Shopping for a good tree

Jim Trott, of Mary's Farm Market on the corner of Beck and Ford roads, helps Karen and Sue Urbanski, and Stacy Hotter, choose a Christmas tree. The women were shopping on 'Black Friday' - the biggest shopping day of the year. Stores along Ford Road were busy, as many took advantage of post-Thanksgiving sales to shop for loved ones.

Tree lighting, holiday festivities set for Wednesday

This year Canton Leisure Services has packed two of its traditional holiday activities into one festive event, which will take place Wednesday at Summit on the Park and Heritage Park.

The event will feature the annual Christmas tree lighting, as well as photos with Santa, live entertainment, carriage rides around Heritage Park, ice carving demonstrations and live reindeer.

The festivities begin at 6 p.m., and Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack will light the township's Christmas tree at 7 p.m. The event ends at 9 p.m.

Other entertainment and activities include:

Grace Notes Flute Ensemble PCEP Senior Choir and Holiday Storytelling at 6:45 p.m., 7:30 p.m., and 8:15 p.m.

Goodfellows "No Child Without a Christmas Campaign" (they will be accepting new warm clothing or toys) Holiday performances brought to you by Canton Leisure Services'

Completion of Warren project welcomed by businesses

BY KURT KUBAN

Back in the spring, Wayne County officials told Canton officials they would have the Warren Road widening project from Morton Taylor to Canton Center completed by mid-November. Much to the surprise of some, the road opened up right on time.
"Eight months ago, the county said the road would be open on Nov. 15th. They completed the project on Nov. 15th. That's the first time since I've been here that they have completed a road project on time," said Tim Faas, director of Canton's municipal services. "Certainly, I'd like to compliment the county on this project, how-

"It killed us," she said of the project. "For it to take as long as it did is kind of ridiculous."

Brotherton said most of her lunch time business comes from workers in Canton's industrial district, who she said shied away because of traffic back-ups associated with the construc-

"There's so much to try to keep up with," said Bunch, whose focus at Geneva is on local missions. The congregation recognized the value of "stepping back and recharging and reconnecting with God."

Such a sabbatical can help a congregation retain a pastor, Bunch added.

Smith also got to spend time with wife Jennifer, a speechlanguage pathologist, and the couples children, Julia, 15, and Joshua, 12. "We did quite a few things," he said. They spent 10 days at a lake house in Ontario and traveled to Kings Island in Ohio.

Also, the Smiths gathered with extended family in Barrie, Ontario, where his mom's familv is from.

The Presbyterian denomination has created recommendations that pastors take such a break every seven years. Smith noted that Christian clergy work Sundays and often spend Saturdays preparing.

"You really end up not having the typical kind of weekend." Clergy also use a lot of energy and attention in caring for the flock, and can neglect their own self-care and need for balance, he said.

Local elf's letters let kids hear from Santa

It's about to get very busy around Kristy Robinett's house. As an official correspondent for the Big Man, she's getting ready to write to good boys and girls and some naughty and nice adults.

Welcome to Sent By Santa, a home-based Santa's workshop specializing in personalized Santa letters.

"People provide me with the information, and I do the letter, I personalize every one," said the Westland resident. 'Children are amazed Santa really knows so much about them - good things, as well as areas that need improvement. The letters are a great way to build self esteem by commending the children of their accomplishments."

Robinett signed on as Santa's correspondent in 1997 and has done it every year except 2005 when she took time off for health reasons and a move from Garden City to Westland.

The letters are written with information provided by the sender. They cost $8 each, with a portion from each letter donated to Wide Smiles, an organization for families with children who have cleft-

Oral-facial clefts are birth defects in which the tissues of the mouth or lip don't form properly during fetal development. They are the fourth most common birth defect, and the first most common facial birth defect. One child in 700 is born with clefting.

Wide Smiles www.widesmiles.org - offers support, inspiration, information and networking for families dealing with the challenges associated with clefting, Robinett said.

The first year Robinett did Santa correspondence, she sent out 20-25 letters. The number inched up with referrals, and she now does 700 to 1,000 letters each holiday sea-

Kristy Robinett of Westland gets her elf ears at night when she writes her Santa letters to children of all ages.

"They all come in at once," she said. "I have 35 now, but they'll all pile in the first week of December."

She puts in a lot of late nights, writing letters. Although she can do generic letters, she prefers to personalize each one, trying to make them more of a feel good letter created especially for the recipient.

She makes sure she uses different paper for youngsters who've gotten letters from her in past years and estimates that she does "about 30 a night, if I'm on a role."

Admittedly, there's a concern about the letters getting to their recipients in time, especially when some of the destinations are Ireland, England and South Africa.

'I've only lost one or two in the last 10 years, but it's always scary they won't make it in time," she said.

The international letters also are difficult because Robinett must research the traditions in those countries, so that the child can believe the letter is truly from Santa Robinett gets help from her two children, ages 9 and 12, who help make magic reindeer and magic and snowflakes that are included in the letters.

Her nine-year-old son last year told her there's no Santa, but "still believes I'm on Santa's payroll." "I'm not sure if he's pulling my leg or if he's serious," she said. "I tell him I'm an elf and that I only get elf ears at night when I'm writing.'

Robinett has done letters for all ages. She done the letters to children from parents and grandparents, has had grandmothers send letters to their husbands, "if they've been naughty," and even ones containing marriage propos-

A couple doors down at Shampooch, a self-serve dog wash business, employee Kristena Brown said the project definitely hurt, especially when work was being done on the westbound lanes. She said there were days when the entrance into the business was closed, and they only had one or two customers in all day. She said she also had to adjust her commute because of the traffic back-ups.

"One time it took me 20 minutes to get from the light at Morton Taylor to here. I was 10 minutes late for work because of it," she said.

Faas said motorists and business owners shouldn't be surprised to see workers out next summer in the same section. The township is paying $96,000 to have new traffic signals installed on mast arms at the three intersections along the stretch from Morton Taylor to Canton Center.

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, November 26, 2006

"We do that for identity and aesthetics. It just looks better," Faas said.

He also said the county has plans to widen the section of Warren from Haggerty to Morton Taylor, which is also part of the TIP. However, it isn't likely to happen for a number of years.

"It hasn't even been designed yet, so it could be 10 years down the road," Faas said.

In 2007, the county TIP projects that are scheduled for construction are Canton Center, from Palmer to Cherry Hill, and Lilley, from Ford to Warren. Both will be widened to five lanes.

Concert series lines up folk acts, gathers a following

Original folk music has found a home and it's gathering a following in Livonia.

The nonreligious series has featured fiddlers and folk singers in recent months, but next Saturday's performance includes new music inspired by boys serving jail time.

"It's pretty powerful stuff," said singer/songwriter Josh White Jr., who will perform those songs and others at his Dec. 2 concert, part of the Unity Acoustic Coffee House concert

The series brings artists before a coffee-fueled, familyfriendly audience at Unity Church on Five Mile.

Livonia resident John Alexander lines up the talent, including national acts.

"You hear a lot of songs that you never heard in your life," said Alexander, a performer himself who also works as a handyman.

Initially the idea was met with resistance at the church, but Alexander pushed, and the monthly series now has a fol-

"I knew he could bring in the talent. The question was would the people come?" said the Rev. Dennis Skiles of Unity Church. "What we have established is a venue in Livonia that reaches as far as Troy and Ann Arbor. We even get people from Toledo that come tripping by."

White, son of the famed guitarist singer and blues artist Josh White, put on the first concert at Unity two years ago.

White, a Novi resident, also attended the church from time

Saturday's show, which begins at 7 p.m. features some songs that he and fellow artist Mike Ball wrote after meeting this summer with incarcerated youth at the WJ Maxey Boys Training School through a program called Project Roots.

One of the songs, "Bar to Bar," features the chorus: "Metal locking doors, three hots and a cot and a cold dark floor."

A collective song with a blues influence is called "Eddie's Choice" about a young man just released from lockup who has to decide whether to go back to a life of crime or to heed the advice of an old man he meets at a bus stop.

White put the jailed inmates' lyrics to music and introduced them to what he calls root music, also known as folk music.

Last month's concert featuring The Cats and the Fiddler stole Marilyn Wells' heart.

The trio of 11-year-olds from Milford put on a "foot-stomping fun" show, Wells said. They perform folk, gospel and bluegrass on a variety of instruments.

"I bet they're going to be No. 1 on the country charts one day, as soon as they're discovered," said Wells, 67, of Plymouth, a regular concertgoer who sometimes brings her 92-year-old mother to the shows. "It is so full of energy. The music is absolutely outstanding. You couldn't get that kind of entertainment for that money anywhere else."

Holocaust remembrance winds down

There are still two days left to see Miriam Brysk's exhibit, "In a Confined Silence," at the Plymouth Community Arts Council as the Plymouth area's remembrance of the Holocaust, "Plymouth Remembers: Voices of the Holocaust," winds down.

Brysk, born in Warsaw, Poland in 1935 and herself a Holocaust survivor, put together a mixed-media photograph exhibit of Holocaust survivors which strives to tell of the Jewish suffering and "the artist's attempt to restore to them their dignity as Jews.' The exhibit runs through Tuesday. The PCAC is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

The final two days of Brysk's exhibit round out the collaborative effort to celebrate survivors of the Holocaust. The event included:

A panel discussion at the Plymouth Historical Museum featuring several survivors, including Brysk. A Plymouth Symphony Orchestra concert at Northville High School, led by conductor Nan Washburn, that featured the music of Holocaust-era composers such as Mendelssohn and Shostakovich.

Difficult economic times can mean additional victims who require assistance, so community support is needed now more than ever, Ott said. The Kiwanis Club has arranged for convenient locations to drop off donations. They include:

Canton drop locations -Republic Bank on Canton Center Road at the corner of Hanford; Help-U-Sell Real Estate on Haggerty Road, just north of Warren; Avanti Group located at 8530 N. Canton Center, just south of

Plymouth drop locations - Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer; Dakota Truck Lines, 13101 Eckles, north of Plymouth; Boulders Restaurant on Ann Arbor

Road just west of Main. This year the Kiwanis Club is also collecting old cell phones that can be reprogrammed, and reused by First Step, as well as ink cartridges that can be recycled. All of the proceeds of these collections go to support the victims aided by First Step. Cash contributions are also being solicited to purchase needed items. Checks may be made payable to "FIRST STEP" and mailed to: Plymouth/Canton Kiwanis Club, P.O. Box 6363, Plymouth, MI 48170. Questions about the drive, or people who'd like to be a drop site, can contact Mark Ott at (734) 981-0460 or via email at info@pckiwanis.org

No change expected after another Parisian sale

STAFF WRITER

The Parisian department store at Laurel Park Place Mall is expected to keep its name, even though the store has changed ownership for the second time this year.

