Gubernatorial candidate Rick Snyder brought his plan for fixing Michigan's economy to a town hall meeting Monday in Canton.

Snyder: State 'an economic disaster'

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Proclaiming Michigan "an economic disaster" that needs tax and budget overhauls, less red tape and a greater emphasis on its strengths, Rick Snyder brought his gubernatorial campaign Monday to Canton

Snyder, an Ann Arbor businessman and the former president and chief operating office; of the computer-maker Gateway, is a Republican whose "one tough nerd" television spots have captured public attention.

He called Michigan's politi-cal system "broken," pointing to state lawmakers' annual budget paralysis as an example, and said government needs to encourage business innovation, nurture home-grown talent, better protect and market its natural resources and develop a more results- and customer service-oriented approach to its

"We need a vision. We know Point A is a disaster. Where's oint B?" Snyder said to abou 60 people during a campaignsponsored town hall at Fellows Creek Golf Club. "We don't need happy talk. We need results."

The stop in Canton was one of about 50 town halls the Snyder campaign is holding across the state. Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy introduced Snyder, and several local politicians and officer-seekers were present.

Snyder, 51, is the chief executive officer of Ardesta, a venture capital firm, and the former chairman of the Michigan Economic Development Corp. He announced his candidacy last

He calls his vision for the state Michigan 3.0. The state, he said, needs to foster innovation and competition in the economy.

Canton residents Eugene and Gloria Hammonds listen to what Rick Snyder, who bills himself as "one tough nerd," has to say at a town hall meeting the gubernatorial hopeful held in Canton.

"The role of government is not to create jobs, it's to create an environment where jobs can flourish," he said.

Snyder, a former partner in an accounting firm, called the Michigan Business Tax cumbersome and "the worst tax in the U.S." He called for replacing it with a flat 6-percent corporate tax, which he said would amount to a $1.5 billion business tax cut.

He also advocated what he called value-for-money budget-

District to RESA: 'No' on millage

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

In the end, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education decided the best way to deal with Wayne RESA's proposed 1.9-mill school enhancement millage was to do nothing at all.

Trustees, who tabled a motion to support RESA's plan a couple of weeks ago so they could seek public input, offered no motion to take it off the table at Tuesday's board meeting, allowing instead for the supporting motion to die on the table.

In effect, the move signals the same lack of support that a "no" vote would have meant.

A month ago, I said unless the community was willing to support it, we shouldn't do it," board Secretary Nancy Eggenberger said Tuesday. "I didn't hear any support for it."

The five-year millage plan was developed by Wayne RESA to help struggling school districts unable to raise more money in tough economic times. With 1994's Proposal A restricting most districts from raising money any other way, RESA officials felt the enhancement millage was necessary.

RESA needs support from enough school districts to represent 51 percent of the county's students and, at a meeting a few weeks ago, officials said they thought they'd need two of three of the county's larger districts - Dearborn, Livonia and Plymouth-Canton - to give it a chance.

However, Dearborn didn't even take the issue to a vote and Livonia's Board of Education voted not to support it. RESA has heard from 15 smaller districts — including such districts as Wayne-Westland, Crestwood, Allen Park, South Redford, Flat Rock and others - which have supported it, but the state's largest district, Detroit Public Schools, hasn't made a decision.

RESA spokesperson Tracy Wright pointed out it's not really RESA's issue; rather, she said, RESA is willing to put it on the ballot if enough districts request it.

"It's really a local district issue," Wright said. "I'm sure they considered what was in the best interests of their residents."

The plan would raise some $11 million in the Plymouth-Canton district, but only about $7 million of that would stay in the district under the plan, which would distribute the rest to other districts. Board members said they believe voters - who turned down local bond issues in 2006 and 2007 - have no interest in being a donor district.

"It's not right for the district, and it's not the right time to ask our voters," board Vice President Barry Simescu said. "It's the bad policy from Lansing that needs to be changed."

Plymouth-Canton Supt. Dr. Craig Fiegel warned trustees Tuesday night that RESA officials could still seek the millage, as long as they get support from enough districts, and that, if passed, Plymouth-Canton taxpayers could still be on the hook.

Fiegel told board members RESA is expected to make a decision next week whether to seek the millage.

A chance to play

Field gives special-needs kids a shot they might not otherwise ever get

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Volunteers associated with The Miracle League are dedicated to one, very simple proposition: "Every child deserves a chance to play baseball.

It's a vision Debra Madonna and Bob Bilkie share, as cochairs of Miracle League of Plymouth, a group that has forged an agreement to build a baseball field out back of Central Middle School in downtown Plymouth with the idea of making that vision a reality for special-needs children in the community.

"It gives kids a chance to play baseball who wouldn't have that chance otherwise,' said Madonna, director of the Plymouth Community Arts Council and co-chair (along with Bilkie) of Miracle League of Plymouth, which provides the opportunity to children with special physical and emo-tional needs. "There are other therapeutic activities, but this one is most visible.'

The first Miracle League field opened in Conyers, Ga., in April 2000. By 2002, fields opened in South Carolina, Alabama, West Virginia, Chicago, and California. There are currently 225-plus Miracle League organizations across the country which serve more than 100,000 children and young adults.

The Miracle League has an aggressive plan to help local communities build Miracle League complexes around the globe. One such complex will be built in Plymouth; Madonna said the group hopes to break ground in April 2011. Miracle League of Plymouth has worked with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools officials, who agreed to lease district-owned property behind Central Middle

The field will be built back there, with parking available off of Theodore and at the Plymouth Cultural Center, with pathways laid for families to get back and forth.

Getting involved with it seemed an easy call for those closest to it.

"I am involved because of my heartfelt desire to serve the meekest in our society combined with my equal desire to share my love for the game of baseball," Bilkie said. "This is my own 'double-play combo!"

Madonna, also a member of Plymouth Rotary A.M., said the project initially came to Rotary, but "it's too big for the Miracle League of Plymouth is getting help from several places. The school district, which will see final site plans for the project next month, has helped, and so has Dietrich, Bailey & Associates, a Plymouth planning firm Madonna said has "been instrumental" in getting the project off the ground.

Now, though, comes the tough part: Raising the $1.1 million it's going to take to get the field built. Miracle League of Plymouth has to raise $500,000 to break ground in April, and Madonna hopes to go over that goal.

"We want to make sure we raise enough money to support this after the initial push, she said. "If you walk away with just enough money to get started, that's not a good way to start.

In addition to accepting checks and "beating the bushes for donations," Madonna said, there will be other ways to help. For instance, sponsor signs will be sold on the outfield fence and, for the more industrious potential donors, naming rights to the field will sell for about $150,000. Madonna hopes the community responds the way it always seems to.

"Even in tough times, people are still giving," she said. "This is what Plymouth does. We're about solving unique prob-

Former funeral home operators go to jail

The former operators of the Ziomek Funeral Home in Livonia are expected to spend at least two years in prison for not paying back more than 60 people they duped out of money for pre-paid funeral contracts.

Nancy and Christopher Ziomek of Canton were sentenced Monday to two to 15 years with the Michigan Department of Corrections after pleading guilty in Wayne County Circuit Court to violating the terms of their probation, which required them to pay an initial amount of $150,000 in restitution by May 3.

The incarceration was the end result of them making promises they could not keep," Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Robert Spada said

Asked how long they will actually spend in prison, Spada said: "Truth in sentencing usually means two years." He said he will request that restitution be a condition of their parole at the time they become eligible. He said the victims are still out their money.

