Saturdays @ the Penn

The Plymouth Community Arts Council hosts its next Saturdays @ the Penn performance Jan. 2 at the Penn Theater in downtown Plymouth.

Special musical host and performer is Beverly Meyer, The Music Lady. Special guest performer is juggler Joel Tacey, with laughs and fun. Announcer is Tamara Trudelle.

Tickets are $4 and may be purchased the day of the show. Doors open at 11:05 a.m. To purchase tickets before the concert or for information for groups, contact Deb Madonna. (734) 377-0914, e-mail clarion@storytellerdesign.com, or Tamara Trudelle, (734) 416-4278, e-mail tamara@plymoutharts.com.

Offices closed

Canton Township offices will be closed New Year's Eve and New Year's Day but will resume regular business hours on Monday, Jan. 4. Normal trash pickup will occur on New Year's Eve, and the township's trash hauler has no routes on Fridays, so service will not be affected by New Year's Day.

Holiday trash pickup

There will be no curbside trash or recycling collection in Plymouth Township on Friday because of the New Year's Day holiday. Neighborhoods that normally have a Friday pickup will have garbage and recyclables picked up on Saturday.

In the city of Plymouth, the three-days-a-week collection schedule is not affected by the holiday.

The township is offering curbside pickup of live Christmas trees through Friday, Jan. 15, and has also extended yard-waste collection through the same date.

Christmas trees set out for collection should be free of ornaments, lights and tinsel and should not be bagged.

Brush and branches up to 6 inches in diameter must be tied with string or twine in bundles no more than 3 feet long. No wire or plastic ties are allowed.

Corrugated cardboard and boxboard (such as gift boxes) are recyclable. Cut or break down larger cardboard and boxboard pieces into sections no larger than 3 feet by 3 feet, bundle with string or twine and place next to the orange recycling bin.

Filled containers, bags and bundles should not exceed 50 pounds each.

For more information, call the township's solid waste department at (734) 354-3270, Ext. 4.

Churches doing more with less

Requests for help up; attendance remains steady

BY KAREN SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Alex Rahill is pastor of Canton's lifechurch, which placed baskets with $100 Meijer gift cards inside curtain-veiled areas of the auditorium to be taken by "those in need or hurting."

Christmas is over, but the giving season doesn't end for churches.

Year-round, area churches provide food, monetary assistance — even counseling — to those in need. And, with the Detroit area recently posting the highest unemployment rate of 49 metropolitan areas with a Census 2000 population of one million or more, several of those churches are doing more than ever to help.

Mt. Hope Congregational Church in Livonia and Fair Haven Baptist Church in Westland both recently started new programs to assist the hungry, and St. Robert Bellarmine in Redford recently held a series of seminars for the unemployed and now offers a support group for people who have lost their jobs.

The churches assist not only their own members but people who come in off the street, even though some of those congregations are struggling themselves.

'A GREAT OPPORTUNITY'

"People of faith see it as a great opportunity to partner with people to find hope," said Robert Hegdal, pastor at St. John's Lutheran Church in Redford, which is looking into providing classes in managing finances in troubling times.

Mt. Hope Congregational's new Angel Food Ministries program, started just six months ago, already assists 130 families, pastor Steve Schafer said.

The John Bolde Memorial Food Depot at the St. Mary Community Outreach Center in Westland has given out 163,132 pounds of food this year, assisting more than 30 families a day.

Bridge project connects people to nature in Canton

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Five of seven wooden pedestrian bridges crossing the Lower Rouge River have now been installed in Canton along a nature recreation trail that's connected for more than four miles between Haggerty and Sheldon roads, north of Michigan Avenue.

Work crews still have to finish bridge approaches and make them accessible for people with disabilities, but residents in Canton and elsewhere should, within weeks, be able to hike, jog, ride non-motorized bikes and go cross-country skiing along the newly connected Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail.

Two final bridges are set for installation next spring between Sheldon and Canton Center roads to create a seamless, five-mile-long, 10-foot-wide trail, which also has smaller offshoots.

With every new bridge that's installed, a project 10 years in the planning comes a step closer to being finished.

"It's a great development," said Brad Sharp, Canton parks and facilities manager.

Local officials say the recreation area is one of the best-kept secrets in Canton and, indeed, Wayne County. They hope nature enthusiasts will begin to discover the quiet, wooded trail that belies the bustling township that borders it on the north and south.

Already, the winding path can be accessed from a trail head earlier built on Morton Taylor Road north of Michigan Avenue. Trail users can park their vehicles in a parking lot near the site and begin to explore.

Robert Belair, assistant township engineer, has said the pedestrian bridges culminate a dream that began a decade ago. The project was made possible with $671,654 in state, county and township funding — largely from grants — that was earlier allocated for the project.

Canton residents have long cited the need for more walking trails as among their top recreation priorities.

Township officials hired Nature Bridges, Inc., of Tallahassee, Fla., to bring in the prefabricated bridges and assemble them over the Lower Rouge River. The bridges measure 10 feet wide and span 45 to 65 feet in length.

The bridges were brought to Michigan on large trucks and placed over the river. In coming weeks, compacted, crushed stone will be spread along the paths leading directly up to the bridges.

The four-mile length of trail between Haggerty to just west of Sheldon is expected to be ready for use within a few weeks, although the path already has been in use for a shorter stretch east and west of the Morton Taylor trail head.

Local man charged in alleged Ponzi scheme

BY KURT KUBAN
STAFF WRITER

A Canton man was one of three Michigan men arrested last week and charged with cheating senior citizens out of money in an elaborate Ponzi scheme.

Robert Antonio Valeri Jr., 32, of Canton, his father, Robert Valeri Sr., 59, of South Lyon, and Jeffrey Ron Mitchell, 39, of Walled Lake, were all arrested Dec. 22 for their alleged roles in a massive Ponzi scheme, which reportedly took in an estimated $350 million nationwide and as much as $9 million from Michigan seniors.

According to Michigan Attorney General Mike Cox, the men were allegedly involved in the scam with Indiana resident Michael Kelly, who was reportedly the mastermind behind the scheme. Cox said the scheme involved selling time shares in the form of an unregistered security called a "Universal Lease" through a company called Resort Holdings International. They are accused of targeting senior citizens and retirees with marketing efforts that illegally promoted the lease as a safe investment opportunity with the promise of large monetary returns.

While seniors purchasing the lease were allegedly given the option to use the vacation property during specified times over a 25-year term, they were also allegedly given the option of having a purported third-party management company (owned by Kelly) arrange for the rental of the unit during the same time period for a guaranteed 9-percent return — whether the unit was rented or not. They were allegedly encouraged to elect the latter option, and everyone who purchased the lease did.

Nick De Leeuw of the state Attorney General's office said the scheme imploded due to deliberate overselling of shares in the Universal Lease program, leaving investors with empty pockets and broken promises. He said 125 Michigan seniors were ripped off in the scheme, primarily in metro Detroit.

Valeri Sr., Valeri Jr. and Mitchell were arraigned Dec. 22 in Dearborn's 19th District Court and charged with conducting a criminal enterprise (racketeering), a felony punishable by up to 20 years in prison and/or a fine of up to $100,000,

Melissa Behring

Enjoy a stylish night of mesmerizing music as the Melissa Behring Project performs at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill Friday, Jan. 8. This popular group delivers a perfect balance between smoky "torch" jazz standards and a fresh approach to many familiar tunes while featuring the sultry songstress Melissa Behring and jazz pianist Neil Donato. This ensemble also draws on Detroit's finest assortment of jazz musicians, presenting a contemporary jazz quartet in a traditional format.

The Melissa Behring Project offers up classic songs by Cole Porter and Johnny Mercer. They also incorporate more mainstream songs by artists such as Prince and Sade and put their own jazz interpretation into it. Each musician that makes up the components of the Project offers a creative spark of talent that forms one fluid motion of music.

This delightful night of music will start at 8 p.m. and all seats are $12. This and all First Friday Studio Series performances are general admission and will take place in the Biltmore Studio, an intimate setting for enjoying live music. A cash bar will also be available.

To purchase tickets or to download the entire season schedule, visit www.canton-villagetheater.org. Tickets can also be purchased at Summit on the Park by phone at (734) 394-5460 or in person. The Summit's box office hours are: Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. To purchase tickets at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill box office (50400 Cherry Hill in Canton), stop by during box office hours: Monday-Friday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. The Village Theater ticket office will also be open one hour prior to each performance.

Adolescent depression

The Plymouth District Library welcomes Melvin G. McInnis, M.D., of the U-M Depression Center as he presents vital information about the causes and symptoms of adolescent depression and bipolar disorder in a program set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Christmas help

The Salvation Army Christmas Fund Raising Campaign for the Northville, Plymouth, Canton, and Belleville service area has currently collected $212,300, or 67 percent of its $315,000 Christmas goal for this year. The Red Kettle drive had collected $175,132 of its targeted $265,000 as of Monday. "However, we still need to raise the remaining funds to reach our overall Christmas goal," said Capt. Dan Hull, the Plymouth corps officer. "The Salvation Army wishes to acknowledge and express our thanks to everyone who rang a bell, sent a donation in, or volunteered." Although the bell-ringing portion of the campaign is over, the fund-raising campaign runs through January. Donations can be brought or mailed to 9451 S. Main Street, Plymouth MI 48170. The corps also served 550 families through its Christmas food basket and toy programs.

Village Theater to host New Year's Eve party

Still looking for a last-minute idea for New Year's Eve?

The Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton is having an event, "Putting on the Glitz: An Evening of Comedy & Celebration," sponsored by Kickers All-Star Grill.

Three comedians, including headliner Kevin Meaney, will entertain the theater crowd during an evening that also includes appetizers, entrees and deserts, party favors, live entertainment, dancing and a midnight champagne toast — all for $65 per person.

Patrons must be 21 years or older. The event is at the Village Theater but the food, drink and entertainment are being provided by Kickers.

Theater doors open at 6 p.m. for strolling appetizers, a cash bar and music by Michael James. A dinner buffet is scheduled for 7:45-9 p.m. featuring meatballs, shrimp cocktail, cheeses, salad, roast beef, salmon, pasta in cream sauce, a vegetable medley, chicken bianco, tiramisu and cheesecake.

Meaney, along with Sal Demilio and emcee Keith Ruff, will be on the main stage at 9:45 p.m. Meaney has over 25 years of comedic experience, and his act includes a combination of physical humor, impersonations, caricatures and his signature "man on the street" interviews. The Emmy Award winner has appeared on television shows such as The Tonight Show, Saturday Night Live, Letterman, Oprah and his own HBO specials.

Patrons only interested in the comedy show may pay $30 and arrive at 9 p.m.

The evening will include a champagne toast at midnight, along with music and dancing 11:15 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Tickets are available online at www.canton-villagetheater.org. The Village Theater at Cherry Hill is a 400-seat facility, located at 50400 Cherry Hill Rd., Canton, MI 48187. For dinner or show information, call (734) 261-0555.

Rescuing the mission

PCA project helps shelter provide for the homeless

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Detroit Rescue Mission this year celebrated its 100th year of continued service providing food, shelter and services to ease homelessness and substance addiction.

It's a century of work that wouldn't have been possible without help like it got this month from students at Plymouth Christian Academy. PCA students put together personal hygiene packages for the homeless who depend on the Detroit Rescue Mission for their survival.

"The kids love it," PCA's Bonnie Varney said. "It's the whole circle for them, because they're served, and they serve others. It's good for the kids to see there are things beyond the walls of our community."