Bon-Ton Stores Inc., a Pennsylvania-based company, purchased the Livonia store as part of a five-property deal announced Oct. 31. In a company press release, Bon-Ton reports it paid $22 million for the properties and assumed debt to acquire Parisian stores in Livonia, Rochester Hills, a store under construction in Clinton Township, Indianapolis and Beavercreek.

Earlier in the year, North Carolina-based Belk Inc. had purchased the 38-store Parisian chain from Alabamabased Saks Inc.

"We plan to keep the Livonia store as a Parisian and maintain the assortment of inventory the customers are used to seeing," said Bon-Ton spokeswoman Mary Kerr.

Bon-Ton has had a busy year with acquisitions that have doubled its portfolio. After adding the five Parisian properties, Bon-Ton controls 275 department stores and seven furniture stores in 23 states with an estimated $3.4

billion in annual net sales. The three metro Detroit Parisian stores are Bon-Ton's first business ventures into southeastern Michigan.

The 108-year-old company, headquartered in York, owns retail stores under the name Bon-Ton, Bergner's, Boston Store, Carson Pirie Scott, Elder-Beerman, Herberger's and Younker's.

Kerr added it's worth noting that all of Bon-Ton's properties are in the northern United States, compared to the Livonia stores two previous owners which were both based in the south.

"We have the knowledge of the demographics of northern business operations," Kerr said. "This will make us better prepared to serve the region compared to a company headquartered in the south.

Ladywood team leads pack in annual Jingle Bell Run/Walk arthritis benefit

For the third consecutive vear, the ladies of Ladywood High School in Livonia will don Christmas attire, tie bells to their shoes and run for arthritis at the 19th annual Jingle Bell Run/Walk for arthritis. This year, the two runs are scheduled for Dec. 3 in Northville and Dec. 9 in Birmingham.

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, November 26, 2006

The team from Ladywood, an all-girls Catholic school, traditionally wins the award for having the biggest team and raises the most money to fight arthritis, the nation's leading cause of disability.

"This group of girls, they're really just a great group of kids. They really believe in service," said Tracey Mocon, an English teacher at Ladywood and team captain.

Ladywood's team reaches a new high of 91 walkers this year. Much of the recruiting making announcements, distributing candy canes and fliers, and organizing - was handled by four girls, Andrea Warzyniec, Laura Guina, Stefanie Digiandomenico and Alex Serowoky. "They've been a big part of getting kids to participate," said Mocon, a Canton resident.

Mocon said many participants know someone with the disease. Her own mother has

This year, the Ladywood team also has a special reason to run. They will participate in honor of Mary Youngs, who recently died from complications of rheumatoid arthritis.

And, while the Jingle Bell Run/Walk for Arthritis 5K event will be dedicated to the memory of Mary Youngs, it won't be a somber event, according to organizers.

Youngs, a graduate of Marygrove College in Detroit and an elementary school principal and teacher, lived with Rheumatoid Arthritis for 25 years. In February, she died in her sleep unexpectedly at the age of 56 from a coronary arrest as a result of her long battle with RA.

Her friends and co-workers knew that she was suffering. Although she could be seen walking down school hallways carrying a chair or boxes, she could not turn a door knob or tie a child's shoes because of the deterioration in her hand

Through the years, Youngs went through multiple surgeries, having her ankles, feet, neck and cervical column fused to improve her mobility

Members of Ladywood High School's Jingle Bell Run team give a thumbs up to the arthritis benefit events, set this year for Dec. 3 and Dec. 9.

and lessen her pain. Friends shared their stories with the Arthritis

Foundation, asking that her life be celebrated in a special way. "That is why we are dedicating the Jingle Bell Run/Walk to the memory of Mary Youngs," said Scott Cleven, a foundation spokesman.

Events like the Jingle Bell Run/Walk raise awareness of the impact of arthritis - in Michigan more than 2.5 million adults and 7,000 children have one or more forms of arthritis or related diseases. The event also raises funds needed for research, health education and government advocacy.

"Mary's passing was a terrible shock for her family, friends, former and current students," Scott Cleven said. "Unfortunately, it is not that uncommon. People with rheumatoid arthritis not only have a higher risk of coronary heart disease than those in the general population, but they have more silent, unrecognized heart attacks and sudden cardiac deaths." Both the Dec. 3 and Dec. 9 events start at 9 a.m. The Northville run/walk will be a 5K event; the Birmingham event is a 5K run/walk and a 10K run. The run is professionally timed and medals will be given out in 14 age

Registration fee is $25, but it's $5 more for those who register seven days or less before the event. Children 10 and under can register for the "Snowman Shuffle" for $10. All who register will get a Tshirt and goodie bag, plus there will be food, prizes, entertainment and more.

The Jingle Bell Run/Walk for Arthritis is presented by New Balance, Dominator Clothing, Topz, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, WDIV-Channel 4, WCSX-FM 94.7 and Northville Downs. For more information, call Scott Cleven at (800) 968-3030, Ext. 232, or register at www.arthritis.org.

Book tells dramatic story of softball, prison

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

In 1978, a group of teenage softball players wandered into Clarence "Bud" Hucul's sports store in Madison Heights to order some team T-shirts.

That chance encounter would change the life of Hucul and the young women. He found out they didn't have a lot of money and he helped with T-shirts and supplies.

He also found out they were inept on the field, a source of amusement for the folks in the bleachers. He told them so and when they asked him to become their coach, the success of the team and its players took over Bud Hucul's life.

In blunt, direct, matter-offact language Hucul tells a story in which personal disaster and team success are wound tightly together on the road to a national softball championship. In 22 Yellow Roses, Hucul doesn't spare himself, but it's the success story that Hucul wants to emphasize.

"Ît's a true story. Seventeen of 22 girls from eight different high schools received full-ride scholarships. In that period, that was more than all the high schools in Michigan put together," said Hucul, now a resident of Plymouth.

The girls were students at Shrine, Birmingham Groves, Marian, Southfield-Lathrup, Novi and East Detroit. Some came from broken homes, some had only marginal softball talent.

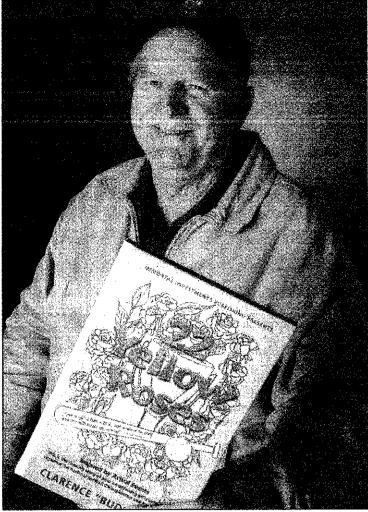

Hucul had played some pro ball and was a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals. When he and his wife at the time moved to Michigan to work at Beaumont Hospital in the mid-1970s, he coached a team of hospital employees.

But this team was different and his single-minded interest in their success would damage his marriage, his business and contribute to decisions that landed him in prison.

"A lot happened in those years. I think I wasn't too proud of some choices I made, but then I am of some," he said. "When I decided to keep bankrolling this thing and fudging my balance sheets. I had to make a choice and I bonded with them."

already doing weak business. But he began to spend money on team uniforms, shoes and equipment. And he began taking his young charges on trips to demonstrate their skills to college coaches. "They didn't have money to visit schools, they couldn't go to Western Florida or Tampa. They didn't have any cars," he said.

He knew what coaches wanted to see. He told his young team they had to take pride in what they were doing.

"I knew the game, baseball and softball have a lot in common. The fundamentals are the same," he said. "When they saw by changing the habits they had to doing the right thing, they were succeeding in batting and everything else. I was very disciplined and strict with them. We practiced hard, very hard and some girls

In the process of financing the team and the out-of-state trips, Hucul began falsifying financial reports to keep his business affoat. His business activities drew the attention of the Internal Revenue Service and the FBI. While his team was winning ballgames, Hucul was indicted for mail fraud. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a year in prison and five years probation.

As his team was ready to play in the national championship round of games, Hucul sent 22 yellow roses, one to each player, and then left with his daughter to drive to Duluth, Minn., to begin serving his time.

LONG DISTANCE COACHING

The final part of the book tells of how Hucul coached his team by phone long distance from prison. To do this, he was able to get 60 other prisoners to relinquish their weekly phone time to him on the permission of the warden.

"They (the prisoners) were so happy to be part of something in the outside world. A level 1 (minimum security) prison, they think it's a play school where you have fun, with tennis courts, but a paradise it's not," he said. "You're secluded, you're told when to do this, when to do that. When they get up, when they shower, when to eat, when to go to the mailroom. It's a federal prison. You work."

The team won the 1978 championship and many of the young players did go on to college.

Hucul served just over nine months in Duluth. He returned to coach the team to a third place in 1979 and another championship in 1980 and devoted 21 years to coaching softball.

His efforts on behalf of his players included a successful suit against the Michigan High School Athletic Association rule forbidding high school softball team members from playing with recreational teams.

He is currently working on a booklet advising college-bound student-athletes on what to do and not to Hucul's book is available through the publisher online at www.immortalinvestments.com or at the Book Cellar and Cafe on Ann Arbor Trail in downtown Plymouth.

There can be no winners from war and occupation uffering from chronic nosebleeds as a child sometimes required medical help. Under the Israeli occupation, my minor medical problem resulted in my parents enduring repeated humiliation to beg the occupying army for permission to seek medical help.

One particular evening, I watched as my mother and father took turns pleading with army officers for permission to leave our house. After what seemed an eternity, my parents were finally granted permission to take me to the nearest clinic for help.

