Canton, county ask MDOT for snow money

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Though they loathe spending the money, Canton Township's elected leaders for the 20th winter season will split with Wayne County the $95,000 cost to have certain heavily traveled Canton roads placed higher on a priority list for snow removal.

In an attempt to shift the burden to the state, however, Wayne County is expected in January to submit a joint county-township report imploring the Michigan Department of Transportation to reclassify the 17.5 miles of roads as primary rather than secondary, Canton Municipal Services Director Tim Faas said.

"It's really a $95,000 question for MDOT," he said.

Canton for two decades has shelled out half the money to prod the county to place a higher emphasis on removing snow from the following sections of roads:

- Lilley from Ford to Michigan Avenue.
- Sheldon between Michigan Avenue and Ford.
- Cherry Hill, from Ridge west to the county line.
- Denton between Geddes and Cherry Hill.
- Denton from Mott to Geddes.
- Denton from Cherry Hill to Ridge.
- Joy Road west of Beck.
- Lotz between Michigan Avenue and Palmer.

- Lotz from Palmer to Cherry Hill.
  - Lotz from Ford to Warren.
  - Saltz between Canton Center and Ridge.
  - Warren from Beck to a half-mile west of Ridge.
- Canton has routinely shelled out $47,500 to avoid having Wayne County treat those roads as secondary. Otherwise, those roads would be placed on a prior-

Some go slow in Black Friday rush

By Matt Jachman
Observer Staff Writer

The crowds were out at Canton Township strip malls on the day after Thanksgiving to snatch up Black Friday deals, but Noreen Faulkner decided to sleep in a bit.

"I have to be up at 5:45 every day. I don't want to do that on my day off," said Faulkner, who lives in Canton.

Instead, on the day that officially launches the Christmas shopping season, Faulkner headed out for a 10 a.m. slot as a Plymouth Salvation Army bell-ringer; she was stationed in front of the Hobby Lobby on Ford Road near Lilley, joined by daughter Shannon and niece Molly Ambroiggio, both teenagers.

Shoppers were being generous, more so than on the four

New comment system requires real names of users

By Larry Ruehlen

It's the end of the anonymous era.

Hometownlife.com, the website for the Observer & Eccentric and Hometown Weekly Newspapers, now requires posters to sign on by using their real names. Company officials believe the move will result in a "higher-quality discussion" on story chats.

"We ask those submitting letters to the editor to sign their name to printed material and this is no different. I believe this new policy is a start in raising the level of quality discussion and engagement on our website," said Susan Rosiek, executive editor and publisher of the O&E and Hometown Weeklies and hometownlife.com.

Readers are required to log into a registered Facebook account to comment on Canton Observer stories at Hometownlife.com. Gannett Co. Inc. announced in October it will make that change for all of its U.S. community publishing and broadcast sites.

Other Gannett-owned sites affected in Michigan are the Lansing State Journal, Detroit Free Press, The Livingston Daily Press & Argus, Battle Creek Enquirer and WZZM-TV. The official Gannett-wide

News organizations that implement Facebook commenting abilities on their sites say they are seeing "higher-quality" discussion and a "significant increase in referral traffic," according to a report by Jeff Sonderman, a digital media fellow at The Poynter Institute. ## Marching band 'nails it' in Macy's parade

By Brad Kadrich
Observer Staff Writer

By 2 o'clock in the afternoon Thanksgiving Day, some 180 members of the Plymouth-Canton Marching Band and their directors were trying to catch a much-needed nap.

The rest was well-deserved.

The band, a perennial contender for the national championship, had just performed on its biggest stage ever, wowing a New York crowd of some three million people, plus a worldwide television audience, with its performance in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade.

Not only did the band excel during its 75-second televised performance, they got a rush all the way up and down the parade route, waving, shaking hands and star-gazing during the annual event.

"It was a whirlwind," director of bands David Armbruster said Thursday afternoon. "The kids had a blast down the street ... they were performing, they were waving, they were shaking hands with people. The kids were having fun."

It got started early, with the band meeting NBC officials around 3:30 a.m. to step off their marks and get their bearings. After hitting their mark, they were able to get back to their buses for a little rest, and then they were back on the route.

As they geared up for the walk, they watched a variety of Hollywood celebrities go by, saw singer Neil Diamond, watch a lot of other floats make their way — "We were at the back end, so we got to see a lot of

Foundation honors donors at Celebration of Success

The Canton Community Foundation's inaugural Celebration of Community Success Nov. 18 headlined a former scholarship winner and her story of achievement.

"I was so thrilled to receive a scholarship. It was so meaningful that the community was willing to invest in me," Canton resident Kim Mabie told donors. "It gave me a boost."

More than 20 donors attended the luncheon celebration at Carrabba's on Haggerty Road in Canton. "This celebration is all about you — our donors. Without you, we would not be able to achieve what we do," said Jerry Grady, foundation board chairman.

Foundation President Joan Noricks and other board members thanked donors for their generosity that over the years has allowed the foundation to address basic needs, such as hunger, through the Open Door Ministry Food Pantry, and scholarships totaling $521,000 to 504 recipients.

Mabie is an example of the impact of the foundation's scholarships, which includes college-aged students, as well as adults interested in completing their educations.

In 2006, Mabie, who was attending Washtenaw Community College, decided to apply for a scholarship as she helped her oldest daughter apply for college financial aid. Mabie received a $500 scholarship to continue her education.

The mother of four daughters, Mabie fulfilled her educational goals earlier this year when she received her master's degree in speech pathology and earned her dream job in the Livonia Public Schools. In October, Mabie and her husband, Brian, a pharmacist, gave back to the foundation.

"A recipient becomes a donor," Noricks said, announcing Mabie's gift at the celebration. "It is a beautiful thing."

While honoring donors,

Grady highlighted other foundation accomplishments, including creation of the Giving Hope Women's Giving Circle, which has created a group of philanthropic women who provide support to women and families in need. Other accomplishments include helping educate veterans and professional advocates at annual veterans' summits, and supporting area nonprofits with quarterly Lunch & Learn programming and annual community philanthropy summits.

"They actually do something with these funds," said Jim Demmer, former foundation chairman and vice president of Jack Demmer Automotive Group.

Demmer told donors about his father, Jack, also a former board member, and one of the first supporters of the Canton foundation from the organization's beginning more than 20 years ago. The senior Demmer believes in giving back to the communities in which his customers and employees live, Jim Demmer said.

"If we live in the community; we make an investment in the community."

The Demmer name has long been associated with the Canton foundation, whether as an event sponsor, contributor or the family's namesake scholarship. "The scholarships make a big difference, not just financially, but motivationally, as well," Jim Demmer added.

When Jim and his wife, Linda, decided in late 2009 to provide a donor-advised fund, they weren't sure what effort they wanted to support. With Noricks' help, they chose the Canton's Open Door Food Pantry. The Plymouth residents learned that Steve and Jackie Darr, who run the food pantry, also provide a job bank, job training and job referrals.

"We were really impressed with that," Demmer said.

Kroger staffer bags state title

There's nothing worse than smashed bread, crumbled snacks and broken eggs when shoppers return from the grocery store. This scenario is unlikely to unfold, however, if Michigan's top bagger, Brendan Humeniak, bags a customer's groceries at the Canton Kroger store on Michigan Avenue, where he serves as a courtesy clerk.

Brendan Humeniak, a courtesy clerk at the Canton Kroger store on Michigan Avenue, recently won the state bagging competition.

Humeniak, who resides in Willis, recently captured the title of best bagger in Michigan during the state grocery bag-off held in St. Joseph. Defeating the top bagger from Martin's Supermarket, Humeniak won $250 and a free trip to Las Vegas to compete in the national 26th Annual Best Bagger Championship Feb. 13 at The Mirage Hotel. The winning bagger will receive $10,000, with second place awarded $5,000 and third through fifth place contestants presented $1,000 each.

"I think it is rewarding to work on something and get something out of it," Humeniak said. "It was a great feeling to win this competition."

Rick Going, president of Michigan's Kroger Division, said winning the state competition a "huge honor for Brendan and Kroger."

"It confirms Kroger associates' commitment to provide outstanding customer service," Going said. "Our courtesy clerks are an important asset because their performance provides customers a final impression and helps them decide whether they will return to Kroger to shop."

from soup, snacks and frozen food to bread, eggs and light bulbs.

"What makes Brendan great is that he is always concerned about giving Kroger customers great service," said Gary Garvin, store manager for the Kroger Canton location. "The way he packed bags during the state bag-off is the same way he bags each customer's groceries — and he always does it with a smile."

On his way to qualifying for national competition, Humeniak bested other baggers at the Canton store, where he received a $50 gift card. He then advanced to district competition, where he won a $100 gift card, and then on to division competition where he received $250 for triumphing over six other clerks.

Balancing act

During the Michigan bag-off, competitors were judged on speed, proper bag building technique, distribution of weight between bags, attitude, style and appearance. Judges will use these same criteria to evaluate baggers in Las Vegas, where competitors will again use three reusable bags to pack identical grocery orders consisting of no more than 30 commonly purchased items. Products will range Humeniak said he prepared for the competition by practicing at home.

"My technique is a little different than other competitors," Humeniak said. "I build all three bags at the same time. I believe I have a good eye for what products weigh, which helps me pack the bags evenly."

Humeniak is a junior at Eastern Michigan University and plans to become a doctor. He said he will use his winnings to help pay for his education. A Kroger associate since March, he also hopes to become a trainer for the Kroger Michigan Division so he can educate other baggers about proper bagging techniques.

Leaving lawyer draws praise for her work

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Robinson

Canton Township Attorney Audrey Robinson has ended her two-year stint amid sweeping praise from local officials who say their decision to hire an in-house law expert has streamlined Canton's approach to legal issues, saving time and money.

"She's going to be very tough to replace," township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said.

Robinson, a Plymouth resident, marked her last day on the job Wednesday after she accepted a new job as vice president of government relations for Southfield-based R.L. Polk, an automotive data and marketing solutions company.

"It's bittersweet," Robinson said Tuesday evening, attending her last township board meeting. "I have loved my time in Canton."

Robinson said she will miss the camaraderie of her Canton colleagues, the township's solid leadership and her efforts to rein in legal spending through measures such as fighting lawsuits and fine-tuning contractual issues, among other measures, to save money.

Tough to tell

Local officials say it's difficult to gauge just how much money Canton has saved by having an in-house attorney rather than parceling out the work, but they believe Robinson's legal expertise has essentially paid for her $86,000 salary.

"I do believe that we've saved money by having her on board," LaJoy said.

Accordingly, Canton has decided to replace Robinson. LaJoy said 25 people have applied for the job, and an interview panel has begun meeting with as many as 18 candidates amid hopes of hiring a new attorney in coming weeks.

"There's no question in my mind it's the right decision to replace her," LaJoy said.

Human Resources Manager Dave Medley will certify the top three applicants from which Robinson's successor will be chosen.

Canton hired Robinson two years ago, moving to streamline legal services and give township departments a highly accessible go-to attorney. She had previously traveled the country as a state lobbyist for a major publisher of science, medical and legal information.

Fond farewell

Local officials gave her a warm send-off Tuesday evening.

