The 2012 Michigan Woman's Championship Chess Tournament was held Sunday, Nov. 11, in Warren and two East Middle School sixth graders won trophies in the reserve section.

Anna Sun won first place, while Julia Shen won second place.

The tourney was organized by the Michigan Chess Association.

The new Canton Township Board of Trustees will be sworn in a short, small ceremony at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the meeting room at Canton Township Hall.

Board members

— Supervisor Phil LaJoy, Clerk Terry Bennett, Treasurer Melissa McLaughlin and trustees Steven Sneiderman, Tom Yack, Pat Williams and John Anthony

— will be sworn in by 35th District Judge Michael Gerou, a Canton resident.

Drive nets 38,000 diapers for bank

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Canton grandmother Phyllis Bordine suffered sticker shock when she picked up a box of diapers and saw the $24.99 price tag.

"I almost keeled over," she said. "It didn't stop Bordine and other donors from helping the Detroit Area Diaper Bank by filling up a box truck with 38,954 disposable diapers during a two-day Stuff the Truck campaign that culminated Thursday night outside the Canton Public Library.

"It's a wonderful cause," Bordine said, dropping off diapers with her 20-year-old grandson, Adam Thomas. She spread the word to two local churches she attends to help Canton volunteer Marybeth Levine inch closer to her goal of collecting 200,000 diapers by Thanksgiving for a holiday-season distribution to social service and nonprofit agencies across southeast Michigan.

In its fourth year, the library's latest Stuff the Truck campaign shattered records and pushed Levine's fall effort to 182,440 diapers — just 17,560 diapers shy of her 200,000 goal by Thanksgiving.

"I'm hopeful we will meet it," Levine said, standing outside the box truck loaded by a Canton catering company, Fat Chef in a Little Coat.

Police training goes high-tech with new system

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

It's not quite RoboCop, but short of hiring cyborg officers, the future is now for Canton police.

The 86-officer department is buying a high-tech, interactive training simulator system that uses more than 500 crime-scene scenarios to heighten police skills ranging from talking a suspect out of a threatening situation to last-resort shooting to kill.

By early next year, Canton expects to have its MEO Range Pro 4 system in place. Similar to a crime-fighting video game, it uses a large movie-type screen and computer technology to improve judgment in use-of-force options such as deploying a baton, a Taser, pepper spray, a pistol or an assault rifle — or simply using voice commands.

"It challenges the officer's judgment skills," Public Safety Director Patrick Nemecek said.

Without dipping into the police fund, the department is buying the $33,695, award-winning system from Ann Arbor-based IES Interactive Training. The money comes from a $10,000 gift given by the Ford Motor Co. Fund through the Canton Community Foundation, a $5,000 donation from the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Association and $18,695 from a federal Justice Assistance Grant and local crime-related forfeiture dollars.

"Despite the current economic challenges," Canton Special Services Lt. Todd Mutchler said, "we believe it is imperative that officer training remain a top priority."

Fighting crime

James Vella, a Canton resident and president of the Ford Motor Co. Fund and Community Services, IES sales manager Jesse Wimmer and Canton Foundation President Joan Noricks visited the Canton Police Department as police officials Wednesday unveiled the latest crime-fighting tool.

Local authorities are getting the firearms and use-of-force simulator as local officers within the last two years have encountered an increasing number of suspects

College Board honors district's AP program

Students in Scott Milam's Advanced Placement Chemistry class at Plymouth High School observe labs on dilution and compounds.

Over the last couple of years, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools administrators have removed some of the barriers to taking Advanced Placement classes, allowing students more opportunities to challenge themselves with a more rigorous curriculum.

As a result, more students are doing just that, and succeeding at it. And the improvement is drawing notice.

The College Board has recognized the Plymouth-Canton Education Park for the achievement, placing it on its "AP District of the Year 3rd Annual Honor Roll" listing as one of just over 500 districts nationwide to make such progress.

The award recognizes the district for "opening AP classroom doors" to more students while maintaining or improving the performance of its students.

DIAPERS

"We can turn every dollar into 10 diapers," Levine said.

Library Director Eva Davis said donors still may drop off diapers at the library. "We'll get them to Marybeth."

Davis lauded Levine for collecting nearly 1.5 million diapers since starting the non-profit diaper bank in April 2009. Levine, a mother of three sons, volunteers her time to help struggling families with a need not covered by any government safety-net programs.

"For an unpaid, non-profit executive, Marybeth has done a great job getting the word about the diaper drive out there," Davis said. Laurie Golden, the library's marketing and communications manager, said donors started dropping off diapers a week before the Stuff the Truck campaign even started.

"People started calling a month ago to ask about the drive," she said.

All ages

Wixom-based J&B Medical Supply drove a van full of diapers to the Canton library. Livonia's senior center donated nearly 30 packages for one of its many charitable projects.

"It's something the Livonia seniors pride themselves in doing," Jey Howie, recreation supervisor, said. "We're active in the community and the western Wayne County area."

Levine collects diapers for all ages from infants to adults who are incontinent. As she greeted diaper donors Thursday afternoon, volunteer Lisa Kluka of Canton helped load them into the truck. "I like volunteering,"

Marybeth Levine accepts a donation from Carol Emery.

she said, "and I thought this would be an exciting thing to do."

Ginny Garner, a Canton senior, stopped by Thursday afternoon to help Levine and the diaper bank, which provided a storage unit at Canton's Extra Space Storage until supplies are quickly distributed across metro Detroit.

"I think they do a good service," Garner said.

Runners log Turkey Day miles

By Darrell Clem
Observer Staff Writer

Hundreds of people line up outside Summit on the Park for last year's Turkey Trot to raise money to fight epilepsy.

Hundreds of people are expected to start their Thanksgiving Day in Canton by running or walking in a 5K event that raises money for the fight against epilepsy.

"We're hoping to break 1,000 (participants) this year," organizer Michael Murray said.

It's not too late to get involved.

In its 10th year, the Turkey Trot was organized by Murray and his wife, Terri, after their son Justin, now 15, was diagnosed with epilepsy. He has since had a growth removed from his brain and has been seizure-free.

The Turkey Trot raised $16,000 last year alone, Murray said, and the event has become tion dedicated to empowering people with seizure disorders.

Pre-registration is available through Tuesday online at the Canton Sports Center's website, csc.canton-mi.org. Participants also may sign up 3-6 p.m. Wednesday at Summit on the Park's banquet and conference center or the morning of the race, Murray said.

Registration fees are $25 for adults and $10 for participants ages 4-12. Event-day registration starts at 8 a.m. in the Summit banquet room. The children's race starts at 9 a.m., with the 5K run/walk following at 9:30 a.m.

Event awards, raffles and refreshments will be available after the run.

For more information, go to csc.canton-mi.org or call (734) 483-5600.

who are more confrontational with physical violence and weapons.

"This heightened state of aggression emphasizes the need for officers to be trained to respond with the appropriate level of force that will allow them to gain control of a scene as quickly as possible," Mutchler said.

The Milo Range Pro 4 system provides virtual reality training intended to improve police officer judgment, boost confidence in handling potential crisis situations and fine-tune skills for everyday issues officers face in the line of duty. It offers myriad scenarios police might face, and it allows trainee actions to be recorded for teaching purposes.

"It's a very real-life," Nemecek said. Moreover, local officers say better training can reduce Canton's liability in use-of-force situations.

Front line

Wimmer said the system puts Canton on the front line of technology. He said the company has worked with other law-enforcement agencies such as Detroit, Sterling Heights, Lansing and the Michigan State Police.

Canton views the beefed-up training as critical considering the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Association earlier this year released startling statistics that show 173 police officers were killed in 2011 in the United States — up 13 percent from 2010. Some incidents have occurred in metro Detroit.

Initially, the new system is expected to be housed in the police department's basement training room until it is moved to the gun range at Van Born and Valley roads. As an added bonus, it will reduce the use of real gunfire and costs for ammunition.

Canton Township Trustee John Anthony, a retired FBI special agent, called it "imperative" that the Canton Police Department, already lauded by outside agencies for its training efforts, continues to upgrade its equipment so officers are prepared for potentially dangerous situations.

"The better training they get, the better they are equipped to handle the kinds of events," he said. "This (new system) puts the officer in a realistic situation, and it allows the officer to go back on the street with confidence that they have the knowledge and the training to respond accurately to situations they may never have been before."

No contest plea entered in drunken driving death

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

A Plymouth man has entered a no contest plea to charges of driving drunk and causing the death of Garden City man.

Robert John Montgomery, 79, is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 7 on charges of driving under the influence of liquor causing death and a second charge of causing serious injury while under the influence.

Gary West, 56, of Garden City was killed in the July 24 accident at Ann Arbor Trail and Hines Park Drive. His wife,

Montgomery

Susan, 54, was critically injured in the accident.

Police said Montgomery had a .11 blood alcohol level at the hospital following the accident. The legal limit for drunken driving in Michigan is .08.

The accident happened just before 9:30 p.m. Police said the motorcycle ridden by the Garden City couple was southbound on Hines Drive. As the motorcycle approached Ann Arbor Trail, police said a four-door sedan traveling northbound attempted to make a left turn onto Ann Arbor Trail.

"There were four witnesses at the scene who saw the defendant turn left in front of ongoing traffic," said Westland Police Officer Nathan McKee.

The motorcycle dropped to the pavement and began sliding. Police said the motorcycle struck the turning vehicle, causing both rider and passenger to be ejected.

Susan West suffered injuries to her shoulders, legs, arms and multiple broken ribs in the accident. Unlike his wife, Gary West was not wearing a helmet when the crash occurred.

The couple, Garden City residents for 28 years and the parents of three adult children, were known to ride their motorcycle on Hines Drive regularly.

There was no plea agreement made in connection with the no contest plea. Montgomery will be sentenced by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Margie Braxton.

Damage contained in pair of fires

Canton Township firefighters limited the damage in a pair of house fires they had to fight this week.

Firefighters were called to a house fire in the 8200 block of Sandpiper around 9 p.m. Wednesday. When they arrived, they found flames visible from the attached garage and from a second-story bedroom above the garage.

Firefighters "made a quick attack" on the fire, fire department officials said, and contained significant damage to the initially affected areas of the home and garage.

The following day, firefighters were called around 5:30 p.m.

to a house fire in the 5700 block of Corona.

Upon arrival at this fire, firefighters found the fire contained to the basement and "executed an interior attack," department officials said.

Significant damage was contained to the basement, with smoke damage throughout the house. Firefighters rescued two cats from the house.

Officials said both houses were occupied at the times of the fires, and initial investigations, they said, reveal both were accidental in nature.

No injuries were reported in either fire.

