Colbeck bill would create 'Freedom Week'

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Freshman state Sen. Patrick Colbeck thinks public school students need more of an education in this country's system of government and in the U.S. Constitution, and he's introduced legislation that, if passed, would require it.

Colbeck's SB 119 would designate the week surrounding Veterans Day (Nov. 11) as "Celebrate Freedom Week." As part of that observance, Colbeck's bill would require public schools to provide instruction on "the intent, meaning and importance of the U.S. Constitution and the Declaration of Independence."

"We're graduating students from schools who have no appreciation ... or knowledge of our system of government," said Colbeck, a Canton Republican, in introducing the legislation. "The majority of students do not know we declared our independence from Great Britain, or that we're actually a Republic form of government and not a democracy."

Colbeck said Celebrate Freedom Week would "give all of our students a time to reflect on the Constitutional rights our service members fight to protect and the historical context in which these rights were proclaimed."

But teachers and administrators for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the largest school district in Colbeck's

Senate district and the third-largest in the state, said those tenets are already taught in public schools.

In fact, they said, federal law requires schools to teach the U.S. Constitution on Sept. 17, which is Constitution Day. Those lessons aren't just a one-time thing, officials pointed out, but part of year-long teaching.

"It's not something we teach for just a week," said Kay Elaster, the district's social studies curriculum coordinator. "It's part of what we teach all semester, all year."

Colbeck said public schools "owe it to our students and our posterity" to encourage students to appreciate "not only the contents of our founding documents but also

Snyder's budget has critics, fans

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Gov. Rick Snyder's far-reaching budget proposal has drawn sharp criticism from Canton retirees whose pensions would be taxed for the first time, but some local leaders called Snyder's plan a bold, long-overdue step toward fixing a beleaguered state reeling in debt and archaic policies.

Canton resident Richard Furnier, a retired Ford Motor Co. car-body engineer, opposes Snyder's plan to tax pensions as one way to ease Michigan's money crisis.

"I could see where it would hurt an awful lot of people when they're already on the razor's edge," he said. "I know these are hard times and they're looking for everything they can, but I would be against it."

One local unemployed man, 50-year-old Terry DesAutels, has been staying with a family member's in-laws in Canton since he moved here from California, where he lost his job as head cook for a U.S. post office distribution center. He said he doubts he'll ever collect a full Social Security — and he certainly has no pension.

"But I don't think it's fair to tax people's pensions," DesAutels said. "It's putting people close to the poverty level."

DesAutels said he is staying with a married couple — a 90-year-old man and his 80-year-old wife — who are facing foreclosure on their home at this late stage in life. He said others could suffer a similar fate if their fixed income is cut.

BUSINESS HELP

Other areas of Snyder's budget blueprint appear more popular, such as his plan to replace the widely criticized Michigan Business Tax with a flat 6 percent corporate tax. State Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton, already has introduced legislation to drop the MBT and find other ways, such as reforming the state pension system, to replace lost revenue.

Colbeck has said the MBT has hurt businesses and kept other companies from coming to Michigan.

Canton Township Trustee Pat Williams voiced strong overall support for Snyder's vision, saying bold measures are needed to reform Michigan and its economy.

"I like the fact that he is not tied to any political group or machinery. For the first time in a long time, we've got somebody who's

Schools brace for deep budget hole

BY BRAD KADRICH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

It's not like the financial picture for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools officials was rosy before Gov. Rick Snyder announced his budget plan Thursday.

But Snyder's plan — which includes taking $400 million from the school aid fund to finance community colleges and a $470 per-student cut in foundation funding — has administrators scrambling to figure out how to fill a hole in their budget estimated now at some $15.9 million.

District administration had already built in a reduction of some $341 due to the loss of federal stimulus money and other one-time funding that has propped up recent budgets. Still, the governor's plan adds some $3.5 million to the projected deficit.

"We were assuming the $170 decrease (from last year) would carry over, and we took away all the one-time funding," said James Larson-Shidler, the district's assistant superintendent for

- Urinary hesitancy
- Urinary dribbling
- Urinary retention
- Pain with urination
- Pain with ejaculation
- Lower back pain
- Pain with bowel movement

Additional symptoms that may be associated with Prostate Cancer are:

- Excessive urination at night
- Hematuria (blood in the urine)
- Bone pain or tenderness
- Unintentional weight loss
- Incontinence
- Abdominal pain
- Anemia
- Lethargy

If you are suffering from any of these symptoms, consult a physician. If prostate cancer is found a biopsy or bone scan may be done to determine treatment. Chemotherapy radiation or surgery are all treatment options. For more information or to make an appointment call...

Canton considers Plymouth fire request

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A scant 10 months from saying goodbye to their partner in the Plymouth Community Fire Department, Plymouth Township officials are reaching out to other neighboring communities in search of fire department services.

Township Supervisor Richard Reaume said last week he recently asked officials in both Livonia and Canton Township to study the possibility of sharing a fire department. That could mean "everything ... from working cooperatively, jointly, to them providing our service" for a fee, Reaume said.

'WE HAVE TO DOWNSIZE'

Faced with the city of Plymouth's departure from the PCFD, shared by the two communities, township officials are looking to cut costs by restructuring the department, which will mean the loss of firefighter jobs. Plymouth officials, who are also looking for savings, have said they intend to withdraw from the 15-year-old arrangement after this year and take the city's revenue, about $1 million a year, with them.

"We know we have to downsize," Reaume said. "When the city's gone there has to be a contraction." The PCFD, with 21 firefighters, an inspector and a chief, has an annual budget of about $4 million.

The township's approach to Livonia and Canton brought sharp criticism from Lt. Rick Tefend, president of International Association of Fire Fighters Local 1496, which represents PCFD firefighter paramedics.

"The citizens have to realize the township does not have their best interests in mind when they're out doing this," Tefend said.

CONCESSIONS OFFERED

Firefighters have offered about $300,000 in annual wage and benefit concessions, said Tefend, and could bring in $400,000 or more annually by transporting more patients to hospitals during emergency medical runs, instead of relying on Huron Valley Ambulance.

But Reaume has characterized the union's offer of concessions as too little, too late.

The township has been seeking concessions for more than a year.

"The whole time, they thought we were bluffing," Reaume said. Three firefighters were laid off 13 months ago.

The township has proposed a smaller department of 14 firefighters or fewer. They would work 12-hour shifts, instead of 24-hour shifts, and be supplemented by part-time, on-call firefighters.

"We'll have 25 percent less money and, geographically, we'll have less territory to cover," said Reaume, referring to Plymouth's impending departure from the department.

FIREFIGHTERS FIGHT BACK

Firefighters have blasted a smaller department as inadequate. Tefend said his understanding is that any arrangement with Livonia or Canton would not include medical services, which would be handled by HVA; Reaume couldn't be reached to clarify on Wednesday.

Tefend said firefighters, with help from citizens, are planning an information campaign on the issues facing the department.

"We're going to educate the public and let 'em know what these clowns are doing," he said.

STILL UNDER REVIEW

Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey and Canton Supervisor Phil LaJoy said Plymouth Township's overture is still being studied.

"We're crunching numbers and looking at resources," said Kirksey.

"We have not gotten back to them with any proposal yet, but we'll be taking a look at it," said LaJoy.

Meanwhile, Livonia and Canton officials are studying the feasibility of combining the communities' emergency dispatch services as a cost-savings.

"Unless something totally unforeseen were to occur it's well on its way to becoming a reality," said Kirksey of combined dispatch.

In Plymouth, officials are also studying alternatives to the PCFD for firefighting and emergency medical services. Their move began late last summer after a $68,000 study commissioned by the city pointed to savings either through a restructured fire department or the adoption of a public safety model, in which police officers are trained as firefighters and medical first responders.

willing to make the tough decisions to move the state in the right direction," Williams said. "He can do things a lot of others would never have been able to accomplish."

Canton stands to lose another $100,000 in statutory state-shared revenue under Snyder's plan, Finance Director Rick Eva said, but he said the loss could be more than offset by projections that the township's constitutional portion of state-shared revenue would increase, climbing from $4.8 million in 2010 to more than $4.9 million this year.

Still, Canton has seen a steady decline in statutory state-shared revenue in recent years, at a time when local property tax revenues also have fallen sharply due to declining property values. Williams said he believes in rolling out the bad news now and confronting it head-on so Michigan can move forward.

munities that pool resources and adopt solid operating practices could fare better on the state-shared revenue front. Local officials say that could bode well for Canton, which has drawn national recognition for programs such as public safety, recreation offerings and financial operations.

PAINFUL CUTS

Visiting the Canton Public Library, unemployed Westland resident Daniel Zella, 43, said he believes Snyder's plan would further hurt an already ailing economy by cutting into pensions and the money people have to spend.

"This economy is already screwed up," he said, "and now he wants to take away more money that people have earned."

Canton resident Vince Lughermo, a 59-year-old retired Ford Motor Co. skilled trades worker, agreed.

"I put 35 years in. You'd think they'd give us a break on a fixed income," he said.

Lughermo said he and his wife baby-sit their two grandchildren and are facing increased living expenses on a fixed income.

"The cost of everything is going up and we've got higher (insurance) co-pays, but our income isn't going up," he said.

Though state lawmakers already took a pay cut from $79,650 to $71,685, some legislators say it's not enough.

State Reps. Dian Slavens, D-Canton, and John Switalski, D-Warren, have called on legislators to pass reforms that including slashing their pay by 20 percent, increasing their health-care costs, eliminating their $900-a-month expense allotments and ending the use of all state vehicles by gubernatorial appointees.

SETTING EXAMPLE

"Many lawmakers talk a good game about leading by example and sharing in the sacrifice, and now it's time for them to live up to their words," said Slavens, who has fought to end taxpayer-funded lifetime health benefits for lawmakers.

"Our families deserve elected officials who truly represent their communities — not ones who look out for themselves and their own pocketbooks," Slavens said in a prepared statement. "These much-needed reforms will help ensure that lawmakers are putting our residents' best interests first each time they set foot inside the Capitol."

Slavens and Switalski also called for scaling back salaries of the governor's appointees. Snyder already has said he would accept a salary of $1.

Snyder has said his budget slashes spending as he seeks long-term solutions to Michigan's problems. Yet he also said it provides "a critical safety net" for residents in need.

Snyder said his plan will give businesses the tools they need to succeed and create jobs.

"Simply put," he said, "we are done kicking the can down the road."

business services. "Based on what (Snyder's) been saying, we had indications this was the direction he was going, and we started planning for it."

While that planning began in earnest with budget committee meetings in late November, the full Board of Education will meet with administration for a parameter-setting session March 9. As the budget planning process gets started, parents are concerned the district will have to make cuts that reach all the way into classrooms, something they've thus far largely been able to avoid.

"I know one approach previously used by the board was to ask departments how they would cut 10 percent each year, but you can't do that approach consistently or you just make everything thin," said Stephanie Goecke, a Plymouth resident with two children in the district. "Whoever creates the next budget will have to consider ways to keep core programs strong. Sometimes it is better to do fewer things if you still do them well."

State Rep. Kurt Heise, R-Plymouth Township, while noncommittal on his support for the education cut, said the Legislature will "do our due diligence on the budget," but said "everybody's in agreement we've got to do something different."

"It's going to be very tough on school districts around the state that are already on the edge," Heise said. "Schools must keep money in the classrooms."

the reasons why these documents are captured in the form that they are."

"Freedom is not free," Colbeck said. "It not only requires the service our men and women in the armed services, it requires vigilance in the classroom to instill an appreciation for our system of government if that system is to continue for future generations."

Darrin Silvester, a social studies teacher who teaches government at Salem High School, said all of those values are taught as part of the district's core curriculum. He criticized Colbeck as "one more legislator who has no clue about education trying to tell educators how to teach."

"If I were to teach lessons in freedom and liberty, I strongly believe (Colbeck) would think I'm trying to indoctrinate children with a view contrary to what his would be," Silvester said. "It's one more example of someone who believes, because he was elected, he knows what he's talking about. I don't think any of them (legislators) have a clue."

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

The tragedy is that less than half of those persons who are denied benefits file an appeal. Thus, many thousands of people who deserve benefits never receive them.

Those denied can appeal on their own, but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

Attorney J.B. Bieske has represented only Social Security Disability clients for over 20 years. That is the only type of law he practices. And, he personally meets with all clients and appears himself at all court hearings. Many large firms assign clients to young associate attorneys with much less experience.

In addition to practicing only Social Security Disability law Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject. He also has been interviewed on various radio and television programs and has given speeches to many groups.

Bieske's office staff consists of paralegals and secretaries who are also highly experienced in assisting him with Social Security Disability cases. And they are extremely helpful in answering questions with regard to the status of clients' cases and administrative procedure.

