Water rates to rise; Detroit gets flak

Township officials bemoan increase

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A united Canton Township Board of Trustees reached a consensus Tuesday night to raise water-sewer rates 5.6 percent starting May 1, amid scathing criticism of the embattled Detroit Water and Sewerage Department. It signals Canton's first rate hike since 2011 after the township board for the last two years chose to absorb cost increases imposed by DWSD, which came under attack from Trustee John Anthony. "I think they're a bunch of incompetent boobs who don't have a clue to what's going on," he said, adding he fears suburban communities could be slammed as DWSD wrestles with infrastructure expenses and legacy costs. Township Treasurer Melissa McLaughlin indicated similar concerns about long-term rate hikes. "I think we could be looking at some very difficult things down the road of which we will have no control," she said. Under the new rate plan, a typical Canton household using 32,282 gallons of water every three-month billing period will pay quarterly bills of $358 – or just over $1,400 a year. To be sure, Canton rate hikes are far less than increases that topped 20 percent in 2008, when township officials passed DWSD costs onto consumers and added local charges to align revenues with expenses and boost the water-

Student loss drives school budget deficit

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

A dramatic drop in enrollment is driving the $5.3 million deficit Plymouth-Canton Community Schools administrators are facing as they begin their budget work for the 2014-15 school year. Facing increasing competition from charter schools – there's a charter high school opening in Canton in September – and other private schools, enrollment projections for Plymouth-Canton don't look good as the district's budget committee begins forging a budget it expects to adopt by June 1. The district expects to lose nearly 600 students before the 2014-15 school year begins.

"Student loss is a major driver" in the budget deficit, Brodie Killian, the district's deputy superintendent for business and operations, acknowledged after the Board of Education's first budget workshop Tuesday. In his presentation to the board Tuesday, Killian said the district expects to lose 404 general-education students and another 29 special-education students. Charter schools, he said, are expected to snatch another 150 students.

The losses will drop Plymouth-Canton's enrollment to 17,205, its lowest level in years. With an expected $7,422 per-student foundation allowance, the district stands to lose nearly $4.5 million in state funding.

There are also some estimated savings in the initial budget. For instance, the district estimates about 20 teachers will retire this year, bringing some $600,000 in savings. Based on the potential student loss, administrators also expect to cut back by some 21 teachers, which would save roughly $1.6 million.

Still, as administrators begin their budget work, estimated revenues stand at some $145.8 million, while projected expenses are at

Canton celebrates 'beautiful' library renovation

By Darrell Clem

A celebratory mood filled the Canton Public Library as local officials and patrons Wednesday afternoon formally unveiled the second-biggest renovation since the building opened in 1988. Using a huge pair of scissors to cut a red ribbon, a smiling library Director Eva Davis was flanked by applauding library supporters who marveled over the $361,733 renovation project. "I feel great about it," Davis said. "I feel that the library is friendlier and the atmosphere is more open."

'Sunshine' laws: Canton handles hundreds of requests

A bank hoping to put a fore-

Canton Township government handles hundreds of Freedom of Information Act requests every year, from the mundane to the serious. It's an indication local folks take seriously their right to know.

Canton officials say they have used sources such as the township's website, www.canton-mi.org, to become more transparent. There, residents can see how their tax dollars are being spent, read Canton's ethics policy, pore over crime statistics and see which companies are receiving bids for work. They can read legal notices, research ordinances and even learn of government job openings.

Seeking 'trust'

"I believe we are extremely transparent," Supervisor Phil LaJoy said. "The budget is online, the bills we pay are online. To me, it's very important that there's a trust when we're doing the people's work and doing it with integrity. We respect that. Everything we do, we try to do it in an open way."

La-Z-Boy store taking shape on Ford Road

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

La-Z-Boy's new furniture store in Canton, now under construction on Ford Road west of Lily, is expected to open by late July or early August, a company spokeswoman confirmed.

Canton's store marks La-Z-Boy's return to metro Detroit that started last year with new stores in Sterling Heights, Novi and Troy, said Amy Hellebuick, manager of brand marketing and public relations.

La-Z-Boy has retrofitted and begun a new expansion after older stores, including one near Ford and Lotz, closed a few years ago amid an economic downturn.

"We're just really excited to be reopening

Construction has begun on the new La-Z-Boy store in Canton, on Ford Road west of Lily. BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER in the metro Detroit area," Hellebuick said. "As a company looking to expand, this is really exciting for us."

The company's plans in Canton involve a 15,682-square-foot La-Z-Boy Home Furnishings and Décor showroom, where customers can choose furniture and arrange home deliveries. The Monroe-based company chose the Ford Road site due to other tenants in the area, Canton's continued development and its housing market growth, Hellebuick said.

La-Z-Boy's construction in Canton occurs as township Supervisor Phil LaJoy, during his State of the Township address in early March, said the community is witnessing an increase in economic activity.

La-Z-Boy, under construction across from Outback Steakhouse, won site plan approval last September from the Canton Township Board of Trustees. The project comes as a new 70-home subdivision is planned behind the store, though local officials have said access will be from Lilye rather than traffic-snarled Ford.

Moreover, first-phase plans to address Ford Road traffic congestion appear ready to begin in coming months, with the paving of Lotz between Ford and Cherry Hill and, later, the widening of Ford along a stretch near Haggerty.

Steven Schaefer, president of Farmington Hills-based Schaefer Development, said the La-Z-Boy store is expected to create several jobs.

Hellebuick said company officials believe the Canton store will be successful, based on its location and the number of customers drawn to the new stores in Sterling Heights, Novi and Troy.

"Consumers are responding well," she said.

His assessment comes during Sunshine Week, a national initiative intended to promote a dialogue about the critical importance of open government and freedom of information. It pools together the news media, civic groups, libraries, nonprofits, schools and others interested in the public's right to know.

Canton handled 718 Freedom of Information Act, or FOIA, requests during 2013. The bulk of those, 593, were made to the Canton Public Safety Department, while 125 were sought through Township Clerk Terry Bennett's office.

Karl Ferguson, the police department's records supervisor and training coordinator, said the public in 2013 submitted 593 requests including documents through FOIA, legal discovery for items such as evidence and information related to subpoenas.

"Our department has already processed 120 this year," she said. "Most of our clientele are attorneys requesting criminal reports, in-car videos and videos of the Breathalyzer room."

Property information

Bennett said her office, which handles administrative FOIA requests, receives frequent inquiries pertaining to property. Specifically, she said, requests are received related to mortgage issues, certificates of occupancy, property violations and environmental questions.

"There's a lot more due diligence being done by the banks or funding sources," Bennett said. "They're doing a lot more due diligence to have a better handle on what information we may or may not have on the property itself, much of it the result of foreclosures."

"We have some people who want to know the condition of a house or who have concerns with a particular property in the neighborhood," she added, while other requests pertain to "a property owner dispute or a neighbor dispute."

The clerk's office handled about 125 requests in 2013, a number similar to the previous year. This year, only 22 have been received thus far. Bennett said FOIA requests for issues such as township budgets and water-sewer rates have fallen off as Canton has become more diligent about putting the information online.

"That limits a lot of the informational FOIA questions," she said. "Those are kind of down."

Bennett said Canton and other communities, in responding to FOIA requests, can only charge an amount to recover the hourly costs for employees who handle the inquiries — and that excludes the cost of benefits. Canton can charge 10 cents a page for copies of documents, along with expenses such as mailing costs.

LaJoy said Canton has made transparency one of its so-called "dashboard" priorities. If the township learns of ways it can improve the process, he said, it will do it.

Meanwhile, Wayne County Commissioner Shannon Price, R-10th District, said a non-partisan organization, Sunshine Review, has raised Wayne County's government transparency grade from a D-minus to an A-minus after he and others worked to get more information, such as the county budget and audit reports, online.

"The best way to prevent fraud and abuse is to place more sunshine on the process and that is exactly what we have done with the county's recent website improvements," Price said. "We have come a long way, but we still have a lot of work to do."

machine, improved self-checkout counters and an area for low-vision materials.

"I really like it," said patron Jennifer Kushner, who visits the library to study as she works toward a medical laboratory science career. "I think it's a great idea to have the circulation desk in the center. I like the way the library flows."

The library, 1200 S. Canton Center, now has more centralized areas for public computers and low-vision materials after Plymouth-based Library Design Associates renovated the 53,000-square-foot facility.

"I love the new changes," J. Girard, a Canton resident and therapeutic recreation coordinator, said as he used the self-checkout area to borrow music CDs and DVDs. "It's very open, very modern and very user-friendly."

The library now has more chairs and tables with additional electrical outlets and USB ports where patrons can plug in laptops or charge their cell phones. The central help desk has employees who can help visitors with their digital devices.

"I think people really like the new set-up," said Ellen Pare, information services department librarian.

Casey Fealy, a bustling information hub that has been touted as Michigan's busiest one-branch library, was renovated as part of a strategic plan to better serve the community. Other projects, such as remodeling the children's department, aren't yet on the drawing boards.

Canton Township Trustee John Anthony commended the renovation and Davis' leadership.

"Canton is lucky to have such a nice library," he said, "and Eva Davis is the best of the best."

$151.2 million. Board of Education

President Judy Mardigan called the student loss, which she said is 200 above any loss the district has taken previously, "really painful."

The losses, she said,

leave the district wondering whether it should become a "school of choice" district, something the board has always avoided, except on a very limited basis.

"When districts face the kind of profound student loss, is (schools of choice) a strategy they turn to?" Mardigan said. "I don't think we're in a position where we don't even look at it."

sewer fund balance, now at nearly $20 million.

Finance Director Wendy Trumbull said this year this year could use $12 million to $2.7 million to fund the balance to thwart water rate hikes that could have been higher than 5.6 percent. However, she indicated doubts the amount will approach the high-end estimate.

"I would be shocked if it's $2.7 (million)," Trumbull said.

Trustee Steven Sneideman said he had hoped for a rate hike no higher than the rate of inflation, 1.6 percent by latest estimates. But he said he would support the 5.6 percent as local officials explore options, such as a water storage facility, that could eventually ease rates.

On one bright note, Trumbull said Canton last year didn't have to use $2 million it had expected to use from the water-sewer fund, following efforts to trim expenses and secure employee concessions.

Canton expects to buy 2.8 billion gallons of water from Detroit during the next year.

DWSD officials have defended their actions and said they face rising expenses, amid uncertainty over efforts such as more regional control over the financially troubled system. Still, Anthony said rate hikes appear to be randomly imposed.

"I think they've got a big dart board and they just throw a dart at it," he said.

Canton condemns apartments, cops seize pot

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A Canton apartment building has been condemned and five people have been moved to temporary shelter after police seized dozens of marijuana plants and found deplorable living conditions, local officials said.

After receiving a tip, Canton police Saturday evening went to the apartment building, 43415 Michigan Avenue at Morton Taylor, next to Canton Party Store.

They found adult residents who had no running water or heat and a leaky roof, Detective Sgt. Chad Baugh said. "The tenants had to use a space heater to maintain warmth," he said, "and that is an obvious concern."

Police also seized numerous marijuana plants from the one-story building.

"They had 39 plants over what they were supposed to have as a medical marijuana caregiver," Baugh said.

Canton police and Western Wayne Criminal Investigations were involved in the case, which Baugh said has been turned over to Michigan State Police.

The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps has helped five people find temporary shelter at a motel.