Trustee Dr. Syed Taj said Robinson has been "a great help" to local officials who don't have her expertise in legal matters.

Robinson has been involved in drafting local ordinances such as prohibiting commercial vehicles from parking in residential neighborhoods and giving local authorities a tool to prosecute offenders who threaten others with fake guns during incidents such as road rage.

Robinson also had the difficult task of helping to negotiate employee concessions as Canton adopted a series of cost-cutting measures to fend off a budget deficit that had once threatened to mushroom to $15 million. She said it has been gratifying to win the respect of union leaders who sat on the opposite side of the table during those negotiations.

Local leaders said Robinson had not only the legal expertise the township sought, but also the demeanor to succeed on the job.

As Tuesday's township board meeting ended, Trustee John Anthony was among those who told Robinson she has left her mark on Canton.

"You made a tremendous difference in the community," township Trustee John Anthony said.

ity list similar to residential subdivision streets during snow-removal efforts.

Canton officials find that approach unacceptable considering the township's growth and how heavily those roads are traveled.

In a 6-1 vote Tuesday evening, the Canton Township Board of Trustees voted to continue splitting the $95,000 tab with Wayne County.

Trustee Pat Williams cast the lone dissenting vote, saying Wayne County should be forced to handle its snow-removal responsibilities without Canton having to continually pay. Williams has consistently opposed the measure.

Trustee John Anthony reluctantly supported the plan to split the cost.

"It's absolutely outrageous that the county ... can't take care of what its responsibility is," Anthony said. "I don't like it, but we're stuck with it."

However, local officials are hopeful MDOT will reclassify the roads as primary, considering how much traffic has increased during the last decade alone, when Canton's population spiked 18.1 percent.

the parade go by," Armbruster said — before starting off themselves.

It wasn't easy, at first. "It took the kids a little bit to get their bearings, because they weren't used to it, but by the end, they were having a blast," Armbruster said.

How big was the stage? Some three million people along the parade route, people watching out windows all the way, a huge television audience. None of it swayed the marchers.

"The kids nailed it on national television," Armbruster said. "They had a fantastic performance ... I couldn't be happier."

The performance — the televised portion included a couple of songs from How the Grinch Stole Christmas — capped a surreal day.

"It was what everybody talks about," Armbruster said. "Everybody's there, Hollywood stars all over the place, all the balloons and floats. You're wishing everyone Happy Thanksgiving, everybody's happy. It's a feeling you can't explain."

EEF surprises teachers with grants

By Brad Kadrich
Observer Staff Writer

Carole Kody knows how much fun surprising teachers with grant funding can be.

And this past week, Kody and other members of the Educational Excellence Foundation had tons of fun, handing out thousands of dollars worth of Classroom Enhancement Grants to teachers from all over the district.

The teachers didn't know the grants were coming; Kody and other EEF representatives surprised them Monday and Tuesday.

"It's a lot of fun," said Kody, EEF's executive director. "The teachers are surprised and the students really enjoy it, as well."

Grants handed out included:

- EEF board representative John Jackson and trustee Judy Morgan presented Pioneer Middle School science teacher Chris Moore with a check for $2,580. Moore told his eighth-grade students he and his colleagues at the other four middle schools like to do more than teach from a book. They feel that the students will learn better if they can do some hands-on activities.

Moore applied for an EEF grant to purchase physics modules to help the students learn about the physics portion of the eighth-grade curriculum through hands-on activities. He applied for enough funding for all five middle schools, not just Pioneer.

- Rob McClaren, Social Studies and Current Events teacher at Discovery Middle School, was awarded a grant that would take the images from an iPad (received from a Bosch grant) and mirror the image on a projector for the entire class to see.

- Michelle Ekonen, Language Arts teacher at Discovery Middle School, received a grant to purchase 10 hand-held spellers/dictionaries to be used by students.

- Margaret Johnson and Kristin Bertoia, first-grade teachers at Miller Elementary School, got a $290.85 grant to purchase non-fiction books students can take home to read overnight.

- Kristine Oke, Media Specialist at Tonda Elementary School, got a $500 grant to purchase a listening center for the Tonda media center. The center will allow five children to listen to a book at the same time.

Nia Ballah, Lena Schroeder, Anika Verma and Alina Hashem taste some of the Thanksgiving treats after the first Turkey Trot at Schoolhouse Montessori in Canton.

Montessori 'Turkey Trot' a success

Organizers at Schoolhouse Montessori Academy hosted their first Turkey Trot, and promptly called it a "great success."

Students, they said, enjoyed the jogging experience. Each class earned laps by the number of Canton Goodfellow donations brought in by the families in their classroom and every class earned at least four laps around the small section of the parking lot.

"We will continue to take donations for Canton Goodfellows through Dec. 2 as we've had many parents ask if we could extend the donation time so they could shop for gifts," said Anjilla Young, family concierge for Schoolhouse.

The event also featured a "taste" feast, sampling Thanksgiving treats such as pumpkin pie pudding, potato casserole, cornbread and more.

Schoolhouse Montessori is located at 1669 Haggerty in Canton. For more information, call (734) 405-2345.

National Day of Listening honors teachers

Michigan Radio took part in the fourth annual National Day of Listening, a holiday tradition started by the acclaimed oral history nonprofit organization StoryCorps.

The National Day of Listening, which took place Friday, Nov. 25, is an effort to encourage all Americans to honor a friend, a loved one, or a member of their community by interviewing them about their lives.

This year, StoryCorps suggested everyone reach out to a favorite teacher or mentor to say "Thank you for changing my life." Whether posting a memory to Facebook (@storycorps), thanking them on Twitter (@storycorps, #thankateacher), taping a tribute on YouTube or sending a thank you card, the 2011 National Day of Listening sent a powerful and necessary message to teachers across the nation that they matter.

Michigan Radio created a special National Day of Listening website, which can be accessed at www.michiganradio.org. For more information, or to listen to stories online, visit www.storycorps.org.

FRIDAY

previous Black Fridays she's worked the Red Kettle Drive, Faulkner said.

"It's just been really busy. I'm surprised," she said.

"It's fun, but some people ignore us," said Molly, who was visiting from Plainfield, Ill. "They take their cell phones out when they see us," Shannon said.

Faulkner was planning to work in some shopping later, "when the crowds die down," she said.

No early birds

Hobby Lobby manager Kacey Jansma said the store had opened just an hour earlier than normal, rather than at 4 a.m., and was doing a steady business. All Christmas decorations were 50 percent off and will be indefinitely, she said.

Jansma said she was optimistic about this year's holiday retail season.

"We've had a really good season already," she said. "We get into the Christmas aspect early."

The nearby Game Stop, across the parking lot from Hobby Lobby, had opened at midnight Friday; just before noon, the lines were long and sales personnel were busy.

Customer David Kavelage of Westland took advantage of a sale, but not the early hours at Game Stop — or any other store.

"I don't get up that early," Kavelage said as he left the store. Besides, he's not a regular Black Friday shopper. "This is the first time I've done it in about four years," he said.

At Game Stop, Kavelage found what he was looking for — two video games for his brother. He took advantage of a buy-two-get-one-free offer by picking out one for himself.

'Avoiding Black Friday'

In downtown Plymouth, shoppers told stories similar to Faulkner's and Kavelage's.

"I'm avoiding the Black Friday," said Liz Licata, who was browsing with her twin toddler sons, Michael and Chandler, at Genuine Toy Co. on Forest.

"We're staying away from the mall, but we decided to come downtown," said Julie Adloch, shopping with daughter Lindsay, 10, at Sun & Snow, on Main and Ann Arbor Trail.

Licata, from Wellesley, Mass. — the family was visiting her in-laws here — said they had enjoyed the Walk of Trees at Kellogg Park and were planning to see Santa Claus arrive there later Friday. "We'll probably take a nap in the middle," she said with a glance at her sons.

Adloch picked up a balaclava — a sort of hood that partially covers the face — for Lindsay, who said she needs it during wintertime school recess. A reach into a grab bag when they entered the store gave them a 25-percent-off coupon.

"We were just browsing around. The deal's a bonus," Adloch said.

Store manager Emily Kenny said Black Friday traffic had been steady at Sun & Snow.

"I think we're busier this year than we were last year," Kenny said. "People are buying more things, too."

Charles Dare, who co-owns Genuine Toy with wife Elle, also said store traffic was good early Friday — and expected it to pick up later, when shoppers get their second wind.

Neither Genuine Toy nor Sun & Snow offered early hours Friday.

"That's more of a big-box kind of thing," Dare said.

COMMENT

Long, Gannett Digital project coordinator.

"We understand that many users will not be able to use Facebook or are not interested in using Facebook to comment," the Gannett e-mail announcement sent by Long reads. "However, our aim is not to shut out participants from the conversation, but rather to provide a welcoming environment that encourages high-quality and relevant contributions.

"By holding commenters accountable for their actions through Facebook, the hope is that this will help keep the conversation interesting and stimulating for the rest of us."

Pilot study

Gannett selected five sites of varying audience sizes to pilot the changes over the course of a few months, Long said. The pilot sites were ksdk.com, 13wmaz.com, travel.usatoday.com, news-press.com and desmoinesregister.com.

The changes were prompted in an effort to keep up with digital media trends, Long said. Gannett will continue using Pluck, the company's current application programming interface for commenting, to power other website components, such as reader blogs. Alternatives to the Pluck API system, however, will be "explored in the coming months," according to Gannett's announcement.

The new system prohibits pornography, hate speech, threatening language, graphic violence, bullying, and spam, aligning with current Gannett moderation guidelines. Current Gannett moderation policies ban abuse, harassment, threats, vulgarity and spam.

Frequently asked questions

Q: Why the switch?

A: The decision to change our commenting tool was not made lightly. We understand that many users will not be able to use Facebook or are not interested in using Facebook to comment. However, our aim is not to shut out participants from the conversation, but rather to provide a welcoming environment that encourages high-quality and relevant contributions. By holding commenters accountable for their actions through Facebook, the hope is that this will help keep the conversation interesting and stimulating for the rest of us.

Q: What are the benefits of using my Facebook account on www.hometownlife.com?

A: Once you log into your Facebook account and start commenting, there will be no need to maintain a separate login on the site. Plus, you will be able to use the Facebook grammar filter; 'Like' and follow other readers' posts; include your friends in the conversation; get instant notifications when someone responds to your comment; view the most relevant comments from friends, friends of friends and the most active threads; and hide spam.

Q: I'm logged into my Facebook account, but unable to comment.

A: If you are signing up for Facebook just to post a comment keep in mind that new accounts will have to make a few friends and upload an avatar before becoming "active" and participating on the site. This helps to establish your identity as well as the identities of others using Facebook. For issues concerning Facebook we encourage you to check with their Help Center, <http://www.facebook.com/help/issues/>.

Q: Can I leave a comment if I don't have a Facebook account?

A: After the switch is made to the entire site, anyone wishing to post a comment will need an active Facebook account. If you don't have one, don't worry. It's easy to sign up at Facebook.com. <http://www.facebook.com>

Q: Why does my Facebook photo and user name appear on the page when I haven't posted a comment?

A: If you're signed into Facebook, you will be able to see your information, but it will not be visible to anyone else until the comment publishes.

Q: If I post a comment will other people be able to see my information or photos?