Attorney Bieske welcomes you to call him to determine if you may be eligible for these benefits. He offers free phone or office consultations. If Bieske represents you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

In a recent radio interview attorney Bieske explained that many people are not even aware that they are eligible for Social Security Disability benefits. These are not the same as Workers' Compensation benefits. It is possible to receive both benefits at the same time. If you have an illness or injury (whether or not related to your work), are under 65 and unable to work full-time you may be eligible. Social Security Disability benefits are based on your work record or your deceased spouse's work record (Widow's/Widower's benefits).

Bieske represents clients from all over the state of Michigan. Call him at 1-800-331-3530 for a FREE consultation if you have been denied. Or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits call him for FREE advice.

exactly what it was founded two years earlier to do: Fund projects that enhance teaching and learning in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

It's a mission the EEF has been fulfilling since its inception in 1985 with a 7 a.m. meeting at the old Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth. In the beginning, it was about enhancing educational programs; in today's economy, it has become more of a budget enhancer, but the mission is still clear.

"EEF provides district stakeholders — parents, teachers, business leaders and citizens — an opportunity to help children reach their fullest potential," said Carole Kody, who has served as executive director of the EEF since 2000. "In the current climate, (it seems) EEF exists to enrich education in Plymouth-Canton schools beyond the limits imposed by state and federal funding."

SILVER BELLS

The EEF celebrates 25 years of maintaining that mission with its silver-anniversary wine-tasting event March 4 at Schoolcraft College's VisTaTech Center. The event will feature food, drink (including seven wineries) and entertainment provided by performing arts students from the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Organizers said the generosity of Schoolcraft College, where former Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent Jim Ryan is now on staff, and of Busch's Markets, which agreed to be a ticket-selling destination and coordinated with wine merchants to donate the wine for the event.

"(Schoolcraft) was able to be quite generous with the hall, and Busch's is being quite generous not only in donating the wine but in providing a service (ticket sales) that is very helpful to us," said Scott Ragland, who is chairing the anniversary event for the EEF. "I don't know that we'd have been able to pull it off without either of them."

And while the EEF obviously hopes the event is successful from a fundraising standpoint — "That is what we're formed to do," Ragland pointed out — officials obviously believe there's much to celebrate.

The original vision came about 30 years ago, according to EEF long-timers, from a parent of kids (John Lore) in the district who, at the time was president of the Michigan Colleges Foundation and felt "those of us in public education needed to do something similar."

"In the initial years, it suffered a little bit because administrators and new board members didn't understand what it was all about," said Steve Harper, a former Board of Education member who is currently the EEF's treasurer. "It was viewed more as a glorified PTO. It began to evolve into something more significant, and began to fulfill the original vision."

It took the foundation two years to be able to start funding grants, and in 1987 handed out more than $2,200 to teachers, the smallest of which ($117.45) went to Sweet, then a fifth-grade teacher at Gallimore Elementary School.

Over the years, the EEF has handed out more than $200,000 in scholarships, more than $300,000 in classroom grants and more than $200,000 for summer academies designed to teach students who fall behind in reading and math.

Kody, whose triplets started in Plymouth-Canton's Plus Preschool, went to Isbister Elementary and are now eighth-graders at West Middle School, said she's got a "unique position" of being not only an employee but a stakeholder in the district.

FOUNDATION EVOLVES

She said the EEF has evolved over the years. When Kody, who moved to Canton with her husband in 1996, first started, she said, the EEF supported classroom enhancement grants, summer academies and acted as the fiduciary adviser for scholarship funds.

"Now we develop partnerships with community members, organizations and businesses," Kody said. "We provide opportunities for community involvement. We manage and administer PTO and booster group funds. We manage endowed funds to support grants, projects and scholarship funds. We facilitate donations from those who want to contribute, make a difference or leave a legacy. We have an investment policy and conservatively manage the funds that have come into the organization."

And they do it all well enough that Sweet, who retired in 1995, went to the EEF five years ago to establish a $50,000 endowment that funds grants to teachers who taught at Gallimore and scholarships to students who did their learning there.

Everything is funneled through the EEF back to Sweet, who makes the final decisions on everything.

"I loved teaching, so I wanted to do something nice for teachers and the kids," Sweet said. "It made me feel good, and it would do something nice for my students. I was able to do it, and I wanted to do it."

That's the value of having the foundation in the district. According to Kody, it's an independent, community-based nonprofit existing "solely to benefit Plymouth-Canton Community Schools."

"It's been supporting excellence in education for 25 years," Kody said. "We are the one true vehicle for charitable giving to the school district. We are committed to helping all Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' students achieve their highest potential by attracting, managing and distributing charitable gifts to support educational excellence."

McDonald's manager wins prestigious award

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Peggy Sikora gets a little choked up when she talks about her career at McDonald's, where she's gone from teenage crew member to one of an elite class of managers recognized as the best in the business.

Sikora, the general manager of the McDonald's on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth, is a winner of the 2010 Ray Kroc award, which honors just 1 percent of the managers at the thousands of McDonald's in the U.S. Sikora is one of just 141 managers across the country, including five in Michigan, to receive the award.

"She's committed to her employees and her management team and she's very committed to the customers she serves," said Sikora's supervisor, Jason Breitner, who nominated her for the Kroc award, named for the late founder of the fast-food chain.

Sikora has "exceptional" leadership skills and "a passion for motivating her people," improved both dine-in and drive-through sales at her restaurant, is involved in the community, especially in helping local schools with fundraisers, and her restaurant gets high marks for quality, service and cleanliness, Breitner said.

For her part, Sikora, of Belleville, praises the McDonald's system.

'BEST THING I COULD'VE DONE'

"They're just great with their people. The training is by far the best in the industry," said Sikora, who has twice attended McDonald's famous Hamburger University to learn about team-building, business development, hiring, training and decision-making. "McDonald's has just taught me to have the best leadership skills a person could ask for."

Sikora grew up in Redford Township and started her career in 1992 as a crew member at the McDonald's at Five Mile and Middlebelt.

"I had no idea what I was getting into," she said. "It was the best thing I could've done in my entire life."

At 18, she was promoted to shift manager, and she's worked at several other McDonald's before landing in Plymouth about 10 years ago.

Sikora now oversees three assistant managers, seven shift managers and 70 crew members. She's said she's motivated by a strong work ethic and the pride she takes in doing a good job.

"I can't walk out the door if I see a line of customers," she said.

"The saying at McDonald's is, 'You've got ketchup in your blood,'" said Suzanne Sudek, a McDonald's marketing manager.

RECORD-SETTING

The Plymouth location has won several company awards during Sikora's tenure, including Outstanding Restaurant in 2004 and 2006. Last April, it set a statewide McDonald's record for drive-through sales, serving 162 vehicles in an hour during breakfast with its two-lane drive-through operation.

"I know that I have helped build the business here," Sikora said. She prides herself on learning the names of regular customers, including a group of six to eight men who gather nearly every morning and call themselves the Knights of the Round Table.

Breitner, her supervisor, said she also helps him with his work overseeing five McDonald's in the area, and helps the regional group of about 30 restaurants of which those five are a part. She stepped up last year when Breitner took a three-month leave of absence, he said.

Sikora will travel to McDonald's headquarters in the Chicago area in April to formally receive her award and have dinner with other winners and corporate executives.

NEW LOOK FOR RESTAURANT

Sikora's Ray Kroc award comes during the McDonald's grand reopening after major interior renovations, during which the dine-in portion of the restaurant was closed for about six weeks. The restaurant reopened on Dec. 31; formal ceremonies were held last month.

The interior now features new seating, a new color scheme, two television sets installed at a snack-bar-type seating area, and additional electrical outlets for customers using laptop computers.

It was the first remodeling since 1999; the location dates from the 1970s.

"We're constantly looking to keep current and contemporary with our stores," Sudek said.

Waste pact change could save millions

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton could potentially save nearly $4 million over the next decade by amending its contract with its longtime trash hauler, Canton Waste Recycling.

Attorneys are drafting an agreement that could usher in significant savings to Canton while extending the contract — currently $3.1 million a year — beyond 2015, when the current pact is set to expire.

The bulk of savings centers on eliminating a 3-percent inflationary increase Canton has pledged to pay CWR for each of the next five years. The move would amount to a five-year freeze in what the township pays to its sole trash hauler.

For each year CWR agrees to waive the 3-percent increase, its contract would be extended an additional year beyond 2015, potentially through 2020.

"We're saving a lot of money right now, and that's what we're trying to do," township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said Tuesday evening.

In return for waiving inflationary price hikes now, the trash hauler would accept a lesser, 2-percent increase for each one-year extension beyond 2015.

Canton Municipal Services Director Tim Faas briefed the Canton Township Board of Trustees on possible contract changes during a Tuesday evening study session.

The board could possibly vote on the new agreement by late February. Moreover, the savings would take effect for the current year, trimming $90,948 off trash-disposal costs now and potentially saving Canton nearly $4 million by 2020.

The latest cost-cutting proposal comes as Canton continues to seek ways to slash spending amid declining revenues, largely blamed on falling property values and taxes. Local officials already secured employee concessions amounting to a 5-percent cut, trimmed spending across departments and imposed a 1.75-mill tax increase for police and fire services.

In other measures related to garbage disposal:

- CWR could reduce the number of days during winter that it offers special clean-up days beyond normal trash pickup.

- The company could select a site for yard waste collection and disposal and negotiate terms on Canton's behalf, in another effort to trim costs.

- CWR could ease the requirement to wash all its trucks every week, though it still has pledged to keep them clean.

- The state estimates that the Canton-based Sauk Trail Hills landfill has another 10 years of active filling. Therefore, by 2015 Canton plans to organize a committee to plan for future waste disposal.

- This spring, Canton expects to have an Illinois-based company, Vintage Tech Recyclers, collect electronic waste such as computer equipment during a one-day event — at no direct cost to Canton, which collects more than 30,000 pounds a year in e-waste. Faas said the company is seeking to make in-roads in Michigan.

Police issue warning after woman is robbed

BY DARRELL CLEM
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton police are urging residents to be cautious after a woman reported she was the victim of a strong-arm robbery Wednesday night as she arrived at her residence in the 1300 block of Stacy, in the Meadowwood Townhomes east of Haggerty between Palmer and Cherry Hill.

The woman drove home, noticed two suspicious males, parked her car and got out as they approached her on foot, police Sgt. Mark Gajski said. One of the men asked her a question and then demanded her belongings.

"He grabbed her computer bag and threw it to the other male and then took her Nike backpack," Gajski said. "Her purse was in the backpack."

The suspects didn't reveal a weapon during the incident, which happened about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Authorities brought a police dog to the scene but couldn't locate the suspects. Both were described as black males, about 5-feet-8 with a thin build. The woman reported the men were wearing black hoodies.

Installment payment plan from IRS can help

Q: Dear Rick: Last year, I sold my summer home Up North. It was a short sale. When I was getting my tax materials organized, a friend told me I had to pay taxes on the amount of the mortgage that was forgiven. It is my understanding that I don't have to pay taxes on this. If I had to pay taxes, it would probably cost over $10,000 which I do not have. Hopefully, you can tell me that I don't have to pay taxes. If I have to, what should I do?

A: Unfortunately, I have some bad news. In general, forgiveness of a debt is a taxable event. Where you are confused is in regards to an exception to the law which was implemented a few years ago. Because of the real estate crisis a number of years ago, a law was passed which excluded forgiveness of a mortgage from taxes. The exception, however, applied only to your primary residence. Therefore, for the great majority of people, when they do a short sale and it is on the primary residence, the debt is excluded from taxes.

In your situation, since this was not your primary property, you are required to pay the taxes.

I know, it sounds strange, but forgiveness of debt is considered a taxable event. For example, if you were forgiven $50,000 of mortgage debt from the short sale, that money would be taxed as ordinary income. Unfortunately, the $50,000 is added to your other income so you could be thrown into a higher tax bracket.

Many taxpayers run into the situation where after they complete their return, they cannot afford to pay their taxes. Too many taxpayers decide not to file a return. This is a mistake. Whether you can afford to pay, I recom-

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

Filing on time, whether you can afford to pay the taxes, will always leave you in a better position to deal with the IRS.

For individuals who owe money, the IRS has become easier to deal with. For example, you can request to go on an installment plan by filing Form 9465 with your tax return. This form is used if you cannot pay what you owe the IRS within 120 days. Generally, you can request a payment plan for up to five years. By implementing the plan there will be interest, but there will not be penalties.

Download the form by visiting the IRS website at www.irs.gov. The IRS will get back to you about your installment plan within a relatively short time.

