Schools brace for more state cuts

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

Gov. Jennifer Granholm's latest budget-balancing act could cost Plymouth-Canton Schools nearly $500,000 within the next few weeks.

Granholm told lawmakers local school districts will lose $28 per student in July's state aid payments if legislators don't come up with a way to erase a $50 million education budget deficit in the next couple of weeks which includes her increases in cigarette and liquor taxes.

"I think she's using the schools as a hammer on the legislature," said Patricia Brand, executive director of business services for Plymouth-Canton Schools. "There will be districts that won't make it this year, let alone next year."

Because the fiscal year for school districts ends June 30, if a funding cut is made so late in the year the districts will have to absorb it, if they have a fund balance, because there's no time to make budget adjustments.

"We just can't cut $500,000 in two weeks," said Brand.

It will be the second hit for school districts this year. Earlier, the state took $74 from Plymouth-Canton's $7,025 per pupil foundation grant. Another cut would reduce funding by a total of $102 to $6,923 per student.

The state House earlier passed a 75-cent increase in the cigarette tax, and moved the measure to the Senate. Rep. John Stewart, R-Plymouth Township, voted "no" on the cigarette tax because there were already enough votes to pass it.

On a hike in liquor taxes, Stewart said, "I'm not going to commit to it until I see it, but it's been decades since it's been raised. We'll have to sharpen our pencils."

Stewart, a member of the House appropriations committee, said there has been some talk about tweaking Proposal A in order to come up with a stable funding mechanism for schools.

"We've been talking about the possibility of a one-mill enhancement, or putting some type of property tax base back into it," he said. "But, we really don't want to resort to having to change Proposal A."

Young artist indulges her shopping, fashion passions on paper

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Jaclyn Novak is one of those people who just always knew what she wanted to be when she grew up.

"I was naturally drawn to art," the recent Siena Heights College graduate said. "I think everyone can learn to draw. But I think some people have a gift."

As a youngster, Novak would lean on her father's words about art. "He was always interested in art and he would teach me some things when I was young," she said.

The Canton resident makes no pretensions about what she really wants in life. Gallery exhibits in New York, London or Paris aren't that important to her. "I don't care if I'm famous," she said. "I do this for myself. It's something I am passionate about."

Novak would rather her share her gift by teaching kids: "I love working with

To accomplish her goal, Novak is returning to college to earn her teaching certificate. She already

Attorney wants letters in Big Boy hearings

*Yesterday upon the stair
I met a man who wasn't there.
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away.*

Hughes Mearns

Whether those lines of verse from a fanciful poem summed up the feelings of Ron Witthoff, an attorney representing Canton Township in the case of Canton vs. Big Boy, when he left 35th District Court on Tuesday, is anybody's guess.

But they do seem symbolic of the case so far, which, after four court appearances, is still in the stage of arguing for discovery information.

At Tuesday's hearing attorney David Lawrence, representing Tony and Rana Matar, owner of the restaurant on Ford Road just east of Canton Center, presented two discovery orders to Judge Ron Lowe. What Lawrence is looking for is any documentation of situations in which a statue or other "atypical" structure has been challenged under the sign ordinance but never reached the stage of a citation being issued against the owner of the business.

"Situations in which an ordinance citation was not issued would have been just as important or perhaps more important than those in which a citation was issued," he told the judge.

He has asked for townships records - documentation - of any instances in which such situations occurred.

But Witthoff argued that that is almost an impossible task.

"I'm concerned with the language 'other instances,'" he argued. "At that point we're in a kind of free-fall. This is asking for any writing of anything that ever pertained to a sign. To me that would be any matter that related to the sign ordinance over the past 15 years. That's too broad."

The Matars were ticketed last year because they have a street sign in front of the restaurant near the street and a Big Boy statue near the front entrance of the restaurant. The township maintains that the statue constitutes a sign and only one such sign is allowed.

Family deals with pain of son's death

BY BRAD KADRICH
STAFF WRITER

The cigarette bobs up and down as Canton resident Derek Dodsworth's trembling fingers raise it to his lips. His downcast eyes stare at the table as he struggles - more than two years later - to find answers about the death of his son.

They never come. The strain - and the pain - of the search is evident in Dodsworth's tired eyes as he copes with the knowledge that justice still hasn't been served in the case.

Dodsworth's son, Eric, was killed in the wee hours of the morning New Year's Day 2002 when his 1993 Ford Escort was hit by a Ford F-150 pickup being driven by 24-year-old Joseph Paul Bandy, an off-duty dispatcher for the Metro Airport Police.

Bandy, a Westland resident, had a blood-alcohol content of .096 an hour after the accident, according to court testimony.

He was later convicted on one count of manslaughter, one count of driving under the influence causing death and two counts of DUI and sentenced to five years in prison.

Therein lies the rub. Bandy, whose case is being appealed, is still out on bail pending the appellate hearing. In fact, Derek Dodsworth and his daughter, Julie, say, Bandy has even been seen driving himself around town, a strange circumstance consider Michigan drivers convicted of DUI lose their licenses.

"It's very frustrating," Derek Dodsworth said. "He should be in jail. He killed somebody, he should be in jail for life."

Julie Dodsworth's voice trembles as she talks about the brother she lost. Born just 18 months apart, the siblings shared friends and activities and liked hanging out with each other.

The fact Bandy is still not in jail - much less driving - is a source of pain for her.

"We have him on film driving, and no one will do anything about it," said Julie Dodsworth, who said the family has talked both to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and the Garden City Police, where Bandy was seen.

"Someone who gets a ticket for drinking and driving suffers more consequences than (Bandy). He killed someone."

Eric Dodsworth had left Julie's home and was driving to see his girlfriend, Nicole Siewacz, the morning of the accident. He had been the "designated driver" for New Year's festivities and was traveling on Warren between Lilley and Haggerty when police believe Bandy crossed the center line and smashed into Dodsworth's car.

Two passengers in Bandy's pickup were injured, as was 17-year-old Charles Savino of Canton.

Not only did that accident devastate the lives of Dodsworth's family and friends, it also serves - as all alcohol-related accidents do - as a warning for teenagers, particularly at a time of year when high school graduation parties crowd social calendars.

"This is a time of year when kids often have their minds on other things," said Pam Karvonen, victim assistance coordinator for Wayne County Mothers.

Congregation plans building expansion

Grace Lutheran Church in Canton is only two years old, but the congregation already is making expansion plans to accommodate its growing ministry.

Since the church was founded as a daughter congregation of Christ Our Savior in Livonia, Grace has grown from an average worship attendance of about 40 to 120, including many young families.

Plans are to add approximately 3,200 square feet for fellowship and education ministries. More space especially is needed to better accommodate the thriving Sunday school program, which Rev. Kirk Miller describes as "very visual, musical and interactive."

"People expect technology to enhance their lives, and our vision is very much high-tech, high-tech, contemporary worship," Miller said.

To help make that vision a reality, Grace is partnering with Capital Funding Services, the capital fund-raising arm of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. A ministry of the Lutheran Church Extension Fund, Capital Funding Services helps congregations raise money to build and to retire burdensome debt.

Members are participating in "Catch the Vision," a stewardship campaign to help purchase and expand their church facility. Grace is in the process of buying its building from the Michigan District, which assisted with planting the new congregation.

"As is perhaps more typical of a smaller congregation,

Pastor Kirk Miller of Grace Lutheran Church and the Rev. Don Sandmann, the Capital Funding Services regional consultant, who is working with the congregation to expand its facility.

almost every member at Grace is involved in some aspect of the ministry and in our stewardship emphasis. But typically, there is a larger than expected number of bible classes and service opportunities," said Rev. Don Sandmann, the Capital Funding Services regional consultant who is working with the congregation on the campaign. "It is a pleasure to see how Pastor Miller and the church leaders follow through on their vision of providing high-touch, high-tech opportunities in their work."

The goal is to use the expanded building within two years.

Lend an opinion as new master plan developed

Canton is embarking on the development of a five-year master plan for the Leisure Services Department. To ensure that the plan represents the entire Canton community, Leisure Services is conducting a series of focus groups. Each focus group will give participants the opportunity to provide input regarding one of the following plan components:

- Cultural Arts: Guide the newly formed cultural commission to help define the future of the arts in the community.
- Open Space: Provide input into the development of new parks, trails and green ways - walking and bike paths.
- Facilities: Evaluate existing facilities and identify potential new facilities

- Recreation: Aquatics, senior adults, health and wellness, special events, sports, teens and enrichment programs

Focus groups are scheduled for the following dates:

- Thursday, June 10; 6:30-7:30 p.m. or 7:45-8:45 p.m. at the Summit on the Park, 46000 Summit Parkway, Canton.

- Saturday, June 12; 9:30-10:30 a.m. or 10:45-11:45 a.m. at Human Services Center in Cherry Hill Village, 50430 School House Road, Canton.

Dodsworth

Against Drunk Driving. "They're thinking about tomorrow, and maybe they don't always think about the actions they take today. It only takes one bad choice to create a lot of devastation."

The devastating aftermath is what the Dodsworths are coping with now. Derek and his son, who was 19 when he died, did all the father-son things: fishing, baseball games and practices.

Julie and her brother did all the teenage "hanging out"

Eric would show up to talk.

"I talked to him about everything," Julie said.

"We had so many similar friends, there are constant reminders of him. You try not to think about (his death), but that's hard to do, because he was such a big part of my life."

Bandy's background also fuels Derek Dodsworth's anger. Bandy started working for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in 1998 and, at least in Dodsworth's eyes, should have known "better than anyone" the consequences of drinking and driving.

Adding to the pain is the fact many agencies offer free rides home during the New Year's season.

"He knew all you had to do was make one phone call," Dodsworth said, his voice shaking. "Everybody and their brother offers a free ride home. But he chose to drive."

Derek Dodsworth feels the anger almost constantly, though the target shifts occasionally between Bandy and the legal system that allows him to be out of jail.

"You try not to think about it," he said of dealing with the pain. "But that's impossible."

The irony is in the technology for longtime farming family

BY PETER A. SALINAS
CORRESPONDENT

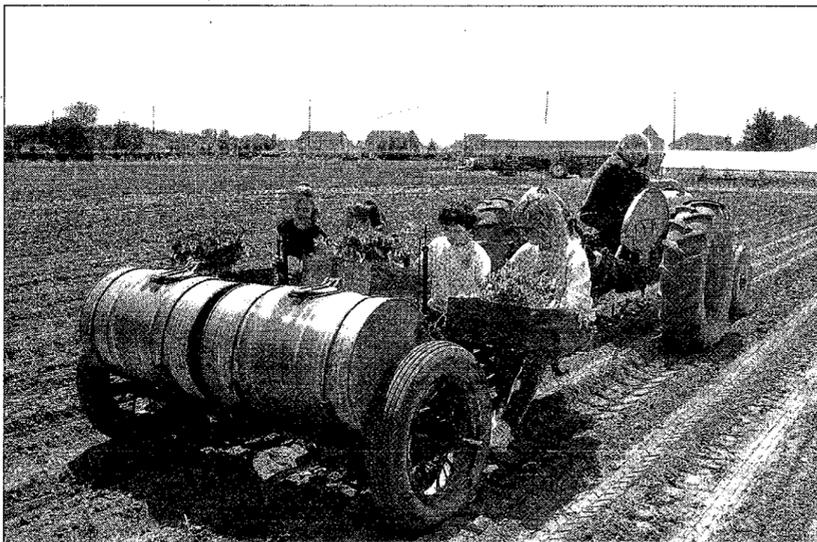

A short respite from repeated afternoon thunderstorms and morning rains Sunday provided the perfect opportunity for the Costantino Farm in Canton to get several thousand tomato, pepper and other vegetable plants in the soil.

This past Memorial Day weekend is actually "two weeks late" for planting, a result of muddy fields from the heavy cloud bursts over the past month, according to Diane Costantino.

Diane was in charge of the three young planters, who kept the antique vegetable transplanter fed, while her husband, Chris, towed the planter with and its four occupants across the 75-acres of farmland, which stretches from Cherry Hill north to the powerlines.

Over the years, the Costantino Farm, which has been farmed by this family since the early 1960s, has gradually diminished in size as large half-million dollar homes have been developed to the north, across the road to the south and now, immediately to the west of the farm.

The new homes are filled to the rafters with modern building materials and high-technology. It is somewhat ironic that the technology, which plants what smart Canton shoppers know is the best value in town — fresh locally-grown late-summer produce — is an antique. "I picked up the transplanter 20 years ago at a farm auction for $50," said Chris, while picking up another load of tomato flats carefully stacked behind the family home. "It was an antique then. Look at the spoke wheels. I just keep it lubed and it always works. It's the best deal I've ever gotten." The planter is ingenious. As four occupants ride behind a large metal water container, they quickly remove the tomato plants from the flats, place them in a delivery chute, and from there the machine takes over. It plants four rows of seedlings simultaneously, gives each a shot of water and then furrows each row. Several hundred plants are nestled into the ground in a matter of minutes. "Corn should be ready around July 20," Diane said. "It's hard to tell if it will be a good year or bad year. We know we're two weeks late, but if the weather turns nice, everything will be fine. The only thing that could make things very bad is if we get hail." Canton resident Peter Salinas provided the Observer with this story and photographs.

Rosie Costantino, the matriarch of the Costantino Farm, has been working the Canton Township farm since the early 1960s. She and her grandson Anthony, 13, show off a flat of tomatoes.

BIG BOY

is a statue, not a sign, and the ordinance shouldn't apply.

Complicating matters is the fact that the first ticket was dismissed and Tony Matar received a letter from Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack saying the statue was OK.

But then the Zoning Board of Appeals said Yack had no authority to issue such a letter and another ticket was issued.

And that Yack letter became a focus of attention at Tuesday's hearing.

The letter implied that the matter had been discussed with township's legal counsel and Lawrence says he'd like to see the opinion letter from the lawyers that generated Yack's letter.

"My communications with my clients are privileged and that's the way I want to leave it," Witthoff told the judge in response to the request.

But Lawrence said that since the township responded to his first discovery motion on May 3, Yack has written other letters about the case.

"It has come to my attention in the last week or so that the township supervisor has written other letters to citizens (about the case)," he said. "Apparently several people have written letters saying 'Why are you doing this, spending all the township money?' and he's written back to them offering explanations as to why the township's doing this. I'd like to see all those letters."

He said he had a two-and-a-half-page letter to a citizen dated May 6 in which Yack explained the township's position.

The judge said such letters that occurred after the original citation was issued represented "post-enforcement."

"They're post-enforcement by the township," Lawrence said, "but the CEO is the same official who previously told my client that the statue would be fine and I'm interested in why he changed his mind or other township officials changed their minds."

Lowe asked Witthoff if he was comfortable turning over all those letters and Witthoff replied that he was not.

"I don't think they have anything to do with this case," he said.

The judge then told Witthoff to produce "everything you have in regards to conversations with your clients."

"I want it all produced to me so I can do an in camera review to determine whether any of it is nonprivileged," Lowe told Witthoff. "Anything I think is nonprivileged I'll give you the opportunity to argue in open court whether it is privileged or not."

In regard to the Yack letters, Lowe said:

"As he put pen to paper about the Big Boy explaining what is or is not happening about it, then I think the defendants are entitled to review those to make an interpretation of whether that's going to assist or eliminate the possibility of an unconstitutionality argument being successful."

He also told Witthoff to produce affidavits from the supervisor, all board members, all planning commission members, the zoning board of appeals and the building department employees as to whether they remember any similar situations occurring in the past that might not have resulted in citations being issued.

"I want affidavits from the supervisor down to the lowest person who might have ever had anything to do with signs," he said. "Also the minutes of the board, the planning commission and the ZBA."

Desserts are a favorite for artist Jaclyn Novak, who uses bold colors in her work.

Titled "Indulgences," the exhibit of mixed media work is about women, specifically Novak. "This is personal for me," she said. "It is my everyday life. The work is about the things we do in our everyday lives as women."

The works, which are in pastels, oil pastels, oils and colored pencil, are of shoes, closets and desserts. "Most of it is very feminine," Novak said. "I think it really fits my personality. It's stuff from my life. I am such a girly-girl. I have always had a love for fashion and shopping."

As a kid, Novak wanted to literally mix her artistic gift with her love of fashion and become a fashion designer. But all it took was working with artist Sharon Dillenbeck of D&M Studios to change her mind and teach.

Her favorite media is pastels. "You can be really loose with it and be detached," she said. But Novak is also experimenting with a mix of oils and pastels on paper.

Novak often takes photos "of things as they are," such as her closet, and takes it from there, adding bold colors and feminine flair.

This pastel of fashion accessories by artist Jaclyn Novak is based most likely on items found in her own closet.

Originally, she would set up objects for her painting or drawings.

But she found that — like typical landscapes and the standard fruit in a bowl — boring.

Though her first exhibit, Novak is not selling her work, however, she will sell prints of her work. "I can't sell the originals. A lot of the stuff, I'm attached to," she said.

The young artists has two heroes — one is artist Sharon Dillenbeck of D&M Studios and the other is artist Wayne Thiebaud. As a kid, Novak took lessons from Dillenbeck, for whom she now works.

"She has done so much for me. I have learned so much," she said. "I especially like how Sharon teaches. She is enthusiastic. She's there for the kids. She makes it fun and lets them express themselves."

Thiebaud is a well-known artist who has made his mark with one of Novak's loves — desserts. "He uses bold colors," as does Novak.

Still, teaching is where Novak wants to be. She wants to help others, especially children, use creativity and imagination, much as her father helped her.

"There are no wrong or right answers," she said.

"You can do what you want. Art builds people's confidence."

Novak's work may be seen at D&M Studios at 8691 N. Lilley Road in the Golden Gate shopping center at Lilley and Joy roads in Canton.

Vets focus of Plymouth parade

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

The threat of thunderstorms couldn't keep several thousand people from lining Main Street for the annual Memorial Day Parade through downtown Plymouth Monday, sponsored by a number of veteran and civic groups.