AP programs that appeal to a wide number of students," said Eric MacGregor, the district's director of secondary education. "I think they've taken a huge step in attracting more students."

Numbers up

The College Board used data collected over three years (2010-12, ending in June) to determine the honor. They pointed out Plymouth-Canton increased its student participation from 734 to 1,083, while also increasing the percentage of students who earn at least a "3" on the AP exam (the score typically needed to earn college credit) from 86 percent in 2010 to 89 percent in 2012.

The numbers jumped again this year, 1,283 students are taking 2,101 AP classes in 2012-13. The district, after adding AP classes in chemistry, micro- and macro-economics and English language/composition, now offers 19 AP classes.

Jeanne Farina, the district's assistant superintendent for instructional services, said the district has opened its AP doors by removing some barriers. For instance, students used to need things such as a letter of recommendation from a teacher, a certain score in certain classes, and prerequisite classes to qualify for AP placement.

"We needed to find ways to remove the barriers," Farina said. Now, they just need the desire.

According to MacGregor, the atmosphere around the Park has changed. Teachers, he said, "have a new mentality," which is basically AP for all students.

Positive message

When the leadership structure at the Park changed a few years ago, and administrators started taking on a student workload, those administrators also encouraged more AP participation, MacGregor said.

"Those messages of challenge yourself are coming (to students) from a lot of people now," he said. "When they hear that over and over, the student realizes, 'Hey, someone believes in me.'" Superintendent Dr. Jeremy Hughes said the district is trying to meet the message from Lansing, where he said Gov. Rick Snyder is pushing students to be college- or career-ready.

"We're trying to push kids to challenge themselves," Hughes said. "We're glad the efforts we've been making appear to be paying off." Board of Education President John Barrett, himself a former high school administrator, said pushing students is the right way to prepare them for the "real world" that exists beyond high school.

"We're saying to our students, 'If you're going to college, you need to challenge yourselves while you're here in high school,'" Barrett said. "AP opens the door for all students to challenge themselves and be ready for a competitive society."

Achieve students collect candy for troops

Students at Achieve Charter Academy collected 480 pounds of candy to send to troops overseas through Operation Gratitude. The candy will be shipped out on Monday, Nov. 19.

This is the first year the students chose Operation Gratitude as their service project. Melissa Thorne, a community service teacher for seventh and eighth grade, said with the holiday season upon us, it made sense to express thanks to service men and women who are fighting for freedom each and every day.

"I, along with my students, felt that by collecting candy for our troops, we could in a small way express our gratitude for them and all they do," Thorne said. "Having a piece of home, when you are a thousand miles away, is priceless."

Each month, Achieve Charter Academy focuses on a virtue and for November it is gratitude. The students came together at the beginning of the trimester and agreed Operation Gratitude was a great service project to get involved with and show their appreciation for service members.

"We are constantly protected by the soldiers and they show so much courage, it is amazing," eighth-grader Katelyn Puda said. "Doing this project lets me give something back to them."

Operation Gratitude, a California-based nonprofit, has been sending care packages to troops since 2003. The candy will be distributed into care packages that are shipped to members of the Armed Forces serving in foreign land and sea.

NHS seeks family for 5K run

The Plymouth-Canton Educational Park's National Honor Society will host the third annual 5K at the beginning of May on the high school campus.

The event, created in 2011, honors 16-year-old P-CEP student Jesse Lindbauer, who suffered a sinus infection that turned into an abscess which ruptured, causing a traumatic brain injury. The 5K run was created in order to bring the community support to the family and raise money to help defray medical expenses.

After the success of the 5K for the first year, National Honor Society leaders decided to make the 5K for an annual event. Last year, the event brought the community together to support Canton High School's Valchine Family, Plymouth High School's Savage Family, and Salem High School's Cigle Family.

The Valchine family includes mother Joanne and her children Colin, Nolan and Jack. In November 2011 the family lost their father, Pat, with unexpected stage-four cancer. Also battling cancer, Joanne faces challenges providing for her family and keeping up with her medical treatments to fight her incurable cancer.

The Cigle family

includes father Rick, mother Patty and three kids Ricky, Ryan and Jeremy. During a vacation in Florida in 2011 Rick Cigle, an Oakland County Sheriff's deputy, was overturned by the waves, crashing him into the rocky shore, putting him in a wheelchair as a quadriplegic.

The Valchine family includes father John, mother Angie, and two kids Katelyn and Jonathan. After receiving word from doctors that John was in phase four kidney failure due to Polycystic Kidney Disease, the family was crushed. Now awaiting a kidney transplant, all the family can do is hope. Having lost their insurance coverage, the medical bills are piling up. This year, the National Honor Society is once again looking for a family to support with the race. The goal, organizers said, is to select a local family or individual (defined as living within the boundaries of the Plymouth-Canton Community School district) who, as a result of unforeseen life-altering circumstances, finds themselves with a specific need (outside of normal living expenses) which could not be attained without the proceeds of the 5K.

Nominations will be considered by the 5K Committee. For information, email NHS adviser Beth Savalox at beth.savalox@pcss-ma.net.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorneys J.B. Bleske and Jennifer Alfonsi have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And they personally meet with all clients and appear personally at all court hearings. Many large firms assign inexperienced attorneys to your case. And some of these firms are located thousands of miles away and only fly the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Bleske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bleske has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on various television programs. Both attorney Bleske and attorney Alfonsi have also been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Bleske and Alfonsi offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

Bleske and Alfonsi represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. Their Livonia office is on Six Mile Road just west of I-275. Their Troy office is located on Hagerty Road just north of 12 Mile Road. Call them at 1-800-331-3530 for a free consultation if you have been denied, or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social Security benefits.

WAYNE COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICES NOTICE OF DENIAL NATURAL BEAUTY ROAD

In accordance with the provisions of Section 324, subsection 35702 of Act 451 of the Public Acts of 1994, as amended, twenty-five or more freeholders had Petitioned the County of Wayne, Michigan ("County"), to designate a portion of Ridge Road between Joy and Ann Arbor Roads in Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as a Natural Beauty Road, being more particularly described as:

All that portion of Ridge Road in part of the SE 1/4 of Section 31 and the SW 1/4 of Section 32, T1S, R8E, Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan described as follows: Beginning at a point 60 feet North of the intersection of the centerline of Joy Road and the East line of said Section 31; thence Northerly along said East line and centerline of said Ridge Road approximately 1318 feet to a point 65.68 feet South of the intersection of the centerline of Ann Arbor Road and along said East line. Containing approximately 1318 feet of roadway, 0.250 miles.

In accordance with said Act, a Public Hearing was held on Wednesday, October 10, 2012 in the Town Hall Room within the Plymouth Township Hall located at 9955 North Hagerty Road, Plymouth Township, Michigan.

The Hearing Examiner of the County obtained all necessary facts and information concerning the advisability of either granting or denying said Petition and provided all findings of fact to the County's Natural Beauty Roads Evaluation Committee ("Committee") for their recommendation. The Committee made a recommendation to DENY the Natural Beauty Road designation request. The Hearing Examiner then accordingly provided his final decision within the thirty (30) day requirement as provide in said Act.

The Hearing Examiner's final decision is to DENY the Natural Beauty Road designation to a portion of Ridge Road between Joy and Ann Arbor Roads in Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as described above.

True copies of this notice are to be served, posted and published in accordance with the provisions of said Act, as amended.

Holocaust Memorial Center to dedicate new gallery Workers at the Holocaust Memorial Center unload an authentic World War II-era boxcar, the centerpiece of a new exhibit gallery at the museum.

By Jill Halpin
Correspondent

Farmington Hills is home to a piece of history representing one of the darkest periods in humanity: the Holocaust. An authentic World War II-era boxcar that was used to transport millions of European Jews and other victims to concentration camps and their deaths during the Holocaust will be the centerpiece of a new gallery at the Holocaust Memorial Center Zekelman Family Campus.

The new gallery was dedicated on Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The gallery was made possible by a donation from Bloomfield Hills residents Henrietta and Alvin Weisberg, and stands in memory of Henrietta's family murdered in the Holocaust: her parents, Sara and Israel Gastfrajn, and brothers, Ruben and Hershel Gastfrajn.

Now 83, Henrietta Weisberg was just a child when the horrors of the Holocaust touched her family and she is hopeful the exhibit will serve as a powerful reminder of the tragedy.

She said she still has memories of being inside a boxcar as a child. Forced to endure crowded, deplorable conditions, many others perished in the boxcars before they reached their destinations.

"Nothing could have been worse," than being in one of those boxcars, Weisberg said. "While they have done movies and written books, you cannot truly understand unless you were there. I want the world to know what happened during the Holocaust so that humanity will never happen again."

The Holocaust Memorial Center acquired the boxcar in September 2011 with the cooperation of the German National

Alvin and Henrietta Weisberg

Railroad and the Technical (Railroad) Museum in Berlin.

It is believed to be one of the last of such boxcars in existence and the only one exported to the United States from Germany.

"We are very grateful to the Weisberg's for this generous donation," said Stephen M. Goldman, executive director of the Holocaust Memorial Center.

Congratulations Quality Award recipients!

Habitat holds homeowner orientation sessions

By LeAnne Rogers
Observer Staff Writer

If you're interested to buy a home, Habitat for Humanity of Western Wayne County is holding homeowner orientation sessions.

The approximately one-hour sessions will be held Fridays, Nov. 30, Dec. 7 and Dec. 14, at the Resource Network Building, 9349 Telegraph, Redford, in the Redford Plaza Shopping Center. Qualified homebuyers can get a 20-year zero interest mortgage by meeting income guidelines and providing required sweat equity hours working on their home or homes that will be provided to other program participants. The homebuyer orientation will include a video presentation, a review of the criteria to qualify for a Habitat home, a question-and-answer period and application distribution. "I'm really glad that they are holding an orientation. We still have one vacant Habitat house (available)," said Westland Community Development Director Joanne Campbell. In Westland, Habitat has constructed or rehabilitated seven homes — all sold and occupied except one home on Middlebelt. The orientations are open to residents of communities served by the Western Wayne County Habitat for Humanity. That includes Westland, Garden City, Canton, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford, Wayne, Dearborn Heights, Romulus, Belleville, Northville, Taylor and Romulus.

ish blighted abandoned homes through the Neighborhood Stabilization Program. "There are two homes for sale in Annapolis Park and one on Rosslyn," said Campbell. The income levels for each program are the same, Campbell said, but Habitat is better able to deal with potential homeowners who are unable to qualify for conventional mortgages.

Earlier this month, the Westland City Council approved a $4,000 purchase of a duplex at 32245-47 Hillsdale for demolition. The purchase of a home at 29047 Brody for $84,900 for rehabilitation and resale was also approved. rogers@hometownlife.com (313) 222-5428

Workers installed a new emergency sign last week in preparation for Wednesday's opening of the new Emergency Center at St. Mary Mercy Hospital, Livonia.