The students put together some 225 care packages, bagging toiletries, shampoo, soaps and other hygiene products. They delivered them to the Detroit Rescue Mission, where the 3,500 homeless served by the group — among them some 1,200 people who sleep there — can use them to get clean. It helps the DRM with its mission, which is to minister to the total person — body, soul and spirit.

The DRM provides a million meals annually at seven different facilities, along with providing 160,000 nights of emergency shelter and transitional housing and substance abuse treatment for more than 1,700 men and 850 women. More than 1,000 inner-city children get a summer camping experience and 75 kids in Highland Park and Detroit get recreation and prevention programs on a weekly basis. More than 75,000 clothing items are also provided to the needy from the mission's clothing bank.

And mission officials say help like that they get from Plymouth Christian Academy is crucial.

"It's critical," said Bruce

Plymouth Christian Academy students Ian Hay, Matthew Cusumano and Nathan Kelly pack up hygiene products for the gift bags.

Rebecca Cardinal was all smiles while putting together gift bags Plymouth Christian Academy donated to the Detroit Rescue Mission.

Plymouth Christian Academy students Slate Spencer (from left), Noah Brown and Jonathan Taylor pray for the people who will receive the gift bags donated to the Detroit Rescue Mission.

Students Ashley Faulkner, Bailey Brown, Paige Perkey, Brendan Wright and Jackson Austin assemble items for some 225 gift bags Plymouth Christian Academy donated to the Detroit Rescue Mission.

Calderwood, DRM's director of church relations. "It helps (homeless) maintain a positive self-image ... you know people care about you."

That was certainly one of the benefits for Carl Riggins, who spent more than three years sleeping in abandoned buildings and doorways, "anywhere I could rest my head." On the streets because of what he calls his "own irresponsibility," Riggins admits he "stumbled" into the help provided by the Detroit Rescue Mission.

And while the DRM's mission is executed largely in Detroit, Plymouth Christian Academy students still benefit from the experience.

"As a school, that's what we want our kids to experience as well," Varney said. "We want them to experience the joy of serving others, so that when they grow up, that's who they are ... people who care about other people."

And the lesson isn't being lost on the students.

"We wanted to help the mission, to reach out to them," said 10-year-old Seth Windle of Plymouth. "It makes us feel good to know we were helping out the community, and helping people who don't have what we have."

PUBLIC SAFETY

CANTON POLICE BRIEFS

Suspect sought in purse snatching

1 Canton police are asking for the public's help in identifying and locating a suspect who robbed a woman of her purse outside the Borders store on Ford Road near Morton Taylor. Detective Sgt. Dave Schreiner said the woman was robbed just before 7:30 p.m. Monday as she was walking into the store. He said the victim was shoved by a man who took her purse and fled south on Morton Taylor in a silver SUV.

The victim told police the suspect was a black male, 6-foot-1, clean shaven, 20 to 40 years old with a medium build. He was wearing a black winter jacket.

Anyone who has information about the robbery is urged to call Canton police at (734) 394-5400. To make an anonymous tip for a possible cash reward of up to $1,000, call Crime Stoppers at 1 (800) SPEAK-UP.

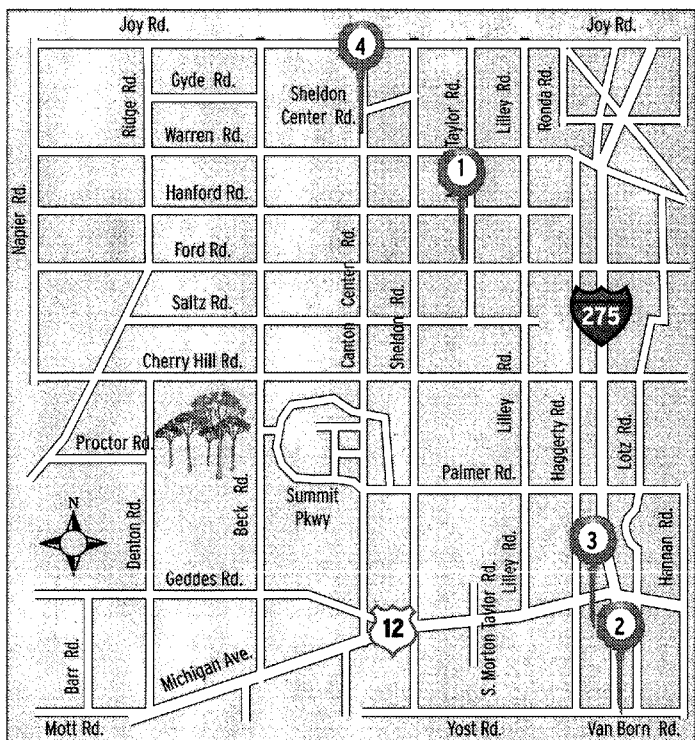

Suspects crash vehicle

2 Two suspects, including one man who was hospitalized, were facing charges after leading Canton police on a high-speed chase that ended in a one-car crash in Detroit on Dec. 22.

A police report gave the following synopsis:

Officers on patrol on southbound Haggerty near Van Born saw a man driving a green Ford Taurus fail to stop for a flashing red light shortly before 1 a.m. Dec. 22. The suspect's car turned eastbound on Van Born and officers initiated a traffic stop.

The Taurus continued east past I-275 and then pulled over just before Hannan, only to accelerate at a high rate of speed as officers approached the car. Police, ultimately joined by other officers including Michigan State Police and Dearborn police, pursued the Taurus east on Van Born, south on Hannan, east on Ecorse, south on Merriman, east onto the I-94 ramp, where a female passenger got out, then east on I-94 to the Wyoming exit, where the driver lost control, hit a wall and was thrown through a rear window.

Police said the driver at times crossed the center line during the chase.

After the crash, the driver was taken to a hospital for injuries he sustained. Police searched the trunk of the car and found several small bags of marijuana.

Police said the female passenger had been captured near the scene where she got out of the car, and authorities learned she was wanted for an outstanding warrant for home invasion.

The woman was taken into custody, and the male driver was facing arrest after his release from a hospital.

Tires slashed

3 A woman told police the tires of her vehicle had been slashed with a knife sometime between 8:30 p.m. Christmas Eve and 10:30 a.m. Christmas Day on Old Michigan, southeast of Michigan and Haggerty.

Business burglarized

4 Police reported that someone broke a garage door window and stole money from the Fast Lane Quick Oil Change on Canton Center north of Warren around 7:37 p.m. Sunday.

Officers were dispatched to the business on a report of a possible break-in and were joined by the owner at the scene. An intruder took a small amount of money. The incident remained under investigation.

Winter weather: Play it safe in the cold

Winter in Michigan is a celebrated season despite the extreme drops in temperature posing serious risks and hazards. To combat these potential dangers, the Michigan Department of Community Health has a few guidelines people can follow to stay safe and healthy throughout the cold weather months.

The MDCH recommends people be extremely careful, if using a wood stove, fireplace or space heater in their home. Always keep a multi-purpose, dry chemical fire extinguisher near the area that's being heated. Don't burn paper in a fireplace or wood stove and don't leak flue gas indoors. If using an indoor gas heater, be sure it is located in a well-ventilated space and only use the type of fuel recommended by the manufacturer.

Regardless of the type of heating device being used, be sure that it is up to date and meets all safety standards. Toxic fumes, such as carbon monoxide, from old or faulty heaters can cause unconsciousness or death from lack of oxygen.

While inside, monitor the indoor temperature carefully. Because they lose body heat much faster than adults, infants should never sleep in a cold room. It is also necessary for older adults to take extra home heating precautions, as they tend to have slower metabolisms and make and retain less heat than other adults.

If a person is caring for an infant or senior citizen, be sure to frequently check that their homes are adequately heated. If heating is not at a safe level, making alternative housing arrangements is recommended.

When the weather is extremely cold, and especially if there are high winds, try to stay indoors. Making trips outside as brief as possible can help to reduce the potential dangers associated with cold weather.

To remain healthy and safe this winter, follow these cold-weather tips while outdoors:

- Dress warmly and stay dry. Be sure to dress in layers in wind resistant clothing. Wool, silk or polypropylene inner layers will hold more body heat than cotton. If clothing is wet, go inside as soon as possible and remove the wet clothing as soon as possible.

- Avoid exertion. Cold weather can put extra strain on the heart. A person with heart disease or high blood pressure should follow their doctor's advice about shoveling snow or other hard work in the cold. The body is already working hard to stay warm, so extra work can cause an overload.

- Cover exposed skin. Always wear a warm hat that covers ears, gloves or mittens that cover the full wrist, and a scarf or ski mask to protect face and neck.

- Be safe during recreation. A person should notify friends and family where they will be before going hiking, camping or skiing. Avoid perspiring or becoming overtired. Be prepared to take emergency shelter. Pack dry clothing, a two-wave radio, waterproof matches and paraffin fire starters. Do not use alcohol and other mood altering substances, and avoid caffeinated beverages. Carefully watch for signs of cold-weather health problems.

It is important to be aware of any changes in exposed skin during cold weather periods. Frostbite and hypothermia are very serious conditions that can be lessened by early recognition and treatment. Shivering can be a good indicator that it's time to go in, as it is the first sign that the body is losing heat.

Frostbitten skin is hard, pale, cold and has no feeling. When the frostbitten skin is in warm air, it will become red and painful. Very severe frostbite can cause blisters, gangrene (blackened dead tissue), and deep tissue damage in tendons, muscles, nerves and bones.

Hypothermia is a life-threatening condition that is caused by short exposure to extreme cold or long exposure to mild cold. Symptoms of hypothermia include trembling, stiffness of muscles, puffiness in the face, poor coordination, confusion, and low consciousness and reactivity.

If frostbite, hypothermia or other complications surrounding extreme weather are suspected, seek emergency medical care immediately.

You're invited to our "Moving Down the Street" sale event!

Everyone at Gardenviews is excited about our new location at 117 E. Main Street (1-1/2 blocks away) next door to Edward's Cafe.

We'll miss this old building. We labored long and hard when we gave birth to her and she will always have a place in our hearts. Alas, it's time to move on and present to you a new Gardenviews with all your favorite merchandise, ambiance and soothing shopping experience. We'll be having a grand reopening in February 2010 and you'll all be invited.

In the meantime, we are having a major sale to keep from having to move everything.

Over the years, we've had many requests for the "playhouse" so we'll have a silent auction for it along with the sentry that watched over your children all these years: "Joe the Bear."

TODAY'S HEALTH

THE ROAD TO A NEW YOU

HOW TO CREATE YOUR OWN MOTIVATION — AND REWARD — FOR A NEW YOU IN 2010

If you're like many people, you might have a history of unmet New Year's resolutions. It's common to set big goals and then disappoint yourself by falling short. A wise and more positive approach is to set a series of small, realistic goals that deliver easy successes and quick rewards.

If taking better care of yourself is one of your resolutions, aromatherapy can help strengthen your resolve, make your efforts enjoyable and reward your successes. "Applications of 100 percent pure essential oils (which are distilled from aromatic plants) provide true aromatherapy benefits, as opposed to synthetically perfumed products," says Tom Havran, aromatherapy expert at Aura Cacia. Havran suggests trying these aromatherapy applications as original and effective motivational treats for your senses. They can reward and inspire you along the way, too.