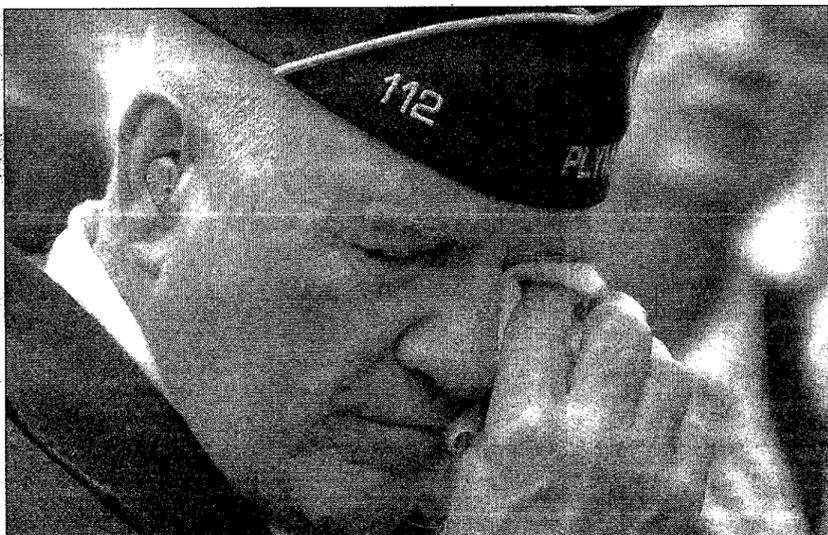

While the focus is always on veterans who gave the supreme sacrifice for their country, there was also some emphasis on World War II veterans who marched, in light of the dedication of the World War II Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., just two days earlier.

"Today we honor and remember our fallen men and women from all the wars ... honoring our past to ensure our future," Frank Pawelik, a member of American Legion Post 391 in Plymouth, said during ceremonies held after the parade. "War is not what we seek, but peace on Earth for everyone. We must remember that the doors of freedom are kept open by the men and women in the military."

This year's parade included an American flag that was flown over Iraq and Afghanistan on behalf of the City of Plymouth. The flag, sent by Air Force Master Sgt. Shannon Adams of Plymouth, was flown on a mission over the war zone in honor of the city on Feb. 10 during Adams' recent deployment to Al Udeid Air Base in Qatar.

Ret. Army Col. Chuck Thornell of Plymouth, the featured speaker, said it was a time to honor fellow Americans who have given their last full measure of devotion to freedom.

"It is the veteran, not the reporter, who has given us freedom of the press; it is the veteran, not the power of the press, that has given us freedom of speech; it is the veteran, not the campus organizer, that has given us the freedom to assemble; it is the veteran, not the lawyer, that has given us the freedom of a fair trial; it is the veteran, not the politician, who has given us the right to vote," said Thornell.

Alfred Moore of Plymouth Township wipes away the tears after a poem was read at the Memorial Day ceremony. Moore is a member of the American Legion 112 and served in the Navy during World War II.

Anna Delle Moore of Plymouth Township, member of the American Legion 112 Auxiliary, sings 'God Bless America' with hundreds who attended the ceremony in Plymouth.

As a 21-gun salute was fired and Taps was played by two buglers from the Plymouth-Canton Centennial Park Marching Band, tears could be seen in the eyes of John Lockwood of Plymouth Township, an Army veteran of 10 years.

"I always spend time on Memorial Day to be thankful for our freedom," said Lockwood, who served after the Korean War. "I'm lucky I wasn't in combat, but I wouldn't have these rights unless someone put up the sword to protect me."

A continuous applause was given by those who lined the parade route to honor the veterans in the parade. Carl Shefferd of Belleville, who marched with the Plymouth-Canton chapter of the Vietnam Veterans of America, said it's nice, but for him, overdue. "Sometimes the applause doesn't mean so much to me because it has come a lot of years too late," he said. "I'm proud that our active-duty servicemen today are getting the support that they deserve."

OUR VIEWS

Rouge's future: It's in our hands

U.S. District Judge John Feikens has been the guardian of our waterways for the past 25 years.

Feikens has been considered the steward of water quality across the metro Detroit region through his role in a complex consent agreement involving sewerage services from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department. His job has been the enforcer, guiding the turnaround of our polluted waterways - from the Rouge River to the Detroit River and Lake Erie.

Feikens deserves credit for providing the leadership, keeping the pressure on to ensure federal clean water laws are carried out. But, as he says, his leadership is largely symbolic. "I have found that most people support the need to do something about cleaning up the environment. But with human nature, they're not going to do anything until you show them why they need to do it. Most people will accept progress if they're educated."

Over the years, metro Detroiters have become educated about their waterways. In the mid-1980s, the federal government identified the Rouge as one of the worst polluters of the Great Lakes, with raw sewage pumping into the river regularly. Lake Erie, they say, was dying.

Eventually, community leaders have become willing - or at least been made willing - to accept the costly march of progress by building retention basins to handle combined-sewer overflows and instituting other methods to stem the flow of sewage into the river.

The effort has succeeded. Nowadays, the Rouge River is, by all accounts, a cleaner tributary, serving as a home to more species of fish. It is a waterway that has given environmental groups plenty of hope in the improvements being made.

However, there is still much to be done. The Rouge is undeniably an important part of our entire region, as its tributaries and branches run through the yards of most of our communities. It also serves as a conduit for excessive rainwater, something we've certainly seen in recent weeks. And the river's revival only hints at the wonderful recreational opportunities that could be available.

A new riddle in the water quality quest has focused on the cost and control of Detroit's aging water and sewer infrastructure, which has pit the suburbs against the city of Detroit in a struggle over prices charged and governance of these all important systems.

Again, Feikens serves an important role, directing the Southeast Michigan Consortium for Water Quality, a group of government, business and environmental folks focusing on the water and sewer operations of the DWSD. While there is a separate, promising community-by-community approach to water quality issues in Oakland County, this issue is obviously a regional one. As such, it will require a regional solution. Eventually that solution should include a larger role for suburban representatives on a water authority that serves more suburbanites than Detroiters.

While Feikens and others lead that official effort, concerned residents are invited to play their own role in the continued environmental rescue of this precious resource.

This weekend's Rouge River Rescue operation, sponsored by Friends of the Rouge, is a chance for people to pitch in, give of their time and get something accomplished. They'll be removing trash, stenciling storm drains to warn against dumping, stabilizing the streambanks, and more. Sites are in Beverly Hills, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Canton, Farmington Hills, Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Redford, Southfield, Troy and Westland.

A few years ago, a popular mantra was to "think globally, act locally." Saturday's Rouge cleanup offers just such a chance.

Kathy and Jon Snider of Canton helped remove old tires from the Rouge River near Morton Taylor Road in Canton last year.

Thank you all

Please let me take this opportunity to thank the Observer staff, the citizens of Canton and my wonderful and prayerful St. Thomas a Becket family for all the support and love I received during the "Pigeon Follies."

Having never in my 57 years ever even received a parking ticket, it was a nasty shock to be ticketed and summoned to court for the "unlawful encouragement of the congregation of pigeons." I know it sounds hysterically funny, but these last seven months of court dates, mandated mediation (which turned into four hours of listening to the people next door call me every name under the sun), not knowing whether I was about to serve time for my crime, have been a living hell.

My illnesses have been greatly exacerbated by the enormous amount of stress this has caused. I have not slept through the night nor been pain-free for one hour throughout this seven months.

The one positive that has emerged has been the prayers and good wishes of the good people of Canton. Everywhere I went, people wished me good luck and offered prayers to me. And they worked!

Finally, on May 25, this ridiculous case was dismissed after seven long months in and out of court.

So - I thank you, Jack Gladden and Joanne Maliszewski, for letting Canton know about the stupidity of things that can happen to you if you live in Canton and have bad neighbors. This township has been my home for 18 years and I have worked to the best of my ability to make it a better place through my volunteer activities. I am so grateful for all of the kind words from people in the community whenever I shopped, ate or worshipped in Canton during this ordeal.

Your love and prayers have keep me going. THANK YOU to all who brought me through this and know that I thank God daily for your support and kindness, calls, letters and good words of support. Bless you all!

Decision coming

Voters soon will decide if a change in Washington will be a change in the direction this country is headed.

Bush's performance has a lot to be desired and with disasters becoming more frequent it raises some concern.

LETTERS

But Kerry doesn't provide an alternative as he agrees mostly with Bush's positions.

But, as writer Joe Sobran says, "with tears streaming down my face and crossing my fingers, I hope Bush wins." What a country.

Kerry's behavior

I had thought that by now the intent to make John Kerry the standard-bearer of the Democratic Party would have been thought a poor choice. I thought others in the swamp would read Kerry's book, The New Soldier.

In the book, you can read passages written by Kerry that tell of American soldiers laying waste to fields of crops, burning huts and homes in the villages, destroying on several missions everything of any value.

He admits to the abuse, too, of the people - men, women and children - as they committed the devastation, the complete destruction of one village after another. Kerry's contribution to the melee was admitted. The behavior Kerry recounted makes the fun day at the Iraqi prison seem tepid and inconsequential by comparison.

Recounting further, 56 mentions of the prison debacle and seven about the 300,000 slaughtered Iraqi souls proves the bias of the liberal press.

And some of you still insist you will vote for Kerry!

No more sniping

I'm pleased to see Michigan's leaders focusing on the state's business climate and job creation in recent (newspaper) pieces. Still, I was somewhat depressed to see that instead of putting forward any sort of plan to do something about Michigan's jobs outlook, the Democratic Party leader runs through the usual partisan shots at President Bush and the Republican Party head. He even announces his belief in a weird conspiracy theory about a "darkly kept GOP secret."

That's not what's going to give Michigan companies the confidence to start hiring again in large numbers and cut the unemployment rate. Maybe Michigan Democrats should look again at Sen. Ken Sikkema's article that appeared the same day. They would see how to advocate proposals that make positive, tangible reforms to how state government affects job growth. Michigan workers deserve more than election-year sniping.

Economic crossroads

We have rarely seen the depth of commitment to securing a future for Michigan's working families as striking members of the Communication Workers of America showed this week.

Your readers should know that's not just the "we" of a sympathetic politician.

I am a communication worker myself and I spent the past four days on strike. This action wasn't only about securing the next contract (although I'm happy to say that goal now appears to have been accomplished). The men and women who braved the Michigan rain this past weekend to make their voices heard could find the energy to do so only because they understood that this action was about something more than themselves.

Michigan's economy has reached a crossroads.

Those of us working in communications may only be among the first in a position to see how high the stakes are for Michigan's economy today. We were among the first to feel the impact of the wave of outsourcing that struck southeast Michigan in recent years. But we are also among the first to understand how harnessing emerging information technologies can advance the livelihoods of Michigan's middle class.

The decisions made by business, government and voters in the months ahead will determine the path our economy will follow. Either we will resign ourselves to accepting an economy that rewards the outsourcing of emerging technology work and is content to value profits for Texas over middle-class jobs for Michigan, or we will find a way to build a future for all of Michigan's working families.

There is reason to be hopeful. The dedication shown by the thousands of us in this state who picketed through this weekend's rain and were willing to go back to work without pay if called to do so should make clear that Michigan's working families will not allow our economic future to slip away without a fight.

QUOTABLE

"We've talked to the federal government about access along I-275. The bottom line is we're not going to get a new interchange at Warren or Palmer."

- Joe Corradino, Ford Road consultant

Some people get it, some don't, but a Dept. of Peace is needed

When I tell people I am working on a citizen-based campaign in support of legislation currently in the House of Representatives to create a U.S. Department of Peace, the reactions vary. Some people instantly get it, and will typically say things like, "It's just crazy that we don't already have something like this!" For many people, it just seems logical that we would have such a broad scale program in place to deal with the increasingly unmanageable problem of violence, in all the ugly forms that it takes. Many are elated that there is actually pending legislation that could make peace much more of a reality.

For others, however, when they first hear about it, eyes start rolling almost instantly. They don't even have to speak a word for me to know what they are thinking, "another silly peacenik idea that will never happen." Comments sometimes include things like, "People have always been violent," or "There has been war since the beginning of mankind, peace will never happen."

Some people mentally write off the possibility of a Department of Peace before even hearing about what the Department would do. It is actually a very practical and potentially a hugely impactful piece of legislation that is receiving increasing support and national attention. In part it has received so much attention because it was introduced into the House of Representatives by Congressman Dennis Kucinich, who is a candidate for president. But a year after its introduction, the bill is already garnering support in Congress with 48 co-sponsors.

The Department of Peace would establish non-violence as an organizing principle of American society, providing the U.S. president with an array of peace-building policy options for domestic and international use. The Department would focus on nonmilitary peaceful conflict resolutions, prevent violence and promote justice and democratic principles to expand human rights. Domestically, the Department would be responsible for developing policies which address issues such as domestic violence, child abuse, mistreatment of the elderly, school and gang violence and other issues of cultural violence. Internationally, the Department would gather research, analyze foreign policy and make recommendations to the president on how to address the underlying causes of war and intervene before violence begins. The Department of Peace would systematically root out the underlying causes of violence by creating new and innovative programs, as well as vastly increasing support of the many existing programs around our nation and the world that are already having a positive impact.

A Department of Peace is no new idea. George Washington was one of the first people to declare how important a more strategic effort for peace should be. More specifically, he felt our government should establish a Peace Academy, much like the military services academy. A Peace Academy is one of the core components to the DOP legislation. It would train students to become conflict specialists, to go to communities around our nation and the world to help ameliorate violence before it gets out of control.

We spend over $400 billion dollars on defense in the United States.

It is estimated that we currently have over two million people in prison. We deal with incredible amounts of violence in our homes, in our schools and in our communities. One of the leading causes of police injury and death while on duty is dealing with, of all things, domestic violence disputes. The cultural and emotional costs of violence are clear. The financial costs are becoming more and more clear to Americans as we continually see important programs cut because of money that is going to fund things like our current war with Iraq and terrorism. For those concerned with the costs of a new federal department, imagine how much less we would need to spend on defense, prisons, etc., if we were able to more thoroughly dissolve violence before it starts. Violence is a cultural disease that is becoming an increasingly unmanageable problem. We must take a more systemic and psychologically sophisticated approach to decreasing its grip.

Though some people's eyes may roll at the mention of a Department of Peace, it is really so far-fetched to think we cannot have a much more peaceful world in our lifetimes? With great genius and energy, we have done so many amazing things in our history. What if we were to take as serious of an approach in cultivating alternatives to creating peace as we do for, say, our military?

Even spending just 2 percent of the current defense budget (which is what the legislation calls for) could be billions of dollars toward building something we want - peace, not just continually trying to defend against things that we do not want.

For every American citizen, the question at hand is, "What kind of world do we want, and what are we willing to do to make it happen?" When it comes to ending violence, we finally have a powerful alternative that can make a real difference.

Lethargic legislature, economic barriers endanger quality education

Congratulations to the 623 Plymouth-Canton Community Schools students who earned MEAP merit scholarships this year. Last year, 573 qualified for the rigorous scholar awards. In 2001-02, the Governor's Cup was awarded to Plymouth-Canton for the performance of the district's students on the MEAP.

Clearly, all the graduates and students of the district are receiving a quality education. Excellence abounds here because of a well-trained and caring staff, involved parents, supportive communities, focused leaders and a fiscally responsible school board.

The 2004 graduates face a promising future because they have been provided a sturdy base upon which to build.

As we award the class of 2004 their diplomas and wish them well, we must refocus our attention on the upcoming classes. Will the future of the students in our middle schools and those just starting primary school be as rosy?

Will PCCS be able to offer these children the expanse of programs and the wealth of opportunities the district was able to provide for the Class of 2004, as it copes with three years of funding cuts from Lansing and no relief in sight?

The continuing inability of Michigan to put its fiscal house in order means the state may have to slice an additional $30 per pupil from this soon-to-be ended school year. For the 17,285 students, that's another $1.2 million gone.

This proposed cut is on top of the $1.2 million the state already slashed from PCCS for the 2003-04 school year. The year before that, close to another million was chopped.

Furthermore, no matter how much the Michigan economy rebounds, there will still not be adequate dollars for our schools because there is a structural deficit built into the School Aid Fund. Rather than fixing this 10-year-old problem, legislature after legislature has transferred an average annual $500 million from the general fund and state reserves into the School Aid Fund. These "one-time fixes" - 10 times over - can no longer be done.

Insufficient funding from the state, spiraling energy, health care and retirement costs and the federally underfunded No Child Left Behind mandate are the volatile ingredients in a brewing crisis in the funding of our public schools.

Even if there are no further cuts by the state, but no increase in the foundation grant

If we are willing to purchase expensive electronic game cubes, concert tickets, DVDs and cell phones for our children's entertainment, we ought to be willing to spend a bit more to ensure their educational opportunities and their futures.

for the coming school year, Plymouth-Canton schools will still be facing an $8.6 million deficit for the 2004-05 school year and another $11 million deficit the following year.

With either flat or declining revenues, it will become increasingly more difficult for Plymouth-Canton to:

■ Keep class sizes lower, especially in the primary grades.

■ Provide the enrichment opportunities which enhance academic learning for students.

■ Hire the best teachers and other employees if the district is unable to compete in the same job market with better-funded neighboring districts.

In the meantime, schools have had to rely on more fund-raisers. Parents are paying more out-of-pocket to educate their own children, even though public education is the collective responsibility of everyone in the community.

Our schools ought to be able to spend their time on Job No. 1: Increasing student achievement and the development of each individual, not on digging out from under ever-increasing deficits.

All of us are the beneficiaries of well-funded public schools. Investing in education helps to "grow our economy." If we are willing to purchase expensive electronic game cubes, concert tickets, DVDs and cell phones for our children's entertainment, we ought to be willing to spend a bit more to ensure their educational opportunities and their futures.

We must demand state government live up to its promise to fully fund our schools. All our children deserve a quality education. Michigan should leave no child behind.

Canton wrestler captures state title; nationals next

For a second-year team, the Canton Wrestling Club did pretty darn good at last weekend's Michigan Wrestling Federation State Finals at Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek.

And Corey Phillips, a freshman at Canton HS, led the way.

