The bell tolls

School's 1st day brings excitement, nerves

BY TONY BRUSCATO OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Following a shortened first day of school Tuesday, Gallimore Elementary 5-yearold Andrew Brown of Canton Township said he didn't think kindergarten would be too

"No, because there's no homework," said Andrew.

While there was no homework, there were lessons to be learned on the first day of

'We watched a movie about going to school safely," Andrew said. "We learned not to talk to strangers."

While Andrew is just starting at Gallimore, his sister -Megan, 10 — is a fifth-grader, or senior class member at the school. Megan said she didn't have any anxieties about her summer ending with the start of school.

"I was happy to see my friends," said Megan. "I like school a little bit, mostly social studies and math. I'm really good at multiplication and I like history."

Eight-year-old Kevin Swope of Canton said he wasn't anxious the night before, but when

"Maybe because it's a new teacher and stuff," said Kevin. "But, I got over it pretty quick-

Not everyone who was nervous about the first day was a student. Even parents found themselves a bit unsettled.

"Of course I'm a little sad, I was probably more emotional that he was," said Kristen Stoudt of Canton, who met her 5-year-old son, Ethan, when the bell rang. "I looked at him yesterday and I said 'Oh, my gosh, he's already

Crooners ready to conjure up magic of the Rat Pack

BY TIFFANY L. PARKS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Two For The Road are ready to croon their way back to the Village Theater.

The singing duo of Vincent Vitale and Brian Bagozzi — best friends since high school — will perform their "Rat Pack"reminiscent show at 7 p.m. Oct. 9.

The two, both 43, began singing together in late 2005 and first performed at the Village Theater on Valentine's Day.

"We were really excited about that show because it was our first theater venue performance and afterward, (theater officials) immediately booked us for Liberty Fest," said Vitale of Belleville. "That was so encouraging to us."

While they are not impersonators, Vitale and Bagozzi, of Chesterfield, do call upon memories of Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin during their shows while bantering back and "I feel we complement each other, which allows us the ability to bring more than just great music to each performance," he said.

"We could not do this without their support," he said, adding that there have been no identical Two For The Road performances. "The audience plays a big part and Brian and I connect with each other. It's always a different show."

State mediator helps avoid teachers strike

BY SUE MASON OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Worried parents in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools got the news they'd been hoping to hear Monday morning: School would start as scheduled Tuesday.

The message was in the form of a Robo-call, announcing that the teachers union and school district had agreed to a 30-day contract extension.

The agreement came early Sunday evening with the help of a state mediator who had been requested by the Wayne-Westland Education Association last week in hopes of hammering out a contract before a Tuesday strike dead-

"The mediator was strategically instrumental in getting both parties to reach a contract extension," said Wayne-Westland School Superintendent Greg Baracy just hours after the agreement was reached. "We are pleased that school is starting on time, that students will be in the classroom and that teachers will be teaching." The contract extension was in response to the latest district proposal presented to union negotiators late Saturday night. The union decided more time was needed reviewing the district's proposal before it could respond.

"We want to have the time to investigate, research and examine the district's latest proposal," said WWEA president Nancy Strachan. "It may or may not lead to a settlement, but it is significantly different enough that it will require a good deal of time before we can react."

The agreement ended a contentious week where the union blasted the school district for not bargaining in good faith and held a strike vote in which 96 percent of teachers present supported the action.

The teachers' contract expired Aug. 25.

Musical sounds abound as symphony takes the stage

BY JULIE BROWN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

As the strains of songs from Leonard Bernstein's West Side Story filled the room, conductor Nan Washburn of the Plymouth Canton Symphony Society had a message.

"As you can see, we're not a stuffy organization,' Washburn, marking her 10th year as conductor, told members and guests at a Plymouth A.M. Rotary meeting Tuesday.

"A lot has changed," Washburn said of the symphony's approaching 63rd season. "A lot has remained the same."

The Plymouth Canton Symphony Society is the umbrella organization for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra; Orchestra Canton, which calls Canton's Village Theater home; Celebration Youth Orchestra; and Classical Music Outreach

Education Program. "So this is our 10th Naniversary," said Beth Stewart, PCSS executive director and a Rotarian. "We're thrilled to have her with us."

Washburn shared details on the opening concert, set for 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 13, at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton. The Gala Pops will feature the Canton Concert Band and the Spotlight Players with Orchestra Canton.

"We're doing a Best of Broadway' concert," Washburn said. She played taped classic Broadway tunes such as I Could ${\it Have \, Danced \, All \, Night \, and \, Some}$ Enchanted Evening. Music from Gershwin, Irving Berlin and

Andrew Lloyd Webber's on tap. Tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, $10 for chil-

Letters, Web page provide your voice

Over the years, we have enjoyed - and taken seriously - the responsibility we have to be your eyes and ears in the communities we cover as your hometown newspaper.

But there's another role we play on your behalf, another thing we can be for you — particularly as the world moves farther along the information highway.

Your voice.

With the established opinion pages inside our print editions, and our interactive, user-friendly Web site (www.hometownlife.com) readers have an unprecedented opportunity to take part in the coverage of their own community.

Our "Letters to the Editor" section continues to be a leading means of expression for our readers. The section was particularly popular during the recent political primary, as it always is during an election season. The section served as a springboard for ideas, a canvas on which to paint a portrait of a candidate, and a venue for public discourse about the issues facing our community, and those we wanted to face those issues.