"New you" shower wash

Every day of the year, not just Jan. 1, is a chance for a new beginning. How about some fresh inspiration every morning with a natural, home-crafted shower wash that is much less expensive than synthetically-fragranced, chemical-laden bath products?

Start with 4 ounces of unscented oil-based liquid soap. Add 36 drops of an invigorating essential oil, such as peppermint, rosemary, tangerine or grapefruit. For fun, try some unique combinations. For example, mix equal parts (9 drops each) of peppermint, rosemary, tangerine and grapefruit oils. If you prefer a more invigorating blend, bump up the peppermint and use less grapefruit. Use a bath sponge or loofah to work up the fragrant lather. Here's another tip: follow up your shower with an all-over application of jojoba oil to still-wet skin - it's the best, most natural moisturizer you'll ever use.

Start with a spray bottle and 4 ounces of water. Add 36 drops of centering, purifying oils like sandalwood, tea tree, sweet orange and eucalyptus. Again, have fun with various combinations of all or just a couple essential oils. Shake well, spritz the mat and wipe clean.

Warming muscle soother

A great after-exercise massage oil will reward you for your workout and inspire you to maintain your exercise routine. It not only gives you something to look forward to after your hard work, but helps eliminate any soreness you may have from overdoing it.

First, choose a skin care oil as the base. For a short, friction-generating massage use a light, easily absorbed base oil like grapeseed or jojoba. For a longer massage with extended glide, choose from heavier oils such as sweet almond or apricot kernel. Start with 2 ounces of base oil. Add 18 drops of warming, soothing oils, such as nutmeg, cardamom or eucalyptus.

Havran recommends keeping the eucalyptus drops equal or less to any combination of the other essential oils, but ultimately, it's your personal preference and pleasure.

Along with your other healthy New Year's resolutions, these are just a few ideas to help motivate, reward and pamper yourself at the start of another year. To learn more about using aromatherapy and essential oils, go online and visit www.auracacia.com.

HEALTHIER FOOD HABITS

All the gravy has been ladled. The cookies have crumbled. The red and green candies are on the clearance rack.

That can only mean one thing: people all over the country are resolving to eat better, if not less often. The start of the New Year — and with it, a new decade — means that consumers are focusing on their resolutions to live a healthier lifestyle for themselves, their loved ones, and, for that matter, the planet.

Indeed, there is no time like the present to follow up on your pledge to finally shed those nagging extra pounds, add healthier foods to your diet or slowly incorporate natural, organic and sustainable products into your shopping lists. January is the high point of the year for making such changes.

The hardest part about New Year's resolutions, of course, isn't making them, it's keeping them.

To that end, changing a diet or lifestyle should not be viewed from the outset as a hurdle or a chore. Making it easy, affordable — and fun — helps make a resolution stick.

The next best thing — or maybe just the best thing.

We've all seen illustrations along the lines of "eat this . . . not that," that show a bag of chips which should be replaced by, say, a raw handful of vegetables. But for those of us who like to crunch on some salty snacks as we unwind after a busy day or eat lunch in the middle of the day, such substitutions can seem more like a penalty than a reward.

If you're feeling that way, look for foods that offer some attributes of traditionally craved snacks. Snyder's of Hanover, for instance, recently introduced new Pretzel Chips that offer the hearty flavor of fresh pretzels along with the slight, crisp texture of traditional potato chips with less than 1 gram of fat per serving. Pretzel Chips, in Original and Garden Veggie, also fit into any resolutions to go natural for 2010: the products are all natural, with no trans fats.

There are many other quick and rewarding substitutions that can be made when the craving for something crunchy and satisfying starts in earnest, from fruit and vegetable crisps to 100-calorie packs. Meantime, if it's something sweet you're craving, seek out portion-controlled 100-calorie ice cream novelties or grab a square or two of antioxidant-rich dark chocolate.

BYOT — Bring your own treats

Why be tempted when standing in front of a vending machine filled with chips, snack cakes and puffs or when scanning the menu at a quick-service restaurant? Controlling your diet means literally and figuratively controlling what you eat. By packing a lunch with proportioned servings, such as a sandwich made with lean protein, snacks like bagged pretzels, pretzel chips or veggie crisps and some fresh fruit, you can ensure a healthier meal and snack, and at the same time save on the extra expense of eating away from home. For variety — and fun — mix it up with a variety of foods.

Good for you and green

Feel good about yourself and what you're doing for the planet by doing more with less. Use a non-disposable container to pack smaller portions of healthy snacks to contain calories, costs and waste. You can also take advantage of packaged products designed to be at once better for you, flavorful and eco-friendly. Snyder's of Hanover, for its part, recently introduced the markets first 100 percent compostable outer bags for its 22 count variety sacks of 100 calorie pretzels and 1 ounce pretzel sandwiches.

Buddy system

Teamwork can really mean the difference between sliding back or moving forward. Engage a friend, family member or even a large group of friends to help you in your goals to improve your diet and lifestyle. Compare shopping lists and diet tricks - all the better over a brisk walk or during an exercise class.

Reward yourself

If you make it to Groundhog Day on the way to your goal of eating better and feeling more fit, reward yourself with something that's both healthy and indulgent - and something you don't have to feel guilty about afterwards. Dip a whole-grain pretzel rod into some melted dark chocolate for some sweet and salty satisfaction, not to mention a dose of antioxidants (from the chocolate) and whole grains (from the pretzel). Roll the chocolate-covered pretzel in some crushed pistachios, which are rich in vitamins and minerals like copper, potassium, phosphorus and B6. Or top one scoop of reduced-sugar vanilla ice cream with a half-cup of crushed pretzels and a drizzle (not a drench) of caramel syrup; or top one scoop of dark chocolate ice cream with fresh blueberries and raspberries.

Make the last day of every month a reward day, and that way, you'll be surprised that you're still focused on eating healthy when Memorial Day rolls around.

Father takes time into his own hands

Observer: Tell us about your business, including the types of services and/or products you feature.

Father Time: I am the master of all things timey. For me time is but a vast cavern where past, present, and future converge. I can remember any event past or future as if it is right now; because as far as I'm concerned it is right now. Without me the fabric of time and space would crumble.

Observer: How did you first decide to open your business?

Father Time: Someone had to do it. I got with Baby New Year and we decided to end old years and begin new years our own way.

Observer: What makes your business unique?

Father Time: How much more unique do you want than someone who controls time? Even Baby New Year can't do his job unless I do mine. The only other one with this much power might be Mother Nature. I'd argue the point with her, but she has lightning bolts and thunderclaps and things like that. It's not worth the headache.

Observer: How has it changed since you opened?

Father Time: That's the beauty of this job - it doesn't change all that much. In an age when the world is in chaos, this job stays the same: Controlling time. It starts Jan. 1, and ends Dec. 31. I control 60 seconds a minute, 60 minutes an hour, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year.

Observer: How has the economy affected your business?

Father Time: Unfortunately, it has affected it in a negative way. With the economy being what it is for some people, all they have is time.

Observer: Do you have any funny tidbits you could pass on to other business owners?

Father Time: Well, there was the Millennium. Baby New Year and I talked it over and decided to confuse the heck out of everyone about whether the year 2000 was the last year of the old millennium or the first year of the new one. We had a lot of fun with that one.

Observer: What else interests you?

Father Time: Riding my pet dinosaur, chariot races in ancient Rome, flying my alien saucer around, watching the Nebraska Cornhuskers in their glory days, my new polar bear fur coat, I once thwarted Hitler's plans for world domination.

Observer: What's in store for the future of your business?

Father Time: Well, since I control time, it has no meaning to me, so I never get any older. And, of course, neither does Baby New Year (lol). I feel very fortunate to have had this job for as long as I have, and look forward to holding onto it for ... well, all time.

Previous decade has seen more lows than highs

It's the time of year when I like to look back over the last year and then look forward to the new year. However, since this is the end of the decade, I would like to take a step back and look at a couple of prevalent themes since the year 2000. We have been on an incredible ride over the last 10 years and despite everything our economy has experienced, we still find ourselves the largest, most prosperous nation in the world. Looking back at the decade, I remember the fear of the Y2K problem.

Over the last decade, we have experienced a variety of fears. The terrorist attacks of 9/11 sent shock waves throughout our country and the world. Not only did we fear for our safety, but for our financial markets. Following the terrorist attacks, for the first time since 1933, the stock market was closed for four straight days. When trading resumed Sept. 17, the Dow Jones Industrial Average fell nearly 700 points. Fear had gripped investors.

Fear was also felt throughout this year and last as our financial system began coming apart at the seams. Whether it was the bursting of the real estate bubble, the bankruptcy of Bear Stearns, Lehman Bros., Chrysler and General Motors, or the collapse of the U.S. banking industry, there is no doubt that fear played a major role in our personal financial affairs over the last decade.

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

The company filed for bankruptcy in December 2001. A variety of criminal charges followed in 2002, in which many top Enron executives were sentenced to substantial prison terms. And with the demise of Enron came the demise of one of the biggest accounting firms in the world. Arthur Andersen, one of the top five accounting firms, went out of business because of its bad behavior.

The decade also saw many individuals and institutions in the financial world admit to bad behavior. Whether it was mutual funds admitting to unacceptable behavior, mortgage companies with exotic products taking advantage of people or the numerous corporate scandals, including Tyco and WorldCom, we have seen enough bad behavior over the last decade to last a lifetime. Don't forget that the poster child of bad behavior was Bernie Madoff. Unfortunately, he wasn't the only one who took advantage of investors. Over the last year or so, there have been far too many financial advisers who have taken advan-

Bad behavior also played a major role during the previous decade. Enron, once one of the largest corporations in the world, imploded.

There is no doubt that the decade of the 2000s has been difficult for investors. After all, this decade brought us two major meltdowns in the stock market — the bursting of the tech bubble at the beginning and the bursting of the real estate bubble and its corresponding effects at the end. However, there is reason for hope.

The United States has been through many major crises in its history. Whether it was the Civil War, the Great Depression, World War I, World War II or Vietnam, citizens have lived through difficult periods. The common thread that runs through every crisis is the country has survived and even thrived.

I have no doubt we will get through this present crisis and that our economy will once again be able to grow.

I hope the new year and the new decade will bring better times for you and me. I do not think it will be easy and I believe there is more difficulty to come, however, I am an eternal optimist and I do believe better days are ahead.

Happy New Year and may the 2010 see all of our dreams come true.

TRW raises new term loans

TRW Automotive Holdings Corp. of Livonia, which specializes in active and passive safety systems, has raised $400 million of new term loans of which $225 million matures on May 30, 2015, and $175 million matures on May 30, 2016, both subject to certain conditions. Proceeds from the new $400 million term loans, together with cash on hand were used to repay the outstanding balances of previously existing term loans, which had earlier maturities than the newly issued term loans.

Livonia landscaper honored

Paramount Landscaping Inc., owned and operated by Stephen J. Simon of Livonia, was recognized for outstanding achievement in the field of landscape design and construction at the 2009 Michigan Green Industry Association Environmental Improvement Awards Banquet held at the Southfield Westin.

Paramount Landscaping received Gold Awards in two categories for the Fereshetian Residence of Northville. Paramount Landscaping has been in business since 1986.

Software company one of 500 largest

WorkForce Software Inc. of Livonia, which specializes in workforce management solutions for organizations with complex labor requirements and compliance concerns, has been included in Software Magazine's Software 500 ranking of the world's largest software and service providers, now in its 27th year.

