Young pianist happy to be home again

It's not that Sanjay Mody doesn't love Paris. Who wouldn't enjoy going to the Louvre or attending concerts whenever you feel like it? Culture is everywhere but after nearly a year away from his Birmingham home, the young pianist longs to spend time with his friends.

Mody is eager to tell them all about his adventures. He has plenty of stories about preparing for the entrance exam to the Paris National Superior Conservatory of Music after studying since June with graduate-level piano professor Marie-Francoise Bucquet. In March, Mody passed with flying colors, placing first among 200 applicants.

The 15-year-old returned to Birmingham at the beginning of April for a four-week stay. He's wasting no time reacquainting himself with students at the Roeper School in Birmingham and Schoolcraft College in Livonia where he studied piano from the age of 9 with Donald Morelock. Before leaving, Mody will perform a Chopin concerto with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, April 27.

"I'm sad about returning," said Mody. "I really miss everyone. You can get over a lot of things but that's really hard. I don't really speak French well. All my classes will be in French starting in September but I'm not worried. Music is an international language and my piano instructors speak English very well.

"I just wish I had all my friends here over there. They've asked me if I regretted moving. I said, 'no because I'm going to get to visit more.'"

Traveling has become a way of life for Mody who for the past six summers has studied in Russia though a piano institute organized by Schoolcraft College. In fact, Mody won first place in the International Shostakovich Competition, an educational element of the institute, in St. Petersburg in 2001.

"Paris, musically speaking, is very different from Russia," said Mody. "There are so many different

Festival director

"What would have happened if Hitler had won the war?" David Magidson throws out the premise of It Happened Here, an underground classic in the fourth annual Lenore Marwil Jewish Film Festival presented by the Jewish Community Center April 28 to May 8.

It's half past nine on a Tuesday morning and Magidson, between bites of breakfast, wonders as film director Kevin Brownlow did, what the fate of Jews would have been in England where the movie takes place. He pauses to reflect.

As festival director, Magidson and a committee, spent hundreds of hours reviewing more than 100 films for the thought-provoking content found in Brownlow's film that took six years to make in the late 1950s and early 1960s. Brownlow allows British fascists to share their views of the Jews, sounding warning bells nearly two decades after World War II.

Of the 25 films showing at theaters in Birmingham, Commerce Township and Ann Arbor, the majority deal with historical events and the struggles of Jewish people in Europe and the U.S.

Magidson begins to list the highlights of the festival – One of the Hollywood Ten stars Jeff Goldblum as Herbert Biberman in a fictionalized feature about the period in American artistic/political history when writers were blacklisted.

"These are well-made movies about important issues. I don't think there's a bad movie in the bunch," said Magidson, a Bloomfield Township resident. "It's difficult to find 25 movies for general entertainment let alone to find 25 good Jewish movies."

Guest speakers

Not content to send audiences home thinking about what they've seen, the film festival committee has invited guest speakers such as U.S. Rep. Barney Frank (D-Mass.) who brings contemporary issues such as homosexuality to the forefront. Frank will answer questions after showings of Let's Get Frank, a film currently in production and featuring him as one of the openly gay politicians who are Jewish, and The Times of Harvey Milk, an Oscar winning documentary. The film chronicles the life and murder of Milk, a San Francisco supervisor who was gay and Jewish, and Mayor George Moscone of San Francisco. Filmmaker Bart Everly will lead the discussion along with Frank.

Producer/director Monique Schwarz is traveling from Australia to talk about Mamadrama a documentary that challenges the way Jewish mothers are portrayed in film. The film disperses negative stereotypes of Jewish mothers as controlling, manipulative and guilt inducing.

Magidson expects movies like these to draw even larger crowds than last year. In anticipation of the demand to see In Search of Peace Part One: 1948-1967 and other films in the festival, the committee expanded the number of venues from one to three. In Search of Peace brings the history of the founding and defending of Israel to life. Narrated by Michael Douglas, the film is a timely documentary in light of the current conflict in the Middle East.

The Power of Good: Nicholas Winton is sure to attract hundreds of viewers as well. The documentary about an Englishman, who saved 679

Connie Lucas projected her dreams of a far-off land onto canvas, then found herself in a dream-come-true, winning the Farmington Artists Club's Spring 2002 juried exhibition.

Held April 10 in conjunction with the Farmington Artists Council at the William B. Costick Center in Farmington Hills, the event drew 259 entries from artists from all over the metropolitan area. Veteran artist Jim Pujdowski spent 90 minutes and used a life-time of experience to judge the show.

He named Lucas' I dream of Africa Best of Show. Other awards went to Regina Dunne-2nd place (Western Dreamer/pastel), Julia McGrath-3rd place (Glory Be/watercolor), Martha Barnes-4th place (Wildflowers/acrylic) and Jim Patterson-Grumbacher Award for best use of color (Cathedral Shadows/watercolor).

"You look for honesty first of all," Pujdowski said after awarding the top prizes, "somebody true to their craft, whatever their medium."

Lucas, a Canton resident, used watercolor to combine elements of reality and fantasy in a bright array.

Seventies musical returns with a message of hope

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

The Meadow Brook Theatre stage is deserted as if waiting for the lively musical Godspell to bring it to life on opening night Saturday, April 27. It's lunchtime and one of the crews is taking a break from laying the floor, the first step in setting the scene. They've been working around the clock since Cat on a Hot Tin Roof closed on April 14.

Debra Wicks isn't worried about it coming together for previews Thursday-Friday, April 25-26. This is her second time directing the musical after acting in it four times. She knows Stephen Schwartz's music and lyrics. In fact, she'd probably still be performing in the John-Michael Tebelak musical if not for the realization that this is a show for young actors. The last time Wicks acted in the play was in a 1985 summer stock production in Missouri where she was working as a freelance actress.

"I got down in one of the dance positions and couldn't get up," said Wicks, who also serves as Meadow Brook Theatre's interim artistic director. Wicks hesitates to say how old she is but has spent the last 28 years acting and directing professionally and teaching at universities.

Meadow Brook Theatre

What: Present the 1970's musical Godspell with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz

When: Previews 8 p.m. Thursday-Friday, April 25-26, opens 6 p.m. Saturday, April 27, and continues through Sunday, May 19. Curtain 8 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday, 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday, 6 p.m. Saturday, and 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday

Where: In the theater at Wilson Hall, Oakland University, Rochester Hills.

Tickets: $26-$38, $17-$26 previews, call (248) 377-3300

"You have to be physically fit to do Godspell.

"I love this musical. It makes me feel good. It's one of those musicals that resonates with people my age, baby boomers. We grew up with it. As human beings we like to go to musicals. We're familiar with it. It's hummable and something parents can share with their kids."

Wicks chose the musical about the last seven days of Jesus' life because of its popularity since opening Off Broadway in 1971, and on Broadway in 1976. The underlying theme appeals to people of all faiths.

"What the play gives you is hope," said Wicks. "There's no resurrection in the play. Whether the character is Jesus or not is not important. He is someone with a message of hope and willing to sacrifice himself for greater good. There's something I think everyone is thinking about."

Wicks is taking the musical to the rooftops of a big city to set the scene. Designer Peter Hicks's brick walls and vivid blue sky provide the perfect backdrop for the 10-member cast who start the musical in the audience and eventually leap up and down ladders on stage.

Ensemble

This is truly an ensemble piece and Wicks is grateful the casting was right before choreographer David Marquez and music director Leo Carusone, both New Yorkers, came on board. Wicks worked with Carusone last summer at Cherry County Playhouse in Muskegon where they put on South Pacific in seven days.

"It can be set anywhere – a junkyard, subway or playground," said Wicks who lived in the Bronx for three years while working as an actress in New York. "What you need is an open area and debris. I grew up on a farm. There's a different stress level in the city. People are looking for something or someone to make sense of it all. In a city if you're going to go someplace to think it's up on the rooftop."

Director: Debra Wicks discusses the upcoming production of "Godspell."

After rehearsing the cast six to eight hours a day, six days a week for the last three weeks, Joey Bybee agrees with Wicks that the rooftop is the place to be. The 21-year-old Pontiac actor enjoys moving around the stage as Herb, one of the characters. This is his first professional production, one he can list on his resume after graduating with a degree in musical theater from Oakland University in May.

"I wasn't familiar with Godspell," said Bybee who wasn't even born when the musical took Broadway by storm. "My roommate has every musical on the planet and I was playing it and fell in love with the music. Then we began rehearsals and I found it's a process of coming up with bits and fun things like doing voices of Maurice Chevalier.

Like Shannon Locke, Bybee thinks the reason the musical's remained fresh over the last 30 years is because it's based on improvisation.

Artistic freedom

"It's really an exercise in imagination," said Locke, who's understudying all the female roles.

"There's more artistic freedom because we're playing ourselves and get to improvise," added Bybee. "I like climbing around lots of levels on stage. I get to explore them all. I leap and perch. It's liberating."

It's the exact opposite for Denise Costello who's cast as the introverted Peggy. The West Bloomfield resident's been acting since age 11 in the performing arts program at Abbott Middle School and then at West Bloomfield High School where she did three shows a year and was president of the Thespian Society. She furthered her talent at Interlochen Arts Camp for five summers before earning a bachelor degree in musical theater performance at Western Michigan University.

STAFF PHOTOS BY JOHN STORMZAND

Timely musical: Alonzo Luzod and Denise Costello rehearse for Meadow Brook Theatre's upcoming production of "Godspell."

"I'm not a shy person so I have to be reserved until the point where she breaks out of her skin," said Costello. "What excites me about the show is the words are for everyone. It has a message of faith. For some it might be a message of hope. It's fun for two hours and keeps the audience asking more questions at the end."

While Alonzo Luzod appreciates what the musical is saying, he's more impressed with the quality of the production. The Farmington resident plays Jeffrey, an insightful character. In the past Luzod's performed with the Pymouth Canton Ballet Company and Tinderbox Productions based in Redford.

"The caliber of the cast and directors is unparalleled with anything else I've done," said Luzod. "It's the most intense rehearsal process. There's so much to learn in such a short time."

New season

The professionalism of the cast is what Wicks counts on year after year. It will be especially important to find the brightest talent next season when Meadow Brook Theatre presents a variety of productions including The Foreigner, Wait Until Dark, the latest musical comedy Meshuggah-Nuns by Dan Goggin, and Agatha Christie's Witness for the Prosecution which opens on Oct. 16. While Wicks is very excited about the Shaw Festival's January residency for a production of Candida, she can't stop talking about A Thousand Cranes which kicks off the theater's new Family Series on Sept. 28. The family-oriented shows continue with the return of the popular A Christmas Carol Nov. 29 to Dec. 22.

"It's a true story about a young girl who gets leukemia after surviving the bombing of Hiroshima," said Wicks explaining the plot of A Thousand Cranes. "She learns of the legend that if a person folds a thousand cranes a wish will be fulfilled and begins folding the paper birds. Even though she doesn't complete them, it turns into a wish for peace when school children finish the task. It's an exciting piece of theater, an important piece of theater for now. This is a lesson to be learned and relearned, a lesson from 60-years ago we haven't learned yet. It's about the children – that they can make a difference. You can achieve anything if you put your mind to it."

C'MON C'MON* – SHERYL CROW

Thank goodness for the skip button.

It'll get a workout when listening to Sheryl Crow's latest release, C'mon C'mon. About half of the tunes are worth hearing; the rest should have been left on the cutting-room floor.

Musically, C'mon C'mon has no cohesiveness. Numerous guest stars don't help the album gel.

Lyrically, Crow doesn't score points for originality with lines such as "life is what happens when you're making plans" — a line recorded by John Lennon more than 20 years ago.

Equally insipid is this painful couplet: "I'm just like the weather/I keep changing my mind."

The album opens promisingly enough with Steve McQueen, a tightly knit three-minute rocker. And the next song, Soak up the Sun, is a catchy Beatlesque ditty that benefits from backing vocals courtesy of Liz Phair.

But the Don Henley duet on It's So Easy sounds like it was cut at a karaoke bar by pop-star wannabes.

Speaking of karaoke, why is Gwyneth Paltrow singing on It's Only Love? Thankfully, her vocals are so low in the mix it could be Miss Piggy singing and no one would be the wiser.

The best song on the album is its last. On Weather Channel, Crow turns down the volume and finds an easygoing vibe with the help of Emmylou Harris.

But Crow's uneven effort leaves the listener in awe one minute and screaming C'mon! in frustration the next.

— Scott Bauer, AP Writer

HEART TO YOURS* – MICHELLE WILLIAMS

R&B artists usually don"t venture into gospel music at the height of their careers; generally, it's a step taken when their secular careers are losing steam.

Michelle Williams of Destiny's Child bucks the trend with her debut solo project, 'the gospel album Heart to Yours. But it seems Williams is not ready to fully shed her secular influences.

Dance beats abound on this album, making it sound more like a Destiny's Child remix record than a religious disc. Heard a Word would be unrecognizable as a gospel record if it weren't for the occasional utterance of the word "Lord." In addition, the song Rock With Me, with its wailing electric guitar, is a little much here.

The disc even features Destiny's Child doing the same Gospel Medley that's on their own Survivor disc, an odd choice because it serves as a vocal showcase for lead singer Beyonce Knowles, not Williams.

The song selection only underscores the album's main problem — Williams is no Knowles. She cannot deliver vocally — her voice is too nasally and often sounds whiny.

It's no surprise that the better songs are So Glad with Mary Mary and Steal Away to Jesus with Shirley Caesar. These artists overpower Williams, and make you realize what real gospel singers — and music — should sound like.

— Jennifer F. Bogar, AP Writer

HAMMERED* – MOTORHEAD

Motorhead's new album, Hammered,' is a metal primer for budding rock bands. It provides a "how-to" on metal-music basics — and some good lyrics.

This band has been around since 1975, so these guys are more grizzled than a biker-bar regular — which is exactly their appeal.

Brave New World is a layman's take on the state of the world corrupted by power and greed. It has the fast pace and guitar growl of the band's better-known songs such as Ace of Spades and Eat the Rich.

Down the Line is a good tune about getting out of a stagnant relationship. It's the closest thing to a love ballad that lead singer/headbanger Lemmy Kilmister can muster.

Kilmister will always be the force behind Motorhead. His vocals are still limited to strained yelps, but there's musical sincerity when he belts out lines such as: "And religion, like the monster that it is/Keeps telling you to turn the other cheek/God is on your side, but I don't think that you're on his/If Jesus showed up now he'd be in jail by next week."

Meadow Brook announces 2002-3 season

The Great Lakes premiere of the newest Nunsense musical comedy and the initiation of an international residency with the Shaw Festival of Canada will mark Meadow Brook Theatre's 2002-2003 season.

Meadow Brook's 37th season will also introduce a new series of theatrical productions designed to school audiences and families.

Subscriptions are currently on sale of the 2002-2003 season and are available through the Meadow Brook Theatre Box Office, (248)377-3300. For group and school matinee information, call (248)370-3316. The theatre's Website is www.mbtheatre.com.

"Meadow Brook Theatre will produce an exciting season, created to make theater come alive for each member of our audience," said Debra L. Wicks, interim artistic director.

Agatha Christie's Witness for the Prosecution, will open the new season Oct. 16. The popular courtroom mystery will run through Nov. 10.

The internationally acclaimed Shaw Festival has announced a rare U.S. residency with Meadow Brook Theatre. Based in Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, the Shaw Festival is renowned for its productions of the works of George Bernard Shaw (1856-1950) and his contemporaries. Jackie Maxwell, artistic director designate, will direct Meadow Brook's presentation of the Shaw Festival's Candida running Jan. 8 through Feb. 2. Candida is a romantic comedy about relations between man and women in families and society.

The Foreigner by Larry Shue opens Feb. 12. The comedy concerns an Englishman in Georgia who pretends to speak no English. The Foreigner runs through March 9.

Wait Until Dark, by Frederick Knott opens March 19. The thriller concerns a young bride who is blind and terrorized by criminals. The play runs through April 13.

Meshuggah-Nuns by Dan Goggin is the latest in the series of nun musical comedies and debuts April 23. The Little Sisters of Hoboken take a cruise and fill in for the ill cast of Fiddler on the Roof. Meshuggah-Nuns runs through May 18.

Meadow Brook Theatre unveiled the new Family Series Program for the 2002-2003 season. Participating audiences will see three production selected, scheduled and priced for families. The Family Series program includes A Thousand Cranes, on Sept. 28, A Christmas Carol, on Dec. 7 and The Foreigner on Feb. 22. Series subscriptions for the three shows are priced at $69 for adults and $56 for children ages 5-17. All shows are at 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

A Thousand Cranes, by Kathryn Shultz Miller is the true story of a 12-year-old survivor of the bombing of Hiroshima, slowly dying from the effects of radiation sickness. The play is produced especially for student and family audiences and runs Sept. 19 to Oct. 5. Shows for the public are Sept. 28 and Oct. 5.

The annual holiday tradition A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens as adapted by Charles Nolte opens Nov. 29. The story of Scrooge's redemption runs through Dec. 22.

