Tax tips

Canton Public Library officials are urging taxpayers working on their tax returns not to submit a return until they've attended a free library program 7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 11.

The program is offered through a partnership with H & R Block. Taxpayers will learn how unemployment benefits, health insurance subsidies, first-time home buyer credit, new vehicle purchase and home improvements can impact tax returns. Make sure you are claiming all the right things and getting the full benefit of the American Re-Investment and Recovery Act.

No registration is required, and the event will include a question-and-answer period.

The Canton Public Library is located at 1200 S. Canton Center Road. For more information, call (734) 397-0999 or visit the library's Web site at www.cantonpl.org

Open enroll

Achieve Academy and Canton Charter Academy currently are holding open enrollment for the 2010-2011 school year. Open enrollment will run through 5 p.m., Feb. 26.

Both schools are tuition-free public charter schools operated by National Heritage Academies, a Michigan-based charter school management company that currently operates 61 schools in six states. Seating availability is limited at both schools. Therefore, if the number of students enrolled is greater than the number of seats available, a lottery drawing will be held at a later date to determine which children will attend these schools.

For more information or to enroll your child at Achieve Academy or Canton Charter Academy, call 1-866-NHA-ENROLL.

Sagear scholars

The Rotary Club of Plymouth A.M. is striving to recognize a Plymouth-Canton School District High School senior who has overcome adversity with the $500 Sandra Sagear Rotary Scholarship.

The club is looking for students who have displayed courage, perseverance, spirit, and creativity in succeeding in achieving an education, despite a physical, mental or emotional barrier.

The recipient of this award will receive a scholarship named after Sandra Sagear, a 1969 graduate of the original Plymouth High School who imagined and believed she could succeed as she lived everyday with polio.

Application deadline is March 30, and the award will be announced April 16. Applications can be downloaded at www.storytellerdesign.com/SagearRotaryScholarship.pdf

Canton Toyota dealer confident despite recall

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Victory Toyota of Canton employees are working longer hours to repair eight models recalled for gas pedal-related problems, and dealership officials said they remain confident they will keep their customers despite a global public relations nightmare.

Technicians employed by Michigan's No. 1 Toyota dealer are working 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday to make repairs, service director Dean Stewart said, after the Japanese auto giant recalled millions of vehicles worldwide.

Moreover, Victory Toyota's general manager, Rick Hodges, said in a video address at www.victorytoyotacanton.com that the 38,000-square-foot dealership, on Michigan Avenue east of Beck, has extended its hours as late as 2 a.m. to accommodate customers who need to bring in their vehicles.

"We are here for you today, tomorrow and years to come," Hodges said, seeking to reassure customers of Victory Toyota's service by promising that "we're more committed today than ever before."

Toyota dealerships everywhere have been besieged by customers who became scared of their own cars amid a recall of more than 8 million vehicles for issues including gas pedals that could potentially get stuck in floor mats or fail to return to position even when no pressure is applied.

"It's a very small, minute possibility that you're going to have an issue," Stewart said.

Still, he said Victory Toyota early on gave some fearful customers other vehicles to drive until their recalled autos could be fixed.

"We're telling people not to fear their cars, but if they do fear their cars we're here to help them," Stewart said.

Hodges, in his video address, indicated he has placed his family's safety in Toyota's hands.

"I drive a Toyota. My wife transports our kids in a Toyota. My whole family drives Toyotas," he said.

Stewart couldn't predict how long it might take Victory Toyota to make repairs, saying the effort would partly depend on how quickly customers get their vehicles to the dealer. However, he said he believes that, long term, customers will continue to trust the dealership.

"We've built a good reputation," Stewart said, "and we're doing everything we can to keep that going."

Stewart, a Toyota employee for 17 years, said Victory Toyota sold 1,200 vehicles last year alone.

"I think Toyota has a very loyal customer base," he said. "I think the customers will stay with the cars."

Hodges urged customers who have questions to call (866) 227-7902 or log on to www.victorytoyotacanton.com.

Jailhouse rocks

Expansion project
results in safer,
roomier lockup

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Jail overcrowding conditions that potentially threatened the safety of Canton police officers and prisoners have been alleviated by a $450,000 cell block expansion nearing completion.

A jail that once accommodated only 32 people can now house 58 prisoners — an 81-percent increase that marks the first major cell block expansion since the facility opened in 1985.

"I'd say it's a significant improvement in the ability of the employees, as well as the prisoners, to move around safely," Deputy Police Chief Robert Kerr said, providing a tour of the cell block area.

Lockup space, now 3,848 square feet, has increased by 1,000 square feet amid a construction project that also ushered in a better security camera system, a much larger prisoner booking area and hallway "panic buttons" for officers who need help subduing violent arrestees.

Former FBI Special Agent John Anthony, who serves on the Canton Township Board of Trustees, said the expansion project has eased potentially unsafe conditions that can lead to injuries or, in dire situations, an officer's death.

"Police officers have been killed in booking situations," said Anthony, who worked 25 years for the FBI. "It is an area of concern for law enforcement. It's a very risky situation. By expanding the capabilities and enhancing the holding facility of the Canton Police Department, it greatly ensures the safety of officers and also allows law enforcement to more humanely treat prisoners."

"It's a real plus for the township," he added.

Deputy Police Chief Robert Kerr (above) explains some of the improvements to the prisoner lockup area. Breakfast awaits the detainees in the Canton jail (top). The door openings allow food to be passed in without opening the cell door.

The project was accomplished without expanding the actual size of the building that houses the police department and other administration offices on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill.

Rather, Kerr said, construction crews knocked down internal walls and enlarged the prisoner area by converting two empty offices and a garage area.

Canton locals differ on Granholm's speech

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gov. Jennifer Granholm called for diversifying Michigan's economy to create new jobs during her last State of the State address Wednesday night — a move that brought hope to an unemployed Canton autoworker, but left some local officials saying broader reforms still are needed in the state's business tax structure.

Granholm applauded one Canton company, Danotek Motion Technologies, for helping to create new jobs. Her remarks came after Danotek, a renewable-energy company that manufactures magnetic generators for windmill turbines, said in October it plans to invest $5 million in its local facility, with the potential to quadruple its workforce to as many as 200 employees within five years.

Granholm cited alternative energy, life sciences, homeland security, the film industry, tourism and efforts to help small businesses as ways to broaden Michigan's job base while still protecting the auto industry.

Canton unemployed autoworker Anne Marie Graham-Hudak, who said Granholm inherited much of Michigan's economic woes, was hopeful after hearing the governor's final State of the State address.