A: What others see when they click on your information is determined by your Facebook privacy settings. For assistance in updating your settings please visit the Facebook Help Center <http://www.facebook.com/help/privacy>.

Q: Do the site's Conversation Guidelines still apply?

A: Yes, you make a difference in the community when you add civil and respectful contributions to the conversation and report abusive comments and identities. If you suspect someone is using a fake or abusive account, report them directly to Facebook by clicking on the user's profile, then clicking "Report/block this person" at the bottom left of the page. For abusive or inappropriate comments, click the "X" in the upper right corner of the comment and report it as spam or abuse.

Q: Why can't I see the comments?

A: Comments on www.hometownlife.com are public, which means anyone logged in or out of Facebook should be able to view them. If you cannot see the comments, check with your IT department.

Legal Aid initiative addresses reduced funding

Legal Aid and Defender Association Inc. has launched its Advancing Justice Initiative to introduce itself to federal, state and county government officials with a breakfast for officials in Wayne County at LAD headquarters Nov. 14.

LAD is Michigan's largest provider of free civil legal services to low-income residents, serving metropolitan Detroit through its offices in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties. LAD also represents criminal defendants in Wayne County and the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan. Including brief consultations and comprehensive legal services, the public law firm handles some 15,000 legal matters yearly.

LAD developed the AJI following a reduction in funding by the federal Legal Services Corp. that forced it to lay off 13 attorneys from the staff of its Civil Law Group.

"We're always there for the community," Deirdre L. Weir, president and CEO of LAD, told the breakfast audience. "We're looking for new funding and partnerships."

LAD is an important partner of Wayne County, according to County Executive Robert A. Ficano, keynote speaker at the breakfast. He cited LAD's involvement in the county's STEP (Second Chance Through Expungement) and mortgage foreclosure programs.

Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano praises Legal Aid and Defenders for "making a difference."

"It's making a difference," he said, adding that Legal Aid and Defender is a key part of the nation's unique legal system.

LAD's three senior attorneys - Donald Johnson, chief counsel of the State Defender Office, Miriam Siefer, chief counsel of the Federal Defender Office, and Joan Glanton Howard, chief counsel of the Civil Law Group - described the roles of their practice groups and the clients they serve.

In her talk, Howard cited the importance of the help LAD receives from pro bono attorneys from the private bar and corporate practice.

Two LAD clients, one a single mother with a mortgage foreclosure problem, the other a restaurateur with serious health problems, also gave testimonials to the value of the help they received from LAD.

"We work with clients in a comprehensive manner, so that as we solve their legal problems, we help solve other problems as well," Weir said. "We help people rebuild their lives and help families stay together."

People seeking legal services can call (877) 964-4700 or visit www.ladadetroit.org.

S'craft Spirit Night benefits Big Brothers Big Sisters

The Student Activities Office and the Athletics Department of Schoolcraft College will sponsor a very special Spirit Night on Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Both the men's and women's basketball teams will take on Kellogg Community College in a doubleheader in the Physical Education Building on the college's main campus in Livonia. Admission is $5 and special commemorative T-shirts will also be available for an additional $5. All proceeds will benefit Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Metropolitan Detroit.

The Ocelot basketball teams are starting off the season strong and are looking forward to another season of many successes both on and off the court. The women will tip-off at 5:30 p.m. with guest coach Colleen Case, associate professor in the college's Computer Graphics Technology program calling the plays. The men will play at 7:30 p.m. with Chef Shawn Loving, certified executive chef and department chair of the Culinary Arts Department, serving as guest coach.

In addition, Ocelot fans in attendance will enjoy music by deejay Jason

George of United Productions, half-time performances by the college's Dance Team and the Beat Boys Break Dance Team, and a number of other surprises. Free tickets to Phoenix Theatres at Laurel Park Place will also be given away, while supplies last.

The games will be broadcast live on Bright House Network's Channel 13 in Livonia by Schoolcraft College Media Services Department and members of the college's Video Production Club.

The Livonia campus is off Haggerty Road between Seven and Eight Mile roads.

Schoolcraft hosts sale, lunch to benefit food pantry

Schoolcraft College's annual Empty Bowl Project sale and luncheon will be 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5, in the VisTaTech Center on the college's main campus in Livonia.

Ceramic bowls and other ceramic pieces created and donated by students enrolled in ceramics classes at the college will be available to purchase. Items range in price from $10-35. The purchase of a bowl includes a bowl of soup, a piece of bread and a glass of water provided by the college's Culinary Arts and Food Services departments. The simplicity of the meal reminds us of those in our community who need our help during the holiday season and throughout the entire year.

All proceeds from the event benefit the Schoolcraft College Student Food Pantry, which provides food for needy students and families. The food pantry opened in April and operates on donations from students, staff, faculty and the community. To date, the pantry has received nearly 5,000 pounds of donated goods and is currently serving 38 families.

In addition to helping the hungry, the ceramic pieces make great holiday gifts - something to consider as the holiday season draws near, said Todd Stowell, student activities coordinator. The items for sale include a wide array of stylings, from the very simple to more intricate pieces of art.

"This is a great event for the local community and students to come together for a cause that knows no boundaries," Stowell said. "We are hoping that people can find the time, make the commitment and get involved with this singular effort that can make such a profound local impact."

The VisTaTech Center is at 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia.

Girl, 11, wins prestigious philanthropy award

By Karen Smith
Observer Staff Writer

An 11-year-old Livonia student shared the stage in Detroit recently with A. Alfred Taubman, Phillip Wm. Fisher and Anthony and Catherine Viviano. Shirley Brown, a sixth-grader at John-son Upper Elementary School, joined the others in receiving a 2011 Philanthropy Award from the Greater Detroit Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals during a dinner at the Detroit Marriott at the Renaissance Center.

The former foster child was presented with the Sparky Anderson Award for Youth in Philanthropy for collecting a classroom of clothing for other foster children. The only youth to receive an award, she received a standing ovation from the

A former foster child, Shirley Brown received the Sparky Anderson Award for Youth in Philanthropy for collecting a classroom of clothing for other foster children.

700-some attendees. "I just wanted to help some children," she said, adding she didn't collect the clothes to receive an award. She said if she were still an orphan, she would appreciate the clothing. Shirley came up with the idea for the clothing drive earlier this year after her teachers urged her and her classmates to think of a project for Livonia Public Schools' Youth Making a Difference program. When the Wyandotte police took Shirley and her younger brother from their parents almost nine years ago, they were naked, sick and lying in their own vomit. The officers had to put adult-sized T-shirts on the then toddlers just to remove them from their home because they couldn't find any children's clothing to dress them in. "I knew how it was when I was little," she said in a previous interview, explaining why she held the clothing drive. "I didn't have any clothes." Shirley, a Westland resident, got her entire school involved, sending a letter home to every one of the 600-plus students. She and four classmates spent their recesses and lunch periods for several weeks sorting the clothing by sex, size and season — with help from two teachers.

The clothing was donated to Orchards Children's Services, the agency through which Shirley was adopted.

Shirley was nominated for the award by Gilda Hauser, campaign director for Orchards Children's Services, based in Southfield. She included with the nomination form a copy of an article the Livonia Observer published April 24 about Shirley's clothing drive.

Her adoptive parents, Tim and Mia Brown, are understandably proud. Mia said she's always told Shirley that "if everybody did a little bit, it would make a whole world of difference."

Shirley has also participated in fundraising for the Kids Helping Kids Walk, part of the Children's Charity Coalition, and speaks to potential donors at Orchards Children's Services about her experiences and desire to help other kids.

After the dinner, where she heard about the contributions of the Vivianos, Fisher, Taubman and other notable Detroit-area philanthropists to organizations like the Henry Ford Health System, Starfish Family Services and Lawrence Technological University, Shirley said she was inspired to do more. "I want to go farther," she said. "I'm going to change the world."

John Jacobi, O.D., F.C.O.V.D.* has been serving patients in the Livonia and surrounding communities for the past 20 years.

Why Haven't People Who've Had A Car Wreck Been Told These Facts?

If you've recently been involved in a car wreck and suffer from any of the following...

- Neck pain
- Sharp, shooting pains in the arms
- Numbness and tingling in the arms or hands
- Painful headaches or dizziness
- Unrelenting muscle soreness

...there may be cause for concern. This may be the most important article you will ever read about your injuries.

It's amazing how different life can be after a split second collision.

One minute everything is fine, the next you are hurting for days and uncertain if life will ever get back to normal. Tasks you used to perform with ease, like reading, concentrating or even sleeping, now take more energy and cause annoying pain.

If you feel like this, or have any of the symptoms listed above, you could be suffering from whiplash. Whiplash is an injury to the spine caused by a jerking motion, either backward, forward or from the side.

Whiplash can severely damage your ligaments, even if you feel just a little sore after the accident. If not healed properly, painful scar tissue will develop, causing misery in your neck joints for decades.

One medical study concluded 43% of patients "will suffer long-term symptoms following 'whiplash' injury, for which no conventional treatment has proven to be effective."

This means that almost half the people who have neck trauma from a car wreck will suffer for years. Plus the traditional methods of treatment like neck collars, 'wait-and-see', and pain pills are not working.

Could This Non-Invasive, Natural Treatment Be The Answer To Your Pain?

My name is Dr. Greg Kramer, clinic director at Livonia Spine and InjuryCenter. I've been helping people heal and be pain free after car wrecks for over 20 years. Chiropractic treatment has proven to be a very effective method of healing whiplash injuries. Here's the results of one chiropractic study...

"The results of this retrospective study would suggest that benefits can occur in over 90% of patients undergoing chiropractic treatment for chronic whiplash injury." -- European Spine Journal

Special Opportunity To Have A Professional Evaluation

For 14 days only, I'm running a very special offer where you can find out how bad your injuries are and if I can help you.

What does this offer include? Everything I normally do in my "Car Wreck Evaluation". Just call before December 14, 2011 and here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your problem where I will listen...really listen...to the details of your case.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if a pinched nerve in the neck is contributing to your pain. This is an important step in collecting proof of your injury.
- A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

Until December 14, 2011 you can get everything I've listed here for only $35. The normal price for this type of evaluation including x-rays is $250 -- you're saving a considerable amount on this offer.

Now you may be wondering why as a doctor, I would practically give away my services. It's simple really. I've seen too many people come in years after their car accident, and have nasty, degenerative arthritis, most of which could have been prevented with the right care early on. I'm tired of seeing this scenario over and over, so I wanted to offer this special evaluation to help make a difference.

Here's How To Get Rid Of Your Pain

With my Evaluation we'll be able find the problem and then correct it. Think of how you'll feel in just a few short weeks. You'll be feeling your life change for the better. Starting your body on the way to a pain-free, normal living. Feeling tight joints rest, relax, free up. Feeling muscles tied in knots become more supple.

Don't let pain caused by a crash affect you for years. Discover this drug-free, natural way to be pain free.

As you begin to see motion returning to your joints, you're preventing and reducing chances of disability and a crippling future. You're playing golf again, doing yard work or playing with the kids without pain.