It took several hours after being treated for us to get permission to return home. Under the Israeli occupation, little daily routines were dangerous and exhausting. My father risked his life and the life of his family by venturing out of the house to seek help for his child. One never knew when a jittery soldier would pull the trig-

Most of my family survived and escaped the occupation and now are observers not of one, but two occupations, Palestine and Iraq. Both occupations are vicious, hazardous and inhumane. Young distrustful men and women are trying to maintain peace in foreign places through the barrel of their guns. They patrol the streets in fear and that, coupled with their high adrenaline, makes an already volatile situation dangerous and deadly. The occupation interrupts and robs everyone of a basic and normal life, and robs soldiers from their innocence.

But to hear the occupiers talk, one would think they are benevolent and kind to the people they occupy. President Bush consistently talks about freeing the Iraqis from Saddam Hussein and his tyranny. He talks about democracy and the rights of Iraqis to be free. Consecutive Israeli leaders talk about their kindness toward the Palestinians

Yet in reality, the occupation of a whole society is the worst form of human violation a country can impose on its subjects. What the occupation provides is a life where an individual has now lost the ability to perform life's most basic tasks, such as walking to a neighbor's house or driving to the next town without checkpoints and permission from a stranger in uniform.

According to John Hopkins University, more than 650,000 people have been killed in Iraq since its invasion by U.S. forces. If this number is true, it is the equivalent to the number of people living in Livonia, Westland, Troy, Farmington Hills and Redford. Regardless of whether they were killed by coalition military action or insurgents, those individuals killed are more than just statistics. They are someone's mother, father, son or daughter. Families in Iraqi are forever scarred, not only by the death in their families, but the destruction of their country and the uncertainty

We have disrupted their lives under the pretense of bringing democracy and freedom to them. Their daily lives are now full of violence, fear and frustration. Peace, tranquility and normal living are now something in the past. Like the Palestinians, the Iraqis are now on a path of struggle that will not end until they become free to rule their destiny — a destiny that must be free of occupation.

If the Iraqi tragedy does not stir our hearts, maybe we need to think of our soldiers and work to save them from the frontline of this calamity. The human cost to our young soldiers is immeasurable, having lost over 3,141 lives and over 20,000 lives altered by the injuries they sustained. This month alone, we have lost more than 45 soldiers, including two from Michigan. These numbers do not include the lasting psychological affect on people serving the occupa-

By enlisting, our service men and women have given up their voices because they are bound by the Code of Military rules. They are willing to die to keep us free, but fighting to continue an illegal occupation of a country should never be part of our military services. With the new election, we must commit ourselves to finding a true solution to the Middle East problem. Our next step is to find a constructive way to rid ourselves of the shackles of occupation and its corruption.

To honor our soldiers, we need to remind the president to exert the same will and stubbornness to end this war precisely like it was started. Just as he reminds us that we cannot cut and run until we win the war, we need to remind him that in war and occupation, there are no winners.

We are disillusioned if we think that we can ever restrain people who are fighting to be free. The longer this war and occupation are prolonged, the more death, destruction and hate will become the norm. The only winner in this war are individuals and former public officials, like Former CIA Director James Woolsey, Neil Livingstone, Randy Scheunemann and others who pushed for the war and are now making millions in profit from this war.

As the holiday season approaches and our soldiers and the Iraqi people are put in harm's way, we must test our courage by using our voice for peace and justice for the victory we seek. Nothing is won by force.

U-M can encourage diversity through outreach programs egular visitors to these pages might recall my letters among others supporting Proposal 2, the Michigan Civil Rights Initiative, during the campaign. Thus I welcome Hugh Gallagher's Nov. 23 assessment that "Support of Proposal 2 opens door for dialog on race.'

But not without quibble. Mr. Gallagher's continued insistence that Proposal 2 bans affirmative action, rather than a narrow subset of affirmative action programs involving race and gender preferences, is disproved by the proposal's ballot language. And Proposal 2's opponents didn't steer away from the race issue as much as they conjured imaginary threats to women's programs in an orgy of scaremongering.

Paul

Seibold

I prefer to think that all that is behind us now, save for another sad, sorry lawsuit filed on the day after the vote by the radical group By Any Means Necessary and its fellow travelers disdainful of the unmistakably expressed popular will. Instead, I join Mr. Gallagher in endorsing forward-looking efforts to launch a dialogue on issues of race (as well as gender - why not?) leading to progressive change, as exemplified by the workshop he cites that is being planned by Toward a Fair Michigan (http://towardafairmichigan.org/).

Further, an online "Advisory" dated Oct. 19 from the U-M News Service concerning the university's 2006 enrollment listed several outreach measures already under way to encourage minority applications: "application workshops for prospective students and counselors, personal invitations by current students and U-M alumni, on-campus events to introduce students to the opportunities at U-M, and visits by President Coleman to African American churches and community events." Mr. Gallagher opines, and I agree, that such programs are not banned by the constitutional amendment that Proposal 2 has put in place.

I find the Advisory extract very instructive, for it casts doubt upon U-M President Coleman's contention that the new amendment marks the end of diversity; it underscores the importance of distinguishing what Proposal 2 bans from what it does not; and it puts Proposal 2 advocates, including me, to our proof over our assurances that affirmative action will survive. Having worked toward the proposal's passage, we own it in the sense that we cannot and should not walk away from it.

So where do we go from here? Mr. Gallagher accurately recalls "the long, tortured history of race relations in this country and in this state," but almost as if that history should form an obstacle to fresh thinking about race relations. I'm not a social scientist, just a citizen, and if I had my druthers, diversity would not be orchestrated but would simply happen as my fellow citizens of all races, creeds, etc. participate in producing America's good participate in producing America's good things and preserving America's goodness. This is what I observed in the Army, where the mission is paramount. Rather than wallow in grievances, it might be more rewarding to take the situation as we find it and apply the fixes where they're needed.

Certainly, public education needs fixing and, as it bears on state university admissions, has been the flash point for Proposal 2's own tortured history. I'm not an educator, either, but I have an idea to utilize the 🚑 state universities' commitment to diversity ' even more directly than appears in the U-M Advisory.

It might be called Adopt-a-District, whereby a state university would set up a resource and liaison center in a public school district found by measurable criteria to be underperforming.

Because the program would be predicated on performance, not race or gender, it should raise no concern under Proposal 2. 🐇 Through its direct presence as long as needed, the university could provide cutting-edge expertise to district administrators, mobilize university staff and alumni to address specific concerns or tasks, invite tors, mobilize university staff and alumni dialogue with aspiring students and showcase an empowering option for life after high school. If successful over time, such a program could assist the district in producing university applicants fully competitive on the basis of merit. All very pie in the sky as proposed, but perhaps worth a look or even a pilot program.

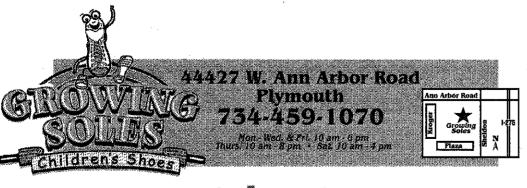

A friend of mine who attended the MCRI Committee's victory party in Lansing on election night told me that Ward Connerly of the American Civil Rights Institute stated that "Now is the time for the heavy lifting." I hope that participants on both sides of this long and bruising campaign will lift together toward healing.

Churchill's Anthony Ross fights off Catholic Central's Tony Thomas as he tries to gain control of the puck during Friday night's game at Compuware Arena.

Shamrocks spoil Chargers' season hockey opener, 4-3

Catholic Central's 3rd-period goal the difference

Livonia Churchill's hockey season started Friday night at the venue where the Chargers ultimately want to be at the end of the season - Compuware Arena in Plymouth.

But one team always standing in the way is eight-time state champion Novi-Detroit Catholic Central, which skated to a 4-3 win over Churchill thanks to Doug Raymond's game-winning unassisted goal with 7:25 remaining in the final period.

CC, which started its season Nov. 18 with a 3-2 victory at Orchard Lake St. Mary's, is 2-0 on the season. For Churchill, it certainly was a learning experience on many fronts.

We need to work on our defensive zone coverage," Chargers coach Pete Mazzoni said. "We had not been tested like that in our scrimmages. They (CC) set the puck from behind the net and it forces you to turn your back to the rest of the ice. It was an adjustment for us.

"We just held on to the puck too long. We were our own worst enemy, but not to take away anything from their (CC's) forecheck.

Churchill, despite being outshot 9-5 in the first period, held a 2-1 lead after 15 minutes.

CC's Brad Higgins opened the scoring at 1:59 on a rebound shot with Tony Thomas and David Swierszczyk drawing assists.

Churchill countered just 1:23 later on Garrett Miencier's shot from the slot, which Shamrock netminder Greg Holland had no chance on. Assists went to Nathan Milam and Matt Heinzelman.

Zach Archer's wrist shot from Andy LaBerge and Keith Yackley with 4:38 to go in the same period made it 2-1 for the Chargers.

"It helps to have assistants who are alumni and played in the program," CC coach Todd Johnson said. "I didn't have to say that much. My assistants did all the talking. They let our guys know they didn't like the tone of their play after the first peri-

Just 42 seconds into the second period, CC's Dominic Scala tied it at 2-all when he capitalized on a four-on-four with each team having a man in the penalty box. With 8:09 to go in the same period, LaBerge scored on a power play from Miencier and Milam, only to have CC answer just 1:07 later when Chad Wilhelm back-handed in his own rebound past Churchill netminder Scott Lewan with Jeremy Christopher and Raymond assisting.

I loved our effort the second and third periods," Johnson said. "The guys decided to join the party after the first period. Churchill outworked us that first period, but we really played well the second and third periods. We have pretty good speed and we showed a lot of good team speed in the second and third periods."

Although CC outshot Churchill 32-16 on the night, the shots were even at 7-all in the final period with the only goal - by Raymond on a wrister from the right side to the upper right-hand corner - coming shortly after Churchill's Jason Proctor came back out of the box after being called for holding.

Johnson had nothing but praise for the Chargers afterwards. "They a good hockey team, and Phil Wendecker (Churchill's senior defenseman) is one of the top players in the state," Johnson said. "We saw him in the fall league and he's just a great player and a great kid.

Whalers treat fans on Thanksgiving Eve vs. Spitfires

STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth Whalers feasted on a Thanksgiving Eve buffet Wednesday night ed goals and one-sided fights.

Everything but cranberry sauce and stuffing.

When the always-intense border contest against Windsor at the Compuware Sports Arena was over, the Whalers had an appetizing 5-4 victory, while Spitfires goalie Anthony Guadagnolo was left with just a bad case of indigestion.

