Pairs of movie tickets will be awarded from Feb. 1 to Feb. 10. The Grand Prize drawing is Feb. 13. To enter, go to our web site, Hometownlife.com, and click on the Valentine's Contest link, which is located on our Don't Miss module on the right-hand side of the site.

Damaris award

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will recognize a Plymouth-Canton school district senior who has displayed "outstanding abilities in visual arts and plans to continue his/her education in this field" with its annual Damaris Fine Arts Award. The award was established in memory of Damaris (Dee) Schulte, a former PCAC board member, and honors the contributions Schulte made to the PCAC. Students' artwork will be judged on its originality, creativity and use of material. Artwork will be professionally juried. This award is open to all students who are entered in the P-CCS Annual Art Show. Applications will be accepted May 2-7, with the art to be juried May 8-10. The $1,000 award will be announced May 10. For more information, call (734) 416-4278 or e-mail clarion@storytellerdesign.com.

Committee OKs 'Beloved'

By Brad Kadrach
Observer Staff Writer

Supporters of the use of Toni Morrison's book Beloved in Plymouth-Canton's advanced placement literature curriculum hailed Friday's announcement the review committee considering its appropriateness voted to leave the Pulitzer Prize-winning book in the syllabus as a victory for academic quality. The nine members of the review committee cast their votes anonymously Thursday, and the decision was announced

Friday afternoon. District officials would not say whether the vote was unanimous. In a statement released Friday, district officials said the Beloved committee considered the appropriateness of the material for the age and maturity level of students; the accuracy of the material; the objectivity of the material; and the necessity of using the material in light of the curriculum. Erin MacGregor, the district's director of secondary education, facilitated the committee. "One of the common themes

I heard as the facilitator was (committee members) felt the parents had the right to opt their own daughter out of the discussion, but they didn't feel as though those parents had the right to opt all the other kids out of the consideration of the book," MacGregor said. "Everyone read the book cover to cover, and what I heard was they felt the book was a tremendous read for that level of student to engage in. "They didn't feel that resource was necessarily appropriate for all students, but for AP level students, it was a great read," Mac-

Gregor added. The committee began the review process for Beloved with a Jan. 11 hearing at which they heard from the complainants, Canton parents Matt and Barb Dame, and from teachers Gretchen Miller and Brian Read. It was Read who first introduced Beloved into the curriculum. Dame brought the complaint about Beloved to the district's attention Dec. 20, citing the obscene nature of some passages in the book and asking that it

Snyder hails former Canton family in speech

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

A former Canton family captured Michigan's attention when Gov. Rick Snyder singled them out while praising child adoption efforts Wednesday night during his State of the State address. Applause rang out inside the Michigan Capitol building as Lamar and Holly Moreland stood on a balcony with their 7-year-old biological daughter Hunter and their two adopted children — siblings Dexter, 12, and Hailey, 7. "We felt like rock stars," Holly Moreland said. Hunter and Hailey wore matching dresses and Dexter sported a tie as Snyder shone the spotlight on the family that moved just weeks ago to Harper Woods. Snyder touted the Michigan Adoption Resource Exchange (www.mare.org), a starting point where the Morelands and other parents have viewed photo listings and information about children who need homes.

Adoption journey The journey led the Morelands to Orchards Children's Services in Southfield, where adoption worker Laura Baldwin guided them through an adoption process that found a home nearly two years ago for Dexter and Hailey, who for a while had lived in separate foster homes. "They have found their forever family," Snyder said Wednesday. It brings to five the Morelands' children. Before the couple met, Lamar Moreland had a son, 31-

Speech draws Canton praise, critics

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Gov. Rick Snyder's upbeat message of creating jobs and reducing Michigan's unemployment rate won accolades from Canton Republicans, but he drew sharp criticism from a Democratic lawmaker who said his second State of the State address lacked specifics, ignored school funding problems and overstated Lansing's bipartisan efforts. State Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton, lauded Snyder's focus on jobs and efforts to improve Michigan's business climate — measures Colbeck said helped the unemployment rate fall from 11.1 percent to 9.3 percent. "That's huge," he said, moments after Snyder finished his speech Wednesday night in Lansing. A sustained push to lower

Plan likely involves closing schools

By Brad Kadrach
Observer Staff Writer

Stacey Collins' son has gotten used to knowing Hoben Elementary School is going to be his school when he starts kindergarten in the fall. He's been at the building, he's played on the playground and he's ready to sign up when kindergarten roundup comes around in March. That familiarity may not help Collins' son much, though, after Plymouth-Canton Community Schools officials decide what to do with the results of a facilities survey done by Plante Moran CRESA, the firm the Board of Education hired to conduct the survey. CRESA is expected to present a variety of options under three different "umbrella" scenarios designed to help the district best maximize the use of its 2.5 million square feet of educational space. And every option is expected to include the closing of at least one elementary school. "Yes, we're most likely going to close at least one school," said Phil Freeman, the district's assistant superintendent for facilities. "Right now we're not optimizing the use of our facilities. The term Plante Moran is using is 'right-sizing' the district, and I think that's an accurate term." After getting more than 2,800 responses to an online survey, CRESA partner Paul Wills presented the three "umbrella" scenarios to the Board of Education at Tuesday's meeting. The first proposes the potential closing of three elementary schools; the second would close two elementaries and one middle school; the third, which suggests a possible reconfiguring of elementary schools into upper- and lower-level elementaries, would see two elementary schools closed. At a public forum Wednesday at Discovery Middle School in Canton, Freeman and Wills were quick to point out no decision has been made — or even considered — about which schools to close. "There are no preconceived notions," said Freeman, a parent of P-CCS students whose family has twice been affected by such moves. "If we closed every school I've heard rumors about closing, we'd be closing seven elementaries, two middle schools and a high school already." Wills wasn't ready Tuesday to make specific recommendations, largely because transportation costs hadn't yet been factored in. Those figures, along with CRESA's specific options, are expected to be discussed at a special board meeting Thursday, Feb. 2.

Family hopes fundraiser helps paralyzed woman

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Canton resident Dianna DeClerq's life seemed full of promise. After raising her 23-year-old son on her own, she was able to buy her very first home, a Canton condominium, two years ago. Then, for the first time in 34 years, she bought a new car, a 2010 Ford Focus.

She had hoped to work a few more years as a hospital patient account representative and retire by the time she reached 70.

Now, at 63, she fears she will lose everything after she was left paralyzed from the waist down, prompting her family and friends to raise money for her.

DeClerq, a former Livonia resident, worked her last day June 13 and walked into a hospital the next day for surgery for a thoraco-abdominal aneurysm.

"I left in a wheelchair 10 weeks later," she said. DeClerq was left paraplegic from complications during surgery.

"I've always been very independent," she said, sitting in her condo. "It's hard to ask for help. I've always been the helper."

Her sister, Darlene McBroom, and McBroom's daughter-in-law, Darcy McBroom, have organized a benefit to help DeClerq. It's set for 2-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, at Merri-Bowl Lanes on Five Mile east of Merri-man in Livonia.

"Dianna is at risk of losing everything she has worked for," Darcy McBroom, a critical care nurse and Livonia resident, said. "She's definitely in need."

DeClerq hopes to keep her home and car. She needs to make the inside of her condo handicap-accessible and replace an aluminum ramp to her front door with a sturdier, wood ramp.

She has medical bills beyond what insurance covers, and she would like to hire a caregiver to start rehabilitation in her home, in hopes she might someday walk again.

Bowlers who attend the fundraiser can pay $15 for shoes and two hours of bowling. McBroom said people who don't bowl still may attend and give donations.

Some businesses have donated items that will be raffled, and there will be a silent auction. Anyone who wants to donate items or who needs more information may send an e-mail to Benefit4Dianna@gmail.com.

There will be a 50/50 cash raffle. Moreover, anyone who wants to donate money directly to DeClerq may make checks payable to Dianna DeClerq and send them to Darcy McBroom, P.O. Box 31725, Livonia, MI 48151.

DeClerq isn't sure what her long-term prognosis is. "I may or may not ever walk again," she said. Regardless, her supporters have reached out for help for a woman who, after raising her son, buying a home and a car, finds herself in the greatest need of her life. DeClerq has always been a strong woman who faced adversity and beat it. And she hasn't given up hope.

"I still hope to walk again someday by the grace of God," she said.

BOOK

Dame had not yet returned a call seeking comment.

The Dames brought the same complaints forward about Graham Swift's 1983 book Waterland, which Supt. Dr. Jeremy Hughes immediately removed from the curriculum. That book, which still remains out of the hands of students, is slated to be reviewed in the next few weeks by a new committee.

MacGregor said Friday the outcome of the Beloved review will have no bearing on what happens with Waterland.

Students hailed the decision Friday. Ben Sonnega, a Salem High School junior from Plymouth, said the book never should have been considered for removal in the first place.

"It's absolutely the right decision," Sonnega said. "It's perfectly ideal for college preparation. The reasons they were (considering) taking away the book are shallow. It was selfish to (try to) take the book away because it takes away from the rest of us."

Salem junior Jes-

si Longe, who spoke at a recent board meeting in favor of keeping the books, agreed the committee made the right decision.

"They're really good books," said Longe, a Plymouth resident. "They're probably going to be on the AP test ... the teachers pick those books for a reason."

Laurie Golden of Plymouth doesn't have any have any children in the AP English program. But Golden, who does have children in the district, still thinks both Beloved and Waterland should be part of the curriculum if for no other reason than their presence on the test.

"I think the teachers did a really good job of showing how the books fit with their curriculum. ... They made a very good case for the value of the books," said Golden, communications director for the Canton Public Library. "It is so often used in the AP test ... if I had a kid in the class, and they weren't teaching that book, it would almost seem negligent not to teach it."

MacGregor said he didn't think outside pressure — such as the national attention or the letter from the ACLU criticizing the decision to take the book away in the first place — was a factor in the committee's reasoning.

"No it did not," MacGregor said. "The committee felt very comfortable with the process being an anonymous process. I don't think (any outside influence) had any effect at all. I was just very impressed with the committee members and their ability to come in objectively, and with the expertise and background they brought in."

Milestone ice fest comes with deep freeze

By Matt Jachman
Observer Staff Writer

The afternoon chill was warmly greeted Friday at the Plymouth Ice Festival.

"I like this kind of weather," carver Ted Wakar of Canton Township said after finishing the "ice bar" outside E.G. Nick's on Forest. "Beautiful, beautiful for ice-carvers."

Friday marked the start of downtown Plymouth's 30th annual ice festival, and Wakar, an instructor and the owner of an ice-carving business, has carved at all of them. Temperatures Friday were in the teens — the first real blast of cold so far this winter — but Wakar said the weather was expected to warm up for Saturday's visitors.

In addition to the ice bar, which E.G. Nick's owner Frank Agostini was readying for service as Wakar spoke, Wakar had carved an old-time beer wagon for the Box Bar and a news desk for Channel 2.

The festival continues through Sunday in Kellogg Park and downtown Plymouth; the Sunday hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. For a detailed schedule, visit the festival website, www.plymouthicefestival.org. The event also has a page on Facebook.

I CAN MAKE ANYONE LOSE WEIGHT!

That may sound like a bold statement, but that's how confident I am in our weight loss program. Not only can I make you lose weight, I can show you how to keep it off forever! In 22 years of practice I have found that helping people lose weight and keep it off is the one single thing that has the potential to create the most numerous changes in overall health problems.

If you are like most people, you have probably lost weight in the past only to gain it back and then some. The old yo-yo dieting syndrome. There is a reason for that and I'll show you what it is. There is no gimmick or quick fix that will ever make you lose weight permanently. This is the REAL THING!

I know there is a good chance you are dealing with Type II Diabetes, High Blood Pressure, High Cholesterol, Hypothyroidism, joint pain and possibly a number of other health conditions. Come spend one hour with me and I'll show you how you may be able to completely rid yourself of Type II Diabetes, and possibly throw away your blood pressure and cholesterol drugs forever. Whether you want to lose that last 10 pounds or you NEED to lose 100 lbs. or more, I can show you how to do it.

My goal for this year is to help as many people as possible to reach their goal weight and reclaim their lives! Will you be one of them? If you are suffering with a weight problem or any of the related illnesses that go along with it, don't wait another minute. Let me help you out. This seminar could literally change your life the way that it has for so many people just like you.