Phillips won his 140-pound cadet (14-15-year-olds) weight division in freestyle competition and finished second in Greco-Roman. Both placings earned Phillips berths on Team Michigan for the USA Wrestling Championships, which start July 24 in Fargo, N.D.

The tournament at Battle Creek is the second largest in the state, trailing only the high school state finals. The USA

Championships attract all sorts of attention, particularly from college coaches who are recruiting.

"I had a lot of confidence going into it," Phillips said of the state tourney. "But I actually thought I'd do better in Greco. I had beaten that kid before, but I didn't this time."

Greco-Roman, a style in which the wrestling is upper body only, had been Phillips' strong point. Coming from a wrestling state like Iowa, Phillips also spent time in Texas where he first learned Greco-Roman style before moving to Canton last November. He has been wrestling since he was 5 years old.

However, with freestyle the only style of wrestling sanctioned in high school competition, Phillips has become far more adept at that.

"I am more confident now in freestyle," he said. As for competing at the USA Championships in July, he added, "I just want to see how well I can do, see where I'm at in the U.S."

Certainly the Canton Wrestling Club has grown. "This was a unique situation, especially considering our background, our program being newer," CSC coach Casey Randolph said. "We didn't have any club teams before last year. This is our second year."

"Our placings have gone up tremendously. We took a big step forward, from 20 to 30 kids in the club to 60."

Four others placed in the top three at the state meet other than Phillips. Andrew Novack, who goes to New Boston Huron HS, was second at 103 pounds in cadet freestyle.

Chris Petrick was third in the junior division (16-17-year-olds) heavyweight Greco-Roman, while Ryan Webb was third in junior 145 Greco Roman. An injury default prevented Webb from competing in freestyle.

Konrad Konsitzke, wrestling in cadet 160, placed third in Greco-Roman.

The club's next scheduled competition is June 22-24 at the AAU Grand National Meet at the Taylor Sports Complex.

Flat Rock results

It wasn't a bad Saturday for Nick Bradley.

He started off his evening at Flat Rock Speedway by marrying fellow racer Stephanie Pankow. Then the Westland native and Redford resident took second in his Street Stocks heat race at the speedway. His new brother-in-law, Jim Pankow (Livonia), was also second in his heat race.

He wasn't the only area racer to fare well at the speedway, as Justin Schroeder (Canton) was second in the 25-lap main feature, Paul Hahn (Farmington Hills) was 18th and Jim Selmi (Redford) won his heat.

Greatest athlete

Michigan's greatest athlete will be officially crowned July 24 following a rigorous competition at the Total Sports Complex in Wixom.

The state's best athletes are invited to compete in a series of 10 events: bench press, chin-ups, 10-pound medicine ball toss, standing long jump, pro agility shuffle, 40-yard dash, 300-yard shuttle run, obstacle course, 50-yard car push and two-mile cross country run.

Each event is scored evenly, which means competitors must be well-rounded athletes. Last year's men's winner was former University of Michigan running back Chris Roth, who edged out Andrew Pheka by less than a point.

The competition has grown to include divisions for those under 17-years old, masters (over 40) and open, as well as men's and women's competition.

For more information, visit the website at www.totalsportscomplex.com, and click on the Total Performance icon.

All-American

One thing about Madonna University golfers — they know what they're talking about. At least Tom McCall does.

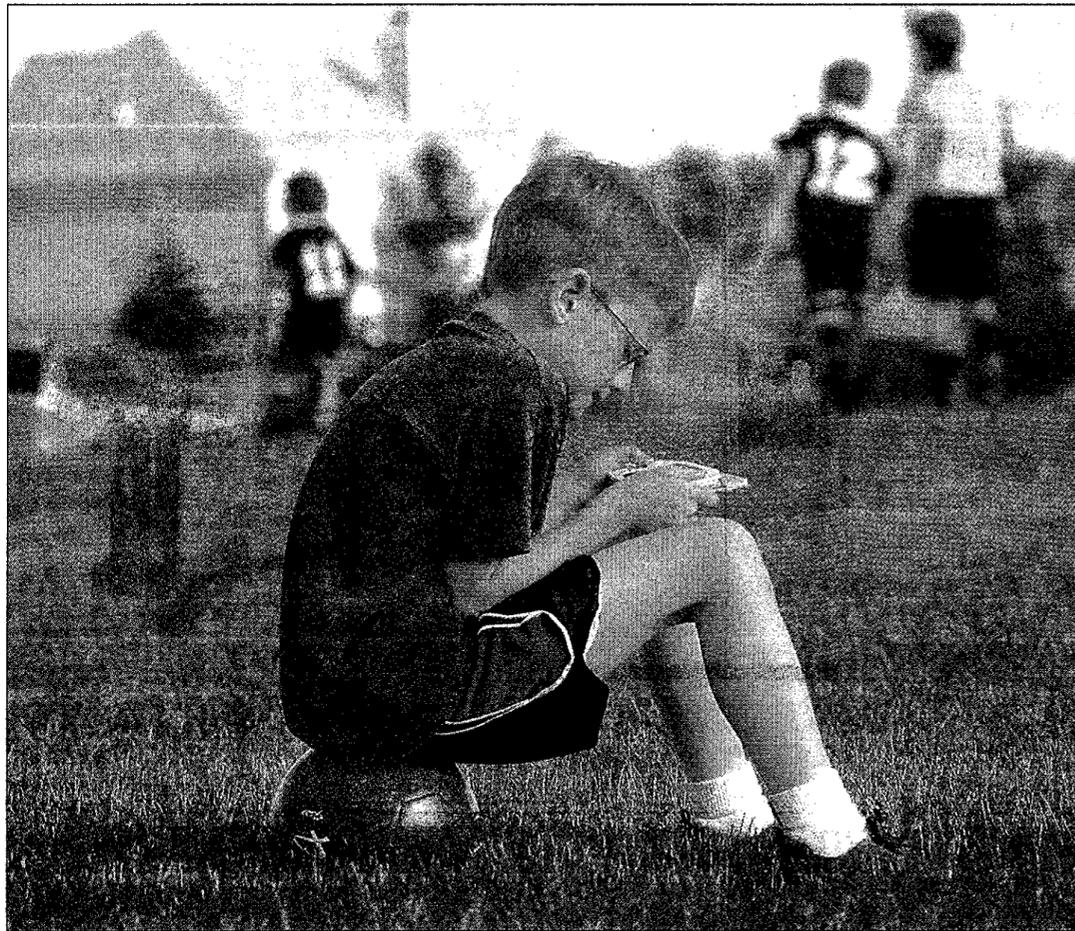

McCall, from Garden City, became the Crusaders first-ever All-American honors. A junior, McCall earned those accolades by posting a 3.87 grade-point average with a major in business.

Baseball school

The Doyle Baseball School will return to Plymouth Christian Academy for two sessions this summer, from July 5-9 and July 12-16. Baseball and softball players between six and 16 years old will be instructed in hitting, throwing and fielding from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day during the five-day school.

Doyle Baseball, now in its 23rd year, conducts satellite schools all over the country and in Canada. More than 500,000 players have received instruction at the school, including several pro players.

Tuition is $95 per player for payments received before June 18, $115 for those received after that date. To register call PCA's Sandy Murray at (734) 459-3505, ext. 117 until July 10. After that, call PCA baseball coach Don Shumaker at (734) 416-0513.

A real big attraction

Cup draws big crowd

More than 7,000 players, with 443 teams in 70 divisions divided by age and skill level, playing 775 games on 38 fields scattered through five parks in Canton — all to be organized by a 20-person committee, with the additional assistance of 50 volunteers.

That's the definition of a logistical nightmare. But for the Canton Soccer Club, which hosted its 22nd annual Canton Cup Tournament last weekend, all went well.

"It's crazy," tournament director Greg Demopolous said. "But everything went smoothly. Every team but one showed up. We had three refs at every game, and I didn't get any complaints about the refereeing."

The tournament annually attracts approximately 24,000 people every Memorial Day weekend. It takes nearly 10 months to organize, from getting sanctions from the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association and United States Youth Soccer Association to promoting it and sending out mass mailings.

"There's lots of deadlines and stuff," said Demopolous, who has served as director for five years. "If you haven't

Canton takes 3rd at state team finals

A superb performance by Brad Waidmann and a couple of first-place finishes helped Canton's boys track team secure a third-place finish at the team track state finals, hosted Saturday by Ann Arbor Huron at Ypsilanti HS.

The Chiefs, one of seven teams competing in the finals, scored 585.5 points. Grand Rapids Forest Hills Northern won the title with 723; Saline was second with 616.5.

Placing fourth behind Canton was Ypsilanti Lincoln with 469, followed by Pinckney (431), Grosse Pointe North (396) and Detroit Mumford (240).

"It was an honor to be there and represent our school district," Canton coach Bob Richardson said. "We just had a good ol' day there."

Indeed the Chiefs did, led by Waidmann's first-place finish in the discus (148 feet, 7 inches), second in the high jump (6-4), fifth in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.9) and seventh in the shot put (43-7 3/4).

TRACK

"It was good to see Waidmann back throwing the discus that far," Richardson said. "I was real happy for him. He was a bit disappointed at both the regional and at the (Western Lakes Activities Association) conference meet. But he got a first here."

"And his high jump was a very respectable 6-4."

Waidmann wasn't alone in this meet, to be sure. Julian Smith captured a first place as well, taking top honors in the 110 hurdles (15.7), an event in which Rodney Preston was also third (15.8). In addition, Smith placed third in the long jump (19-5).

Depth has been Canton's top attribute throughout the season, and it showed in this meet. The Chiefs finished in the top three in a dozen events, with other seconds coming from Jon Chapman in the pole vault (12-6); Devin Thomas in both the 100 (11.4) and 200 (22.8); Preston in the 300 hurdles (40.7); and the 4x200 relay team of Andy Rossow, Brandon Reeves, Dave Calille and Thomas (1:31.9).

Third-place finishes were recorded by Derek Reeves in the pole vault (12-6) and the 4x100 team of Preston, Corey Stewart, Calille and Smith (44.4).

Other Chiefs in the top seven were Brandon Reeves, fifth in the 100 (11.6); Rossow, fourth (51.5) and Cyrus Azizi, sixth (52.5) in the 400; Scott George, fourth in the 3,200 (10:24.3); Mike Lanus, seventh in the high jump (5-10); Rich Hensel, seventh in the pole vault (11-6); Stewart, seventh in the 300 hurdles (42.3); Azizi, D'Angelo Pitts, Stewart and Rossow, fifth in the 4x400 (3:33.4); and Ray Eisbrenner, George, Eric Zech and Phaltiel Whitlock, seventh in the 4x800 (9:01.2).

Nine Chiefs will be at the MHSAA-sponsored state individual finals Saturday at Rockford.

Chiefs rout John Glenn

Three first-half goals were more than enough to propel Canton to a 7-0 victory over Westland John Glenn in an opening-round Division 1 district girls soccer match Tuesday at Canton.

The Chiefs improved to 14-2-3. John Glenn ends its season at 3-14-1.

Rachel Perry scored two goals to lead the Canton assault, with Lisa Ealy contributing a goal and two assists.

Elizabeth Alexander and Katie Esper each netted a goal and an assist, while Rebecca Houdek and Jenna Dreher scored a goal apiece.

Brittany Servi was in goal for the victory. She faced just two shots.

Canton now advances to play Ann Arbor Pioneer, which defeated Ann Arbor Huron 2-1 earlier Tuesday at Canton. The Chiefs and Pioneers clash at 7 p.m. at Canton.

The winner will meet the Salem-Livonia Churchill winner in the district final at noon Saturday at Canton.

"I hope so," Canton coach Don Smith said when asked if his team was ready for the challenges ahead. "We've got that horrid weekend (two losses in four days to Salem) past us."

"Pioneer always works hard. You've got to do things early on against them, take them out of the game early."

The two teams met April 19 at Canton and played to a scoreless draw. A year ago, the Chiefs were eliminated from the state tournament by Pioneer.

CC rolls to mercy win over Churchill; Salem tops North Redford Catholic Central did the job at the plate and on the mound Tuesday against Livonia Churchill.

Bobby Henderson hurled a one-hitter and host CC banged out 13 hits at the plate for a 10-0 five-inning mercy win over the Chargers in a Division 1 predistrict baseball game.

"I was pleased with the effort," CC coach John Salter said after his team advanced to Saturday's 12:30 p.m. semifinal against Farmington. "We played well defensively and also got a lot of offensive contributions from several guys. Seven of our starting nine had hits and that was a good way to start the tourney."

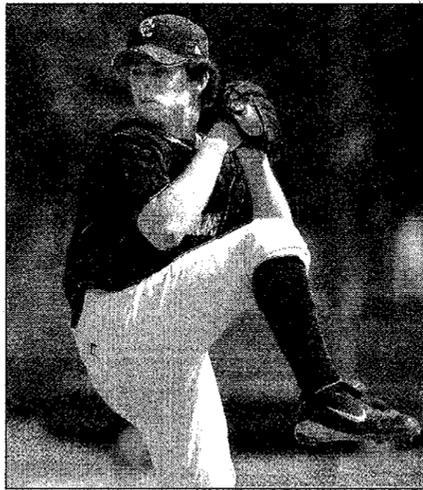

Henderson (4-1) walked one, struck out two and allowed just one hit — a one-out single by Andy Guzik in the first inning.

Eric Vojtkofsky was 3-for-4 with a double and three RBI for CC (20-9), while Ryan Gallagher was 2-for-3 with a double and two RBI, Nate Rzeppa was 2-for-3 with an RBI, Greg Marrone was 2-for-3 with three runs scored and Derek Brooks was 2-for-3 with two runs scored.

Xander Younce started and took the loss for Churchill (13-17) and was on the hook for eight hits, seven runs, three strikeouts and a walk. Gary Humenay came on to pitch in the fourth inning and gave up five hits, three runs and a strikeout.

On Saturday, the Shamrocks won

CC's Bobby Henderson tossed a five-inning, one-hit shutout at Livonia Churchill in Tuesday's opening round of the state district tournament.

Ladywood ousted in district opener

A year ago, Livonia Ladywood went deep into the Division II girls soccer tournament, reaching the state semifinals before losing to eventual champion Birmingham Marian.

On Tuesday, the Blazers were ousted in the first-round of the Dearborn Heights Crestwood district as host Dexter got a pair of goals from Lindsay Davis to pull out a 2-1 victory.

Ladywood bows out with a 10-6-1 overall record, while Dexter advances to today's semifinal with a 12-3-2 mark.

"They (Dexter) are a very skilled team, they move the ball very well," Ladywood coach Jill Logsdon said. "They're strong and I think we started to panic a bit in the second half and they took advantage."

Patti Hoeg's goal from Mallory Brake gave the Blazers a 1-0 lead at the seven-minute mark of the first half.

But Davis tied it for Dexter with six minutes to play until intermission on an assist from Kelly Hughes.

Davis then scored the game-winner from 20 yards out off the left flank thanks to a lead pass from Michelle Svethoff with only seven minutes to play.

Ladywood goalkeeper Jessica Tuggle made one save, while Dexter's Liz Umstead had three.

Country Day 3, Plymouth

O: The Wildcats were eliminated from state tournament play by the state's top-ranked team in Division 3 Tuesday in Birmingham.

Plymouth finishes its season at 8-9-1 overall. Country Day, now 18-1-1, advances to meet Pontiac Notre Dame Prep Thursday.

The score was 2-0 at halftime. "Their first goal was questionable," said Plymouth coach John Delplace. "They ran into our goalie (Brittany Warner) when she had the ball, but the officials ruled she didn't have possession."

Warner was run over in the second half as well and spent some time on the turf before returning to action. "She took some punishment," admitted Delplace.

Warner made approximately 12 saves, while the Wildcats had just three shots on goal.

"They got a little bit of experience this year," said Delplace. "It was good for the girls."

worked on it before, you're bound to make mistakes."

Demopolous said he plans to serve as director for one more year, training his successor along the way to make the transition as smooth as possible.

The tournament remains one of the top three of its kind in the country, simply because no one is excluded. There are playing divisions for every youth team from 8 to 18 years, whatever the skill level.

There is a certain international flavor as well, and not just from the teams from Ontario that compete each year. There were 150 referees needed to work all the matches, with crews of three at each game. Four of the crews were from Canada, while four other referees were from Brazil.

A total of 15 Canton/Plymouth-based teams collected championships, with another 13 reaching the finals (see results).

Even though it's over and all has gone well, those on the organizing committee aren't done yet.

"We have a meeting in two or three weeks to go over the things we want to do differently," Demopolous said. "And we take notes so we remember everything."

Then in a couple of months, the process begins all over again.

2 leagues put together winning banquet combo

It was one incredible banquet last Tuesday as the Pepsi Cola and Hamtramck Singles Classic League, along with the Detroit All Star Bowling Classic League, combined to stage its 69th annual awards banquet at the St. Mary's Cultural Center in Livonia.

It is always one of the highlights of the bowling year as the two leagues are comprised of the most talented bowlers in the greater Detroit area.

It is also one occasion where you can chat with many of the people in this area who work behind the scenes to help keep this game in the forefront of Detroit area sports.

Among those prominent persons present included Lou Ansara of Farmington Hills, who serves as league commissioner; Ken Charrette, who announced his retirement after a long run of service to the leagues as secretary-treasurer for many of his 50 years as a bowler and then an officer; George and Tony Zainea, long-time sponsors and helping in many ways to promote the All Stars; Mark Martin, executive secretary of the two combined greater Detroit men's and women's bowling associations (who also happens to be celebrating his 50th birthday this week).

Ten Pin Alley

Joe Paulus, of Bloomfield Hills, is a bowler still competing at the all-star caliber level while carrying a 192 average at the very young age of 86.

Paulus also presented the Joe Paulus Sportsmanship Award for the second straight year to Todd Kurowski. (Everyone sat patiently through Todd's lengthy acceptance speech.)

Some fine trophies were also presented to the championship teams.

In the Hamtramck Singles All-Star Traveling Classic, the All-Star Grille team were crowned winter and spring champions.

That team consisted of Nunzio Marino, Nick Wissinger, Jay Lang, Jason Johnson, Jerry Penxa, Kerry Kref, Steve Klein, and Joe Krajenke.