"Gov. Jennifer Granholm was handed a mess eight years ago," Graham-Hudak said. "Many of us who worked in the auto industry knew we were on a slippery downward slope at the time. Her speech deeply touched me when she spoke of job loss, losing businesses, homes and witnessing historical plants shutting down — as I, my family, friends and neighbors personally experienced much of that, as well as loss of health care. She was right — 2010 was a bad year that marked the changing of an era in Michigan.

For school districts struggling with shrinking foundation grants in the faltering Michigan economy, it was Granholm's pledge to "draw the line against additional education cuts in the year ahead" that had officials at least hopeful. However, since she didn't specify how she would balance that on the revenue side, Dr. Craig Fiegel said he'll wait and see what happens to a cut state officials have been talking about making to education funding.

"We figure, depending on what happens, we've got somewhere around a $9 million deficit next year," said Fiegel, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools superintendent. "About half of that or a little more would be in that $268 cut they were talking about. That would reduce (the impending deficit) significantly, if that's what (Granholm) means."

But it can't be simply a matter of throwing money at the problem, according to Tom Salapatek of Canton. He cited something he read about test scores in Kansas City dropping even though funding was doubled.

"My gut feeling is money isn't the answer," Salapatek said Thursday morning over a cup of coffee at the Plymouth Panera Bread. "Better use of existing money is the answer. Don't just throw money at it."

Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy agreed with Granholm that a diverse economy is needed to create more jobs, but he said he "didn't see a lot of substance" for changing the state's tax structure to lure more businesses and become more competitive.

"As far as creating jobs and diversifying our economy, I agree wholeheartedly with her, in that what was normal before is not normal anymore," LaJoy said, but added, "I think we need to be more competitive with our business taxes."

Graham-Hudak appeared hopeful that efforts mentioned by Granholm will begin to turn Michigan's unemployment rate around.

"Many of us unemployed autoworkers are seeing an increase in interviewing in many different jobs — that is hopeful, and it was exciting to hear all that she had worked hard to bring to Michigan," Graham-Hudak said. "Many of us are also starting businesses — the changing of an era — and we hope to bring a change here as Gov. Granholm has tried hard to do the past years."

LaJoy, a former Republican state legislator, commended the Democratic governor as "a very good communicator," but said she hasn't championed efforts to improve the business tax structure and make state government more efficient by "making it more right-sized for this new economy."

LaJoy also called for greater efforts to ensure Michigan doesn't lose out on federal dollars it needs for repairing the state's crumbling roads.

Carmine Palombo, transportation director for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, recently said state lawmakers will need to make difficult decisions such as considering a gas tax increase and increasing vehicle registration fees. Otherwise, he said, the state could risk losing money it gets from the U.S. government to fix roads.

Two state legislators already have introduced bills to increase the tax on gas and diesel fuel. Palombo, during recent talks with township officials, acknowledged that such efforts become more complicated during an election year, when lawmakers can face a voter backlash.

Graham-Hudak welcomed Granholm's remarks for ending lifelong benefits for incoming Michigan state legislators, but said she wished lawmakers currently serving also would "unselfishly" cut lifetime health coverage for themselves to combat budget problems.

She called the finale of Granholm's speech "inspiring" and said it "touched many of us who have struggled over the past years. Her enthusiasm and caring spirit will be missed."

LOCKUP

The project also involved installing a large window between two rooms used for prisoner interviews — a change that allows the rooms to double as a visiting area where attorneys, clergy and others can see prisoners and talk to them by phone.

"I think it was a good idea to double up the use," Kerr said.

While expanding lockup areas for men and women — along with a "detox" area for drunken drivers — workers also hauled out the former steel bunks and mattresses, which were replaced by concrete sleeping areas.

"We weren't looking for comfort," Kerr said, "We used to have to replace the mattresses because they would get destroyed."

Though mostly finished, the jail project still entails converting a one-time booking room into an area that will have a three-pronged use: a place for video arraignments of prisoners, food preparation and Breathyalyzer tests.

"Hopefully everything will be done by the end of February," Kerr said.

The $450,000 cost of the project — funded by public safety dollars — is far less than early projections of as much as $2 million. The expansion comes 25 years after the police department was built.

Since that time, Canton's population had grown from Simultaneously, the number of West Middle curriculum goes to the dogs

BY MAGGIE WUNDERLICH
CORRESPONDENT

What's a fun and creative way to learn about Social Studies, Science, Math and Language Arts?

On Thursday, students at West Middle School had a chance to find out when they had a visit from professional dog sled racer Dan Anderson and his team of Siberian Huskies. "Mr. Dan the Dog Sled Man," as he likes to be called, is from Coopersville, Mich., and owns Tun-Dra Kennels in Nunica, Mich.

Anderson has always been an outdoors man, but it wasn't until he married his wife that he became interested in dog sledding.

Jokingly, he said, "I married into it." He said his deceased father-in-law, Dean Cheadle, was one of the co-partners of the Iditarod. Cheadle trained Anderson and Anderson soon learned it's a year round commitment, which is no different than other professional athletes. He raced for about 10 years and then took a break to spend more time with his children. He fondly remembers the Johnson Park Race near Grand Rapids several years ago, which he won by mere seconds.

In the offseason, mushers teach the dogs and puppies to get along with other dogs because, if they interfere with another dog during a race, they would get disqualified.

During the interactive assembly, Anderson covered several topics, including Alaska's Gold Rush Era and current riches of oil and gold. He also spoke about dog sledding equipment, including different size sleds. He explained the possible friction between the sled and the snow or ice.

Anderson also demonstrated all the gear a musher needs.

The boots may be cumbersome, he said, yet can withstand temperatures as low as 100 degrees below zero and "are not heavy like you'd expect." Even the dogs have special equipment, including "booties," which he explained protect their paws on the ice. The booties are strapped on with Velcro. He also passed around several animal skins, including coyote and beaver felts.

Naturally, Anderson spoke about the Iditarod, which is the world famous dog sled race that is about 1,049 miles of Alaskan territory. This year, it's set to start on March 6.

The Language Arts Teacher, Nicole Lerg, was happy with the presentation.

She said, "Starting next month, when the Iditarod actually starts, we'll read a book called 'Bright Star, Black Dawn' and this is kind of their little preview for that," Lerg said, adding students learn about social studies [because] he talks about all these different locations and different cultures.

"It's just fun because it gives them a chance to be hands-on and it gives them something they are so excited about, which is the dogs," Lerg said. "It's perfect for when we go to Language Arts next month, I'll just remind them about this and they'll already have seen it and it gives them that first-hand experience."