But the letters serve a valuable purpose in non-election times, as well. A range of topics — from taxes to budgets and zoning to public safety — are debated in these pages twice a week. At 400 words apiece, that's a lot of discus-

But increasingly, readers are finding it more convenient and more interactive to get into discussions via our Web page (www.hometownlife.com). There are several ways to do it, and all of them are easy. You can become an Observer blogger (all you have to do is register, and the Web site walks you through the easy-as-pie instructions). There are community forums, where you can either start a discussion about anything you wish, or join an existing discussion. Or you can leave a comment about an individual story posted to the site.

Upset with your elected officials? Let us know. Want to thank a police officer or a firefighter? Drop us a line. Prefer the Internet to old-fashioned paper-and-pencil,

For years, we've been your watchdog, keeping our eyes on your community for you. Now, we've found more ways than ever to provide you with a voice of your own.

Whichever way you choose to do it, all you have to do now is make sure your voice is heard.

Court was right to reject reform ballot proposal

On Aug. 20, the Michigan Court of Appeals rejected the Reform Michigan Government Now ballot proposal.

The unanimous decision reads: "The RMGN initiative petition is overarching, of a reach and expanse never before seen by any constitutional initiative in Michigan's long history. It proposes fundamentally to redesign the very framework of the Michigan Constitution of 1963. which emerged after an historic convention and subsequent voter approval."

The RMGN advocates filed an appeal with the Michigan Supreme Court on Aug. 22. The Supreme Court has no obligation to hear the case. The proposal calls for eliminating two Supreme Court seats and proposal advocates are asking that the two junior justices not participate in the appeal.

We believe the Court of Appeals has made the correct decision in rejecting this overstuffed and partisan amendment. The proposal is designed to enhance the position of the Democratic Party within the state. It throws in many attractive parts in an effort to distort its real intent. The removal of the two Supreme Courts justices, for instance, would create a Democratic Party-endorsed majority on the court, a reverse on the disastrous attempt by Franklin Roosevelt to increase the seats on the U.S.

Supreme Court to win support for his New Deal programs. While we oppose the ballot issue, we believe there are many items in the proposal that have merit. But as the court ruled, voters should not have to decide on so many issues buried within a single ballot issue. Rather, voters should be asked to consider the issues fully and separately. Among the proposals within in the ballot issue are: reducing the membership of the state Senate and House, rolling back legislative compensation, reforming redistricting by appointing a bipartisan panel to set legislative districts, placing restrictions on legislators becoming lobbyists, reducing judicial salaries, toughening conflict of interest requirements, reducing the salaries of the four statewide elected officials by 25 percent, reducing the cap on the number of state government departments from 20 to 18 and more. Much more — too much more.

If proponents believe there is so much to amend in the state Constitution, perhaps it is time for a Constitutional Convention. Or, perhaps, some of these issues can be settled legislatively or through separate ballot initiatives.

But this proposal is a terrible approach to government reform.

New Bibles are biased

I found your article "Twisted Scripture?" (Aug. 28), about a man suing a Bible publisher for printing Bibles with translations that discriminate against gays, quite interesting and thought-provoking. I have no idea as to the legality of Bradley Fowler's case against Bible publisher Zondervan, but I do know that Mr. Fowler has a very legitimate reason for complaining.

We have no original copies of the books of the Bible. What we do have are copies of copies and translations of translations. Many translators had ideas about what they thought the Bible should say and injected their personal views into their translations

At the time the books of the Bible were written, homosexuality as a sexual preference did not exist. Sex between males, especially adult males and boys, occurred and was con-Roman culture.

Since homosexuality as we know it did not exist at the time the Bible books were written, using terms like homosexuality in translating the Bible are obviously a product of the translator's bias and not what the words of the Bible were trying to convey.

Mr. Bradley, apparently a devout Christian, has every right to challenge the translators and even to accuse them of injecting deliberate homophobic bias where none existed.

Fix the ballots The Canton Township ballot was atrocious! Why can't the two primary parties be color coded the same as the national indicators of red for one and blue for the other? Voting directions and other issues could stay in black. Incumbents for re-election should be bold face; that way if a voter is dissatisfied with the performance, we will know who to vote out.

Furthermore, the ballot layout could be perceived as purposely designed to prevent the best qualified opposition candidates from being voted into the final election. Those voters who voted absentee could easily have their vote cast out. The front side of the ballot was fairly simple to comprehend, but the reverse side had only one party for county offices and none of the office choices were lined up opposite each other. It does matter where the blanks

An elderly person or a new voter could easily flip to the reverse and vote for Democratic county officials after voting on the front side for Republican candidates and not realize the ballot is disqualified. Voters as the polls had a chance to correct the spoiled ballots; absentee voters did not. Check and see how many absentee voters were "crossovers" and therefore

Arts are alive and well

With all that we are experiencing on a daily basis, increasing food prices, high gasoline prices, roads and bridges in desperate need of repair, job losses, home losses, an ugly war, health care problems, homeless shelter needs, decreasing educational funding, political robber barons, hunger, and an ever decreasing standard of living, just what is there to look forward to or to experience that might lift our spirits?

In Canton we are running a parallel course with the rest of what other Michigan communities and the rest of the country is experiencing, but thanks to Canton's Leisure Services, the Partnership For The Arts, and the Downtown Development Association, local artists, and the many dedicated volunteers, the arts remain alive and well in Canton.

