Dear Readers:

Look for your copy of Canton, Plymouth and Northville's Own Telephone Directory. Published by HomeTown Directories, a sister company to this newspaper, the directories will be distributed to 52,000 local homes and businesses over a three week period, beginning this week.

Easily identifiable by the picture of the fountain in downtown Plymouth's Kellogg Park on the cover, the directory contains listings of addresses and telephone numbers of local residents, as well as listings for local businesses and display advertising. The directory includes residences and businesses in Northville, Novi, Plymouth and Canton Township.

As always I welcome your comments. You can reach me at (734) 953-2100 or by e-mail at srosiek@oe.homecomm.net

Sincerely,

Susan Rosiek

Central debate heats up

A group of area residents appeared before the Plymouth-Canton school board Tuesday, urging trustees to keep Central Middle School up and running.

Central Middle School supporters took center stage at Tuesday's school board meeting, urging trustees to keep Central Middle School a vibrant part of the school district.

Last week, it was the parents of the Talented and Gifted program who challenged a recent draft report by Plymouth-Canton Schools Superintendent Kathleen Booher that outlined changes in the current magnet TAG program.

Tuesday night, Central Middle School supporters took their turn in contesting the report, which outlines preliminary facility and program changes, telling the Board of Education they don't want to see the school sold.

"I urge this board to continue to look at Central as an educational facility, as a recreational facility," said Mark LaPointe, a Plymouth resident and physical education teacher at the school. "I hope children continue to go there. This school is vital to the city, it's vital to the school district."

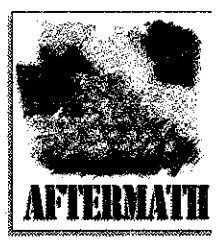

LaPointe was one of nearly a dozen people who urged the board to keep

FAA ban covers business and recreational pilots under visual flight rules

BY CAROL MARSHALL

cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

Change is in the air. The question for pilots at Canton's Mettetal Airport is how much and for how long? Pilots continue to gather in the pilot lounge, but they're not preparing for flight. Instead they sit, frustrated and waiting, until they can take off again.

"I can get out of here but I can't get back in, so I guess I'm grounded," said Livonia pilot Jim Jahn. "I'm just waiting. They tell us to be patient. But from day to day, they keep changing the rules."

Since Sept. 11, the FAA has grounded planes, then allowed them to fly with tight restrictions, and has changed security policies at airports.

"The only way we can get out is to file an instrument flight plan," said pilot and Mettetal employee Nick Clapsadel. "That way the pilot can be in constant contact with someone. But hardly anyone here is instrument rated, they're almost all VFR (visual flight rules) pilots."

Mettetal pilots aren't alone on the ground. More than 75 percent of pilots are visual fliers, said Salem Township pilot Doug McIntosh. The difference is not all of them are trapped in Metro's airspace.

Clapsadel said nearly 100,000 flights take off and land at Mettetal every year.

"This week we're only seeing maybe a dozen a day," he said.

Mettetal Airport falls underneath Detroit Metropolitan class B enhanced protected air space. Normally, Mettetal pilots fly underneath Metro's protected airspace, and can fly up to 3,000 feet within that space.

To enhance airport security, the FAA has extended the class B space all the way to the ground, leaving Mettetal pilots trapped in a no-fly area.

"Think of the space as an upside-down wedding cake," explained McIntosh. "Close to the ground there's a small area of protected space, but the higher you go, the more there is. The FAA has basically dropped that large area all the way to the ground, like a big curtain. So we're stuck."

Last weekend, the FAA lifted the ban on smaller aircraft for training purposes, so the flight school that oper-

Seniors are Merit semifinalists

Five seniors from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have been named as semifinalists in the 2002 National Merit Scholarship program.

Named as semifinalists were Tekla Bude, Daniel Christensen, Ross O'Hara and Jack Zhe from Canton High School and Michael McDonald from Salem High School.

More than 1.2 million students in over 20,000 U.S. high schools entered the 2002 Merit Program by taking the 2000 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which served as an initial screen of program entrants.

The nationwide pool of semifinalists was designated on a state representational basis; the number of semifinalists in each state is based on its percentage of the national total of graduating high school seniors. Semifinalists are the highest scoring entrants in each state and represent less than one percent of the state's seniors.

The next step for semifinalists is to fulfill requirements to advance to finalist standing, a prerequisite to consideration for a Merit Scholarship award. To become finalists, semifinalists must have an outstanding high school academic record, be endorsed and recommended by their school principal and submit SAT scores that confirm their earlier qualifying test performance.

The semifinalist and a school official must submit a detailed scholarship application, which includes the student's self-descriptive essay and information about the semifinalist's participation and leadership in school and community activities.

About 15,000 semifinalists are expected to advance to the finalist standing and compete for Merit Scholarship Awards in the 2002 competition.

Bill adding judgeship in 35th passes House

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Legislation giving Plymouth's 35th District Court a third judge passed the state House on a vote of 106-1 Tuesday afternoon.

Rep. Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township, is the author of the bill seeking the third judgeship,

"I got it done like I said I would," said Patterson from the House floor, where he maneuvered the legislation. "Except for one Democrat, nobody was in opposition to it."

The bill wasn't scheduled to go before the House until next month. However, Patterson said he was able to get it through earlier, though he declined to reveal the circumstances that allowed the legislation to be brought before the House this week.

The bill now goes to the state Senate.

"It will be interesting to see who gets it through the Senate," said Patterson. "It's out of my control now."

The Canton lawmaker said he'll be meeting with William Van Regenmorter, R-Georgetown Township, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, in an effort to get the piece of legislation through the upper chamber and onto Gov. John Engler's desk.

House lawmakers apparently put little stock in a recent report from the State Court Administrative Office which failed to recommend a third judge for the court that serves the cities of Plymouth and Northville, plus the townships of Canton, Plymouth and Northville.

For nearly a decade, 35th District Court judges have been seeking a third judge to handle an increasing caseload in a district which is growing in population. Figures released by the court show judges John MacDonald and Ron Lowe handle an average 22,389 cases per year. That compares to the statewide average caseload of 12,735 for district court judges.

Police dog tracks break-in suspect

COP CALLS

Canton police tracked down a 41-year-old Plymouth man after he allegedly broke into a home in the 45000 block of Embassy Court.

Two residents were home at the time of the break-in, which occurred Sept. 17 just after midnight. The 30-year-old female resident said she had fallen asleep in the living room, and awoke to the sound of someone "rummaging" in the kitchen. She at first thought it was the 53-year-old male resident of the house, but he was also sleeping in the living room.

The woman saw a man standing in her kitchen, and asked what he was doing there.

He quickly grabbed her fanny pack from the kitchen counter, and fled the home.

A Canton K-9 unit tracked the man, and brought him back to the scene, where the woman positively identified him.

Bomb scare

Employees at Pro Coil, 5260 S. Haggerty, were evacuated from the building early Thursday morning after someone called in a bomb threat.

The employee who received the call told police a man with a deep voice called and told him there was a bomb in the bathroom. He repeated the threat twice before hanging up. The phone on which the call was received can only receive calls from inside the building.

Canton police and Michigan State Police swept the building with a bomb-sniffing dog, and found nothing.

The shift supervisor said he was concerned because of an incident from the previous day, in which one of the company's temporary employees had made threatening remarks.

The employee, an Arab-American, told his coworkers he was capable of making a bomb, and had made threatening remarks at work, according to police reports.

The employee told police his co-workers made up the stories about him because of his ethnic background.

Auto theft

A 32-year-old Canton woman reported her pickup truck was stolen from in front of her Westfield home Tuesday night.

She left the truck, valued at $5,000, parked on the street, and was not sure whether it was locked. There was an extra set of keys in the glove box.

The police have no suspects.

Unarmed robbery

A Canton 14-year-old told police he was robbed by two of his friends Sept. 18.

The boy was riding in a van with a 16-year-old Plymouth resident and a 20-year-old man.

He said his teenage assailant pinned him against one of the van seats, while the adult stole the victim's cell phone from his belt carrier.

The victim's friends refused to give the phone back to him, and dropped him off near his home.

Wallet theft

A 14-year-old student told police another student stole his wallet while he waited in line in the Plymouth Salem High School upper commons area.

The teen said he was holding his wallet, and a 15-year-old boy, who described as 5-feet, 6-inches tall and skinny, grabbed it from his hands and fled.

The victim didn't know the alleged thief. The wallet contained a check, cash and a department store gift card.

Physical Therapy UPDATE
Hands On Center
Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy

ATTENDING PROPERLY TO SPRAINS

The most common reason for an ankle sprain is already having one, and the best prevention of a second sprain is appropriate treatment of the first. Ankle sprains typically occur when the ligaments on the outside of the ankle either stretch or rupture, when the foot tilts inward and the body's weight falls on the ankle. Sprains that are not adequately rehabilitated can leave ligaments weakened, causing diminished strength and balance that often lead to more sprains. It is especially necessary to strengthen the tendons on the outside of the leg and ankle that provide stability. Balance also needs to be reestablished, as the nerves that promote balance become injured with an ankle sprain and need to be retrained.

Many people mistakenly assume that an absence of pain means that complete healing has occurred. Such assumptions often result in reinjury or improper healing, in which the body compensates for inadequate treatment or an insufficient recovery period. To ensure that your injury doesn't boomerang or become a chronic health issue, ask your physician for referral to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY, located in Plymouth, at 470 Forest Avenue, Suite 20. For more information about our practice, please call 455-8370. Evening treatment hours available.

P.S. Young athletes must guard against playing on injured ankles before their sprains have had sufficient time to heal.

Cops help kids stay safe on bikes, skates

kkuban@oe.homecomm.net

In an effort to make sure children in the community are wearing helmets when they are skating or biking, the Plymouth Township Police Department sold a number of safety helmets Thursday at Fiegel Elementary.

The department recently received a $1,000 grant from Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, which gave out $25,000 to local communities to promote the use of safety helmets.

According to Officer Jamie Senkbeil, who works with the police department's community resource unit, the department used its grant to purchase more than 300 helmets through a program at Detroit's Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Senkbeil attended Fiegel's annual fall barbecue and sold the helmets for $3, which is considerably less than the retail price of $20 or more. She said it was a part of a concerted effort by the department to promote bicycle safety to children in the community. The department also held a bicycle rodeo earlier this summer for National Night Out, at which children were given a bicycle skills and safety test.

"For so many years, we concentrated on families during our community events. This year, I wanted to focus on the kids, especially those 12 and under. Bicycle safety is a big part of our focus," Senkbeil said.

Susan Smith from Children's Hospital's trauma unit was also on hand Thursday, making sure the children were properly fitted with the helmets. She said too many children choose helmets that look cool, rather than worry about how they fit.

"The fit is very important. A fashion statement on the back of a helmet doesn't do anything to protect the brain. Broken arms and legs can heal. Injured brains aren't so easy to fix," she said.

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, hospital emergency rooms in this country treat more than 400,000 children annually for biking or skating injuries. About 300 of those cases end in death.

In total, Senkbeil sold 103 helmets at the event.

"There were 225 people there, so it looks like just about every family bought a helmet. I would call that a success," she said.

Debbie Tofil, whose daughter Lynn is a fourth-grader at Fiegel, purchased helmets for both her daughters. She said she has always stressed helmet use.

"This is a great opportunity. My daughters have not gone on anything with wheels without wearing a helmet. I think there should be a law in this state mandating helmet use for children until they are 16 years old," she said.

The department still has more than 200 helmets, and Senkbeil is looking for another venue to sell them, possibly at another of the township's elementary schools. However, she said the supply is limited.

"Once the supply is gone, it is gone. This is something we would like to continue, but grants are not always going to be there," she said.

on the premeditated murder charges.

Brian Sewell and Jones had been friends since they were both students at Willow Run High School, according to Canton Police Detective Deb Newsome.

Nikki and Brian Sewell had known each other for 10 years, and had been married for six, according to Newsome. On Sept. 9 Nikki Sewell sought a personal protection order after her husband allegedly assaulted her while she was visiting her parents' Ypsilanti Township home.

Like on any ordinary day, Brian Sewell went to work at Industrial Tools & Technologies in Plymouth Township Tuesday, Sept. 18. He left early for a dentist appointment, according to Newsome. Brian Sewell's pickup truck was found just after midnight in Independence Park, off Denton and Geddes roads, by a Canton police officer. The officer found an open gun case with no weapon inside.

Brian Sewell

The officer ran the truck's plate and headed to Sewell's last known address in the College Park mobile home park. The officer found a key in the partially opened door.

Police found Nikki Sewell and Jones dead in the house. They had died as a result of multiple gunshot wounds, according to police. There was no one else in the house but the Sewells' family dog, a sheltie that refused to leave Nikki Sewell's side, Newsome said.

Police began looking for Brian Sewell, who they thought may have been hiding in the woods near the park.

Sometime Wednesday morning, Brian Sewell made calls to his sister and to a friend from his wireless phone. Sewell's sister helped put a police negotiator in contact with him, according to Public Safety Director John Santomauro. Sewell continued to call the negotiator through the day.

Brian Sewell surrendered on foot and without incident about 4 p.m., near Gottfredson and Ford, police said. He was unarmed at the time of his arrest.

Optometrist honored by state group

Dr. Gregory Ferman, who practices optometry in Plymouth and resides in Canton, has received a special plaque from the Michigan Optometric Association for eight years of service on the association board. The recognition came during the association's 105th-annual convention in Mt. Pleasant.

Ferman retired from the association board of directors as immediate past president at the convention, but will continue organizational service as a member of the advisory council. The council, which provides advice and recommendations to the board, is composed of all past presidents of the 900-member organization.

Ferman, a 1977 graduate of the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago, is a prior winner of the association's Distinguished Service and Keyperson Awards for significant contributions to the association and profession of optometry.

Gibson School hosts girls' conference

Gibson School for the Gifted in Redford will host a "Follow Your Dreams" conference for girls ages 9-13 on Saturday, Oct. 6, at the school.

Professional women will participate in workshops throughout the day. The conference speaker will be Frida Waara, an award-winning videographer and member of PolarQuest, the team of 12 women who skied to the North Pole last spring.

Each girl attending should bring an adult with her to the conference. The adults will attend concurrent workshops to learn effective support techniques.

All workshops sessions will focus on strategies to help girls make the best of their potential and keep their options open for the future.

Registration is recommended. The conference is from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and the cost is $10.

Q & A

Q: Who was Anthony Panizzi?

A: Sir Anthony Panizzi was the only librarian ever hanged in effigy. He was born Antonio Genesio Maria Panizzi at Brescello, Italy in 1797. As a young man he joined a forbidden Italian patriotic society that advocated the overthrow of the oppressive Austrians who then controlled most of northern Italy. Tried in absentia by an Austrian court in 1820, he was sentenced to death and all his property was confiscated. He fled to England in 1823, learned the language and by 1831 was employed in the British Museum where, in 1856, he was named principal librarian. Later described as the "prince of librarians" Panizzi died at London, England, in April 1879.

properties). The tax does not apply to homes.

Tabor estimates the tax, if approved, will give the schools $10.5 million for the 2002 school year, which is a quarter of the district's operating budget of $48 million.

"This millage is extremely important. It brings in a little more than 20 percent of our operating budget. It would be very difficult for us to provide a quality education to our community without this passing," he said.

The district is asking for an increase to the current rate of 17.88 mills up to 18 mills, which equals $0.18 on each $1,000 of taxable value on non-homestead properties.

The current tax rate, which was approved by voters in 1997, expires in December.

The polls open at 7 a.m. Monday and close at 8 p.m.

Voting places are Belleville High School (Precinct One), North Middle School (Precinct Two), Rawsonville Elementary (Precinct Three), Elwell Elementary (Precinct Four), Haggerty Elementary (Precinct Five) and Tyler Elementary (Precinct Six).

Tabor said voters can expect to see him around some of the voting places drumming up support.

"I'll be out and about on election day trying to get people to support this. I have been making myself visible for several weeks at open houses and other events, reminding people to get out and vote. We need this to pass."

The Canton Kiwanis breakfast club is organizing its first costume drive and is looking for help from the community.

"We are rounding up as many costumes as we can, and delivering them to Mott Childrens Hospital cancer ward," said Kiwanian and drive organizer Ginnie Hauck. "The children will use them all year, but with Halloween coming up, they'll be able to use them even more now."

Kiwanis has for many years supported programs at Mott Childrens Hospital, and recently members met with staff to determine the childrens' needs.

"When we visited we determined a costume drive would give the kids a chance to dress up and have fun and play pretend," Hauck said. "It's a great escape when you're going through an illness. You can be somebody else. You can be a princess or whatever you want to be. No matter what they're going through, they're still just children and they need to play."

Hauck thought the timing of the drive would be perfect not only because the children will use the costumes during Halloween, but also because it's a time when people are already in the stores buying costumes.

"It's so easy that way because you can just pick up an extra one, or you can donate costumes from last year or the year before," Hauck said.

"I just really encourage people to get involved however they can. Whenever we can make someone's life a little brighter, we can make just one day go by a little better."

Kiwanis will be collecting costumes through the end of October.

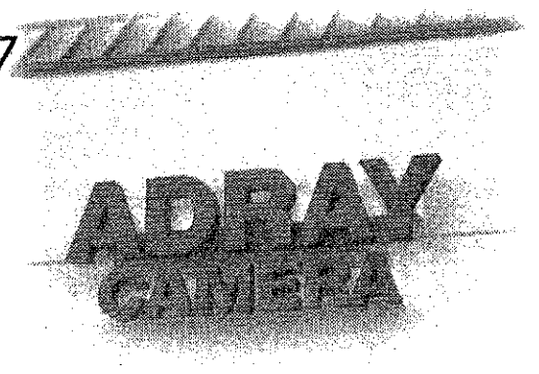

Hauck is contacting local schools to ask if they would be willing drop-off sites, but she's certain people can bring donations to Canton Place, at Sheldon and Ford roads. For more information on donations and drop-off sites, contact Lennie Bowser at (734) 207-0780 or Ginnie Hauck at (734) 981-6420.

Say it with Flowers

by Steve Mansfield

WALLFLOWERS

Wall pockets, or wall vases, are small decorative containers that are hung on the walls with nails. Especially popular in the United States in the early 1920s, '30s, and 40s, wall pockets were designed to hold flowers and plants. Today, there is a collecting trend for wall pockets, fueled by nostalgia. They can be found in an endless array of shapes and genres. China and ceramic pockets, which come in the widest variety, have been sculpted and molded into baskets, cornucopias, ships, shoes, etc. Wall pockets are also manufactured in Europe and in Japan. Once you come across these dandy little flower holders, you can indulge yourself in the ability to display cut flowers on the wall.

Flowers and plants can add immeasurable warmth and personality to the decor of your home. At HEIDE'S FLOWERS & GIFTS, located at 995 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, we would be glad to help you pick the perfect flowers for any occasion, or for no occasion at all! Worldwide wire service is available, and your satisfaction is always assured. To place your order by phone, call 453-5140, or visit our website at www.heidesflowers.com. Since 1899, we have been dedicated to providing quality and service to our community. Look for our next article in two weeks.

HINT: Today, glass wall pockets are highly sought after.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM CHARLES STAFFORD

Services for William Stafford, 63, of Canton were held Sept. 22 at Schrader-Howell Funeral Home with the Rev. James Hayes officiating.

Mr. Stafford was born Aug. 13, 1938, in Catskill, N.Y., and died Sept. 19 in Wayne. He came to the Canton community in 1973 from Pittsburgh and New York. He was a baseball pitcher, spending two years in the minor leagues before breaking into the major leagues at age 21. He was recruited by all 16 major league teams, and was the youngest member of the 1961 Yankees.

Bill Stafford

He played eight major league seasons. He won two World Series with the Yankees, leading the American League in earned-run average in 1961. He was the winning pitcher in the game in which Roger Maris hit his 61st home run, then a major league record.

He also worked for Mike Schechter Associates for 15 years. He was a member of the Elks of Plymouth, Yankee Alumni Association, Major League Baseball Association, and the N.Y. Yankee Fantasy Camps. He played in many celebrity charity golf tournaments.

Survivors include his wife of 29 years, Sharon Stafford of Canton; sons, Michael Dale Stafford of Columbus, Ohio, and William Stafford of New York; daughters, Kimberly Anne of Peoria, Ill., and Susan of New Jersey; mother-in-law, Henrietta Beedell of Plymouth; brother-in-law, Leon (Kathleen) Mazurek of Spring Lake, Mich.; uncle, Ralph (Marian) Surrano of New York; aunt, Anne Morrow of Plymouth; and nieces, Amy Mazurek of Grand Haven and Liza Mazurek of Kalamazoo.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association.

Arrangements were made by Schrader-Howell Funeral Home.

STEVEN SCHOMBERGER

Services for Steven Schomberger, 75, of Plymouth were held Sept. 18 at Vermeulen Funeral Home with the Rev. Leonard Partensky officiating. Burial was at Fort Custer National Cemetery in Augusta, Mich.

Mr. Schomberger was born Jan. 19, 1926 in Ecorse and died Sept. 15 in Plymouth. He was an equipment operator. He was a retired long-time member of Local 17 I.B.E.W.

He was preceded in death by his sisters, Evelyn McNamara and Rosemary Schomberger.

Survivors include sister, Agnes (John) Susko of Altoona, Penn.; sister, Mary (Leonard) Kubitskey of Livonia; brother, George (Faye) Schomberger of Westland; brother, Edward (Elizabeth) Schomberger of Plymouth; sister, Helen (Gerald) Gellner of Brighton; sister, Margaret (Allen) Cassady of Northville; and brother, Thomas Schomberger of Commerce Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Association Michigan Affiliate Inc., 30600 Telegraph Road, Suite 2255, Bingham Farms, MI 48025.

Arrangements made by Vermeulen Funeral Home.

MARIA GENNETY

Services for Maria Gennety, 39, of Canton were held Sept. 22 at St. Damian Catholic Church with the Rev. Lawrence Zurawski officiating. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mrs. Gennety was born May 8, 1962 in Jackson and died Sept. 19 in Canton. She was a homemaker.

Survivors include husband, Mark Gennety of Canton; son, Nicholas Gennety of Canton; daughter, Jessica Gennety of Canton; father and mother, John (Maria) Dragonetti of Jackson; and sister, Lucy (Robert) Munerance of Grand Blanc.

Memorial contributions may be made to the St. Damian Catholic Church Building Fund, 29891 Joy Road, Westland, MI.

Arrangements made by Vermeulen Funeral Home.

GEORGE W. POWELL

Services for George Powell, 80, of Canton were held Sept. 25 at St. John Neumann Catholic Church.

Mr. Powell was born Jan. 26, 1921 in Owensboro, Ky. and died Sept. 22 in Canton. He worked as a manager of a department store.

Survivors include wife, Judith Powell of Canton; son, David (Barbara) Powell; daughters, Linda (Bruce) Behnke, Barbara (Albert) Hallet, Patricia (Steve) Collins, and Janice (Kirk) Robinson; step-daughters, Alisa (Michael) Bieritz, Laura (Scott) Pennington, Linda (Greg) Henderson, and Ann Marie Carducci; brother, Robert (Mary Lou) Powell; and 16 grandchildren.

Arrangements made by L.J. Griffin Funeral Home Canton Chapel.

HOWARD L. BRADLEY, JR.

A private service for Howard Bradley, 54, of Plymouth was held at Casterline Funeral Home.

Mr. Bradley was born Jan. 28, 1947 in Chicago and died Aug. 31 in Plymouth. He was a graduate of the University of Illinois. He worked as a manager at Ford Motor Company for 30 years.

Survivors include his life partner, Tony; mother, LaVerne Bradley of California; aunts and uncles, Wil (Florence) Gorgen and Violet Ratajzik.

Arrangements made by Casterline Funeral Home.

Central Middle School part of the Plymouth landscape.

"It's an historical building and has been the centerpiece of this community and school district probably longer than any other building," added parent Debbie Madonna. "The people who live in downtown Plymouth move there because of Central. If I was given an opportunity to send my kids to a new school over Central, I'd pick Central in a heartbeat."

Lolah Schueder is a 1935 graduate of Plymouth High School, which is now Central Middle School.

"Central Middle School is very dear to my heart," said Schueder, 85, to the board. "I went past the other day and the students were pouring out, laughing and talking. Those were great memories."

As she did with the TAG parents last week, Booher reiterated the report is preliminary, Central will not be sold, and the community will get a chance to give its input before any final decisions are made.

"There is a great deal of misunderstanding circulating that's alarming a lot of people, and you shouldn't be alarmed," said Booher. "You don't have a board now who would make these kinds of decisions without getting community input. That is the appropriate next step, and people will have the opportunity to share their perspective.

"In fact, what I've recommended, and will be in the final draft, is that the district not sell Central Middle School, they retain Central Middle School, and indeed look at it as possibly having multiple purposes," said Booher. "Just as this district has done any time it has assessed its facilities, and developed a bond issue, they've used the wisdom of the community to come together and form that recommendation. That will happen this time."

Booher said conclusive facilities and program recommendations will be part of a final report to be issued to the Board of Education Oct. 15.

Eriksson walk is tonight

Students at Eriksson Elementary School have been walking to raise money for the rescue workers and victims of the terrorist attacks in New York, and now they're inviting the community to join them.

Eriksson students, who walk around the building and playground area every morning, have raised more than $12,000 for the relief effort. They are inviting parents, friends and anyone else in the community interested in helping to walk with them tonight (Thursday) from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Eriksson Elementary School is located at 1275 N. Haggerty Road in Canton. For information, call the school at (734) 981-5560.

Firefighters, others pick up fund-raising mantle

AFTERMATH

Fund-raising efforts throughout the Canton community are continuing in the wake of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks:

■ Canton firefighters will kick off a "Pass the Boot" campaign today in hopes of raising funds for the families of fallen New York City firefighters.

Firefighters will be at the Home Depot stores on Ford and on Michigan Avenue as well as Kroger grocery store at Canton Center and Ford from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. today, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The drive is part of a nationwide effort started shortly after the attacks on New York and Washington, D.C.

In addition, Canton firefighters, through their charity foundation, are planning a Giant Sports Auction on Oct. 19 at Summit on the Park. The foundation is also planning a November fund-raiser at the Sharks Club on Ford.

All donations will be turned over to the International Association of Firefighters Union.

Residents not able to stop by a store this weekend can also make donations by sending a check to: Canton Firefighters Charity Foundation, Canton Fire Station One, 1100 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, MI. 48188.

Truckin': Canton residents are going all out to show their patriotism

■ In the past the Canton Public Library has waived overdue fines to promote charitable contributions within the community.

In a unique twist, the library is now asking patrons to pay their fines in an effort to help their fellow citizens through a "Fines for Freedom" drive.

Until Sept. 30, all overdue fines collected by the Canton Public Library will be donated to the New York City World Trade Center Relief Fund.

The library will also accept cash donations and checks made out to the relief fund.

■ The two Mammoth Video stores in Canton will join in an Oct. 3 fund-raising drive by the national chain. All proceeds from from that day will be donated to the Red Cross for aid in New York.

The Canton stores are at 7209 Canton Center and 44314 Cherry Hill.

■ Meanwhile, six Canton kids have banded together and already raised $470 through door-to-door collection of bottles and cans.

The "Kiddies of Canton, MI." include D.J. Loney, Bethany and Megan Rose, Niguel, Noah and Nya Evans.

ates out of Mettetal is up and running again.

Helicopters have been banned from flying in the protected airspace because they are nearly exclusively visual flyers, McIntosh said.

"There was a helicopter here from Pellston," in northern Michigan, said Jahn. "He got here on Sept. 11, then was stuck here for two days. He finally filed a flight plan out of here, then they canceled his flight, so he had to rent a car to drive back home."

Although they're bored or inconvenienced, the pleasure pilots feel the worst for Mettetal's working pilots.

"The guys it hurts the most are the ones that fly out of here for business," said Plymouth Township pilot Harry Wilcox. The flight school owner has gone two weeks without income, as have his instructors, he said. Some of the instructors are hit doubly hard because they also work for major airlines such as Northwest, whose flights have also been dramatically reduced.