StormBall/Cozy Inn earned the Cup Champions trophy thanks to the efforts Kevin Trumbull, Jeff Grego, Rick Eiermann (Garden City), Jim Grant (this year's most improved bowler at plus-16), Dick Beattie, Kevin Keys and Mike Mamroctski.

In the Detroit All-Star Classic on Tuesdays at the Arena at Thunderbowl Lanes, Red Robin Restaurants/Linds Shoes took the championship led Bob Stempien, who had a league high average of 225.1; Craig Carter, Jessie Bowersock (master of ceremonies at the banquet), Jon Reed, Lou Stempien, Julius Maisano, Dave Eatmon and Bob Owen.

The dinner was superb, the wine was fine and everybody enjoyed a well-run banquet.

Both leagues are entertaining new team entries coming in. So if you are good enough, give it a try.

For more information, call Ken Charrette at (586) 775-2414.

It has been hard enough to roll a 200 game at the 101st American Bowling Congress Tournament this year, much less a 300 game.

But Phil Horowitz of West Bloomfield rolled a perfect game in the ABC tournament in Reno, Nev., this year.

And deja vu, he also rolled a perfect at the ABC tournament last year in Knoxville, Tenn.

Oddly enough, this 300 game required a total of 13 balls.

In the seventh frame, he and some others noticed that the 9-pin was missing from the rack after he had released the ball.

A re-rack was properly called and Phil went on to strike out the rest of the way for his second 300 in two consecutive years of ABC competition.

The 65-year-old senior league bowler is a veteran of a lot of tournaments, along with a stint on the pro tour. He was not fazed at all by the mishap.

The 300 game was in his doubles event and followed scores of 187 and 182 for a 669 series.

Horowitz' partner, Walter Verdun, recorded 525 for a doubles combination of 1,194. Horowitz also recorded an all-events score of 1,756.

The Young American Bowling Alliance reversed its previous position on the merger of the ABC and Women's International Bowling Congress, voting instead to join forces along with USA Bowling in forming the U.S. Bowling Congress.

The unanimous vote to join up with the new organization came May 15 at Milwaukee, Wis.

The USBC combined membership is now going to top the 3 million mark in membership. With the addition of YABA, the USBC will most likely have more clout in getting bowling into the Olympics Games.

Al Harrison is a resident of Livonia and a director of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association. He can be reached at (248) 477-1839 or e-mail: tenpinalley@sbcglobal.net.

Mr. Edwards replied that Plante and Moran, during a presentation at Michigan Townships Association, stated that bank reconciliations do not require signatures. The audit presentation will be June 22.

Mr. Curmi stated in that case, they need to say it's no longer recommended and give reasons why.

Ms. Jody Johnson of Marlowe Street objected to the increase in volume and speed of the cut-through traffic on Marlowe since the construction of the condominiums on Ann Arbor Road.

Chief Tiderington agreed to increase police presence and enforcement in the area and Mr. Anulewicz said an overview has been requested from the Planning Consultants to see how the closing of the streets in that area can be expedited.

Mr. George Johnson of Marlowe Street questioned why Plymouth Township residents are not given preference for employment with the Township.

Mr. Mann said the Township strives to hire the most qualified individuals.

Mrs. Massengill moved to adjourn the meeting. Seconded by Ms. Arnold. Ayes all.

a pair from Canton, taking the opener 5-3 and the second game 5-4. Matt Rodeghier got the win in the opener with Mike Monterey earning the save. In the second game, Bryan Kirkendall earned the win with Matt Walters getting the save. Vojtkofsky had a pair of hits — including a double — with two RBI to lead the way at the plate.

Salem 8, North Farmington 4: A five-run first inning helped carry Salem to victory over North Farmington in the consolation final of the Eagle Invitational Sunday at Eastern Michigan University.

The Rocks improved to 16-13 and will host a Division I district state tournament starting at 10 a.m. Saturday. Walks to Drew Parling and Cliff Thomas set the table in the first inning Sunday, and Andy Thackaberry came through with a three-run home run to put Salem up 3-0.

Three more walks and a hit batsman would eventually lead to two more runs for the Rocks, Dave Cardenas getting hit by a pitch to force in one run and Steve Cox drawing a bases-loaded walk to drive in another.

Salem scored twice more in the third thanks to Raider errors, then Parling singled in Steve Myers with the Rocks' final run in the fifth.

Salem had just three hits in the game, but it was enough for pitcher Dave Pawlukiewicz, who gave up three runs on five hits and two walks, with seven strikeouts in five innings to improve to 6-2.

The Rocks opened the tournament earlier Sunday with a tough 8-2 loss to Saginaw Arthur Hill. The Lumberjacks scored three times in the first inning, with Salem countering with two runs in the second.

After that, the game belonged to the pitchers, with the Rocks' Nic England surrendering three runs on eight hits, absorbing the loss to fall to 5-3-1 for the season. Arthur Hill's Jeff Woods stopped Salem on two hits.

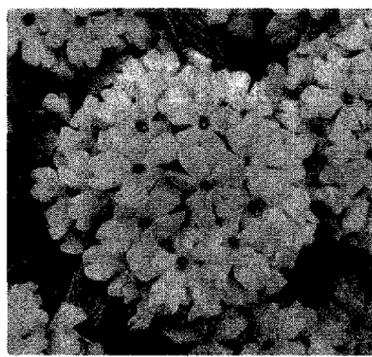

The Rocks meet Novi at noon Saturday in a district semifinal. Canton takes on the Northville-South Lyon winner at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The championship is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, with all games played at Salem.

Turn your yard into a habitat for birds

Creating a bird habitat isn't all that difficult. All you need is food, water and housing, according to Gary Phillips, owner of Backyard Birds in Plymouth.

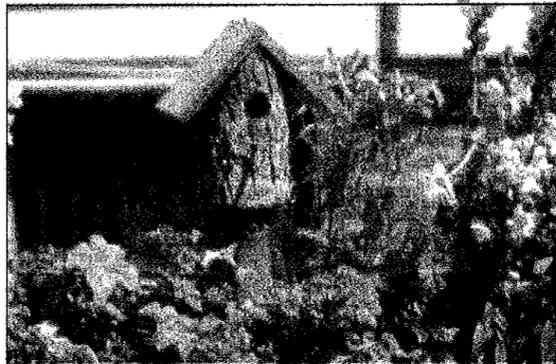

"And the most important of the three is clean water," Phillips said. Water is also important to the overall bird habitat. It should be changed every two or three days in bird baths. "They will soil it in that time," Phillips said. "People also like to put the birdbath in the center of the yard, and then they wonder why no birds go to it. Well, they'll become hawk food. There has to be trees nearby with small branches for the birds to hide in."

Homeowners can take several steps to attract birds. They can attract birds with bird houses, though many, including finches, nest in the wild. Wrens, woodpeckers, sparrows and starlings will use the birdhouses.

Judy Cornellier works at Telly's Greenhouse in Troy and enjoys watching the wrens, blue jays and woodpeckers in her yard.

She uses a gourd nest to attract wrens. Males will soon gather small twigs and stems to build a nest inside the gourd. "I just love to have wrens in the yard, because they are the perkier little bird," Cornellier said. "The male will sit on a high post and just sing until she accepts the nest he has built."

That gourd should not have a perch to attract a wren; if it does, then a sparrow will nest in it instead, Cornellier said. The nest should be 15 feet off the ground, and on a thin branch, strong enough to hold the nest yet weak enough that a cat won't climb on it, she said.

Cornellier employs several strategies to attract birds to her yard. "You want to plant shrubs and trees, and flowers that give off seeds," she said.

Old phones have use

Old cell phones can be put to good use, even if you aren't using yours anymore. AT&T Wireless donates phones that can be refurbished to groups that respond to emergency situations, such as the American Red Cross. Proceeds from recycled phones are donated to Keep America Beautiful, a nonprofit environmental group.

"It doesn't matter which wireless carrier you use or which company manufactured the equipment - we're happy to accept it," said Wally Hyer, vice president of AT&T Wireless.

Stay in touch

Along with the obvious impact of color and pattern, interior designers always consider a fabric's hand - how it feels.

By touching and crushing it, they determine how it will wear, fall, as in a drapery, and lay. Tony Stavish, a Chicago designer, always touches fabric.

"I want to know how it will feel when I sit on it and run my hand over it," Stavish said.

Stavish layers textures in a space the way he layers furniture finishes. "In a traditional living room, I might include some wood - plain, painted or lacquered - with stone and even metal," Stavish said. "In a bedroom, I might mix a chenille upholstered piece with a lustrous drapery treatment and crisp cotton print on the bed."

Tactile qualities are especially important in a room without printed fabrics to add visual interest, said Ingrid Bjelland Leess, owner of Leess Design of New Canaan, Conn.

Select something soft, like chenille, for a romantic effect, Leess said. For information about Waverly fabric products, call (800) 423-5881 or visit www.waverly.com

SUBURBAN EYE CARE PROVIDES MAGNIFYING VISION AIDS FOR PEOPLE WITH VISION LOSS

Growing numbers of people with aging vision and vision loss motivated Suburban Eye Care, local Optometrists, to add a full line of magnifying vision aids to their patient services. According to Doctors at Suburban Eye Care magnifying vision aids are considered when ordinary eyeglasses, contact lenses or surgery can no longer provide sharp sight. This type of vision loss is called low vision and should not be confused with blindness. People with low vision still have useful and it can often be improved with vision aids.

By providing an extensive range of vision aids, including handheld, illuminated, portable, pocket size and hands-free aids, Doctors at Suburban Eye Care can now help a person keep his or her independence and allow that person to read the newspaper, watch TV or write a check again. Although vision aids do not restore lost vision, by maximizing a person's remaining vision, these aids can make a tremendous difference in a person's life.

Low vision can occur from an accident, an ailment such as diabetes or a condition associated with aging such as macular degeneration or glaucoma. People over age 50 experience low vision most often; however, individuals of all ages may be affected.

Low vision aids are not solely used by people with low vision as anyone can have difficulty reading the small print of a menu in a dimly lit restaurant or seeing the directions on a medicine bottle and a simple pocket magnifier can do the trick.

To learn if you or someone you know can benefit from magnifying vision aids, contact Suburban Eye Care at (734) 525-8170.

Strong backlighting silhouetted violist Julie Keller in this dramatic photograph taken at Interlochen Center for the Arts.

Backlighting can produce great results

Many photographers are under the false impression that full, frontal lighting is a must. They believe they must take advantage of every light ray available. You've

Focus on Photography

all seen pictures of squinty-eyed people with harsh shadows in their faces.

Full frontal lighting is, of course, not necessary. On the contrary, doing a reverse — a complete 180-degree reverse — and placing the sun behind the subject can give pleasing and often dramatic results.

Backlighting often creates a bright edge or rim around the subject, separating it from the background. Backlighting, especially when shining through a soft mist or filtering through trees, will produce sparkling and translucent results.

Remember to shield the lens from the direct rays of the sun. If you don't, internal reflections and glare may be recorded on the film. Using a lens hood or shading the lens with your hand will solve this potential problem.

When using backlighting to photograph people, you must pay special attention to exposure. A bright background will tend to trick the camera's meter and you'll underexpose the picture, getting too dark a subject.

To overcome this, move in close to your subject and take a meter reading. Then, move back to your original position and use this reading to expose your shot.

Remember, too, that "fill-in" flash will add sparkle and life to your subject's face while maintaining all of the advantages of backlighting. More on fill-in flash later.

Taking backlighting one step further can produce truly dramatic photographs.

What is this extra step? Answer: making silhouettes. Instead of using backlighting as rim lighting or as lighting to accentuate textures, use it to obtain striking silhouettes of your subject.

How do you make silhouette pictures? Easy! Effectively using an early morning or late afternoon sun will do the trick. Compose carefully, placing a strong subject in the forefront with the sun behind. The sun can be just outside the viewfinder or directly behind the subject. Take your meter reading off the sky. Because it is so bright, the sky will "call for" a minimum exposure; that is, a small aperture and/or a fast shutter speed. The foreground subject will then be underexposed to the point where it will appear in the finished print as a silhouette. That is exactly what I did in the picture shown here. I positioned violist Julie Keller in front of these stylish windows of the pavilion at Interlochen Center for the Arts. By taking the light reading off the outdoor sky, Julie came out as a dramatic silhouette.

Try including the sun directly in your picture.

Use slow speed film, an aperture of f-16 and a shutter speed of 1/1000 second, paying no attention at all to your camera's meter. The result: your foreground subject will reproduce as a black silhouette and the sun will appear as a shining star. Be careful not to look directly at the sun through the viewfinder because eye damage can occur.

Build a house that's for the birds

BY AMANDA KNOLES
CORRESPONDENT
©2004 PUBLISHERS-EDGE

There are more than 80 species of birds in North America that nest in cavities. Since tree cavities are sometimes hard-to-find birds often have difficulty locating suitable shelters.

A man-made cavity is much appreciated by many birds. Make sure the birdhouse you build has drainage holes to prevent tiny birds from drowning in a rainstorm.

It's also a good idea to cut slots near the roof of the house so heat and condensation can escape. If you are building a birdhouse using wood, make sure it is untreated so toxins won't harm birds if they gnaw on it.

For the bird's safety make sure you do not use any paint containing lead. Leave the inside of the house unpainted to avoid exposing the birds to any toxins.

When choosing paint for the exterior, select a color that will blend in with the surroundings. A brightly colored birdhouse is likely to attract predators.

INEXPENSIVE

An empty half-gallon milk or juice carton is one of the most inexpensive materials you can use to craft a birdhouse.

Open the top of the carton and rinse it completely to eliminate any leftover residue. Allow it to dry for a couple of hours. The next step is to reclose the milk carton and staple it shut.

Take a roll of masking tape and tear off two-inch pieces of tape to cover the entire milk carton. Overlap the pieces so none of the milk carton is showing. Use a paper towel to rub brown shoe polish over the tape. Brush the polish on in strokes for a bark like effect.

Allow the shoe polish to dry completely. Using a sharp knife, carefully cut an entrance hole in the front of the carton. Also punch a few drainage holes in the bottom of the carton using a screwdriver or pencil.

Make a few additional holes in the sides near the top of the carton to let heat and condensation escape. Punch a small hole through the top of the birdhouse and use a short piece of coat hanger wire or a strong twine or rope to make a loop.

Hang the birdhouse on a tree branch. (Choose a medium or higher branch that is surrounded by other branches and leaves to give the bird more privacy and security.) It may take a while for a bird to take up residence, but be patient. Sooner or later a bird will take advantage of your handiwork.

RULES OF ATTRACTION

When you are building a birdhouse from wood or other materials it is important to decide what type of bird you are trying to attract and cut the entrance hole accordingly.

A suitable size for a bluebird would be 5 by 5 inches for the house floor, 8 inches for depth, 6 inches for the hole above the floor, and 1.5 inches for the diameter of the entrance hole.

A woodpecker would be more comfortable in a birdhouse that measures 6 by 6 inches for the house floor, 12 inches for depth, 10 inches for the hole above the floor, and 2 inches for the entrance hole diameter.

Avoid hanging the birdhouse in a location where squirrels, cats, snakes or other predators can reach it easily. Place the house where your family can observe it but in an area away from dogs and children's play areas. If you put the birdhouse in an area with too much human traffic, the birds will avoid using it.

Gourds make an ideal home for swallows, chickadees, wrens and purple martins. Bottle gourds should be completely dry before you attempt to build a house with them.

Using a pencil or pen draw the size of the entrance hole you want onto the gourd. Cut a hole 1 to 1.5 inches in diameter for the entrance.

You can make the entrance hole using a jigsaw, keyhole saw or knife but a hole saw attachment for a power drill works best.

Drill tiny holes in the bottom for drainage and two holes at the top of the gourd large enough to thread a cord or leather shoelace through.

Once the hole has been cut, smooth the edges with a grinding stone or sandpaper.

You can draw designs on the exterior of the gourd using colored pens or a wood burning pen but you may prefer to leave it natural and decorate around the neck of the gourd with raffia, leather, twine or other natural looking materials.

Keep in mind that birds will be more attracted to a natural looking structure.

Gluing twigs, leaves or moss to the birdhouse will add to its appeal.

If you put your birdhouse up in the fall, it will have a chance to weather over the winter and be ready for birds in the spring.

Black locust tree isn't for everyone

BY LEE REICH
FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Black locust is a wonderful tree, but not one that everyone should plant.

These trees look nicest growing in groves or - especially as they age - lining long, country driveways or roads. Not many people have the space for a locust grove or a driveway long and rustic enough to do justice to a row of these trees.

If you do want to start a locust grove, all you need to do is plant one tree, or perhaps a few trees, then stand back. The trees grow quickly and soon make new plants from both seeds and root sprouts.

Locust, native to the eastern United States, tolerates all sorts of growing conditions.

Road salt does the tree no harm, nor does winter cold. Because it's a legume, along with beans and peas, locust can use atmospheric nitrogen, so it grows well even in infertile soils.

A locust grove can be a real asset as it ages. Just stay away when the trees are young, because they are armed with long and sharp spines. Once the trunks are a few inches in diameter, the spines are no longer a problem, and you can start thinning out excess trees.

The wood is both hard and durable, excellent for fence posts, arbors and pilings. The tree's small leaflets filter sunlight to create pleasant dappled shade.

Although black locust creates inviting shade and is widely adaptable and easy to grow, you shouldn't plant one as a focal point in your lawn.

One problem is the pods that would litter your lawn. A more serious shortcoming is that black locust becomes increasingly disheveled with age - not what you want in a specimen tree in a lawn.

Keep cool if air conditioner blows circuit

BY MORRIS AND JAMES CAREY
FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

Q: Jerry asks: Why can't I keep my air conditioner running? The existing 110V cooler has worked without fail in the same plug for about 10 years. Now, when my wife turns the lamp on while it's running, the breaker pops. The lamp also has been in use for years.