Once the indoor assembly was completed, Anderson took the students to the snowy field outside and introduced his team of dogs: Storm and Ruby (lead dogs) and Sky, Sixth-graders Nour Chehadi (standing) and Drew Smiley try out the sled.

Dan Anderson and his team of Siberian Huskies helped teach at West Middle School during a presentation this week.

Sable, Maverick and Faun, the newest member. Anderson said his dogs have the same bloodline as the original Balto. Balto was famous for his heroic efforts in the 1925 dog sled relay race, which brought relief to the citizens of Nome, Alaska, who had the diphtheria epidemic.

As the students gathered around the team of dogs, their playful excitement built up and soon, sixth-graders, Drew Smiley and Nour Chehadi were whisked off on a dog sled ride. The dogs know several verbal commands such as "haw," "gee," "whoa" and "straight ahead."

"Straight ahead" is exactly the direction that Anderson is planning to take. Now that his youngest child is graduating from high school, he is ready to get back into dog sled racing and have some adventures again. This time, he'd like to take along his young grandson.

Beth McBain's hat stood out in a room full of festive headgear — not an item women wear too much these days.

"I decided I didn't want a long veil for my wedding," the Canton homemaker explained at a recent tea for Geneva Presbyterian Church women and their friends. She shopped with her mother-in-law for her 1994 wedding to Keith.

"It was a new hat," she said. McBain was among some 25 Geneva women and guests who enjoyed each other's company at the home of Jennifer Smith of Canton, winning the prize for best hat.

"Wonderful," McBain said. "It's just precious the women went out to make it a traditional tea. It's very nice to interact with the women from the church."

Echoing those thoughts was Charlene Jones of Canton, a church member and pediatric nurse: "I thought it was great. It was awesome. Sort of a touch of the past, what ladies' teas were like. It was festive." The women moved to "stations" in the Smith home according to letters on their name tags. At each, they enjoyed conversation. Reading from Proverbs, women were asked to relate a biblical verse to their own lives.

A reading related to kindness shown by a woman led to a discussion of sisters and their role in women's lives. The attendees also picked tea bags with pennies for each year, telling of a significant event in their life that year.

One woman had worked on Hubert Humphrey's 1968 presidential campaign. A discussion of the advent of pantyhose around that time drew laughs, along with memories of the girdles that came before.

Many remembered graduations, first jobs, weddings, children born and other milestones.

The women also told the stories behind the tea cup each brought from home. "Session

Carrie Moon-Dupree of Canton teased best hat winner Beth McBain, 'That means you have to wear it to church tomorrow.' Moon-Dupree enjoyed the fellowship of the Saturday tea.

(at Geneva) had bought me this and the tea cup was in it," church secretary Cindy Thomas of Canton said of her china floral cup with the word "faith" on it. That was a birthday gift in a basket about six years ago.

One woman is a Depression glass collector, and another beautiful cup was a garage sale find. Many cups came from grandmothers. A breast cancer survivor had a china cup with the distinctive pink ribbon design.

Barb Berberet of Canton brought along friend Marilyn Sinclair, both wearing Red Hat Society garb. "We've been friends for many, many years," Berberet said. "She just moved here from Up North."

"It was fun to sit down and talk to everybody," the retired human resources manager added. "It was wonderful fellowship."

Carrie Moon-Dupree of Canton is vice president at Presbyterian Villages of Michigan. "I had fun," she said. "I learned a lot more about women I've known for years."

Moon-Dupree has a goal this year to renew an old friendship and make a new friend. "This is a start," she said. "At 60, it's not so easy to make friends."

Erin Archambault of Plymouth Township said, "Life gets busy and we let it kind of sweep us away. This was a time to stop the clock and enjoy each other."

She's a trust operations manager in banking, and had to borrow her white gloves for the afternoon from a co-worker. "I loved it," Archambault said of the tea. "It was a light-hearted, old-fashioned way to connect with friends."

She added, "I had no hat so I just 'pouffed' my hair," using ribbons and flowers.

Jennifer Smith, whose husband is pastor at the church, was glad to host the tea party. "I thought it was great, a fantastic turnout," the speech and language pathologist said. "Fellowship. Just fellowship and a chance to get together with other women."

Church member Julie Graundstadt of Canton, who couldn't attend, provided the Proverbs and discussion points. "I think it was a wonderful turnout and a wonderful spirit," Smith said. "I can't wait for the next one."

Jimmy Reddy knows a lot is expected on "The Park," because he went to school there.

He also has a number of years of experience coaching various boys and girls basketball teams at Canton — where he graduated in 2000 after his own career as a player ended.

But for the first time, the diminutive Reddy is at the top of the totem pole with Canton's boys basketball program as varsity head coach.

So far, Reddy is handling things as smoothly as Canton junior point guard Dietrich Lever does when he floats through the lane for a layup.

"I've been here, it's just now you're the guy," Reddy said. "A little more pressure comes with that, absolutely."

"That's the major difference, there's more pressure as the head coach, which I think I've dealt with well because I have great people around me."

With kids wearing red T-shirts with the words "The Reddy Zone" on them, it's also apparent that he's successfully melded into the Canton scene.

Reddy meets almost every day with much-valued varsity assistants Dan Colligan, Devarone Jackson and Neil Sharma — not to mention JV coach Tony Wichmann and freshman coach Jason Slaughter — to make sure his defense-first philosophy is getting over.

"That's what we made sure when I took over," Reddy said. "We wanted to make sure we had guys that I knew and could trust and guys who share the same kind of same philosophy with me, so it's worked out well that way."

Contending for the KLAA South Division and playing deep into the state tourney are obvious goals for the Chiefs' new regime. But for that to happen, players must embrace the style of play Reddy himself excelled at under the watch of his Canton coach, Dan Young.

"If we can defend and rebound, which we have done a pretty good job of (lately), that gives you a chance to win," Reddy said. "And offensively, we're motion. I tell our guys if we can pass and catch, we'll give ourselves a chance to score."

BRINGING HIS STYLE

Playing with energy, constantly pestering opponents and being in the right place at the right time — the style Young preached in the late 1990s — is Reddy's own blueprint.

"You don't need to be the biggest guy, the strongest guy, the quickest guy or

PCA WINS CLOSE ONE:

Clutch long-range shooting by Josh Johnson and another big game from Eric Jipping sparked host Plymouth Christian Academy to a 57-55 win over Taylor Baptist Park.

