New Meijer store on planning agenda

BY TIFFANY L. PARKS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

One-stop shopping appears to be on its way to Michigan Avenue.

The Canton Planning Commission will have a public hearing Monday regarding a preliminary planned district development plan for a new Meijer store.

The Grand Rapids-based retailer is looking to open a new store on Michigan Avenue near Morton Taylor Road between Sheldon and Lilley.

"We are definitely in growth mode," said Meijer spokesman Frank Guglielmi, adding that the company will open nine new stores this year, five of which will be replacements for previously-opened locations.

Plans for the new, 156,000-square-foot Canton store call for one of the chain's newer design concepts and will include a drive-through pharmacy and a gas station.

Township Planner Angela Wolosiewicz said in addition to the Meijer store. the development has room for other commercial uses, including out lots. "There is a lot of availability for any number of things," she said.

If approved by the commission, the preliminary PDD will then go before the Township Board. If moved forward by the board, Meijer will then submit a final PDD request and site plans to the township.

Wolosiewicz said with the success of the Crossroads Village retail development at Michigan and Beck Roads, the township is anticipating the arrival of the Meijer-anchored center.

"A lot of people are pleased with the quality of the (new construction) on Michigan Avenue and we are trying to maintain that," she said.

Guglielmi said Meijer is as happy about the plans as the township but joked that their enthusiasm may pale in comparison to his.

"I'm excited for me," he laughed.

"The location is only a mile and a half way from my house.'

Guglielmi previously said the company hires anywhere from 300-400 employees in opening a new store. The 24-hour retailer has 182 stores in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky.

Teacher strike could be looming

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

With the start of a new school year just around the corner, more than 150 Wayne-Westland teachers and their supporters showed up at the Board of Education meeting Monday to raise awareness to failed contract negotiations with the district.

In what could be a harbinger of a strike, the teachers carried picket signs that read "Teachers deserve respect" and "All students deserve small class sizes."

The district's contract with the 858-member Wayne-Westland Education Association is due to expire on Aug. 25, a week before students are set to report for the new school year.

outside the district's Westland headquarters, Ruth Beier, an economist with the Michigan Education Association, made a presentation to the board, in which she analyzed the district's annual budgets and audits dating back to the 2003-04 school year. Beier said the district had "manufactured" a budget deficit in three of the last four years by moving millions of dollars out of its operations budget to pay for capital improvements to district facilities.

"My analysis is the district doesn't have a deficit if it doesn't want a deficit," said Beier, who

Leadership Canton covers all aspects of community

Applications are being accepted for the 2008-09 class of Leadership

The program, which will begin in October and end in May, was created in 1994 to educate participants about the inner workings of the Canton community. "Leadership Canton is an awesome opportunity to get to know the Canton community," said co-chair Deb Zevalkink. "We have had everyone from school superintendents to stay-at-home mothers, so it's a great networking opportunity, too." The program, a partnership between the township and the Canton Chamber of Commerce, features monthly sessions that focus on a certain area of the community such as Public Safety or the school system.

Chamber President Dianne Cojei graduated from Leadership Canton in 2001 and said she treasures the experi-

"I knew more about Canton in six months than I knew about Dearborn and I was there 17 years," she said. "Leadership Canton covers every single aspect of the community." Participation in the program, which graduates about 20 students in each class, costs $800.

Zevalkink said some $400 scholarships are available.

The 2007-08 class, which was responsible for the Pins on Parade display along Ford Road, came after a two-year hiatus for Leadership Canton.

Besides the outpouring of information for its students, Zevalkink said the program has provided "a group of leaders we can lean on when we need help."

At the end of the program, students will receive a plaque and acknowledgement from government officials.

Zevalkink said the deadline to register is Sept. 1.

Weaver steps down from Wayne-Westland school board

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

After weeks of speculation, Fred Weaver resigned from the Wayne-Westland Schools Board of Education Monday.

Weaver made the announcement many were expecting from him at the school board meeting Monday evening. The trustee, who is a pastor, made some brief comments at the start of the meeting, and resigned his post effective immediately.

Weaver, who was first elected in 2002 and then re-elected, said he had enjoyed his time on the board and serving the community.

Many were calling for Weaver to step down after it was learned that the former school board president had changed his primary residence to Midland earlier this year and was no longer a resident in the Wayne-Westland district. Previously Weaver said it was a mix-up that he was going to rectify. He had a change of heart and resigned Monday, however. District leaders, including Supt. Greg Baracy, said Weaver's departure was signifi-

Weaver

"The district owes a deep sense of gratitude to Fred Weaver," Baracy said.

"Over the years, we've gotten a chance to work closely with him. He always had the best interest of the students at heart. Every decision he ever made, he had the best interest of the students at heart. This must have been a hard decision for him to make. He's an honorable man."

Board President Martha Pitsenbarger said she was "sorry" Weaver had to resign.

"He will be missed. I will . miss him a lot," she said.

The Board of Education will select a replacement for Weaver to serve until the next board election in May 2009. According to Michigan law, the board has 30 days to find a replacement.

of the show's main organizers, there will be more than 400 classic ears and motorcycles at the event, including the original GTO Monkee Mobile from the TV show.

The event, which is free to the public, will also feature plenty of food and music, as well as door prizes and raffles. Some of the top prizes include dinners at local restaurants, a Placido Polancosigned Detroit Tigers jersey, and a trip to Las Vegas. Many local organizations, individuals and businesses have donated to make the event possible.

Alva said all proceeds will go toward nonmedical items for the VA hospital, including improving the facility's-dining.

"We want to make it a little more like home. A lot of these veterans who are there are going to end their life there, so we want to make it a little nicer for them," said Alva, who volunteers more than 30 hours per week at the facility. He said they would also like to use proceeds to get cable television in the facility, and to buy comfort items, such as soap and shaving supplies, for the veterans living there.