A: Sorry, but most modern appliances (air conditioner, compact, dishwasher, microwave, disposal, etc.) require a dedicated electric circuit - only one plug on one circuit breaker meant for use by one device. For fear of losing the sale, the seller of a new electrical appliance

(usually costing hundreds of dollars these days) might be reluctant to inform you that proper installation of the gadget probably will cost as much as, if not more than, the original price of the appliance. Solution: If the lamp and the air conditioner are both in good order, and have been working together in the same circuit without fail for years, chances are something else on the circuit has changed or gone awry. To find the culprit, you must first find out what lights, plugs and other devices are connected to the popping breaker. To do this, turn off all the breakers except the main one and the one the air conditioner is on. Turn on every light switch on the property and make a list. Next, use a small portable electric appliance - a hand mixer or electric drill will do - and check every receptacle on the property.

Is there anything new in the way of lighting on the circuit, including higher wattage bulbs?

How about the plugs? Perhaps you have inadvertently added something in another room that you can disconnect and bring the load down to a bearable limit for your circuit breaker.

If you find that nothing has changed, a call to an electrician is in order.

BIRDS

nicknamed by some as a yellow canary eat. "You can watch them wobble on the stems to eat the seeds, and it's an absolute treasure," Cornellier said.

Some birdhouses require special circumstances.

Martin houses need a "giant" yard, with few trees and a pond.

To create that habitat, Phillips suggests planting bushes for birds to hide from the hawks. "Plant plenty of berry bushes and with many fine twigs. If you plant bushes with berries, you'll get all kinds of birds," Phillips said. "Give them places they can nest. Trees are good, bushes are better."

The birds will require food from a bird feeder, and there's plenty to choose from. Decorative feeders, tube feeders and squirrel-resistant feeders are among them.

General feed gets birds "into the store" or into your yard," Phillips said. Thistle attracts the gold and house finch, but those feeders need to be at least 10 feet away from each other.

You always should use a rich blend," Phillips said. "Birds are picky, it's kind of like us eating for free, and we're going to eat at the best restaurant in town."

Bluebirds are bug eaters and require a big grassy field. Finches love thistle in feeders.

Blue jay counts are at low levels since West Nile virus wiped out most of that species population here two years ago. Cardinals enjoy safflower seeds.

"They love to chew and spit safflower seeds," Phillips said. "They chew, spit, chew, spit, chew, spit, like they were a ballplayer chewing tobacco in the dugout."

"If you put good stuff in, you'll get good birds. It ain't rocket science."

e. Setbacks adjacent to any street may be reduced upon a recommendation by the Planning Commission that the reduced setbacks will meet a specific and desirable site design objective. E. DEVELOPMENT REGULATIONS Development within the Central Business District Overlay are subject to the following regulations, in addition to standards set forth in Section 6.07, and other applicable requirements for specific uses in Article 2, as appropriate.

Open space shall be arranged in a manner which will provide connections to other open space and preservation areas on the same and/or contiguous sites, wherever practical. Preservation of natural features shall receive the highest priority in meeting the open space requirement.
2. Site Access. Access to public roads shall be controlled in the interest of public safety. Each building or group of buildings and its parking or service area shall be subject to the following restrictions in order to prevent unchanneled motor vehicle access or egress; ensure that driveway design and placement is in harmony with internal circulation and parking design; provide for sufficient on-site storage to accommodate queued vehicles waiting to park or exit; and require combined driveways wherever feasible.

a. General Standards

- 1. There must be sufficient on-site storage to accommodate queued vehicles waiting to park or exit without using a portion of the public right-of-way obstructing existing vehicles sight distance, or otherwise interfering with street traffic.
2. Provisions for circulation between adjacent parcels are required through coordinated or joint parking systems, except in the instance of industrial uses which the Planning Commission finds will cause undesirable traffic patterns and conflicts. In the instance that the Planning Commission determines that physical connections between one or more sites is not necessary, reciprocal easements will be required to ensure the ability to connect sites in the future as conditions change.
3. Driveways shall be designed to accommodate all vehicle types having occasion to enter and exit the site, including delivery vehicles. There shall be clear delineation and/or separation, where appropriate, of entry and exit lanes within driveways. Delivery drives shall be marked appropriately and designed to accommodate the turning radii of delivery vehicles. 4. Driveway placement must be such that loading and unloading activities will not hinder vehicle ingress or egress. 5. Shared or common driveway entrances shall be encouraged wherever possible to reduce unnecessary curb cuts and minimize turning conflicts.
b. Driveway Spacing. Driveway spacing will be determined as a function of operating speeds of the adjacent public road. Spacing will be determined according to the following minimum standards or to standards adopted by the appropriate governing road jurisdiction, whichever is more stringent:

Table with 2 columns: Speed Limits (mph), Minimum Spacing. Values range from 25 to 45 mph and 105 to 230 feet.

landscape and transformed it into a friendly and restful place. They used many plants that were grown in those early times, such as the hydrangea, of which she grows six varieties.

Take time to look closely and you'll get many ideas. For instance, in the front yard, under an evergreen tree, hostas are joined with bright impatiens.

A four-square herb garden holds center stage in the back yard. Brick paths intersect the beds that are surrounded by brick. Upright germander and dianthus grow at either end to form borders; variegated lemon thyme and lemon thyme add color; as do golden oregano and miniature roses.

In the design of planting, each square mirrors the design of the opposite square. The center circle is surrounded with a hedge of neatly trimmed boxwood and a slim, graceful lady balances a bird bath that is overflowing with a basket of Concord blue streptocarpella. The plants here are found in Shakespeare's works.

"My philosophy is to learn what worked and what didn't and to be flexible," Geri says. "Michigan winters can be harsh on plants. Something may live five years and the next just die. For instance, lavender is not long-lived and has to be replaced every three years or so, therefore I don't plant it."

Every year she works on the perennial bed, a narrow garden along a white fence. She will consider plants that are interesting, those with different heights and use plants that bloom sequentially so that something is always in bloom.

"This year I'm sticking with one primary plant, i.e. echinacea (purple coneflower), and just a few others.

She concludes: "Gardening is like needlepoint, you're not supposed to finish it - that's what gardening is."

FRANKLIN IS BLOOMING

Another popular garden event is the Franklin Garden Club's annual walk, scheduled 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, June 16.

Five gardens and the historical Broughton House Garden will be open. Additionally, the Gazebo boutique, open day-time hours only, will offer many lovely items for sale. For pre-sale tickets, $10 before June 8, by mail: Send check to WNF&GA Franklin Branch, P.O. Box 250194, Franklin, MI 38026-0194. Tickets also can be purchased at The Apple Tree Room in Franklin.

Tickets the day of walk will be $12 and available at the Gazebo on the Village Green, west side of Franklin Road, between 13 Mile and 14 Mile roads. A salad buffet lunch is available for $10, but there is limited seating. Lunch will be served at the Franklin Community Church at two seatings: 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. For information, call (248) 851-2668.

During the Franklin Walk, don't miss the Laudenslager In-Town Garden. The park-like setting on a small lot includes stone paths, cedar appointments of a bridge, porch, deck, window boxes, beach sand and a dry riverbed.

A pond and a waterfall complement these elements. This is an opportunity to see many unusual ideas tastefully done. The garden has no existing lawn, consequently no power mowers and no pesticide use. Wildlife find this garden a perfect habitat.

Four seasons of beauty is the reward with purple the theme color in summer and fall as the plants highlight boxwood, spruce, Canadian hemlocks, weeping white pine, purple fountain beech and Swiss stone pine.

Tim Travis and Jim Slezinski of Goldner Walsh Nursery in Pontiac have been creating this lovely and interesting landscape during the last 20 years, beginning after six elm trees had to be removed in the 1970s.

GOOD GARDEN TIPS:

The lilacs are blooming on Mackinac Island. This is the month to visit and enjoy these beauties.

Lilac Festival Kid's Day is scheduled 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 19, at Fort Mackinac. Children and adults join with Victorian ladies and American soldiers in a variety of historic children's games and activities.

The Oakland County Land Conservancy's fifth annual plant sale featuring a large selection of grasses, wildflowers, vines, shrubs, trees, and kits for butterfly gardens for prairie and wetlands will be offered.

All plants are native to this area and are provided by Wild Type Nursery, Mason, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, June 6, at the Pontiac Pancake Shelter located on the southeast corner of Pike and Mill Streets in downtown Pontiac. Proceeds go to the Conservancy.

For information, call (248) 601-2816.

Royal Oak

The 2004 Royal Oak Home and Garden Tour, Saturday, June 12, showcases six homes and six gardens with trained docents at each stop.

This fourth edition of the biennial self-guided tour in central Royal Oak, sponsored by the Royal Oak Woman's Club (ROWC), offers a rare opportunity to discover some of the most impressive historic homes in this popular metro-area community.

The tour will begin at Royal Oak's oldest building, home of the Royal Oak Woman's Club, 404 S. Pleasant at the corner of Fourth Street. The clubhouse that day will offer lunch under $5 and a silent auction of Royal Oak memorabilia, precuts and services. Tickets are $12 in advance, $15 the day of the tour. They can be bought any day at Sullivan Funeral Home, 705 W. 11 Mile; 2-5 p.m. Saturday, June 5, at the clubhouse; or by calling (248) 549-6752.

To donate to the silent auction, call (248) 398-5122.

Royal Oak has been a popular entertainment and shopping destination in metro Detroit for many years, with numerous restaurants, antique shops, coffee houses and unusual stores. Many neighborhoods, particularly those closest to downtown, are filled with bungalows, four-squares, and Tudor Revival homes associated with the first half of the 20th century.

Grosse Pointe

The 13th annual Summer Garden Tour, Saturday-Sunday, June 26-27, rain or shine. Sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Garden Center Inc.

Master gardeners will be available at each site to answer questions. Raffle tickets will be available for purchase at the tour homes for $2 each or three for $5.

This year's prizes will be a Tiffany style table lamp with floral motif, valued at $450, donated by House of Lights on Mack Avenue; and 14-karat white gold drop earrings with diamonds, valued at $325, donated by Pat Scott Jewelers on Mack Avenue. Tickets are $12 pre-tour, $15 tour days. Tickets are available at several local florists and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore Drive in Grosse Pointe Farms.

For information, call the Grosse Pointe Garden Center at (313) 881-4594 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays.

It's Easy To Criticize...

Offering constructive criticism to others can be beneficial, but only if the other person is receptive to our comments. In teaching situations or during on-the-job training, constructive criticism is usually necessary to instruct and help a person develop a trade or vocation. However, correcting someone, even in a kind or skillful manner, can be very challenging, since we are never sure how the individual may react. Many friendships and families have been destroyed because someone has been overly critical of another person's words or actions. Knowing when we should offer our comments can also be difficult, and we should be fairly certain that our comments are truthful and necessary. It often seems so easy to criticize others because we mistakenly believe that we are without fault or are such experts on most everything. The Bible tells us that we look at the speck in our brother's eye, but we pay no attention to the log in our own (Luke 6:41). Faultfinding and being overly critical of others, especially behind their backs, are wrong and can become habit-forming. However, kind words are good for the soul and help to build a person up.

The way of a fool is right in his own eyes, but a wise man listens to advice. R.S.V. Proverbs 12:15

GARDEN CALENDAR

Detroit Rose Society

The Detroit Rose Society will have a general meeting 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 4, at the Pleasant Ridge Community Center on Ridge Road, one block south of I-696 and one block west of Woodward Avenue.

Metropolitan Rose Society

The Metropolitan Rose Society will meet 7:15 p.m. Friday, June 4, at the Royal Oak Senior/Community Center, 3500 Marais, east of Crooks and north of 13 Mile.

A presentation, How to Prepare Roses for a Rose Show, will be the program for the evening. Admission is free. The public may attend. Call (248) 689-9529 for information.

Perennials in containers

A presentation, The Creative Use of Perennials in Mixed Containers, will take place 10 a.m. Saturday, June 5, at Telly's Greenhouse & Garden Center, 3301 John R in Troy. Guest speaker Debbie Knitz is a master of incorporating beautiful perennials in containers where annuals are traditionally used. Call (248) 689-8735 for information.

Spring plant sale

Tollgate Gardens' annual Spring Plant Sale will take place 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, June 5, at the Michigan State University Tollgate Education Center, 12 Mile and Meadowbrook roads in Novi.

Reasonably priced, easy-care sun and shade perennials will be available, including iris, daylilies, astilbe and hostas. Master gardeners will be present to answer gardening questions. The plants come from the gardens of Tollgate or volunteer members. Proceeds are used to maintain the gardens at Tollgate.

For more information, call (248) 347-3860, Ext. 251; or (248) 674-4574.

Native plant sale

The fifth annual Oakland Land Conservancy Native Plant Sale is scheduled Sunday, June 6, in downtown Pontiac.

The sale will take place 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Pontiac Pancake Shelter, on the southeast corner of Pike and Mill streets, near the library. Admission is free and open to all communities.

Most grasses and wildflowers will be $5 per quart; woody vines, $8 to $12 per quart; shrubs and trees, $20 to $28 per gallon; and butterfly gardens, $60 for either prairie or wetlands settings.

For a plant list and other information, call the Oakland Land Conservancy at (248) 601-2816.

Wildtype Nursery of Mason, Mich., is the source of the plants (all native genotypes). Co-sponsors of the sale are the city of Pontiac, the Clinton River Watershed Council, and Wild Ones Natural Landscapers of Oakland County.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the Oakland Land Conservancy's land stewardship program.

Native plants have spent hundreds of years adapting to the vagaries of southeast Michigan's land and climate. Michigan's birds and butterflies depend on them for food, nectar and nesting materials. They help keep water clean, prevent floods and keep soil in place.

Author speaks

Acclaimed environmentalist Carole Rubin, best-selling author of How to Get Your Lawn & Garden Off Drugs (second edition, 2003) and How to Get Your Lawn Off Grass (2002), will present her workshop, Green Thumb, Green Planet, Monday, June 7, at Birmingham Congregational Church. The free workshop will take place 7-9 p.m. The church is at 1000 Cranbrook Road in Bloomfield Hills.

Copies of Rubin's books will be available for signing and sale after the workshop. Oakland Wild Ones, the Hardy Plant Society, and Harbour Publishing are sponsoring the event. The workshop will feature readings from Rubin's books, lawn and garden care facts and figures, organic and native yard how-to's, a history of the lawn, and slides of gorgeous yards and gardens from all over North America. In her provocatively frank and funny presentation, Rubin will challenge our beliefs about water purity and abundance, our use of technology, and the myths and photos we harbor about insects and "weeds."

Pruning

Learn basic pruning techniques, proper timing and use of pruning tools in Pruning Tips, a class offered 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, June 9, at The Community House, 380 S. Bates in Birmingham. Cost is $22.

Instructor Sue Grubba has been designing residential and commercial landscapes for 15 years. She is the owner of Creative Scapes, a landscape and flower garden design firm, and is an advanced master gardener and senior instructor at the Michigan School of Gardening. To register, call The Community House at (248) 644-5832, or visit www.communityhouse.com.

Seminars

English Gardens will host free gardening seminars 7 p.m. Wednesdays at all five locations.

List and schedule your projects

It is hard to keep up with a full-time career and taking care of my family. They are both very demanding jobs and I feel inadequate. I cannot keep up with both efficiently.

The demands at home and career in today's society are great. You probably feel like you are on a teeter-totter as you bounce back and forth from career to household responsibilities.

Domestic Planner
Diana Koenig

For example, you get out of bed in the morning and along with getting yourself ready for work, you need to get children ready for school. You spend a day at the office meeting one deadline after another.

As you race out of your office you quickly switch gears and begin to think about dinner, helping kids with homework, and getting to soccer practice on time. Thoughts of a clutter-free house and an empty laundry hamper are quickly erased from your mind. Time is your most valued possession and there is never enough of it. What is the solution to this dilemma you face?

Planning ahead, organization, and relaxing will not only gain you the time you need but it will lower your stress level. Continued stress will have a negative affect on you physically, emotionally, and mentally. You will never get ahead if you move from one crisis to the next. You need a plan. It is imperative that you have a written plan if you intend on surviving your workload.

Start with six lists. Put the following titles on six separate sheets of paper; Daily to do at Home, Weekly to do at Home, Monthly to do at Home, Daily to do at Work, Weekly to do at Work, Monthly to do at Work. Successful people not only make goals, but write them down.

You are more likely to achieve your goals if you write them down. Take some time to write down everything that needs to be done at home and work in the next day, week, and month. As you complete each task, mark it off your list. This will give you momentum to continue completing tasks on your "To do list."

After you have made your list you need to analyze what you wrote down. Some things on your list will repeat on a daily basis such as preparing dinner, doing laundry, sorting mail, etc.

Decide if it is possible to complete your list on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis.

If the answer is 'no' then you need to get extra help. This help can be free or paid. In the home environment you can pay someone to cut grass, clean your house, wash your windows, and so on.

We pay our sons to cut grass however they also have some responsibilities that they do not get paid for. I clean my house each week, however I hired an office manager to help me with my business.

Getting extra help may not be an option in which case you may need to delete something from your list or do it several months from now when you may have more time.

Organization is a key ingredient to help you manage home and career. You will not have time to look for missing homework assignments, tennis shoes, or cell phones. You do not want to spend money on late library books, video rentals, or replacement of missing items.

Make sure everything in your office and house has a home and that things are returned to their home when they are not being used. Be ruthless about returning unused items to their home. It is very frustrating to finally take time to hang the picture that has been propped against the wall on the dining room floor only to discover the hammer is not in the toolbox.

Do not neglect a time to relax in the middle of your busy schedule. A productive person is someone who gets enough sleep, eats nutritiously, exercises, and does something fun and relaxing. You will need to schedule this time or it will be eaten away by your packed schedule.

Paint like a professional around the home

Few homeowners get through spring and summer without needing to paint some part of the home.

First, protect everything you don't want painted - floors, carpeting, furniture, the dog.

Next, patch any holes and damaged areas with vinyl spackling compound and a putty knife. If walls are textured, use texture touchup in a spray can.

When it's time to paint, start with the ceiling. Use a brush first, to cut in edges, and a roller to finish the rest; then do the same with walls.

Cut in corners with a brush, and do the same around trim.