If you are dealing with a weight problem I sincerely want to help you get your life back. Are you frustrated with trying so many gimmicks and still dealing with weight issues? Are you sick of the hype and false hope? Have you given up on losing weight? If you are serious about losing your weight once and for all, then call to reserve your seat right now. ## Assembly 'rocks' Pioneer gym

Pioneer Middle School's gymnasium rocked Thursday like it's never been rocked before when the school's Media Production class presented, "Project Rock: It Might Get Loud 2.0" to an all-school assembly.

According to teacher Jason Kay, "Project Rock" is, first and foremost, a celebration of music, the creative vision, the dedication entailed in pursuing passions, and the "commitment to improve and expand one's repertoire."

The assembly showcased former students who have taken different paths and gave them a forum to talk about their experiences.

"One of our motivations is to inspire the next generation of young musical artists to pick up a guitar or sit down in front of the drum pad and carve out a plan to channel their vision and voice thru instruments and songs," Kay said in an e-mail to the Observer. "At the root, it's about promoting artistic expression, creativity, setting goals, working hard at something personal that matters to you, and collaborating with others who share similar interests."

The assembly featured live performances from budding musicians currently creating eclectic sub-genres of rock, a DJ who's traveled throughout the Midwest and abroad, and a self-taught producer who's gaining momentum and critical acclaim.

"I'm grateful to have such ambitious, talented, and giving students who want to come back to their old stomping grounds and share with our current students their lessons, advice, and love of music, not to mention their talents," Kay said.

Hearing adjourned in church embezzlement case

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

A preliminary examination for a Canton woman charged with embezzling more than $13,000 from a Westland church has been adjourned until Feb. 2.

The defense attorney representing Kathleen Galoch, 63, requested the delay Thursday in 18th District Court to allow more time to review the audit prepared by the Archdiocese of Detroit.

A long-time employee at St. Theodore Catholic Church, Galoch has been charged with embezzling over $1,000 from a non-profit organization — a 10-year felony. A not-guilty plea was entered on behalf of Galoch, who was freed on a $10,000 personal bond.

The adjourned hearing drew a number of onlookers connected with the church. The amount of money Galoch is charged with stealing is only a fraction of the nearly $143,000 reported missing from St. Theodore and allegedly used by Galoch, the former bookkeeper, to pay her family's personal bills.

Charges couldn't be brought against Galoch for the full amount of the missing since the Rev. Gary Michalik, who was the parish priest during this time, told police that he authorized Galoch to spend the other funds.

Galoch

Employed at the parish from 1986 until earlier this year when she was laid off due to financial problems, Galoch was hired as an administrative assistant, later having the job titles of parish administrator and business manager. Her duties included day-to-day bookkeeping, check preparation, bank reconciliation, counting and depositing cash collected, payroll and related duties.

Once Galoch had been laid off March 31, the parish payroll was reviewed and some questionable transactions were identified. The Archdiocese of Detroit did a complete audit going back to January 1997 and reported nearly $143,000 missing from Galoch paying herself extra wages, paying personal expenses for herself and family members and using parish funds for what were described as loans/donations to herself and her relatives.

An archdiocesan representative presented the audit to Westland police, seeking criminal charges against Galoch over the missing $143,000. The audit showed checks written to pay mobile home rental fees, utilities and other expenses for Galoch's adult son, James E. Galoch, and wages for her husband, James J. Galoch. Both men had done maintenance-type work at the parish. Personal bills were also paid for Galoch's former daughter-in-law, Shannon.

The nearly $14,000 was identified as transactions not authorized by Michalik, now pastor at St. Colette Church in Livonia — loans or donations to Shannon Galoch covering her mortgage and car payment, personal transactions for Kathleen Galoch including property tax payments, taxes owed on her personal income tax return, a traffic ticket for her son and a personal tax consultation fee.

In a statement to police, Galoch said that she worked very hard for the church, which did not pay overtime and felt she deserved extra compensation. Additionally, Galoch told police she was angry at being laid off and cashed additional payroll checks incorrectly sent to her after she was laid off.

Galoch had improperly filed her income taxes, adding money her husband earned to her income, she told police so that her husband wouldn't lose his Social Security benefits.

SCHOOLS

Complicating matters is the district's decision to move to all-day kindergarten beginning in September. The move was forced by the state, which will offer only half-funding for students in half-day kindergarten programs (until now, districts received the full foundation allowance for such students).

Several Plymouth-Canton elementary schools are already at or above capacity for kindergarten students, while others are well below. Some parents, such as Collins, are worried they'll register their children at one school in March and find out later the child will go to a different school.

Kindergarten enrollment varies from the 112 students at Workman down to just 45 students at Fiegel. Overall, four of the district's 16 elementary schools are at 91-percent capacity (Smith is at 110 percent, Bird is at 107), while Dodson (66 percent), Hulsing (57 percent) and Fiegel (52 percent) are below 60 percent.

"I have a kindergarten and I have to register him in two months," Collins said. "He's comfortable (about Hoben). If he has to move, I want time to be able to talk to him about it."

Freeman said the district is also concerned about forcing any students to change buildings this year, and then force them to change again when the board makes its decision.

"No matter what, we will have to do some redistricting next year because we're going to all-day kindergarten," Freeman said. "We just don't have the space at some of our buildings. We want to minimize those transitions."

While everyone is concerned about how redistricting might work out and which buildings will close, at least one parent agreed such moves — as painful as they might be — need to be made.

"We need to make the changes," said Jannelle Merner of Canton. "We can't please everyone, but we need to do our best. I hope the board will take everything into consideration, and they move on it and not drag their feet."

"There will be people who are upset," she added, "but we're at a point where we need to rip off the bandage."

Freeman said the district will also be mindful of its biggest task: maintaining student achievement.

"Yes, this is about cost-saving and right-sizing," Freeman said. "But it's also about offering the best educational programs."

You're Invited To This Year's Open House! Come. Learn. Tour.

In today's society, few decisions are more significant than those which affect your children. Their character, values, and attitudes toward learning will be influenced by their educational experience. All Saints Catholic School understands these challenges and seeks to nurture student growth in mind, body, and spirit.

Our mission is to provide a Catholic education which encourages each student to reach their full potential. To make this a reality, we focus on the following key areas:
Academic Excellence, Service, Community, Sharing Faith.

FAMILY

year-old Ramal Moreland, who lives in Maryland, and Holly Moreland had Derrick Whitehead, 18, who couldn't attend State of the State because he had to work.

The couple had decided they wanted to expand their family by adopting.

"We felt strongly that we really wanted to grow our family," said Lamar Moreland, 54, an assistant Michigan attorney general.

Good adaptation

The family has adapted well, and Baldwin called them up after she heard that Snyder was looking for parents of adopted children to spotlight during his second State of the State speech.

"It was such a wonderful feeling," Lamar Moreland said. "They invited us, and we thought it was such a great honor. When Gov. Snyder called our names, I think the kids were the most excited. It was one of those good moments we won't ever forget."

More than shining in the spotlight, the Morelands are thankful that Snyder showed support for foster care and adoption services.

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy, who attended Snyder's address, said he was delighted when Snyder introduced the Morelands and mentioned Canton.

"It was really cool," he said.

State Rep. Dian Slavens, D-Canton, state Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton, and other lawmakers may spar over their political differences, but legislators on both sides of the aisle can agree that adoption efforts are good for Michigan and its families.

"There are so many kids that need good, stable families, especially young teenagers," Colbeck said.

During the first year of the adoption process, Dexter and Hailey divided their time between the Morelands and foster parents. Finally, they came home to stay.

While in Lansing, the Morelands got a tour that included a stop in Lt. Gov. Brian Calley's office.

Everywhere they went — from the Capitol balcony to Calley's office — their smiles remained constant.

Before the Morelands adopted Dexter and Hailey, some people questioned their decision to adopt children who weren't younger. They were wrong.

"It made my skin a little tougher," Holly Moreland said. "It made me an advocate, so to speak. The children have been a blessing to us."

SPEECH

Snyder for a speech she said lacked vision and a comprehensive blueprint for moving Michigan forward.

"To be honest, I was disappointed," she said. "He was very vague in some of his vision. He did not bring up anything about using the (state's) surplus money and giving it back to the School Aid Fund, and that really disappointed me big-time. Our schools are struggling."

Upbeat attempt

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said Snyder didn't roll out any big announcements, but focused on continuing the path, such as creating jobs, he outlined in his first year.

"All in all, I thought he was trying to be upbeat," LaJoy said. "It was a business-like approach."

LaJoy lauded efforts by Snyder and others to eliminate the Michigan Business Tax, spur a more job-friendly environment and reduce the unemployment rate.

LaJoy cited encouraging signs such as Minnesota-based Element Electronics' aim to hire 100 workers to produce low-priced, flat-screen TVs at a Canton company, Lotus International.

"That's huge for us," LaJoy said, adding that Canton's commercial corridors along Ford Road and Michigan Avenue also "are thriving."

State Rep. Kurt Heise, a Plymouth Township Republican who represents part of Canton, agreed with LaJoy that Snyder's address was business-like.

"It was very much like a CEO giving a report to shareholders, but that report is positive," Heise said. "Michigan is definitely turning the corner economically. Unemployment is going down."

Much accomplished

Heise said much has been accomplished during the last year.

"We have done a lot. We have reformed the business tax in this state. We've balanced the budget," he said. "We're climbing, slowly, out of the unemployment hole, and we've got a lot to talk about."

Colbeck said Snyder has initiated a plan "for a very bright future through relentless, positive action" that has created jobs and reversed Michigan's population decline.

"I'm so excited about the opportunity to keep our kids and grandkids in the state," Colbeck said.

Snyder's continued push for another bridge connecting the United States and Canada still faces skepticism, even among some in his own party.

"There's a real divide in the Legislature on that," LaJoy said. "He's still got some convincing to do with people in the Legislature."

Colbeck is one of those who needs convincing. "I could see the case for a second bridge," he said, "but I just want to make sure we're doing it with a minimum of taxpayer liability."

Snyder's mention of the need to address road problems provided a glimmer of hope for Canton officials who have long sought relief for traffic congestion along Ford Road by reshaping the I-275/Ford interchange. Snyder has called on state lawmakers to hold hearings on road issues.

Slavens said Snyder's mention of some 360 bills getting passed by legislators during the last year appeared to overstate a bipartisan approach in Lansing. She said only 14 or so of those laws had been proposed by Democrats.

"We're not working together, and it was very discouraging to hear him say that," Slavens said.

She was encouraged, however, to hear the governor address issues such as insurance coverage for autism, new jobs and road projects, though "the devil's in the details."

Despite the lower unemployment rate, Slavens said many jobless people in her district continue to struggle for basic necessities. Moreover, she said, some residents have been without jobs so long they are no longer reflected in unemployment statistics. Heise wasn't surprised that Snyder didn't address the right-to-work issue, which many people view as an attempt to weaken unions.

"It is not a priority for him," Heise said. "He has made that clear."

Heise also said he hopes Detroit can avoid an emergency manager amid deep financial troubles.

"Nobody wants an emergency manager in Detroit," he said. "It would be devastating for the city. It would be very difficult on all of us in western Wayne county. ... Our whole region will be seen as unstable if Detroit has an emergency manager."

Still, he said he hopes emergency manager legislation isn't repealed, because "it is a good law."

Colbeck said Michigan needs a push to become a right-to-work state, saying certain workers shouldn't be forced to join unions and pay dues. He said the measure would lead to more job creation, though critics say the jobs would be low-paying.

Heise called the atmosphere in Lansing energetic as Snyder gave his second State of the State speech.

"It's a very exciting night to be in Lansing," he said Wednesday. "It's kind of like the Academy Awards around here."

All Saints open house touts programs

What do smart boards, computer upgrades and a Math Family Night have in common? They are all part of an effort at All Saints Catholic School to provide innovation while remaining true to Catholic standards of religious formation.

In addition to its emphasis on rigorous academic and religious education, All Saints is housed in a modern facility with "smart board" technology for every grade, all new computers and workstations, and a mobile computer lab with 30 netbook computers.

The school, located in Canton, is inviting prospective families to see its latest technology offerings and tour the facility during an open house on Sunday, Jan. 29, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Visitors will have a chance to learn more about these and other programs that make the school distinct.

All Saints principal Kristen Strausbaugh believes the open house will give parents a unique opportunity to talk one-on-one with teachers, administrators and other parents and to observe firsthand the school's dedication to faith, academics, and service, as well as its friendly, caring atmosphere.