In addition, local Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 528 will be making "dog tags," and Lynn Dery from REMAX of Canton will be collecting "cell phones for soldiers" where each cell phone or accessory turned in becomes an hour calling card for one of the troops.

Beier said the district should be more concerned about having smaller class sizes and paying its teachers a good wage. She said Wayne-Westland ranks in the top third among Wayne County districts for number of pupils per teacher, but ranks in the bottom third in teacher salary.

Beier said she hoped her presentation would provide the Board of Education with an objective look at the district's finances. She said Supt. Greg Baracy and the administration were giving them a "skewed" financial picture.

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, August 21, 2008

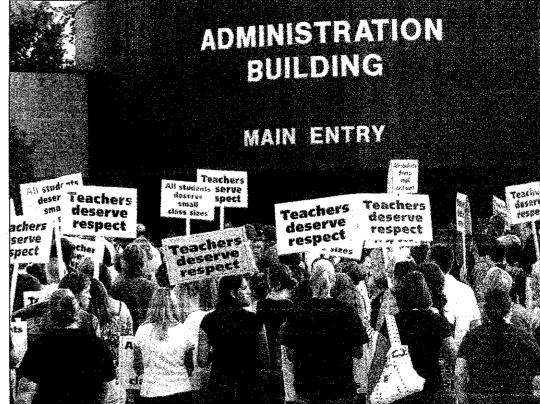

"The board doesn't get the whole picture. I came to give them the tools they need to see the whole picture. They'll see there's plenty of money to settle this contract," Beier said. "This is a political fight, not a monetary fight."

Baracy said his team and the board will "respectfully' examine Beier's report. However, he said the district and the teachers union are "light years apart" at the negotiation table, though he's hoping an agreement can be reached before the start of the school year on Sept. 2.

"I'm very hopeful that reasonable minds will prevail, and we'll get a contract that is satisfactory to both parties," said Baracy, who noted the district is anticipating a $5 million budget deficit for the new year.

Evelyn Baran, the executive director of the WWEA, said the teachers haven't had raises in several years, class sizes are too large, and district wants to take away the union's ability to negotiate health care benefits.

She said union members will meet Monday at Salem High School for an important vote to give the union's bargaining unit the authority to act on their behalf by whatever means necessary to get a contract resolution,

McCotter: Bush reaction to Georgia invasion 'inexcusable'

BY HUGH GALLAGHER OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Following a blistering e-mail message to fellow Republicans attacking President George Bush's plan to attend the Olympics in China, U.S. Rep. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, said Monday it was "inexcusable" that the Bush administration was "surprised" by Russia's invasion of Georgia.

"The West has failed to understand the collapse of Communism, for 70 years an atheistic, socialistic philosophy that ravished that country," McCotter said. "When they put shock therapy in place, they equated the decline in productivity, the decline in life expectancy to democracy and allowed (Russian Prime Minister and former President Vladimir) Putin to do exactly what he is doing, turning down an authoritarian path modeled on China."

said there is a link between the administration's "kid glove" policy toward China and the new aggression of Russia.

On Aug. 6, McCotter sent an e-mail complaining about Bush's trip to China at a time when Congress was engaged in a battle over a controversial energy bill. The e-mail called the Republican president "wildly unpopular." McCotter also criticized Democratic House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and the Democrats for adjourning the House session and not allow-

'Made in (communist) China' souvenir T-shirts: Bush went to Beijing and all I got was this lousy five-week, paid vacation," the e-mail read.

Republican House members have been taking turns meeting in the House chambers despite the adjournment.

BUSH SHOULD HAVE KNOWN.

On Monday, McCotter said the Bush administration and Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, an expert on the Soviet Union, should have known what was coming.

"I think their continuing emphasis on dialogue with Russia is exactly what Putin expected and is exactly what is helping them (the Russians) achieve their strategic objective which is to cow all the former Soviet republics and now democracies, not just Georgia but Ukraine," he said.

Russia has objected to plans to allow Georgia and Ukraine to become members of NATO. McCotter said it was important to "get Georgia and Ukraine into NATO" and make sure they have weapons to defend themselves.

Joseph Larkin, the Democratic candidate running against McCotter in this fall's election, said he found it "ironic" that McCotter is critical of Bush's policies.

"I find it funny because he has been a foot soldier for George Bush," Larkin said Tuesday. "I saw the e-mail where he called George Bush wildly unpopular, but he has been wildly supportive."

Larkin said he has long considered Putin a problem that needed closer watching as he moves his country back to a more autocratic form of government.

'Now due to Iraq, we don't have the moral authority to act against Putin," he said.

actions that Congress can and probably will take.

"The first step for Congress. and it should happen, is to invite the president of Georgia to speak to a joint session of Congress," he said. "It will show and affirm that at least the legislative branch is totally supportive of Georgian democracy."

McCotter said Bush's trip to China seems to lend support to the Chinese government and its repressive policies.

"The message he sent was exactly the opposite message he should have send to the Chinese or the Russians," McCotter said. "I can't imagine Harry Truman in a time of war, or Eisenhower, going to watch beach volleyball." McCotter said he didn't support boycotting the Olympics, citing Canton's Bronze medal swimmer Allison Schmidt as an example of an athlete who shouldn't be punished for political issues.

Larkin agreed that a boycott of the Olympics would have been a mistake. He said he didn't fault Bush for attending but for not returning immediately in the face of the situation in Georgia.

OUR VIEWS

Keep election out of the mud

With the primary election in the rear view mirror, it's obviously time to focus on the November general election.