Paying Tribute to the Life of Your Loved One

RALPH BINGHAM

64, of Farmington Hills, Michigan, died on May 28, 2004, after a long battle with esophageal cancer. He was born in Rexburg, Idaho on September 19, 1939 to Margaret and William Bingham. During his early years, he moved with his family to Vallejo, California where his father worked on Mare Island for the U.S. Government. The family eventually returned to Idaho, where Ralph enjoyed hunting, fishing, camping, and hiking in the mountains. He graduated from the University of Idaho with a degree in Metallurgical Engineering, and was a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity and various other mining fraternities.

In 1962, Ralph relocated to the Midwest, and had lived in Michigan for the past 17 years. As a Metallurgical Engineer, Ralph worked a total of 42 years at Inland Steel and ThyssenKrupp and was retired from both companies. He is survived by his wife of 30 years, Patricia; three children: Jennifer of Indianapolis, IN; Cliff, of Ferndale, MI; and Samantha, of Scottsdale, AZ; mother of Poway, CA; brother, of San Diego, CA; sister, of Logan, UT; aunts, an uncle, many nieces, nephews, cousins, and in-laws. He was preceded in death by his father.

Mr. Bingham enjoyed life to the fullest with his wonderful sense of humor. He loved to travel throughout the United States. Even though he left Idaho 40 years ago, his heart always remained there and his remains will be scattered in his favorite place, the Little Lost River Valley in Idaho. He instilled his Idaho roots in his children and enjoyed many trips with them to Idaho. It was here that he taught them to love and respect the great outdoors. He was a member of the YMCA organizations of Indian Guides and Indian Princesses and was very active in both tribes. His Indian name was "Two Dogs."

Ralph will be missed by many. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Hope Lodge at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN.

What to do when the washer leaks

Theresa writes: "I have a Kenmore 80 series washer. We've had it about seven years and it's been leaking water onto the floor for a couple of months."

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

"The water appears after the clothes have been through an entire cycle. It seems to be a slow leak that lasts up to even a day or so. My husband has checked the hose connections to make sure they are secure. What should we do next? "Does this sound like a problem we could fix ourselves, or should I just call a serviceman? The actual washing of the clothes does not seem to be affected by the leak."

The common leak area for the washer you describe is located where the shaft of the motor fits into the water pump. This problem means the pump needs to be replaced and anyone who is handy with tools is capable of doing it.

The cabinet of the washer has to come off all in one piece and if my instructions are followed, it's not hard to do.

Unplug the washer from the electrical outlet. Look under the edge of the timer console. You will see two screws - one on each end - that need to be removed. After removing these two screws, you lift up on the timer console and you will see two shiny clips, one on each end, previously hidden by the timer console. You insert a screwdriver into these clips and push and they simply pop out.

Also hidden by the console are two electrical harness connections which you will break apart by simply pulling on each connector. You have just finished the hard part and that will take about three minutes to do.

Grab the back top part of the cabinet and gently lift up and forward in the same motion. To your amazement, the top, front and sides of the cabinet will come off together.

Now, totally exposed is the inner workings of your washing machine. At the bottom on the front of the machine is the water pump. (If you want to have some fun, point out to your significant other that you know this fact because you see several hoses connected to it.)

The pump has three clips which you snap off with a screw driver. Now pull the pump straight forward towards you. Leave the hoses connected for now and look at the bearing, the location where the shaft of the motor fits. You should see a trace of water minerals where the water was leaking and, if so, this confirms what I suspected: The pump is defective.

Use a pair of channel locks and loosen the clamps which hold the hoses onto the pump. Remove the hoses, placing a thick towel under it to catch any spillage of water that is still in the pump. Take the pump with you to a local appliance parts store. (The store should have it stocked without having to order it for you.)

Before replacing the pump, use a piece of fine emery paper and clean the shaft of the motor that fits into the pump. Make sure the clamps are in the original spots when putting the hoses back onto the new pump.

Reverse the above procedure of removing the cabinet, and the washer is back in shape. (Note the fill hoses which connect to the washer from the plumbing lines in the house. Should the end couplers made of metal where the connections are made to the water lines and to the back of the washer show signs of corrosion or rust, replace those two hoses.) The parts stores now sell metal braided hoses which are much better than those that came with the machine. Some of these rubber hoses are responsible for causing a great deal of damage in homes.

Joe Gagnon can now be heard on WWJ-950 and WXYT-1270. He is a member and past president of the Society of Consumer Affairs Professionals. His phone number is (248) 455-7281.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON BOARD PROCEEDINGS - MAY 25, 2004

Spacing is based on average vehicle acceleration and deceleration rates and is considered necessary to maintain safe traffic operation. Spacing will be measured from the midpoint of each driveway. In the event that a particular parcel or parcels lack sufficient road frontage to maintain adequate spacing, the applicant shall have one of two options:

1. A modification from minimum spacing can be sought from the Planning Commission, but in no case can the variance be greater than that which is necessary to provide safe and efficient access to the site.
 2. The adjacent landowners may agree to establish a common driveway. In such cases, the driveway midpoint shall be the property line between the two parcels and shall meet standard specifications. The Township may require maintenance agreements between owners of a common driveway to cover such issues as snow plowing, re-surfacing liability, etc.
- c. Number of Driveways Per Parcel
1. A maximum of one (1) two-way driveway opening or a pair of one-way driveway openings shall be permitted to a particular site from each adjacent public road.
 2. Based on the recommendation of the appropriate governing road jurisdiction and/or the Township Engineer, that an additional driveway is in the interest of good traffic operation, the Planning Commission may permit one (1) additional driveway entrance along a continuous site with frontage in excess of three hundred (300) feet or two (2) additional driveway entrances along a continuous site with frontage in excess of six hundred (600) feet.
 3. Common driveways, as set forth in Section 6.08.F.2.b.2 shall be considered to be one driveway.
- d. Traffic Impact Analysis. The Township may require a traffic impact analysis in order to analyze the effect of development upon existing street traffic. The traffic impact analysis shall examine existing and proposed traffic flows, trip generation studies, impacts on major intersections, turning movement analysis, roadway capacity, parking generation and site ingress/egress. The traffic impact analysis shall be prepared by a recognized traffic engineer or recognized traffic expert.
- 3. Parking and Joint Access.
- a. Off-street parking shall conform to Article 4, except as provided in paragraph b below. Parking shall be located in side or rear yard areas and excluded from the area between the public right-of-way and the front face of the building wherever possible. The Planning Commission may permit parking between the public right-of-way line and the front face of buildings when it can be demonstrated that elimination of parking in the front is not practical.
 - b. A stepped parking ratio for multi-tenant shopping centers and superstores is provided as follows: The standard parking ratio pursuant to Section 4.01 for these uses shall be used for the first 100,000 square feet of gross floor area. For all gross floor area over 100,000 square feet, the parking ratio shall be decreased to 1 parking space per 350 square feet.
 - c. Parking lots shall be broken into smaller areas through the use of landscaping island and boulevard strips of at least 10 feet in width. Each parking lot pod should not exceed 200 spaces and each parking lot aisle should not exceed 20 spaces deep. Pedestrian access through or across parking lots island or boulevards shall be provided as needed. Planting of parking lot islands shall comply with the provisions of Article 5.
 - d. All sites shall provide joint access through the use of reciprocal easement agreements in order to provide primary connections between driveways and parking areas and shall adhere to the Michigan Department of Transportation's access management guidelines and the approved access management plan for Ford Road.
- 4. Pedestrian Pathways and Sidewalks. Pedestrian pathways shall be provided, in accordance with applicable Canton Township Design Standards, to meet the circulation needs of on-site users. Such systems shall provide safe, all-weather, efficient, and aesthetically pleasing means of on-site movement and shall be an integral part of the overall site design concept. Pedestrian pathway connections to parking areas, buildings, other amenities, and between on-site and perimeter pedestrian systems shall be planned and installed wherever feasible. Sidewalks are required along all roadways. Pathways and sidewalks shall be a minimum of five (5) feet in width, and paved, except where the pathway enters designated woodlands, wetlands and other natural areas. Where pathways enter these sensitive natural areas, said pathways shall be a minimum of five (5) feet in width, and may be surfaced with wood chips, stone, or other crushed aggregate, suitable for pedestrian traffic and harmonious with the natural environment.
- 5. Signage. It is the intent of this Section to ensure that signs which are permitted within the Central Business District shall be uniform in size, design, appearance and material, and subject to the following requirements and standards, in addition to meeting the provisions, definitions and standards of the Canton Township Sign Ordinance and the State Construction Code. Where the provisions of this section are more restrictive in respect to location, use, size or height of signs, the limitations of this Ordinance shall take precedence over the regulations of the Canton Township Sign Ordinance, Zoning Ordinance, and/or State Construction Code.
- a. General Requirements.
 1. No ground signs shall be allowed within two hundred (200) feet of the I-275 right-of-way.
 2. Billboards and roof signs are strictly prohibited.
 3. All signs to be installed within the Central Business District Overlay shall conform to the specifications set forth in the applicable Township ordinances and as provided more specifically in this section.
 4. No sign shall be attached to exterior glass, except for a numerical address.
 5. All signs shall be designed so as to be integral and compatible with the architecture and landscaping components of the development.
 7. Conceptual sign designs shall be submitted with the site plan and the Planning Commission shall review these conceptual plans together with the site plan.

The design requirements for these signs will be specified in Section 6.07 for the Downtown Development District.
 6. Lighting. Lighting shall provide for the safe and efficient illumination of a development site in order to maintain vehicle and pedestrian safety, site security, and accentuate architectural details. In addition to the standards set forth in Section 2.13, Site Lighting, shall be reviewed for consistency with recommended lighting by the Canton Township Downtown Development Plan, and Section 6.07.
 - a. All street lighting to be installed between the sidewalk and street along Ford Road, Wayne County roads, or other internal streets located within the Central Business District Overlay shall match the existing fixtures located within the Downtown Development District, and conform to the locations and specifications set forth by the Canton Township Downtown Development Authority (DDA), in accordance with Section 6.07 of the Zoning Ordinance.
 - b. All lighting potentially visible from an adjacent street, except pedestrian oriented bollard lighting less than forty-two (42) inches high, shall be indirect or shall incorporate a full cut-off shield-type fixture. Parking lot lighting shall utilize poles and fixtures which have a maintenance free finish in a dark bronze or other dark color which coordinates with other proposed site lighting.

- Landscaping/Streetcape Elements.
- a. Setback Zone. The area between the public rights-of-way to the edge of parking or buildings shall be regulated as follows:

Wherever front, side or rear yards are adjacent to public road rights-of-way, the DDA garden wall elements shall be incorporated into the required landscape area pursuant to the specifications and illustrations located within Section 6.07 of the Zoning Ordinance. Location of the garden wall shall be reviewed simultaneously with the site plan, by the Planning Commission.
 - b. The minimum width of the landscape buffer adjacent to the road shall be 25 feet and be planted in accordance with Sections 6.03.A.3 and 6.07.A.2. Where the building is placed at the minimum setback (or reduced setback as approved by the Planning Commission) and no parking area or driveway is located between the building and the landscape buffer (setback zone), the required foundation landscaping shall be located adjacent to the parking lot sides of the building.
 - c. Street Intersections. The street scape at intersections is to be treated with colored and stamped concrete ramps, lighting in accordance with Sections 6.07.B and 6.08.F.6, and accent planting of shrubs and other low perennials. Plant species will be selected by the applicant from Table A of Section 6.07, and approved by the Planning Commission. The unobstructed sight distance requirement as stated in Section 2.09.A.4 of the Zoning Ordinance must be maintained.
 - d. Interior Landscape Zone. The interior zone encompasses all site features from the setback line to the property lines of each parcel. This zone is subject to the needs of each individual tenant and thus is meant to have a greater degree of flexibility than the street scape zone. This area shall incorporate stamped concrete or individual pavers to delineate pedestrian crossings and entry details at main building and/or tenant entrances. Such landscaping shall comply with the standards set forth in Article 5 of the Zoning Ordinance.

- 8. General Site Design/Architectural Guidelines. It is the intent of the Central Business Overlay District to provide an environment of high quality and complementary building architecture and site design. Special emphasis shall be placed upon methods that tend to reduce the large-scale visual impact of buildings, to encourage tasteful, imaginative design for individual buildings, and to create a complex of buildings compatible with the street scape.
- a. Site Planning Design Criteria.
 1. Facility entrance/exit drive(s) shall be readily observable to the first-time visitor.
 2. Minimum conflict shall exist between service vehicles, private automobiles, and pedestrians within the site.
 3. Building entries for visitors shall be readily identifiable and accessible to the first-time visitor. Each principal building shall have a clearly defined, highly visible customer (visitor) entrance with features such as canopies or porticos, arches, plazas, wing walls, benches, water features and integral planters.
 4. Architecture will be evaluated based on its compatibility and relationships to the landscape, and vice versa.
 - b. Building Massing and Form.
 1. Buildings shall be required to incorporate variations in height and provide vertical architectural elements as a feature of the overall design. It is recommended that main entrances be emphasized through use of vertical elements and that long expanses of wall be broken up by appropriate use of window features, masonry insets, canopies and other architectural details to create rhythm and interest in the building facades. Secondary walls shall also include appropriate architectural treatment which complements the design of the primary facade.
 2. Architectural interest shall be provided through the use of repeating patterns of changes in color, texture and material modules. At least one of these elements shall repeat horizontally. All elements should repeat at intervals of no more than fifty (50) feet, either horizontally or vertically. Use of columns with capitals and/or engaged pilasters are encouraged to break up the horizontal features of walls.
 3. Radical theme structures or signage, building, and roof forms which draw unnecessary attention from public thoroughfare to the building shall not be acceptable.
 4. Building facades greater than one hundred (100) feet in length shall incorporate recesses, projections, or spandrel glass or bricked-in windows along at least twenty (20) percent of the length of the facade. Windows, awnings, and arcades must total at least sixty (60) percent of a facade length abutting a public street.
 - c. Materials.
 1. Building exterior wall materials.
 - (a) One dominant material shall be selected and expressed within its own natural integrity. Materials such as masonry and stone, etc., which convey permanence, substance, timelessness, and restraint are required. Use of limestone or similar materials are encouraged.

 - (c) Materials shall blend with those existing in the adjacent area of the center.
 - (d) Pre-engineered metal buildings, corrugated metal-sided Butler type buildings, and metal siding are prohibited.
 2. Building Roofs.
 1. In instances where flat roof areas can be viewed from above, care should be taken that all roof vents, roof-mounted mechanical equipment, pipes, etc., are grouped together and painted to match roof color to reduce their appearance.
 2. There shall be variations in roof lines to reduce the massive scale of the structure and add visual interest. Roofs shall have at least two of the following features: parapets concealing flat roofs and rooftop equipment, overhanging eaves, sloped roofs, and three or more roof surfaces.
 3. Color and Texture.
 1. Simple and uniform texture patterns are encouraged.

Building interest is encouraged by the use of unique brick patterns, three dimensional patterns in use of synthetic plaster features, and variation of materials. Architectural lighting is encouraged to accent landscaping and along long sections of walls. Architectural lighting is encouraged to accent landscaping and along long sections of walls.

6. Site Amenities.

 - c. Loading docks, outdoor storage areas, and refuse collection enclosures shall be incorporated into the overall design of the building and the landscaping so that the visual and acoustic impacts of these functions are fully contained and out of view from adjacent properties and public streets. The use of screening materials that are different from or inferior to the principal materials of the building and landscape is prohibited.
 - d. Refuse collection areas should be so located upon the lot as to provide clear and convenient access to refuse collection vehicles and should be designed and located upon the lot as to be convenient for the deposition of refuse generated on site.
- 10. Screening of Exterior Mechanical Equipment.
- a. In the case of roof-mounted mechanical equipment, building parapets and roof line designs shall be of such a height that roof-mounted screening devices are not required. If building parapets do not provide the required screening, mechanical equipment shall be screened by an unobtrusive screening device that will appear as an integrated part of the overall architectural design.
 - b. Any devices employed to screen exterior components of plumbing, processing, heating, cooling, and ventilating systems from direct view shall appear as integrated parts of the architectural design and, as such, shall be constructed of complementary and durable materials and finished in a texture and color scheme complementary to the overall architectural design.
 - c. Any exterior components of plumbing, processing, heating, cooling and ventilating systems and their screening devices which will be visible from upper floors of adjacent buildings shall be kept to a visible minimum, shall be installed in a neat and compact fashion, and shall be painted such a color as to allow their blending with their visual backgrounds.
 - d. No exterior components of plumbing, processing, heating, cooling, and ventilating systems shall be mounted on any building wall unless they are integrated architectural design features, and in any case shall be permitted only with the approval of the Planning Commission.
- 11. Screening of Exterior Electrical Equipment and Transformers.

 - b. Transformer enclosures shall be designed of durable materials, preferably constructed of the same material as the primary building, with finishes and colors which are unified and harmonious with the overall architectural theme.
 - c. Exterior-mounted electrical equipment shall be mounted on the interior of a building wherever possible. When interior mounting is not practical, electrical equipment shall be mounted in a location where it is substantially screened from public view. In no case shall exterior electrical equipment be mounted on the street side or primary exposure side of any building.
 - d. Exterior-mounted electrical equipment and conduits shall be kept to a visible minimum, where visible shall be installed in a neat and orderly fashion, and shall be painted to blend with their mounting backgrounds.
- 12. Utilities and Communication Devices.
- a. All exterior on-site utilities, including but not limited to drainage systems, sewers, gas lines, water lines, and electrical, telephone, and communications wires and equipment, shall be installed and maintained underground.
 - b. On-site underground utilities shall be designed and installed to minimize any disruption of off-site utilities, paving, and landscape during construction and maintenance, and shall be of such a design as not to place excessive burdens upon off-site utility systems during the course of use.

A little romance

Summer is a great time to pack a picnic basket and cozy up with your sweetheart on a blanket in the park.

A romantic picnic for two is an easy and fun way to spend quality time as a couple, while enjoying the great outdoors and munching on good food.