The victory was the ninth straight for the Eagles, who improved to 9-3 overall and 8-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

The Eagles led 31-25 at halftime, but fell behind 40-38 going into the final quarter. That's when Johnson scored all eight of his points — including six of them on a pair of treys.

"You have to be ready in any situation and Josh was tonight," PCA head coach Mike Doyle said. "He carried the team in the fourth quarter."

Jipping, a sophomore, scored 20 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and played strong against Baptist Park's two 6-foot-5 post players.

Helping the PCA cause was senior Don Mullet, with nine points.

VICTORY FOR EAGLES:

Thursday night was a good one for Plymouth Christian's girls basketball team, too. The Eagles defeated host Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest, 42-32.

The Eagles (4-9) and Crusaders got off to a slow start, with the first quarter ending 5-5. But PCA took a 15-11 halftime lead and built on that in the second half with strong defense and timely offense leading the way.

Wildcats turn tables on Chiefs, hot start sparks road win

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The shoe was on the other foot Friday night.

When campus rivals Plymouth and Canton played a boys basketball game last month, it was the visiting Chiefs to storm out of the gate and go on to victory.

But not this time. The Wildcats got out to a 13-8 lead after one, thanks largely to three triples from guard Mike Nadratowski.

Plymouth kept the lead most of the game, but needed to hold off a furious late charge by Canton point guard Dietrich Lever (15 of the Chiefs' 19 fourth-quarter points) for a 54-50 KLAA South triumph. The boys game followed the contest featuring both school's varsity girls teams.

"We definitely wanted to have a better start than the first game (against Canton)," Nadratowski said. "It was really good to get off to that start."

"It was good to take the crowd out of it a little bit, get my team some confidence."

According to Canton head coach

Jimmy Reddy, the hot start by Nadratowski "made it difficult. We didn't have enough energy from the beginning."

Reddy praised Nadratowski, who scored 24 points.

"Mike Nadratowski played a great game," Reddy said. "He was a tough cover all night and made a few threes, he was at the rim."

Plymouth head coach Mike Soukup said Nadratowski "is the straw that stirs the drink for us. We play much better when he's attacking like that."

The Wildcats led 23-17 at halftime, holding Lever to just four points.

But he started to get untracked after intermission, scoring seven in the third. That didn't put much of a dent in the deficit however as Plymouth still maintained a 38-31 edge.

Lever, however, registered the first 11 points his team scored in the fourth to make it a 50-46 Plymouth lead with 90 seconds left.

After Canton's pressure defense forced a 10-second violation by Plymouth, Lever (26 points, four assists) made a circus layup with a half-minute

The Plymouth Razor Sharks, of the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association, recently won their second tournament in as many weeks. After coming home as champions of the Cleveland Rock 'N' Roll Cup Tournament, the Razor Sharks went undefeated in four games to win the PeeWee B division of the Motown Cup Hockey Tournament in Downriver Detroit. The 'never-die' Sharks came back from 2 goals down to tie the Oakville Titans (Toronto) 3-3, then from 3-goal deficits to beat both Kensington Valley Cavalry 6-5 and Kentwood Falcons (Grand Rapids) 5-4 in the preliminary rounds, and went on to win the rematch against the Titans 6-3 in the championship game. Sharks center Matthew Cusumano's second goal of the game was the winning tally, while Sharks goalie Alex Remski shut down the Titans in the championship game and was named tournament MVP. Members of the team include: (front row) Steven Sisolak; (second row, from left) Mitchell Gonzalez, Austin Foos, Nolan Kerwin, Alex Remski, Andrew Pascaris and David Cook; (third row, from left) Ethan Fitzgerald, Amanda Hoehn and Matthew Cusumano; (fourth row, from left) Jay Andrusiak, Max Chumley, Erik Liubakka and Tom Kowalkoski; (back row, from left) coach Tom Remski, coach Lee Cook, head coach Chris Hoehn and coach Steve Kowalkoski.

Salem's Root signs with Ferris

Austin Root's head-knocking, head-turning style of football is on its way to Ferris State University.

The Salem senior, who was a heart-and-soul type player for first-year head coach Kurt Britnell, signed on National Signing Day to play Division 2 football at FSU.

He'll be red-shirted in 2010, but is expected to contend for a starting linebacker spot the following season.

"I'm real excited to have the opportunity to play college football," said Root, following Wednesday's signing ceremony at Salem. "It's going to be great to see how athletics are played at the next level."

On hand for the festivities were Root's parents (Larry Root, Lisa Elias), other family members, Salem coaches and staff members.

"It's a great statement of what hard work can get you," Britnell said. "Austin worked hard every

Root tallied 108 tackles in 2009, along with two fumble recoveries and a quarterback sack. He was named to the All-Observer and All-KLAA first teams.

the best jumper," Reddy said. "If you're in the right position, and you're willing to go get the ball, you can excel at being a good defender and good rebounder."

Drawing up the X's and O's is only part of it.

Canton varsity girls coach Brian Samulski provided some guidance as Reddy went about completing other tasks that go with the territory of being head coach.

"Brian's helped me huge with the other stuff, the organization of everything and making sure you're interacting with parents," Reddy said. "Right before the season started, that was probably my biggest concern, stuff outside of basketball."

"You've got to put in orders for apparel. Just everyday duties, making sure your younger level coaches have everything."

Reddy had a ready-made "in" with some of those parents anyway, having coached current seniors both on the freshman and JV teams.

"I was their freshman coach, their JV coach, a varsity assistant and now I'm their varsity head coach," he said. "So I've spent a lot of time with these kids. I've seen them a ton."

Reddy emphasized that Plymouth-Canton Educational Park is somewhat different from his own playing days, however, with the addition of Plymouth as the third high school on campus.

"Now there's a third school, more kids, you're playing both schools," Reddy said. "Now Plymouth has become a bigger game in the sense they're in our division and we play them twice.

"Whereas when I was here, it was just Canton and Salem, so that's probably the main difference."

But Reddy insisted that when the ball is lofted for the opening tip, players from the three rival schools quickly forget any subplots.

At least, that's what he hopes happens.

"When we played Plymouth (Jan. 15), the biggest part was that we were trying to get our second division win, not that we were playing Plymouth," Reddy said. "For me, it's just another game."

"I know the kids obviously are a little more psyched and ready to play when they're playing against kids they know and have classes with. But for me, it's not that big of an issue."

Coming soon is a look at the other new PCEP basketball coach of 2009-10, Plymouth's Mike Soukup.

Canton makes quick work of 'Cats

Friday night was the second varsity basketball twinbill of the season featuring Canton and Plymouth.