One last note, I generally recommend that when you deal with the IRS for such things as requesting a payment plan or dealing with past taxes, it makes sense to have a professional assist you. That doesn't mean that you can't complete the form yourself, because you can. However, it's just a matter of good business to have an expert make sure that you have dotted all the I's and crossed all the T's. Good luck!

ommend you file your return on time. If you don't, not only will you have to pay interest, but you could also be hit with substantial penalties.

Growth Works lauds youth who overcome

BY JULIE BROWN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Youth who have overcome substance abuse or school/family discipline problems were among honorees Feb. 17 at the 22nd annual Awards Dinner of Plymouth-based Growth Works.

"I think they're kids that have worked hard on making changes in their lives and done some really important things," said Dale Yagiela, executive director of Growth Works.

The dinner shines a light on kids who've overcome obstacles. "It's very important, I think. It's also good for the community and my staff to be able to celebrate this as well," Yagiela said of the evening.

Three board members — Marsha Bianconi of Westland, Tom Fielder of Belleville and John Nepiuk of Canton — were also honored for milestone years of service. A Community Award for efforts aimed at improving the lives of young people went to Sgt. Kirk Oswald of the Garden City Police Department.

Among young people, Charles Dalton of Redford was lauded for special achievement and outstanding efforts over the last year in Aftercare & Residential Treatment.

Dalton wrote in the dinner program, "Now, since I am living a positive healthy life now I am attending college and graduating from high school in June. I am starting college in the fall. Growth Works and staff could be a higher power to me. That's what Growth Works means to me."

Alexis Swanson of Romulus, James Emerick III of Southgate and Jamey Cosby of Canton were honored for special achievement and outstanding effort over the past year in Community Intervention & Treatment.

Cosby has re-established a relationship with her mother as well as embracing the fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous. She also has a foundation developed with her father.

Brooklyn Rager of Livonia was honored for special achievement and outstanding efforts over the last year in the Western Wayne Care Management Organization. She and her mother have improved their relationship, Rager will graduate from high school this June and plans to attend college in the fall.

Sgt. Oswald has been instrumental in participating on the WWCMO Garden City Community Team for the past nine years. Its goal is to help prevent juveniles from continuing their delinquent activity and assist them to become productive members of the community.

Oswald has been with the Garden City Police Department since 1998 and is currently the day shift patrol supervisor.

Growth Works is a private, nonprofit organization serving youth and families in Western Wayne County since 1970. Its services include adolescent drug treatment and juvenile justice services. The annual Awards Dinner is set aside to look back at the previous year and honor the achievements of young people and parents the agency works with. Community members whose efforts have improved their lives are also recognized.

Among board members recognized, Marsha Bianconi is the executive director of the Conference of Western Wayne, a public policy consortium of 18 western Wayne County communities. The CWW works on public service, public safety and water quality issues the member communities have in common. She brings the perspective of local governmental officials to the GW Board of Directors. She has been instrumental in making the partnership between the CWW and GW effective in providing CMO services. Bianconi also serves on the Wayne-Westland Community Team that supports WWCMO youth re-entering the community from residential placement.

John Nepiuk is the Growth Works board treasurer. His interest in improving the quality of behavioral health services is a driving force in his involvement with Growth Works. Nepiuk was formerly with Ford Motor Co., working on major finance and information systems technology. He continues to work on major projects with EDS. He brings a strong business presence to the GW board, particularly in the areas of finance, information technology and employee compensation.

Tom Fielder is a former teacher, coach, school principal and mayor. He assumed the chair of the WWCMO Advisory Body in 2000 when he was mayor of Belleville and on the executive board of the CWW. Fielder's dedication to the needs of "challenged youth" has kept him actively engaged in the oversight of GW's at risk programming and CMO operations. He also chairs the Southwest Community Team that supports WWCMO youth re-entering the community from residential placement.

Right now, such recognition of youth and adults who help them is especially important, Yagiela said. The agency is faced with new ways of doing things with fewer resources.

"To know that we still can be effective and it matters is very important," Yagiela said.

FOUR SEASONS REHABILITATION AND NURSING GREAT STAFF. GREAT CARE.

Staff with a team-approach makes admitting effortless at Four Seasons Rehabilitation & Nursing

Debra Labadie and Jill Taylor work as a team to help families understand the admissions process. Labadie is director of the department, Taylor, the admissions nurse. Both recommend families tour facilities they are considering. Four Seasons offers short and long-term care, is a Medicare and Medicaid provider, and accepts private insurance as well.

"If you decide you want your loved one here, let discharge planners at the hospital know or the social worker at another nursing home," said Labadie.

A resident of another nursing home asked to be moved to Four Seasons because of its size. The facility is large, accommodates 180 patients and has long, wide hallways for walking and socializing.

"You should make your decision based on needs," said Labadie. "We make sure we properly meet the resident's needs."

Labadie educates families about Four Seasons' services such as 24-hour nursing care, in-house dialysis for end stage renal disease (including tracheostomy patients), respiratory therapy, a secured dementia unit, cardiac rehabilitation, and physical, occupational and speech therapies. In-wall oxygen and suction were recently installed in patient rooms.

"We're a skilled nursing facility," said Taylor, an R.N. (registered nurse). "We make sure they're medically acceptable, for our Memory Care Unit that they have no aggressive behaviors, that they're more a wander risk."

'Red, White & Tuna' director is having a blast

BY BARRY CUTLER
CORRESPONDENT

You may not know Maggie Gilkes (pronounced like "milks" but with a "G") but you have likely seen her work.

It's the big welcome sign that beckons for your attention outside the Farmington Players Barn on 12 Mile in Farmington Hills. Gilkes is the person who braves the cold to blast the message inviting you to stop in and see a show. You might call her the Barn's "official sign changer."

This time, she's proud to display the hilarious comedy she's now directing in her hometown, Red White & Tuna.

Two talented actors, Frank Markus of Royal Oak and Michael Schachenbauer of Plymouth opened the show Friday, Feb. 11, and they continue to stun audiences with their versatility and comic timing.

They portray 20 characters, both men and women, in the fictional town of Tuna, Texas. The play runs through March 5. It's just one part of a popular Tuna series, and the third Tuna production Gilkes has directed for the Farmington Players. Tickets are available at farmingtonplayers.org or at the box office (248) 553-2955.

"Tuna has everyday people that make you want to go and find this fictional place for yourself," said Gilkes. "Our actors do not portray them as anything else but real people with hearts and souls."

LABOR OF LOVE

Gilkes has been pouring her own heart and soul into the Barn since 1988 when she worked props for The Butler Did It.

"I made my husband and kids come to see the show and told them that every time the curtain was closed, I was on stage," says Gilkes.

She admits shyness kept her away from the Barn for a long time. (Anyone who knows her would find that impossible to believe). But Gilkes finally mustered up enough courage to walk in and look around. She was quickly hooked.

"Margaret loves theater," said her husband, Dave Gilkes, who calls her a "valuable asset to the Barn." She has certainly embraced that reputation in the past 23 years, performing every task imaginable, from parking cars and running lights, to stage managing, producing, acting and directing. She has even sat on the theater's Board of Directors. Each job is strictly volunteer and hard work for the woman who spends odd hours earning a living as a dealer at Greektown Casino.

These days you would be hard pressed to find a show

Gilkes hasn't touched — with her paintbrush. She shines as a talented set designer and often colors the floor before every production. Simply put, theater is in her blood and she's all too happy to share that with her family.

"Community Theater is a wonderful way for families to do things," said Gilkes. "Our daughter Katie came to the Barn with us all the time, she was 12 (when she started) and loved it. My grandkids can do no wrong, if they love the arts that would be great."

You may not know Maggie Gilkes, but she's someone you should meet. So when you see that sign outside the Farmington Players Barn for Maggie Gilkes works with — and laughs with — Frank Markus, Michael Smith and Michael Schacherbauer (of Plymouth) behind the scenes.

Maggie Gilkes of Farmington Hills fixes Frank Markus's wig, so he can play one of the many characters in the Farmington Players production of 'Red, White and Tuna.'

Red White & Tuna, stop on by for some nonstop laughter and a chance to say "hi." Don't be shy.

The e-waste collections run from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and are open to Wayne County residents and small businesses with 10 or fewer employees. The Hamtramck collection is 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Wayne County's Department of Public Services also has scheduled its first two countywide Household Hazardous Waste collections for this year.

The two collections are scheduled for Saturday, March 26, at the Wayne County Community College District, Western Campus, 9555 Haggerty, Belleville, and Saturday, June 18, at Henry Ford Community College located at 5101 Evergreen, Dearborn.

The household hazardous waste collections run from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and are open to Wayne County residents only.

The collections are designed to accept unwanted household chemicals for proper disposal. Items that will be accepted include household paints, stains, floor-care items, furniture polish, bathroom cleaners, lawn and garden chemicals, antifreeze, fluorescent and compact fluorescent light bulbs, old computers and TVs. ## W-W puts $14 million price tag on revenue loss

BY SUE MASON
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school officials are wondering what Gov. Rick Snyder means about putting real money in the right places. By their calculation, the budget proposal he presented to state lawmakers Thursday, Wayne-Westland will lose more than $14 million.

"This huge, this is a shock," said school Superintendent Greg Baracy. "We're in crisis mode. We had no idea that it would be this bad."

The governor has proposed cutting state school aid by an additional $300. When coupled with this year's $170 cut, it will mean a loss of $5.9 million for the district. He also stripped the Wayne-Westland language out of the budget, erasing $6.1 million the district has received in lieu of millage disallowed when Proposal A was enacted.

Those losses, coupled with an increase in the state retirement rate to 24.46 percent, which will cost more than $2 million, leave the district facing a funding cut of $1,140 per student.

"We've been hit extremely hard and once again we're being hit harder than any other district in the state because of the Wayne-Westland language," said Baracy. "Today was extremely bad news for us."

The governor's budget includes nearly $8.8 billion in funding for schools' basic operations, down $564 million from the current fiscal year. It

THOMAS BEAUDOIN

Wayne-Westland School Superintendent Greg Baracy said of the governor's plan to cut school funding: "This huge, this is a shock. We're in crisis mode. We had no idea that it would be this bad."

also includes shifting an estimated $422 million surplus in the School Aid Fund to pay for community colleges, rather than take the money from the general fund.

To offset the state funding reductions, the governor has recommended districts continue to seek economies of scale for non-instructional services. A 10 percent savings in non-instructional services would yield $300 million statewide and increased employee participation in the costs of health insurance could save an additional $300 million.

Wayne-Westland has been doing that. It closed six elementary schools last year and reconfigured the elementary program to save $5 million and an additional $5 million in employee wage freezes and concessions. Baracy, his cabinet, the administrative unions and several employee groups agreed, but the district has yet to reach an agreement on concessions in health care and a wage freeze with three unions, including its largest, the Wayne-Westland Education Association.

The concessions being sought include one-year wage and step freezes and an increase in health care co-pays, and for the teachers, not reducing class sizes by one student in 2010-11. The concessions would save the district an additional $3.8 million.

If the governor's budget proposal goes through as presented, the loss will erase the district's $5.5 million fund balance. School officials will have to sit down and analyze the budget proposal to see if it does what the governor said it will do, Baracy said.

"I don't know how districts across the state can endure a $470 per student cut," he said. "We're aware that this is the toughest economic times since the Great Depression, and we understand that we all have to share in the sacrifices, but how is $1,141 a fair share of the sacrifices. We'll have to see where this takes us."

Wayne Metro holds Walk for Warmth

Heat for your home in the winter is one of life's basic needs for families living in Michigan. However, the need is often overlooked.

This winter, thousands of out-Wayne County families are struggling to keep warm under blankets and coats because they can't afford heat for their homes.

Stepping in to fill the gap is the Wayne Metropolitan Community Action Agency which is holding its 15th annual Walk for Warmth Saturday, Feb. 26, at the Westland Shopping Center at Wayne and Warren roads in Westland.

One hundred percent of the money raised will go to help families in need, people faced with making the choice to feed their family or heat their homes. Last year, Wayne Metro helped more than 1,000 people with utility assistance payments and still couldn't meet the demand for services.

The Walk for Warmth will be 9 a.m. to noon. People can get involved by forming a team and collecting pledges. Team information and pledge sheets are available online at www.waynemetro.org or by calling (734) 246-2280, Ext. 123.

Awards will be given to the youth and adult teams with the highest amount of pledges, biggest team of walkers, best team name and most team spirit. The individual that raises the most money over $1,000 will win the Grand Prize Boyne Highlands Lodging and Lift or Golf Package. Grand Prize Package includes one night's hotel lodging for two in the Main Lodge at Boyne Highlands Resort and one-day unlimited lift tickets for two or one round of golf for two on choice of four Boyne Highlands golf courses.

Hundreds of people will walk to raise funds for Wayne Metro's Emergency Utility Assistance Programs. The first 300 participants to pledge $15 or more will receive an official 2011 Walk for Warmth T-Shirt. The walk is a fun event for the entire family and includes a DJ, entertainment, face painting, door prizes and great shopping.

