Experts agree: Nationwide search the way to go

One of the three search firms selected by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to be interviewed Tuesday has decided not to seek a contract with Plymouth-Canton Schools to conduct a nationwide search for a new superintendent.

notified the district this week, telling Superintendent Jim Ryan "every time they come to Michigan they get beat out by Michigan Leadership Institute."

That leaves MLI of Old Mission, Mich., and Hazard, Young, Attea & Associates of Glenview, Ill., as the only two search firms bidding to conduct the national search to find a replacement for Ryan, who is retiring in March.

At last Tuesday's board meeting, trustees decided not to hear a proposal from the Michigan Association of School

"The two that are coming are the two I'm most interested in hearing from," said Treasurer Steven Sneideman. "I really didn't like the proposal from Proact. I had the feeling they had too much on their plate and couldn't do the best job for us, and their response proves that to me."

Birmingham Public Schools is in the final interview stage for a new superintendent, the first in 17 years. Marcia Wilkinson, director of community relations, said Hazard, Young & Associates initially received resumes from 35-40 candidates, and whittled the pool to the six who are being interviewed by the Board of Education.

'LOOK BEYOND'

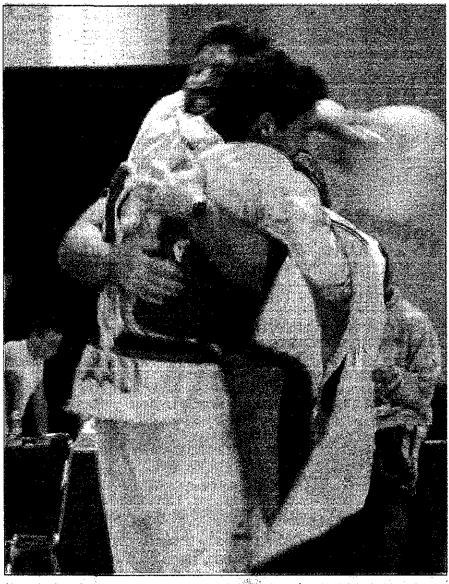

"Our board felt it needed to look beyond, and set more flexible parameters for the search firm," Wilkinson said. "We wanted to look for innovative, creative people, and that resulted in not requiring candidates to be a sitting superintendent. It was clear we wanted the search firm to be open to candidates not in the traditional field of

Despite the out-of-the-box parameters set by the school board, Birmingham's candidates include current, assistant and former superintendents, of which only one is from out of state.

Linda Wacyk, director of communications for the Michigan Association of School Administrators in Lansing, said she doesn't expect Plymouth-Canton to have a difficult time finding candidates to fill the position.

"Plymouth-Canton is in a good position to attract worthy candidates because it's a district that has established itself as a

Alexander Covert, a Salem High junior, celebrated with his father/coach, Christopher Covert, during the recent Olympic team trials in Fort Lauderdale, Fl.

Determined teen lands dream spot on U.S. Tae Kwon Do team

BY TIFFANY L. PARKS

STAFF WRITER

At 7 a.m. Alexander Covert's human alarm clock — his father – would walk into his bedroom and see if he was awake. If the 16-yearold hadn't stirred, Christopher Covert would playfully throw a towel at his son and tell him to get up.

The Salem High School junior would sometimes grumble about being tired or sore but then a single phrase would entice him from his slumber: "If you want that spot, you'll get up.' Alexander, who is jokingly called "kara-te kid" or "Daniel son" by his friends, recently nabbed a spot on the 2008 U.S. all smiles after landing a spot on the Olympics Junior Tae Kwon Do Team. Everyday this summer, the Canton teen would throw on a hoodie, lace up his sneakers and run around different areas of Canton.

"It was just like 'Rocky,'" his mother, Laura Covert joked. "We are so proud of him."

Alexander is scheduled to participate in the Dutch Open in March and the German Open in April.

"This has been my dream, so to see it come true is unbelievable," he said, adding that he's gotten a lot of support from his teachers and friends. They all think it's so cool and everyone has been great."

> with his wife, has been training Alexander since he was 3 vears old. "I was nervous for him," he said, referencing the recent Olympic team trials in Fort Lauderdale. "We recently moved (Olympian) from Garden City to Canton so Alexander had to do a lot (training) on his own." All of the Coverts, including younger brother, Austin, 13, practice the sport.

"When we're at home, you can catch any of us kicking," Alexander said with a laugh.

Describing himself as being on "cloud nine," the teenager wants to do Tae Kwon Do on a collegiate level and dreams of being on the 2012 U.S. Olympic team.

"I wouldn't say Tae Kwon Do is my life, but it's a huge part of it and has made me a better person," Alexander

Businesses brace for intersection improvement work

Brad Bezel is stunned that one of the Canton intersections on deck for improvements is Palmer and Haggerty.

'Really? They're starting construction out here on Monday?" he asked. "I think that's a waste because it's never backed up right here." Bezel is the manager of Jet's Pizza in the Palmer Crossing Plaza on the northeast corner of the intersection.

"What they need to work on is Ford and Haggerty," he said.

Teen journalists -Observer wants you

The Observer Newspapers is looking for sophomores, juniors and seniors interested pages and online material for teens by teens. This marks the second year of the Observer's Student Voices project in which area teens write about issues important to them.

Last year nearly 100 students participated in the school-year program.

Teens report, write, edit and take photographs for the hometownLIFE.com print and on-line sections which will appear periodically in Sunday editions throughout the school year.

Only sophomores, juniors and seniors are eligible to participate. In addition, students must commit to serving as a student journalist for the entire 2007-2008 school year and be prepared to attend a 90-minute orientation session in producing local newspaper from 3:30-5 p.m. Thursday,

Oct. 4 and planning meetings as determined by the student group. The first pages and on-line stories are scheduled to appear in November.

"We want teens to take ownership of the section in print and on-line, " said Susan Rosiek, Executive Editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Teens will decide what to cover, what to write about what's important to them. They'll be mentored by reporters, editors and photographers at the O&E."

To apply, go to www.hometownlife.com and click on the Student Voices logo for an application. Deadline to apply is Monday, Sept. 24.

Cherry Hill and Sheldon, Geddes and Canton Center and Saltz and Sheldon.

On Thursday, a small crew buzzed around Beck and Cherry Hill spraying orange paint on the curbs. Each quadrant of the intersection is slated to get an exclusive rightturn lane.

At Canton Center and Saltz, all but the northeast quadrant will get an exclusive rightturn lane and at Palmer and Haggerty, right-turn lanes will be created for east and westbound Palmer.

Mast arm-mounted traffic signals with illuminated street signs are also planned for the intersection.

Like Bezel, Chanel Brewer of Allure Hair Salon & Spa, current conditions are inadequate.

"It's usually quiet out there," she said. "Even rush hour isn't too bad. But if it's for safety, it's a good thing even though no one likes construction."

In addition to the three projects starting Monday, the stalled improvements to the Beck and Warren intersection are expected to begin later this month. The work, which was initially slated for 2005, will include creating a right-turn lane for each quadrant and installing new traffic signals on mast arms.

Intersection improvements scheduled for 2008 include Warren and Morton Taylor, Warren and Sheldon and Joy and Sheldon.

ShopCanton, students will partner on holiday art project

STAFF WRITER

ShopCanton is already geared up for the holiday season and is hoping to make a visual splash along Ford Road.

ShopCanton, which was developed by the Canton Marketing Partners to promote Canton businesses, is expanding its holiday art project from a single shopping center to a three-mile stretch of the township's busiest cor-

"If we can get enough (interest), we are hoping it will continue growing," said Dianne Cojei, Canton Chamber of Commerce president.

In its second year, the project will partner Ford Road businesses with high school students from the Plymouth-Canton and Wayne-Westland school districts. The business owners will contribute $35 to the project and in turn, the students will paint a holiday theme on the window of their establishments.

"The second we heard about it we said 'we're in.' I think it's a great idea," said Chuck Jones, of Play It Again Sports, 42079

Jones, who owns the business with his wife, Barbera, has registered to get two of his windows painted.

With more than 20 businesses already signed up, Cojei said the project is gaining popularity.

"I've had a lot of requests from people who have businesses off of Ford," she said. "We've kept it on Ford because we want to give it a chance to grow and make an impact. Maybe we can extend it in the future."

Kathleen Salla, Downtown Development Authority director, said business owners off of Ford Road can still participate in the project by sponsoring the window of a vacant location on Ford. . The students are scheduled to paint the windows during the week of Nov. 12-18.

Businesses will be chosen on a first come, first serve basis. For more information, call Coiei at (734) 453-4040, Joyce Silagy at (734) 890-2050 or log onto www.ShopCanton.org.

Happy 112th Birthday to Chiropractic

DD Palmer

On September 18, 1895 the first chiropractic adjustment was given by Dr. DD Palmer, a magnetic healer of the time, to Harvey Lillard. Mr. Lillard, a janitor in the Ryan building on the corner of Brady and 2nd Street in Davenport Iowa, was nearly totally deaf for 17 years. After the historic first adjustment, Harvey's hearing returned. This revelation, led Dr. Palmer to theorize that nerve interference from a spinal bone out of place was the cause of Harvey's hearing loss. He further postulated that returning the bone to a more normal position might help correct the problem. It was from this simple beginning that the chiropractic profession was born.

On this anniversary, it might be interesting to read the words of Dr. DD Palmer, the founder of chiropractic. We have presented them below.

Harvey Lillard

"Harvey Lillard a janitor in the Ryan Block, where I had my office, had been so deaf for 17 years that he could not hear the racket of a wagon on the street or the ticking of a watch. I made inquiry as to the cause of his deafness and was informed that when he was exerting himself in a cramped, stooping position, he felt something give way in his back and immediately became deaf. An examination showed a vertebrae racked from its normal position. I reasoned that if that vertebra was replaced, the man's hearing should be restored. With this object in view, a half-hour's talk persuaded Mr. Lillard to allow me to replace it. I racked it into position by using the spinous process as a lever and soon the man could hear as before. There was nothing "accidental" about this, as it was accomplished with an object in view, and the result expected was obtained. There was nothing "crude" about this adjustment; it was specific, so much so that no Chiropractor has equaled it."

Within two years Dr. DD Palmer opened the first school of Chiropractic on Brady Street in Davenport. It was his son Dr. BJ Palmer, who continued the school after his death. It is the son, BJ Palmer, who is given credit for growing and developing the profession into what it has become today.

Walled Lake Community Schools used MLI in hiring a new superintendent in July 2006, the district's first in 18 years. Judy Evola, director of community relations, said the Board of Education posted the opening twice.

"The first was more of a statewide and regional search, but then it became more of a national search," Evola said. "The board wanted to take a look at all the possible candidates who might have interest throughout the country."

