs of ACCA.

• Develop the highest quality standards of customer service and nuture long-term relationships with customers.

• Encourage and support business development in which skilled and professional HVACR contractors are empowered to provide high-level services to consumers and end-users.

• Refrain from engaging in any activity defined as cross-subsidization.

Mechanical permits serve to protect your family's safety

Whenever a furnace is installed a permit is required for the homeowner's safety and well-being.

This process is necessary for two reasons: to assure that the contractor is qualified to install the equipment you have selected, and once the equipment is installed, that it has been inspected and is in compliance with the current Mechanical Code rules and regulations for proper installation of mechanical equipment.

"Local mechanical contractors must be licensed by the state of Michigan and registered with the city."

"A permit must be obtained prior to commencing any mechanical work. If his license doesn't cover what he's trying to install, he won't be issued a permit."

Once installation is complete the contractor is responsible to call for inspection on the equipment.

The permit process is one that has been instituted for one purpose – to ensure the health, safety and welfare of the public. It's a matter of peace of mind.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

How To Choose the Right Heating System

Choosing the right furnace can be as challenging as buying a new car. When shopping for a new heating system, there are certain things you should be aware of that will help you save money and ensure worry-free operation.

When shopping for a new car, reliability is a key factor, because it determines how well and how long it will run. A furnace is really no different. Purchasing a quality furnace can save you headaches and money down the road.

In addition, many manufacturers back their products with 20-year or more limited warranties on heat exchangers, with optional extended warranties available for parts and labor.

Here are some things to look for when buying a furnace:

Efficiency

A furnace's efficiency rating, or AFUE (Annual Fuel Utilization Efficiency) tells you how efficiently the furnace uses fuel (gas or oil). In general, the higher the efficiency, the less fuel it will use to heat your home. The minimum rating is 78 percent and some furnaces are rated as high as 96 percent.

Usually a higher-efficiency furnace is a bit more expensive than other units. However, if you live in a cold climate, you may recover your investment in a high-efficiency furnace through lower utility bills. Of course, after the payback, you continue to save on your energy bills for the life of a system.

Variable-Speed Furnaces

Some furnaces can make you more comfortable. For example, variable-speed furnaces can run on low speed up to 90 percent of the time, and operate very quietly.

Variable-speed furnaces run on low speed most of the time, switching to high speed during the coldest times of the year. This can mean dramatic energy savings and a quieter heating system.

Your local assoc. heating and air conditioning dealer is the most reliable source for information on furnaces. See the dealer listing on page 2 for a list of dealers in your area.

What Happens When Indoor Air Is Too Dry?

• You Feel Colder

Since dry air causes moisture to evaporate from your skin at a higher than normal rate, you feel uncomfortably cool even in a home heated to 75 degrees.

• Higher Energy Costs

It's well known that excessive dryness aggravates upper respiratory ailments. Allergies, sinus problems, even skin irritations can worsen by a lack of proper humidity.

• Damage To Your Home and Furnishings

Dry heated air is like a sponge searching for water, drawing moisture from your furniture, plaster, woodwork, paneling, fabrics, carpets, and musical instruments. It all adds up to accelerated wear of everything in your home.

• Heat Loss

This is another way dryness can mean higher energy costs. When the wood around your doors and windows dries out, it shrinks and loses its ability to properly seal your home. That means constant heat loss. . .and higher energy bills.

Attorney General announces Settlement with Consumers Energy on Natural Gas Prices

As you are probably aware, Consumer Energy and other natural gas suppliers have had their gas rates frozen since 1998 at a rate of $2.84 per thousand cubic feet (MCF). The freeze ended on April 30, 2001. Consumers Energy filed a rate-case with the Michigan Public Service Commission asking for authority to charge $5.68 per MCF effective immediately. In an agreement reached in August between the Attorney General, the PSC, and ABATE (Association of Businesses Advocating Tariff Equity) with the utility, Consumers has consented to a cap of $4.68 effective until March 2002 (through the next heating season). Since that rate is now set, an increase of 65% will be realized from the 2000-2001 heating season to the 2001-2002 season.

Filters for Cleaner, Healthier Indoor Air

Central system air filters and air cleaners are installed "upstream" of your forced-air heating and air conditioning equipment. They are categorized into several groups:

Basic furnace dust-stop filters, which come with most heating and cooling units,

Media air filters, which use a rather porous media typically formed into pleats,

Self-charging media filters, which use the static-electricity-generating properties of plastic fibers such as polystyrene,

Charged media filters, which use an external direct dc voltage source, and

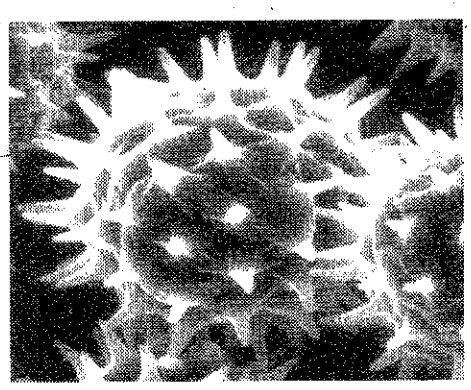
See page 2 for your local NWHCDA contractor for detailed information on these products.