Leisure Services, the PFA and the DDA are experiencing financial setbacks and reduced grant funding just like other businesses and state organizations, but because they are cognizant of the importance of art in our lives they are effectively working for the retention of visual and performing art experiences for our residents. In so doing they provide the muchneeded spirit lift during those special moments in our lives when we can Canton listen, view, and appreciate the various art forms offered throughout the Performances at the Canton Village Theater afford local and national groups opportunities to share their talents and entertain the public. The gallery space at the Village Theater provides an outlet for local, regional and nationally recognized visual artists while displaying works that stimulate and challenge our minds. Many of us have enjoyed the free music provided in Backyard Beats and other performance locations at no cost and that in itself is a breath of fresh air. Another Leisure Services offering.

Much of the existing art experiences in Canton would not be present if not for the financial aid provided by the Partnership For The Arts. They work closely with Leisure Services and the concerned volunteers generously serving on the Commission for Arts And Culture in Canton. The DDA also recognizes the importance of art in the community by funding the exhibition of temporary sculpture along Ford Road demonstrating that there is more to just sales and making a buck. It is important to note that the DDA is the sole funding provider for that particular art experience and they are to be congratulated for their community involvement above and beyond the basic concern for sales.

So although things may look a bit glum, think about the benefits of being a part of this community and the leaders and volunteers who so diligently work together to provide for those moments when we can just sit back, listen, view, give a sigh, and say to ourselves thank goodness for the times we can escape from the unpleasant aspects of daily living if only for a few moments while being thankful that although many changes are taking place around us, the arts are alive in Canton.

State's residents are ahead of leaders on the need for reform

he way Michigan government works badly needs a major overhaul, but you might think the prospects seem dim indeed. After all, the "Reform Michigan Government Now," fiasco ended last month with the courts ruling the complex amendment off the ballot.

Phil Power

But it is clear that our state's top business leaders are over-whelmingly convinced that something needs to be done — at least according to a statewide summer poll recently taken for Detroit Renaissance, the high-powered business leadership group.

The vast majority — 87 percent of those responding — say our political leaders have done only a fair to poor job of balancing the state's budget and setting clear spending priorities.

Almost as many (81 percent) believe lawmakers are making short-term taxing and spending decisions that promote their survival in office from year to year, rather than working on policies that promote Michigan's long-term prosperity.

This is hardly surprising. The poll was taken in late July, when the memories were still vivid of last fall's near-meltdown of state finances, caused in part by an inexperienced, term-limited Legislature.

Politicians are human beings, just like the rest of us. And it's simple human nature to try to duck unpleasant stuff, which for lawmakers in Lansing means unpopular, but necessary, votes.

So term-limited legislators all too often kick the can down the road by leaving the tough votes to their successors.

The poll also shows deep and grim pessimism about our future. More than four out of every five Michigan voters think the state is on the wrong track, and 74 percent think Michigan's economy will either stay the same or get worse next year.

So it will come as no surprise that a solid majority — 56 percent — wants major structural reforms in Lansing. Yes, but what kind of reform? Remarkably, a half-dozen ideas all got majority support among all demographic groups surveyed:

- Save money by finding other means of punishment for non-violent offenders, other than going to prison (79.3 percent).
 Increase state employee health care premi-
- ums (74.5 percent).

 Change the retirement system for new teach-
- ers (74.1 percent).

 Increase state employee health care deduct-
- ibles and co-pays. (72.5 percent).

 Impose small co-pays for Medicaid-related health services (63.3 percent.)
- Release some non-violent offenders from prison before their normal parole date (58.8 percent). Our basic problem is this: Michigan's state budget has suffered from years of chronic "structural deficits." That means the system is built so that the state spends more money on programs and services than it takes in from various taxes. Worse, these costs are bound to increase faster than any revenue gains arising from a more prosperous

Although the Legislature raised both income and business taxes last year to overcome the $1 billion-plus structural deficit that then existed in the General Fund, it was a temporary solution. Virtually all experts predict that structural deficits will return — with a vengeance. Left unresolved, it could reach $10 billion by 2017!

Tricia Kinley, the tax expert at the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, agrees. In a July article in The Detroit News commenting on "quiet" budget agreements this year in Lansing, she wrote: "We could spin our wheels all day long trying to pursue major reform in Medicaid costs, prison costs and pension reforms. But until we 'turn off the faucet' of spending increases (at least turn it down) the Legislature and administration will not be forced to come together and do what's right for the long-term health of our state's financial and budget situation."

When asked what to do about the continuing budget problems, there was much greater diversity. Some 6.1 percent polled were in favor of solving the problem solely by raising taxes. Another 21.3 preferred to solve the problem entirely by reducing state spending. But a solid majority, 56.4 percent, opted for moving toward serious structural reforms in state government.

And when it comes to the voters, the sentiment is near-unanimous. An amazing 95 percent say reform is personally important to them.

Incidentally, the poll was taken by the Chicago-based Glengariff Group, Inc., for Detroit Renaissance, a group of top-level business executives in southeast Michigan. Though it has been around for many years, in recent months Detroit Renaissance has spurred itself to become a major policy mover and shaker, under the leadership of President Doug Rothwell and Domino's Pizza CEO Dave Brandon, chair of the Renaissance board.

Rothwell is blunt about the poll results: "The people of Michigan are ready for major reforms in the way government works and spends money. Year-to-year budget cuts and tax increases are simply making matters worse. We can't continue to postpone the inevitable: Michigan cannot work the way it has for the past 50 years, because we simply don't have the money we used to have."

And Lansing, take note: This poll provides solid support for an emerging effort to use the "lame duck" session of the Legislature — that between Election Day and the end of the year — to push far-reaching structural reforms of Michigan's government.