Timothy Wrather, attorney for Nancy Ziomek, said: "Mrs. Ziomek entered a plea agreement with the intent to pay back all of the money gained through the pre-paid contracts in question. Ultimately, and despite good-faith efforts, she and her husband, Christopher Ziomek, fell short of the required amount specified in that agreement. Unfortunately, the prison sentence handed down to the Ziomeks makes it less likely that the families involved will ever be made financially whole.'

Plymouth

Nancy Ziomek and her husband, Christopher (seated), are headed to prison because they failed to meet the terms of their probation, which required them to pay an initial amount of $150,000 in restitution by May 3.

In November, the Ziomeks were charged with two counts of embezzlement greater than $50,000 but less than $100,000, three counts of embezzlement by an agent or trustee greater than $1,000 but less than $20,000, and funeral contracts-conversion. Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy said the defendants obtained more than $230,000 from unwitting victims between 1998 and 2007, and the money was later spent by the Ziomeks for their own personal use

The Ziomeks entered plea agreements and were placed on five years probation, but only if they followed repayment guidelines; otherwise they would be subjected to jail time.

In sentencing them this week, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Daniel Hathaway noted he would consider a motion for resentencing if they are able to repay the entire amount authorities said they stole from their victims.

No charges yet in Canton runaway case

BY BRAD KADRICH AND DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITERS

Charges may still be filed in the case of 15-year-old Devon Kroetsch, the girl who left a Canton foster home March 1 and who was found in Eastpointe more than two months later.

But they won't be filed by Canton police.

Canton Detective Sgt. Dave Schreiner said Wednesday local police are done with the case, which ended last week when police, working with Eastpointe and Wayne County youth authorities, found Kroestch unharmed in the last of several places she stayed during her two-month disappearance.

"(Charges) will be left up to the other agencies involved, which would include Wayne County and Eastpointe police, Schreiner said. "We will not be charging the people with whom Devon was staying. We don't intend to pursue any further charges.'

Eastpointe officials weren't immediately available for comment.

Police still aren't identifying the people with whom Kroetsch was staying because no decision on charges has been made. Kroetsch was found safe Friday afternoon staying with an acquaintance, police said. Police had been searching for her since she walked away from Belleville High School March 1. Kroetsch told police she had changed her hair color in an attempt to disguise her identity. She also told police she knew police were looking for her, that she had never been held against her will and had not been the victim of any criminal activity.

"We're glad to bring it to a conclusion where she was found safe (and) unharmed." Schreiner said Friday. "She appeared to be relieved by the fact that she didn't have to live any longer as a kid who was on the run and who had to endure the stress of being listed as a runaway."

Thieves swipe Lover's Lane truck, merchandise

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A Plymouth Townshipbased chain that specializes in, uh, intimacy items and apparel had about $250,000 worth of its merchandise go missing on Monday.

A truck, stolen early Monday from outside Lover's Lane & Co. headquarters on Port Street, was packed with lingerie, lotions, massage oils and other "stuff you don't hear about in the news," said Eric Gorde, the company's marketing specialist, on Wednesday.

Gorde estimated the retail value of the goods, which were destined for Lover's Lane stores in Illinois, at about $250,000. The heist has received local media coverage and employees have been checking eBay and Craigslist, but 'we haven't seen any items turn up in Metro Detroit,' Gorde said. Nearly every piece of the merchandise was marked with a Lover's Lane tag, he said.

A tip, Gorde said, did lead to the recovery of the delivery truck in Detroit later Monday. The truck, which had been hot-wired, was empty except for a few "scraps," Gorde said. "Nothing salvageable," he

The truck is marked with the Lover's Lane logo and graphics. "It stands out," Gorde said.

Police are checking the company's outdoor security video from around the time of the truck theft. Gorde said the theft occurred between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m.

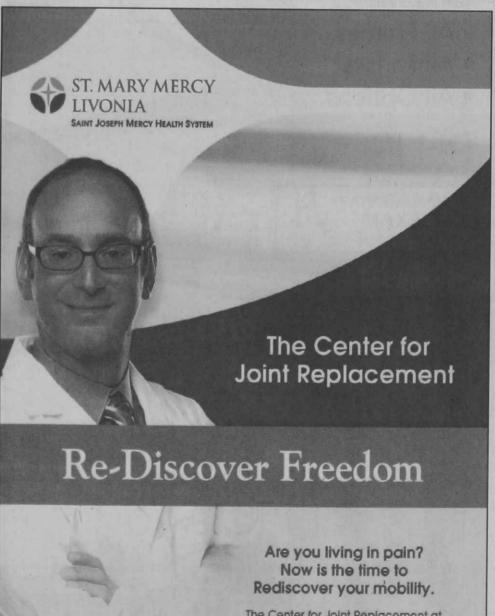

Gorde said he is uncertain if the thief or thieves knew the truck was loaded.

Lover's Lane is offering a reward for information leading to an arrest in the case. The company can be reached at (734) 414-0010, or call the Plymouth Township Police Department at (734) 354-3232

Lover's Lane moved to the township in 2007. Gorde said the company had outgrown its headquarters in Westland.

ing, in which citizens would have a bigger say in setting budget priorities and the government would be held to benchmarks and required to demonstrate what taxpayers are getting for their dollars.

Snyder said principles that have helped him run successful businesses should be applied to government.

"If Lansing was a business, we would've fired them a long time ago," he said.

Snyder called himself "a good green Republican" and said the state should support the development of alternative energy sources, which, he said, could create jobs in addition to protecting the environment.

Snyder also: · Said that restoring the state's ailing cities, such as Detroit, Pontiac and Flint, is important if Michigan is to progress. "We need people to have that view regardless of where they live in the state," he said. Said Michigan needs job opportunities, an exciting environment and a successful Detroit in order to get young people to stay in the state.

· Said that tax incentives are overused as a way to attract business, and essentially result in higher taxes for others. "I'm not sure they're giving much value," he said.

He said the state should focus more on the businesses and the talented workers already here by sparking innovation, which could lead to new jobs. He also suggested the greater use of mentoring to nurture young talent.

· Urged a more positive view of the state rather than what he characterized as a defeatist view that leaves a negative impression on people from other states. Michigan's pluses, such as a skilled work force, abundant natural beauty and good real estate values, should be talked up, he said.

Ron Powell of Canton said he liked Snyder's message of positivism, but said the "elephant in the room" is the "Things aren't good, but I think they can get better," Powell said.

Jaren Kuchta of Dearborn, a campaign staffer for Republican state House candidate Lori Levi, said he liked Snyder's talk, but wants more specifics. Levi, his boss, also attended the town hall.

"I am running to be a voice of common sense," Levi said. "With experience as an employee, self-employer and small business owner, I understand how legislation affects jobs. I get it. I understand the negative impact government policies and regulations can have on our job providers."

Price is the former Wayne 11th Republican group chairman who cited what he called a lack of leadership in Lansing as a reason for running.

"My father worked the line at the Ford Livonia transmission plant for over 44 years, and my mother retired from the United States Post Office," Price said. "Together, my parents - like many parents today - fought to ensure that I had the opportunity to be successful in life. However, with the lack of leadership in Lansing over the past eight years, opportunities like mine are becoming harder to come by.'

Steve Booher Jr., of Plymouth Township, a manufacturers representative in the automotive industry, filed on Tuesday, the last day for primary filings.

Booher, 34, who also works in information technology, said he has not previously been involved in local politics.

"I thought I'd jump in and do my part," he said. Booher said the state's economy and job creation are his priority issues, and he called for smaller government, support for small businesses, and less regulation, which he said has been a hindrance to economic growth.

