'Sound' suggestions make homes less noisy

(MS) - Households are bombarded daily with many types of noise - booming stereos, blaring television sets, rumbling washers and dryers, and boisterous children, to name a few.

As lot sizes decrease, roads widen and televisions and stereos expand into more rooms in the house, Americans are having a tougher time finding peace and quiet in their homes.

"More and more homebuyers are requesting homes that are quieter, particularly in laundry rooms, bedrooms and home offices," said Paul Estridge, president of The Estridge Companies, a major home building company.

A survey conducted by The Tarrance Group, on behalf of building materials manufacturer Owens Corning, asked 800 homeowners and renters about the effects of noise on their lives. Many of those surveyed reported that noise adversely affects them, with approximately a quarter of the women in the survey stating that noise causes them stress or a lack of sleep - certainly not an ideal living environment.

Common problem

"Living in noisy surroundings is a problem for many people," said Wayne Power, general manager of Owens Corning's Acoustics Systems Business. "Homeowners tell us that they want a more peaceful living environment and are willing to invest in products that make their home quieter."

Homeowners are now able to minimize the level of noise that invades their living space by taking advantage of QuietZone Noise Control products developed by Owens Corning. The series of high-performing products can be used independently or together as a system. In Owens Corning's acoustic laboratories at the company's Science and Technology Center in Granville, Ohio, researchers found that the QuietZone system decreased perceived room-to-room noise levels by 80 percent or more when compared to conventional wood-stud wall or floor constructions.

"The QuietZone products work even better than I thought they would," said

John Morrison, a homeowner in Sparta, N.J., who recently had QuietZone Acoustic Batts installed in the interior of his new home. "I work nights and have four kids, so I can really tell the difference in noise reduction when I need some quiet during the day."

Inside the home, entertainment equipment, heating/air conditioning systems and loud family members account for a majority of the noise issues. In fact, internal noises created by televisions, stereos and children can easily reach 80-90 decibels - that's approximately the same noise level as a lawnmower, power tools or a semi truck. With a high level of sound throughout the home, conventional wall and floor constructions cannot provide optimum noise control solutions.

"A good sound control system uses acoustic products to effectively manage and control noise by incorporating four basic acoustic principles - breaking, blocking, absorbing and isolating sound vibrations," said Power.

Power recommends homeowners follow these guidelines to help reduce the amount of unwanted noise in their homes:

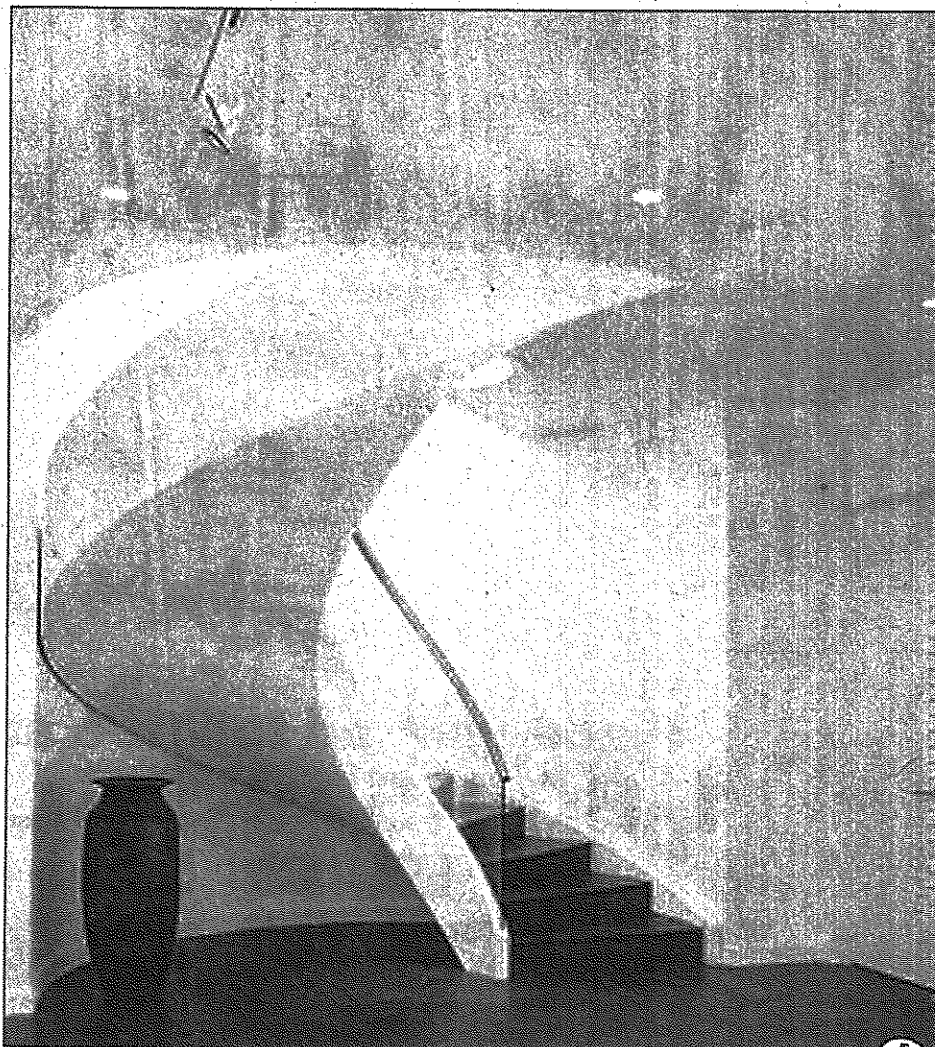

Sound travels easily through air, so leaving interior walls hollow contributes to interior noise in the home. Installing QuietZone Acoustic Batts helps reduce the noise transmission between walls by absorbing sound vibrations.

To cut down on room-to-room noise transmission, solid-core doors are a better choice than hollow doors.

For homeowners who have had trouble getting to sleep because of foot traffic above or someone talking loudly in the room below, there are ways to minimize the noise. Floor noise can be controlled with QuietZone Acoustic Floor Mat, which is installed directly on top of the plywood underlayment to isolate noise at the point of impact so it doesn't travel to adjacent rooms.

CEILING

QuietZone SOLSERENE Fabric Ceiling System allows virtually any residential ceiling to incorporate superior

A new option called the QuietZone SOLSERENE Fabric Ceiling System offers a solution to a home's noise problems by incorporating a seamless fabric that fits into a home's construction.

sound control without abandoning the clean lines of a conventional drywall look. Noise problems, such as the "echo" effect that is often present with today's popular building trends, including vaulted ceilings, large rooms with high walls, and hard flooring, can be readily reduced.

The fabric ceiling system provides a clean, crisp finished appearance in white, beige, light blue, black or custom-dyed colors to meet specific design requirements. Cost-effective and quickly installed, the system incorporates an ultra-wide fabric that can be installed over existing drywall, or directly to ceiling joists, eliminating the need for painting and drywall sealing. The system includes a 10-year limited warranty, and is installed by certified professionals.

For more information about making houses quieter, homeowners can visit www.QuietZone.com or call (800) GET-PINK.

Huckleberry designed with families in mind

Huckleberry is an excellent choice for families with small children. Its floor design with 1,218 square feet of living space offers a substantial amount for your building dollar.

The handsome wood exterior projects a solid permanence and adds greatly to the curb appeal. A covered front porch leads to a recessed entry with a vaulted ceiling and roomy coat closet. To the left of the entry are the sleeping areas. The master suite, for a home this size, is quite spacious and features a large walk-in closet with plenty of shelves, a window to the back yard, and private bathroom.

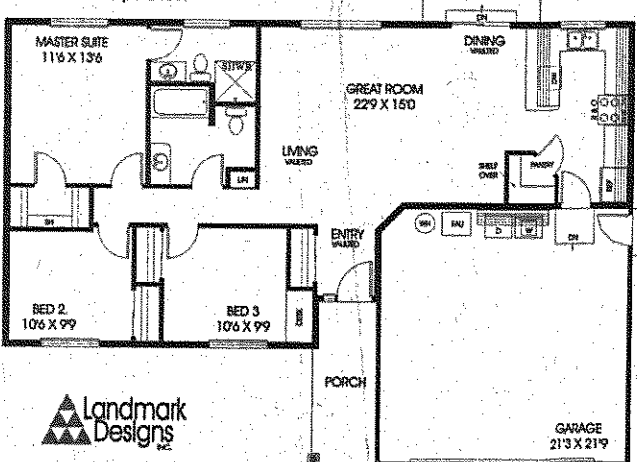

Across the hall, and in perfect proximity for those with youngsters needing close attention, are two good-sized bedrooms. Each has sufficient closet space, and one contains a built-in desk. This room, if not needed as a bedroom, could function as a sewing room, den or home office. In the hallway are a full bathroom and a linen closet.

The main section of this floor plan, where family activities and entertaining are centered, is designated as a great room. This combines the living room, family room and dining room into one huge uncluttered expanse. Here you and your visitors can enjoy a movie, board game or good conversation. The adjacent walk-in kitchen is placed for maximum efficiency. Along with all the appliances, there is a step-in pantry and garden window. Meals are easily served in the dining area or, weather permitting, open the sliding glass doors and dine on the back patio.

An added feature is the direct access to the kitchen from the garage. This allows you to carry groceries right into the house without worrying about the weather outside. A utility area is at the rear of the garage.