"The 2009 Software 500 results show that revenue growth in the software and services industry was healthy with total Software 500 revenue of $491.3 billion worldwide for 2008 representing 8.8-percent growth from the previous year," said John P. Desmond, editor of Software Magazine and Softwagemag.com.

The Software 500 is a revenue-based ranking of the world's largest software and services suppliers targeting medium to large enterprises, their IT professionals, software developers and business managers involved in software and services purchasing.

The ranking is based on total worldwide software and services revenue for 2008.

"WorkForce Software is excited to be recognized as one of Software Magazine's Software 500 and we are proud of what our team has accomplished," said Kevin Choksi, president and CEO of WorkForce Software.

RS Electronics USA employees honored

RS Electronics USA of Livonia, a distributor of industrial electronics, recently inducted five long-time employees into the company's Silver Service Gallery. The gallery is located at the company headquarters and features portraits of employees who have served RS for 25 years or more.

The 2009 inductees were: Michele Newman and Carol Robbins, both of purchasing; Jerry Walter, inside sales; Nancy Gumtow, finance; and Phil Brown, operations.

The inductees were honored at a ceremony led by Howard Taxe, president. "The Silver Anniversary event is a very special day at RS," Taxe said. "It enables me to publicly acknowledge the dedication and commitment that our 25-year employees have given to our organization. These people are critically important to the success of our business and I recognize and appreciate the contributions that they have given to us."

RS Electronics was founded in 1929.

Teens explore homelessness, 'live love through action'

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Allie Ten Broeck, 16, of Canton was more able to identify with homeless people after Saturday night.

"And how hard it is for them to get along," the Mercy High School junior said. This was her third year participating with high school youth at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton's Boxing Night tradition.

About a dozen teens spent the night outside in the church parking lot, dressed for the weather and warming themselves by two fires in drums. The students are also collecting clothing for the homeless, to be given through Fort Street Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

"I think we take everything for granted," Ten Broeck said. "Most people in Plymouth-Canton have a nice home to live in." Many wear designer clothes, she said.

Ten Broeck donned "coats, boots, hats, gloves, everything" for the overnight outside. It's tied into the British tradition of boxing up clothing no longer needed on the day after Christmas for use by the needy.

"I think that it's a great opportunity," she said. She involved friends from outside church, as they didn't necessarily get the point.

Warming himself by the fire Saturday was Preston Arquette, 16, of Canton, a Salem High junior. This is his second year spending Dec. 26 outdoors.

"I think it helps raise awareness for the severe problem homeless people have," Arquette said, adding the clothing collection helps the Open Door Ministry at Fort Street Presbyterian.

Geneva Presbyterian is on Sheldon (west side) north of Ford in Canton. Donations of warm winter clothing, winter outerwear, blankets, sleeping bags and toiletries will be accepted through Jan. 8.

Teens gather around the warming fire outside Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton Saturday night. They spent the night outdoors to explore homelessness issues, and are conducting a clothing drive for Fort Street Presbyterian Church in Detroit, continuing through Jan. 8.

Organizers ask that no furniture, appliances, toys or household items be donated.

Donations may be brought to the church during office hours, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or left in the drop box outside the church entrance. Clothes will be delivered to Fort Street Presbyterian on Saturday, Jan. 9.

Arquette was drinking a cup of steaming coffee outside that Saturday. "It's warm," he said, clutching the cup.

Steven Daubenmeyer, 15, of Canton, a Salem freshman, was a first-time participant. "The main reason I did this is to experience something from a difference perspective," he said.

Daubenmeyer had brought a favorite book to read under the streetlight, to pass the hours. It's been about 14 years for the Boxing Night tradition at Geneva, said the Rev. Bryan Smith, pastor.

"Christmas is really about the birth of Jesus who was born into a very poor family," Smith said. As Jesus' birth is celebrated 2,000 years later, "The need is very great," Smith said.

"A lot of us have not experienced that reality," he said of suburban dwellers and homelessness. "Just to have one night of that has been eye-opening."

The students and adult advisers fill a truck with clothing and related items for Fort Street Presbyterian. "There's a real tangible impact for those who are in need," Smith said, adding some college students home on break return for the night, "at least for part of the evening."

Courtney Koen of Canton, senior high youth coordinator at Geneva, spent the night outdoors with the students. "I think it's awesome to see young people who care about a cause," she said. "It's something not many adults would do."

Last year was cold and rainy, with participants under a tarp, something many homeless people in Detroit lack. Geneva teens could go indoors to use the bathroom, and go home the next day.

"Until you actually experience it, you don't understand it," Koen said.

This is her second year participating. "Really, our faith is about loving one another," said Koen, who also works for Enterprise Rent-a-Car in Taylor. The students learn to help others, show support and "live love through action."

Detroit ministry reaches out to homeless people

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Benjamin Ogden of Open Door Ministry of Detroit perched on the back of a folding chair, answering questions from senior high students at Geneva Presbyterian Church.

The students were spending the night outside in the church parking lot for their Boxing Night tradition. Ogden, director of the ministry in Detroit, stopped by to talk.

"There's very little hope in some of these communities," he said. There are some 16,000 people in Detroit with no permanent nighttime address, about 2,000 of whom sleep on the streets.

At Fort Street Presbyterian on Thursdays, staff and volunteers serve a meal to about 450 in two hours. "We try to do a more nutritious, well-balanced meal," including protein and produce, he said.

Clothing is also distributed. "We cycle through so many clothes," Homeless people who get wet will freeze to death outside, he said, as there's no way to get warm or change clothing.

Ogden has a background in psychology and counseling, with a specialty in addiction recovery. Although homeless often do have substance abuse problems, there are many who don't fit that profile.

Of the 760,000 homeless people in the United States, half are seniors and kids, he said, and one-quarter military veterans.

The Detroit ministry has operated for more than 35 years with Ogden, who started as a volunteer, there going on seven years. He sees some of the same people from photos in the 1980s.

At Geneva as the snow began to fall, he asked teens about hangouts in Detroit. There are no malls or movie theaters to go to, he said.

Ogden and others do community outreach through a church site in Highland Park, working to connect people with their neighbors and make their community safer. That's been expanded to include an Ypsilanti church.

He noted Detroit Public Schools students bring their own toilet paper to school and face great obstacles to learning. "Some schools still don't have their study materials for the season," Ogden said.

Homeless people in Detroit often gather at night in Hart Plaza or by Joe Louis Arena. Ogden noted the successes of Open Doors' four-days-a-week ministry at three locations, but also limitations.

"So who thinks they're not going to last out here all night?" he asked the Geneva teens. The city of Detroit has warming centers overnight in extreme cold, he said, but those have chairs where dwellers can't sleep. Warming centers shut down during the day.

"If you're working full time paying your bills, where does college go?" he asked a student who holds a job.

Ogden and the Rev. Bryan Smith, Geneva pastor, thanked the students for their involvement. "Hospitality is a fundamental Christian tradition," Ogden said.

Ogden can be reached at Open Door Ministry, (313) 961-4533.

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

OUR VIEWS

Let's hold state lawmakers accountable

Another year has passed, yet little was accomplished in the Michigan Legislature to solve some of the state's most serious problems.

We encourage voters to hold lawmakers accountable in 2010, an election year.

Instead of just complaining about our state government, voters need to take action — writing or e-mailing state senators and representatives and then voting them out of office in November if they haven't done their jobs.

The state needs to reform the way it pays for essential services, such as public safety and education, now and into the future. It needs to do more to attract and retain businesses that will put Michigan residents back to work. It needs to fix its roads.

We can't afford to keep putting off finding permanent solutions to these problems that threaten the state's economic recovery.

Education funding reform can start with the state aligning its budget year with that of school districts so schools know how much money they'll have at the start of each school year.

This school year, the Livonia school board will lay off teachers in January for the first time ever because of unexpected midyear state funding cuts totaling $8 million.

Wayne-Westland Community Schools will close six elementary schools next school year, the result of having to plug a $10 million hole in its budget.

Other state budgetary reform can include a serious attempt at getting local units of government, including school districts, to share services to reduce the overall cost of government to taxpayers.

Michigan has a lot going for it, including its unparalleled natural resources, cool cities, great downtowns and resilient residents.

But unless state lawmakers do their jobs, Michigan will continue to spiral downward, losing more jobs, more educated workers and more families who value education to other states.

Let's hold state lawmakers accountable in 2010 and not let another year pass without their solving the problems that are holding Michigan back.

Our resolution: News you can use

There are two things that happen Dec. 31 — the crystal ball drops at the stroke of midnight in Times Square and people make their annual New Year's resolutions.

Some people refuse to make resolutions. They believe making long-term promises is just too much. They're in the majority. Only about 40 percent of adults still bother making resolutions, and it's the long haul that proves the most difficult. Studies show that 71 percent of participants kept their resolutions for two weeks, 64 percent for a month and 50 percent for three months.

What's a New Year's resolutionist to do? We are not experts, but we think common sense is the best path to follow. Decide what you want to accomplish and then come up with a game plan that's reasonable and manageable. We all know it took baby steps to learn to walk, and such is the case with a resolution. Start small.

That said, we have decided to make a resolution. It's one that we believe will serve us well in 2010. But instead of calling it a resolution, we're calling it our goal. This year has been difficult for all of us. The economy has taken its toll on us, but even with limited resources, we have continued to cover our communities the way the dailies cover the city.

Our goal for 2010 is to continue to provide you with the local news you have come to expect. It is why we are here and it is what we do best. We have never strayed from that and we won't. We fill a news niche that we know is needed.

And while we continue to provide you with your local news, we hope that you will show your support for us. The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are committed to you, our readers and your community.

Not broken, don't fix it

I read with more than just a little trepidation the story regarding diversity in the Canton Township Public Safety Department.

Canton Township has become one of the safest communities in the nation, with a Public Safety Department that is the envy of the state, by focusing on hiring only the very best qualified people for the positions available.

That is the only standard by which a candidate for a position in the CTPSD should and must be judged. It's a tried-and-true principle for any organization, public or private. Hire the very best people and you will have the very best organization. Canton Township need not justify the makeup of the organization Mr. Santomauro established. It was built with a focus on first hiring the very best people and then requiring that these people continue to maintain a high level of competence and professionalism.

Canton's ranking as the 22nd safest community in the nation and the safest community in Michigan is proof positive that this process works. There is no need to "fix" something that is not broken.

And I, as a tax-paying citizen, demand, yes, demand, that the practice of hiring only the best qualified candidates be continued. The CTPSD must put their blinders on and only, only consider a candidate's qualifications and credentials. Nothing else.

Any attempt to subvert this process, regardless of objective, must be totally disregarded. Not only is using any other criteria discriminatory and morally reprehensible, IT IS THE LAW!

Mr. Nemecek, you have very large shoes to fill. I am confident you would not have been chosen to succeed Mr. Santomauro if the township administration had not felt you were the very best man for the job, and I'm sure you are. I am very hopeful that you and Mr. Rorabacher will continue to maintain the high standards for public safety that this community enjoys and values. However, just a bit of advice from a 35-year township resident: Don't mess with my safety and the safety of my community.

Mammography timing key

The recent announcement about the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force's recommendations for mammography beginning at age 50 instead of 40, and biennially instead of annually, was disconcerting, to say the least. Had I followed these new guidelines, I would not be writing this letter today.

At 35, I found a lump in my breast. I had no family history and no known risk factors. How could this be? I was too young to worry about breast cancer. Besides, insurance didn't cover a mammogram because I was under 40. My story is no different from thousands of other women who were "too young, had no known risk factors, and no family history." Yet still, we had breast cancer.