Heise, 44, announced his candidacy in January. He has a background in environmental law and municipal law, teaches at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and Wayne State University and is active with the Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

Heise said his top priorities are job-creation, state budgeting and education. He advocates a two-year budget plan, which, he said, would allow state government to look further ahead and make the reforms needed to cut spending. He also suggests privatizing some state services.

"We've really got to adapt to the new reality," he said. Other states have successfully confronted similar budget problems, he said.

7TH SENATE

This seat drew the most interest, with Corriveau and Gibraltar Democrat Kathleen Law competing in the Democratic primary and four candidates - Patrick Colbeck and Deborah Whyman of Canton, Abe Munfakh of Plymouth and Dan Osterman of Belleville - doing battle in the Republican primary.

· Corriveau is completing his second term as the 20th District House representative. A lawyer from Northville, Corriveau was elected in 2002 to replace term-limited Republican John Stewart. Corriveau chairs the House health policy committee and sits on the House judiciary, education and government operations committees. He said he's spent his first two terms building relationships with local leaders, regardless of political party, and hopes to take that bipartisan attitude to the Senate

"I think I've done what I said I would do when I was elected in 2006, which is go up to Lansing and work hard to represent the people who sent me there," Corriveau said.

· Law is a former state representative who served the 23rd House District (which encompasses the southern end of the 7th Senate District) from 2003-08. Law said she's getting back into the political game because she wants to see Michigan reinvigorate its manufacturing base. She said the state "needs to develop real

"Down here in southeast Michigan, the needs of this particular region are slightly different than in agricultural or rural areas," Law said.

 Munfakh is retired, but still consults on engineering issues. His business, Munfakh & Associates, provides engineering management and consulting services to various villages, townships and cities. A former Plymouth Township board member, Munfakh said too many state legislators are attorneys or career politicians worried about where their next job is going to be.

"I filed because I'm a businessman and what's happening in Lansing is bothering me," said Munfakh, who last served on the Plymouth Township board in 2004.

 Colbeck, an entrepreneur and fiscal conservative from Canton, said he is a "strong advocate of our U.S. Constitution and the principles of our Founding Fathers." He said he believes strongly that the re-awakening of America to the values promoted by men like George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and Ronald Reagan are the keys to the restoration of our prosperity as a state and as a country.

"As a small business owner and as a management consultant to Fortune 500 companies, I understand how Lansing's red tape and tax policies have pushed jobs out of our state," Colbeck said.

· Osterman is a Belleville resident affiliated with the Tea Party movement. At a recent Canton gathering, Osterman said he helps coordinate Campaign for Liberty activities in Michigan's 11th Congressional District.

"Our biggest concern is government has no longer become representative of the people," Osterman said.

· According to the Wayne County elections website, Whyman paid her $100 filing fee Tuesday, the last day to register for elections.

She couldn't be reached for comment.

Board did its job on RESA millage

The seven-member Plymouth-Canton Board of Education was elected to represent their constituents in matters concerning the education of their children. Tuesday night, we believe they did just that.

The board finally acted — by not acting on a tabled motion to support, thus allowing it to die - on Wayne RESA's 1.9-mill school enhancement millage, a county-wide tax hike that would raise some $97 million for county districts. With 1994's Proposal A restricting most districts from raising money any other way, RESA officials feel as though this enhancement millage - which only RESA can put on the ballot - is necessary

The problem local voters seem to have with it is only some $7 million of the $11 million it would raise in Plymouth-Canton would stay in Plymouth-Canton. The rest of it would go into a pot to be divided around

And, while it's true Plymouth-Canton could use the $7 million - trustees have only cut a couple of million dollars out of a potential $11 million deficit next year - it's also true voters aren't all that interested in being a donor district.

Board members were initially inclined to support the RESA plan; while they believe Lansing has to solve this problem structurally, they also know it's not going to happen, certainly not in the short run, and the short run is what they've got to worry about it. Lansing certainly has to do something, but that's a fight for another day.

Board members here started hearing from local residents who simply don't want to be a donor district, and subsequently support for the RESA plan waned.

A few weeks ago, RESA officials said at a meeting they thought they needed two of three larger districts - Dearborn, Livonia and Plymouth-Canton - to get on board (RESA needs enough districts representing 51 percent of the county's students to float the plan). Livonia said no, Dearborn didn't even take it to a vote of the board, and now Plymouth-Canton has said no.

RESA officials may still put it on the ballot; after all, the state's largest district (Detroit) gets some $31 million out of the deal. It wouldn't be fair to hold taxpayers in nonsupporting districts hostage over it and we don't think RESA should do it - but they may read support in other, smaller districts (Wayne-Westland and Garden City, for instance) as a goahead.

Plymouth-Canton has no control over whether RESA goes ahead with the plan (RESA must decide by May 18) but you have to like the board's decision to just say no. Local taxpayers told trustees "no" on bond sues in 2006 and 2007, and they've been pretty loud and clear on this plan. It's to their credit trustees were listening, and did what they were elected to do.

McCotter misinformation

With the passage of another quarter, the time has come for another self-assessment from Congressman Thad McCotter, selfdescribed fiscal conservative and blatant abuser of the congressional franking privilege. Through a glossy, expensive mailer he is still pushing, among other things, the ridiculous "Government run health care" meme. McCotter, like most of his Republican colleagues, seems determined to allow recently discredited political wordsmith Frank Luntz to continue to do his talking for him

Recent events like mine and offshore rig disasters and revelations of the shenanigans of Goldman Sachs and other Wall Street players that resulted in the economic collapse, along with audacious premium increases by health insurance providers in the face of the passage of a reform bill, have reinforced my belief that regulation ain't so bad, but I guess McCotter does not agree.

On page one, McCotter, in round-about fashion, reiterates some of the biggest health care lies of the year as rationale for his no vote on much-needed health care reform. Quick to cite CBO cost estimates, in a little selective truth-telling, curiously McCotter omits the part about deficit reduction estimates of $130 billion the first ten years and $1.2 trillion over two decades. He tries to mislead constituents by characterizing the estimated $500 billion in Medicare savings from elimination of waste, fraud and abuse as a reduction of services. Never, to my recollection; at least before a black president was in office, has a Republican attempted to marginalize efforts to cut waste, fraud and abuse.

According to the mailer, apparently in order to make some obscure political point, McCotter has introduced legislation (H.R. 4500) to combat something that doesn't even exist, the institutionalization of health care rationing that he alleges the Stimulus bill provides for. This quest to uncover those secret "death panels" that no one else is smart enough to find has been joined by exactly zero cosponsors. In this day of partisan lunacy, don't you think that even a Michele Bachman or a Virginia Fox would jump on the "crazy train" if there was anything to this? Is this kind of hapless "witch hunt" what we really want our representative wasting time on?

In light of the intentional inaccuracies on page one, why would any sane person read. on? We, the citizens of the 11th district deserve much better.

Show support for our troops

May 15, 2010, is Armed Forces Day. Right now, volunteer men and women are everywhere protecting we civilians here at home. And in honor of the troops who do so much to protect us, hundreds of troop support groups across America ship thousands of care boxes each year to them all over the world.

More than 90 percent of Americans have never served in the military. I am one of them, representative of the rest. And on behalf of all of those they protect, I thank the troops for preserving our liberties, livelihoods and businesses. Even though the borders of this country are penned with their blood, and even though we don't keep our national house in order, they go forth each day to protect it and give us more time. Let's hope in the end we can all make them as proud of us as we are of them.