The victory, Plymouth's fifth in the past six games, improved its suddenly oven-hot record to 13-10-0-0, which, as of Wednesday, was good for a third-place tie Ontario Hockey League's West Division. Windsor slipped to 6-14-1-1.

Plymouth coach Mike Vellucci was satisfied with the victory, but not with how his team allowed the visiting Spitfires to close a three-goal gap to one in the game's final penalty-filled minutes.

"I thought we played great at first," said

Vellucci, referring to his team's three-goal cushion following the opening 20 minutes of play. "I thought it was going to be over early, but then we took some bad penalties at the end and they capitalized with a couple of five-on-three goals.

"Yeah, you want the two points and I'm happy we got them, but at the same time I don't like the way we let them back into the game in the third period." The Whalers' fast start was fueled by James Neal's goal 25 seconds into the contest that gave the hosts a quick 1-0 advantage. Neal's team-leading 14th net-finder of the season was assisted by Jared Boll and Wes Cunningham. Plymouth doubled its lead with 5:38 left in the first period when Joe McCann stole a Windsor pass near mid-ice, skated into the Spitfires' zone, then parallel to the blue line, before sliding a pass to a hard-cutting Tom Sestito, who slid the puck into the lower left-hand corner of the net to cap a dazzling short-handed score.

John Armstrong poured some gravy on the first-period onslaught when he secured

Voran propels Spartans over RU

If penalties weren't getting Redford Unified down on Wednesday night it was Livonia Stevenson's high-flying line led by senior forward Marcus Voran.

The Spartans, with Voran scoring back-toback markers early in the third period, routed Redford Unified 5-0 in a nonleague hockey game at Eddie Edgar Arena in Livonia. Other Stevenson goals were netted by senior forward Tim Droze and Voran's linemates sophomore forwards Richard "R. J." Kierdorf and John Vella.

Stopping 17 shots for the shutout was Stevenson sophomore goaltender Mike Zynda. According to Redford Unified head coach Larry Singer, his team (now 0-2) lost poise and energy having had to kill off six minor penalties in the second period (compared to just one Stevenson penalty).

"We had to kill 12 minutes of a 15-minute period and it showed," Singer said. "We tired out, we had no shots on net (in the second period) because we couldn't get any flow."

But Singer tried to motivate his players that they were still in the game (the Spartans only carried a 2-0 advantage into the final stanza) if they opened the third by killing off the final 1:33 of yet another penalty.

Instead of Redford players getting a boost, Voran deflated them with a power-play tally at the 27-second mark.

Senior forward Mike Jahn circled behind the Unified net, drew the defense his way and sent a perfect cross-crease feed to Voran. His onetimer easily beat junior goaltender Ryan Wagner (24 saves), who had no chance on the

Just 1:50 later, Voran backhanded a shot under the crossbar over a prone Wagner to make it 4-0. Assisting was Kierdorf, who gained control of the puck on one side of Wagner before flipping it the other way to Voran.

The Spartans finished the scoring in the final minute, when Voran and Kierdorf set up Vella.

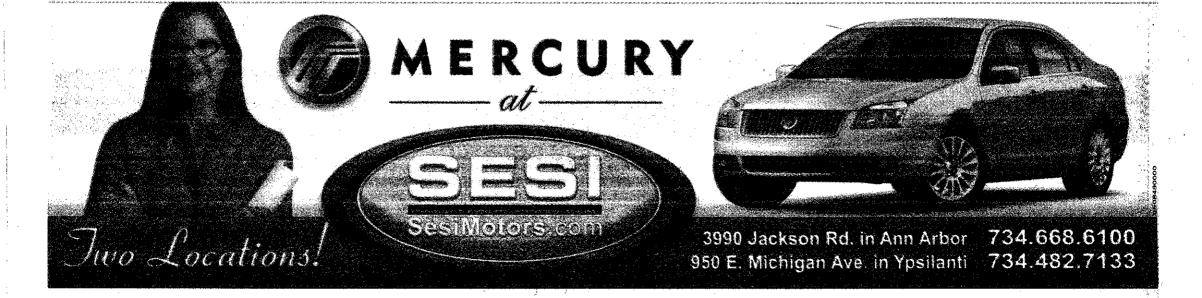

"People who don't see him a lot usually say he played a good game, but that's normal Marcus

Detroit King withstands Mercy in Class A regional final, 56-48

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Too bad time ran out on the Farmington Hills Mercy girls basketball team.

And too bad the Marlins didn't answer the alarm clock until final quarter in their Class A regional championship game Wednesday night against Detroit King - because it might have been a different

But King was very good in the middle two quarters as the Crusaders held off a furious Mercy rally to earn a 56-48 victory in the finals at Livonia Ladywood. The Public School League champs, 21-1 overall, advance to Tuesday's Class A quarterfinal at Detroit Cass Tech against undefeated Dearborn Edsel Ford (25-0). Mercy, meanwhile, ends it season at 20-5 overall.

The game all but appeared over with 7:20 left to go when sophomore guard Courtney Townsend scored to make it 45-21 for the Crusaders.

That 24-point cushion, however, quickly evaporated as King succumbed to Mercy's full-court press, committing 12 turnovers in the final period

Kristina Bell's three-pointer with 2:52 left cut the King lead to single digits for the first time since the opening quarter, 49-

A driving layup by Milan Allen with 2:05 to go pulled Mercy to within six, but King's 6-foot-3 junior center Diamond Smith answered with a putback and a free throw just 10 seconds later to give the Crusaders a 52-43 lead.

Not to be denied, Mercy made one last charge thanks to a rebound basket inside by Courtney Whalen followed by an Allen free throw, making it 52-46, with 1:20 to play.

The Blazers then forced another turnover, but Bianca Jiddou's triple-try caromed off the rim with 46 seconds to go. Ratoria Jones, the 5-10 junGIRLS HOOPS ior, who led King in scoring with 16 points and 11 rebounds, put it out of reach with a pair of free throws with 42.8 seconds left, pushing the lead back up by eight.

"The last quarter I lost control of my team, they were playing by themselves," King coach William Winfield said. "It was a complete disgrace. They just didn't listen to what the coaches have to say. Normally they pay attention for the good of the team. We know a good team like Mercy will make a run, but we just lost concentra-

Mercy, which outscored King 27-13 in the final quarter, made just 8-of-37 shots for three quarters before getting untracked by going 9-of-22 over the last eight minutes.

"It was huge deficit to come back from, but I'm proud of the way we came back and got it down to six (twice) . . . we had a shot to get even closer," Mercy coach Gary Morris said. "The fourth quarter we had them rattled. It was a great effort and I'm proud of the run we made."

Both teams started out the first quarter slowly, but King took control by using its fast break and forcing 16 Mercy first-half turnovers.

Once you fall behind, you get impatient on offense, start to hurry your shots, and it becomes a frustration thing," Morris said. "Maybe there were some nerves at the beginning. We missed some 'bunnies,' but obviously they're a good team."

King, leading 12-9 after one quarter, outscored the Marlins 21-10 in the second period to take a 33-19 halftime advan-

The start of the game we had opportunities," Morris said. "They (King) were turning it over, and I thought we dominated the game in some aspects, but we were only up 4-2. We had an opportunity to get a good lead - we should have been up instead of down three (after one quarter). Our transition defense was not good and we were not hitting our shots."

Mercy's struggles continued through the third quarter as King added to its lead by outscoring the Marlins, who shot just 1-of-13 from the floor,

"Once we got in the groove, we started playing better," Winfield said. "We played well for three quarters. Defensively we were doing an excellent job of switching because they do a lot of screening.

"We got out running on the break and that's how we capitalized on the lead."

Jones' three-point play with 4:21 remaining in the fourth period gave King a commanding 49-32 lead. But the Crusaders had to hold on for dear life down the stretch.

"What clicked was we finally found a combination on the floor that clicked," Morris said. "Basketball is a game of momentum. Once we hit some shots, it energized us and we started moving our feet a little quicker defensively."

The Marlins shot 17-of-59 from the floor (28.8 percent) for the game, while King was 21-of-52 (40.3 percent).

Sophomore point-guard Jordan Mueller, who sparked the late Mercy surge with her tenacious defense, tallied a team-high 10 points along with senior center Courtney Jiddou added nine, while Bell finished with eight. Allen contributed seven.

Townsend contributed 13 points for King, while 6-foot senior forward Ebony Cleary had 12 points, 11 rebounds and two blocks. The 6-3 Smith chipped in with seven points and six blocks.

"In these kind of games you've got to win, move on, and hope for the best," Winfield said. "You don't get a second chance in the state tourney. Sometimes you just have to win ugly."

SC spikers cap season with win

When the going got tough, as they say, Schoolcraft College's volleyball team got going.

The Lady Ocelots finished seventh in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division II Tournament in Scottsdale, Arizona - earning a 30-18, 24-30, 31-29. 30-27 win over Southwestern Illinois in last Saturday's season finale.

But according to Schoolcraft head coach Tom Teeters, the team seemed to play better in contested matches. His squad won three five-game postseason matches in a row (two at the regionals and one at the nationals).

"I thought Schoolcraft's success was defined by our ability to win the five-game matches," Teeters said. "as shown in three of the last four matches in our season.

Against Southwestern Illinois (35-15), all-tournament selection Amy Golem and Michelle Overzet sparked the Lady Ocelots' attack with 17 and 22 kills, respectively.

Schoolcraft's offense also benefited from a 40-assist performance from Sarah Schmidt.

Top defenders for Teeters included Marcie Hill (21 digs) and Brynn Kerr and Golem, with 12 digs each. With the victory, the Lady Ocelots finished with an overall record of 36-7.

Previously at the nationals, Schoolcraft knocked off Iowa Central in five games on Nov. 16 before dropping two fourgame matches Nov. 17 against Cowley and Illinois Central.

The team's five-game victories at the Grand Rapids-hosted regional both took place Nov. 4 against Macomb Community College.

At the national tournament, Golem finished with 79 kills along with 58 digs.

Other statistical leaders for the Lady Ocelots included Hill (eight service aces), Schmidt (150 assists) and Kerr (78 Guadagnolo to make it 3-0. "I think the key to our fast start was that we came out prepared," Vellucci said. "Everybody knows we want the two points and we needed them after being on the road so much early in the season. Now we have a bunch of home games in a row so we need to make sure we win them." The highlight for the fans in attendance may have been Zack Shepley's unanimous decision over Windsor's overmatched Adam MacArthur in a 30-second boxing match four minutes into the second period.