The recreational pilots reported they are almost as lost without their planes as most folks are without their cars, and the small group of pilots gathered at Mettetal pondered what they should do with their time.

"Well, we've been drinking coffee and talking to you," said Jahn. "But not much else."

Wilcox, an instrument-rated pilot, has been able to fly a couple of times since Sept. 11, although he misses the freedom of flying three times a week.

"We used to be able to just take off and fly somewhere to go have breakfast, or to have lunch. I would be able to go off and see my children and grandchildren in one day," he said. "I guess for now we have to figure out where to eat locally."

Extravagant

Culinary event raises $110,000

STAFF WRITER
kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net

For lovers of fine foods, the Schoolcraft College's Culinary Extravaganza 2001 presented an array of aroma and tastes created by seared scallops, roasted tomato soup and roasted vegetable terrine.

Not only did patrons and guests fill their plates and palates with fine dining, they contributed to a good cause, too.

The extravaganza raised $110,000. The money will go toward the Schoolcraft College Foundation, the school's scholarship fund.

Conway Jeffress, Schoolcraft president, said the event is "extremely important" for the foundation. "There were over 50 participating restaurants, and we had more tickets sold than last year. We had good fund-raising with the tickets, the raffle and with sponsorship of auction items."

SPOTLIGHT ON SCHOOLCRAFT

Jeffress was worried about inconveniences due to the construction to expand the Waterman Center. "We had lots of 'innovations' with the golf carts (used to shuttle guests from the parking lot) and the somewhat bizarre parking, but everyone took all of that in stride."

Jeffress also appreciated former president Dick McDowell's efforts in obtaining sponsorships and selling tickets for the event.

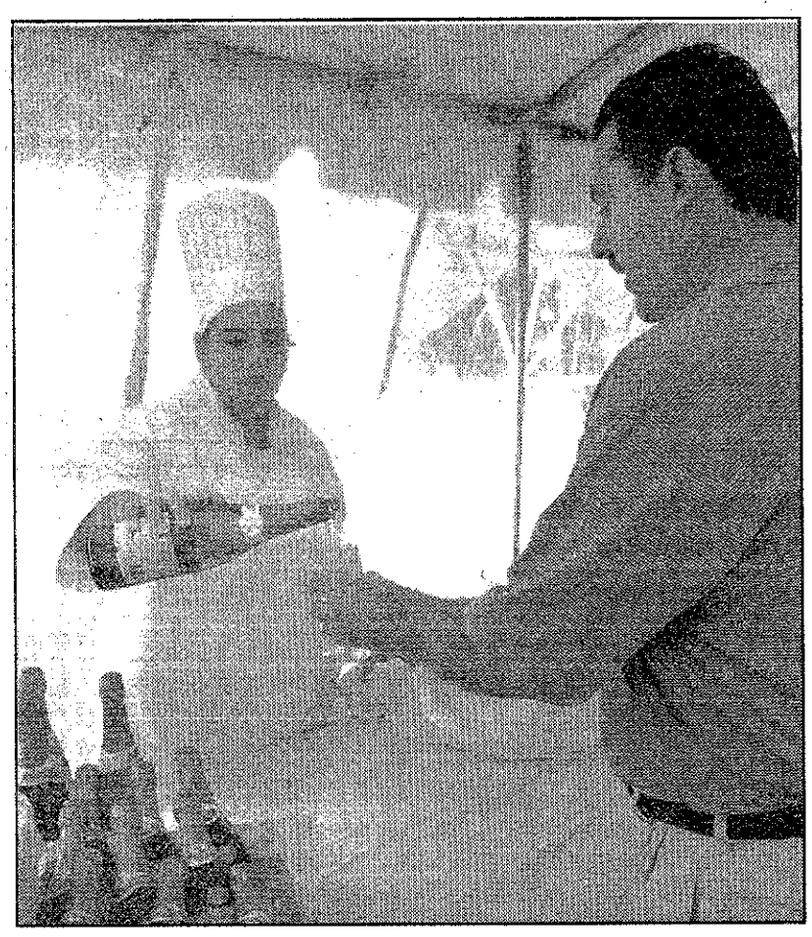

The food was enjoyed by many guests, including Jim Fausone of Canton, who stood near the Zingerman's table. "Wow," he said. "It's the first year we've been to this event, and it's just fantastic.

"This event is just an excellent idea. It gives you exposure to restaurants you may not otherwise get to visit." Fausone's favorite: Mama Mucci's Pasta, "so fresh and delicious."

Sherry and Mike Holderby of Plymouth mark their calendar each year for the event. This year marked their fourth or fifth year in attendance. "We love it," said Sherry. "The sign goes up, and we're there."

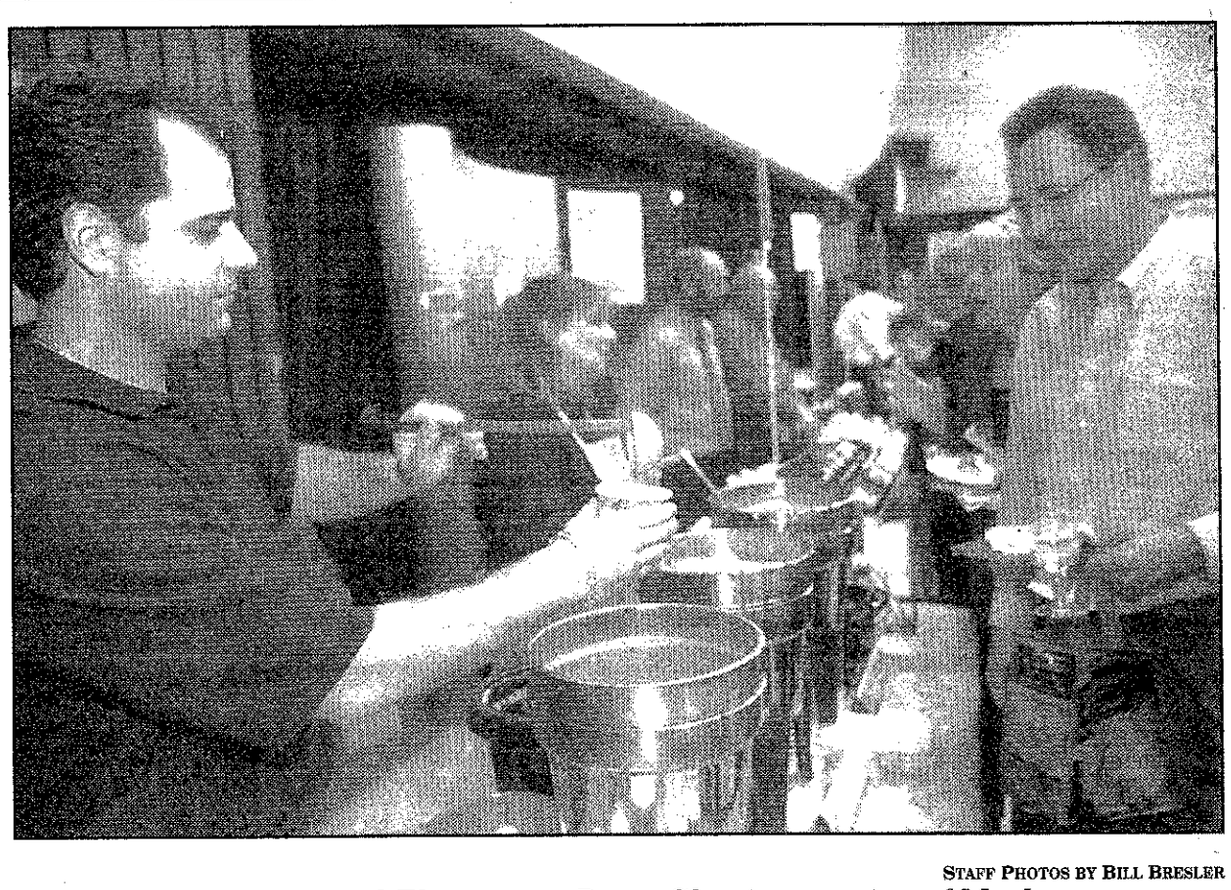

They enjoyed pieces of a coffee cake from Zingerman's.

"The event shows off the school and their (culinary) abilities," Sherry said. "A lot of chefs went to school here and it's a wonderful way for them to give back to the community."

Culinary perfection: David Elias serves Bruce Chapin a serving of Mushroom Bisque. Chapin tasted it and exclaimed "My goodness, That's wonderful!"

Carol Strom of Livonia, president of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, said the event "brings a lot of people to see the culinary arts program to see how it works." Students worked the event at a table for the American Harvest Restaurant, serving a chocolate-filled pastry with mango ice cream and fruit.

"It's a great fund-raiser, especially with all the restaurants that donate time and service here," Strom said. Dick DeVries, also of Livonia and Schoolcraft trustee, said the public's support of the event was "absolutely incredible."

There were a lot of favorites. The Golden Mushroom served a duck pastrami, Essence's cured salmon was a delight and seared scallops from the Ritz Carlton filled the air with a delicate crispness.

Several wine booths offered Michigan wines for tastes, while Local Color brewery of Novi offered its lagers and dark beers to taste.

More of the same was offered downstairs. Chef Keith Famie signed cookbooks and greeted patrons. Kevin Gawronski, Schoolcraft instructor and certified master chef, auctioned off travel packages and other prizes, also to raise funds for scholarships.

Township is well prepared for tough economic times

When it comes to the economy, local officials are pretty much consigned to the same role as everyone else. Buckle your seatbelts and hope the ride down isn't a bumpy one. But Canton Township is in a relatively good position to survive an economic slump thanks to the foresight of its elected leaders and more than a little luck over the last 10 years.

And make no mistake. All the signs of a slowdown were in place even before the catastrophic terrorist attacks on Sept. 11.

Builders at Cherry Hill Village report that overall interest remains strong at the new urban-style development along Ford and Ridge roads. But the higher-end homes, those going for $400,000 and up, have been a tougher sell than last year, according to Biltmore Vice President David Stollman.

Canton's state revenue sharing take will be $7.5 million, down from an anticipated $8.3 million in earlier calculations. The money constitutes about a third of the township's $22 million budget.

"The recession isn't pending, it's already here," said Chico Rodriguez, marketing representative for Sam's Club, the Wal-Mart companion going up at the old Auto Nation site on Ford Road, east of I-275. At the September chamber of commerce luncheon, Rodriguez said the retailer has temporarily halted construction of both stores. Their grand opening has been pushed back from October to May 2002.

While other commercial projects in Canton continue, they too are subject to timetable adjustments by developers, especially in the current uncertainty. Will consumers be in a spending mood with the nation poised for war? Perhaps more importantly, will Canton residents feel their jobs are secure enough to continue established buying habits at local businesses?

Fortunately, much that is on the township's municipal agenda is either well on the way to completion or is planned with money that is already on hand. The library expansion was finished last spring and the Summit addition is rolling along. Construction costs for a new fire station – still in the planning stages – were included in the 2001 budget last fall.

Still other township projects are being accomplished through public-private partnerships, which tends to limit Canton's financial liability during a recession. The ice arena and indoor soccer facility are examples of this. In both instances, Canton donated township land in exchange for private funding for construction and operating expenses.

Two areas of concern, though, are state shared revenues and the planned performing arts center at Cherry Hill Village.

Canton Supervisor Tom Yack said he was concerned over the township's share of state money from sales and use taxes and other revenues when census figures were released in April. That concern surfaced again in discussions last week over the 2002 budget.

Canton's state revenue sharing take will be $7.5 million, down from an anticipated $8.3 million in earlier calculations. The money constitutes about a third of the township's $22 million budget.

The board will shift $1 million from the police and fire budget to the general fund to make up the difference.

As for the arts center, the estimated price tag continues to grow, surpassing $8 million. Participation from village developers and the township could very well be scaled back if the Michigan economy tanks. Meanwhile, fund-raising among patrons will be difficult for something many consider a frill in tough times.

Still, the township's conservative approach to money matters, along with an exceptionally long period of recent prosperity, leave it in good shape to withstand anything short of a complete economic meltdown.

Don't let terrorist attacks fuel hate here at home

AFTERMATH

Following the terrorist attacks, the Muslim Community Western Suburbs gave $5,000 to the Canton Community Foundation's pass through fund to the United Way's Sept. 11 fund.

The donation was a way of expressing the horror felt in the local Muslim community about the attack and about the association of the attack with Islam.

Muhammed Hussain, one of the group's founding members, expressed the prevailing view: "We strongly believe in peace and harmony. We believe in humanity. Our Koran says if you kill an innocent person, you are killing all of humanity. We have absolutely no tolerance for terrorism and killing."

Islam is a world-wide religion with more that 1.2 billion believers. Most Arabs are followers of Islam, but most Muslims are not Arabs. Most Arab-Americans in metro Detroit are Christians. Many Muslims in metro Detroit are not Arabs.

As in Christianity, Islam is subject to many interpretations. Some followers are strict fundamentalists who reject modern culture as an affront to God. Others find they can retain their faith and live in the modern world as well. A similar struggle goes on within the Christian community.

To many Americans Islam is an unfamiliar religion. But its roots are the same as those of Judaism and Christianity. All three religions are based on belief in one God, creator of all things. All three religions espouse a strict moral code that is "the word of God." All three religions believe that God is both demanding and loving. All three religions express their faith through prayer, penance, good works and culturally based rituals.

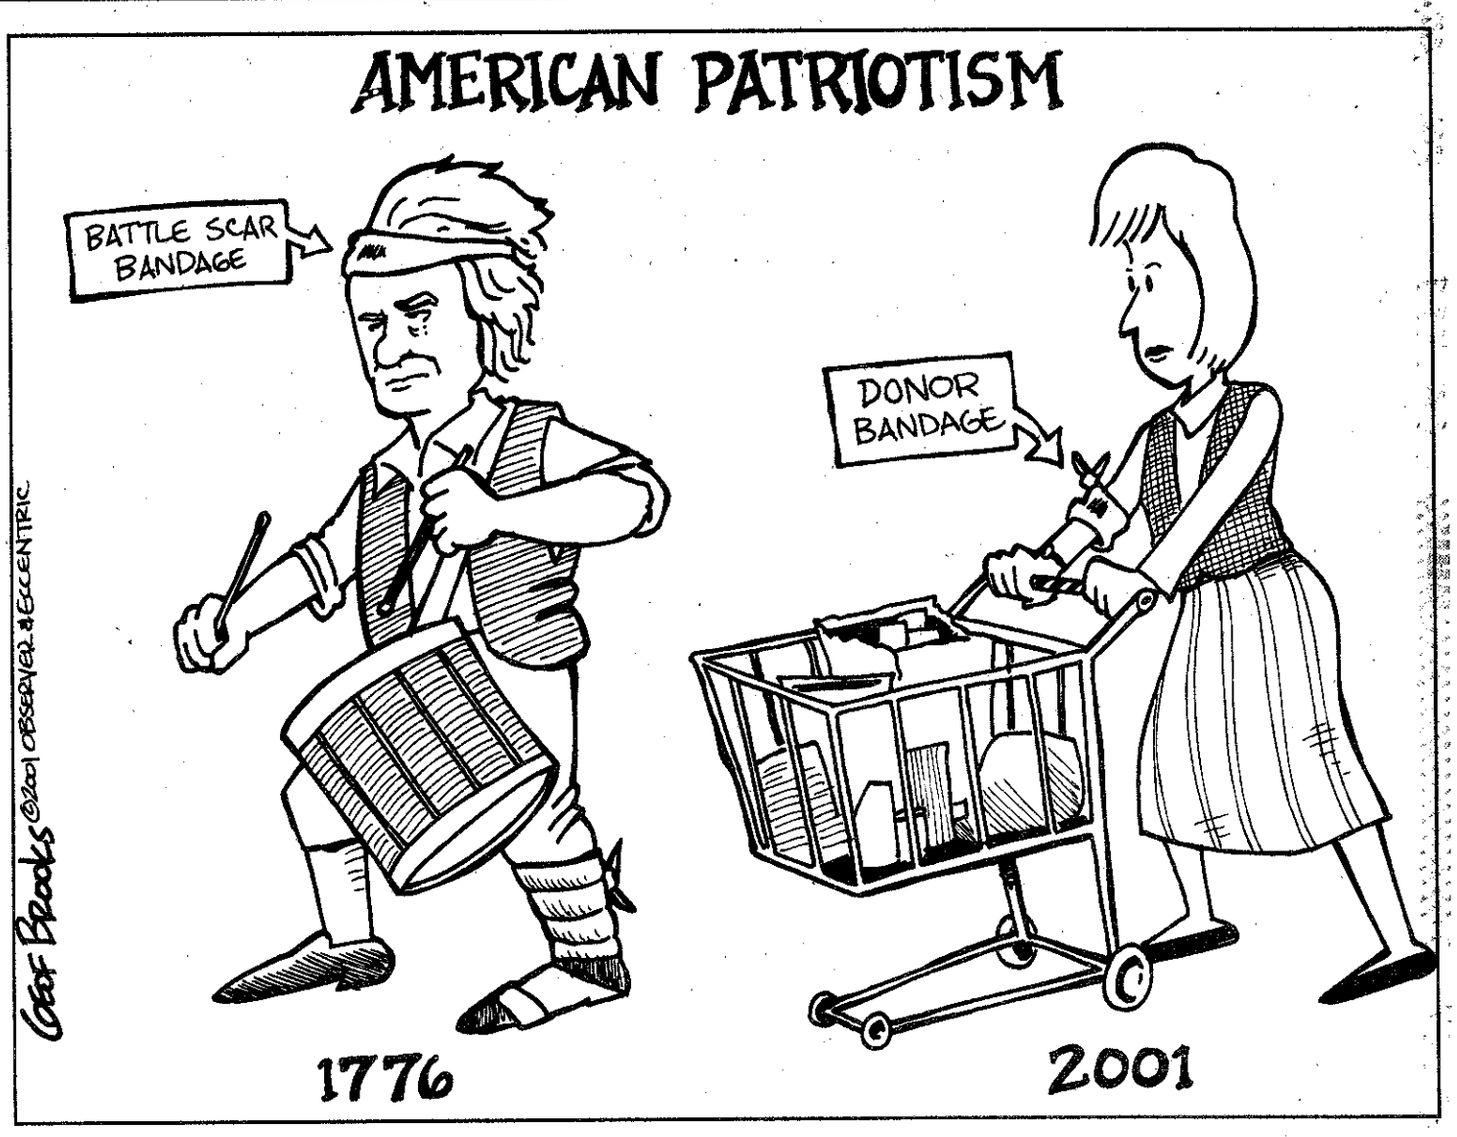

While the suspects in the terrorist attacks claim a devotion to Islam, the majority of Islamic clerics, scholars and adherents have vociferously condemned the attacks as contrary to the will of God.

True patriotism is to remember that what makes this country great is the Constitution that protects us and our rights as a free people from attacks by our government and by fellow citizens.

We are in uncertain times. Our security is under attack and our rights may be under siege. And, unfortunately, some of our citizens who call themselves Christians are taking their anger out on those they presume to be "the enemy" – Arab-Americans, Muslims or those who look like they might be Arabs or Muslims.

There is no place in a free and open society for this kind of blind anger and attacks on innocent people. All Americans should join the call for sanity and repudiate such acts of hatred and violence. There is no place in our country for attacks on people because of their religion, ethnicity, race or their point of view.

True patriotism is to remember that what makes this country great is the Constitution that protects us and our rights as a free people from attacks by our government and by our fellow citizens.

Fireworks apology

On behalf of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, I want to sincerely apologize to district residents who were frightened, alarmed or scared by the fireworks that were part of the Salem High School homecoming celebration Friday, Sept. 21.

The fireworks display at the Salem Homecoming was in no way intended to be insensitive or disrespectful with regard to the national tragedies of Sept. 11 nor was the fireworks display meant to frighten anyone.

The event was planned long ago; the Salem High School Student Congress worked tirelessly on all the details for the display with the Canton fire chief. The Canton Township Board of Supervisors granted all the proper permits. The fireworks display company had the proper liability insurance. Through fund-raising, the students paid for the display; no district funds were expended.

Please accept the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' sincerest apologies for any inconvenience and discomfort this incident may have caused.

Student responds

I read the notice in the Observer for thoughts on the World Trade Center bombing, and I would like to submit my thoughts to you:

In the past, millions of lives have suffered the consequences of others' stupidity. The whole point of learning about history in school is so our mistakes aren't repeated. So then why are cities bombed and terrorized time and time again? Why are innocent people taken out of their world because someone is pissed off? If we've all learned about violence not being then answer, then why do people keep turning to it?

After hearing about and seeing the tragic events that took place on the morning of Sept. 11 in New York City and Washington, D.C., I know we all have a million thoughts running through our heads. Some of us may realize what a big deal it is, while others may just blow it off because they don't want to deal with it. But the fact is, it affects all of us in one way or another. This has become a worldwide issue, and it is only the beginning. Who is to say what will happen from here?

It just boggles my mind to realize there are people out there who are so angry they are willing to kill themselves and thousands of others just to make a point. But what is their point? The awful people who are behind all this destruction are cowards who hide in the shadows, remaining unrevealed and leaving the rest of the world to wonder "who would've done such a thing and why?"

Today in school I heard a million rumors flying around about what happened. I didn't know how to react. I was in a daze from everything. It seemed as though we were in some slow motion movie, but the reality is – this is reality.

Something needs to be done. We can't just sit here and watch these detestable people get away with murder. We can't listen to the Palestinians as they rejoice on their streets at the news of America's bombing. And we can't fight back with violence. We must learn to take a step beyond violence, be stronger than that. If you sit down and think about it, violence is what got us here in the first place.

And do we really want to retaliate by taking away thousands of other innocent lives? Violence is not the answer, and if we could come to that realization in our society today, horrible episodes such as this one would not be occurring.

Then there is the discrimination; it's everywhere. A close friend told me today in school someone pushed an Arab-American girl in the halls and shouted, "Get out of my school!" Yes, the stupidity of the terrorists was horrendous. But now after it has been witnessed and is over, you would think people would gain insight. I don't know who the harasser in my school was, but shame on him or her for behaving as badly as these terrorists. America still doesn't know who has done this to us or why. So for this student to target some poor kid is ignorant and narrow-minded. Do you really think this kid is happy about what happened? Most definitely not!

These are the times when we need to stay strong and not turn against each other. The student is being cruel to a human being who had nothing to do with this tragedy whatsoever. And if this is the beginning of the horrible discrimination at our school, I want out now.

If we just give in to this terrible experience without learning from it, our world is going to be at end. Obviously, in the past wars have started from retaliation, anger, and misunderstandings. I know the world is unfair, and I'm not trying to be naïve. I'm not saying we should have a chat over tea and figure out the world's deepest problems. What I am saying is there are many other ways to solve issues without sacrificing lives. If everyone just sits back and watches and doesn't take a stand, nothing will ever change.

We may not be able to do anything internationally, but we can do something positive in our schools and communities. If we start discriminating in our schools, it's just starting our own war. With over 5,000 people in our high school, there is not one person who can say he or she knows everyone. So taking a certain group and generalizing just because of race is pathetic. You don't know the person as an individual or how he or she is suffering from this.

Although this event has been tragic, it has helped me put some things in perspective. Life is not a game. You don't get places just because you play your cards right. I'm sure the employees at the World Trade Center were not expecting to go to work that day and die because of an attack by terrorists. You never know what's going to happen in your life. You need to live every day to its fullest and never end a day regretting or wishing you had done something.

You should go to bed every night knowing you have done everything in your power to make the best of each day of your life, feeling satisfied with yourself. You don't get second chances in life; it's not like when you're three and you can get a couple timeouts before you realize what you've done wrong. You only have one chance, and once that's up, there's no going back.

Find out what's important to you. Spend more time with your family – in the end, your family are the ones who will always be there for you.

Fly flags all year

This past week all the stores ran out of flags. Some people are desperate to find any flag or ribbons with red, white or blue. In a way this saddens and angers me. Why? The Fourth of July was only two months ago, Flag Day is June 14, and Memorial Day was a couple of weeks before that.

As Americans, we have enjoyed the liberties of having an extra day off work or a long weekend to celebrate the Fourth or Memorial Day. Where were our flags then? We live in a well-off community which can certainly afford a $30 flag. I have always been saddened by the lack of symbolic respect on these days. It seems as if my community waits for a loyal Realtor to pay for and put up the flags around the subdivision in order to show "their spirit." They are generally discarded the next time the lawn is mowed.

There are those that say that the flag is only a symbol. Lest we forget, the red stripe is for the shed blood of Americans. It is a symbol that our children respect every day at school when they say the Pledge of Allegiance. Our flag flies from Memorial Day through Thanksgiving. Winter weather and darkness being the reason we don't fly it year 'round. Every morning as we put it out and every night as we retire and bring it in, it reminds us that while our country has its share of problems, we are proud to be Americans.

Since Sept. 11 it has been up continuously with a flood light on it at night. There are etiquette rules of taking down in the rain that I normally adhere to, but this is not a normal time and it is a comfort to me still as I see it waving in the rain. I hope the veterans will forgive me this indiscretion.

Thank you those who had a flag or bought one and are flying them now. Thank you to all who wear ribbons or use the flags the newspapers have printed. I also want people to know that while I may be angry, sad or disappointed that they didn't have a flag to wave at times like this, I would, if need be, defend their right as Americans to not have one.

Good Muslim Americans under a glare of suspicion

"We're so sad at all the killings and, at the same time, so defensive. How many American flags do we have to put up? And, regardless of the number, is this enough to prove our patriotism?"

"This is the most dangerous time for the Arab-Muslim community in the entire history of our citizenship in America."

They were all Muslims. Some were of Arab descent. One was Pakistani and another was African-American. And they were as varied as all America.

Phil Power

Dr. A. Raheman Nakadar, the publisher of the Muslim Observer, is a cardiologist who practiced for years at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and who regularly spends several months without pay treating poor people in India. Dr. Nakadar is a gentle man, thoughtful and soft spoken.

His Metropolitan Detroit editor, Imam Abdullah El Amin, is a tall, thin African-American man, with a grizzled white Van Dyke beard shining under his black cap. He speaks in a slightly southern American accent, occasionally breaking into unexpected slang.

Osama Siblani, the publisher of the Arab American News, is altogether different. Intense, entrepreneurial, a fireball of energy and drive, he makes no pretense of being smoothly objective. "My newspaper is about and for the Arab-American community," he says, "and as a result it does – and should so – represent the views of this group of Americans."

Maysoon Khatib, the editor of the Arab American Journal, is attractive and feminine, her journalistic professionalism tinged with the anxiety and ambivalence of being an Arab-American caught suddenly and unexpectedly in the spotlight of international terrorism many miles away.

They all responded to our invitation to come to our conference room, meet our editors, talk together about how our responsibilities as community newspaper people transcended hate and fear, suspicion and shared patriotism.

As it turned out, our conversation had an unplanned force and point. That same morning, prosecutors charged a Garden City man, Brent Seever, with first-degree murder for the slaying of Ali Almansoop, a native of Yeman.

Witnesses said Almansoop pleaded for his life, trying to explain that he had nothing to do with the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington, as Seever chased him with a .45-caliber semi-automatic.

The Muslim and Arab community in southeastern Michigan – 350,000 strong according to the 1990 census and possibly as large as half a million today – is the largest and most visible in America. It's also the most under siege, as Americans rise in grief and anger against a terrorist conspiracy that appears so far to be linked almost exclusively to fanatics.

My visitors all made their feelings clear. "The terrorists have hijacked Islam," said one. "The terrorists are misguided people, using and distorting the name of Islam," said another. "Terrorism any place is awful, whether it's in New York, Bosnia or Chechnya," said a third.

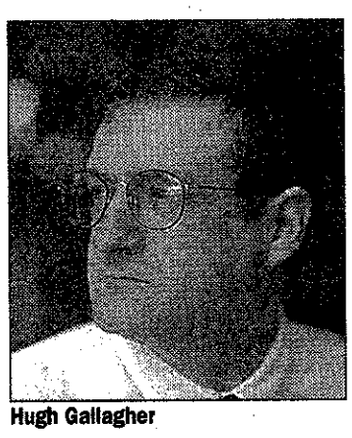

They asked for understanding and tolerance. They pointed out that the Muslim and Arab-American community is as diverse as America. And they suggested that merely because they differ from the majority community – whatever that is – was no good reason to ascribe unpatriotic feelings to all Muslims and Arab-Americans.