"Choosing a school for your child is one of the most important decisions parents will make," explains Strausbaugh. "A child's character, values and lifelong attitudes toward learning will be shaped by their educational experience. We take this responsibility seriously and seek to nurture our students in mind, body and spirit."

The open house serves as the initial event to kick off Catholic Schools Week, which is celebrated annually nationwide to highlight the benefits of Catholic education. Throughout the week, All Saints students will participate in a special Mass, academic games, and service activities, such as making Valentine's Day cards for seniors and hospitalized children. Students also will be able to dress up in clothing reflecting the theme of each day.

Recently, All Saints students from Preschool through third grade had the chance to participate in another innovative effort — Math Family Night. The students and their parents played games that reinforced concepts of logic, spatial relations and counting, which have been introduced in the classroom. The session was a light-hearted way to show kids that math is a part of daily life and can be fun.

"This was an important event because it helped families come together for an evening to do fun, hands-on math activities," said Jenny Zukowski, an All Saints kindergarten teacher who proposed the idea for Math Family Night last year. "Math does not always have to be just worksheets; it can be fun activities, too."

The evening's events included subtraction bowling, sorting and graphing with Skittles, creating geometric shapes with marshmallows, developing story problems based on the numbers of cartoon characters in a picture, and technology using the smart board for math.

This year, student participants received a goody bag that included a pipe cleaner with beads to use for counting, addition and subtraction; a wipe-off/write-on clock; foam shapes; a number bracelet, and a math pencil. Families also received a list of recommended math websites to use at home for reinforcement.

For more information about the All Saints open house and the school's additional programs and events, visit www.all-saints-sc.com or call (734) 459-2490.

Westland extends shared service agreement with Canton

Westland has extended an agreement to share the services of a required water department operator with Canton Township.

The agreement, which the communities entered into in June 2011, calls for the city to share the cost of a Canton Township employee who will assist Westland in monitoring its water distribution system and overseeing Westland's compliance with the State of Michigan.

The agreement complies with Michigan Safe Water Drinking Act requirements and affords Westland the professional expertise of Canton employees who will regularly meet with Westland Department of Public Services officials, perform site visits as needed, collaborate on reports and on other matters related to Westland's water system.

The agreement with Canton Township has proven to be a success and has helped both communities fulfill requirements concerning municipal service sharing put forth by Gov. Rick Snyder, said Mayor William Wild. Canton Township will continue to bill the City of Westland on an hourly basis as work is performed.

"Westland and Canton Township have a good working relationship, and this agreement makes sense for all involved," said Wild. "Westland looks forward to more agreements with Canton Township and other cities to collaborate in endeavors, such as this, for providing high quality services to area residents and businesses."

This agreement has been a win-win situation for both communities. Westland has saved the legacy costs of hiring new employees and Canton Township has brought in additional revenue to offset current employee costs, Wild added.

YMCA youth corps serves homeless vets

The YMCA Youth Volunteer Corps took part in the Martin Luther King Day of Service project at Second Chance Ministries in Detroit Monday, serving local homeless and low income veterans and their families.

Giving back and providing support to neighbors is one of the areas of focus for the Plymouth Family YMCA. That is exactly what the YMCA Youth Volunteer Corps did Monday by participating in the Martin Luther King Day of Service project at Second Chance Ministries in Detroit, serving local homeless and low income veterans and their families.

The YMCA Youth Volunteer Corps is a year-round service learning program for teens ages 13-18. Teens are offered at least two service opportunities each month during the school year and they have the opportunity to sign up for one-week projects each week during the summer. The program is supported by various organizations, including funds from the Plymouth Community United Way and the Wilcox foundation. Youth Volunteer Corps is nurturing the potential of over 80 teens in the Plymouth-Canton area.

Michael Heyward, 14, has participated in other YMCA service projects and volunteers at his church, as well.

"What we have isn't necessarily because of what we do," he said. "My family believes that if God gave it to us, then we should sow it back into someone else."

While the service aspect of the Youth Volunteer Corps is exceptional, there is also learning and reflection involved in each project.

"I didn't know how closely Dr. King was tied to Detroit. So I learned that today," said Heyward after the MLK Day of Service project. Sage Hegdal, Branch

Director at the Plymouth Family YMCA said "the Y is the nation's leading nonprofit strengthening communities through youth development, healthy living, and social responsibility."

"Offering programs such as Youth Volunteer Corps helps teens discover who they are, and gives them the opportunity to take an active role in bringing about meaningful, enduring change in our community," Hegdal said.

The YMCA Youth Volunteer Corps has several service-learning projects coming up soon. On Jan. 28, teens have the opportunity to work on a project for Friends of the Rouge by counting stoneflies in Rouge streams to gain a better understanding of our environmental health.

For information about the YMCA Youth Volunteer Corps, or to register for programs, contact the YMCA at (734) 453-2904.

World Medical Relief offers help close to home

By Sue Buck
Observer Staff Writer

Many local residents probably wouldn't consider World Medical Relief as a place to obtain help with prescriptions. But that's what Betty Hughes, a Senior Alliance representative who is also a Medicaid and Medicare counselor, told those in attendance at a special seminar for the uninsured held Thursday at the Maplewood Center.

"World Medical Relief has been around for many, many years," Hughes said.

The WMR, known for its international assistance, is ready to help Michigan residents, too. Recipients don't have to be unemployed to receive medical and prescription assistance. Some employers don't provide medical insurance coverage and part-time employers often don't qualify.

WMR's state-licensed pharmacy may be the answer with prescriptions at $8.30 each, and "in most cases, your medicine can be mailed directly to your home," according to information provided by Hughes and found on the WMR website.

Qualifications include being older than age 18, earning $24,000 or less per year, if single, and $37,000 for a couple, adding $300 for each additional dependent. People can also qualify if they do not have prescription drug coverage, even though they may have health insurance or are not currently enrolled in Medicaid. They may still qualify if they have a discount prescription card or are a senior on Medicare Part D. Documentation of income is required.

The WMR has other services available, including durable medical equipment like hospital beds, wheelchairs, shower chairs, walkers, canes and commodes. They carry basic medical, diabetic and colostomy supplies, liquid nutrition and incontinent products.

Cheryl Stepanian, senior coordinator at the Maplewood Center, heard good things about WMR.

"I had a woman in my office yesterday who said that they treated her wonderfully," Stepanian said.

Contact World Medical Relief Inc. at 11745 Rosa Parks Blvd., Detroit, call (313) 866-5333, fax (313) 866-5588 or send an e-mail to info@worldmedicalrelief.org. More information is available on the website at www.world-medicalrelief.org.

Free clinics

Hughes said that Michigan is not the worst in the number of uninsured people. It falls 17th on the list, with 13.8 percent of the total population uninsured.

Some people work and are still uninsured because they are not offered health insurance. In Wayne County, one option for help is the Wayne County Four Star program, a health insurance program. Students can also purchase this insurance.

"This is something that is known as a best-kept secret," Hughes said. "Insurance can be purchased. You don't have to be working."

For the Four Star program, call (866) 780-6655 or visit waynecountyfourstar.org.

Chefs cook up plans for remodel, anniversary bash

By Karen Smith
Observer Staff Writer

A 20th anniversary celebration and a dining room remodel are on the menu for 2012 for Chefs Charles "Rocky" Rachwitz and Steve Allen, owners of three restaurants in Northville, Novi and Livonia.

Rocky's of Northville will celebrate its 20th anniversary in November, and Steve and Rocky's in Novi will get "a whole dining room face lift."

The partners also own Rocky's Rotisserie in Livonia.

Rachwitz hasn't decided yet how Rocky's of Northville will celebrate its anniversary later this year, but Allen is already meeting with designers at Steve and Rocky's in Novi.

"It needs a change," he said of the look of the four-star restaurant that draws 10,000 people a month from all over the Metro Detroit area.

"It's been five years since it was last remodeled."

Allen said the restaurant will remain open during the renovations, all expected to be cosmetic. The work is expected to start in four to six weeks.

Other than that, the two chefs plan on continuing to offer people quality food at affordable prices.

Business is up

Despite the economy, they said business has been up significantly at their restaurants the past two years.

Growing even faster is their catering business. They have so many catering requests — from breakfast in bed for two to parties for 600 — they have to turn some down.

The two became partners when they opened Steve and Rocky's 14 years ago this month after being formally introduced by Chef Milos Cihelka, Rachwitz's personal hunting friend and Allen's mentor at the Golden Mushroom in Southfield.

Rachwitz already owned Rocky's in Northville. He previously worked for the C. A. Muer Restaurant Corp. for 18 years guiding their culinary departments as corporate executive chef. Prior to Chuck Muer's untimely death in a sailing accident, Muer helped Rachwitz turn the former Northville Charley's into Rachwitz's own restaurant.

Rachwitz wanted to partner in another restaurant with a slightly more upscale menu, and Allen wanted to own his own place.

Cihelka, the first Certified Executive Chef in the United States with 50 years of cooking experience in first-class hotels, restaurants and private clubs, thought Rachwitz's business plan and menu savvy and Allen's culinary skills and taste abilities would be a great match.

It's been a recipe for success ever since.

Four years ago, they opened Rocky's Rotisserie in Livonia, a counter service restaurant with a Midwestern menu formed by Rachwitz, Allen and Dan Meier, the former chef at Rocky's of Northville.

Key ingredients

Ronald J. Hoffman, who handles their publicity, said value, quality and staff longevity are the ingredients to their success.

"These guys are key on keeping prices to the consumer down," he said.

Both Rachwitz and Allen do their own butchering, a savings of $4 to $5 a pound that they pass on to diners. They use the trimmed off meat and fat to make stock as a base for soup and sauces. "Nothing here gets wasted," Hoffman said.

Menus can be changed daily to take advantage of seasonal pricing on fruit, vegetables, meat and fish.

Allen, 48, of Fenton also uses produce he grows on his six-acre gentleman's farm. Last year, he harvested 3,000 pounds of heirloom tomatoes. He also uses turkeys he raises for Thanksgiving.

Both Rachwitz and Allen are award-winning chefs.

Rachwitz is a member of the American Culinary Federation, and has won such events as the American Seafood Competition, Best of Michigan Meal, Taste of Plymouth, Taste of Northville, and is a four-time winner of the Novi Chili Competition.

Allen has won many American Culinary Federation gold and silver medals during his years of competition.

Their staffs stay with them a long time. Rocky's general manager and bartender have been there 17 and 18 years respectively; the chef, 13 years. Each of them has developed a following, which keeps a steady flow of regular customers coming into the restaurant.

"I walk out here (into the dining room) on a Friday night, and I know most everyone," Rachwitz said.

Hire locally

Many of the staff they hire are from Schoolcraft and Oakland community colleges, their alma maters.

Both chefs graduated from OCC. Allen transferred there after starting at Schoolcraft.

"They're local, and I know most of the instructors there," Rachwitz said. "One of my favorite lines is, 'Does your instructor know you do it that way?'"

Rachwitz, 57, of Brighton Township got his start in the restaurant business at age 13 working for a Southfield deli. He made $1.25 an hour, working and saving enough to buy a brand-new Ford Maverick at age 16.

He liked washing pots because that meant he could help work the broiler. One Saturday night the broiler cook called in sick, and Rachwitz told the owner he'd do both jobs. "Sunday, guess who was the next broiler cook?"

Rachwitz started working for Muer in the same building he now owns. He went all over the country working for Muer during his 17-year career with him.

Allen was in high school when he started working in the restaurant business. "I just needed a job," he said. He hired in at Nanny's Soup Kettle at the Oakland Mall in Troy, but that restaurant didn't survive the recession of the early 1980s.

A friend who was a valet at the Golden Mushroom told him about the apprenticeship program they had there. "I didn't even know what an apprentice was," said Allen, who was 18 at the time. He applied, and was hired a few months later to work in the cold meat station.

Cihelka had just become the first Certified Executive Chef in the United States, and Allen became "enraptured" with the food preparation, especially for food shows. "I didn't know it was a true art and a profession," he said.

He told Cihelka he wanted to be an apprentice and started working full-time at the restaurant and attending school one day a week. After 10 years under Cihelka, Allen succeeded Cihelka as executive chef when Cihelka retired. He held that position for five years until forming the partnership with Rachwitz.

The restaurant business continues to be a labor of love for both chefs.