One of the primary concerns behind the new guideline seems to be false positives. Personally, I'd rather have a false positive and find out that it was nothing to worry about than to die because I didn't get screened. I agree that mammography is not perfect. However, it is the best tool we currently have for early detection, and detecting cancer early saves lives.

A greater concern should be that a third of women who qualify for screening are not being screened due to lack of access, education or awareness. This is what needs to be changed. All women deserve equal access to screening and treatment.

While the debate will continue, it is still the recommendation of Susan G. Komen for the Cure and Eric P. Winer, M.D., chief scientific adviser and chair of Komen's Scientific Advisory Board, for "women to be aware of their breast health, understand their risks, and continue to follow existing recommendations for routine screenings, including annual mammography beginning at age 40."

Teachers already give back

I am writing in regards to a letter printed in the Observer by Mr. Martin.

I am very proud and honored to be a teacher in the Plymouth-Canton school district. The letter written by Mr. Martin asking for the school board to cut expenses by cutting the salaries of teachers was certainly a punch in the gut. The community entrusts us to shape and mold the children we work with into caring and knowledgeable individuals who can function in a competitive society but yet he doesn't feel that we deserve a salary that justifies the work we do.

I don't think Mr. Martin realizes just how much teachers already "give back." When the district makes cuts, who do you think is there to pick up slack? My classroom is filled with supplies and materials that my salary bought. When I plan activities and experiments it is my pocketbook that feels the pinch for the purchase of materials that are no longer available due to budget cuts.

How much more would you like me to give back, Mr. Martin?

I don't think that Mr. Martin has actually been inside of one of our community schools lately. I am sure that if he were there to witness what takes place on a day-to-day basis he would see that there is no "excessive spending" going on. I think that the taxpayers' money is being used to provide a high quality education for all of the children who attend our schools.

It is in these tough economic times that our schools need more support for the education and academic standards that we strive to embark on our future citizens. Asking teachers to give back more than they already do is not the direction to go in.

How about you, Mr. Martin? What have you given back to support your community and those that are there to help your community prosper?

Smoking law well-timed

We, the leaders of Michigan's major providers of health care, want to congratulate the Michigan Legislature for doing the right thing — passing a law to make workplaces smoke-free.

It was imperative to get a bill passed in 2009 and we appreciate that the Legislature understood that. It will be indisputably positive for Michigan's health. As health care professionals, we see firsthand the damage smoking causes to our society. It is impossible to overstate the consequences of smoking when compared to a lifestyle of nonsmoking.

Once this new law takes effect, it will be important to ensure that Michigan smokers get the help they need in order to quit. Nicotine, for most smokers, is a powerful addiction. In order for smokers to successfully quit, they will need access to smoking cessation tools of all varieties. Our groups remain committed to that goal as well.

The economy represents another reason why this Legislation is well-timed. In 2007, for example, tobacco-related illnesses cost Michigan's Medicaid program more than $1 billion, an increase from $881 million in 2004. Passing this law now helps keep these health-care costs from growing even more as legislators continue to address our state's ongoing economic troubles.

To the members of the state House of Representatives and the state Senate, we say thank you for passing a law that Michigan wanted and needed. You delivered for your constituents.

MADD claim misleading

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) frequently claims that the drop in New Mexico's drunken driving fatalities is due to the interlock mandate that went into effect in 2005 ("Families, friends grieve for victims," Dec. 27).

But, prior to the 2005 interlock mandate, drunken driving fatalities in New Mexico had been steadily decreasing for 20 years.

In fact, since 2003 (two years prior to the interlock mandate), New Mexico reduced fatalities through many different efforts including: appointing a DWI czar, increasing and intensifying police presence, creating a "DrunkBuster" hot line, cracking down on underage drinking, building a DWI Victims' Memorial, changing the "six-month rule" to allow for a longer period of time for hearing DWI cases, and conducting a ubiquitous anti-DWI advertising campaign.

For MADD to claim that the interlock mandate alone drastically reduced fatalities is not only misleading, but also dishonest.

Ring in the new year with style

BY WENDSY VON BUSKIRK
CORRESPONDENT

Whether you're planning a quiet night at home or a blow-out bash this New Year's Eve, why not amp up your attire for the occasion? From casual to cocktail, here's a look at some ways to make sure your 2010 has a stylish start.

GOING OUT GLAM

If you've got an invitation to one of the many upscale parties around town, like the 22nd Annual New Years Eve Gala at Laurel Manor in Livonia, you'll want to pile on the sparkle. Most parties with dinner and dancing, whether they're at a casino, country club or nightclub, call for semi-formal attire.

According to Arlette Stobbe, owner of Bella Mia Dressed Up in Plymouth (853 W. Ann Arbor Trail), cocktail dresses with embellishments are a great choice for women.

"Bugle beads and sequin appliques in bright colors dress them up," she said. Yet Stobbe conceded many people are foregoing fancy fetes this year in favor of low-key New Year's Eve celebrations such as dinner dates or house parties.

"We're not seeing too many people looking for formal dresses, but that's not a reason why you still can't put some glitz and glam into New Year's Eve to make it special from other nights of the year," she said.

LOW-KEY FUN

If you're checking out a screening of Avatar or attending the Village Theatre at Cherry Hill's "Putting on the Glitz" comedy show, Stobbe recommends a bright top, like a sequined camisole by Free People ($48), worn with skinny black pants or jeans and strappy heels.

Or, buy a statement necklace that can make an old silk tee or cocktail dress look new again. Stobbe recommends Gamela Designs, created by local twins Diana and Julie Verdugo. The line includes bold necklaces made from materials like peacock feathers, fringe, hardware, chunky stones, chains and ribbons, available at Bella Mia Dressed Up and online at www.gameladesigns.com.

For men, a velvet blazer with jeans offers a timely take on the dinner jacket look.

ACTIVE ATTIRE

A popular genre of New Year's Eve parties offer activities other than dancing. These include bowling at Westland Bowl, roller skating at Bonaventure Family Skate Center in Farmington Hills or family friendly fun at Northville Nite. Even if you're planning to tote toddlers through a maze of inflatables or break a sweat on the roller rink, you can still take your outfit up a notch.

This Cable & Guage floral print beaded cardigan from Parisian at Laurel Park Place ($68) will add sparkle to your New Year's Eve.

Try jeans and a sparkly sweater, like a Cable & Guage floral print beaded cardigan from Parisian at Laurel Park Place ($68). Or a tunic top with 'liquid leggings' — stretchy pants with a satin sheen — like the Kenzie brand at Bella Mia Dressed Up ($39).

"They are very comfortable and add some pizzazz to your outfit," Stobbe said. "They would be perfect for an active night out."

COZY AT HOME

Sometimes the best option is to watch the ball drop in Times Square from the comfort of your own couch. If this is your plan, be sure to pick up a batch of bubbly to pop at midnight. Wine Barrel Plus in Livonia, located at 30303 Plymouth Road, offers a wide selection of champagne and sparkling wine in its 30,000 bottle cellar. The family-owned business, in metro Detroit since 1944, has everything from an extremely rare 1979 Salon Brut Blanc De Blancs ($979.93) to "very nice" Nicolas Feuillatte ($29.99).

And why not splurge on a new pair of pajamas for your at-home toast? Check out the P.J. Salvage Lace Corset Cami ($38) paired with the line's Lace Cuff Capri ($48) or Cupid Cupcake Pajama Pant ($44) at Von Maur at Laurel Park Place in Livonia. For men, Intimo's Satin Stripe Silk Pajamas ($150) will add a little luxury to a night in.

MALLS & MAINSTREETS BRIEFS

Super Pampering

Tamara Spa+Wellness in Farmington Hills will celebrate Super Bowl XLIV with special packages for couples on Feb. 10. Men can watch the game in the spa's lounge on overstuffed leather chairs while enjoying snacks and ice-cold refreshments, 'first down' neck, back and shoulder massages, and 'touch-down' hand and foot massages. Meanwhile, women can score a 'quarterback sack' of savings with a Super Bowl package, complete with European spa facial, Swedish body massage, manicure, pedicure and spa lunch with champagne. Call (248) 855-0474 for prices and reservations.

First Friday Art Walk

Because News Year's Day falls on the First Friday in January, the First Friday Art Walk will run 6-9 p.m., the second Friday, Jan. 8, 2010, in downtown Northville. As guests stroll along the streets of downtown Northville's growing art district, they will enjoy a night filled with art exhibits, art demonstrations and related events. Many of the participating establishments along the walk will offer complimentary hors d'oeuvres and beverages for their guests as they browse or shop. Participating First Friday Art Walk galleries include Art House, 215 W. Cady; Northville Gallery, 123 E. Main; Starring The Gallery, 118 W. Main; and Solid Grounds CoffeeHouse, which will showcase student artwork from the Art Institute of Michigan, as well as work from Darvin, a Mexican artist who creates canvas paintings. For more information on participants, visit <http://downtownnorthville.com/WhatsGoingOn/FirstFridays.htm>.

Make-over event

The Bobbi Brown Cosmetics team at Nordstrom, in Somerset Collection North, Troy, wants to give you a new look for the new year. They'll show you techniques and tips Friday-Saturday, Jan. 8-9, 2010. Make an appointment for a one on one consultation with the Bobbi Brown team at (248) 816-5100, Ext. 1417.

demand for its Open Door Ministry, a distribution center that serves families in need from Canton, Westland, Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth and other communities. "The number of families looking for help has just gone way up," said Steve Darr, director of Open Door Ministry. "They have either been laid off or their hours have been cut — and some have disabilities."

HELPING MEMBERS

One Sunday in early December, lifechurch of Canton, part of the rapidly growing Evangelical Covenant Church, reached out to its own members, placing baskets inside curtain-veiled areas of the auditorium and inviting attendees to go inside. Those who have survived tough times could place donations in certain baskets, but assistant pastor Mike Rice said "those in need or hurting" could take a $100 Meijer gift card from other baskets. It was the church's way of helping its members during a time when many are facing unprecedented difficulties. St. Robert Bellarmine has had a "significant increase" in the number of those asking for food, gas cards and money, said the Rev. Richard Leliaert, pastor. He said the need may even be greater than churches know. "There are so many people hurting out there, but they're reluctant to ask for help," he said. The Rev. Paul Bersche of The Crossing Church in Farmington said he is noticing more referrals for services such as counseling, food assistance and job searches. "I'm doing a lot more counseling," Bersche said. "The stress of the times comes out in problems that may have already been there in families, but are exacerbated by the times." Connection Church also has provided a counseling ministry to try to help people who are having difficulties spiritually or emotionally. The church even started a club for laid-off people to study the Bible together.

ATTENDANCE STEADY

But while churches have seen an increase in requests for assistance, they haven't necessarily seen an increase in the number of people sitting in their pews on Sunday mornings — even though the expectation might be that people are more inclined to seek a relationship with God during times of trouble. Most area churches interviewed for this story report their attendance and membership remain steady. At St. John's Episcopal on Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township, which has about 300 registered families, the Rev. Dorian McGlannan said she's seen new visitors during the recession, but also the loss of many active members whose work took them out of the area or out of the state.

Since the summer of 2007, McGlannan said, St. John's has lost about 30 active families because of job-related moves. "It's been really hard to balance that," McGlannan said. "It's very public. It's been hard on the congregation because they're people that everyone knew." Most St. John's members have been able to keep their jobs, she said, but most also know people who have been affected by job losses. "It's not like it's some remote problem out there," said McGlannan, who called the recession the worst such crisis she's seen in her 20 years in the ministry.