Here's What To Do About Your Pain

Call 248-615-1533 between the hours of 9:30 am and 6:30 pm Monday through Thursday and tell the receptionist you'd like to come in for the Special Car Wreck Evaluation before December 14, 2011

Call today and we can get started with your consultation, exam and x-rays as soon as there's an opening in the schedule. Our office is called Livonia Spine and Injury and you can find us at 34441 Eight Mile Rd, Suite 116 Livonia in the Charles Town Office Center (southwest corner of Eight Mile and Gill)

Sincerely,
Greg Kramer, D.C., DAAML

P.S. What will your pain feel like months, even years, from today?

A study published in the Journal of Bone and Surgery looked at people who had been in a car accident 15 years ago. They found that 70% of the whiplash injured patients continued to complain of problems related to the original accident.

With women it was even higher -- 80% still had symptoms after 15 years!

Don't let scar tissue build up and be painful for life. Take me up on my offer and call today 248-615-1533.

Annual market features Plymouth potters

The 36th annual Potters Market, the largest pottery sale of its kind in the country, takes place Dec. 2-4 in Madison Heights, and will feature a pair of Plymouth artists.

The highly anticipated event is known as a Mecca for pottery lovers who come from across the state and sometimes the country to shop. It's known as the perfect place to buy holiday gifts and get top quality, hand-made, ceramic art at reasonable prices.

It features Plymouth potters Kathy Sandberg and Donna Williams.

Sandberg was one of the founders of the Plymouth Potters Guild and took classes there. Through this work she became well known in the pottery community and thus she was invited to participate as a guest potter in this important Michigan show.

"There's absolutely nothing like The Potters Market," Sandberg said. "It really is a must do for pottery lovers and I just love to be part of it. There is such a wonderful sense of sharing and camaraderie. I feel honored to be part of the whole scene."

Williams is a well-regarded potter in the area and is also delighted to be featured in this year's Potters Market for the first time.

The event, a showcase for the finest potters in Michigan including talented new potters making their debut, sets up at the UF & CW (United Food and Commercial Workers') Union Hall at 876 Horace Brown Drive, one block south of Thirteen Plymouth potter Kathy Sandberg puts the finishing touches on a ceramic ornament.

The potters market will feature the work of Plymouth artist Donna Williams, a first-time participant in the 36-year event.

Mile, between I-75 and John R. Admission is free and parking is free.

The pottery sale features 135 potters offering nearly 40,000 pieces of pottery ranging from pots, vases, platters, tiles and mugs to bird baths, jewelry, ceramic framed mirrors, sculpture, lamps, tile-topped tables and just about every product possible in clay.

This year's show will highlight the many artists who have regularly offered their wares at the Potters Market as well as additional artists from pottery labs across the area.

"The Potters Market is a unique opportunity for young artists to be introduced to the public and learn about marketing their wares," said Alan Paulson, chief organizer of the event. "It is also a top notch showcase for the most creative and popular potters in the state who are well established. It is a great opportunity for pottery lovers to buy work from these artists at good prices."

More than 9,000 customers shop in the 12,600 square feet facility, over the three-day weekend.

Hours for the Potters Market are Friday, Dec. 2, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Snowbird should mull more than taxes before flying south for good

By Rick Bloom
Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: I read that the Michigan Supreme Court has upheld the law that will allow pensions to be taxed here in Michigan. I spend about six months of the year in Michigan and the other half of the year in Florida. I have always been a Michigan resident, but now I am thinking about making Florida my permanent residence. As you know, Florida doesn't have an income tax. I have done some rough calculations and it appears to me that by moving my residence to Florida, it will save me a few thousand dollars a year in taxes. I still plan to keep a home in Michigan but I figure why pay more in taxes than I have to. My questions for you are, do you think I'm making the right decision and is there anything else that I should be considering?

A: You are correct, the Michigan Supreme Court has upheld the provision in Gov. Rick Snyder's tax plan that would tax pensions here in Michigan. In the past, the great majority of pensions in Michigan were tax-free, but beginning in 2012 they will be taxed like other forms of income, such as wages. However, there are some exceptions to the law that I think apply to your particular situation. For people born before 1946 the law does not change. People born between 1946-1952 will be able to exclude $20,000 in pension and retirement benefits if they are single or $40,000 if married. Based upon these exceptions, in your case there should be no changes to your tax situation.

Many Michiganders who spend a considerable amount of time outside the state are, for many

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

I'm a resident of Florida or I'm a resident of Michigan. First, to be a resident of a state you have to spend the majority of your time there. It's not unusual for many of our fellow Michiganders to spend six months in Florida. Therefore, they meet the basic requirement to change their residence. However, to make it official and to formalize your citizenship, you must also do things such as change your voter's registration, the registration on your car and your driver's license. These types of things are more of a nuisance to change; but, they demonstrate that you are making a change in your legal residence.

In addition to the income tax issues, one other thing to factor into the equation is what happens with your property taxes. Most of us have a homestead exemption on our homes which limits property tax increases. This homestead designation is only available for our primary residence. If your primary residence is no longer in Michigan, you technically would not be eligible for the homestead exemption. The one caveat of course, is that with plummeting real estate values, I'm not sure how much the homestead exemption is worth in certain situations. How-reasons, contemplating changing their legal residence. Changing your residence is more than just saying ever, it is something to factor into the equation. Before the new tax on pensions went into affect, I did numerous calculations for clients and the savings of moving their residence to Michigan was not material in most cases. With the new tax, it may make sense for a few Michigan residents to consider changing their residence; however, this is not a good option for everyone. The key fact to keep in mind is that Michigan taxes are a fraction of what federal taxes are. For most people your federal income tax rate is 28 percent. However, there are people that are taxed at a much lower rate, as well as people who are taxed at a higher rate. That's not how it works in the State of Michigan. By constitution, the State of Michigan basically has a flat tax. That rate is 4.35 percent. Thus, if you received a $20,000 a year pension and you did not qualify for one of the exemptions, your tax on that amount would be ($20,000 x 4.35 = $870). That is the amount in taxes you will pay on that pension in Michigan.

If you do spend the majority of your time outside Michigan in a low-tax state such as Florida, in certain situations it may make sense to change your residency. However, it is important that you look at all the financial considerations and not just the tax issue. Good luck!

Hospice opens annual ‘Tree of Life’

Angela Hospice in Livonia is helping people honor the memory of someone special by hanging an angel ornament bearing their name on the “Tree of Life.”

“This is one of our most wonderful projects because it gives people the opportunity to honor and remember their loved ones in a beautiful setting during the holiday season,” said Rebecca DeRaud, bereavement and social work manager for Angela Hospice. “I’ve seen how meaningful the experience can be for those who participate, whether it is something they do year after year or if it’s the first time they’ve hung an ornament for a loved one. It really touches them.”

Individuals and families are invited to place golden angel ornaments provided by Angela Hospice on one of several Christmas trees on site adorned with the names of their loved ones to memorialize their lives. Thousands of angel ornaments are decorated each year during the “Tree of Life” event, which continues through Dec. 27 during normal store hours.

The opening ceremony takes place at Westland Mall Wednesday, Nov. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the east court near Macy’s. The event will feature a performance by the Angela Hospice choir.

It’s a special time for Angela Hospice volun-

Vallandingham

Hospice’s “Tree of Life” events. Desjarlais has returned year after year because she’s “seen the comfort ‘Tree of Life’ provides to everyone who’s been touched by the loss of a loved one.”

After retiring, Desjarlais enjoys being involved in the “Tree of Life” because she’s “able to help others remember their loved ones” and knows “every story is important.” Desjarlais has also helped with other hospice fundraisers, delivered supplies to patients, worked at the AH Care Center and currently scoops ice cream during the Ice Cream Socials every Friday.

Debbie Vallandingham, also of Plymouth, started volunteering with Angela Hospice in its bereavement program, but this is not the first time she’s been touched by hospice care. She’s seen both sides of losing a loved one – one without hospice care and one with – when her mother succumbed to cancer 20 years ago and with her sister’s recent passing in the care of Angela Hospice.

After surviving a recent battle with cancer herself, Vallandingham decided to go back to teers like MaryAnn Desjarlais of Plymouth, who has donated more than five years to Angela school to get a masters in Social Work, so she could “better educate people about hospice in order to give people more time with their loved ones.”

The “Tree of Life” first began in 1988, as a small fundraiser held in the house from which Angela Hospice then operated. Just as the “Tree of Life” event has grown into two events, Angela Hospice has expanded its facility by providing premium hospice services to more patients each year. More than 1,700 patients received care in the past year, with countless family members and community members participating in the hospice’s free grief support programs.

To make a donation, visit the trees during mall hours or call Angela Hospice at (734) 464-7810. For more information about Angela Hospice, visit www.AskForAngela.com.

The hospice choir will perform at the Tree of Life ceremony Nov. 30 at Westland Mall.

‘City of Champions’ author stops for local visit

With the big gift-giving season in full swing, a popular local author will be making a stop at the 32nd annual Handcrafters Tinsel & Treasures Holiday Market in Northville.

Charles Avison, author of “Detroit City of Champions – The story of the most important season in Detroit sports history” will be exhibiting as well as selling and signing books exclusively in Northville Dec. 9-11 at the this holiday event. The event takes place at the Northville Community Senior Center at 303 W. Main Street.

“Did you know that in 1935, the Tigers, Lions and Red Wings won their championships in the same season to become known as the City of Champions?” This is the premise for Avison’s popular book, which tells the story of Detroit’s widely unknown sports history. With the recent success of Detroit’s professional teams, “Detroit City of Champions” has become a must have for any die-hard Detroit sports fan. Avison complements his

State reps remind shoppers of new scanner law

As shoppers flood local stores and malls, a group of state representatives want consumers to be aware of the item pricing law changes that became effective on Sept. 1.

State Representatives Douglas Geiss (D-Taylor), Andrew Kandrevas (D-Southgate), Vicki Barnett (D-Farmington Hills), Dian Slavens (D-Canton) Bob Constan (D-Dearborn Heights) and George Darany (D-Dearborn) held a press conference recently to highlight the modified consumer rights under the new item pricing law.

The 2011 Shopping Reform and Modernization Act or "Scanner Law" made changes to how item prices had to be displayed. The new Scanner Law permits the price to be displayed by signage, electronic reader, or any other method that clearly conveys the price to a consumer when in the store at the place where the item is located.

The most fundamental change is that retailers are no longer required to individually mark the price on the item itself.

"I saw firsthand what can happen when an item's price is merely shown in the vicinity of the product and not on the product itself," said Rep. Geiss. "I was overcharged on an item at the Taylor Wal-Mart, had to document the difference, and prove that I was misled by the signage."

He went on to say, "There is a 'Scanner Error Bill of Rights' and the public deserves to be educated on their rights. The attorney general was appropriated $100,000 to develop and implement a public consumer education program to provide general information and advice regarding the advertising and pricing requirements of this act and the remedies available to consumers. Thus far, the attorney general has established and maintained a website however, not only have there been no other efforts to educate the public, but there has been no effort we are aware of to educate the retailers."

House Democrats gathered recently for a press conference, to remind consumers about the new item pricing law in Michigan. Joining them, State Rep. Vicki Barnett, D-Farmington Hills, on left.

Also tied to the legislation was an appropriation that makes the law referendum-proof, meaning the voters cannot vote to have the law changed.