In the past, that has been more a formality than a reality in Canton Township, because the Republican primary usually settles it, especially when it comes to the Board of Trustees. But this November, we have a Democrat (Syed Taj) and a Libertarian (Charlie Page) running for township trustee against four Republicans (John Anthony, Todd Caccamo, Pat Williams and Karl Zarbo) and one running for supervisor (David Marsh is taking on Republican Phil LaJoy).

There are also interesting races for the 20th District state House seat between Republican Jerry Vorva and Democrat incumbent Marc Corriveau, and the 21st District state House seat between Republican Todd LaJoy, Democrat Dian Slavens, and independent candidate Brian Cronan of Canton.

The District 11 Wayne County Commission seat is up for grabs between incumbent Democrat Kevin McNamara and Republican challenger Steve Johnson, while the non-partisan 35th District Court race is between Jim Plakas and Joe Barone.

Now that we've described the lineup, here's what we're hoping for: A clean playing field. This is especially the case after the primary election — at least in one race — descended into the mud and got pretty nasty. Candidates that use dirty tactics really do an injustice to voters, themselves and ultimately the democratic process.

We're hoping (imploring really) the candidates talk about the issues, draw distinctions between themselves and their opponents, and provide a better-informed electorate the chance to make up their own minds. Go out and have a good, clean fight. And may the best candidate win.

Growing diversity could help bridge racial gap

Data released by the U.S. Census Bureau earlier this month indicate there has been significant growth of ethnic populations in Detroit's suburbs. Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties have all seen increases in the number of ethnic minorities between 2000 and 2007, according to the Census Bureau.

Each of the counties has seen a surge of Asian and Hispanic populations. For example, the number of Hispanics in suburban Detroit grew by nearly 23,000 people, a 32-percent increase, with Wayne County (not including Detroit) seeing a 39-percent increase.

Of particular note, the figures show that the number of African Americans living in the suburbs has jumped, especially in Macomb and Oakland counties. In Macomb County, for example, the black population has increased 164 percent, or by nearly 35,000 individuals, since 2000. In Oakland, the increase wasn't as large, but there was still a 22-percent increase. Livingston County, at the northwest edge of suburban Detroit, experienced a 93-percent increase of black residents.

Although some people might disagree, this growing diversity is encouraging news for a region that has been plagued with racial strife for decades.

The fact is metro Detroit is one of the most racially segregated metropolitan areas in the nation. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, our area is ranked second in terms of racial segregation, behind only Gary, Ind. This segregation has played a major role in the lack of trust that exists between the city of Detroit, which is nearly all black, and its formerly lily-white suburbs. This lack of trust has always been a factor in derailing important regional issues, including improving our drinking water system, public transit or even getting a new Cobo Hall built.

But there is growing evidence that feelings are starting to change. First and foremost, the census figures show people of color are more open to moving into the suburbs, attracted by the same quality of life issues that brought (white) people to these towns in the first place.

The United Way for Southeastern Michigan presented a report ("Generation Next: Within Michigan's Demographic Context") at the annual Mackinac Policy Conference back in May, which addressed the area's demographics. The report included a survey that asked respondents "What will most than a third of those asked said racial and ethnic harmony.

Most people, regardless of the color of their skin, want the same things in life: safe neighborhoods, good schools, well-paying jobs, clean air to breathe, etc. And regardless whether one lives in Rochester, Canton, Southfield, Westland or Detroit, most of us also take pride in our region.

impact your decision to stay in southeast Michigan?" More

So it's time we start having frank discussions about race, what it means to our region and how to overcome the impediments it has caused. The best way to do that is to be in the same room with one another. And that's a lot easier to accomplish when people who look different happen to be neighbors.

Not in my back yard

I live near the new Oakwood development site. I thought all of the residents in this area made it perfectly clear that we did not support this medical/hospital development anywhere near the residential properties. While this new site is further away than the previously proposed site of Beck and Geddes, it appears that those of us who do not live in the $300,000-plus residential homes have not been given the same consideration with regard to our disapproval

I simply cannot understand the insistence of the Oakwood Hospital team to maintain a site location near homeowners when there are other choices on the south side of Michigan Avenue (nonresidential) that would also be suitable and less offensive to the Canton citizens.

Further, I feel the Canton Board of Trustees has sold out the residents adjacent to the newly proposed site. It's never a problem when it's not directly affecting your residential area, is it, trustees? Sure you'll be able to boast a large medical complex as part of our town's amenities, but I don't like the price we all have to pay for that. I expect that if it were in your back yard neither would you. Do any of you live behind the buffer?

I elected to move to this particular area primarily because of the lack of hustle and bustle generated by the business district. Now, thanks to this Board of Trustees, no matter how many buffers you boast as a nod to the residents, the fact stands that this area will change the complexion of our current living status permanently. I shudder to think what the next 12 years will produce.

What about German program?

In response to the Aug. 14 Observer article, "Students lining up for Mandarin," I would agree that the addition of the Mandarin Chinese language courses at PCEP is a laudable accomplishment if only German 4/ German AP wasn't being discontinued at the same time.

My daughter was informed in June that she would not be able to continue her studies this fall, along with 13 fellow students, due to budget restraints (although one has to wonder how a new Mandarin teacher was retained during the purported hiring freeze cited by school board president, Judy Mardigian, in the Aug. 17 Observer article, "Workman student count still highest in district"). After spending three years studying German and participating in a student exchange program this past spring she was informed that her only option was to apply and enroll in a university program if there were any still accepting applications at this late date which also offer a course time that doesn't conflict with her high school schedule.

Additionally she must pay the tuition difference, purchase her own textbooks, parking permit, and gas for traveling to and from a college campus. Even more disheartening was the lack of assistance from school counselors and administrators given the last-minute notification of the course cancellation just days before she was to leave for her trip to Germany as a student representative of our school district.