Showings of support means a lot to them, and here is an inkling of their gratitude for the bonds between us:

"I wanted to say thank you so much for sending out the care package to my airman. She received the box today and she was literally in tears and could not believe that there are people who cared enough to send her a box. She said she felt like it was Christmas or better because she has not had a Christmas since she was younger. It was great seeing her tell everyone who walked in the office about the box. Again, thank you and your team for taking the time to think of us over here and we truly do appreciate your support!" - S.Sgt. Leticia "Thank you, thank you, and thank you so very much for the packages we received. We, the 2025th Transportation Company want you to know how appreciative we are for the phone cards, games, magazines, books, music CDs, DVDs, toiletries, the food and all the other goodies that were sent to us yesterday," wrote Maj. Earnest, who was overwhelmed with the packages that came in and he right away distributed the goodies to all the soldiers. "It is a hard road for us over here especially during the holiday season. Being away from our families is really tough but with the goodies and gifts it made everyone feel like getting into the holiday spirit. From the 2025th Transportation Company Family we would like to extend our heartfelt thank you for all of your support. We will always have a place in our heart for you.'

Since her inception, America has been unique among nations of the world. We go further to do more good than any other nation on earth. As acts of freedom, not dominion. Which is why so many foreigners want their pictures taken with our troops when they encounter them in

I periodically receive e-mails from people in other countries pining that they wished their people did for their military community the way Americans do for theirs. You see, America is a charitable nation, with a majority who believes in the personal responsibility of doing good at the individual level. Hence, a voluntary military. And hence the voluntary support for its members from us.

Indeed, hundreds of charitable groups have arisen to support the troops' morale and well-being while they are deployed. Are there amazing people in this country or what? You will find these groups listed at www.SupportOurTroops.Org.

So for Armed Force Day this year, go out and find an event to participate in. Or send a care package. Or make a donation. Find the core moral satisfaction in stepping up for those who step up for all of us.

And to all the troops from all of us here at home, I say thank you, and may God bless and keep you safe.

Keep Saturday delivery

A couple of feedbacks ... Those folks who seem to be all for the discontinuance of U.S. mail delivery on Saturdays are opening themselves up to a rude awakening as the "law of unintended consequences" kicks in.

Bills will be late in being received, and bills will be late in being sent. The banks and credit card companies will have a tremendous late fee windfall if such a move is made. I can just see everybody crying about the problems that will be created.

Why can't the U.S. post office start a new two-tiered wage rate for new hires so that postal rates don't escalate out of sight? If it's good for autoworkers, it should be good enough for our civil servants! Guess we can forget about that service slogan, we deliver through rain and snow, but not on Saturdays!

And, the second is about that Proposal A loophole that would allow a county to sock it to taxpayers with increased property taxes. It should be repealed. I hope our representatives in Lansing will do something about that.

Equal pay for women

April 20 was National Equal Pay Day. Currently, women in Michigan earn 72 cents on the dollar compared to men doing comparable work. That is worse than the national gender wage gap of 80 cents on the dollar. With so many women in Michigan being the chief wage earners, this has a huge impact on the well-being of families in our state.

Federal pay equity legislation was introduced in 1945, around the time my mother went to work to support her two daughters. It is ridiculous to think that so little has changed in more than 60 years.

It has been over three decades since the actual passage of the Equal Pay Act and Title VII. Isn't it time that working women received a full dollar on the dol-

Ben Schiff is a former foster child who proved to a court referee he could take care of himself at age 16. Few people at Clarenceville High School knew he was legally responsible for himself while he was a student there.

Benjamin Schiff experienced more upheaval in 14 years than most people experience in a life-

Schiff never knew his biological father. His stepfather assaulted him, his mother was abusive, then his mother and stepfather divorced. His mother was sent to prison on a parole violation for a robbery in Texas.

Schiff was shuffled between foster homes, and eventually lived with a relative. Schiff later moved out after he had had enough of the relative's destructive behavior and moved in with a Farmington Hills contractor. Schiff was 14.

Schiff managed to rise above the turmoil and dysfunction in his family life, joined the U.S. Army Reserves his junior year and graduated with honors from Clarenceville High School in 2009. On June 27, he will enter the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Anthony Salciccioli, a social studies instructor at Clarenceville. calls Schiff's story a Horatio Alger story. "I don't know if I've had a harder working, more moral student than him," Salciccioli said. Clarenceville Principal Paul Shepich wasn't surprised about Schiff's admission to West Point. "Once you get to know Ben and his character, you learn that when he says he will do something, you know it will be done and it will be done well," Shepich said.

A QUIET STUDENT During his freshman and sophomore years Schiff didn't talk to many people about his living arrangements. His relative was listed as his legal guardian, but he feared he would be returned to the foster care system if authorities found out he wasn't living with his legal guardian. He feared growing close to people because he felt that he would be moved again. "I was living on my own, and I didn't talk to a lot of people," he said. He dove into his studies and his jobs. Once he turned 16, he proved to a court referee that he could take care of himself and handle adult responsibilities. The state emancipated him, allowing him to legally be responsible for himself, Schiff notices the flaws in emancipation in what may be considered routine and taken for granted by youths. "We're supposed to have the same rights as an 18-yearold except for voting," he says of emancipated youths who legally can support themselves. "But when you get a driver's license, at 18, you don't need driver's education. If you are 16, you have to pay $300 for driver's ed.

Since Schiff couldn't afford driver's ed, he rode his bicycle everywhere: to school, then to work at his job to support himself. Of course, that discipline, exercise and regimen helped keep him in shape for when he joined the U.S. Army Reserves at 17.

Schiff also immersed himself in school. He signed up for dual enrollment classes, which allowed him to take classes at Schoolcraft College when he was a senior at Clarenceville, taking introductory classes for computers and engineering as a junior and political science, philosophy and anthropology and another online independent social studies class his senior year. For each class he enrolled at Schoolcraft, he was at Clarenceville for one less hour of class.

FOCUS ON WORK, SCHOOL

Shepich remembers seeing Schiff one morning at school at 6:45 a.m. before classes started and before many of the other students had arrived. "He had mud on was exhibited through his work his jeans, and he had worked that night and came directly to school," Shepich said. "He helped out on a water main break in Farmington."

Shepich said the staff didn't know about Schiff's living situation until Schiff was older and opened up about it. Shepich gave Schiff a ride to Botsford Elementary so Schiff could judge a science project. Shepich heard some of Schiff's story, then spoke with counselors about him. "They started to learn about his situation, but he really didn't talk to you about that stuff," Shepich said.

Salciccioli taught Schiff while Schiff was in the ninth, 10th and 11th grades in law, sociology and

U.S. history. Salciccioli said he saw something special in Schiff by the questions Schiff asked and the depth in which he pursued ideas. "He has such an interest in the world around him," Salciccioli said. "He is curious and interested in the whole world."

Salciccioli could tell Schiff was tired after working long hours or nights, and told him he needed to modify things and take some time for himself. Salciccioli said Schiff told him: "No, nothing is going to stop me,

"He didn't want the easy route. He did all the hard work," Salciccioli said. "He never had excuses, never complained a lick and had full accountability."