"Voters had twice before vetoed changes to the item pricing law but with this measure they will unfortunately have to live with the changes without proper recourse or information," said Rep. Barnett. "If those that passed this legislation do not want to educate the public then we are more than happy to do it for them."

The law

According to the State of Michigan Attorney General Web site, if an automatic checkout system charges you more than the displayed price of an item, and the transaction has been completed and you have a receipt indicating the item purchased and the price charged for it, you must notify the seller that you were overcharged within 30 days of the transaction, either in person or in writing.

Within two days of receiving your notice, the seller may choose to refund you the difference between the amount charged and the price displayed plus a "bonus" of 10 times the difference, with a minimum of $1.00 and a maximum of $5. If the seller refuses to give you both the refund and the bonus, you may bring a lawsuit to recover your actual damages or $250, whichever is greater, plus reasonable attorney fees up to $300.

"We are out here today, not to call out any businesses specifically, but to let consumers and retailers alike know that we see the lack of education in the implementation phase of this legislation," said Rep. Slavens. "We really just want consumers to be armed with information and recourse if they feel their rights as consumers have been violated."

"Our hard working Michigan residents are watching their money carefully these days and should not run the risk of being overcharged, especially this time of year," said Rep. Kandrevas. "We want to stress this issue, as many people are busy holiday shopping. We came here today to explain the changes in the law, urge consumers to be vigilant when shopping and provide a contact if they feel they are duped or overcharged or frustrated when shopping."

Complaints regarding a store's failure to properly display the price of consumer items offered for sale should be directed to the Department of Agriculture & Rural Development, Weights & Measures Section in the E.C. Heffron Laboratory, by calling (517) 655-8202 or toll-free (877) 765-8388, in writing addressed to 940 Venture Lane, Williamston, MI 48895 or online at www.michigan.gov/ag.

Tartan registered with Scottish authority

The Scottish American Society of Michigan announced it now has an official Society Tartan that is registered with the Scottish Tartan Authority in Scotland.

The Tartan, designed by Society member and membership director Jean Dohanyos, was one of eight different designs she created and was chosen by the Society members for its representation of Michigan's autumn colors and countryside.

- Scarlet for the cherry trees and apples, and brilliant autumn leaves
- Balmoral blue for the crisp blue skies and chilly waters
- Gold for wheat fields and corn stalks
- Bottle green for the majestic pines
- White for fluffy clouds and whispers of winter fun
- Brown for back roads and brown fields.

The Tartan was presented for the first time in public at the annual Scottish Sunday Kyrking of the Tartan Celebration at Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church in Detroit Nov. 20.

"The final vote was very close of the three that were in the running," said Jean Dohanyos. "But in the end it was the beau-

Whalers' hot streak ends

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

After feasting on Ontario Hockey League opponents to the tune of eight straight wins, the Plymouth Whalers didn't have room for one more on the night after Thanksgiving.

Despite a spectacular penalty shot goal by forward and Farmington Hills native Alex Aleardi, the Whalers gave up a late goal Friday night to fall 4-3 to the visiting Peterborough Petes in a non-conference tilt.

That stopped the Plymouth hot streak, but not before it propelled the Whalers to the top of the OHL West Division with a record of 17-7-2-1 (two points up on idle Sarnia).

"Playing better defensively, that was the key (to the winning streak)," Whalers head coach Mike Vellucci said following the game. "And competing hard every shift and winning loose pucks. But defensively we weren't very good tonight and it caught up to us."

The Petes were outshot 47-31, yet came away with the win when center Alan Quine chipped the puck past Whalers goalie Scott Wedgewood with 1:49 to go.

Winger Matt Puempel outworked the Plymouth 'D' behind the net and centered the disc to Quine right on the doorstep.

Vellucci said it was "brutal" to have a defensive letdown so late in a tie game. But he credited Petes netminder Andrew D'Agostini (44 saves) for giving his team a chance.

Goal of the night

The highlight for the crowd of just under 2,900 at Compuware Arena was Aleardi's penalty shot goal with 10:29 left in the second period to make it a 3-3 game.

Aleardi had been tripped up as he dashed to the net on a partial breakaway. On the ensuing penalty shot, he veered to the left, cut inside and back out again before lifting a backhand under the crossbar for his 15th goal of the season.

Chiefs nip 'Cats in thriller

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The Canton-Plymouth hockey rivalry continued Wednesday night with a hard-hitting but clean contest at Arctic Edge.

Before a packed house featuring plenty of students either wearing red or black varsity letter jackets, the Chiefs edged the Wildcats 2-1. In February, the last time the campus rivals met, an ugly, bench-clearing brawl marred the game.

"It was a fun game to be a part of," said Gerry Vento, the new Plymouth coach. "Came out on the wrong end, but I liked what I saw and we're going to be fine."

Scoring the winning goal with just 13 seconds to go in the second period was Chiefs senior forward Brandon Grillo and that tally held up over the final frame.

"It was a really good play because we kept the puck in the zone," Grillo said. "We had a nice tic-tac-toe from Christian (Flack) to (Taylor) Baker and I just happened to be in the right spot at the right time."

Baker sent the puck over to Grillo, stationed about six feet to the left of the Plymouth goal.

Grillo's backhand found twine inside the far post, getting past Wildcats senior goaltender Rich Guglielmi — who kept his team in the game with several aggressive, sprawling saves.

Guglielmi stopped 25 of 27 shots while his Canton counterpart, senior Spencer Craig, was good when he had to be (16 saves).

"He stopped a breakaway, a couple point-blank chances," said Vento, about Guglielmi.

"He's just a battler, he sticks it out there for us and he gave us a chance to win tonight."

Getting it back

According to Canton coach Jeremy Majszak, whose team is 1-1 overall and 1-0 in the KLAA South Division, the Grillo marker was key because it came just 3:27 after Plymouth senior forward Matt Goertz tied the game.

"It was good to see that, we really bounced back," Majszak said. "It was an opportune time to get that goal."

Goertz had evened the score at 1-1 when he jammed a rebound under Craig from close range. Assisting on the marker was senior forward Sean Smiatacz, whose long wrist shot got away from Craig.

That was all the Wildcats (0-2,

One of the top returnees for Plymouth's varsity girls basketball team is senior co-captain Kate Watson (No. 35), who was the team's leading scorer in 2010-11.

2011-12 GIRLS BASKETBALL PREVIEW — PART 1

Young Wildcats looking to make impact in KLAA South

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Last season ended for Plymouth's varsity girls basketball team just as it was starting to hit its stride.

The Wildcats finished 9-13 overall and went 5-5 in the KLAA South Division, but reeled off a handful of wins down the stretch and won their district opener against Salem.

Returning head coach Bob de Bear is enthusiastic that good things will continue in the 2011-12 season, which opens with a game at 7 p.m. Tuesday against visiting Farmington Hills Harison.

Senior co-captains Alyssa Burris, Kate Watson and Chyna Williams will spearhead the Wildcats as they look to make a move in the KLAA South. They are the only seniors on a young team.

Burris and Watson can excel either inside or out, with the former "like a coach on the floor" with a nice shooting touch from the outside, de Bear noted.

As for Watson, she was Plymouth's leading scorer in 2010-11, but can also get to the rim and do the job in the rebounding department. "She brings enthusiasm to each practice," the coach said.

In the paint, de Bear likes the potential for 5-10 Williams and 5-11 sophomore Jada Woody to complement the outside shooters.

Williams is "ready to pick up where she left off" as an inside scorer and rebounder, the coach said.

Stepping up

And Woody is three inches taller than last season and geared up following stellar workout sessions during the spring and summer.

"She's an excellent rebounder and finisher at the rim," de Bear said. "She will be a major contributor this season."

Another key returning player is sophomore guard Kylie Robb, who trailed only Watson in the scoring department last year.

"She's faster and more skilled this year (and) can score in a variety of ways," de Bear said, adding that Robb is "very good in transition."

When the Wildcats need to put defensive pressure on an opponent, look for 5-4 sophomore guard Alyssa Dillon to get that job done. The coach also likes that the versatile Dillon can hit long jumpers and "get down the

Hard work pays off for Baumgart

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

A full-fledged gym rat since he was a kid, Paul Baumgart's idea of a good time is playing to his heart's content on the basketball court.

And ever since he was a youngster, Baumgart envisioned someday playing his favorite sport at the collegiate level.

That dream is coming true for the 17-year-old Canton High School senior forward, after recently signing his letter of intent with Lewis University in Illinois.

"It means a lot, I worked hard to get it," said the 6-7 Baumgart, discussing the full-ride scholarship with the Chicago-area college. "... I'm always in the gym to get better every day. This has been my goal and dream to play college basketball and get a full ride somewhere."

His mom, Donna Baumgart, is just as enthusiastic about it.

"I'm very excited for him," she said. "I think it's a good fit, academically and sports-wise. It's a nice-sized school, in a beautiful location.

"Paul's worked real hard. Starting with when he was six years old playing basketball. He's gone to a lot of camps, really devoted himself to it."

Good fit

Canton varsity boys basketball head coach Jimmy Reddy said the Lewis coaching staff, led by Scott Trost, saw that Baumgart has the potential to be a productive post player in the Division 2 Great Lakes Valley Conference.

"They really liked how skilled he was for a big man," Reddy said. "He's 6-7. He can do a lot of different things, play inside-outside, can handle the ball, pass and shoot it.

"... They're losing a lot of their big guys, they're seniors this year, so they're looking to fill some voids."

According to Paul Baumgart, signing before his final high school season is something that he wanted to do since talking with former teammate Dietrich Lever II, a 2011 Canton grad who signed last fall with Ferris State University.

"What I wanted to do was sign before the season so I didn't have to worry about it," Baumgart noted. "That's what Dietrich (Lever) did. And talking to him, he said it was a lot easier and it's a lot of weight off

BIG MAN ON CAMPUS

Who: Paul Baumgart, Canton High School senior.
What: Recently signed letter of intent with Lewis University in Illinois to play college basketball. He received a full-ride scholarship for four years.
About Lewis: The private Catholic university has about 6,000 students. It is located about 30 miles outside Chicago.
Upside: The 6-7 Baumgart, 17, has a chance to see playing time as a freshman because of his ability to shoot, pass and rebound. He averaged 14 points and seven rebounds in 2010-11 for the Chiefs, earning first-team All-KLAA honors.

my shoulders.

"I can just play, and focus on what we're going to do here at Canton to be successful."

Both players opted to get their college signings out of the way early. But Reddy said he has "no preference" whether a player takes care of business before, during or after the season.

"If kids wanted to wait until the end and see how they do that's fine," Reddy stressed. "But he got a great situation, he got a great offer and he seems to really like it.

"So I think it's a good fit and I think it's the right thing to do for him."

Transformation

Reddy started his job as Canton's varsity coach in 2009-10, the same year Baumgart made the squad as a sophomore.

In those years, Baumgart has gone from a player who stayed in the paint and didn't say much to a multi-faceted force who gives as good as he gets in the vocal department.

"He used to be strictly a low-post guy for us when he was a sophomore," Reddy said. "He's a really good passer, he's become a really good ball-handler. His shooting's improved.

"... And when I first met Paul he didn't really say much. Now he's talking all the time. He's really matured into a fine young man."

floor and finish" around the rim.