"I still enjoy what I do," Allen said.

So does Rachwitz. "It's something different all the time," he said.

Canton hosts animal disaster response training

During an emergency or disaster, taking care of animals requires advance planning and individuals who know how to handle and move animals to safety. Canton will be hosting the Disaster Animal Response Team Training Feb. 17-19 at the Summit on the Park, located at 46000 Summit Parkway.

Officials called DART the "premier basic training for building community preparedness for animals in disaster and for preparing animal disaster responders nationwide." This three-day workshop is designed to familiarize participants with the necessary elements of team-building and provide the background necessary to become effective responders.

Emergency animal relief workers have reported in a post Hurricane Katrina survey, that when asked why evacuees refused to leave their homes, 47 percent responded they did not leave because of their animals. This becomes more alarming with 63 percent of American households having companion animals and nearly half of those having multiple animals in their homes.

Learn how to prepare your community to plan for and respond to animal needs when a fire, hurricane, tornado or other disaster threatens. This three-day class includes classroom and hands-on instruction.

For additional information or to register, visit the Humane Society University website at <http://tinyurl.com/6qrk24b> or call Frances Gaeta with the Humane Society University at (301) 548-7731. Registration deadline is Feb. 3.

Plymouth pair star in 'Love Letters'

Three generations of couples bring the magic of long lasting love to life, on the Two Muses stage, with Love Letters, on Feb. 7, 12 and 14.

The new non-profit professional theatre, Two Muses, continues to celebrate romance in February with Love Letters, a play by A.R. Gurney, nominated for the Pulitzer Prize. Three separate casts from different generations will read and write their letters in three separate shows.

And the actors are actually couples in real life.

Love Letters is a tale of timeless love between two childhood friends who stay connected for more than 50 years by pouring their passion onto paper and relying on the post office to deliver it.

Melissa Gardner and Andrew Makepeace Ladd, III begin trading letters in grammar school and continue doing so through their golden years. The timing just never seems right for them, so they remain stuck in the "friend zone." But they never lose touch.

"I think the beauty of it lies in the love that moves through the arch of a lifetime no matter what paths are taken," says the show's director Yolanda Fleischer.

The characters do not directly relate, but each reacts while the other reads, with the actors displaying some astonishing talent. Though distance and different lifestyles keep Andrew and Melissa apart, the letters remain their "relationship lifeline," as they share their heartache and hope.

The play often finds audiences laughing out loud and choking back tears. Over the years some big name actors have tackled the roles including: Elizabeth Taylor, James Earl Jones, Jason Robards, Lynne Redgrave, Sigourney Weaver and Michigan's own Jeff Daniels.

Two Muses Theatre performs in the Barnes and Noble Booksellers Theatre Space, 6800 Orchard Lake Rd, West Bloomfield, south of Maple. Enter the bookstore and the theatre is on the left.

Tickets

Advance Tickets are $13/adults; $10/students and senior citizens 62 years and older. Tickets are $2 more when purchased at the door. General admission seating; house opens 30 minutes prior to performance.

Dinner Deals

Dinner Packages at the No. VI Chophouse in Novi are available on Feb. 7 and 12 for Two Muses Theatre ticketholders. For more information, see www.twomusestheatre.org or call (248) 850-9919.

Cast and staff

Third Generation Cast: Robyn Lipnicki Mewha and Rusty Mewha, both from Plymouth, will perform Tuesday, Feb. 7 at 8 p.m.

Second Generation Cast: Karen Sheridan and Sam Pollak, both from Oak Park, will perform Sunday, Feb. 12 at 6:30 p.m.

First Generation Cast: Mary Bremer Beer and Arthur J. Beer, of Warren, will perform Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 at 8 p.m.

Two Muses theater was created by Farmington Hills residents Diane Hill and Barbie Amann Weisserman.

Madonna University student Arjun Thakar takes a look at the new Wall of Honor for Criminal Justice alumni.

Madonna honors criminal justice alumni, top cops

Madonna University of Livonia has rebuilt its Wall of Honor highlighting the many police chiefs and high-ranking law enforcement officials who have graduated from its criminal justice program over the past 40 years.

"The Wall of Honor was established several years after the criminal justice program began in 1972 as more of our graduates were promoted," said Barry Sherman, chair of the criminal justice program. "The wall has continued to grow larger every year and it became evident we needed to expand and re-build it."

The redesigning of the wall coincides with the 75 birthday of Madonna University.

"The numerous chiefs on the wall represent many communities throughout Michigan and some in other states," Sherman said. "Of Madonna's many distinguished alumni is retired Livonia Police Chief Robert Stevenson who was recently appointed executive director of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police. And retired Police Chief David Harvey of Garden City is now the executive director of the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement Standards. Both of these individuals are presently members of the Madonna University Criminal Justice adjunct faculty."

The renewed display of photographs will be rededicated in a ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 13, at the University Gallery on Madonna's main campus. Stevenson and Harvey will be guest speakers at the event.

The University Gallery is located outside the library on the second floor in the main academic building.

Citizens for Peace sponsors discussion group

An adult discussion group at the Livonia Civic Center Library starting 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday will focus on issues related to multiple perspectives of peace and conflict. Works of nonfiction will be presented through different media types. It is free to the public.

The series begins with the showing of a 2008 animated film for adults on the subject of the 1982 war in Lebanon. The discussion topic is "Who is responsible for war?"

The first book to be discussed will be On Killing by Lt. Col. Dave Grossman. He was nominated for the Pulitzer Prize, and his book is required reading for the FBI Academy and is recommended reading for the U.S. Marine Corps. Grossman is the world's foremost expert on human aggression. The discussion will be 7 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23. The topic for discussion is "How does an individual live with the knowledge of knowing how to kill and having killed?"

From 7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 29, the series will conclude with a discussion of The End of War by Capt. Paul K. Chappell, a West Point graduate who served seven years in the U.S. Army. He presents a crucial look at war and peace through his military experience in Iraq. The discussion top-

Recovery of stolen autos up in 2011, H.E.A.T. reports

Since its inception in 1985, Livonia-based Help Eliminate Auto Thefts (H.E.A.T.) has been working in partnership with citizens and law enforcement to keep Michigan communities safe from the dangers and expense associated with auto theft-related crimes.

To date across its 26-year-history, H.E.A.T. has managed more than 9,100 anonymous tip calls and website submissions, which have led to the recovery of more than 4,400 vehicles valued at over $54 million. As a result, more than 3,500 suspects have been arrested and more than 2,200 tipsters have been awarded some $3.7 million for their information.

In 2011, H.E.A.T. saw an increase over its 2010 statistics across nearly every category. Additionally, the number of tips paid, the amount of tips awarded and the value of property recovered all saw increases over both 2010 and 2009 figures.

From Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 2011, H.E.A.T. managed 338 tip calls, which led to the recovery of 97 vehicles (up from 77 in 2010) valued at over $1.6 million (up from approximately $90,000 in 2010 and $89,000 in 2009). Seventy-seven suspects were arrested and 55 anonymous tipsters received rewards valued at nearly $117,000 (a nearly 30 percent increase from last year).

To further assist in H.E.A.T.'s auto theft awareness and prevention in Michigan moving forward, the organization recently unveiled a revamped website at www.1800242HEAT.com. Visitors will find a more streamlined site and enjoy a more user-friendly format for learning about the H.E.A.T. program and auto theft prevention, as well as reporting anonymous tips.

U-M Health development in Northville Township hailed as job creator

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

The University of Michigan Health System will lease property to build on Seven Mile Road in Northville Township by the closed psychiatric hospital.

The ambulatory care facility will be 100,000 square feet, said township Supervisor Mark Abbo, with potential to expand an additional 100,000 square feet. "Something's brewing on the Seven Mile property," he said at Thursday's Board of Trustees meeting.

Plans are for a site plan by spring, site development by the end of the year and 2014 completion.

"I think this is going to be a great anchor," Abbo said of the plan, approved by U-M's Board of Regents earlier on Jan. 19. "I think it's perfect for the site."

The lease will be taxable, he added, a benefit to the township.

"We will do everything we can to expedite it," Abbo said after the meeting. "I love the concept."

Lease for 25 years

It's a 25-year lease. The dilapidated psychiatric hospital building won't come down immediately, Abbo said, but he hopes the project initiates further development on the site.

from which U-M will lease land for the facility. It'll be east of the closed psychiatric hospital buildings, Abbo said, closer to Haggerty.

"It was fabulous news," a beaming Abbo said. "I was very excited."

He's unsure just how many jobs will be created. Abbo called it a sign "Michigan's economy is starting to gain some momentum."

"I'm hoping so," Abbo

said of the closed psychiatric hospital buildings being torn down. "I would love to see continued development. For us, it's different and that's good," he added, noting Northville Township is mostly residential and commercial.

Northville Township Trustee Christopher Roosen said, "I obviously think it's a fantastic proposal. I'm sure they're going to build a facility that's first class."

Roosen, who offered a "Go Blue" on the news, only heard of it at Thursday's meeting.

"Universities and hospitals have really only been the two entities building projects," he said. Securing such a project requires patience and working with people, Roosen said.

"It's a natural for us," said Roosen, who down the road would like a continuum of care for seniors or perhaps for veterans. "We will do whatever it takes to get U-M to come to the community."

Serving patients better

"I think the main focus is on serving our patients better," said Dr. David Spahlinger, M.D., senior associate dean of clinical affairs for U-M and executive director of faculty practice. "Patients have appreciated even just going to the Livonia site. They don't have to make the long drive to Ann Arbor."

Parking in Ann Arbor by the health area is a problem, Spahlinger said in a telephone interview.

He said it's likely one nearby Livonia system facility will be closed, with a small one on Haggerty near the Northville Township facility in Livonia remaining open. U-M also has a facility in Canton which will remain. "We will be adding more physicians to our group," Spahlinger said of Northville Township. "There'll be jobs associated with that."

Those include nurses, medical assistants, radiation technologists and clerical staff. Spahlinger couldn't say how many construction jobs will be created, noting a developer will build the center on the leased property.

"This has been on our planning for a long time," Spahlinger said of the Northville Township project, which competed with other capital needs. "It's not something we decided recently."

The plan wasn't a tough sell to the Board of Regents, he said. The U-M Board of Regents approved the $39 million project Jan. 19 during its January meeting. The expansion site is near the U-M's existing Livonia Center for Specialty Care.

The U-M facility will include 100,000 square feet of clinical and diagnostic space for caring for adults and children.

"The care provided by the University of Michigan Health System is consistently ranked among the nation's best, and with this project we have the opportunity to bring that care closer to home for patients who live in that part of Wayne County," said Doug Strong, chief executive officer of the U-M Hospitals and Health Centers, in a statement.

"We strive to create the ideal patient care experience and part of that experience is convenience," said Jeanne D. Rizzo, executive director of Ambulatory Care Services for UMHS, in a statement. "With this expansion, we will be able to provide additional services, as well as UMHS expertise and quality care, in the Northville area."

Varied services

In addition to primary and specialty care, the Health System's newest center is expected to offer a musculoskeletal program, designed to care for bones, joints and muscles; eye care for adults and children; radiology services such as diagnostic imaging, bone ultrasound and magnetic resonance imaging; infusion for cancer and non-cancer treatment; and a medical procedure unit.

"It's a wonderful thing," said state Rep. Kurt Heise, R-Plymouth, the day after the announcement. "It means more jobs and more economic development. It's a great location."

Heise said it's part of a larger brownfield redevelopment for the psychiatric hospital property "which has been long sought by the township. It's a great win."

Northville Township has received state funds for that, Heise said, and by such achievement can leverage into additional funding from the state.

The U-M's Faculty Group Practice, a physician group that includes more than 1,600 members, manages 1.8 million patient visits at outpatient clinics throughout Southeast Michigan.

Cancel life insurance policy to raise needed money

By Rick Bloom
Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: I'm in a situation where I need about $20,000. I don't have that much money liquid, but I do have a few different options as to where I should get it from. I hope you can help me make the right decision. I've attached a list of my assets so you can see what I have. I am considering to either take a cash advance on my charge cards or borrow the money from a friend. My friend has told me that he would lend me the $20,000 at a 10-percent interest rate. What do you think is the best way to come up with the $20,000? I am single and have no dependents.