Subscriptions for the 2002-2003 season start at $89 each and are on sale now. Individual tickets, including A Christmas Carol, go on sale Sept. 4 beginning at 10 a.m.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Scheduled to open Friday, April 26

JASON X
In the year 2455, long after humanity has abandoned Earth as a lifeless planet, an expedition of archaeological students discovers a research facility where two people are cryogenically frozen: One a young woman, the other a large male in a strange mask. The ice begins to thaw, and so the students bring the bodies back to their spaceship, having no idea what they just unleashed on the future... and of course, on themselves: Jason. (New Line) Rated R

LIFE, OR SOMETHING LIKE IT
The film revolves around Lanie Kerrigan (Angelina Jolie), a feature reporter at a Seattle television station, who seems to have it all: A baseball-superstar boyfriend, a gorgeous apartment and a shot at a big network assignment. In the midst of a fluff-piece/interview, a homeless local street "seer" named Prophet Jack tells Lanie that she leads a meaningless existence, and will die the following week. When Prophet Jack's other predictions come true, Lanie begins to re-examine her life and priorities, which includes rekindling a relationship with a cameraman (Edward Burns) with whom she has long been at odds. Stephen Herek directs the drama. Other featured players include Tony Shalhoub, Christian Kane, and Stockard Channing. (Twentieth Century Fox) Rated PG-13

BIG BAD LOVE
This drama weaves together the stories of an alcoholic Vietnam vet, Leon Barlow, struggling to become a working writer and that of his ex-wife, Marilyn, who refuses to allow him to see their pre-adolescent son, Alan and daughter, Alisha, who has an incurable illness. Stars Arliss Howard, Debra Winger, Olivia Kersey and Angie Dickinson. Directed by Arliss Howard. (IFC Films) Rated R

Scheduled to open, Friday, May 3

HOLLYWOOD ENDING
Mum's the word on the plot except the fact that Woody Allen plays a Hollywood director who is hired to direct his ex-wife (Tea Leoni) in a movie. Featured players include filmmaker Mark Rydell as Allen's agent, and Treat Williams as Leon's new boyfriend, the studio boss. Lending femme support are Debra Messing (fromTV's Will and Grace) and Tiffani-Amber Theissen. Allen directs the comedy, marking his first feature since completing Curse of the Jade Scorpian in 2001. (DreamWorks) Rated PG-13

THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE
Leonide (Mira Sorvino), Princess of Sparta, resorts to deception and disguise to win the man she loves, a young prince whose throne she along the way helps restore. The only problem is that her various disguises, both male and female, end up thrice engaged. (Paramount Classics). Rated PG-13

SPIDER-MAN
Orphaned at an early age, Peter Parker (Tobey Maguire) lived in Queens, New York with his beloved Aunt May and Uncle Ben. Peter led the life of a normal student, working as a photographer at the Daily Bugle under the tutelage of publisher J. Jonah Jameson, pining after the beautiful Mary Jane Watson and hanging out with buddy Harry Osborn. On a school trip, during which Peter and his classmates are given a science demonstration on spiders, Peter is bitten by a genetically altered spider. Soon after, he discovers that he has unusual powers: He is endowed with the strength and agility of a spider along with a keen, ESP-like spider sense. Featured players include Kirstin (Get over it) Dunst as Mary Jane Watson, James Franco (TV's Freaks and Geeks) and veteran actor Cliff Robertson as Peter's Uncle. (Columbia Pictures) Rated PG-13

DEUCES WILD
Set in the summer of 1958, the story tells of a Brooklyn street gang, the Deuces, as they learn that loyalty and midnight rumbles can no longer protect them from the turbulent times ahead. Gunfights and honor quickly become a thing of the past as a new breed of wiseguys threaten to take control of their neighborhood. Featured among the ensemble are Fairuza Balk, Matt Dillon, Stephen Dorff, Balthazar Getty, and Brad Renfro. Scott Kalvert directs the drama. (MGM/UA) Rated R

Scheduled to open, Friday May10

THE NEW GUY
After sealing his uncool reputation with an embarrassing ninth-grade accident, a high school student decides to switch alma maters his senior year for a final stab at popularity. All goes well until his primary nemesis follows him to the new school. Featured players include DJ Qualls as the uncool student who reinvents himself as a tough guy, Lyle Lovett, Eddie Griffin and Eliza Dushku. Edward Decter helms the comedy, marking his feature directorial debut. (Columbia Pictures / Revolution Studios) Rated PG-13

UNFAITHFUL
A middle-aged wife and mother has an unexpected and torrid affair with a handsome younger man. After her husband discovers her deceit, he murders his wife's lover, and the husband and wife must face the consequences of their actions. Based on the 1969 film "La Femme Infidel", the film stars Richard Gere, Diane Lane, Olivier Martinez and Erik Per Sullivan. Adrian Lyne directs the drama, marking his first since completing "LOLITA" in 1997. (Twentieth Century Fox) Rated R

ESPN'S ULTIMATE X
This large format documentary revolves around the X Games contest, shown on ESPN and ABC, and highlights the athletes competing on screens towering six stories high and eight stories wide. (Buena Vista) Rated PG

Scheduled to open Wednesday, May 16

STAR WARS:
EPISODE II – ATTACK OF THE CLONES
Ten years after the events of the Phantom Menace, not only has the galaxy undergone significant change, but so have Obi-Wan Kenobi (Ewan McGregor), Padme Amidala and Anakin Skywalker as they are thrown together again for the first time since the Trade Federation invasion of Naboo. Anakin has grown into the accomplished Jedi apprentice of Obi-Wan, who himself has transitioned from student to teacher. The two Jedi are assigned to protect Padme whose life is threatened by a faction of political separatists. As relationships form and powerful forces collide, these heroes face choices that will impact not only their own fates, but the destiny of the Republic. Featured in the cast are Natalie Portman as Padme, Jimmy Smits, Samuel L. Jackson, Frank Oz, Ian McDiarmid, Pernilla August, Christopher Lee, and Hayden Christensen as Anakin. Directed by George Lucas. (Twentieth Century Fox) This film is not yet rated.

Jewish children by transporting them to safety, is moving because Winton is still alive to tell the story. Realizing the impact that hearing about the risky venture first hand could have on an audience, Czech director Matej Minac made the film after finishing All My Loved Ones, a fictionalized version of Winton's heroic effort. Both will be shown on Sunday, May 5, All My Loved Ones in Birmingham in the afternoon, The Power of Good: Nicholas Winton in Ann Arbor in the evening. As a special bonus Winton and Minac be present for a reception before the evening showing and after the film. Tickets are limited and reservations must be made by calling (248) 788-2900 or (734) 971-0990 by Wednesday, May 1.

Collaboration

The showing and event are a result of a collaborationbetween the Jewish Community Center of Washtenaw and the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit.

"We had 8,100 people view last year's films. Ninety-eight percent of the seats were filled so we added more seats, more performances," said Magidson. "It takes nearly a year of planning and holding feedback meetings to ask audiences what they like then in July we gather films to preview and try to pick by December.

"We're looking for films of interest to general audiences with Jewish interests – things that are entertaining but not just entertainment, things that are thought provoking and go beyond the issue. We would like it not to be over when people leave the theater."

There's comedy too, Crunch Bird cartoons and other lighter fare. A new re-mastered print of the 1942 Jack Benny movie, To Be or Not to Be, tells the story of a Polish acting troupe that foils Hitler's plan and saves thousands of lives. The Ballad of Ramblin'-Jack tells the story of folk singer Jack Elliot who along with Woody Guthrie, Peter Yarrow and Joan Baez tried to change the world with song.

All of the films are probably ones Milton and Lenore Marwil would have loved to watch before they were married. The legend goes that the two courted at the movies and that was the reason Milton created a $250,000 endowment for the festival four years ago in honor of his late wife. Milton died in January but their love of movies lives on through the festival because of his generous gift.

Each festival costs more than $85,000 to produce, and while ticket sales make up a major portion of the budget, grants from Michigan Council for Arts & Cultural Affairs and the Oakland County Cultural Mini Grant program along with several sponsors make the movie extravaganza possible.

"It's a community effort. We have 80-100 volunteers, a committee at large and a small committee of four to view the films," said Magidson who was a volunteer the first year and now in his third year as festival director.

Magidson considers himself a part of the entertainment business which has as many failure stories as successes. A theater professor at Wayne State University and director of the Center for Arts and Public Policies, Magidson has taught film and TV writing, directed nearly 100 plays and produced 250. His Sisters Rosenzweig is currently in rotating repertory through Saturday, May 4 at the Hilberry Theatre. Magidson will direct the season opener, Neil Simon's The Good Doctor, there in fall.

"I like the movies. My business is show business," said Magidson. "We try to make it as exciting as we can but as a business-like as we can. There's a perception that this is easy. You put on a film festival and walk away with a pocket full of money."

Open up and see Ultimate Fakebook

STEPHANIE CASOLA

■ The trio hails from Kansas – a place where it's apparently still safe to embrace the melodic rock of late 80s radio and metal from MTV's Headbanger's Ball.

Tune out The Osbournes already. Not since the pop antics of The Monkees has a band been as deserving of its own T.V. show as the always entertaining Ultimate Fakebook.

Take one singer – who'd slide seamlessly into place in a band like Weezer – complete with black-rimmed glasses and sweaters you'd swear he stole from Mister Rogers. Hand him a guitar and a mic.

Add in his alter ego – a taller, more muscular Mr. Clean hunched happily over his bass guitar, grinning like a madman.

Then complete the trio with a wild drummer who looks a bit like Dave Grohl but probably spent more of his childhood dreaming of an appearance in Kiss Meets the Phantom of the Park.

Ultimate Fakebook is Bill McShane, Nick Colby and Eric Melin. The trio hails from Kansas – a place where it's apparently still safe to embrace the melodic rock of late 80s radio and metal from MTV's Headbanger's Ball.

The band even titled their third and latest CD with the very tongue-in-cheek Open Up and Say Awesome!, playing on the hair metal heyday of Poison's Open Up and Say Ahh.

"We thought of it a while back," said Bill McShane, singer-guitarist of UFB. "I think it started as a joke. We came up with all these titles. All these serious titles. They got no response. We finally realized, we're taking ourselves too seriously."

The record plays a worthy sequel to the band's 2000 release This Will Be Laughing Week. It doesn't take any unexpected musical turns. It isn't an arty concept album. "We stayed pretty true to our original plan," said McShane.

Think of it as the next chapter of rollercoaster rock anthems and contagious true-blue love songs. Where Laughing Week offered Tell Me What You Want, Open Up screams out Gdamn Dance Craze. McShane serenades with the dreamy pop of Forever Forever, rather than A Million Hearts.

McShane had hoped the song Girl, Here's Another Lie could be a duet with Grease superstar Olivia Newton-John. "I was totally infatuated," he said of his childhood crush. But all he got was rejection. "At least we got that much," he said.

Special guests on Open Up and Say Awesome! include James DeWees and Matt Pryer from The Get Up Kids. "We had just finished doing the Reggie & The Full Effect Tour with them," said McShane. "We'd been hanging out a lot with them. We'd recorded an EP split with them."

So asking them to stop by Red House Studios for a little help wasn't a stretch. DeWees dropped in some Muzak-style keyboards on the gushy-but-great Forever Forever. And Pryer crooned background vocals on Combat Fatigue.

The record also features guitarwork by Stephen Egerton (The Decendents/All), who's also a fan.

The band seems able to fit in with so many different artists. UFB has toured with the likes of MXPX, Sloan and Dashboard Confessional. "Ska bands, boy band punk to emo kids, we're non-discriminating against who we'll rock with or for," said McShane.

UFB fans – the ideal of which make home-made tee shirts and sing along to every word – come in all types. McShane describes the quintessential fan as "being like us, being a complete dork, that's my favorite kind."

Open Up and Say Awesome! was made for them – complete with 12 number one hit singles – said McShane, seeming to give an audible grin.

Look for a lot more from UFB this year. The trio has a split EP with Reggie & the Full Effect still expected for release. Thanks to the marvel that is digital video, they are also in the process of filming songs like Valentines and When I'm With You, I'm OK. But Inside Me, Inside You is likely to be the song and video they'll send to MTV2. Extra footage might be released as a bootleg home video.

UFB will make it to Canada and to Europe on tour for the first time. They'll even join the Warped Tour this summer and are likely openers for Ann Arbor native and latest rock sensation Andrew W.K. during his West Coast tour.

Ultimate Fakebook rocks Detroit Tuesday, May 7, The Shelter, below St. Andrews Hall, 431 E. Congress. Call (313) 961-MELT. Learn more about the band at www.ultimatefakebook.com.

Festival features world music, dance

BY KEELY KALESKI WYGONIK
KWYGONIK@OE.HOMECOMM.NET

When like minded people get together amazing things can happen.

"You have to work and collaborate with people who have new ways of looking at things. But first you have to give yourself permission to explore," said flutist Ginka Gerova Ortega, artistic director of Music Viva! which will present a Festival of World Music and Dance, Friday, May 10 at the Smith Theatre on Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Hills. "The world is very small. You carry it with you."

Ginka Gerova Ortega

■ 'You have to work and collaborate with people who have new ways of looking at things. But first you have to give yourself permission to explore. The world is very small. You carry it with you.'

Ginka Gerova Ortega
Flutist, artistic director of Music Viva!

Biakuye (Unity) African Drums Ensemble, singer Shu Ping, the Motor City Milongueros Tango Dancers, the Tango Para Siempre Group, and Groupo Musica Viva featuring Ortega, Emily Kiesler, cello, Glenn Bering, percussion, Julian Devoux, bayan, and Juan Herrera, guitar will perform.

"I'm very much into world music now," said Ortega who was trained as a classical flutist and studied with Jean Pierre Rampal. "I like the melodies and rhythm. The soul of Latin music is flute. I am surprising myself by how much of what I love is so easy – it just comes to me."

World music was not popular when Ortega started the Musica Viva! World concert series 20 years ago. Now it's norm.

"My silent gesture has a loud voice," she said. "We are part of a universe that is awakening. We are the ones who make a difference. Our lives are a white canvas. Every day I ask myself, 'how am I going to make a difference?' We are small but we can do big things."

Each Musica Viva concert is like a microcosm of the world, she says. This concert will showcase music from three continents and 10 countries – from the mysteries of African drums, to the luscious melodies of China, and Latin American tango.

Ortega heard Biakuye in Ann Arbor and was very impressed with the group's authenticity. One of its members, Mark Stone, is a scholar who has studied west African music.

"What I am trying to do is create new sounds and instrumentation," said Ortega as she explained the music of Groupo Musica Viva. "This kind of combination of instruments is very rare, therefore you hear a new kind of sound with a classical base, but a new twist that explores different colors of the instrumentation. We are exploring the music of Latin America and taking it to another level."

Ortega just returned from Paris where she performed a tribute concert in memory of the one year anniversary of Rampal's passing. This summer she will perfom for the International Festivals in Spain and in Mexico City in September. She is a resident of Bloomfield Hills, and was recently recognized for her contribution to the metro Detroit cultural scene by CORP! magazine.

Festival of World Music and Dance

What: An exotic journey in song and dance, from the mysteries of the African drums, to the voices of China, to the passionate sounds of Latin America

When: 8 p.m. Friday, May 10

Where: Smith Theater, Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge campus, Orchard Lake Road, south of 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

Tickets: $16 in advance, $18 at the door, $25 reserved, (248) 522-3667

Youth unite to share a spring song

Nearly three years ago, the Livonia Youth Choir came together to share the pleasure of song. On Saturday, April 27, they present their annual concert of works ranging from classical to folks songs from around the world at 7 p.m. in Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile Road, west of Middlebelt, Livonia.

Almost 50 boys and girls in grades 4-8 from Livonia and surrounding communities make up the choir. Admission is free.

■ Almost 50 boys and girls in grades 4-8 from Livonia and surrounding communities make up the choir.

An on-going effort, the youth choir is now looking for new members as well as a music director. Interested persons for the director position should have a degree in music performance or music education, and a demonstrated interest and love of working with young people. Auditions for choir members will be held in September for girls and boys (with unchanged voices) who will be in grades 4-8 in the new school year. For more information, call (734) 425-1749.

Detroit Electronic Music Festival brings back the beats for Memorial weekend

It's official, the world's premier electronic party plugs in again next month.

The third annual Detroit Electronic Music Festival will hit Hart Plaza from noon to midnight Sunday-Tuesday, May 26-28. The free festival originated with Planet E guru Carl Craig and Detroit-based Pop Culture Media. It now lies in the hands of a board of directors chosen by festival producer — and a Plymouth resident — Carol Marvin, who owns Pop Culture Media.

The DEMF's 2000 premier drew more than a million people to the city's waterfront for a legendary three days of pulsating beats and visitors from across the globe. This time the stage is set for legends like George Clinton, those who helped the festival get off the ground like DJ Bone and of course Godfathers of techno like Juan Atkins and Kevin Saunderson.

■ This time the stage is set for legends like George Clinton, those who helped the festival get off the ground like DJ Bone and of course Godfathers of techno like Juan Atkins and Kevin Saunderson.