Romantic picnics should be personal to the person the picnic is for, said Doug Winkworth, owner of Festivities in Birmingham. Things such as music, decorations and location should be catered to that person's likes and dislikes.

"The most romantic thing to do is to make the event all about them," he said. "Let them know they are cared about."

A romantic picnic, then, will differ from couple to couple as far as ambiance. Some couples may enjoy listening to jazz by candlelight under the stars, while others may enjoy a picnic at the beach in the summer sun.

But as for food, most people can probably agree that romantic picnic foods should be simple, yet tasty.

With romance in the air, the last thing you want is spaghetti sauce dripping down your chin. That being said, the best romantic foods are those that are not messy.

And if you want

Minted orange and mango salad will cool off the summer's heat at your next picnic. Recipes from Festive Picnics cookbook by Pamela Sheldon Johns and Jennifer Barry.

Picnic in the park with your special one to enjoy the whole day or evening with your loved one without a lot of rigmarole, such as interrupting your "couple time" with trips to the nearby grill, you should bring foods that won't spoil quickly and that can be served and eaten cold.

Finger foods, such as breads and cheeses, are great for romantic picnics because a couple can feed them to one another, said Eric Lundy, event designer at Forte-Belanger Catering in Troy.

Some good choices for cheeses to spread on bread, Lundy said, are camembert, a French goat cheese similar to brie; boucheron, a creamy yet crumbly goat cheese; and English Farmhouse cheddar, a cheese with a buttery feel and earthy flavor.

For dessert, Lundy suggests the traditional favorite of strawberries dipped in chocolate.

"The perfect recipe for a dreamy picnic would be to capture the things your partner finds exciting and intoxicating," said Kelli Lewton, owner and

Seek value wines from France's Rhone Valley

Throughout the world, more than 1.3 million bottles of wine from France's Rhone Valley are sold each day.

With approximately 190,000 vineyard acres and equivalent in size and production to that of Burgundy, Beaujolais and the Cotes de Provence combined, the Rhone Valley is the second largest appellation in France.

To begin to understand the region, it's important to keep in mind that the Rhone Valley encompasses two distinct wine regions, separated by differing soils, climatic conditions and grape varieties.

Northern Rhone wines are dominated by syrah, while wines from the southern Rhone are blends of several grape varieties, both white and red.

Since the U.S. is the second largest export market for Rhone Valley wines in terms of value, it's a good idea to learn the names of producers offering these value wines.

with the wines of Jean-Luc Colombo that have recently become available in Michigan.

Colombo developed his wine passion in the 1970s as a pharmacy student in southern France. He became convinced that the northern Rhone Valley, and the Cornas appellation in particular, offered outstanding potential for high-quality syrah — a wine that today is high on the list of favorites among red wine drinkers.

In the early 1980s, Colombo acquired his first vineyard holdings in Cornas and released the first wines with vintage 1987.

In 1995, he launched Vins de Jean-Luc Colombo, a nego-ciant-style company with a range of wines from a number of appellations in the Rhone and south of France.

Colombo was born and raised in the region known as Cote Bleue (Blue Coast), west of Marseille. Today, Colombo's mission is to obtain Appellation Controlée (AOC) status for the region.

The 2000 Jean-Luc Colombo "Moulin de la Dame" ($12), a blend of 40 percent syrah, 40 percent mourvedre and 20 percent counoise, displays not only intriguing red fruit aromas and flavors, but sports a value price tag.

WINE VALUES

- 2002 Les Abeilles Cotes du Rhone Blanc ($11) is a lovely warm weather white from the southern Rhone. It's slightly citrus finish makes it a perfect match with sushi or any grilled light white-fleshed fish.
- 2002 Viognier "La

Violette" ($14) is 100 percent viognier with fresh, bright fruit and typical orange blossom and honeysuckle notes. It pairs well with Asian dishes.

■ 2001 Les Abeilles Cotes du Rhone Rouge is an elegant red blend of grenache, syrah and mourvedre from 25-year-old vines: Fruitful, well-structured and generous, it's a steal at $11.

■ 2000 Syrah "La Violette" ($12) is 100 percent syrah from 30-year-old vines.

The wine is brimming with red fruit aromas and flavors, accented with anise and fine leather qualities.

Compare it with other more expensive syrahs from around the world and you'll see what we mean by value for "La Violette" with an appropriate violet label.

Merging grocers

The Detroit Association of Grocery Manufacturers' Representatives board of directors recently approved a merger with the Michigan Food and Beverage Association.

DAGMR represents grocery manufacturers, processors, distributors, brokers and related companies in eastern Michigan. The MFBA represents 3,300 members who employ more than 40,000 workers. Companies include food stores, convenience stores, restaurants, fast food establishments, wholesalers, manufacturers, food brokers, jobbers and related distributors.

MFBA president Ed Deeb pledged that the MFBA would expand various programs and benefits of DAGMR.

"We are pleased to bring the members of DAGMR on board with us and look forward to working with their membership to meet the challenges and changes taking place in our important industry," Deeb said.

DAGMR's outgoing president Joseph Yurasek said his organization recognized the "added value" that would occur with the merger.

Spending more

Grill owners say that they are comfortable spending more on grills this year, according to Weber's GrillWatch survey.

When asked how much they would pay for a grill, survey participants answers averaged at $386 — an increase over last year's $234. Eight percent said they would pay more than $900 and 4 percent said they would pay over $1,000, compared to 2 percent one year ago.

chef at Two Unique Caterers & Event Planners in Bloomfield Hills.

She said she would include foods you can eat with your hands, such as crusty breads you pull apart, flavorful salamis and cheeses, shrimp, "fun and exotic dips" with crackers or pita chips and "spicy and intriguing" nuts.

To complement the easy-to-eat finger foods and, also, to rev up the romance, wine is an excellent choice for a romantic picnic.

If you want to go Italian, which reminds many people of romance (think of the animated version of it in Disney's Lady and the Tramp) then maybe some suggestions from Adrian Tonan, owner of Ristorante Cafe Cortina in Farmington Hills, would make ideal choices.

Start the picnic with something light, like Prosciutto di Parma, an Italian-cured ham, followed by Mozzarella di Bufala, a soft, fresh cheese made from water buffalo milk, French bread and roasted peppers, Tonan said.

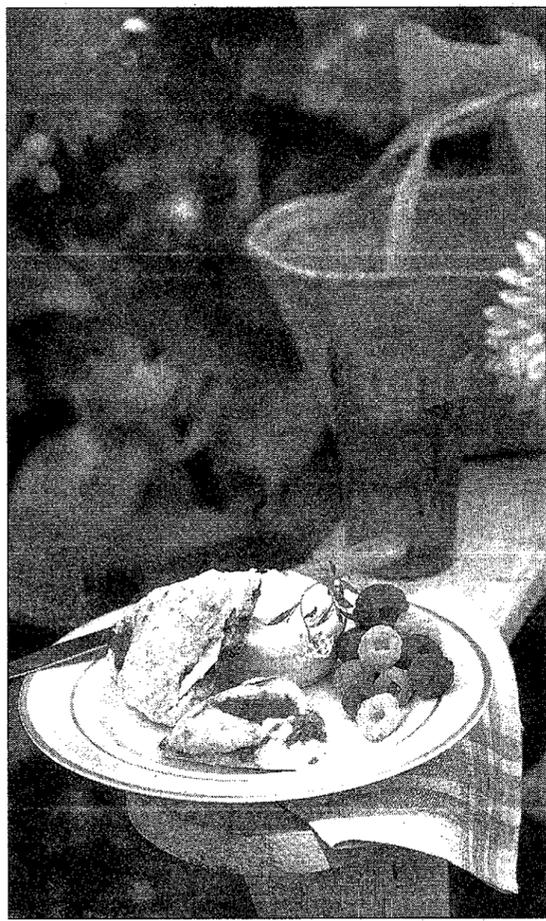

And for dessert, he suggests apples dipped in honey, cherries or fresh figs.

Presecco, a sparkling white wine would go well with the main meal, and Moscato d'Asti would go well with the dessert, Tonan said.

With the mention of a picnic, salads often comes to mind, and although salads are good picnic fare, some may be too messy to pack for your romantic rendezvous.

There are other ways to enjoy fresh veggies and dressings, without the mess or silverware.

Lewton suggests baby mozzarella skewered with petit grape tomatoes and fresh basil with a drizzle of virgin oil and cold meats such as beef tenderloin or chicken breast skewered with marinated veggies weaved on a long four-inch toothpick, served with light dips such as honey mustard, blue cheese or herb tomato. Also, she said sliced chicken breast rolled in romaine leaves served with Caesar dressing is a good choice.

If, however, you want to go with a more traditional-type salad, a good one to try is old fashioned coleslaw from the cookbook Festive Picnics by Pamela Sheldon Jones and Jennifer Barry (Ten Speed Press, $16.95)

Other excellent picnic food choices in the cookbook include Mediterranean Marinated Swordfish and Shrimp Kabobs, Minted Orange and Mango Salad and Raspberry Scones.

As with most social events, it seems that food often brings people together, and romantic picnics are no exception.

Food gives people a sense of camaraderie and communication and allows people to share something together, Tonan said.

At a picnic for two, Lundy said, you can use food to share with another.

Most picnic foods require little or no preparation, and can be bought pre-packaged at a market. The same goes for the wine.

So, aside from the items you use to create ambiance - such as candles, a soft blanket or CD player - all you really need for your romantic picnic is some plastic containers to store food in, a cooler, some wine glasses, napkins, an empty bag for cleanup, and unless you choose finger foods, forks and paper plates.

Add the buttermilk and raspberries, stirring gently to blend. Turn out onto a floured board and pat until the dough holds together, handling it as little as possible.

Divide into 4 pieces. Shape into rounds and score into fourths.

Brush with the beaten egg. Bake for 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

Serve with sweet butter and a few raspberries for garnish. Makes 16 scones.

MEDITERRANEAN MARINATED SWORDFISH AND SHRIMP KABOBS

- 18 jumbo shrimp, shelled
- 8 ounces swordfish, cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1 red bell pepper, seeded, deribbed, and cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1 yellow bell pepper, seeded, deribbed, and cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1 red onion, cut into 2-inch pieces
- 2 lemons, cut into wedges
- 18 dried bay leaves
- 1 teaspoon finely grated lemon zest
- Juice of 2 lemons
- 2 teaspoons minced fresh thyme
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 cup extra-virgin olive oil
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Soak 18 wooden skewers in water for 30 minutes. Drain. With a thin-bladed knife slice down the back of each shrimp, just deep enough to reveal the dark vein. Remove the vein and rinse the shrimp. Thread each skewer, alternating shrimp, swordfish, red and yellow peppers, onion, lemon wedges, and bay leaves. Place in a shallow dish large enough to hold all the skewers.

In a small bowl, combine the lemon zest, lemon juice, thyme and garlic. Whisk in the olive oil. Season with salt and pepper. Mix well.

Set aside 3 tablespoons of marinade for basting. Pour the remaining marinade over the skewers. Let stand at room temperature for at least 1 hour, or cover and refrigerate as long as overnight.

Light a fire in a charcoal grill or preheat a gas grill to 425° F. Remove the skewers from the marinade and grill for 4 to 5 minutes, turning frequently and brushing with the reserved marinade, until shrimp are pink and the swordfish is opaque throughout.

Serve immediately. Serves 6.

Grill vegetables at your next picnic.

Throw veggies on the grill

Many people grill hot dogs, burgers and chicken.

But it doesn't have to stop there.

With all the health protection they provide, vegetables should have an important place on the grill. Grilled vegetables can be served many ways - over brown rice, in pita sandwiches, as appetizers, or side dishes.

Vegetables are a low-fat, low-calorie source of nutrients, dietary fiber and other health-protective substances. When grilled or cooked over an open flame, their natural sugars and flavors intensify into a wonderful eating experience. Unlike meat and chicken, most vegetables cook quickly, so make sure to watch them closely.

To help keep vegetables from sticking to the grill, lightly coat the rack with cooking spray and place it over hot coals for five to 10 minutes before adding the food. Vegetables also can be lightly coated with either olive or canola oil spray.

Onions and tomatoes can be grilled whole, or in large chunks and skewered so turning and serving is easy. Use metal skewers, or soak wooden skewers in water until thoroughly damp to keep them from catching fire. Or, use a "grill tray" which will prevent falling onto the coals. To grill corn on the cob, first, carefully peel back the husks, remove the silk, and put the husks back in place; then, soak the corn in water for 45 minutes. Grill corn, turning occasionally, for 20 to 25 minutes.

The only limit to what vegetables you can grill is your imagination. Be creative. Thread chunks of zucchini, yellow or orange bell peppers, eggplant, mushrooms and cherry tomatoes on skewers. Coat lightly with cooking oil spray, then season with basil, parsley, onion and garlic. Grill until they are tender, turning them often to avoid charring.

GRILLED VEGETABLES WITH BASIL

- 1 small eggplant, cut in half lengthwise, then into thick chunks
- 1 zucchini, cut in half lengthwise, then in thick chunks
- 1 yellow summer squash, cut into thick, diagonal slices
- 1 red bell pepper, seeded and cut into eighths
- 1 small red onion, sliced and cut into 8 wedges
- 2 tablespoons balsamic or red wine vinegar
- 1/2 cup canola oil
- 1/2 cup plus 1 Tbsp. minced fresh basil (or 1 Tbsp. plus 1 tsp. dried), divided
- 1/2 cup non-fat plain yogurt

- 2 tablespoons non-fat mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice

Thread eight skewers with alternating pieces of the vegetables. Place vegetables in a shallow pan large enough to hold the skewers.

Make marinade by whisking together in a small bowl the vinegar, oil and all but 1 tablespoon fresh basil (or all but 1 teaspoon dried). Pour over vegetables. Let stand 10 minutes, occasionally turning skewers so marinade coats all sides.

Meanwhile, make dressing. Place yogurt, mayonnaise, the remaining 1 tablespoon fresh basil (or 1 teaspoon dried) and lemon juice in a blender and mix at low speed until smooth. Transfer to small pitcher.

Grill vegetables, adjusting height of rack to avoid charring. Serve vegetables as a side dish, as a sandwich filling in pita halves, or on sliced French bread or bruschetta. Pass basil-yogurt dressing to use as a topping.

Makes 8 servings.

Bring out the salad bowl

Spring is the time of year when salads become more than a side dish. With or without lean meats, eggs, or low-fat cheese, all the lovely spring produce available at this time of year only have to be cut up and tossed together in a bowl with a dressing.

Health experts recommend eating a minimum of 5 to 10 servings of fruits and vegetables a day.

Start the day with a glass of orange juice and sliced fruit on your whole-grain cereal, and you'll already have two down. At lunch, eat a salad (on the side or as a main dish), or add green, leafy lettuce and a few slices of tomato to your sandwich. Eat an apple or other fruit for dessert, and you'll have reached number five. For dinner, add a cooked vegetable, a small green salad and a piece of fruit and you'll have hit number eight. To reach 10 servings, snack between meals on fruit or raw vegetables with salsa or low fat dressing.

A salad of broccoli, tomatoes and watercress is a nutritional gold mine.

And to make life easier, you can now buy cut and pre-washed broccoli and other vegetables ready to toss in your salad. In addition to being high in fiber, vitamins A and C, folate and potassium, broccoli also contains sulphoraphane, a cancer-fighting substance. Research indicates that broccoli and other members of the cruciferous vegetable family - including cabbage, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower - can help ward off cancer.

Iceberg lettuce has been called "crunchy water" by scientists who have analyzed its nutritional value.

A little iceberg lettuce can add some "crunch" to sandwiches and burgers, but far better for salads are dark, leafy greens which are rich in one of the most effective cancer-prevention substances, sulphoraphane.

Watercress, spinach, chard, collards and arugula give great taste as well as great nutritional punch.

Then, add other vegetables for color as well as health benefits - carrots, red, orange or yellow bell pepper, red cabbage and tomatoes.

Cherry tomatoes offer great color contrast in your leafy green salad, with a minimum of preparation time. Tomatoes are red because they contain a high amount of a health-protecting phytochemical called lycopene, which has strong anti-cancer properties.

Like oranges and peppers, tomatoes also contain plenty of vitamin C.

BROCCOLI, CHERRY TOMATO AND WATERCRESS SALAD

2 cups broccoli florets
2 cups cherry tomatoes, stems removed
1 bunch watercress, long stems trimmed, coarsely chopped and cut in half
½ tablespoon red wine vinegar
1 tablespoon extra virgin olive oil
½ teaspoon minced garlic
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Add cilantro to rice and chicken

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sauce of fresh cilantro, green onions, ginger and garlic stirred into cooked rice gives the rice intense fragrance and flavor. Shiitake mushrooms add a little earthy smokiness.

Nothing too difficult about that. It's the idea that makes the difference: The combinations are creative, the results delectable, in this recipe for rice and chicken from The Best of Cooking Light 4 ($9.95), a special edition of Cooking Light magazine. This is a collection of 140 recipes culled from those published in the magazine last year, and they're those with the most "yum factor," editor Mary Creel writes.

CILANTRO RICE WITH CHICKEN

For the rice and chicken:

- 1 tablespoon oil
- 2 cups quartered shiitake mushroom caps (about 6 ounces)
- ¼ cup chopped green onion bottoms
- ½-inch piece peeled fresh ginger
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- 2 cups uncooked long-grain rice
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 6 skinless, boneless chicken thighs (about ¾ pounds), cut into bite-sized pieces
- 3 cups fat-free, less-sodium chicken broth

For the sauce:

- 2 cups loosely packed cilantro leaves
- ½ cup fat-free, less-sodium chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion tops
- 1 teaspoon chopped peeled fresh ginger
- ½ teaspoon kosher salt
- 1 garlic clove, peeled

For the topping:

- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 2 cups grape or cherry tomatoes, halved
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion tops
- Cilantro sprigs (optional)

Preheat oven to 350° F.

To prepare rice: Heat 1 tablespoon oil in a Dutch oven over medium heat. Add mushrooms, green onion bottoms, ginger piece and crushed garlic; cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in rice, cumin and chicken; cook 1 minute. Stir in broth; bring to a boil. Cover and bake at 350° F for 25 minutes. Remove from oven, and let stand, covered, for 10 minutes.