For more information visit the website at www.waynemetro.org or call (734) 246-2280, Ext. 123.

The scouts, including Angela Delaflor, earned their World Thinking Day patch.

Friends of the Rouge gather river stories

Friends of the Rouge, a local non-profit organization dedicated to the restoration and stewardship of the Rouge River, is celebrating its 25th anniversary with an array of activities throughout 2011.

And he celebration is open to the public.

"One way we are celebrating our 25th anniversary is through our special blog," said Cyndi Ross, the River Restoration Program Manager for the Friends. "We are collecting stories from people about their experiences with Friends of the Rouge and about the Rouge River in general."

People who have an interesting story that they would like to share with others about time spent along the river or participating in a Friends of the Rouge activity can submit it by e-mailing riverrestoration@therouge.org with the subject line "story."

Stories submitted through the regular mail also are being accepted and can be mailed to 4901 Evergreen Road, 220 ASC, Dearborn, MI 48128. Accounts of river experiences can be read on the groups' special blog, "Celebrating 25 years" at friendsoftherouge.wordpress.com/.

The mission of the Friends of the Rouge is to promote the restoration and stewardship of the Rouge River ecosystem through education, citizen involvement and other collaborative efforts, for the purpose of improving the quality of life for the people, plants, and animals of the watershed.

Girl Scouts think globally

A local Brownies Girl Scout troop thought about their counterparts halfway around the world Tuesday.

Troop No. 43732 celebrated World Thinking Day at Grant Elementary School by making jump ropes for a troop in the Philippines.

The 27-member troop was part of a group of about 100 Girl Scouts at Grant who participated with various activities, including learning to use chopsticks, learning the Girl Scout Promise in a new language and helping other Girl Scouts.

World Thinking Day is part of the global action theme of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, based on the United Nation's Millennium Development Goals, which aim to improve the lives of the world's poorest people, according to the Girl Scout's Web site.

"It's for Girl Scouts around the world to think about each other," said Delores Muller, Scout leader for the Brownie troop. Muller said there are 10 million Girl Scouts in 115 countries. Muller said this year's theme for World Thinking Day was "empowering girls to change our world."

At Grant Elementary, Muller's troop gathered to listen to a local elected official discuss empowerment in government. Councilwoman Maureen Miller Brosnan talked about the need for more women in government, pointing to the fact that only eight women have served on the Livonia City Council in the city's 60-year history.

The girls also learned about courage and determination, as Muller asked them about doing things that took courage.

The Scouts also learned about countries like

Scouts (clockwise from lower left) Faith Burger, Kelli Johnson, Emily O'Sullivan, Kati Thomas, Krunali Werton, and adult leader Alison Domzalski work on assembling a jump rope.

Bolivia and the Philippines and helping others in those countries.

Muller, who recently became a U.S. citizen, discussed how she decided to help out The Lingap Center, a Filipino orphanage built through funds raised by a Jackson, Mich., man. Muller raised $1,000 on a website calling for donations to assist the center.

On Tuesday, the girls created jump ropes for a Girl Scouts troop at that orphanage. The Brownies also played a quiz game, and recited the Girl Scout Promise with Brosnan, saying it in Spanish, following Muller's lead.

The girls earned badges for their efforts that day.

Livonia students celebrate success of Cell Phones for Soldiers

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
CORRESPONDENT

The free Little Caesars pizza was definitely a hit with students at Churchill High School Thursday afternoon.

Churchill students were rewarded with the pizza for collecting the most cell phones for soldiers in December in a competition with Franklin and Stevenson high schools. Students in Livonia Public Schools collected 3,000 cell phones at the district's 24 schools.

Holmes Middle School won the middle school competition and will have pizza parties for 900 students Feb. 23-25.

The prize was the Pizza Party courtesy of the GM Military Discount Program, Chevrolet, Little Caesars Pizza, and 99.5 WYCD Detroit's Country radio station (CBS Radio).

REACHING OUT

"I love pizza" was the first thing out of Megan McDonald's mouth as she sat with students from the leadership classes. For them, it was a jubilant occasion and everyone was proud of the accomplishment.

"It was a good experience," said McDonald, a senior. "It's reaching out to the community and showing our support."

McDonald was one of the Churchill students who wrote Christmas cards to Michigan-based troops overseas and enclosed a pre-paid phone card as part of the green initiative. The used phones collected by Livonia students were recycled and proceeds used to purchase prepaid cards worth 180,000 minutes.

"We wanted to tell them we appreciate them," said McDonald.

Founded in 2004, Cell Phones for Soldiers was the idea of Robbie and Brittany Bergquist, then 12 and 13 years old. Based in Massachusetts, the nonprofit organization has provided U.S. service men and women with more than 90 million minutes of free talk time.

Locally, the cell phone drive evolved from the GM Military program that provides discounts on vehicles to active and reserve soldiers.

"Livonia has a high concentration of military families. That's why we chose it," said Linda Stouffer, marketing manager of Vehicle Purchase Programs for GM. "We wanted to find a way to give back to the military. We know how important it is for them to keep in contact with their families."

Stouffer would like to challenge other districts to hold a used cell phone drive for soldiers. She was amazed at the number of phones collected by Livonia students. The drives have netted more than 30,000 cells from around country.

"LPS represents 10 percent of that," said Stouffer as she watched a steady stream of students pass in front of her with their pizza.

PARENTS HELP TOO

Georgi Ryktarski, a mother and member of the PTSA,

Tracey Van De Ven and Keith Chartrand pick up some pizza for lunch.

"important to help the students" whenever she and her husband could.

Churchill Principal Joe Anderson was happy for the PTSA's help. He was worried about how they were going to serve 2,100 kids, but the staff came up with a plan to give students different color tickets for each of the parties that were held on three consecutive days. A total of 358 pizzas were consumed at Churchill.

"It's a great recognition for kids to be rewarded for doing something nice," said Anderson. "Our students already know how important it is to help others. I wasn't surprised they won."

Little Caesars stores began supporting Cell Phones for Soldiers in March 2010. Since the partnership began, customers have donated more than 24,000 phones.

BUILDING COMMUNITY

Assistant Principal Marsha Byrd said the Cell Phones for Soldiers drive "was a good way to build community and make it a smaller world, and for students to be exposed to different aspects of life like businesses and military. It was good for students to see the impact of working together. It's been wonderful. Everybody worked together."

"It was something we could actually do instead of contributing money," said Stephen Charnley, a senior.

Student activities director Karla Halvangis helped by promoting the cell phone drive. "I tried to play up the competition between the schools."

"And we crushed Stevenson and Franklin," added senior Tom Windle. "We always like to beat them. Our canned food drive we collected 39,412 cans for Goodfellows."

For information about Cell Phones for Soldiers, visit www.cellphonesforsoldiers.com, or www.facebook.com/JoinCellPhonesforSoldiers. Local school districts can contact linda.stouffer@GM.com if they are interested in holding a district-wide school drive.

Symphony tops off season with 'brassy' finale

The Plymouth Symphony will culminate their regular season concerts with a finale organizers say is "big, bold, brassy and breathtaking" 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton.

The visual arts will take center-stage as the orchestra performs Mussorgsky's masterpiece, "Pictures at an Exhibition," which was composed around themes based on the composer's artist friend, Viktor Hartmann including the beautiful and familiar, the "Great Gates of Kiev" based on his paintings of the façade of the entrance for the City of Kiev.

Continuing the artist theme of the concert, the orchestra will perform a World Premier of Katherine Hoover's work, "J.M.W. Turner: Impressions," based on the lush landscapes of English painter, J. M. W. Turner. Katherine Hoover will be attending this world premier of her work and will be a part of the On-Stage Presentation with Conductor Nan Washburn prior to the concert.

Throughout the performances of both pieces the artwork will be illuminated on the scrim as the orchestra performs each piece.

"Katherine Hoover is an extraordinary composer. She has a wide and fascinating vocabulary which she uses with enormous skill. Her music is fresh and individual," said John Corigliano.

Hoover resides in New York, where she maintains an active career as composer, conductor, and flutist. She is the recipient of a National Endowment Composer's Fellowship and many other awards, including an Academy of Arts and Letters Academy Award in Composition.

Hoover attended the Eastman School of Music and holds a Masters in Music Theory from the Manhattan School, where she taught for years. Hoover has also attended the Conductors Institute and has led performances in Wisconsin, West Virginia, New York, and Pennsylvania. The commissioning, rehearsing, and premiere of her Dances and Variations at Kennedy Center are the subject of an Emmy-winning documentary, called New Music, by Deborah Novak.

The concert is sponsored by The Partnership for the Arts and Humanities in Canton and the Bank of Ann Arbor. Tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, and $10 for students.

For tickets and information please call 734 451-2112 or online www.plymouthsymphony.com.

The Plymouth Symphony closes its regular season with a 'big, brassy' finale March 5 at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton.

Credit unions jump-start savings with grand prize

The changing economy has put great emphasis on personal financial education and the benefits of saving. Community Financial Credit Union is one of 36 Michigan credit unions that are offering the innovative Save to Win program that gives members what organizers call "an exciting reason to save" - a grand prize of $100,000 - and teaches them how regular deposits can put them on the path toward building wealth.

"Our credit union is excited to offer this innovative program to our members," CFCU CEO Bill Lawton said. "We are committed to helping our members save money and work their way out of debt. Save to Win gives a good incentive to learn the value of saving and how just a little each month can add up."

Here's how Save to Win works: Members open a one-year share certificate with an initial deposit of at least $25. Then, every time they deposit $25 they earn another entry into monthly drawings and a grand prize drawing. At the end of every month, prizes totaling $4,000 will be awarded to Save to Win accountholders who continue to save. The prize entries will also be entered into the grand prize drawing of $100,000, to be awarded in January 2012.

Research from the pilot year of Save to Win showed that the product is helping people save, according to credit union officials. About 27 percent of Save to Win accountholders reported having $2,000 or less in financial assets prior to opening the Save to Win account, and 60 percent said they regularly spent money on the lottery or gambling.

To see the official rules of the Save to Win product, go to www.cfcu.org/savetowin.

Headquartered in Plymouth, Mich., membership and is open to anyone who lives, works, worships, volunteers or attends school in the Michigan cities, townships or counties of Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Novi, Alpena, Otsego and Montmorency.

For more information, visit the credit union web site at www.cfcu.org or call (734) 453-1200 or (877) 937-2328, toll free.

Chiefs cruise, tournament final next

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Having done the expected with Friday's 51-28 trouncing of Livonia Stevenson, the KLAA title is within reach for Canton's varsity girls basketball team.

The host Chiefs will face Westland John Glenn at 7 p.m. Tuesday (at Canton) in a battle of 16-2 teams to determine the KLAA tournament winner.

"Now they get a chance to play for the conference championship Tuesday night versus John Glenn," Canton head coach Brian Samulski said. "So we get another shot to play them, which is good because they're a good team."

What happened Friday went pretty much true to script.

Even Spartans head coach Jennifer Knoph knew her team faced a huge task in the second-round KLAA tournament matchup

"We knew what we were up against," said Knoph, whose team dropped to 12-6 overall. "We talked all week about how winning last week and winning Tuesday was putting us up against the strongest competition in the KLAA."

But Knoph said she was proud of how her team "didn't hang their heads" after Canton's 21-0 run in the second blew the game open.

TOUGH TO STOP

The Spartans could not answer the Chiefs constant defensive pressure, which resulted in numerous turnovers and transition buckets.

Senior forwards Kayla Bridges and Kari Schmitt — with a string of layups and finger rolls — scored 16 points during the second-quarter blitz.

The Chiefs built a 35-11 halftime lead and were up 47-17 with eight minutes to play.

"I thought our focus was good tonight," Samulski said. "Our

Hockey fight nets dozen suspensions

BY TIM SMITH

Plymouth boys hockey coach Paul Fassbender Thursday night confirmed that six of his players and six Canton players were suspended for their roles in Tuesday night's postgame brawl.

The players are serving a two-day suspension from school, and will miss the remaining games of the regular season as well as the first two state playoff games.

They will be permitted to return to practice on Monday, Feb. 28, but will not be allowed to play in that week's pre-district tournament at Novi.

Fassbender said Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Principal Bill Zolkowski levied the suspensions after reviewing videotapes of the melee and meeting with building principals, athletic directors and coaches in a Wednesday morning meeting.

The Wildcats and Chiefs brawled at the conclusion of Tuesday's KLAA South matchup at Compuware Arena. Canton won 2-0 to clinch the division.

According to Zolkowski on Friday, the suspensions were based on enforcing the district's code of conduct.