Evola said the key for Walled Lake was to include all the district's constituents in the process of hiring a superintendent. "Giving them an opportunity to verbalize what qualities they want in a superintendent before the posting," said Evola. "That process was invaluable for us.

In the end, Walled Lake interviewed four assistant superintendents in metro Detroit. The eventual hire was William Hamilton, who spent the previous 13 years as an assistant superintendent in Walled Lake.

WHAT THEY'LL ASK

Here are some sample questions Plymouth-Canton school board members will ask representatives of potential search firms Tuesday:

- Describe the process you use to develop our selection criteria?
- What percent of the superintendents that you placed in the last five years are still in their positions?
- Which member of your organization will be leading the search? What is their individual success rate?

The man, 33, had warrants out for his arrest when he was caught trying to steal a Motorola H500 blue tooth from the Ford Road store.

After doing a background check on the man, police discovered he had four warrants in Canton for being in possession of a controlled substance, retail fraud and providing false information to an officer. In

Arthritis is not the most common cause of elbow pain. The usual culprit is epicondylitis. This pain doesn't come from the joint but from the band of muscles that anchor to the side of the

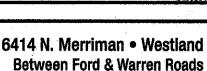

On the inside of the elbow is a projection of bone that holds a group of muscles that help you bend our fingers. When injury irritates that muscle group, you experience pain in grasping a door handle or picking up an object from the floor. In addition you have pain in your elbow bringing

If injury occurs to the outer area of your elbow, you face a different set of problems. The muscles originating from that side control activity of the back of the fingers, injury to the elbow at this outside site make it difficult to grasp. That problem becomes serious for tennis players and led to calling the pain "tennis elbow" Treatment for elbow pain occurring in a muscle is steroid injection at the source of the pain.

The injection does not heal the injury but removes the irritation that surrounds the bruised tendon. The body's natural powers of repair resolve the injury. Thus, following an injection you are not free to return to full activity of elbow, but need to gradually return to unrestricted movement.

Other causes of elbow pain and loss of the joint to bend and extend are osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis. In these instances, treating the underlying condition usually halts further deterioration of the elbow joint. Replacement elbows are available, but both the science and design are in an early phase of development.

AG Cox, Evans target child support offenders

Attorney General Mike Cox this week announced a new child support sweep in metro Detroit, named Operation: Back to School '07.

The sweep, which lasted three days, is a cooperative effort between Cox's Child Support Division and Wayne County Sheriff Warren Evan's Felony Friend of the Court Enforcement Unit.

The operation is targeting more than 100 metro Detroit area residents who are charged with felonies for not paying substantial amounts of child support.

"We have named this Operation: Back to School '07 because this is the time of year when parents provide their children the necessities to go to school," Cox said. "New clothes, backpacks, and calculators are just some of the expenses that parents incur this time of year.

"Let this be a reminder that child support is necessary for every child all year long," the attorney general added. "We tion of Sheriff Evans and his commitment to this important work."

The defendants charged in these cases have legal obligations to provide support for almost 150 children. Their combined arrearage is more than $4 million.

"The impact on a child whose parent can't afford to provide them with basic necessities can't be measured," Evans said. "It takes a toll on their self-esteem, which also affects their education. This stepped-up enforcement period expands on the daily efforts of the attorney general and my office to hold deadbeat parents accountable."

Cox's Child Support Division, the first statewide child support enforcement unit in the country, has collected more than $45 million owed in back child support, directly benefiting more than 4,200 children.

In addition to benefiting children, the Child Support Division also benefits the state. The attorney general's Child Support Division is on track to recover twice as much money for the State of Michigan in 2007 as the actual cost for the division.

Among those arrested by sheriff's deputies during Operation: Back to School '07 were:

■ Nicholas Kohalisky, 48, of Southfield, owed more than $67,000 in back child supof Detroit, owed more than $57,000 in back child sup-

Schoolcraft College launches pharmacy tech course

Schoolcraft College has launched a program that aims to quell the recent shortage of pharmacy technicians, while giving future pharmacists a taste of the health profession.

The course, which takes place Tuesdays and Thursdays starting Sept. 18 and Saturdays starting Sept. 22, costs $1,259 which includes fee, text books and ICPT Certification exam fee.

The course is noncredit, and Workforce Investment funds may be available.

The Pharmacy Technician course is a 72-hour course designed to teach students the fundamentals and particulars of being a pharmacy technician. The program is geared toward students interested in being a pharmacy technician, pre-pharmacy students, or those looking to strengthen their skills in the health care

Pharmacy technicians assist pharmacists, including filling, packaging and distributing medications, and maintaining patient records and inventory. The technicians start earning about $10 to $15 an hour but certified technicians can earn 20 to 30 percent more. Chain retail pharmacies, hospitals, and home health care pharmacies typically employ them.

Web site has good info, but don't rely on it for buy, sell decisions

What is your opinion of www.fundalarm.com which is an independent Web site devoted to mutual funds?

FundAlarm.com has some interesting information; however, I am not a fan of this Web site when it comes to evaluating funds to buy or sell. The FundAlarm methodology is based solely on past performance. Although past performance is important, it is not the only criterion that should be considered when it comes to buying or selling a fund.

One of the biggest problems with FundAlarm.com is the benchmarks used to compare performance are not appropriate. FundAlarm relies solely on the Morningstar classification of a fund. Unfortunately, Morningstar sometimes does not properly classify a fund.

For example, Morningstar does not have a classification ily invested in large companies, other times they will be invested in small companies. Because Morningstar does not have a classification for these types of funds, they are put into the mid-cap blend area. Therefore, if you were to solely look at go-anywhere funds and compare them to mid-cap blend funds, it would not give you the proper comparison. The underlying problem with FundAlarm.com is how they compare and evaluate fund performances. If you use the wrong benchmark or an inappropriate peer group, it makes the information somewhat useless.

It is essential when you compare the performance of your fund vs. the benchmark or its peer group that you compare apples to apples.

When I do my research, I evaluate an investment using a variety of criteria and sources.

While FundAlarm.com is an interesting Web site, I would not rely on it when it comes to evaluating whether to buy or sell a fund.

How safe is it to start up a new account with a previously unknown bank online? They have some attractive money market accounts, but I'm not sure of safety. I am a Ford employee with an account at Ford Interest Advantage. The money is not insured but the interest rates are good. I have a sizeable account. I'm bothered by Ford's current troubles. Would it be wise to move the money until things even out?

If the online bank is FDIC insured, then the money is as safe as it would be if it's at any local bank.

The rates that many online banks offer are very attractive. They are able to offer these attractive rates for a number of different reasons. The first is the cost of doing business is less expensive than traditional banks. After all, they don't have to worry about the cost of maintaining a variety of branches. Many online banks, in order to attract business, have to be more competitive when it comes to rates of return on such things as money market accounts and checking accounts. They use these attractive rates almost as loss leaders because they want your banking business.

As to Ford Interest Advantage, you are correct. This money is not insured and if something did happen to Ford, your money is at risk. Based upon the fact you are iustifiably nervous. I have no problem recommending you look elsewhere.

If you want to keep the money liquid, using money market accounts makes sense. In that regard, you can use an online bank. If the account is over $100,000 ($250,000 in the case of a retirement account) use two separate online banks. The FDIC insurance is limited to $100,000 for nonretirement accounts and $250,000 for retirement accounts.

If you do not need to keep this money liquid but want to keep it safe, shop around for CDs and consider an equityindexed annuity.

The advantage the equityindexed annuity allows your money to grow tax-deferred. Annuities are also guaranteed up to $100,000. If you are looking for a fixed or equity indexed annuity, buy one on a no-load basis.

There is no question that the Ford Interest Advantage is paying a favorable rate of return. However, investors must recognize that the rate of return is high because of the risk involved.

MHS reduces adoptions costs for cats

Michigan Humane Society. "Cats and kittens make wonderful companions for many lifestyles, and we are hopeful this initiative will help these wonderful feline companions find the loving homes they deserve."

In conjunction with lowering kitten adoption fees, the Michigan Humane Society will continue its 'Cat Independence Days' program, which was initiated in late June. The 'Cat Independence Days' program waives the adoption fee for cats age six months and older, giving more cats the opportunity to find the loving homes they deserve.

Over the course of the 'Cat Independence Days' program, MHS has increased cat adoptions 80 percent and kitten adoptions 25 percent when compared to the same time frame in 2006.

Adoptions will still include the same great adoption package: sterilization surgery, age-appropriate vaccinations, a medical checkup, the Michigan Humane Society 10-day health plan and much more. At the time of adoption, a sterilization deposit of $25 may be required.

The board has shaved some $12.5 million from its $152 million budget over the last six years, including $4.5 million locally. this year alone. Board members have, until recently, been able to keep the cuts enough; the district still faces a strucwhich to deal.

He also understands the political terrain in a growing district that, under his successor, will in all likelihood become the third-largest district in the state. The agendas among board members are left with few options to hiring a search a political reality, and Ryan has learned to navigate them deftly.

Democracy not for everyone

In the Sept. 9 letter to the editor, "Freedom is the key," the author believes that President Bush's plan to democratize the Middle East and in so doing, stabilize the area, eliminate terrorism and finally bring freedom to all, is a plan we should all support. The goals of such a plan may be noble, but to assume that democracy is for everyone is näive and in the case of Iraq; deadly and without a chance of success.

As far as the American Civil War is concerned, to think that slavery was the only reason for the war is also naive. Northern soldiers did not risk their lives to free Negroes from slavery; they did it to preserve the union and Northern industrial prosperity. Confederate soldiers from the rural South risked their lives not to preserve slavery, but to preserve their independence and their way of life from the everdominating and encroaching North.

> Janusz M. Szyszko Canton

Stop funding war

We must end all funding for U.S. operations in Iraq except to get out! It is time to end the fraud on the American people called the war on terror in Iraq.

Why anyone is fooled into thinking General Petraeus has a legitimate report on how things are going in Iraq is beyond my comprehension. This is the same man who vouched for the lie that we had found the WMD biological labs back in 2003!

The current report from the GAO indicate only three of the 18 benchmarks set by Congress were met. The situation in Iraq continues to deteriorate, and we need Congress to find its backbone and do what the American public needs them to do. That is, to cut all funding that continues the occupation of Iraq.

We, in Michigan's 11th District have a congressman who has supported the occupation every step of the way. He has voted against all legislation to set benchmarks, troop withdrawal and redeployment, and has supported troop increases. This, in spite of the letters and phone calls from his constituents to do exactly the opposite.

In August, he even voted to extend the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act for six months. This FISA law allows for warrantless wire tapping of American citizens. Mr. McCotter stated in Observer Aug. 23 edition: "No constitutional right is absolute." Our right to privacy is not a concern for him?

Next year is a congressional and presidential election year. We need to keep this in mind as we track the voting record of our congressional representative in the 11th District. For now, we need to voice our opposition to the continued funding for all operations in Iraq.