Assistant Principal Erin MacGregor states that, "it was very important that we expand our world language offerings." Yet it is clearly not a district priority given the systematic dismantling of foreign language studies in the middle schools until its state of near extinction today and leaving dedicated high school students just short of completing their studies. It's ironic that the hopes for the new Mandarin program will be to study abroad and cultivate international understanding when this has already been successfully achieved by the German language program now being abandoned.

feel it should be up to individual motorists whether or not to slow down. Individuals who wish to slow down really have no choice in the matter, unless you are willing to risk being run off the road.

While I know I am in a very small minority with this opinion, I have always felt that a speed limit of 70 is too high. Even following the posted speed it is fairly routine to have people on my bumper, weaving in and out of traffic around me, and flashing their lights because I am not going fast enough. It gets really nasty when I dare drive 65 — and I'm not referring to being in the left lane!

If you leave a decision to voluntarily reduce speeds to a public who loves to speed, drive while on their phones, while putting on makeup, while reading newspapers, and who feel a need to pass you on subdivision side streets because you are only driving 25, it will not happen.

Where's honesty, integrity?

Reading the article regarding Wayne-Westland school board member Frederick Weaver sent multiple flags flying. It didn't take much for me to see, in my opinion, the untruths or later to research the facts. Mr. Weaver was quoted to have said, "I wanted to be up-front and honest with people. I think anyone in office should be up-front and have integrity."

UP-FRONT, and you waited 18 months to make a public statement. HONEST, and according to Michigan election law, "The office of a school board member becomes vacant immediately when the school board member moves his or her residence from the district."

Public records show you changed your residency June 12, 2008, to Midland about a month before your public statement.

Integrity, and by acting as a board member (on and after June 12, 2008); by attending any and all meetings as an elected board member; to include voting on district matters and/or receiving district or public funds (to include state funds) in payment for duties as a board member may be looked at as fraud on or after June 12, 2008.

Voters ask yourself, where were the other members of the board? It concerns me the school board is a role model for our youth!

Mayor's jailing too harsh

The incarceration of Detroit's mayor for violating the terms of his bond which is essentially at the end of the day a white-collar crime is troubling on some many fronts. The public castration and humiliation that many believe is exactly what the mayor deserves in truth has never worked nor been a deterrent to those who have committed all manner of crimes.

There is no public good or civic lesson to be gained from the rumination and incarceration of an elected official for a white-collar crime in a country where public officials have committed crimes of a scope which dwarf the allegations of crimes the mayor is charged with. The notion that the mayor, an elected official, is the same as an average citizen is a myth and an insult to the reality of the truth. There has and there will always be preference for some in our criminal justice system in our country.

What happened today was the dangerous and freighting outcome of a mediadriven tabloid spectacle which not only has colored the objectivity of many in this region, but has impacted and tainted the administration of those in our criminal justice system who are sworn to carry out their duties without prejudice and political influence.

The mayor's alleged failures and personal shortcomings did not warrant his incarceration. Lesser measures were available to the judge to exercise his displeasure with the major's behavior for the judge to imprison an elected official only affirms to many how the agenda of those who do not have the interest of the citizens of the city have contaminated even the judiciary in this region.

Beware of 7 scams targeting job seekers recent survey by The Conference Board shows that people are increasingly turning to the Internet to assist them with job searches, noting that 73 percent of job seekers reported using online sources in 2007 compared to 66 percent in 2005.

While the Internet has become a great tool for assisting job searches, it also provides an opportunity for identity thieves and scam for identity thieves and scam artists to take advantage of people.

In 2007 alone, the Federal Trade Commission received more than 11,000 complaints regarding fake employment opportunities.

Because many people who are victims never actually report it, these complaints may be just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to phony job

Unfortunately, with a tough economy and tight job market, desperation will entice some job seekers into being tricked out of their money or misled to participate in criminal rackets.

The following are seven red flags to be on the lookout for when doing an online job hunt.

■ E-mails filled with grammatical and spelling errors. Most online fraud is perpetrated by scam artists located outside the United States. Their first language usually isn't English, and this is often evident in their poor grasp of the language. If you receive an e-mail offering you a job filled with poor grammar and misspelled words, beware. This very well could be a scam.

The salary and benefits offered seem too good to be true.

The adage holds true for job offers: If the deal sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Phony employers brag about exceptionally high salary potential and excellent benefits in order to lure unsuspecting job hunters into their scam.

You're hired without an interview. Some job seekers have been surprised to learn they've been "hired" without having to do a single interview.

The only catch is to first provide your Social Security or bank account number before starting the job, so you can allegedly be paid by direct deposit.

To avoid becoming a victim of identity theft, job applicants should never give out Social Security or bank account numbers over the phone or by e-mail to an unknown individual.

■ Become rich without leaving home. While there are legitimate businesses that allow employees to work from home, there are also a lot of scams trying to take advantage of senior citizens, stay-at-home moms, students, injured or handicapped individuals, and people looking for a second source of income. Job hunters should use extreme caution when considering any work-at-home offer and always research the company with their Better Business Bureau by calling (248) 644-9100 or visit www.bbb.org.

The job requires wiring money through Western Union or MoneyGram. Many phony jobs require the prospective employee to cash a check sent to them through the mail and then wire a portion of the money on to another entity. Reasons given for doing this vary from scam to scam.

Whatever the reason, the check might clear your bank but will eventually turn out to be a fake. You will be responsible for paying back the bank the full value of the check you cashed.

■ An employer asks for money upfront. Aside from paying for a uniform, it is rarely advisable for a job applicant to pay upfront fees or make a required purchase to get a job.

All you have to do is reship merchandise. One of the fastest growing scams involves receiving in the mail goods purchased online by others through stolen credit card numbers and forwarding the items to the thieves, often in locations outside the United States.

You could be held criminally liable if caught participating in this fraud.