A: Considering that you are single and have no dependents and after reviewing your information, I recommend taking $20,000 from your whole-life, life insurance policy. From the information you've provided, it appears that you have a cash-surrender value of approximately $25,000. Since you do not need the life insurance policy, it would make sense to cancel it and use the cash-surrender value for the $20,000 that you need. To me, this is the least expensive option that you have and the one that makes the most economic sense. In addition, you'll have the benefit of not having to pay future life insurance premiums. At this point in time in your life, you don't need life insurance, so why pay for it?

Money Matters

In reviewing your other options, if you decide for some reason not to cancel your life insurance policy, another option would be to borrow from your 401(k) plan. You have sufficient assets in your 401(k) and borrowing the $20,000 from your account should not be a problem. Of course, you need to confirm with your employer whether you are allowed to borrow from your 401(k) plan (most plans do allow) and find out the interest rate. Generally, the interest rate on a 401(k) plan is much lower than what your friend is giving you and certainly much lower than taking a cash advance. Therefore, my second option would be to borrow against your 401(k) plan.

The last option I would consider, and one I would only use if there was absolutely nothing else available, would be to take a cash advance against your charge card. Keep in mind that this is absolutely the worst way to borrow money. Not only will you pay the highest interest rate, but in addition, the interest is not tax-deductible. It's also never a good idea to finance a purchase using charge cards. My philosophy is charge cards should only be used as a matter of convenience. In a perfect world, which we know this isn't, I would tell people never to carry a balance on their charge card. I recognize this isn't always possible. However, it is a goal that you should be striving for.

Many people have life insurance policies that they no longer need. In many of those situations, I recommend cancelling the policy. After all, why pay for something you don't need? The question I generally tell people to ask themselves is would they buy the policy today. If the answer is no, the next question is why are you keeping it? We should all review life insurance policies we have and if we don't need them, the next step should be to ask, why we are keeping them? Good luck!

SHEN YUN —it's a grand production. Every year we start fresh. Every detail matters. Our goal? Not just another show. We take our craft beyond the boundaries of performing arts as you know it.

A Shen Yun show is a fusion of classical arts with modern appeal. As one audience member put it, "It's like a fashion show, opera, concert, and dance performance all rolled into one." Difficult? Yes. Impossible? No. Our passion motivates us to bring all these elements together into one extraordinary experience.

Classical Chinese dance lies at the heart of our performances. The dancers—with what some have called "limitless bodies"—turn an intensely difficult art form into something beautiful and effortless. China's 5,000 years of civilization provide an endless source of inspiration. The choreographers work closely with the composers to recreate ancient stories and legends, or convey an aspect of the culture, through short pieces that last no more than a few minutes. Our graphic artists, meanwhile, use advanced digital technology to produce stunning animated backdrops that correspond precisely to each dance.

After seeing the show, one audience member marveled, "This production... is nothing short of a miracle."

FROM THE MOMENT the gong is struck to herald the beginning of the show, you know you are in for something musically memorable.

The Shen Yun Orchestra masterfully blends two of the world's greatest classical music traditions, Chinese and Western. Ancient Chinese instruments such as the soul-stirring erhu and the delicate pipa lead the melody on top of a full orchestra of Western strings, percussion, woodwinds, and brass. The Western orchestra with its energy and grandeur, and the Chinese instruments with their distinct tones and styles, create a dramatic new sound.

VOCAL SOLOISTS

The resounding voices of bel canto soloists are an integral part of the Shen Yun experience. Each program is heightened by several moving selections from our singers. Their impassioned songs give voice to hopes that have shaped Chinese culture for centuries.

Berberet's big game lifts Rocks

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The Salem varsity girls basketball team knocked off visiting South Lyon by a 43-36 score Friday night.

Pacing the Rocks to their second victory of the season was Bri Berberet, who scored 24 points.

"She had an outstanding game, she shot the ball really well," Salem head coach Fred Thomann said.

The Rocks (2-8 overall, 2-3 in the KLAA Central Division) also were bolstered by solid defense by Katelynn Krause. She had nine rebounds.

Other offensive contributors for Salem included Katie Latack (six points), Jenny First and Breanne Beaver (five points each).

Salem led 15-8 after the first quarter and took a 26-16 halftime advantage.

CANTON 65, FRANKLIN 20: Not even an injury in the second quarter by senior point guard Robyn Mack could slow the Chiefs in this KLAA South Division matchup at Livonia Franklin.

Taylor Hunley stepped up with 12 points along with six rebounds, while other solid showings were turned in by Rachel Winters (11 points, five steals) and Paige Aresco (10 points).

"I thought all the kids did a great job of staying focused and finished the game" after Mack was injured, Canton head coach Brian Samulski said.

The Chiefs improved to 9-2 overall and 4-1 in the division.

PCEP icers go all out 'for Rick'

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Those looking for a winter blast Friday night did not only have the Plymouth Ice Festival as an option.

Arctic Edge Arena hosted a "Hockey Night in Canton" doubleheader involving all three varsity boys hockey teams from Plymouth-Canton Educational Park and featuring benefit 50/50 raffles for Rick Cigile and his family.

In the nightcap, one of Cigile's former players with the Canton Amateur Hockey Association — Plymouth senior goalie Rich Guglielmi — made several game-saving stops to keep the Wildcats in the hunt long enough to rally for a 4-3 victory over Salem.

Canton won 2-1 in overtime against Northville in the opener.

Giving back
"That's the wonderful

On the night when 50/50 raffles were held to benefit his family, Plymouth senior Jeremy Cigile (No. 5) and his teammates had extra adrenaline going Friday against Salem.

thing," Guglielmi said. "I played for coach Cigile as a squirt, so I've know the Cigile family my whole life.

"They're all great people and it's not fair that something happened to him. But it's good people are giving back."

The emotion-packed KLAA conference games were appropriate for Friday's special event.

The 50/50 raffles at each game benefitted the family of Cigile, paralyzed last June in a tragic swimming accident in Florida, who attended the games — one of which included son Jeremy, a senior forward for the Wildcats.

"It's an emotional situation," Wildcats head coach Gerry Vento said. "Hopefully we put a smile on their faces, and it was great all three schools got involved to try and help the family out."

Plymouth improved to 8-6 overall thanks to third-period goals by junior forward Joe Burke (from linemates Zach Gambrell and Michael Schultz) and the winner at 13:28 by Schultz.

Chiefs ride hot start to victory

Canton came out cooking Friday night and rolled to a 60-27 win over KLAA South Division rival Westland John Glenn.

The Chiefs (9-2 overall, 4-1 in the division) got out to a 19-2 lead after one quarter.

A 34-18 edge in rebounding also helped Canton, led by senior forward Paul Baumgart's 13 points and six rebounds.

Contributing eight points was guard Josh Mayberry, with Scott Gring, Kyle Adams and Jordan Nobles each tallying seven points. Gring led the Chiefs with eight boards.

"I was happy with how we played especially early," Canton head coach Jimmy Reddy said. "We were really good early defensively and made a lot of shots."

The Chiefs, who led 38-12 at halftime, shot 51 percent from the floor (24-of-47).

Franklin dropped to 2-8 overall and 1-4 in the KLAA South.

JOHN GLENN 61, PLYMOUTH 43: Junior guard Nick Daniels drained 10-of-11 free throws on his way to a game-high 24 points Friday as host Westland John Glenn (8-2, 5-0) stopped the Wildcats (4-6, 3-3) in a KLAA South Division matchup.

Isaac Everette added 13 points for the Rockets, who led 28-15 at halftime and 48-30 after three quarters.

Eric Covile and Darrell Bunkley contributed eight points apiece for the Rockets, who nailed 12-of-18 foul shots.

Brendan Swanson and Marcus Oden each tallied 11 for Plymouth, which made 11-of-19 from the line.

PCA 67, PARKWAY CHRISTIAN 53: Plymouth Christian Academy broke a losing streak Friday night, behind center Eric Jipping's 28 points and 18 rebounds. Helping the cause for PCA (4-5) was Mick Noel, with 10 points.

Making grandpa proud

Younger Andy Bathgate making own legacy with Whalers

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Mention the name Andy Bathgate to old-timers around Hockeytown and they'll talk about the former Detroit Red Wings forward who eventually made the NHL Hall of Fame.

But younger fans undoubtedly will have a different Andy Bathgate in mind — the one who is making quite an impression this season with the OHL's Plymouth Whalers.

Compuware Arena fans have been witness to the younger Bathgate's play-making abilities. Through 45 games, he's racked up 14 goals and 27 assists, one of the scoring threats on a team that is running away with the OHL West Division title.

Pro prospect

While those numbers don't automatically suggest a future NHL star in the making, pro scouts are taking a closer look at the Plymouth player's potential.

"I think he's pro potential, for sure," Whalers head coach and general manager Mike Vellucci said. "I've talked to several teams already this year about him and how they like the way he's playing."

"Obviously, the further the team goes (in the OHL playoffs) the more opportunity he's going to get to be seen by NHL guys. I think there's some definite possibility."

Although nabbing a pro contract as an OHL overage player (20-plus years old) is a top priority for Bathgate, he just intends to do all he can on the ice and let any career chips fall where they may.

"My goal my entire life ever since I laced up my first pair of skates was playing in the NHL," Bathgate said. "I kind of stay away from that (talking to pro agents about contracts). I haven't talked to many, I let Mike (Vellucci) do the talking and my agents."

"They just tell me all you got to do is play and they'll take care of the rest. So I'm just trying to do what I can on the ice and let the off-ice stuff be handled by other people."

All in the family

Of course, another "chip" is having a long-time NHL all-star in the family.

Bathgate's grandfather played for the Red Wings in 1965-66 and 1966-67. Last summer, after being traded from Belleville to the Whalers, young Andy asked the elder Bathgate for advice about playing in the Detroit area.

"Yeah, I talked to him,"

College careers loom for Bazner, Guglielmi

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Friendship and baseball go back quite a ways for Ryan Bazner and Rich Guglielmi. They were teammates with the Canton Alley Cats and are rivals in high school, with seniors Bazner and Guglielmi playing for Plymouth and Canton, respectively. And now they'll be on the same side yet again after signing scholarships to play baseball at Saginaw Valley State University. Even better, they'll be a battery — with fireballing pitcher Bazner throwing to catcher Guglielmi. "Rich and I are really good friends," Bazner said. "We used to play baseball together when we were younger so it'll be nice to play on the same team again. "We will definitely push each other to work harder because playing college baseball isn't going to be any easier than high school." Guglielmi said he and Bazner will be roomies at Saginaw Valley, which also is where 2011 Canton grad Chris Perkovich attends and plays baseball. "Ryan and I played travel baseball together for the Canton Alley Cats for four years (10U-13U)," Guglielmi noted. "I caught him when he pitched back then, too." Both received a combination of athletic and academic scholarships. "I am very excited, not many kids get this opportunity and I am going to make the most of it," Guglielmi said. "Playing baseball at the next level has been my goal ever since I can remember." Bazner had a similar take on the opportunity to play college baseball for the Cardinals in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. "I am really excited to be playing baseball at the next level," Bazner said. "It's what I've wanted to do since I started high school and I'm glad I was able to achieve my goal." First will be their senior seasons, with Bazner's Chiefs and Guglielmi's Wildcats doing their utmost to stymie each other. Then they'll start gearing up for college baseball. "We still have a lot of work to do in order to earn a spot in the lineup and play at a higher level," Bazner summarized.

Making it possible
Gambrell's shot from the right circle was stopped by Salem goalie Anthony Veresan. But he slid out of position amid traffic near the crease and Schultz chipped in the rebound.

But if not for Guglielmi stoning Salem junior forward Jack Driscoll on a breakaway earlier in the third, the rally might not have been possible.

Salem head coach Ryan Ossenmacher said it was a disappointing but familiar way for the Rocks to lose a game.

"We put ourselves in a position to win the game and we didn't," Ossenmacher said. "That's our fourth or fifth one-goal loss. It just comes down to little things. If we win a faceoff here, a faceoff there, if we get a puck deep here or there, the outcome might be different."

The Rocks did break out to a 2-0 lead on goals by senior forward Mark McGee (from defenseman Adam Marthaler) and junior forward Jake Fedel (from Austin Sartorius and Kyle Eggenberger).

Plymouth answered with two goals in a 27-second span in the second. Forward Matt Goertz tipped in a blueline shot by freshman defenseman Jake Zaborowski.

The tying goal was scored by defenseman Cam Nadell, from Nick Durak and Burke.