For a study plan, including scaled floor plan(s), elevations, section(s), and an artist rendering, send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424. Specify plan name (Huckleberry) and the number (404-10). A catalog featuring hundreds of home plans is available for $12.95, or save by ordering both for $29.95. ## Thomas Ervin Let's Talk About Real Estate

"INVESTMENT TIPS"

Although you will buy your next home with the goal of satisfying your own personal needs, it is important to consider its resale potential. Many buyers make the mistake of buying a property that becomes difficult to market when the time comes to sell.

Strikingly from an investment point-of-view, here are some things to consider when buying your next home:

Future Value Of The Area

Are home values in the immediate area rising? Does it appear that they will rise during the anticipated years you will own the property? If values are decreasing, you may be able to make a purchase at a below-market price now, but suffer the same fate when you decide to sell.

Local School System

Even if your family does not have a need for schooling, the reputation of the local school system will have a major impact on the value of homes located within the school system's boundary. For this reason, it is important to gather factual data on the local schools. You should talk to homeowners with school-age children in the immediate area that you are considering.

Surrounding Properties

Homes immediately surrounding a prospective purchase always have an impact on the resale value of homes in the neighborhood. The homes immediately adjacent on all four sides will either add to or detract from the value of a home you are considering. Be sure to check them out.

Advice: Your success in selling begins with smart buying. Get the help of a Realtor when buying or selling.

Anne Fracassa

BY ANNE FRACASSA
AVANTI NEWS FEATURES

Avanti NewsFeatures columnist Dave Menard fills in for Avanti Editor Anne Fracassa this week. Since its introduction for the 2001 model year, the Chrysler PT Cruiser has been one of my favorite cars. I still love the retro styling, the interior space, and the versatility of the seating options.

The only thing I wasn't thrilled about was the limited choices in engines - specifically no high powered engine to make the PT Cruiser, well, cruise. Chrysler has fixed that, and the 2004 PT Cruiser is available with two new turbo-charged engines.

The base model is only available with the standard 150 horsepower engine, but the Limited Edition and the Touring Edition (which I'll review here) are available with an optional 180 horsepower 2.4-liter, 16-valve turbo. The PT Cruiser also comes in a Turbo Edition model, and that version gets an even more powerful 220 horsepower High Output Turbo.

The Touring Edition' optional turbo, combined with the optional four-speed automatic transmission, really makes the PT more fun to drive than previous versions. Torque is rated at 210 lb.-ft. @ 2800-4000 rpm. Acceleration is quicker, and the shift points are smooth.

You'll have plenty of passing power and there isn't much interior noise at highway speeds. DCX recommends premium fuel, but says regular is acceptable, and EPA rates it at 19/26.

The PT Touring handles pretty well, too. Power rack-and-pinion steering is standard, and the front suspension featured MacPherson struts, coil springs and a stabilizer bar, while in the rear coil springs and gas-charged shocks help smooth the ride. ABS brakes are standard and work well.

2004 Chrysler PT Cruiser Touring Edition Vehicle Class: Special purpose vehicle. Power: V6 engine. Where built: Toluca, Mexico. Mileage: 19 city/26 highway. Base price:$19,170. As tested: $21,865

The retro styling that has made the PT such a success hasn't changed much, and that's a good thing.

Some new badging is available for the Touring, Limited and Turbo Editions, and there are some new chrome packages, but the basics are still there. DCX offers customization packages (backed with a warranty) like the Flame, the Woody and several more.

A liftgate-mounted spoiler is standard on the Turbo Edition, optional on the others. The Touring Edition comes with fog lamps, quad headlamps, power mirrors and 16-inch aluminum wheels.

One of the more impressive features of the PT is the amount of room you have. Despite its smallish appearance, there's lots of room for passengers and cargo. Leg room is plentiful, even for tall drivers, and head and shoulder room is not a problem.

The seating options are plentiful, as well. The front passenger seat folds flat, if you need it to. The rear seats are fold-and-tumble 65/35 split seats with quick release removal to give you a little more cargo room.

All the seats are cloth; leather is only available on the Turbo Edition PT Cruiser. The front seats are manually operated, but a power height adjuster is optional for the Touring Edition.

The seats are comfortable and provide good support.

The retro style of the PT also applies to things like the instrument panel. The cluster contains a tachometer and temperature gauge (an oil pressure gauge would be a nice touch).

The PT Touring Edition is loaded with other features, including air conditioning, power windows and locks, keyless entry, cruise control, full-length floor console, front and rear auxiliary power outlets, rear window defroster, wiper and washer, and overhead console with digital readouts for outside temperature and compass direction.

The standard audio system is an AM/FM/CD system with six speakers and it sounds very good.

You can add a cassette deck, a six-disc changer or a subscription to satellite radio as options.

A moonroof is also available as an option.

With all of this, the PT Cruiser Touring Edition starts at about $19,000.

Add the turbo engine, and automatic transmission and destination charge and you can still get in for under $22,000.

It's a cool package at a decent price.