Schiff got involved with Michigan Youth in Government his junior and senior years with the encouragement of social studies instructor and Youth in Government coordinator Josh Green. Middle and high school students went to Lansing for a four-day conference, sitting with lawmakers and getting involved in legislation. Schiff was appointed committee chair his senior year and served as a delegation presi-

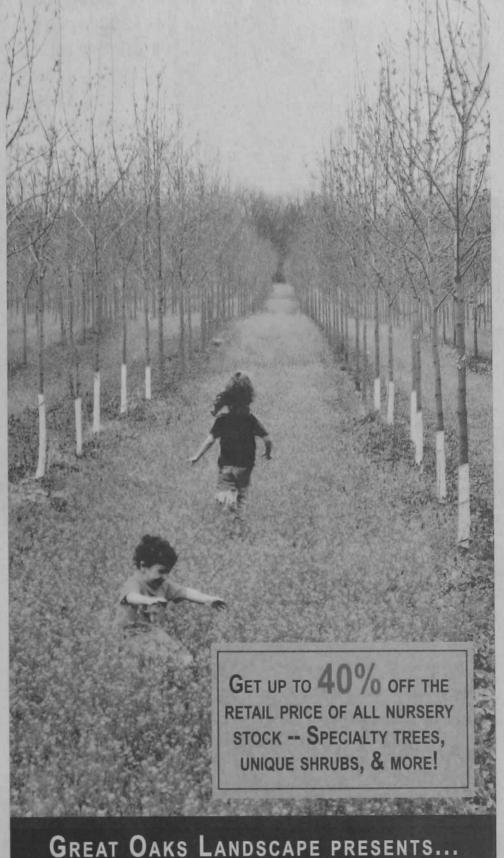

"I love politics and I was able to debate people my age," Schiff said. Later he served as the Michigan student representative at the YMCA Conference on National Affairs, one of only 30 students nationally to be selected. "Youth in Government made me decide what I wanted to do. It really helps students decide what they want to do with their lives," Schiff said.

Shepich said Ben's leadership and volunteerism in assisting many school activities. "His leadership was his daily routine, being here, every day and being respectful of others," Shepich said.

'A GREAT KID'

Shepich won't bet against Schiff's success at West Point or in politics. "He has a quiet demeanor, and I can see him as a leader behind the scenes," Shepich said.

"He's just a great kid. We're happy for him and we're proud of him. I hope his story will touch a lot of different people and different kids, that when they run into struggles, that they find the gumption to do things.

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Over and over again, Plymouth boys golf coach Chris Moore has witnessed the hard work and leadership of his seniors.

Monday, the efforts of seniors James Bryans, Trevor Birdwell and Ryan Bauer were rewarded as the Wildcats captured the Western Wayne Invitational at Walnut Creek Country Club.

Taking third with 334 strokes was Livonia Stevenson (Blue), while Canton (337) and Livonia Franklin (349) rounded out the Top 5. As for the individual tallies, Plymouth's best showing was by junior Justin Bauer. He registered a 76, good for second overall. Freshman Kyle Rodes also had a strong showing, finishing with a 79 to tie with Canton's Brendan Muir for third place behind However, Plymouth won't have much time to savor the triumph with a very busy schedule for the next two weeks.

Entering Wednesday's dual match at Westland John Glenn, the Wildcats are undefeated.

But Plymouth then has three more upcoming matchups, culminating Wednesday, May 19, with a 3 p.m. meeting with Canton at Hilltop Golf Course.

Moore added that the team has made the Top-10 in all invitationals so far, entering Saturday's Bedford Invite at the Legacy in Ottawa Lake.

CC, Trenton play like it's 1999

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

In 1999, Trenton defenseman Kurt LaTarte turned blue and nearly died after a hockey skate slashed into his neck during a showdown with Detroit Catholic Central, then based out of Redford Township.

That game - between the defending state champion Trojans and soon-to-be crowned CC had to be stopped with five minutes remaining in the third period and the score tied 4-4.

Both teams knelt in a circle that night to pray for LaTarte's recovery and amazingly, he pulled through.

On Sunday more than 11 years later, LaTarte and his Trenton teammates again faced the Shamrocks to settle things without any lifeand-death drama.

In a well-played game that capped two months of intense training by the players, Trenton railied in the third period to earn a 4 2 win before a sold-out and enthusiastic crowd at Plymouth Township's Compuware Arena. It was the latest game in the Gatorade REPLAY

Spectacular goalkeeping from Matt Modelski nearly pulled a victory off for the Shamrocks, who were outworked and outshot (41-30). Modelski stopped 37 of 40 shots, with Brad Zancanaro scoring into an empty net with nine seconds to play.

DAZZLING DISPLAY "I was truly amazed at the effort and the stops these goalies made," said honorary CC coach Scotty Bowman. "... I just can't believe how goalies can get that proficient in such a short time. Ben Rader started in net for Trenton and stopped 12 of 14 shots and Tony Damiani (16 saves) came in to close the door in the third - diving, sprawling and holding off a furious Shamrocks comeback try in the final minutes.

Salem's Brad Trublowski dives toward home plate Monday, but the baseball beats him as Westland John Glenn catcher Kevin Karsnick is there to make the tag.

Duo's dynamite in Salem victory

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

For all intents and purposes, Monday's baseball game between host Salem and Westland John Glenn could have been called The Matt and Tate Show and not been too much of a

Salem sophomore pitcher Matt Constance gave up just four hits and struck out 13 and provided some timely encouragement to senior first baseman Tate Theisen - just before Theisen broke a scoreless tie with a home run with two outs in the fourth.

Theisen's drive down the right-field line triggered a three-run surge that set the tone for Salem's 7-0 KLAA crossover victory.

"I was standing in the on-deck circle and I just heard Matt in the dugout say, 'Today's the day, Tate," Theisen said with a grin. "He said that to me in Ohio, too.

Theisen homered that time, too, during Salem's spring trip to the Cincinnati area in early April.

Monday's home run against John Glenn pitcher Spencer Dowd got the ball rolling for the Rocks (9-11).

Junior Scott Devine and sophomore Brett Ramirez (2-for-3) followed with singles and senior Ken Novak walked to load the bases.

Then junior Brad Trublowski drove in two runs with a double to right-center, to make it five consecutive batters reaching base.

ON A ROLL

In the meantime, Constance kept mowing down John Glenn batters, striking out six straight from the top of the fourth until the sixth.

The Rockets (1-13) could only muster four singles, with two coming off the bat of Derrick Ammons and one each for Andrew Benyd and Shane Anderson

"At the plate, you can see we're struggling," John Glenn assistant coach Dan Danic said. "He (Constance) had a decent fastball; his off-speed stuff I don't see moving too much.

"But he was able to change the velocity on his fastball all day and had our guys guessing." Constance said he had no secret for the 13 strikeouts except to pitch to the glove of catcher Ramirez.

Hopefully, I'll have more starts like that," Constance said. For good measure, Salem tacked on

Wildcats rally to nip Spartans

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, May 13, 2010

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Plymouth scored runs in the sixth and seventh innings Monday to snag a 4-3 win over host Livonia Stevenson in a KLAA crossover softball game

Stevenson had scored in the fifth to go up 3-2, but Plymouth (13-4 overall, 10-3 in the KLAA) re-tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth. Senior third baseman Amanda Burnard singled, took second on freshman catcher Kayla Rebain's sacrifice bunt and scored on a wild

The rally for the winning run started with two outs and nobody on base. Senior shortstop Stacey Klonowski (2-for-4) tripled and scored on a line-drive single to left by Burnard (3-for-4) to put the Wildcats ahead.

Freshman pitcher Elaine Gerou then took care of the Spartans for the final three outs. Gerou only gave up two runs in the first inning; the third run in the fifth was off senior Lauren Smith (who only pitched one inning before Gerou returned to the circle).

"Our senior leadership stepped up and produced the runs when we needed them," said Plymouth head coach Val Canfield.

The Wildcats rallied earlier in the contest, too. They scored twice in the fourth as Jessica Bondy, Klonowski, Burnard and freshman Bri Giordano bunched singles together -Giordano's hit to left knocked in both runs.