Salem regained the lead with 1:15 to go in the period when sophomore forward Jake Sealy sent a beautiful pass from the left corner into the slot, where McGee rapped it upstairs.

Canton prevails

The opening tilt also was close, with Canton nipping Northville 2-1 in overtime on a tally by senior forward Taylor Baker.

A backhander by senior forward Andrew Gorski (two assists) was stopped by Northville netminder Jake Pawloski. It bounced in front to Baker, who made no mistake at 1:41 of overtime.

"I played hockey with all their (Cigile's) kids before," Baker said. "They're near and dear to my heart, all of his family. We did that one for Rick."

That the winner would come on a hard-nosed play didn't surprise Canton head coach Jeremy Majszak.

"We don't usually pick corners for our goals," Majszak said. "We usually grind it out and work hard for our rebounds. I figured it would be something like that."

Stellar netminding in the clutch by senior Spencer Craig also was key for the win.

Scoring in the first for the Chiefs (6-1 in the KLA) was senior forward Duggan Tear, finishing off an odd-man rush.

The Chiefs staved off Northville in the second period because of the sparkling netminding of Craig.

After Canton coughed the puck up at Northville's blue line on the power play, Cole Brown broke in only to have Craig block the shot with his left shoulder.

Craig and his defense also endured a five-on-three situation for a minute, and this time the goalie sprawled to deny Brent Atkinson at the edge of the blue paint.

Penguins ice D1 champs

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Scouts from Michigan State University and Adrian College picked a good night to watch the Plymouth-Canton-Salem Penguins.

The combined girls hockey team Tuesday night defeated Grosse Pointe South by a 3-2 score at Arctic Edge Arena in Canton. PCS improved to 5-2 overall.

"The girls played so well and we are so proud of them," Penguins head coach Mary Beth Johnson said. "They came out and did exactly what we asked them to do."

"Both of our lines matched their three lines shift for shift."

"GPS is by far the best team we have played so far and most likely the best team we will face all season."

The win by the Penguins, in Division 2 of the Michigan Metro Girls High School Hockey

GIRLS HOCKEY

League, was a big accomplishment because South is the defending Division 1 champion and considered an elite program, Johnson noted.

The Penguins rallied from a 2-0 deficit after two periods, slicing the lead in half at the 2:41 mark. Jackie Lough took a shot from the top of the circle that beat the South goalie, with assists by Mariah Tucker and Nicole Natelborg.

Lough then set up senior captain Emily Bullock for the equalizer with just under six minutes remaining in regulation.

PCS then went on the power play and Johnson called an integral time out "to give our girls a chance to get their lungs and focus on winning the draw" in the offensive zone.

That strategy worked as the Penguins moved the puck around. Natelborg then circled the cage and backhanded a shot under the crossbar with 4:34 to go.

Assisting were Lough and Tucker.

The Lady Blue Devils pulled their goalie in an attempt to force overtime. But PCS senior netminder Kaitlyn Allard held the fort to close out the victory. Allard made 33 saves.

"Both of our lines played the best game that we have seen all season," Johnson continued. "We believe that this game was a huge turning point for us."

"I believe the girls now have the confidence to beat any team in both divisions."

After playing the Walled Lake Wild on Saturday, the Penguins will host Grosse Pointe Woods University Liggett at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Salem JV icers win Showcase

The Salem Prep Hockey Team won the 2012 Midwest Hockey Showcase Tournament, held last weekend in Dearborn. Salem, a junior varsity team that supplies players to the varsity program, defeated Hartland Gold 5-0 in the championship game to go 5-0 over the weekend. There were 16 teams from Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana competing. Salem also defeated Grand Blanc (5-1), Prairie Ridge (8-4), Clarkston (5-0) and Carmel (2-1 in OT). Pictured are (front row, from left) Drew Hazelett, Justin Katulski, Nathan Blank, Taylor Burris; (second row, from left) head coach Hayes, Noah Willer, Steven Homrich, Logan Ross, Nick McCann, Nick Danis, Brendan Teodorescu; (third row, from left) Kory Johnston, Jon Clark, Trevor Mac, Brad Visel, coach Ross; (back row, from left) Mitch Coral, Nathan West, Anthony Zorney.

BATHGATE

Bathgate said. “But he just said that everywhere you go you got to treat everybody with respect, you just got to enjoy it.”

He thoroughly enjoys chatting with his grandfather about hockey, even though so much about the game has changed since the mid-1960s.

“It’s safe to say I wouldn’t be here without my grandpa’s advice,” Bathgate said. “He was my coach for about eight years when I was younger. He just behind the scenes taught me the little things and stuff.

“I come out after a game and he just knows how to pick out the little things, where you think ‘God, how did he know that?’ It’s amazing how different the game was back then, but still how much he knows. His advice is unbelievable. I never get tired of listening to him.” There’s also been a kind of family feel to his experience with the Whalers that he didn’t have in Belleville. For starters, he enjoys living with his billet family (the Bushes), as does teammate Dario Trutmann.

“I didn’t live with anybody for four years, I kind of grew accustomed to that,” Bathgate said. “I had my privacy and stuff. But living this year with Dario, a ton of fun. He’s a great guy, easy to get along with. I’m enjoying it.”

Winning culture

And at the rink, Bathgate takes on a kind of big-brother persona with the 16- and 17-year-olds on the squad.

He also is relishing that opportunity, mainly because there weren’t wide-open lines of communication between younger and older players at Belleville.

“My first couple years, talking to an older guy was rare, very rare,” Bathgate said. “Here, rookie or a fifth-year guy, it doesn’t really matter. “Everybody gets along. It’s a lot better environment to win.”

Another obvious plus is playing on a never-say-die team with a number of first-round NHL draft choices and other players with big-league talent.

“It’s a lot of fun here,” Bathgate said. “I’m playing with Ricky Rake-ll, J.T. Miller, Stefan Noesen. They make it real easy on you.”

Those players would probably say that very observation applies to Andy Bathgate.

Salem depth sinks Chiefs

Veteran Salem coach Chuck Olson credited good team depth for the Rocks’ 103.5-82.5 win over Canton in a KLAA boys swimming and diving dual meet.

“This meet showed our depth because even though we only won four events, we still won the meet,” Olson said.

Those firsts were turned in by Jason Zhang (100 freestyle) and Turner Solterman (100 breaststroke) in individual events and in the 200- and 400-freestyle relays.

“It was an exciting meet from start to finish and everyone swam well,” Olson noted. “Jason Zhang got two state cuts, in the 200 IM and 100 free. Turner Solterman got first place in breaststroke (1:04.82). All of the relays were good, too.”

Zhang’s state cuts were for his second-place time of 2:02.59 in the 200 IM (Canton’s Jay Jin won that event with a time of 2:01.60) and first in the 100 free (49.24).

The quartet of Jeremy Wellman, Solterman, Jerry Bai and Zhang took second in the 200 free relay and first in the 200 medley relay. Salem’s B relay teams also finished within the top three in both those events to contribute to the Rocks’ victory.

Comprising Canton’s victorious 200 medley relay team were Adrian Simion, Victor Zhang, Jay Jin and Mike Carlson, taking that event with a time of 1:41.99.

Winning two individual events for the Chiefs were Victor Zhang and Jin, with Carlson, Simion

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Salem to host baseball clinics

Youngsters will have their chance to again learn all about baseball from Salem’s varsity players and coaching staff.

The annual Salem Varsity Baseball Clinic will take place Saturdays March 24 and 31 in the high school gym.

For a fee of $28, kids will get three hours of instruction, focusing on pitching, hitting and all phases of fielding, along with a T-shirt.

Each player should bring a baseball glove and hat to one of the following sessions, space permitting:

Session 1: Saturday, March 24, 9 a.m. to noon, ages 11-14; 14; Session 2: Saturday, March 24, 1-4 p.m., ages 7-10; Session 3: Saturday, March 31, 9 a.m. to noon, ages 7-10; Session 4: Saturday, March 31, 1-4 p.m., ages 7-10.

Space is limited to 75 participants per session, so early registration is encouraged.

For more information, call Mary Theisen at (734) 354-9181 or e-mail salem-rocksbaseball@gmail.com.

Play GCYBSA ball

Registrations are now under way for the Greater Canton Youth Baseball Softball Association’s baseball and softball programs.

The GCYBSA offers progressively developmental recreational baseball and softball programs for players age 4-18 from Plymouth and Canton. GCYBSA is also is home to a Competitive League and travel programs (Boys Cardinals, Girls Pride Fast Pitch).

For more information, go to www.gcybsa.com or contact Coralee Ott at (734), 394-5358, via e-mail at cott@canton-mi.org.

Take Pride

GCYBSA’s 10U Girls Pride Developmental Travel Softball Team is looking to expand its roster for 2012.

Tryouts for the squad will take place 5:30-7:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 27 and Friday, Feb. 3, at Precision Baseball, located at 7835 Market Street in Canton. The team will play games in the Western Wayne County League and in two or three tournaments.

To register to attend tryouts or for more information about this team, please contact Rob Nader at (734) 812-3501 or (734) 495-1156 or via e-mail at cott@canton-mi.org.

1st pitch for MU baseball

Terry Foster of WXYT-FM (97.1) and The Detroit News will be the featured speaker as the Madonna University baseball team will stage its annual 1st Pitch banquet beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 28, at the Italian American Club in Livonia.

Tickets, which are tax-deductible, are $60 each or $110 per pair. Youth tickets are $30 (12 and under).

Table sponsorships are also available and reservations must be received by Jan. 20.

Raffle items are also needed as donations.

For more information, call Bill Hardin at (734) 560-0820 or e-mail bjhwolves@aol.com.

Pitching clinic

Detroit Tigers pitching coach Jeff Jones will be the featured instructor at the pitching clinic hosted Sunday, Jan. 22, by the Livonia Stevenson High baseball program.

Jones will be joined by former pro pitcher Dave Marcon, owner and scout of Indy Pro Showcase, along with the Stevenson coaching staff.

Session I (ages 9-12) will be from 10 a.m. until noon followed by Session II (ages 13-18) 12:30-2:30 p.m. at the Stevenson fieldhouse.

The cost is $40 (checks should be made payable to the Stevenson High School Baseball).

For more information, call Stevenson baseball coach Rick Berryman at (734) 455-8623; or e-mail Berry3724@aol.com.

Youngsters hit the mats at Garden City novice tournament

By Ed Wright
Observer Staff Writer

Hundreds of young high school wrestlers stepped out of the shadows of their older peers and into the spotlight at the Jan. 14 Garden City Novice Wrestling Tournament.

The annual day-long event drew freshman and sophomore grapplers from 31 area schools.

Wayne Memorial enjoyed a stellar day on the mats as the Wolfpack took home three of the four most valuable wrestler awards.

Wayne's Kevin Marz won the top honor in the sophomore division's lower weights, while the Wolfpack's Aaron Mauldin was the 10th-grade upper-weights MVW after plowing through the competition at 215.

In the freshman competition, Allen Park's 119-pound Ben Lewis was named the top wrestler in the lower weights, while Wayne Aaron Heinonen earned the plaque after dominating the 152-pound weight class.

Among the Observerland standouts in the sophomore division were Livonia Clarenceville's Alan Zhen, who placed first at 103 pounds; Farmington's Jackson Tomski, who edged Wayne's Tyler Mulligan 6-4 in the 112-pound title match; Clarenceville's Denzale Leonard, who was the 140-pound champion; Garden City's Brenden Spehar, who won gold at 145; Livonia Franklin's Mike Gorman, who went 4-0 at 152; and Plymouth's Joey Shaver, the gold medalist at 160.

Observerland freshman champions included Canton's Jacob Thorton (130), Clarenceville's Domanick Slagle (140), and Salem's Mitchell Gross (171),

Seniors key Rocks, 'Cats

Seniors Alex Brown, Jake McCabe and Ali Ajami highlighted Salem's 45-12 dual meet victory over visiting South Lyon East Wednesday night.

Rocks coach Pete Israel's team won all but three bouts in the KLAA Central Division matchup, Salem's final home meet of the regular season.

"Overall (it was) a good meet," Israel said. "Our seniors stepped up for their last home dual meet."

Brown actually won by void at 171, but McCabe needed just 66 seconds to pin South Lyon East's Caleb Fasse in 189. Ajami's victory at 285 was a 7-3 decision over Dom Corpulando.