But fans getting there late for the opener missed most of that contest's drama, as the host Chiefs' girls basketball team jumped out 17-2 and rolled to a 63-21 KLAA South victory.

Canton head coach Brian Samulski said one of the important aspects of the victory was how well Alyssa Cottrell, Kari Schmitt and Sara Schmitt threw a defensive blanket over Plymouth senior forward Stacey Klonowski (2 points).

"I thought all three of those kids did a nice job on her," Samulski said. "To hold her to two free throws."

Canton (13-1, 8-0) enjoyed leads of 32-9 at halftime and 49-15 after three.

Top performers for the Chiefs included Kari Schmitt (19 points, 15 rebounds, 6 steals), Kayla Bridges (11 points), Sara Schmitt and CarolAnn Sexauer (8 points each) and Lindsey Winters (7 points).

Taylor Birman tallied five for the Wildcats (4-10/3-5) while Danielle Desilets and Leja Kulagic each scored four.

According to Samulski, the Canton-Plymouth twinbill was fun to be part of.

"Just like it was at Plymouth, it was a cool environment," he said. "I think it's good for basketball, good for the 'Park' and it allows people to come out and see two varsity games for the price of one."

In the nightcap, Plymouth's boys varsity team nipped Canton 54-50.

SALEM 53, STEVENSON 42: Brett deBear tallied 17 points and Sara Stone added 14 to power the Rocks (10-3, 7-1) to a KLAA Central Division victory Friday at home against Livonia Stevenson (4-10, 3-5). Stevenson led 11-10 after one quarter, but got outscored 23-7 in the second and never recovered.

"We shot the ball well from the free-throw line (9-of-12) and we had a huge second quarter," said Salem head coach Fred Thomann. "That really set the game in pretty good shape for us the rest of the night."

Thomann said a balanced attack also was a key, with five players scoring in the second.

Rachel Norman (7 points), Heidi Schmidt (6 points) and Katelynn Krause (5 points) all helped the Salem cause and Thomann noted strong rebounding from Stone (7), Tabitha Mann (7) and Breanne Beaver (5).

remaining to make it a 52-50 contest — thrilling the home side of the gym.

"Dietrich can do that, he's a special player," Reddy said about Lever's late heroics. "He got rolling there in the fourth quarter and got us in it and gave us a shot to win."

"But we didn't make enough plays tonight, bottom line."

As an example, Canton (9-5, 6-2) got the ball back with enough time to attempt to tie the game with a trey. But the shot wouldn't fall and Plymouth (7-7, 4-4) prevailed.

Soukup said it was huge for his team to scrap and battle and hold off the charging Chiefs.

"(Brannen) Beyer played well, cleaning the boards off and we won a couple scrums, a couple loose ball battles that were key for us," Soukup said. "We played smart basketball, we made a couple good reads."

Beyer tallied nine rebounds while Dion Johnson and Pat Salo scored eight and seven points, respectively.

Also in double figures for Canton were Brandon Duffey (12 points) and Kevin Weisz (10 points).

STEVENSON 68, SALEM 53: Junior guard C.J. Mwila did it again Friday night, scoring a game-high 36 points as KLAA Central Division co-leader Livonia Stevenson (10-3, 7-1) downed the host Rocks (6-8, 2-6).

Mwila, a 5-foot-11 transfer from Orchard Lake St. Mary's, made nine triples on the night including five straight during the third quarter to spark a 26-11 run after the Spartans trailed 34-29 at halftime.

He had 25 in his season debut Jan. 15 in an overtime win over Salem.

"C.J. put on a performance at Stevenson that will be remembered for years to come," Spartan coach Mike Allie said. "I proud of the whole team and that we're able to contend for a (Central) division title."

Senior guards Bobby Naubert and Kyle Bambach added 14 and eight points, respectively, for the Spartans, who will face Novi (12-2, 7-1) in a KLAA Central showdown 7 p.m. Tuesday at Stevenson. Jake Peterson and Devonta Riley tallied 16 and 14 points, respectively, for Salem.

Penguins rally for win over Walled Lake

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Shauna Siebert might have uttered "Enough already!" as she drilled her game-winning shot Thursday for the Plymouth-Canton-Salem Penguins.

The unassisted marker, with 2:48 left in the third, capped a three-goal surge that lifted the Penguins to a 6-5 girls hockey victory over the Walled Lake Wild at Suburban Ice Farmington Hills. It gave PCS (8-7-0) its first lead of a back-and-forth tilt.

"It felt really good," said the senior defenseman about her third goal of the night. "If I see an opening I just go with it."

Siebert slapped the puck from the left circle and it soared past Walled Lake freshman netminder Christina Karagozian.

"She (Siebert) had a hat trick and Kara Bongiovanni had four assists, so we definitely got a lot of our points from our defensemen," said Penguins head coach Mary Beth Johnson. "Jordyn Moore, another defenseman, had two goals."

"They were both playing offense and defense today, which is very important for us."

Johnson needed that kind of effort from her senior co-captains to help support goaltender Ellexus Montoya — playing her first-ever game at the position following an injury to regular Cortny McAdoo.

"Ellexus did a really good job, we weren't sure what to expect," Johnson said. "She's only been out at practice twice with the goalie pads on."

SHORING UP THE 'D'

After Walled Lake (a combined team with players from three high schools) scored three first-period goals, the PCS coaches changed things up to play "more of a trap."

Johnson said she had a forward join the PCS Penguins defenseman Jordyn Moore (No. 19), shown from an earlier game, scored two goals Thursday against the Walled Lake Wild.

D-men back on the blue-line to keep the puck in the Wild end "and keep the shots to the outside when they do get into our offensive zone. I thought it worked out pretty well."

Walled Lake (3-12-0) outshot the Penguins 20-16 over the first two periods, which ended with PCS down 5-4. But the Wild managed just two shots in the third.

After a tentative start, Montoya became more comfortable in the crease and that enabled the rest of the team to relax and go to work.

"I think they were a little unsure what to expect and the coaching staff felt the same way," Johnson said. "We weren't sure what was going to happen."

"But the girls became confident after Ellexus started making a few saves."

Walled Lake freshman forward Emma Crone opened the scoring in the Michigan Metro Girls Hockey High School Hockey League matchup four minutes into the first.

Crone took the pass from freshman defenseman Jordan Maynard and sent a shot from inside the blue line past Montoya.

Two goals by Melissa Phalin, both set up by Grace Jardine — sandwiched around Siebert's first goal (assisted by Mallory Rojo) — put the Wild up 3-1 with 3:35 left in the stanza.