Pay the piper

In 1993, Bill Clinton was able to get a budget passed in the House and the Senate without one Republican vote. Indeed, because there was a tax increase on the wealthiest Americans, Republicans acted as if the sky would fail if the budget passed. One Republican legislator beseeched his Democrat colleagues not to follow this Pied Piper, meaning the president, to disaster. It was an odd choice of allegory because, as we know, the Pied Piper did his job of eliminating the rats from Hamelin but the major refused to pay him. And so, the Piper entices the children of Hamelin to follow him out of town, never to return.

It would seem obvious that the moral of that story is that the citizens of Hamelin should have paid the Piper for his services. That payment would be called a

After that budget was passed with a tax increase (which followed another tax increase during the George H. W. Bush administration), the economy expanded. Indeed, we had eight years of unprecedented economic growth. Now, it is difficult to say what would have happened if there were no tax increase, but we do know that it did not hurt the economy.

And we also know that we need taxes to pay for government services. Now, we have those who want something for nothing, who want our cities and towns to be safe, our water, land and air to be unpolluted, our food untainted with microbes, our bridges safe to cross and roads passable, good schools and effective agencies to help our businesses grow, etc. They want so much, but like the good mayor of Hamelin, they refuse to pay for it.

And who should suffer? In the final analysis, our children. We will leave them a society that is less safe, humane and sustainable because of some stubborn, greedy people who think they should have their services without pay-

God help us if we listen to them, if we give into our own greed as if all that is important is that we have the money to pay for the things that fill up our lives without regard to the betterment of our state's welfare. I call this an "apatriotic" attitude in the sense that there is a lack of concern for the well-being of our land and our people. At this time, we need patriots who truly care about the future of our state, who will be willing to pay the Piper for the sake of our children, and their children and future genera-

Plymouth withstands late drive to nip Chiefs, 22-20

BY ED WRIGHT STAFF WRITER

Friday night's football clash between Canton and Plymouth wouldn't have been any more dramatic, tension-packed or climactic if Steven Spielberg had written the fourth-quarter script.

Trailing by two with less than a minute to play, the Chiefs marched to the Plymouth 40 before Wildcat senior linebacker Kyle Wallath and his fellow defenders rose to the occasion to secure Plymouth's 22-20 victory.

The triumph — Plymouth's first ever against Canton — improved the Wildcats' record to 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division. The setback — Canton's first regular-season home loss since Sept. 14, 2001, when it dropped a 45-34 barn-burner to Drew Stanton-led Farmington Hills Harrison — evened the Chiefs' ledger at 2-2 and 1-1, respectively.

"We've been training for this year-round," said Wallath, moments after the most significant high school football victory in his career. "We put a lot of hard work in the weight room and it showed on the field tonight. I'm very proud of this team.

"Now we just want to keep it going, try to win the league and get into the playoffs."

"This has been a long time coming," said Plymouth coach Mike Sawchuk. "Ever since I've been here, I've kept telling the kids that if they kept doing things the right way, if they didn't cut corners and they were great citizens, good things were going to happen to them.

"I've got to commend my coaching staff. They put hours and hours into this game plan and they had the kids well-prepared. My hat is off to (Canton) coach Baechler and his staff, too. You're talking about one of the top three coaching staffs in the state over there. They have a great staff and they're a great football team best since the 1978 season, Livonia Churchill can start smelling a postseason playoff berth.

The Chargers made it look easy Friday night in their home opener, squashing winless Salem in a WLAA-Lakes Division matchup, 48-0.

Grant Morgan's 13-yard touchdown pass - his only completion of the night - to Ryan Whittum started the avalanche of points for the Chargers with 2:35 left in the first quarter. The six-play, 43-yard scoring drive was set up by Daran Carey's fumble recovery.

Carey they scored on an 11-yard TD run later in the quarter and Whittum's extra point made it 14-0.

Churchill added three more scores in the second period. Tight end Billy Mayer recovered teammate Keshaun Robinson's fumble in the end zone with 10:08 remaining until halftime after Kevin Tabone set up the score when he returned a Rocks' fumble to the Salem 6.

With 5:44 left until intermission. Salem botched a punt deep in its own end and Churchill's Brian Ziemba recovered in the end zone to make it 27-0 (the kick failed).

Carey then scored his second TD of the night, a 12-yard run, with only 47 seconds left to cap an eight-play, 63-yard drive.

After leading 34-0 at halftime, Churchill started a running clock with 6:20 left in the third quarter on Max DiCicco's 25-yard touchdown run. Shay Slatin's 1-yard scoring run with 4:55 remaining in the game completed the scoring after Robert Carter pounced on Salem's fourth fumbled punt return attempt of the Churchill's defense, led by Devin Moynihan's 12 tackles and Darius Miller-Wells' two sacks, limited the Rocks to 147 yards total offense.

Salem (0-4, 0-2) had only 65 yards rushing on 23 attempts. The Rocks have now lost 19 consecutive games. Heather Parling was 5-of-15 passing for 54 yards, while Justin Bashi was 1-of-1 for 27 yards.

Churchill racked up 311 of its 324 yards in total offense on the ground led by Jeff Ricketts (10-for-94) and DiCicco (12-of-63).

The Chargers had 16 first downs to Salem's eight.

Canton's girls golf team improved its record to 2-0 Wednesday by upending Salem, 214-248, in a match played at Hilltop Golf Course in Plymouth.

Junior captain Chelsea Osburn led the way with a nine-over 45. Kara Gregory (50), Johanna Alexander (56) and Mary Elizabeth Winther (63) also scored for the win-

Grid standouts

A trio of former P-CEP graduates are excelling for their respective col-lege teams.

Ex-Canton star Devin Thomas, a junior at Michigan State University, led the Spartans to a 28-17 victory over Bowling Green Sept. 8 when he hauled in four passes for 156 yards and a touchdown. In his second year with the Spartans, Thomas is leading the Big Ten in yards per catch with a 29.8 average.

Former Plymouth standout Brent Jones is currently the leading rusher for Hope College. Jones, a sophomore has picked up 221 yards on 46 carries. He's scored one TD this season and is averaging 103.5 yards per game.

Josh LeDuc, Jones' exteammate at Plymouth, has earned a starting spot at tight end for Eastern Michigan University. Through the Eagles' first two games, LeDuc had caught three passes for 18 yards.

'Cats quench City Meet title thirst with 1st crown

After five years of advancing to the doorstep of the P-CEP City Meet, the Plymouth girls cross country team knocked the door down on Thursday afternoon at Cass-Benton Park in Northville.

Led by the one-two punch of Kelly Hahn and Beth Heldmeyer, the Wildcats captured the school's first City Meet crown by compiling 27 points to outdistance Canton and fourtime defending champion Salem.

"We've never won this before, so it's enormous to us," said Plymouth coach Mary Kerwin, when asked the significance of her team's accomplishment. "It's a great victory for us. Canton and Salem are both talented, well-coached teams and whenever you can beat two talented, well-coached teams, it's going to put a smile on your face."

Kerwin said her runners were inspired by several former Wildcat runners who graduated this past sum-

"Some of our graduated seniors from last year's team sent e-mails to everybody on this year's team that said, 'You have to win it for all of the runners who went before you," Kerwin revealed. "That meant a lot to the girls and a lot to me because I've coached them all before.

"Some people kind of downplay the City Meet, but it was everything it was meant to be to the 22 girls on my

Only a sophomore, Hahn posted a sensational first-place time of 19:57. The sub-20-minute clocking was impressive not only because the season is still young, but because the Cass-Benton course is "one of the toughest in the state," according to Kerwin.

"That's a tremendous time on this course and Kelly is a tremendous runner," said Kerwin. "We had a game plan before the meet started and we knew who we had to be in front of to win the race and the girls did that and them some."

'My hat's off to Plymouth," said Salem coach Dave Gerlach. "They deserve it. Mary has a very solid team and a great program. Those kids work very hard and they're a true team. Salem cross country foes feeling blue after Rocks cruise to City Meet title

The color of the sky for Thursday afternoon's PCEP boys cross country City Meet at Cass-Benton Park in Northville matched the color of the final meet standings - Salem blue.

The Rocks placed nine runners in the top 11 spots to post an incredibly low 18 points, 27 fewer than runner-up and defending champ Plymouth (45) and 76 fewer than third-place Canton's 94.

Senior captain Kevin deBear crossed the line first in 16:36, 14 seconds faster than teammate Rob Curtis. Plymouth's Justin Huey finished third in 17:10, just ahead of a convoy of five more Rocks: Craig Cowing (17:26), Erik Volstromer (17:42), Alex Volstromer (17:52), Jason Smith (18:05) and Justin Kane (18:07).

(18:17) and Salem's Jared Jones (18:23) rounded out the top 10. "Canton d varsity guys and (Plymouth coach) Lee (Shaw) said that he was short a couple of guys, so that takes some of the luster off winning today," said Salem coach Geoff Baker. "But with the way this week has been going, we were just glad to be able to race on a beautiful day."

Baker said he was as impressed with how some of his middle-of-the-pack runners performed as he was by deBear and the other consistently top-of-the-standings runners.

"As a coach, I'm looking at our overall team - from 1 to 26," he said. "They're still dropping time each week.

"I'm very happy with the way Kevin and Rob ran. Craig (Cowing) had a good run today, too. Now I'm looking for the guys from four to 12 to push up and close the gap that separates them from the top three." Baker admitted the days of the City Meet may be numbered.

"I went over to the Livonia City Meet on Tuesday and they take it very seriously," said Baker. "If all three schools goes at it the same way and focuses on it as an important event, than that's what it will be. But there always seems to be a bigger and better meet coming up that forces one or two of the teams to not take it as seriously as other teams."

Plymouth coach Lee Shaw said his team's City Meet title defense was disappointing.

"We didn't run with enough heart," Shaw said. The Wildcats were without the services one of their top runners, Derek Lax. Canton's top finishers were Anton Schaurts, who placed 21st with a time of 19:33; and Paul Rakovitis, who was 22nd in 19:35. The Chiefs' varsity runners were rested so that they would be fresh for Saturday's Ludington Invitational, a meet that regularly attracts several of the state's top teams.

Pats shock Wayne with late TD

Livonia Franklin football still has a pulse.

The Patriots, winless in their first three starts, earned their first victory of the season Friday night with a heartstopping 21-18 win at Wayne Memorial. Lanky wide receiver Israel Woolfork, a 6-foot-4 senior, pulled in a jump-ball pass in the end zone over a Wayne defender from senior quarterback Jesse Carpenter with only 11 seconds remaining to give the Patriots (1-3, 1-1) the WLAA-Western Division triumph. The touchdown play covered 36 yards.

The game-winning TD came as a result of a nine-play, 35yard drive where Carpenter completed 5-of-9 passes.