I came away from our conversation deeply moved. These people are good Americans, caught through no fault of their own in the glare of publicity, suspicion, maybe anger.

Wayne County Prosecutor Mike Duggan hit the nail on the head as he announced the charge against the Garden City man who killed the Yemani: "Americans shouldn't be afraid of each other because we look and talk differently. If Americans turn on each other because of these acts, then the terrorists will have won in damaging America's heart."

I came away from our conversation deeply moved. These people are good Americans, caught through no fault of their own in the glare of publicity, suspicion, maybe anger. Timothy McVeigh, I reflected, was just as much a terrorist as the people who flew the planes into the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. And Tim McVeigh was light haired and blue eyed.

History shows reasons for entering a war

"Never give in, never give in, never, never, never, never – in nothing great or small, large or petty – never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense."

–Winston Churchill

We're community newspapers. Our beat is the people in our communities, the schools, city hall. But sometimes an incident happens many miles away that has a direct impact on all of us.

That was never more clear than in the events of the last two weeks. Some of the victims of the terrorist attacks were from our communities. Hundreds of local residents turned out to give money, blood and their expertise to help in the aftermath. Local air travel and car travel across the international border were disrupted. We have a diverse population that includes many followers of Islam who fear for their safety.

And the prospect of war has already started a fierce debate among us.

Here and all across America, sincere, good-hearted people are gathering to protest war ("uh, what is it good for, absolutely nothing"). Young people are vowing to resist any attempt to resurrect the draft ("1,2,3 What are we fightin' for?"). Ministers with a liberal bent are decrying American violence even before any action is taken ("All we are saying is give peace a chance").

I understand.

Many years ago I did a lot of marching – and petitioning, rallying, arguing – against the war in Vietnam. All these years later, I believe history is still on the side of the protesters. We were engaged in a war thousands of miles from our shores to prop up one illegitimate, neo-fascist government after another in a war against a widely popular, indigenous nationalist/communist force. In the end, with more than 50,000 Americans and many thousands more Vietnamese dead, we could not sustain our losses and the American people turned on their government. The communists who came to power finally exercised that power brutally, but so had the forces we supported.

But that was then, long ago and far away. And even then I balked at the notion that war is always wrong. The Civil War and World War II were evidence enough that sometimes military action is necessary. And I was always put off by the mindless arrogance of those with student deferments who mocked American soldiers who went and did their duty with honor and at great peril. I had one of those deferments and later a medical exemption. It was not for me to judge another's conscience.

What happened on Sept. 11 was a direct attack on the United States that resulted in the deaths of approximately 7,000 people, the destruction of vital areas of the nation's largest city and its capital and the introduction of shivering fear across this country.

The United States government would be negligent in its duty to the people who died, their friends and families and to the future of this country if they did not act. To not act is only an open invitation to the perpetrators of these heinous attacks to strike again and again and again. And to act will require deadly military force.

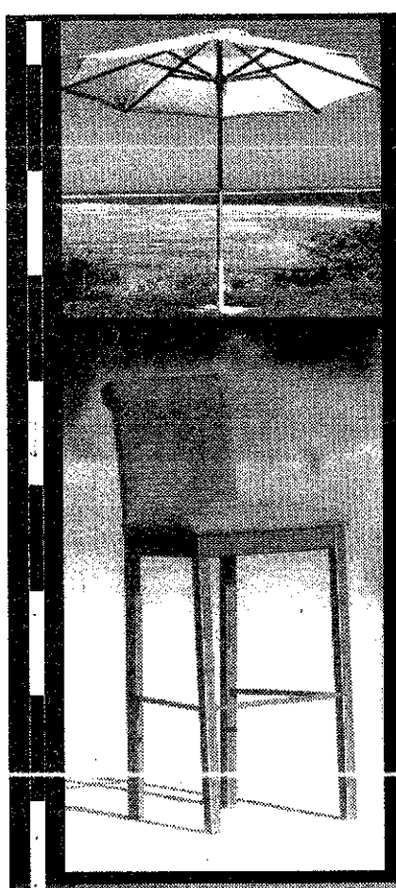

Some argue that the pervasive influence of American culture and a misguided foreign policy – our defense of Israel, our support of the wrong dictators, our military presence – invited this attack. Nothing, nothing justifies what these people did.

So we wait to see what kind of response our government will make. So far the President has shown restraint and an understanding of the complexity of the situation. A brutal air strike against poverty-stricken Afghans will only drive a further wedge between our world and theirs. Doing nothing will only encourage more attacks. There are no easy answers.

We would always prefer peace, but at what cost? We would always like to go back in time and undo whatever irritant led to this deadly response, but what do we do now? Why do some people always assume that America is wrong, even in the face of terrorists who kill in the name of God for the sake of imposing their repressive ideology on others?

To quote Churchill again, in a warning to Hitler that seems fitting: "We will have no truce or parley with you, or with the grisly gang who do your wicked will. You do your worst – and we will do our best."

County moves ahead with airport renovations

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER
tsmith@oe.homecomm.net

Dark clouds hovering over America's air travel industry remain thick, in the aftermath of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. But action taken Wednesday by the Wayne County Commission concerning expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport suggests brighter days ahead.

The commission voted 10-1 to go ahead with the planned second phase of airport renovations, to include additional gates at the soon-to-open Edward H. McNamara Terminal and a reworking of existing terminals.

About $900 million in bonds for Phase II also was approved, although those will be sold on an incremental "as needed" basis and not all at once, with no direct financial impact on residents, said 11th District Commissioner John Sullivan following the special meeting. Airlines that use the terminals would be responsible for paying off the bonds. A $3.50 landing fee to be assessed per ticket is one method of raising revenue being discussed.

The second phase is scheduled to begin in early 2002, and conclude in 2006.

"It's important to keep the airport expansion momentum going," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, who held a news briefing about the project following the commission meeting. "Our vision and planning 12 years ago has resulted in a new Metro Airport which puts Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan and Northwest Airlines at a major world transportation crossroads.

"Further expansion and modernization will benefit Northwest as well as all of the other carriers serving this market."

According to Jim Greenwald, vice president of facilities and airport affairs at Northwest, "We applaud the county for their continued focus on improvements for Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport."

Wayne County residents, however, will not be required to pay off those bonds in the event the air transportation business is unable to recover from the current economic slump prompted by the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and Pentagon.

And knowing that was of major importance to Sullivan before making his decision Wednesday. He ultimately approved motions for "incremental" bonding and to go-ahead with Phase II of the expansion.

The first phase is nearing completion; it will include a new 1-275 access road, sixth jet runway and the 97-gate McNamara Terminal, a $1.2 billion midfield facility still slated to open in late January 2002.

"The (economic) liability rests on any airline" and not residents, said Sullivan about paying off bonds. "I still have my concerns. But I want to go forward with the attitude that things are going to recover."

Sullivan said he is confident that "People will face this thing and fly again, ... and we can't let the terrorists win."

Boosting such confidence – and bolstering the air travel industry's hopes of recovery – is a promised $15 billion bail-out from the federal government. That cash infusion would, in part, be used to help airlines and airports make security changes ordered last week by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Among specific Metro Airport issues Northwest officials will be grappling with, and which could delay the opening of the McNamara Terminal, is whether to alter the concourse floor plan so that so-called "meeters and greeters" can use 125,000 square feet of mall-like retail space – featuring 85 shops and restaurants.

Changes to the floor plan and the requirement to eliminate all curbside baggage check-in areas (including one planned for the McNamara Terminal parking deck) might delay that terminal's long-awaited unveiling which would push back the starting date for Phase II, Sullivan added.

Among those at the commission meeting to discuss such issues was Greenwald, who said Northwest intends to complete by late 2003 or 2004 its $600 million part in Phase II – namely the addition of 24 gates to the McNamara Terminal and the recasting of the existing Smith and Davey terminals.

Other estimates have the complete airport expansion being finished as late as 2006.

Greenwald also said Northwest remains on target to open the McNamara facility early next year, and the airport's major airline is continuing to "evaluate the development of changes to airport security requirements."

Several airlines have drastically cut flight schedules and laid off thousands of employees since the attacks. On Wednesday, Delta Airlines announced the layoff of 13,000 employees.

Madonna sets Reunion 2001 for Oct. 6

Madonna University will hold its Alumni Reunion 2001 Saturday, Oct. 6.

All alumni are welcome and special recognition will be given to the classes of '48, '49, '50 and '51, and class years ending in 6 or 1.

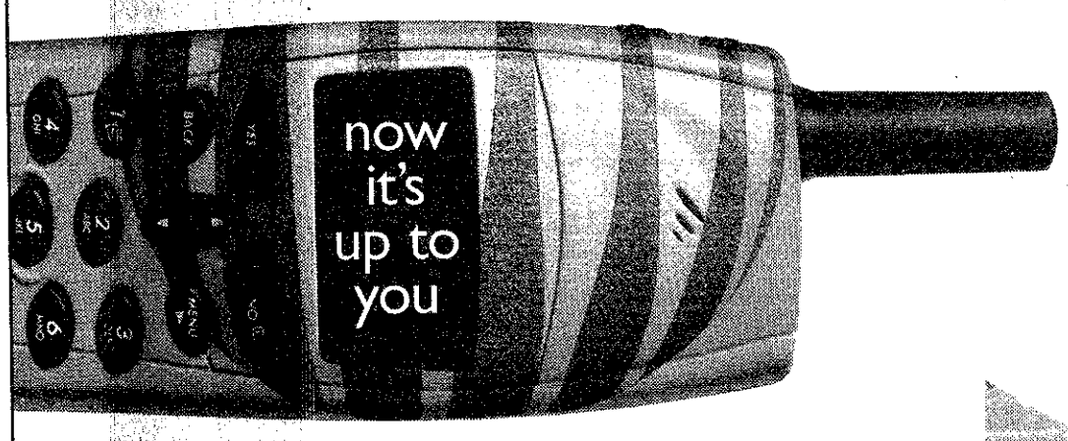

The will feature activities for everyone, including live entertainment, food stations, prize giveaways, campus tours and more. The cost per person is $7.50. Two sporting events will also take place during the event. The fifth annual men's alumni soccer game will start at 2 p.m. and an inaugural men's alumni basketball game will be played in the Activities Center at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge for either game.

An Oktoberfest reception will kick off the day's activities at 2 p.m. in the University Center on campus. A formal program will follow at 3 p.m., including a University update with Sister Rose Marie Kujawa, Madonna University president, and recognition of alumni.

The Redeemer's Southern Gospel Trio, Michigan's premier southern gospel trio, will perform at 4 p.m. Featuring Madonna University vocal major Art Joslin, Michael Rushlow and Eddie Harrison, the group formed nearly a decade ago.

In praise of DANCE

Hallelujah moves audience to think about their world

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER
lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

Liz Lerman came to Ann Arbor three weeks ago set on choreographing a dance based on the cultures, generations, beauty, and strengths of people living in metro Detroit.

For the past 18-months she's worked with community groups, Detroit schools, University of Michigan dance department, and Rudy Hawkins and his singers to create a theatrical piece combining dance, music and spoken word in celebration and praise of all things, big and small.

All that changed with the terrorist attacks on the U.S. on Tuesday, Sept. 11. Lerman had gone to Hannan House in Detroit in search of stories from the seniors. She asked the women at the center to express their ideas of paradise lost and found. Lerman will present the culmination of the Hallelujah project on Saturday, Oct. 6 at the Power Center for the Performing Arts in Ann Arbor.

Liz Lerman Dance Exchange
What: Presents Hallelujah with Rudy Hawkins and the Rudy Hawkins Singers
When: 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 6
Where: Power Center for the Performing Arts, 121 Fletcher St., Ann Arbor
Tickets: $28, $24, $18, $14, call (734) 764-2538

"Before the events of Sept. 11, it was about paradise lost and paradise found," said Lerman. "We're changing the opening half after the terrorist attacks to work with ministers, rabbi, clergy. We're presenting this 25 days after and I'm asking what are we gathered together for. I'm asking each of them for a fragment of a hymn and to share what has gotten them through these days."

Lerman began working with older people after the death of her mother. At that time she was in her early 20s and questioning the significance of dance. Her training in classical modern and ballet began at age 5, but she but had no sense of what dance was trying to say.

"Dancing, the art itself, is very powerful," said Lerman. "The very thing we were training to do was so narrow. Audiences and artists were missing each other. At age 14 I wanted to be a serious classical ballerina and then the Civil Rights movement arose and I began asking what are we dancing about when cities are burning?"

Finding answers

Lerman kept returning to three questions – What are we dancing about? Where is it happening? Who cares? She decided to form her own dance company to find the answers. Founded in 1976 in Washington, D.C., the Liz Lerman Dance Exchange continues to cross age barriers by hiring dancers in their early 20s to late 60s.

Hallelujah, the current project, is traveling from community to community [illegible] define a certain area. It's based on her concept that each community maintains different values.

So far, the Liz Lerman Dance Exchange has visited 17 communities from Maine to Los Angeles. After becoming involved with Rudy Hawkins, Lerman learned about Paradise Valley, an African American community lost to urban renewal in the late 1960s. Lerman will incorporate this knowledge into Hallelujah.

Pushing participation

"Everybody in the audience will dance so they can not just hear the words but embody the wisdom of all this tradition."

Lerman expects 80 to 100 dancers from the community to take to the stage for Hallelujah. Some of the pieces are already set, others were choreographed or inspired by dancers in the community.

"Gates of Praise is how to get out of darkness," said Lerman. "With dance you go to a place in yourself that you don't normally go. My experience of dance is that there's a strong mind-body link. That's why I push participation.

"The audience is in for an incredible treat because they're going to hear Rudy Hawkins, just being that close to hear that sound is inspiring. The mix of Rudy and us is very interesting. We come out of different worlds. He's gospel. We're dance, and yet we have the ability to collaborate. What I would have said before Sept. 11 is I'd like for the audience to go away with new ideas about the world, and how much they enjoy seeing the old and young dancers together. Now I want them to think about how do we occupy this world together. We can. Rudy and I are different. We have to figure out where to compromise."

Century Theatre committed to comedy

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
SPECIAL WRITER

For 80 minutes in the Century Theatre's play Fully Committed, actor Matt Callahan breathlessly plays 39 characters. He seamlessly wavers between the main character, "Sam," a lowly reservations clerk at a trendy, overbooked restaurant; a Latino line cook, Park Avenue socialite, Japanese businessman, his father, a college roommate, psychotic maitre d', a sadistic chef and others.

What it amounts to, according to Callahan, is "an 80-minute monologue."

"It's a tour de farce. I'm doing an 80-minute monologue, non-stop. I'm sort of talking back and forth to myself. It's pretty rigorous work but the nice thing about that is sometimes you get a part in a play, you go on and do the scene, then sit backstage for 10 minutes," explained Callahan, who also serves as the play's director.

"I don't have a minute to let go of the energy or think about the other things. I'm on. I'm focused. I'm concentrating and it's just go, go, go until the end of the play. Then it's time to go out and have dinner."

Fully Committed
When: 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Friday, 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, and 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.
Where: Century Theatre, 333 Madison Ave., Detroit.
Tickets: $13.75-$37.50. Call (313) 963-9800 or visit www.gemtheatre.com

In its recent off-Broadway run in New York, "Fully Committed" was successful with critics and audiences. New York Times critic William Grimes described it as "an immensely entertaining, scaldingly funny play about the bad behavior that good food can inspire."

Callahan, who last worked in Detroit as the director of the Gem's Shear Madness in 1995, explained that anyone who has worked in the service industry can relate to "Sam."

"Anybody who's been a cab driver or worked as a manicurist or behind a desk at a hotel, or who has dealt with people on a day-to-day basis with people who want something from them will appreciate this play," he said with a laugh.

Callahan first heard of Fully Committed several years ago when a friend of his saw the play in New York. Based on Callahan's work with Shear Madness, he suggested that Callahan take a look at the play. They considered producing Fully Committed, however, the playwrights were not allowing it to be done elsewhere.

A few years later, while working in Los Angeles, Callahan received a call from Gem and Century theaters producer Jim Forbes about a play named Fully Committed that he was doing in the fall.

At age 19, Jennifer Seguin feels she learned a lot about life and dance from working with the Liz Lerman Dance Exchange. A dance major at the University of Michigan, Seguin was in the class when Lerman initiated the Hallelujah project in Ann Arbor last year.

"It's really exciting for us as dancers because we're not only dancing but choreographing," said Seguin who grew up in Garden City. Seguin began dancing at age 2 and has taken lessons for the past 10 years at Robert Lee Dance Studio in Garden City.

"Most times a choreographer comes in and tells us what to do. We're making our own movement. Liz's method is a great way of taking pedestrian movement and making it into choreography. She'll watch people talking with their hands at the Hannan House. She makes a phrase and brings it back to us. We're taking movement that means something to people and extracting it by putting it in another part of our body but the message will still be the same although abstract."

One of Seguin's favorite pieces in Hallelujah is the shoe dance created after a biblical story about a rabbi dancing with such vigor his shoes fell off and flew into the Garden of Eden.

"I am an aspiring teacher looking for ways to choreograph new movement," said Seguin who plans to teach dance after graduating from the University of Michigan. "Choreography doesn't have to come from dance tradition. Family and personal traditions add a lot more meaning to dancing – bringing a personal part of life into the choreography. Dance is so much more than just getting up on stage and going 5, 6, 7, 8. It's spiritual."

"I especially like working with the older dancers in Liz's company. I think it's great because there are experiences in life that people have. They have the flavor of life that we will one day come to know. They can bring a passion to the dance."

Paradise found

Peter DiMuro, artistic associate for the Liz Lerman Dance Exchange, and Martha Wittman, a company member in her 60s, hope to help University of Michigan dancers create their own style of choreography although still young.

"We've been developing dance with students," said Wittman. "We give various assignments. The intergenerational aspect is part of it and the fact we work with community groups. We try to find out subject matter that they want to honor, stories bubbling up in the community, ideas of paradise, what have we lost and what are we looking for. There's the story of Paradise Valley and the larger theme exploring what's our paradise might be now and ever after."

"After working with an assignment they're trying to find out from their own voices what's the next movement," added DiMuro.

Learning to create their own choreography is an experience U-M dance professor Robin Wilson welcomes for her students.

"This is a different process," said Wilson. "They're used to being taught choreography. This particular process demands more from them to set movement and creating movement, composing language, and working with the community. Liz's process takes all these disparate parts and organizes them in a sophisticated way. It serves as a model for them."

Michael Woodberry-Means has enjoyed every moment of the experience. A second year graduate student at the University of Michigan, Woodberry-Means plans on becoming a professional dancer. He currently is a member of the Peter Sparling Dance Company.

"We're working on imagery using something from our past," said Woodberry-Means. "I really enjoyed working in this process. We're lucky to have company members look at us individually. It's rare to get this attention.

"We're working on ways to structure choreography that use more gestural type phrases. It's not showy. It's rich, natural gestures combined with imagery. It's more of a new direction for dance. It gives you a purpose for every move."

"I said, Yes. Let's do it. It was something that I had been thinking about for awhile. I was really excited and it's really been a lot of fun. It's been an exhausting, arduous, rigorous show to put together because it has a lot of technical stuff – all the phones, the beeping intercoms, buzzing bells, ringing lights and all that kind of stuff," he said.

Callahan carried some of his original ideas into the play.

"I had some ideas about the show where I wanted the non-living elements of the play – the phones, the intercoms, the lights – to have a life of their own and somehow express the world that was harassing Sam. These sounds would take on a sense of the other person at the other end of the line. The chef's phone has a certain alarmist ring to it. Even the phone ring on the stage changes a little bit as the play goes on."

Acting is only one part of Callahan's career in the entertainment business. His "day job," as he calls it, or the one that pays the bills, is working as a set decorator for the movie business. He has helped design the sets for films such as Fortunate Son, The Annihilation of Fish, Breakfast of Champions (in which he also makes a cameo as a gas station attendant), and the forthcoming film Big Fat Liar, among others.

So far, Fully Committed, written by Becky Mode, is scheduled to run through Dec. 31. But Callahan is hoping that the audiences latch on to it and the run continues indefinitely.

"It's something that every day people can appreciate because it's about a guy, the lowest guy on the totem pole, who everybody else is dumping on and he's the guy who comes out on top at the end of the play," Callahan explained.

"Comedy is often about people who seemingly can't handle the situation they're in. Somehow in the end, they get the upper hand or figure out what's going on. It's a classic comedy in that sense."

Hilberry opens new season with comedy

Witty repartee: Eddie Collins (Clitandre) and Nikki Ferry (Henriette) prove the power of the mind is no match for the heart in "The Learned Ladies."

Hilberry Theatre opens its season 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 5, with Moliere's Learned Ladies, a witty romp of rhyme and reason.

Philosophy rules in this family comedy where the most outrageous characters pride themselves on the power of the mind rather than the strength of the heart. Their imperfections come through as they ridicule each other.

Greg Trzaskoma, a 1997 Hilberry Acting grad whose stage credits include Diary of Anne Frank, Word and Dear Esther with the Jewish Ensemble Theatre, is directing.

The Hilberry Theatre is on the campus of Wayne State University on the corner of Cass and Hancock in Detroit.

Performances 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, 2 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday. Runs in rotating repertory until Dec. 8. Tickets $12-$20, call (313) 577-2972 or visit www.theatre.wayne.edu

Bell, Book and Candle

The Farmington Players go every witch way

BY PAMELA JOY MCGOWAN
SPECIAL WRITER

"Be careful what you "witch" for..."

That's the message presented in the Farmington Players' latest production, Bell, Book and Candle, performed at their temporary theater in the Barnes and Noble bookstore in West Bloomfield. The love story, written by John Van Druten, takes place solely in Gillian Holroyd's New York apartment. Gillian (Kathleen Warner) is a witch who finds herself attracted to the man who lives in the apartment above her.

When she learns that he plans to marry an old college rival of hers, the incentive to win him over – be it by witchcraft or by just plain feminine wiles – is increased. The almost-engaged Shep Henderson (Kevin Lee Branshaw) barely notices his neighbor, until she puts a quick spell on him with the assistance of her "familiar" cat, Pyewacket. The input of her witchy Aunt Queenie (Marge Wetzel) and warlock brother, Nicky (Andy Young) make the prefabricated romance even rockier.

Warner does an excellent job playing the smart and conscientious witch who dreams of falling in love and being "human." The transformation she makes during the course of the show – all in the name of love – is gradual and praiseworthy. Branshaw impresses the audience with his phone skills as he breaks-up with his near-fiancée, but it's the physical humor generated as he tries to fight off his lover's spell that steals the scene. And, if you like Saturday Night Live, you will enjoy the flamboyant and comedic Wetzel and Young. Not exactly first choice as family members, but fun to watch. Their characters float in and out of the scenes, adding class and humor to the often-too-serious ideal of love. The final cast member (not counting the cat, who did a fine job also), Dave Gilkes, convincingly plays the drunken author, Sidney Redlitch, who makes several appearances as an authority on witchcraft.

What: The romantic comedy, "Bell, Book and Candle," presented by the Farmington Players

When: 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Sept. 28-28 and Oct. 5-6, Thursday, Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 and 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 30.

Where: West Bloomfield Civic Theater, inside Barnes & Noble Booksellers, 6800 Orchard Lake Road, between 14 and 15 Mile roads.

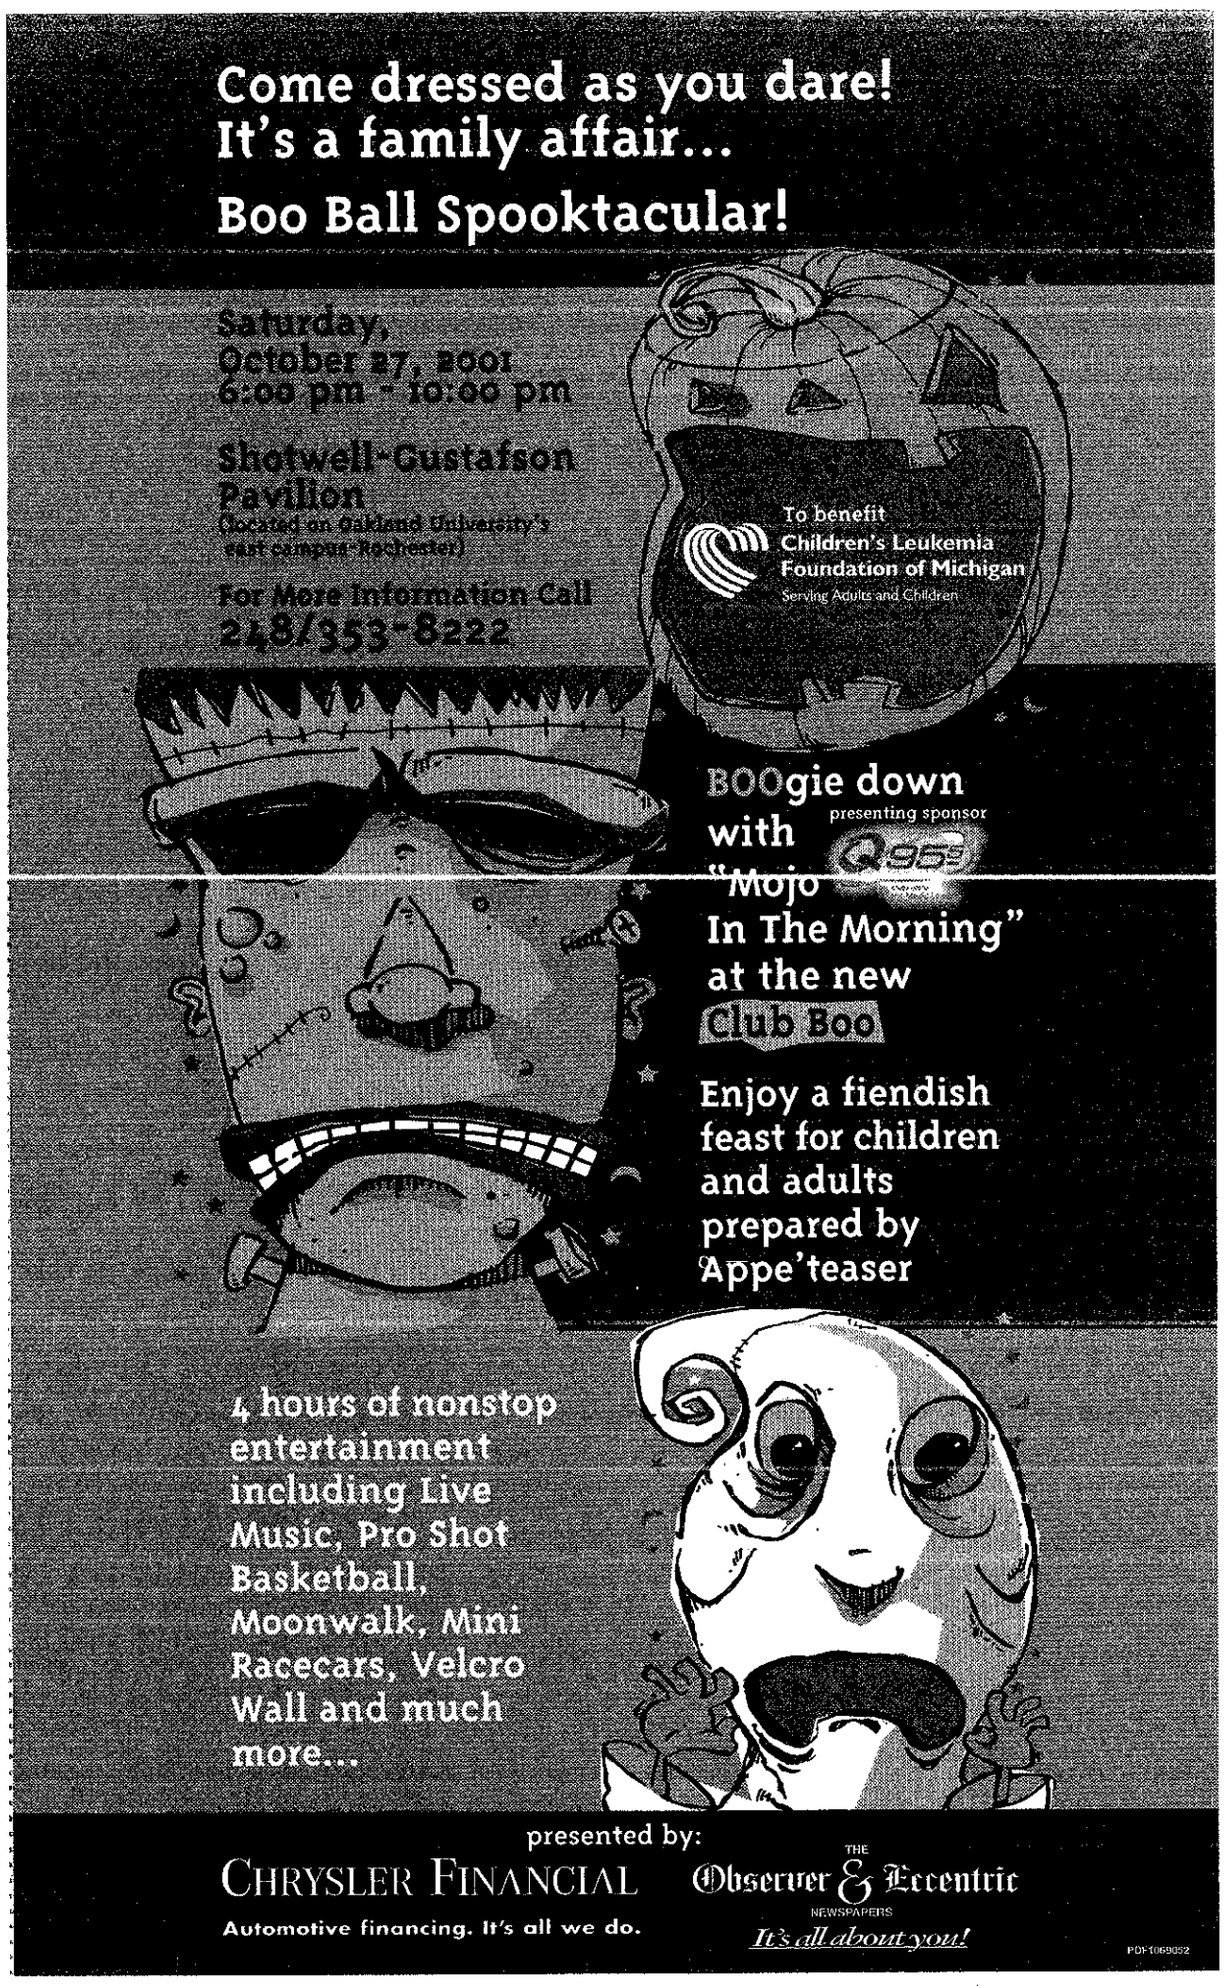

Tickets: $13. Call (248) 219-0800

Director Kathleen Ternes has cast a very positive spell over this production. The scene changes are few and smooth, not the least distracting. The bright clothing and authentic 1955 set – turquoise couch and zebra-print pillows included – bring the audience right into the apartment. The chemistry brought out in the actors, supported by good lighting and sound, makes this production very enjoyable. One need only to open the program to confirm the team effort that has gone into Bell, Book and Candle, but seeing it oneself is more fun. Note: Fans of the television show Bewitched should not miss this light, humorous love story on which the show was based.