Preserving farmland ultimately benefits Michigan's economy

s I travel around the state talking with farmers and promoting Michigan's agriculture industry, I consider all the things that can be done to further enhance the role agriculture and farming has in the state. With the current economic changes in Michigan, I believe agriculture will have an even bigger role in the state's economy as it continues to be the second largest economic driver in the state generating nearly $64 billion for Michigan's economy annually

Don Koivisto

Land is fundamental to maintaining and enhancing agriculture's place in the Michigan's economy. It's where it all begins. It makes sense to preserve our land base so current, and future, Michigan farmers can continue to produce the wide variety of crops already grown here.

Prior to the implementation of the state's Farmland and Open Space Preservation Program (PA 116) in the early 1970s, Michigan had already lost an astounding four million acres of farmland. The tax incentives provided by PA 116 have significantly slowed the rate of farmland loss. In fact, the program currently protects more than 3.3 million acres of Michigan farmland.

Although our farmland preservation program has been successful, it is not the entire solution. Michigan is still losing on average 30,000 acres of farmland per year. No one program or activity can preserve all of Michigan's farmland. But a combination of activities can help keep Michigan agriculture viable and a major player in the state's economy.

First, one of the best ways to safeguard farmland is to enhance the basic economic vitality of Michigan agriculture. Farms that can make money will remain farms and the children of the farm families will stay in the family business. We can encourage value added agriculture by improving access to commodity markets — locally, nationally and abroad.

With today's energy costs, buying locally produced products is particularly important.

Secondly, expansion of programs such as PA

116, which target full-time farmers, to include land owned by part-time farmers would help to protect up to 50 percent more of Michigan's farmland. Enhanced funding for permanent protection programs such as the Michigan Agricultural Preservation Fund and programs to help farmers pass their farm on to future generations would be of great benefit.

Farms don't just supply the food we eat and enjoy every day; they represent the second largest industry in the state, are responsible for one million jobs, and provide an important "export" function for the state — exporting crops and importing dollars back into the state and local communities. Businesses that export a commodity and import capital, particularly from a land based resource available year after year, are becoming increasingly vital in an economy where many of the new jobs are in the service sector which transfer wealth within the state rather than import wealth from other

The availability of water in Michigan places the state and agriculture in a unique position nationally. It's predicted that water resources in the Great Plains and in central California will significantly diminish in the not-too-distant future. Michigan's position in the Great Lakes basin, plus the availability of quality farmland, will be the key to the state's agricultural economic future — if we can only hold on to the farmland we have.

In addition to economic benefits, farms also provide valuable environmental benefits to communities, providing storm water catchment and flood control, wildlife habitat, and open space. Farms also act as a positive tax revenue source for local governments, since studies show farmers typically pay more in property taxes than they use for services.

The bottom line is agriculture is good for Michigan, good for local government, and good for communities. Preserving our existing farmland base can positively position Michigan today, in the future, and help secure Michigan as a major economic player in the Midwest and the nation.

HUNGRY FOR SUCCESS

Salem gridders hope off-season dedication leads to on-field wins

They're big, fit and loaded with experience. And if that trio of assets isn't enough to put the Salem football program on the fast track to success this fall, this intangible might: The Rocks' 17 returning starters and the team's remaining key contributors have had it up to their chin straps with losing, which they did 17 times in 18 games in 2006 and 2007.

"There's a hunger to win around here now — there's no more empathy," emphasized third-year Salem head coach Parker Salowich. "These guys are hungry for success and they're tired of the stuff that's happened in the past. Hopefully all the hard work the kids and the coaching staff have put in during the off-season has put us on the right track."

Several key numbers point in the right direction for the Rocks.

The 160-plus players currently listed on the program's freshmen, junior varsity and varsity rosters are double what the total was prior to Salowich's arrival in the spring of

The five Rocks expected to start on the interior offensive line tip the scales at an average weight of 250 pounds.

And the spread offense's two kev players — senior quarterback Heath Parling (6-foot-2, 200 pounds) and senior running back Anthony Mullins (6-0, 190) — have both started since their sophomore campaigns.

"The senior leadership we have on this team is great," said Salowich. "Having 32 seniors is wonderful. A lot of them have experience from starting last year and a few have two years of starting experience."

Fitness-wise, the Rocks are in remarkable shape, Salowich said.

"We brought a speed-andstrength guy in from the outside to work with the team this summer and he really pushed them," Salowich said. "He has a Ph.D. in exercise physiology, so he knows where the threshold is; how far to push them. We're going to incorporate a lot of what he showed the kids into our regular conditioning program."

If given time to do what they do best, Parling and Mullins could prove to be a dynamic one-two punch for the Rocks. Parling has a cannon for an arm and uncanny leadership skills while Mullins galloped for over 1,000 yards as a junior.

"Heath's leadership abilities are unsurpassed," said Salowich. "He has a commanding presence when he steps into the huddle. He's like a coach on the field.

"Anthony's a great example for the other kids because he's a great athlete who never gets too high or too low. He keeps an even keel, which is what we need. He's kind of the yin to Heath's yang."

Parling will be backed-up by junior Jake Peterson (6-7, 215), who shined during the Rocks' intrasquad scrimmage on Saturday.

Senior Al Ibe (5-11, 215), a transfer from Novi Catholic Central, will see time at running back and linebacker, Salowich said. Senior Zach Sponsellor will serve as the

Macinkowicz repeats as 0&E golf champion

BY BRAD EMONS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Susan Macinkowicz didn't have to venture over to Woodward Avenue to stage her own Dream Cruise during Saturday's Observer & Eccentric Women's Golf Tournament held at Livonia's Whispering Willows G.C.