The Rocks showed muscle with four other falls. Those included Joe Taylor (103) over Aaron Horn in 49 seconds; Alex Arble (112) over Caleb Hill in 3:11; Cody Korpus (119) over Noah Keffer in 1:29 and Riley Dostader (140) over Eddie Clark in 1:18.

Rounding out the loss-sided match victory were voids by Caleb McCabe at 125, Matt Lang at 145 and Tyler Gross at 160.

Salem did lose in two closely contested bouts. At 135, Jesse Strickland earned a 23-20 win over Hamad Abed while 215-pounder Luke Patterson nipped Tony Agostini by a 4-3 count.

Israel's squad took part in a challenging tournament this weekend, namely the 50th Annual Jim Mooney Williamston Wrestling Classic. Results were not available as of press time.

Wildcats romp

It also was a good "Senior Night" for Plymouth's varsity wrestling team with Wednesday's 60-15 KLAA South Division victory over visiting Livonia Churchill.

Winning up and down the lineup for the Wildcats were Brandon Harris, Trey Berry, Chase Kallil, Jon Conn, Hussein Youssef, Said Youssef, John Rubio, Matt Walsh, Joey Shaver, Matt Ayoub and Faris Abraham.

The Wildcats will wrestle Canton and Westland John Glenn Wednesday at Livonia Churchill.

Glitz and glamor

Auto show charity preview raises $3M for kids

Area residents were among the luminaries who filled Cobo Center at the North American International Auto Show 2012 Charity Preview Friday, Jan. 13.

"What a night," said Bill Perkins, chairman, NAIAS 2012. "We were thrilled that ticket sales were up over 20 percent from last year, and as of show time we were 12 tickets short from our goal of 12,000 tickets sold, so the Detroit Auto Dealers Association purchased the remaining tickets, and we reached the $3 million mark."

The black-tie crowd was served 4,200 bottles of champagne, 1,000 pounds of beef tenderloin, 20,000 bottles of wine, 35,000 bottles of beer from the Detroit Beer Co., 1,200 pounds of shrimp, and 2,100 pounds of deli meat. Five hundred limos filled the streets and 378 cans of hair spray held it all together.

Proceeds from the event that mixed glamour and everything automotive support vital services for children of all ages in the Detroit area.

Beneficiaries of the Charity Preview include: Boys & Girls Clubs of Southeastern Michigan, Boys Hope Girls Hope of Detroit, The Children's Center, Judson Center, The Detroit Institute for Children, Think Detroit PAL, March of Dimes, Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation and the DADA Charitable Foundation Fund, a fund of the Community Foundation for Southeast Michigan.

Charity Preview, Detroit's premier black-tie gala, was made possible by Charter One, part of the RBS group. The event is widely regarded as the largest single night fundraiser in North America.

Saad Chehab, Chrysler brand president, WDIV-TV morning traffic reporter and Westland resident, Ashlee Baracy, and Jennifer Chehab were among the 12,000 metro Detroiters at the Jan. 13 charity preview. Baracy is wearing a paper dress made from Chevrolet and Toyota brochures and designed by Matthew Richman of Royal Oak.

Rescues offer disaster training, Persian cats

Emergency training

You can learn what it takes to handle and move animals to safety during disasters such as fires, tornados, hurricanes and floods through a three-day workshop, Feb. 17-19 at the Summit on the Park, 46000 Summit Parkway, in Canton.

The Humane Society of the United States will offer its Disaster Animal Response Team Training, an introductory course that covers such topics as team response and procedures; animal care and handling; emergency animal shelters; equipment; responder health and safety; disaster preparedness for individuals and households, animal facilities, and communities; the Incident Command System; legal issues; communications; and teamwork.

The training will give participants an understanding of the skills needed to aid animals during a disaster in their communities and beyond. "They could end up assisting anywhere around the country. You need this training to do that," said Brad Sharp, city of Canton maintenance manager.

Sweaters for naked cats

New Beginnings Animal Rescue (NBAR) is accepting donated sweaters and blankets to help keep its rescued — and shaved — purebred Persian cats warm. The group took 10 of 31 cats rescued from a neglectful home in western Michigan last week, shaved off their urine-soaked and matted fur and then bathed them before making the cats available for adoption. Several have already gone to new homes. The others are in foster care.

"Normally we only take owner-surrendered animals, but we were contacted by another rescue who needed our help. When we learned about the situation, how could we say no?" stated Jennifer Fritz, NBAR vice president and a Garden City resident.

"All the cats have been fully vetted and ready for a loving home. Most of the cats didn't even have names, they were known simply as numbers. We are looking forward to seeing them learn how to develop bonds and friendships with the people around them — that's something they were never allowed to do before."

Before-and-after pictures are posted on the group's Facebook pages. Visit www.nbarmichigan.org for more information on fostering, adopting and donating sweaters.

Girls learn to invest, help others

By Sharon Dargay
O&E Staff Writer

Middle school girls and their moms will become global investors at a workshop next month in "micro-lending" presented by Zonta Club of Northwest Wayne.

They'll also learn how their dollars can help women world-wide to establish and grow their own small businesses.

"We've never lost a dollar in this lending," said Sally Randall, Zonta Club member. "Zonta has done micro-lending for a long time and it has been good to us. It's amazing how buying a goat, or seeds or a sewing machine can make a difference in women's lives. And that's what Zonta is about."

During "Micro-lending 101," 1-3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11, at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, mothers and daughters will choose an overseas project online for their investment. Randall said loans average about $25 and that each mother-daughter investment team can track the investment over several months. Recipients use the funds to maintain or establish their own businesses.

"It's always good when young kids can learn the value of community service," Randall said, adding that the project "builds a bond between mom and daughter."

"It's a good experience for mom to see that there are clubs out there also helping to support women."

Zonta was founded in 1919 in New York as a networking vehicle for businesswomen. The second club was established in Detroit, Randall said.

"It was a way for business women to stick together and help each other."

The organization today is world-wide, with clubs in 67 different countries. Its mission is to improve the lives of women worldwide by enhancing the legal, political, economic, educational, health and professional status of women through advocacy and service. Club members promote the organization's mission both locally and globally.

The Northwest Wayne chapter is a part of District 15, that includes Michigan and portions of Ontario, Canada.

Christy Hicks, the District 15 Jane M. Klausman 2011 Scholarship winner, will lead Micro-lending 101. The Eastern Michigan University graduate student is working toward a master of science degree in human resources and organizational development.

Register for the workshop online at zontanorthwestwayne.eventbrite.com. For more on Zonta locally, visit www.zonta15.org.

Don't throw it away yet

I did a seminar the other night at the Novi Library and I want to thank all of you folks who showed up and asked very intelligent questions. You came from all over and many are readers of this column.

Appliance Doctor

Joe Gagnon

The consensus of the audience is that they are not happy with their new major home appliances. I stressed the quality issue today and pointed out that many of their old products may just outlast something they may purchase brand new.

Every week I receive several e-mails pertaining to a non-working appliance and I reply to each and every one of them. Many times, with a little guidance from the old white-haired appliance doctor, a reader will fix something without the need of a service technician. Take the man who had a 20-year-old refrigerator which was in excellent condition but wouldn't operate and only made clicking sounds when it tried to come on. I told him that he could have a bad compressor which could cost $600 to replace. I also advised him to spend $30-$40 to replace the relay and overload on the com-pressor and he could do it himself, which is exactly what he did. He wrote me back to tell me I was dead on and that the refrigerator now runs just fine.

David writes: "We have a Maytag washer about 20 years old that has given us excellent service with very few repairs required. Just lately the washer is starting to move around quite a bit. The washer sits level on the floor and we are only washing for two people. The adjustment screws seem to be adjusted properly. Do you know what might be causing this to happen now?"

Here is an example of a consumer who owns one of the best washers ever made. It's 20 years old and this well-made product of years ago has been known to last for 54 years. The problem could be that the lock nuts on the leveling legs have worked loose after all these years of vibration and simply need to be readjusted and tightened with a pair of channel locks. The rubber feet on the legs similar to casters under a chair are all worn on the edges and need to be replaced. The very common occurrence of a wooden floor weakening from years of strain could be the problem. I suggested placing a glass of water on the clothes dryer and turning on the washer. This is a good indicator of a floor being the source of the problem. In David's case, it would be a shame to send that old machine to the scrap heap. Those old Maytags would need new belts and a new roller kit for the motor carriage assembly and easily last another 20 years.

Mike and Cathy write: "We have had an ongoing issue with holes in our soft cotton clothing, particularly the underwear and lightweight cotton T-shirts. They appear as small holes and can be larger at times. We have looked at both the washer and dryer trying to find what may be causing this and are a bit stumped."

This is a tricky question to answer without offending the woman of the house, so I'll put it into a statement of fact. Some women wear brasieres with built-in wire supports. These wires will wear through the fabric and can snag other clothes causing little or large holes. It took years as a service technician to find this out.

The message to homeowners in this column: Don't be so quick to shop for a new appliance when the one you have may last a lot longer. If you have a question, contact me. It doesn't cost anything. If it comes to getting a service technician, I can help you with that as well. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twmi.rr.com

Medical Director of Therapy, Dr. M. David Jackson, oversees patient care and progress

Four Seasons orthopaedic and stroke patients are in good hands thanks to Dr. M. David Jackson and his partners at Rehabilitation Physicians.

Jackson, a U of M Medical School graduate, is also assistant clinical professor at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

"Our team is another set of professionally trained physicians assessing patients and making sure their rehab is headed in the correct direction," said Jackson. "The goal is to get patients back home; some may be long-term patients that we're getting back to their baseline."

Jackson sees patients individually and makes sure nothing interferes with their treatment plan. "We're frequently in facilities more than any other type of physician. We see where patients are making progress or lagging behind and make suggestions to therapists."

THE JOINT-KIDNEY CONNECTION

There are no kidney conditions that cause arthritis, but any doctor treating a patient for a joint problem knows that the status of the patient's kidneys determines what medications will be appropriate for the joints.

The critical point is in the regulation of the blood supply within the kidney. Kidney blood vessels are arranged in tufts and it is this arrangement that allows the kidney to filter out excess salt and water. In turn, chemicals within the kidneys, called cyclooxygenases, regulate the size of the blood vessels and determine how well the body will regulate salt and water balance.

The joint-kidney connection comes up because the medicines so often used to treat the pain of joint disease, such as ibuprofen, naproxen, sulindac and etodolac, block the action of the cyclooxygenases. The result is a decreased kidney blood supply; that change can lead to renal failure.

The problem becomes worse in older people. A person in his 70's may have normal kidney function. Even so, kidney reserve at the age or older can be small. Giving even a small dose of ibuprofen or a similar drug may cause the kidneys to begin to fail. Doctors do not lose sight of this possibility even in their hardest older patients, and so use caution in prescribing any of the common anti-inflammatory drugs.

The other joint-kidney connection is that the kidney rids the body of many anti-arthritis drugs. The best example is allopurinol, a medication used to treat gout. If the patient with gout has kidney insufficiency, then the doctor decreases the usual allopurinol dose. A reduction in dose is necessary to account for increased and prolonged presence of allopurinol that occurs when the drug is not eliminated in the normal manner.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorneys J.B. Bleske and Jennifer Alfonsi have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And they personally meet with all clients' and appear personally at all court hearings. Many large firms assign inexperienced attorneys to your case. And some of these firms are located thousands of miles away and only fly the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bleske has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on various television programs. Both attorney Bleske and Alfonsi have also been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

Bleske and Alfonsi represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. Their Livonia office is on Six Mile Road just west of I-275. Their Novi office is located on Haggerty Road just north of 12 Mile Road. Call them at 1-800-331-3530 for a free consultation if you have been denied, or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits.

ECKERT, JOSEPH

Of Burton, age 95 died Tuesday, January 17, 2012 at the St. Mary's Hospital, Livonia, MI. Funeral Services were held Saturday, January 21, 2012 at St. Nicholas Orthodox Church, 2143 S. Center Rd., Burton, MI. Rev. Fr. Matthew Peter Butrie officiated. Interment at Evergreen Cemetery. Visitation was Friday with a Parastas Service prayed at the Brown Funeral Home 1480 E. Hill Rd., Grand Blanc, MI and Saturday at the Church. Joseph was born September 6, 1916 in Flint, MI to Czech parents Joseph A. and Theresa (Malce) Eckert. On September 1, 1942 Joe married Mary Ananich. He received his early training in Music at the age of six, when his father began teaching him the violin. Polka music has always been the center of Joe's family and he enjoyed the reunions and gatherings of his family at which time all the musical members of the family provided the music they all love. Joe became a member of the Polka Hall of Fame in 1988. Joe retired from the Personnel Department of Fisher Body in 1977 after 42 years of service. He served in the U.S. Army during WW II for three and a half years in the European Theatre. Joseph is survived by children Joseph A. (Kyle) Eckert, James (Sherrie) Eckert; nine grandchildren; ten great-grandchildren; several nieces and nephews. Preceded in death by wife Mary; daughter Joanne and two sisters. Contributions will be made to Joe's favorite charities. Condolences may be left on-line at www.brownfh.com

ELIAS, FIFY J.