'Glitter' fades from predictable plot

By Christy Lemire
AP Entertainment Writer

NEW YORK (AP) – It may be difficult, but let's pretend for a moment that nothing bad has happened to Mariah Carey over the past few months – no emotional breakdown, no treatment at a Connecticut clinic, no rumored relapse in Los Angeles.

Let's ignore all that and look at Glitter – which hits theaters three weeks later than initially planned because of her breakdown – on its own merits, or lack thereof.

Out of sheer sympathy, it would have been nice to see Glitter succeed, simply to provide Carey with some confidence and stability. Instead, it's a preposterous, poorly written love letter to herself.

Starring in a film for the first time, the 31-year-old Grammy winner plays Billie Frank, a young woman who rises from singing backup to selling out Madison Square Garden in a remarkably short period of time.

Here's what we know about Billie: She can sing.

And that's about it.

We know she can sing because people keep telling her how talented she is.

Her friends: "You have an amazing gift. You've gotta use it."

The disc jockey who discovers her: "I ain't never heard anybody like you. You've got something special."

An executive at her new record label: "That's quite a voice you've got."

So we've established that she's extraordinarily talented – so much so that she catapults to stardom, barely suffering a single day.

Her alcoholic mother (Valarie Pettiford), a blues singer who brought Billie on stage as a girl to sing duets, gave her up at age 10 to live in an orphanage after falling asleep with a cigarette and burning down the house.

Director Vondie Curtis Hall oversimplifies these bleached-out flashback scenes with the same brisk pacing he uses throughout.

Flash forward to 1983, and Billie is part of a fledgling girl group with her two best friends from childhood, Louise (rapper Da Brat) and Roxanne (Tia Texada).

They sing backup at a New York dance club, where DJ Julian Dice (Max Beesley) realizes that Billie should be singing on her own. He records her, circulates her tape to clubs and record executives, and poof! She instantly has a deal with a major label, where she's greeted with champagne and caviar on her first day.

Billie and Dice fall in love, of course, and the scene in which they have sex for the first time is probably one of the funniest in the whole movie, simply because it plays out so quickly. Billie swears she'll only come up to Dice's loft for three minutes, but he plays a song for her on the marimba, and suddenly they're undressing each other. Oh, it's supposed to be poignant and romantic? Oops.

And the whole turbulent childhood back story seems like an afterthought. It's hard to tell how Billie's abandonment shaped her because screenwriter Kate Lanier has given her so little personality, and she only mentions her mother a couple of times.

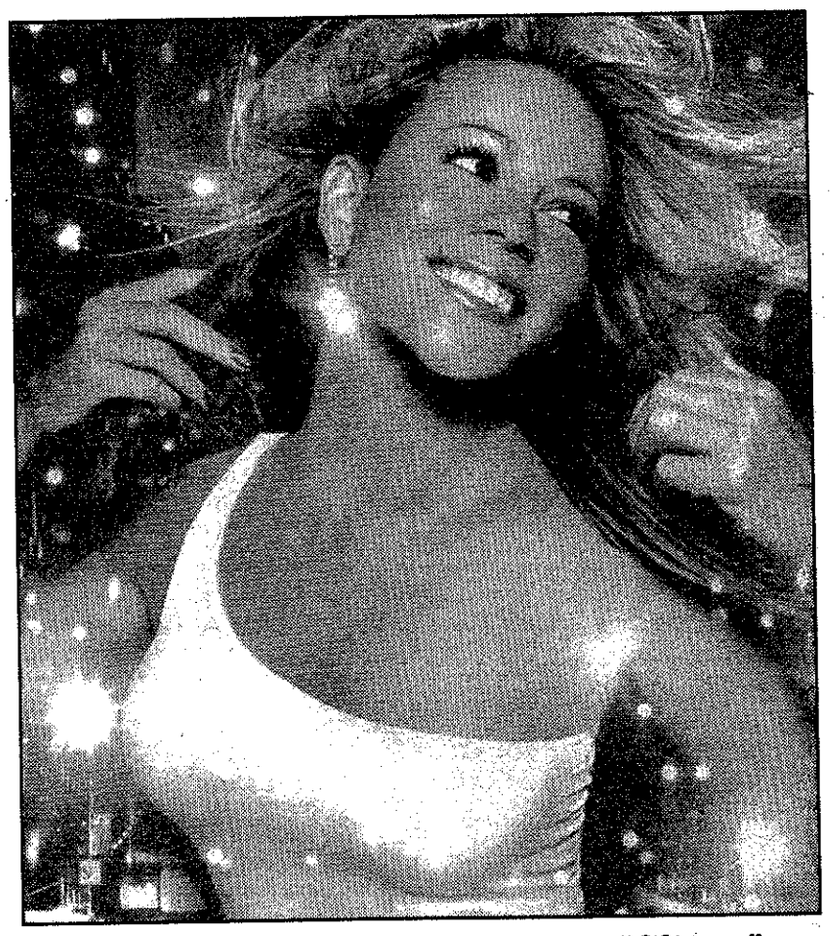

There's also a flimsy subplot about Billie's first producer (Terrence Howard) and the money Dice owes him for buying out Billie's contract.

The movie would have been so much more fun – and believable – if Billie had even a couple of diva moments. She merely pouts when she doesn't like the look of her music video, which features muscular guys prancing around her dressed in little more than body paint.

Glitter even fails to capture the vibe of the early '80s dance scene, which would have been so easy. It tosses in a couple of songs by Grandmaster Flash and Whodini, and there are a few breakdancers and guys dressed in Adidas warm-ups, but there's no authenticity to the costumes, hair and set design.

Carey says Glitter is in no way autobiographical, but the best parts are the ones in which she's singing. This is what she does best. This is what she should stick to – although she's already made a second movie, Wisegirls, due out next year. Save your money and watch her videos for free on VH1.

A side note: Despite the entertainment industry's attempts to eradicate all images of the World Trade Center from TV and movies after the terrorist attacks, Glitter includes a couple of shots in which the twin towers are visible in the background. At the screening of this movie at a Times Square multiplex, those images drew the only cheers and applause.

Not all that: Mariah Carey stars in "Glitter," now playing in area movie theaters.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Scheduled to open Friday, Sept. 28

DON'T SAY A WORD

Michael Douglas stars as Dr. Nathan Conrad, a respected New York City psychiatrist who races to secure the freedom of his kidnapped daughter but must first retrieve a critical piece of information from his newest pro bono patient, a catatonic-violent but angelic-looking 18-year-old girl. Featured players include Oliver Platt, Famke Janssen, Brittany Murphy and Sean Bean as the villain after the hidden treasure from an old heist.

OUR LADY OF THE ASSASSINS

From the 1994 novel by Fernando Vallejo, the film tells of a middle-aged gay writer who returns to his hometown and unexpectedly falls in love with a homicidal young gang member. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

HEARTS IN ATLANTIS

Set in Harwich, Conn., in 1960, this is the story of Bobby Garfield, a fatherless 11-year-old boy who is befriended by Ted Brautigan, a man who boards in the building where Bobby lives with his mother. Stars Anthony Hopkins, Anton Yelchin and Hope Davis.

ZOOLANDER

The story centers around the world's most famous and empty-headed male model Derek Zoolander, a character Ben Stiller created for the VH1 Fashion Awards three years ago. As the action unfolds, this blank-faced slack-jawed self-obsessed male supermodel finds himself in an international fashion adventure. Featured players include Owen Wilson, Will Ferrell, Milla Jovovich and Jerry Stiller. Ben Stiller helms the comedy.

EXTREME DAYS

Four life-long friends set off on one last "road trip" adventure before settling down into adulthood. Ever since they were kids, they had shared a love for extreme sports, and so after graduating from college, they decide to pack up and set off on the road trip of a lifetime along the West Coast. Along the way they seek thrills and adventure participating in various extreme sports, but they also end up discovering themselves. Starring Dante Basco, Ryan Browning, AJ Buckley, Derek Hamilton and Cassidy Rae.

Scheduled to open Friday, Oct. 5

TRAINING DAY

This movie tracks the events of the first day on the job of a rookie cop (Ethan Hawke) working in the Los Angeles Police Department's undercover narcotics unit. His partner is Alonzo, a corrupt veteran cop (Denzel Washington). Stars Denzel Washington, Ethan Hawke, Tom Berenger, Snoop Dogg, Dr. Dre, Scott Glenn, Macy Gray, Charlotte Ayanna, Raymond J. Barry, Sarah Madison, Eva Mendes, Will Foster Stewart and Harris Yulin.

BETTER THAN SEX

The story centers on Josh, a National Geographic photographer from Australia who plans a one-night stand before leaving for an assignment in London. What follows is a three-day sexual escapade with Cin, a woman he meets at a party. Featured players include David Wenham, Susie Porter, Catherine McClements, Kris McQuade and Simon Bossel.

INNOCENCE

The story of a long-time widower who makes the risky decision to contact his first love. She hasn't seen him for 50 years and has been married for decades. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

JOY RIDE

The story centers on a college freshman who embarks on a cross-country trip to pick up the girl of his dreams. The trip takes a turn for the worse when he stops on the way to rescue his troubled older brother, who goads him into playing a practical joke on a lonely trucker over the CB radio. Trouble ensues when the trucker wants revenge and becomes their worst nightmare. Featured players include Steve Zahn, Paul Walker, Leelee Sobieski and Matthew Kimbrough.

MAX KEEBLE'S BIG MOVE

After a depressing first day of school, much-bullied seventh grader Max Keeble finds out that he's moving to a new city in a week. Rather than put up with the normal routine of school, he starts getting revenge on all the people who have picked on him. After creating all kinds of mayhem, Max finds out he's not moving after all and must face up to the consequences of his actions. Featured players include Alex D. Linz, Clifton Davis, Amy Hill and Orlando Brown.

SERENDIPITY

The story centers on Jonathan and Sara, who met one magical night when they were in their twenties. He was in love at first sight, but Sara believed in destiny. Now, after 10 years, two fiancées, and 3,000 miles between them, only fate can decide whether they're destined to be together again. Featured players include John Cusack, Kate Beckinsale, John Corbett and Jeremy Piven.

Model behavior: Ben Stiller is a famous male model caught in a quirky fashion adventure in the film, "Zoolander," opening this weekend at metro area movie theaters.

Scheduled to open Friday, Oct. 12

IRON MONKEY

Set in 19th century China, when corrupt village leaders find themselves repeatedly robbed by a masked bandit, Iron Monkey, named after a local deity, they force a traveling physician into investigating the mystery and stopping him. Stars Donnie Yen, Rongguang Yu, Sze-Man Tsang, Fai Li, Sai-Kun Yam, Jean Wang, James Wong, Yee Kwan Yan and Shun-Yee Yuen.

BANDITS

The story tells of the suave, irresistible Joe (Bruce Willis) and his hypochondriac partner (Billy Bob Thornton), who have escaped from prison. Cutting a swath from Oregon through California, these fugitives rob banks in order to finance their scheme for a new – and somewhat legitimate – life south of the border. In their wake, they leave a trail of chaos, disguises, wrecked automobiles, and an adoring public. Their operation is running smoothly until an unexpected run-in with Kate (Cate Blanchett), who is drawn to the thieves as a way to escape her ordinary life. Together Joe and Terry are the most successful blank robbers in U.S. history, and to Kate, they also make the perfect man.

HAIKU TUNNEL

Comedy about an office temp who spends most of his time trying to write novels, until his boss tells him it's time to go "perm." Directed by Josh and Jacob Kornbluth. Showing exclusively at the Detroit Film Theatre.

CORKY ROMANO

Good-natured veterinarian Corky Romano (Chris Kattan) is stunned when he receives a surprising call from his long-lost father, Pops (Peter Falk), an underworld crime lord who has been indicted by a grand jury. With his trial just two weeks away, it looks as if the Mafia kingpin is finally going down. Pops realizes that the one person who can turn the tables and infiltrate the FBI undetected and abscond with the evidence against him is Corky. Under the guise of Agent Pissant, Corky stumbles into the halls of justice and tries to fake his way through tough assignments while hunting for the elusive incriminating proof of Pop's illegal activities.

AM/FM finds right frequency on 'Getting Into Sinking'

STEPHANIE A. CASOLA

The first time I ever spoke to AM/FM's Brian Sokel, I felt like I'd known him for years. Talking from his home in Philadelphia, he sounded like a longtime friend, though we'd never met. The same could be said for the band's music.

Just two days before leaving for tour with Firewater, I caught Sokel in the midst of packing. Not clothes, mind you, but CDs to entertain him on the road. The Smiths, MC5, Yo La Tengo, and lots of ELO had made the cut.

"There's only so much you can really plan for," says the voice on the other line. The more he takes on tour, the more he fears he might lose. As Sokel said, "Things sort of disappear."

Having found a frequency all their own, Sokel and musical cohort Michael Parsell are known as AM/FM. They have been since 1999, though the duo didn't debut on stage until last fall's CMJ Music Fest in New York City. Two albums and one EP later, this will be the first official tour. Two more will follow as AM/FM heads out in December with the Busy Signals and again in the spring with Koufax and Adam & His Package. For now, the live act calls for an addition of four people to fill in on drums, bass, guitars, keyboards and percussion. As Sokel said: "We knew for a fact we would need more people." But the music all started with him.

Calling home

"My whole life I've been here," said Sokel. "I'll probably be here forever." Sokel did spend two years away – he attended college in Baltimore. "At the time I was going to try and study art and become an art teacher. I graduated with a degree and I was not sure what I wanted to do right away." He fell into a job at an online record store and kept playing music all along.

Now 27, Sokel said he's been a music fan all of his life. He still remembers the day in 8th grade when his parents drove him to a small rural town in Pennsylvania to buy his first $80 bass guitar.

Ambitions were evident early on. He was still in high school when he and a few friends started a record label. The punk, hardcore and discord music scenes thriving at the time drew him into playing and writing on his own. "My first tour was in 1993 or something like that," he said. "I was always playing in various bands."

The most notable of those bands was a Philly-based punk outfit called Franklin. Sokel still considers those musicians among his closest friends. He spent eight years playing with Franklin, but is happy to be out of the "Democratic band" scenario. AM/FM works well under the direction of just Sokel and Parsell. The two met six years ago at a concert in Washington, D.C. "He'd always been around. We grew up in the same area. We were both aware of each other. Our paths kept crossing."

Whatever happens...

It seemed just a matter of time before they would begin to collaborate. Of course, that's how things work in AM/FM, by accident, trial by error. Sokel would rather experiment and see how something turns out than stick to some concrete idea.

"Everything we've done has been sort of haphazard," he admitted, happily. He's constantly writing, recording, laying down vocals, guitar tracks. "It's always been just an experiment. If it doesn't work. It doesn't work."

The duo's new release Getting Into Sinking, is due out Oct. 16 and serves as a solid follow-up to Mutilate Us (Polyvinyl, 2000). Though AM/FM planned to take some time off after completing Mutilate Us. Sokel and Parsell began to miss the studio. The two reunited with producer Terry Yerves and jumped into the songs that would make up Sinking.

Using Sokel's favorite method, the band "threw everything against the wall" to "see what happens." The new record marks AM/FM's first venture into tape, rather than digital recording. "We did the best we could," Sokel said with modesty. "I'm still hoping people will respond. I'm definitely happy so far."

On with the show

Who: Polyvinyl recording artists AM/FM open for Firewater
When: 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 27
Where: The Blind Pig, Ann Arbor.
Tickets: $8, call (248) 645-6666.

Sinking in

The record embraces a warm, fuzzy tone, all fluffy clouds and day-dreaming. Sokel takes sole responsibility for AM/FM's lyrics. "I've always liked lyrics that said something. Just certain phrases you hear and you can totally relate."

Sokel said his lyrics just "sort of dribble out from nowhere, whether you're dealing with the imagination or some sort of subconscious level."

He tends to write with a familiar storytelling approach, forming images in the minds of anyone ready to listen. But AM/FM isn't about spoon-feeding a simple bedtime story. The songs on Getting Into Sinking can be abstract and common at one time. From the life of a pet (And Then I Got To Thinking About The Animals) to reflections of tragedy (I Was Never Here Two Seconds Ago), the songs spark an idea, an image each time.

One thing is certain, each song he's written for this record reminds him of the time, place or circumstances that surround that song. It makes him wonder whether its possible to make music for the masses, or if musicians tend to truly make music for themselves. Maybe it's a little of both.

"It's not going to sell 50,000 copies," said Sokel. "That's not the point. I just can't help waking up everyday and thinking about songs, thinking about music. It really is an odd thing.

"I will continue to do it, to make music for myself."

AM/FM opens for Firewater, 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 27, Blind Pig, Ann Arbor. Tickets for this 19 and older show are $8. Call (248) 645-6666.

Stephanie Angelyn Casola writes about popular music for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. She can be reached at (734) 953-2130 or e-mail at scasola@oe.homecomm.net.

Two times: Brian Sokel and Michael Parsell are AM/FM, a Philly-based duo with an original new album titled "Getting Into Sinking." AM/FM is currently on tour and will perform tonight at Ann Arbor's Blind Pig.

DINING

Genitti's food, interactive theater a winning combination

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
SPECIAL WRITER

Plenty of food: Bob and Betty Knop enjoy the first of five courses at Genitti's in Northville.

PHOTOS BY DONALD J. ALLEY

Talented: Plays at Genitti's always involve the audience. Above, a cast comes out beforehand to meet the guests and make them feel more comfortable.

Andy Genitti waits until everyone he's expecting for dinner to arrive at Genitti's-Hole-in-the-Wall, before he blusters into the brick walled room and tells us to be quiet.

He points out a woman, who is celebrating her birthday and says: 'What do you think? This isn't Chuckee Cheese's?' She bursts into laughter.

The 26-year-old son of the owners, John and Toni Genitti, has the confidence and presence of a New York stand-up comedian as he points to a man at the end of our table in the downtown Northville dinner theater and explains: 'Look, family style, means you pass it around. We're going to give you a bowl, it's not just for you.' Another man makes a couple of smart remarks, but it doesn't daunt Andy.

"Look, if you want to make jokes, have your dad buy a restaurant," Andy tells the heckler.

Family affair

His mom and dad started the business as a meat and grocery store in 1971 after a customer came in one day and asked Toni to make him a sandwich.

"We made a hole in the wall for the restaurant," Toni Genitti said. "It kept growing past the hole in the wall."

In 1992 they made another hole in a different wall for the adjoining theater where they've earned as big a reputation for their interactive comedy as they have for their food.

Andy and his sisters, Laura, 23, and Christina, 13, grew up at the landmark dinner theater and their personalities are engrained in the business. When Laura was a little girl she landed her first part playing the back-end of a cow in "Jack in the Beanstalk" at the Marquis Theater across the street. It was a natural evolution to add the Little Theater, which is filled with pictures of aunts, uncles, grandparents and the Genitti kids growing up.

But, you don't have to be a blood relative to be considered family at Genitti's. In fact, their slogan is: "Come home to Genitti's, where we treat you like family — probably better."

"Everyone who works for us becomes family," explained Toni as she introduces Elaine Bowman, a 15-year waitress and her son, Nathan, a cook; as well as, Mary Bannatz, who works in the kitchen, and her daughter-in-law, Terry, the dining room manager. Sparky Nowroski does everything from back stage work in the theater to serving plates of pasta to tables.

"In 30 years we've fed a lot of people," John said. "It's a combination of three grandmothers' recipes."

John's 81-year-old mother, Clare, still works in the kitchen.

Before dinner begins, Toni stands at the door, and with the casualness of an aunt announcing family news, she tells the 80 strangers that her daughter Christina is at her first football game.

It's Friday night and Andy, who handles the business bookkeeping, bartending, cooking and any other job that needs to be done, tells us about our seven-course meal before he leaps toward the kitchen where an onslaught of food begins to emerge.

A homemade chicken noodle soup is served in pots and placed on the tables. It's unmistakably made from scratch and we're invited to ask for more if we finish this pot, or any serving of food. But, no one ventures to have too much soup, although most of us were tempted, in anticipation of what's to come.

Garlic bread appears; followed by antipasto with thick pieces of salami. A large platter of rigatoni in a light butter sauce and Parmesan cheese comes on a separate platter, which is followed by moist baked chicken garnished with zucchini appears.

Everyone is beginning to get full, when the juiciest breaded pork tenderloin appears and no one has the strength to say no. Next comes the Italian sausages with onions and peppers. The people gathered at our table wish we hadn't tried everything else that came, because when the cannoli arrives our stomachs are aching. But, none of us were too full to pass on Italy's most famous dessert.

Just like home

There's a friendliness and warmth, like eating at your grandma's house, only here the owners invite you to write on their brick walls. It becomes a full night in every sense of the word. Nothing is hurried — just a need to sit back and enjoy the abundance of the food prepared in a combination of Abruzzi and Sicilian styles. John's family is from the central region and Toni's family is from Sicily — in the south.

Dinner is served in the downtown Northville dinner theater at 7 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays, unless of course you make special arrangements for an office gathering or any kind of party during the week. The restaurant is also open for lunch 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

"I try to save Sundays for the family," Toni said.

Reservations are required for the $45 per person cost covering the seven course dinner; non-alcohol drinks and tip. A full bar is also available. After we adjusted the notches on our belt buckles, the Genitti's invited us into the theater where Laura manages an always changing cast of actors in an always changing interactive comedy show, which she also acts in.

The current show is "Baptizing Junior," written by fellow actor Tim Compos. It's a hilarious spoof about a family of misfits who foil the newborn's baptism, which is complete with a visit from the Pope, who is actually a bald dinner guest pulled on stage for the cameo appearance.

"No show is ever the same, because it depends on the people in the audience," Toni said.

Before it begins, audience members are sitting ducks as the actors mingle in the crowd pointing out receding hair lines, protruding guts and anything else that might seem funny. We laugh at each other and with each other — once again, just like family.

The Genitti's serve up laughs with the same care and gusto they put into their age old recipes. Several times a year, Genitti's also features Children's Lunch Theater with a family-style lunch and interactive children's show for families, field trips or scouting events.

A three-foot Santa Claus is stationed at the front door where a sign announces the year-long Christmas bazaar inside. The bar, hallways and the downstairs dining area are jammed with Christmas ornaments year round.

Toni and John, who live in Northville, will celebrate 30 years of marriage in October. And despite three decades of serving meals, Toni added: "The restaurant has only just begun. The kids have taken it to a whole new level."

Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall is located at 108 E. Main Street, Northville. Call Genitti's at (248) 349-0522 for reservations or to learn more about their catering services. Or, visit their Web site at www.genittis.com

Ikebana

Japanese flower arranging is living art

STAFF WRITER
mklemic@oe.homecomm.net

Ikebana, the art of Japanese flower arranging, started in the late 15th century. Weeks would be spent producing one large display in a temple.

Different styles developed over the centuries that are still practiced today. The arrangements now don't take weeks to produce, and fit comfortably on tables or pedestals, but a lot of care is still involved.

Members of Ikebana International Chapter 85, who meet regularly in Southfield, are continually learning about the art. They have exhibited their arrangements around the area.

"It's an art form. It really is," said Southfield resident Toshi Shimoura, one of the group's executive board members.

Members don't judge one another's work, she said.

"It's a reflection of your soul."

Following the basic rules of ikebana can help with home decor. Where to place the completed arrangement is important (the background shouldn't be cluttered, for example).

"As you learn the rules, you begin to develop an eye for space and line and depth," Shimoura said.

"You develop a different sense of decoration."

It's all natural

Ikebana arrangements may feature three materials, representing heaven, man and earth. Artificial flowers aren't used.

"When we say flower we mean everything from trees to weeds to grass to flowers," Shimoura said. "Anything growing we consider for ikebana."

Shimoura demonstrated how to make a two-material shoka style arrangement. She chose aspidistra and Siberian lily.

Materials should be put in deep water and allowed to absorb as much as possible, to be conditioned beforehand. Shimoura had put these flowers in water the day before.

The container, which Shimoura called a typical shoka container, was shaped like a "Y", narrow at the base and wide at the top. An item called a pinholder was put at the bottom to hold the flowers in place. (The Japanese word for this item, kenzan, means "mountain of sword.")

Keep your containers clean so slime doesn't form in them, Shimoura recommended. She cleans her containers with bleach every so often.

Shimoura raises her own aspidistra so she can work with long stems, trimming them as necessary.

She put one green aspidistra in the container first, giving it the main or primary position.

"The sun is hitting my material at this angle and therefore my arrangement must look upward at the sun," Shimoura said, holding her hand over the gentle angle of the leaf. "This gives life to the arrangement."

For this style, the flowers should be placed in a straight line from front to back, so that when viewed from the front they appear to be growing out of one source. Elements should be staggered to form a balance.

Foliage should be removed from the bottom of stems so that the bottom three or four inches of the arrangement are clear.