I can't help but be mildly encouraged by all of this. We've got a long way to go, but maybe, just maybe, that glimmer you noticed this morning was, at long last, the first light at the end of the tunnel.

Obama's message of national unity was life-altering one our years ago I sat transfixed on my sofa, not knowing that the words I was hearing would change the course of my life. It was July 27 and the Democratic National Convention was in full swing, on its way to nominating John Kerry for the presidency.

Whatever misgivings I had about the party or the candidate at the time, I tuned into the coverage looking for some reason to vote.

I found that reason from an reason to vote.

I found that reason from an unlikely source; a self-defined "skinny kid with a funny name" who would challenge me to get involved in more ways than I could have imag-

"Tonight is a particular honor for me because — let's face it — my presence on this stage is pretty unlikely," Barack Obama said.

This son of a Kenyan goat herder and a mother from the heartland of America told me to ignore the pundits and politicos that divided this country into warring sides, clutched together in a freefall to the bottom. He professed a new way to view politics; one where you can disagree without being disagreeable.

As a student who worked as the director of a camping program for emotionally impaired children, I had a strong leaning to liberal politics and an even greater suspicion of partisan politics. I grew up in a conservative Catholic household with certified public accountants as parents.

I did not hate Republicans, only disagreed with them on solutions to our common problems. Sen. Obama's words were music to my ears.

In two years time I had changed my major to political science, become editor in chief of my student newspaper, managed a campaign and begun interning for a congressman. I would later invest what little spare time I had toward drafting Obama to run for president and working for him in the primary.

In 2006 I attended a rally in Detroit where Obama came to campaign for Gov. Jennifer Granholm. In a union hall, full of Democratic supporters, Sen. Obama touched on many issues and reasons to vote for Granholm; all of which I have forgotten. However, what I do remember from the evening is that it was nothing like the speech I had seen by President Bill Clinton who spoke in Taylor. Moving away from demonizing Dick DeVos and not focusing on common cheerleader-like antics, Obama chose to elevate the discussion by activating the crowd outside of partisan politics to create a stronger country for everyone.

What I also remember is the almost 10 minutes of the speech devoted to chastising the Democratic Party for past mistakes. While challenging your friends and allies is an uneasy path, it has been the journey that Sen. Obama has chosen to take.

In another speech I attended at the Detroit Economic Club — dubbed by a friend as the dumbest speech he has given — Obama challenged the domestic auto industry's failure to manufacture fuel efficient cars that are more marketable.

What I saw in Sen. Obama was an eagerness to speak hard truths and face ugly facts in order to address our past and present course so that we could all move forward.

So now, in my last year at the University of Michigan and working as a community organizer — a path also inspired by the Senator — I have returned in the wake of a national convention. I was elected a delegate last spring and traveled to Denver to cast my vote for the person I campaigned for in the primary and who inspired me to get involved not only in politics, but in my community as well.

On Thursday night of the convention I sat nine rows from the stand and watched in awe as one of my heroes made yet another convention speech. I sat transfixed yet again in wonder at how unlikely my presence was.

Michael Siegrist of Canton is a student of political science at the University of Michigan and is a community organizer. He served as a Michigan delegate at the Democratic National Convention last week in Denver.

"We're anticipating a response because we've done things like this in the past," said John Hale, director of development for the Salvation Army for Eastern Michigan. "It absolutely is a slow time" for fund raising. He and other leaders appreciate the foresight and generosity of the late Matilda Wilson.

'We are concerned," said Rochester Hills resident Hale, citing high unemployment and foreclosures. "I think that the need is still high right now."

In a recent letter to supporters, Maj. Norman S. Marshall, divisional commander, cited steeply rising grocery prices, as well as gasoline and utility costs. Marshall noted one-third of Detroit residents already live in poverty, and "the struggle to care for our neighbors in need is getting much harder."

The Denby Center includes a maternity program for single at-risk mothers, and could be closed. Denby houses pregnant teens and their newborn babies, and prepares the young women to make a healthy transition to motherhood. In addition, its residential treatment program gives pre-adolescent girls from broken homes support to find the way to a productive future, through physical, emotional, medical and educational help.

A memo in the August letter from Capt. Katherine Clausell, who runs the Denby Center, notes many teens would otherwise terminate their pregnancies if not for help received. "Our maternity program prepares young, first-time mothers for the critical challenges of motherhood and for a self-sufficient future," Clausell wrote.

Marshall and other Salvation Army leaders have asked for a response by Oct. 3. Hale said Aug. 20 officials anticipate the Denby Center will stay open, but it's too early to gauge response to the major's August

Also cited in the letter was after-school tutoring at the Wayne-Westland corps on Venoy in Westland.

Wayne-Westland corps commander Capt. Derek Rose just hired a certified teacher for the after-school tutoring. "So we're looking to start full-force Sept. 15," he said.

"It's very important," Rose agreed about late summer and fall funding. "We are scraping the bottom of the barrel financially. We are in somewhat of a deficit right now, so we are looking to increase any funding

Rose, whose wife, Joanna, is also a Wayne-Westland corps commander, agreed some people think of Christmas efforts involving the Salvation Army. "It's kind of one of those things that gets set to the side," Derek Rose said. "As always we appreciate any support our community in Wayne-Westland can provide." Checks payable to the Salvation Army may be sent to the Salvation Army, Eastern Michigan Division, 16130 Northland Drive, Southfield, MI 48075. You can also donate online at www.salmich.org, or by calling (877) SAL-MICH.

"I think we can do it as a community," Hale said of the fund-raising goal.

investment can have a good year. If you just look at any one year, you get a distorted view.