Still going strong, the artist line up for DEMF 2002 is as follows:

Sundiata, Chad Novak, Electric Indigo, Heather Heart, Gene Farris, DJ Zap, Mike Grant, Steve Rachmad, Dave Angel, Kevin Saunderson, Juan Atkins, Shorty, John Collins, Reggie Curry, T. Linder, Jon Tejada, Boo Williams, Cas Roc, Frankie Knuckles, DJ Shadow, Sarena Tyler, X-Ecutioners, Adam X, Black Eyed Peas, Bryan Zentz, Blake Baxter, Roni Size, Eddie Fowlkes, Mike Dearborn, George Clinton, Art Payne/ Keith Martin, Gary Martin, Rick Wade, Paul Johnson, Drexciya, Ethan Kline, Derrick Thompson, Kenny Dope, Bone, Dave Clark, Roy Davis, Jr., Dennis Cox, Frankie Bones, K. Hand, DJ Funk, Rob Hood, Colin Dale, Dwayne Jensen, Steve Tang, Greg Collier, Matt Clark, Melvin Hill, Mike Huckaby, DJ Dangerous, Ron Carroll, T-1000 and Traxx.

Performers with live sets include: Erotek, Mad Professor, Bill Beaver, DeepChord, Advent, Chaos, Green Velvet, A Number of Names, Stewart Walker, Black Bottom Collective, and Scott Grooves with DJ and live sets.

composition," Pujdowski said. "It was very inventive."

Lucas has done a whole series of works on Africa, almost 10 so far, although she has never seen the country.

"I have a cousin who was a missionary there," she explained. "This was done from imagination."

An artist for the past three decades, Lucas said she does a little of everything, from teaching to three-dimensional art. And, of course, watercolor.

That's also Pujdowski's first love. "I just gravitated toward it," he said, adding that had no real effect on the outcome of the competition.

He was very impressed by the entire show, which he was judging for the first time. Co-chair Nancy Walls Smith, a Plymouth resident, was thrilled to have two of her artworks juried.

Abloomin' tree and Tucson scene are both watercolors. The benefit of entering a juried show, Smith said, has to do with the difference between creating art for art's sake and having one's creation seen by others.

"It's so wonderful when people look at your work," she said. "It's satisfaction."

More than 150 artists currently belong to the club, and people from all over the area are always interested when the annual show is announced, Smith said. Juried entries will be on display during the Farmington Festival of the Arts, held April 28-May 5 at the Costick Center.

styles of playing in every country. Trying to learn a Rachmaninov sound is difficult. It's powerful and intense. Your fingers have to be strong. In Paris I'm working on different forms of style. My teacher believes all pieces should be played in their own style. She's not really a Parisian teacher even though there is a French school.

"Studying in Russia and Paris has made me realize how strong Michigan is for music. The young students here are excelling fast."

Success

Mody attributes his success to teacher Donald Morelock. Since beginning his studies with Schoolcraft music department chairman, Mody has won first place in the Rochester Symphony Youth Artist Competition and Michigan Music Teacher's Association solo and piano concerto competitions. On June 20, he'll perform as a soloist at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, Holland.

"We have a chemistry," said Mody about Morelock. "We can do things fast. We're very close. I needed that support from him. I think a pianist, if they're focused, can do something in two weeks. They have to be absolutely consumed. Chopin wrote the concerto I'm playing with the Livonia Symphony when he was 19."

Morelock is as fond of Mody as the young pianist is of him. Morelock's been traveling back and forth to Europe since finding out Mody's father was being transferred to Paris. Morelock helped the family research music education offerings in France.

"Sanjay is a very special as a person and musician. I'm very proud of him," said Morelock. "He's studying with a prominent teacher. The French have many conservatories and a unique way of teaching."

Mody is quick to add that "studying in Paris is incredible. It really feels that the year has gone so fast."

Authentic MEXICAN CUISINE lies north of the border

Family and friends: Camelia's staff includes: Camelia and Tony Flores, Maria Flores, Lisa Perez, and Rosemary Tuttle.

Olé: Camilia's combination plate is a favorite: one taco, tostada, enchilada and tamale along with homemade refried beans and quacamole. The salsa, chips and tortillas also are homemade.

Camilia's Authentic Mexican Cuisine

Where: 30701 West 12 Mile Road (in the Regency Plaza, just east of Orchard Lake), Farmingtonn Hills, (248) 474-0902.
Atmosphere: Small (seats 75), uncluttered, pleasant.
Menu: Appetizers, salads, dinners, and daily specials. Average dinner prices, $7.50-$11. Lunch specials, $5.99.
Hours: 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday; 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday; noon to 10 p.m. Saturday; 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.
Extras: No smoking, take-out, catering and lots of friendliness.

True or false? You have to travel to the Southwest for authentic Mexican cuisine. Definitely false, compadre, especially when it comes to Camelia's Authentic Mexican Cuisine in Farmington Hills.

"We are actually more Tex-Mex," said owner Camelia Flores. "The reason we say 'authentic Mexican' is because all of our foods are made from scratch."

Mexican or Tex-Mex, the food at Camelia's is authentically delicious. The taco shells are parchment-paper crisp, the rice flavorful, and the refried beans taste nothing like the mush you get in cans. They're wonderfully "beany" with a savory bacon flavor. Need to know more? The salsa, which is made every morning and allowed to blend several hours in refrigerator, is chock-full of fresh cilantro.

"People have asked me if I would jar the salsa and sell it in a market. I think I'd have to put vinegar in it to preserve it, and I don't want to do that," said Flores.

Some people judge a Mexican restaurant by its tortilla chips. Camelia's homemade chips rate high.

"We always made them at home," said Flores. "I said I'm going to try these here. Now I couldn't go back. People love them. We have one person back in the kitchen deep-frying all day."

Opened just eight months, Camilia's is a family affair, with everyone involved – husband Tony, son Greg, and Flores' mother, Dominga Garcia, who taught Flores how to cook.

"Now I'm teaching my granddaughters how to cook," said Garcia. "I learned from another Dominga, my father's mother. She was born in Mexico."

Menu

Camilia's is small and comfortable, and the large front window lets in lots of sunshine. Colorful ponchos and paintings add just enough accent to the off-white walls. However, it's difficult to miss the huge framed photograph of Flores' father in the entranceway. There, in all his glory, is 17-year-old Jesus Garcia, fighting a bull. Besides being a matador, Jesus was a cliff diver in Acalpulco.

"He was very brave," said Flores. Quite an understatement.

While you don't have to be brave to eat at Camilia's, the salsa is not for timid taste buds. Otherwise, order all the tacos, burritos and enchiladas you want and rest assured your heart burn will remain south of the border.

"I always tell people who come here for the first time to get the combination plate for variety," said Flores. "But my favorite is the Enchilada Suizas or the Camarones Rancheros. That's whole shrimp, and they're pretty good size, in our homemade ranchero sauce."

Flores' son, Greg, who plays in a Mexican band and can sometimes be heard singing from the kitchen, recommends the Milanesa Dinner – steak or chicken breaded in special Mexican seasonings and topped with melted cheese and avocado. But then, everything tastes good at Camilia's, he said.

I took Flores' advice and ordered the combination plate – one flauta, chalupa and quesadilla with lots of rice and refried beans. Delicious. My dining companion ordered the taco salad. She loved the shredded chicken and claimed the taco shell bowl definitely was not the hard, flower pot variety served in other Mexican restaurants.

"And the cheese is white," she exclaimed. "When you go to Mexico there is no orange cheese."

Catering

Flores doesn't do large-scale catering, but she does make up "fiesta trays." Each tray contains 100 items – 20 each of tamales, hard tacos, soft tacos, enchiladas and burritos. The trays, which also come with rice, beans, four large bags of chips and two large containers of sales, cost $250.

"It's a real hot seller for baby showers and graduations," said Flores.

Flores hopes lots of people visit Camilia's on Sunday, May 5 in honor of Cinco de Mayo, which celebrates Mexico's victory over the French during the Battle of Pueblo in 1862. She plans to have live entertainment, special give-aways, virgin Margarita's and daiquiris (they have no liqueur license), as well as run specials on steak fajitas.

But don't wait until May 5 to visit Camilia's. Stop by anytime. A bowl of tortilla chips and salsa will be waiting.

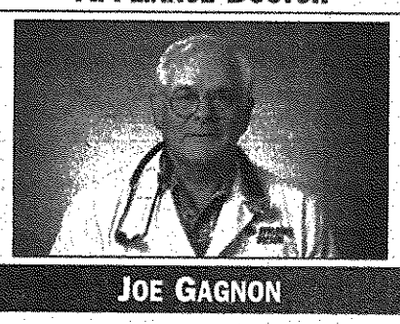
APPLIANCE DOCTOR



JOE GAGNON

'Smart' fridge checks prices, gets recipes, tips

There's been a lot of attention focused on home appliances of the future. Predictions of how appliances will work, and do things differently than they do today, are at the point of being a little silly.

I remember back in 1975 when a manufacturer predicted that microwave ovens would be used for telecommunications, and as a cooking appliance. Most of us are still using the microwave the same way we were back then. Like many of you, I read the recent story about the refrigerator that will turn into a kitchen range at the flick of a switch. It makes me wonder where they are going to store ice cream in this unit. It's hard for this white haired old man to accept these new concepts but I must admit they are coming true.

Smart refrigerator

Take the case of a producer of refrigerators from Seoul, Korea who has introduced the product of tomorrow. Let me quote a piece from a trade publication called Professional Service Association News.

"The manufacturer has pioneered and continues to lead the industry in developing cutting-edge digital home appliances. Their vision is to create appliances that go beyond a simple mechanical function, like heating food or keeping it cold. Instead, these next-generation appliances will perform greater tasks, such as collecting recipes, preparing meals and keeping pantries stocked – tasks that require intelligence. They will be interconnected via the Internet and work together to become our assistant homemakers."

Now folks, I don't want anyone to think this column is an April fool's joke because this refrigerator is already set for distribution and purchase by the end of the year. I mean you will be able to buy one for your home by the end of 2002. Imagine, a 26- cubic- foot refrigerator that can check real-time price information on groceries, obtain tips on food, nutrition and recipes, be reminded of scheduled events, when to change the water filter and learn cooking methods for products stored inside.

Consumers will be able to use this new Internet- connected refrigerator as a television, radio, videophone, bulletin board, calendar and digital camera. I personally find it hard to believe all that I am writing today but you can count on it being true.

Healthy suggestion

If I were able to make a suggestion to this company, I would ask them to put a spot on the front door a person can stick their finger into to get an instant read-out on blood pressure and pulse. That feature would save a few lives and prevent strokes. I keep telling myself as I'm writing, "don't say anything Joe, keep your dry sense of humor to yourself."

Think about it folks – new technology can change so many things. A home will cost a lot less in the future. You will have three bedrooms and one gigantic room called a kitlivdin and forget the rest. Will this country go for this new refrigerator is the big question, and only time will take care of the answer. I'll let you know just as soon as I find out how much this refrigerator is going to cost. That could have a bearing on it's success.

Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard Saturday and Sunday on 760 WJR. He is a member and past president of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals. His phone number is (313) 873-9789.

Bridge to the world

Ramp program is blessing for those with disabilities

STAFF PHOTO BY TOM HOFFMEYER

Rosie Hutchinson gets a little help from her granddaughter Bianca Ross down her new wheelchair ramp built by Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency.

Five years ago, Rosie Hutchinson's family planted spring flowers in front of her home. She didn't go out to see them.

Four years ago, they planted spring flowers. She didn't go out to see them. Three years ago. Two years ago. And last year.

This year, Hutchinson will go out to see the new flowers. This year, she's determined to help plant them.

This year, you see, for the first time since illness and disabilities locked her into a wheelchair, the 63-year-old grandma will roll past the barricading front steps that had barred flowers, fresh air, roller-skating grandchildren, and waves to new neighbors.

This spring, Hutchinson's chair, rather than continuing to confine her, will glide down the ramp just built at her front door. It will take her into a world she hasn't seen all these years.

She'll see the front of her house, the same color as five years ago, but probably in need of painting, she said.

She'll see families who have moved in, she'll see the sidewalk where the kids play, and she'll see the flower beds filled in times past with plants she could only enjoy in photos the family brought in for her.

"I missed a whole lot," said the long-divorced mother of five and grandma of 16.

Her first time out, helped only as far as the head of the new ramp by one of her granddaughters, the world opened to her. "Oh, I loved it. I smelled the fresh air."

Soon, she'll make the ride down the ramp. One goal: The flower beds.

"With their help, I can just bend down and plant."

'Overwhelming need'

With the freedom the ramp promises, Hutchinson recognizes responsibility, as well, especially for the safety of the children who constantly visit. She's told them, "No roller skates on my ramp. They can walk down, but no skates, no bikes. They started to, but I stopped them."

Hutchinson, of Pontiac, had been stopped from going to church, at New Springfield Baptist, and is eager to rejoin her friends there. For anyone wondering how she got to

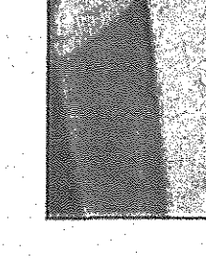
File mail right away in designated 'homes'

Q: I do not know how to efficiently deal with all the mail we receive each day. I never know where to put everything, so it usually ends up stacked on the kitchen counter.



Diana Koenig

A: It will be easier to deal with the mail if you create a home for each paper before it enters your house. Anticipate the kind of mail you receive and create a place for these papers ahead of time. Some mail you will not be able to foresee, so you will need to make a file for these items after they arrive at your house. If you receive an abundance of unwanted mail then call or write organizations and ask for your name to be deleted from their mailing list.

Homes for the Mail

Bills - Make sure there is a specific home for the bills, such as a specific box labeled 'bill box' or file folder. The location should be in a place that you would look at often so you remember to pay the bills on time.

Spouse's mail - Assign a basket for your spouse's mail. Ask him to deal with it immediately or before the basket overflows.

Children's mail - Place their mail in their room on a desk, dresser, or designated basket.

Junk mail - Immediately place these papers in the trash can.

Coupons - Use a divided container to store coupons. Index cards work well to label the coupon categories. Suggested categories are: Services, food, restaurants, entertainment, car, and home improvements/repairs.

Magazines, newsletters, and other reading materials - Place these items in a container or canvas bag. If you have trouble finding time to read at home, take your reading material with you in the car to read while you wait at appointments, car pool lines, etc.

Charitable organizations - Create a folder to keep information from an organization you would like to support. If you do not plan to contribute a donation, discard the letter.

Tax information - Store this information in a labeled file folder. When it is time to do your taxes, you will not have to hunt for the necessary papers because you will have them organized in one folder.

Invitations - Write the date on your calendar and then place the invitation on the refrigerator, file folder, or accessible drawer. After the event either discard or file the invitation so you do not clutter your refrigerator or drawer with unnecessary information.

Cards, letters, announcements - Designate a keepsake box for items you want to save. You may choose to save some of these memorabilia for only a few days.

Voter cards - This is your reminder to vote. Put it in a visible place until after the election.

Catalogues - Only save the catalogs you intend to order products from. Put them in a container or file folder. Discard the old catalog when you receive a new one.

It is important to deal with the mail immediately when you bring it into your house. Piles of homeless papers are an overwhelming task to deal with. If you have been on vacation, you will need to designate extra time to sort through the stacks of mail.

Today's Refrigerator Bulletin: "Avoid a paper trail by immediately finding a home for each piece of mail!"

the doctor all this time, she explains that she's fortunate to have a doctor who makes housecalls.

And now that she's reclaimed her right to outdoors, Hutchinson dreams of a van with a chairlift. "Maybe God will hear my prayer," she said.

It was a local social organization that heard her prayer for a way out of her house. Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency, headquartered in Pontiac and serving throughout the two counties, included Hutchinson's home in its pilot program of five ramps.

Jerry Sedick, OLHSA's associate director, said the need for this service is "overwhelming." The agency built its first ramp last December using grants from the United Way of Oakland County and the Area on Aging.

As much as OLHSA needs funds, Sedick said, it needs volunteers to do the construction work. Willingness, he said, can be more important than skill. While it takes about a week or so to do the job, he said, volunteers who can give any amount of time are vital to the program's operation.

Volunteers can contact Sedick at (248) 209-2650.

Commercial sources

There also are commercial sources for residential wheelchair ramps. Among them are Wright & Filippis, Inc., of Rochester Hills, and Caring Solutions, of Farmington Hills.

A.J. Filippis, CEO of his company, said cost of an average ramp without complicated turns is about $3-4,000. His company generally uses treated wood for permanent installations. Temporary ramps are priced at a fixed fee for installation and removal and a minimum of three-months rental, totaling about $1,700-$2,200.

Filippis points out that city building permits are required and various state regulations must be followed. Do-it-yourselfers ought to know that every inch of rise necessitates 12 inches of ramp; every 30 feet of ramp require a resting platform. Railing spindles must be on a maximum of 4-inch centers to prevent child head entrapment.

At Caring Solutions, executive assistant Janet Parker said her company likes to build the ramp at the rear of the house whenever possible, for appearance and security. When the ramp must be at the front of the house, "We try to integrate landscaping to reduce the harshness of the appearance." She said her company even has built ramps inside attached garages. Her company's average ramps, she said, can be in the $2-5,000 range.

Both companies say that under certain conditions, some insurance plans can help with the cost of the ramp.