Canton Township has condemned what Baugh described as a five-unit building.

"We were concerned for the health and well-being of the residents," he said, citing "blight" conditions.

No one was in police custody Tuesday. Baugh said the investigation was continuing.

Man charged in 2013 cocaine bust

A Dearborn man faces a Tuesday preliminary hearing on a Plymouth drug charge stemming from an incident last November.

Bryce M. Koth, 50, is charged with the manufacture or delivery of less than 50 grams of cocaine, the conviction of which carries a sentence of up to 20 years in prison and a fine of up to $25,000. He was formally charged March 6 via a video arraignment in 35th District Court, where Judge James Plakas entered a not-guilty plea for him, and is free on bond.

Police say he was charged in connection with a Nov. 16 incident in downtown Plymouth.

His preliminary hearing had been scheduled for Friday, but attorneys said more time is needed to obtain surveillance video that is to be used as evidence. Koth appeared before Judge Mike Gerou and waived his right to have a hearing within 14 days of being charged. Gerou rescheduled the hearing for Tuesday morning.

Koth is being represented by Southfield attorney Randall Lewis.

Sheet metal stolen from Plymouth firm

An estimated $1,000 worth of scrap metal was reported stolen recently from Jer North America, which has a facility on Cleat Street near Five Mile in Plymouth Township.

A bin containing the scrap had been emptied between March 7-10, the company's service manager told police. The company's scrap-metal dealer had not emptied the bin, the complainant confirmed.

Credit fraud

A township man reported fraudulent charges totaling about $6,500 made on three credit cards in his name.

The man told police he had learned that a store credit card of his had been charged for nearly $3,200 at a store in Bedford, Pa. this month, that another of his cards had been charged for more than $1,600 at a store in Pittsburgh; and that a third card had been opened in his name at a home-improvement store — the community was not reported — and charged for $1,750.

A township man reported Friday that someone had charged a credit card of his for a total of $384.65 at a Meijer store in Belleville. The charges were made Feb. 19, the complainant said he had not made them and had given no one permission to use the card. The credit card was canceled.

Vandalism

Two windows on a Ford Taurus were smashed out late last week as the car sat in the lot at Leo's Coney Island on Ann Arbor Road.

The owner, a Leo's employee, told police she discovered the vandalism when she left work early Friday morning. Police said there was nothing nearby that could have been used to break the windows.

Police are investigating.

CANTON CRIME WATCH

'Pimp City' victim

A 41-year-old Redford man called police Saturday afternoon after someone damaged his 2002 Cadillac Escalade, possibly, he said, because it had the words "Pimp City Crew" on the back of it along with a design of a lightning bolt and two shirtless women.

The man told police he went inside the Chuck E. Cheese on Ford Road east of Lilley with his wife and their children, ages 7 and 9. He said he came out and someone had apparently used a key to scratch all four sides of his vehicle and the hood.

He told police he, his wife and his children hadn't had any problems with anyone. He told police someone may have been offended by the designs on his vehicle.

Child injured

A 9-year-old Canton boy was taken to the University of Michigan Hospital for treatment after he fell at home and hit his head, a police report said.

The incident happened Monday morning on Brookfield, southeast of Palmer and Sheldon. The boy became lethargic and vomited after he fell while pushing a toy cart on a wooden floor, a police report said.

An uncle who is a paramedic was visiting at the time. Canton paramedics took the boy to U-M Hospital. The police report said there were no suspicious circumstances surrounding the incident.

Text dispute

A 42-year-old man and his wife got into a dispute Saturday night after she looked at text messages on his cellphone and learned he had texted the words "I love you" to another woman, a police report said. The husband said another man who intervened in the argument pulled a gun on him.

The incident unfolded on Walton, near Joy and I-275.

Police went to the residence after a 9-1-1 call was made involving a fight. The husband told police he had been at the residence with his wife when she started going through his texts.

He told police he tried to grab the phone from her, but she already had seen the text indicating he was cheating on her. He began to yell at her, prompting the other man to intervene, the police report said.

The wife notified police because she wanted her husband to leave the residence, the report said. At one point, the husband left the home and then came back, telling police the man who had intervened in the dispute pulled a pistol on him, the report said.

The husband told police he didn't want to prosecute because the gun was never pointed at him and he didn't feel threatened.

County's transparency rating improves to A-minus

Grade moves up from D-minus a year ago

Wayne County's rating in government transparency has improved from a D-minus to an A-minus in the past year.

Sunshine Review, a non-partisan organization formed to rate local governments on transparency, gave Wayne County an A-minus grade in January. Sunshine Review uses a 10-point transparency checklist to evaluate government websites across the country to see if they proactively and voluntarily disclose information to the public and media.

"The fight for greater transparency within Wayne County government has been ongoing for some time and today I can say I'm proud of the strides we have made," Wayne County Commissioner Laura Cox, R-Livonia, said this week, in conjunction with Sunshine Week.

"Taxpayers are able to view the complete county budget, its financial performance, audit reports and much more by visiting the county's website."

Sunshine Week is a national initiative to promote a dialogue about the importance of open government and freedom of information. Participants include news media, civic groups, libraries, non-profits, schools and others interested in the public's right to know. MEMORIES OF HUDSON'S

Museum speaker: Store's history key part of Detroit's fabric

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Kiki Farrow of Plymouth has fond memories of J.L. Hudson's department store, where her late mom began work in 1952 and stayed as a contingent office worker more than 40 years.

"They actually gave her the charm bracelet," Farrow said of the distinctive bracelet she wore to a "Mad Hatter Tea" Sunday at the Plymouth Historical Museum. Farrow's mom got a 25-year service charm and her daughter added the 20-year service pin.

Women — and one brave hatted gentleman — shared stories of Hudson's at the tea, which featured speaker Phyllis Barkey of Warren.

"They really practiced 'the customer is always right' who'd never hear so much," said Farrow, who'd take the bus to downtown Hudson's on Woodward Avenue as a teenager.

While studying at Earlham College in Indiana, Farrow would meet her "big sister" upper-classman classmate for lunch at Hudson's.

"Employees got a 20-percent discount," she said. "Almost everything we had came from Hudson's."

Nearby at a festively decorated table were Plymouth Township residents Dorothy Grant, Adelle Cote and Sandy Theille.

"This lady, she has a lot to do with the museum," Theille said of friend Grant, a museum volunteer who encouraged them to attend.

'We love Hudson's'
"We love fashion and we love Hudson's," added Cote, among those who were able to view the museum's current fashion exhibit that afternoon.

"Mad Hatter Tea" guests Kiki Farrow (left) of Plymouth and Alice Rembacki of Livonia enjoyed visiting.

The 50 or so guests dined on a Maurice salad and cheese bread, made by event organizers and served by Northville High School National Honor Society members.

Hudson's was known for years for its Maurice salad and tasty dressing, with Barkey noting the tea rooms and other dining areas at the store were added to keep women shopping.

"I remember my mother was a hairdresser," said guest Fran Toney of Plymouth, who retired five years ago as Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce executive director. "Every Monday she had off and we went to Hudson's. That's where you did your shopping, downtown, mainly at Hudson's."

Toney and others recalled great customer service at the store. Barkey read an employee creed which emphasized such service to all staff.

She gave a history on Joseph L. Hudson, who came to Michigan at age 14. "In all of his jobs, he was dependable and honest," Barkey said.

In 1881 at age 35, Hudson opened his first store as a sole proprietor, selling men's and boys' clothes. There was little ready to wear clothing then for women and girls, Barkey said.

Hudson was a Methodist who didn't smoke or drink alcohol and it would be many years before Hudson's sold wine — and never liquor. He was active in civic affairs, including the Harper Hospital board of directors and the YMCA.

Barkey discussed the basement store, later named the Rainbow Store; how Hudson's outfitted a local missionary family in Bombay, India, for 20 years; its medical clinic with doctors and nurses to attend to customers who were injured and ailing staff, even with home visits to staff; and its 12th-floor toy department and Santa Claus.

Prud parade tradition

The Thanksgiving Parade began with Hudson's in 1920, "two years ahead of Macy's," Barkey said, adding it had a wartime hiatus in 1941-42. The parade was first telecast in 1949.

The large American flag on the building's side also prompted memories, with Barkey noting the addition of 6-foot-tall stars in 1959 for Alaska and Hawaii as states. The flag later went to the Smithsonian.

Many guests remembered the 300 delivery trucks with 500 drivers who'd deliver as little as a spool of thread. The dedicated drivers took people to the hospital if needed or to the train station — and would turn off the oven for supper's baked beans, if asked. "They started countless cars on countless mornings for ladies in distress," Barkey said. One driver even saved a drowning child, while another saved a woman from a burning home — and then cleaned himself up and completed his deliveries.

"How's that for customer loyalty?" the speaker said.

She has a special interest in dining at Hudson's and brought china and silverware from the store to show guests. Barkey is at work on a cookbook on Hudson's food, modeled on for the L.S. Ayers department store in Indianapolis.

She has a blog at relevantleaf.blogspot.com and recommends author Michael Hauser's books for those interested in Hudson's history. The store expanded to suburban sites, including Northland and Westland malls, with a couple of tea guests having worked at those sites.

Museum executive director Elizabeth Kelley Kerstens said of the Northville High teen servers, "They're wonderful."

Chamber auction draws hundreds looking for the luck o' the Irish

The green garb flowed and the luck of the Irish was on display as nearly 350 people got into the spirit of the "Luck of the Chamber" at Saturday's annual Canton Chamber of Commerce dinner/auktion at Burton Manor.

The event, the chamber's largest fundraiser of the year, funds chamber projects and programs conducted throughout the year. Chamber President Thomas Paden said numbers were "still being tabulated" to determine the amount of money raised, but also insisted everyone had a great time.

"Everyone came dressed for the occasion," Paden said. "It went over very well."

The evening featured more than 200 raffles and a live auction of 10 items. Live auction items included iPads, Detroit Tigers tickets, jewelry, laptops, a trip to Cabo San Lucas, a condo getaway to Lake Charlevoix and airline tickets to anywhere in the continental United States, Paden said.

Canton bank managers Amy Miller and Judy Wetmore — Miller with a TCF branch and Wetmore with PNC Bank — chaired this year's event. Jack Demmer Ford and MSA Delivery Services were the major sponsors.

"It's our biggest fundraiser of the year," Paden said. "It's a fun night."

Chill can't keep runners from heating Kona paths

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

It was all a blur as the kids got started in their race Sunday.

And they're off - runners begin the 10K race.

Jean Timlin of Northville braved the cold with her 8-year-old son Christopher to help prepare for the Color Run in Ypsilanti in June.

Rebeka Sroczynski (left) of Garden City and Sarah Austin of Livonia and braved the cold to come out Sunday for the Kona run in Plymouth.

With temperatures in the teens and coming off an injury-plagued winter, Jeff Bord of Plymouth didn't figure he'd set any speed records Sunday in the 10K race sponsored by the Kona Running Co. in Plymouth.

The Kona St. Patrick's Day Run (which replaced the Sham-Rock 'n' Roll Run), drew some 3,400 runners in a variety of runs/walks celebrating the Irish holiday. Those runners braved temperatures around 15 degrees at start time and it never got much warmer.

That didn't stop Bord from winning his race. "It's early in the season and I was injured most of the winter," Bord said. "I just wanted to get a couple of races in. I've run a lot better, but it was so cold."