The only junior on the roster is 5-5 wing guard Lexie McGhee, described by de Bear as "a very intriguing player with great court vision." McGhee, who played on last year's junior varsity, is quickly making an adjustment to the quicker-paced varsity level and should contribute.

Sophomores and freshmen make up the rest of the squad, led by sophomore forwards Shelby Cheston (6-4) and Tionne Johnson (5-8).

Cheston is showing that she can score, rebound and block shots down low. "I'm looking for her to be a key player this year," de Bear said.

Also on de Bear's radar is Johnson, moving up from freshman thanks to a very good midrange shoot and ability to play inside or out.

Sophomore Brooke Senkbeil is a player who has court savvy and a nifty outside shoot, the coach continued.

Another sophomore who could do some damage to opponents is Maria Farmer, described as "an extremely athletic player who can get to the rim."

Rounding out the roster are freshman point guard Paige Slominski and 6-1 forward Leah Kliczinski, also a ninth-grader.

Coach working to build new Lawrence Tech soccer team

By Dan O'Meara
Eccentric Staff Writer

Jamie Scott is busy getting the word out these days about the new Lawrence Tech University women's soccer team.

Scott was hired last summer to coach the start-up program, and she's been working to build a recruiting base and promote a school noted for its academics and not athletics.

Women's soccer is part of an expanded sports program at Southfield-based LTU, which begins competition in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference next year.

Scott has no players at present, but she hopes to have her first commitments in the coming weeks. She has the better part of a year to put together a team before the first game next Sept. 29 at LTU.

"We're looking for local talent as well as Michigan-based talent," Scott said, adding she used the occasion of a recent California trip for a wedding to do some recruiting.

"We have really shown our face in multiple tournaments in Illinois and Indiana, trying to get our name out there. A lot of people are not aware of Lawrence Tech and, if they are, they're not aware we have a soccer team.

"It's almost like marketing when you start something new — how do you market your product or project? People know Lawrence Tech for its strong name in academics, and what we have to do is put together a really strong soccer program. I'm confident we can do that."

Scott, who was raised in Livonia and has coached more than 10 years for the Canton Soccer Club, has previous experience with new programs.

Former Livonia Churchill and Madonna University soccer player Jamie Scott is coach of the new women's team at Lawrence Tech University.

After playing prep soccer at Livonia Churchill, she played for coach Rick Larson at Madonna University.

Up for challenge

In the third year, Scott helped the Crusaders reach the semifinals of the NAIA national tournament in 2000. LTU also will be an NAIA member, and Scott hopes for quick success with the Blue Devils, too.

"I know the challenges of a new program, but I also know the potential," she said. "Who isn't going to want to go for an NAIA championship? We'll be doing the same."

Scott plans to build a roster of 20-25 players, and she has compiled a list of 35 prospects that she's working to recruit. Scholarship money will be available on a case-by-case basis. A tryout session for enrolled students is planned for a future date. "We did reach out to existing Lawrence Tech students, and we have a good handful of girls who are interested," Scott said. "They'd just been waiting for Lawrence Tech to establish a soccer program. Other than that, recruiting is just a huge thing for us right now."

Needless to say, Scott is looking for players for all positions and a variety of abilities.

"Offense, defense, attackers, midfielders, players who can possess the ball, players who are crafty and creative, fast players," she said. "It runs the whole gamut. We have to have all different dynamics, that's what makes your team strong."

Scott thought it might be difficult finding players at LTU and attracting others because of its academic emphasis and no history in the sport, but that hasn't been the case.

"From the amount of responses we've gotten from players online, I think there's a huge talent pool that we'll be able to tap into," she said.

"Initially, I thought that would be a challenge, but I don't find that at all."

The metro-Detroit area has become a hotbed for soccer over two decades, and it will Scott's prime recruiting territory.

"It was popular when I was playing," she said. "Now, it's amazing how many soccer players there are in the area."

Scott, who had been a social worker until the coaching gig came along, is grateful for the opportunity to work full time in her chosen sport.

"I love learning about the different facets of what it takes to be a college coach," she said. "I love being out on the soccer field, coaching players and giving back to the game. I'm very excited for this season. I look forward to building a team that can endure the challenges and collectively see the possibilities as I can."

Scott just needs some players now and time to get ready for that first game.

0-1) could muster, although they came close to drawing even again in the final minute of the game. A slap shot by junior defenseman Cam Nadell had Craig beaten only to sail over the crossbar.

"We're a little bit snake-bit right now," Vento said. "It's tough to try to win games with just one goal. But I'd be more worried if we weren't getting chances."

"Guys are working hard, we're creating turnovers. It'll come."

Just over a minute after the Goertz goal, the Chiefs nearly broke the tie only to be stoned by Guglielmi.

Goaltender Craig sent an outlet pass from his own zone right on the stick of senior forward Shawn May near center ice and May broke in on the Plymouth netminder.

May tried a forehand-backhand fake, but Guglielmi flashed his left pad to deny the attempt.

It looked like the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park rivals would take a 1-1 game into their respective locker rooms following two periods.

Then came the late goal by Grillo.

"That was a back-breaker," Vento said. "But I tell you what, I thought we responded well. We had a lot of chances in the third period and their goalie came up big."

On the board

Opening the game's scoring at 12:06 of the first period was Canton senior forward Dugan Tear on a short backhand.

Earning assists on the goal were junior forward Ian Fagan and senior forward Shawn May.

"It was good to get him (Tear) on the board and hopefully he can keep rolling," Majszak said.

"He did what we expected, he found a way to score a goal."

Majszak said he thought his team "played three solid periods, we worked hard. We weren't as over-aggressive when it came to the body tonight and a lot of kids stepped up."

Two players he named were junior forward Matt Cox and senior forward Michael Conklin.

"It was good to get the first victory, good to be against Plymouth, good for their confidence," the Canton coach added.

Rematch is physical — not ugly

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The previous time Canton and Plymouth played hockey against each other there was a nasty brawl that yielded a number of suspensions.

There wasn't a bit of nastiness between the rival teams Wednesday night at Canton Arctic Edge, with the Chiefs nipping the Wildcats 2-1.

"Last year's in the past," said Canton head coach Jeremy Majszak, following the KLAA South Division tilt. "Even if we were to play each other the next night (following last season's fight) it would have been the same thing as tonight, shaking hands afterwards."

Two of the goal scorers Wednesday were part of last February's fight night.

"They're our friends, but when we're out there on the ice they're not our friends," Canton senior Brandon Grillo said. "But after the game, we can say 'Good game, see you in school.'"

Plymouth senior Matt Goertz said the team was reminded to stick to hockey this time around.

"It came up, just to keep our focus and not worry about stuff like that," Goertz said. "Our team's better than that. We don't do that anymore."

New Plymouth head coach Gerry Vento said he thought the game was great to watch — for all the right reasons.

"I'm sure the fans enjoyed it," Vento said. "It was clean, it was physical. It's what we were hoping for."

The game was so clean that the first time players got their sticks up in a scrum was with just 1:38 to play in the contest.

Meanwhile, there was another new twist on the rivalry game — the Wildcats and Chiefs now share Arctic Edge as their home arena.

In recent seasons, Plymouth played at Compuware Arena, the cavernous venue where last year's fight took place.

That's a positive change as far as Goertz is concerned.

"It's a little nicer atmosphere," Goertz said. "It's a little more homey here. It's a little more packed here, too. It really brings up everyone's morale and attitude."

GIRLS HOCKEY PREVIEW

O'Donohue and Carter.

The top line features senior assistant captains Lough and Nicole Natelborg and Tucker.

"They will be very hard to play against," Johnson said. "They have the bulk of our goals but we are getting a lot of goals from our second line, too."

Johnson said there will be two centers and three sets of wingers, with Emily King and Sydney Smith included in the mix.

Bullock, in her fourth season with the Penguins, is the seasoned vet of the defense.

Also on the blueline will be Alexis O'Flynn, CeCe Hitch and Beth Johnson.

"We'll definitely look to Emily Bullock for guidance," coach Johnson said. "All the other defensemen are freshmen or sophomores."

"... Beth is actually a junior but she played forward the first two years and would like to try defense this year."

The Penguins are hoping that the added experience in net and on defense will help the team improve on last year's 10-9-0 record.

Next up is a league game set for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday against the Walled Lake Wild at Arctic Edge.

tsmith@hometownlife.com
(734) 718-5306

Standout goalkeeping by senior newcomer Kaitlyn Allard and two third period goals lifted the Plymouth-Canton-Salem Penguins to a 2-0 victory Tuesday night over the Livonia Knights 16U travel team in a scrimmage at Canton Arctic Edge.

The game won't count in the Penguins won-lost ledger in Division 2 of the Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey League. Officially, PCS is 1-0 thanks to an 8-0 rout of Detroit Country Day on Nov. 15.

But Penguins head coach Mary Beth Johnson said she expects a lot of league opponents will face the quality of netminding that Allard provided against the Knights.

Her 35 saves included a number of confident stops from point-blank range in the second and third periods.

Coming up big

"She's been playing (against) AAA boys and girls her whole life," Johnson said. "So she decided to come over and play high school this year. She'll definitely win games for us and be the deciding factor, like she was today."

The former Victory Honda AAA goalie kept her team from falling behind.

And then the Penguins broke a scoreless tie against the Knights on the power play with 10:26 remaining in the game.

Senior defender and team captain Emily Bullock skated into the right circle and ripped a wrist shot high over the glove hand of the Livonia goalie.

Assisting were forwards Jenna Carter and Mariah Tucker.

Carter and senior forward Jackie Lough collected helpers on the second goal, scored by Elizabeth O'Donohue with 8:47 to go.

As far as the 2011-12 season is concerned, Johnson expects Allard (one of three assistant captains) to carry the load in net.

But she will be ably backed up by sophomore Becky Lough (the pair divided last week's shut-out of Country Day).

Two solid lines

In case of emergency, the Penguins can turn to diminutive junior Cortny McAdoo.

The 2010-11 D2 All-State goalie decided to play forward this season, and she already has three goals (including scrimmages).

McAdoo will be part of the second forward line which also includes

All-Region recipients

WHALERS

"That was a great goal, a great move," Vellucci said. "He had four or five chances to score and probably should have (drawn) a few more penalties."

According to Aleardi, it was his first penalty shot goal in two tries with the Whalers (having missed one against Sarnia).

"I was trying to go (with) speed and do a move I'm comfortable with," Aleardi said. "Which is making a hard leg kick and going to the backhand and trying to get it up. And it ended up working out."

Aleardi's goal momentarily stopped Peterborough's momentum, following two Petes goals scored just 54 seconds apart by forwards Andrew Yogan and Austin Watson.

Yogan finished Watson's perfect pass from the right half-wall, snapping a high shot past Wedgewood to make it a 2-2 game.

Then, with 12:17 to go in the period, Watson had a gaping net to tap the puck into after a tic-tac-toe play frustrated Plymouth's defense.

"It was just bad defensive zone coverage," Vellucci said. "We were with the guy both times and didn't tie up the stick, got outworked."

In the first period, the Petes (14-7-2-1 in the Eastern Conference) started the scoring on the power play with 12:07 to go. Winger Lino Martschini tallied the marker.