The special education teacher from Woodhaven, who hails from Chesterfield Township, repeated as the winner of the championship flight with an 18-hole round of 83, four shots better than Livonian Nancy Rhatigan and five better than Sona` Pysh-Dennison of Shelby Township.

A regular on the Michigan Women's Publinx circuit. Macinkowicz survived a tough stretch on the 11th and 12th holes where she carded back-to-back 7s en route to a 43 on the back nine after shooting a 40 on the front

"I got the ball up into the woods and it got me," said the 47-yearold Macinkowicz said. "But overall it was fun. It was good playing on great municipal course. They have a real gem in Livonia."

Macinkowicz earned a firstplace trophy and an $80 golf shop gift certificate for her efforts.

"The key here is course management," said the two-time winner with an U.S.G.A. 8-handicap index. "You have to know where to put the ball. Tee shots are critical. The putts are true and Paul (Worley, the club pro) has the course and grounds in good shape."

Rhatigan, who has an 17-handicap, carded 42-45-87, but was able to take low-net honors with a 70, earning a $60 gift certificate.

Pysh-Dennison, who resides in Shelby Township, carded a gross total of 43-45-88 followed by Theresa McPherson (Royal Oak), 48-45-93; Pat Witek (Livonia), 51-44-95; and Debrah Pringle (Lake Orion), 49-49-98 to round out the championship flight.

Canton's Lu Stockton captured first flight honors with a 48-48-96, edging Detroit's Suzanne Madej, who shot 53-44-97, by a

And sporting a 25-handicap, Stockton also won low net honors with a 71 to take home a firstplace trophy along with a $70 gift certificate. She also won closestto-the-pin on the 120-yard No. 7 hole.

Rounding out the first flight field was Kathy Brennan (Livonia), 54-57-101; Monica Oliver (Farmington Hills), 50-52-102; and Pat Shelton

Canton man racks up boat load of sailing titles

When Ron Rossio wants to take a temporary detour from the rat race that life can turn into sometimes, he turns to another form of racing — a subtler, more peaceful kind of competition that requires no engines or fuel.

The 46-year-old Canton resident is a champion sailor whose most recent gold-medal performance came last month in the 84th Bayview Mackinac Sailboat Race.

Rossio was part of a crew made up of several friends and his brother, Rich, that maneuvered "Falcon" across the finish line first in record time in the Level 35 Class event. The triumph was the fifth overall for Rossio, who specializes in handling the vessel's sail trim. He has also registered wins in the 1998 Chicagoto-Mackinac Race, the 1998 Bayview Mackinac event, the J35 North American Championship Regattas and the North American Off-shore One Design Regattas.

"I love sailing because it's relaxing to me," said

Crusaders look to move up in WHAC standings

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There were too many occasions last fall where Madonna University's women's soccer team couldn't hit the back of the Inconsistent offense and injuries plagued the Crusaders, who tailed off badly in the second half of the season to finish 8-7-2.

But a rise to the top of the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference in 2008 might not be a pipe dream thanks to the addition of some promising recruits, including former Schoolcraft forward Jessica Austin — along with a preseason camp where coach Paul Thomas isn't handing out guarantees of playing time.

"All of our players are working hard, there are 25 players competing for 11 spots," said Thomas, entering his third season as Madonna's coach. "Players are going at it (in practice), they want to succeed, they want to win and they want to be in the starting 11."

Last season, some players didn't have to fight as hard for regular playing time. This time around, which begins 4 p.m. Friday against host Trinity International (Illinois), that won't be the case.

"I won't be afraid to start a team that is new to this college," said Thomas, adding that message is being heeded by his returnees. "The majority are knuckling down and working hard."

The Crusaders should keep goals from their opponents down, with strong midfielders and defenders in front of aggressive sophomore goalkeeper Brittany Warner (Canton/ Oakland University).

PLENTY OF TALENT

Léading the midfield corps are the team's co-MVPs from a season ago, senior Ashley Stoychoff (Canton/Salem) and junior Lauren Hess (Livonia/ Ladywood). Both also have offensive skills, sharing the '07 team's goal-scoring lead (five) with forward Kaila Moore (Howell), who is back for her junior year.

Stoychoff and Hess are helped out by sophomore Diana Brda (Westland/U-M-Dearborn) and impressive newcomers Andrea Mareel and Shannon McIntyre, the latter a senior coming over from Eastern Michigan University. Providing depth will be junior Rachel Thompson (Livonia Stevenson) and freshman Nicole Rodriguez.

According to Thomas, if the midfielders play as well as they've looked during preseason, the offense will emerge.

"The midfielders are effective because of their level of fitness and technical ability, to work in tandem with the defenders and forwards," the coach explained. "It's hard to score goals if you don't have the service."

Up front, the team will be looking for Austin (one of Schoolcraft's top goal scorers last year) to reach double figures in goals, something the Crusaders haven't had since Kelly Japowicz tallied 15 in 2006.

"I expect a lot out of Jessica," Thomas said. "Expectations are high with the (high-scoring) reputation she has. But she's going to have to continue to work hard" and adjust to the speed of the WHAC game.

Austin won't have to do it alone, because Moore is looking solid in the early practices and is determined to pick up where she left off last season.

The Crusaders also have junior newcomer Jaclyn Ventimiglia (Macomb/Concordia) and returning senior Dina Allie who will be prowling for goals. Thomas likes how both players are performing thus far, particularly Allie.

"Dina Allie's probably looked the best I've seen her in the past four years this preseason," Thomas said. "She's looked very sharp, very fit. ... She has the desire to go out with a bang and win something. She's very, very motivated right now."

If sophomore forward Chelsea Skinner (Milford) bounces back from a leg injury, she could also contribute to Madonna's scoring.