Shimoura added more stalks of aspidistra. She trimmed some of the foliage from a three-blossom cluster of Siberian lilies, and placed the cluster in front of the aspidistra.

The resulting arrangement featured triangulation, in triangles formed by the top of the aspidistra and the lily as well as by the three lily blossoms.

Iris featured

Another two-material ikebana arrangement in Shimoura's house featured iris and cattail on a shallow, rectangular tray.

A freestyle grouping depicted an ocean bottom. It featured fan coral, cockscomb and leucadendron. One of the delights of this arrangement is that everything isn't immediately apparent; there is an element of surprise, Shimoura said.

In another arrangement, cork bark seemed to float around euonymus.

Shimoura also demonstrated the ikenobo school of ikebana at a chapter meeting in the spring.

One of her arrangements put a calla lily as "heaven," lacy Michigan white pine as "man," behind and to the left of the lily, and hosta leaves as "earth."

"In ikebana more is not better," Shimoura said. "Austerity does not mean poverty."

Another member, Chan-Ju Seo, demonstrated the sogetsu school of ikebana at the meeting.

Her arrangements included one featuring peony and bleeding heart in a hollowed out gourd she had dried, and one featuring a collection of pussy willows and one juniper branch in a large rectangular basket. ("The little pussy willows are coming out saying 'Spring! Spring!'" she said of the latter.)

Shimoura's interest in ikebana was sparked when she researched the subject for a creative writing class at the University of California-Berkeley in 1947. Her mother had practiced the art.

"I thought, 'This is interesting,'" Shimoura said.

"We welcome people to come," said Marvel Steiger of Farmington Hills, president of the chapter. "We have classes in the morning that are free for members."

Membership in the chapter is open to anyone interested in the art of Japanese flower arranging and related culture. Meetings take place noon the second Wednesday of the month, September through June, at the Southfield Presbyterian Church, 21575 W. 10 Mile. The meetings include refreshments and a program or workshop. Guest fee. For information, call Steiger at (248) 553-2391 or Charlotte Seitz at (248) 442-0912.

HOME WORK

Dishwasher valve leaks are quite common, but easy to fix

APPLIANCE DOCTOR

JOE GAGNON

I'm sitting in a locker room on a recent evening getting dressed for our first Red Wing alumni hockey practice and a guy named Mike Marttila sitting across from me asked a question. "Joe, what's happening with my dishwasher? We use it one day and the thing works all right, but the next day when we load it again the whole bottom inside is filled with water. What's happening?"

I informed Mike that his problem with the dishwasher is a common occurrence across this country. The water fill valve is leaking even after it shuts off. The solution is replacing the valve, which is not hard to do. I told him to shut off the water supply valve underneath the sink, then remove the kick panel on the bottom of the dishwasher. Once he disconnects the fitting with a pair of channel locks, he can disconnect the two or four wires on the valve. Two screws are removed, and out comes the valve, which he can purchase from just about any appliance parts store.

Take care of it

I told Mike that any delay in doing this easy repair might create a greater problem. The longer he waits to do the job, the more likely the water valve will let go completely and flood the house. I've seen this happen hundreds of times in my life.

■ Once he disconnects the fitting with a pair of channel locks, he can disconnect the two or four wires on the valve.

Where is all the water going to go if it starts to run out of your dishwasher at full force? You'll leave for work and come home to find your beautiful basement will be flooded. All of this because of a little water valve under the dishwasher. It happens to many homeowners every year.

Another leak reported

I told Mike about the gentleman who called me on the radio show a few weeks ago to tell me he gets a leak, but only once in a while when he turns the dishwasher on. He described the water exiting from a plastic piece outside the tub, on the left side.

I asked him to shut off the water valve under the sink, which hooks up to the hot water line. After he shuts it off, I asked him to open the valve only one full turn. This man called me back recently to thank me and tell me it doesn't leak anymore. I explained that the orifice in the dishwasher fill valve was too large and lets water flow at too great a flow into the flume (plastic piece). His problem was solved with a simple phone call and he didn't spend a cent to do it.

Dishwashers are one of the most beautiful and necessary appliances in the American home and if you don't think so, try taking it out of the house. Another woman called to ask why I don't recommend liquid detergent be used in a dishwasher. I told her about the article in Consumer Report written just a few years ago. They had tested different types of both liquid and powdered and came to the conclusion that liquid was much better. I also have received many comments from homeowners who have told me that powdered detergent does a better job.

If you happen to have a glass in your kitchen cupboard that is full of scratches, why don't you put it in your purse when you visit the Home Improvement Show at the Novi Expo Center on the weekend of Oct. 11? Just like reading tea leaves, I'll tell you what causes those scratches. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard Saturday and Sunday on 760 WJR. He is a member and past president of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals. His phone number is (313) 873-9789.

Build contracts on strong relationships

Home builders and remodelers can fill your house with splendid amenities and build the home of your dreams. But first you must establish a business partnership with the right contractor.

"Make certain you and your contractor can agree on a method for reaching a mutual goal — your ideal house," said Stephen Taglione, president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan (BIA) and of Westminster & Abbey Homes in Bingham Farms.

If you take the following steps, you will be likely to maintain a good working relationship with your contractor for the duration of the building or remodeling process.

When looking to hire a contractor, you should:

■ Ask for referrals. Visit the BIA Web site at www.builders.org, which can give you lists of its members who do the kind of work you need done. Ask your neighbors and friends for names of contractors with whom they have worked. And for new homes, check out newspaper ads for the types and price ranges of homes being built in your area.

■ Look for a contractor who has done projects similar to yours.

■ Ask prospective contractors for a tentative job schedule. Contractors cannot always determine the exact amount of time they will need to complete projects because they cannot control some factors, such as weather or back-ordered building materials. But they can usually give you a rough estimate.

■ Talk about change orders. Some time during the building or remodeling process you might want to change your order. Ask prospective contractors the procedure they use for placing change orders. Most change orders include a description of the change, cost implications and resulting schedule delays.

■ Ask for a written estimate of the work to be done based on a set of plans and specifications.

■ If you compare your estimate with another, be sure each one is based on the same set of plans and specifications. You can't effectively compare estimates from contractors who plan to use different brands of building materials. If a contractor suggests deviations, ask him or her to present those ideas as options.

■ Let contractors know you aren't only interested in the lowest bid.

If you take the proper steps and ask the right questions, you will develop a sense of which contractor is best suited to complete your project.

Meet with each prospective contractor one-on-one to discuss what you want done. Ask the contractor to explain how the project would progress.

After you've selected your contractor, you will need to sign a written contract.

Most contract agreements include job specifications, lists of necessary materials (including brand names, colors and sizes), final cost estimates, a payment schedule, a change-order clause, and estimated start and completion dates.

Homeowners can discover new trends at Fall Furniture and Remodeling Show

The ninth annual Fall Remodeling & Furniture Show opens Thursday, Oct. 11, and runs through Sunday, Oct. 14, at the Novi Expo Center, sponsored by the non-profit Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan.

"Several prominent furniture retailers will display model rooms featuring new colors, furnishings and home accessories," said Stephen J. Taglione, president of BIA and of Westminster & Abbey Homes in Bingham Farms.

Model rooms will be on display, created by Ethan Allen Home Interiors, East/West Futons, La-Z-Boy Furniture Galleries and Newton Furniture to provide ideas and education about the newest furnishing trends.

Additional show features include Chef J. Warren presenting complete meals in 30 minutes, including Cajun entrees, power grocery shopping and dessert creations in the latest of kitchen design, as seen on Good Morning America, Today Show and NBC News.

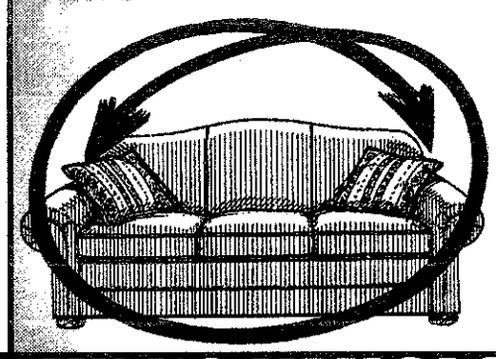

Other show highlights include WJR's "The Appliance Doctor" Joe Gagnon and "The Garden Show" Dean Krauskopf appearance and broadcast, the pictorial display of the seventh annual Showcase of Distinctive homes sponsored by BIA, Standard Federal Bank and The Detroit News and Free Press Classified Marketplace and a Treasure Chest contest with daily prizes. Homeowners can bring bathroom pictures for the Original Ugliest Bathroom Contest, sponsored by Mathison Supply, WJR Radio and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Over 200 exhibitors will have advice, ideas and innovations for kitchens, baths, doors, windows, remodeling, interior design, furniture, spas, decorative accessories, electronics, pet accessories, heating, cooking and appliances.

BIA also sponsors the GMC Builders Home & Garden Show at Cobo Center, the Macomb Home Improvement Show at Macomb Sports & Expo Center and the Novi Home Improvement Show and the Spring Home & Garden Show at Novi Expo Center.

Novi Expo Center is located at I-96 and Novi Road. Show hours are from 2-10 p.m. Thursday and Friday; 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $6 for adults; $5 for seniors; and children 12 and under are admitted free. Ample parking is available at Novi Expo Center for a fee. For more information, visit www.builders.org or call (248) 862-1019.

We'll Pay You $400 Cash Trade-In For Your Old Furnace

■ Plus, you get our 5-year parts AND labor warranty.

There's usually NO CASH TRADE-IN for older systems. Most old systems are so outdated or expensive to repair that they have little or no value. We hardly ever hear of companies anywhere in the United States offering cash for trade-ins, but since our local Technical Schools need several old systems to help train their students for the Winter term - you can get $400 cash for your trade-in — no matter how old!

We'll either hand you a crisp check for your old trade-in, or give you a fat discount when you get your new one. It's your choice. But we must warn you, this offer will end when enough systems are traded in to help train the Winter students.

This is a double bonus FOR YOU — 1) The unusual cash trade-in value and 2) Our 5-year parts AND labor warranty. But there's more...

In the bargain, you'll be getting a brand new heating system that is GUARANTEED to save you 25% in energy consumptions. (This averages between $360 and $520).

The guarantee is just this simple: "Get a new furnace from Climate Control Systems, installed by our highly trained technicians using our unique methods and skills. If, after a solid year of use, it doesn't save you at least 25% in energy consumption over your old heating system, we'll write you a check for the difference." That's it. You're guaranteed cash savings all year long.

Our other great benefit is our 5-year parts and labor warranty. This warranty is so complete that you CAN'T spend a cent in repairs for the next 5 years. We cover you with complete protection from repairs, so you can relax in total comfort — year after year—and not even think about repair bills.

But to take full advantage of this huge bonus offer, you must call before we get all the trade-ins we need. Remember, there's normally NO trade-in allowance on older furnaces, but for the next couple of weeks you can get up to $400 cash for yours.

So call Climate Control Systems today at (248) 486-9330 to set up your FREE, no-obligation survey. Call (248) 486-9330 before we get all the trade-ins we need!

Federated Garden Club meets

The Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan Inc., District 1, will hold its annual fall meeting Oct. 16 at the Mirage,16980 18 Mile Road, in Clinton Township.

District 1 is a member of the National Garden Club Inc. This meeting is open to all members within District 1, which includes southeastern Michigan including Wayne and Oakland counties.

This event offers an opportunity for attendees to meet fellow garden club members, share ideas and experiences and to learn new design techniques for the home and garden. The hosts for this event will be the Beverly Hills Garden Club and the District 1 Board. Debbie Morrow of the Beverly Hills Garden Club will be the registrar.

There will be a brief business meeting followed by two special design programs, "Design with Spirit," presented by David Mitchner, and "Let's Celebrate," by Sharon Yantis. Yantis is the immediate past state president of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, a member of the Kalamazoo Garden Club and a flower show judge. The day will also include a luncheon.

The cost for the day's program is $20. Make checks payable to: FGCM, Inc. District 1. Send them no later than Oct. 8 to Debbie Morrow, 20310 Plantation Lane, Beverly Hills, MI 48025. For information, call (248) 258-9133 or (248) 391-6825.

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

Did you know that one of the best ways to improve your own photography is to look closely at and analyze the pictures of others?

Whether it's browsing through a gallery or leisurely thumbing through a good photography book, many benefits can be yours by a good, hard look and critique of the photographs.

By tuning into your own emotions and asking yourself some important questions as you "read" a photograph, you'll gain insight and technical skills that will certainly help you in taking your own pictures.

Begin by asking what the subject or main theme of the photograph is. Does it move you, and how do you respond to it? How do you suppose the photographer felt about it?

Study the lighting. Is it harsh or soft? What direction is it coming from, and what time of day do you think it was? Ask yourself what might happen to the picture if the light was different.

How about camera position—near or far, low angle or high? Why do you think the photographer used a particular camera position, and what does it do for the picture? How might another camera location affect the photograph?

Very important, what lens do you think was used, and why? Was it wide angle, normal, or perhaps a telephoto?

How about depth-of-field? Is there a lot or a little? How would a change in depth-of-field alter the final image?

What about shutter speed—fast or slow? Is the subject blurred in motion or captured at the peak of the action? Look for the use of filters or any other special effects, too.

Of course, you should study the composition carefully. How are the elements of the picture arranged, and does it all make sense to you?

Finally, is the photograph telling a story? If so, tune into your feelings about it. Try to interpret what the photographer is trying to say and what your responses are.

Take that good, hard look at other photography and ask yourself meaningful questions about it. If you do, you'll be pleasantly surprised at how your own photography will be enriched and enhanced.

Garden books share advice, history

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

There's much to learn from the following books:

■ Inside-Out: Relating Garden to House, Page Dickey, photos by Richard Felber (Stewart Tabori & Chang, $35), visits gardeners in very different parts of the country to learn how they have designed their special gardens.

Each owner shares personal expectations and experiences and reasons why certain decisions were made, either by adding rooms to houses, or extending the garden visually through placement of plants and art.

The gardens are in various parts of the country and range from very formal to very casual. You may just find something here that can be adapted to your site, and what a way to go!

■ Advanced Gardening: Cutting Edge Growing Techniques for Gardeners, Miranda Smith (Creative Homeowner, $24.95, soft), teaches in great detail how to design and care for a garden without a lot of hard work, if you begin correctly.

Each chapter delves into the how and why aspects of successful gardening, with accompanying illustrations and photos. From preparing to garden, basics, directory of many flowers, specialty flower gardens, vines, herbs, vegetables, fruits; preventing weeds, pests and diseases, it's all here.

Each chapter is "tagged" with a color indicator for quick reference, and a subject and plant index, to assist in cross-referencing. Look for the author's Smart Tips throughout the book. Good, solid information. You'll feel as though you've taken a college course.

■ Also by the same publisher, Annuals, Perennials & Bulbs, Anne Halpin ($19.95), contains excellent advice about gardening. We learn so very much from this expert.

Many annuals, perennials and bulbs, hardy and tender, take center stage as profiles of 125 favorite garden plants are given. All pertinent information is included, i.e., hardiness, size, spacing, light, soil, moisture, bloom time and garden uses. Photo sequences of step-by-step instructions guarantee success.

Smart Tips and How-To information boxes are interspersed throughout; great advice. Wonderfully clear pictures and watercolors add much to this book, a bargain at the price.

■ Many annuals, perennials and bulbs, hardy and tender, take center stage as profiles of 125 favorite garden plants are given.

■ Yellow, orange, white, red, pink, lavender and blue, there are species of poppies suitable for a woodland garden to the Alps.

Many of these plants described in the book Poppies: A Guide to the Poppy Family in the Wild and in Cultivation, Revised Edition, Christopher Grey-Wilson (Timber Press, $37.95), are now grown in gardens. Others are featured because the author feels they should be introduced.

He has included all the members of the poppy family, along with the true poppy genus, Papaver.

General information about cultivation is given, and detailed information about the plants in the six subfamilies. Line drawings show clearly the differences in the flowers.

■ America's Famous and Historic Trees, Jeffrey Meyer (Houghton Mifflin, $30), contains many stories of these irreplaceable giants.

Meyer, the nurseryman for the Famous & Historic Trees project, shares his enthusiasm for these trees as he describes 17 of them. Learn about the history, origin and true stories of trees such as the Indian Marker Pecan, Lewis and Clark Cottonwood, Mark Twain Cave Bur Oak, and Amelia Earhart Sugar Maple.

The antique photographs enrich the intriguing stories; the photographs of the actual trees are impressive.

Meyer shares the value of the trees—such as the strong osage orange, how and where to plant the seed or a sapling—so that we can continue his mission "to help each country select a tree that has stood as witness to its people and its history, to preserve that tree and tell its story, to promote understanding among all peoples." This should be in everyone's library.

■ Premium Plants, David Mackenzie (Hortech Inc., $14.95), contains photos and descriptions of 495 "Superior Perennials for the Great Lakes States." Don't be fooled by its catalog-like look; there's much information between the covers.

■ Herbal Bouquets, Emelie Tolley and Chris Mead (Clarkson Potter, $22), is packed full of ideas to use herbs and other plants with herbal qualities to bring a bit of the garden indoors.

Preparation of the plants from harvest to preserving is discussed. The exquisite arrangements mix textures and colors. Many old ideas take on a new flair. Aftercare is included.

GOOD GARDEN TIPS

■ When you're doing fall cleanup, cut back perennials as they begin to fade. Don't cut evergreen perennials such as lamb's ear or Bergenia; do this in the spring.

■ Plants with winter interest such as decorative grasses, Rudbeckia and Sedum "Autumn Joy" can be left standing until spring.

■ Fertilize fruit trees after most of the leaves have dropped. The roots will have absorbed the fertilizer by spring when new growth is beginning.

■ Fertilize peonies and irises with a product high in phosphorus to promote strong root growth.

■ Begin acclimating houseplants for their indoor move.

CREATURE COMFORTS

Get prompt attention for GVD

ASK THE VETS

DRS. MICHAEL AND

Dear Doctors, We recently lost our 8-year-old golden retriever, Molly, because her stomach twisted and she bloated. It happened so fast we didn't know what was wrong with her and didn't realize that she would die so quickly. We would like to welcome another golden retriever into our home but are worried that the same thing might happen again. Is bloating very common? What should we do if this happens with our new dog?

Let us express our sympathy. It is never easy to lose a beloved family member.

Our wonderful 13-year-old German shepherd-coonhound mix, Ginger, died from the same condition as Molly. We still think about that terrible evening, and berate ourselves for not noticing that she was in distress sooner so we could have saved her.

The medical condition to which you refer is gastric dilatation-volvulus, also known by the acronym GDV. Veterinarians who work in emergency clinics often see cases of GDV on a weekly basis.

In GDV, the stomach bloats with a mixture of food, liquid and gas. Sometimes the stomach bloats with gas but doesn't twist. Other times it bloats and rotates so that it cannot empty.

When the stomach bloats and twists, the animal is in excruciating pain and will usually die unless the stomach and attached organs are rotated back to their normal anatomical position.

What causes GDV? Several theories exist. If a dog quickly eats a large meal and then exercises immediately afterward, his stomach may bloat and twist. Strenuous, intense activity may cause GDV even if the animal hasn't recently eaten.

Which animals are predisposed to having GDV? Any dog or cat can develop GDV but middle-aged to older, giant or large breed, deep-chested dogs are more commonly affected.

If you live with a great Dane, akita, bloodhound, German shepherd, St. Bernard, rottweiler, Alaskan malamute, Labrador or golden retriever, Doberman, Newfoundland, Irish setter, Afghan hound, or similar sized dog, make certain you are familiar with this syndrome.

Signs

Gastric dilatation-volvulus isn't always fatal. If you recognize the early clinical signs of GDV and get prompt medical attention for your pet, you may save his life.

Animals with GDV try to throw up but usually can't because the stomach is twisted and cannot empty. They often salivate, strain as though they have to go to the bathroom, walk around and look like they can't get comfortable, and have a distended abdomen. The heart may beat very quickly and irregularly.

As the bloating and/or stomach torsion is prolonged, your pet becomes more painful, depressed and weak, and may go into shock and die.

What should you do if you notice any of these signs? Seek immediate help from your veterinarian. Don't simply take the "wait and see" approach and see how your pet is feeling in a few hours. The longer you wait to treat an animal with GDV, the less likely he is to have a full recovery.

Your veterinarian will take an X-ray to confirm that the stomach is rotated. He will give your dog intravenous fluids to help his circulatory system and to treat shock.

The veterinarian will attempt to pass a tube through your pet's mouth, down the esophagus and into the stomach to let the trapped gas escape. The tube usually won't pass because the stomach opening is twisted shut.

As a last resort, some doctors place a long, thick needle through the skin over the bloated stomach to let some of the gas escape.

Surgery is almost always necessary to untwist the stomach and return the organs to their normal position. Part of the stomach is then sewn to the body wall to decrease the likelihood that it will twist again. This procedure is called a gastropexy, or "pexy" for short.

Animals that have GDV need to be monitored for irregular heart rates and rhythms, bleeding problems, and infection.

Some veterinarians believe that a dog is prone to getting GDV if he eats a big meal, swallows a lot of air while he eats or drinks, and /or exercises soon after he eats.

Recommendations

If you have a large breed dog, we recommend that he avoid excessive exercise soon after he eats. Elevate his food and water bowls. Feed him two or three smaller meals throughout the day in lieu of one large meal.

These feeding techniques may prevent your dog from swallowing excessive air as he eats or drinks and from overfilling his stomach. Watch your dog for several hours after he eats a big meal.

If you have a dog with a history of stomach torsion or bloat, or if he is big and has a deep chest, a gastropexy can be performed as a preventative measure. The gastropexy won't stop the stomach from bloating, but will prevent it from twisting, which is the more serious problem.

Please don't let your sad experience prevent your adopting another large breed dog. Use your experience to educate others, in Molly's memory, as we have done in honor of our dear Ginger.

RENEÉ SKOGLUND

Some girls are apples, some pears

I was looking for baby pictures of my oldest son, whose wife is expecting their first child, when I found the dress. It was tucked into a dusty, tissue-lined box and stacked away on a shelf in the guest bedroom closet.

The years peeled away. It was 1965 again, and I was 19.

I carefully unfolded the dress and held it up – a sleeveless little Shantung-silk sheath, mint green with a snappy pleated flounce rimming the hemline. A real Jackie Kennedy number. Pure class. The dress tag said "For girls who care."

I cared. That dress was my Michael Kaiser-the-only-man-who-broke-my-heart-dinner dress. It was my Wayne Crain-the-only-other-man-who-broke-my-heart-dinner dress. Apparently, the dress tag didn't bring me any luck. But, 36 years later, who cares. My broken-heart episodes are just humorous blips on my memory's radar screen.

Casola

I decided to give the dress to another reporter, Stephanie Casola, who's single, pretty and has years of dinner dates ahead of her.

"Ooohhh, I just love it," she said, emerging the ladies bathroom in the green sheath. It fit her perfectly. I felt reincarnated.

Broken heart

Of course, I had to tell her about Messrs. Kaiser and Crain and how they broke my heart and how my mother talked to me about apples and pears. Stephanie and I have had the "apple-pear" conversation before, especially when it concerned certain men in her life. It bears repeating.

You see, whenever a guy I liked broke up with me, my mother pulled out her "some girls are apples and some are pears" analogy. "Both fruits taste good," she'd begin with sympathy. "But you're a pear, and Joe Blow just happens to like apples." The next line was the killer: "Don't worry, lots of men like pears."

"But what if you're a banana?" said Stephanie.

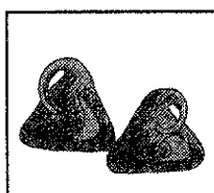

Hmmm. My mother never mentioned bananas. I knew nothing about bananas.

"And why can't guys be fruits?" said Stephanie.

Hmmm. Guys as fruits, with the girls doing the picking? Sure, why not? After all, this is no longer 1965. Stephanie could be a fruit picker instead of a fruit.

I don't know how a column emerged from the jumble of a green dress, apples and pears, and broken hearts, but it did. Do you think Jackie Kennedy was a banana? Do you think she wore dresses whose tags said "For girls who care?" I don't think so. I'm sure she was a fruit picker, like

Candy store celebrates 50 years

Calling all candy lovers. Kemnitz Candies, located in downtown Plymouth, will celebrate its 50th year in business the weekend of Sept. 28.

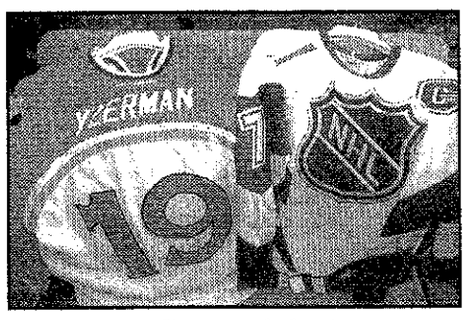

We'd like our readers to share any cherished memories they have of the local candy shop.

Please call (734) 953-2131 or e-mail Kim Mortson at kmortson@oe.homecomm.net with your stories, anecdotes and tell us what Kemnitz Candy is your favorite.

We'll accept submissions until Monday, Oct. 1. Kemnitz Candies will host a golden anniversary celebration at noon, Friday, Sept. 28 through Saturday, Sept. 29.

There will be free thank you candy bars (first 150 customers), balloons, giveaways and cake during normal business hours.

Hospice benefit a fall favorite

"A simply elegant evening," is how Carolyn Di Como and Jennifer Trussler of Angela Hospice describe the Sept. 20 pre-party event to the October "Light Up a Life Benefit" at Burton Manor in Livonia.

"I had been looking for the right person and the right location for some time now to host a pre-auction party," said Di Como, who is again co-chairing the 14th annual event with Georgia Scappaticci of Plymouth Township.

Di Como telephoned Mark Guidobono of the Bellagio-Cambridge Development Company about using the Bellagio in Novi, for the site of their initial pre-auction party. The Bellagio is the $3 million, 11,000 square-foot sales model for the Cambridge Homes development.

"I was told he was on the phone and that I should just come over to meet him," said Di Como. "I explained to Mr. Guidobono what I was looking for and the services and programs we offer at Angela Hospice. After only five minutes of talking with me he agreed to let us use the home."

Generous benefactors

Approximately 100 invited guests were treated to hot and cold hors d 'oeuvres compliments of the DelSignore Family of Laurel Manor and a variety of pastas prepared by John DelSignore himself.

"John wore his chef outfit and everything," said Di Como. "His cooking was a nice accent to a nice evening."

The three-hour event brought Angela Hospice President/CEO Sister Mary Giovanni and committee members of the Light Up a Life Benefit together with significant benefactors to the fund-raiser.

"It was our hope to share the history of Angela Hospice with the guests and tell them just how their donations will benefit the patients, families and programs here at the hospice," said Trussler, Angela Hospice events specialist.

Guests were given several opportunities to support the Oct. 26 benefit including making a monetary contribution, serving as a community or GEM sponsor, donating an auction item or adopting a gift (auction item will be purchased in their name).

With last year's event grossing $180,000 in donations, Di Como hopes the pre-auction party will serve as a catalyst for participants during the Oct. 26 Light Up a Life Benefit.

Approximately 1,000 guests are expected to be entertained by a "high-powered fashion show" from the Somerset Collection as well as live and silent auctions. Some of the auction highlights include a Law & Order Special Victims Unit - behind the scenes package, one week Hilton Head vacation, slot machine, autographed hockey sticks from Dominik Hasek and Mark

Sam Walton, a man of many talents

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER
kmortson@oe.homecomm.net

Sam Walton says his first love has always been music followed by "sound speakers and economic theory." Albeit an unusual combination, the trio of interests have helped the Plymouth man recognize a talent, start a business and select a college major.

The 21-year-old senior at Michigan State University may be best known, though, as the owner of Signature Sound, a production company that rents public announcement and audio systems, provides acoustical consulting, system training and an array of entertainment technology such as lighting and staging.

"I started the company when I was 16 years old," said Walton, who divides his time between Plymouth and Lansing where he has a full class load at MSU.

Walton said he and his friends formed a band in high school called Chartreuse, and purchased a PA system for performances. He said he started to get a lot of inquiries from people wanting to rent the system once they knew he owned it.