Windsor finally solved Plymouth goalie Michal Neuvirth with 12:44 left in the second period when Mark Cundari completed a half-of-the-rink rush through the heart of the Whalers' defense by depositing a top-shelf goal over Neuvirth's left shoulder to make it

The Whalers countered less than two minutes later when Jason Terry's hard slapper deflected off Windsor defenseman Chris Purves' stick and past Guadagnolo to make it 4-1.

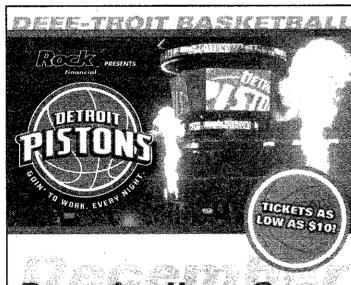

After Plymouth's Vern Cooper notched his fourth goal of the season to put his team up 5-1 with 14:23 left, it appeared as if it was just whipped cream on the pumpkin pie, so to speak.

But the resilient Spitfires scored three straight goals over the final 14 minutes to make it and Bradley Snetsinger (4:45). Windsor outshot the Whalers, 38-29, proving the importance of Neuvirth's strong showing between the pipes.

The visitors' rally included lamp-lighters from Ryan Baldwin (14:12 left), Craig Voakes (6:04)

"I thought Michal played very well," Vellucci said. "He made some big saves early on. Goalies can get bored if they don't face a lot of shots, and he didn't face a lot in the first period. But they took it to us after that and he played strong."

Voran," said Stevenson head coach Mike Humitz, whose team improved to 2-1 overall. "He knows how to play the game, he plays hard and he's got skills. Put those three things together and you've got a good hockey player."

Humitz said Voran and his linemates for much of the game (Kierdorf and Vella) combined to wreak havoc against Unified.

"I thought that line did really well tonight, put a lot of pressure on them and caused a lot of loose pucks," Humitz said. "We've got a lot of speed on that line and they capitalized on it." According to Singer, the meltdown troubled him/ % "It comes down to the ♣ team maintaining composure, learning how to battle back from adversity," he said. "That's what we didn't do and that's our biggest weakness. They have to be determined not to allow what goes on during a game to take them off their mark."

Despite the five goals, Singer said he thought Wagner played well and was pretty much hung out to dry on several of the markers.

Singer added that his penalty killers also gave solid effort, particularly during the second stanza.

The Spartans opened up the scoring with 8:40 left in the first when Droze chipped in a rebound following a scramble.

Wagner made two stops and was on his back when the Stevenson player corralled the loose puck and sent it over the goal line.

Other than that tally, it was an evenly played period with Unified outshooting Stevenson 9-8.

Zynda, making his first start of the year, made a nice stick save on junior defenseman Nick Bonadeo's blast from the left point during a Redford power play. Before the period ended, he held his ground and stopped senior forward Joe Petriches on the doorstep.

Stevenson's second goal, on the power play early during the second period, was apparently aided when the puck hit a linesman along the boards in Redford's zone.

Instead of sliding behind the goal, the puck found the stick of Vella who sent a quick feed over to wide-open Kierdorf.

The Spartans pretty much controlled the rest of the period - helped by the string of penalties against Singer's team - and outshot Redford -12-1

Unified had several chances in the third period to break Zynda's shutout. Senior forward James Lehr clanked a shot off the crossbar and Zynda's quick glove snared a hard shot by senior

To win trust, you must be trustworthy

How can I prove to my parents that they can trust my judgment? Trustless

Garden City

Teen

Talk

Monica

The easy answer is, if you want to be trusted, always act in a trustworthy manner. What this means is, make sure the things you do and say are worthy of your parents' trust. If you tell your parents you are going to the movies with your friends, don't go to a party instead. If you tell your parents that you're finished with your homework, don't leave some of it do just before class starts. If your parents depend on you to help with chores, don't wait until they ask you to do them before you think about them. By always doing what you say you're going to do, you'll earn your parents' trust and show them that you're capable of making good decisions. They'll be more likely to trust your judgment if they never have a reason to doubt it!

One of my friends is about to have a baby and she doesn't even seem scared. What can I do to make her realize that her life is going to be totally different?

Frustrated Garden City

Having a baby, at any age, definitely changes a person's life. Having a baby when you're still a teen changes your life more than you can explain. Most people don't really now how different life with a baby is until they have one! Even if you think you know all the ways your life will be different, you really only know the half of it. So, convincing your friend that her life will be totally different might be impossible right now. However, after the baby comes, your friend might have a hard time adjusting to all the changes the baby brings that she didn't expect. It will be important for you to support your friend and help her in any way you can. If you have some personal experience with this, either as a teen mom yourself or as a teen sister of a baby, you will be someone who truly understands what she's going through. Be a good friend by listening to her and offering support when you can. The more support teen moms have, the better off their children

My friend is kind of a reckless driver. I want to tell her, but I'm afraid she'll be angry and think I'm trying to control her. What should I do? Control Freak Garden City

If you feel unsafe riding in your friend's car, you shouldn't be worried about your friend getting angry; you should be more concerned about your safety! However, it's still important to respect your friend's feelings while protecting your life. So, letting your friend know that you're concerned about getting in a car accident and getting hurt when she drives too fast or runs the yellow lights is appropriate. If she doesn't begin to drive safer, the next time she offers to drive, you can tell her your friend that you're not up for the Indy 500 race this time and you'll ride with someone else. Hopefully, your friend will make the choice to drive less reckless and protect her own

My friend is taking diet pills and she hasn't been feeling well. What should I do? Worried

Garden City Diet pills can be very dangerous especially for teens! Your bodies are still growing and your brains are still making neuron connections you'll need for the rest of your lives. Diet pills can interfere with both your body and your brain as they develop, causing lifelong problems and sometimes even death! If your friend has been sick, and you think it's because of the diet pills, it's important that an adult know what's going on. Try to convince your friend to tell her parents, or another trusted adult, what her symptoms are and that she's been taking diet pills. Convince her that she should see a doctor right away! If you friend won't get help, you could tell your parents and ask them to help you get your friend the help she needs. It might be hard to "rat out"

What's your favorite holiday tradition?

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, November 26, 2006

Everyone knows about leaving cookies and milk for Santa.

Or making latkes at Hanukkah. And lighting candles during Kwanzaa.

Even the festivus pole has become a seasonal icon thanks to Seinfeld.

But we'd like to know how you personalize the holidays. Maybe you've created a totally new tradition or you've put a unique spin on an old one. What makes the season special for you and your family?

Tell us in 200 words or less about your favorite holiday tradition and we'll publish responses in an upcoming issue.

Friends of the Opera present gift of music

Quinto Milito is all about tradition. Born and educated in Italy, the Livonia baritone can't imagine celebrating Christmas without music.

Beginning Dec. 3, Milito and the Friends of the Opera of Michigan, under his direction, perform three concerts as their gift to area residents.

Last year the opera company presented Amahl and the Night Visitors, but were unable the raise the money needed to repeat the production this holiday season.

"I always wanted to do this because we must do something for children, the senior citizens, the community," said Quinto Milito. "It's customary to do this at Christmas. We'll sing selections from Messiah by Handel, Christmas carols such as Silent Night, Jesu Bambino, Ave Maria by Schubert, holiday favorites like dreaming of a White Christmas." Audiences should enjoy the free concerts sung by Milito, a graduate of the G. Rossini Conservatory of Music in Pesaro, Italy. He has performed in Europe, Canada, and throughout the U.S. including in Michigan with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. In November 2001, Milito says he received the greatest honor ever when he had a private audience and sang for the late Pope John Paul II.

Joining Milito for the concerts are soprano Karin White of Ann Arbor and piano accompanist Jeanne Muraski, the music director of St. Priscilla Catholic Church in Livonia. The final concert on Saturday, Dec. 16, also features tenor Steven Tompkins, the Redford Civic Symphony under the direction of Douglas MacQueen, and Muraski conducting the White has sung most recently as a soprano soloist with the Manistee Symphony (Brahms Requiem), Eastern Michigan University (Carmina Burana), and Plymouth Symphony Orchestra (Beethoven's Ninth Symphony). This past spring White appeared as Queen of the Night in the Comic Opera Guild productions of The Magic Flute in Ann Arbor.

Tompkins is finishing his master's degree in vocal performance at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He made his professional orchestra debut with the International Symphony Orchestra in Sarnia, Ontario singing Handel's Messiah and Saint-Saens' Christmas Oratorio.

Although there is no charge for any of the concerts, donations are welcome. For more information, call (313) 582-

The first performance takes place 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 3, at St. Aidan Catholic Church, 17500 Farmington Road, Livonia.

A second Christmas concert is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 16, at St. Gerald Church, 21300 Farmington Road. Farmington.

The final concert, 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17, is at St. Priscilla Catholic Church 19120 Purlingbrook, Livonia.

Tree of Life returns to honor loved ones

The Angela Hospice Tree of Life is now on display at Laurel Park Place, just next to the Von Maur entrance, at Six Mile and Newburgh, Livonia.

The Tree of Life is a familiar site to many Laurel Park Place shoppers who have placed an angel ornament honoring their loved one on the tree for a donation to Angela Hospice.

An opening ceremony took place on Nov. 18, including a performance by the Angela Hospice Choir. Volunteer Stella Smith of Plymouth has worked the opening shift of the Tree of Life for the past seven years.

"It's very rewarding to meet so many families and listen to their stories," said Stella Smith. "The Tree of Life surroundings at Laurel Park are very beautiful and the angel ornaments add such a personal touch."

Barb Keppen, a volunteer from Livonia, has worked with Smith at the opening for the last three years. Both Keppen and Smith have taken Angela Hospice's bereavement training course, which has come in handy while working at the tree where many donors choose to make a donation in memory of a deceased loved

PIRGIM helps parents make smart shopping decisions

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Holly Bair sees toy-related injuries in the emergency room at William Beaumont Hospital all year long, but especially during holidays when older cousins visit and bring toys which can harm a young child. A registered nurse and trauma care coordinator at Royal Oak Beaumont, Bair spoke at a press conference to release the 21st annual Trouble in Toyland report from PIRGIM (Public Interest Research Group in Michigan) on Nov. 21, at the hospital. The report provides safety guidelines to help parents make smart shopping decisions and lists examples of toys that pose potential haz-child. Donna Bucciarelli began shopping for toys for her 7year-old daughter Elena in July. A registered nurse and injury prevention coordinator at Beaumont, Bucciarelli says, it takes a lot of work to keep children safe. Bucciarelli still remembers a 3-year-old girl that choked on a grape and ended up in the intensive care unit. A marble is the same size and could easily hurt a child.