New Emergency Center now open at St. Mary Mercy

Read what others have to say at hometownlife.com

St. Mary Mercy Hospital opened its new Emergency Center to patients at 5 a.m. Wednesday. Located in the new addition on the southwest side of campus, the new Emergency Center has more than 50 clinical rooms that include private treatment rooms and an expanded Senior ER. The new Emergency Center features include a "racetrack" layout where private patient rooms surround the clinical work area. A new helipad was also constructed next to the new Emergency Center.

The new Emergency Center is within St. Mary Mercy's newest building, a 154,000-square-foot addition that also contains two floors of 80 private patient rooms. The private rooms opened to patients Nov. 5. The hospital is also renovating the semi-private rooms in the North Wing, converting most of them into private rooms.

Experience the New St. Mary Mercy

Inspired by you. Created for you.

At St. Mary Mercy Livonia, we're re-inventing the way you and your family experience a hospital stay with our new three-story addition that boasts a state-of-the-art Emergency Center and two floors of 80 total private patient rooms.

Our spacious patient rooms incorporate natural healing elements, while allowing for technological advancements and plenty of room to accommodate visitors, and even overnight guests.

We've doubled the size of our Emergency Center with over 50 specialized treatment rooms that are separated by walls - not curtains - so our patients will experience more privacy, in addition to less wait time.

We're transforming the future of healthcare by combining medical excellence with the latest technology and unparalleled compassion. And soon after the opening of the new addition in our south wing, we are renovating our north wing patient rooms to private.

Experience the new St. Mary Mercy.

It was safe on or off air, friends remember

By Joanne Maliszewski
Observer Staff Writer

Detroit's own beloved weatherman Sonny Eliot, 91, who died at his Farmington Hills home Thursday.

New York-based CBS Radio, corporate parent of WWJ-Radio, was expected to issue a release on Eliot's death sometime Friday. Johnny Ginopolis called Eliot "a special person" who frequented his restaurant on 12 Mile in Farmington Hills. He remembers Eliot also coming by the restaurant to pick up a carry-out meal for his wife, Annette, who was ill at the time. "He was so concerned about her." Eliot had a number of favorite hangouts in the Hills, including Ginopolis and the Kerby Coney Island on Orchard Lake Road. "I remember when he would come in, he would greet me in Greek," Ginopolis said. "Then he always had a joke for me. He was a very funny man."

A former Eliot colleague remembered the weathercaster's kindness after hearing the news of his death. "I grew up seeing Sonny on TV. He made me laugh," said Jon King, news editor of WHMI Radio in Livingson County. King worked at WWJ News Radio 950 for less than two years. His desk was right next to Eliot's. "He came over and introduced himself. I remember thinking, 'how cool is this?'" he was blown away.

King remembers Eliot's ability to humorously spoof politicians, local personalities and other well-known people from Detroit or those traveling to and through the city. The Sonny Eliot personality who was seen on television and heard on the radio was not an act. "That really was Sonny. He was just as funny off the air. He was the nicest guy. He always had a sparkle in his eye," King said. That sparkle is what state Rep. Vicki Barnett remembers. "I remember of Farmington Hills remembers.

A couple of years ago when Barnett was seeking election and making the door-to-door rounds in Farmington Hills, she knocked on Eliot's door. "He answered the door! I introduced myself and asked him for his vote. "Of course I'm voting for you," he told me. He still had that sparkle in his eye. We were very happy to have him in Farmington Hills." A hometown boy, Eliot (born Marvin Schlossberg) graduated from Detroit Central High School in Detroit and then went on to Wayne State University. During World War II he served as a B-24 bomber pilot and was shot down while on a mission over Germany. He was captured as a prisoner of war and spent 18 months in a prisoner of war camp in Germany. Eliot will be long remembered for his role in establishing the power of television in Detroit. He worked as a weathercaster and on-air personality for all network channels, as well as Channel 50.

He completed his career at WWJ-AM broadcasting twice every afternoon until about two years ago. Whether he was on television or the radio, Eliot was known for delivering portions of the weather forecast in Spanish or throwing in a joke when describing points on the map. Funeral services for Eliot will be at the Dorfman Funeral Home in Farmington Hills today. His family has asked for a private service and shiva. A public service celebrating his life will be held at a later date, according to the funeral home.

All things equal, invest in commission-free funds

By Rick Bloom
Guest Columnist

Money Matters
Rick Bloom

Q: Dear Rick: I was at one of your recent financial talks and I remember how much money I've spent on commissions over the years. I was upset so I called my financial adviser or, as you refer to him, my financial salesperson. When I asked him about the commission I have paid over the years, at first he wasn't very happy with the question. He did respond, however, by saying that since I'm a long-term investor, there is very little difference between commission and commission-free funds. A: You should not believe your financial salesperson when he tells you that there is no difference between loaded funds (commission) and no-load (non-commission) funds. There is a difference. In fact, for the long-term investor, the numbers as to how much commission end up costing are startling.

It is important to understand how commission works. Commissions in the mutual fund industry can run as much as 8.5 percent. What that means is that if you invest $10,000, $850 comes right off the top to pay the commission and that is where it belongs. I recognize there are some very good financial advisers that work on commissions. They will tell you that they work for their client's best interest and commissions are how they get compensated. As a professional, obviously, I have no problem with a professional being compensated for services. However, my problem is that when it comes to mutual funds and investments, commissions mission. Only $9,150 ($10,000 minus $850) is put into the investment. Therefore, if an investment earned 10 percent, then the person who had paid the commission would receive about $915.

The person who invested commission-free would receive $1,000. The difference over one year would not look like a lot, but when you start compounding the difference and multiplying it by the number of years you're in the investment, it is significant. Therefore, when he told you that there's very little difference for a long-term investor, he was not telling you the truth. Either way, you should look at making a change.

As long as I have been involved in the financial world, I have always recommended no-load funds. It is because they outperform the commission funds. Every independent survey shows that the average no-load fund outperforms the average commissioned fund. The bottom line is that people should invest in commission-free mutual funds because they end up putting more money in your and sales incentives are generally hidden from the investor. The average investor that invests in a commission-based investment has no idea what they're paying in commissions or if there were any sale incentives involved. When fees and other types of compensation are not disclosed, there is a reason for that and that is they don't want you to know the high costs you are paying. In general, I believe investors should stay away from commission-based products. Not because all commission-based products underperform, because that is not the case. There are some commission-based mutual funds that have solid performance. However, they are few and far between. The reality is that commission-based products create a conflict of interest. There is a reason why so many companies offer sales incentives. They want the financial salesperson to focus on the sale. Investing is too important to have conflicts of interest. When there are commissions involved, you never know if they recommend a product because it's good for you or good for them. I say take commissions out of the mix and you'll have a better chance to be a successful investor. Good luck!

ARTHROSIS OF THE HANDS

The most common arthritis is osteoarthritis of the hands. The hand joints are enlarged, but unlike rheumatoid arthritis of the hands, the knuckles are not swollen. The enlargement comes from the irregular rim of calcium that forms around the edges of the finger joints.

A hand with changes of osteoarthritis can function well as to grasping, doing fine work such as typing, buttoning shirts or working with the hands in daily work. The medical profession looks on osteoarthritis of the hands as a benign condition, and labels it as non-inflammatory, requiring little medical attention. If discomfort or aching occurs, the physician's recommendation is to take acetaminophen or heat in the form of paraffin wax baths.

In life, osteoarthritis of the hands does not behave in such a mild manner. Attacks of pain in one or more knuckles can begin spontaneously and linger. Physicians cannot fully explain why these flares occur, but irritation to surrounding tissues by the buildup of calcium around the joint likely plays a role.

The problem is how to treat? The pain is unlikely to lessen using heat, acetaminophen or ibuprofen. Dosing with steroids will bring relief, but that resolution lasts only as long as a daily dose of steroids continues. Injections of corticosteroids bring relief, but finger joints are small and accurate injection by the physician is a difficult achievement.

Fortunately, flares are self-limited, usually lasting three to four days, and then resolve. Furthermore, the painful episodes rarely return; it is as if the experience taught the body how to respond.

Give a cheer

Coach savors smiles of her special-needs team

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

Debbie Cross points across the room to a ledge filled with trophies and proudly announces that three of them were received by her VIP team.

For the Wayne resident, the trophies are validation that hard work pays off. Cross is the director for Special Needs Cheer for Michigan Xtreme and the coach of VIP, a special-needs performance cheerleading team at Premier Athletics Michigan Xtreme in Plymouth.

"We have amazing athletes. They all have their individual struggles, but when they come together in the gym, they are just like any other athlete," Cross said. "Their big smiles and can-do attitude are infectious."

Cross started coaching the team three years ago after being approached by Lisa Hemmie, director of Premier Athletics Michigan Xtreme. Cross has coached for Special Olympics for 10 years and does softball in summer and has helped with the Autos for Autism car show for the Burger Center for Students with Autism in Garden City. However, she had "no experience" in coaching cheerleading. Hemmie told her that was no problem and the rest, as the say, is history.

"It's something I've been wanting to do for five years, but before I implemented it, I wanted to have everything in place to handle it and I finally did," Hemmie said. "The kids do a great job. I'm impressed with every kid in this gym."

The VIP team members are 12-26 years old with disabilities ranging from autism and severe seizure disorder to being wheelchair-bound. They practice Sundays at Premiere Athletics and do exhibitions at venues around the Detroit area and in Ohio.

Cross shares coaching duties with Sharon Harding and has five junior coaches who have helped make the team what it is.

"The junior coaches made the team, they made it happen, they knew what we want the team to do and they do it," Cross said. "Sharon came on this year to help me coach. What I miss or I don't see, she does and corrects it."

"I love doing this," said junior coach Wynter Nickles of Farmington Hills. "It's so much fun and I get service hours for school."

Getting started

When Cross said yes to Hemmie, her first phone call was to 26-year-old

The VIP Team's routines include cartwheels, forward rolls and pyramids.

Holly Ranta of Canton and Daniel Cross of Wayne hold up Cassidy Harding in one of the team's stunts.

Holly Ranta of Canton, whom she coaches in Special Olympics. "She loves this. She looks forward to coming and going to all of the events," said her mother Judy Ranta. Cheer is just one of the many activities she does. Holly, who has epilepsy and has seizures every day, also is in two dance classes — jazz and ballet — and swims "like a little fish in water." She plays soccer, basketball, bowling and softball for Special Olympics, but her big sport is track and field.

Despite having seizures daily, she has graduated from Schoolcraft College and has been accepted to the University of Michigan-Deerborn. She hopes to become a special-needs teacher, although she is taking a break this year, her mother said.