I use the analogy of whether a college education is a good investment over a one-year period. You need to judge the benefit of a college education over a much longer period of time. The same theory applies with investments. I generally judge investments over three-, five- and 10year time frames.

Looking at long-term track records, you have a better understanding of a fund. If you just look at three-year returns, any one year might significantly impact that fund.

In addition, I like funds that have more consistent performance vs. funds that are traditionally on roller coaster rides. Some funds will have wide fluctuations in performance. I prefer funds that have a little more consistency.

Another factor I consider is whether the mutual fund management team is invested in their fund. When the management team has money invested, it tends to be more sensitive to certain issues such as taxes and fees.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has changed the disclosure rules over the years and now requires managers to report ownership interest in a fund. Some mutual fund companies make it easy to obtain this information. They have posted it on their Web sites and they report it in their statement of additional information.

Most investors ignore the statement of additional information issued by the mutual fund company, however, that document has a wealth of information for investors including how mutual fund managers are compensated and their bonus arrangement.

fan — I have yet to see a team that executes the team-unity haircut play

Sure enough, Plymouth rolled 47-7 over Salem to get its season off to a hair-raising start.

Although the victory was the direct result of strong play from Matt Skubik, Connor McKinney, Connor Martin and friends - not Fantastic Sam, Bo-Ric or Vidal Sassoon — whoever wielded the clippers on the 'Cats deserves at least a pat on the back.

After some exhausting research, discovered the team-unity haircut ritual dates back to the late-1920s. Rumor has it, that's when members of the Canton Bulldogs - looking for a psychological edge before a pivotal showdown against the Frankford Yellow Jackets - conspired to take the field with bowl-cut haircuts.

While not quite as intimidating as mohawks, the bowl-cuts prevailed but only by a whisker.

The trend spilled over into hockey in the 1950s when a number of Canadian teams bonded thanks to the now-defunct (except for Barry Melrose's) mullet hairstyles.

They won most of their games; unfortunately, they lost most of their girlfriends.

So far, so very, very good for the Salem boys soccer team.

The red-hot Rocks improved their record to 6-0 Tuesday night with an impressive 2-1 triumph over previously unbeaten Northville (4-1).

The match, which was played at Northville, was the Kensington Lakes Activities Association Central Division opener for both squads.

"This was a very big win for us," said Salem coach Ed McCarthy. "Northville is a very good team with tremendous all-around speed. I don't think there's a

Following a scoreless first half, Salem drew first blood just 17 seconds into the second stanza when senior Matt Woster scored off an assist from Garrett Rogers.

Northville knotted that game at 1-all two minutes later on Joey Zywiol's net-

With a draw looming, Salem senior forward Josh Pascarella secured Matt Calupina's free kick in front of the Mustang net and buried the shot for the game-winner.

Salem returns to action Saturday when it defends its title at the East Lansing Invitational.

Salem's Cope shines at premier tourney in London

Kevin Cope recently returned from an extraordinary soccer-based journey that stretched all the way from the Magic Kingdom to the United Kingdom.

The highly accomplished senior defender for Salem's soccer team was a member of the Disney Soccer Showcase All-Stars, who traveled to London, England last month to participate in a week-long slate of games against elite 18-and-under squads from around the world.

"We played against teams from Argentina, Germany, Russia and Chelsea, so the competition was amazing," said Cope, who verbally committed to play college soccer at Michigan State University beginning in the fall of 2009. "At first, I wasn't sure if I was going to do it, but now I'm glad I did. It was a great experience."

Cope's once-in-a-lifetime opportunity was sparked last December when he competed for the Michigan Wolves in a high-caliber showcase tournament in Orlando, Fla.

The athletic defender impressed scouts so much that he was invited to play on the prestigious Disney squad that participated in the inaugural Chelsea Academy Youth Cup, which was sponsored by the famed soccer club Chelsea FC.

"We played surprisingly well," said Cope, referring to the Disney team that finished first in its group's standings. "The players on the teams we were playing - Argentina, Germany, Chelsea FC — had played together for several years and we had just met about a week before the tournament.'

Canton golfer makes 'Guinness'

BY ED WRIGHT OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton resident Jeff Marcero is headed straight for the pages of the Guinness World Records book — and he's taking his putter with him.

On July 20, Marcero was one of 40 people who chipped in to break the world record for the fastest round of golf.

And, no, the group didn't include Tiger

Woods or Usain Bolt. The record-setting contingent, which was put together by radio station WJR and Boyne than it takes some PGA Tour pros to line up a putt: 7 minutes and 56 seconds.

The previous record of 8:47 was set in August of 2003 at Bridelwood Golf Club in Flower Mound, Texas.

Marcero and his fellow record-breakers were strategically placed on three of the Monument's holes (a par 3, par 4 and par 5), which they played six times consecutively. The clock started each time the initial tee shot was struck. Players stationed in the fairways and around the greens ran to the resting spot of each shot and proceeded to move the ball toward the hole.

Seven Chiefs score in rout of Franklin

On Tuesday at Canton, the Chiefs broke open a tight contest with six second-half goals on the way to a 7-0 triumph over Livonia Franklin.

The victory improved Canton's record to 3-1-3 overall and 1-0 in the KLAA South Division. The Patriots slipped to 0-5 and 0-1, respectively.

"We only led 1-0 at the half, so Franklin deserves a lot of credit for keeping it close early on," said Canton coach George Tomasso. "Tonight — especially PREP SOCCER in the second half — we had great all-around team play. This is a very unselfish team and it showed tonight."