"What I hope all of the members of our community take away from this," Zolkowski emphasized, "is our absolute intolerance for the type of behavior that went on at the ice arena last Tuesday."

"We must all remember that co-curricular activities are a privilege, extra opportunities that the district provides, that are intended to augment the academic offerings of the school day."

A RARITY

Fassbender said the brawl was the first of its kind "in the 10, 12 years that Plymouth, Canton and Salem (hockey) have been around."

"So it's really not a thing that's boiling up, or a thing that's causing problems," Fassbender added. "There's one incident, one time in 12 years."

He and Canton head coach Jeremy Majszak are friends who play in the same men's league, and there is no bad blood between them.

"We talk to each other," Fassbender said. "We talk advice and strategy about other teams to each other and we still do."

Fassbender said players "did learn a lesson, even the ones that participated in it."

Salem rallies past Canton in KLAA tourney tilt

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Salem varsity boys basketball team dialed up the defensive intensity in the second half Thursday at Canton and the offense followed suit.

After trailing 25-17 at halftime, Salem head coach Bob Brodie talked to his team about changing how the KLAA tournament first-round game was developing.

"At halftime I said we got to change the tempo of this game," Brodie said. "Canton is controlling the whole tempo, they're doing whatever they want to do out there. And we can't let that happen."

"... We got to crank the tempo up a little bit, we got to get after it, especially at the defensive end. When you get after it at the defensive end, your offense starts picking up."

With Salem canning six of six three-point shots in the second half — three of them by junior guard Grant Bettner — the Rocks tallied 41 points after the intermission to earn a 58-50 victory.

Salem (12-5) now will visit Livonia Stevenson (17-1) at 7 p.m. Monday for a second-round game. Another win there would give the Rocks a chance to claim the association tournament for the first time since 2002 (when it was the WLAA).

"We've got good tradition at Salem and we just hope we get another opportunity to put another banner on the wall," Brodie said.

The 12-5 Chiefs will drop down to the consolation bracket for the remainder of the tourney.

"It's disappointing to be out," noted Canton head coach Jimmy Reddy. "When you're in a championship situation, a tournament situation, you want to keep playing. You want to survive and advance. We didn't do it tonight."

IN THE CLUTCH

All three of Bettner's treys were crucial. Two helped Salem regain the lead in the see-saw affair, and his third, with 1:15 left, opened up a 54-50 advantage.

"We work on a lot of drills, to get us shooting some clutch shots," said Bettner, who scored 11 points. "Like at practice, we (simulate) playing with three seconds left, looking for our last shot."

"And that was kind of the scenario we were in. Time wasn't running out, but we needed a shot in the clutch. I took it, and hit it."

Reddy said his defenders did not do enough to hinder Salem's jump shooters in the second half.

Senior forward Zinovi Pelekh, shown from a game earlier this season, was one of four Salem players to score double figures Thursday against Canton.

MIKE NADRATOWSKI

Who: Mike Nadratowski, senior captain of Plymouth varsity boys basketball team.

Miscellany: The 17-year-old Nadratowski, whose parents are Kim and John Nadratowski, carries a 3.67 grade-point average. He also is captain of the Wildcats' baseball team. Athletic honors include earning all-conference last year for basketball and baseball as well as selection as an Observer All-Area player. He has signed a letter of intent to attend Grand Valley State University on a baseball scholarship.

Captain's job: "The job of a captain is to communicate to your teammates in a positive way, to set a good example when you put on the uniform and stay confident even if things aren't going your way. It also means to set a good example in the classroom and on the court."

Leadership style: "My style of leadership is that I work on knowing when to be supportive and positive to my teammates, but also know when to be hard on them a little bit and try and make them better."

Why him? "I believe my teammates and coaches chose me to be a captain because I know how to play the game with confidence and my teammates know that I have their back on the court."

SALEM

"We didn't do a great job of contesting the shots," Reddy said. "We didn't do a great job of hedging on screens. Their shooters got open, and credit to them they knocked them down."

"They were six-for-six on threes in the second half, and you're not going to win against good teams when you give up that."

Canton senior point guard Dietrich Lever II scored 10 of his 19 points in the first half, helping the KLAA South co-champion Chiefs forge leads of 14-9 after one quarter and 25-17 at the break.

CHANGE OF PACE

But as urged on by Brodie, the Rocks were noticeably quicker and made life miserable for Lever, junior forward Paul Baumgart (14 points) and the rest of the Canton squad.

"I thought the first half we did a good job of moving the ball and getting some easy scores around the rim and kicking it out for open threes," Reddy said. "But in the second half we didn't move it as well. That had something to do with Salem's pressure."

Salem's comeback began with about four minutes to play in the third and Canton up 31-26.

Sophomore forward Chris Dierker (12 points, six rebounds) hit a trey from beyond the top of the arc to close the gap to 31-30 with about 2:45 left.

After Canton missed on an inside shot, it was Bettner's turn. His 3-ball from the right flank put Salem up 33-31.

Two putbacks by senior center Ethan Walsh (nine points) kept the Chiefs at bay, and

One of Plymouth's key performers Thursday night was senior Brennen Beyer (No. 42), shown from a game earlier this season against Livonia Franklin.

Salem carried a 38-36 edge into the fourth.

BACK-AND-FORTH

The teams traded leads for the first four minutes of the final frame.

Canton junior guard Kyle Adams (eight points) buried a trey from the right side to give the Chiefs a 41-40 lead. Later in the frame he hit another triple to put Canton up by a 46-44 score.

"Kyle's been playing good, this last month he's been solid defensively, especially," Reddy said. "And now he's starting to knock down open threes, which we need."

"I can't say enough about him coming around."

After Lever missed the front end of a 1-and-1, Salem went up 48-46 after baskets from senior forward Zinoviy Pelekh (12 points) and Dierker.

A key offensive rebound of a missed free throw by Canton junior forward Terrell Sewell (six boards) led to Baumgart's basket from inside the key to even the game at 48-48 with 2:15 left.

The Rocks regained the lead again — this time when junior forward Tyler Stewart (12 points) connected on a trey from the left corner — and never relinquished it again.

defense was good and we rebounded well. We pushed the ball and attacked the rim.

"... We're at the point now where these guys know every game means something."

Schmitt led Canton with 16 points, nine rebounds and five steals.

Bridges drained 10 free throws among her 14 points and senior forward Sara Schmitt (six boards, three steals) also helped the cause.

Jorden York led Stevenson with 10 points.

Contributing seven was Charlesann Roy while senior forward Monika Rudis was active at both ends. She scored six and led the Spartans with 11 rebounds.

"She's one of our seniors and she's been a great surprise this year," Knoph said. "She wasn't somebody we thought would step into a starting role and she's strong every game."

Three quick fouls against senior Stevenson center Kristen Balhorn also helped pave the way to the bucket for the Chiefs. "She's usually a strong presence inside," Knoph said.

Other Canton players to contribute included senior guard CarolAnn Sexauer (nine points, including Canton's only trey of the night) and senior guard Melanie Pickert, who tallied five points and played stellar defense.

"The key is our defense and getting after people," Samulski said. "For the most part, 28 points (against), that's not bad."

Salem prevails

Also on Friday night, Salem edged host Plymouth 23-22 in a KLAA tournament consolation girls basketball game.

"We played a wide-open, run-and-gun game," joked Salem head coach Fred Thomann, whose squad improved to 7-11.

Thomann then said the contest "was really an intense, competitive game" that came down to the wire.

The Rocks trailed 7-4 after one frame before turning an 11-2 second quarter into a 15-9 halftime lead. Plymouth closed the gap to 22-19 going into the final stanza, but neither team could manage much offense in the fourth.

"It was one of those games where nobody could score," Plymouth head coach Bob deBear said. "But they had one more than us, so that's all that counts."

Salem sophomore forward Breanne Beaver had a strong game, scoring seven points and grabbing 16 rebounds.

Chipping in offensively for the Rocks were Heidi Schmidt (five points), Katelyn Krause and Jennifer First (four each).

The Wildcats (7-11) were paced by Kylie Robb's seven-point night. Alex Roberts and Kate Watson each scored five.

Both squads continue tournament play on Tuesday. Salem hosts Walled Lake Central while Plymouth visits Northville.

PCA stays hot

The title march of Plymouth Christian Academy continued with Tuesday's 42-17 romp over Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

PCA (14-3 overall, 9-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) jumped out to a 15-6 lead after one and controlled play throughout.

Head coach Carol Gerulis benefited from the hot shooting of Brianna Harris (14 points) and Bethany Hale (nine points), who tallied four and three triples, respectively.

Jenny Malcolm scored six points and led PCA with seven rebounds. Emily Gerulis also had a good game on the glass, pulling down six boards to go along with four points.

Karen Windle (six points, three steals) also chipped in.

"The kids played a good game tonight," Carol Gerulis said. "We played very good defense as a team tonight."

PCA visited Grosse Pointe University-Liggett Friday night, but results were not available as of press time.

COLLEGE BASEBALL PREVIEW

Pitching: Still name of game

Crusaders boast Plymouth-Canton flavor as 2011 campaign begins

BY BRAD EMONS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The weather forecast this weekend for Dayton Tenn. seems favorable — temperatures anywhere from mid-60s to mid-50s, some sun and maybe an occasional shower.

That's where the Madonna University baseball team opens its season with a four-game set followed by a 10-day trip starting March 4 in Phoenix, Ariz.

Greg Haeger, entering his 15th season as the Crusaders' coach, will try and top last year's school-record 48-11 campaign which included a trip to the NAIA regionals in Riverside, Calif.

Like most teams Haeger puts on the field, he said "It all comes down to pitching."

"Last year's pitching staff was a pretty good one," Haeger said. "So we do return three of the five guys who were in our rotation last year so it's always nice having those returning guys back."

The Crusaders will definitely miss Kyle Bolton, who went 8-1, and John Ballarin, who finished 6-2 with a 3.30 earned run average.

But those graduation losses should be diminished with the return of three solid starters — juniors Robert Fraser (Westland John Glenn) and Tom Hansen, along with sophomore Jeremy Gooding (Livonia/Dearborn Divine Child).

"Losing those two guys hurts, but having those three guys back is nice," Haeger said.

Gooding led the Crusaders in wins (10-1) to go along with a 2.39 ERA en route to All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference honors after transferring from Saginaw Valley State.

"Jeremy was kind of the big surprise last year as a freshman," Haeger said. "He's been throwing the ball very well. Has had two pretty live appearances in the cages recently."

Meanwhile, Fraser went 7-1 with a team-best 1.71 ERA, while Hansen, a left-hander, finished 6-2 with a 3.23 ERA.

"Fraser is coming back from a little bit of a sore arm," Haeger said. "He had a really nice year for us last year, a great ERA, and pitched well for us."

"Hansen's had two very successful years for us the last two years and was able to hold onto a spot in the rotation."

Reliever Andy Omilian, a redshirt junior from Plymouth (Detroit Catholic Central), also returns in his mop-up role after leading the team last season in appearances (18).

Four others also could make an impact on the mound including two redshirt freshman — Aaron Saarela and Tyler Schofield — along with junior college transfer Austin Delmotte and Erik Wright (Canton), a transfer from Saginaw Valley.

"We redshirted two very talented freshmen last year," Haeger said. "Aaron has been throwing great. We've seen upper 80s (MPH) from him, which is nice to see. Wright is another good left-hander and has opportunities to do well."

Delmotte, a native of Romeo, might be the Crusaders' hardest thrower after playing two seasons at Patrick Henry (Md.) Community College.

"He is up to 92-93," Haeger said. "Success is always based on pitching. We don't have a lot in terms of numbers, but we have a lot of potential. We're going to be counting on quite a few new kids this year. The team could round out into a very good team."

SOLID BEHIND DISH

MU's catching duties will be split between senior Tarik Khasawneh (Canton) and red-shirt junior Drew Adamiec.

"The catching situation is probably the most concrete on this team defensively," Haeger said. "Unfortunately, Donny Holland, who played quite a bit as a freshman last year, is out for the year (labrum surgery). He had been battling through it for awhile and finally had to have the surgery."

Omilian

"We're fortunate we have Tairk Khasawneh and Drew Adamiec. A senior and a junior who have been around the block. They have nine years experience between those. They're two very good kids who know how to catch the staff. We're happy with that."

The WHAC regular season champions return six infielders led senior second baseman Jeff Bultinck, who hit .368 with four homers and 32 RBI.

Also returning is senior shortstop Mike Gansser (.288) and junior redshirt utilityman Billy Hardin III (.314), a Livonia native.

"Jeff started just about every game, he has a stranglehold on that spot," Haeger said. "Mike played a lot of shortstop last year and Billy played all over the place. He played short, third and DH'd. He has a little bit of a sore arm right now."