The event featured 10K and 5K runs, a 5K walk and a mile run, what organizers billed as a "festive race."

Alan Whitehead, Kona's owner and the race director, said the number of participants, 3,400, was down from last year. And while that was true, the runners who did show up, Whitehead said, were simply determined to get outside despite the harsh winter.

"They come out, tolerate the cold for a couple of miles and then they warm up," Whitehead said. "They're tired of being locked up inside and running on treadmills."

Jean Timlin of Northville came out early with her 8-year-old son Christopher. The pair are getting ready to run Ypsilanti's Color Run in June.

"Chris wants to get in shape," Jean Timlin said, smiling. "This is our spring tuneup."

Sarah Austin of Livonia got her first taste of competitive walking during a half-marathon she walked last fall. She came out to Sunday's Kona event to scratch that itch and to spend time with her buddy, Rebeka Sroczynski of Garden City.

"I got bit by the competitive walking bug (in October) and this one was a lot closer to home," Austin said. "It's a fun way to spend the morning with my friend."

Finalized date for I-96 shutdown expected this week

By David Veselenak
Staff Writer

The official date for the start of the I-96 shutdown through Livonia and Redford is expected to be announced sometime later this week, a state transportation official said.

Jeff Horne, an engineer with the Michigan Department of Transportation working out of the temporary Livonia office for the project, said the project's start date is still in flux because of the poor weather the region has experienced. He said an official announcement is expected to come by the end of the week.

"It's all speculation at this point. At this time, we have a tentative start of April 1," he said. "We should know later this week."

The project was originally scheduled to begin March 24, several months later than many believed it would start when the project was announced. It was delayed more than a week earlier this month as crews wait out the winter weather for spring.

The freeway will be shut down in both directions from Telegraph in Redford to Newburgh in Livonia for reconstruction. The $150 million project will result in several repaired and replaced bridges over the freeway, as well as landscaping improvements.

Horne said the original shutdown date was pushed back to at least April 1 to not interfere with the increased traffic expected to head to downtown Detroit for baseball's Opening Day.

"We are committed to having the freeway open for Opening Day for the Tigers," he said. "Hopefully we have more clarity by the end of the week."

Horne said the shutdown is still scheduled to run through mid-October, when the freeway is expected to reopen.

Improvements have been made to ramps on both ends of the project to help with traffic: MDOT crews temporarily widened the exit ramp from southbound I-275 to Six Mile to accommodate another lane of traffic, and crews have worked on widening northbound Telegraph north of Schoolcraft to allow for more traffic coming from Detroit.

Motorists are encouraged to use one of the official detour routes during the shutdown, which include I-94, I-696, the Southfield Freeway and the Lodge Freeway.

More information on the project can be found at 96fix.com.

Middle school students tackle technology in 'We'll Be Better Later'

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

Ask any parent about the Internet and their children and the answer will most likely be that they spend too much time online.

That's the premise of We'll Be Better Later, which will be presented at 7 p.m. Friday, March 21, by the Stevenson Middle School Drama Club, under the direction of Kevin Scollin.

Written by Laura Jacquim, the play centers around a detention camp and reform school where parents have sent their Internet-addicted and online-obsessed teens. A small group of students are forced to live in the camp by their parents, who don't understand their interests, hobbies and addiction to technology.

They are at the mercy of The General and his minions, who force them to watch mind-numbing videos, hand-write letters to their families and make small talk with one another about puppies and the weather.

One teen, Lauren, played by Pooja Patel of Canton, begins to question why they were sent here. She wants to know why they can't all be friends despite their strange quirks and hobbies. As she makes plans for her grand escape, it's up to her, Macayla, played by Sabrina Yuchasz of Westland, and the rest of the gang to prove that socially awkward doesn't mean socially hopeless.

"It's consider a dark comedy," Scollin said.

CURTAIN TIME

What: The Stevenson Middle School production of We'll Be Better Later
When: 7 p.m. Friday, March 21

Where: Stevenson Middle School, 38501 Palmer, west of Newburgh, Westland

Details: Performed by the Drama Club, the play is about teens sent to a detention camp and reform school because of their addiction to the Internet and obsession with being online.

Admission: Free, however, a donation will be accepted.

"The kids have to deal with this sense of abandonment, but a transformation happens during the show and they realize they don't have to do what others do to be normal."

Drab dress

The show opens with the inmates dressed in drab gray hoodies and jeans. During the course of the production, the hoodies are slowly unzipped, revealing bright colored T-shirts, a symbol of the teens' transformation, Scollin said.

"It's a play everyone can appreciate, but middle schoolers who struggle to fit into the world will relate to it," he said.

Patel plays the rabble-rouser in the play. She came to the camp, thinking it was a school, but when she realizes what The General, played by Lukas Hamill, and his Minions, played by Tony Trudell and Ari Fisher, are doing, she "thinks it's ridiculous," Patel said. "She tells the kids that don't belong here and get the other people to follow me. When I got into the role, it got easier to be Lauren. It definitely takes practice to stand up and be loud. This isn't Lauren and Pooja, it's just Lauren. It's not two characters, it's one."

Yuchasz tried out for both roles and was tapped to be Macayla, a role she finds is her biggest challenge. "I'm not a disrespectful person, I'm not very assertive," she said of herself. "I can be loud, but I can't be mean."

There's a scene where Lauren tries to get the others fired up. Macayla gets very mad and breaks out of her shell and yells at them. "I actually look forward to that scene."

"Understand us." Both students believe parents will get the play's message that "they're supposed to love us and understand us."

Scollin did casting in November and students have been rehearsing twice a week since then. With the curtain going up Friday night, they've been at the school every day this week doing dress rehearsals. There are 19 students in the cast and another 12 working as crew.

The play is being done on a shoestring budget. Fundraising helps pay for the cost of producing the play and the rights to present it for one night. Admission is free, but donations will be accepted. There will be an intermission with concessions available and playgoers will have the opportunity to buy T-shirts and pictures of the cast and crew.

Scollin has gotten help from Linda Knapp, who has done a "phenomenal job" with costuming, and Nick Yocum, a Wayne State University student who did two workshops with the cast on characterization and acting basics.

Scollin, who has been involved in theater since age 5, has seen the students grow with the production.

"I've seen them really blossom as actors," he said. "They've done fine learning their lines. They really get it."

W-W board starts search for new superintendent

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

The Wayne-Westland school board put out the help wanted sign as it begins its search for a new superintendent.

The process began Monday evening at a special meeting with Marlene Davis and Rod Green, consultants with the Michigan Association of School Board Executive Search Services, who will work with the school board during the estimated 14-week process.

"The hopes and concerns you have are the hopes and concerns of most school boards," Davis said. "This is a new process for you and it can be as expansive and as closed as you want it to be. This is an opportunity for you to come together and think together to find a new superintendent. Our job is to help you come to a consensus."

During the meeting, Davis and Green, who was a superintendent in the East China School District, helped the school board decide on the scope of the search, develop a schedule of meetings and decide on a salary range to include in the job posting.

Preliminary posting

A preliminary job posting is already available, but it will be revised after the board meets March 31. That's when trustees will receive the details of the interviews Davis and Green conduct among school employee groups and community members which they hope to start doing by week's end, and from a survey available through a link on the district's website at www.wcsd.net.

"We want to make sure we give stakeholders many avenues for input," Davis said.

At the March 31 meeting, the board will decide what it wants to put in a more extensive posting, which will go out April 1. Candidates will have until April 28 to apply.

The consultants will take two weeks to review the candidates and then meet with the board May 5 to see which ones they want to interview. They also will develop 16-18 questions for the board to consider using during the interview process planned for May 13 and 15 and then lead them

SELECTING A SUPERINTENDENT

The superintendent selection process began Monday for the Wayne-Westland school board, which approved a series of meeting dates throughout the 14-week process.

Consultants will conduct interviews with employee groups and members of the community to find out what they want in a new superintendent. They will report back to the board at a meeting at 6 p.m. March 31, when trustees will determine what will be contained in the final job posting.

The other dates are:

■ April 1-28 - Applications will be accepted from potential candidates.

■ May 5 - After the candidates have been reviewed, their information will be presented to trustees at a 6 p.m. meeting. During that meeting, trustees will determine who will be invited to interview for the position.

■ Candidate interviews will be conducted at 6 p.m. meetings May 13 and 15, with the pool cut to two or three at the end of that process.

■ A second interview with the final candidates will be at 6 p.m. May 19-20, if needed.

■ The board will have an opportunity to have several members conduct a visit of the finalist's district before making a final decision to hire at its regular school board meeting at 7 p.m. June 9.

"through another process" to determine who to bring back for second interviews. Those interviews, if needed, would be May 19-20.

There also would be time to have the final candidate do a site visit and, if the board wants, have members visit that candidate's district and meet the staff and get input, Davis said.

Difficult decision

The salary range was the most difficult of the decisions the board made at Monday's meeting, with members offering up salary ranges that went from $150,000 to $160,000 on the low side and $175,000 to $225,000 on the high side. In the end, the board agreed to $160,000 to $175,000.

The goal is to have the board hire the new superintendent at its June 9 board meeting and have that person on staff as of July 1. Current Superintendent Greg Baracy is set to retire July after 17 years.

Women's baseball of 1940s, '50s brought to life at Novi library

By Julie Brown

Betty Ruth Yahr, who died in 2010 at age 87, played right field for the Rockford Peaches in 1946, part of the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League.

Yahr was interviewed for Canton's Township local access cable channel in the 1990s by historian Virginia Bailey Parker, a Canton resident.

"She was just delightful," Parker said. Parker had earlier been at the home of Terry Bennett, Canton Township clerk, and discovered Yahr was Bennett's aunt.

"I got all excited because that was one of the teams featured in A League of Their Own," Parker said.

Parker will share Yahr's story at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 25, in a Novi Public Library program, "Summer at the Ball Park: The Story of the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League."

Yahr grew up in Ann Arbor and played amateur ball there. Her sports career began on the sandlots of Ann Arbor and through high school as a member of the Girls Athletic Club. She graduated from high school in 1941.

Her scouting report, contract, pay stubs, baseball glove and team hat, along with other memorabilia, were donated to the National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. These items are in the museum and library there.

After professional ball, she played for a local semi-pro team, Dad's Root Beer, and continued coaching and playing recreational ball.

the history of women's baseball in general. "Then I'm going to share some of Betty's stories," she said.

Parker will share oral history suggestions for listeners' own families. "I did a lot of studying about the baseball league," she said, adding that became easier with Internet advances, including a website for the league.

"These women were pioneers. They carved out a place for women in sports history," Parker said.

The league ran 1943-54 and was strong in the Midwest, with teams in Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Kalamazoo.

Parker is an award-winning author, oral historian, speaker and writing coach. She has written three books, has been a columnist, newsletter editor for professional organizations and a freelance writer. She served on the Michigan Oral History Association Board of Directors for 10 years.

Local case points to need for open government

How fitting it is that National Sunshine Week, March 16-22, is celebrated at this time of year. Earlier this month, we followed the "spring forward" dictum in setting our clocks ahead one hour — an annual change that allows us to take advantage of the growing hours of sunlight and save energy in the process.

Now with Sunshine Week, we all have an opportunity again to "spring forward" with efforts that will spread the light of day on government operations. That's what the week is dedicated to: pressing forward insistence that the state's acts be preserved and enhanced. They are measures that make certain that state and local governments remain "of the people, by the people and for the people."