"Being accepted was quite an accomplishment," said Judy Ranta.

Janis Huff's daughter Nicole also has done cheer all three seasons.

"It's great when the kids get included in the things the others do," her mother said. "Nicole likes anything showy. She likes her sports, she's very athletic, but she likes the things that are showy and have costumes. She wants to go to Hollywood."

Huff said her daughter, who has Down syndrome, has a "pretty smile, is talkative and isn't bashful."

And it shows. "I love it, it's really good," the 22-year-old

Coach Sharon Harding gives the thumbs up with VIP cheer team member Davette Cotton of Canton.

Nicole said. "This is a good program for me. They make me feel welcome."

Her biggest achievement since joining the team has been being able to do a thigh stand as part of a four-person pyramid, she added.

Huff likes seeing the "big brilliant" smiles on the kids' faces and the support that's given by the other students.

"They show a lot of support, they cheer our kids on," she said. "It's good for them and it's good for our kids."

Diva D

Davette Cotton, better known as Diva D, has a smile that lights up a room. She's the wheelchair-bound member of the team. She holds pomms in her hands and is wheeled around by one of the coaches as her teammates do their splits and jumps.

The cheer team was one of the things her mother, Stephanie Cotton of Canton, wanted to do with her daughter. She got connected with the group through Harding.

"She loves it, she's a people person," her mother said. "She likes the attention and they give her a lot of it. She really likes it and likes showing off while she's here."

"I'm very impressed with this team. Diva fits right in," she added. "They do treat them like VIPs."

The lone male member is Cross's son Dan, who attends Burger Center for Students with Autism in Garden City. He's the base of the pyramid and identifies himself as the team leader.

THE VIP TEAM

What: A special-needs performance cheerleading team coached by Debbie Cross and Sharon Harding.

Where: Premier Athletics Michigan Xtreme, 9229 General Dr., Plymouth

Details: The team practices 12:30-2 p.m. Sundays. Cost is a $35 registration fee and $25 a month plus the cost of the uniform.

Contact: For more information, call (734) 737-0560 or email at mixcheer@premierathletics.com.

"I get to help everyone out on the floor," he said. "If they're not in place, I help them."

At 13, Natalie Anderson is the youngest team member. Her mother Sue found the team on the Internet. There also was one in Shelby Township, but Plymouth is closer to their home in Wixom. She had come thinking it would be a standard cheer team, but saw there was music and "shaking around."

For Nicole, each year has brought a new accomplishment. Last year, she learned to do a somersault. This year, she raises her hands above her head at the top of the pyramid. "What's so nice with cheer is that if you're not so perfect, it's OK," her mother said. "This is something very doable for her. It's really been a nice activity for her."

Like Cotton, she likes how other students gather in front of team and cheers it on. They make them feel welcome.

"And these coaches have been awesome, they include her in everything," she said. "She loves her coaches, she's very comfortable with them."

According to Hemmie, each team member has different abilities and those abilities are put into the routines.

"Whatever they can do, we will try to incorporate them into the routine so they have their own highlight," she said. "It's really interesting to watch them. Debbie has done an amazing job."

"Everything we have them do accentuates their strengths," Cross said.

"Natalie likes to do a forward roll, so we accentuate that. The first time she did one, she screamed, 'Miss Debbie, watch and I had to. It's their huge, huge smiles that make it all worthwhile.'"

Homey diners' career center for Thanksgiving benefit

By Sue Mason
Observer Staff Writer

It was a pleasant surprise for chef Tony Paquette at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center: a line of people waiting to partake of his fifth annual Thanksgiving buffet.

"This was the biggest crowd we've ever had, and we were jammin'," said Paquette, the head of the culinary arts program at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center. "We barely have anything left."

Paquette had planned on feeding between 160 and 180 people for the annual event which raises money for the Wayne-Westland Family Resource Center, but when the luncheon was done, the crowd numbered 235. Every table was filled in the center's Cafe Marquette and a few seats were empty in tables set up in the atrium.

In fact, at 11 a.m. there was a line of people waiting for the doors to open.

Luncheon goers made a minimum donation of $10 for the meal that included turkey with all the trimmings, desserts and beverages. The money raised will be used to provide vouchers for precooked Thanksgiving meals for people who turn to the Resource Center for assistance. What money is left is used for requests at Christmas time, Darren Drewino and Dawn Schoeniner of Plymouth were among people who helped raise money for the Wayne-Westland Family Resource Center.

according to FRC program supervisor Amanda Faughnan.

"I'm in my fourth year with the resource center and I have not had to turn anyone away," said Faughnan. "I'm thankful for the community and for the community coming together and for having such a successful turnout."

"The needs are greater now, I like this because it serves our Westland residents," said 18th District Judge Sandra Cicirelli, who was among city officials who attended. "I usually come and make a donation because I think it's important to help Westland families, and I see that happening with this." Youth Assistance, praise Tablemate Paul Motz, director of Westland job she does working with displaced students in the community.

"When they become homeless, she sees that they get what's required, Youth Assistance is very appreciative of the Family Resource Center," he said.

This is the fifth year, Paquette has put on the benefit. It started "as a whim." His students had been making pumpkin pies for food baskets and Paquette decided to go one step further. He and his students had prepared a Thanksgiving feast, and Paquette invited his friends to come for lunch and help provide meals for needy families. "Now I see the end results now it's to the point where we have a good client base," he said. "As I walked down the line of people, I saw a lot of friends. It was good to see them. I'm really pleased how this turned out. If $35 feeds a family of six, think of how many people will be able to feed today!"

Faughnan told guests that help can come in all shapes and sizes like the four used Matchbox cars that a youngster gave her. The donation came in just before a family in need of shelter after losing everything in a house fire.

"He was so proud to donate those cars," she said. "I saw the family and I saw those cars, so I asked the mother if her son could have them. Those cars made that woman and her little boy's day."

"It's not a question of how much you give, it doesn't matter," she added.

Support for what she does come not only from the community, but from her family. Faughnan's father Chuck was among guests.

"I think this is terrific," he said. "The kids here do a nice job, chef Tony does an excellent job working with them. For us to be able to come and eat and then Amanda be able to help as many as she does is good."

St. Michael's staffers drive truckload of donations to hurricane victims

Peggy Wyns-Madison, principal at Public School No. 15 in Red Hook in Brooklyn, N.Y., and Jenna Utter, third-grade teacher at P.S. 15, accept donations from St. Michael's staffers Laura Rea and Christen Tice. Utter, Rea and Tice are all sisters.

By Karen Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Two staff members at St. Michael's School in Livonia drove a truck full of food and other basic necessities last week to Hurricane Sandy victims in New York.

The donations went to families of Public School No. 15 in Red Hook in Brooklyn, N.Y., where their sister, Jenna Utter, teaches third grade.

Laura Rea, an after-school care provider at St. Michael's, and Christen Tice, who teaches fourth grade at St. Michael's, made the trip Nov. 8-10 in a truck donated by Bob Sellers Pontiac GMC in Farmington Hills.

"Parents from Jenna's school asked for help," Rea said. "A lot of the families at Jenna's school live in the projects. The amount of aid getting to them isn't enough. They don't have enough food and basic necessities. Rather than go through some of the larger traditional organizations, Christen and I decided we could drive there directly."

Red Hook is among the parts of Brooklyn hit hardest by the hurricane Oct. 29, Rea said. "It is right on the waterfront, and the school was under 25 feet of flood water," she said.

Tice said the residents of Red Hook, home to the largest housing project in the United States, already live with very little and many of them lost what little they had.

Cleanup efforts are still in the beginning stage, she said.

"The lights did not have any power, and we saw many downed trees. We did see work crews cleaning up the mess, but lots of people were outside walking around," she said.

"The thing that stood out for me was the fact that I still saw noticeable damage even though the storm happened two weeks ago. In addition, we passed by several gas stations, most of which were closed. The gas stations that were open had long lines of people waiting for gas with gas cans."

Tice said her sister's class has been going to another school in the Red Hook neighborhood since Nov. 1 and sharing classrooms with those teachers and students. On the first day "back" at school, her sister had two students. On Friday, the day her sisters arrived with the truck full of donations, she had 15 of her 17 students back in class. The two absent students were staying with family.

Utter's home did not have any damage since she lives more inland than her school neighborhood.

The food and necessities were donated mostly by St. Michael's families.

"As soon as my sister Jenna told me about the damage at her school, I knew the St. Michael's community would be able to help," Tice said. "It humbled me that in only two days our families donated so much."

Donations included blankets, hats, gloves and mittens, non-perishable food, hand sanitizer, cleaning products, diapers, toiletries, socks, snacks and gallon-size Ziploc bags.

Help came from beyond St. Michael's as well.

"Co-workers of parents gave monetary donations," Tice said. "I personally had a student who put out letters in her neighborhood and her dad brought the items collected with him to conferences."

Tice said the experience showed her students at St. Michael's how blessed they are and how gratifying it can be to help others.

She said Bob Sellers provided the truck with only a day's notice. "It shows me there are still giving people out there," she said.

To My "Guardian Angel" Jonah.

As I'm sitting here writing this letter to you, so much is flashing through my mind.

How a man that I've never met, let alone know, took me under his wing and carried me through all that I have. How do you tell someone thank you that has done so much for you!

Jonah, I am humbled and I am overwhelmed! I thank you so much for all that you have done. I wanted to make sure you would be proud of me! I worked hard in Therapy. Thank you for helping me through my healing process, with my nursing care, medicine, feeding, physical therapy, occupational therapy and administrative needs. I want you to know that from my heart, you have done so much for me! I'm succeeding in my goal of healing in my total hip replacement. I also want you to know while I was at Westland Nursing & Rehabilitation Centre, so many people were so kind and caring. It was a wonderful place to go to heal and recuperate from an injury.

The administrative office, doctors, nursing, CNAs, therapy department, kitchen and staff, maintenance, grounds keeper, etc... everyone was so kind and helpful. Mr. Jonah, you have a wonderful establishment and a great staff of people working for you! They care about the people they care for. You are a wonderful man, with a heart of gold and a soul that will be rewarded over and over! Each day I thank God that he has his Earth Angels here on earth looking out for those who are in need. I am overwhelmed and thankful for all that you have done for me. A friend forever in my heart!

Always and forever,

Darlene Woodard

P.S. My "Earth Angel" will always be in my prayers! I'm walking better each day.

BOYS HOCKEY PREVIEW — PART 2

New-look Chiefs eye quick start

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

The first week for Canton's varsity boys hockey team will be a challenging one, featuring matchups against campus rivals Plymouth and Salem.