"I'm not as concerned at her age. She understands about choking hazards and actually takes things away from her young cousins," said Donna Bucciarelli of Livonia. "But even when they're playing with beads, you can't expect a 5- or 6-year-old is going to patrol younger children.

Bucciarelli is especially concerned with the magnetic toys on the market. On Tuesday, the CPSC and Mattel Inc. issued a nationwide recall of 2.4 million Polly Pocket play sets after receiving reports that several children were seriously injured. The magnets become attracted to one another and can cause a bowel obstruction or life-threatening perforation.

A young boy died last Thanksgiving and several other children have undergone life-saving surgery after swallowing magnets from MEGA Brands' Magnetix toys. While MEGA has modified the design and placed a warning label on the toy, PIRGIM has requested that the CPSC require all magnetic toy makers to place a label warning parents to seek immediate medical attention if their child swallows a magnet.

"I never buy the magnets," said Bucciarelli. "I think parents wait for a recall. I probably would too if I didn't see it in ER. The cost of throwing it away is so much less."

One by one David Pettit revealed the dangers of toys assembled on a table at the hospital. This fall a team of researchers scoured stores in search of playthings that could cause strangulation, hearing loss, poisoning, or damage health. In the last 20 years the can choke on the object. He urges parents to use the report only as a guideline (available at www.pirgim.org) and report any unsafe toy to the CPSC. The hotline is (800) 638-CPSC (2772) or visit www.cpsc.gov.

Baby Annabell, for age 1 and up, includes a pacifier a child could choke on. A Sassy photo book is made in China with phthalates, a chemical used to soften plastic toys and teethers. Phthalates can cause reproductive defects and early onset puberty. The European Union has already banned the use of Phthalates in toys. Parents beware, even toys labeled as phthalate-free may still contain the dangerous chemical.

The musical keyboard with 19 flashing keys by Little Tike blares 103 decibels at close range. 85 decibels could cause hearing loss. Pettit suggests not buying the toy but if parents do to tape over the speakers to muffle the sound.

Although Playskool recalled its Team Talkin' Tool Bench in September after two children suffocated when the toy's oversized plastic nails became lodged in their throats, Home Depot's Light & Sound Air Wrench includes the same size

In February, a 4-year old child died from swallowing a charm that was 99-percent lead. Besides death, lead exposure can cause delayed mental and physical development in children.

There was three times the legal limit of lead in a necklace by Diddle," said Pettit. "They need to read the report."

Bair adds several suggestions to avoid a trip to the ER.

"Last year the CPSA received a report of a child dying after a balloon found it's way into the lungs," said Bair as she picked up a balloon from the table. "Pretty soon it deflates and is such a hazard. They breathe in to completely cover the airway and a child turns blue.

"The key is making yourself as educated as possible and stay up to date, check for warnings. A lot of it is just common sense. Read labels and store toys appropriately so the toy of an 8-year-old is not handed down to a 2-year-old. Keep up to date on recalls. Be safe. Have a great holiday sea-

DISABILITY & ARTHRITIS

One consequence of arthritis is that it can cause disability, that is, your arthritic condition can preclude you from gainful employment. If you meet other requirements, such as paying into the social Security system and/or having disability insurance, you may want to apply for disability benefits.

All disability programs require that your request includes a doctor's verification of your disability and its permanence.

While the decision to stop working and depend on a fraction of your previous income, can be a life wrenching experience for you, your doctor needs a completely different view if What will stand best in a medical necessity review is reasoning that is objective and compelling. To help your doctor present such an argument, you should provide him with the A summary of your medical history including dates of any injuries, therapies, and doctors who treated you; medications past and present, laboratory and other tests including x-rays, MRIs and CT scans, and special examinations such as nerve conduction tests, or biopsies; and work history that include the jobs you did and why you were forced to leave them. In addition, be prepared to explain how your symptoms and limitations affect both your personal and work life. With this information your physician will know how to undertake his examination and prepare his records in your best interest.

Organization offers tips to avoid eye injuries related to toys aMany people have already started their holiday shopping for toys and gifts but before heading out to the stores or online, Prevent Blindness America urges that safety be at the top of the list.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 202,300 children under age 15 were sent to the emergency room from toyrelated injuries in 2005. Although the total number decreased from 210,000 injuries in 2004, the number of injuries to the eyes consisting of lacerations, abrasions and foreign bodies actually increased, rising from 5,970 to 7.820 in 2005.

Air, BB and Spring guns accounted for a large portion of the documented injuries to children's eyes. Any toys that shoot projectiles are always dangerous. Even common products such as pens, pencils, crayons and other art supplies were involved in many accidents. In fact, most injuries are not caused by defective toys or products.

"It's so important to make sure that every toy a child plays with is age appropriate," said Daniel Garrett, senior vice president of Prevent Blindness America. "90 percent of all eye injuries are preventable but we have to closely monitor kids to ensure their safety."

Prevent Blindness America, the nation's leading volunteer eye health and safety organization, has declared December as Safe Toys and Gifts Month and is urging toy buyers to read labels and pay attention to what their children are playing with. The group suggests the following tips to help make this holiday season a safe one for children:

Avoid toys that shoot or include parts that fly off. Slingshots and even water guns are dangerous because they invite children to target other kids. BB guns should not even be considered toys.

■ Inspect toys for sturdiness. Your child's toys should be durable with no sharp edges or points. The toys should also withstand impact.

Look for the letters ASTM. This means the product meets the national safety standards set by the American Society for Testing and Materials.

Don't give toys with small parts to young children. Young kids tend to put things in their mouths increasing the risk of choking. Read directions carefully and follow suggested age levels. Ask yourself if the toy is right for your child's ability and age.

Repair or throw away damaged toys.

Keep toys meant for older children away from younger

■ Make a list of safety rules and share them with your child. If your child is playing with friends, tell everyone your safety rules.

Remain aware of recalled products. For further information on toy and product recalls, visit the U.S. Product Safety Commission Web site at www.cpsc.gov.

Founded in 1908, Prevent Blindness America is dedicated to fighting blindness and saving sight. Focused on promoting a continuum of vision care, the organization touches the lives of millions of people each year through public and professional education, advocacy, community and patient service programs and research. For more information on safe toys and gifts, or to make a contribution to the sight-saving fund, call (800) 331-2020 or visit www.preventblindness.org.

You can move into your dream home today

For many Michigan residents, purchasing a home is a seemingly impossible task. The fact is that over half of those who desire to buy a home can't currently qualify for the mortgage. With jobs being eliminated, and bankruptcies at an all-time high, many simply haven't been able to maintain the almost perfect credit that is necessary to quality for a mortgage. But there is another solution for the home shopper who feels his or her chance at the American dream of homeownership slipping away. That solution is Marketplace Homes, and its unique home buyers program that says "yes" to many home buyers to which the banks have said no.

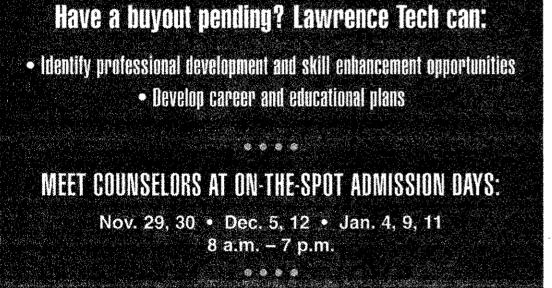

Marketplace Homes' homeownership program works like this: Once qualified, Marketplace Homes takes you shopping in any neighborhood for the exact home you want to purchase. Marketplace Homes then purchases that home for you and leases it back to you for 12-24 months. During this time, Marketplace Homes works with you to clear up your credit issues, so that you can qualify for a mortgagee, at which time the home is transferred into your name. The only qualifications are that you desire a quality home in a nice neighborhood, have steady employment, have the ability to contribute a small down payment toward the purchase of your home and the ability to make monthly lease payments. If you can meet these qualifications. Marketplace Homes does the rest, regardless of your current credit.

Derek Smith, of Marketplace Homes, says, "There are many people who believe that home ownership is simply beyond their reach. They've been told that for whatever reason, their credit just can't qualify them for a home. But at Marketplace Homes, we specialize in placing people in the homes of their dreams today, while working with them to clear up their credit issues so that they can purchase that home tomorrow. If qualified, our clients can be in their dream homes within 30-60 days, regardless of their current credit situation. I want to stress that these are not homes that Marketplace Homes already owns. Our clients are able to choose any home currently on the market, so long as it's in a quality neighborhood. The average home our clients select is valued at between $150 and $300 thousand. I encourage anyone who knows they're ready to move into their home, but thinks they have to wait to purchase a home because of their credit, to contact me today."

For more information, contact Derek Smith at (734) 727-2000 or e-mail at divine. connection @yahoo.com.Each Marketplace Homes office is independently owned and operated.

At Schoolcraft gingerbread village, it's the sweet details

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, November 26, 2006

BY HUGH GALLAGHER STAFF WRITER

Claire's Custom Cakes is in the northwest corner of a magical town. It's a sweet little village of almond streets, sugar snow, gumdrops, jelly beans, Necco wafers and chocolate parking lots. The walls of all the buildings are gingerbread and the windows are shimmery spun Inside Claire's, a Christmas tree glows green and on the shelves are tiny pastries, all elaborately decorated for the holiday season.

It's easy to find Claire's, because it has a gold ribbon and a purple banner identifying it as the grand prize winner in Schoolcraft College's first gingerbread house contest.

Chef Joseph Decker, who

Cobo Arena and thought it would be a good project for Schoolcraft students.

"We put an announcement up for anyone interested in having fun and winning a scholarship that there would be a gingerbread meeting and seminar explaining how to bake and assemble a gingerbread house," he said.

The theme was small town America and there was only one rule, the buildings had to be at least 50 percent gingerbread.