SPORTS CENTER. (CLS) Motion by Bennett, supported by

BACKING IT UP

Madonna's defense will feature steady senior Andrea Johnson (Canton) and juniors Gina Leone and Lia Melasi. Both Leone and Melasi were named to the all-WHAC first team last year.

"Those three players have been the standouts in the back line," Thomas said. "They've all been consistent players the past three years."

Milford alums Chelsea Shrewsberry and Allison Zemaitis, both freshmen, will bolster the defense as will sophomore Katie Kozlowski (Crestwood).

The defenders will assist Warner, who was redshirted at Oakland University last fall due to a hand injury.

"She's a very aggressive goalkeeper with a good pedigree," Thomas said. "She's played a high level of club soccer and high school (at Canton) and will be a solid player for us back there."

One thing for fans of the Crusaders to get used to as they take aim at the top of the conference standings is watching a goalie who likes to gamble.

"She's brave, but you need to be brave as a goalkeeper," he noted. "You need to be able to put your head where other people's feet are. You have to come out for crosses. Those types of attributes Brittany has."

It was a great job by Aleta Sill, Michelle Mullen and lots of volunteers who helped out.

Both Aleta and Michelle are USBC certified coaches and Michelle is one of only 22 Gold Level coaches in the world. Along with Lisa Bishop, they operate Aleta Sill's Bowling World, a pro shop inside Country Lanes.

Jim Hamlin, Country Lanes proprietor, also donated the use of the lanes for the event. He also wanted to thank the many donors who came up with a load of fine door prizes and raffle items.

One particular bowler had a very grand time, Jeremy VanMeteer, of Farmington Hills, who enjoyed the 9-pin "No-Tap" format and most of his strikes were 10-down. He shot 35 of a possible 36 strikes en route to an 878 series on games of 300-300-278.

Jeremy didn't win any money for the effort, but he walked away with some fine door and raffle prizes.

The real winners were hundreds of dogs and cats.

fullback in two-back sets.

The Rocks' receiving corps will be paced by senior ends Brian Hattie (5-9, 160) and Shawn Lyons, a pair of small but speedy targets.

"Both Brian and Shawn have outstanding work ethics — I don't think they missed a workout during the entire off-season," said Salowich. "They're both go-to guys who run great routes and block their tails off."

Seniors Justin Bashi and Jim Dexter will be utilized as tight ends when the Rocks shift out of the spread. Dexter is also slotted as one of the team's starting linebackers.

Salem's offensive line is big, strong and mobile, according to Salowich, The left side is anchored by senior tackle Andrew Grabowski (6-2, 270) and junior guard Ed Merhi (6-5, 290), both of whom started in 2007. Zack Pelech (6-1, 240) will get the call at center while Dana Baltazar (6-5, 300) and either Ryan Winkler or Blake Abbey will man the right side.

The Rocks' defensive line will be spearheaded by senior Al Covington (6-0, 240).

"Al really came on this summer," said Salowich. "He has a great work ethic." Anthony Davis (5-10, 290) will start at nose guard beside senior Russ Brown (5-10, 180). Junior Austin Root, senior Chris Watkins and Dexter make up the first-string line-backing unit.

Both starting cornerbacks iunior Derek Draplin and sophomore Devon Mullins (Anthony's younger brother) - started last vear.

"Our safety positions are still up for grabs," Salowich said.

The Rocks' kicking game is in great hands, er, feet, thanks to sophomore Ethan Walsh, who should also see time at line-

"I think he's going to kick in the NFL someday," predicted Salowich. "He kicks it through the end zone consistently on kick-offs and he drilled a 42varder field goal in practice the other day when the entire team was lined up behind him screaming."

The Rocks open Thursday, Aug. 28, at home against crosscampus rival Plymouth, The opening kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Rossio, who works at Chrysler world headquarters in Auburn Hills. "There's nothing quite as relaxing as sitting back and hearing the water peel off the hull of the boat. And you've never seen as many stars as you can see when you're sailing at night on the middle of Lake Michigan."

Sailboat racing is no different than many team sports when it comes to the importance of teamwork, Rossio said.

"Most of our crew has been together for a long time, so everybody knows what everybody else is doing," he said. "I know how to do just about everything except actually steering the boat.

"My job is trimming the jib and spinnaker sails. I'm always looking to make sure the sails keep their shape."

The Bayview Mackinac races are tests of endurance for the crew members and the boats as this year's winning time of just over 31 hours confirms.

"The entire crew is on the deck for about the first six hours of the race," Rossio said. "Then we'll work in shifts throughout the night. Five crew members will be on while the other five sleep. The shifts last about four hours."

Rossio was introduced to sailing in the summer of 1983 by his uncle, Charlie Miller.

"He took my brother and I out on Lake St. Clair for the first time when we were in our early 20s." said Rossio. "I absolutely loved it and I've loved it ever since.

A third generation of the family is on the brink of discovering the joys of sailing. Ron's two young sons — 6-year-old Cooper and 3-year-old Cole — have shown early signs of interest in the sport.

"They're too young to race with me, but they meet us on the docks after the races with my wife (Michelle)," Rossio said. "They seem to enjoy being around the boats."

Next year, Rossio's longevity will be rewarded when he enters a class of sailors known as "The Society of Mackinac Island Goats.

He will have earned the title 'Old Goat," which is reserved for sailors who have completed at least 25 Bayview Mackinac

Protect your family, home when power goes out

Power outages have been a major concern this summer. You can't control everything, but there are steps you can take to stay safer when the power goes Michigan Department of Labor & Economic Growth Director Keith W. Cooley offers tips for consumers from the Public Service Commission and Bureau of Fire Services to stay safe while the power is out.

The U.S. Fire Administration in the Federal Emergency Management Agency reports that carbon monoxide poisoning claims approximately 480 lives and sends another 15,200 people to hospital emergency rooms for treatment every year. After June's power outages, two Michigan deaths were reported as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning from using a generator in their basement and additional individuals in unrelated incidents reported symptoms of poisoning.