CONTRIBUTIONS AFFECTED

The economy has impacted church contributions. At Fair Haven, where the church's 1,100-seat auditorium continues to be close to full for Sunday morning service, collections have declined 25 percent from three years ago. Clarenceville United Methodist in Livonia is struggling to keep its lights on, said pastor Beth Librande. Yet, it continues to offer a food bank for the community and congregation, providing approximately three families a week with supplemental groceries. Garden City Presbyterian Church is small — its average Sunday attendance is 100-110 people — but pastor Herschel Ele said his congregation is "stepping up to the plate" to help the less fortunate. Church members took food to pantries early this month, where they found empty shelves. "We're glad to be a part of the effort," he said. "We try to do what we can." Collections have been steady despite the economy at St. John's Episcopal, McGlannan said. "People have been very faithful." The hard times are something McGlannan mentions in her sermons — and church goers are receptive, she said. "I think people come here to be with other people, to be lifted ed in their faith and to learn that there's a larger picture out there," McGlannan said. "The history of Christianity is full of stories of people suffering, but their faith has sustained them in tough times."

SCREENING MEASURES

Since churches are doing more charity work with fewer contributions, some, like Fair Haven, have begun screening recipients. "We'd deliver food and five other groups were helping them," said the Rev. Bob McDonald, pastor of Fair Haven. "We want to take care of their needs, not their wants. If someone comes by and asks for gas money, we give them a job to do around the church. Then we'll take them to get the gas. A lot of them walk away." The John Bolde Memorial Food Depot restricts families to coming once every two months, using a card system to track the number of visits. In some cases, someone who receives assistance with food or money from a church also finds that church can fill another need. An unemployed man who landed a job after receiving gas money for the job interview from Faith Bible Church in Livonia is now worshipping there, said Tim Terhune, senior pastor. That's what motivates churches to continue to help — even when their own resources are stretched. "I think that people are struggling, not sure what they are looking for," said Hegdal of St. John's Lutheran in Redford. "People know there is an emptiness in their lives, but do not know how to fill it. We help people figure out how to be on that journey of discovery and walk with them toward belief and hope in the midst of unbelief."

Observer staff writers Darrell Clem, Matt Jachman, Stacy Jenkins, Sue Mason, LeAnne Rogers and Larry Ruehlen contributed to this report.

Clarenceville grad Tim Shaw excels on NFL special teams

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Here today, gone tomorrow? It's an old adage that certainly pertains to the business of the National Football League. Livonia Clarenceville High grad and former Penn State linebacker Tim Shaw would be the first to attest to that. Shaw, who has found his niche as a valuable special teams performer, is with his third NFL team in three years. Ironically, Shaw returns home this Sunday to Detroit's Ford Field wearing the opposing team's jersey — No. 58 of the Chicago Bears. And it will be a family reunion of sorts. "I've actually seen a game at Ford Field — Thanksgiving between the Lions and the Packers," said the 6-foot-1, 236-pound Shaw, who leads the Bears special teams' unit in tackles with 17. "I've bought about 20 tickets and I'll probably get more when the week comes up."

Shaw, a fifth-round pick of the Carolina Panthers in 2007, appeared in 14 games that season and ranked second among special teams players in tackles with 14.

But after not earning a spot on the Panthers' opening day roster in 2008, Shaw waited nearly 12 weeks before being picked up at the end of the season by the Jacksonville Jaguars, where he recorded four tackles in three games.

Shaw then was among the finals cuts by the Jags just prior to the 2009 regular season start, but was quickly

Lady Raiders fall

Shavonne Morgan, a 6-foot center, scored a team-high 18 points, including the game-winning jumper with only two seconds remaining to propel Flint Northwestern to a 53-51 girls basketball win Monday afternoon over North Farmington in the Beverly Hills-Detroit Country Day Roundball Classic.

Ebony Harvey added 10 points for the victorious Wildcats, who improved to 5-2 overall.

North Farmington (5-1) got a game-high 22 points from sophomore guard Jasmine Harris.

Senior guard Jenna Bachrouche added 14 points and nine rebounds, while senior guard Lyndsey Booker contributed seven points, seven rebounds and five assists.

North led 26-20 at half-time before Northwestern rallied with an 18-11 third-quarter run to take a 37-36 advantage entering the fourth.

The Raiders, who hit only 6-of-13 free throw attempts, missed the front end of a one-and-one with 15 seconds left to set up Morgan's game-winner.

"We tried to keep our (practice) routine as normal as possible, but for whatever reason we came out flat," North coach Tim Carruthers said. "We did not have the same intensity defensively as we had the last five game. They (Northwestern) are a good team and were able to take advantage."

World Junior icers

Team USA is off to a 2-0 start in the International Ice Hockey Federation Under-20 World Junior Championship being held through Jan. 5 in Saskatoon and Regina, Saskatchewan.

Plymouth Whalers forward A.J. Jenks had a goal in Sunday's 3-0 victory over Slovakia, while Windsor Spitfires Cam Fowler (Farmington Hills) has recorded a pair of assists, including Saturday's 7-3 opening-round victory over Slovakia.

Team USA continued preliminary round play Tuesday against Latvia and will wrap up its bracket Thursday in Saskatoon against host Canada.

The elimination quarter-final round starts Saturday, Jan. 2, in Saskatoon.

Ocelot a keeper

Schoolcraft College goalkeeper Ian McDonald-Wilkins (Ann Arbor Pioneer) recently earned NJCAA Division I All-American honors.

The 6-foot, 190-pound freshman helped the Ocelots to an 18-2-2 overall record and a third-place finish in the NJCAA Division I Nationals Tournament.

Schoolcraft also captured NJCAA District D and Michigan Community College Athletic Association titles.

RENA LAVERTY

North Farmington High grad Dena Sana (21) earned NJCAA All-America honors for the Schoolcraft College women's soccer team.

N. Farmington's Sana reaps NJCAA soccer honor

Dena Sana has been rewarded for her efforts on behalf of Schoolcraft College women's soccer by being named to the NJCAA Division I All-America second team.

The sophomore forward from Farmington Hills led the Lady Ocelots to a 16-3 season, which included winning MCCA Eastern Conference and NJCAA Region 12 championships. Schoolcraft made it to the second round of the national tournament in November.

"I definitely never would have gotten there (All-America) without my teammates," Sana, who had 13 goals and four assists, said. "It's all on them for doing what they did for me, setting me up to do well."

"Without them, I wouldn't have been able to do it. I've had great teammates and coaching my whole life. It's nice to do something to give back to them for what they've done for me."

All-America status is a just reward and an example of an athlete overcoming odds and doubters to achieve at a high level, according to Schoolcraft coach Deepak Shivraman.

"She's not an imposing figure as far as her (5-foot-1) height or size," he said, "but she made up for it with her sheer work ethic. She has a nice burst of speed, and she was able to get past a lot of defenders using that speed and skill."

"Even though her stature is small, she is fearless when it comes to going for 50-50 balls and going for a tackle. She really does stand out as far as those attributes."

A graduate of North Farmington, Sana is grateful to Shivraman, also a Farmington Hills resident and the former Mercy High School coach, for giving her the opportunity to play college soccer.

"Farmington wasn't a big soccer area, so it was hard to get coaches to come out to watch and take it seriously," she said. "Deepak took the time when I played club soccer. He gave me a great opportunity, and I did what I could do with it."

"You always hear about players coming out of soccer hotbed areas like Livonia and Troy," Shivraman said. "As a community thing, it's great that we

Matinee idols: Whalers trap Otters in overtime, 3-2

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

No pun intended, but Monday's Ontario Hockey League matinee at Compuware Arena proved to be a Whaler of a finish.

Defenseman Beau Schmitz, taking a nifty pass from Tyler Seguin just off the bottom rim of the right circle, went top shelf for the game-winning goal with 2:42 remaining in overtime to give the host Plymouth Whalers a 3-2 victory over the Erie Otters.

It was the fourth goal of the season for Schmitz, who hails from Howell.

Seguin, the OHL's second leading point producer, assisted on all three goals as the second-place Whalers improved to 21-16-0-1 in OHL's West Division of the Western Conference.

The game proved to be a battle of goaltenders as Plymouth's Matt Hackett stopped 36-of-38 shots, while Erie counterpart Jaroslav Janus made 31 saves. "We were trading opportunities at both ends and both goals were good — it was a good battle," Whalers coach Mike Vellucci said. "We were off for eight days and I'm sure a lot of guys did not skate. I was not happy early on, but we showed some character coming back and I thought we took control in the third period."

snapped up by the Bears in Week No. 2.

MOVING ON UP

A season-ending injury to Bears All-Pro middle linebacker Brian Urlacher forced reserve linebackers Nick Roach and Hunter Hillenmeyer to be pulled off special teams, leaving a spot open to sign Shaw, who was a free agent.

Bears senior director of pro personnel Bobby DePaul got the Shaw deal done during the wee hours of the morning following the Bears loss to the Packers during the Sunday night season opener at Lambeau Field.

"The guy shouldn't have been on the street, but he was," DePaul told Larry Mayer of ChicagoBears.com. "I've had my eye on this guy since he played in the preseason with Carolina. It wasn't like this guy just fell off the tree."

Shaw, who recorded four tackles in a loss to Philadelphia, knows that job security is only as good as his last outing.

"The interesting thing is that every week you're being evaluated on tape and being judged along with your peers," Shaw said. "That's the biggest motivation because it concerns your future and it's your job. It doesn't matter who you're playing against because somebody is always watching, whether it's your team or somebody else's. This business can be so wishy-washy. If you play like garbage, the reputation you'll get sticks. How you're seen and how you play determines your future."

Shaw, who is up for Pro

Bowl consideration as a special teams player, has made a strong impression with the Bears in his short stint. He's attentive at studying the game plan and is a stickler for detail.

"He's a guy that's really gotten better every week," Bears special-teams coordinator Dave Taub told ChicagoBears.com. "He's not the fastest guy in the world, but he's smart. He plays well with his hands, and he plays well with great effort. He's in the front row in meetings, and he's attentive. It's important to him. He knows that's the way he's paying the bills."

All of Shaw's belongings have remained in Jacksonville where he has purchased a dwelling to stay during the offseason.

"I live in an extended stay hotel, they're like the Homestead Suites," he said. "They clean our rooms twice a week. It's like living in a dorm, only a little better. It's close to practice facility. It's convenient and cheap. But after three months it's driving me crazy."

"It's a great city except for the traffic. I usually get out once or twice a week, either go to dinner or go out. The other night we went to the Bulls game."

Although the Bears were eliminated from the playoffs two weeks ago, Shaw is not content with just playing out the string.

"The Bears have always been up there in special teams," he said. "They put an emphasis on it and take pride in it, too."

"We were in the top 10 for a long time, now we're ranked 11th. Our goal is to be first. We had a turnover today (vs. Baltimore). It was a good day, but the last few weeks have not been real good."

Practice is where the state's former all-time rushing and touchdown leader makes his mark.

"I'm on the scout team defense and I'll get a couple of reps (at linebacker)," Shaw said. "I've also played tight end on scout team. I've still got a little offense in me."

'FUN THIS SEASON'

Despite the team's 6-9 record heading into the season finale in Detroit, Shaw appreciates the opportunity to remain in the league.