Passed away on January 17, 2012 at the age of 94. Dear mother of Ellen (Les Spalding) Elias, Jim (Janice) Elias, and Thomas (Elizabeth) Elias. Loving grandmother of Erica, Elijah, Natalie, Alexis, and Sophia. Sister of Joe Joseph, Helen Joseph, Robert Joseph, and Thomas Joseph. You would always feel welcomed when you visited the family owned Elias Brothers Market on Plymouth Road in Livonia in the 1960's and 70's. Fify knew your name, and the names of your kids and parents as well. Always quick with a smile and a joke, you knew this wasn't an ordinary check-out lady. She had a special spirit. If you ever knew her, you would not forget her. Even after the passing of her husband and store founder, James T. Elias in 1972, Fify continued to be the personality of the store and the glue that held things together. Services were held at Vermeulen Funeral Home-Plymouth, and interment at Glen Eden Memorial Park. Memorial offerings to Hospice Care of Southwest Michigan, 222 North Kalamazoo Mall, Ste. 100, Kalamazoo, MI 49007.

GALLENINE, WILLIAM "DON"

January 13, 2012, age 89 of Bloomfield Hills. Loving husband of Beverly. Dear father of Scott (Becky) and Ross (Joanne). Grandfather of Rachel, Zachary, Lisa Fader (Daniel) and the late Mary Catherine. Great grandfather of Trinity Fader. Funeral service was held Tuesday, Jan 17th at A.J. Desmond & Sons Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Visitation was Monday with a Masonic service under the auspices of Berkley Lodge #536 F.&A.M. Interment Acacia Park Cemetery. Memorial tributes to The Goodfellows or First United Methodist Church of Birmingham. View obituary and share memories at: www.DesmondFuneralHome.com

HEES, KATHLEEN STICKNEY

Kathleen Hees passed away on Tuesday, January 17, 2012, the direct result of a fall a few days earlier which had caused massive head trauma. She was 67 years old. Kathy was born in Clawson, Michigan on November 9, 1944, daughter of Thomas Harry Stickney and Garnet Widgren Stickney, where she spent most of her youth in Plymouth, Michigan, and attended and graduated from Plymouth High School. In 1984, she married Ron Hees and moved to Gaylord, Michigan, to the community of Michaywe, where the couple enjoyed friendships and golf while she helped her husband with his several business interests: in 1987 they acquired a residence in Florida and spent the last several years splitting time between the two states. Kathy's bright, sweet disposition and loving smile brought her many lifelong friends and these, along with her daughter Cherie, were the joys of her life. She always had time for any and all of them. Kathy is survived by her husband, Ron, a brother, Michael Stickney of Howell, Michigan, and daughter, Cherie Pizzala, of Vanderbilt, Michigan, along with many other aunts, uncles, cousins, and other relatives. Her wishes were to be cremated; there will be no funeral but arrangements will be made for memorial services both in Florida and Michigan at sometime later in the year. In lieu of flowers or other gifts, it is suggested that anyone wishing to make a contribution in her name may do so through either (a) Hospice of Palm Beach County, 5300 East Avenue, West Palm Beach, Florida, 33407 or (b) Hospice of Michigan, 400 Mack Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, 48201.

Online condolences may be made at www.aycockfuneralhome.com. Arrangements entrusted to Aycock Funeral Home, Jupiter.

May you find comfort in Family and Friends

HALL, JEANNE LYNN
December 2, 1958 –
December 23, 2011

Jeanne passed away unexpectedly on December 23 at Mount Nittany Medical Center in State College, PA. Jeanne was an Associate Professor at Penn State University, in the College of Communications, Department of Film/Video and Media Studies, for nearly 20 years. Jeanne loved teaching and was very proud to be a member of the faculty at her beloved Penn State, where she was honored by her colleagues and the Penn State community at a memorial held at the University on January 12. Jeanne was a celebrated and respected faculty member, admired for her passion and dedication to teaching. She was regularly recognized for her outstanding contributions and received many awards, including the College of Communications Alumni Association Excellence in Teaching Award. Jeanne was also a five-time winner of the prestigious Faculty Marshal Award, an honor bestowed by each of the university's top program graduates and presented to the single most influential professor in that student's entire college journey. Her students often said that Jeanne's genuine interest, care and support transformed their lives, both personally and professionally, making the biggest impact on their college experience and future careers. The Hall Family wishes to extend sincere gratitude for the numerous heartfelt notes and letters from current and former students. After graduating from West Bloomfield High School, Jeanne earned Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, and subsequently earned her Doctorate in Film Studies at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. Jeanne began her professional career at the Ohio University School of Film, where she taught for three years, followed by her long career at Penn State. Jeanne was deeply loved and cherished by her family, and her many friends, and was the adored aunt of 14 nieces and nephews – to borrow one of her favorite phrases, she rocked! Jeanne is survived by her parents, Clark & Joyce Hall of West Bloomfield, sisters Kathleen (Frank) Gierpny and Cheryl (David) Lindsay, and brothers, Mark (Jodi) Hall, Thomas Hall, and James (Kristin) Hall, and nieces and nephews: Brian, Michael, Andrew and Christopher Gierpny; Alex and Clark Lindsay; Jacob, Matthew and Patrick Hall; Kyle, Casey and Bobbie Hall; and Bobby and Laurel Hall. Messages and memories may be posted online at the Koch Funeral Home Guest Book for Jeanne Hall, at www.kochfuneralhome.com. A memorial service will be held Sunday, January 29 at 2:30 pm at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, 405 East Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, MI. Contributions in Jeanne's honor to the Jeanne Hall Penn State Memorial Fund are gratefully accepted, and may be sent to: Kevin Musick, College of Communications, 301 James Building, University Park, PA 16802. Contribution checks should be made payable to Penn State, with the memo line reference "Jeanne Hall Memorial."

Keep kids safe during outdoor play

Old man winter brings the perfect snowy, icy conditions for outdoor fun, but also sets the scene for thousands of injuries that result from such cold temperature activities as sledding, skiing, snowboarding, and skating every year.

Many injuries to children can be prevented if parents take a few simple precautions.

"It begins with providing the proper clothing, safety gear and sun screen and by ensuring their child stays hydrated," said Amy Teddy, coordinator for the Safe Kids Huron Valley Coalition. "In addition, providing children a snowboarding or skiing lesson before they head to the slopes will provide them with the necessary skills to not only reduce their frustrations but also their risk of injury. Finally, parents need to have their children come inside periodically to warm up and prevent hypothermia or frostbite."

Approximately two out of five traumatic brain injuries among children are associated with participation in sports and recreational activities. Studies indicate that wearing a helmet can reduce the risk of impact forces to the brain. Safe Kids Huron Valley recommends children always wear helmets when sledding, skiing, snowboarding, or playing ice hockey.

Children sledding or skating outdoors in the winter can help avoid injury with proper equipment, such as a helmet, and warm clothing.

Here's additional tips for parents to keep their children safe this winter.

Proper Clothing

- Dress your child in layers — warm close-fitting clothes, a hat, boots, waterproof gloves or mittens, and a scarf or face mask.

- Make sure your child's scarf is tucked in so that it doesn't get entangled in lifts, ski poles, or other equipment.

Sun Protection

Cover your child's exposed skin with sunscreen to protect their skin from the sunlight, which reflects off the snow.

Safety Gear

- Make sure your child always wears sport-specific, properly fitted safety gear. For example, knee pads are just as important for snowboarding as they are for field/ice hockey.
- Helmets always should be worn by children when they ski, sled, snowboard, snowmobile, and play field/ice hockey. Make sure your child wears a helmet that is appropriate for the particular activity or sport because there are different helmets for different activities.

- Keep the helmet well-maintained, and it should always be properly fitted to your child's head. Replace the helmet as soon as it has been hit hard or involved in a crash or impact. Even though there may not be any visible damage to the helmet, it will not effectively absorb the impact of a future crash or may have a hair line crack invisible to the human eye.

Staying Hydrated

- Encourage your child to drink water before, during and after play in order to stay fully hydrated. Here are some general guidelines to prevent dehydration:

- Before an activity drink 12 ounces of fluid every 30 minutes.

- During an activity children under 90 pounds should drink 5 ounces every 20 minutes and children over 90 pounds should drink 9 ounces every 20 minutes.

- After an activity drink every 20 minutes during the first hour after the activity to make up for fluid loss.

Safe Kids Huron Valley is among 16 coalitions covering 34 counties in Michigan that are dedicated to preventing accidental injury to children, 1-14. Other chapters in southeastern Michigan include Safe Kids Metro Detroit, Safe Kids Monroe and Safe Kids Macomb. # Before They Were Famous: Celebrity Career Aspirations

Kate Lorenz,
CareerBuilder.com Editor

Deciding what you want to be when you grow up can be difficult. And even if you're set on being rich and famous, having something to fall back on can't hurt.

While it's hard to imagine pop culture without these icons, here's a look at some celebrities' career aspirations before they made it big:

- When comedian and former "Saturday Night Live" cast member Will Ferrell graduated from the University of Southern California with a degree in sports information, he took a job as a sportscaster on a weekly cable show. But he found that his calling was in acting and stand-up comedy. He later played a newscaster on the big screen in "Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy."

- Eva Longoria attended Texas A&M-Kingsville, graduating with a degree in kinesiology. After graduating, she entered a talent contest, went to Los Angeles and was signed by an agent. After stints on soaps including "General Hospital," "Beverly Hills, 90210" and "The Young and the Restless," Eva Longoria landed a role as Gabrielle Solis, on the popular television series, "Desperate Housewives."

- Instead of joining his father's oil business, Matthew McConaughey attended the University of Texas in Austin intending to become a lawyer. He reportedly changed his major to acting after discovering an Og Mandino book "The Greatest Salesman in the World" and girls all over the world have been swooning since.

- After being discovered by an agent in a pizza parlor when she was 11 years old, Natalie Portman began a career in modeling, which she later bypassed to concentrate on acting. Her role as Queen Amidala in "Star Wars: Episode I -- The Phantom Menace" and Oscar-nominated role in "Closer" heightened her status as a Hollywood star. She took time off to study at Harvard University in Boston, Massachusetts, majoring in psychology. Although she intends to continue acting, she also plans to practice psychology.

- Before becoming an Academy Award-nominated actress and successful hip hop artist, Queen Latifah (a.k.a. Dana Owens) studied broadcast journalism at Borough of Manhattan Community College. She considered pursuing a career either a newscaster or a lawyer.

- Denzel Washington attended Fordham University to pursue a career in journalism before getting involved in student drama productions and being drawn into acting. He finished his degree and moved to San Francisco attending the American Conservatory Theater for one year before pursuing acting work and later earning multiple awards.

- "Charlie's Angels" star, Lucy Liu attended New York University before transferring to the University of Michigan where she graduated with a major in Asian Languages. During her last year of college, she landed the lead role for her school's production of "Alice in Wonderland" that launched her career in acting.

- Before Benicio del Toro was in "Traffic" and "Sin City," he studied business at the University of California at San Diego. Although his father wanted him to become a lawyer, del Toro secretly changed his major to acting and later dropped out to study the craft in New York City.

- Before playing a Harvard law student in "Legally Blonde," Reese Witherspoon attended Stanford University, majoring in English literature. The actress took a hiatus from her educational pursuits to take on roles for the movies "Freeway" and "Fear," and eventually earned an Oscar in 2006 for Best Actress in "Walk the Line."

- Years playing the piano in "Pretty Woman" and tap dancing in "Chicago," attended the University of Massachusetts in Amherst on a gymnastics scholarship. He studied philosophy, but dropped out of school after two years to pursue acting with the Seattle Repertory Theatre and New York's Provincetown Playhouse.

SUDOKU

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