Sophomores Spencer Sarel (.360) and Brad Lineberry (.351) both earned time last year at third base.

Lineberry, a Plymouth High grad, will move over the first.

"Spencer had a real nice year for us last year offensively and so did Brad," Haeger said. "Tim Duffy, a senior, didn't get a lot of opportunities, but he'll be back at first."

Two freshman, Victor Barron (Fowlerville) and Ryan Lech (L'Anse Creuse North) both fit into the infield equation as well.

"Defensively we're still working on them, but they can swing the bat," Haeger said. "We like our infield."

OUTFIELD POWER

Matt Kay, right fielder from Canton, will anchor the outfield after hitting .319 and leading the Crusaders in homers (11) to go along with 48 RBI.

"Matt's has had two great years for us," Haeger said. "He's dedicated himself and worked awfully hard. He should have another good year for us."

MU lost both its center fielders including first-team All-WHAC pick Ted Toune, who hit .372 with 10 homers and 43 RBI.

"Who plays out there is still up in the air," Haeger said. "Both Steve Pelletier (Farmington) and Alex Charles (Birmingham Brother Rice) are two talented sophomores."

The opportunity is out there for each of them."

Junior Dan Harder (.321, six homers) has the inside track at left field, while redshirt senior Dan Stoney (Canton) and St. Clair County CC transfer Phil Celeski (Novi) also figure in the mix.

"Dan Harder has some pop in his bat," Haeger said. "Those guys will see some time. Alex (Charles), Steve (Pelletier) and Danny (Stoney) have a lot of opportunities to get left and center field taken care of."

But offensive numbers could be drastically down this season for all of college baseball.

"They changed our bats," Haeger said. "We weren't using them in the fall. We were using the old bats or wood in the fall. As we get these new bats in, it's tough. It's tough to read a ball off the bat in a net. You just don't know. You don't know who's squaring up the ball the most."

The new bats are referred as BBCOR (ball-bat coefficient of restitution).

"They've taken the trampoline effect out of the bat from aluminum and make them more like wood," the MU coach added. "Different sounds as far as what coaches and players are used to. It sounds like a really bad aluminum bat."

"We're not going to see these 450 foot home runs anymore. We're going to see a ball play off the bat much more like wood. Maybe not just like wood, but similar to what you find in a wood bat in terms of distance or exit velocities."

TRACK RECORD

Haeger is anxious to get outdoors and see how his team adapts to the bat change.

"We don't know what they do with these bats," he said. "For every college coach like me who hasn't been outside... Tennessee, for us, is a huge learning experience and how it will change and how many will go small ball baseball. A lot of variables going into the season right now."

Haeger's track record speaks for itself. He is 435-305-3 in 14 seasons with five WHAC regular season, four WHAC tournament and one NAIA Region VIII title to his credit.

"We want to make sure we're prepared," said MU coach, who has guided the Crusaders to two straight NAIA tourney berths. "We're not a small ball baseball team. That's not me or what my (assistant) coaches are about. We've always been a doubles and steal base program with some home runs. I don't know if I could live with myself to bunt them over. I've talked to a lot of coaches from across the country and a lot of people say the ball just doesn't fly anymore."

"Earl Weaver ball in college has been gone for a little bit. But we'll see."

Canton stopped by CC machine

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Following Wednesday's Division 1 boys wrestling finals, undefeated Canton senior Anthony Abro and Novi-Detroit Catholic Central head coach Mitch Hancock exchanged congratulations in a show of mutual respect.

Abro earned the 193rd victory of his stellar high school career against the No. 1-ranked Shamrocks while Catholic Central put a 63-13 licking on the host Chiefs — who earlier Wednesday routed Livonia Franklin, 69-9.

"They're so good, everyone in their lineup," said Abro, who was bumped up to 215 pounds instead of his customary 189-pound slot. "That room just makes you better."

Abro earned a hard-fought 14-6 major decision over Jay Peterson to stem the Shamrocks' tide after the defending D1 state champions pinned the first six Canton opponents they saw.

Catholic Central was up 36-0 at the time Abro and Peterson squared off.

Abro — who coach Cory Mancuso didn't want going up against CC 189-pounder Miles Trealout, because they likely will face each other anyway at Saturday's D1 individual regionals — said he wasn't thinking about his streak.

He just wanted to stop the Shamrocks' momentum. Throwing Peterson down like a football linebacker, Abro briefly achieved his goal.

"What really was on my mind was to go out there and get some points on the board for my team," Abro said. "And, to get some momentum for my team."

Canton senior Ben Poirer, usually in the 215-pound slot, then wrestled against Robert Coe in the heavyweight bout and grinded out a 9-4 victory to make it 36-7 and 103-pound Ben Griffin won via a void.

CREAM OF THE CROP

Other than that, No. 8-ranked Canton (27-6) was victimized 10 times by CC pins. Four of those were completed in less than one minute.

"They're obviously the best team in the state, no surprise there," Mancuso said. "We knew it was going to be a tough one. They're still a better program than us right now."

"They have an All-American coach in Mitch Hancock. The kids go there to wrestle, they want to be there."

But Mancuso said his district champion team, minus key wrestlers Zach Marsh and Braden Price (due to illnesses), hung in there as tough as possible — especially Abro and Poirer.

"We needed to get him (Abro) a win tonight, he's closing in on 200," said Mancuso, about bumping Abro to 215.

And about Poirer, the coach

PREP WRESTLING

added that "Ben's one of our better wrestlers, he's ranked in the state. That was a good win for him."

Hancock said his team's fast start against Canton (CC earlier defeated Dearborn Fordson in the semifinals, 63-12) was by design and part of the collective mindset to not take anything for granted.

"I knew it was going to be a challenge, Canton is a strong program and Cory Mancuso is doing an excellent job," Hancock said. "I told the kids to be aggressive and get after it."

"Nobody's going to roll over because we're Catholic Central High School."

ULTIMATE STRATEGY

About the slew of pins, Hancock said it follows the longtime blueprint for success established by legendary CC coach Mike Rodriguez.

"Our guys are pinning machines, the ultimate goal is to pin your opponent," Hancock emphasized. "We preach that, that's something Coach Rodriguez preached for years" both for momentum's sake and bonus points.

Earlier Wednesday, Canton dominated Franklin in the semifinals.

Several Chiefs enjoyed quick pins against the district-winning Patriots (23-7), who were without three starters due to various bumps and bruises.

Canton 112-pounder Richard DeMarois pinned Austin Steele in 55 seconds, Abro needed just 31 seconds to pin Matt Horne at 189 and Robbie Lincoln (at 215) finished his bout with Tyler Gerhard in just 14 seconds.

Not in the Franklin lineup were Jordan Atienza (125), Steve Tuyo (130) and Alan Steele (160), who hopefully will be able to participate in Saturday's individual districts hosted by Plymouth.

"Going into it, we knew we'd have a tough match against Canton," Franklin assistant coach Josh Billiau said. "It'd be even tougher against CC, we don't have the guns to take on CC."

"So we gave them another day to rest it up and make sure they're ready for their individual goals."

Billiau conceded that the Patriots decided to sacrifice a chance for a team regional title in order to ensure success at the individual regionals.

"We kind of sacrificed the team for that," he explained. "But at this point, we know what we can achieve with our individuals and our team isn't really where it needs to be to take on the top of the state."

Canton pretty much found out the same thing a little later Wednesday night.

Rocks peaking at right time

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Although Salem lost the coveted Lash Cup and KLAA South Division boys hockey title by the slimmest of margins, the Rocks are rolling toward the state playoffs.

On Monday, No. 6-ranked Salem knocked off Brighton 3-2 — the first time in team history that the Rocks defeated the Bulldogs, head coach Ryan Ossennmacher said.

Salem (15-5-2, 7-3-1 KLAA South) followed that up with a 4-1 Senior Night win Tuesday over Walled Lake Northern. Both wins were at Plymouth Cultural Center.

"It was a must-win in order to give us a chance at the division title and our guys rose to the challenge," Ossennmacher said about the win over Brighton. "(It was a) complete team effort."

Hopes for that division crown were dashed Tuesday night, however when Canton blanked Plymouth to finish 7-2-2.

The Rocks scored twice in the second period against Brighton, with Garrett Berg assisting on markers from Ryan Quigley and Michael Manser (on the power play).

In the third, Berg scored a power-play goal that turned out to be the eventual winner.

"Garrett Berg played an outstanding game. He was in on every goal and excellent in our 'D' zone," Ossennmacher said.

Goalie Brandon Price also played a key role. "He made more than a few game-changing saves," the coach said.

Single assists were collected by Mark

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Salem forward Ryan Quigley (No. 7), shown from an earlier game, scored the hat trick Tuesday against Walled Lake Northern.

McGee and Nick Hayes.

Against Northern, Quigley scored a hat trick and assisted on McGee's first-period goal as the Rocks were dominant.

Salem outshot the Knights by a 45-20 margin.

"Every line stepped up today and played very well, one of our more complete games in a few weeks," Ossennmacher said. "Ryan Quigley scored a natural hat trick, a nice accomplishment for a senior on Senior Night."

Other seniors include Berg, Price, Hayes, Matt Downey, Michael Hochkins, Connor Berlin, Wesley Carr, Maxx Coral and Andy Magee.

Salem was set to compete in Saturday's KLAA tournament at Canton Arctic Edge and will host Rochester Stoney Creek at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Whalers lose grip on lead

Plymouth scored four consecutive goals in the third period to seemingly take control of a pivotal OHL game at Windsor Friday night. A victory would have pushed the Whalers ahead of the Spitfires and into fourth place in the Western Conference.

But just 15 seconds after Whalers forward Tyler Brown scored an unassisted shorthanded goal to give Plymouth a 5-3 lead, the Spitfires answered with a tally by Jeff Brown at 14:04. Then Ryan Ellis and Taylor Carnevale scored twice within a 2:28 span to suddenly swing the game Windsor's way.

The Spitfires — who scored on four of nine shots in the period — closed out a 7-5 victory at WFCU Centre with an empty netter, and in the process opened up a 67-to-64 edge in points.

Both teams have played 55 games and will meet for a rematch 7 p.m. Saturday at Compuware Arena.

Plymouth bounced back from a 3-1 deficit after two frames, with Jamie Devane's power-play goal at 3:42 getting the rally going.

Stefan Noesen's 28th of the season tied the game at 3-3 with 14:36 remaining and Garrett Meurs broke the deadlock at 10:36 (with Noesen assisting).

Tyler Brown then registered his 22nd goal to give Plymouth a two-goal spread with only 6:11 left.

That obviously woke up the Spitfires, however, who improved to 31-19-2-3. The loss dropped Plymouth's ledger to 30-21-1-3.

SUSPENSIONS

But he questioned his team receiving as many suspensions as Canton, because he maintained that the Chiefs were far more involved in the scrum.

"I went and found video for them (district officials) to look at," Fassbender said. "I think if any general person looks at the video, as I've had many people do — students, teachers, faculty there at that building, other hockey coaches."

"Hands down there are more red jerseys than white jerseys in the scrum."

Zolkowski, however, said there was no "discussion or consideration of equalizing" the number of suspensions.

"We looked at each incident that we saw and dealt with the individuals involved based on that player's behavior," he explained.

NO CONTROL

Majszak rebutted Fassbender's claims of unfair distribution of suspensions in a Friday e-mail to the Observer.

"My team was getting on the ice to celebrate a divisional championship, this team's second in team history," Majszak said. "... something that is unfortunately getting completely overlooked."

He stressed that on-ice officials could have stepped in sooner to stop the incident from escalating.

"In review of numerous videos from different angles, there are only two fights that emerge and then a lot of grabbing and wrestling," Majszak said. "My disappointment is that in review of the video, the initial fights that break out go on for 15 seconds before any referees decide to jump in."

Majszak also offered that most players on both teams "were not involved whatsoever."

Fassbender, meanwhile, also lambasted the game's officials for losing control of the game.

The third period, in particular, featured numerous scrums and altercations that led up to what happened after the final buzzer.

"The reason it got out of control is because if you warn and warn and warn and never follow through on your warnings," Fassbender stressed. "... if you don't kick guys off the ice, give them penalties, whatever it takes, you lose control of the game."

CHANCE TO SHINE

Both teams will participate shorthanded in Saturday's KLAA tournament at Canton Arctic Edge.

"We want to get to 8-8-8, which we will if we get two more wins," Fassbender said. "I think we can do that with the 13 or 15 guys we have."

"As far as the playoffs, you never know what's going to happen. The odds are pretty stacked against us, the hill got a lot steeper over the last two days."

According to Fassbender, the suspensions will give younger players an opportunity for meaningful minutes on the varsity team.

"The bright side of all of this, it creates opportunities for some of the kids that don't get ice time," he said. "Is it going to be hard? Yeah, it's going to be hard."