Yet Chiefs second-year head coach Jeremy Majszak prefers to take the longer view as to whether his team will be one to reckon with in 2012-13.

"He said it will take a while for the group to mesh, largely because there are so many newcomers trying for regular minutes.

"We only returned three kids on forward but we added a lot of speed and creativity to our lineup," Majszak said. "We've got a lot of young players that are eager, tenacious and ready to play."

Canton's offense could light it up inside KLAAs rinks once players gain some experience.

"I think our offense is pretty prolific," Majszak said. "We have some very good depth where we can roll most of the lines. They move the puck really well and they're really fast.

"Offense might not come out right away, but game by game, period by period the offense is really going to make a jump."

At the top
On the top line will be senior captain Matt Cox, centering junior Colin Smith (a defenseman in 2011-12) and sophomore Connor Wherrett.

Majszak is banking on natural center Cox piloting up goals and assists thanks to moving up from the second line and shifting over from the wing, his previous spot.

"The big thing is Cox played winger for the past two years for us," the coach said. "Which really did not play to his type of game."

As for Smith, one of the team's top blueliners last

Holiday food drive game

Salem is hosting Canton at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 24 at Plymouth Cultural Center for a big campus-rivalry boys hockey game. But pucks aren't all that will be dropped, if all goes to plan.

Spectators are asked to bring at least one non-perishable food item to the rink. Those items will be donated to Open Door Ministry in Canton.

Meanwhile, Salem players will also volunteer their time distributing food to those in need during December or January.

Bring toys to hockey game

High school hockey fans have a chance to catch a game and give to Toys for Tots.

On Wednesday at Canton Arctic Edge Arena on Michigan Avenue near Belleville/Canton Center, the Canton Chiefs and Plymouth Wildcats will drop the puck in the KLAAs South Division opener for both squads.

Spectators, however, can get a $10 discount coupon for an oil change at Dick Scott Dodge in Plymouth provided they bring a brand new toy to the 6:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve game. (It is requested that stuffed animals not be donated.)

Other highlights of the evening will include a raffle (with proceeds benefiting Plymouth-Canton Educational Park hockey programs) and Dick Scott-hosted "Score-O!" between periods.

With the latter, participants will be trying to score from center ice and win a 2013 Dodge Dart from Dick Scott in the process.

Baranovska All-Academic

Madonna University senior middle hitter Nastija Baranovska (Riga, Latvia) has been named to the Capital One Academic All-District first team as selected by the members of the College Sports Information Directors of America.

A first-time honoree by CoSIDA and Capital One, Baranovska now moves on to the national ballot and is eligible to earn Capital One Academic All-America honors this year.

A two-time All-Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference first-team selection, Baranovska is an English major with a 3.91 grade-point average.

She is a two-time Academic All-WHAC selection and earned NAIA Scholar-Athlete honors last season.

Rocks pin big hopes on the 'little things'

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

After stringing together several outstanding seasons, Salem's varsity boys hockey team struggled through an up-and-down 2011-12.

Veteran head coach Ryan Ossemacher and returning players want to hit the ice in full flight this time around, looking to return to the top of the KLAAs South Division standings.

It will mean paying more attention to "the little things" in games that hurt the Rocks last season, when the team let numerous leads slip away and wound up fourth in the division (3-6-1-1) and 9-15-1-1 overall.

With that in mind, a wall inside the revamped team room at Plymouth Cultural Center features an inscription — picked by players over the summer.

"The seniors picked out a quote this year that

Canton senior lineman Cameron Dillard (No. 77), holding his decal-covered helmet, points the way for teammates during pregame warmups.

Dillard ready for life's next chapter

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

Cameron Dillard has plans to go a long way in life, even if he wasn't able to make it to Ford Field to try for a football state championship.

Make no mistake, the Canton Chiefs senior lineman — who is verbally committed to playing Division I football at Florida — loves to make things happen on the gridiron.

But he won't take any credit that comes his way. Instead, he points squarely to his strong faith and family. Or he'll deflect attention away from himself toward his Canton teammates and coaches.

"I had a good ever since I was on the varsity squad as a sophomore to help lead my team to Ford Field (where the state finals take place)," Dillard said. "Unfortunately, I couldn't make that happen.

"However, you do not always get what you wish for, you get what you work for and I know my teammates and I gave it our all.

"It is difficult to look ahead after a tough loss (in the play-offs against Plymouth) on my college career, but I have to say I am blessed because I get the privilege to use my God-given ability at the next level."

Plenty of pride

Dillard is a load in the trenches, standing 6-foot-4 and weighing 290 pounds. He's a friendly teddy bear once he removes his helmet — completely covered with "Pride Stickers" for individual and team accomplishments.

"One sticker that we wore on the back of our helmet that I wanted to point out was a gold ribbon honoring a local Canton kid who had childhood cancer," Dillard said. "We wanted to bring awareness to this cause."

Following that Oct. 26 pre-district loss to Plymouth, helmetless Dillard made the rounds, hugs and shoulder-pads slaps to anyone who approached him.

Because the North Carolina native is as genuine as they come, there's nothing phony about those gestures, from those giving or receiving them.

And now, he gets ready to graduate and carry on to Florida. He'll make a pit stop in Texas first.

Heartfelt praise

Considered one of the elite linemen in Michigan, Dillard

Strong as steel

JON VESPAZIANI

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers junior varsity football team completed a perfect 10-0 season on Sunday by upending the Canton Lions, 29-12, in the Western Suburban Junior Football League's Super Bowl at Saline High School. The Steelers, who are coached by Angelo Lanava, outscored their opponents, 285-70, this season. The Steelers' varsity squad defeated the Dearborn Heights Redskins in Sunday's third Super Bowl contest. A team photo and a recap of that game — along with the Steelers' freshmen team's narrow loss to Ypsilanti in Sunday's first Super Bowl clash — will appear in Sunday's Observer.

Open Days in Livonia Full Service

Cheerleaders' Emily tops all-area boys carries

FIRST TEAM

Steve McEvilly, Salem: The fourth-year varsity runner had much to do with what coach Steve Aspinall called one of our most successful seasons in a decade with a number of top-10 finishes.

At the Wayne County meet, he earned first-team honors with a fourth-place showing of 16:18.48. He then placed sixth at the conference meet (16:31.91) and fifth at the Division 1 regional at Willow Metropark with a time of 16:24.42.

At the D1 finals at Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn, his mark of 16:05.9 earned him a tie for 53rd place. That time also was his personal best and ninth fastest in Salem history.

Steve has been a leader, both officially and unofficially for our team since his freshman year," Aspinall said. "He is one of the most dedicated and consistent runners. I have ever coached and coaching him has been a true pleasure."

The coach added McEvilly's "work ethic, leadership and dedication" will follow him wherever he opts to run after graduation.

Central Michigan, DePaul and Miami (Ohio) are among college choices he is considering.

Keanan Jones, Franklin: The sophomore placed first last year by finishing 74th in the D1 finals with a time of 16:17.0.

Jones earned an individual qualifying spot by taking 10th at the regional (16:26). He also placed third in the Livonia City meet (17:27) at Cass Benton and second in the Kensington Conference meet (16:24).

"Keanan had a tremendous season capped off with an excellent performance at the state meet," Franklin coach Jeff Weaver said. "Keanan was a leader who possesses a great work ethic for the team to follow. I look forward to his improvement and accomplishments in his junior season."

Zane Berlanga, Plymouth: The junior put together a consistently solid season, featuring a personal best of 16:22.5 at the D1 first and second-place finish at the KLAAX Kensington Conference meet (16:45).

Other notable performances included placing 10th at the Wayne County meet (16:34.42) and 12th (16:29.87) at the D1 regional (both at Willow Metropark) and coming in tied for 85th with Salem's Chaz Jeffress at the D1 finals at MIS.

"His second place at the conference meet showed that he is one of the top runners in the area," coach John Milkosz said. "Zane has so much talent and hasn't come close to reaching his full potential yet."

"I am looking forward to his senior year and seeing how much farther he moves up on the record board."

Berlanga won't have far to go, as he currently is the sixth-fastest runner in Plymouth school history.

Brandon Dalton, Plymouth: Dalton capped off an outstanding four-year career with his personal best of 16:23 at the D1 state finals at MIS, which earned him 89th place overall.

The seventh-fastest runner in team history, he also finished eighth at the Wayne County meet (16:31.46), 19th at the conference meet (16:55.79) and 15th at regional (16:30.85).

"His hard work paid off as he made it to his second state meet where he ran a PR of 16:23," Milkosz said. "Brandon is not only a great runner but a great guy out of runner."

He is the type of runner you want as a coach because he never wants to disappoint you; he gives his all in every race. He will be hard to replace next season."

Chaz Jeffress, Salem: Thanks to the big-time season enjoyed by Milkosz, it looks pretty certain that Jeffress will pick up Salem's baton from soon-to-graduate McEvilly.

One of the top freshman runners in Michigan, he improved times from the 18s to 17s to 16s all year and made it all the way to the D1 finals.

Jeffress was instrumental to Salem's second-place finish at the D1 regional at Willow Metropark on a time of 16:22.48 (fourth place).

He will be a PR of 4:58 enabled him to lead the race through the one-mile marker.

He then finished in a tie for 85th at the D1

Lindman is a two-time recipient of the Mike McGuire Award as Farmington High School's most outstanding runner. In his final race, he ran a lifetime best time of 16:35 at the Division 1 state meet, finishing 120th and eighth among Observerland boys.

Lindman is a two-time Farmington Public Schools individual city champion. He rested that title with a 2012 time of 16:43 at Oakland Community College.

He was 20th in the Oakland County meet (16:46) at Kensington Metropark and 17th in the regional (16:41) at Hess Hathaway Park in Waterford. Both times are team records for those courses.

"Drew's competitive desire and dedication to off-season training have helped him steadily improve over his exceptional career," coach Charlie Stamboulian said. "In two of his four years, we were OAA Whole Division champions as a team, and the other two we were runners up. Obviously, we couldn't have accomplished any of that without him."

"Drew will truly be missed on our team. He is not afraid to work hard and has a successful future in front of him. He is looking forward to the track season as well as continuing to run in college."

Ben Yates, Churchill: The senior was a state qualifier finishing 185th after finishing ninth and posting a personal best time of ninth at the regional.

"Ben had a very good senior season to end his high school career at Churchill," coach John McGreedy said. "Ben improved significantly from one season to the next and culminated his season by running in the state finals. He worked very hard in his off seasons to accomplish this."

Yates also placed seventh at the KLAAX Invitational (16:54.3), ninth at Wayne County (16:34); 11th at Monroe Jefferson (17:16); 13th at the Kensington Conference (16:49), and 22nd at the MSU Spartan Invitational (16:56).