Wayne (2-2, 1-1) seemingly had the game in hand when Antwain Calloway took a bubble-screen pass from D.J. Freeman and raced into the end zone from 44 yards out with only 1:35 remaining to push the Zebras on top, 18-12

"We finally played with some heart and overcame some adversity that we haven't been able to overcome before," said Franklin coach Chris Kelbert, whose team won despite five turnovers (two interceptions and three fumbles lost).

Wayne got off to a roaring start, scoring on its first two possessions - D.J. Freeman on a 4-yard run followed by Anthony Baskin's 40-yard TD

Carpenter, who was 14-of-25 for 225 yards, then tossed the first of his three TD passes, a 19-yarder to Mark McRobb. He later hit Brian Humenay on a 17-yard scoring strike just before the half to push the Patriots ahead, 14-12 (following Carpenter's two extra points).

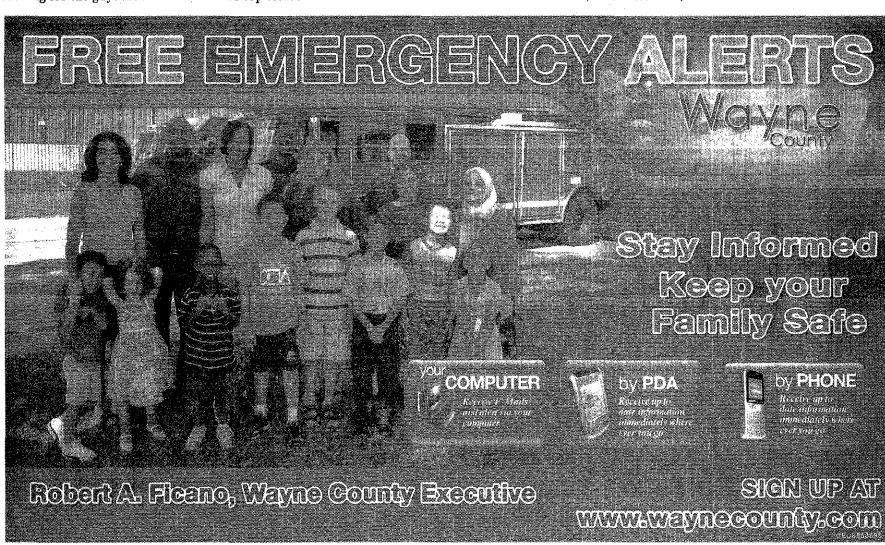

The score remained that way until the final quarter.

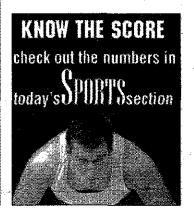

'We played good team defense," Kelbert said. "Our defense played very well after we gave up 12 points in the first quarter. We shut them down until the fourth quarter. We also got a key interception in the end zone from Israel (Woolfork) to stop a (Wayne) drive before they scored."

Franklin, despite five turnovers, had 373 yards in total offense to Wayne's 291.

Woolfork had four catches for 114 yards, while Humenay added five catches for 92 yards.

McRobb rushed for 65 yards on 13 carries, while D.J. Freeman led Wayne with 110 yards on 11 attempts. Freeman was 6-of-15 from 119 yards and one interception. Calloway added three catches for 88 yards.

hard to come back when you get in a 14-0 hole like we did. We played like we were young and inexperienced because we are young and inexperienced.

"Plymouth didn't make any mistakes as far as turning the ball over. And despite the turnovers we made, the kids still came back and almost got it. We probably didn't deserve to win, but the kids came back and almost made it happen."

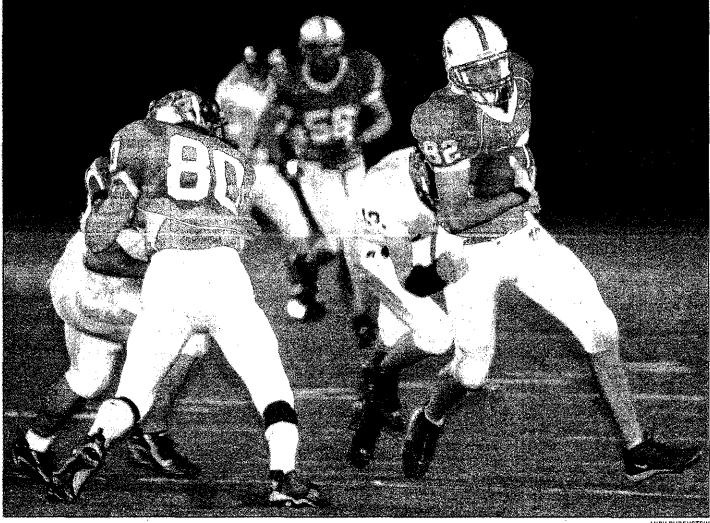

Senior running back Myron Puryear was the offensive spark plug for the Wildcats, picking up 116 yards on 13 carries. Puryear's 56-yard touchdown sprint with 9:46 left may have been the most-significant play in a game filled with significant plays.

"That run was huge," said Sawchuk, referring to the Puryear scoring gallop that increased his team's lead to 22-13. "Myron was a little bit quicker tonight than our other running backs and he was hitting the holes a little harder. When we went out for our last drive, I told coach (Kurt) Britnell to make sure Myron was out there."

The Chiefs owned the first quarter. Canton drove the ball 73 yards to the Plymouth 1 on its game-opening drive before getting stuffed just short of the goal line on a fourth-down play. Following a Plymouth punt the Chiefs drove to the Plymouth 21, but came up empty again when Daniel Stoney's 38-yard field missed wide left.

Plymouth was unable to move the ball on its next drive, but the Wildcats gained some momentum when they recovered a punt near mid-field on the ensuing punt. Four minutes later, senior quarterback C.J. Gregory connected with senior receiver Mike Hanchett on a 13-yard scoring pass to put Plymouth up, 6-0. Mike Korona added the point after to make it 7-0.

The Wildcats doubled their lead to 14-0 with 2:21 remaining in the first half when Puryear burst in from two vards out. The TD was set up three plays earlier when Michael Rose blocked a Canton punt and Plymouth recovered at the Chief 17.

The Chiefs came out storming in the second half and scored on their first drive when senior quarterback Adam Powers powered in from the 1. The center-to-holder exchange was botched on the extra point leaving the score at 14-6. Senior fullback Jordan Raiford set up the score with a 23-yard run on third-and-18 three plays earlier.

Plymouth defense made it a two-possession game when they pinned a Chief running back in the end zone. The safety made it 16-6 with 3:52 remaining in the third quarter. Undeterred, Canton cut its deficit to 16-13 three minutes later with a 33-yard TD strike from Powers to junior running back David Wilcox and Stoney's extra point. Puryear's dazzling 56-yard, cut-back run made it 22-13 before Wilcox plunged into the end zone from one yard out to make it 22-20 with 4:51 left.

Plymouth fumbled the ensuing kickoff, causing a 20player scrum at the Wildcat 25-yard line. When the pile of players was separated, a Wildcat secured the ball.

Canton regained possession of the ball with 1:55 left at its own 28. Sparked by a 28-yard Powers-to-William Tidwell hook-up, the Chiefs advanced to the Plymouth 40, but on second-and-10. Wallath wrapped up Powers, who threw the ball away to avoid the sack, drawing an intentional grounding penalty.

Raiford then rumbled eight yards, setting up a fourth-and 12 from the Plymouth 42.

Plymouth junior defensive end Ronnie Goble ended the potential game-winning drive when he sacked Powers for a six-yard loss.

Gregory and Hanchett hooked up five times for 67 yards and a TD.

Junior Terrance Guthridge, the Wildcats' leading rusher heading into the contest, was held to 29 yards on nine car-

Raiford led Canton with 170 yards on seven attempts. Powers was 3-of-7 passing for 62 vards. He also ran for 82 yards on 13 runs.

The WLAA's Western Division is now up for grabs as Plymouth, Canton, Livonia Franklin and Wayne are all 1-1. Walled Lake Western took a 1-0 division mark into Saturday's game against 0-1 Northville.

Things will shake out a little next week as Canton travels to Western on Thursday while Plymouth will visit Franklin, which earned its first victory of the season Friday night against Wayne.

"I've seen Franklin on tape and they have to be the best 0-3 team I've ever seen," said Sawchuk. "We don't have any time to rest, that's for sure."

Whalers hold line on ticket prices | Salem soccer team

Families looking to stretch their entertainment budget should look at the Ontario Hockey League champion Plymouth Whalers. The Whalers – who have missed the playoffs just once in their 18year history - continue to hold down ticket prices this season while offering outstanding value and entertainment.

"It's been said for many years that Plymouth Whalers hockey is one of the best entertainment values you'll find in the Detroit Metropolitan area," said Rob Murphy, Compuware Arena and Plymouth Whalers Vice-President of Marketing. "Folks are going to get more than their money's worth when they come to watch the Whalers play."

The Whalers offer several ticket packages, starting with single-game tickets, which run at $14 for Center Ice Seating and $10 for Executive Reserved. The Whalers offer other ticket packages:

SEASON TICKETS - Season tickets for a 34-game home schedule start at $239. Included with season tickets is the Whalers' Never Waste a Ticket Policy. The policy is convenient for season ticket holders who may want to bring friends or relatives to a future game.

"Things come up when season ticket holders can't make it to every game," said Char Merckle, Compuware Arena Director of Ticket Sales. "If that's the case, then the season ticket holder lets us know when they can't make it and we'll supply the same amount of tickets for an upcoming game."

FAMILY VALUE PACKS - For $44, families receive four tickets, four hot-dogs, four Pepsi products and four game lineup cards. Additional tickets can be purchased for $11 each.

HAT TRICK PACKAGE - Pick any 3 games and get the homeopener (September 22, 2007) free. Center Ice Seating is $42 per seat and Executive Reserved is $30 per seat. Tickets must be purchased by September 21, 2007.

SANTA 6-PACK - Great stocking stuffer for the hockey fan. Attend 6 selected Whalers games after Christmas and save! Center Ice Seating is $72 per seat, while Executive Reserved is $48 per seat. Tickets must be purchased by January 4, 2008.

HANGIN' 10-PACK -Pick any 10 games, dude, and catch the wave! Center Ice Seating runs $120 per seat, while Executive Reserved is $80 per seat. Tickets must be purchased by January 25, 2008.

GROUP TICKETS - Bring out your church group, scout pack, school, club members or just get some of your friends together for a great night at Compuware Arena. Group packages start with 20 people or more. Groups of 20-99 receive $2 off an Executive Reserved ticket. Groups of 100 or more receive $3 off an Executive Reserved ticket.

FUNDRAISING - The Whalers offer a host of fundraising opportunities for hockey teams, school and church groups, charitable groups and anyone looking to work a fundraiser. Call Karyl Eckerle at (734) 453-8400 to find out how fundraising during a Whalers game can be fun while helping your cause.