Books bring ideas for backyard to forefront

Many people are staying closer to home now and consequently many are gardening. Here are some books that should help all gardeners achieve their goals.

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

The New American Backyard: Easy, Organic Techniques and Solutions for a Landscape You'll Love, Kris Medic (Rodale, $29.95), is right on the mark with information as described in the title.

The book gives steps necessary to create a user-friendly back yard, beginning with a simple design process the reader can follow.

All aspects are covered such as composting, utility areas, water (use a rain barrel), lawns, fertilizers, pruning, tools, hardscapes and plant selection. Organic approaches to pest and weed control are also included. I predict this book will be one that is used extensively.

Annuals, perennials

Two other new books will, I predict, also be used on a regular basis. Nancy Szerlag, columnist for The Detroit News, and horticulturist Alison Beck have written two books especially for our gardens. They are Annuals for Michigan and Perennials for Michigan (Lone Pine Publishing, $18.95 each).

Both books follow the same format, beginning with a general overview of the plants, proper soil conditions, composting, seeding and planting instructions, and more. Annuals (443 of them) and perennials (681) are described and photographed beautifully.

The authors feature height and spread ranges, flower color as well as bloom times and hardiness zones for each, plus growing tips, recommended hybrids, and pest and disease problems.

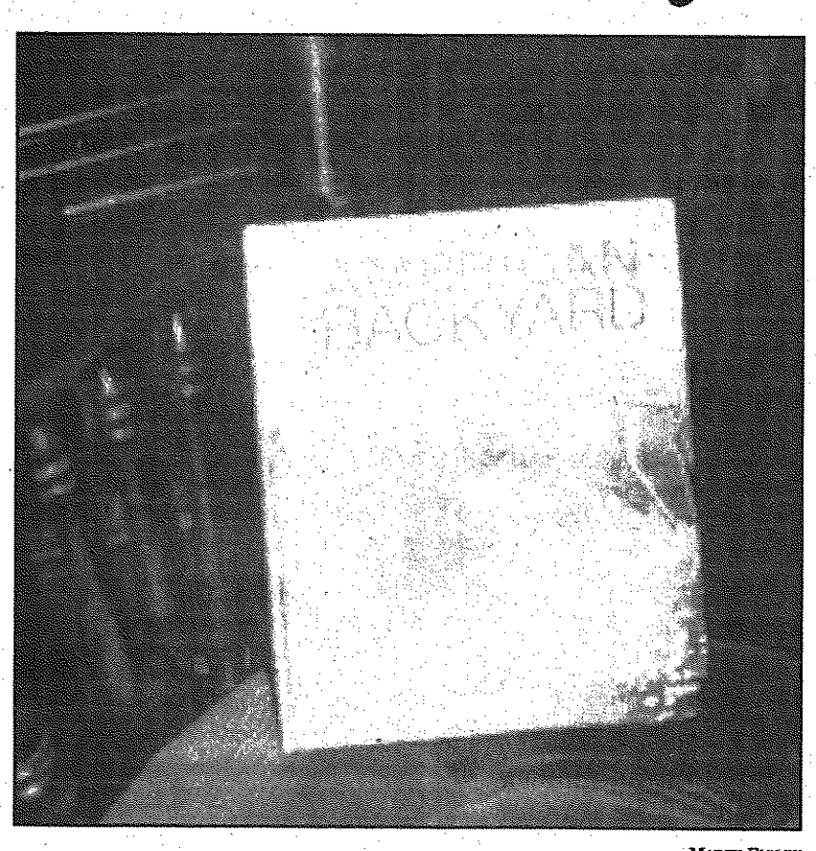
The information is clearly written, direct and to the point. Both books include quick reference charts that really save time. The soft, waterproof covers will resist damage so you won't hesitate to take them to the garden.

Another offering from Taylor's Guides series is Ground Covers, Nan Sinton and David C. Michener (Houghton Mifflin, $23). This book profiles many of these versatile plants.

Practical information about new cultivars and many old favorites will open a new world of ideas for the gardener. The encyclopedic section describes more than 4,000 plants with growing tips and how to use them in the landscape, suitable companion plants and how the plants got their names. Plants are listed with botanical names, pronunciation guides and the families to which they belong.

Herbs, art

Herbs, Lesley Bremness (a Dorling Kindersley handbook, $18.95), fully illustrates more than 700 species.



MARTY FIGLEY

Beckoning back yard: This book will help you create a user-friendly back yard.

All parts of each plant, tree, shrub, herbaceous perennial, annual and biennial, and other herbs are clearly photographed. This makes identification quite easy. The book is full of information and Bremness explains how herbs have been used in cooking, as medicinals, in cosmetics and grown in herb gardens.

The first American edition was published in 1994; this edition was reprinted with corrections in 2000, the editorial consultant was Holly H. Shimizu.

Native Trees, Shrubs and Vines: A Guide to Using, Growing and Propagating North American Woody Plants, William Cullina (Houghton Mifflin, $40), has a publication date of June 12, 2002.

This has excellent advice for any wildflower enthusiast. Cullina is the nursery manager and propagator at the Garden in the Woods of the New England Wild Flower Society.

"For the purpose of this work, 'native' means plants growing in North America prior to European settlement, and the term 'woody plant' means any species with at least a woody... trunk or base," he writes.

Also featured are instructions on how to attract specific species of birds and butterflies to supply food and shelter and how to restore habitats by using land type-specific woody plants, and where to find the right "native" for a garden. Look for this winner soon.

Painting Flowers in Watercolour: A Naturalistic Approach, Coral G. Guest (Timber Press, $19.95), is a treasure of beautiful art work using "a modern style of flower painting."

Guest's aim is to capture the spirit and luminescence of the flower while still being botanically correct. She has organized her techniques so that an artist of any skill can follow the instructions and has included practical advice, such as materials, equipment and ideas of where to find subject material.

The book is published in association with The Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew.

GOOD GARDEN TIP

Branch Tree Service Inc. of Warren and Royal Oak has alerted us that the deadly disease, Ash Yellow, is making inroads in destroying our ash trees. Usually found in white ash, it has also been found in green ash. Have your trees inspected by a qualified arborist now.

Got grass? Mow high!
Make your lawn easier and cheaper to maintain by mowing high—three inches is the rule!
The roots of your lawn grow as deep as the grass grows tall, so taller grass has deeper, healthier roots. Keep your lawn 3" or higher and never cut off more than 1/3 of the blade each time you mow. A healthy lawn tolerates hot, dry weather better— so you won't need to spend your summer watering and fertilizing.
Mow high.
Save time and money.
It's that easy.

It's been a long time between rides

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Do it. No, don't do it. Oh, do it. But you have bones like Swiss cheese. So what, do it. You're too old to be biker babe. Who says?

Last Saturday St. Kenneth Catholic Church in Plymouth held a Blessing of the Bikes ceremony. My friends, Dan and Kerri Sarb, who own Harvey's Old Village Deli in Plymouth, organized the event. After the blessing, Dan asked me if I wanted a ride on his Harley Dina-Superglide. Thus begin the internal conversation that opened this column.

I felt like the Shakespearean version of a wannabe Hells Angelette: To ride or not to ride. I rode. And let me tell you, there's nothing like wind in your face and two fast wheels under your butt on a glorious Saturday afternoon.

"There's a old Harley saying," said Dan, as we rounded out of St. Kenneth's driveway. "If you have to ask what's so great about a riding a Harley, then you don't understand."

He's right.

The sky was blue and the trees were green when I drove to St. Kenneth's, but were they really that blue and that green? How come I never noticed that patch of flowers before? And why did downtown Plymouth seem so much more "alive?"

I was having a Harley epiphany.

It had been a more than dozen years since I rode on the back of a motorcycle. That ride came compliments of my husband Gary's small-town, big-hearted, truck-driving cousin, Jay Peteler, while we were vacationing in Alexandria, Minn. My husband was born in Minnesota, and every summer the Skoglund and Schneider clans rented cottages in Alexandria for a week.

Picture this: For one week the men folk fished, played horseshoes and euchre, stared out at the lake and waited for the women folk to make the evening meal, usually a collage of casseroles, or in Minnesota lingo, "hot dishes." The older women folk sat under shade trees exchanging "news" until they had to prepare the hot dishes. The younger women were usually out on a raft in the middle of the lake with a couple of six packs. The kids were everywhere.

Then one evening, Jay throttled in on his big Harley. "Hey, Renee, wanna goffer a ride?"

WALKING THE TALK...

Women make strides in Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Rain or shine, area participants in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day have stuck to their training schedules. They know the walk – a 60-mile, three-day trek from Ann Arbor to Detroit from May 31 to June 2 – is for the tough and the determined.

Noreen Loper of Livonia has been walking 15 miles several times a week through Hines Park with her daughter, Debbie Pluff, who also signed up for the Avon 3-Day.

"When my daughter said I had to walk, I said, 'Are you out of your mind? Do you know how old I am?" said Loper, who is 69.

Like many other participants, Loper has a story. She is a breast cancer survivor. When her breast cancer was detected by a mammogram in December 2000, she was totally surprised. The lump had not been palpable, and there was no breast cancer in her family.

"At the time I said, 'Where in the world did this come from?'"

Loper underwent an initial lumpectomy then additional surgery after her cancer was diagnosed as invasive ductal. Twice-daily bouts of internal beam radiation for 10 days at Beaumont Hospital followed.

Loper is now cancer-free. She is walking out of gratitude.

"The good Lord brought me through this. This is how I can give back," she said.

Linda Taub, 52, a nurse from Garden City, also is walking because she is thankful.

"I'm walking partly for a personal challenge and in gratitude that my family is not afflicted by this."

Taub, who has a hefty sense of humor, described herself as a "fat, little, middle-age woman" when first interviewed in January. By the end of March, she had lost 28 pounds, and she recently started walking to work – a 15-mile journey.

STAFF PHOTOS BY TOM HAWLEY

Challenge: Linda Taub, a nurse from Garden City, is walking 60 miles during the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day because she is grateful that her family and friends have not had the disease. She also said the walk was a "personal challenge."

In memory: Tara Eddington of Livonia, a Madonna University student, and Wayne Wright of Detroit are walking the Avon 3-Day in honor of his mother, Erlene Wright, who lost her battle with breast cancer a few years ago.

Linda said her son, Scott, 29, has been her biggest supporter. He donated $1,000 of his Christmas money to fund his mother's walk. Each walker must raise a minimum pledge of $1,900.

"I think it's great," said Scott. "She's been working at training for several months."

Walking may be the easiest part of the 3-Day for Taub. As an ex-homecoming queen (Garden City West 1968), she plans to wave to the crowd of well-wishes along the route. She'll need a strong pair of wrists.

"I still teach parade-waving 101," she joked. "I show the girls how to wave from a floats, first your left hand and then your right hand."

In memory of mothers

Carliegh Flaharty, 29, president of the Farmington/Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce, made the commitment to walk in the Avon 3-Day last September in honor of her mother, Lana Barnes, a four-year cancer survivor.

"To me, it just seemed natural, something I should do for my mom," she said.

Flaharty's participation in the walk seems all the more significant since she is battling cancer herself. She was diagnosed in December with Hodgkin's lymphoma.

"As long as I have the energy, I will participate. It's given me something to focus on during my treatment.... I looked at the way my mother did her battle, and I modeled the way I handle my own treatment after her."

Suzy Premen, 26, works as a dental hygienist in Canton. Last Sunday, friends of hers who have a band, the Rusty Lunch Box, played a benefit concert at Boulders restaurant in Plymouth to help raise money for Premen's walk. The owner of Boulders also agreed to charge a donor fee for the concert and donate it to Premen.

Such generosity motivates Premen, who has walked in the Karamanos Race for the Cure, to continue doing her part in the battle against the disease that affects one in eight women. Premen's mother died from breast cancer three years ago this August.

Got a broom? Help a senior!

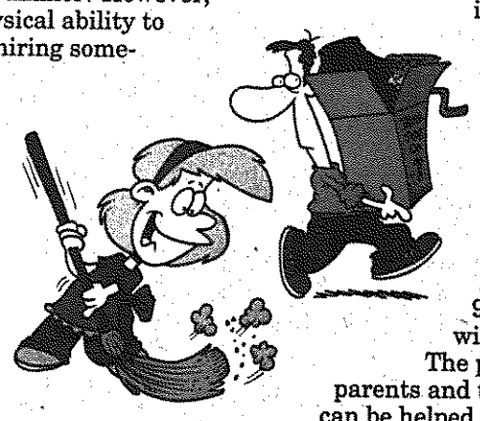
BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

For most of us, spring offers a chance to flex our muscles in cleaning out our houses and backyards, After all, isn't spring cleaning a rite of passage to a more relaxing summer? However, for senior citizens who no longer have the physical ability to trim bushes or wash windows, spring means hiring somebody to do basic chores.

Dick Adair, owner of Affordable Homecare in Livonia, believes in giving seniors a helping hand at this time of the year. He has helped organize the "Senior Citizen Fix Up/Clean Up Community Service Project, sponsored by the Youth of Unity, a group of teens from The Church of Today West-Novi and The Unity Church of Livonia.

Come Saturday, May 11, these teens – and their parents – will hit the streets armed with brushes, brooms and lots of good will. And area seniors are not the only ones benefiting from the project.

"Parents and teens work together in teams as a way to teach children valuable lessons in home maintenance and respecting elders while providing an important community service," said Adair. "It also gives teens a chance to be with the elderly, who often are not part of their lives."



Those qualifying for the free chore service include all persons 65 years or older living in Livonia, Farmington, and Farmington Hills, as well as any Unity congregation member.

Applicants will be selected based on need and the availability of workers. Special consideration will be given to those with physical handicaps or difficulty performing activities of daily living.

Seniors must fill out the application below and return it by May 4 to Greg Adair, Affordable Homecare, 20270 Middlebelt, Suite 9, Livonia, MI 48152. Seniors who are selected will be contacted.

The project also needs lots of volunteers. The more parents and teens involved in the project, the more seniors can be helped with spring chores. The project begins at 8:30 a.m. and end when chores are completed.

To volunteer or for more information, contact Greg Adair at (248) 477-4848 (work) or (248) 380-8236 (home).

I still remember that cruise through Minnesota country roads. The wind, the throaty sound of the engine, the white split rail fences whizzing by. Most of all, I remember my schizophrenic conversation, one outside my head and the other inside:

Outside: "Oh, Jay, this is wonderful. Thanks for asking me."

Inside: "Why haven't I done this before. Forget the kids, forget the housewifey thing."

Outside: "Oh, Jay, this is so much fun. Maybe you should ask Gary if he wants a ride."

Inside: "Hey, Jay. Do you think anybody would miss us if we just kept on riding to Sturgis?" (Sturgis, South Dakota is the motorcycle Mecca for Harley dudes.)

One of Gary's aunts took a picture of me and Jay on his motorcycle after our ride. For many years, I kept it pinned to my refrigerator door. It eventually disappeared, just like my yearning for one more motorcycle ride.

Along came the Blessings of the Bikes, an opportunity to cover a great little story for our paper. About 50 bikers of all ages showed up, riding anything from small, fast sports bikes to house-size BMWs. I'll always be grateful to Dan for offering me a ride.

We were stopped at a red light in downtown Plymouth on our way back to St. Kenneth when Dan looked down at the four passengers wedged into the car next to us.

"You know," he said. "Looking at people driving cars on a day like this, I almost feel sorry for them."

Me, too, Dan. Me, too.

Harley dude: Retired Livonia fire captain Johnny Marson came ready to ride his Harley-Davidson 98 Heritage Softtail. And what color Harley does a fire captain own? Red, of course. My next ride will be on Marson's bike. Yo, mamma!

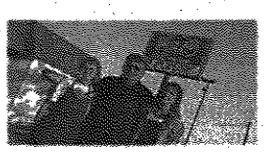
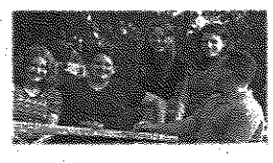
Don't your employees deserve the security and peace-of-mind of Wayne County's HealthChoice?

With over 2,000 businesses and more than 21,000 members, Wayne County's HealthChoice is the fastest-growing health-care coverage in Michigan.





Not only because of its unmatched affordability - you and your employee each pay just $43 a month* - but because of the exceptional quality of care HealthChoice provides.

"For the cost, we couldn't believe the coverage could be this good," said Juan Haygood, owner of Pete's True Value Hardware. "But it's true: HealthChoice is everything it says it is, and more."

Including coverage for doctor's visits, emergencies, hospitalization, even prescription benefits. From a choice of six excellent provider networks.

For you, the Wayne County business owner, that means attracting better employees and retaining your best workers. For your employees and their families, it's peace-of-mind, security, not having to worry about being able to afford health care when needed.

And if your business isn't in Wayne County ... maybe it should be.

