Canton native earns bravery badge

Border Patrol agent helped family during Texas flood

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Canton native Christopher J. Smilo didn't hesitate as rapidly rising flood waters filled an Eagle Pass, Texas, house where an elderly couple struggled to keep their heads above water.

Smilo, a U.S. Border Patrol agent, jumped from a rescue boat, braved fast-moving, debris-filled water and swam to the house. He reassured the couple as he carried them, one by one, away from death's door to an awaiting air boat.

He takes it in stride. "I was just kind of doing my job," Smilo said. "That's what I'm trained to do. That's what I'm supposed to do."

Smilo, a 2002 graduate of

Canton High School who took his football skills on to Wayne State University, has received the Congressional Badge of Bravery for life-saving skills he used as a massive flood swept through Eagle Pass on June 15, 2013.

Officials from the U.S. Border Patrol's Del Rio sector announced Monday that Smilo and two other agents, James Barfield and Rolando Cantu, are among a select few to receive the latest Congressional Badge of Bravery, created in 2008 to honor exceptional acts of bravery.

Smilo, 31, is a medic and canine handler who often confronts dangerous situations during search and rescue missions for the U.S. Border Patrol's BORSTAR (Border Patrol Search, Trauma and Rescue Team), a special operations detachment. He studied criminal justice at Wayne State and now works with 17 other agents in his Texas unit.

Cantu earned his badge for maneuvering the air boat, securing it to a telephone pole with exposed, live electrical wires and swimming to rescue a man from his house. Barfield, across town, rescued occupants from an apartment building as flood waters quickly rose.

Smilo's father, David Smilo of Plymouth, said he is proud of his oldest of four children.

"He has always been a phenomenal young man," said his father, an assistant high school football coach for the Canton

Vintage Air Force jet heads home

After spending some six months refurbishing a 1960s U.S. Air Force F-86 Sabrejet, students and instructors at the MIAT College of Technology in Canton said goodbye to the vintage aircraft as it made its way towed by a tractor down Haggerty, across Michigan Avenue and, finally, down Tyler, home to the Yankee Air Museum. Come back Sunday and read about the refurbishment and the plane's travels to the aircraft museum at Willow Run Airport.

Man charged with sex crimes involving Canton teen

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A Troy man has been charged with six counts of criminal sexual conduct involving a Canton girl who police say was about 13-15 years old.

Brett Christopher Lloyd, 42, is accused of befriending the girl through an undisclosed social media website and arranging to meet her in Canton during the latter part of last year and early this year, police Lt. Craig Wilsher said.

Lloyd

"It was over a period of time," he said. Lloyd was arraigned Saturday on five felony counts of third-degree criminal sexual conduct and one misdemeanor count of fourth-degree CSC. If convicted, he could face 15 years in prison.

Lloyd has been jailed with a $150,000/10-percent bond, meaning he would need to post $15,000 before he could be released. He is scheduled for a preliminary examination May 1 in 35th District Court to determine whether he should face trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

With court proceedings pending, Wilsher declined to divulge certain information, such as where Lloyd and the girl met. An investigation began last year after the alleged victim reported the situation to police.

Wilsher said the incidents should serve as a warning for underage girls and boys to "be very cautious" when striking up a conversation with strangers through social media.

Canton photographer Swisher fondly remembered

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Richard "Dick" Swisher, a beloved Canton Leisure Services photographer, worried aloud when he was chosen as grand marshal for the last Liberty Fest parade in 2010, before budget cuts snuffed out the procession along Ford Road.

"How I'm going to be a grand marshal and take pictures is beyond me," Mr. Swisher told the Observer.

His solution: Dangle his camera around his neck, wave to parade crowds from a convertible sports car and snap pictures as he always did - this time from the angle of a festival celebrity.

Mr. Swisher, 93, worked until just a few months ago, when he had to focus more on his battle with cancer. He died April 16, but his legacy and his dedication to Canton live on.

Mr. Swisher, a Canton resident, started working in Canton as a park ranger in 2000 and later thrived as a part-time photographer. He had the same enthusiasm, no matter the assignment. He took pictures of children enjoying a fishing derby in Heritage Park or a Halloween party at Summit on the Park. He captured the beauty of Canton's recreation trails as spring blossomed. He shot pictures as a crowd of thousands flocked to Liberty Fest.

Canton Township Trustee John Anthony, whose daughter-in-law was lucky enough to call Mr. Swisher her grandfather, celebrated his 75th birthday late last year as Canton's master of photography went to work.

"Even though he was sick and ailing, he was determined to show up for that birthday party and take pictures," said Anthony, who knew Mr. Swisher for 20 years or more. "Dick was a great guy who was liked

Chiefs. "I couldn't be prouder. He has a great deal of empathy. He puts himself in danger in many instances. He's an amazing young man. I couldn't be happier for him."

U.S. Rep. Will Hurd, R-Texas, presented the special badges to Smilo, Barfield and Cantu during a ceremony Saturday attended by Assistant U.S. Attorney Meghan McCalla and representatives for U.S. Sens. John Cornyn and Ted Cruz.

Before his rescue of the elderly couple, Smilo's rescue team had seen a flashlight being waved inside the house, almost completely covered by water. Inside, the elderly people were desperate.

"They were in a bad place in that home," Smilo said.

He went on to rescue 16 more flood victims that same day, but he humbly said he only did his part among a larger team. Meanwhile, he will reach another milestone Memorial Day weekend, when he and his fiancée, Stephanie Van Tuyl, a woman he met while attending Wayne State, return to Michigan for their wedding.

Canton's new housing spurt continues recovery momentum

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A residential development that abruptly stalled amid the housing market crash has been revived on Canton's southeast side.