Plymouth's home opener is Saturday, September 22 at 7:05 p.m. against the Erie Otters at the Compuware Sports Arena. The Whalers will raise their OHL championship banner before the start of the game. The Salem soccer team's victory over Walled Lake Northern Monday night must have lit the Rocks' fuse because they've been playing like dy-nomite ever since.

After failing to register a victory in its first nine games, Salem has gone 3-0 thanks to a 3-0 victory over Livonia Churchill on Thursday and Wednesday's 6-0 drubbing of Westland John Glenn.

The Rocks now stand 3-2-7 (3-1 in the WLAA's Lakes Division) heading into a critical series of games next week.

"We certainly had a very good week, led by our defense," said Salem coach Ed McCarthy, in the wake of Thursday's triumph over the Chargers, who entered the match ranked No. 8 in Division 1. "We've only given up one goal in our last six games now so we're definitely playing better overall in the back. Hopefully, we can carry this momentum into next week."

Beginning Monday, the Rocks open a five-day stretch during which they play Churchill, Livonia Stevenson (Wednesday) and Canton (Friday). The showdown against the unbeaten Spartans will go a long way toward determining the Lakes Division champion.

Juniors Josh Pascarella and Jace Bearden were the heroes in Thursday's decisive win over the Chargers. Pascarella tallied all three goals, the first two of which were assisted by

"On Josh's first goal, Jace dribbled through the box and drew a lot of defenders to him," said McCarthy. "If Josh wouldn't have tucked the ball in the goal, Jace's ball probably would have gone in anyway.

"On the second won, Jace made a great cross, their goalie came out to get the ball but missed it and Josh put it in."

Pascarella's second net-finder gave the Rocks a 2-0 halftime advantage. His third, with just over three minutes left in the game, was assisted by Dan Radosevich.

McCarthy praised the play of defenders Kevin Cope and Scott Dreaver, and senior goalkeeper Sasa Miskovic.

"Ŝasa's been very good lately," said McCarthy. "He's playing as well as any keeper in the state." Sophomore forward Alex Tramel recorded three goals and an assist in Wednesday's rout of the Rockets. Pascarella netted a pair of goals and an assist while junior Matt Woster notched a goal and an assist. Nick Schreiber, Mohammed Pourmandi and Cope also had assists.

Salem led just 1-0 at the break before pouring in five second-half goals.

"We didn't chance anything at the half, but we talked about the importance of winning since it was a division game," said McCarthy. "We certainly didn't want to let it slip away so the guys got re-motivated and we wore them down a little in the second half."

Agape kickers suffer first loss

The Canton Agape boys soccer team suffered its first setback of the season Thursday, 4-1, to Macomb Christian. The loss dropped the Wolverines' record to 5-1 overall and 1-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference's Red Division.

"I thought the boys played hard," said Agape coach Dan DeWitt, "We just got beat by a better team.

Brandon Pierson staked Agape to a 1-0 advantage mid-way through the first half with a goal that was assisted by Donald Mullett. Macomb netted the gametying goal 10 minutes before halftime before tallying three second-half net-finders. Garrett Daniels led the winners' offensive assault with a pair of goals. Josh Tally an Jimmy Vanderaa also scored for Macomb.

Joel Ruffin took the loss in goal for Agape.

"Joel made some outstanding saves for us today," said DeWitt.

AGAPE 4, CALVARY 3: On Tuesday, the Wolverines overcame a 3-2 halftime deficit to register a stirring victory. Mark Mullett notched the game-winning goal off an assist from his brother, Donald. "This was a pretty impressive win for us," said Agape coach Dan DeWitt. "I back and forth all the way." Brandon Pierson netted the Wolverines' first two goals. Mark Mullett and Landon Cook assisted on the goals.

Donald Mullett knotted the game at 3-all before his brother, Mark, won it a few minutes later.

Senior net-minder Jared Miller was solid between the pipes. Miller stopped 17 Calvary shots on the way to earning his fifth victory of the season.

Sam Apple and John Wiedman scored for Calvary.

Get involved to make friends in new town

If you are moving to another city and you are leaving all your friends, what is the best way to make new friends?

Stranger in A Strange Town Garden City

Moving away from your hometown can be one of the hardest things a teen has to do. At this stage of your life, fitting in tends to be the most important goal in your life. A new city with new people makes that very hard to do. But, you can make new friends and fit in to your new city with a little bit of courage.

You might want to get involved in after-school clubs that you're interested in or join a sport that you like.

That's the quickest way to meet new people. By being in a group with other people who like the same things you do, you're more likely to find a group of people you can eventually call friends. If you're not really the type that likes to join groups like that, make an effort to say "Hello" to at least one new person each day. Make eye contact, smile, and say "Hi!"

Or, if you've noticed that you and another person have two different classes together, try to talk to that person about assignments or due dates. Sometimes small talk can break the ice and make everyone feel more comfortable. Leaving everything you know and love behind is very hard. But, don't let your sadness get in the way of finding a new group of friends. A bend in the road is very exciting ... you never know what you'll find.

Ever since I started driving, my parents call me nonstop on my cell phone ... even when they know I'm driving! Why do my parents worry so much? Smothered in Garden City

Have you seen the news lately? It seems that something awful is happening to kids your age everyday. Between fatal car accidents, kidnappings, assaults, drug overdoses and mysterious disappearances, I don't know how parents of teens get any sleep at all these days! Your parents worry because they love you and they don't want anything bad to happen to you. However, your parents might be worrying so much about you because they don't trust you. And a arent not trusting their kid usually happe because the kid did something to lose that trust. If that's the case here, you're going to need to earn your parents' trust.

How do you do that? By following their rules about driving! Be in by their curfew, don't go anywhere besides where you said you'd be, don't have passengers in your car unless your parents know about it, and don't lie about what you did while you were out. However, talking on your cell phone while you're driving is very dangerous! You and your parents should sit down and decide how to handle this dilemma. I suggest that if they insist on calling you when they know you are behind the wheel, tell them you'll pull over and stop the car before answering the phone.

My boyfriend has a different second hour class than me and he has some close friends in that class that happen to be girls. I know them, but not too well. A good friend of mine is in my boyfriend's second hour class and she told me that one of the girls flirts with him and likes him a whole bunch. The very next day, I saw pictures of this girl and my boyfriend together! My boyfriend says there's nothing going on and I want to believe him, but now this girl wants to fight me because my boyfriend won't talk to her anymore. It's so confusing but I don't know what to do!

Desperately Confused in Garden City Wow! I'm sensing that you're not sure if you're right to believe your boyfriend that nothing is going on with this girl ... it's hard to ignore pictures along with your good friend giving you some inside information. But, bits and pieces of a puzzle don't always give you the whole picture. You need to

Theater professor captures excitement of Shakespeare in new book

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Jim Hartman hopes his new book is as well-received as the Shakespeare plays he edited then directed over the last decade. All five were a hit with audiences at Schoolcraft College.

Hartman began editing the plays 12 years ago so modern audiences could comprehend the dialogue. The new book, although written for actors and directors, brings the excitement of the plays to audiences of all ages.

On Wednesday, Sept. 19, Hartman signs copies of An Actor's Edition of Shakespeare Revisited at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Hartman guest directed his first play on the campus in 1982. By 1987 he was teaching theater full-time and this past spring celebrated his 50th production do another one.'

Next came The Merchant of Venice then Titus Andronicus, Othello, and Measure for Measure.

"It was the audience that kept me going, the response from the audience and students," said Hartman. "Measure for Measure turned out to be the 50th production I directed and produced at Schoolcraft College. We closed the 2006-2007 season with a disco version which went over very well. But even when editing Measure for Measure I never thought of it as a book until Dr. Jeffress asked me what I did with the plays after they were done."

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, September 16, 2007

Conway Jeffress, Schoolcraft College's president, inspired Hartman to turn the edited versions of the plays into a book. Hartman had no problem finding a publisher last fall, but was unable to work on the book until the school year ended in May. During productions it's not unusual for Hartman to work 12-hour days between teaching and directing theater. From the first of May through June he was busy 7 days a week working on the book and writing the introduction.

"I love doing the theater," said Hartman. "I have seen so many students grow. Some of my students are doing professional work. One was in an episode of House (the television program). Others have performed at Meadow Brook and Purple Rose theaters."

Hartman edited the plays originally to introduce his students to Shakespeare. He plans to use the book in five different classes at Schoolcraft College including acting and introduction to theater. He says, smaller companies such as community theaters could use the book as well as he lists 2-3 roles that could be performed by one actor for plays with large casts.

"If an actor is trained to speak Shakespeare, an actor can take almost any play and have success with it," said Hartman. "I took the plays and broke them into beats. From bar to bar is a beat or unit. (Constantin) Stanislavski (the legendary theater director) refers to them as a unit of action. My definition is every time the topic of discussion changes. Actors and directors can work with that pretty well.

"Shakespeare uses a lot of pronouns. I replaced them with nouns. Lengthy sentences I broke into two to three sentences and replaced some of the words with words people would understand. There are no foot notes or side notes. I incorporate the footnotes into the line of dialogue."

The theater professor assures Shakespeare purists that content remains the same.

"I make the plays more accessible without making the language modern. It's still very Shakespeare," said Hartman of the book that came out the first week of August.

"Besides my students who should read the book? Just the average person who never had much success with understanding Shakespeare. They will enjoy the characters and plots which are so exciting," said Hartman. "The academic community, professors of theater and English would find it useful. It's an academic work."

Hartman does depart from traditional Shakespeare this fall to kick off the 2007-2008 theater season on Oct. 19, with Shakespeare in Hollywood, Ken Ludwig's hilarious comedy about Puck and Oberon, two of the Bard's fairies. The production runs as dinner theater Friday-Saturday, Oct. 19-20, and Oct. 26-27, and as performance only Friday-Saturday, Nov. 2-3. Tickets are $24 (dinner theater), $12 performance only. Call (734) 462-4596.

animals for sometime. It seems that once Mary learns an animal is having trouble finding a home, she takes them in. Mary works for the Dearborn Family Pet Care which frequently treats dogs and cats for the Dearborn Animal Shelter. She heard about Isabelle through one of her friends who works in another animal hospital. The couple had just lost Maci, a boxer they rescued only to discover she had cancer. Maci died in January.

"Isabelle came from a breeder who noticed she acted differently," said Mary Fischer. "She watched what her siblings would do. Being familiar with the breed they knew white boxers could be deaf. They took her to a neurologist who measured her brain waves in regard to sound. White is a recessed gene and not accepted in the show ring so breeders would destroy them at birth, but breeders started realizing people are interested in them just as pets.

"Isabelle's breeder struggled with what to do. She had three family dogs already. With a deaf dog you do have to be aware. In a pack situation she can't hear a warning growl. They decided to put the word out they were looking for the right home."