The entries were judged using a point system used at international pastry contests. Winning entries received gold, silver or bronze ribbons depending on points. The three top vote getters, all gold medal winners, received scholarships.

Janine Busz won a $500 scholarship for Claire's Custom Michelle Allen received a $100 scholarship for the simple but elegant Corner Church.

Janine Busz accepts her first place award for her entry in this year's gingerbread village contest.

This wasn't Busz's first attempt at a gingerbread house.

"I did one once on my own when I was 16. It was a massive disaster," she said. "Chef Decker helped us out with his seminar on how to make a professional the intricately detailed shop, that lights from the inside to show all the tempting miniature pastries and the glowing green tree. Marzipan, sugar glaze and Pez candies all played a part in the design.

"Some of it was planned and some of it was improvised," she said. The contest was judged by Chefs Kevin Garanski, Jeffrey Gabriel and Shawn Loving, all Schoolcraft instructors who took a long time to walk the village, evaluating the entrants for craftsmanship, neatness, originality, degree of difficulty and use of theme and gingerbread.

The village looks good enough to stroll and eat. It has a Texaco station complete with pumps and cars, a fire station with a firetruck ready to roll and a dalmatian puppy in his doghouse, a simple Protestant church on one side of town and a more elaborate Catholic church on the other, a mini-mall with a bowling alley, flower shop and record shop. The Town Hall has a tall clock tower. The houses range from elaborate Victorians to a turquoise beach house. The second-place diner is a perfect recreation with a chocolate parking lot and tiny cars, a lighted sign on top with a hamburger and shake and inside are tiny booths complete with mustard and ketchup. The third-place simple church has a quiet meditation bench in the back.

The tasty village will be on display at Schoolcraft's VisTaTech Center on Haggerty just south of Seven Mile, Nov. 27 through Dec. 15. The grand prize winning cake shop will be raffled with 100 tickets selling at the college for $5 apiece. Other buildings will be available through a silent auction. Speech-language pathologists help get the word out

BY JULIE BROWN STAFF WRITER

Jennifer Smith of Canton has no regrets about choosing a career as a speech-language patholo-

"I had originally planned on being a psychologist," said Smith, who works at Building Bridges Therapy Center of Plymouth. She earned her master's degree in speech-language from Eastern Michigan University, in addition to undergraduate degrees in psychology and linguistics from UCLA and in communicative disorders from Cal State-Fullerton.

"I love that I can make a difference," Smith said. "I can help someone to achieve the gift of communication."

Speech-language pathologists, sometimes called speech therapists, assess, diagnose, treat, and help to prevent speech, language, cognitivecommunication, voice, swallowing, fluency, and related disorders.

Smith noted that she's able to work in a variety of settings. She likes the mix of psychology and language her work affords, and the fact that she can work with all populations. Now she works with students of elementary and middle school

She likes to work with language and understand how the mind works, so work as a speechlanguage pathologist is a natural. Smith had one student thought disabled now in a gifted class, and finds that rewarding. She sees children with autism spectrum disorders, and noted she could work with stroke patients and many others. Hours are also flexible.

Mickey Edell, also of Canton, is a speech-language pathologist with the Plymouth-Canton schools, working with elementary students.

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Mickey Edell of Canton is a speech-language pathologist for the Plymouth-Canton schools and enjoys her work. She began her career in the Hartford, Conn., school system.

"This is my 31st year" with the district, she said. "You know, I'm just not quite ready yet. I'm not ready to retire. It has been so rewarding, challenging and best of all it's been fun."

Edell earned her master's in speech and lan-also holds a bachelor's degree in the field from the University of Kansas.

While an undergraduate, Edell thought about fields where she could help kids with disabilities. She ended up in the Hartford, Conn., school system, choosing that over a hospital or clinic.

"You need to be able to connect with the students by making learning engaging, interesting and fun," Edell said. She appreciates her colleagues, administrative support and that of parents and students in her current post.

Edell noted those considering the field must be diligent in their studies for six years, and have patience. "I think they would find it very fulfilling," she said.

Speech-language pathologists work with people who cannot produce speech sounds, or cannot produce them clearly; those with speech rhythm and fluency problems, such as stuttering; people with voice disorders, such as inappropriate pitch or harsh voice; those with problems understanding and producing language; those who wish to improve their communication skills by modifying an accent; and those with cognitive communication impairments, such as attention, memory, and problem solving disorders. They also work with people who have swallowing difficulties, according to the Web site of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Speech, language, and swallowing difficulties can result from a variety of causes including stroke, brain injury or deterioration, developmental delays or disorders, learning disabilities, cerebral palsy, cleft palate, voice pathology, hearing loss or emotional problems. Problems can be congenital, developmental, or acquired.

Speech-language pathologists keep records on the initial evaluation, progress, and discharge of client progress, and justifies the cost of treatment when applying for reimbursement. They counsel individuals and their families concerning communication disorders and how to cope with the stress and misunderstanding that often accompany them. They also work with family members to recognize and change behavior pat-

Most speech-language pathologists provide direct clinical services to individuals with communication or swallowing disorders. In medical facilities, they may perform their job in conjunction with physicians, social workers, psychologists and other therapists.

Most full-time speech-language pathologists work 40 hours per week; about one in five work part time. Those who work on a contract basis may spend a substantial amount of time travel ing between facilities.

Speech-language pathologists held about 96,000 jobs in 2004, according to the Web site: About half were employed in educational services, primarily in preschools and elementary and secondary schools. Others were employed in hospitals; offices of other health practitioners, including speech-language pathologists; nursing care facilities; home health care services; individual and family services; outpatient care centers; and child day care centers.

A few speech-language pathologists are selfemployed in private practice. They contract to provide services in schools, offices of physicians, hospitals, or nursing care facilities, or work as consultants to industry. According to a 2003 survey by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, the median annual salary for full-time certified speech-language pathologists who worked on a calendar-year basis, gen erally 11 or 12 months annually, was $48,000.

Most people are familiar with the term 'landscaping,' but may not be familiar with 'hardscaping,' which describes the use of concrete products designed to serve a landscaping function.

'Hardscaping' can increase home's value

(NewsUSA) - Want to increase the value of your home? If so, you should consider making an investment in hardscaping.

Most people are familiar with the term "landscaping," but may not be familiar with "hardscaping," which describes the use of concrete products designed to serve a landscaping function.

Two studies, by Clemson University and the University of Florida, found that hardscaping contributes to higher resale values in single-family homes.

Since the return on investment is contingent on the quality of the hardscaping job, it's important that you find the right hardscaping contractor for your project and use high-quality materials like segmental retaining walls and interlocking concrete pavers.

Homeowners should consider the following when choosing a hardscaping contractor: The scope of the project: Make sure the contractor understands your vision and will be able to implement it. You may want to ask the contractor to design your hardscaping project. Many hardscape contractors have in-house design services.

Proper licensing: Your contractor should be properly licensed, bonded and insured for the work proposed. Many regions require special licenses to conduct earthwork, grading and plumbing operations. The contractor also should have liability and workers' compensation insurance.

Solid references: Check references and make sure the contractor has experience on projects of similar size and scope.

Certification and training: Inquire about the contractor's experience with the products being installed. Ask if the contractor has been certified or trained by the product supplier or achieved recognition from a local or national trade association.

For more information about segmental retaining walls, visit www.ncma.org. For information about concrete pavers, visit www.icpi.org.

Coat drive

The Oakland County Sheriff's Office is partnering with PODS, Real Estate One and Outback Steakhouse to collect coats.

In response to an early call for coats from local charitable organizations, officials have kicked off the "Coats for the Cold" coat collection. This year's coat drive runs through Nov. 27. Real Estate One is, for the first year since the inception of the coat drive, serving as a drop-off location. The Real at 346 N. Lafayette.

Drop off a new or clean used coat. Coats collected during November will be given to several different charitable organizations, who will then distribute the coats to those most in need at no cost.

For information, call Real Estate One - South Lyon, (248) 437-3800.

Effective Business Management

Seminar on "The Ins and Outs of Condo Operations and Association Turnover: What Not To Do," 8:30-10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 6, at BIA headquarters, 30375 Northwestern Highway, Suite 100 in Farmington Hills. Speakers will be Gregory J. Gamalski and Kaveh Kashef of Cox, Hodgman & Giarmarco and H. William Freeman of Freeman, Cotton & Norris. Continental breakfast is included. Fees are $20 for BIA or Apartment Association of Michigan members,*$40 for guests. To register,

Country porch highlights this compact home

A large workshop, separate from the garage, is included in the floor plan of the Kaempferi (336-050), a compact single-level home with a country style front porch. Economical to build, this home is well suited to the needs of first-time homebuyers, singles, or empty nesters. And it can be adapted for wheelchair accessibility.

Family living areas are at the front, bedrooms at the back. The vaulted ceiling gives a sense of spaciousness to the living room. A five-sided bay window brightens the living room and creates an interesting recess for plants, a specially designed couch, a couple of easy chairs - the possibilities are endless. The living room also has a door that opens onto a small

Most homes this size have two bathrooms, but this one has three. The one next to the garage comes in handy for clean-up when clothes and shoes are grubby from working in the shop or garden.

A work island, with a built-in range and oven, augments counter space in the kitchen. Other features include a large walk-in pantry, broom closet, and built-in dishwasher. Sink and dishwasher are nestled into a bay window that faces the street. Some families might prefer to outfit the adjacent space as a family room, rather than a dining room.

Luxury touches in the master suite include a huge walk-in closet, oversized shower and twin basins in the dressing area. A glass door opening off the main suite area provides access to the deck. The utility room has cabinets and a long counter for folding clothes. It can be entered from the back yard, as well as from the interior hallway. Although not included in the plan, another deck could be built behind the home.

A skylight brightens the main bathroom and a large linen closet is across the hail, next to the coat closet by the entry. Bedroom three, which is accessible from the kitchen, could be used as a home office, hobby room, or youname-it, if a third bedroom is not needed.

For a study plan of the KAEMPFEŘÍ (336-050), send $15.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 or call 1-800-562-1151. Be sure to specify plan name and number. Compact disks, with search functions are free of charge, to help you search our portfolio for you dream home ($5.00 shipping and handling will apply). Numbers

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

By Dave Menard Avanti NewsFeatures

Ya gotta love competition.