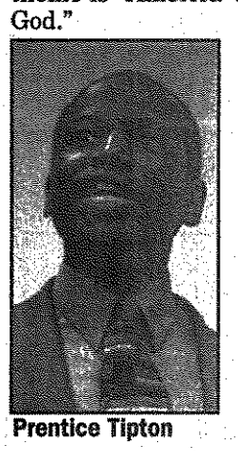
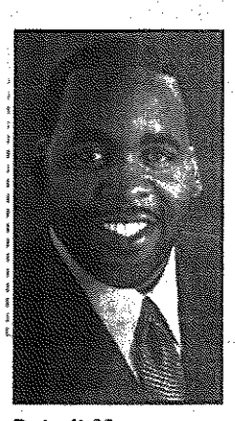
Residents break bread, pray together at prayer events

Plymouth, Canton and Livonia are among communities nationwide that will celebrate the 51st National Day of Prayer on Thursday May 2. This year's theme is "America United Under God."



Prentice Tipton

The Plymouth-Canton area's 12th annual Community Prayer Breakfast will feature Prentice Tipton, president of Challenge Ministry. Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick will deliver a message of faith at Livonia's 28th annual prayer breakfast.



Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick

The Canton/Plymouth event begins at 7:15 a.m. in the Summit, 46000 Summit Parkway in Canton Township.

Tickets are $10 per person (includes continental breakfast and program) and tables of eight are available. Reservation deadline is Monday April 29. For tickets or more information, contact Sandra Bergeson at (734) 495-0426. The breakfast is sponsored by L.J. Griffin Funeral Home in Canton.

Tipton of New Baltimore is making his second consecutive appearance in Canton. His message was so powerful and well-received by the community last year, that the committee invited him to speak again, said event chairwoman Sharon Turner.

"Since Sept. 11, many changes have taken place in our country. People are dealing with fear and interruptions to what we thought was a normal life," Turner said.

"We have asked Prentice to speak on God's wake up call to America and us in Canton and Plymouth, through the difficulties of the last year."

Chris Jones and the Word of Praise also will perform at the event.

A segment of the program will be reserved for community prayer.

Livonia

In Livonia, Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick will deliver the keynote message of faith in Burton Manor, 27777 Schoolcraft Road, just west of Inkster.

The breakfast begins at 7:15 a.m. The program ends by 9 a.m.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for students (includes a full breakfast and program) and are available by calling Sally Butler at (248) 476-9427. Tables of 10 are available.

The theme, "America, United Under God," is taken from Psalm 46:1 "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble." Jay Young, program chair for the Livonia event, says the theme acknowledges the difficult time the nation has endured since the tragic events of Sept. 11 and challenges us to stand united in faith.

Also featured at this year's event is the William Tyndale Artists Ensemble. The group will perform several selections including Cry Out and Shout by Knut Nystedt and Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor arranged by Ringwald. The group is under the direction of Jerry Smith.

Sister Mary Renetta Rumpz, provincial minister of the Felician Sisters of Livonia, and the Rev. Rick Peters of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church will offer a Prayer for the Nation and the Benediction, respectively. Doors open at 6:45 a.m.

The National Day of Prayer tradition dates back to February 19, 1795, when President George Washington issued a proclamation setting aside a day of public thanksgiving. An annual day of prayer was established by Congress in 1952 and specifically designated in 1988 as the first Thursday in May.

out there and screen themselves. We need to prevent cancer before it happens. When they find out they have cancer I want the women to act on it, to get the best care possible," she said.

"The wonderful thing about the Avon breast cancer walk is it's for women who don't have insurance, don't have transportation, don't have spouses," she added. "It funds all sorts of programs that help underprivileged women with things like transportation and childcare."

It didn't take much coaxing on Madonna University student Tara Eddington's part to get her boyfriend, Wayne Wright, 24, of Detroit to join her in walking the Avon 3-Day. Wright's mother, Erlene Wright, lost her battle with breast cancer a few years ago.

"As soon as I mentioned the walk, he said he'd definitely do it because of his mom," said Eddington, 24.

The two of them have split their training ground between Northville and Belle Isle. Their motivation has been sustained by the walk's purpose.

"Everybody has someone in their family who has died of breast cancer," said Eddington. "Every day I think why am I doing this, and I just think that every day someone will die for this if I don't help."

A generous response

When asked why she was walking the 3-Day, Lin DeVore, 48, a registered dietitian who lives in Livonia, had a direct answer:

"Because I can do it. It's important to change how things are done – the screening, the treatment, the money behind it... I've seen co-workers struggle. It's a constant threat for all of us."

By March, DeVore was walking 35 miles a week. "It's amazing what the body can do," she said.

While sending out a form letter to help raise the $1,900 has brought a poor response, coworkers and "friends of friends" have been generous," said DeVore.

"It's the cause that brings out the checkbook."

Loper agrees. "I was wearing an Avon 3-Day walk pin the other day as I was walking our of Archie's restaurant on Plymouth Road. Another women was walking in and spotted my pin. She gave me money on the spot."

She added: "People have been so generous. It's absolutely overwhelming."

For information about donating to the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day n the name of any one of the women mentioned in this story, please contact Observer staff members Renee Skoglund at (734) 953-2128 or Sharon Dargay at (734) 953-2054,

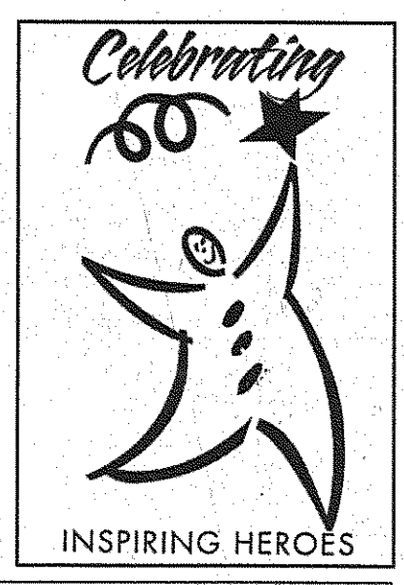
Pride and Humility

The dictionary defines pride as proper and justified self respect and a proper sense of personal dignity and worth. Everyone should take pride in their work, their family, their country and heritage. it is also good to take pride in things such as our personal appearance. When we take pride in all of the good things that our Lord has given us, we tend to take better care of them. However, we must be careful to have pride and self respect without arrogance or superiority. Children who are proud of their parents and respect them will try to be better children and do what is pleasing to their parents. As adults, we should always try to do what is pleasing in God's eyes. The Bible tells us that God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble (James 4:6). We should try to temper our pride with humility and not have an exaggerated opinion of our selves. The best way to be the best we can be. People who exalt themselves are usually esteemed less by others, and those who humble themselves are often more admired.

...do not think of yourself more highly than you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment.
N.I.V. - Romans 12:13

Event benefits developmentally disabled adults



Parisian in cooperation with The Arc of Northwest Wayne County and Community Opportunity Center presents "Celebrating Inspiring Heroes" beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 28 in the store at Laurel Park Place, corner of Newburgh and Six Mile in Livonia.

Representatives from COC and Arc have teamed up to plan this special fund-raising event and say the only ingredient needed now is an audience. The group hopes to sell 500 tickets and raise at least $10,000 for the two groups.

Tickets are $25 per person and available from any sales associate in Parisian or by calling (734) 422-1020 or (313) 532-7915. Tickets also will be sold the night of the event. Admission cost includes entertainment by the Livonia Symphony Orchestra and food and beverages (wine and soft drinks) from 15 area restaurants including Laurel Park's newest restaurant, California Pizza Kitchen, Sweet Spot, Rocky's of Northville, Joe's Produce, Outback, Max & Erma's and Ground Round.

Eventgoers also will have an opportunity to shop at Parisian and receive a 15-percent discount on purchases that evening. Chris Edmonds of WNIC-FM and Miss Michigan, Stacy Essebaggers, will emcee an auction fashion show.

A special raffle will feature prizes that include a trip for two to Grand Traverse Resort and Spa (includes golf), trip for two to a Marriott Golf and Spa Resort, golf at the new Northville Hills Golf and County Club, Red Wing playoff tickets, jewelry by Golden Gifts and many more.

The Arc of Northwest Wayne County and Community Opportunity Center provide services to assist people with developmental disabilities and their families in the pursuit of an independent and semi-independent lifestyle. The organizations serve people in Livonia, Canton Township, Northville, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and Redford Township.

Denise King, executive director of COC, said more people are waiting for services but funding is an issue. The COC manages homes that serve about 100 residents ages 25-70.

"We have a lengthy waiting list — about 200 people — but funding is an issue," said King who has worked at COC for the last 22 years.

Over the years she has seen living models change — from large group homes to many more family-like settings. Many more developmentally disabled residents are remaining semi-independent and living in apartments while utilizing the services of COC and Arc.

COC provide staff support while Arc administers funding and provides social and recreational activities for developmentally disabled children and adults.

King said COC most recently worked with four women from Our Lady of Providence Center in Northville Township to provide 24-hour assistance in a Livonia home. The Northville Center is closing and residents had to find placement elsewhere.

The women, who range in age from 25-35, with help from their families and COC have rented a home in Livonia. COC is providing 24-hour staff support to help with such everyday activities as meal preparation, laundry, home maintenance and planning social activities.

King said the women's new arrangement is abased on the self-determination model being used to service developmentally disabled adults throughout the country.

In this case, the women decided who they wanted to live with, where they wanted to live, what school and/or programs they wanted to attend and who they wanted to staff the home. Families helped paint, decorate, do repairs and yardwork. The home opened a few weeks ago and residents and staff are pleased with the results.

King said money raised from Sunday's fund-raiser will help to enhance the lives of developmentally disabled children and adults throughout western Wayne County.

Honorary chairs for Sunday's event include Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey, Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Olympic Gold Medalist Sheila Taomina, former Detroit Red Wing Doug Brown, former Detroit Piston Vinnie Johnson, Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara, Livonia School Superintendent Kenneth Watson, U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg, State Rep. Laura Toy, Wayne County Commissioner Lyn Bankes, Livonia Family YMCA Executive Director Steve Peterson and Jackie McDougal of Parisian.

Organization to award scholarships to students

The American Arab & Jewish Friends will sponsor its 16th annual awards and scholarship dinner on May 2 at the Detroit Marriott Renaissance Center.

Formed to bring Arab, Jewish and Chaldean Americans in the metro Detroit community closer together, the organization will present scholarships to Arab, Jewish and Chaldean high school students and will honor Judge George Caram Steeh III and attorney J. Leonard Hyman with its annual Friends Community Service Awards.

The reception begins at 6 p.m., with a dinner and program to follow at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $125.

Call Janice Bashi at (313) 567-6225 to register for the event.

The American Arab & Jewish Friends is a program of the National Conference for Community and Justice, dedicated to improving understanding between members of these communities in southeastern Michigan.

Approximately $10,000 in scholarships will be awarded.

*The 2.99% introductory Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is available for the first four months after activation. After four-month introductory period, fully indexed APR can change monthly based on Prime minus 1/4%, currently 4.50%. The APR is Prime plus a margin, if any, if the $10,000 draw or transfer is not made. Prime is the highest Prime Rate published in the "Money Rates" section of The Wall Street Journal. Prime is a variable rate; as it changes, the APR on your account will change.
Offer subject to maximum combined 89.99% LTV (loan to value) and a minimum $10,000 draw or balance transfer at time of activation. Annual Fee of $100 will be due annually after the expiration of twenty-four (24) months from the date of the agreement. The Annual Fee shall be waived for each year that it is due if, for the immediately preceding 12 months, the average outstanding balance on the credit line account during such 12 months is 20% or more of the Line of Credit. Lines of Credit are limited to owner-occupied 1-4 family principal residences and are subject to our underwriting standards. Property insurance required. Flood insurance may be required. Prepayment fee equal to 1% of highest outstanding loan balance owed since inception of the agreement or $350, whichever is greater, will apply if Line of Credit Agreement is cancelled within one year.
Relative to our maximum combined 99.99% LTV current offer, the 2.99% introductory APR is available for first four months after activation. After four-month introductory period, fully indexed APR can change monthly based on Prime plus 1.75% margin, currently 6.50%. Volpe a record-setter

She's certainly making the most of her final season.

Stefanie Volpe, a senior third baseman for the University of Michigan's softball team and a Plymouth Salem graduate, set two team records last weekend in leading the Wolverines to an 11-1 win over Northwestern Saturday.

Volpe slugged two grand-slam home runs, driving in eight runs, in the victory — both of them school records. That and another home run hit in Sunday's 3-1 win at No. 21-ranked Iowa earned her Big Ten Player of the Week accolades.

Volpe went 5-for-12 (.417 batting average) with three homers, 10 RBI, six runs scored and four stolen bases for the week.

It was the fourth time in her U-M career she earned Player of the Week honors.

For the season, Volpe is batting .405 with seven homers, 43 runs scored, a .649 slugging percentage, a .549 on-base percentage, 36 walks and 18 stolen bases — all of them team-highs. She also has 32 RBI, which is tied for second on U-M.

The Wolverines are ranked 12th in the NCAA with a 36-9 overall record; their 10-3 mark in the Big Ten puts them in second place, trailing only Ohio State (13-3). U-M plays single games at Illinois Friday and Saturday, then finish the weekend with a double-header at Purdue Sunday.

Track standouts

■ Nick Allen set one meet record and won two events at Sunday's third annual Detroit Track and Field Classic at the University of Detroit Jesuit.

Allen, a Plymouth Salem graduate now attending Wayne State, won the mile in a meet-record 4:20.2. He also finished first in the 3,000-meter run in 8:55.3.

Ian Bedford, another Salem graduate and former UDM standout, finished 16th in the mile run in 5:03.8.

■ Ian Searcy, a senior at Central Michigan and a Salem graduate, led the Chippewas with two first-place finishes at the Western Michigan University Quadrangular April 20 in Kalamazoo.

Searcy won the 800-meter run in 1:51.12, then anchored the first-place 4x400 relay team (3:12.73).

CMU finished second in the meet with 152.5 points, with WMU first (263).

Tucker sparkles

Ben Tucker, a junior righthander at Kalamazoo College and a Plymouth Canton graduate, handcuffed the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's only unbeaten baseball team — Calvin College — in leading the Hornets to a 2-1 victory.

The win raised Tucker's record to 3-2 overall with a 1.60 earned run average. He has allowed seven earned runs in 39.1 innings pitched with 30 strikeouts; in the MIAA, he is 1-2 with a 2.49 ERA and 24 strikeouts in 25.1 innings.

Unfortunately for both Tucker and Kalamazoo, he was diagnosed with a strained ligament in his elbow after the game, which will sideline him for the rest of the season.

Through Sunday, the Hornets were 3-6 in the MIAA, 6-18 overall.

Oaks Red undefeated

The Canton Oaks Red under-9 boys select team was unbeaten at the Louisville Alliance Futbol Club Spring Invitational.

The Oaks Red outscored their three opponents 13-3. The team didn't qualify for the championship match, which was determined by a flip of a coin, but later discovered inclement weather cancelled the end of the tournament without any champions being crowned.

BY C.J. RISAK

FIGURE SKATING

It is, after all, a sport of individuals. Figure skating in a team sense goes no further than pairs, unless you're talking about some sort of team synchronized skating.

But individual figure skaters competing in some sort of team concept? No, never heard of it.

Before.

This past winter season, Plymouth-Canton Educational Park did have a figure skating team, and this team did qualify for the Michigan High School State Figure Skating Championships, which were held March 23 in Dearborn. If that was a surprise, consider this: The PCEP team didn't just compete, it finished seventh in a field of 32.

Considering what a team had to do to qualify, and considering that the PCEP team was in only its second season, that was quite an accomplishment.

"Some people think these girls don't work that hard, that this isn't that difficult a sport," said team organizer Ellen Kolarik. "These girls train year-round."

Trying to understand the team scoring system can be difficult, even to those familiar with the sport. But let's try anyway.

First, there are two levels of team competition, High Teams and Low Teams. To compete in the High Teams, skaters must be qualified for the Juvenile Freeskating Division or higher (there are nine Freeskating divisions, ranging from Senior to Beginner Compulsory Moves; to move up a division, a skater must demonstrate certain skills).

In both the High Teams and Low Teams competitions, team members vie in three events: jumps, spins and moves. Each skaters' score in that event is then averaged together to determine the team's score in that element. A team's scores in those events — jumps, spins, moves — are added together to find the final tally.

To make the state finals, a team had to finish in the top three in its district during the season, comprised of three meets. PCEP's High Team placed eighth in its district out of nine teams, but its Low Team edged Northville for third place, scoring 26 total points during the districts compared to Northville's 24.

"This is just the second year in existence," noted PCEP team coach Barb Miller. "This year there was a lot more interest from kids of all levels."

The reason why is what makes the future of figure skating as a high school team sport so promising.

"Most of the kids on the team have skated five, 10, 12 years," said Kolarik. "But once they got to high school, they didn't have a place to compete, not for

Salem stops Canton in 8

Run down: Salems Dylan Tobin (above left) gets caught in a rundown by Canton catcher Mike Tomasaitis, a play that saved the Chiefs a run. Still, the Rocks persevered; starting pitcher Kevin O'Beirne (below) pitched five strong innings but weakened in the sixth, giving way to reliever Rickey Calleja.

Any coach'll tell ya — win your one-run games and you'll stay in the title hunt. Of course, if you have a team of mostly underclassmen, you might want to avoid those close games.

Experience is the key factor in that type of game. Isn't it?