"Open government is not a natural phenomenon. It's the law," says the National Freedom of Information Coalition, a non-partisan alliance.

And it needs to be cultivated, not pruned. Just last week, the state House, in a package of bills coming from Republican legislators, approved a move that would turn into law a 1999 decision of the Michigan Supreme Court that would exempt the status of gun records from the Freedom of Information Act. All firearm records, including records of concealed-carry permits, would be exempt under the measures that amend the Michigan Handgun Act. The package of bills now moves on to the state Senate, which must approve it before it becomes law.

Let's be clear that the access to gun records in no way impacted the right to bear arms — it just lets the public know who is packing.

The issue of privacy is one that pervades items held open to the government and, just last week, it became clear that it can invade the need to know of local residents in Oakland County, including those who have ever stepped foot in a shopping mall.

The Oakland County Medical Examiner's office last week revealed its findings in the death of a 25-year-old Ferndale man, McKenzie Cochran, who died following an altercation with security officers at Northland Center. Cochran's death has provoked outrage in the wider community and prompted several legislators, including state Rep. Rudy Hobbs, D-Southfield, to initiate legislation that would require the training of security guards.

The M.E. ruled that the death was accidental in nature and resulted from the position and "compression" of Cochran, who was lying face down on the floor. That's an interesting choice of words, given that cellphone recordings show security guards sitting on Cochran. The ruling begs questions about what fact finding and what information led to that conclusion by the M.E.

But the so-called finding does not comprise the entire autopsy report, which the chief medical examiner said last week was not yet available. So the public just waits, right? Well, not so fast. The M.E. told the Eccentric that the autopsy report would not be made available unless a Freedom of Information Act request was filed. And then, it might not complete.

Using privacy as an excuse, the M.E. said that certain items may be redacted — that means blacked out.

"The report, when it is available, will be available to the next of kin and to the police department," said Dr. Ljubisa Dragovic. "It may be obtained by a Freedom of Information (Act request) only if it is all complete."

The privacy exemption under the act would allow items to be blacked out, unable to be seen by the public, he added.

But a 1991 court decision involving the Wayne County Medical Examiner challenges that privacy concept. In that case, the court held, in making a determination whether a disclosure of requested information would constitute an invasion of privacy one looks to constitutional law and common-law as well as customs, mores, or ordinary views of the community. The release of autopsy reports and toxicology test results are not unwarranted infringements on the right to privacy of either the deceased or the deceased's family. The autopsy reports and toxicology test results are not within the doctor-patient privilege.

As stated at the beginning, open government is the law, not an environmental phenomenon. The public at large, not just the media, must resolve to continue to take the temperature of those who govern and ensure that what they do sees the light of day.

Have emergency kit ready for severe weather

You've set your clocks forward one hour for daylight saving time followed April 6-12 by Severe Weather Awareness Week.

Now there is another spring-time ritual the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division is hoping you will complete — building or restocking your emergency preparedness kit.

This week is Flood Safety Awareness Week in Michigan, closely followed April 6-12 by Severe Weather Awareness Week.

Michigan may see widespread flooding in the next couple of months because of the heavy winter snowfall, according to Capt. Chris A. Kelenske, deputy state director of Emergency Management and Homeland Security and commander of the MSP/EMSD.

And tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are always a springtime threat. An emergency preparedness kit will better prepare you in the event of such an emergency or disaster.

When a disaster strikes, you may have to evacuate, take shelter or go without basic services for hours or days. Having enough supplies to function without basic services — such as electricity or water — is critical during an emergency or disaster, as emergency workers may not be able to reach you right away.

Knowing you may have to survive on your own, you will need a supply of essential items — like food and water — to last at least three days, or 72 hours, per person. Using five-gallon buckets or similar containers, assemble a preparedness kit with the items you and your family will need during an emergency.

Essential items to include in an emergency preparedness kit are:

- Water, at least three gallons of water per person for 72 hours.
- Food, at least a three-day supply of non-perishable food per person.
- Medications.
- Battery-powered or hand-crank radio.
- Flashlight and extra batteries.

- First aid kit.
- Whistle to signal for help.
- A complete change of clothing and footwear for each person.
- Bedding.
- Important family documents.
- Pet supplies (if necessary).

For more information about what to do before, during and after an emergency, go to the MSP/EMSD's website at www.michigan.gov/prepared or follow us on Twitter at @MICH2MHS.

Thanks to Colbeck

James Huddleston recently penned a letter in the Canton Observer in which he falsely claimed that Sen. Pat Colbeck raised taxes on the elderly. I did a quick fact check and found that you got it backward. The bill you are referring to is HB 4361 of 2011 which is now PA 3811. Not only did Sen. Colbeck vote "no" on that bill, he along with eight other senators exercised their Constitutional Right of Protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18) against the passage of House Bill 4361.

Please see the 2011 Senate Journal 41 pg. 676, roll call vote #170 and Sen. Colbeck protest on page 678 for proof.

As long as we are setting the record straight, I would like to thank Sen. Colbeck for consistently voting to oppose increases in taxes, most notably for saying "no" to taxes on seniors' pensions, decreases to the Homestead Property Tax Credit, the Health Insurance Claims Assessment Tax and the yet to be determined future taxes needed to pay for future Medicaid Expansion obligations.

As long as we are setting the record straight, I would like to thank Sen. Colbeck for consistently voting to oppose increases in taxes, most notably for saying "yes" to the repeal of the stifling Michigan Business Tax and Personal Property Tax. I would also like to thank the senator for preparing a workable alternative to Obamacare/Medicaid Expansion with the Patient-Centered Care solution which would actually lower costs while improving care.

Perhaps one of the biggest threats to Sen. Colbeck concerns the subject of transparency. Not only has he opened up his entire voting record on his www.fixing-michigan.com website, he introduced a bill (SB-802-2012), now enacted, which will require all state departments to publicly disclose how they are spending our money. The spending plans for each department in state government are now posted online for all 10,000,000 citizens of Michigan to review and analyze at www.tenmillionaccounts.com.

Mr. Huddleston, I ask that you respect the readers of this newspaper by restricting your observations to the facts.

Pass meth legislation

I support Sen. Proos and Rep. Price's recently proposed anti-meth bills (Senate Bills 535, 563, 564, 565, along with House Bills 5363 and 5364) because they are reasonable and effective approaches to curbing one of our state's worst afflictions.

Meth is a terrible drug that can devastate entire communities. Michigan law enforcement officers are doing everything they can to curtail its distribution, production and abuse, but meth presents a complex problem to try to solve. Sen. Proos and Rep. Price have proposed innovative new policies that would give our law enforcement professionals more tools to combat the meth problem.

Among the many proposals offered by Proos and Price, one of the most innovative ones is called a meth offender block list, which will prevent all former meth criminals from purchasing common cold and allergy medicines that can be misused to manufacture meth. It is a common sense policy that targets lawbreakers, not honest citizens. Additionally, stricter penalties and minimum sentencing for convicted smugglers (i.e. those who purchase pseudoephedrine for others with the intent of manufacturing meth) will help discourage criminal activity in the first place.

Policies that target meth need to be smart, balanced and effective. Proos and Price deserve credit for crafting such a policy.

Secondary motive

There was an interesting segment on the Fox Channel 2 show Let It Rip, Sunday, March 9. The topic was the storage of pet coke — the same material that caused an uproar in Detroit last year.

An environmental lawyer warned against the dangers, known and unknown, of this toxic product. The Detroit News was represented by star reporter Henry Payne, who argued on behalf of Koch Carbon, local owners of this pet coke.

Why an automobile reporter would be an authority on environmental issues was initially questionable until his secondary motive became apparent. During the short time this aired, Payne managed to throw bars at Congressman Gary Peters no less than four times. Apparently, U.S. Rep. Peters is guilty of being concerned for the health and well-being of his constituents Downriver. As you see, Rep. Peters is also running to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Carl Levin in November and The Detroit News editor Nolan Finley and his scribes are not about to let one champion of the people be replaced by another with the same beliefs. In order to continue to stymie every issue our resident puts forth, the state is also running to replace retiring U.S. Sen. and Rep. Peters is far from being their sycophant.

When I heard star reporter Payne say that there are no bad apples in the petroleum field, one word came to mind: dumb. Perhaps Finley should do his own dirty work and Payne should stick to automotive issues.

GUEST COLUMN

Coalition urges transparency, accountability in government

Welcome to Michigan's Freedom of Information

Week. It's a great week to let folks know about how accountable and responsible their governments are at the state, county and local level. This week also marks the first official birthday of the Michigan Coalition for Open Government, a tax-exempt nonprofit group that keeps a sharp eye on the accountability, transparency and responsibility of public officials, governments, public universities and the courts.

Back when the state's freedom of information and open meetings laws went into effect in 1977, the Michigan Supreme Court exempted all Michigan courts from being covered by those laws.

In subsequent decisions, the court has exempted all 15 public university boards from the Open Meetings Act when it comes to pretrial searches. The universities say that decision also applies to their retreats, pre-meetings and other discussions that occur outside of the public meetings mandated by the state constitution. That's extremely relevant now as a presidential search was just completed for the University of Michigan and as searches are under way at Oakland University and Saginaw Valley State University. Public universities are annually given hundreds of millions of dollars of taxpayer dollars, yet require no information about applicants who want to become president can remain secret until a new president is selected.

Court decisions have consistently expanded the interpretations of exemptions despite the public policy language of the Freedom of Information Act itself. Last year, the state Supreme Court, through the State Court Administrative Office, helped draft legislation that exempts disclosure of any information on:

- Mental health courts (even data on the number of cases these courts handle, the success, failures and rates of recidivism on inmates involved)
- Hidden criminal juvenile records (including violent felonies and keeping potential employers from finding out about sex offenders)

Most recently, the state Supreme Court through the SCAO has approved phasing in mandatory electronic filing of court documents without any mention of public access to the records and what that access should cost.

The so-called e-filing legislation is, at least at this point, an "unfunded mandate" being handed down to local courts that requires them to keep all court documents in electronic form rather than on paper. According to some of the court clerks that MICOG surveyed last year, "unfunded mandates from the state are a serious financial problem for local governments."

Nationally and in Michigan, courts have historically operated with a great deal of transparency, but this is changing fast in Michigan, despite the state law mandate that "sittings of every court except in certain cases

The people have a right to full access to their courts. As we head into Sunshine Week, MICOG urges courts to maintain an attitude of public accountability to the citizens who are changing fast in Michigan, despite the state law mandate that "sittings of every court except in certain cases

Spring cleaning is for personal finances, too

It may not feel like it or look like it, but spring has arrived. We survived one of our toughest winters ever and many people will begin a variety of cleaning jobs around the home. It's not a bad idea to also do some spring cleaning of personal finances.

After all, just like a home needs some tender loving care, the same thing applies to personal finances.

Here are some ideas to consider for spring cleaning of finances:

Go through your financial statements for spring cleaning of unnecessary documents.

There is no reason to keep bank statements from years ago. Even many of the brokerage statements received over the past year can be destroyed. Most financial institutions now send a year-end statement—a summary of all activity for the year. Once you receive that statement, shred the others.

It's also a good time to look at where you can consolidate certain accounts. I know people who, for whatever reason, have two or three different bank accounts. My question is always, why? Banks have been very aggressive in charging fees, consolidating accounts can make things easier and can save on fees.