Senior mid-fielder Scott Zech tallied the lone first-half goal off a helper from fellow captain Kyle Breitmeyer.

Six different Chiefs scored second-half goals: Joey Krizanek, Josh Hurst, Collan Baker, Mitch Reinhart, Sherif Hassanien and Brandon Burt.

Registering second-half assists for the winners were Hassanien (two), Kyle Biega, Reinhart (two) and Zech.

Senior net-minder Nick Turnbull recorded his fourth shutout for Canton.

PLYMOUTH 4, JOHN GLENN 0: In a KLAA South Division game Tuesday, Brad Finnegan's hat trick propelled the host Wildcats (3-3, 1-0) to a win over Westland John Glenn (1-3-1, 0-1).

Sam Maccini also scored for Plymouth, which scored three times in the second half after leading 1-0.

"It was a little sloppy, but eventually we took control," Plymouth coach Jeff Neschich said. Kyle Brindza earned the shutout in goal for the Wildcats.

"We had some opportunities in the first half and could not finish," Glenn first-year coach Jimmy Mortada said. "The second half we got caught pushing up too much. I thought Nelson Kenne played a beautiful game at center midfield."

My up-close-and-personal experience with hair-related gridiron motivation techniques came in the fall of 1978 when I was the quarterback (junior, 5-foot-9, 160 pounds) for the Lansing Harry Hill Panthers. Before every game, members of the offensive unit would rub senior running back Aaron Hegman's incredibly large afro, which resembled an over-watered Chia-Pet.

The routine only worked twice in nine games, but - trust me on this one - it wasn't the 'fro's fault.

Led by Redford-Garden City sports editor Tim Smith, all three Observer grid-pickers were stylin' last week. Smith went 10-2 followed by myself at 8-4 and Livonia-Westland sports editor Brad Emons, who compiled a 7-5 mark.

Despite our early triumphs, over-confidence will not be an issue due to the football selectors' creed we all adhere to: "Success: Hair today, gone tomorrow..."

FRIDAY'S GAMES (ALL GAMES START AT 7 P.M. UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED.)

LIVONIA STEVENSON (1-0) at HOWELL (1-0): This Kensington Lakes Activities ssociation cross-over clash probably won't provide the down-to-thelast-second thrills that last week's Stevenson-Livonia Franklin game offered, but it may come close. The Highlanders crushed Walled Lake Highlanders clusted water cash Northern, 48-17, in Week 1, so they give the Spartans a stern test. PICKS: Wright (Howell): Emons (Stevenson); Smith

SALEM (0-1) at WALLED LAKE NORTHERN SALEM (0-1) at WALLED LARE MORTHERN (0-1): Both of these squads are looking for the kind of early-season triumph that could spark a sudden resurgence following sub-par 2007 campaigns (Salem finished 1-8; Northern was 0-9). After both teams gave up a total of 95 points last week, expect this one to be a barn-burner; PICKS: Wright (Salem); Fmons (Northern); Smith (Salem);

WATERFORD MOTT (1-0) at WAYNE MEMORIAL (0-1): Mott's defense turned Westland John Glenn's offense to apple sauce in last week's 7-0 victory over the Rockets. Can it turn the trick again against a team in the same school district? The Zebras hope not. Picks: Wright (Mott); Emons (Mott); Smith

(Wayne). White Lake Lakeland (1-0) at Canton (1-9): This is the first-ever meeting on the gridiron for the Eagles and Chiefs, both of whom are coming off impressive Week 1 wins. Teams that are facing Canton's run-oriented, ball-faking offense for the first time usually struggle, but Lakeland's offense can score the Picks wright usually struggle, but Lakeland's offense can score, too. PICKS: Wright (Canton); Emons (Lakeland); Smith

WALLED LAKE WESTERN (1-0) at LIVONIA RANKLIH (0-1): These two squads know each other well after several years of squaring off against one another in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division. The Patriots are still stinging from a tough one-point loss to rival Stevenson while the Warriors are riding a wave of momentum in the wake of their thrilling 22-21 triumph over Monroe: PICKS: Wright (Franklin); Emons (Western); Smith (Western).

WATERFORD KEYTERING (1-0) at LIYONIA CHURCHILL (0-1): The Chargers' hopes of getting into the win column for the first time this season won't get any easier against a Kettering defense that yielded just seven points to Wayne last week. PICKS: Wright (Churchill); Emons (Kettering); Smith (Kettering).
WESTLAND JOHN GLENN (0-1) at PINCKNEY (0-1): The Pirates suffered a tough 21-7

(0-1): The Pirates suffered a tough 21-7 setback to Northville last week while the Rockets fell, 7-0, to Waterford Mott. With several ominous opponents on deck, both units need a 'W' to propel them in the right direction. PICKS: Wright (John Glenn); Emons

BRIGHTON (0-1) at PLYMOUTH (1-0) at PCEP junior varsity stadium: Ironically, the Buildogs will be playing their second straight game on the PCEP campus's junior varsity field, so they may have home-field advantage - at least for a few minutes. The Wildcats took to the air last week as quarterbacks Matt Skubik and Ryan Barrera combined for five TD passes. PICKS: Wright (Plymouth): Emons (Brighton); Smith

BLOOMFIELD HILLS CRANBROOK-KINGSWOOD BLOOMFIELD HILLS CRANBROOK-KINGSWO (0-1) at Livonia Clarence Fille (1-0): Clarence viile made a statement in last week's 53-0 trouncing of Detroit University Prep while Cranbrook was dropping a 47-14 decision to Detroit Loyola PICKS: Wright (C'ville); Emons (C'ville); Smith (C'ville). GARDEN CITY (1-0) at ROMULUS (0-1): Could this ha the wage of the Couract