But a Moore wrist shot found the five-hole to cut the deficit to 3-2 at 12:52.

Soon thereafter, Montoya made a couple important saves on the doorstep against Mackenzie Moug to keep the game close.

Moore evened things up at 4:48 of the second. She skated into the Walled Lake zone, moved into the slot and buried the puck.

The Wild then scored twice in a 40-second span (one each by Moug and Crone) for a 5-3 edge.

CHIPPING AWAY

Almost as important as her winner was Siebert's power play goal with 7:10 remaining in the second to make it a 5-4 game entering the third.

Siebert received a crisp feed from Bongiovanni and sent a wrist shot inside the right post.

Montoya helped kill off a penalty early in the third and the Penguins drew even with 9:19 left.

Forward Marissa Sullivan made it 5-5, scoring from the slot. Bongiovanni assisted again.

That set the stage for Siebert's exclamation point.

Penguins top Mercy

On Tuesday at Arctic Edge, the PCS Penguins defeated Farmington Hills Mercy, 4-2.

Scoring two goals for the Penguins was Mallory Rojo, with other goals by Jordyn Moore and Kara Bongiovanni. Collecting one assist each were Bongiovanni, Shauna Siebert and Rhianna Fleisher while freshman goalie Cortny McAdoo earned the win.

Canton icers edged by Northville, 4-3

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

When the seesaw stopped, Canton was on the low end — dropping a 4-3 decision to Northville at Arctic Edge.

The KLAA boys hockey teams traded goals throughout the Wednesday matchup. But Northville had the last goal and the last laugh, spoiling "Senior Night" for the Chiefs and their families.

With the loss, Canton (9-9-1 overall, 3-4-1 in the KLAA South) was eliminated from contention for the division title. Salem (5-2-1) clinched it in the process.

"It's a little disheartening when you're trying to battle for the division championship," said Canton head coach Jeremy Majszak, "because if we won our last two games against Northville and Stevenson it was ours."

Majszak said the Chiefs "took it to them the majority of the game. ... The puck just didn't find its way into the back of their net and it found its way into the back of ours."

Northville head coach Jeff Hatley, whose team improved to 8-10-0 overall and 3-5-0 in the KLAA Central, credited the victory to work ethic and strong netminding by junior David Ketelhut, who made 33 stops — many of them on bona fide Canton scoring chances.

"Our goalie played well, and it was a tough effort by the kids, they really gutted it out," Hatley said. "I thought we had the legs in the third period."

It was 2-2 after two frames, but Mustangs senior forward Mike

Scorzo walked out of the left corner and wired a shot top-shelf behind Canton sophomore goalie Ryan Bazner 7:10 into the third.

As they had all night, the Chiefs answered, this time on an unassisted goal by junior forward Garrett Bryden (one goal, one assist) with 6:22 to go.

Bryden corralled a bouncing puck in the Northville zone and ripped a high shot from the left circle past Ketelhut.

But Scorzo once again scored to give the Mustangs the lead, and this time, the goal held up. Brady Marotta sent the puck to Scorzo who beat Bazner (11 saves on 13 shots) from point-blank range.

Bazner played well after relieving starter Spencer Craig just 27 seconds into the middle period. Majszak changed goalies after a shot from inside the blue line by Joey Close eluded Craig to give Northville a 2-1 lead.

Tying the game entering the third was Canton junior forward Jordan Smith. He converted a cross-crease feed from senior winger Sean Murphy.

Trading first-period goals were Northville's Matt Rosiar and Canton junior forward Phil Baciak.

SENIOR NIGHT: Before the game, Canton seniors Rohn Gaudi, Alec Gilo, Riley Hoernschmeyer, Kyle Korte, Sean Murphy and Will Romanowski were honored along with their parents.

Meanwhile, the seniors' moms participated in the Score-O feature during the second intermission.

Rocks take 7-1 pounding at the hands of Novi

Salem's boys hockey team perhaps didn't have as big a reason to play well Friday night against Novi than it would have with something at stake.

The Rocks — clinching the KLAA South Division Wednesday when Canton lost — gave up four power play goals to the Wildcats, getting pounded 7-1 in a physical matchup at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Novi (15-2-2) went up 2-0 in the first period when Taylor Howell and Joey Ferriss scored against Salem goalie Steven Manser and the Wildcats added two more in the second (by Tyler Manning and Evan Dixon) to extend the lead to four goals.

Before the middle stanza ended, Josh Jarvela tallied a power play goal for the Rocks, with an assist to Mario Macari.

But in the third, a Salem parade to the penalty box resulted in goals by Tyler Perpich, Dixon and Curtis Herzog. The final goal came against Eric Fiorentino, who played the final 10 minutes.

Salem dropped to 7-4-3 overall, but finished 5-2-1 in the South to clinch first place.

ROOT

Supreme confidence was something the 5-11, 185-pounder possessed during his outstanding prep career, and that should prove beneficial for Root in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Football Conference.

"I feel once I get situated in a starting position I can lead the team well and help the defense function properly," Root said.

According to Britnell, that confidence as well as drive to excel will enable Root to be a leader for the Bulldogs, too.

"Absolutely, the thing about Austin, he's a competitor," Britnell said. "If someone's better than him, he's going to work his butt off to equal that and better that."

"Again, I'll say that he'll play well for them and be an awesome football player for that program."

Britnell emphasized that the signing also is a plus for Salem football as the program strives to turn things around. The Rocks finished 1-8 in 2008 and 2-7 last fall in Britnell's first season.

"Personally, any time you get a player to play at the next level it's huge for us as a program," the coach said. "It's always good for us to have that kind of stuff happen. We're extremely proud of him and what he's done."

Root was the lone signee on Wednesday from the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park teams. But Britnell and Plymouth's Mike Sawchuk said they expect others to sign or be walk-ons, likely for Division 3 colleges.

team defense tonight," Eagles head coach Carol Gerulis said. "Brianna Harris did a great job handling the ball tonight. Kristin Malcolm had an all-around good game again tonight for us."

Harris scored six points and registered four steals, while Malcolm led the scoring with 20 points (along with 13 boards and four steals).

Gerulis cited the work of Michaela Wheeler, who scored six of her nine points in the third quarter "and had a couple of key assists to players flashing to the basket."

The coach emphasized that the Eagles played with poise, committing just 16 turnovers compared to the 25 in Tuesday's game against Oakland Christian (a 48-38 loss).