If it is, don't tell Plymouth Salem's baseball team. "We only had three seniors start today," said Rocks' coach Dale Rumberger a few minutes after his squad twice overcame two-run deficits in the late innings, then scored the game-winner in the eighth to upend Plymouth Canton 6-5 Wednesday at Canton.

It wasn't the first time something like this has happened to Salem. Matter of fact, Wednesday's one-run win was the sixth one-run game in a row for the Rocks.

With the win over Canton — by the way, it was Salem's second-straight extra-inning affair — the Rocks were 4-2 in that stretch. With such a senior-lacking lineup, that shouldn't happen.

But it did.

"We had plenty of chances," said Canton coach Scott Dickey. "But give them credit. Their hitters got hits when they had to."

That's true. In particular in the bottom of the seventh inning when, with two out and no one on base and Canton on top 5-3, Steve Cox (a sophomore) worked Chiefs' starter Matt Staley for a walk, the first walk issued by Staley in the game.

The next two Salem hitters, Mike Antich (a junior) and Drew Parling (a sophomore), bounced singles through the Chiefs' infield, Parling's hit scoring a run to make it 5-4. Dickey summoned Carl McDevitt to the mound, his diminutive (5-foot-9, 140 pounds) junior righthander who had not surrendered a run in 23 previous innings this season.

McDevitt got two strikes on Andy Thackaberry (a sophomore) before Thackaberry lined a base hit to left field, tying the game at 5-all.

"Thackaberry struck out five times at (Westland) John Glenn Monday," said Rumberger. "Yesterday he stayed after batting practice and we spent a lot of time working on his hitting."

The extra work paid off, allowing the Rocks to bounce back a second time. In the eighth inning, no more rebounding was necessary; Andy Boyer opened the inning with a walk, Cliff Thomas singled and Ryan Leach laid down a sacrifice bunt to move them to second and third.

After Cox struck out, Antich walked to load the bases for Parling, who had shredded Glenn's pitching two days earlier for five hits. Parling lined a base hit to left to score Boyer with what proved to be the game-winning run.

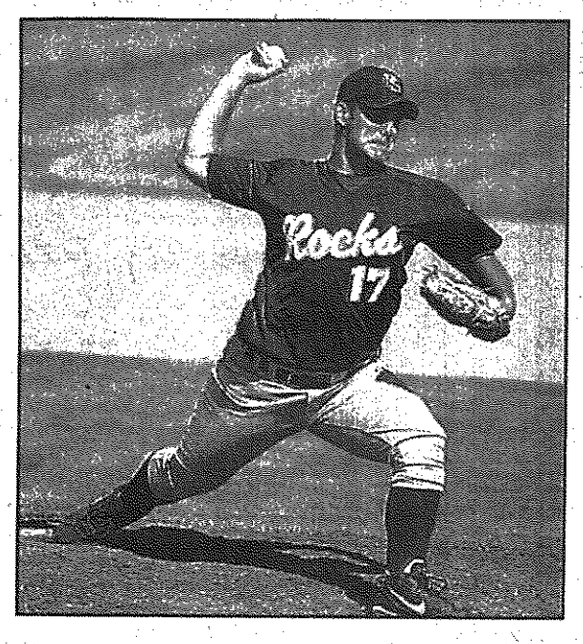
"I think good teams win one-run games," said Rumberger. "That seems to be our M.O. (modus operandi). With this team, every game is exciting."

Wednesday's victory gave Salem a 7-4 overall record, 4-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Canton is 8-4-1 overall, 2-3 in the WLAA.

The pitching win went to Rickey Calleja, who relieved starter Kevin O'Beirne and allowed no runs on four hits and no walks in 2 2/3 innings. McDevitt, allowing his first run of the season, was the losing pitcher in relief of Staley, giving up one run on three hits and three walks in 1 1/3 innings.

Canton opened the scoring with two runs in the second. Nick Musselman started the inning with a double; Brent Kwiatkowski singled him home and advanced to second on the throw to the plate. One out later, Mike Tomasaitis singled in Kwiatkowski.

Salem trimmed the Chiefs' lead to 2-1 with a run in the top of the third, scored by Andy Howald, who led off the inning with a single and came home on a two-out (of course) double by Cox.



Canton made it 3-1 on an infield single by Joe Kondratek and a double by Mark Hanson in the fifth, but the Rocks came back to score two in the top of the sixth, with the aid of some shaky defense by the Chiefs. Antich started the rally with a double; on Parling's grounder to shortstop, Antich was safe at third on the throw. Neil Kowalik and Jon Gordon followed with back-to-back, run-producing singles, knotting the score at 3-3.

Exceptional use of the bunt gave the lead back to Canton in the bottom of the sixth. Kwiatkowski singled to start the frame; Matt Kay and Tomasaitis laid down bunt singles, and when the ball got away from Boyer at first on Tomasaitis' bunt, Kwiatkowski scored the go-ahead run.

After Howald singled to load the bases, Calleja replaced O'Bierne — and was greeted by a perfect squeeze bunt single by Chris Pirch, making it 5-3.

"That was the worst defense we've played all season," said Dickey. "But again, give them credit. They did what they had to to win."

And the Rocks did it in the clutch, with a young lineup that's quickly gaining a lot of experience.

Canton's Hanson leads Chiefs past Pats, 5-3

BASEBALL

Mark Hanson did it on the mound and at the plate for Plymouth Canton's baseball team Monday as the Chiefs defeated Livonia Franklin 5-3 in a Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division game at Canton.

The Chiefs evened their division record at 1-1. Franklin is 1-1.

Hanson pitched the first six innings, allowing three earned runs on four hits and five walks, striking out nine. Carl McDevitt pitched the seventh inning, fanning two to earn the save and stretch his scoreless inning streak to 23.

Jason Rowe took the loss for the Patriots, allowing five runs in 5 1/3 innings.

At the plate, Hanson contributed run-scoring singles in the first and sixth innings. Joe Kondratek added a double, a single and an RBI, and Matt Kay and Chris Birch each had a single and an RBI.

Mike Bugnell tripled in two first-inning runs for Franklin. He scored the Patriots' third run on Brandon Lee's squeeze bunt.

John Glenn 6, Salem 5 (11 innings): A dramatic, extra-inning struggle finally came to a close when Westland John Glenn scored an unearned run without the benefit of a hit in the bottom of the 11th inning Monday at Glenn.

The game went to extra innings tied at 2-2. Both teams got a single run in the ninth and each got two more in the seventh. Will Massey scored the game-winner for Glenn on a hard grounder to third, which followed walks to Nate Campbell and Ricky Verville.

Rickey Calleja was the losing pitcher for Salem in his one inning of relief, as the Rocks' WLAA Lakes Division record slipped to 1-1. Neil Kowalik started and allowed two runs in six innings.

Kyle Rutkowski got the win for the Rockets, who are 6-3 overall, 2-0 in the division.

The loss overshadowed a superb offensive performance by Drew Parling, who had five hits for Salem, including three doubles. Steve Cox added two hits.

Brian Ceckiewicz had three hits to lead Glenn, including RBI singles in the ninth and 10th innings. Massey and Julian Fraser added two hits apiece for the Rockets.

Salem 6-1, Southgate 5-2: The Rocks won the first game Saturday at Southgate Anderson thanks to a pair or run-scoring singles by Dylan Tobin and some quality relief pitching by Andy Boyer.

Steve Cox scored a run in the first on an error and Brian Bradley's grounder brought home another run for Salem in the second. Anderson got a run in the first and went ahead with two more in the third before the Rocks rallied with two runs in the fifth and two more in the seventh.

Salem takes 2nd at Port Huron Huskies Relays

GIRLS TRACK

After an ominous start, events took a turn for the better for Plymouth Salem's girls track team last Saturday at the Port Huron Huskies Relays.

Indeed, were it not for the Macomb L'Anse Creuse track team, Salem's team may never have gotten started at all. En route to the Relays, the Rocks' bus broke down, about five miles away from the relays' site.

"The L'Anse Creuse bus picked us up," said Salem coach Mark Gregor. "We were there on time. Those people were really, really nice."

Once there, the Rocks kicked it into gear, placing second in the 22-team field. Rochester Adams won the meet with 108 points; Salem scored 69, followed by St. Clair (59) and Ann Arbor Huron (55).

The Rocks had six third-place finishes and four fourths. Indeed, depth was the difference for them: They scored in 15 of the 16 events they entered. There were also four co-ed relays in which Salem had no entry, which did give Adams an advantage.

"Under difficult circumstances, it was a very competitive meet," said Gregor, referring to the cold temperatures. "We did very well.

"It was one of those meets where you can get a lot out of it or get nothing, and we got something positive. If they can compete hard in those circumstances, think how nice it will be in good circumstances."

Four of Salem's six thirds came in track events. Included were the 4x800-meter relay team of Kara Dendrinos, Jill Grey, Laura Friedman and Lauren Kane (10:32.4); the 4,800 relay of Friedman, Dendrinos, Grey and Kane (17:15.9); the 4x100 team of Stacey Schmedding, Celena Davis, Melissa Drake and Susan Woodard (54.4); and the distance medley team of Erin Jensen, Grey, Lianne Griffiths and Lisa Keski-Hynnila (14:34.5).

The third-place finishes in the field events came from the discus relay team of Ashleigh Shear, Lori Cairo and Shannon Stott (243 feet, 1 1/2 inches) and from the long jump relay team of Davis, April Aquinto and Terease Chandler (39-9).

Salem's fourths came from the pole vault relay of Jenny Jedlick, Ashley Aquinto and Kim Blaha (20-0); from the 8,000 relay of Erin Jensen, Laura Baumgart, Stephanie Hajduk and Griffiths (32:00.6); from the sprint medley of Chandler, Vicky Rozalski, Carolyn Heaney and Kane (3:18.1); and from the 4x400 relay of Erriane Bundle, Dendrinos, Drake and Chandler (4:36.6).

The Rocks had two fifth-place finishes, from Lindsay Miles, Drake and Lynden Gault in the high jump relay (13-0) and from Woodard, Cairo and Shear in the shot put relay (85-11 1/2).

The shuttle hurdle relay of Schmedding, April Aquinto, Andrea Lang and Stephanie Olli placed sixth (1:15.6); the 4x200 relay of Bundle, April Aquinto, Drake and Woodard was seventh (1:56.0); and the 2,400 relay of Amy Masterson, Stephanie Knight, Gault and Lang was eighth (8:09.0).

The Rocks have a Western Lakes Activities Association dual meet at Farmington today. On Saturday, they compete at the West Bloomfield Invitational.

Salem stops Rockets in 12-6 win

SOFTBALL

Maggie Tudor collected three hits — two of them doubles — and drove in five runs to lead Plymouth Salem to a 12-6 victory over Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division rival Westland John Glenn Monday at Salem.

The Rocks led 5-2 after four innings; a five-run fifth put the game away. Jill Posler got the pitching win, allowing six runs (four earned) on eight hits and seven walks, striking out seven.

Alycia Murawski had three hits and an RBI for Salem, which improved to 2-0 in the Lakes, 4-3 overall. Cortney Edwards added two hits and a run batted in, and Rachel Heid had two hits. Ruth Kieltyka gave up 12 runs on 15 hits and three walks, striking out three for the Rockets. Erica Novack led their offense with three singles; Kathryn Fowler had a two-run double.

Last Saturday at the Taylor Tournament, Salem won two of three games, losing 10-7 to Garden City in nine innings on a grand slam home run by Terra Russell.

The Rocks aided their own demise in the ninth with three walks and an error. Tudor and Szawara led them offensively with three hits apiece (including a double each); Szawara had one RBI. Jess Bonello, Brook Posler and Mandy Bradley each had run-scoring singles. Kelly Szczepanski took the loss, pitching all nine innings and allowing five hits and four walks.

Salem's two wins in the tournament included a 3-1 victory over Lincoln Park. Jill Posler was the winning pitcher, allowing one run on six hits and one walk, striking out three. Rachel Heid had two singles and an RBI and Bonello had a run-scorign single to pace the Rocks' offense.

In their second game, the Rocks mercied Thurston 16-0 in five innings. Michelle Jurcak got the win with a three-hitter, striking out 11.

Courtney Edwards led Salem with two home runs, including a fifth-inning grand slam, and six RBI. Szawara also had two hits, one a three-run homer in the third. Murawski had three hits including a double and an RBI, Brook Posler had two doubles and four RBI and Tudor had two hits.

Canton 12, Franklin 1: Either Livonia Franklin isn't quite as good as its previously unbeaten record had indicated, or Plymouth Canton is better than anybody thought — and still improving.

The Chiefs' outstanding pitching continued, this time from Michelle Roelofs, who tossed a two-hitter at the Patriots. Roelof, who improved to 2-0, walked one and struck out five in Monday's five-inning mercy that dropped Franklin to 5-1 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA'S Western Division. Canton is 2-0 in the division.

Roelof, Sabrina Gorney, Danielle Weber and Caitlin McNicholas each had two hits for the Chiefs.

"We're doing real well offensively and defensively," said Canton coach Jim Arnold. "We only had one error (against Franklin)."

Nikki Zabkiewicz started on the mound but lasted just 2 2/3 innings for Franklin.

Agape 14, Greenhills 4: Lisa Ther collected three hits, three stolen bases and four runs batted in for Canton Agape Christian Friday against Ann Arbor Greenhills in a game played at Griffin Park. Livi Moore added two hits, three steals and four runs scored and Amy Henry had two hits, three steals and two runs scored for the Wolverines. Henry got the pitching win.

Hajduk, Vraniak shine for Salem in 2 relays

BOYS TRACK

Plymouth Salem's boys track team did a bit of running around last weekend, competing at the Mansfield (Ohio) Mehock Relays Friday and at the Dearborn Elks Relays Saturday.

The Rocks returned with some solid performances in both. Justin Hajduk turned in a career-best time of 9:39.6 in finishing sixth in the 3,200-meter run at Mansfield Friday. Chris Vraniak wasn't far behind, finishing in 10:06.5.

"He's running good," said Salem coach Geoff Baker of Hajduk. "He's found his focus and he's listening to his coach."

As for Vraniak, Baker added, "He's right there with (Hajduk). They're training together and he definitely has some untapped potential. Those are two quality juniors."

Saturday at the Elks Relays, Salem finished ninth in the 12-team field with nine points. Adrian was first, followed by Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Canton.

The Rocks scored in two events, placing second in both. The pole vault relay of Gavin Gismondi, Jayson Wurtzbacher and Justin Groesbeck tied Westland John Glenn for second (26-feet); the 3,200-meter relay team of Vraniak, Joe Crist, Steve Shull and Hajduk (8:28.6) finished second.

Salem goes up against Farmington today, but the location is uncertain due to the deteriorating condition of the PCEP track.

SC GOLF

Derek Lineberry tied for medalist honors to help Schoolcraft College's men's golf team finish second at the Grand Rapids CC Invitational at Egypt Valley Country Club Monday.

The Ocelots scored 314, placing second to Flint Mott CC, which won with a 310. Muskegon CC was third in the eight-team field with a 318.

Lineberry, a Plymouth Canton graduate, shot a 75 to tie Mott's Joel Hoffman for medalist. Other Schoolcraft scorers were Brian Downing at 78, Jay Smith (Plymouth Salem) at 80 and Brian Harnos (Garden City) and Tom McCall (Garden City) at 81.

The Ocelots travel to the Oakland CC Invitational at Pontiac Country Club in Waterford Friday.

Area gymnasts rank with state's best

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

For the second-straight season, Tri-Farmington's gymnastics team finished in the top five in the state. That type of performance is why team coach Jeff Dwyer is the Observer's coach of the year.

Tri-Farmington was fifth at this season's state final in Rockford, scoring 143.65 points. It was one of three top-12 performances by local teams at the state finals.

Chelsea Keesling
Tri-Farmington

Plymouth Salem enjoyed its best state-meet performance since the Rocks' coach, Melissa Hopson, was on the team in the mid-90s, finishing seventh. Livonia Unified also scored at state, placing 12th.

Still, Tri-Farmington — with its core of Chelsea Keesling, Clara Seymour, Sarah Houchins and Kristin Ulewicz — was clearly the best in Observerland. At the Western Lakes Activities Association finals, Tri-Farmington placed second to Northville-Novi.

And how tough was the WLAA? Northville-Novi finished second in the state, after winning the title last year. Six of the conference's nine teams placed in the top 12 at state.

Certainly that makes the WLAA as tough a conference in gymnastics as one could hope for, a conference where every dual meet is a difficult challenge.

And Tri-Farmington's team was as good as it got in the league.

Now for the rest of the all-Observer squad.

ALL-AREA GYMNASTS

Chelsea Keesling, senior, Tri-Farmington: Keesling was voted Senior Gymnast of the Year by the coaches attending the state meet.

She placed in the top 10 in every event and was seventh in the Division I all-around at the state championships in Rockford.

Keesling was fourth on floor (9.3) and ninth on vault (9.3), and she was 10th on bars (9.125) and beam (9.15). Her all-around score was 36.875.

Keesling was second in the regional Hartland with an all-around score of 37.55. She was second on beam, third on vault, fifth on bars and third on floor.

In the WLAA meet, Keesling was second in the all-around and was in the top 10 in every event, her best finishes being floor (second) and beam (third).