The tight ballgame was in stark contrast from the doubleheader Plymouth played May 5 against Westland John Glenn.

The Wildcats easily won both ends, 11-1 and

In the opener, Klonowski went 3-for-5, scored twice and drove in two runs to pace the attack. She had plenty of support, however, as Burnard, Bondy, Gerou (the winning pitcher), Heldmeyer and Christy Pattison each collected two hits. Plymouth's 14th hit was by Marissa Blassic.

Game 2 was more of the same, although it ended after six innings due to the 10-run mercy rule.

Klonowski smacked two doubles and a triple in four at-bats and plated three teammates as she had another huge performance, Canfield said.

Bondy chipped in with three hits and three runs while Gerou also went 3-for-3 and drove in two. Burnard (2-for-4), Giordano (2-for-3, 2 runs), Kayla Rebain (1-for-2, 3 runs) and Smith (1-for-2, 2 runs) were other key contributors.

All that offense made it an easy game for Smith, who earned the victory.

Salem seniors celebrate

A nine-run second inning Monday paved the way for host Salem to rout Westland John Glenn, 13-3. The KLAA crossover softball game also was Senior Day for the Rocks, who afterward toasted the efforts of Amanda Dewyer and Mary Johnson.

Dewyer had a 3-for-3 afternoon while topnotch outfielder Johnson went 2-for-4, helping the Rocks improve to 11-8 overall.

"She (Dewyer) got a couple hits today which was nice to see," said Salem head coach Bonnie Southerland. "Same thing with Mary. she's our lead centerfielder, our go-to centerfielder and she's been on the team for four years and has done a real nice job.

Of course, the underclassmen on the team wanted to make sure Senior Day was one to remember.

At the top of that list was junior pitcher Briana Lee, who singled and ripped a threerun homer while also striking out 10 Rockets in her four innings of work.

Other productive Rocks included Heidi Schmidt (3-for-5, including a double and triple), Alexis Powell (2-for-4) and Jenny First (3 singles).

Katie Kinney and Katie Meade also doubled and the game gave Southerland the chance to play junior varsity callup Elliott Mitchum.

Although Mitchum did not record a hit, she lined out while playing second base.

Rain dance

Despite cold rain and whipping winds Tuesday night, Westland John Glenn and Canton got together for a KLAA South girls soccer tilt at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park. Going for the ball during the first half are the Rockets' Ashley Bailey (No. 22) and Jessikah McClendon (No. 18) of the Chiefs. McClendon scored two goals and assisted on another to pace Canton's 6-0 victory. Also scoring were Allyson Krause, Christy Balewski, Lindsey Winters and Melanie Pickert. Splitting the shutout were Canton goalies Sam McPartlin and Kayla Bridges. Meanwhile, McPartlin also blanked Salem 3-0 on Saturday, with markers by McClendon, Maddy McLean and Megan Trapp.

Lady Warriors win pair in lacrosse

The Plymouth-Canton-Salem Lady Warriors girls lacrosse team knocked off Northville in back-to-back matches last week, by scores of 11-7 and 10-9.

That could be a favorable precursor to the regional tournament later this month, since PCS will face Northville in the opening game. In the first win, Katie Hill (Plymouth) scored three goals with two each from sophomore Stephanie Bower (Canton) and senior Lauryn Ebersol (Plymouth). Making 19 stops for the victory was Salem junior

The senior pitcher threw a no-hitter and went 2-for-4 with a homer and four RBI as Livonia Stevenson blanked visiting Plymouth, 6-0, in a Kensington Conference crossover baseball encounter.

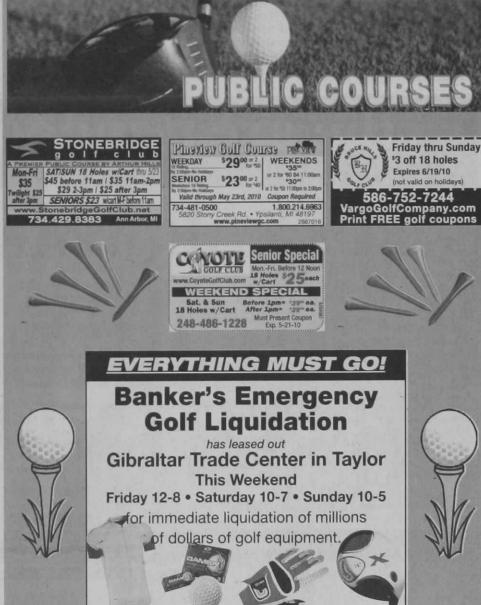

Sorenson faced just 23 batters, walking one and striking out 16 as the Spartans improved to 17-4 overall and 9-3 in the KLAA's Central Division.

Harrison Michels, who went the first 5.1 innings allowing five runs nine hits, took the loss for Plymouth (9-10, 4-9). He struck out eight and walked two.

Modelski's efforts, along with goals from Jim Spiewak and Ryan Yost, gave CC a 2-1 edge entering the third.

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, May 13, 2010

The Trojans tied it up at 6:03 of the final stanza when Alec Lesko scored.

Exactly three minutes later, Trenton scored the winner off a 3-on-1 rush. Twin forwards Brad (two goals, two assists) and Tony Zancanaro crashed the net, with Lesko finishing for his second of the day.

Their better players outplayed our better players," said Catholic Central's Keith Rowe, who played several seasons of minor league hockey. "They took it to the net and were relentless. It was only a matter of time before they put it in. "But it was a great experience, more than about winning, although I would have loved to win. Today was about bigger stuff than hockey.

Catholic Central opened the scoring at 6:12 of the first. Rader slid to stop Brad Holland's blast from the left wing, but Spiewak trailed to roof the rebound. Chris Morelli also assisted.

Brad Zancanaro's shorthanded breakaway goal with 1:33 to go in the frame evened the match at 1-1.

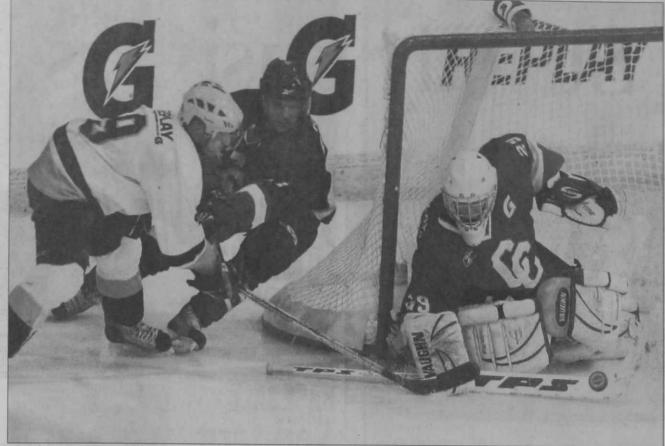

The only marker in the second was scored on the power play by CC's Yost with nine minutes remaining. Rowe and Brandon Kaleniecki drew helpers on the goal.

FULL CIRCLE

When the final buzzer sounded, Trenton players threw their sticks into the air and mobbed each other in a show of cathartic happiness.

Then, as they did in 1999, both teams again knelt in a circle. But this time, smiles replaced tears. Trenton head coach Mike Turner thanked all the players for their strong efforts in making the Gatorade REPLAY game a winner for both sides.

"It was amazing just having everyone there, family and friends supporting us, it was great," said LaTarte, a Beverly Hills resident who still bears visible scars on the right side of his neck from the horrific experience in '99. "I've never played in an atmosphere like that before.