"Ben is a tremendous leader and role model who is loved by his teammates," McGreedy said. "He was a captain his junior and senior years. He is also an honor student, Eagle Scout, a talented musician and is very active in his church community. It has been a pleasure and an honor to have coached him these past three seasons."

Jacob Colley, Stevenson: The junior was the Livonia City champion and took 13th overall in the regional with a season-best 16:30.17. Colley was 12nd overall at the state finals (16:36.6) and added a 11th-place finish at the Kensington Conference meet.

"Jake's leadership was the key to our team's success," Inch said. "He ran especially tough in the championship phase of the season. Without Jake our team doesn't make it to 'states.' I will miss his leadership."

COACH OF THE YEAR

Steve Aspinall, Salem: About the second-year head coach of the Rocks earned the Observer Coach of the Year award, if it were up to him he would choose the honor for every runner on his squad.

Early on, victories were posted at the DeLaSalle and Traverse City invitations. The Rocks went on to finish second both in the competitive KLAAX Central Division standings and conference championship meets.

Perhaps the highlight was Salem's runner-up finish at the D1 regional meet at Willow Metropark. Another noteworthy showing took place at the D1 finals as the Rocks placed 10th.

"For me, Aspinall said every varsity runner ran a personal best either at the conference, regional or state championships."

"In addition to the excellence displayed throughout the season, the team earned academic all-state honors with 35 of 49 members earning a grade-point average of 3.0 or better."

"We had a very successful year as a team and it was a direct result of the work that was put forth during the summer," Aspinall said.

"We had around 25 guys there nearly every day for summer conditioning runs, led by the senior class."

"The 15 seniors will be dearly missed, but we are confident some of the younger guys will step up to fill their shoes."

Aspinall added the program keeps growing and gaining competitive status. "Usually we have a group break 18:00, the most in school history," he continued. "We return eight of those guys next year."

finals with a mark of 16:22.5. The latter was the fourth best by a ninth grader.

Other highlights included finishing 19th at the Wayne County meet with a time of 16:43.71 (third team all-county) and placing ninth at the conference meet (16:37.99).

"Chaz is a rare talent who has the ability to be one of the top runners in the area for the next three years and we have set lofty goals for the future," Aspinall said.

Ross Cecil, Franklin: The sophomore earned an eighth-place finish at the regional (16:26) to earn an individual qualifying spot in the state finals.

Cecil took 159th overall in Division 1 meet (16:51.7) and added a fifth in the Kensington Conference meet (16:30), as well as a 14th in the "Vigilant" Coaching Legends meet where he turned in a personal best 16:18.

"Ross had a breakout season and became one of the top runners in our conference as a sophomore," Reador said. "One of his most impressive performances was in the regional meet where he took eighth. Ross has unlimited potential and I look forward to his continued improvement next season."

Stephen Fenech, Stevenson: The junior helped the Spartans earn their first berth in the Division 1 state finals in 10 years.

Fenech finished took 109th overall at MIS (16:20.6) after placing 13th at the regional (16:33.18).

He also placed sixth at Wayne County with a personal best of 16:25.4 and added an eighth in the Kensington Conference meet.

"Stephen was our number one man in most of our meets," Stevenson coach Chris Inch said. "He battled a groin injury the last quarter of the season. I am confident he will work hard this winter in preparation for a strong track season."

Drew Lindman, Farmington: The senior standout concludes his high school cross country career with a third consecutive selection to the All-Observer first team.

Don't look back for Crusaders women's basketball team

By Brad Emmons
Observer Staff Writer

It may be hard for Madonna University women's basketball coach Carl Graves to temper his early season optimism.

The Crusaders have impressed in two exhibition games losing by only 11 to NCAA Division I foe and Mid-American Conference champion Eastern Michigan (75-64) and by just five to NCAA Division II opponent Northwood Michigan (58-53).

MU was picked third in the WHAC preseason coaches poll, behind only No. 7-ranked Concordia and No. 12 Davenport.

The Crusaders, who finished 8-10 last year in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference, will more than likely start five seniors.

"We've got great leadership and we'll just five seniors that are all pretty good basketball players," Graves said.

"They're being great role models for a lot of the young kids in the program that are really talented."

"Our practices are at a higher level, so when we go into a game they're all really confident and they play hard."

WOMEN'S HOOP PREVIEW

Right now it really doesn't matter who we play."

Michelle Lindsey, a 5-foot-9 senior guard, returns as the team's leading scorer after averaging 13.1 points en route to WHAC Newcomer of the Year and third-team All-Conference honors.

Lindsey, a transfer from Hillsdale College, was joined on the All-WhAC preseason team by Kaylee McGrath (Livonia Stevenson), a 6-1 senior center who averaged 12.7 points and 6.8 rebounds per game last season.

Rounding out the starting five are 5-8 senior guard Shanette Herring (9.0 ppg), who poured in 23 points against EMU; 5-7 senior guard Heather Pratt (9.2 ppg); and 5-9 senior guard Kristie Porada.

An added bonus is the return of 5-9 sophomore guard Rachel Melcher, who missed all of last season with a torn anterior cruciate ligament after averaging 8.6 ppg as a freshman.

The Crusaders will also relay on three local products to provide bench support, including Chelsea Williams (Livonia Franklin), a 5-8 sophomore transfer from Wayne State; Molly Knoph, a 5-1 walk-on point guard from Stevenson; and Justice Dean, a 5-7 freshman guard from Garden City.

"I'm not a roster is guard-heavy for sure."

Among the other backcourt hopefuls are sophomore Yazmen Hamid, freshman Dominique Mosby (Farmington Hills Mercy via University of Dayton), freshman Whitney Fox and freshman Taylor Hinkson.

Reserve frontcourt players include 6-4 freshman Connor Morrish, a transfer from McNeese (La.) State of Missouri, and another walk-on from the volleyball season, along with 6-0 sophomore Hayley Stempion and 5-10 junior Carrie Kloster.

"We definitely have more depth," Graves said. "Usually we have two seniors and maybe one or two seniors that are leaving the program, and very rarely are those senior kids that have played for four years."

Out of this group, four of the five have been here for four years and the other (Lindsey) is a transfer."

year, it won't be a problem moving to forward. "Colin has a really good shot, amazing vision and he dominates the corners when he's in there," Majszak said.

The team also will rely on the line of returning juniors Christian Flack, Ian Fagan and sophomore newbie Matt Taliaferro to light the lamp with regularity.

"Taliaferro has potential to be a breakout player and be a leading point getter," the coach said.

Both Flack and Fagan, meanwhile, provide experience and ability that Majszak said is key to the line's success.

"They're both returning juniors after pretty good sophomore seasons for us," he said. "But now with a very, very depleted roster, being a returning player brings a lot of weight. They're really stepping up."

On the third line will be returning senior Charlie Steslick, paired with junior Kurt Snow (JV points leader in 2011-12) and sophomore Tom Kiddle.

"He (Kiddle) brings a lot of size, he's really good in front of the net," Majszak said.

The fourth line is comprised of junior Cooper Rice along with senior Drew Oldani and sophomore Jon Winberry.

Smith's move from defense to forward is a spot on one of the top pairings, but the Chiefs should be in good shape thanks to senior co-captain Brad Ceci and senior Chandler Berlin.

Focus on defense

They are the two returnees who saw significant ice time last year when Canton (8-3-0) won the KLAAT South

Division and finished one point below conference winners and eventual state champion Brighton.

Augmenting Ceci and Berlin will be first-year senior and co-captain Dillon Schlapp, senior Craig Allard (a first-year varsity player) and sophomore Hunter Schlapp (Dillon's brother). "The big thing we're focusing on this year, as we do every year, is defense first," Majszak emphasized.

Strong play on the blue-line will help ease the burden for the goalkeeping duo of varsity newcomers senior Jacob Dugan and junior Justin Kolbicz. They follow Spencer Craig (2012 grad) and Robbie Beydoun, who decided to play AAA hockey this year.

Majszak said Dugan and Kolbicz each will see plenty of ice time, with decisions about who to play often depending on their recent showings both in practices and games.

Rounding out the roster are senior defenseman Steven Miller, Mark Montante and sophomore blueliner Bryan Eastman.

recently was named to play in the inaugural 2013 Football University International All-Star Games, slated for Jan. 1-5 in San Antonio, Texas.

"I definitely feel blessed with the honor and opportunity to play on such a national scale in January," Dillard said. "It wouldn't have been possible without the support of my parents, my coaches and, most of all, my teammates."

When Dillard does reach his college home for the next four seasons, he will bring with him the same work ethic, tough-as-nails character and unflappable belief system that were prevalent at Canton.

"When I first moved to Milan from North Carolina and drew Canton as my high school," Dillard said, "I didn't realize I would be a part of a great program with the best coaches who have treated me as their own." Dillard said his coach (Tim) Baechler and the rest of the staff always taught me that I will carry with me beyond Florida is never give up on my dreams, regardless (what) people say."

Giving up on anything isn't in the vocabulary of Dillard, Baechler or anybody connected with his team. That especially held true for the seniors on Canton's 2012 squad.

"This team, it didn't matter what their won-loss record was, these seniors gave everything they had," Baechler said following the loss to Plymouth. "In the off-season, our chemistry was great."

"That's what I'm really sad about is we got to say good-bye to these guys. ... I love these guys, they're a great senior class."

Keep it going

Even though Dillard is about to make an impact in Florida, he led by words and example to help teammates who will be back with the Chiefs next fall.

"I tried to show my teammates that if you sacrifice, commit and learn how to deal with failure at times," he said, "achieving goals will be easier in life. Additionally, 'Pain is temporary, success lasts forever.'"

Especially for quality people who never quit, such as Cameron Dillard. That high standard is what he wants future Chiefs to aspire to.

"I would like for the underclassman to continue what we started as seniors," he said. "Which is to do what's important and what is right, rather than to do what feels right."

Who knows, those who do might get the biggest helmet sticker of all.

they wanted to put on the wall in the locker room," Ossenmacher said. "They came up with 'Greatness is a whole lot of little things done well.'"

"And that translates to hockey, little things like wearing faceoffs, taking the body, backchecking, things that don't necessarily show up on the score sheet but in the end add up. I think last year some times when we gave up leads it was just the little things."

Ossenmacher stressed that, despite their below-500 record, the 2011-12 Rocks were very competitive most of the time. But for 15 returning players, they will be fired up to smooth out some of the rough spots.

"Last year's team, we said the coach, prior to Wednesday's scrimmage against D1 finalist Grosse Pointe North. "We held leads in 18 games but only won nine games. We competed."

"If you look back at some of our games, we competed against some of the better teams. We tied Brighton and they won the state championship."