Spend a few minutes looking at fees. Whether it's looking for a new bank or even talking to your institution to see if they will waive fees, spend a few minutes focusing on the fees you pay.

Free credit report

Another item on a spring cleaning list of finances is to obtain a free copy of your credit report. By law, all three of the credit reporting agencies are required to provide a copy of your credit report once a year. Go to www.annualcreditreport.com. When you get the report, check it for accuracy.

Mistakes on your credit report can either prevent you from getting a loan or require you to pay higher interest. It is a hassle to get mistakes corrected on your credit report, but it's not impossible. It can potentially save you a substantial amount of money.

Another spring suggestion is to inventory all assets. Not only should you consider videotaping your home, but also inventory your safe deposit box. Many people have safety deposit boxes, but have no clue what's in them. Now is a great time of year to visit your safety deposit box inventory it and make sure your representative has access to the box.

One last thing item to consider is a document locator—a listing of where all your assets are kept. This is nothing more than a road map so that if something happens to you, your loved ones will know where your assets are located, who your professional advisers are and where your important documents are stored.

If you have one, check if updates are needed.

Springtime is when we air out our houses and fix up the damage that winter has caused. We should look at doing the same thing with our personal finances.

Good luck.

MONEY MATTERS

Any task of cancer is always a personal story

It seems to always be the story:

"I never thought this would be me."
"Never my mom."
"Then we heard those words..."

"Now, it's personal." Three weeks ago, in the wake of relief, editor and friend Brad Kadrich published a personal column detailing his "wake-up call" to cancer following the news that the biopsy of the lymph nodes on the back of his 16-year-old son's head showed they were benign. For years, Brad has been a voice to share the stories of hope from cancer survivors, the stories of despair from heartbroken family members and the need to get involved in worthy causes to help support critical life-saving research.

But he admits that every day I receive a new email, call, text, Facebook message from a volunteer—someone new has been diagnosed. Someone's mother, son, aunt, grandfather, grandson, best friend, themselves. Their fight becomes personal again and they add it to their list of "reasons to Relay."

My reason to Relay changed again two weeks ago, when I was meeting some committee members on a Saturday morning in Plymouth to hang up posters in shops around town. Sitting down in Starbucks, one of my favorite volunteers shared her new reason to Relay—herself. The day before, hearing the words, "You have cancer" seemed like something that would happen to someone else. Now it was personal.

Again. What always surprises me are people's reactions when it becomes personal. Like Nancy, my volunteer, who, after sharing her day-old diagnosis with me, decided she would still go poster the town. Or Brad, who, in the midst of those awful, drawn-out days when you wait for biopsy results, continued to share the cancer stories in our communities while he was scared for his son's life. He has since made a public pledge to be a greater voice—a megaphone. I hope—of the imperative nature of taking up this fight.

And all volunteers I work with who have decided that cancer thrives on silence, they're too angry to not make noise and they fight non-apologetically (I say this recognizing that at certain times the cancer experience is too raw and it's too soon to get involved).

Believe it or not, people do tell me, "Oh, that hasn't affected my family, so we're not interested." But the odds are cancer is not personal yet, it's probably just a matter of time. One in two men and more than one in three women will be diagnosed with cancer in his or her lifetime.

And whether or not you have already been touched by cancer, by joining our movement, you are fighting for when it becomes personal—or becomes personal again.

I recently watched a YouTube video called "Leadership from a dancing guy"—a narration of how to create a movement while a shirtless guy begins dancing in the middle of a grassy knoll full of people. It's painful to watch until strangers begin to join in his dance. I began playing this video to various committees and teams I work with both to make them laugh and inspire them to keep going. Sometimes it feels like we're out there alone dancing on crowded a hill, but we know that if we just keep dancing or get out our megaphones or plaster the town with what we're doing, people will start to follow.

And it's worth it. If you're a leader in the community—or want to be—I am asking you to not wait for another wake-up call. Boldly join me and the volunteers in Plymouth to help lead our community in the fight against cancer through the Relay For Life of Plymouth.

END OF AN ERA

What a ride

Finals loss doesn't spoil Chiefs' big year

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

The Canton Chiefs opened and closed the 2013-14 girls basketball season with losses against Bloomfield Hills Marian.

But those defeats bookended the Chiefs' best season in school history, making it all the way to the Class A finals at the Breslin Center before bowing out to 44-26 to the Samantha Thomas-led Mustangs.

"These guys took us on a tremendous ride through the state tournament," Canton head coach Brian Samulski said. "I mean, division champs, conference champs, district, regional and you play on the last day. You can't really complain."

"It's tough to lose to these guys to start the year and end the year. But with all that said, they did a great job."

Canton went 22-3 in between the two games against Marian, sparked by senior co-captains Paige Aresco, Rachel Winters, Taylor Hunley and Shannon Perry.

All four shared the podium following Saturday's final, their final game together. All four were visibly disappointed about the loss but at the same time pretty proud of what the Chiefs accomplished.

"I'm just really proud of our team," Aresco said. "We played so awesome this year and luck where we ended up ... It was a great team to be a part of. In the locker room, it was like a second family."

Concurring were the others, including Perry, who noted that "I don't think any of us would trade our team for anything, no matter

BUMMER AT BRESLIN

Chiefs stung by Mustangs' freshman, fall 44-26 in championship game

By Tim Smith

EAST LANSING — All season long, the Canton varsity girls basketball team has been noted for playing stellar defense.

That collective 'D' carried the Chiefs all the way to the Breslin Center, but that's where they finally met their defensive match.

Bloomfield Hills Marian prevailed 44-26 Saturday afternoon in the Class A championship game for the Mustangs' — and head coach Mary Ciccone's — first title since 1998.

Freshman guard Samantha Thomas (15 points) showed the mettle of a senior and Marian defended and trapped the Chiefs into submission, contributing to 19 Canton turnovers and a dismal 32 percent shooting percentage from the floor (8-25).

"With Marian, the tough thing is they switch," Canton head coach Brian Samulski said. "They go 2-2-1, then they go diamond, then she backed up and went into her 1-2-2 halfcourt. They trap. You got all those things coming at you so you got to be prepared for different ones and we just sort of got into a scramble."

"The passes weren't sharp, we were lofting passes and they were getting steals."

Doing her homework

Ciccone already had a good idea how the Chiefs would get after her team based on the Canton-Marian matchup at the start of the season. And then, she had more to go on after watching the way Canton guard (Grand Ledge's) top offensive players during Friday's semifinal game.

"Grand Ledge, they have a couple good shooters, they have great size inside," Ciccone said. "And Canton just managed to stay on those shooters, they do a nice job of matching up with the post inside."

"So, I'm like, how are we going to get them spread enough and still execute our offense? And first quarter, (junior forward) Bailey (Gray) and Sam attacked their zone fairly well, we got some good looks. And that helped jump-start our offense."

Conversely, the Chiefs, according to Samulski, "couldn't get over the hump" in the first girls basketball state championship game in school history.

As Samulski answered questions from the media, sitting next to him at the podium were senior co-captains Paige Aresco, Rachel Winters, Taylor Hunley and Shannon Perry. Their eyes were red-rimmed and moist, understandably disappointed with the way things unfolded against Marian.

"These guys and the rest of the girls had an outstanding season," Samulski said. "I'm sure no one thought they'd be here this day on November 11th. All the credit goes to them, what they've done this year. "And they lost to a very good team. The goal is 'Hey, let's play the last day of the season' and they did that. I couldn't be more proud of what they accomplished."

Early problems

Canton (22-5) got into a deep hole early on, making just one of 13 field-goal tries in the opening quarter.

Setting the tone early was junior guard Kara Holinski, who nailed a trey from the right corner midway through the first to put Marian up 7-2.

Thomas then took it strong to the bucket for a couple of layups to make it 11-4 after one quarter — pumping up both the Mustangs (25-2) and their loud throng of fans sitting directly across from the Marian bench.

Canton got to within 20-16 late in the first, fueled by

Young guns lift Whalers to 4-1 win in finale

Plymouth now gearing up for start of OHL playoffs Friday at Guelph

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

With St. Patrick's Day looming, Vincent Scognamiglio and the rest of the Plymouth Whalers wore their green jerseys Saturday night in the regular season finale against Windsor.

But it was hard work and determination to quickly forget about the previous night's 10-1 loss to Erie and not the luck of the Irish that sparked the Whalers' 4-1 victory over the Spitfires.

The win, played before a Compuware Arena sellout crowd of 3,946, featured the first Ontario Hockey League goals by Scognamiglio and linemate Liam Dunda — both in the third period, when Plymouth went ahead to stay.

STORM LOOMING

The Plymouth Whalers and Guelph Storm open their best four-of-seven Ontario Hockey League Western Conference quarterfinal series 7:30 p.m. Friday in Guelph. Following is the schedule:

Game 1: Whalers at Guelph, 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Game 2: Whalers at Guelph, 7 p.m. Saturday.

Game 3: Guelph vs. Whalers, 7 p.m. Tues. at Compuware Arena.

Game 4: Guelph vs. Whalers, 7 p.m. Weds. at Compuware.

Game 5: Whalers at Guelph, 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 28.

Game 6: Guelph vs. Whalers, 4 p.m. Sun., March 30 at Compuware.

Game 7: Whalers at Guelph, 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 1.

"I'm 50-percent Irish, actually," said Scognamiglio, the game's No. 1 star with his goal and an assist (on Dunda's goal). Scognamiglio's power-play goal at 8:45 of the third period snapped a 1-1 tie and proved to be the game-winner.

REMEMBERING KEN JOHNSON

Rocks' first soccer coach 'set the tone'

Plymouth-Salem's Johnson led boys and girls teams to state championships

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Hard to believe, but three months have elapsed since the death of Salem High School's original soccer coach, Ken Johnson.

Newspickers tracked in under the radar about Johnson's death Dec. 21, 2013 at the age of 83. But that was fitting for a man who "laid low" in Florida during the last two decades of his life after retiring from coaching the Rocks boys and girls teams after the 1995-96 school year. Time was spent soaking in the sun and ocean waves while staying connected to his sport as a referee until 2010.

In fact, Ed McCarthy — hired by Johnson to coach Salem's junior varsity teams in 1991 and the varsity successor in 1996 — only saw him once after Johnson left the Park. That was during the summer of 1996, when Johnson popped in on one of McCarthy's practices. "He didn't come back and laid low," said McCarthy, coach of Salem's boys teams until 2012. "I talked to a couple people that knew him and said he was real happy. "When I talked to him in '96 when he came back," he said he had never been happier and he loved it. Every morning he would swim in the ocean. He was delighted for the retirement."

Retiring on top
Johnson left Salem (then known as Plymouth-Salem) on the highest note, coaching the boys to the 1995 state championship. He also was at the helm of the girls 1987 title team.

Ken Johnson

His coaching tenure with the boys began in 1981. He started the girls program in 1983. His record including both teams was 361-121-64 (he was 203-65-27 with the boys). According to McCarthy, the tone for soccer excellence that has prevailed at Salem over the years was established by Ken Johnson. "The fact that he was there for a long time, the limited number of coaches that have been at Salem I'd say were in part continuing on what he did," McCarthy said. "He had a very, very impressive record."