"Once people knew we owned it, it became a hot commodity. I recognized the monetary value of having this system which eventually led to me renting it out," said Walton, who borrowed money from his parents to purchase additional equipment as an investment back into the company.

"I really became serious about it in 1996," said Walton after he got his driver's license and was able to drive himself and his friends around from job to job without the help of his parents.

Five years later, Walton, a 1998 graduate of Catholic Central High School in Redford, is now on the verge of graduating from college and is the owner of a successful business with two employees who help him support the company around his education.

"I couldn't do it without Scott and R.J. Scott Cashmore, who was the drummer in our band in high school, is my warehouse manager who handles all of the equipment and maintenance and R.J. Ziemba runs the business and technical aspect of things while I'm at school. I have the finest guys working for me."

Balancing act

Having help gives Walton the ability to take classes in Lansing and do much of the contractual work, scheduling and networking from his laptop computer. He returns to Plymouth for the weekend and he and his crew typically have jobs lined up from 4 p.m. Friday through Sunday evening.

"We try and have one significant job every weekend in addition to other smaller jobs," said Walton. "Some of the jobs require our guys to go in, set up, run the equipment and break it down, while others jobs we just bring the system to the location and pick it up when they're done."

STAFF PHOTOS BY PAUL HUBSCHMANN

Multi-task: Sam Walton (left) informs the audience of the itinerary during Plymouth's Fall Fest Sept. 8. A rain delay postponed the Alexander Zonjic show for nearly an hour. Zonjic went on later and Sam (above) mans the board.

Many of Signature Sound clients require equipment for corporate presentations but Walton said concerts are their central business. This year Walton and his crew provided the sound and audio systems for the Plymouth Fall Festival in early September. "This had to be one of the largest and most enjoyable events we've done," said Walton, who is also contracted to run the Friday "Music in the Air" concert series in downtown Plymouth from May through August.

"It's a perk that I get to go to the concerts and to work with so many great people in the community. There's an amazing amount of talent out there not seen on MTV."

Walton, the son of Ed and Martha Walton of Plymouth and sister to Claire, sees no end in sight for Signature Sound. The MSU senior has even tossed around the idea of an early retirement if his company continues to surpass its goals and he uses his knowledge of the financial industry wisely. Sometime after graduation he hopes to use his degree to work in the field of investment banking/estate planning, because he believes the financial markets are an "exciting place to work."

Someone to look up to

The 21-year-old said his father, also an entrepreneur, and Plymouth Guitar owner Fred Sanderson have been his longtime mentors.

"When I first met Sam he was just a student and a customer," said Sanderson, who has been in business in Plymouth for seven years. "He was really my first employee and worked for me when I was on Penniman doing sales, service and repairs. He was self-taught. I could see from the start that he just kind of knew what he wanted to do. He's a doer with endless curiosity."

While balancing his time between his classes and his company, Walton has also found time to DJ two radio shows in Lansing at 88.9 The Impact. He's been hosting both jazz shows for the past two years.

"There's 24 useable hours in a day and I try to make the best of them," said Walton. "I also try and run as much as I can and play my guitar when I can find the time to pick it up."

Read the Instructions.....

Whenever we purchase a new appliance or piece of equipment, we should always carefully read the instructions or manual that accompanies it. It is a good idea to file this information away for future use, in case the item breaks or doesn't work properly. God has given us the Bible, which has wonderful instructions for our life. However, unlike these instruction manuals, the Bible is not something that we should put away and read only when something in our lives is not working right. Just as we should keep a good relationship with repairman and mechanics who can help us when something breaks down, we should also maintain a good relationship with our Lord. We should be aware that we will always need our Heavenly Father's help, and remember that God's loving kindness is always there for His people. The Bible tells us that if we draw near to God, He will draw near to us, and if we seek the Lord, He will answer us and deliver us from all of our fears.

Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is the Lord.
R.S.V. Jeremiah 17:7

FAITH JOURNEYS

PASTOR POWELL

"I can't even find time to ask my kid about his day at school. How will I ever find time to teach him how to pray?"

Christian parents often wish that they could teach their children about prayer, but they just don't know how to do it. And with family schedules as busy as ever, when would we even find the time to pray?

Routine prayer time is important with children. Whether it's a family prayer before everyone heads off for work or school or a prayer said just before bedtime, prayer can provide needed stability for kids in the midst of busy lives. Family traditions and prayer routines give kids a solid foundation for their faith to grow.

At the dinner table

Mealtime prayers help to remind all of us that the food we eat is a blessing, not to be taken for granted. Some families have one spoken prayer that they offer at every meal; others ask each family member in turn to pray extemporaneously. Using a variety of different prayers (sung, memorized, extemporaneous) may help your children to be familiar with many forms of prayer.

Find daily opportunities to pray. When you hear an emergency vehicle's siren, speak a short prayer out loud with your kids ("God, please guard the firefighters and the people who they are going to save.") When you hear news from a family member about an illness or difficulty, gather the family together to pray as you share the news with them. When things go well or when things are rough, take four or five minutes to gather the family together and bring your concerns to God.

Young children may need prompting to remember what to pray for. You can help by giving suggestions: "Who would you like to thank God for tonight?" "What did you do today that you want to thank God for?" "Can you think of a friend who might be sad today?" Sometimes children's prayers are circuitous and barely intelligible, but God hears the prayers of even the littlest children.

As your children grow, they may have more questions about prayer. "How do I know God hears my prayers when I can't see Him?" "Why do we have to close our eyes while we pray?" For good resources on praying with children, visit your local Christian bookstore. There are many books full of great illustrations and sample prayers for kids.

We are not born knowing how to pray. We learn how to pray from our parents and other adults in our lives. Whether you ask your children to close their eyes and fold their hands or lift their heads and raise their hands, you will be formulating their future attitudes about how people pray. And don't forget the importance of modeling prayer. Let your children "catch" you praying. Allow them to see you in prayer, talking to your Heavenly Father.

The Rev. Carla Thompson Powell, pastor of Timothy Lutheran Church (ELCA), loves to hear her children pray. "But speaking the truth in love, we must grow up in every way into him who is the head, into Christ ..." (Ephesians 4:15)

Schoolcraft seminar to help educate women on learning, earning

OWL Michigan and the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College will present a seminar titled "Learning and Earning: Education for Women," 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 20 in the Waterman Center.

Come and hear how women's advocacy groups are battling discrimination in our schools and beyond, providing women with the tools they need to succeed in a competitive, male-dominated world.

Education is the key to financial independence and self-awareness for women, but discrimination against girls in our classrooms condemns many of them to a lifetime of low self-esteem, low-paying jobs, and other disadvantages. A quality education is the springboard to a satisfying career, a higher salary, access to health care, more generous pension and social security benefits, more equitable treatment in the courts and a larger role in the political process.

Guest speakers

Presenters include Nancy Swanborg, director of the WRC at Schoolcraft College since 1989; Donna Lyons, an advanced nurse practitioner and clinical nurse specialist in OB/GYN at Detroit Medical Center; Reneé Boving, retired gynecologist and former professor anatomy; Marlene Kershaw, former special education teacher and a staff member of the WRC for the past 16 years, is designer and coordinator of "From Chocolate Chips to Micro Chips," an award-winning program for returning homemakers to the paid work force; Laura Callow, a retired art teacher who has been called "The Susan B. Anthony of the Equal Rights Amendment;" and Lynn Rivers, who is currently serving her fourth year in the U.S. Congress as representative from Michigan's 13th district.

Registration deadline is Oct. 15 ($15). Make check's payable to: Schoolcraft College, Women's Resource Center/OWL, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, MI 48152-2696.

Messier, SCUBA diving vacation in Cozumel, local sporting event tickets, queen-for-a-day package and a framed/autographed Steve Yzerman jersey.

One item that created spirited bidding between attendees last year was the commissioned mural painted by artist Kathryn Paul, proprietor of Graeme Faux Finishes. Paul worked with the winner to paint a mural of their choice in their home. The Detroit artist is best known for murals, trompe l'oeil and faux finishes. Co-chair Georgia Scappaticci invited Paul to participate in the 2000 auction after she painted several works of art in her Plymouth home. Trussler said her creative donation again this year will be a welcome return to bidders looking for something that is both unique and personal.

All proceeds from the Light Up a Life Benefit will directly fund the many programs of Angela Hospice including their pediatric program, My Nest Is Best, and the Good Samaritan program which makes sure hospice care is available to everyone in the community, regardless of their financial means.

With the date of the event approaching, $100 raffle tickets are going fast. Only 200 tickets will be sold for the Fortune $5,000 drawing with 10 cash prizes being awarded ranging from $250 to $5,000. Additionally, prizes will be pulled in reverse order and each winning ticket will go back into the drum after each pull so everyone who buys a ticket will have a chance to win the top prize. One dollar raffle tickets are also available.

Celebrating her 14th year helping to organize the annual hospice fund-raiser - Di Como said the success of the planning comes from the more than 34 committee members who make up the auction, celebrity, community sponsor, decorations and GEM sponsor committees.

"The efforts of each and every committee member make this event what it is and they are all very special people," said Di Como. "What keeps me going is my love of Angela Hospice, all that is does for the patients and their families and of Sister Giovanni."

Major sponsors of the 2001 event include Ford Motor Company, HUMMER and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Trussler said TerranDesign of Plymouth and Allied Print Company should be recognized for their generous donation of designing and printing the invitation/brochure.

To make a reservation for the Oct. 26 Light Up a Life Benefit (no tickets will be sent, all reservations will be held at the door) call the special events department (734) 464-7810. Each guest must be pre-registered. Doors open at 6 p.m. with a cocktail reception and silent auction followed by an elegant dinner, the Somerset Collection Runway Fashion Show and live auction.

Sarkesian nets winner

Mia Sarkesian, a senior midfielder at fourth-ranked Notre Dame from Canton (Plymouth Salem HS), made her first goal of the season a pivotal one as she one-timed a pass from teammate Melissa Tancredi into the net as the Irish beat Nebraska, 1-0 Tuesday.

It was redemption of sorts for Sarkesian, whose penalty kick had rebounded off the left post. Her goal, the 10th of her career and fifth game-winner, came 17:50 into the first half as Notre Dame improved to 6-0-1.

Ocelot harriers 1-2-3

Schoolcraft College took the first three places in Saturday's Tower Trail Classic women's cross country meet held at Grand Valley State University.

Gabrielle Crandall (Plymouth Township) won the 5,000-meter race in 20 minutes, 38.6 seconds. Teammates Mandi Hein (Livonia Churchill) and Adrienne Metz took second and third, respectively, in 20:42.6 and 20:45.4.

Other Schoolcraft finishers included: Stacey Cohenour, eighth (21:09.5); Dawn Sykes, 10th (21:43.8); Christine Smith (Churchill), 14th (22:18.7); Angela Alfonsi, 16th (22:51.5); Michelle Metz, 19th (23:25.0); and Bev Valence, 23rd (25:40.5).

Whaler fans generous

At their season-opener Saturday against the Owen Sound Attack, fans of the host Plymouth Whalers contributed $4,179.64 to the New York Firefighters 9/11 Disaster Relief Fund as part of an Ontario Hockey League-wide effort to raise money for the victims of the tragedy.

"The Plymouth Whalers and the Ontario Hockey League would like to thank all of our fans for their generous support and donations," said Whalers general manager and coach Mike Vellucci. "The tragic events have touched all of our lives and we would like to do all we can to help.

"We always knew we had great fans, and judging by their support this past weekend, we can say we have the best fans around."

Fastpitch tryouts

All girls interested in playing fastpitch softball next summer with the Western Wayne County League are invited to tryouts Sunday at the Canton Softball Complex, located on Michigan west of Canton Center in Canton.

Beginners and experienced players are needed to fill spots in the 45-team league. Registration for ages 10-and-under will begin at 3:30 p.m.; 12-and-under at 4 p.m.; and 14-and-under at 4:45 p.m.

If you can't attend or need more information, call coach Dave at (734) 737-9968, or email to TRYOUTS2002@webtv.net.

MU alumni softball

The Madonna University softball program is hosting its second-annual Alumni Game at 1 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 30 at Livonia Ladywood High School.

All former Madonna players are welcome to participate. For more information, any former Madonna players may call head coach Al White at (734) 432-5783.

Conditioning skates

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Hockey Booster Club willhost conditioning skates for those interested in Salem or Canton high school hockey.

Canton's conditioning sessions will be from 4-5 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 2-25, at the Artic Edge. Salem's conditioning sessions will be from 5-6 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 2-25, at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Cost is $15 per session, or $120 for all eight sessions. A parent/guardian signature is mandatory prior to skating.

Registration is on-site, or call Chris Wolfe (Canton) at 453-8332 or Mary Maurer (Salem) at 254-9234 for further information.

Correction

In Sunday's Observer, it was incorrectly reported who booted the extra-point placements in Canton's win over Livonia Franklin. Ankit Kachhal was responsible for kicking all four of them for the Chiefs.

Quick start carries Chiefs; Rocks roll

BASKETBALL

As it turned out, the first half was enough for Plymouth Canton Tuesday in its Western Lakes Activities Association basketball game at Livonia Churchill.

The Chiefs outscored the Chargers 31-14 in the first half and never looked back in posting a 47-27 victory. Canton evened its record at 3-3 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA; Churchill is 4-4 overall, 0-2 in the WLAA.

"We played pretty good defense," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "And I thought we rebounded well, too. We got off to a good start again, and this time we kept it."

Katie Cezat, a 5-foot-11 freshman, led the Chiefs with 10 points — six coming in the second quarter. Christina Redd added nine points, all in the second half; Briana Wolcott netted eight; and Jessica Johnson scored seven.

Deanna DeRoo paced the Chargers with 16 points.

Salem 44, North Farmington 18: No problem for Plymouth Salem.

Salem jumped out to a big lead at the start Tuesday night and crushed visiting North Farmington in a WLAA Lakes Division game.

The Rocks (7-0 overall, 3-0 in the division), held a 20-7 halftime lead.

"We really had a pretty good defensive series at the start of the game," Coach Fred Thomann of Salem said. "It was 16-1 with about four minutes to go in the second quarter. That put the game in hand at that time."

Mary Lou Liebau scored 12 points and added 10 rebounds for the Rocks while Stephanie Philips scored nine and Kelly Jaskot added eight with five assists. Eight Salem players scored.

Meghan Callahan led the Raiders (3-5, 0-2) with six points.

Whalers open season with a win over Owen Sound

By ED WRIGHT
Staff Writer

Many things changed for the Plymouth Whalers during this past off-season, but one thing remained the same during Saturday night's season opener against Owen Sound — the scoreboard.

Playing with several new players at key positions and a new coaching staff behind the bench, the Whalers looked very similar to the teams that dominated the Ontario Hockey League's Western Conference the past two years, outskating the Attack 6-4.

The game was delayed a week due to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks on New York City and Washington, D.C.

"I thought the guys gave a great effort," new coach Mike Vellucci said. "It's always nice to win the opener, especially when you have a lot of new players like we have this year. I thought our first-year players did a nice job and our veteran players did a solid job as well."

Probably the most notable change this year for the Whalers is in front of the net, where 19-year-old goalie Jason Bacashihua (pronounced Bu-cash-I-wa) is taking over for standout Rob Zepp.

Bacashihua, who was in goal for the Dallas Stars NHL team in an exhibition game five nights earlier, showed flashes of brilliance while stopping 23 of 27 Attack shots.

"I don't really think about taking over for Rob, I just go out and play my own game," said Bacashihua, a native of Dearborn. "I let in a couple of rebound shots tonight, but overall, I thought I did all right."

Bacashihua shined in the third period when he stopped 14-of-15 Attack shots.

The Whalers also played without last year's leading scorer, Stephen Weiss, who is still battling in the Florida Panthers' training camp for a spot on the NHL team's opening-day roster.

Veteran center George Nistas scored the first goal of the season for the Whalers when his slapshot from just inside the blueline beat Owen Sound goalie Justin Day less than three minutes into the game. Nistas was assisted by 17-year-old first-year player Tim Sestito and Mike Smith.

Owen Sound tied the game 17 seconds later when the Attack's Tom Zanoski slipped the puck past Bacashihua from close range.

The Sestito-Smith-Nistas line struck again on a power play at the 9:41 mark when Sestito scored his first OHL goal after taking a feed from Nistas.

After the Attack tied the game at 2-2, Plymouth's Karl Stewart pounced on a rebound and flipped it past Day with 1:08 left in the first period to give Plymouth a 3-2 advantage.

The Whalers outshot the Attack, 13-7, over the first 20 minutes but were turned away from close range on several occasions by Day.

Plymouth outshot Owen Sound, 11-9, in the second period and went into the intermission with a 5-3 lead. David Liffiton and Gregory Campbell scored goals for the Whalers while Richard Power tallied the Attack's lone second-period goal.

Plymouth iced the game when veteran defenseman Cole Jarrett's shot zipped over Day's left shoulder with 15:38 left in the game, making it 6-3.

Madonna sweeps Cornerstone to stay atop WHAC

By BRAD EMONS
Sports Writer
bemons@oe.homecomm.net

All the pieces fell into place Tuesday as defending Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference women's volleyball champion Madonna University swept Cornerstone in three straight games, 30-20, 30-19, 30-21.

Madonna, getting a lift from freshman outside-hitter Laura Lesko, improved to 11-6 overall and 3-0 in the WHAC.

Cornerstone, the only team to defeat MU last year in a WHAC match, falls to 7-9 and 4-1.

Lesko, who moved into the outside-hitter spot in place of the injured Kate LeBlanc, made the most of her start with a team-high 12 kills (.442 percentage). The 5-foot-10 freshman from Wyandotte did not have a hitting error in 26 attempts.

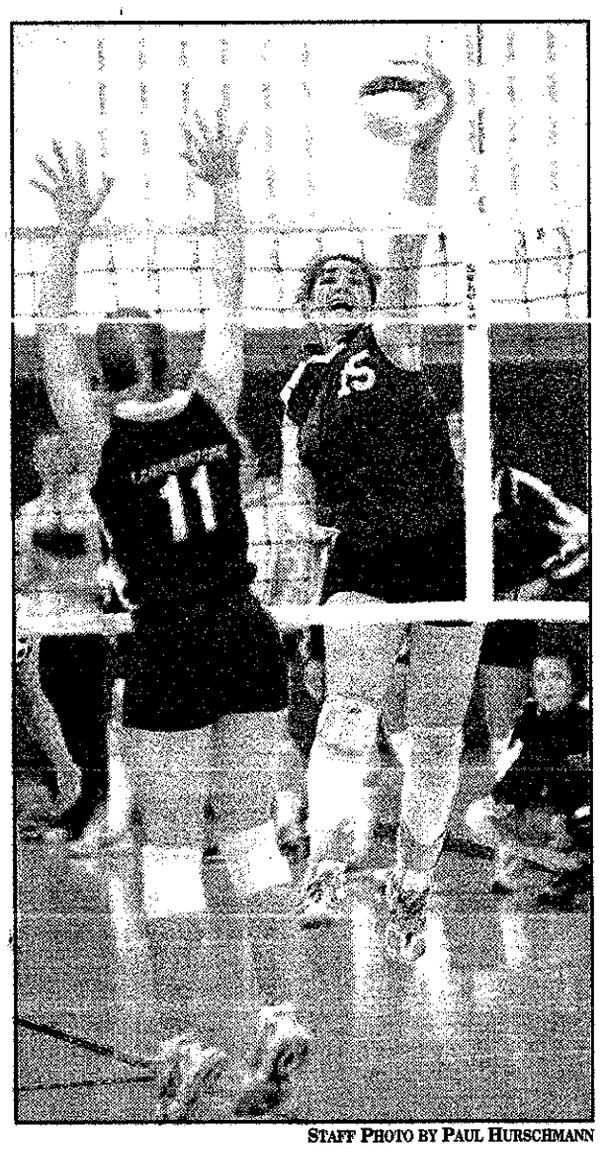

"We found out right before the game that Kate couldn't go," MU coach Jerry Abraham said. "We decided to go with Laura because she had a great practice the day before. She gave us a gigantic lift and proved to be a big-time spark because we were very concerned going into a game of this magnitude."

Senior Donna Birkenhier added 10 kills, while senior Jennifer Frost and sophomore Tera Morrill (Livonia Franklin) added eight each. Hayley Myers contributed seven.

"Our two seniors, Birkenhier and Frost, played their best matches of the year," Abraham said. "Birkenhier blocked well and Frost had some intimidating attacks from the right side."

One glaring statistic was total team digs as the Lady Crusaders had 59, while Cornerstone had only 23.

Four different Crusaders also reached double digits in digs — Morrill, 12; Marylu Hemme (Livonia Ladywood) and Frost with 11 each; and Amanda Suder (Plymouth Salem) with 10.

Stafford was a standout as both a pro player and as a prep coach

By C.J. RISAK
Sports Editor
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

In the early '60s, Bill Stafford was an important part of the New York Yankees' teams that ended up winning five-consecutive American League pennants.

Over the last 15 years, Stafford was an important part of Plymouth Canton's baseball program.

Stafford, father of former Canton all-stater Mike Stafford, died of a heart attack last Wednesday (Sept. 19). He was 63.

He is survived by his wife, Sharon, and four children: Susan, William, Kim and Michael.

"I was just shocked," said Canton baseball coach Scott Dickey, with whom Stafford coached until leaving so he could watch Mike play in college. "I couldn't believe it. He and I had become really good friends.

"When Mike started to pitch for Ohio State (where he walked on after graduating from Canton in '93), we talked and obviously he wanted to watch him play. But he always stopped by our (summer) camp and came by to watch the games."

As impressive as his accomplishments in pro baseball were, Stafford was anything but presumptuous.

"As a former pro athlete, he was the most unassuming person you'd ever want to meet," said Mark LaPointe, who was the Canton head coach in 1993 and served as Fred Crissey's assistant coach prior to that. "If you'd ever want to hear stories about his

Canton suffers 1st loss; Salem a winner

GOLF

Getting through the Western Lakes Activities Association dual-meet golf season undefeated might have been something to shoot for, but it couldn't have been a truly realistic goal for Plymouth Canton — or any WLAA team, for that matter.

In cold, rainy, windy conditions Monday, the Chiefs were ambushed by Livonia Stevenson, 154-164 at Livonia's Fox Creek.

The loss dropped Canton to 3-1 in the conference. Stevenson is 2-4.

The difference: All four Spartan scorers broke 40. The Chiefs had just one.

Scott Wolfe led the Stevenson assault with a medalist-earning 37. Matt Bartnick, Jason Fischer and Matt Courtright each added 39s.

Canton's top scorer was Scott Oliver with a 39. Ryan McKendry, Andrew Wagner and Ryan VanLoozen followed with 42s, with Michael Baracy carding a 45 and Jason Brand a 46.

The Chiefs go against North Farmington at Glen Oaks Friday.

Salem outshoots Glenn

Superb all-around scoring carried Plymouth Salem to a 155-165 dual-meet victory over WLAA rival Westland John Glenn Tuesday at St. John's.

"In these conditions, I was very pleased," said Salem coach Rick Wilson.

Bobby Jones and Jon Gordon shared medalist honors, each shooting a 38. Andy Thackaberry was right behind with a 39, and Dave Wallen and Joe Pomorski each posted 40s. Dave Stevens had a 41.

Glenn got a 39 from Jeremy Fendelet, a 40 from Rich Sudak, a 42 from Keith Fuduka and a 44 from Danny Schank. Jason Lang and Nick Macika followed with 45s.

The win pushed the Rocks' WLAA record to 3-2. Glenn slipped to 7-2.

Chiefs get 2 big wins; Salem a 6th at Invite

X-COUNTRY

Plymouth Canton's boys cross country team followed its impressive showing at the Jefferson Invitational Saturday with another one in subduing Western Lakes Activities Association rival Farmington Harrison, 19-41 Tuesday at Cass Benton.

Canton runners captured six of the top seven spots against Harrison as they improved to 3-2 overall, 2-1 in the WLAA's Western Division. The Hawks are 3-3 overall, 0-2 in the division.

Steve Debien was the top finisher, taking first for the Chiefs in 16:50. Next best for Canton was Aaron Lanning, third (17:32), followed by Jon Western, fourth (17:44); Brandon McClellan, fifth (17:56); Casey Maloney, sixth (18:06); and Matt Rymond, seventh (18:17).

The only Hawk to interrupt Canton's domination was Brian Coats, who placed second (17:10).

Last Saturday at the Jefferson Invite, held at the Sterling State Park in Monroe, the Chiefs showed a penchant for pack-running, placing four of its five scorers in the top 10 and all five in the top 13 in placing first in the 11 team field.

Canton scored 43 points to edge WLAA division foe Livonia Churchill, which was second (50). Ann Arbor Huron placed a distant third (76).

Lanning was the Chiefs' top finisher, placing fifth overall (16:58). Pat Pruitt was sixth (17:00), Debien was ninth (17:19), Western took 10th (17:23) and Rymond finished 13th (17:32).

Placing first was Jake Hammerle of Woodhaven (16:07), 30 seconds ahead of Churchill's Ryan Gall, who was second.

Canton runs at the Grosse Ile Invitational Saturday.

Salem girls 6th

Plymouth Salem's girls team split its squad Saturday, with the A team running at the Jackson Invitational and placing sixth with 179 points.

Ann Arbor Pioneer finished first with 46 points, followed by Saline with 63.

Top runners for the Rocks were Lauren Kane, 18th overall (20:33); Kristin Mastic, 37th (21:39); Liisa Keski-Hynnila, 40th (21:44); Kim Wood, 41st (21:44); Stephanie Hajduk, 43rd (21:46); Jill Grey, 48th (21:59); and Erin Jensen, 65th (22:53).

Salem's finishes at the Catholic Central Shamrock Invitational, held at Cass Benton, were Monica Przebienda, 38th (22:32); Sheena Haddad, 43rd (23:05); Allison Sponseller, 52nd (23:53); Kim Mason, 54th (24:01); Susan Woodard, 63rd (24:42); Abbie Shaw, 65th (24:43); and Meghan Galvin, 76th (25:18).

Salem takes on Livonia Stevenson, one of the WLAA's title favorites, in a dual meet at Cass Benton today. On Saturday, the Rocks will divide their squad once again and travel to the Grosse Ile Invitational and the Dearborn Divine Child Falcon Invitational.

Chiefs edge Hawks

Five finishers in the top seven spots enabled Plymouth Canton to beat WLAA Western Division foe Farmington Harrison, 23-36 Tuesday at Cass Benton.

Rachel Lindman finished second for the Chiefs (22:05) and Carrie Oleskewiecz was third (22:09). Next best for Canton was Sarah Stobbe, fifth (22:15); Katie Raker, sixth (22:24); and Sarah McCormack, seventh (22:36).

Harrison's Christine Metry placed first (20:15).

The Chiefs travel to the Grosse Ile Invitational in Elizabeth Park Saturday.

Improved offense boosts Rocks

Plymouth Salem found its offense Monday at Farmington, and the result was a 4-1 win over the Falcons in a Western Lakes Activities Association soccer match.

The win kept the Rocks unbeaten in the WLAA's Lakes Division at 3-0; they are 6-5-2 overall. Farmington fell to 8-2-1 overall, 1-2 in the division.

The result also set up the showdown for top honors in the division and a chance to play for the WLAA championship between Salem and unbeaten Livonia Stevenson, the state's top-ranked team. That match will be Oct. 3 at Salem.

Ryan Fazio scored two of the Rocks goals Monday, both of which were assisted by Brian Popeney, who also netted Salem's fourth goal. Jared Lamborn got the first goal of the match, assisted by Kevin Savitskie.

Farmington's goal was scored by Matt Okopny.

SOCCER

Canton 2, Northville 0: In a game that would almost certainly decide the WLAA's Western Division championship and a berth in the conference title match, Plymouth Canton got a pair of goals from Nick Houdek in turning back Northville Monday at Canton.

The victory improved the Chiefs' record to 10-1 overall, 3-0 in the division.

Houdek gave Canton a 1-0 halftime lead by converting a penalty kick in the opening half. The Chiefs' lead grew to 2-0 10 minutes into the second half when Houdek converted a pass from Erik Durance.