Twenty years had gone by since Mary had a puppy. She admits she forgot the training "it takes to have a wonderful mature dog." Mary's first dog went deaf at age 15 so she had two years to work out a system of communication. She says, "maybe she had a false sense of training a deaf dog."

"She's still a puppy and going to get excited," said Mary. "We've been working with American Sign Language and the basics of dog training like not allowing your four-legged friend to cross the threshold before you do. That would establish her as alpha or leader of the pack. In the beginning we were using food as reward, but after a point that didn't work. We got her to acknowledge the laser pointer. She would touch it with her nose and we would give her a treat."

Mark started using the thumbs up sign as praise.

At the back door a motion sensor in the shape of a pig alerts them to when Isabelle wants to "Everything is training," said Mark Fischer who brags Isabelle already knows about 10 commands. "Every opportunity is a way to train her. From the beginning she proved to be a good student.

Isabelle does have moments that test their patience.

A behavioral specialist came into their home to give them some tips for establishing their dominance.

Mary and Mark work different shifts so Isabelle is never alone for more than 4-5 hours a day, but already she knows how to unlock her crate.

They also worry that she could accidentally run out the front door and into the street so they're considering an Invisible

"We use the squirt bottle when she gets too rough with the cats," said Mary. "Language has a huge effect when training a dog, the inflection, but she does read your face so I give her the Mom look."

In spite of all her shenanigans, Mary and Mark never regret adopting the puppy with special needs.

Today, Isabelle goes with them everywhere.

"We go to the Farmers" Markets in Plymouth, Northville," said Mary. "We used to live in Plymouth and still take her to downtown Plymouth a lot. Mark's sister meets us with her dog and we go for ice cream.

"It's rewarding because I feel she's just as much a part of my family as any animal has ever been and when I think about what could have happened to "The most rewarding aspect is we're able to take a dog that's a throwaway dog and give her a home," added Mark. "When we adopted her we brought home books and would like to train her for search and rescue. There's a lot of pride that goes with training this animal, something not a lot of folks would do."

VITAS is about life, some of the most important moments of life.

Most people say that if they had a choice, they'd want to be at home when they die.

But when the time comes, it can be frightening. For the patient. For the family.

Our VITAS nurse prepared all of us for the inevitable. We knew what to expect.

VITAS kept my brother comfortable. The hospice team was there for us; they were incredibly supportive.

Thanks to something they call Continuous Care, we had someone from VITAS with us nearly round the clock.

VITAS says one of the most important things they do is to be there with the family when a loved one dies.

I don't know how they do it. But I'll never forget it.

New series spotlights college's music program

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Donald Morelock is excited about the new music series at Schoolcraft College for a number of reasons not the least of which is the first concert features James Tocco, a pianist who's performed chamber music, recitals and as a soloist with orchestras throughout the world. Annually Tocco is responsible for presenting internationally acclaimed artists at the Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival.

On Friday, Sept. 28, local audiences will have the opportunity to hear Tocco as part of the outreach program of the college's music department. For the last 20 years, standing room only crowds filled the recital halls on campus for a noontime series under the artistic direction of Morelock. Then in 2003, the college opened the VisTaTech Center with a new 270-seat hall. In April of this year a community advisory committee, led by Morelock, decided to make use of the excellent acoustics. After filtering through hundreds of ideas, an evening series was developed. The concerts continue on Nov. 9, with the Avalon String Quartet. On April 18 violinist Yehonatan Berick performs, followed by Angela Cheng on May 9.

"We have done other recitals but never had anything in evenings for people," said Donald Morelock, chairman of the music department. "It's a chance to hear internationally acclaimed artists and to meet with the artist afterwards. Three out of the four performers on the series have appeared at Schoolcraft before and had said they're eager to come back.

Internationally known planist James Tocco performs the first concert in a new music series at Schoolcraft College.

It's a big compliment."

Over the years, Schoolcraft College's music department has earned a reputation for providing quality instruction especially for piano. Morelock partners with conservatories from Paris to Russia and Juilliard Music School in New York City to prepare students as young as age 6 for careers as performers. Every summer an intense piano program allows piano students to play with a professional ensemble.

"The series is one more dimension of the music program," said Morelock who's taught at the college since 1967. "We've taken 10 trips to Russia with students (for piano studies). We started a professional piano teacher's certificate program. There's a need for us to get new ideas. It's actually a reasonable ticket price for outstanding performers."

Morelock is well known in the music community so he is able to barter with the artists. Grants money from the Schoolcraft College Foundation and donations from private individuals together with Morelock's connections make it possible to bring pianists such as Tocco and Cheng to the series. Cheng's usual fee is

Gail and Ira Mondry made it possible to feature Tocco on Sept. 28. The couple supports the music program for a number of reasons including the fact their son Nathan, 16 studies with Morelock so when the opportunity arose to bid on a performance by Tocco, they thought of Schoolcraft College as a recipient. Ira and Gail have served on the board of the Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival about 10 years and developed a relationship with Tocco.

Proceeds from the auction item went to the Great Lakes Chamber Music Festival.

'We really believe in the arts in bringing the community together," said Gail Mondry who teaches at Center for Yoga in West Bloomfield, "We saw a potential connection for Great Lakes because they can bring some of their concerts to Schoolcraft and broaden the whole suburban potential." Marty Heator is just as excited about the partnerships that could form as a result of presenting the series.

"What's most exciting is it's people from the arts community coming to Schoolcraft with a desire to partner with us," said Marty Heator, the college's a way of drawing attention marketing director. "There are local groups who need performance space and Schoolcraft would be ideal for what they're trying to accomplish. With the VisTaTech center, you can do an educational program along with performances. They're starting to see what Schoolcraft can do for them and what they can do for us.

"The work Don does with his students during the year and at the summer piano academy, it's impossible to measure that impact. He's sending students out to universities. They're winning major competitions in Europe. He's known nationally and internationally. Another reason the series is good is to show we have teachers and students doing things on a national and international level. It's to this right here in your own backyard."

John Walsh couldn't agree more about the importance of the series in spotlighting Schoolcraft College.

"Music is a very important program for us. Although small, it is a notable program," said John Walsh, executive director of development and government relations and the foundation board. "We have outstanding professors. "Don is known as a professor and pianist himself. He has his own notoriety and using that to bring some notable performers to Schoolcraft. The series brings in 250 plus citizens from our community for a glimpse of something most people wouldn't expect from a community college."

If you're really thinking that he is actually going out with her, take a good long look at your relationship. Has the tone of the relationship changed lately? Does he seem more distant than usual? Do you sense that his feelings toward you have changed? Have you both stopped having fun when you go out? These types of questions are the ones you should be asking yourself and looking for honest answers to. In the end, it doesn't really matter if this girl likes him or not ... if he wants to be with, he's going to be with you!

Make donation, save on latest fashion trends

For those looking to update their wardrobe with the essentials for fall fashion there is no better time than the Goodwill Sale at Parisian in Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh, Livonia.

Parisian and Goodwill Industries are partnering again for their semi-annual sale. Until Sept. 24, customers who donate clean, gently-used clothing and home textiles at participating locations will receive coupons toward the purchase of new merchandise. Parisian customers can use this opportunity to clean out their closets and donate their gently used clothing, shoes and accessories while they save on the season's hottest trends like trapeze jackets, wide-leg pants, knit sweaters, boots and sheer cosmetics.

One coupon is given per item donated. To save on the hottest styles for fall, customers can drop off donations at all Parisian stores, or at participating Goodwill stores and donation centers and receive a 20-percent off apparel and cosmetics coupon, with minimal exclusions, for each donated item. The donated clothing and textiles will be sold in local Goodwill retail stores. Revenues will be used to fund job training and career services for people with disabilities, welfare recipients and other job seekers.

Goodwill Industries International is a network of 184 independent, community-based organizations in the U.S., Canada, and 14 other countries. The nonprofit places someone in a job every 56 seconds of every business day. Visit the Web site at www. goodwill.org for more informa-

The popular retail trade-in promotion is a successful collaboration between Parisian and Goodwill. In 2006 alone, the semi-annual event generated more than 7.5 million pounds of donated merchandise. With this donation, Goodwill earned an estimated $10.5 million in revenues that were used to provide job training and career services to people in the community who are unemployed.

The following trends from Parisian are sure to become new fall favorites.

Trapeze, a-line and swing silhouettes are among the hottest trends this fall. Cropped jackets in these styles feature clean lines and angular shapes. This style is a great way to update a basic suit or dress pant with new proportions. The knit sweater dress and the sweater coat are two essential items to have this fall. Chunky, sweater-knit jumpers, cardigans and coats are great pieces to have for layering and for wearing on the weekday and weekend alike. Yoke necklines are popular in sweater dresses.

Watch for metallic and lurex threads in clothing and lots of shine in accessories. You'll see handbags and shoes in glossy patent leather with a pearlized sheen. Jewelry will have a strong metallic feel; look for bold statements in both silver and gold.

Shades and layers of grey will be a popular choice this fall and shades of dark charcoal, muted dove and ashy slate will be found in a variety of styles and fabrics. Berry tones will be a popular accent color in tops and accessories. Pinks, purples and berrytoned shades of red will be prominent this fall.

The hottest choice in pants is the wide-leg silhouette. The skinny, narrow pant will still be popular, but the wide-leg pant and jean is the freshest look for fall. Dark, wide-leg denim would be a wise investment for any fashionista.

This year, bows, ruffles, pleats, puffed sleeves and ruching update the blouse with touches of femininity. Beautiful paisleys, jacquards and geometric prints in jewel tones work to create a softer, more feminine look.

Layering continues to be a key trend for the office and for the weekend. The duet silhouette. which combines a ribbed sweater vest and a charmeuse or cotton blouse, looks fresh for Fall 2007.

Fall styles always lend themselves to menswear-inspired fashion and this year is no exception. Houndstooth, herringbone, glen plaids, pinstripes, tweeds and ticking patterns will be prevalent in women's clothing and especially in jackets and outerwear this fall.

The must-have shoe of the season is the boot. The newest look is the short bootie. Mid-shaft and tall-shaft boots are still a great choice for fall.

Angela Hospice offers grief support for children, teens

Losing a loved one is difficult at any age. When children and teens face the death of a significant person in their lives, they experience feelings of grief similar to adults, but their reactions are quite different depending on their developmental age. Young people often do not have the words or the understanding to express their feelings. Parents might also find it difficult to help their children understand the loss, especially if they are grieving as well.

That is why Angela Hospice provides its Children and Teen Grief Support Groups to help those dealing with the loss of a loved one.

These groups, presented will meet from 5-6:30 p.m.

"Children and teens hate to feel they are alone," said Sally Loughrin, an Angela Hospice social worker with years of experience in counseling grieving children. "Participating in a grief support group provides an avenue for them to be with others who have had similar losses as well as to have their uncomfort-

"We will do a lot in the group to help children learn to express the uncomfortable feelings of grief in a healthy way." said Loughrin.