"Are they ready for this? Not yet. But it's going to be a good thing for them."

Fassbender said he still has 15 skaters and one goaltender, enough for three forward lines and three defensive pairings.

"We have 16 or 17 players still eligible and we were extremely deep all season with talent," Majszak noted. "In times like these players will step up and play into the role that we need them too and I'm perfectly confident our players will do that."

'It's just a relief knowing where I'm going and everything. It's exciting that it's all happening.'

Pickert excited about playing soccer at Iowa

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There's a good chunk of her senior year yet to go, but Canton's Melanie Pickert is pumped up about a collegiate soccer career.

Pickert recently signed her national letter of intent to play soccer at the University of Iowa.

"It's just a relief knowing where I'm going and everything," Pickert said. "It's exciting that it's all happening."

She has excelled as a mid-fielder/defender for the Chiefs and is being counted on by Iowa head coach Ron Rainey for more of the same.

"He said I'll be playing in the back somewhere, like midfield in," Pickert said. "Hopefully that will have an impact and he said I'll get playing time."

In a press release, Rainey cited Pickert's strong play as team captain of the 2007 and 2008 Michigan Hawks club teams — winners of State Cup Championships.

"She is a strong athlete who can win balls in the air while also controlling a back line," Rainey said. "Her international experience will help her compete for time right away."

Pickert is a veteran of the Region II ODP US Girls Youth Soccer program.

MICHIGAN CONNECTION

The daughter of Keith and Mary Pickert will be rejoining former Hawks teammates Katie Brown and Jordan Rakas at the Iowa City university.

On hand for her signing ceremony were members of her family (her parents, sister Emilie and brother Nathan) as well as her former and future soccer coaches at Canton during her outstanding prep career — George Tomasso and Jeannine Reddy, respectively.

Meanwhile, Brian Samulski, head coach of the Canton girls basketball team that Pickert is a key member of, also witnessed the event.

"I think that's awesome," Samulski said. "Pick's a great athlete, I couldn't be happier for her."

"I'm excited to watch her go to Iowa and have a great soccer career."

Samulski added that Pickert has "been just an outstanding student-athlete here at Canton and we look forward to watching her continue to be a great student-athlete at Iowa."

Although Pickert said her experiences at Canton have helped her to compete and be a leader, playing on an ultra-competitive club team hastened her development.

"High school I think helped me more along the lines of leading the team and organizing the back line," she added. "Organizing the line in front of me and everything. I think that helped me. But club is a more competitive atmosphere."

But the next step is something she can't wait to take. "Oh yeah, I cannot wait to go to college."

Wayne girls capture division bowling title

Chalk up a division title for the Wayne Memorial girls bowling squad.

The Lady Zebras clinched the KLAA Central Thursday at the expense of rival Westland John Glenn, 20-10, in a match at Town 'N Country Lanes.

Wayne, which improved to 11-4 and 9-3 in the KLAA Central, received a sterling performance from Stephani O'Harris, who rolled a two-game set of 216-268-484.

Plymouth, Salem, John Glenn and Northville tied for third place in the division, with records of 7-5.

Livonia Blue nips Canton

The Canton gymnastics team, still depleted by illness and injuries, dropped a 139.1-135.925 dual meet Wednesday to host Livonia Blue.

There were several bright spots for the Chiefs, however, who looked to capture the KLAA championship this weekend.

Erica Lucas had a strong meet, winning on vault (9.2) and taking third on balance beam (8.8) and fourth on uneven bars (8.45).

Alex Fidele was victorious on floor exercise with a 9.35 score. She also took fifths on vault (8.5) and bars (8.5).

Melissa Green (second on floor, 9.1; fifth on beam, 8.65) and Ayan Lewis (second on bars, 8.55) were other Canton contributors.

10,000 boxes of cookies

Top seller hopes to wrap up senior year of Scouting in style

BY SHARON DARGAY
OGE STAFF WRITER

KT HitesLareau is one sharp cookie.

She knows her product. She understands sales. She's tenacious.

And you can find her from 3-7 p.m. every day through March 20 just east of Beech Daly on Seven Mile in Redford peddling Tagalongs, Think Mints and Samoas.

"We have a drive-through cookie booth and we have cases and cases of cookies in our car," said KT, a 12-year Girl Scout and member of Troop 43534 in the Southeastern Michigan Council. "We're there every day, no matter if it's raining or snowing or cold."

She wears a patch-studded Girl Scout vest over a parka and dons boots to keep out the elements. Her mom, Jackie Lareau, keeps her company and actively helps with sales as customers drive in and out of the parking lot where they've set up shop for four years to sell Girl Scout cookies. They decorate the area, which is near Jackie's sewing store, with flags and cookie box "totem poles."

"Between Valentine's Day and St. Paddy's Day, Girl Scout cookies is what I do," KT said. "I love cookie sales, product sales in general. I do, I really do like the cookies."

It's no wonder the 17-year-old Redford Union High School senior earned honors — and prizes — last year as top cookie seller in her council and came in second place in sales the two previous years. She sold approximately 800 boxes as an eighth grader and more than quadrupled the amount the fol-

"My goal is 10,000 this year. It's my last year in Scouts and I want to go out with a bang. I want to sell as many as possible," KT said.

ALWAYS SELLING

Jackie has the cookies on hand at her store and KT sells some at school. They sell the most at their daily cookie booth, although they've also conducted transactions while on the road. "No matter where she goes, she's got cookies in the back seat," KT said, describing her mom's car. "There are cookie flags on the windows. We've had people stop us when we're driving to church and people roll their windows down and say, 'Do you have any Thin Mints?' We always have Thin Mints. We've pulled into a parking lot and sold them."

Girl Scout Cookies:
They're everywhere

The Heart of Michigan council, which includes Plymouth and Canton troops, is wrapping up sales at cookie booths this week. Troops in the Girl Scouts of Southeastern Michigan council just started selling and will staff booths through mid-March. They cost $3.50 a box and can be frozen or used to make other desserts. Watch for recipes on the Observer's food page Thursday, Feb. 24.

This is just one week's worth of booths in a smattering of western Wayne locations. For more, visit www.gssem.org or www.gshom.org.

ADOPT OR FOSTER A GREYHEART GREYHOUND

Sadie and Cuddles are the featured adoptable Greyhounds from Greyheart Greyhound Rescue & Adoption. Here's what Jackie Bowen, public relations director for the group, says about them:

Sadie, 3, is a lovely little girl. She's quiet but still loves to play. Cuddles is a beautiful black Greyhound who loves to cuddle and is waiting for the right family to come along.

For more information on adopting Sadie or Cuddles, call Greyheart Greyhound Rescue & Adoption at (866) 438-4739 or visit www.greyheart.org.

What if you're not quite ready for a permanent commitment but want to reach out to a homeless pup, like Sadie or Cuddles, and help them become adoptable? Consider fostering.

Bowen says fostering a Greyhound gives you the opportunity to help a dog learn to be a pet. You'll watch them experience grass, a soft bed, stairs and other objects that most dogs take for granted for the first time at your home.

"It's much like baby-proofing your house for the first few weeks. Put an X on the doorwall with masking tape to prevent them from attempting to run through it," she explained. "These dogs haven't experienced anything except a kennel, a turn out pen and a track." Fostering a former racer takes patience, but can be rewarding as the dog blossoms into a trusting pet. They'll thrive with positive reinforcement.

Sadie

"Greyhounds aren't necessarily used to a gentle, comforting hand and fostering gives you the opportunity to teach them that not all hands are bad and that someone can pet you and love you without the worry of negative consequences," Bowen noted.

"You can watch the transformation from an underweight dog with ticks and fleas to a beautiful streamlined Greyhound whose eyes will melt your heart and whose gentle spirit will make you thrilled with your decision to take them into your home."

"Sometimes a Greyhound will come to you as a 'spook.' These pups are so special because they are extremely scared and in need of your love and quiet support. Sometimes it will take months for a spook to decide that it's safe to join the family. Often they will spend the first several months in a bedroom or somewhere they feel safe and come out only for food and potty breaks. They will eventually come around when they finally decide you are not going to harm them. They generally take a little longer to adopt."

Watching a dog pick up a toy and play with it for the first time — and discover it is a toy — can be a heart-melting experience for the foster family. It may even be one reason why families "fail" at fostering and decide to adopt. "Maybe it's the way that they settled in with the resident family dog. Sometimes they are just absolutely Velcro dogs and you know that they need you so badly and you cannot let them go," Bowen said. "If you do decide to fail fostering 101, you have to realize that there is one less Greyhound taken from the track but one more added to your family."

Advice, please, on my furry foster

Lola doesn't bark much.

But she sent a message loud and clear when she ripped the cover and chewed the spine of my new, haven't-read-it-yet book on dog training secrets from the folks at Best Friends Animal Sanctuary, about two weeks after I brought her into my home last November.

My new foster dog had been a timid girl at the local shelter, but seemed to gain confidence quickly as she settled in with me and my dog, Hunter, an Akita-German Shepherd mix.

The day she nibbled on my book collection, destroyed magazines, and gnawed on plastic DVD covers, I had left her out of her crate at home with Hunter while I ran a few errands.

Did I mention she also cracked the DVD Home Alone?

This spunky spaniel-hound mix hasn't been the same since. She's a ball of energy outdoors and always ready for a game of tug with Hunter or Frisbee toss with me. But inside the house, she's too timid to venture much past her dog bed. In fact, if given the choice, she'd stay inside her crate most of the day.

Skittish inside; playful outside.

I could use a few pointers on getting her past her fears.

Watch for my posts on HometownLife.com's Facebook page.

I'll be looking for your advice there, too.

ology or another science at Michigan State University next year, says she inherited her sales ability from her mom and her knack for math and science from her dad, Roger.

"I've been influenced by my parents with my social skills," she said. "I'm a people person. I like being around people and the people who buy cookies are always nice."

PRODUCT KNOWLEDGE

Jackie said her daughter's genuine interest in the product helps sell it. KT's favorite are Tagalongs. Her mother likes Samoas and her dad likes Thin Mints. They freeze some cookies to eat later in the year, sometimes combining Thin Mints with ice cream or dabbling frosting on the Trefoils.

KT's parents taught her the value of commitment and tenacity when she was young.

"I'm in sales and it's a big deal to hit a goal. But you don't stop. You keep pushing on and see how high you can get it," Jackie said, adding that she told KT "My commitment is that I'll put into it as much as you do. I'll help you as much as you help yourself. It's like a matching mom fund."

Next year KT will attain a lifetime membership in Girl Scouts. Jackie said she'll continue some involvement in cookie sales while her daughter is at college.

DECREASING MEDICATION

At times, a doctor has a pleasant problem. In treating a patient with rheumatoid arthritis, the time may come when the patient is experiencing little joint pain and able to undertake activities with few or no restrictions. The question arises on how much medication does the patient now need?

There is no obvious way to answer that question. No blood test can show that the patient has improved to a point that lowering or discontinuing medication is in order. The only way to proceed is to decrease the drugs the patient uses and follow the results.

However, the doctor will not just stop the medication. In most instances a patient with rheumatoid arthritis is taking two or more drugs. The most common combination is methotrexate, plus an anti-TNF such as Enbrel, and a nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory medication such as Motrin.

The doctor makes a decision as to which drug to decrease first, based on the medication most likely to cause serious side effects. In the medication example above, decreasing methotrexate would be a good place to start. If the patient was on 6 tabs a week, the doctor might go down to four a week, keep all other medications the same, and watch the patient for 6 weeks to 2 months. If the person maintained a good status, then the doctor would decrease the dose again by one or two tablets.

The principle is to decrease dosage slowly, focus on one drug at a time, and have both doctor and patient observe the results to assess if the lower dose results in a return to illness or a sustained well being.

The process of decreasing medication is slow, but no other way is as certain.

Choose an air duct cleaner wisely

For the past few years I have continually received phone calls from an air duct cleaning company and the message is always the same. "We are in your area this week and are offering a special on air duct cleaning. We can do the job for $49.95 and all you have to do to set up an appointment is hit 1 on your telephone."

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

Needless to say, I have never set up an appointment because I firmly believe and know that this company is a complete rip-off. Chris Hansen did a long story on DateLine NBC last month. You can if you go to msnbc.msn.com, click on the "Hansen Files," and watch this two-part story.

They send out a coupon advertising a price of $49.95 to clean your ducts and once they are in your home, the price can quickly jump to over $500 or even $1,000. They do not clean the air ducts properly and the end result is the air is much more polluted than before they started the work. They target the seniors. Once enough complaints are compiled against them, they move out of their location, change names and begin to operate as a new business.