On the boys side, Johnson was followed by McCarthy and (beginning in 2013) Scott Duhl. Salem's girls teams were coached by Johnson, Doug Landefeld (1986-98), Joe Nora (1999-2012) and Duhl beginning last spring. McCarthy said he didn't find out about Johnson's death until January. "Jeff Neschich, who played (for Johnson) at Salem, received something on Facebook." "He pushed hard to get soccer in the high schools," said Neschich, current coach of Plymouth's varsity boys and girls soccer teams. "His passion for the sport and his commitment (was) notably remarkable."

A 'super guy'
By all accounts, Johnson was a coaching pioneer who had a knack for communicating well with players and getting the most out of his teams. "He was one of the nicest people that you would ever meet," McCarthy said. "He was really a super guy, and he got along extremely well with everyone."

"He was the original coach of Salem soccer and really set the tone at the high school. The boys and girls programs have been terrific and he set that tone."

McCarthy added that his own coaching style and subsequent success owed plenty to his mentor. "There's no doubt I picked up lots of things from Ken Johnson," said McCarthy, now coach of the U18 Michigan Wolves boys elite travel team. "I thought the way that he related to the players was exceptional."

"I thought he had a great sense of humor with the players and he also carried the balance of having good discipline as well."

His son-in-law Joe Knoerl was a Salem goalkeeper for three seasons when Johnson was coach. "Not only did he coach at Salem," noted Knoerl in an email earlier this year to the Observer, "but was a big part of setting up the Plymouth and Canton soccer clubs during the late 70s and early 80s. He continued to ref until he turned 80."

Although no official tributes have been planned to honor Johnson, the idea of having a moment of silence for the coach before a Rocks soccer game was called "appropriate" by McCarthy.

YOUTH SWIMMING

She enjoys record-breaking state meet

Plymouth girl repeats as state champion

Plymouth resident Emma May repeated as a state swimming champion on Saturday, at the USA sanctioned state championship meet at Walled Lake Central.

Emma, 8, who attends Spiritus Sanctus Academy in Plymouth, and Kylie Evenson — both from An Arbor-based Club Wolverine — won the state title in the 8- and under girls division.

Both girls won all five events they swam in to become co-champions with perfect Michigan Interscholastic Swim Coaches Association scores of 100.

Emma prevailed in the 25-yard butterfly, 50 fly, 100 individual medley, 25 breaststroke and 50 breast.

The daughter of Kevin and Emily May also set four individual meet records.

Three of the four records had not been broken since 2006. She set marks in the 25 fly (15:29 seconds) and 50 fly (34.70).

Also Emma set the meet record in the 25 breast (18:88, topping the old record set in 2013 by Taylor Westrick, Club Wolverine swimmers Kylie Evenson (left) and Plymouth resident Emma May (right) won the state title in their age group.

21:20) and 50 breast (41:59, to eclipse previous mark of 45:70 set in 2006 by Samantha Meyers. Kylie set three records, including in the 25-yard freestyle (14:17), 50 free (32:25), 25-yard backstroke (14:17) while finishing first in five events (25 free, 50 free, 100 free, 25 back, 50 back).

In 2013, Emma was winner in the 7-and-under division.

get a milestone meeting. He buried Scognamiglio's center pass to make it 3-1 with 7:34 remaining. Also assisting was linemate Danny Vanderviere.

"It was pretty cool," Scognamiglio said about he and Dunda each tallying their first OHL goal in the same contest. "I think we were both due and we were banking off that. That's what happens when you work hard, you get rewarded."

Closing out the scoring at 18:15 of the third period was helping Bryce Yetman (just his second of the season), with rookie defenseman Alex DiCarlo collecting his first OHL point.

DiCarlo took a feed from defenseman Alex Peters and ripped a hard shot from the right point that banked off the boards behind the Windsor goal.

The puck caromed right out to Yetman, standing near the left post. He made no mistake with his shot. It was the Whalers' third power-play goal of the game.

"I'm happy for them," Plymouth head coach and general manager Mike Vellucci said. "Dunda got his first and Scogs got his first and DiCarlo got his first assist, so it was a win-win."

"We rested most of our guys and we had a good crowd and we were 24 saves for the win was Plymouth goalie Alex Nedeljkovic, who often sees twice that many shots in a night. Kuchminger stopped 41 of 45 Whalers shots.

After Windsor's Ben Johnson gave the Spitfires a 1-0 lead late in the first period, the Whalers drew even at 14:10 of the middle period when defenseman Gianluca Cur-curro scored on the power play.

Setting up the goal were Lorentz and Hartman (two assists each).

Turning the page
According to Scognamiglio, it was good to bounce back from the Erie debacle and gain some confidence — especially with the opening round of the playoffs beginning Friday at Guelph.

"I think we just knew we had to come out and play," he said. "Just like we did after losing to them in Erie last week (11-2 March 5). We bounced back with Niagara (a 4-3 win March 6) and we did the same tonight."

Scognamiglio added that the victory helps put the team in a better frame of mind going into the playoffs. Plymouth finished the regular season with a record of 28-33-0-7 for 63 points and the eighth seed in the Western Conference.

"This is great to end the season on, it gives us a lot of confidence that we need for the playoffs for the younger guys," he said. "And it's going to take everyone to make a good playoff run."

Plymouth did have one worrisome moment when Curcuro was checked from behind into the boards in front of the Whalers' bench early in the final period. He shook off the hit and was on the ice during a three-minute power play, during which Scognamiglio scored his goal.

Windsor ended fifth in the conference with 77 points (37-28-3-4) and will play London in the first round.

Vellucci and his young squad will skate into the playoffs with a recent win to build on.

"We wanted to make the playoffs (for them) to gain some experience in the playoffs," Vellucci said. "It's a whole new season and anything can happen."

WHALERS DRAW GUELPH:
Plymouth's OHL record 2nd consecutive playoff appearance begins at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Guelph (this goal plus with 167 points entering Saturday night's action). The Whalers will play Game 2 Saturday, also at Guelph, before hosting the Storm for games 3-4.

Game 1 started at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 25, at Compuware Arena, with the fourth game the following night, also at 7 p.m.

If the series reaches a sixth game, it will be played at 8 p.m. Sunday, March 30, at Compuware.

Vellucci said the series will pit teams with a different mind-set. "It's senior hockey, they're older than us and they're going for it this year," he said. "We're young and trying to get experience."

Guelph leads the OHL in scoring with 339 goals, fourth one game left and Vellucci said keeping the points attack in check and staying on top in the battles 3/30 that's a lot of goals.

"I'm going to come down to goaltending and discipline," Vellucci said.

Tickets for all Whalers playoff games will be purchased by calling the Compuware box office (734-433-8400) or going online to www.plymouthwhalers.com two triples from senior point guard Rachel Winters. Marian finished the half up 22-16 and then regrouped during the intermission. Ciccone used the break to get her team on the same page, according to Thomas.

"In the first half we weren't scoring that much, and not talking as much as a team," Thomas said. "We were kind of being selfish a little bit. At halftime, Cice just told us we're not playing like ourselves, we just need to be a team and play it together and we can get whatever we want."

Canton already was teetering in the confidence department as far as their offense was concerned, making just five of 23 field-goal tries in the first half.

And then, the Mustangs came out even stronger in the third quarter, covering the Chiefs at every turn.

To the rim

The Chiefs made eight turnovers in the third alone, and Thomas pretty much sealed their fate with three old-fashioned three-point plays in the frame.

"With about 1:20 remaining in the third, Thomas galloped into the paint, threw the ball into the cylinder and drew a foul. After she made the free throw, it was a 32-21 contest."

"Cice told us at halftime we had to spread the offense because Canton has a really good defense, so we needed to spread it out so we could drive it and kick it," Thomas said. "But they were out on our shooters so I knew the lane would be open so I just drove and I got the foul."

Marian went up 35-21 after three and Holinski—who had scorched Farmington Hills Mercy Friday with 20 points—sank a trey in the opening minute of the fourth to make it 38-21. She ended up with nine points Saturday.

There was little doubt at that point who would be hoisting the coveted championship trophy.

The ultimate taste of victory is something Ciccone experienced four times before during her 31-year career at Marian, but she was elated that it was the current team that gave her a fifth title.

She also had a little concern, it was the Mustangs might not come out as strong as they did Friday against the Marlins, simply because of the Marian-Mercy rivalry.

No holdin'

"This is not a letdown," Ciccone said. "But, I was so worried because their emotions were so high for that game, I was worried they were not going to come out as aggressive. But you just want this.

"These kids worked hard in the off-season, lifting weights and running. You want it for them because you like them so much. They're such a great group. And you want them to feel this (championship) and it's just a great feeling."

Also helping Marian's cause were sophomore guard Bailey Thomas and Samantha Thomas and Gray each grabbing five rebounds.

For Canton, the leading scorer was Aresco with nine. That was well below her average of 14.6. She also led the Chiefs with six rebounds.

"She's a great player. She's really, really aggressive and can get to the rim and shoot," said Aresco, about trying to guard Samantha Thomas.

"She's just a wonderful player."

SEASON

what." According to Samulski, whose team never led the game against Marian (and only tied the Mustangs at 2-2 early in the contest), few were jumping on Canton's bandwagon early in the season after the Chiefs started the year with two losses.

Getting them ready

But he emphasized that the first month of the schedule was a grind, against strong non-conference teams such as Marian, Farmington Hills Mercy, Grosse Pointe South and Dearborn Divine Child.

The ultimate goal of Samulski and assistant coaches Bob Blohm, Lauren Delapaz, Rob Heitmeier and Kevin Palmer was to get Canton prepared for the possibility of enjoying a lengthy, pressure-packed tournament run.

"We made the non-league schedule because we have these four guys (seniors)," Samulski said. "You've got Marian, Mercy, Grosse Pointe South and DC and people look at you like you're an idiot."

"But I knew we had these four and these four are awesome, they've been here three or four years. They knew the purpose of it. The whole goal of playing those people is to get you ready to maybe make a state tournament run and get there. So we accomplished that."

Became Samulski knew the character of his senior leaders, augmented by junior guard Alanna Brown and sophomore guard Natalie Winters (both key contributors all season), he did not get rattled about the early defeats.

"We started the season 0-2 and you can easily have said 'You can cash it in,'" Samulski said. "Some teams do cash it in that early. One time we were 2-3. But they hung in there and realized what we were doing."

"These four are awesome, I love them to death, I'll miss them dearly. They did everything I could ask for. They had great careers, they had a great season, they should be absolutely proud of what they accomplished. It's the first team in school history to play in a state championship (and that Canton's had a lot of good teams.)"

But there's no denying the 2013-14 version had something special going for it.

'Super Jess' 5K run

The Plymouth-Canton Educational Park's National Honor Society will host its fourth annual "Super Jess" 5K run at 8 a.m. Sunday, May 4, on the high school campus.

This event was created in 2011 in honor of 16-year-old P-CEP student Jesse Lindlbauer, whose sinus infection turned into an abscess which ruptured, causing a traumatic brain injury. The 5K run was created in order to bring the community support to the family and raise money.

After a successful event in 2011, the National Honor Society decided to make the 5K an annual event to honor local families in need.

This year, the race will support one present P-CCS student and one P-CCS alumni: Salem senior Jerrica Fitzgerald and Salem alum Amy Ladenberger.