Greg Musser was in goal for the shutout.

On Saturday, Nick Rolfe knocked in a pass from Houdek with 1:18 left in the match to give the Chiefs a 3-2 win over Saline.

Kevin Strucel scored Canton's first goal, assisted by Houdek. Houdek — who through Monday's win at Northville had three goals and two assists in two matches — scored the Chiefs' second goal, a [illegible] Kaczmarek.

PCA 2, Inter-City 2: Plymouth Christian Academy battled back after trailing 1-0 at the half to take a 2-1 lead in the second half, but then surrendered the game-tying goal to Allen Park Inter-City Baptist with just five minutes left Tuesday at PCA.

The tie left the Eagles at 5-3-2 overall, 0-2-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. Inter-City is 3-0-1 in the MIAC. •

PCA, which started the season at 5-1-1, has gone winless in its last three matches — a slump coach Rick Ericson was hoping to avoid. "We seem to have these mental lapses," he said. "But the boys played well today. They came back in the second half."

Matt Gallagher's unassisted goal allowed the Eagles to knot the game at 1-1 in the second half and Eric Schultz put PCA ahead with a goal, assisted by Gallagher.

Joel McNamara and Jeremy Raburn scored Inter-City's goals.

Mark Ericson was in goal for PCA. [illegible] is in the net.

Canton hosts Western; Salem wants a 2nd

GRID PICKS

DAN O'MEARA

It's nearly the end of September, and we're half way through the high school football season.

The regular season, that is.

It will soon be time to start thinking about the second season – the playoffs. Indeed, some teams will be this week.

Three area teams can lock up post-season berths with a sixth consecutive win. They are Farmington Harrison, Livonia Clarenceville and Redford Bishop Borgess.

It will be a state-record 20th appearance in the playoffs for Harrison, a fourth straight for Clarenceville and a first for Borgess.

Westland John Glenn and Plymouth Canton are 4-1 and could move a step closer to qualifying with their fifth wins this week.

A pair of 3-2 teams – Redford Catholic Central and Lutheran High Westland – are still very much in the running, too.

On the grid prediction front, Plymouth-Canton Sports Editor C.J. Risak stole the show last week and moved out of the cellar.

Risak fared the best among the four Observer sports writers, going 12-1 by correctly picking Birmingham Brother Rice to beat CC.

Brad Emons (Livonia-Westland) and yours truly (Farmington) were 11-2, and Paul Beaudry (Redford-Garden City) was 10-3.

Emons remains the overall leader with a 62-11 record. I'm three games back (59-14); Risak, who moved in front of Beaudry, is five games off the pace (57-16) and Beaudry, who is headed for a Week Nine writing assignment, six games (56-17).

Also, thanks to the students from John Glenn and Salem who helped Beaudry with last week's picks. In fact, they came close to having a better week than he did, finishing with an 8-5 record.

FRIDAY GAMES

Wayne at Ypsilanti, 7 p.m.: Wayne (2-3) had a two-game winning streak snapped by Garden City in a Mega Conference crossover, 22-6. It's back to the Mega White this week to face Ypsilanti (3-2), which is riding a three-game win streak after starting the season with losses to two very good teams – Plymouth Canton and Allen Park. PICKS – Ypsilanti: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Crestwood at Redford Union, 7 p.m.: Crestwood crushed Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 61-14, Saturday to improve its record to 2-3, which is slightly better than RU's 1-4 mark. Both teams are in the Mega Blue this year after Crestwood moved up from the Gold and RU dropped down from the White. Flip a coin; it's a toss-up. PICKS – Crestwood: Beaudry, Emons; RU: O'Meara, Risak.

River Rouge at Thurston, 7 p.m.: Both teams are 2-2 in the Mega-Blue Division and 3-2 overall. Rouge had been doing well until it lost to previously-winless Gibraltar Carlson last week, 12-8. The Eagles, meanwhile, gave preseason Blue favorite Trenton a tough battle only to lose by a field goal, 3-0. PICKS – Thurston: O'Meara, Beaudry, Risak; Rouge: Emons.

N. Farmington at Farmington, 7 p.m.: Record-wise, these teams appear to be pretty even. North is 1-4, Farmington 0-5. But the Raiders, who defeated Plymouth Salem for the only win, have played well the last two weeks in losses to Lakes Division powers Walled Lake Central and Westland John Glenn. The Falcons are coming off an 18-12 loss to Salem. PICKS – North: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Liv. Churchill at Ply. Canton: The Chargers (1-4) held nationally-ranked Farmington Harrison, the No. 1 team in Michigan, to a 33-0 victory, but they couldn't capitalize on five turnovers to put points of their own on the board. The Chiefs (4-1) rebounded from their loss to Harrison with a 28-12 win over Franklin and are headed for a showdown next week with Walled Lake Western for second place in the WLAA Western Division. PICKS – Canton: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Ply. Salem at Liv. Stevenson: The Rocks (1-4) gave first-year coach Bob Cummings his first victory last week with a win over Farmington. The Spartans (2-3) hope to rebound and even their record at .500 following a 31-13 loss to Walled Lake Central. PICKS – Stevenson: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

W.L. Western at Liv. Franklin: The Patriots (2-3) played pretty well in their loss to Canton, and they'll need the same kind of effort this week. Franklin faces another WLAA Western Division power in the Warriors (4-1), who unloaded their frustrations on Northville. PICKS – Western: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

John Glenn at W.L. Central: For all intents and purposes, this game will decide the WLAA Lakes Division title and determine which teams faces Harrison for the league championships in two weeks. With two division games to play, both are 3-0 and 4-1 overall. Central has won four straight since losing to Milford in the opener, and Glenn owns a three-game winning streak. PICKS – Glenn: Beaudry; Central: O'Meara, Emons, Risak.

Farm. Harrison at Northville: OK, let's see now. Harrison beats Walled Lake Western, 44-0, and then Western beats Northville, 44-0. So that means the Hawks should win this game, 88-0? Maybe Harrison should schedule some other Mustangs, like the ones from Southern Methodist University! PICKS – Harrison: O'Meara, Emons, Risak, Beaudry; SMU: None.

Garden City at Allen Park: The Cougars (2-3) ended a three-game losing streak with their 22-6 victory over the Wayne Memorial Zebras, but it's back to the Mega Red Division this week. Allen Park (4-1) had a four-game winning streak stopped by Monroe, 27-24. PICKS – Allen Park: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Luth. Westland at Clarenceville: All things considered, Lutheran Westland is having a better season than might have been expected. The Warriors snapped a two-game losing streak and are 3-2 overall after beating Lutheran East, 15-0. But a Lutheran Westland winning streak is unlikely since this week's opponent is unbeaten and state-ranked Clarenceville (5-0), the defending Metro Conference champion. PICKS – Clarenceville: O'Meara, Beaudry, Risak, Emons.

SATURDAY GAMES

Detroit Loyola at Borgess, 1 p.m.: These are two teams headed in opposite directions, and that trend will likely continue this week. Enjoying its best season in many years, state-ranked Bishop Borgess is 5-0 while Loyola is 0-5 following a 49-0 loss to Royal Oak Shrine. PICKS – Borgess: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Redford CC vs. U-D at Keyworth Stadium, 7 p.m.: The Cubs aren't the pushover they have been in the past, so the Shamrocks will have to earn what they get. Victory won't come easily. U-D improved to 3-2 by beating DeLaSalle, and CC dropped to 3-2 after losing to Brother Rice, 21-14. The Cubs had the Warriors on the ropes a couple weeks ago, but Rice rallied for a 21-20 win. PICKS – CC: Beaudry, Emons, O'Meara, Risak.

Ecorse vs. St. Agatha at RU's Kraft Field, 7 p.m.: Could it be the Red Raiders (0-4) popped up on the schedule at just the right time for St. Agatha? Ecorse remained winless after taking a 39-8 hit from Toledo Christian, but the Aggies (1-4) haven't been doing so well themselves, losing three in a row. The latest was a 9-6 loss to Holy Redeemer in which the Lions kicked a last-second field goal. PICKS – St. Agatha: O'Meara, Beaudry, Emons, Risak.

Fast start leads Shamrocks to victory over Shamrocks

BY PAUL BEAUDRY
STAFF WRITER
pbeaudry@oe.homecomm.net

FOOTBALL

Redford Catholic Central might want to think again about playing Birmingham Brother Rice in the Boys Bowl.

The Warriors took a 21-7 lead and held off two fourth-quarter scoring opportunities by the Shamrocks to earn a 21-14 win over CC in the annual game Sunday at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

Rice's win brings its winning streak over the Shamrocks to three games and improve the overall record to 4-0 and 2-0 in the Catholic League's Central Division. CC fell to 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the Central.

The Warriors opened the scoring on their first play from scrimmage as Anthony Jackson ran 52 yards for the score with just 1:25 into the game.

CC tied it in the second quarter as Ryan Wrobleski's 17-yard punt return to the Rice 15 led to a 3-yard TD run by Derrick Brooks with 3:51 remaining in the half. The Warriors then came back to drive 71 yards in 11 plays and took a 14-7 lead when Al Gioutsos ran in from the 3 with just 11 seconds left.

The Warriors then went ahead 21-7 in the third quarter with Jackson scoring from 24-yards out. CC came back with a 46-yard punt return by Wrobleski to the Rice 36. On the second play, Tom Jakacki hit Ryan Rogowski with a 40-yard TD to cut the lead to 21-14.

CC had two chances to score in the fourth quarter — getting the ball on both occasions inside the Rice 20. But the Warriors held both times to preserve the win.

"I think our defense did a great job. We stopped them four times down there in that last quarter," said Rice coach Al Fracassa, who owns a 308-90-4 record and is tied with former Saginaw Nouvel Catholic coach Leo 'Smokey' Boyd for most career wins in Michigan. "Our defense really had to come up with some game-saving tackles and plays. It was close all the way. You have to play hard against them every second, and I think we did play hard."

The Shamrocks outgained Rice in total yards, 231-219, with Brooks leading the way on the ground with 76 yards on 18 carries, while Mike Banaszak had 42 yards on nine carries.

Jackson had 126 yards for Rice on 21 carries. Jakacki was 7-for-26 passing for 114 yards, while Doug Pickens was 8-for-22 for 74 yards for Rice. Rogowski had three receptions for 67 yards, while Wrobleski returned five punts for 72 yards.

Brad Jarzembowski had 15 tackles for CC, while Rogowski had 11 and Kevin McKee figured in nine.

Meanwhile, the Warriors can help Fracassa reach the record 309th victory 1 p.m. Saturday in a non-league game against Detroit Country Day on the Yellow Jackets' home field.

In a bit of irony, DCD head coach Dan MacLean, who played for Fracassa in the mid-70s, will attempt to keep his former mentor from reaching that milestone mark this weekend.

Fracassa's 42-year coaching career includes stops at just two schools, Royal Oak Shrine and Rice.

(Staff writer Marty Budner contributed to this report.)

Borgess near qualifying

In the 35-year history of the school and the 26 years that the Michigan High School Athletic Association has held a football playoff system, Redford Bishop Borgess has never qualified for post-season play.

The Spartans closed to within one game of making that happen on Saturday as they stopped Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, 44-7, to improve to 5-0 overall and 2-0 in the C-Section of the Catholic League.

Borgess had stalled on its first two drives, but Lewis's interception led to DeJuan Kea hitting Jason Smith with a 38-yard touchdown pass. Darryl Anglin made the first of his four 2-point conversion runs for an 8-0 lead.

Kea then had a 75-yard scoring run in the first quarter, while Smith had a 37-yard TD run in the second to give the Spartans a 22-0 halftime lead.

A 12-yard scoring pass from Kea to Smith, and Anglin's conversion, made it 30-0, while Anglin followed with a 5-yard scoring run for a 36-0 lead.

TiJuan Lewis closed out the scoring for Borgess thanks to a 45-yard interception return for a touchdown, but the Fighting Irish (1-4, 1-1 C-Section) countered with a late touchdown.

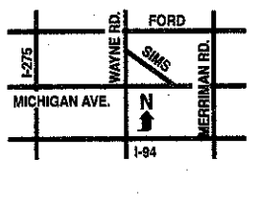

The Spartans racked up 402 yards in total offense. Kea was 11-for-20 passing and rushed for 109 yards on seven carries. Anglin had 105 yards on 15 carries and Jason Smith had five carries for 68 yards and seven receptions for 75 yards.

Crusader trip proves a winner

The performances weren't dominating, but at least Madonna University's men's soccer team did emerge from last weekend's trip to the University of St. Francis in Joliet, Ill., with a pair of victories, making them 4-5.

Considering the Crusaders had just two wins in their first seven games — including one in their last six — that's pretty good.

On Saturday, it took an overtime goal by Patrick Griffin (from Plymouth/Redford Catholic Central) to get Madonna a 2-1 victory over St. Xavier. Griffin's game-winner came three minutes into OT; Jonathon Johnson (Plymouth Canton) assisted.

Madonna had the early lead, on a goal by Mike Healy midway through the first half.

MEN'S SOCCER

Zach Wilkes and P.J. Stranahan assisted.

St. Xavier knotted it with a goal from Ben Koepke 15 minutes into the second half.

Doug Koontz (Plymouth Canton) made 10 saves in goal for the Crusaders; St. Xavier had a 21-14 shot advantage. Enrique Orejel had two saves for St. Xavier.

On Sunday, Madonna got a goal from Casey Cook (Canton/Redford CC) 15 minutes into the second half, and that was enough to carry the Crusaders to a 1-0 triumph over St. Francis.

Matt Strabbing (Canton) made six saves in the net for Madonna.

SC rallies in 2nd half

Schoolcraft College battled back in the second half Saturday against Cuyahoga CC, overturning a 1-0 deficit to post a 3-1 victory at SC.

It was a big win for the Ocelots, who improved to 7-1.

Sampson Worteh's goal tied the match for SC, with Ryan Mallord assisting. The go-ahead and insurance goals both came from Dan Lipon (Livonia Stevenson), with Zoran Golgic assisting on the first and Tom Eller (Stevenson) assisting on the second.

SC's win streak gets stretched to 16 straight

The streak.

That's what the roll Schoolcraft College's volleyball team will be known as. Simply the streak.

Since losing to St. Clair CCC in the final of its invitational Sept. 1, the Lady Ocelots have run off 16-straight victories (including a triumph in Eastern Conference play over St. Clair Sept. 6). On Saturday, they defeated Alpena CC twice and on Tuesday, they knocked off Oakland CC. All three wins came in conference play, lifting SC's record to 8-0; the Ocelots are now 22-2 overall.

VOLLEYBALL

Indeed, they have been so dominating recently, the last time they lost a game was Sept. 15 against Mott. They've won 20-straight since.

At OCC Tuesday, SC won convincingly, 30-12, 30-15, 30-24. Andrea Kmet (from Livonia Franklin) had 11 kills to lead the attack (.474 kill average), with four service aces and five digs.

Katie Drews (Livonia Stevenson) contributed six kills, six aces and five digs; Fran Hamilton had five kills (.357), three aces and seven digs; Kerstin Marshall (Livonia Franklin) and Carly Szajnecki had four kills apiece (.400 each), with Marshall adding two aces.

Kellie Kern collected five aces and 10 set assists, Ioana Vescan finished with 14 set assists and Meghan Mitchell led the team with 12 digs.

Against Alpena Saturday at SC, the Ocelots won 30-15, 30-16, 30-10 and 30-17, 30-20, 30-23.

Amy Kiefer had a big day, collecting 20 kills (.621) in the match. Kmet had 17 kills (.500); Hamilton finished with 12 kills (.611) and seven digs; Drews totaled 12 kills (.625), three aces and nine digs; Vescan had 27 set assists, five aces and six digs; Mitchell got six kills and 12 digs; Desiree Betts (Livonia Ladywood) had seven kills, two aces and 11 digs; Jana Nitschke finished with 38 set assists, five aces and seven digs; and Kern had 19 set assists, three aces and eight kills (.467).

Madonna ambushed

It was a bad trip for Madonna University's women's soccer team.

The Lady Crusaders surrendered two second-half goals in losing 3-2 to McKendree College Friday in Lebanon, Ill., then gave up two first-half markers the following day in a 2-1 loss to Lindenwood University in St. Charles, Mo.

With the two defeats, Madonna fell to 3-4 for the season. Lindenwood remained unbeaten at 7-0; McKendree improved to 5-1 with Friday's win.

In the loss at McKendree Friday, the Crusaders struck first, getting a goal from Sarah Pack (Canton/Westland John Glenn) at the 17:53 mark; Emily Jackson (Farmington Harrison) assisted. McKendree knotted it with a goal by Jamie Dienell with just 11 seconds remaining in the half.

Madonna regained the lead on

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Kelly Delaney's unassisted goal 19:28 into the second half. But the Crusaders didn't keep their advantage long; just 49 seconds later, Dienell scored again to re-tie it at 2-all.

McKendree's game-winner came with 10:43 left to play. Sara Kelemetc scored it, assisted by Jan Delaney.

Jennifer Barker (Livonia Stevenson) was in goal for Madonna; she made four saves. Shannon Roth had four saves in goal for McKendree.

Against Lindenwood Saturday, Madonna gave up first-half goals to Marijke Callebaut and Inge Heiremans. The Crusaders narrowed the deficit to one with a second-half goal from Jamie Scott (Livonia Churchill), but they could not get the equalizer.

Suder, a sophomore, also had six ace serves.

"Amanda did a fabulous job hitting to the spots," Abraham said. "And our defense was excellent. (Denise) Gallagher, Hemme and Suder were all outstanding and did a solid job."

Meanwhile, MU setter Jennie Wind racked up 35 assists.

"Jen set smart, she set a strategic game," Abraham said. "She caused problems for them because she moved the ball nicely across the net."

Cornerstone got a team-high 12 kills from freshman Erin Bailey. Sophomore Tracy Paterson had nine.

The Golden Eagles' top hitter, Karen Ennis, was forced to play the setter position because of an injury to starter Jennifer Graves. Cornerstone was also missing defensive specialist Rachel Conklin.

"Except for number three (Paterson), we held them in check," Abraham said. "We did three things well tonight — we served well, we received well and we hit the ball from antenna to antenna.

"This is the first time all year we've been able to hit on all cylinders without any lulls or momentum breakers.

"We arose to the occasion because we knew we had to play well at home."

FOOTBALL

Back on track

Steelers' varsity, JV post victories

Steelers take 2 of 3

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers varsity Junior Football League squad improved to 2-1 with a 20-0 defeat of the Redford Rangers Sunday.

Quarterback Shawn Little scored on runs of 25 and 12 yards and threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Harrison. Brian Leighton and Phaltiel Whitlock intercepted passes to lead the Steelers' defense. Kevin Bradley, Anton Furman, Jagger Donaldson and Matt Stott also had outstanding games, and Romeo Young kicked an extra point for the Steelers.

The Steeler junior varsity also got a victory, defeating the Rangers' JV 22-6. Redford scored first, but it was all Steelers after that with quarterback Adam Powers contributing a touchdown on offense and interception on defense. Deshon McClendon took a pitch and threw a pass to Dalton Walser for another Steeler TD; McClendon also kicked two extra points for the Steelers.

Devin Murphy intercepted a Ranger lateral pass to stop a drive late in the game and also scored on a 1-yard run, and Spencer Tobin recovered an onside kick. Paul Kanaan and Alex Avramoski led the defense as the Steeler JV improved to 2-1.

The Steelers' freshmen record dropped to 1-2 with a 26-0 loss to the Rangers. Redford scored on their opening drive and never looked back. Top players for the Steelers were Todd Turfe, Christopher Mann, Tyler Rusin, Malik Rich, Nathan Hickel and Daniel Norris.

The Steelers tackle the Farmington Rockets at noon Sunday at Farmington Harrison HS.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Lions varsity wins

The Canton Lions edged the Westland Metors 8-6 Sunday in a very close, well-played game that was decided by Colin Toth's second-quarter touchdown for the Lions and Kevin Minor's two-point conversion kick.

The Meteors scored in the third quarter but couldn't get the conversion, which proved to be the difference in the game.

Lions' JV stumbles

The Canton Lions junior varsity football team lost 6-0 to the Westland Meteors Sunday afternoon, dropping their season record to 1-2. The Meteors scored the game's only touchdown on the final play of the game — a 60-yard hook-and-lateral.

With the game scoreless and just over five minutes left to play, Lion running back Vernon Stewart connected with Erik Wright on a 45-yard halfback-pass play that put the ball on the Meteors' 15, but Westland's defense stiffened.

Defensively, the Lions were led by John West, Chris Fischer, Brett Fennelly and Nick Dunleavy.

Good Counsel still perfect

Our Lady of Good Counsel's varsity football team improved its record to 5- 0 with a 38-7 victory Sunday over Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows. Good Counsel grabbed a 24-0 first-quarter lead and rolled from there.

Andy Rossow led the offensive attack, scoring on runs of 16 and 4 yards. Matt Sweda and Matt Lyon also rushed for touchdowns and Steve Paye completed a 16-yard pass to Kyle Gendron for another score. Colin O'Shaughnessy converted the extra points. The varsity Crusaders have clinched at least a tie for the league championship.

The Crusaders junior varsity also remained undefeated, defeating Our Lady of Sorrows 22-0. Quarterback Ben Vaughn scored one TD and Ryan Houska returned a punt for another. Andrew Donatto and Peter Nolan keyed the defense with interceptions. The JV Crusaders have also earned at least a tie for the league championship.

In other Good Counsel action, the JV Yellow Division team lost 27-0 to St. Benedict of Highland Park, evening its record at 2-2. The fourth grade freshmen beat St. Edith, 18-7 on two touchdown runs by Alex Aliardi and another by Paul Napolitano. The undefeated third grade Crusaders were rained out.

Twisters subdue Rage

LAKESHORE

The Michigan Twisters retained their spot as the top team in the Lakeshore Football League's Northern Division with a 17-13 win over the Battle Creek Rage Saturday at Battle Creek's Southeastern HS.

The Twisters improved to 7-1 with the victory.

A 39-yard field goal by Chuck Petitpas (from Livonia) gave the Twisters a 3-0 first-period lead, but it didn't last. Early in the second period, Rage quarterback Tim Kubiak connected with Eric Garner on an 84-yard touchdown pass, making it 7-3.

Five minutes later the Twisters replied with the Jason Gibson drive. After Donti Hamilton returned the ensuing kickoff 24 yards to their 43-yard-line, Gibson carried the ball five consecutive times, gaining 17, 20, 3, 16 and 1 yards — the last for the touchdown and a 10-7 Twister lead.

Gibson finished the game with 104 rushing yards on 19 carries and three pass receptions.

The Twisters increased their lead to 17-7 on a 23-yard Rob Elswick-to-Reggie Brandon (Wayne) pass play midway through the third period. Kubiak's 42-yard TD toss to Don Lonsway pulled the Rage to within 17-13 as the third quarter ended (Aaron Brothers (Canton) blocked the extra-point attempt), which is where it stayed.

The Rage's final scoring opportunity ended when Deon Perry intercepted a Kubiak pass in the end zone in the final minute of the game. It was Perry's second pickoff of the contest.

Although Kubiak did burn the Twisters' secondary for two long touchdowns, he managed to complete just 11-of-43 passes for 266 yards.

Other offensive leaders for the Twisters were Donti Hamilton with four receptions for 59 yards and Frank Niscoromni (Farmington) with three catches for 47 yards.

The Twisters finish their regular season with home games against the Motor City Cougars at 7 p.m. Saturday and the Michigan Rattlers at 7 p.m. Oct. 6. Both games will be at Willow Run HS.

S'field. Christian 43, PCA 31: Plymouth Christian Academy started badly and never got on track in its Michigan Independent Athletic Conference game at Southfield Christian Tuesday.

"We came out flat and pretty much stayed that way until the fourth quarter," said PCA coach Annie Malcolm. "We played pretty well Friday night at Oakland Christian.

"I was disappointed with the effort. Hopefully we can bounce back Friday against (Canton) Agape."

The Eagles, who slipped to 2-5 overall and 0-2 in the MIAC, trailed 11-6 after one quarter and 26-12 at the half. Southfield Christian's advantage grew to 35-18 after three quarters.

Melanie Brady's eight points was best for PCA; all of them came in the second half. Amy Brandt contributed seven.

Leanne Long led Southfield Christian (4-4 overall, 2-0 in the MIAC) with 14 points; Joy Janigian added 13.

Agape 62, Ypsi Calvary Christian 11: Amy Henry scored 24 points Monday night, including 6-for-9 shooting from beyond the three-point line, to lead the Wolverines past Ypsilanti Calvary Christian.

Agape improved to 7-1 overall. Ypsilanti Calvary Christian is now 5-2.

Lisa Ther added 12 points as Agape raced to a 49-6 halftime lead.

Flint Northern 53, Canton 36: Last Thursday at Flint Northern, Plymouth Canton made a game of it — for three quarters anyway.

But the Vikings pulled away with a 22-9 closing quarter to win going away.

"This team is good," said Canton coach Bob Blohm of Northern. "They're very athletic, they have size and they have speed. The score is not really indicative of the way we played. I was happy we hung with them on the glass."

Canton led 20-18 at the half, but Northern had gained the lead in the third quarter and, with time ticking away in the period, was ahead 28-27 when Shalana Taylor nailed a three-pointer to make it 31-27. It was Taylor's only basket of the game.

"That kind of carried over into the fourth quarter," said Blohm. "And we were getting fatigued."

Canton got nine points from Katie Cezat, eight from Jessica Johnson and six from Briana Wolcott. Northern, which improved to 4-3 with the win, was led by Shawanna Stubblefield with 22 points (10 in the fourth quarter) and Siquager Bradshaw with 10 (eight in the fourth).

days (as a Yankee), you'd have to bring it up.

"But he was one of the funniest guys I ever met."

A native New Yorker, Stafford came up with the Yanks as a 21-year-old righthander in 1960 and pitched six innings in the World Series, allowing one run (a 1.50 earned run average) on five hits and one walk, striking out two as they lost in seven games to the Pirates.

In 1961, Stafford went 14-9 for the American League champs, pitching 195 innings with a 2.68 earned run average — which ranked second in the American League. He pitched 6 2/3 innings in the World Series, allowing two runs on seven hits with five strikeouts as the Yanks beat Cincinnati in five games.

One of Stafford's best-remembered moments came during that season: He was the winning pitcher in the game that Roger Maris hit his record-breaking 61st home run.

In '62 Stafford again went 14-9, working 213 innings with a 3.67 ERA. He got his only World Series pitching win in Game Three, beating the San Francisco Giants 3-2 after enduring a Felipe Alou line drive off his shin in the eighth inning. Stafford had been tossing a shutout until then; he still finished the game, tossing a four-hitter with two walks and five strikeouts.

The Yanks beat the Giants in seven games.

In his first start of the '63 season, Stafford hurt his arm and was never the same again. He pitched off-and-on through 1967 with the Yanks, finishing his pro career with a 43-40 record, pitching 786 innings with a 3.52 ERA.

"I met him in 1988 on the stairway at East Middle School," recalled LaPointe. "Michael was going to school there and was one of the better athletes. Bill approached me and introduced himself.

"He was invited by Fred Crissey to come and work with the pitchers. He took over complete control of the pitching staff. Bill was just outstanding. The kids absolutely loved him."

Dickey agreed. "Everybody loved the guy," he said. "He had a great personality. It was fun just watching him come walking down (the path at Canton's field) with his Yankees' hat on.

"The thing of his I loved most was this picture of him in a Brooklyn Dodgers' uniform. He threw batting practice for them when he was in high school."

A fitting legacy.

Jarrett was assisted by James Wisniewski (from Canton) and John Mitchell.

Owen Sound scored the game's final goal at the 11:40 mark of the third period when Kyle McAllister scored on a rebound shot.

Plymouth outshot Owen Sound 33-27.

The Whalers killed six of eight Attack power-play opportunities (75 percent success rate) and scored on two of their five man-advantage chances.