"It's been fun this season," he said. "It was awesome to me because we won three of our first four games. I thought we had a great team and we were going to have a great season. But overall I've had a lot of fun and enjoy playing. It's a great experience. I realized after I got out of the game last year how much I missed the game."

Shaw will reunite with family members and friends and has several plans for the offseason including another mission trip.

"I've been praying about it, I may go to Africa," he said. "I've talked to the team chaplain of the Florida Gators. One of my teammates is involved with a fund-raiser. All the options excite me. I could go back to Costa Rica."

Shaw, ironically, also played in the Lions' former home, the Pontiac Silverdome, during its final year (2001) as a prep when he led Clarenceville to the Division 5 state finals.

Yet his original NFL allegiance as a youth may surprise some.

"My oldest brother (Steve) picked a team, but my team was the Steelers," Tim said. "My brother, Pete, was a Dolphins fan and my other brother, Drew (Andrew), was the Cowboys. He (Drew) still likes the Cowboys and they don't like the Steelers. It was a rivalry thing and we stuck with those teams forever."

Even though his future for 2010 remains up the air, Shaw hopes he can stick with the Bears another season. He said he is currently classified as "an equal rights free agent."

"It's kind of complicated to explain," Shaw said. "But the Bears can tender me. But it all depends on the collective bargaining agreement between the players and the owners. I don't worry about it. I'll be here as long as they want me to be here."

Indoor softball champs

The Livonia Storm, a 14-and-under girls fastpitch softball team, recently finished 5-0 to capture the 12-team Genesee Fieldhouse Holiday Classic. Storm pitchers gave up only six total hits (all singles) in five games, including a pair of one-hitters, along with no-hitter in the championship game. The Storm batted .305 as a team with one-third of its hit going for extra bases including a pair of fence-clearing homers. Defensively the Storm did not give up any bunts or slap hits. The Storm have now won their last two tournaments and 11 consecutive games. Members of the Storm, who will compete next July in the 2010 USSSA World Series at ESPN's Wide World of Sports, include: (front row, from left) Delainey O'Donnell, Kaitlyn McIntosh, Aubrie Cragg, Jacquelyn Murphy, Casey Bias, Elaine Gerou; (back row, from left) assistant coach Jay McIntosh, Celeste Fudge, Catherine Porter, assistant coach Kevin Bias, Jessica Brandon, Hanna Warren, assistant coach Bob Warren, Shannon Watson and head coach Mike Gerou.

have a player from Farmington Hills who is an All-American.

"There were other people who looked at her and said: 'Oh, you'll never be able to play at a higher level, because it's too physical.' She thinks it's great she was able to put those voices aside and prove to people you can do it if you really put your will to it."

Sana's leadership skills on the field are just as impressive as her ability to score goals, Shivraman added.

"Dena was constantly directing traffic out there," he said. "From a coaching standpoint, that's great because you almost have a coach on the field giving instruction and direction.

"Every successful team has those individuals who strive to bring a team together. She's one of those players who connected with all the others.

"Girls and women's soccer tends to be a little more cliquish than guys. To have a player who works hard to bring people together toward a common goal, it makes the coach's job that much easier, and she consistently did that for us both years. That was outstanding about her in addition to the goals she scored."

Sana has become a better player in the last two years, she said, simply by being in a college program.

"The training is harder and more demanding than high school," Sana said. "You're forced to improve; you have to improve. The situation they put you in and the facilities they have — there's no way you won't get better. They put you in a great situation to be a better player. You just have to work hard."

Sana's performance at the national tournament and her All-America status created a lot of interest from coaches at four-year schools, Shivraman said.

Oakland University was one of them, and Sana plans to enroll there to study pre-law whether or not she plays soccer. The details that would give her a spot on the team are still being worked out, she said.

Rocks take down Rams in hoops action

Double-doubles by Jake Peterson and Ethan Walsh carried Salem to a 51-45 win Monday night over Flat Rock in the opening round of the Woodhaven Invitational boys basketball tournament.

Peterson, a senior center, led the way for Salem with 18 points and 15 boards, while Ethan Walsh, a junior forward, also contributed 18 points and 13 rebounds.

Tyler Stewart was the next best scorer with seven points as Salem coach Bob Brodie earned a win over his alma mater.

Andrew Scarton paced the Rams (1-3) with 13 points.

The Rocks, who improved 2-1 overall, met Carleton Airport in Tuesday's championship game.

Airport (3-1) advanced with a 72-50 victory over the host Warriors as Daniel Jones and Tyler Pluff scored 13 and 10 points, respectively, for the Jets.

period, the Whalers' Tyler G. Brown scored at the 13:23 mark of the second off assists from Seguin and Farmington Hills native Austin Levi to put Plymouth on top, 1-0.

Erie, however, knotted the count at 1-all on Mike Cazzola's goal with 2:44 remaining in the same period set up by Zack Torquato and Brady Austin.

Just 1:35 into the final period, Andrew Yogan scored for the Otters off assists from Shawn Szydlowski and Stephen Genua to make it 2-1.

But with only 8:44 remaining in regulation, Ryan Hayes tallied the equalizer, recording his sixth goal of the season from Schmitz and Seguin.

"Coming off the (holiday) break we just wanted to keep it simple and eliminate mistakes," Schmitz said.

Both teams were missing key players.

Erie, which slipped to 15-16-4-1 in the Midwest Division of the OHL, played without goaltender Ramis Sadikov, who is representing Russia in the IIHL World Junior Championships, along with left winger David Broll, who was representing the Ontario Under-17 squad at the World Hockey Challenge.

Meanwhile, the Whalers' second leading point-getter A.J. Jenks (of Wolverine Lake) was with the U.S. squad in the World Juniors, while defenseman Michal Jordan was representing the Czech Republic.

"Between the World Juniors and injuries, we had four or five out and we really haven't played with our full lineup yet," said Vellucci, whose team is 4-0 in OT games and 3-0 this season against the Otters.

Although the Whalers are a whopping 19 points behind the first-place Windsor Spitfires in the West Division, there's plenty to play for during the second half of the season.

Three players with area ties will figure prominently including Levi, who has eight points; Westland's T.J. Brown (four goals, eight assists); and Livonian Austin Mattson (three points).

"Levi has been getting so much ice time, and you've got to look at his upside with the NHL Draft coming up," Vellucci said. "I love the kid and he's a good player."

"T.J. (Brown) is a power forward, a physical guy who will fight when he has to. He's just gotten better and better."

"Mattson's struggled mainly because he's been hurt and sick. He just had some teeth pulled. If he stays healthy, he'll help us out. And when he uses his speed, nobody can stop him."

T.J. Brown, meanwhile, knows the Whalers can elevate their game for the second half stretch run.

"The first half was disappointing, we could have played better," said the Churchill High grad. "The goal is to make the playoffs. We've had some injuries, but it will be good to see how we do when everybody gets back."

"Personally I want to have an impact every game. I just have to play my role and do my job."

Ric Misiak is a deacon at St. Edith Church in Livonia. He and his wife, Colleen, who serves as a coordinator of youth ministry at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth, are active volunteers in the Catholic Church.

Livonia couple passionate about serving in Catholic Church

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
CORRESPONDENT

Colleen Misiak remembers being amazed and a little embarrassed when her boyfriend at the time, Ric, emerged from a confessional after an hour. When he walked out everyone had cleared the church, he was still talking to the priest and he promised to volunteer as a catechism teacher.

After 35 years of marriage, they agree that Ric's encounter with The Rev. Richard Schmidberger, who served at St. Genevieve parish in Livonia at the time, was the beginning of the couple's lifelong devotion to working and volunteering for the Catholic Church.

Colleen, 56, is coordinator of youth ministry at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth. She oversees the Life Teen liturgy, community service, social events and faith formation for middle and high school teens.

Ric, 58, serves as deacon and pastoral associate at St. Edith in Livonia. He works full-time as pastoral associate to help in whatever ways the pastor needs. Some of his many duties include coordinating the baptismal sacramental program, visits to the sick and home outreach, as well as making hospital and home visits.

"I also assist the various parish ministries, like religious education, faith formation, youth ministry and Christian services," says Ric, a 1969 Stevenson High School graduate.

He refers to Schmidberger as his mentor and "a great friend of mine."

As a young couple they both volunteered in many positions at St. Genevieve. Colleen, a 1971 Bentley High School graduate, has served as a youth minister, catechist and Christian Youth Organization softball coach at St. Edith.

When they started out so many years ago, they didn't have a master plan in mind, because as Ric explains, "ministry has a mind of its own."

They met on a blind date, married in 1974 had three children, Matt, 32, Shannon, 30, and Meghan, 25. They also have three grandchildren. Colleen was born in Livonia and the couple has lived in the community more than 30 years.

PASSIONATE ABOUT FAITH

Looking much younger than their years, they both bubble with enthusiasm when they talk about their work.

"It's been an honor for me to be in service for youth for all these years," Colleen says. "There were so many opportunities. The Holy Spirit keeps moving you. It's what you do. It's your life and you don't separate it."

While they flash each other big smiles and still look like they might be dating, Ric says, they are very different in many ways.

"I'm very structured and linear and Colleen is free flowing," he says adding that faith is their commonality. "It is at the essence of your life. It's supposed to be who we are."

Colleen, 56, is coordinator of youth ministry at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth. She oversees the Life Teen liturgy, community service, social events and faith formation for middle and high school teens.

Colleen Misiak

They also quickly deflect questions about how many people they have helped spiritually throughout the years even though they are now seeing the children of kids they first worked with in youth ministry.

"They've been longtime parishioners here and from the beginning they've looked for ways to share their gifts in religious education and ministry to youth," says the Rev. Mike Kazer, St. Edith Church pastor.

"They're continuing to further their education with masters' degrees so they have a broader base from which to draw to better serve the community," Kazer said. "St. Edith's parish is certainly better off because of their involvement."

WORKING WITH TEENS

Over the years, Ric says, he hasn't seen a dramatic change among young people.

"Teens are teens," he says.

Pointing to the thousands of teens from around the world who attend World Youth Day and the Rainbow Youth Conference, held annually for teens in the Archdiocese of Detroit, Ric says: "I think teens have a lot more faith than we give them credit for."

Colleen and Ric recently returned from the National Catholic Youth Conference in Kansas City; and they're planning to attend the Rainbow Youth Conference next month at the Renaissance Center, as well as an annual youth mission trip to the Appalachians at Easter.

Their schedules have always been full with obligations to the church, yet it wasn't a direct journey from catechism teacher to deacon for Ric.

Shortly after he earned a teaching degree at Eastern Michigan University he took a job as district manager at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and then various circulation positions at the Ann Arbor News where he worked for 31 years and retired as circulation manager.

Colleen held part-time jobs occasionally when their children were young. All the while they pursued their real passion working in youth ministries at St. Genevieve and St. Edith.

Colleen also earned her bachelor degree in religious studies from Madonna University and is a certified director of religious education and youth ministry. She also took most of the 12 courses, over six years, that Ric completed to become a deacon. This is while they raised their three children.

Ric has married some of the teens he worked with in youth ministry and is now baptizing their babies.

Ric and Colleen Misiak are devoted to working and volunteering in the Catholic Church. He's a deacon at St. Edith in Livonia and she's coordinator of youth ministry at Our Lady of Good Counsel of Plymouth.

Start the new year with laughs at comedy festival film

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

If you missed the second annual Detroit International Comedy Festival held earlier this year in Royal Oak, you'll get a chance to catch all of the laughs next week in Novi and Canton.