"We felt very strongly after hearing of these tragic circumstances, that we need to educate as many consumers as possible about home generator use as they are becoming increasingly popular and affordable," Cooley said. "During these emergency situations, homeowners can only think of one thing - just getting their power back on. We're here to say take a few minutes to think about safety to protect your family's health first and foremost - and then

Cooley said one common mistake is that homeowners believe that opening windows or running fans will prevent carbon monoxide buildup which is inaccurate.

"Our firefighters know firsthand that carbon monoxide can build up quickly - without any warning signs or smells, so much so that it's considered a silent killer. The State Fire Marshal's office recommends that every home has at least one carbon monoxide detector located near the furnace and utility room," Cooley said.

While you cannot smell carbon monoxide, it can cause symptoms such as nausea, dizziness, and weakness. If you experience these symptoms, get fresh air and seek help immediately for possible carbon monoxide poisoning in the local hospital ER where they will conduct a simple blood test.

The Public Service Commission offers an informative consumer alert http://www.michigan.gov/documents/mpsc/mpsc-ca_portablegenerator_211961_7.pdf on how to purchase the right generator with safety tips on proper use. Some tips include:

- Never operate a generator indoors or in an unventilated area. The exhaust contains deadly carbon monoxide fumes.
- Do not store gasoline for a generator indoors. Gasoline should be stored in an approved, nonglass safety con-

Extinguish all flames or ciga- rettes when handling gasoline or the generator. Always have a fully charged, approved fire extinguisher located near the generator. Make sure you have enough fuel to run a generator for an extended period of time — during a power outage, gas stations may be closed.

- Never refuel a generator while it is running. Shut it off and let it cool for 10 minutes before refueling to minimize the danger of fire.
- Parts of the generator are very hot during operation. Avoid contact - especially with the muffler area. Keep children away at all times.
- Protect the generator from rain and other moisture sources to prevent electrocution.

When not in use, store the generator in a dry location such as a garage

The PSC also recommends that homeowners put together an emergency use kit for their home to prepare for power outages. The kit should include:

- ■ Extra batteries
- ■ Candles
- Blankets
- Nonperishable food ■ Battery-operated lantern
- Drinking water (1 gallon per
- person per day) ■ Some emergency cash

- Flashlights ■ Battery-powered radio
- First-aid kit

- Experts recommend that you keep a list of emergency numbers near the $telephone-including \ the \ number$ to the local electric company. Unless telephone lines are down, landline telephone service should remain available during an electrical power outage. Cellular service may not work if power to the cell tower system is disrupted.

It's also important to protect electrical items like TVs, VCRs, microwave ovens, or a home computer with voltage surge suppressors. If these items are not protected, unplug them before a storm begins to prevent damage.

For more tips on surviving a power outage, check out the PSC's alert at: http://www.michigan.gov/documents/mpsc/mpsc-ca_survivingelectricoutages 211962 7.pdf

All attendees will receive a copy of attorney Robert Meisner's booklet, "Condominium Operation: Getting Started and Staying on the Right Track."

Case supports ban on smoking

Q: We are thinking about passing a restriction in our documents concerning smoking in our apartment units. Do you think we have any basis to do so?

A: There is a Colorado case that supports that position and there is much literature on the fact of secondhand smoke damage condominium residents. Moreover, the association, at some point, may be accused of encouraging that situation. You are best advised to consult with your attorney, but you may wish to consider banning smoking. Also, the provision may be more enforceable if the developer put it in the original documents.

Q: I am an attorney who has been retained to draft some condominium documents for a two-unit complex. I am concerned about what mechanism I can use for issues regarding the governance of the project. Do you have any suggestions?

A: You basically have several choices in regard to the operation of the association. Your choices are: (1) unanimous consent; (2) one owner has control; (3) a tie breaker such as an independent director or (4) an alternative dispute resolution mechanism such as a neutral arbitrator, but not the AAA Arbitration. The appropriate choice will depend upon the kind of project (residential, commercial, or mixed use) sophistication of the owners, the complexity of the project and whether you want the parties to have equal bargaining power or whether one party has a greater interest in making things get done

Robert M. Meisner is a lawyer and the author of Condominium Operation: Getting Started & Staying on the Right Track, second edition. It is available for $9.95 plus $1 shipping and handling. He also wrote Condo Living: A Survival Guide to Buying, Owning and Selling a Condominium, available for $24.95 plus $5 shipping and handling. Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencii and but your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Aug. 15 and runs through Sept. 14. Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan (BIA) and Bank of America Mortgage are the sponsors of this public event. The Parade of Homes offers potential homebuyers a unique opportunity to visit the area's finest model homes, including condominiums and single-family homes, affordable housing and estate-sized homes. Visitors to the homes will have an opportunity to see firsthand the latest trends in energy efficiency and green building, architecture, interior design, amenities and materials. The 37 model homes range in base price from $95,900 to $1,999,900.

Architects and building industry experts will judge the homes and award winners'in several categories prior to the event opening. The judges will make their decisions based on the innovative use of space and design, aesthetic appeal of the home and value for the price.

A Parade of Homes magazine containing renderings, features and location maps for all homes was distributed within select home delivery of The Detroit News and Detroit Free Press on Aug. 15 and available at select CVS/pharmacy locations in southeastern Michigan and at all participating model homes. Parade of Homes will also be featured at BIA's Fall Remodeling & Design Expo, Oct. 10-12, at the Rock Financial Showplace in Novi.

For additional information, call (248) 862-1032 or visit www.builders.org. The program Web site, www.BIAparadeofhomes. com, features informative news stories on home ownership and economic issues as well as details on each home.