Plymouth appeared to tie the game up a minute later when center Mitchell Heard — parked in front of D'Agostini — redirected a point blast by defenseman Nick Malysa. But officials waved the goal off, ruling Heard hit the puck in with a high stick.

Celebrating with teammate Mitchell Heard after scoring on a penalty shot is Whalers forward and Farmington Hills native Alex Aleardi (left).

The Whalers finally got on the scoreboard with 3:09 remaining in the period.

Right wing Garrett Meurs forced a turnover in the Peterborough end, then ripped a shot from between the circles high into the net past D'Agostini. Credited with an assist on the tally was center Rickard Rakell.

With 14:52 left in the second period, the Whalers briefly took a 2-1 lead.

The work of forwards Andy Bathgate and Aleardi deep in the Petes' zone resulted in the goal by linemate Jamie Devane (his eighth).

Aleardi dished the puck across the crease to Devane, who made no mistake with his shot taken near the left post.

PLYMOUTH 7, SAGINAW 3: On Wednesday at Compuware Arena, the division-leading Plymouth Whalers kept on rolling with this Ontario Hockey League victory.

Plymouth's eighth straight victory featured two goals by forward and Farmington Hills native Alex Aleardi, giving him 14 on the season. Also slipping two pucks behind Saginaw goalie Jake Paterson (45 shots, 38 saves) was forward Stefan Noesen (goals 7-8).

Other goals for Plymouth (17-6-2-1) were netted by Rickard Rakell (15), Mitchell Heard (12) and Garrett Meurs (9).

Stopping 30 of 33 shots was Whalers netminder Scott Wedgewood.

The Whalers fell behind 2-0 early in the game but roared back to take a 3-2 lead after the first period thanks to Noesen's two goals, sandwiched around Rakell's marker.

Aleardi made it 4-2 in the second period and Plymouth took a 5-3 edge into the third period following the goal by Heard.

Meurs and Aleardi finished the scoring in the third period.

Pines and poinsettias

Growers promote buying local, live

By Sharon Dargay
O&E Staff Writer

Cash Tryban hopes to sell 400-500 Christmas trees this year from a lot in Farmington Hills.

The Cheboygan tree farmer — a former resident of both Livonia and Farmington Hills — set up shop last Sunday at 10 Mile and Orchard Lake Road and will show and sell pines, firs and spruces to customers through Dec. 24.

"Last year we left at 2 p.m. Christmas Eve," said Tryban, who has sold at the location for 20 years and grown trees since the 1960s, when he and his wife, Pat, bought the farm from his parents. "We like to stay to the end, unless we happen to sell out. Being that we do stay to the end, we pick up customers where other lots are closed. There could be 10-15 people that come in the last day. We don't make a ton of money that day, but we're not looking for top price. All we want to do is pay our expenses for staying that additional day. The next year, those people who came in late will come back."

"We always stay right to the very end. It's hard, but you get one shot (to sell) each year."

Tryban is in a race against the calendar to unload his fresh trees in little more than a month. He's among 700 Christmas tree growers in Michigan, a state that ranks third nationwide in the number of trees harvested each year.

Live vs. artificial

This year he and his fellow tree farmers, as well as poinsettia growers, will get some help convincing Michiganders to buy locally-produced Christmas trees and plants through a state-wide promotional campaign called "Make it a Real Michigan Christmas."

The Michigan Christmas Tree Association, Michigan Floriculture Growers Council and Michigan Floral Association, in cooperation with Michigan State University's Department of Horticulture, AgBioResearch received a $75,000 USDA Specialty Crop Block Grant to spread the word about the benefits of buying live trees and poinsettias from Michigan producers.

The campaign makes the case that live trees benefit the environment, can be recycled, bring fragrance into the home and help fuel the state's economy. It points out that artificial trees are made of plastics and metals, and that a majority of them are imported from China.

"Why not support Michigan-grown trees?" Tryban said. "Trees are good for the environment. When we cut one we replace it with two."

Lengthy grow time

It takes approximately eight years to grow a Christmas tree. Some varieties stay in the ground for 9-12 years before harvest.

Mike Dinsler of Dinsler's Greenhouse in Novi, begins growing poinsettia plants about seven months before they are ready for sale. He buys poinsettia cuttings from a plant breeder and begins growing stock plants in the spring.

Son-in-law, Wayne Silchrist, places a tree on a device that shakes needles loose.

Fraser fir

"We'll start in the middle of July pulling cuttings off the plants and propagating them. They'll grow through the summer and as we get into September, starts the process of initiating flowers."

The center of the plant is the flower. The colorful, showy "blooms" are modified leaves called bracts.

Dinsler's, a third generation family business, sells poinsettias to retail customers, as well as wholesale clients, such as churches, flower shops and stores that use live seasonal plants for decoration.

"I see early sales are good. We've already brought in some extra plants," Dinsler said. "Our sales are up over last year. That's a good sign for

DIET AND GOUT

The popular view is that a person with gout must watch his diet. That means stop beer, wine, or scotch and substitute water, lots of it. Lobster, shrimp, steak, liver, sardines, asparagus, mushrooms are out of the diet. If the person is overweight then weight loss is a must.

For the most part the medical community thinks otherwise. Of course eating to excess is unhealthy. Being overweight is not good, and urging a person to achieve a reasonable weight is an appropriate medical recommendation whether the patient does or does not have gout. The same can be said for drinking wine; each individual has a capacity that is appropriate for that person, beyond that amount do not go.

In additional, gout and alcohol share a special relationship. Alcohol interferes with the kidney's normal excretion of uric acid, the cause of gout. In England in the 18th century, popular Portuguese wines were imported in lead lined casks. The lead leached into the wine; the combination of lead and wine proved lethal to the kidney's capacity to rid the body of uric acid. As a result, England experienced a near epidemic of gout with wine taking on the role as the cause. The idea that wine causes gout carries on to this day even though lead lined wine casks were left behind 200 years ago.

Patients are disappointed that physicians don't spend time giving instructions on diet. But doctors feel, correctly, that a reasonable diet combined with the medications available to treat gout, suffice to control the condition. The patient can live without restrictions.

LIVE

Customer service

Tryban said sales lagged "a bit" two years ago and went up "a couple of percentages" last year.

"I believe this year we'll stay at a steady pace. Eighty to 90 percent of our clientele come back every year. We've had people who moved to Fowlerville and Brighton, who come back to our lot to buy a tree," Tryban said.

"The biggest thing I think we do that big box stores don't do is we answer questions. The second thing is we service the tree. We shake the tree, cut it, make sure they get what they want. We try to set up every tree individually so people can walk around and take a look and go from there."

Tryban's offers fresh wreaths in addition to a variety of trees, including balsam, scotch pine, concolor, fraser fir, blue spruce, white spruce, white pine and more. Prices range from $18-60.

Dinser's sells a variety of poinsettias, ranging from four inches to "bushel basket" size, in colors including creamy white, vivid white, red, pink and marble.

TIPS FOR A 'REAL' MICHIGAN CHRISTMAS

For trees:

- When shopping, give the tree a little shake. A few falling brown needles are common; a shower of green needles indicates dryness
- Gently grasp a branch and pull it toward you. Just a few needles should come off if the tree is fresh
- Avoid trees with stiff needles that are losing color
- When you get the tree home, cut a 1/2 inch off the end and put the tree into water immediately. If you're not putting it up right away, put it in a cool, shaded area such as a garage or porch.
- Keep your tree fresh by watering. Make sure there is plenty of water in the tree stand
- Display the tree away from heat sources such as registers, radiators and fireplaces

For poinsettias:

- Look for fresh leaves and full plants
- Choose bracts (modified leaves) that have no green on them

- Avoid plants with fallen or yellowed leaves
- The poinsettia should look balanced and attractive from all sides
- Remove the foil covering the drain holes. Water when the plant feels light. Water in a sink. Allow to drain and water again. Don't let the poinsettia wilt and don't let it sit in water. Empty the pot's saucer
- Place the poinsettia in indirect light. Six hours of light is idea. Don't let the plant touch a cold window pane
- Ideal indoor temperature is from 60-70 degrees. Keep poinsettias away from warm or cold drafts from radiators, air registers, doors or windows
- Placing a poinsettia in a cool room, 55-60 degrees at night will extend blooming time
- Don't fertilize when the plant is in bloom

Bowl sale includes lunch, benefits pantry

Schoolcraft College's annual Empty Bowl Project sale and luncheon will run 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5, in the VisTaTech Center on the college's main campus, located on Haggerty between Seven Mile and Six Mile, in Livonia.

Ceramic bowls and other ceramic pieces created and donated by the students enrolled in ceramics classes at the college will be sold. Items range in price from $10-35.

Each bowl includes a bowl of soup, a piece of bread and a glass of water provided by the college's Culinary Arts and Food Services departments. The simplicity of the meal is meant as a reminder that needy residents need help year-round.

All proceeds from the event benefit the Schoolcraft College Student Food Pantry, which provides food for students and families who need assistance. The food pantry opened in April 2011 and operates on donations from students, staff, faculty, and the community. To date, the pantry has received nearly 5,000 pounds of donated goods and serves 38 families.

In addition to helping the hungry, the ceramic pieces can be used as holiday gifts. The items for sale include a wide array of stylings, from the very simple to more intricate pieces of art.

"This is a great event for the local community and students to come together for a cause that knows no boundaries. We are hoping that people can find the time, make the commitment, and get involved with this singular effort that can make such a profound local impact," stated Todd Stowell, Student Activities coordinator.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorneys J.B. Bleske and Jennifer Alfonsi have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And they personally meet with all clients and appear personally at all court hearings. Many large firms assign inexperienced attorneys to your case. And some of these firms are located thousands of miles away and only fly the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bleske has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on various television programs. Both attorney Bleske and Alfonsi have also been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

Bleske and Alfonsi represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. Their Livonia office is on Six Mile Road just west of I-275. Their Novi office is located on Haggerty Road just north of 12 Mile Road. Call them at 1-800-331-3530 for a free consultation if you have been denied, or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits.

Learn the signs of COPD, lung cancer

Lung cancer and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) are two of the deadliest diseases in the country, yet they remain largely unnoticed, according to the American Lung Association.

"Lung cancer and COPD are two of the most life-changing and life-threatening diseases in the country," said Dr. Norman H. Edelman, chief medical officer of the American Lung Association. "There is no better time than now to learn about these diseases and support patients and loved ones who are affected by them."

As part of the Lung Associations' commitment to lung health, COPD and lung cancer are featured on its Web site throughout the year to raise awareness and provide lung health resources. The Lung Association has also partnered with the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (NHLBI) and others on NHLBI's COPD Learn More Breathe Better campaign to educate the public about the early symptoms and signs of COPD.

Lung cancer is the leading cancer killer in the country, while COPD, which includes emphysema and chronic bronchitis, is the third leading cause of death in the U.S.

Approximately 373,500 Americans are living with lung cancer. In 2011, more than 221,000 new cases were diagnosed and about 157,000 Americans were expected to die from lung cancer.

Snuff out that cigarette. The American Lung Association says smoking, including secondhand smoke, is a major cause of both lung cancer and COPD.