The 8-week program will be held at the Angela Hospice Care Center on Newburgh, north of I-96 in Livonia. Each session begins with a light meal at 5 p.m.

While the children and teens are in their group sessions, parents and guardians will be invited to attend their own group on how to help their grieving children and teens.

Michigan Eye Doctor Helps Legally Blind

Dr. Sheldon Smith helps thoses with macular degeneration and other eye conditions keep reading and driving.

By Elena Lombardi
For most of us, activities like reading, knitting, driving or playing cards seem like simple tasks, but for those who don't see well, these tasks can be difficult or even impossible. People with visual limitations from conditions like glaucoma, diabetes, cataracts or macular degeneration are said to have low vision.

However for many of these people, Michigan Optometrist Dr. Sheldon Smith has the answers they have been seeking.

"People don't know that there are experienced doctors who can help them with specialized low vision care," says Dr. Smith.

Dr. Smith, a Low Vision Specialist, helps people who have lost vision from these types of eye diseases. A Fellow of the International Academy of Low Vision Specialists, Dr. Smith is one of a select group of doctors serving the visually impaired.

"Many people are told by their doctor that nothing more can be done for their eye condition, but there are ways to improve vision" says Dr. Smith. "We fit specially designed devices to help patients meet their personal visual goals."

Many patients seeking to help themselves wind up using weak, clumsy hand-held magnifiers. Conversely Dr. Smith prescribes hands-free devices that are easier to

"Mostly telescopic glasses focus on distance objects like TV, passing neighbors or scenery" the doctor said, "but they can be set up for closer tasks as well.

"They can even help with driving" the doctor explained. Michigan is one of 46 states that allow bioptic telescopic glasses for driving.

Mr. Charles Willim age 81 of Taylor MI came to get his driver license restored after macular degeneration reduced his vision to 20/70. Dr. Smith fit him with special driving telescopes that improved his vision to 20/40. A few weeks later Charles passed his road test and is now a licensed driver again. "Those telescopic glasses are pretty darn good" he said.

Buddy Standafer age 70 of Westland had diabetic eve problems. He came to reinstate his driver license and read better. His regular vision was 20/200 but with special driving telescopes he saw 20/50. Prismatic reading glasses got him reading newsprint. Two months later his license was restored. "Now I see the traffic lights much better. I am happy to be on the road again. I tell a lot of people about Dr. Smith" Buddy said.

Special prismatic reading glasses and microscopes are another way to help make reading a little easier. There are as many low vision devices as there are various activities. Dr. Smith also counsels his patients on using sun filters and nutritional supplements to safeguard the vision from getting worse.

Special glasses and telescopes range in price from $600 to $2,500.

"Every patient is unique, with different amounts of vision and individual goals," says Dr. Smith. "My objective is to help each patient do what matters most to them. Whatever the goal, I try to match it with a device to meet that need. People really improve their quality of life and independence." If you or someone you know is struggling to do the things they love because of severe vision problems, call Dr. Smith to find out how low vision care can help. There is help available. You just need to know where to find it. You can reach Dr. Smith and Suburban Low Vision of Michigan at 1-877-677-2020. Dr. Smith has offices in Livonia, Warren, Shelby Township and the Lansing you are not alone. A new study found more than 80-percent of American children who visit a doctor for help with sleep problems are given prescription medication. The big problem is no sleeping pills are currently approved for use in children. Experts are concerned that prescribing sleep medication is ignoring the bigger issue. They say children shouldn't have sleep problems. If they do there is an underlying issue such as stress, caffeine or a problem at home or school. They believe it is better to combat that issue first rather than turning to medication. Edward from Berkley e-mails saying he is having a hard time quitting smoking. He has tried everything. Do you have any suggestions?

Edward, when you feel that craving coming, get up and take a walk! According to 14 new studies, low intensity exercise like walking, bicycling, even stretching may be enough to curb a craving to smoke. Exercise may also reduce irritability, poor concentration and other withdrawal symptoms from quitting smoking. Researchers believe exercise curbs cravings because it reduces tension and increases the same moodenhancing brain chemicals that nicotine boosts. Studies also found exercise may be as effective if not better than oral nicotine replacement therapy. Nicotine gum can take about 10 minutes to kick in while a walk is immediate. You will also be getting a great workout which will help your whole body feel better.

If you have a health or fitness question you would like answered in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, email Peter through his Web site www. peternielsen.com. Contact him at Peter Nielsen's Training Club in West Bloomfield or Nielsen's Town Center Health Club in Southfield.

Early symptoms help diagnose ovarian cancer

nce considered a silent killer, ovarian cancer can now be detected earlier if women heed the warning signs and take action, says Dr. Vinay Malviya, chief of gynecology oncology at the Providence Hospital Cancer Center in Southfield.

Women shouldn't wait more than a few weeks to see a physician, preferably a gynecologist, if they experience the early symptoms of abdominal bloating, pain in the pelvis or abdomen, difficulty eating or feeling full quickly, urinary urgency or frequency. The American Cancer Society, The Gynecologic Cancer Foundation, and Society of Gynecologic Oncologists released the early warning signs in mid-June. Other warning signs such as indigestion, fatigue, back pain, constipation, pain with intercourse, and menstrual irregularities are not as helpful in diagnosing the deadly disease, according to the Ovarian Cancer National Alliance.

"It's basically being aware if something is not right. If you have unexplained symptoms, you need to seek medical attention right away before it gets out of hand. Treat your physician as sort of a partner in this entire situation. Convey to them you are not feeling well. Your abdomen is hurting, you're feeling very bloated," said Malviya, of Bloomfield Hills. "I would say, why don't you come in. A lot of times you're just blown away. The phone call comes to a nurse or screening individual at a physician's office. The importance is not on it and the doctor often does not hear about it. If I have a patient telling me she does not feel well and has many symptoms, if she has not been for an annual exam, she will be seen."

According to Malviya the average waiting period is 45 to 60 days for an annual gynecologic exam. The wait could mean the difference between life and death. The American Cancer Society estimates that in 2007, there will be about 22,430 cases of ovarian cancer diagnosed, and approximately 15,280 deaths from the disease in the U.S.

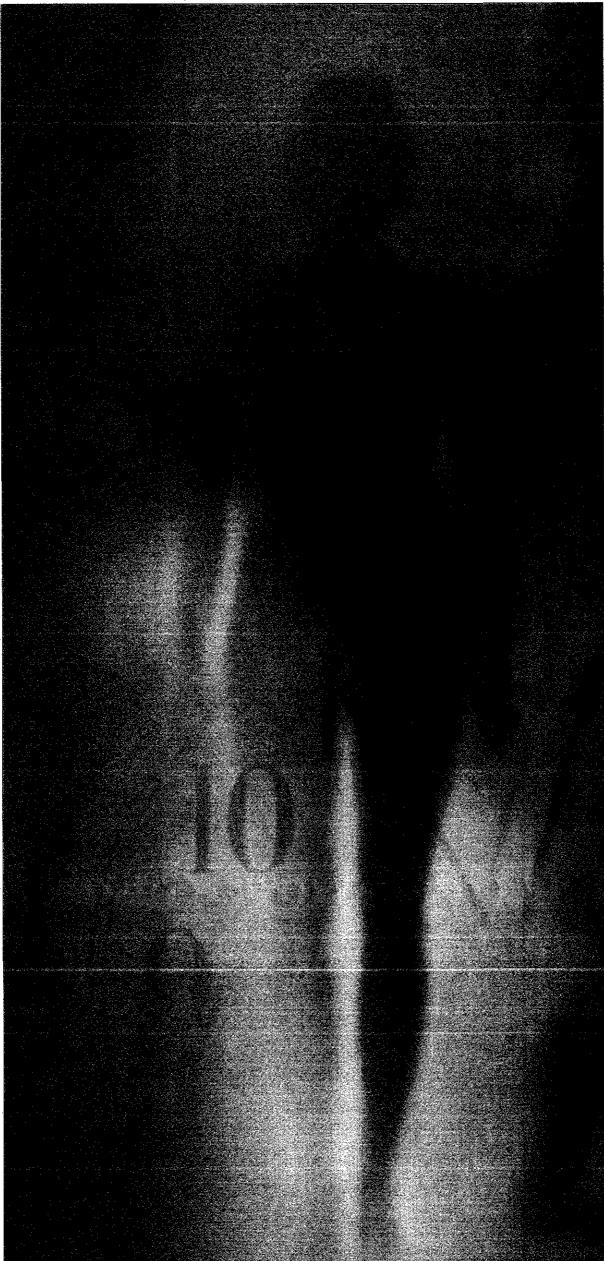

"The magnitude of the problem needs to be stressed. Physicians are getting more tuned to it. Women get screened out by family practitioners and ob/gyn first. Family practitioners are not given enough credit because they are the people we have to recruit in the fight against this di Malviya. "This is my biggest issue. The ob/gyns are catching on to it but family practitioners are not. I'm hoping they take it more seriously."

Progress has been made during the 25 years Malviya has treated patients. The Providence Hospital Cancer Center is involved with several clinical trials for ovarian cancer.

"I have more hope now than 10 years ago," said Malviya. "Survival rates have improved. Patients are living longer. For you that's a definition of survival, but for us five-year survival is not a cure but living with the disease. We used to think ovarian cancer means acuteness of the problem - they're either going to live or die. Patients are living longer with their disease. It's gone from acuteness to chronic. People are living longer with ovarian cancer but they may not be cured of their disease - 18 to 20 percent of women over the five-year survival have actually been cured of their disease. Many more are living with their disease.

OVARIAN

"Every person with cancer has an expectation of a cure. It's important for them not to lose hope if that expectation has not been attained."

Malviya is discouraged because there is still not a diagnostic test for ovarian cancer. High risk women may receive screening that includes transvaginal ultrasound and the CA 125 blood test on a regular basis although the benefits of these diagnostics are unproven at this time. That's why it's important to know the early warning signs. Malviya recommends women memorize these symptoms, and if a family history exists to undergo genetic testing.

"Nothing is diagnostic of this disease," said Malviya. "We're having a whole bunch of people asking us to have a CA 125 that may be elevated in only about 60 percent of ovarian malignancies. The message should be CA 125 is definitely not a diagnostic test for ovarian cancer, but helps us follow the disease."

Elaine Greenberg never suspected ovarian cancer when she was experiencing fatigue, stomach problems and nausea. After discovering blood in her urine, the Farmington Hills woman sought medical attention.

She still isn't sure what caused the bleeding. It might have been a medication she was taking, but the subsequent tests led to a diagnosis of ovarian cancer after Malviya performed a laparoscopic procedure. Greenberg was diagnosed with stage 3B. The ovarian cancer had spread to her diaphragm.