Jerrica Fitzgerald was diagnosed with hydrocephalus, a rare medical condition in which fluid builds up in the brain. Jerrica has undergone more than 30 surgeries and countless nights in the hospital since she was diagnosed in 2009. She attended Smith Elementary and West Middle School. Jerrica is now a senior at the Park and is excited to graduate this spring with the rest of her class.

Amy Ladenberger is a 25-year-old Park graduate who attended Hoben Elementary and Discovery Middle School. She was diagnosed with cystic fibrosis, a disease which causes thick, sticky mucus to build up in the lungs, digestive tract and other areas of the body, when she was three months old. Within the last year, Amy underwent a double lung transplant and many other surgeries prior to that.

Please join the NHS to raise money and support for the

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Fitzgerald and Ladenberger families by participating in the 5K, donating funds, or sponsoring the May 4 race.

It will begin at 8 a.m. at the Canton varsity football field.

Registration will continue until race day; registrations received prior to April 16 will include a race shirt.

Registration forms can be found on the SJSK Facebook page, on the P-CEP website or in Canton, Plymouth and Salem main offices. Event fees are $25 for adults over 18 and $20 for all others.

For questions about the race or volunteering, contact the student coordinator of this event, Shannon Perry, at SJSKcommunity@gmail.com. For questions about becoming a sponsor, contact Chris Kozler at ckozler76@gmail.com. All donations and sponsorships can be made out to "NHS SJSK 2014" and can be mailed to Pam Davis, 46370 Spinning Wheel, Canton, MI 48187.

Crystallettes to represent U.S. overseas

Plymouth has two figure skaters on team headed to Italy

The Crystallettes Senior synchronized figure skating team will represent the United States at the 2014 ISU World Synchronized Skating Championships, April 3-5 at the Forum Sport Center in Courmayeur, Italy.

The Crystallettes won the silver medal at United States Figure Skating U.S. National Synchro Championships, Feb. 28 through March 1 at the World Arena in Colorado Springs, Colo. By virtue of their second-place finish, they qualified to compete in the World Championships.

The Synchro World Championships will host 23 teams representing 18 countries Australia, Belgium, Canada, Croatia, Czech Republic, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the U.S. After skating a fast, clean and edgy short program Feb. 28 to I'm A Woman by Leiber and Stoller, the Crystallettes were in second place with 61.26 points — 10.06 points behind the Massachusetts-based and reigning national champion Haydenettes and 5.03 points ahead of the third-place team from Miami (Ohio) University.

Going into the long program March 1, the Crystallettes knew they had to skate a near-perfect program to remain in the top two spots and qualify for the Worlds. Performing to Iris: Cirque Du Soleil by Danny Elfman, the Crystallettes skated first among the top teams and earned a season-best score of 118.51 points.

The Crystallettes skate in unison during a synchronized competition.

The Crystallettes are on their way to Italy for an international competition.

The Michigan skaters were excited to perform their energetic program with a theme celebrating black and white television.

Their performance was an exciting and fun interpretation of the music, with impressive intersections and quirky footwork and was an overall strong performance.

The Haydenettes skated next, executing a virtually flawless program and earning a season-best 133.70 points.

That left the Crystallettes in second place and anxiously waiting for Miami University to skate, knowing if Miami performed an exceptionally clean program, it would have the opportunity to edge the Crystallettes out of second place.

Miami's performance earned a score of 93.41, landing it in fourth place overall behind Chicago's Starlights.

The Crystallettes' hard work was rewarded with an invitation to represent the U.S. in the 2014 ISU World Championships as Team USA II.

The Crystallettes Senior team also won a silver medal at the Dr. Porter Synchro Classic in Ann Arbor earlier this season and the gold medal at the Mid America Championships in Fraser.

The skaters are: Amanda Allan and Laura Friedman from Plymouth; Mackenzie Clark, Macomb Township; Maddie Franchoch, Milford; Chelsea MacIntosh, Clinton Township; Hannah Menclay, Missouri; Sharon Neff, Birmingham; Victoria LeBryk and Katelyn Peterson, Dearborn; Sara Salomone, Ohio; Jennifer LeChard and Brittany Nagel, Saline; Kaycee Siebler, Ann Arbor; Maddie Weiner, Bloomfield Township; Anastasia Wilky, Detroit; and Carolyn DaBrova, Mackenzie Elford, Veronica Stafford, Jacquelyne Zolynsky and Josephine Zolynsky, Farmington Hills.

The Zolynsky sisters are Farmington High School graduates and juniors at the University of Detroit Mercy. Elbow is a senior at Mercy High School. Stafford is a senior and DaBrova a junior at North Farmington High School.

The head coaches are Shannon Peterson and Holly Malewski, while the assistant coaches are Cathy Dalton, Greg Zuerlein, Lyne Forget, Ann Barr and Kevin O'Keefe.

The Crystallettes Senior send-off exhibition is at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 23, at the Dearborn Ice Skating Center on Ford Road in Dearborn. Donations to help Team USA II make the trip to Italy and back can be made at www.fundlife.com/crystallettes.

MEN'S COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Mashhour takes Schoolcraft hoops job

New coach moves over from Henry Ford CC

By Brad Emmons
Staff Writer

Mashhour

It took only a week for Schoolcraft College to find a new men's basketball coach.

Abe Mashhour, who led Henry Ford Community College to a record of 245-156 in his 15 seasons, will guide the Ocelots for the 2014-15 season following the resignation of Randy Henry on March 7.

Schoolcraft athletic director Sid Fox made the announcement March 14.

"Schoolcraft College welcomes Abe with open arms to continue his successful coaching career here in Livonia," Fox said in a press release. "He has always impressed me with his capacity to recruit, coach and manage his players at an optimum level."

The 59-year-old Henry, a Detroit Redford High graduate who went on to play four seasons at Illinois State under Will Robinson, posted a 68-134 record in his seven seasons, including 14-15 mark this season.

The 42-year-old Mashhour, a 1990 grad from Dearborn Fordson High, holds B.A. and Master's degrees from Wayne State University. He resides in Dearborn with his wife Sue and six children, and serves as the director of student services and athletics for Dearborn Public Schools.

Henry Ford finished 12-17 overall this season and tied for sixth at 7-11 in the MCCA's Eastern Conference (with Schoolcraft).

In 2008-09, Mashhour coached the Hawks to the MCCA and NJCAA District 9 championships, as well as a berth in the NJCAA Division II National Tournament (in Danville, Ill.).

His 2009-10 squad was ranked No. 1 nationally after starting the season 20-0 before the Hawks were forced to forfeit five Eastern Conference wins because of an ineligible player. They finished 22-8 and wound up runner-up in the NJCAA District 9 tournament to St. Clair County CC.

"It's a better overall opportunity as far as having scholarships, I like the area very much and it's a better recruiting area, too," said Mashhour, who also served as an assistant at Henry Ford from 1994-95. "Schoolcraft is a very reputable academic school. It seems we're losing a lot of Dearborn students who are heading to Schoolcraft. The opportunity came up when Randy resigned. I inquired and it was fortunate to get the job."

Mashhour has coached 18 NJCAA Academic All-Americans and six Distinguished All-Americans, with a player graduation rate exceeding 85 percent.

"Education is of the utmost importance to me, and it will remain as my highest priority for the purpose of providing academic opportunities that support student-athletes in completing their degree," Mashhour said.

Mashhour, who is already on the recruiting trail, said he will bring his entire Henry Ford staff to Schoolcraft including former Livonia Clarenceville High coach Corey McKendry, ex-Livonia Stevenson High coach Mike Allie and Seth Coffing.

"Obviously I want good kids that are going to play hard," Mashhour said. "With scholarships I should be able to recruit a little bit more high-caliber players. We want good young men that are going to work hard academically and obviously we want to win on the basketball court."

Nine of 12 Schoolcraft players are eligible to return next season.

Canton man recalls Detroit childhood in film

By Sharon Dargary
Staff Writer

Jonathan Stanley grew up in a gritty Detroit neighborhood in a family that had little money but lots of heart. "Our parents put us in Catholic school to keep us out of trouble," said Stanley, 31, a Canton resident and the youngest of three brothers. "It was a blessing. We were altar boys and it kept us full of faith. It would have been a different story if we had been in public school in that neighborhood. It was a rough area."

His experiences growing up in southwest Detroit and his job as a stripper at age 19 inspired Misled, an independent film he co-wrote, produced and cast. It makes its debut Saturday, March 22, at the Gasparilla International Film Festival in Tampa, Fla. Misled tells the story of two Detroit brothers — Bobby is involved with drugs and Jason turns to stripping while also supporting their mother — who struggle to better their lives.

"Stripping is a sub-plot and it's not glorified in the film. It's a family story at the same time. It's about life, it's about doing what you have to do and staying loyal to family in the process," Stanley said.

Stanley said he wrote the Bobby character portrayed by Matt Lockwood — as a compilation of friends and family members, but that Jason, the character he plays, more closely parallels his own life.

Dropping out

Stanley was 13 when his family moved to Lexington, a small-town environment north of Port Huron that gave him a new-found sense of hope and safety. But it wasn't long before he began to feel out of place in school, with his grades plummeted. By ninth grade, at age 15, he dropped out.

"I have amazing parents. They're good parents, but they weren't real hard on us, they didn't budge us. They didn't want to force us (to attend school) if we didn't want to. It worked for me. I quit," Stanley said, adding "I've never touched any drugs in my life and I attribute that to my parents."

He worked various jobs, but by age 19, was behind in his rent and on the verge of losing his first apartment. An acquaintance suggested he try amateur night at Danny's, a club in Windsor, Ontario, that featured male strippers.

"I drove the two hours to Windsor, did amateur night and got 50 bucks Canadian. They hired me. It was rough at first and then it clicked. It was cool, easy money."

He danced for a few years and then looked for an exit plan. "You realize you're not working to your highest potential," he said. "I finally had the confidence I needed and went to L.A. to study acting."

Getting into film

He took an intensive boot camp in Los Angeles and then signed up for theater classes at Henry Ford Community College. Over the past few years, he has appeared in such films as Stone and Last Man Standing. He had a lead part, as a meth addict, in The Narrow Place.

Stanley began writing the Misled script three years ago after John Blackwell of Blackwell Ford in Plymouth, a fan of his work in The Narrow Place, agreed to finance the project.

"I thought, I can do this. I wrote the first draft and it wasn't good. But I kept fine tuning it, reading books on writing screenplays. After six months, the people I showed it to liked it."

Stanley collaborated with California-based scriptwriter Scott Baldyga on the final drafts. Baldyga also directed and produced the film, which stars Sammy Sheik and Natalie Avital, in addition to Stanley and Lockwood.

Misled was shot in 2012 in Detroit, Plymouth, Dearborn and Hamtramck. Stanley hopes to show the film this summer in metro Detroit and continues to submit it to film festivals.

"I want to keep making movies that inspire people. And to give back to the community," he said. "So many people did that for me along with way. So for people believed in me."

Taste a world of culinary adventure

From taking a food tour through the Mediterranean to infusing everyday recipes with exotic herbs and spices, home chefs are eager to explore the world through culinary adventures.

Americans are looking for adventure, sophistication and new experiences in the kitchen, according to a recent survey of people ages 45 to 65 commissioned by Florida Grapefruit. Based on the findings, the top five culinary adventures home chefs in this age group want to achieve are:

1. Spice up everyday meals with trendy, of-the-moment ingredients.
2. Add sophistication to beverages by using fresh herbs in unusual ways.
3. Create an exciting new dessert by pairing unexpected flavors, such as smokiness and a Middle Eastern influence.
4. Adopt a Mediterranean flair by exploring the tastes, culture and ethnic flavors of this region.
5. Add an exotic twist to favorite cuisines with a fusion of two favorite globally-inspired dishes.