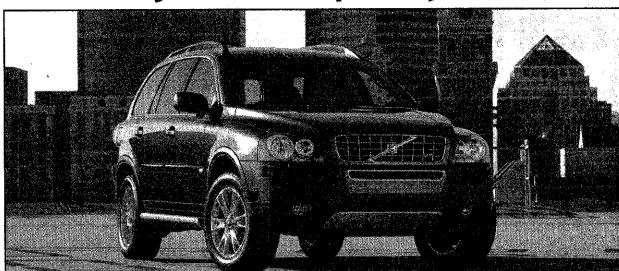

Competition is how we wind up with choices. If I remember my Economics 101 class correctly, the more competition, the more the various competitors work to make their products better, and cheaper.

You may not be able to choose your electric company or your water company, but you can choose what vehicle you want to drive. And the luxury SUV market, in particular, has exploded with choices over the last several years. Offerings from Infiniti, Lexus. BMW, Cadillac - heck, even Porsche has an SUV - are all competing for your dollar (many dollars actually). Volvo is in the mix, as well, and its latest offering, the 2007 XC90 3.2, is as competitive as any of the others.

The XC90, which also comes in a V8 version, is powered by a new engine for this model year. Out is the five-cylinder turbocharged engine, and in is a 3.2-liter, naturally aspirated in-line 6-cylinder engine. The new engine is rated at 235 horsepower, 27 more horses than the old engine, and 236 lb.-ft. of torque, same as the old one. The optional V8 will give you 311 horses and 325 lb-ft. of torque. Both engines get the same transmission - a six-speed adaptive automatic transmission with "Geartronic," the feature that allows you to shift manually, if you prefer. The only difference between the two powertrains is that the V8 version is an allwheel-drive model; you can get all-wheel-drive on the 3.2 as an option.

Acceleration on the 3.2 is decent, and plenty quick enough for everyday driving and passing. If you really need to get off the line quickly, for some reason, get the V8. The 3.2 is EPA rated at 17/22, while the V8 will cost you a few more miles-per-gallon – 15/21.

The XC90, as you would expect from a Volvo, gives you a very nice ride, and handles very well. The front suspension is a MacPherson strut system, with coil springs, hydraulic shocks and stabilizer bar. The rear system is a multilink independent system with coil springs, hydraulic shocks and stabilizer bar. You can get a self-leveling rear suspension as part of an option package.

2007 Volvo XC 90 3.2 Vehicle class: Special purpose SUV truck. Power: V-8 or 6-cylinder engine. Mileage: 17 city / 22 highway. Where built: Gothenburg, Sweden Base price: $36,135. Price as tested: $43,350.

Handling is very good, thanks to the standard powerassisted rack-and-pinion steering. The turning circle is a little wide, so maneuvering into tight places can take a bit longer, but the XC90 corners very well, thanks to stability control.

As you would also expect from a Volvo, there are lots of safety features. In addition to stability control, the XC90 comes with traction control, roll-over protection system, tire pressure monitoring system, a side-impact protection system with side-airbags, and inflatable curtains for all three rows of seats.

Looking at the XC90, you can tell right away that it's a Volvo – and that's not a bad thing. It actually looks fairly stylish. The 2007 version comes with a new grille, bumpers and taillights. Color-coordinated side moldings and door handles are standard, as are fog lights, heated outside power mirrors, and roof rails. The 3.2 comes with 17" alloy wheels and you can get 18" wheels as an option (the V8 comes with 18" wheels). Active Bi-Xenon gas headlamps with headlamp washers are optional.

Inside, the cabin is designed very nicely. The instrument panel is attractive and features aluminum inlays. The steering wheel and gearshift know are both covered in leather. While most of the control buttons and function switches are well laid out, I never have and never will, I suspect - like the way Volvo designs its audio controls. I find the switches counter-intuitive and hard to adjust on-the-fly.

Speaking of audio systems, the one in the XC90 is pretty good. It comes with an AM/FM/CD system that includes an auxiliary input for an mp3 player, eight speakers and 160 watts of power. You can upgrade to a system that will give you a six-disc changer, but is otherwise identical to the standard system, or you can get a powerful 650-watt system that will blow your doors off - with 12 speakers, and Dolby Pro-Logic sound. Each system is can accept a satellite radio system, but you'll have to add as an option. A rear-seat DVD entertainment system and a navigation system are

The standard leather seats, which can be heated, are quite comfortable and can be adjusted easily - power, of course. There's plenty of room in the cabin, even for tall drivers. You can get the XC90 in one of two seating configurations - a five-passenger, two-row setup, or an optional seven-passenger setup which includes a thirdrow seat. Either way, the seats fold down for more cargo room, when you need it.

The XC90 comes with a bunch of standard interior features - cruise control, dual-zone climate control (with a separate control system for third-row passengers, if you opt for that configuration), trip computer, keyless entry, power windows, and two 12volt power outlets are all included. A power moonroof

The 2007 Volvo XC90 3.2 starts at a shade above $36,000. Add the optional headlamps, moonroof package (which includes the six-disc CD changer), and the third row seat package (which includes the self leveling rear suspension) and you're at close to $43,000 - comparable with other luxury SUVs.

Competition continues to "drive" auto manufacturers to improve their vehicles year after year. The luxury SUV segment continues to benefit with some real good choices. The Volvo XC90 is one of them. Write Dave Menard at avanti1054@aol.com.

Used car prices take hard tumble

New car incentives push used car marketplace to record low

by J.L. Sims Independent ad features

Livonia, MI - A Livonia dealer is selling 2006 vehicles for one-half of the original manufacturer's list price. And they're offering many other 2006 models far below normal market values. The low financing offered by GM, Ford, and Daimler-Chrysler mesmerized so many buyers that far fewer shoppers even bothered looking at pre-owned 2006 models.

How does 0% financing on a new model do in a heads-up comparison to a pre-owned 2006 model? In the instance of the Buick LaCrosse, financing $21,960 plus tax vs. $9995 plus tax, the payments on the new car at 0% interest would be $392 monthly for 60 months, but only $269 monthly at 3.9% for 60 months on the program model. With the prime at a record low, today's interest rates are very competitive. Many credit unions charge under 6% for auto loans if the applicant has a good credit rating. And when purchasing the used 2006, don't forget that you'll be saving about an additional $1,000 in sales tax and licensing fees. (Taxes estimated at an average of 6%).

John Rogin Buick sold over 150 Buick LaCrosse & Pontiac Grand Prix's in the first 30 days of their sale.

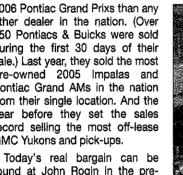

A "program" car is a vehicle that has been leased by a premium rental company through a special "program" from the manufacturer. Strict maintenance is required, and all vehicles are carefully inspected upon return. In many cases, these program units receive maintenance than better vehicles owned by private

John Rogin Buick-Livonia has long been known as Michigan's "bargain hunting" dealer. Currently, they're selling more 2006 Pontiac Grand Prixs than any other dealer in the nation. (Over 150 Pontiacs & Buicks were sold during the first 30 days of their sale.) Last year, they sold the most pre-owned 2005 Impalas and Pontiac Grand AMs in the nation from their single location. And the vear before they set the sales record selling the most off-lease GMC Yukons and pick-ups.

found at John Rogin in the preowned 2006 vehicles. The low financing on new 2006's has left the used models unnoticed and overlooked. So, with far fewer dealers purchasing these units, the prices have dropped to record lows.

So, once again, John Rogin has gone shopping for the vehicles with a huge cart. They have just made a multi-million dollar purchase of these units from General Motors, bringing in truckload after truckload from across the country. In addition to filling their giant used car facility to the brim. John Rogin had to lease additional storage lots to accommodate their massive acquisition of vehicles. And they

Bargains abound in pre-owned 2006 program vehicles currently stock the largest inventory of 2006 program cars in > Michigan. The purpose of 0% financing is to clear out the remaining new 2006's. In another week or two, these vehicles will all be gone, along with the incentives. In the meantime, the 2006 program vehicles are truly today's "sleeping" bargain... But they'll soon disappear as smart shoppers begin to "wake up" and recognize the real deals.

John Rogin Buick is located at 30500 Plymouth Road, between Middlebelt and Merriman in Livonia. Their used car superstore may be contacted directly at (734) 525-0900 Monday-Friday during normal business hours.

A Beautiful Buick

The 2001-2006 Buicks were the highest ranked Premium Midsize Car in J.D. Powers and Associates Initial Quality Study. This study was based on a total of over 64,900 consumer responses indicating owner reported problems during the first 90 days of ownership. Of those surveyed. Buick owners reported the fewest problems - An outstanding mark of excellence for superb workmanship and a prelude to the satisfaction yet to be experienced during the coming years.

Equipped with a powerful 175horsepower V-6 boasting 20mpg city and 29mpg highway fuel economy, the Buick LaCrosse will capture your heart from the moment you slip behind the wheel. There won't be any need for a salesperson to explain how to operate "all the buttons," because this LaCrosse will greet you like an old friend, or a comfortable pair of slippers. The cabin is exceedingly driver friendly, with all controls neatly laid out before you like an elegant table setting. And everything just seems to "fit."

The Buick LaCrosse still retains all the traditional value you've come to expect from Buick. From its luxurious well-appointed interior to the clean, flowing exterior design, LaCrosse makes a stylish impression.

The standard features provide evidence that the Buick still remains just one step down from the Cadillac in GM's lineup. Dual (driver and passenger side) heat and air conditioning controls, sixposition tilt steering wheel, cruise control, power windows, locks, and seats, remote key fobs operating doors and trunk, rear window defroster, plus a stereo system that will blow you away.

Children aren't forgotten with the rear seat upper and lower latch system for compatible child safety seats and rear door child security locks.

Four-wheel independent suspension provides for solid handling and the ride of a magic carpet.

Best of all, the new LaCrosse requires just a little more maintenance than a rock garden. 100,000 miles between spark plug changes. 100,000 mile transmission service intervals under normal driving conditions. Wow.

See the 2006 Buick LaCrosse at John Rogin Buick in

It's no wonder that John Rogin Buick-Livonia considers the preowned 2006 LaCrosse to be the most car they've ever been able to offer for the money. And for the past several weeks, they've silently amassed hundreds of these wonderful units from throughout the country and brought them to Livonia. Best of all, today you can purchase a pre-owned 2006 LaCrosse from John Rogin for nearly half its original value of $24,000 list price new. While they last.