It has been seven years and eight months since she underwent a complete hysterectomy and six chemotherapy treatments. Although she has had no recurrences, the fear of one never goes away. But Greenberg isn't dwelling on the disease. Instead, she's trying to raise awareness about ovarian cancer. In May, she held a jazz concert to benefit the National Ovarian Cancer Coalition's education programs.

"I get phone calls from people in health profession who don't know about ovarian cancer symptoms," said Greenberg. "I had a call this week from a former nurse who is a survivor and knew nothing about symptoms:"

Women get help getting back to work

BY JULIE BROWN STAFF WRITER

The next Women To Work Program at JVS in Southfield will begin with an information meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 9-11 a.m. The sessions begin on the following Tuesday, Oct. 9, and run for 10 meetings on Tuesday and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon. The program is intended for women who are eager to return to the workforce as soon as possible. They may be unemployed for several years, may have worked only sporadically or been underemployed. The funding source is the Charter One Foundation.

Judy Richmond, Women To Work coordinator/employment specialist, said, "Obviously, it's a need within our community to assist people with an effective job search using specific strategies that lead to employment."

The back to work program has been done for over 20 years, and is not limited to women but the majority of participants are female. To register or for information, call Richmond at (248) 233-4232.

"Considering the economy, Michigan still has the highest unemployment rate in the country," she said of Women To Work, Women need to work for a variety of reasons, including finances.

"It's often for women who have been raising families," Richmond said. "We're very pleased with the number of participants, with the kinds of results, mostly with people finding employment. That's really the purpose of the program."

There's no charge thanks to Charter One Foundation. There are no geographic restrictions.

"We serve the entire metropolitan area," she said.

Focus: HOPE lauded for technology efforts

Focus: HOPE's Information Technologies Center (ITC) received a national award from the Computing Technology Industry Association (CompTIA) recently, recognizing its success in training, certifying and placing its students in technology careers. The Industry Best Practices Award was presented at CompTIA's Breakaway conference in Las Vegas, Nev.

"Focus: HOPE is delivering training and education solutions to its students that will insure their employability and success in the ever changing field of technology," said John Venator, president and chief executive officer, CompTIA. "More than 700 students have graduated from the program and are earning competitive wages in rewarding, professional careers. Focus: HOPE is at the forefront of efforts around the country to develop the steady stream of skilled technology workers needed to keep America competitive in the global, knowledge-based economy of the 21st century."

Focus: HOPE students have demonstrated success in passing the CompTIA A+ certification examinations. Since May 2006, the ITC has graduated 88 students from PC Technology and 90 percent are A+ certified. In three classes, each student passed the A+ certification. "I'm so proud of our students, instructors and staff for making this award possible," said Linda Hanks, manager of ITC. "We have high standards and our students and staff keep rising to meet those expectations."

Instructors Kimberly Wallace and Hermine Turner attended the conference and were excited to accept the award on behalf of Focus: HOPE. "This was unlike anything I've ever experienced," Wallace said. "I was so proud and surprised by how many people have heard of Focus: HOPE because of our successfully high rate of A+ certified students."

The ITC provides training in the areas of PC technology, network administration, and server administration. Students must have a high school diploma or GED to enroll. Upon graduation, students move into entry level positions with companies like Tech Team Global, Comcast, and EDS.

Information technology is one of three education programs offered by Focus:HOPE.

Oxbow 2 ideal design for newlyweds and empty nesters

The Oxbow 2 (405-21) is an ideal home for the young married couple just starting out or the parents whose children have all left home. It contains 1,236 square feet with a two-car garage. It has been designed to have the country look with a covered porch area that provides the entry with a great look. The garage area has one large door for the two cars. A corner area provides space for the water heater and

Landmark [* Designs MASTER SUITE LIVING BED 2 GARAGE MENSIONS: 42'-0" X 53'-0" the forced air unit. There is space along the back wall for a small workbench, if desired.

The door from the garage into the home accesses a large utility room containing the washer, the dryer, and shelves. There is ample room to have a table for folding clothes or for portable laundry baskets. The door from the utility room opens into the entry.

The dining room, off the entry to the right, has a large window that faces the front of the home and looks out onto the covered porch. The kitchen is in the corner next to the dining room. The appliances are placed around the walls in a semi-circle. The walk-in pantry is next to the refrigerator, handy for restocking shelves.

The two extra bedrooms are separated from the master bedroom by the living room. This allows privacy for the master bedroom as well as the other bedrooms. Each spare bedroom has a wall closet, and commonly share a bathroom located between the two. The doors from the bedrooms open next to the bathroom door. It contains a tub, toilet, and sink. It is also convenient to the living room for use by company or guests.

The living room is an open area that basically covers the center of the home. It has patio doors opening onto a deck in the rear. The master bedroom has corner windows for extra lighting. The bath area has a sink, toilet, and tub. There is a walk-in closet area off the bathroom, separated by a pocket door. This is a very well laid out plan using a minimal amount of square footage. It was designed to allow the growing family or the grandparents to have room to live comfortably.

For a study plan of the OXBOW 2 (405-21), send $15 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 or call (800) 562-1151. Be sure to specify plan name and number. Compact disks, with search functions are free of charge, to help you search our portfolio for your dream home ($5 shipping and handling will apply). Lincoln Navigator SUV gives us luxury to die for

Advertising Feature

By Wendy Clem Avanti NewsFeatures

There is something about getting into a vehicle bearing surface paint called White Chocolate to make you feel like you are lolling in a luxury dessert. And if that vehicle is the 2007 Lincoln Navigator Ultimate 4X4, you will know you are in the lap of luxury.

The Navigator also allocates names like Light French Silk and White Suede to its seven exterior color choices, and three interior finishes. One of the prettiest combinations is the White Chocolate exterior and Camel interior. Along with the blond accent (Anigre) wood and satin nickel touches, the leather seats are an award-winning match.

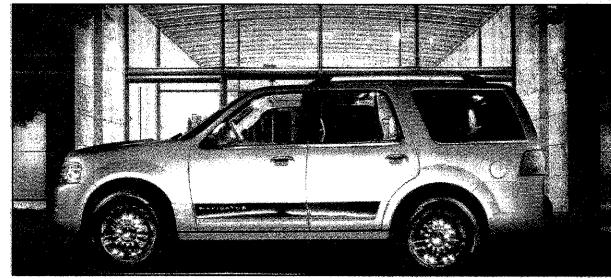

Wood grains are perfectly matched to provide a seamless effect inside.

I found it disconcerting to have cooled front seats - especially when they only service the legs and not the back. You will swear you are experiencing circulation issues and find yourself reaching for the off button. Fortunately, the heated seat option isn't as tough to get used to.

The 10-way power front seats are comfortably sumptuous, and are meant to adjust to a variety of heights and weights - from someone 4-foot-10 to 6foot- 5, and 90-pound to 300-pound passengers. Features like the dual-zone auto climate control and rear auxiliary climate control add to the leisurely atmosphere, and now deliver it in one-third the time as previous models did. The beautifully appointed instrument panel and power moonroof lend an additional aura of light and function.

Soft white artificial light contributes to the feel of classic surroundings, and assorted bits of chrome and black provide richness and depth in the basically monochrome interior.

The optional power deploying running boards, activated with door entry, are improved with the 2007 for better concealment - and are necessary for climbing up into this bigger-than-average presence on the road. A definite clumsy aspect, however, is in trying to gain access to the third seat. This feat is hard to arrange, making it surely not accessible for adults lumbering into the back of the vehicle.

The 2007 Lincoln Navigator offers exterior finishes that resemble rich desserts, like White Chocolate, and envelops riders in unparalleled plushness, quiet and leather and wood interior, while still delivering power and towing strength with its 5.4-liter V8 engine.

Despite its PowerFold third-row seat for cargo allowance, if it is nearly impossible for even children to climb into gracefully, what is the point in having a third-passenger row?

One improvement with the 2007 model is the added 25 cubic feet of cargo space. The power liftgate also is Power on the roads makes the Navigator a truck to reckon with. Sporting a 5.4-liter V8 engine, it provides 300 horsepower and 365 foot pounds of torque. Grrr! That's a lot.

The all-new frame can be credited for the excellence in ride and handling, in conjunction with the independent suspension. Added to the acoustic windshield are thicker glass to make this Lincoln's improved interior quieter than ever before.

Some of the Navigator's safety features include standard side air curtains in all three rows, a thorax side air bag in the first row, lower anchors and tethers, a tire press monitoring system, Securilock anti-theft system and advance traction.

Functional extras include multi-link rear suspension, 4-wheel disc brakes with ABS and poweradjustable pedals with memory function.

The reverse sensing system is also especially appreciated when handling this large vehicle, and you will be glad you have it.

A voice-activated, DVD-based navigation system offers a 6.5-inch touch- screen that brings clarity and incorporates text-to-speech technology that reads and communicates directions and street names in three languages.

The best-in-class 600-watt audio system has a six-disc CD changer with 14 speakers. A power amplifier is situated behind the center stack, while a strategically arranged center speaker provides powerful quality and clarity.

The rear passenger entertainment package has contained sound in its available larger 8-inch screen with two wireless headphones.

The 4x2 and 4x4 versions of the Navigator can both tow about 9,000 pounds of weight.

The Navigator can be yours for under $47,000, but there are a multitude of extras as the trims expand, or the options are added. Generally considered to be in the same category as the Cadillac Escalade or the Land Rover Range Rover, the Navigator competes ably by delivering a smooth and numerous amenities. If you like the strength of a heavy vehicle, to be surrounded in plushness, and making heads turn, the Navigator could be your ticket to ride.

We're a whole lot closer to home.

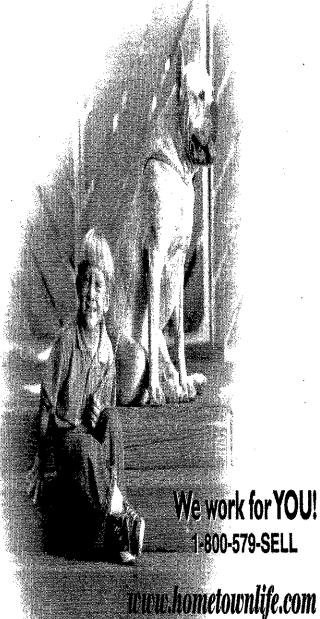

Families have found some of the best things in our hometown classifieds. Like this really great canoe in the Birmingham Eccentric or that great big, loveable old dog, in the Canton Observer.

Folks take time to look for that special item advertised by a neighbor who sold his cottage or the woman who can't have a dog in her new apartment. They spend time shopping our friendly classified marketplace.

So, if you have something you're not using, or if you're looking for an item and want to buy it close to home, pick up your Observer & Eccentric Classifieds and discover a marvelous multi-community marketplace!

Observer & Eccentric Classified Ads

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