To deliver on this wish list, celebrity chef Aarti Sequeira has created a series of tangy, exotic and delicious recipes. Each dish features a sweet and zesty favorite — 100 percent Florida grapefruit juice or fresh Florida grapefruit segments.

The recipes, part of the "Taste a World of Zing" collection, feature step-by-step instructions that give even kitchen novices the confidence to try something new. Among them are Grapefruit Tart with Cardamom Cream, which answers the call to pair unexpected flavors in the same delicious dish; Tandoori Steak-Grapefruit Lettuce Wraps and Grapefruit Yogurt Smoothie with Fennel Seed, with flavors of Indian cuisine; and Kale & Grapefruit Salad with Warm Bacon-Wild Mushroom Dressing, which uses trendy and nutritious kale, along with wild mushrooms.

FLORIDA GRAPEFRUIT TART WITH CARDAMOM CREAM

Makes: 4 to 6 servings

- 1½ cups whole milk
- 5 cardamom pods, crushed
- 5 extra-large egg yolks, room temperature
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon orange blossom water
- 1 tablespoon grapefruit zest
- Pinch kosher salt
- 1 tablespoon heavy cream
- 1 refrigerated pie crust
- 3 ruby red grapefruit, peeled, white pith removed, cut into segments
- Maldon smoked salt, for sprinkling

Place milk and cardamom pods in a small saucepan over medium-low heat. Cook, stirring often, until small bubbles form around the circumference of the saucepan. Turn off heat, cover and steep for 20 minutes.

Beat egg yolks and sugar together in a stand mixer at medium-high speed until pale yellow and very thick, about 5 minutes. Turn the speed down to low, then add the cornstarch.

Stir in orange blossom water and grapefruit zest, along with a pinch of salt. Keeping the mixer on low, slowly pour in the milk mixture, beating until just combined. Transfer the milk mixture to a medium saucepan over medium-low heat. Cook, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon, until it comes to a boil, 5 to 10 minutes. Switch to a whisk; whisk constantly until it has thickened to the texture of pudding. Turn heat off. Stir in heavy cream and then strain into a large bowl. Place plastic wrap on the actual surface of the pastry cream, then refrigerate for at least 3 hours.

Once pastry cream is chilled, pre-heat oven to 425°F. Place pie crust in 9½-inch tart pan. Prick dough evenly with fork to keep it from puffing up in the oven. Bake for about 12 minutes or until the pie crust is just golden brown. Remove from oven and cool.

Just before serving, pour the pastry cream into the tart crust and even out. Decorate with concentric circles of grapefruit segments. Sprinkle with smoked salt and serve immediately.

For individual tartlets: Divide pie crust among four 4½-inch tart pans. Bake at 425°F for about 10 minutes or just until golden brown.

TANDOORI STEAK-GRAPEFRUIT LETTUCE WRAPS

Tandoori powder is an intoxicating blend of several spices used by Indians whenever they cook in the "tandoor," a scorching hot clay oven. You can find it at Indian markets and fine grocery stores.

- Steak:
- 1½ cups grapefruit juice
- ½ cup soy sauce
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 2 pounds flank steak, trimmed of excess fat and silver skin
- Tandoori Sauce:
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1½ cup + 2 tablespoons grapefruit juice
- 3 large cloves garlic, minced
- 4 sprigs mint, minced
- 2 teaspoons Tandoori
- 2 teaspoons Tandoori powder (see note)
- 1 teaspoon grated ginger
- Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper

- Filling:
- 2 ruby red Florida grapefruit, peeled, pith removed, segmented and coarsely chopped into ½-inch pieces
- 2 English cucumbers, peeled, finely diced
- 2 green onions, sliced finely
- 4 sprigs mint, minced
- ½ cup extra virgin olive oil
- 1 head romaine lettuce, leaves pulled apart

Make steak marinade: Whisk together grapefruit juice, soy sauce, garlic and freshly ground black pepper. Pour over steak, marinate at room temperature for 10 to 30 minutes while you make you make the sauce and filling.

Tandoori sauce: Whisk together yogurt, grapefruit juice, garlic, honey, Tandoori powder, ginger and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a small saucepan with ¼ cup water. Cook over low heat, about 10 minutes, until thickened. Set aside.

Filling: Toss grapefruit, cucumbers, green onions and mint with extra virgin olive oil, salt and pepper. Set aside.

Cook steak in a very hot cast iron skillet, about 3-5 minutes per side. Remove from heat, let rest 5 minutes. Slice thinly against the grain.

To assemble wraps, place lettuce leaves on plates. Build wraps: place a couple of pieces of steak in a romaine leaf, top with grapefruit filling, drizzle with Tandoori sauce. Serve immediately.

KALE & GRAPEFRUIT SALAD WITH WARM BACON-WILD MUSHROOM DRESSING

Serves: 4

- 1 to 2 bunches black kale (about 1 pound), washed, stalks removed, sliced into ½-inch ribbons
- ½ cup extra virgin olive oil, divided, plus more for massaging
- 3 slices thick-sliced bacon, roughly chopped
- 8 ounces wild mushrooms, thinly sliced (crimini and chanterelle recommended)
- 1 medium shallot, minced (about ½ cup)
- ½ cup champagne vinegar
- ½ cup grapefruit juice
- 1 tablespoon honey
- ½ cup toasted hazelnuts, roughly chopped
- 1 large ruby red grapefruit, cut into segments
- Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper

Place kale in a very large bowl. Sprinkle with a couple of pinches of kosher salt and a very light drizzle of extra virgin olive oil. Now, begin "massaging" the kale, squeeze fistfuls of the leaves and rub between your fingers. The kale will begin to wilt within minutes. Once uniformly wilted, set aside on the counter and prepare the dressing. Place a medium sauté pan or skillet over medium-low heat. Add bacon pieces and cook, stirring every now and then, until most of the fat has rendered off and bacon bits are brown and just crispy. Using a slotted spoon, remove bacon to a plate lined with paper towel. Pour off bacon fat into a measuring cup. If necessary, add enough extra virgin olive oil to make ½ cup. Pour back into sauté pan.

Add the mushrooms, stir to coat in the fat, then spread out into an even layer. Don't touch them for 3 to 5 minutes! They will start to soften and sizzle. Now stir and cook, stirring often until they are golden brown around the edges. Stir in the shallots and cook until the whole mixture is browned and aromatic.

Add champagne vinegar, scraping up any brown bits on the bottom of the pan with your spoon. Turn the heat off. Add 2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil, the grapefruit juice and 1 tablespoon honey. Stir together, taste for seasoning and adjust according to your palate.

Sprinkle kale with hazelnuts, bacon bits and grapefruit segments. Pour warm dressing over the tart and serve immediately.

Outreach: Canton church opens site in Livonia

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

LifeChurch Livonia will open its doors with a "preview service" at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, March 23, at Holmes Middle School, 16200 Newburgh, in Livonia.

"It's one of two new sites established by LifeChurch Canton in the past three years. LifeChurch Southfield opened in 2011 at the Southfield Marriott. "We want to be a church that is accessible," said Brian Nanninga, who will pastor the Livonia location. "We want to partner with neighborhoods and reach as many people with the Gospel as we can.

"Our tagline is 'real people, real god, real life,'" Nanninga said, adding that LifeChurch Livonia will bring a "contemporary" church model to the community.

"What makes us different is the people here. We're from diverse backgrounds — socioeconomic, racially — and we're diverse in regard to church backgrounds. From that comes a beautiful mix."

Nanninga said the new location will hold five preview services over the next three and a half months. In addition to the service on March 23, the congregation will meet Easter Sunday next month, for one service in May and two services in June. Weekly worship services will begin in July.

"We want to have the opportunity to do church well on Sunday," said Nanninga. "Church services that start weekly often struggle and end up failing. There are a lot of details in starting a new church. We want to build momentum and gather new people."

Nanninga said he expects between 150-200 worshippers to attend the inaugural service this weekend. The Southfield location draws approximately 200 individuals and the Canton church averages 1,200-1,400 worshippers every weekend.

'FIRE-SAFE' CIGARETTES A FACTOR IN REDUCING FIRE DEATHS

According to a recent report released by the National Fire Protection Association, 540 civilian deaths in the United States were attributed to smoking material fires in 2011, a 30-year low that is down from 1980 levels. In 2011, there were an estimated 90,000 smoking material fires resulting in $621 million in direct property damage.

The decline in smoking, the effect of standards and regulations that have made mattresses and upholstered furniture more resistant to cigarette ignition, and more recently, adoption of fire-safe cigarette requirements throughout the country, are factors the report credits with the decrease in smoking material fire deaths over the past 31 years. The long-term trend in smoking material fires is down by 73 percent from 1980 to 2011.

Standards that have made mattresses more resistant to cigarette ignition and the adoption of fire-safe fires are credited in reducing the number of smoking material fires. Getty Images/StockPhoto

"Fire-safe," or reduced ignition strength cigarettes, as determined by ASTM test standards and state laws on acceptable performance, appear to be the only factor contributing to the decline in smoking material fire deaths that had not leveled off or phased out before 2003 — the last year before the fire-safe cigarette law was effective in any state.

"NFPA has developed safety information, including safety tips focusing on safe behavior, storage, and disposal of smoking materials." "Use a deep, sturdy ashtray. Place it away from anything that can burn."

"Before going to bed, check under furniture cushions and around places where people smoke for cigarette butts that may have fallen out of sight."

"Keep cigarettes, lighters, matches, and other smoking materials up high out of the reach of children, in a locked cabinet."

"Never smoke where medical oxygen is used. Medical oxygen can cause materials to ignite more easily and make fires burn at a faster rate than normal and can make an existing fire burn faster and hotter."

About The National Fire Protection Association

NFPA is a worldwide leader in fire, electrical, building, and life safety. The mission of the international nonprofit organization founded in 1896 is to reduce the worldwide burden of fire and other hazards on the quality of life by providing and advocating consensus codes and standards, research, training, and education. NFPA develops more than 300 codes and standards to minimize the possibility and effects of fire and other hazards. All NFPA codes and standards can be viewed at no cost at www.nfpa.org/freeaccess 2012 was the first year all 50 state laws were effective and all inventories of pre-standard cigarettes should have sold out. A projection linking the percentage decline in fires or fire deaths to the percentage of smokers covered suggested that when the law was fully effective across the entire country in late 2011, the reduction in fire deaths should reach 30 percent relative to levels in 2003, and as predicted by the projection in the previous NFPA report, estimated fire deaths were 30 percent lower than in 2003.

"It is good news to see this 30 year low and fewer people dying in smoking-material fires," said Lorraine Carli, NFPA's vice president of Outreach and Advocacy. "Lives were saved and will continue to be saved as a direct result of efforts of the Coalition for Fire-Safe Cigarettes, a group of safety advocates, the fire service and others, who in the past decade joined together to see that fire-safe cigarettes become the standard."

Other key findings in the report show:

"One out of four fatal victims of smoking-material fires is not the smoker whose cigarette started the fire."

"Older adults are at highest risk of death or injury from home smoking material fires, even though they are less likely to smoke than younger adults."