Could this be the year of the Cougar? Judging by last week's convincing win over Taylor Kennedy, the answer could be a resounding "Yes." PICKS: Wright (Garden City); Eith).

mith (Garden City).
RIVER ROUGE (G-1) at REDFORD THURSTON (0-1): The Eagles will look to get on track after getting clipped in their opener by Croswell-Lexington. Mega Gold rival River Rouge is hoping to rebound from a demoralizing 28-point less to Heaper Woods Pleus Wilsh loss to Harper Woods. PICKS: Wright (Thurston); Emons (Thurston); Smith

WYANDOTTE ROOSEVELT (1-0) at REDFORD UNION (1-0): This game may prove to be one of the marquee match-ups in the Mega White this week as both squads look to start the season unbeaten. PICKS: Wright (RU); Emons (Wyandotte); mith (RU). REDFORD COVENANT (1-0) at DETROIT LOYOLA (1-0) - 4 p.m.: The Loyola defense better be prepared to deal with Covenant wide receiver Jamonne Chester, who's headed to Indiana to play football in 2009. PICKS: Wright (Loyola); Emons (Loyola); Smith (Covenant).

SATURDAY'S GAME HARPER WOODS (1-0) at LUTHERAN WESTLAND (0-1): Things can only get better for the Warriors, who were drubbed by Dearborn Heights Annapolis in their 2008 debut. PICKS: Wright (Harper Woods); Emons (Harper

Julie Brown, editor . (734) 953-2111 . jcbrown@hometownlife.com

As the number of Americans renting homes increases with the current housing foreclosure crisis, a new survey released in July by Allstate finds most renters are inadequately prepared to protect their belongings.

While homeowners coverage is required as a part of most mortgages, renters face no such insurance requirement. As a result, just 40 percent of survey respondents said they have renters insurance, meaning that over 50 million of the approximately 87 million Americans living in rental housing do not have insurance to cover their belongings in case of loss.

The share of rental households jumped by about one million in 2007 and this group is likely to expand further if foreclosure trends continue, according to Harvard University's Joint Center for Housing Studies. Now more than ever, it is critical for renters to be prepared to protect their possessions in case of a loss.

Jeff Juenemann, owner of Juenemann Insurance in Westland, agreed that renters need insurance "because the landlord building policy does not protect the tenant's property." A landlord's policy also won't offer liability coverage if someone who doesn't live in the dwelling gets hurt there.

"I don't think they necessarily are trying to save money because it's not expensive," Northville Township resident Juenemann said of a tenant's policy. When you buy a home, the mortgage company will require insurance, but that's not true for renters.

"I think it's just not top of mind," said Juenemann, noting many renters have the wrong assumption "somebody's protecting their stuff."

Allstate's survey also found more than two-thirds of renters say they have not done a home inventory check list, or tried to estimate the cost of replacing everything in their home in the past year or two. Fewer than one in five renters say they have taken photographs or videotaped their possessions during the past two years to help document what they own.

"If nothing else, it's a good memory tool," Juenemann said of possession photos or a video. "Anything you can provide is helpful to you and the insurance company. Friends may have helped you move and will remember from visits your TV and other large items, he added. You don't need receipts for such a claim.

Juenemann has found in the last couple years some landlords now require proof of insurance for renters. They'll come into his Ford Road office and say, "My apartment company wants me to prove to them I have a policy." That shows recognition of the need in the apartment industry, he said.

A typical tenants policy has a $15,000 contents minimum and $100,000 liability, he renters underestimate the threat theft poses to their belongings. Nearly half (49 percent) of renters surveyed estimated the number of annual burglaries and other property crimes in the U.S. at less than 100,000, while the actual number of burglaries alone is 20 times that. According to the FBI's most recent Uniform Crime Report, there were more than two million burglaries in the U.S. in 2006. Only one in 20 renters guessed the number was in this range.

"This survey highlights the importance of educating American families who rent about the risks facing their possessions," said Jeff Deigl, assistant vice president of specialty product lines for Allstate. The survey found that the biggest reasons renters don't purchase renters insurance are: 1) they haven't made the time to look into it (43 percent) or 2) they believe the coverage is too expensive (33 percent). Various other reasons such as not owning enough valuables to justify having the insurance and believing landlords are responsible for insuring renter's personal property were given by 23 percent and 10 percent of respondents, respectively.

Three out of 10 respondents thought renters insurance cost at least three times as much as its actual price tag, an average of $15 per month. Another 20 percent had no idea how much it cost. When polled, six out of 10 renters thought renters insurance was worthwhile, even at an average of $20 per month.

A majority of renters (54 percent) say that if they could protect only one of several types of possessions from burglary or fire, they would choose personal items such as photographs or letters. Sixtyeight percent of women said they would save photos and letters compared to 40 percent of men.

As for homeowners, Juenemann acknowledged homeowners insurance is becoming more expensive but still necessary. "It's typically your largest financial asset, so you wouldn't want to lose it to a freak accident," he said. "For $500, $600, $6700, you don't put $200,000 at risk."

Juenemann added that renters can pair up a tenant's policy with their auto policy under the same company. "It'll give your auto policy as much as a 10 percent discount," which could very well pay for the tenant's policy.

The survey release kicks off a comprehensive effort by Allstate to encourage U.S. renters to better prepare for personal property losses.