"Chelsea was definitely our vocal team leader," Dwyer said. "She was the one who organized practices, along with the other captains, but she the most outspoken. She let the team know if she wasn't happy with them. She was a leader by example throughout the season."

Sara Houchins, sophomore, Tri-Farmington: Houchins placed fifth in the Division I all-around competition at the state meet. In individual events, she was second on beam (9.5) and sixth on bars (9.15) and floor (9.275).

Houchins was fourth in the all-around at the Hartland regional with a 37.20 total. She was the floor exercise champion, and she second on bars, fifth on vault and sixth on beam.

In the WLAA meet, Houchins was fifth in the all-around and was in the top 10 in three events. Her best finishes were on beam (second) and floor (fourth).

"Obviously, she's a very talented girl who showed signs of brilliance this season," Dwyer said. "As a sophomore, she was fifth in the state, which is quite remarkable.

"I definitely think she has a chance to win states her junior or senior year. She has that much potential; she's just a natural."

Clara Seymour, junior, Tri-Farmington: Seymour, who just missed having a top-10 finish in several Division I state events, had the highest all-around average in the WLAA.

Seymour was the all-around regional champion at Hartland with a score of 37.75 – her best as a high school gymnast.

She also won the bars (9.5) and beam (9.55) competitions. Seymour was fourth on vault (9.2) and floor (9.5), too.

Seymour was 10th in the all-around at the WLAA meet and was in the top 10 in every event.

"Clara was the warrior on the team," Dwyer said. "She was one of the hardest workers. She works out four or five hours a day. She's just starting to show her potential.

"She's peaking now and I think she'll continue next year. Clara will have a shot at cracking the top 10 and have a real good chance in the all-around competition."

Kristin Ulewicz, senior, Tri-Farmington: Ulewicz was one place away from earning a medal as a Division II all-arounder at the state meet, finishing in 11th place.

She qualified for state competition with a fourth-place finish and her best all-around score (35.60) in the regional. She was fifth on vault, seventh on beam and third on floor.

In the WLAA championships, Ulewicz finished third on vault and floor exercise.

"Kristin is the ultimate competitor," Dwyer said. "I never had to worry about her at a meet. She always showed up whether she was hurting or not. She was a very consistent gymnast the last four years.

"She comes in the gym and knows what she has to do. She's just a leader, a team player. She and Chelsea will surely be missed. They were two very good competitors, along with Anne Lieberman."

Mary Moreau, junior, Liv. Unified: Making her second appearance on the All-Observer squad, the 11th-grader helped Livonia to a third place team finish at the regional and a berth in the state meet.

Individual, she was sixth in the all-around (Division II) and ninth in the vault at the state meet en route to All-State honors.

In the regional, Moreau was second all-around after taking second on vault, fifth on floor and ninth on bars. She was also the WLAA all-around champ with a second on bars, a fourth on beam and a seventh on floor.

She also made All-State in vault (ninth place) as a sophomore.

"Mary is an extremely motivated gymnast," Livonia Unified coach Christa Hinderliter said. "She is able to work by herself or with a group, never stopping or complaining. She is a very strong leader and is well-liked by her teammates.

"She is also able to stay focused under pressure and is constantly trying to improve. Mary is the kind of person that a coach dreams of having the opportunity to work with."

Katie Edwards, junior, Liv. Unified: The 11th-grader earned a spot in the all-around competition at the state meet (Division II) by placing sixth at the regional after winning the beam (9.5) and adding a seventh on floor.

A the WLAA meet, Edwards was fifth all-around with a third on beam, a seventh on both vault and floor exercise.

"Katie came to us this year and we were very excited because she brought a great deal of talent with her," Hinderliter said. "She is a very hard worker and always has a smile on her face for everyone.

"She is dedicated and well-like by her teammates. We are very excited to see her back next year."

Bethany Bartlett, junior, Salem: Bartlett's commitment and ability both surfaced at the state regionals and state finals, when she competed despite back pain that prevented her from competing in the vault and floor exercise at the state individual finals.

At the team state finals, Bartlett scored a 35.575 in the all-around. She placed third at regionals in the all-around with a 37.3 total, finishing in the top four in each discipline.

"Bethany has one more year to shine," said Salem coach Melissa Hopson, "and with the help of healing and rest for her back, she should be on the top again next year."

Melissa Drake, senior, Salem: A team co-captain, Drake finished first at regionals in the Division II uneven parallel bars with a 9.2 and was second in the floor exercise with a 9.275, placing second in the all-around with a 36.025 total. At state, she scored a team-best 35.8 in the all-around, tying for fifth in the floor exercise.

"She is such a graceful gymnast to watch," said Hopson. "Melissa was a (major) contributor in helping her team make it to states."

April Aquinto, senior, Salem: A team co-captain for three-consecutive seasons, Aquinto finished her prep gymnastics career by qualifying for state in the Division II all-around. She accomplished this by finishing fourth at the state regionals with a 35.9 all-around total, winning the floor exercise with a 9.4. Her 35.075 at state earned her an eighth place finish.

"April is a senior who had a great year of gymnastics," said Hopson. "She was a very determined gymnast that put 100 percent into each meet."

Ashley Aquinto, freshman, Salem: The future of Salem gymnastics begins with the newest Aquinto to join the team. Ashley qualified for the individual state finals in the vault, uneven parallel bars and floor exercise, tying for fifth in floor.

At the team finals, she scored a 34.375 in the all-around, and at the state regionals, her 35.00 all-around placed her seventh. She also won the Division II balance beam at the WLAA meet.

"Ashley has a lot of dedication to this sport and improving herself," said Hopson. "She is always willing to try new things. She has some successful years of gymnastics in front of her."

Spartans shut out Chiefs; Rocks roll

Plymouth Canton had no answer for Melissa Dobbyn.

The sophomore forward figured in all three goals Monday to lead host Livonia Stevenson to a 3-0 victory over the Chiefs in a Western Lakes Activities Association girls soccer match played at Stevenson.

Stevenson is 4-2-1 overall, while Canton drops to 2-2-2.

The Spartans, coming off a 3-0 loss Saturday to top-ranked Troy Athens, regrouped to beat Canton.

Danielle Lewis scored the end of the first half, popping home a rebound off a Dobbyn shot.

In the the second half, sophomore Mauren Jackson scored from Dobbyn and Lia Williamson capped the scoring from Dobbyn.

"Melissa draws a lot of attention around her and she did a good job, especially in the second half at distributing the ball," Stevenson coach Chris Pinta said.

The Spartans' first-year coach also moved Ashley Aja from sweeper to stopper to mark Canton senior Stephanie Johnson.

"Ashley helped us distribute the ball to the midfielders and the forwards," Pinta said. "She did a very good job of that."

Stevenson limited Canton to only one good scoring chance as goalkeeper Katherine Koch posted the shutout. The Chiefs were also without starting sweeper Lindsay Lasher, who injured her ankle in a match last week.

"They had some shots, but it was more from the 25- to 30-yard range," Pinta said.

SOCCER

On Saturday, unbeaten Athens, considered by one publication to be the top prep team in the country, got a pair of goals from Allison Epley nd a goal from Jesse Barrett to blank the visiting Spartans.

"They're a very good team," Pinta said of Athens. "But I was a little disappointed with our effort. Finally for about 15 to 20 minutes in the second half we started working.

"The first half we gave up a lot of corner kicks. They did a good job containing Melissa. We had difficult time getting the ball to her. And they had somebody on her on every touch."

Salem 10, Glenn 0: Marissa Sarkesian poured in five goals to lead Plymouth Salem past Westland John Glenn Monday in a WLAA Lakes Division match at Salem.

The Rocks, hurting from their 2-1 loss to WLAA rival Northville the previous Wednesday, wanted to assert themselves against the Rockets — and they did.

"We had great execution tonight," said coach Joe Nora. "The girls responded well coming off the Northville loss."

Lindsey Stiver added two goals and an assist for Salem, with Kristen O'Beirne, Heather Jones and Jane DeWitt added a goal apiece. Natalie Thomas had two assists, and Nikki Anderson, Sara Schupra, Nicole Genrich, Macy Lepper, Alicia Hay and Stephanie Baron each had one.

Tobin's first RBI single tied the game at 3-3 in the fifth. Andy Thackaberry's sacrifice fly put Salem up 4-3. The Rocks stretched their lead to 6-3 with run-scoring hits by Neil Kowalik and Tobin in the seventh.

Kevin O'Beirne got the pitching win for Salem, with help from Boyer, who got the save.

In the second game, Rickey Calleja allowed one unearned run on two hits in five innings, but the Rocks stranded 10 baserunners in the loss. Kowalik gave up the winning run to the Titans in relief in the 6th inning.

Tobin had a single and a double for the Rocks, whose only run scored on a base hit by Kowalik.

Zoe Christian 6, Agape 3: Host Warren Zoe Christian took advantage of four errors by Canton Agape Christian to score three unearned runs Monday.

Agape fell to 5-3 with the loss. Zoe Christian is 6-1.

Jeremiah Belton had two hits and scored two runs to lead the Wolverines. Rob Hough, Josh Anthony and Paul Chrenko each had run-scoring singles. David Donaldson started and took the loss for Agape, giving up six runs (three earned) on six hits, four walks and one hit batsman, striking out four in four innings. The Wolverines played without shortstop Mike Bommarito, who's out indefinitely with a thumb injury.

Agape 4-8, Oakland Christian 5-7: A two-run rally in the bottom of the fifth inning allowed host Auburn Hills Oakland Christian to edge Agape in the first game Saturday. In the second, the Wolverines led 8-3 entering the bottom of the seventh inning, then had to withstand a Lancers' comeback that fell one run short.

In the first game, Rob Hough took the loss, giving up five earned runs on eight hits, three walks and a hit batsman, striking out nine. Hough had two hits in the game, including a solo home run in the fifth inning that trimmed Oakland Christian's lead to 4-3. David Donaldson and Paul Chrenko each had two hits, Donaldson stealing two bases and Chrenko knocking in a run, and Josh Anthony had an RBI single.

In the second game, Anthony ran his record to 3-0, allowing seven runs (five earned) on six hits and four walks, striking out 15. He also paced the offense, collecting two hits, including a double, driving in three runs and scoring three more. Agape led 6-1 after two innings. Jeremiah Belton added two hits, including a double, and he scored three runs; Hough had a hit and three RBI; and Chrenko had an RBI single.

A.A. Greenhills 6, Agape 2: Four errors doomed Canton Agape Christian Tuesday against Ann Arbor Greenhills at Concordia College in Ann Arbor.

Rob Hough took the pitching loss for the Wolverines, allowing six runs (two earned) on five hits and two walks, striking out seven. Ben Herman got the win for Greenhills, allowing no runs on three hits and three walks, fanning seven in five innings.

Agape scored both of its runs in the sixth inning without the benefit of a hit. Hough and Mike Ossana both walked; an error and a stolen base put them at second and third, with Hough scoring on Bobby Konrad's fielder's choice. The second run scored on a passed ball.

Josh Anthony had two hits for the Wolverines.

Catholic Central 9-3, Brother Rice 6-7: This storied rivalry resumed Saturday, and in the end, little was settled between the two baseball powerhouses.

The Shamrocks split a Catholic League doubleheader with Birmingham Brother Rice, winning the first game 9-6 before dropping the second 7-3. Both teams have 7-1 records in league play, while CC stands at 11-2 overall.

The Warriors jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first game, only to see CC rally from four-run deficits twice. The Shamrocks batted around in the sixth inning to turn a 6-2 deficit into a 6-6 tie game. That's when one of the team's youngest players stepped forward with one of his biggest hits of the season.

Sophomore Ryan Gallagher belted a three-run home run to finish the comeback and give CC the win. The team used pitching and defense to keep Brother Rice at bay in the seventh, getting a double play to end the game.

CC coach John Salter said he was impressed with Gallagher when he was on the freshman and JV teams last year, and has brought his smooth swing and hitting stroke up to the varsity level with no dropoff in his numbers.

"The big question was could he hit varsity pitching," Salter said. "He leads the team with 17 RBI and is hitting.471 with runners in scoring position. He's also doing a nice job defensively at catcher and first base."

Jeff Niemiec pitched all seven innings, getting the win with nine strikeouts and just three walks. Salter said he was impressed with the way he could pitch out of early-inning troubles to make enough pitches to help his team be in position to win.

Ryan Rogowski and Mike Monterey delivered RBI singles to start the second game, but the 2-0 lead couldn't hold up against a motivated Brother Rice team.

"We are definitely facing some teams who are playing well," Salter said. "We've had a busy stretch over the past week-and-half, which will test your pitching. Now we have to win as many league games as we can until we face Brother Rice again (May 8)."

Monday, CC rallied from a late deficit to upend Wyandotte Roosevelt 6-5 in eight innings. The Shamrocks' comeback culminated on Jeff Niemiec's eighth-inning sacrifice fly that scored Gallagher to win the game. Gallagher started the rally with a double and later advanced to third on a wild pitch.

Starlings nest in the strangest places

NATURE NOTES

TIM NOWICKI

As I drove along I-96 near the recently resurfaced and improved intersection of Newburgh Road, I noticed a starling flying across the expressway toward the base of a light pole in the median divider.

I could not tell where the bird went after it landed, but it looked like it was going to go up into the hollow pole.

This suspicion was verified as I approached the very next pole.

Flying toward it was another starling which I did see move upward into the pole after landing. It was very coincidental to be driving by and see two birds going to similar locations just moments apart.

These two poles were elevated from the concrete foundation. Large bolts held them in place, but the bottom of the pole was not flat on the concrete. Other poles I passed were flat on the concrete. Just that slight difference was enough of an invitation for these birds to exploit.

It's amazing to me how animals can find such unlikely places. But maybe after their belly is full, they sit and scan the area for anything that would be helpful to them.

The scary thing that went through my mind was, how many more of these poles do starlings occupy?

■ It's amazing to me how animals can find such unlikely places. But maybe after their belly is full, they sit and scan the area for anything that would be helpful to them.

They don't go into those poles to rest, they build a nest inside them. I suspect there is a horizontal support that would support a nest inside.

Building a nest inside a metal pole in the middle of an expressway is certainly a safe place to take up residence. No prowling cats are going to happen upon the nest. They would have to run a gauntlet first!

Rain cannot dampen the nest. Not a bad place. And look how many potential nesting places there are for the ever adaptable starling?

No wonder we are overwhelmed with these birds.

If parents develop a route to the nest entrance that keeps them from kissing a windshield or decorating a grill, they should remain safe.

One drawback I can think of is when the young leave the nest. Young birds leaving the nest are not expert flyers yet. If they happen to fly into oncoming traffic upon exiting, they will not have to worry about finding a nest themselves next year.

This is not the first time I've seen starlings using light poles as a nest site. Most of the time they enter near the lamp high above the ground.

Several times I've seen where they found a broken shield to the lamp, or a panel had opened allowing access into the covered section. Evidently all those wires and heat do not disturb the birds.

Outside structures have never been designed to prevent birds from entering joints, or junctures.

Though early settlers to the U.S. introduced the starling into the country from Europe, our society has perpetuated their population explosion.

Millions of light poles combined with billboards, building drains and over-hangs and joints and connections and thousands of other available openings, have provided endless nesting sites for this bird.

Designing structures to eliminate nesting of unwanted birds is probably the furthest thing from an engineer's mind, but it would certainly help to reduce their population.

Or, would it put more pressure on the natural cavities that are used by native birds?

their school."

Which is all they wanted. As Kolarik explained: "To have an opportunity to represent their school."

Indeed, being a figure skater can confine a high school athlete. "The biggest thing about having a high school team," explained Miller, "is that skaters usually can't be part of other high school sports. They put so many hours into skating, they don't have the chance."

What this sport has done — with just 32 schools statewide involved, figure skating is far below the number needed to be considered an MHSAA-sanctioned sport — has replaced the 'me' of figure skating with 'we'.

"It's a team event," noted Miller. "Some of the skaters have really come out of their shell. There's not as much pressure (in the team concept) as in the other."

Can figure skating reach enough of an audience to become a sanctioned sport? That's difficult to predict, but certainly Michigan may be the place for it to flourish. Team figure skating got its start in Massachusetts six years ago; it's been in Michigan for four years.

But Michigan has the highest number of schools with teams.

At PCEP, the outlook for the future is bright. A seventh-place finish at state by the Low Team helped assure that.

"Next year will be much better because kids will move up (a division)," said Miller. "And we have a couple of real strong skaters coming to the high school that will help the team."

Sounds promising, all the way around.

Young players stepping up for Crusaders

COLLEGE SOFTBALL

The Madonna University softball team continues to battle, defying its lack of experience.

The Lady Crusaders entered the season with one senior and one junior on their roster, which meant coach Al White would be forced to rely heavily upon his younger players.

They've come through like veterans. Led by the steady pitching of their two upperclassmen — senior Missy VanDoorn and junior Jenny Tenyer — the Crusaders have managed to stay in the chase in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference.

On Tuesday at Livonia Ladywood, Madonna handcuffed Spring Arbor, allowing just one run and six hits in two games. But the Crusaders could only manage a split, losing the opener 1-0, before winning the second game with an 11-0 mercy.