One of Sunday's standouts, Catholic Central goalie Matt Modelski (No. 29) stops an in-close scoring bid by Trenton's Brad Zancanaro (No. 9). One of the CC blueliners (middle, not identified) also tries to check Zancanaro, who scored two of the Trojans' four goals.

... I'll be grateful for the rest of my life for all these guys, on both teams."

Gatorade chose LaTarte's remarkable story out of some 3,000 applications for the REPLAY series and there was no shortage of emotion on Sunday.

The teams were charged up from the opening puck drop.

Meanwhile, fans from Catholic Central and Trenton mixed it up in the friendliestpossible fashion as the hockey game turned into an excuse for a reunion.

'It's hard to explain, it's like old friends or something," said Redford's Rory Alderton of the Catholic Central Dad's Club. "I don't even know how to put it into words.'

Alderton, whose son Kevin went to CC, worked as a guard at a set of doors in the concourse at the end of the arena populated by Trenton faithful.

Everybody is coming up to me, they're very friendly, shaking hands and wishing us well," Alderton said. "This thing is nothing but good will

WORK PAYS OFF

He and others also said the on-ice action was good considering a number of the players hadn't skated since high school

One of those was Catholic Central forward Jim Spiewak, who now lives in Florida.

His parents, former Livonians Jim and Sheron Spiewak (also of Florida) and other family members were there to cheer him on.

"Jimmy's been taking it very serious," the elder Jim Spiewak said. "He's been conditioning.

Mentally, physically, it's been a real big part of his life the last couple months.

They flew him up here a few times from Florida for the skates, the practices, and all the conditioning. He dropped about 30 pounds for the Players came in from 16 states for the game. But they also returned to Michigan for several weekends for team practices and individual office workouts at Velocity Sports Performance in Canton.

Because of that rigorous training, there was a surprisingly fast pace to the action along with plenty of hard hits and blocked shots.

Catholic Central head coach Todd Johnson alluded to both teams' passion and determina-

"Going through the handshake line, the first six Trenton guys I shook hands with had blood on their face," Johnson said. "And that tells you about this rivalry.

PLENTY TO SMILE ABOUT

The 1998-99 season was a key chapter revisited Sunday. The Shamrocks went 25-1-1 that season, with the sole loss and tie at the hands of Trenton.

Turner and the Trojans didn't win the 1999 state title, but they came away from Sunday's rematch with the next best thing - a silver Gatorade Cup that looked an awful lot like Stanley. Trenton players also doused Turner with the cold, green beverage.

Although happy with the trophy and with Gatorade for putting on a "fabulous" hockey showcase, Turner said the win didn't change 1999.

"Today was just a special event for this group and their group," Turner noted. "We hope there'll be more championships to be won.'

They won't come with Trenton honorary coach Brendan Shanahan, who jokingly said his career behind the bench started and ended

WHAT THEY SAID

Following are what they were saying at Sunday's Gatoradehosted REPLAY hockey game at Compuware Arena. Reuniting for the matchup were 1999 teams from Detroit Catholic Central and Trenton.

· Diana Steele, mom of a current Catholic Central hockey player: "I think it's terrific, it's fun, it's good for the (school) morale. At CC there's so much school spirit anyways, but the boys were thrilled. They've been talking about it since we heard about this.

- Geoff Zaleski, 17, current CC junior: "For about a month or so it's always like, 'Hey, you going to the game?' And now it's here. It's cool that it's on TV, too."

· Catholic Central Dad's Club member Rory Alderton of Redford: "I thought the score would be a little more lopsided, a little higher. These guys are playing hockey, quality hockey. I'm surprised. · Kip Garza, whose son Kurt played on the 1998 state championship Trenton team: "He didn't play with him (Kurt LaTarte) but he knew him. I think it's great, we're getting all the people together we used to know back then. It's just like old times."

Sunday. The popular former Red Wing then mentioned an exchange after the game with his longtime boss, Bowman.

"Scotty said the best team won, and I said 'You were outcoached," said Shanahan, prompting laughter during the press conference.

Shanahan then perfectly summed up the whole experi-

"I don't think people realize the work that goes into playing a game like that, with the hitting, guys laying down to block shots and sacrificing in order to win," he stressed. "But this is such a great story for these two teams.

"I know we played this game because they wanted a winner, but in my books they're both winners.

Hear music from the 1930s big band era to funky sounds of the 1980s

BY SHARON DARGAY

James Dignan loves musical variety — and he has three diverse bands to prove it.

The Farmington Hills man manages and plays drums in The Classics, an all occasion band that performs tunes from the 1930s-1990s; The Belle Aires, offering favorites from the 1950s and 1960s; and Stardust Big Band, a 13-piece group that replicates hits from the 1930s and '40s.

"I've been playing drums since I was a child. I have learned to love a lot of different music," Dignan said. "I didn't want to get stuck playing

A practicing psychologist, Dignan formed his first group 11 years ago, adding the others in 2002 and 2005. They perform extensively at outdoor summer shows and for municipal music series, with The Classics also landing work at weddings.

He'll bring all three together on the same stage this weekend for "Through the Decades: A Musical Journey." The show starts at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, May 15, at Clarenceville High School, 20155 Middlebelt, Livonia. Tickets are $12 in advance and $15 at the door available through the bands' Web site, www.cla6.com

"I expect it to be incredible," said Dignan, who staged a similar concert three years ago at the Redford Theatre. "I love the people that I share music with. I wanted us to do a real

Each band will perform 10 songs during its 35-minute portion of the concert. The Classics will focus on music of the 1970s and '80s, including such tunes as Play that Funky Music, Brick House, and September. The Bel Airs 1950s and '60s repertoire will include Rock Around the Clock, Chantilly Lace, and Blue Moon. Stardust Big Band will reproduce favorites from the 1930s and '40s, such as In the Mood, Take the 'A' Train and Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy.

ORIGINAL SOUND

Dignan said the bands play the original arrangements of the music and sound "very close" to the original groups that made the songs famous.

"It's a chance to hear your favorite hits the way they were originally recorded."

He'll also show photos of the original bands through a PowerPoint presentation during the performance.

"It's a very big effort. It's fun and exciting

The Bel Airs will perform Saturday, May 15, at Clarenceville High School.

and you get all three bands," said vocalist Nancy Oz, of Canton. "It's going to be a great show."

KARAOKE SINGER

Oz grew up in Livonia, playing flute and violin while in high school and in the wind ensemble while at Schoolcraft College, but hadn't sung professionally until Dignan recruited her for The Classics and The Bel

"I never thought of myself as a vocalist," said Oz, who is self-employed in the insurance business.

A friend of Dignan's wife, Oz invited the couple to a Christmas party one year. She sang karaoke and Dignan said he might ask her to join the band one day.

"Never in a million years did I think that would happen. I thought he was just being a nice guest," Oz recalled. When one of the lead singers quit, Oz joined the two bands

"It's so much fun. Most of the songs are older than I am, but I love that music. It's fun, happy music."

She still performs on flute occasionally, on such songs as California Dreaming, Color My World and Under the Boardwalk. She also bought a piccolo and took lessons.

"I play it on Rockin' Robin. It's the only song I play it on, but it was worth it."

In addition to Through the Decades, Stardust Big Band will perform at the Battle of the Big Bands, 7:30-10 p.m., Friday, May 14, at The Cherry Martini, 50296 Cherry Hill, Canton. For more concert schedules for all three bands, visit www. cla6.com

The streets of downtown Northville will be paved with flowers at the 23rd Annual Flower Sale.