A knee injury suffered in August by senior defenseman and assistant captain Evan Patton will challenge the rest of the blue-line corps (led by senior captain Kyle Downey) until January at the earliest.

Tough to replace

Yet despite Patton's

injury and the graduation of D1 all-star first-teamer Mark McGee (who led Salem with 29 goals last year), Ossenmacher is confident this season's squad will be more balanced and feature improved depth.

"You don't replace guys like that (McGee), we don't expect somebody to step up and score as many goals as he did," Ossenmacher noted. "He was pretty much a goal-a-game guy. But in the meantime, I don't think we have to replace him with one guy."

"I think we've got more guys this year spread throughout the lineup that can score and I find sometimes as a coach that can be a little easier."

The Rocks will be counting on two "pretty high-end" lines to put pucks behind opposing netminders — hopefully beginning with season-opening games Wednesday at Novi and 8:30 p.m. Saturday against Canton at PCC.

Centering one of the trio is senior and assistant captain Alek Zultovskki (the top point-getter in 2011-12) with junior Jake Sealy centering the other.

Mixing and matching as their linemates will be juniors Jack Driscoll, Nick Danis, Jason Newell and senior (and assistant captain) Jake Fedel.

"We've got more speed up front than we've had in a long time," Ossenmacher said. "It'll be centering Driscoll, Danis, Fedel and Newell."

"Between those six guys I think that's where the bulk of our scoring's going to come from."

Other forward lines will include returnees (senior Adam Marthaler, juniors Cam Nixon, Spencer Thompson) and newcomers (senior Kory Johnston, junior Jon Clark and sophomore Noah Willier).

They'll be on D

With Patton sidelined, the Rocks will be relying on Downey and juniors Cam Clark and Colin Pietron to bolster the defense. All are returning blueliners who "know what to expect."

They will be joined by three players who Ossenmacher is optimistic will be top contributors. Those are juniors Justin Katuski, Stephen Homrich and sophomore Noah Saad.

"He (Saad) is one of the more-gifted defensemen we've had," the coach said. "So he's going to play quite a bit."

"Justin and Stephen are both from our prep (JV) team. This year, every single player that made our team except one came from our prep team."

Salem goalies Anthony Veresan (senior) and Parker Godfrey (junior) will vie for playing time.

"Not only do we expect more from our defense men and forwards this year, the returning guys, we expect more from our goalies too," Ossenmacher said. "They're going to compete for a job."

"Whoever is playing well is going to play. We don't have a clear-cut No. 1."

Wildcats hang on to down Farmington

By Dan O'Meara
Observer Staff Writer

It was a rough opening night for the Farmington Public Schools hockey teams Friday as both lost in the Metro High School Invitational at Novi Ice Arena.

Livonia Stevenson skated to a 5-2 win over North Farmington-Harrison, and Farmington came up short in its game with Plymouth, 4-3.

The Falcons had a breakaway in the first minute, but they didn't get a shot on goal. When play went the other way, Josh Smith scored the first of two goals for the Wildcats (2-0-0).

Farmington made it 1-1 with a goal by Nick Gensheiner, but Plymouth went ahead 3-1 in the second with power play goals by Smith and Michael Schultz. The Falcons got with-in one again when Nick Kozoro netted a goal midway in the third period. But the Wildcats answered again 26 seconds later as Zack Taverne restored their two-goal lead, 4-2.

Drake Cole's goal with 2:27 remaining gave the Falcons some hope. They pulled goalie John Lethem with 1:15 left, but they were unable to tie the score.

DJ Rankin and Hefron assisted on the first Farmington goal, Cooper McLean and Austin Meltzer the second. Cole's was unassisted.

Saginaw outguns Whalers in 8-7 decision

Saginaw's four-goal outburst in the first period Wednesday put the Plymouth Whalers in too deep of a hole to escape as the host Spirit hung on for an 8-7 victory.

The Whalers (10-7-2-1) fell behind 4-1 (with their lone goal by Rickard Rakeil) as Saginaw (9-11-2-1) chased Plymouth starting netminder Matt Mahalak.

Netting two goals each in the frame were Saginaw's Jimmy Lodge and Vincent Trocheck.

OHL HOCKEY

Plymouth's Ryan Hartman cut the deficit to 2-2 before the end of the opening stanza.

In the middle stanza it was the Whalers' turn to score four goals, sending the Ontario Hockey League contest into the third tied at 6-6.

Stefan Noesen (2 goals, 2 assists) lit the lamp twice while Tom Wilson (1 goal, 2 assists) and Matt Misteale also scored for Plymouth in the second.

But Saginaw Eric Locke broke the tie, scoring consecutive goals in the first eight minutes of the third against Plymouth goalie Riley Corbin (24 shots, 19 saves), who relieved Mahalak at 12:23 of the opening period. Plymouth did close the gap to one goal when Misteale scored his second of the night and sixth of the season, from Garrett Meurs.

The Whalers continued their road trip with games Saturday and Sunday at Belleville and Ottawa, respectively.

They will return to Compuware Arena for games 7 p.m. Wednesday against Windsor and 7 p.m. Friday against Kingston.

Research on placebos could improve treatment testing

Are you resilient? A straight-forward individual? Will you help others without expecting anything in return?

Those personality traits might do more than help you win a popularity contest. According to new University of Michigan-led neuroscience research, those qualities also might make you more likely to get pain relief from a placebo.

Researchers showed that it's not just your mind telling you the fake drug is working or not. Your brain's own natural painkiller chemicals may actually respond to the pain differently depending on your personality. If you're more of an angry, hostile type, they find, a placebo won't do much for you.

For the first time, the new findings link specific, established personality traits with an individual's susceptibility to the placebo effect from a sham medicine for pain. The researchers showed a significant link between certain personality traits and how much relief people said they felt when given the placebo, as well as the level of a specific chemical that their brains released.

The work was done by a team of U-M Medical School researchers and their colleagues at the University of North Carolina and University of Maryland.

The results build on nearly a decade's worth of work on the placebo effect by the team led by Dr. Jon-Kar Zubieta, M.D., Ph.D., the Phil Jenkins Professor of Depression in the U-M Department of Psychiatry, a professor in the Department of Radiology and a member of the Molecular and Behavioral Neuroscience Institute.

The findings show that about one-quarter of placebo response was explained by the personality traits of resiliency, straightforwardness, altruism or anger/hostility, as measured on standardized tests. Other personality traits didn't appear to be linked to placebo response. The new results come from a few dozen healthy volunteers, so the experiment must be repeated in larger, more diverse groups to be confirmed.

If confirmed, the findings could help researchers who study new drugs and other treatments. Placebo responses can make it unclear if the treatment really works. In the future, researchers may be able to adjust their results to account for the individual placebo responses of volunteers in their clinical trials.

Zubieta noted that the new findings came from a study involving pain, but that it may also apply to how personality influences a person's response to other stress-inducing circumstances.

"We started this study not just looking at measures that might seem more obviously related to placebo responses, such as may be impulsivity, or reward-seeking, but explored potential associations broadly within a particular hypothesis," he stated.

"We ended up finding that they greatest influence came from a series of factors related to individual resiliency, the capacity to withstand and overcome stressors and difficult situations. People with those factors had the greatest ability to take environmental information — the placebo — and convert it to a change in biology."

He and his team hope to continue the research in individuals with depression, and to continue to explore how genetics as well as personality influence placebo response. He said that the findings may even have implications for the doctor-patient relationship. Patients who have certain personality traits and placebo-response tendencies also may be more likely to partner with their doctors on their care, and discuss concerns they have about their response to treatment.

Wellness class benefits diabetics

Jewish Family Service is offering a new free program called Wellness Empowers, to help adults with Type II diabetes live a healthier and happier life. The one-year program is designed for individuals who are low-income and could benefit from life coaching, as well as cooking, nutrition, stress reduction and exercise classes. The program concludes with a 5k family walk.

The organization seeks 100 individuals with Type II diabetes who fit the eligibility criteria to participate in the year-long program.

Adults with Type II diabetes who are interested in Wellness Empowers may call Linda Klein at (248) 592-2318 or e-mail to lklein@jfsdetroit.org.

Model railroad enthusiasts show their trains and tracks at Livonia show

By Sharon Dargay
 O&E Staff Writer

A steam engine sounded an audible "ch-ch-ch-ch" and an occasional "who-who" as it clattered along the tracks in Ed Beamish's Livonia basement last week. Its headlight shone as the locomotive chugged out of Howell, skirted a Liliputian-sized forest at Annpere, passed a lumberyard at Genoa Township, rounded the corner at Detroit and cruised along Detroit's skyline, before stopping to let another train move onto a siding.

"It's my only engine that has sound on it," Beamish said, prodding the model train back into motion. "It's not common in this scale. They are just starting to come out with it."

As a kid, Beamish woke up every Christmas morning to find his father's Lionel O scale train moving beneath decorated boughs in the family's Wixom home. He and his brother collected their own slightly smaller HO scale engines, cars and tracks for their own layout, set on a 4-foot-by-8-foot plywood board.

Today, at 42, Beamish still plays with trains, although his involvement is more sophisticated and the layout for his small N scale trains — which are powered by a digital controller — is more elaborate. It runs on two levels along the perimeter of an activity room in his basement and replicates portions of southeastern Michigan through painted scenery and model-sized buildings.

Train-a-thon helps local nonprofit

CoreFit Fitness owner and personal trainer, Rod Dowdell will lead an endurance and fundraising event to benefit Wayne County Family Center, beginning at 6 a.m. Dec. 9, at his studio in Novi.

Extreme Train-A-Thon Fitness Challenge will include seven days of training, with the last 48 hours nonstop. Dowdell will train 90-100 clients continuously and without resting during the final two days of the fundraiser.

All proceeds from the sessions will buy gifts and fulfill the wish list for homeless children at the Wayne County Family Center. Dowdell plans to hand deliver gifts to as many children as he can on Christmas day.

The Wayne County Family Center program matches needy families with "services, providing transitional shelter for homeless families." It welcomes two-parent families, single mothers or fathers with children and pregnant women. It also offers assistance to help clients after they leave the shelter.

Dowdell grew up in an environment with no positive associations at the holidays. He received no gifts as a child.

"This personal pain and disconnection with the holidays is something that I do not want any child to have to experience and so I'm on a mission to change the lives of as many children and families as I can with the talents and skills I have developed as a personal trainer," he said in a press release. "If pushing myself physically and mentally to the extreme to train 90 to 100 clients for seven days, the last 48 hours of them non-stop, can make a difference in people's lives for the holidays, I'm going to make it happen. It's nothing compared to what many people at the Wayne County Family Center are going through."