The split left Madonna with an 11-11 record in the WHAC, 19-21 overall. Spring Arbor is 16-12 in the conference, 21-25 overall.

Through Tuesday, Cornerstone led the WHAC with a 16-5 mark. However, the second-through-sixth spots were bunched, Aquinas in second only 2.5 games ahead of sixth-place Madonna.

VanDoorn absorbed the hard-luck loss in the first game against the Cougars. She tossed a five-hitter, giving up one earned run, issuing four walks while striking out two; her record is 12-9. Spring Arbor's Holly Davidson was even better, however, stopping the Crusaders on three hits and four walks, striking out three.

In the second game, it was Tenyer's turn to step forward — and she did, frustrating the Cougars with a one-hit gem. Tenyer did not walk a batter in her five innings on the mound, striking out two as she improved to 7-12.

Bobrowski had two hits to lead the offense, including a home run (her sixth), and three runs batted in. Tara Turner contributed two hits (including a double), two runs scored and two RBI, and both Kathy Day (from Livonia Ladywood) and Krystle Shina (from Farmington Mercy) had a hit and two RBI.

Last Saturday at Ladywood HS, Madonna and Tri-State University divided their WHAC double-header, Tri-State winning the opener 5-4 and Madonna gaining the victory in the second game 9-4.

The fifth-place Thunder won the first game Saturday thanks to eight Crusader errors. All five runs allowed by Tenyer, who took the loss, were unearned. She gave up nine hits and no walks in 6 1/3 innings.

Offensively, Bobrowski had a triple and a single with two runs batted in and Autumn Batyik had two hits and scored two runs. Turner also had a hit and an RBI.

Madonna led 3-0 after four innings, but gave up five runs in the next two.

In the second game, VanDoorn benefitted from an 11-hit Madonna attack, allowing four runs (one earned) on 11 hits and three walks, striking out four.

The Crusaders scored eight runs in the first two innings to take command. Bobrowski again led the offense, collecting two hits including a home run and three RBI. Arin Fowler added three hits (including a double), two runs scored and an RBI; Shina had two hits including a solo homer and two runs scored; Tenyer had two hits and an RBI; and Mary Warchuck had a hit and two RBI.

Madonna plays at Cornerstone University Friday, then hosts Indiana Tech Saturday.

MU baseball having up and down season

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

COLLEGE BASEBALL

In all phases of the game, this has been an odd season for Madonna University's baseball team.

A week ago, the Fighting Crusaders scored 11 runs in a non-league game against Bethel College, leading 9-4 at one point — and lost, 16-11. Three errors in one inning fueled Bethel's comeback victory.

Not that the offense has sparkled all season, either. Remember the no-hit double-header Madonna suffered at Indiana Tech that led to it being mentioned in Sports Illustrated.

Through Sunday, the Crusaders had played 34 games, some very good, some pretty bad. Against Concordia College Sunday at Livonia's Ford Field, Madonna did what it was supposed to do: It swept the weakest team in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference, shutting out the Cardinals twice, 2-0 and 4-0.

Madonna moved over the .500 level in the WHAC at 9-8; its overall record is 16-18. Concordia is 7-35 overall, 1-17 in the conference.

Chris Woodruff (from Livonia/Redford Catholic Central) and Joe Pruchnik (Lutheran Westland) each had two hits for the Crusaders in the opener to support the four-hit pitching of Jeremey Stevens. Stevens did not walk a batter, striking out one in six innings as he improved to 3-0. Adam Kline (Catholic Central) pitched a perfect final inning to pick up his fifth save.

Eric Lightle (Livonia Churchill) added a run-scoring single for Madonna.

As tough as Stevens was in the opener, Joel Halliday (Redford Union) was even better in the nightcap, handcuffing the Cardinals on two hits and no walks while striking out 10 in seven innings. Halliday improved to 3-2.

Woodruff again led the attack with two hits, including a double, and three runs batted in. Brian Williams (Livonia/CC) also had two hits.

With final exams this week, Madonna is not scheduled to play again until Saturday, when it hosts WHAC rival Tri-State in a 1 p.m. double-header at Ford Field.

Fix problem of incorrect assessment square feet

We have just learned that several of our members had the amount of their square footage listed incorrectly in their master deed.

They're concerned about seeking reimbursement for their assessments since they've been paying for a larger number of square feet over the years. What should we do?

While obviously the association has a responsibility to correct the error, assuming that the assessments were based upon the percentage of value determined by square footage, the co-owner may have a sympathetic cause for reimbursement.

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

However, in a recent Tennessee case on similar facts, the court said that even if the math used in determining the proportionate share was flawed, the member in that case, who had lived there for 20 years, had notice of it when she bought before and had to pay what is required.

While there is no guarantee of that result in Michigan, it is at least a basis for you to start over again doing right without any readjustment for past errors.

Robert M. Meisner, a lawyer, concentrates his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate, corporate law and litigation. This column provides general information and shouldn't be construed as legal advice.

Realtors find they can't constantly run at breakneck speed and succeed

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

Most real estate professionals know they can't be like Wonder Woman or Superman and perform at full throttle day in and day out over an extended period of time.

"Sometimes we try, but it doesn't seem to work," said Gary Jones, broker/ owner of RE/MAX Village Professionals in Bloomfield Hills, Rochester Hills and Clarkston.

Burnout awaits those who don't or won't develop interests beyond the next deal.

"If you get stressed out, you don't do your clients any good," said Joan Bessinger, a Realtor with Prudential Chamberlain Stiehl in Farmington Hills.

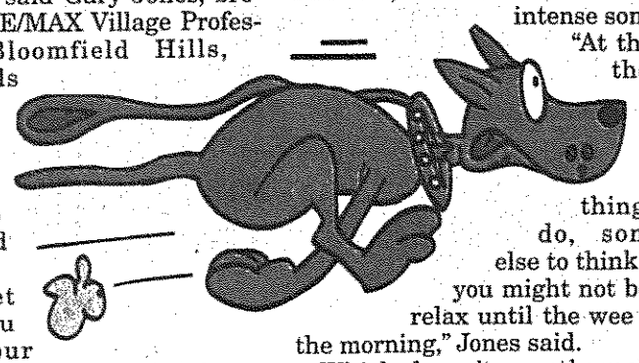
Experienced agents find that a hobby, activity or avocation can keep the personal/business life balanced, the grind manageable.

Jones, long involved in community theater before getting into real estate 13 years ago, is active with St. Dunstan's Guild in Bloomfield Hills.

He's always enjoyed theater since taking a drama class as a kid. Now, he finds the experience relaxing, the social aspects rewarding.

"Being on stage, directing, takes a lot of time," Jones said. "Since I've been in real estate, I'm more behind the scenes – stage managing, changing sets, whatever needs to be done.

"Real estate, of course, is a people business," he added. "It can be pretty intense sometimes.



"At the end of the day, if you don't have something else to do, something else to think about ... you might not be able to relax until the wee hours of the morning," Jones said.

Which doesn't exactly make for a smooth-running human machine.

"As I'm speaking to you, I just finished working out and that's so important," said Carol Eisenshtadt, a Realtor with Max Broock in West Bloomfield and a 20-year real estate veteran.

"Working out gives me energy and increases my ability to endure the hours of work of a Realtor. I feel healthier and stronger physically and mentally," she said.

Eisenshtadt works out five days a week and substitutes golf one morning a week during summer. "And my clients know it," she said.

"Your whole life cannot be real estate," Eisenshtadt added. "Real estate can be consuming, 29 hours a day, nine days a week. You have to have your own life, some outside interest."

You won't get any argument on that from Bessinger.

"You have to take a little break now and then," she said. "With deals that have a lot of difficulty, you have to step back for a day or so, remove yourself from the situation. When you come back, you're clear."

Bessinger's mini-break priorities – "take care of grandkids, cooking, going to casinos."

On a more regular basis she's involved in church activities.

Nadine and Jerry Henderson, a husband-and-wife team affiliated with Quality GMAC in Livonia, have been in business a combined 32 years.

"You have to have other interests," Jerry said. "You just have to get away from it. You get stale. You really do.

"We play golf and I go hunting and fishing. We both do a lot of gardening, get outside and breathe fresh air," he added.

Volunteers help educate homebuyers

An ancient proverb states, "When the student is ready, the teacher appears." As a military instructor pilot, I always knew which of my fledglings would excel. How? Their thirst for knowledge had them "hanging around" before briefings, talking after business hours, and even monitoring other students' flight debriefs.

MORTGAGE BITS

TIM 'TIMBO' PHILLIPS

This type of mentorship extends into other facets of life, including your family's fiscal planning. In his best-selling book, Rich Dad, Poor Dad, author Robert Kiyosaki admonishes his readers to choose reliable sources of financial information. The idea is that you can listen to "broke" people or to rich people, depending on the results you wish to achieve.

It is difficult to find disinterested sources for mortgage information because the industry is profit-based. However, one not-for-profit organization – the Michigan Mortgage Lenders Association (MMLA) – has set the stage for hundreds of potential homebuyers in southeastern Michigan to gain invaluable insights into the otherwise bewildering matrix of home finance.

On Saturday, April 27, the MMLA will host the "Homebuyer Education Event 2002" at the University of Detroit Mercy's Calihan Hall from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. The event, which is free, and open to the public, is the first of six to be held this year in Michigan, and the only one in the city of Detroit.

"Is there a chance that I can qualify for a home on my income? Should I consider using a Realtor? Why do I need a Title Insurance policy? What steps can I take to repair an old credit blemish? Can I buy a home if I am a Resident Alien? What is PMI and why must I pay it?" If you don't ask the questions, you will probably never know.

This year's Homebuyer Education Event will include a series of round-table discussions with volunteer appraisers, home inspectors, lenders, title companies, and private mortgage insurers. Participants will have access to U of D concession stands, and may even have a chance to meet WJLB radio personalities. For more information or directions, call (248) 356-6857 during business hours.

For free e-newsletters, credit assessments or mortgage pre-qualifications, go to www. vlender. com /p /phillipshq or call (734) 797-5522 [24 hours]. Tim Phillips is a mortgage loan officer serving all of Michigan. Homebuyers should always consult a professional for guidance specific to their situation.

Realtor Bill Deacon hit apex as professional, friend

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

Colleagues and friends of William P. Deacon remember him as a dynamic real estate professional and person.

"Bill's career as a Realtor included many years as a salesman followed by years as a highly successful manager, sharing the benefits of his experience with other agents," said Carol Frick, manager of Ralph Manuel Associates-Real Estate One in Birmingham.

"Bill's career was one of leadership, of encouraging others to do their best, of enabling us all to see visions of ourselves that we couldn't see on our own and helping us to get there," Frick added.

Mr. Deacon, a former president of the Michigan Association of Realtors, the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors and the Dearborn Association of Realtors, died April 14.

He was 66 and a Waterford resident. A memorial service was held Saturday, April 20.

"Bill had a wonderful gift of being to each individual person exactly what that person needed," recalled Harry Smith, partner at Midtown Mortgage in Birmingham.

"He was kindhearted, loyal, hard-working, gentle. He was a good, caring man," Smith said.

Most recently, Mr. Deacon was manager of the Century 21 Hallmark West office in White Lake Township.

"He was the best in giving up his time endlessly for the betterment of the real estate business...and to make the real estate business as professional as it possibly could be," said Bill Mountain, broker/owner there.

"He was probably one of the nicest gentlemen I've ever met," Mountain added. "He was always upbeat. He was a great guy."

Mr. Deacon was a proud member of Alcoholics Anonymous, friends recalled, and served as a director of Sobriety House, a treatment center. He also was a U.S. Army veteran.

Survivors include wife, Linda Winters Deacon; sons Stewart (Terese) of Virginia, Steven (Mary Carmen) of Mexico and Kevin of Milford; and three grandchildren, William, Darlene and Tony.

The latter can be a real pick-me-up after spending long days in and out of houses, cars and the office, Jerry conceded.

"I write and I read a lot," said Adeline Blair, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Legacy in Westland, who has started to slow down after nearly 32 years in the business.

"I never felt work was full of pressure, but there were times when deals didn't go as easily as others," she said.

Blair said she's written upward of 1,000 song lyrics, but none has been published. But that's OK with her.

"I feel I have some good ideas and good thoughts to pass on," Blair said. "I don't desperately sit and try to write. It comes naturally."

And, yes, the creative process of writing sometimes parallels what happens putting things together in real estate sales, she added.

Mary Donoghue, a Realtor with Jack Christenson in Lake Orion, learned early in her career to treat her personal life as an appointment.

"If you don't, other appointments will take over and you won't have any time for yourself," she said. "It becomes real evident as soon as you get busy."

Donoghue actually inputs away-from-work activities in her Palm Pilot.

"I enter Sunday morning church appointment, my golf league appointment and visit-the-kids appointments," she said. "If I do that, it will happen. You just turn off the pager and silence the cell phone for a couple of hours."

Inventory, organize cluttered garage

(HIT) – It's easy to make the garage a room for all those things we don't really have a place for. That goes for a new home, as well as existing.

"We tend to use the garage as a catch-all for many of the items we need, but don't know what to do with," says Marc Shuman, founder of GarageTek, a company that specializes in organizing garages.

The company's products include cabinets, shelving, activity racks and accessories.

Clients run the gamut from down-sized tech executives to developers who incorporate high-tech garage systems into the homes they build.

Shuman says the garage is the most "abused" room in the house and can easily be turned into a high-value asset.

Use an organizing opportunity to take inventory of items you will need for spring such as missing garden tools.

To get the process of spring cleaning in the garage going, Shuman recommends the following:

■ Arrange items you want to keep in piles

■ Determine what kinds of containers will best store these items.

■ Hang pegs to organize certain items. Even lawn chairs can be stored on long pegs.

■ Bicycles can be hung from the rafters when not in use. When bicycles are in season, assign a certain place for them to be parked.

■ Keep as many items off the garage floor as possible so it's easy to sweep often. Twice a month is a good schedule. Remember that dust from the garage often ends up in the house.

■ If you have bare studs in the garage, place slats of wood across the studs to create bins for items like sports equipment and gardening tools.

■ Hammer nails into the wall or into the studs for tools and other articles.

■ Keep similar items together in marked containers and go through them once a season to clean things out you're not using any more.

■ Hang shelves and keep storage containers marked with items like toys, tennis balls, nails and lawn chemicals.

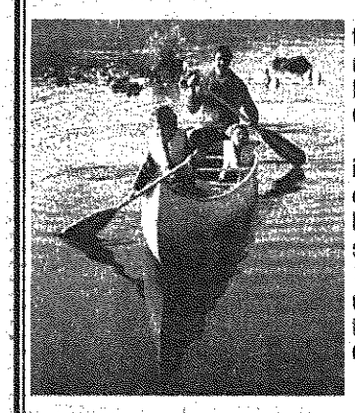
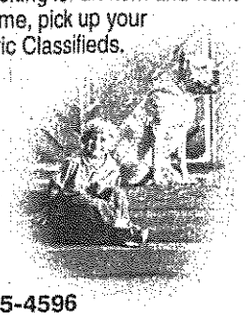
We're a whole lot closer to home.
Families have found some of the best things in our hometown classifieds. Like this really great canoe in the Birmingham Eccentric or that great dog advertised in the Canton Observer.
Folks take time to look for that special item advertised by a neighbor who sold his cottage or the woman who can't have a dog in her new apartment. They spend time shopping our friendly classified marketplace.
So, if you have something you're not using, or if you're looking for an item and want to buy it close to home, pick up your Observer & Eccentric Classifieds.




It's all about RESULTS!

Michigan Humane Society

ADOPT-A-PET

This Week's Featured Pet

Rufus is a ten-month-old Rottweiler male who was found stray and brought to the shelter to find a home. He is very handsome with lean yet muscular physique covered with copper and black fur. He is very sweet and likes to play bite, therefore he is not recommended for a home with children under ten years of age. Since he has lots of energy, he will need to find an owner who can give him regular playtime and walks. In addition, he is a candidate for obedience training so that he can become a well-mannered mature pooch. Since he is already neutered and up-to-date on his shots, he is able to go home with you today!

To welcome Rufus home, visit the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter, (734) 721-7300

GREAT OFFER!

Attention Movers, Shakers, and Rumblers- You're gonna love this!

Run a transportation ad in your hometown classified section - sell your van, boat, go-cart, RV, motorcycle, ATV, jet ski - whatever moves - and we'll run your classified ad until it does move....right on out of your garage!

Is this a great deal or what?

We'll keep running your classified transportation ad until it sells.

Limited time offer, two time minimum, private parties only, other restrictions may apply

So if you have a mover, shaker, floater, or rumbler, park it with us until it's sold.

If your message isn't in front of the people who are ready to buy, it's like trying to run a dealership without cars on the lot

What's the best way to reach the people who are ready to buy what you have to sell?

Our network of newspapers:

■ When, without prompting, more than eight in 10 adults choose newspapers as their primary source of local shopping information…

■ When more than three in four adults agree that newspapers are their "most useful" source of shopping information…

■ When more than six in 10 adults say they look at newspaper advertisements before they shop…

■ When we reach more homes in our hometowns combined than any other newspaper

…it's time for you to make us a big part of your advertising strategy.