Over 20 top-rated greenhouses and garden shops will participate in this "colorful" event sure to bring life to any garden.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

The tragedy is that less than half of those persons who are denied benefits file an appeal. Thus, many thousands of people who deserve benefits never receive them.

Those denied can appeal on their own, but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney J.B. Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 20 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign clients to young associate attorneys with much less experience.

In addition to practicing only Social Security Disability law Bleske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are also highly experienced in assisting him with Social Security Disability cases. And they are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of clients' cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers free phone or office consultations. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. These are not the same as Workers' Compensation benefits. It is possible to receive both benefits at the same time. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/Widower's benefits).

Bieske represents clients from all over the state of Michigan. Call him at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you have been denied. Or if you are thinking of possibly of applying for Social Security benefits call him for FREE advice.

Church presents contemporary musical about Bible's Job

A musical story about the biblical Book of Job premieres at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Bloomfield Hills Friday, with encore performances set for Grand Rapids on Saturday and Westland on Sunday.

"You don't think about the Book of Job being a real finger-snapper," said Susan Mendenhall, public relations coordinator for the Westland Stake. But Mendenhall listened to a CD recording of the musical, written by Maureen Miles of Melvindale and performed by the Michigan Concert Choir and found "delightful music" and a story "everyone can relate to."

"This is in concert form. There is no scenery or special effects. It's a straight musical experience," Mendenhall said. "They have soloists, groups, individuals playing parts, with wonderful voices and all ages.

The debut performance starts at 7 p.m. Friday, May 14, at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Stake Center, 37425 Woodward in Bloomfield Hills.

The local encore performance is 6:30 p.m., Sunday, May 16, at the Westland Stake Center, 7575 N. Hix, between Warren and Joy, Newburgh and I-275.

The concert is free.

LABOR OF LOVE

Miles, a Latter-day Saints member in Dearborn, started working on the musical 20

"I've written a lot of regular songs, Christian and country and I've written other musicals, but this is my masterpiece. It's probably my favorite Bible story. It's almost like a Cinderella story - they lose everything but get everything back in the end. God blesses you if you make it through the hard times," said Miles, a single mother of four grown children.

"I've been through a lot of heartache in my own life. In the Detroit area, with so much heartache going on, it's the perfect time for Miles started piano lessons when she was 8, began writing songs at age 12, and studied music at the University of South Dakota. She currently teaches music in Lincoln Park Schools, and as a motivational speaker gives workshops on "staying positive even though everything is falling apart around you."

FROM A SONG

The Job musical grew from a song she penned two decades ago.

"How would Job feel at the moment he lost everything he had? I thought that would make a good song. I wrote it and put it away for about

But Miles, who loves writing about "positive attitudes" brought it out again and began rewriting, revising and expanding it.

Along the way, she used a little poetic license to create comic relief, adding characters, narration and a style that she says is more Broadway than sacred hymn.

"There are angels and devils. Job has crazy friends and they sing a comic song. His wife has friends who gossip. At the end of their song you have four melodies going at the same time and they sound like gossips. It's entertaining and funny to watch.

She said the levity makes Job seem more

"We tend to think of Job as a bent-over old man. Brian Dalling, who plays Job, is a relatively young man, tall and good looking. He makes the part of Job come alive."

Mendenhall's brother, Jim Jackson of Troy, plays Satan and adds a touch of humor to his character, Miles said.

Piano, organ and other instruments will accompany the 50-voice choir, which sings fourto seven-part harmony on Miles' compositions. For more information about the concerts call

Consumers, contractors: Heed new lead paint rule

f you own or lease a home that was build before 1978, or are in a business that involves making repairs to these residences, it is important to be aware of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's new Renovation,

Repair, and Painting Rule which took effect on April 22, 2010. This regulation creates new educational requirements and procedures for containing construction debris for contractors that could potentially impact the amount of work and cost involved with completing a home improvement project. It could also improve the health and safety of a household from the threat of lead paint and dust during and after reno-

Lead is a toxic metal that was used for many years was used as a pigment and drying agent in "alkyd" oil based paint until it was banned from residential use in 1978. Lead exposure, especially for children under 6 years old, may cause a range of health effects ranging from behavioral problems and learning disabilities to seizures and death. Remodeling or renovations in older buildings containing lead-based paint can often generate lead contaminated dust that can settle on floors, walls, and furniture. Under these conditions, children can ingest lead dust from hand-to-mouth contact or in contaminated food. Settled lead dust can re-enter the air through cleaning, such as sweeping or vacuuming, or by movement of people throughout the house. The primary goal of this new federal rule is to protect children from lead tainted dust contamination resulting from home renovations and repairs.

The Renovation, Repair, and Painting Rule now requires special certification and procedures for any person or business that performs renovations for compensation to any residential property constructed before 1978. This includes home improvement contractors, window replacement companies, as well as plumbers, electricians, painters, maintenance workers and landlords who perform repairs and renovations themselves.

In addition to residential homes, this rule also applies to any public building or commercial building built before 1978 where children under the age of 6 are present on a regular basis. This includes, but is not limited to, child care centers, schools, and hospitals. Specifically, these requirements apply to maintenance, renovation, or repair activities where six square feet (about the size of a poster) or more of a painted service is disturbed inside or where 20 square feet (about the size of a door) or more is disturbed on the

Consumers should ask for proof of certification from their contractors before work begins on these types of projects and be aware that these new regulations may create some additional inconveniences and costs as more stringent efforts are now required to contain work areas, minimize dust, and clean up debris for projects that have the potential for lead contamination. Businesses affected by the new regulation should also be aware that failure to comply with the new rule could result in fines of up to $37,500 per violation and the potential loss of a good reputation in the community for ignoring the law.

Businesses in compliance with the EPA will have been approved as a Certified Renovation Firm; received the necessary training and certification from an EPA-accredited training provider for Lead Safe Work Practices; assign a Certified Renovator to be present at each project; provide consumers or tenants with the EPA pamphlet "Renovate Right" prior to the start of any qualifying project; ensure that lead safe work practices are used throughout the project; and maintain records documenting that the required information has been provided as subject

For more information on the Renovation, Repair, and Painting Rule, consumers and businesses can visit www.epa.gov/lead or call the National Lead Information Center at (800) 424-5323.

Pick condo attorney with care

Q: I am on the board of a condominium and I am looking for a new attorney for our association. Our management company says that they have a 'good working relationship with this one attorney," and seems to be really pressing for that attorney. I am wondering why she is doing that since she has not even suggested that we consult with other attorneys. What do you think as a practicing attorney in this field?

A: I would first like to direct your

appeared in Common Ground, the magazine of the Community Association Institute which I attention to an article which

authored, which also appears on my Web site. It speaks to the "unholy alliance" between certain management companies and attorneys. A good working relationship may mean that they work together or it may mean that they have an agreement that notwithstanding how each of them conducts themselves, they will not blow the whistle on the other. I have also heard of situations where management companies have received kickbacks or other gratuities from contractors and, in some instances, attorneys in order to engage their business. You should inquire further as to the relationship between the management company and this attorney and, perhaps, go in a different direction if you feel uncomfortable.

Q: I have heard about something called an FHA 203(k) loan. What is that?

A: An FHA 203(k) loan is designed to help neighborhood revitalization by helping individuals finance or repair and upgrade their home. To qualify, the structure must be a single family home, more than one year old, and with one to four bedrooms. An energy audit must be completed by a qualified professional who has been approved by the lender. Based upon the audit report, the home buyer can choose which improvements to make. However, installation of smoke detectors and upgrading the heating and cooling system to a more efficient level may also be required. You should contact an FHA approved lender for additional information and qualifications.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