Redford woman will compete in state pageant as Mrs. Wayne County

BY SHARON DARGAY
O&E STAFF WRITER

Sarah Johnson likely will wear her talent on her sleeve — and her bodice, neckline and skirt — when she competes in the Mrs. Michigan America pageant.

Although the event doesn't require contestants to sing, dance or exhibit a spare time passion, Johnson, 25, can't help but show her skills with needle and thread. The Redford woman hopes to make her gown for the pageant, which will be held April 9-10 in Grand Rapids.

The reigning Mrs. Wayne County might even design it, too.

"There was a sewing program when I was in middle school for maybe a semester. Then they took it away. I was crushed, but I kept on sewing and learning little things here and there. I kept reading and drawing and sketching," she said.

Johnson has sewn ever since. Her husband, Kerrell, bought her first sewing machine and a best friend gave her the mannequin dress form she uses for fitting. Yards of silky-textured fabric are piled next to the machine, near more conservative suiting material that is being shaped into a coat, with sleeves designed like petals.

"I'll probably buy a gown and make a gown and then figure out which to wear," she said with a laugh. She also promised to make her daughter, Karah, 4, a gown for Metro Detroit's Largest Princess Party and Pageant sponsored by Royal Blush Events.

"It is like a mother-daughter thing,"

Sarah Johnson of Redford wears her Mrs. Wayne County crown and sash.

Johnson said, referring to the two pageants. "Hers is a natural pageant, which I really love. She doesn't have to wear make-up."

EXPERIENCE MODELING

Johnson's pageant includes swimsuit and evening gown modeling, interviews and an on-stage, on-the-spot question.

Her experience on the runway, modeling while she was in college at Wayne State, may give her an edge at the pageant. She also has taken on print modeling assignments.

"I wasn't allowed to do this when I was younger. I just got into this. I wanted to model and I wanted to do pageants but my mother was protective because I was more of an intellectual."

Johnson, who grew up in Detroit in a family of eight, said her mother, was "very traditional" and also discouraged her from modeling.

"She didn't want me getting caught up in the sexual aspect of it. Even when I got older and started modeling, I stopped for a while because it did get to the point where it was all politics and people wanting you to do things you didn't want to do."

As a feminist in college, Johnson sometimes didn't see eye to eye with her mother. Now, as a mother herself, she understands her mom's point of view. And Johnson said her mother is happy about the upcoming pageant.

COMPETING FOR TITLES

Johnson said the Mrs. Wayne County title seemed to fall into her lap.

She submitted her application and photos, and eventually met with a pageant organizer who gave her the go ahead to serve as Wayne County delegate to the pageant in April.

While talking about the event with a friend in the clothing store where she previously worked, a customer offered to give her half of the $500 sponsorship fee need-

"He said just do it. He didn't want to know anything about me. He didn't want to know my address. This is how it's been for me since I said I wanted to be in this pageant."

Winning Mrs. Michigan would give her a platform to encourage others, especially young women, to follow their dreams. She noted that no African American women have reigned as Mrs. Michigan.

FEELING STIFF

When a patient comes to a physician's office because of stiffness, the patient should be prepared to answer a number of physician inquiries. The doctor will want to know if the stiffness is worse in morning or the evening, or is the stiffness present the same throughout the day? Did the stiffness come on gradually over weeks or appear almost overnight? Does the stiffness return on arising after sitting for 20-30 minutes or more? Or does activity make the stiffness worse?

The patient's answers to these questions help the doctor decide the cause of the stiffness. Most stiffness comes from being out of shape, and is the most common type of stiffness found in people over age 70. Insufficient exercise means muscles are weak and sluggish to respond to sudden demands. Arising easily from a seated position requires both strength and stamina, the very qualities of muscle lost when an individual does not undertake regular exercise.

However, a doctor must be careful in this assessment. Another condition - Polymyalgia Rheumatica - has stiffness as its main feature. The stiffness is intense, comes on rapidly and lasts through the day, though aching is worse in the morning. The doctor wants to make a correct diagnosis of Polymyalgia as its treatment is straightforward and results in cure of the stiffness.

Finally, stiffness can be the result of strain. For example, a stiff back may reflect an arthritic knee. Poor posture because of knee impairment can create strain that the individual feels as a stiff back.

The doctor directs his questions in a manner to uncover the cause of stiffness; x-rays or laboratory tests rarely do better.

*Annual percentage yield (APY) is accurate as of date of publication. 1.49% rate (1.50% APY) referenced in any of the following tiers is guaranteed for at least 90 days from the date of account opening then may change at any time as the Huntington Premier Plus Money Market Account (HPPMMA) is a variable rate account. Different rates apply to different balance tiers. Rates and corresponding APYs listed in the tiers that do not earn 1.49% rate (1.50% APY) are also variable and subject to change without notice even prior to the first 90 days. Initial minimum opening deposit required is $20,000.00 and must be new money to Huntington. The interest rate for balances $0.01-$19,999.99 is 0.00% (0.00% APY); the interest rate for the following balance tiers, $20,000.00 to $49,999.99, $50,000.00 to $99,999.99, and $100,000.00 to $2,000,000.99 is currently 1.49% rate (1.50% APY) and will apply for at least 90 days. After the first 90 (ninety) days, the rates in all tiers are not guaranteed and subject to change at any time. When your balance falls into a particular rate tier, your entire balance will earn the applicable rate in effect for that tier, i.e., if your balance reaches $2,000,001.00 or more, your entire balance will earn that lower rate. Weight loss support group offers Valentine Day tips Chocolates and other sweets may abound on Feb. 14, but TOPS Club, Inc., (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), says you can have a fuller heart — without a wider waistline — when the holiday ends.

The nonprofit weight loss support group offers these tips to renew your commitment to a healthy lifestyle and enhance your well-being on Valentine's Day:

- Realize how great it is that you are one of a kind. Appreciate your voice, vision, and uniqueness.
- Write down your many talents and qualities that you like about yourself.
- Get enough rest.
- Indulge in a non-food treat. Buy a bouquet of flowers to brighten up your home or pamper your feet with a rejuvenating pedicure. Valentine's Day is the perfect occasion to treat yourself well.
- Take time to write down and examine your goals. You may surprise yourself. Expressing your goals specifically on paper can be freeing and open up possibilities you might never have considered. Many of them might already be within your grasp.

- Remember the special people in your life. Feb. 14 doesn't have to focus on the love you share with your significant other. Consider family members, friends, and mentors who make your life meaningful the rest of the year. Send a card to let them know how much you care or spend an afternoon just catching up.

- Try something new. Give yourself permission to take risks by exploring a new hobby, tackling that home improvement project, or training for a race. Don't let fear or excuses hold you back from your best self.