A documentary of the week-long stand-up comedy festival debuts at Emagine Novi on Jan. 5, 2010 and opens in other Emagine Theatres, including Canton, on Jan. 8. It features performances by Ryan Hamilton, Tim Nutt, Alycia Cooper, Brett Eastburn, Brandon Vestal and Mike McDaniel, offers a glimpse of the event's other 38 "up and coming" comedians, as well as behind the scenes footage. "A lot of people have never been to a comedy club and this is a good intro to what goes on," said Mark Ridley, one of the film's executive producers and owner of the Comedy Castle in Royal Oak, home of the annual laugh fest. "Jim Dudek, the gentleman who filmed it, wanted to do something that captured the festival ... that showed some of the people you may not know now before they get too big," he said, pointing out that Open Mic, one of Dudek's previous films, included then "unknown" comic Dave Chappelle.

"This is a way of getting a lot of people on film."

It also gives viewers a taste of what goes on during comedy festival week in March at Comedy Castle. The third annual event begins March 21, 2010.

COMEDY SHOWCASE

Ridley and David Moroz, owner of Aspen Talent, and a co-producer of both the film and the festival, create a comedy theme — such as "clean" humor, all-female comedians or best of the West Coast — for each festival performance

DETROIT INTERNATIONAL COMEDY FESTIVAL

See the film: Catch the world premiere 8 p.m. Jan. 5, 2010 at Emagine Theatre, Novi. The film opens Jan. 8, 2010 exclusively at Emagine Novi, Emagine Canton, Emagine Woodhaven and Cinema Hollywood. The documentary shows a mix of stand-up comedy performances, as well as behind-the-scenes from the second annual festival held in March at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle, in Royal Oak. Call the Novi theatre at (248) 468-2990 for ticket price and show time; Call Emagine Canton at (734) 721-3456; for premiere tickets visit www.arkdistribution.com

Attend the 3rd annual festival: March 21-27, 2010. Lewis Black kicks it off March 21 at the Royal Oak Music Theatre ($55) and hosts March 22 ($25) at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle. Nightly guest hosts include Dave Coulier, Kathleen Madigan, Kivi Rogers, Heywood Banks, and Cool-Aide. Visit www.comedycastle.com night.

"We wanted something different," Ridley said, explaining that most other humor festivals schedule "one-person shows or films" each night of the event.

"It's a concept we think will catch on," he said, referring to the theme showcase. "What we're also trying to do is to get the industry people involved."

A talent booking agent or industry scout, for example, might be interested only in female comedians or in ethnic humor and would choose to watch the corresponding theme night during festival week.

FILMING THE BEST

A panel of festival judges picks the top two audience favorites from each night to perform at a "best of" showcase on Friday and Saturday. The film's viewers also will see some of the best stand-up performances from the event in March.

"We're not going to say it will happen in 2010, but our five-year plan is to grow the festival so that industry people take more interest," Ridley said.

Ridley and Moroz will take the festival to a new level next year by booking several headliners — including Lewis Black, Dave Coulier and Kathleen Madigan — to host each night of routines by "up and coming" comics.

"We'd like to get other venues involved like at other (comedy fest) cities," Ridley added.

That would include other clubs or theaters in Royal Oak and would enable the festival to expand its offerings. Ridley envisions comedy films as well as live performance.

"We want to keep it a week-long festival. But we'd like to get a few other venues in," Ridley said.

"If the film is any indication, we're hoping it (the festival) will continue to grow over the years."

Michigan Humane Society is featured on 'DogTown'

If you're a fan of the National Geographic Channel's DogTown series, you won't want to miss the hour-long season premiere at 10 p.m., Friday, Jan. 1, 2010.

In addition to checking in on two of Michael Vick's former fighting dogs being cared for at the sanctuary, the show also follows the Michigan Humane Society's Cruelty Investigation Department as it investigated an elusive dog fighting suspect in Detroit last summer.

Each year, the MHS Cruelty Investigation Department responds to approximately 150 cases of dog fighting in their service area of Detroit, Hamtramck and Highland Park. The investigators regularly remove dogs from lives of aggression and abuse, and work to bring justice to those responsible.

The DogTown series regularly follows the rehabilitation of abandoned, neglected and "misfit" dogs at Best Friends Animal Sanctuary in Utah.

For more on the DogTown series, visit channel.national-geographic.com and click on the DogTown logo. For more on DogTown, the subject of the National Geographic show, visit the Best Friends Sanctuary Web site at www.bestfriends.org. The Michigan Humane Society Web site is www.michiganhumane.org.

Bring on fun with family, friends and finger foods

The economic uncertainty of the last year has had at least one positive effect: consumers are retreating to the comforts of home for nurturing good times and reconnecting with family and friends.

According to U.S. trend watcher Iconoculture, consumers are rediscovering the comfort of home, as they save money by hosting more in-home get-togethers. Indeed, staying home is the new going out; 71 percent of adults report cooking at home more and eating out less.

With in-home entertaining on the uptick and the winter holiday season of celebrating with family and friends fast approaching, consumers are turning to simple solutions to minimize the stress and maximize the fun when entertaining. One sure fire way? Keep the menu simple, focusing on finger foods.

"Good food is central to the fun around the holidays and leads to memorable moments," says chef and cookbook author Tina Salter, who develops recipes for Diamond Foods, a processor and marketer of Diamond culinary nuts, Emerald snack nuts and Pop Secret popcorn. "Simple, wholesome ingredients combined with easy-to-use recipes help make it easy to get out of the kitchen during holiday celebrations and into the fun."

Diamond Walnut Chicken Sliders are easy to eat and simple to make.

FINGER FOOD FIX

Finger foods can be eaten in one or two bites, do not require juggling silverware while trying to carry on conversation, and can be prepared in advance and placed on the table at the beginning of a gathering, freeing the host to enjoy the party. They are perfect for a variety of occasions, from a small gathering to a big bash, giving attendees enough to be satisfied and keep the party moving.

Instead of the tired bowl of chips and salsa, consider spicing up your selection of finger foods with unique recipes, like Diamond Shelled Walnuts, Apple and Blue Cheese Bites, Diamond Walnut Chicken Sliders, or Egyptian Spiced Pop Secret Popcorn.

SIMPLE SOLUTIONS

While planning a get together with finger foods, keep in mind these party organizing tips:

- Develop a manageable guest list. Can you handle serving this size group? Does this size group fit your budget? Will your home accommodate? Are children welcome?
- Consider incorporating a theme for added fun. Weave invitations, food, music and décor around it to simplify planning.
- Do not let your menu get the best of you; stay in your comfort zone when selecting recipes. Pick three to four finger foods to serve, and, preferably, recipes that can be prepared in advance.
- Rearrange as needed to make your living space party-friendly. For example, would your kitchen table be better suited pushed against the wall and used as a bar, freeing up the floor for mingling?
- Do not spend the entire party serving your guests; encourage them to help themselves so you can enjoy the celebration with family and friends, too.

BOAR'S HEAD

Holiday Turkey Wreath is festive as well as tasty.

Dress up your buffet with a turkey wreath

Nothing says "It's the holidays" more than a decorative evergreen wreath and bow. Now it's possible to bring this same look to a brunch or buffet table with this sliced turkey and cucumber wreath. Whether entertaining for six or 60, the Sliced Turkey Wreath provides a festive feel and is easy to make. Using a large boule or any other round bread, halve and cut out the center. Arrange slices of roast breast of turkey and cucumber ribbons as shown. Garnish with sprigs of rosemary, skewers of fresh cranberries and sprinkle with diced roasted red peppers. Each wreath makes about six to eight servings.

HOLIDAY TURKEY WREATH

Servings: 6 to 8 servings

- 1 large cucumber, ends cut off
- 1 large round loaf crusty bread
- 1 medium log goat cheese (Chevre)
- ½ pound roast breast of turkey, sliced thin
- 2 roasted peppers, cut into a small dice
- 2 to 3 small sprigs rosemary
- Make the cucumber ribbons.

Cut thin strips of cucumber lengthwise with a vegetable peeler, making sure there is a line of green peel on both sides. Cut until you reach the seeds and then turn, repeating the cutting. Set aside.

Cut the bread by placing it on its side and pointing the knife at about an inch off the bottom. Use a sharp knife to cut out a hole in the center of the bread (like a big doughnut) and discard. Spread the goat cheese around the loaf. At the bottom of the wreath, place two cucumber ribbons in an upside down V and make a V-slit in the bottom of the cucumber as pictured.

Twist and curl each slice of turkey and place around the wreath. Place a few cucumber ribbons around the wreath as seen in the picture and gather cucumber ribbons at the top center, placing over the turkey. Stick fresh cranberries onto toothpicks and insert at the top of the wreath. Add fresh sprigs of rosemary. Sprinkle overall with the roasted peppers.

Spice up a gathering with festive finger foods

Forget that tired snack bowl of chips and salsa. It's easy to serve finger foods at your next get together with these recipes from Diamond Foods. For more finger food ideas, visit Diamond Foods at feedyourfingers.com.

DIAMOND WALNUT CHICKEN SLIDERS

- 1 cup shelled walnuts toasted and finely chopped
- 1½ pounds ground chicken or turkey, dark and light meat
- ½ cup grated Parmigiano-Reggiano cheese
- ¼ cup minced onion
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 2 Tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 1 Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 1 teaspoon freshly grated lemon zest
- ½ teaspoon kosher salt
- ½ teaspoon dried thyme, crumbled
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper

- 3 Tablespoons canola oil
- 15 mini buns or rolls
- Arugula leaves, for serving

In a large bowl, combine chicken or turkey, walnuts, cheese, onion, parsley, olive oil, Worcestershire sauce, garlic, lemon zest, salt, thyme, black pepper and cayenne pepper. Divide mixture into 15 1-inch thick patties. In a large sauté pan, heat canola oil over medium-high heat. Add burgers, turning once, until cooked through, about five minutes. Assemble slider patties on buns with a dollop of Emerald Almond and Roasted Pepper Mayo and arugula leaves. Serve immediately.

EMERALD ALMOND AND ROASTED PEPPER MAYO

- 1 cup dry roasted almonds, toasted and finely chopped
- 1 cup roasted red bell peppers, peeled, seeded and cut into thin strips
- ½ cup olive oil mayonnaise
- Kosher salt
- Freshly ground black pepper

In the bowl of a food processor, combine almonds and peppers; pulse until almost smooth. Add the mayonnaise; pulse just to combine. Adjust seasoning. Serve immediately. Makes 15 sliders

DIAMOND SHELLED WALNUTS, APPLE AND BLUE CHEESE BITES

- 1 cup shelled walnuts, toasted
- 4 ounces cream cheese
- 2 Tablespoons milk or heavy cream
- 4 ounces blue cheese, chopped
- ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 2 large apples, cored and cut into 1/4-inch slices
- Chives, chopped, for garnish

In a medium bowl, combine cream cheese and milk or cream; whip until smooth. Add blue cheese and black pepper; stir to combine. Add about three-quarters of the shelled walnuts; mix well. Spoon about two teaspoons of the blue cheese mixture onto each apple slice. Garnish with a sprinkling of the remaining walnuts and chives. Serve immediately. Makes about 24.

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Cards Of Thanks 6300

HOLY SPIRIT you make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the divine gift to forgive & forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I in a short dialogue want to thank you for everything & confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire might be. I want to be with you my loved one in your perpetual glory amen. Thanks St. Jude for favors received. T.O.