The leading cause of lung cancer is the inhalation of cigarette smoke, both firsthand and secondhand. Other causes include radon exposure and industrial exposures to hazardous materials like asbestos and arsenic; even some genetic factors pose a lung cancer risk.

"Lung cancer is responsible for nearly 30 percent of all cancer deaths in America — more than any other cancer," said

Dr. Edelman. "That startling reality must change. No one deserves to bear the burden of lung cancer. We need all Americans to understand the severity of lung cancer and do what they can to help prevent it and support the fight for a cure."

COPD is a lung disease characterized by an obstruction to airflow that interferes with normal breathing and over time makes it very difficult to breathe. Although more than 12 million Americans are known to have COPD, up to 24 million may have the disease because it often goes undiagnosed. COPD is not curable, but it is preventable, and can be treated and managed on a daily basis. People at risk of COPD, especially current and former smokers with COPD symptoms, should consult their physicians about a spirometry test in order to diagnose the disease as early as possible and begin treatment.

As with lung cancer, the primary cause of COPD is the inhalation of cigarette smoke. Other causes include exposure to occupational dust particles and chemicals, as well as a rare genetic mutation called Alpha-1 Antitrypsin Deficiency.

"COPD can be treated and managed effectively, particularly when the disease is diagnosed early," Edelman said. "Treatments and comprehensive care can decrease COPD symptoms, reduce hospitalizations and enhance overall quality of life. Patients should confer with their physicians for ways to reduce symptoms and diminish further serious damage to their lungs."

The American Lung Association funds research that focuses on preventing lung cancer, increasing the survival rate and reducing its effects on patients' quality of life.

Area Run/Walk benefits Arthritis Foundation

Juvenile rheumatoid arthritis patient Taylor Gray of Farmington Hills is this year's honoree of the annual Arthritis Foundation Jingle Bell Run/Walk.

She'll be among hundreds of runners and walkers who will raise awareness and funds through the event, which will start at 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 3, at Northville Downs Race Track. Participants wear holiday costumes and tie jingle bells to their shoe laces for the 5K run/walk.

Gray is an active 13-year-old girl who loves basketball and softball. She was diagnosed with juvenile arthritis when she was 16 months old. The disease has affected her wrists, ankles, knees toes and fingers. She also has endured joint pain, injections and infusions.

"I have been weaned off of my medications twice in the past 11 years and we hoped, and thought, my arthritis was in remission. Both times it came back with a vengeance and it took longer each time to get my pain and swelling under control," she stated.

Taylor has participated in Camp Dakota, a camp for children with arthritis and related diseases, and she is captain of Team Determination for the Jingle Bell Run/Walk.

"At times, I am extremely frustrated and angry that I have this disease. I have moments where I feel sorry for myself and wonder why I have to suffer from this. But then I remember what my Mom says... that God has chosen me to stand up and educate people and let them know that kids get arthritis too," she stated.

The Jingle Bell Walk/Run will offer competitive timing, awards in 14 different age categories and a post-race party sponsored by Qdoba, Busch's, Biggby, Powerade. There will be a "Snowman Shuffle," a quarter mile fun-run for kids under 12, as well as prizes for the biggest team, biggest fundraiser and most inventive costume.

Register by Monday, Nov. 28 to be guaranteed an official long-sleeve cotton Jingle Bell Run/Walk shirt.

The last day to register online is Nov. 30. Visit www.arthritis.org and click on Jingle Bell Run/Walk to register. Proceeds will help fund research at Michigan universities, heighten arthritis awareness, and grow and expand services programs the Arthritis Foundation offers.

Taylor Gray of Farmington Hills will participate in the Jingle Bell Run Dec. 3 in Northville.

The Elements Of Résumé Style

Writing wisdom from
Strunk and White
Beth Braccio Hering,
Special to CareerBuilder

The classic "The Elements of Style" by William Strunk Jr. and E.B. White is not just for term papers. If your copy has been buried in a box since graduation, dust it off and polish your résumé with its timeless advice.

Elementary rules of usage and composition

- "Use the active voice."
- "Put statements in positive form."
- "Use definite, specific, concrete language."

As the book's introduction states, the authors are all for "cleanliness, accuracy and brevity." They want writers to select words that convey exact meaning -- an excellent idea on résumés when you want to make a big impression in a small space.

"I often see dry, passive language that makes the job seeker appear as a follower or simple doer rather than a leader or someone who drives results," says Abby M. Locke, master résumé writer and personal brand strategist for Premier Writing Solutions in Washington, D.C. "For example, 'Responsible for the development of new programs and services' works better when rewritten with active, engaging language like 'Conceptualized and created revenue-generating programs and services that increased the company's bottom line by 20 percent.'"

Locke also reports that candidates get stuck in a rut of using the same verb over and over again, such as "developed new brochures," "developed marketing materials" and "developed a system." "When bullets like these are read very quickly, the only words that the reader remembers are 'developed, developed, developed.'"

Another elementary rule to remember: Watch tenses. Strunk and White note that "shifting from one tense to another gives the appearance of uncertainty and irresolution." Tiffani Murray, a résumé writer and career consultant for PersonalityOnaPage.com, says that she's seen gaffes where the applicant has used two different tenses in the same sentence.

"For past roles, you should use past tense," Murray says. "For the current job that you are working in, present tense works unless you are referring to a project that is completed. You want to be consistent and accurate with your tense in portraying what you have done in the past for an employer and what you are doing now."

Words and expressions commonly misused

Many a candidate writes that he "lead a team" when he meant "led." Another common dilemma: "effect" versus "affect." (The former can be a noun meaning "result" or a verb meaning "to accomplish" or "to bring about." The latter is a verb meaning "to influence.")

Carolyn Yencharis Corcoran, assistant director of the Insalaco Center for Career Development at Misericordia University in Dallas, Pa., reports that job seekers often confuse:

- "to" and "too"
- "your" and "you're"
- "there" and "their"
- "then" and "than"
- "wonder" and "wander"
- "its" and "it's"
- "a" and "an" before a word that begins with a vowel (as in "a excellent opportunity" when it should be "an excellent opportunity")

An approach to style

- "Avoid fancy words."
- "Using language that is too formal or too academic can make an applicant's résumé and/or cover letter sound derogatory or speechlike, which may appear like you are trying to fool the employer about your qualifications," Corcoran says. "The best way to set yourself apart is with examples that use industry-relevant words from your experience, not formal words that may make the reviewer feel stupid or -- if used incorrectly -- laugh at your application."

"Do not take shortcuts at the cost of clarity."

"Most people write about their titles and functions in terms they understand, instead of taking into account if it will be understood by a hiring authority," says Tony Beshara, author of "Unbeatable Résumés: America's Top Recruiter Reveals What Really Gets You Hired." "Likewise, most people write the names of the companies they have worked for with no explanation about what the companies do. There are 7.5 million companies in the United States ... most of us don't know what any of them do. It needs to be explained in detail."

"Do not overstate."

Finally, heed Strunk and White's warning, "When you overstate, the reader will be instantly on guard, and everything that has preceded your overstatement as well as everything that follows it will be suspect in his mind."

"I advise students not to say they are 'excellent speakers who have extensively ...' or other similar phrases," says Cynthia Favre, director of career services at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minn. "Comparative words like 'excellent' raise the question: Compared to whom? And most hiring managers will have a hard time believing a 21-year-old new graduate has done anything 'extensively' anyway. Instead, give evidence, and let the reader decide if it is excellent or extensive."

NEW CARS HAVE DETROIT MORE THAN DREAMING OF CALIFORNIA

By Dale Buss

It's been a long time since the Beach Boys sang about Chevrolets, since the free-wheeling image of big-finned domestic automobiles fit perfectly with the carefree, larger-than-life-style embodied by California, and the combination resonated with American culture at large. Then for 30 years, wave after wave of Japanese and then Korean imports landed on America's nearest shore and pummeled General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, making U.S.-based brands essentially irrelevant in the state that was always defining and redefining the nation. But Detroit's Big Three never let go of the dream of re-establishing themselves far away on a West Coast that used to be so friendly to their products -- even after decades as an also-ran in the California market. And now, one of the surprising factors that is helping to strengthen General Motors and Ford for the coming battle to re-dominate the U.S. auto industry is their new success way out there. Finally, they have been able to faintly smell the jasmine, hear the surf and sense that they might be latching on to fresh, long-term success in America's most important -- and the world's most beguiling -- new-car market; and even Chrysler is talking about renewed hope there. Indeed, the bellwether state has emerged as a top destination for some of the newest and most important vehicles in the Big Three's product portfolio these days, and domestic marketers are trying to make sure that the Golden State indeed proves golden for them in the years to come. "We've been looking for that year, by 1.0 percent of market share over the year to date for 2010.

But Chrysler is starting its California revival efforts at a different point: the dealership. The company has been taking advantage of the bursting of the commercial real-estate bubble on the West Coast to pick up a handful of properties and move toward establishing new dealerships or re-establishing outlets in metro areas that seem newly promising or where Chrysler regretted having to wash out underperforming dealers during the purge of 2008 and 2009.

"What's been different and new is the focus and intensity we have put on getting more solid representation in California," said Peter Grady, Chrysler's vice president of network development.

These Big Three executives are talking up their California hopes because they realize they can't keep underperforming there and have any real chance of significantly reversing their decades-long loss of U.S. market share.

"Though the California market has been down lately more than the rest of the country," Grady said, "it still will end up [2011] being the largest car market in the country. "We can't go without it." Said Batey: "For Chevrolet to be strong and take effective leadership, we need to do better in the biggest market in the country. There's no rocket science to that; we must have vehicles that are relevant to consumers in that market."

on America's nearest shore and pummeled General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, making U.S.-based brands essentially irrelevant in the state that was always defining and redefining the nation. But Detroit's Big Three never let go of the dream of re-establishing themselves far away on a West sweet spot in California for a long time," said Lew Echlin, Ford's marketing manager for global cars and crossovers. "As with anything, it has taken a great deal of perseverance and consistency in California. We've had a cohesive California strategy that's gone back for years ... But it's taken us a long time to get in perfect harmony with the California market. We've found a sweet spot that we had found [only] in spurts before, but now we've consistently hammered on it."

Ford's overall market share in California has risen to 11.6 percent for 2011 to date compared with just 10.0 percent for all of 2008, thanks largely to the popularity there of its newest small cars, Focus and Fiesta, according to Polk data. Similarly, General Motors sees new hope in its rising results in California. GM's California market share through September was 12.2 percent compared with its national average of 19.8 percent, with sales in the state up by 1.5

percent for the year to date compared with a 0.8 percent increase for the nation as a whole over 2010, according to Polk data.

And like Ford, GM has been predicating its turnaround there largely on small cars -- in this case, great acceptance for its new Chevrolet Cruze compact, which is widely considered a vast improvement over the Cobalt subcompact that it replaced. "With the launch of the Cruze, we've gone from zero to hero in California pretty quickly," said Alan Batey, vice president of the Chevrolet division. The launch of the cutting-edge Chevrolet Volt extended-range hybrid also has given GM a new-age panache in California, he said. Even Chrysler, which remains "flipping terrible" in California in the words of one of its executives, sees some very new reasons to hope that it can turn around its long-term irrelevance in the state. Chrysler sales in California have ticked up this