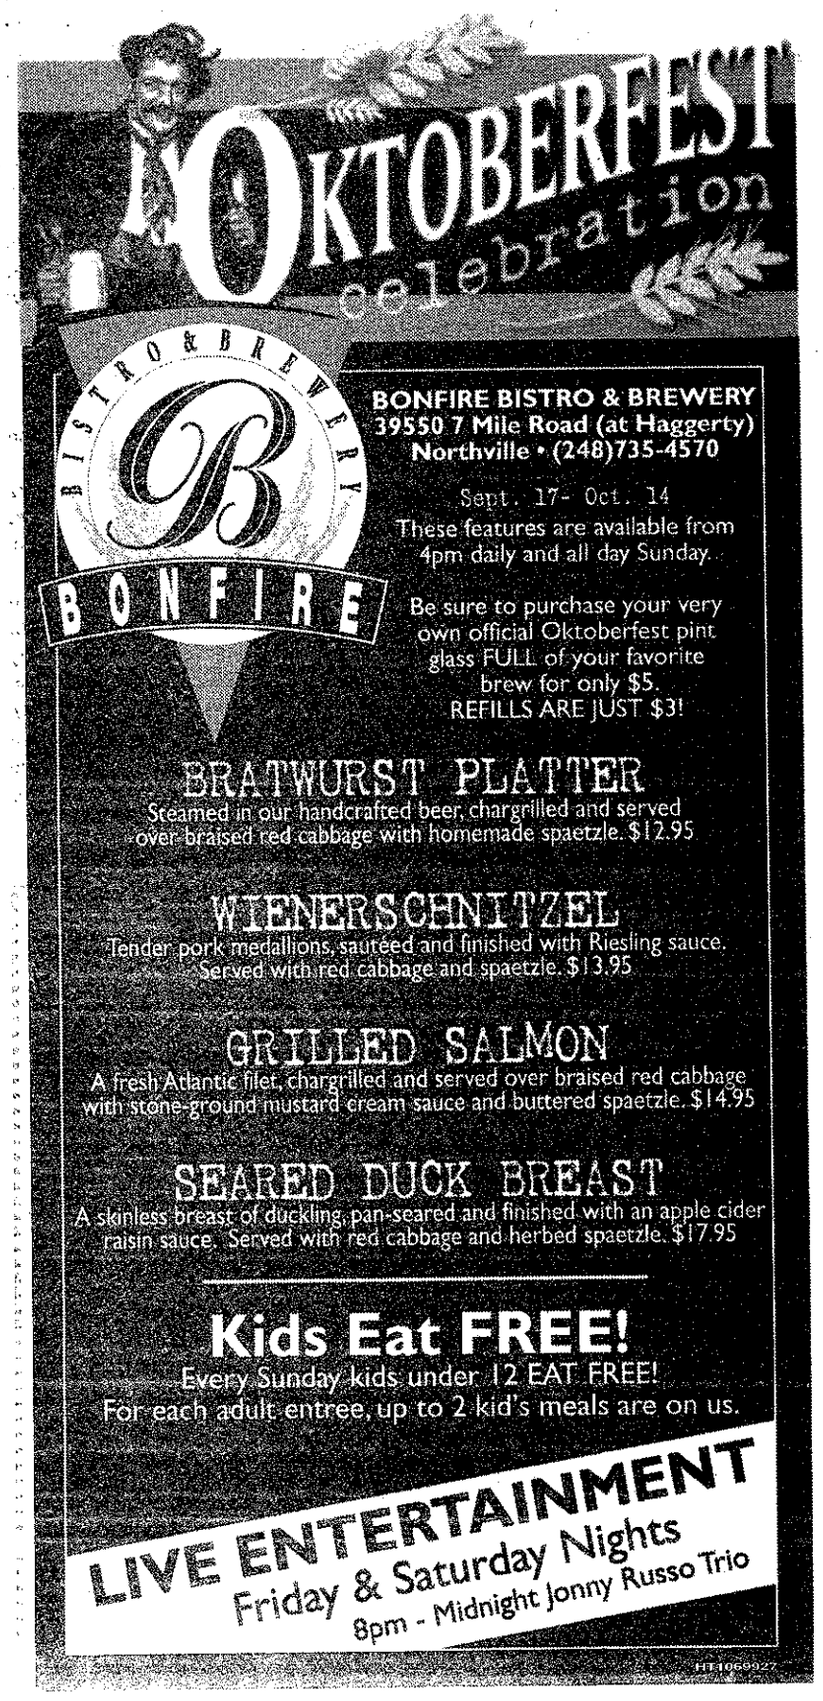

Brampton 2, Plymouth 1: A power outage proved costly for the Whalers Sunday afternoon in Brampton.

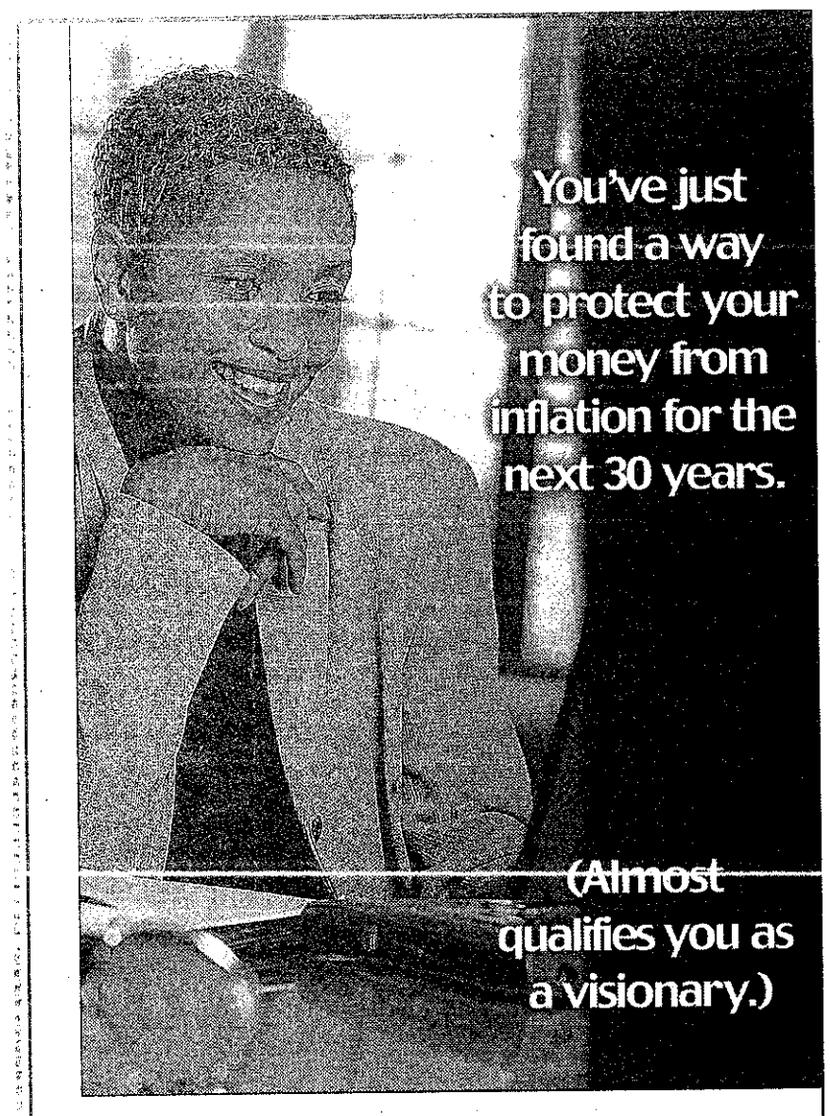

The Battalion battled back from a 1-0 deficit to edge Plymouth, which was 0-for-9 on the power play in the game.

The Whalers took the lead when George Nistas intercepted a Battalion pass at mid-ice and got Mike Smith and Tim Sestito loose on a 2-on-1 break. Smith's pass to Sestito for a flip shot beat Brampton goalie Brad Topping and Plymouth had a 1-0 lead 7:25 into the second period.

The Battalion regained the momentum by scoring twice in a span of 1:06 of the second. Jonah Leroux tied it at 14:22 on a play that began with a takeaway by Paul Flache. Flache got it to Chris Clayton and he fed Leroux for the tying goal.

Adam Henrich netted the game-winner at 15:28, knocking in Jay McClement's rebound.

Mercy shocks Ladywood, 57-46

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER
domeara@oe.homecomm.net

A young Farmington Hills Mercy basketball team needed a big win to prove to itself and others it can compete with the best.

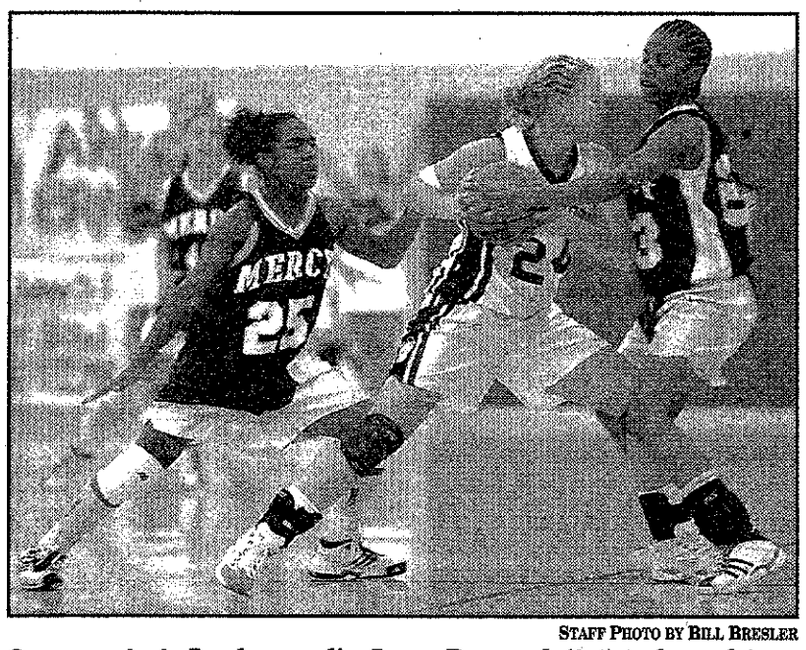

The Marlins achieved exactly that Tuesday night when they upset Catholic League rival and perennial power Livonia Ladywood, 57-46.

"Tonight it all came together and we just played great basketball," Mercy coach Kristin Wright-Guinn said. "I'm happy for the players, because they've worked so hard and it finally happened.

"This is my third year coaching at Mercy, and people were saying it's the first time Mercy has beaten Ladywood in four years."

It was the first loss in three Central Division games for the Blazers, who are 6-3 overall. The host Marlins, who start four juniors, are 1-2 and 5-3.

"Mercy wanted it more," Ladywood coach Andrea Gorski said. "They played hard and aggressive, and we didn't have an answer.

Surrounded: Ladywood's Jana Beumel (24) is boxed in by Mercy's Alex Marshall (25) and Deidre Jones.

"They shot the ball well and they had even scoring. They were well prepared; they outhustled us."

Mercy outscored Ladywood in the second quarter, 19-12, and led at halftime, 29-21. The Marlins increased their lead to 46-31 after three periods before the Blazers narrowed the gap by four in the last quarter.

"The girls came out fired up," Wright-Guinn said. "We had a great shooting percentage tonight. We had such great confidence. The girls just came to play. We were up early and kept it going for the rest of the game."

Deidre Jones scored 12 points and had nine rebounds to lead Mercy, which was 13-of-24 shooting free throws.

Barb Maczka and Alexandria Marshall tossed in 10 points apiece and Whitney Johnson seven. Maczka also had six rebounds and four assists, Marshall three steals.

"Alex Marshall got us going," Wright-Guinn said. "She was driving to the basket and the shots were going in. The team carried it on through.

"They're gaining their confidence. They're great athletes; they were just lacking confidence. Now they've gained it."

Ladywood's leading scorer was Ruth Sventickas with 14 points. Six-foot center Liz Obrecht added 12 and Lauren Hesano eight. The Blazers made 10 of 16 free throws.

"Early in the fourth, Ladywood hit a couple shots and gained a little momentum," Wright-Guinn said. "They tried to go inside to the big girl. We were just able to withstand that.

"Tessa Kuykendall and Megan Garagiola stepped up and played good defense against her and made it difficult for her to score."

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION
MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2001
VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS – COUNTIES OF WAYNE AND WASHTENAW, MICHIGAN

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election will be held in Van Buren Public Schools, Counties of Wayne and Washtenaw, Michigan, on Monday, October 1, 2001, between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. prevailing Eastern Time.

The following proposal will be submitted to the electors at the election on Monday, October 1, 2001:

NON-HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION

This millage will renew the District's levy of operating millage, which expires with the 2001 levy, as reduced by statute to the rate of 17.8884 mills ($0.178884 on each $1,000 of taxable value) against non-homestead property and restore the District's statutorily reduced operating millage to 18 mills by 0.1116 mills ($0.1116 on each $1,000 of taxable value) such that the District may continue to levy not more than the statutory maximum of 18 mills against non-homestead property required for the school district to receive its revenue per pupil foundation guarantee.

Shall the millage previously approved by the electors as an assessment against all property in Van Buren Public Schools, Counties of Wayne and Washtenaw, except homestead property and qualified agricultural property as defined by law, as statutorily reduced to 17.8884 mills ($0.178884 on each $1,000 of taxable value) be continued for five (5) years, 2002 to 2006, inclusive, and be increased by 0.1116 mills ($0.1116 on each $1,000 of taxable value) for a period of five (5) years, 2002 through 2006, inclusive, to provide in part the funds to operate and maintain the school system? This is a renewal of the school's operating millage and a restoration of the Headlee Reduction for 2002 through 2006 inclusive. It is estimated that the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 2002 calendar year shall be approximately $10,452,000 from the local taxes authorized in this proposal.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the following statements have been received from the County Treasurers of the Counties of Wayne and Washtenaw as to previously voted increases in the constitutional tax rate limitation affecting taxable property in the School District, to wit:

Buy your own fire insurance

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

My lease does not provide for either the landlord or the tenant to carry fire insurance. Recently, the landlord failed to renew the insurance when he extended the lease, but he does have a provision in the lease that provides that the tenant is to preserve the premises. Do I need fire insurance?

Despite the landlord's failure to renew the insurance, he can still sue you in case of fire you caused. The careful thing to do, of course, is to ensure that you have adequate insurance at all times to cover your potential liabilities.

A number of years ago I visited an island near Charleston named after an Indian. It was beautiful and becoming developed. Do you have any information about that?

You are, no doubt, thinking of Kiawah Island, which is 20 miles from Charleston, S.C. The island is dotted with cottages, villas and private homes. The typical price of a home is $1.35 million.

The average price of the cottages is $425,000 and the villas approximately $400,000.

The island is privately owned and is settled with golf courses, streams and oceanfront property. I am advised that their resort plans a new five-star inn and already has a shopping and hotel center. It has been an extremely popular development where prices have continued to escalate and is very beautiful.

Realtor Follies

RANDAL MASTERS/STAFF ARTIST

Real estate isn't always a cut-and-dried business.

Things happen out in the field – bizarre, funny, embarrassing and sometimes dangerous things.

Welcome to our most recent installment of Realtor Follies. Take a look as professionals deliciously describe in delightful detail the wild, wacky world of real estate sales. Truth, indeed, can be stranger than fiction.

So take it away:

■ Barbara Magnus Small, Coldwell Banker Schweitzer, Birmingham, 18-year veteran.

"I can remember when I was a brand new agent and met a client who said, 'I'll give you a chance. You can sell my investment property and if you do a good job, you can sell my house.'

"I asked for the address and said, 'I know where it is.' I didn't. It was one of those streets that started in one town, then stopped, then picked up in another. The house was on a cul-de-sac off a service road off an interstate highway.

"I was so embarrassed. I called him and said, 'Sorry, I can't find it.' He just laughed."

Small got the last laugh, though. She sold the investment property in three days, then later the client's regular home.

■ Rebecca E. Williamson, RE/MAX 100, Commerce, 15-year veteran.

"I think my most unusual experience was I almost sold a house that wasn't for sale. I was very new in the business.

"I showed the house. The address was off Newton Road. There were a lot of little streets on clu-de-sacs, Newton Place Drive, Newton Place Court, all with six to eight houses.

"The address was right. There was no lock box on the door. No one was home, but the door was open so we went in. They (would-be buyers) loved it, wanted to buy it, but they wanted to talk it over a little bit. I left my card on the table."

"Later that evening, a gentleman called me and said my card was on his table. I told him the good news was people liked his house. He said his house wasn't for sale.

"He said the house for sale was on the next court, said he got the wrong mail all the time. I said, 'O my gosh.'"

To finalize the story, the buyers decided to pass on both the wrong house and the right house for sale on the next street after seeing it.

■ Craig Lescoe, associate broker, RE/MAX Hometeam, Westland, eight-year veteran.

"I knocked on the door, used the lock box. It was early in the morning, Saturday or Sunday, about 10 o'clock. There was a couple on the couch, basically naked, right there in front of us. They weren't sleeping. They were very active.

"They were caught up in the moment, I think. I was showing two brothers. We were in the house 10 seconds. We walked in, froze, looked at each other, laughed, then left, kind of closed the door behind us."

Lescoe presumes the couple were the sellers, but never found out for sure. No sale, in any event.

"I was kind of curious if the other agent would call back for feedback," Lescoe said. "Never did. I was kind of thinking of how I would explain why I didn't show the house."

■ John Robert, Remerica Hometown One, Plymouth, 15-year veteran.

"It was straight from the movie, American Beauty. I had a house listed. These were good friends of mine. We were having a terrible time selling the property. I thought it was priced right, in good condition, nice value.

"I went to do an open house one day and thought the position of the furniture in the family room was awkward. So I rearranged my friends' furniture to make the room larger, user-friendly.

"It may have had nothing to do with the furniture, but we sold the house three days later.

"I wouldn't recommend going to a client's house and re-arranging furniture without permission. But these were friends of mine. They came home, saw it, loved it and we sold the house in the next few days," Robert said.

■ Wanda Nash, Century 21 Executives, Clarkston, seven-year veteran.

"The seller got upset with the inspector and threw everyone out of the house in his underwear. He was upset because the inspector found what he thought was carbon monoxide.

"Mr. Seller thought the whole process took too long. I was his agent. He kicked the buyer out, the inspector out, me out."

That deal, not surprisingly, fell apart. Ironically, the reading for carbon monoxide was a false positive

"He (seller) came back to us three days later and wanted us to sell his house," Nash said.

"My broker asked me what I thought. Initially, I said I would rather have all my teeth pulled without novocaine. I wasn't going to do it. But then I said as long as she (broker) would handle him. I would handle the marketing of the house."

Nash eventually found another buyer.

■ Wendy Patton, broker/ owner, Millennium Realty, Oxford, 15-year veteran.

Rate cut issues 'call to ARMs'

MORTGAGE BITS

TIM 'TIMBO' PHILLIPS

In the wake of the horrendous attacks on our country early last week, Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan took several important actions to ensure our teetering economy would not slip further into a hole. He immediately dropped the prime rate by a half-percent. Though the Fed's interest rate reductions do not immediately affect mortgage interest rates, it finally looks like we are seeing some downward movement at the wholesale level.

Though many lenders have not dropped their long-term mortgage rates significantly, most have rolled out a smorgasbord of delectable adjustable-rate mortgages certain to please even the most discerning palettes. Even borrowers who have shied away from ARMs in the past must take a second look at them now.

Some ARMs can beat regular 30-year fixed-rate mortgage rates by well over 1 percent. If you were to buy a home knowing that you were going to live there just four or five years, why would you even think of taking out a 30-year fixed-rate mortgage when you could use a five-year ARM? By doing so, you would get a 30-year mortgage that spends its first five years at a reduced fixed-rate then adjusts annually thereafter. This simple move may save you $3,500 of interest on an $180,000 mortgage over those five years.

Some homeowners with very large mortgages opt to remain in the fixed-rate portion of an ARM indefinitely because the huge savings on interest more than covers the costs of their periodic refinances. Generally, the shorter the term of their ARM, the deeper the "discounted" introductory interest rate, and the more significant the savings.

One of the best "great deals" in the mortgage industry right now is the FHA's adjustable-rate mortgage. With starting rates now below 6 percent and with the ability to convert to a fixed-rate FHA mortgage in the future using their "streamlined refinance" guidelines, homebuyers of all ages are starting with FHA adjustable-rate loans to reduce the overall cost of home ownership.

Mortgage market is doing fine

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

While stock markets have taken a big hit since terrorist attacks Sept. 11, the mortgage market here has remained remarkably stable.

"Let's put it this way – money is cheap now even with terrorist activity," said Jeffrey Jannett, vice president of sales for Shore Mortgage headquartered in Birmingham.

"People are pulling money from the stock market into the bond market. That lowers interest rates on bonds, which is what mortgage interest rates are tied to." Jannett said.

And even better things are forecast by some lending professionals for folks now considering a home buy or refinancing.

"Once it settles down, ultimately, I think they'll see lower rates, and that will result in lower mortgage payments," said Kirk Van Horn, president of the Michigan Mortgage Brokers Association.

Republic Bank offered a 30-year fixed rate mortgage of 7 percent the day before the terrorist attack, 6-3/4 percent 10 days later, said Daniel Smith, senior vice president in the Plymouth office.

Interest rates – and mortgage rates – tend to rise with inflationary pressures during good times when people spend money and sales boom, Smith said.

Like any other investment, it's extremely difficult – if not impossible – to exactly time mortgage rate lows and highs, said Allan D. Daniels, president of AA Mortgage in Bloomfield Hills.

His recommendation – act now if you're confident about your job prospects and ability to make payments.

"Historically, we're at a time of low interest rates," Daniels said. "Unfortunately, we don't have a crystal ball. There are programs where people can refinance again if rates go down substantially."

Good interest rates aren't the only reason to look at buying now, Jannett said.

"From the real estate community we've heard that a lot of houses are on the market sitting longer. People may be willing to reduce their price to sell," he said.

Attractive rates also make this a good time to think about consolidating debt with a refinancing, Smith said. "Everyone in the world should be refinancing."

Where owners previously refinanced primarily to reduce payments and have cash to spend or to build equity quicker, the most recent round has been to consolidate debt, he said.

"They don't have the bonus money, stock options are gone, overtime is gone," Smith said.

Jannett expects the mortgage industry to remain strong.

"We're pretty much recession-resistant. When the housing market tends to soften, we pick up with refinancings. When times are good, people buy houses."

"There's plenty of mortgage money out there," Smith added.

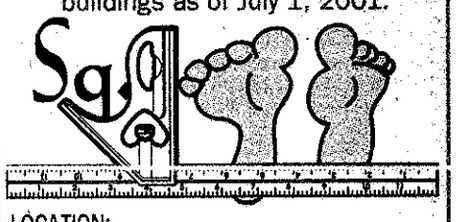

Most American have run the emotional gamut over the last couple of weeks.

"One thing about the attack made us realize what we cherish," Van Horn said. "Home ownership is still the American Dream."

"We're at an all-time high for ownership, the last census indicated," Daniels added.

agement. We had a couple move into a home and neighbors told them someone let loose a boa constrictor in there.

"We called every snake expert in the area. We had people open walls. We had glueboards down, experts crawling in the attic. We never did find anything.

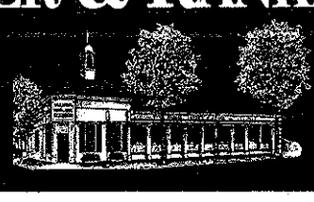

"After a couple weeks, they just moved out, broke the lease. We let them go. They got scared."

Patton said she contacted a previous tenant who admitted to having snakes, but denied leaving any behind. But neighbors were told otherwise, she said.

"We had three or four tenants since him and no one saw anything," Patton said.

Millennium eventually sold the house, she said. "On the disclosure statement where it said infestations, we said none confirmed."

Mortgage rates set new lows for year

Mortgage rates around the country declined this week with rates on 30-year and 15-year mortgages dropping to their lowest levels this year.

The average interest rate on 30-year fixed-rate mortgages fell to 6.80 percent, down from 6.86 percent last week, according to the nationwide survey released by Freddie Mac, the mortgage company.

It marked the sixth week in a row that 30-year mortgages have been under 7 percent. This week's mark surpassed the record low for the year of 6.96 percent which had been set in March and marked the lowest level for 30-year mortgages since they averaged 6.77 percent the week of Feb. 12, 1999.

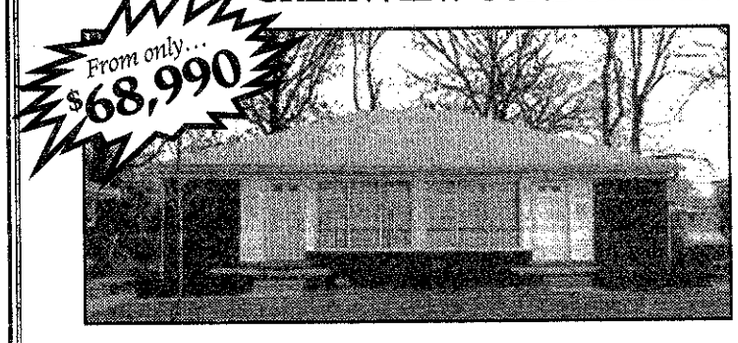

Fifteen-year mortgages, a popular option for refinancing, dipped to 6.30 percent this week, compared with 6.39 percent the previous week, and the lowest level since Oct. 2, 1998.

A year ago, rates for 30-year mortgages averaged 7.90 percent and rates for 15-year mortgages averaged 7.57 percent.

On one-year adjustable-rate mortgages, lenders were asking an average initial rate of 5.58 percent, down from 5.62 percent the previous week. Last year at this time, ARMs stood at 7.27 percent.

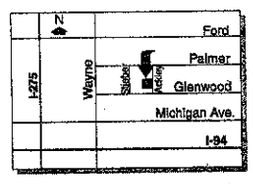

These rates do not include add-on fees known as points, which averaged around 1 percent of the loan amount for all three types of mortgages.

Signature Associates-ONCOR International, has been awarded leasing rights for two projects – the State Street Business Park, a 53,000-square-foot office/ research building in Ann Arbor, and Danou Technical Park, a 250,000-square-foot high-tech facility in Allen Park.

Signature-ONCOR is a commercial real estate firm in Southfield.

RE/MAX Classic, owned by Noel and Lee Bittinger, a wife-husband team, has merged with RE/MAX Executive Properties, owned by spouses Carol and Raphael Boji.

All four offices – in Livonia, Canton, Farmington Hills and West Bloomfield – will remain open and be known as RE/MAX Classic. All four principals will continue as co-owners.

More than 100 Realtors are affected.

The paperwork for the merger was completed last December, but the actual transformation continues, Lee Bittinger said.

"Obviously when you merge, a lot of things have to be taken care of," he said. "The merge isn't totally accomplished yet. We're still in process of changing functions."

Noel Bittinger will switch gears from management to residential sales, and Raphael Boji will concentrate on his building business, Lee Bittinger said.

"The main purpose is to have Carol and myself focus on what we do best," Lee Bittinger said.

"Carol is great on office operations ... and also great on the financial end," he added. "I'm great at recruiting and training agents and putting in marketing systems to help agents better serve their clients."

Lee Bittinger and Carol Boji have 18 years experience each in the real estate business.

Last year, the four offices combined recorded just over 1,900 closings with an aggregate value of $336 million, Lee Bittinger said.

Helpful Hints:

For the best results when writing your classified ad, put yourself in the readers/buyers shoes. Describe the items for sale or job opening by including details that would attract your friends. Avoid abbreviations. Include a phone number and best times to call. Include price/salary range, and benefits. Include an e-mail address if possible, because your ad also appears on our internet site. Use key wording for easy searching and reading. List age, brand, style and condition of items. Don't be afraid to ask our friendly, professional staff for help. Remember you want results, so the more you tell and the more people your ad reaches, the more responses you will receive. Call us today, we can help you!

YOU could be a WINNER!

We will put the name of everyone* placing an ad for a garage, yard, or porch sale into a drawing for a $50 gift card at Meijer!

There'll be a winner every week through September! Not only will you earn money from your sale, you'll have a chance to win our Meijer gift card give-away.

So now is the time to grab a pencil and make a list of all the things you want to sell.

Place your ad for as low as $17.70 and who knows?—you could be one of our weekly winners!