To prepare sauce: Place cilantro, broth, green onion, chopped ginger, salt and garlic clove in a food processor or blender; process until smooth. Stir into rice mixture. Discard ginger piece.

To prepare topping: Heat 1 teaspoon oil in a medium skillet over medium-low heat. Add tomatoes; cook 2 minutes. Stir in 2 tablespoons green onion tops. Place the rice mixture in a large bowl, and spoon tomato topping over rice. Garnish with cilantro sprigs, if desired.

Makes 8 servings (each about 1 cup rice mixture and about ¼ cup tomato topping).

Nutrition information per serving: 39 cal., 6.8 g fat (1.4 g saturated), 25.3 g pro., 41.5 g carbs., 1.8 g fiber, 82 mg chol., 416 mg sodium.

Coriander, cilantro combine for a spicy-herb punch

BY DANA JACOBI
CORRESPONDENT

Few foods are as uniquely diverse as coriander, the plant that supplies both a spice and an herb. Its beige seeds are used as an aromatic spice in Europe, Asia, North Africa and the Middle East. The pungent green leaves, used widely as an herb from China to Mexico, inspire either love or intense loathing.

Coriander has multiple names, including Chinese parsley and cilantro, a Spanish variation of the word culantro, which are usually applied only to the leaves. The leaves resemble flat-leaf parsley, although at farmers' market I have seen locally cultivated coriander as large and frilly as a bouquet, with delicate little pink and white blossoms.

We use it all the time, in salsa, chili, on salads and to garnish soups. Thai cooks even use the brownish, carrot-like root sometimes left at the base of cilantro clusters.

Coriander seed, which resembles white peppercorns, is used whole and ground. Its complex flavor is sweet and faintly resinous, with citrus notes.

The whole seed is used in pickling spice, crab boil and for making poached fruit. Ground coriander is important in Indian curries, Ethiopian berbere, and for flavoring baked goods like cookies and gingerbread. It is also used to flavor gin and in perfumes, thanks to its essential oil, linalol.

Medicinally, coriander and cilantro both help digestion and may be anti-bacterial. Bringing cilantro and coriander together, I use them both in a burrito combining the flavors of India and the American Southwest.

EAST-WEST BURRITO

- 1/2 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
- Pinch teaspoon ground cardamom
- Pinch teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 pound skinless, boneless chicken breast, cut lengthwise into 1/2-inch strips
- 3 tablespoons canola oil, divided
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 yellow bell pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1/2 cups canned fat-free fried kidney or pinto beans
- 8 flour tortillas (7-8 inch)
- 1/2 cups cooked brown rice
- 4 tablespoons reduced-fat sour cream
- 1/2 cup (loosely packed) cilantro

leaves, roughly cut up
1 cup prepared salsa

Combine ground spices in a bowl.

Add chicken and press spices in so they adhere.

Cover and refrigerate overnight. Bring to room temperature before cooking.

Heat 2 teaspoons oil in a medium skillet over medium-high heat. Sauté chicken until cooked through, about 5 minutes. Transfer to a plate. Cut chicken into bite-size pieces and set aside.

Add remaining oil to the pan. Sauté onions and pepper until soft and lightly browned, about 8 minutes.

Transfer with a slotted spoon to the chicken, mix in and set aside. Add beans to the pan and cook, stirring until they are warmed.

Warm tortillas in a large, dry skillet over medium high heat. Spread one-fourth of the beans in center of each.

Top with rice, then chicken mixture. Add a dollop of sour cream and a sprinkle of cilantro leaves.

Fold sides of tortillas over the filling, then fold in ends. Turn the burrito over. Serve with salsa sauce on the side.

Makes 8 servings.

Try strawberry salad, mango-cucumber salad

ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - On too many dinner tables the salad is an afterthought, a random toss of greens and garden castoffs offered for seemingly no other reason than that the host thinks it ought to be.

No doubt you have encountered these salads of limp greens or watery iceberg lettuce in a jumble of carrots, cucumbers and tomatoes. Their only advantage is how easily they are forgotten.

It need not be that way. Salads can stand on their own merits, complement the meal and even challenge the palate, yet never threaten to overshadow the entree.

As so often is the case, simplicity is best. My favorite salad is an elegant yet rustic heap of mesclun greens drizzled with extra-virgin olive oil, salt and balsamic vinegar. The construction may be simple, but the tastes are bold and complex.

That same basic salad also can be dressed up to suit different themes. Asian on the menu? Substitute toasted sesame oil and seasoned rice vinegar, then sprinkle with sesame seeds.

In fall, add thin slices of apples or pears. For more oomph, toss the greens with roasted whole garlic cloves and drizzle with cider vinegar and toasted hazelnut oil.

For a more substantial yet equally simple salad, try an Italian tomato and mozzarella platter. Alternate slices of Roma tomatoes with water-packed mozzarella. Top with basil leaves, salt, freshly ground black pepper and extra-virgin olive oil.

For a Greek version of the same dish, substitute crumbled feta cheese for the mozzarella and replace the basil with fresh thyme and pitted Kalamata olives.

Pickles are another - and often underrated - way to liven up a salad. Toss diced bread and butter pickles (some of the new zesty varieties are particularly good) with chopped romaine lettuce hearts and corn kernels. Drizzle with a 1:2 blend of cider vinegar and mayonnaise.

For another fantastic dinner salad, try a strawberry salad with poppy seed dressing. This simple salad of romaine, strawberry slices and almond slivers from Cooking Light magazine has received many rave reviews from our dinner guests.

Or for something a little different, try mango-cucumber salad from Byron Ayanoglu's 125 Best Vegetarian Recipes (Robert Rose, 2004, $18.95). This Thai dish is sweet, sour and crunchy.

STRAWBERRY SALAD WITH POPPY SEED DRESSING

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons light mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons fat-free milk
- 1 tablespoon poppy seeds
- 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar
- 10-ounce bag romaine lettuce, roughly chopped
- 1 cup sliced strawberries
- 2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds

Combine the sugar, mayonnaise, milk, poppy seeds and vinegar in a small bowl and whisk well.

Place the lettuce in a large bowl. Add the strawberries and almonds and toss lightly. Divide among individual serving plates and drizzle each with about 1 tablespoon dressing. Makes 6 servings.

1. Changes relative to Religious institutions to bring the code into compliance with the Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act (RLUIPA). These changes add religious institutions into other zoning districts where the Township permits other public assembly uses. Additional criteria for these uses have also been developed in conjunction with the proposed changes. 2. Updates and revisions to the use descriptions in all of the Industrial Districts. These changes redefine uses in a more modern fashion to respond to the changes in industry over the past 15 years. The RP District is also being renamed to Light Industrial Research (LIR) to better reflect the range of uses permitted, but no substantial changes to the standards are proposed. 3. Creation of the CBD Overlay District for Ford Road west of I-275. This overlay district utilizes the basic framework of the Corporate Park Overlay District, but has been enhanced with many of the concepts, which have been discussed by the DDA and the Ford Road Task Force. This is a starting point and as the DDA proceeds further with image development concepts, the district can be further enhanced as needed to incorporate those ideas. A 50 foot front setback has been proposed with an opportunity to reduce setbacks if the Planning Commission grants a modification pursuant to defined set of criteria. Item 6. Consider mediation for dispute

Our association is being asked to consider mediation of a dispute. Do you have any experience with that process?

As a trained mediator, and also as one who has used mediation as a resolution dispute mechanism, I highly recommend that for community associations, particularly those in litigation with the developer or some other types of litigation including disputes with co-owners. Mediators are trained to facilitate a resolution without making a decision as opposed to an arbitrator and I have had an opportunity to successfully resolve disputes both as a mediator and as a participant on behalf of my community association clients.

Our homeowners' association has an Architectural Control Committee. A neighbor is planning an addition that may not meet the standards set forth by the association. Do we wait until he starts building to address this or do we approach him proactively and remind him he needs approval from the committee and city permits?

You should definitely take a proactive position and remind him that he has an obligation to comply with the architectural requirements of the deed restrictions and, if it appears that he is not willing to do so, you should seriously consider seeking legal redress to enjoin him from proceeding without the appropriate approval. It is generally easier to obtain an injunction before the building begins than after the fact.

Here comes the judge: Property disputes court problems for sellers, buyers

BY NORMAN PRADY
CORRESPONDENT

You'd probably like to think of real estate transactions ending with the closing click of a pen, the joyful exchange of good wishes and warm handshakes all around.

Well, sorry to disappoint you, but sometimes they end with the bang of a gavel.

Sometimes the gavel is in the hand of Linda Hallmark. She's an Oakland County probate judge assigned to the family court division of circuit court.

"It's stressful enough to sell a home when you're feeling good about things," Hallmark said, "but when you're in the middle of a fight" it can be especially difficult.

There can be disputes between a divorcing wife and husband, she said, about selling the property. "Whether or not to sell it and about conducting the sale. People are emotionally tied to the marital home."

It might be, Hallmark said, that one or the other party doesn't want to move out or doesn't want to cooperate with selling the home.

"That party might agree to sell but won't let the agent show it or the house won't be in good condition when the agent brings a customer."

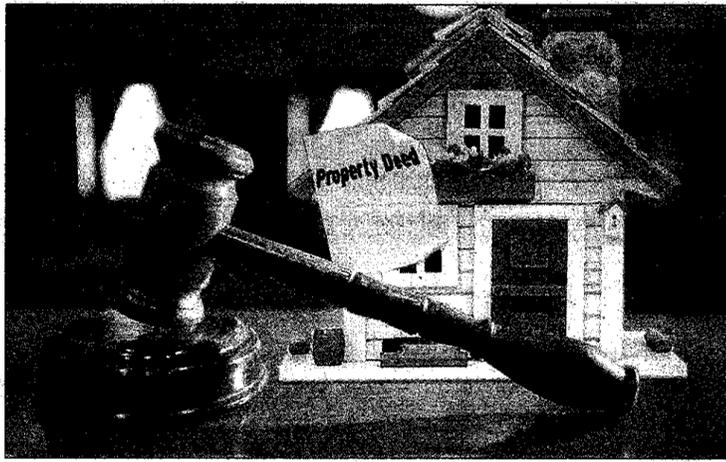

COURT'S WORK

The court's work, Hallmark said, is to get the parties to agree to sell and then to facilitate the process. If necessary, she said, the court can make specific orders about how and when showings of the house must be scheduled.

"Ultimately, if they can't cooperate, we can appoint a receiver, a third party who steps in and takes over the sale. But it's costly to the parties," she said.

Although Hallmark's court has jurisdiction over the wife and husband in a divorce case, there could be questions, she said, about third-party ownership of the house.

"If grandma or a brother or sister is on the deed, we have to decide if this third party is going to intervene in the case and how do we assess the rights of that party," said Hallmark. "We might add the third person as a party to the divorce action, to come in and litigate rights in terms of whether there's an ownership interest in the house, whether or not we should award the house to the third party instead of one of the divorcing parties."

Ownership issues also can come up in other ways, said Lisa Langton, administrator/register in Hallmark's court division.

Some of these matters, Langton said, have to do with the validity of deeds. "Dad decided," she said, offering an example of a kind of case that might come in, "that he wanted to give some property to some of his kids but not the others and he wrote a quit claim deed but never gave it to anyone, just left it with his will."

The other kids might not be too happy about this, Langton said. Same for his first wife if there's a deed leaving property to the second wife.

Real estate court cases might be about almost anything you can think of, as Tom Wilhelm can tell you. He's the broker/owner at Wilhelm & Associates, Clarkston.

MAKING A CASE

"There was the guy who bought a house from a seller who said on the disclosure form that the basement never leaked,"

Wilhelm said. But the garage was under the house. You drove down below grade-level to enter it. A neighbor told the new owner that there always was a water problem in that house. It was the makings of a lawsuit that forced the seller to pay the cost of solving the water flow problem.

"And then," Wilhelm said, "there was the guy who wanted a house on a certain street. The one he wants got sold before he can buy it so he goes for a second one nearby. He's buying the second house and suddenly the deal on the first house falls through so he wants that one instead. The seller of the second house will let him out of the deal but wants to keep the $5,000 deposit - that's why it's called earnest money. Guy won't agree. Five years in court. He ends up paying the seller a lot more than $5,000."

"And then there's this house in an old subdivision that was platted about the 1920s. The mortgage survey shows that the neighbor's fence is 12 feet onto the property being purchased. Been there for years. No one paid any attention to it. But the buyer wants his 12 feet. He sued the seller, sued the neighbor, sued us as the real estate agent - even though we had no responsibility in this. Well, the fence got moved. Cost us a fortune in attorney fees." Bang. Next case.

Prepare now to seize opportunity

Many military leaders dread the Hundred Days of Summer because every year a disproportionate number of personnel injuries not related to duty occur between Memorial Day and Labor Day. In my flying squadrons, the annual "ground safety" message was very clear: Work hard, play hard, return safely.

Now that I am out of the active duty, that recurring summertime message takes on added dimension. I am still mindful of that deep-rooted safety message for my family, but the my life's work as a mortgage broker gives the Hundred Days of Summer a more exciting and positive view of this period.

In the real estate world, it is no secret that the Memorial Day weekend begins "prime time" for homebuyers' real estate purchases. With mortgage interest rates remaining as attractive as they have, this year should be no different.

Memorial Day also marks a notable changeover point in our current market. Until recently, buyers were in the minority and had the upper hand in negotiating deals with sellers. With more homes available than buyers to purchase them, those buyers were the valuable commodity.

However, if the number of buyer mortgage prequalification requests I am getting is any indication, sellers should soon have the upper hand again. With buyers now coming out of the proverbial woodwork for the seasonal summer buying frenzy - and presuming the number of homes available does not grow as quickly - we should see the real estate purchase market really heat up.

With this in mind, future homebuyers would be well served to act sooner instead of later by contacting a mortgage lender right away to head off any "surprises" that may be lurking on their credit reports. Then, a logical "next step" would be to complete a full-blown mortgage prequalification that involves a review of the borrowers' income, assets, and debts.

Very intelligent borrowers will take these two steps to best be prepared to pounce on that perfect home when they see it. Our hundred days will be gone before you know it. Get prepared now, if you want to seize your buying opportunity. Timothy Phillips is a mortgage banker and newspaper columnist. Rates climb

BY JEANNINE AVERSA ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rates on 30-year and 15-year mortgages resumed their upward march, a factor that could contribute to a further slowdown in home-mortgage refinancings, economists said.

Freddie Mac reported Thursday, May 27 that rates on benchmark 30-year fixed-rate mortgages rose to 6.32 percent, up from 6.30 percent last week.

Thirty-year mortgage rates, which had dipped slightly last week after an eight-week rise, had hit a low for the year of 5.38 percent the week of March 18.

With a 1/4% reduction in rate, a $125,000 loan amount with 1 point ($1,250) paid financed at 5.875% (6.15% APR) for 30 years would result in 360 monthly payments of $739.42 for principal and interest. These examples are based on a sale price of $137,500, loan-to-value of 91%, a down payment of 9% and a loan made in the state of Michigan. Taxes and insurance are extra. Fees and charges apply. Rate is for example only and is not necessarily reflective of the current market rate. Call for current rate information and information on fees and charges. Terms and conditions apply. The 2004 Malibu-Impala Review

Advertising Feature

Thursday DriveTime

BY DALE BUSS

The latest versions of Malibu and Impala make for great evidence that the Chevrolet Division these days now is doing better than in a long time what it was created to do: Anchor the entry-level segment for GM by offering youthful, zippy, highly affordable but basic cars and trucks that could funnel first-time buyers into the GM hierarchy of desire, with the idea of subsequently moving them with hic that moves up to Pontiac, Buick and Cadillac.

While GM's market-segmentation approach doesn't work nearly as well as it once did, Malibu and Impala do. They share a basic look and identity but are differentiated enough to offer something distinct to each buyer.

I preferred the bigger one, Impala. The difference in size, power and presence between it and Malibu was significant. With a sticker price of $30,640 for the SS version I drove, compared with the $24,500 for the Malibu LT, if I were in the market for a Chevrolet, I'd stretch as much as I could to afford the Impala.

The impressiveness of the 2004 Impala starts with its bold look, perhaps the most interesting current rendering of what has become Chevrolet's basic design theme: strong and wide, blocky in the rear end, with distinct, circular taillights that are reminiscent of Sixties predecessor versions. A lowered front fascia, with integrated fog lamps in the version I drove, adds to the overall look. A Corvette-inspired body-color rear-tailamp appliqué does as well. And the dual bright stainless-steel exhaust tips top off the rather boss look of the car.

The SS version I drove features GM's 3800 series II supercharged V6, which gives the car capable power at just about every point in the driving experience. Impala won't beat a sports car away from the lights, but it can put up a good fight against most garden-variety vehicles. The engine puts out 240 horsepower and 280 lb.-ft. of torque. Powder-metal connecting rods replace cast-iron rods for increased durability and reduced weight, a note that might be of interest to serious auto-mechanics fans. Highway mileage of 28 mpg is pretty satisfactory for a car of this type, although 18 mpg in the city is a bit of a disappointment.

For your $30,000, you can have an Impala that is way more loaded than you might expect of a Chevrolet, including a leather-wrapped steering wheel and leather-covered bucket seats, a six-way power driver's seat, cruise and tilt, and 17-inch aluminum wheels. XM Satellite Radio, for an extra $325 on this car, is an option that everyone should take advantage of.

Malibu offers significantly less presence for the $5,000 lower price than Impala. Its 3.5-liter V6 engine doesn't perform as well overall as the Impala's 3.8-liter V6 even though Malibu is smaller. The base Malibu carries a four-cylinder engine. Its mileage is much more impressive: Even the V6 delivers 32 mpg on the highway and 23 mpg in the city. Stylewise, Malibu cuts a nice figure, looking very much like a smaller version of Impala's.

GM did give Malibu an interesting first for its 2004 version: It's the first car in its class to offer an optional factory-installed remote-vehicle starter system, which lets the driver start the vehicle from as far away as 20 feet.