Individuals can participate in his Extreme Train-A-Thon Fitness Challenge to benefit Wayne County Family Center by signing up for an hour-long training session from Dec. 9-16. Cost is $60. Call (248) 943-7179, or e-mail to trainerrod@corefitfitness.com. CoreFit Fitness is located at 22807 Hespil Drive.

Healthful holiday fare

Better Living also will sponsor A Christmas Potluck on Saturday, Dec. 8, at 15585 Hagerty Road, Northville Township. For information, call (734) 420-3131 or (734) 420-4044.

Plymouth arts council offers drum classes

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) is registering students for its January 2013 drum lessons.

Pat Paul Sorise will teach two sections of four-week drum classes at the PCAC's Artsco House, located next door to the Council, 774 Sheldon, Plymouth.

Intro to Rhythm & Drumming is aimed at ages 5-7 and will run 4:30-5 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 9, 16, 23 and 30, 2013. Cost is $50 for members and $60 for non-members. Classes will introduce students to holding drum sticks, drum rudiments, how to count and play quarter and eighth notes and will introduce the drum set.

Drum Set 100, for ages 13-adult, will run 5:15-6 p.m., also on Wednesdays in January 2013. Cost is $64 for members and $74 for non-members. Classes will include information about drums and cymbals, show how to hold the sticks, teach wrist and hand techniques and basic foot patterns, as well as counting, measures, time signatures and different tempos. Students will play the full drum set.

Sorise studied at East Detroit Conservatory under Ray Parker. He continued to drum through junior and high school and then attended Eastern Michigan University and played with various bands. Sorise has taught classes at Apollo Music in Ann Arbor, Drum Shop in Dearborn and East Detroit Conservatory. For more than 30 years, he has taught privately for students in Lenawee and Washtenaw counties, as well as in Ohio. He also plays in the band All Directions, which performs at concerts, clubs and private parties.

For more information or to register for the drum classes, call the PCAC at (734) 416-4278; www.plymoutharts.com.

his spare time he works on his train layout, sometimes enlisting the help of other model enthusiasts. He's also a member of the District 6 chapter of the North Central Region of the National Model Railroad Association (NMRA). He'll be on hand when the District, which covers Wayne County, presents its fall show, Sunday, Nov. 25, at the Civic Park Senior Center in Livonia.

Beamish said the event is designed for demonstrations only — it's not a swap meet — and aims to muster interest in model railroading.

"We'll have people who are displaying all the different scales. That roundhouse has been built strictly at the shows," he said, referring to a portion of his own layout. "I bring that every year to the show and build a little more on. It's strictly scratch built, so I'm showing people, how I come several years, how I'm building it."

Visitors will see everything from kit construction to wiring to power systems and more.

"It's to show people this is the hobby, this is what it's all about. It's more than just collecting stuff. You can actually make stuff and turn it into art, history."

Recalling his childhood

Beamish has researched the Pere Marquette Railroad in addition to modeling it, along with the Pennsylvania, Wabash and Ann Arbor systems. He focused on the Pere Marquette because its tracks went through Wixom — and interchanged there with the Grand Trunk line — when he was a boy. However, by that time in his history, the Pere Marquette already had become a part of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, which is now CXS Railroad.

"Some people don't do as much research and some people do way more. There is a gentleman in our division who took 10 years to figure out all his research. Finally, his wife said either you build it or you don't," Beamish said, adding, "He built it."

Because the Pere Marquette is less popular than some other railroads among modelers, pieces sometimes are more difficult to find. Beamish often acquires engines that bear the names of other systems and then repaints them. He aims for historical accuracy in the scenery and buildings that help reproduce history in small scale in his basement.

"I like history. And it's fun. Sitting down and putting stuff together, painting, it takes your mind out of the every day. You break free from everything and just relax."

Although some modelers simply enjoy creating layouts and then tearing them down just to rebuild again, Beamish has been working on his display since 2004.

"Now I'm building it to look good," he said, adding that "Operating it is going to be part of the fun."

JOBS

10 things to do after the interview How to keep the momentum going

Beth Braccio Hering, Special to CareerBuilder

The interview may be over, but your chance to make an impression is not. Here are ten strategies to continue boosting your employment candidacy.

1. Show that you're still interested.

Leave no doubt in the interviewer's mind about where you stand. Ask for the job at meeting's end with a phrase such as, "I would really like to contribute to this company and am hoping you select me." Also, don't leave the room without a clear idea of what will happen next in the hiring process. Will select applicants be invited back to meet other people? By what date do they hope to fill the position? Such questions demonstrate enthusiasm for the job, and knowing the hirer's time frame will help keep you from panicking if a week has passed without a phone call.

2. Set the stage for further contact.

Nobody wants to be a pest, but could your silence as days pass be misinterpreted as indifference? Avoid the guesswork by finding out before heading home what the employer prefers in terms of checking in. Lizandra Vega, author of "The Image of Success: Make a Great Impression and Land the Job You Want," suggests asking the recruiter about her preferred method of follow-up communication and whether it would be okay to touch base again.

3. Be punctual.

If you tell the interviewer you'll send a list of references tomorrow morning, make sure you do it. Keeping your word and answering requests in a timely manner speaks volumes about the type of employee you might turn out to be.

4. Know when to sit tight.

If an interviewer requests that you follow up by phone in a week, respect her wishes. Calling the next day can be construed as pushy and desperate.

5. Send a prompt thank-you note.

A positive, non-intrusive way to stay on an employer's mind is to send a thank-you note. Vega recommends emailing one within 24 hours of the interview, then following up with a handwritten note that arrives in one to three business days.

6. Send each interviewer a personalized, powerful follow-up letter.

This piece of communication is another chance for you to shine, so don't waste space with generalities. For R. Myers, a career coach and author of "Get the Job You Want, Even When No One's Hiring," recommends including specific references to each person you met and tying your accomplishments directly to the company's stated challenges. You also can use the letter to introduce achievements that didn't get discussed and to elaborate on interview answers that you felt lacked punch.

7. Address one of the company's needs.

Another effective way to follow up is to act more like a consultant than an applicant. "During the interview, you learn a lot about a company's weaknesses and/or areas where the company wants to expand," states Linda Matias, president of CareerStrides.com and author of "201 Knockout Answers to Tough Interview Questions." "Consider creating a proposal on how you would address one of those areas. Doing so will demonstrate that you have the knowledge and also the enthusiasm to make a significant contribution."

8. Keep thinking and learning about the company.

Be prepared for additional interviews or follow-up phone calls by continuing to research the organization and the field. Gain new information about a topic brought up in conversation. Think of additional questions you'd like answered. These actions show the hirer that you didn't stop caring about the company after the interview was over.

9. Leverage outside resources.

Networking never stops. "If you have contacts and connections with anyone who might influence the hiring decision, or who actually knows the interviewer, ask her to put a good word in for you," Myers says.

10. Accept rejection with grace.

Finally, keep emotions in check and don't burn bridges if someone else gets hired. One never knows what the future might hold. The accepted candidate may not work out, or a different position may open up. "If you are rejected, the first thing you should do (ironically) is send a thank-you note," Myers says. "This will help distinguish you from other rejected candidates and put you in a positive light."

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Car Report

By Dale Buss

It might seem a little strange to see Infiniti ads with snowflakes already swirling around a spiffy new JX SUV, when the only notable snow so far this season has been on top of tip-top mountain peaks — and in parts of West Virginia and Virginia, thanks to Sandy. But you're going to be seeing that ad for a while, at least through the end of the year.

And welcome to the auto-advertising "holiday," the annual two-month, end-of-the-year promotional bonanza in which car brands in the U.S. market use holiday-themed promotional incentives and other marketing to attempt to reach their year-end sales and profit goals, or just try to make sure they're not left out of the scam.

Or, as in the case of BMW and Mercedes-Benz, they feel compelled to use the promotions to get the better of a particular competitor. The two leading-volume German auto brands in the U.S. market once again are locked in a neck-and-neck race to secure the 2012 luxury-sales title, just as they conducted last year.

At this point, Mercedes-Benz is trying to hold off a surging BMW, whose 21-percent gain in October sales brought the brand to within 2,748 year-to-date sales of Mercedes — down from nearly double that amount, 5,221 vehicles, just a month earlier. BMW won the crown last year, taking it from a supply-constrained Lexus.

And the prize might be even more dear this year because Lexus is widely assumed to want the volume title back in 2013, when all of its output problems will be long behind it and the Toyota-owned brand will have a slew of new and refreshed products in its stable.

The industry is abuzz with interest in accelerating efforts by BMW and Mercedes to best each other and with speculation about what forms they may take in the weeks ahead. For example, Mercedes is letting some American buyers skip more monthly payments than BMW and offering as much as $5,000 discounts to "VIP customers."

Meanwhile, other brands are chasing their own goals for the holiday more quietly but with determination as well. Audi, for instance, launched its annual "The Season of Audi" promotion featuring sales incentives on many 2013 model vehicles across its lineup.

It includes national TV spots and regional dealer-driven TV advertising, as well as social-media marketing, online advertising, brand web-site messaging and radio spots in certain markets, Jessica Thor, manager of retail marketing for Audi of America, told me.

"It's an incredibly crowded marketplace in terms of trying to get your message through," Thor said. "But the good news is that many consumers just expect that there's something going on [at your dealership], even if you were a brand that went dark and didn't advertise."

As BMW and Mercedes-Benz battle away at volumes far above Audi in the U.S., Audi's goal for the period is to continue to show strong and steady growth.

"I see fierce competition again between those two brands in terms of who will come out on top for 2012," Thor said. "I can only imagine that both of them are really going to pull out the stops."

Thor said that the BMW-Mercedes battle, and the general promotional atmosphere in the luxury segment as all brands introduce their seasonal marketing, boosts the market for Audi and the entire premium category.

"It's natural when you see everyone on the air with a special event happening that it has a halo effect for everyone," she said.

But Thor noted that, while it has stiff internal goals for sales during "The Season of Audi," the overall objective for the brand is to "maintain our focus on sustained-growth."

We have our goals [for the promotion] and feel comfortable that we're going to hit them. "But we're not going to duke it out at the end of the year and try to hit a number just for the sake of hitting a number. We want to continue to grow in a healthy way."

And for the first time, the brand is putting a special emphasis on getting its dealers revved up for "The Season of Audi."

"Typically we've kind of kept things quiet on the showroom floor" during the promotion, Thor said. "But this year we're having a bigger presence." Audi is helping dealers, for example, host a breakfast for their employees as a kickoff for the promotion. The brand is providing point-of-sale banners and tent cards, Thor said.

"We want dealers and their personnel to get excited about The Season of Audi this year," she explained.

High-End 'Holiday' Are Here, with Great Seasonal Deals

The 2013 Audi A6 is a crucial model for The Season of Audi.