Go to www.allstate. com/renters-insurance to download a home inventory checklist and for more important information. The home inventory list can also be accessed directly here http://www.knowyourstuff. org/allstate/.

The national survey was conducted online from May to June 2008 with a sample of 1,000 renters nationwide. Additional surveys were conducted online during this period with 500 renters from each of the following 13 states: California; Colorado; Connecticut; Florida; Georgia; Illinois; New Jersey; Ohio; Oklahoma; Tennessee; Texas; Virginia; and Washington. In New York State, 200 renters were surveyed in each of four upstate areas: Albany; Buffalo; Rochester; and Syracuse. All surveys were conducted by Opinion Research Corp. for Allstate.

Boards retain discretion under laws

Q: I want to sue our association for not enforcing all of its restrictions and rules set forth in our community's governing documents. The board refuses to enforce some of the rules and tells me that they have that right to make that decision. What do you think?

A: Generally speaking, the problem is that the association will not enforce the restrictions and rules which impact or otherwise affect the members. It would appear that the board has an obligation and safety of other

to enforce the restrictions that impact as above-described. There may be petty violations and/or temporary violations which do not justify the board taking affirmative action for various reasons. Money and legal fees should not necessarily be a basis for the board not taking action. The board still has wide discretion as to what action it should take especially when, generally speaking, members of the association have an independent right to seek enforcement of the subdivision's restrictions and/or rules.

Q: Our condominium association refuses to make any adjustments for me to build a ramp because I am disabled. I have asked them and they refuse, what can I do?

A: The Michigan Condominium Act specifically requires the association to make modifications to the extent reasonable to accommodate disabled persons. If your association refuses to do so, they may be liable under the Fair Housing Act, Michigan Civil Rights Act, and/or the Michigan Condominium Act. You may wish to retain an attorney, assuming you can afford it and/or contact the Michigan Civil Rights Commission after giving the Association an opportunity, one more time, to correct the situation.

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

SCION GROWS WITHOUT GROWING UP

Advertising Feature

CAReport

When Toyota unveiled its new, youthoriented Scion brand at auto shows six years ago, Jim Farley, who was then a Toyota vice president, proclaimed, "We're about providing Generation Y with concepts that stand out from the crowd," according to Brandweek magazine.

And when Scion debuted, everything was different about it: products that broke the mold, and marketing that did too. Now vice president of marketing for Ford, Farley isn't saying anymore what he thinks about Scion. But car buvers are.

Their conclusion: Scion has succeeded on a lot of fronts, including with genuinely iconoclastic products. But its grasp on its coveted target demographic of 18- to 24-yearolds just forming their buying habits isn't as solid as Toyota would have liked at this point. It's true that, through July, Scion sales were up about 7 percent so far this year compared with a year earlier. And with the entire auto industry struggling, even Toyota overall, that is not an accomplishment to be scoffed at.

But Scion is definitely in the process of trying to rediscover its cachet. In its early days, about 80 percent of Scion buyers never had shopped Toyota before, and they were overwhelmingly young shoppers - so Toyota had scored a bullseye in terms of its original purposes for the brand. Young people were clamoring for the xA and the xB, and online visitors flocked to the Scion web site.

Yet since Scion's initial success, some of the edginess has disappeared from its products and its marketing. In its initial marketing, Scion relied on underground hip-hop music and culture, including lots of advertising on web site that conentrated on specific music genres, and promoting events through e-mail blasts and banners.

Yet nowadays, Scion is trying to expand the appeal of its brand "and not to drop whoever is aging," in the words of Jeri Yoshizu, sales and promotions manager for Scion. So the brand has broadened to new types of marketing partnerships - such as its new initiative with Kitsune, a French boutique with a clothing line and music label that is considered very sophisticated. Product-wise, Scion has introduced a redesigned xB as well as the xD, to replace the xA. The xB is larger, making it more attractive to, say, young mothes as well as young singles - but also, in the process of getting a bit larger, losing some of the edginess that had made it so appealing to the pre-parenthood crowd. A new tC, fully redesigned tC coupe is due to hit showrooms in 2010, after the original tC received a few minor updates since its 2005 debut. Five years is a long time between full-model overhauls.

But the xD is where Scion already has amply demonstrated its willingness to continue to push the envelope with new products. It recently replaced the original xA, which had too much of the look and feel of a typical economy car - and definitely not hip.

The xD, on the other hand, oozes cool. It mimics the basic-box design of the truly groundbreaking xB but throws a few curves into the styling as well, and is a bit larger.

Intriguing controls are part of Scion's interior design appeal.

Edmunds.com said it looks like "a snub-nose 1916 Mack AC truck." As Scion's new entry-level model, xD sports a more powerful engine than the xA, a lengthy list of standard equipment and an abundance of dealer-installed options for extras, especially when it comes to audio equipment. At the same time, xD still doesn't offer much cargo space - but you certainly know that from just looking at the vehicle!

in just one trim level. It is offered only with a 1.8liter, four-cylinder engine with variable-valve timing that produces 128 horsepower and 125 pound-feet of torque. A five-speed manual or four-speed automatic transmission are available.

Standard features include full power accessories, remote keyless entry, airconditioning, cruise control, antilock brakes with brake assist, front seat side airbags and full-length side curtain airbags. Since the Scion xD caters to the youth market, the in-car entertainment consists of a standard Pioneer 160-watt stereo with an MP3-compatible CD player, an iPod/ auxiliary audio input and audio controls on the steering wheel.

reflects their individual style - including larger lowering springs, an exhaust system, a carbonfiber engine cover and an overhead console.