- Create a food and exercise/activity plan. Peruse healthy lifestyle magazines for workout tips, meal plans, and delicious, low-calorie recipes. Visit the local library or surf the Web for free materials and advice.

- Count your blessings and record them in a journal every night. The habit of looking on the bright side of each day and being grateful helps create an upbeat attitude and can add a sweet touch to life.

Oakland University's School of Medicine

New medical school a step closer to 2011 start

The Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) has awarded preliminary accreditation to the Oakland University William Beaumont School of Medicine.

The Committee is the national accrediting authority for medical education programs in the United States and Canada. Its survey team visited Oakland University in November 2009 and the Committee this month voted to grant preliminary accreditation.

"We are delighted that the LCME has recognized the quality and value of our team's efforts to create a dynamic learning environment to produce highly competent, patient-centered doctors with a commitment to lifelong learning," said Robert Folberg, M.D., founding dean of the medical school, in a written statement. "This important milestone keeps us on track to begin instruction in August 2011."

Dr. Virinder Moudgil, senior vice president for academic affairs and provost at the university, called the achievement "historic" for Southeastern Michigan.

"This significantly expands our commitment to the role higher education will play in the region and the state, and it shows that we're ready and able to build an innovative, knowledge-based economy for the future," he said.

As part of the OU-Beaumont partnership, students will receive instruction in basic sciences and research at the school of medicine on Oakland University's campus in Rochester, and take part in clinical training and applied research at Beaumont Hospitals.

"Beaumont has long been a national leader in providing post-graduate residency and fellowship training for physicians," said Ananias Diokno, M.D., chief medical officer at Beaumont Hospitals. "Our involvement in this new medical school will attract even more medical talent to us and to the region — benefiting our patients and the communities we serve."

Feel Like Giving Up on Your Job Search?

5 ways to shake things up

Rachel Zupek
CareerBuilder.com writer

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, 36 percent of unemployed people — or 5.4 million — had been without a job for 27 weeks or more in September 2009.

Whether you're out of work for five days, five weeks, five months or five years, any period of unexpected unemployment can be frustrating — especially when it seems to go on forever. Although the economy seems to be showing signs of recovery, any job seeker who has been out of work for a long time will tell you: It's still not easy to find a job.

"Even though there are positive indicators, companies aren't adding jobs now at the rate they cut jobs over the last year," says Noah Blumenthal, best-selling author of "Be the Hero: Three Powerful Ways to Overcome Challenges in Work and Life." Despite that, Blumenthal reminds us that economic activities are cyclical. "Every boom feels like it will last forever and so does every bust. But none of them do. Know that things will turn around. The jobs will come back."

Laura Torres, a 28-year-old development associate in Boston, knows firsthand about being frustrated with a job search. She was laid off in December 2008 and didn't find a job for about nine months.

"The most frustrating aspect was not feeling totally in control of the process — particularly once you started interviewing at a job," she recalls. "Obviously you can play the game and even play it well, but your fate is still up to a small group of people. The agonizing wait between the interview and the follow-up is eerily reminiscent of trying to date someone who 'just isn't that into you.'"

Elena Sokolow-Kaufman, 30, who works at small nonprofit in Massachusetts, also had a frustrating job search. After being unemployed for a little more than two months, she reached a breaking point.

"I had sent out a lot of résumés and had a few interviews for specific job opportunities, but nothing seemed like it was moving forward. At the time I was going on a lot of informational interviews, and at that point I started to feel very burned out," she recalls.

If you do reach a breaking point like Sokolow-Kaufman, Blumenthal says it's important to switch things up and try something new in your job search. Doing so will reinvigorate you and help you stay motivated.

"When you've been searching [for a job] for a long time, it can wear you out. You need to do things to keep you excited about your job search so that you keep going," he says. "The most important thing you can do is keep yourself eager, motivated and energized to continue the search."

To revitalize her efforts, Sokolow-Kaufman says she started a blog, in addition to working on her search in coffee shops with friends who were in the same position.

"It helped me a lot to feel less isolated and was a good reminder that many other people were in the same boat I was in," she says.

Torres also took measures to revive her job search by narrowing her focus in order to find a job she really wanted. In the meantime, Torres challenged herself by applying for jobs outside of her interests or background.

"I never got interviews for these jobs, but it helped me think outside the box a little," she says. "I also sometimes just had informational interviews with people whose careers were markedly different from mine. Again, this was to broaden my horizons a bit and give me more perspective."

If you (and your job search) are stuck in a rut, here are five ways Blumenthal suggests to rejuvenate your job search and mix things up a bit:

1. Go online

"You've sent out more résumés than you can count. But have you tweeted? It's a social networking world. Build your online connections on services like Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn. Then use that platform to make value-added observations about your line of work and job searching. You never know where your electronic connections can lead," he says.

2. Separate yourself

"Hiring managers and recruiters receive tons of résumés. Some are better than others, but frankly, none of them stand out. You need something else," he says. "Try writing an article or two about your field. Print them up on glossy paper with a nice graphic design. Add a professional bio, and put it all together in a nice folder. Now, instead of sending a résumé, you're sending a press kit on you. That stands out."

3. Have fun

"I know a woman who once sent her résumé folded up and stuffed inside of a baby sneaker. Her note said she was sure to be a 'shoe-in' for the job," he recalls. "If you are bored with your job search, it will show in your materials, your applications and your interviews. So have some fun." (And yes, the 'shoe-in' did get the job.)

4. Set a big goal

"You've already met 100, 200, 500 people? Set a goal to meet and have one-on-one conversations with 100 new people this month. Is it possible? Can you do it? Use Facebook. Go to professional meetings. Ask 10 friends to introduce you to 10 new people. It doesn't matter if they are in your field. This is the "Six Degrees of Separation" game. Meet up and let the new connections take you where they will," he says.

5. Go to work

"Volunteer at a local charity or political organization. You have the time, and this helps you in so many ways," he says. How? It feels good to help; you're using your skills; you're meeting new people; you're getting off the couch and out of the house; and you will build your stockpile of stories. "When you meet people or interview, the connections you make are through your stories. What better story to tell than something that happened while you were helping make the world a better place?"

Ultimately, Blumenthal reminds job seekers to treat their job search like a job, and like a project that has a long-term objective.

"Do what you would do if this were such a project. Celebrate milestones and accomplishments along the way. Appreciate what you love about this job. After all, you can work in your pajamas, set your own hours, work from Starbucks and pick your kids up from school."

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