I've been asked a few thousand times if cleaning of air ducts in a home is a necessary task to be performed and the reply is always affirmative. The American Lung Association tells us that indoor air is now more polluted than outdoor air. For those who suffer allergies, watery eyes, headaches etc. it might just be the thing you should have done. New homes as well as older homes should be cleaned. The first thing they install on new homes is the duct work from the furnace throughout the house. There are a lot of waxed papered sandwiches and the like dropped into the registers. Sawdust, chunks of drywall and construction debris are just swept into these openings, without concern of how it will affect the air circulating in the house.

The Air Duct Cleaning Association NADCA.COM tries very hard to ensure that standards are followed by all their members. They have yearly training for members and introductions of new state of the art equipment and membership is not granted to just anyone. To do the job properly, they will take three to four hours in your home, give you before and after pictures of the inside condition of your duct work and a guarantee that they did it correctly.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600 and Sundays at 2 p.m. on WDTK 1400. You can e-mail him at appldr@twm1.com

70TH ANNIVERSARY

Sam and Mary Mininni met in August 1940, married three months later and are still in love today.

The Livonia couple celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary Nov. 16, 2010.

For Sam, 90, it was love at first sight when he met his future wife through a mutual friend. The couple dated, accompanied by chaperones, and got engaged after Sam asked Mary's parents for their blessing.

Sam, a U.S. Army veteran, is a former truck driver who spent his days behind the wheel of 18-wheelers for 33 years. Mary, 88, retired in 1980 after 23 years as head baker at Fordson High School in Dearborn. Both are active with family, volunteering and family.

Sam has been a ranger at Idyl Wild Golf Course for 10 years. He also enjoys his Lincoln, a car he dreamed of owning for many years and now drives.

Mary volunteers in the surgical waiting room at Henry Ford Hospital Fairlane and enjoys sewing, reading and baking.

The Mininnis, who moved from Dearborn to Livonia 14 years ago, attend St. Edith Catholic Church.

They have four children, 11 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, most of whom live in Livonia and Dearborn Heights. Five of the great-grandchildren attend Livonia schools and five grandchildren, along with a son-in-law, teach in the district.

Family members gather Sunday evenings for coffee and dessert, a tradition that began years ago. Mary says the great-grandchildren have helped to keep them feeling young.

David Mitchell, one of their 11 grandchildren, calls them "probably the two more genuine, caring individuals that I know."

"Livonia is a better place with them living here ... that is for sure!"

Milliner tips hat to The Pink Fund

The Pink Fund will receive 25 percent of the proceeds from sales of "Femme Fedora" hats and "pack-able" pink hats designed by milliner Gena Conti.

The Pink Fund gives financial assistance to those who have undergone breast cancer treatment. It was founded by Molly MacDonald, a working mother of five who underwent cancer treatment.

"Women with breast cancer have enough on their minds, yet all too often they also are worried about money and the financial burdens of battling the disease," MacDonald stated. "What I have learned from my own situation, and confirmed by other women in treatment, is that the financial fallout from breast cancer causes stress that often is as devastating as the disease. I founded The Pink Fund to help women in treatment so they could focus their mental and emotional energy on healing and recovery."

Proceeds from the Conti-designed hats will help The Pink Fund continue to make direct payments for rent, COBRA, car and utilities on behalf of families in need.

Both the The Pink Fund Femme Fedora and The Pink Fund Pack-Able are made from hot pink velour felt. The designs are trimmed with black gros-grain ribbon band and a matching bow at the side. They also are available in pastel pink for an additional fee.

Because each hat is a custom made, they are available 3-4 weeks from ordering. Rush orders also are available.

The Pink Fund "Femme Fedora" retails for $195 (plus state sales tax, packing & shipping). The Pink Fund "Pack-Able" is $165 (plus state sales tax, packing & shipping). Find details at goo.gl/WPA7G. Gena Conti Handmade Millinery is located at 2732 Biddlem, in Wyandotte. To order, Call Gena Conti Millinery at (734) 284-3417 or e-mail to thepinkfundhats@genaconti.com and provide exact head measurements.

A portion of sales of Femme Fedora by Gena Conti will benefit The Pink Fund.

Millinery is returnable for alteration only. Refunds are not available. To learn how to measure one's size, visit www.genaconti.com/Measuring.htm on the web.

Colorectal cancer curable with early diagnosis, care

March is National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month and the good news is colon cancer cases have been steadily decreasing the past two decades. The bad news? It remains the third most common cancer in both men and women.

It's a preventable disease with a 90 percent survival rate when diagnosed early. It's a beatable cancer, but you have to get screened.

Last year, an estimated 102,900 Americans were diagnosed with colon cancer and 91 percent of cases were diagnosed in individuals age 50 or older. In Hispanic or Latino men and women, colon cancer is the second most commonly diagnosed cancer. This fact is alarming, because early stage colon cancer usually does not have symptoms. Screening is often the only way to determine a diagnosis before it's too late.

"If we diagnose it early enough, it is curable," stated Martha Trout, Director of Health Initiatives for Out State Michigan for the American Cancer Society Great Lakes Division. "If we're doing adequate screening in our communities, we don't need to have a disparity in the incidence of colon cancer and death rates."

So why aren't more people getting screened? According to American Cancer Society research, the top seven reasons people say they aren't getting screened for colon cancer are:

- They don't think it will happen to them.
- They don't understand the benefits of getting screened.
- They are afraid or embarrassed to get screened.
- They don't have time to go in for a screening.
- They believe they can't afford a screening.
- They don't know where to go to get screened.
- And they say their doctor never talked to them about it.

"Bottom line, getting screened for colon cancer can save your life," Trout said. "Colon cancer is one of only two cancers that can be prevented through screening. It almost always starts with a small growth that can be removed before becoming cancerous through screening. If you are 50 or older, talk to your doctor about getting screened, even if you have no symptoms."

Men and women at average risk for colon cancer should begin screenings at age 50, and before age 50 if there is a strong family history of the disease. For more information call (800) 227-2345, anytime, day or night, or visit cancer.org.

Your Nonverbal Communication Can Wreck Your Interview

Selena Dehne,
JIST Publishing

Giving a limp handshake, letting your eyes wander and fidgeting are just a few of the subtle blunders that can botch your success in a job interview. Although you may have been unaware you were doing these things, interviewers who pick up on negative nonverbal communication are likely to doubt your fit for the job.

Nonverbal communication can be judged just as much, and sometimes even more harshly, than the responses you give to questions you're asked during interviews. It can even be the single factor that helps hiring managers decide between you and another candidate when you're both equally qualified for the job. That's why it's so important to be mindful about your posture, facial expression and other behaviors.

"The most important idea is to project confidence and professionalism," says Heather Krasna, author of "Jobs That Matter: Find a Stable, Fulfilling Career in Public Service."

"If you find yourself becoming very nervous about interviewing, realize that this is normal.

Practice interviewing in front of a mirror, on video or with a friend or career coach until you feel a bit more comfortable," she suggests.

In her book, Krasna offers the following tips for ensuring positive, appropriate and polite nonverbal communication:

Handshake: A firm handshake is considered a sign of confidence. Take the other person's hand in your right hand (don't use both hands), so that the space between your thumb and first finger touches theirs. Give a firm, but not crushing squeeze, and shake the person's hand up and down slightly, once. If you have sweaty hands, be sure to dry them before your interview.

Posture and physical distance: When sitting in a chair, sit up straight or lean forward slightly (don't slouch). If you will be crossing your legs, do it so that one knee is stacked on top of the other or cross your ankles. (Do not cross your legs so that one foot is on top of your other knee.) Alternatively, keep both feet on the floor. Do not stretch your legs out in front of you or sit with your legs spread far apart -- it looks too casual. When standing near someone, about three feet of distance is standard in most parts of the United States. Standing closer than this can be quite uncomfortable for others. Arms and hands: You can "talk with your hands" to some extent, but do not do so to the point of distracting your interviewer.

Sitting with your arms crossed in front of you can look defensive. Instead, try to have a more open posture. Don't fidget, play with your hair or pen, or bite your nails!

Eye contact: Look in the eyes of the person interviewing you. Looking down or away frequently gives a message of not being confident or being confused. Rolling your eyes up is considered a sign of disrespect. Don't stare intensely at the interviewer; just look him or her in the eye as much as possible. Facial expression: Smiling is an important way of showing that you are a friendly individual and that you are enthusiastic about the position. Smile at the beginning and the end of the interview at a minimum. This can't be emphasized enough -- I know several people for whom lack of smiling was a major barrier to employment.

Mirroring: You can also take note of the posture and expressions of your interviewer, and adopt some of his or her tone. Be careful, though -- even if an interviewer is quite friendly and casual, that does not mean you should be too casual. It is still a professional job interview.

In addition to these tips, Krasna gives international job seekers a reminder: "Nonverbal communication is quite culturally defined," she says. "If you are interviewing across cultures, be sure to know what is expected of you."

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Buick Regal CxI Turbo Provides European Feel In An American Nameplate

AdvertisingFeature

CAReport

By Dave Menard
For Avanti NewsFeatures
Fracassa News Group

So you're looking for something with turbocharged power, a sport suspension and a dash of European luxury thrown in? So the first brand that comes to your mind is Buick, right? No? Well, you're not alone. Known for years as a stodgy brand of cars you looked at if you couldn't afford a Cadillac, Buick has really changed their image over the last several years. Their vehicles have gotten younger and more hip, and cars like the 2011 Regal CXL Turbo are leading the way.

Designed in Europe, and based on the Opel Insignia, the Regal has the feel of a European sedan, with some Buick touches. The lines are sleek and aggressive; the fenders are flared to wrap around the tires, and the abbreviated rear deck has the European sedan look. The Regal turbo, only offered in the CXL trim line, comes with dual bright exhaust tips, fog lamps, dual heated outside mirrors, and 18-inch painted alloy wheels. High-intensity discharge headlamps and 19-inch wheels are optional. The trademark waterfall grille lets you know you're in a Buick.

Inside, if you didn't see the tri-shield Buick logo in center of the steering wheel, I'm not sure you'd be able to tell that you're not inside a European sport sedan. The interior lines flow nicely, including a center stalk containing the climate and audio system that sits at a 30-degree angle. The instrument panel is nicely laid-out and features a driver information system; all the controls are all within easy reach. The interior also features Kibo wood trim.

The standard leather seats are power-adjustable and are comfortable while providing good support. The leather-wrapped steering wheel contains controls for the audio system. There's a good amount of room up front, and the 60/40 rear seats fold down.

The Regal comes with a host of standard features, including dual-zone climate control, cruise control, tilt steering column, power windows and locks, remote keyless entry, and ultra-sonic rear park assist.

The standard audio system is an AM/FM/CD system with seven speakers, a USB port, Bluetooth, and satellite radio (with a 3-month subscription). You can upgrade to a nine-speaker system that includes a navigation system. It's part of a package that includes the HID-headlamps, 19-inch wheels, power sunroof and rear seat-mounted airbags. That package will run you almost $6000.

As with all General Motors vehicles, six months of OnStar is standard with the Regal. With OnStar, you can make and receive calls hands-free, get updated vehicle diagnostics, ask for directions or restaurant recommendations, or summon emergency help at the touch of a button. The system also automatically calls for assistance in the event airbags are deployed.

The Regal turbo is powered by a 2.0-liter, four-cylinder turbo engine. Rated at 220 horsepower and 258 lb.-ft. of torque, the engine gives you some good jump off the line. The engine is mated with either a six-speed automatic or a six-speed manual transmission. If you opt for the automatic, you can still manually run thru the gears, if you choose to. EPA rates the mileage as 20 mpg in city and 32 on the highway with the manual; the automatic is rated at 18/28, and premium fuel is recommended (although not required) for the turbo engine.

The Regal drives and handles very well. The front suspension is an independent MacPherson system with dual-path mounting, specifically-tuned coil springs, stabilizer bar and continuous damping control. The rear system is a four-link independent system with stabilizer bar and continuous damping control. The ride is comfortable and the Regal holds the road well, thanks to standard traction control.

The rack-and-pinion power steering system make the Regal easy to maneuver and it's easy to park.

The Regal comes with all the expected airbags, including head side curtain airbags. Anti-lock brakes are standard, as are a tire-pressure monitoring system, and a passenger airbag sensor.

It's getting harder to define just what an American car really is. Designed in Germany, with an engine made in the U.S. and a transmission put together in China, the final assembly point is in Russelsheim, Germany. So is this Buick and American car? More of an American car than a Toyota, Nissan or Mazda that's assembled in the U.S.? You tell me, because I'm not sure.

At any rate, the Regal CXL turbo starts at a little over $28,700. Add the package described above with the navigation system, 19-inch wheels, sunroof and HID-headlamps, and you're at around $35,000.

If Buick is looking to get away from its previous image as a car for older folks, the Regal CXL turbo is a good place to start.