Pollen

4200X magnification
size range 8-100 microns

Like plant spores, pollen is everywhere at certain times of the year. Its presence inside a home causes allergy sufferers numerous miseries, such as watery eyes, irritated sinuses, and sore, runny noses.

Dust Mites

320X magnification
size range 30-60 microns

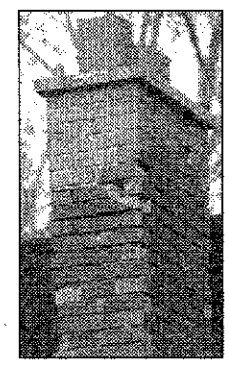
Greedy devourers of skin flakes, dust mites live out their entire reproductive lives in your carpets and mattresses, leaving behind a trail of droppings, carcasses, and more dust mites. Not surprisingly, breathing these particles into your nose and lungs can cause an allergic

How To Know You Are Getting A Good Duct Cleaning...

- Be sensible about the price you are quoted. If you are given three bids of: $600, $500, and $125, you need to be alert. It's highly unlikely you will get the same job at $125 that you will get at $600 or $500.
- Listen to the contractor giving you the price. Does he sound like he knows what he's doing? How long has he been in business? Does he seem straightforward or evasive?
- Ask for references. This is an old tried and true method. Not a complete guarantee you'll get a good company, but almost. Even a young company should have satisfied customers to refer you to. If a duct cleaning business has a broad list of well known clients, you probably have a winner.
- Is the company a National Air Duct Cleaners Association (NADCA) member? That helps. That means they have a desire to keep up with the industry and take a professional attitude about their work.
- Equipment used. Small inexpensive equipment denotes inexperience and lack of long term commitment.

Using these guidelines, a duct cleaning consumer has a decent chance at finding a quality company at a fair price and avoiding the grim discovery of finding he paid for nothing.

Do You Have a Healthy Chimney



Chimney liners prevent deterioration of chimney flues and ensure proper venting of combustible products that could condense into damaging moisture and acid in oversized chimneys. Most chimney problems can be corrected with the proper installation of a chimney liner. A chimney liner is a one piece flexible liner that, once installed, prevents condensation, a major cause of chimney deterioration.

What to Look For (Keep Your Chimney Healthy)

- Damp spots on side wall or near the chimney
- Water running out of, or debris, at the chimney base
- White powder or stains on the outside bricks of the chimney
- Broken tiles or stains on the outside bricks of the chimney
- Missing bricks or loose mortar from the top of the roof line

Carbon Monoxide Facts

Carbon Monoxide (CO) is an odorless, colorless, deadly gas caused by incomplete combustion. Because you can't smell, taste or see it, (CO) can kill you before you know it's there.

Listed below are concentration levels and exposure symptoms.

Concentration	Symptoms
100ppm (0.010%)	No perceptible effects.
200ppm (0.020%)	Mild headache within 2 to 3 hours.
400ppm (0.040%)	Mild headache, nausea within 2 to 3 hours.
600ppm (0.060%)	Headache, nausea after 1 hour, unconsciousness after 2 to 3 hours, death after 4 hours.
800ppm (0.080%)	Unconsciousness after 1 hour, death in 2-3 hours.

Frequently Asked Questions About A/C Covers

Why should I cover my air conditioner?

1. To avoid costly repairs caused by falling debris such as sticks and leaves that can cause blockage in the fans and coils.
2. To aid in preventing the fan blades from freezing up.
3. To help protect the cabinet from rust and extend the life and appearance of the air conditioning unit.
4. NWHCDA recommends "Rinse the dirt off and cover your unit for the winter."

I have heard before that you shouldn't cover your air conditioner because it needs to breathe. Is that true?

A/C Covers are manufactured with that very concept in mind.

Designed 4 to 6 inches shorter in length from the base of each unit allowing for ample circulation.

What would my cover be made from and how often would I have to replace it?

The A/C Covers should last the lifetime of your unit.

It is manufactured from a heavy-duty grade of exterior black vinyl and can withstand all weather conditions.

Armed with UV protectant, these covers can be used in high sun locations.

Custom Fit A/C Covers