Livonia-based L.E.S. Holdings plans to jumpstart the Links Estates subdivision by building 31 single-family, detached condominiums on a 10-acre site southwest of Palmer and Lotz roads.

The company's plans come as hundreds of new homes are in some stage of development or planning across Canton, which has witnessed demand for new housing as the economy has begun to improve.

L.E.S. Holdings plans to move quickly to build a model home in Links Estates after receiving final site plan approval Tuesday from the Canton Township Board of Trustees.

The new condos will be built just south of the Construction equipment can be seen on the site of a once-stalled Canton subdivision that is being revived.

Links at Fellows Creek neighborhood. Enrico Soave, a company representative, said some of the new condos will border the Fellows Creek golf course.

Canton Municipal Services Director Tim

Faas said Tuesday's final site plan approval clears the way for developers to start work.

"They can actually get out now and get things underway," he said.

Soave said the condos are expected to range in size from 1,300 to 2,700 square feet, with starting prices around $229,000.

Links Estates condos will be connected to the Links at Fellows Creek by roads and sidewalks, finishing out a neighborhood plan that Treasurer Melissa McLaughlin said "collapsed" when the housing market crashed.

Township Trustee Tom Yack commended developers for jump-starting what he called "unfinished business."

The latest development news comes after Canton Assessor Doug Shaw in January said Canton's residential property values spiked 11 percent this year — the biggest increase in nearly a decade.

"It's showing that Canton is still rebounding from the Great Recession," Shaw said. "It's a positive thing that is going on."

Angela Hospice honors Canton volunteers

Canton volunteers at Angela Hospice were honored for their hours of service.

Canton residents honored this year included Ella Bastine for 10 years; Dennis Bostwick for 1,000 hours total and 300 hours in the last year; Maureen Hassien for 6,000 hours total and 300 hours in the last year; Alberta Karl for 20 years; Rich Lister for 15 years; and Gretchen Moore for five years. Georgia Scappaticci of Plymouth was named Volunteer of the Year.

They were among the 422 volunteers who were honored April 13 at the Angela Hospice Volunteer Appreciation Dinner. The event's theme was Volunteers are a Gift.

"You are a gift and what you do is a gift," Syndie Best, volunteer services manager for the Livonia-based nonprofit, said to the packed room of volunteers and grateful staff. "When we call,

you answer."

In 2014, volunteers served 37,538 hours and drove almost 180,000 miles to help Angela Hospice patients and families. Volunteers help in every area imaginable — gardening, giving haircuts, delivering supplies, helping with fundraisers and events, singing in the choir, creating quilts and afghans and providing companionship for patients and their families.

According to the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization, the average hospice volunteer in the United States serves 46.5 hours each year. However, the average Angela Hospice volunteer served 91 hours in 2014, almost twice the national average.

by everybody. He was everywhere. Once you knew Dick, you never forgot him. He will be sorely missed."

Mr. Swisher, the oldest of 12 children, grew up in Detroit and raised his family in Redford. He served in the U.S. Army in World War II in North Africa and in the military police in California. He was twice married, first to Evelyn Elaine Burns, who died in 1974, and to Rose Jean Seibert, who died in 2009.

"He was tremendous. He was just a fine, fine man," Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said. "He just wanted to continue to work. He was terrific."

Mr. Swisher retired from Mobil Oil and lived in Florida, where he was head groundskeeper at the Toronto Blue Jays training complex, until he returned to Michigan and worked for Plymouth Township and then Canton. He was a member of the Free Masons, the Methodist Church and, for the past 15 years, the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, where a memorial will be held in June.

Peg Stevens, a Canton Leisure Services communications specialist, said Mr. Swisher was beloved by township employees and residents alike. She remembers him coming back from Halloween events and talking about the children's costumes. He also shot numerous photos for township publications such as the Discover brochure.

"He really told our story through pictures and we were so grateful for him," Stevens said, adding later, "He was a special person who spread joy wherever he went and touched the lives of all who knew him. Mr. Swisher was admired and respected by those who had the good fortune to know him personally and professionally. He will always be remembered for his many exceptional qualities and he will be sorely missed by so many."

Mr. Swisher is survived by brothers Earle and John; sisters Delores, Janet and Shirley; daughters Beverly Johnson and Marie Steffes; stepdaughter Janet Sockolosky; Joyce Swisher, wife of deceased son David; 10 grandchildren; and 13 great-grandchildren.

Canton student among those honored at MU symposium

Songwriters and educators took the stage alongside forensic scientists and nurses April 14 as students across Madonna University's wide variety of academic programs were recognized for their achievements at university's first Symposium for Research, Scholarship and Creativity.

A total of 29 undergraduate and graduate students from across Madonna's six schools of study – including arts and humanities, business, education, nursing and health, science and math and social sciences – were honored for their contributions to their field.

"I'm so proud of the research presented by the students," said Dr. Phillip Olla, business professor and director of Madonna's Center for Research. "The results from their research projects were insightful, valuable and very practical in nature. The winners of the Symposium awards must really be commended because it is extremely competitive with many of worthy projects involved."

Among students winning awards were education student Candice Abro of Canton; arts and humanities students Matt McIntosh and Allen Jankowicz, both of Bloomfield Hills; social sciences student Kelsey Taylor of Farmington Hills; arts and humanities students Anna Dreslinksi and Josh Yuhasz of Milford; social sciences student Morgan Dalrymple of Novi; arts and humanities student Carrick Secorski of Redford; arts and humanities student Darryn Montgomery and education student Alicia Armstrong, both of Westland.

Students receiving awards from Livonia include arts and humanities students Dean Olivia, Kyle McGrath, Paul Levinsky and Matthew Bleggi; education student Laura Rea; science and math student Catherine Crombez and Juliann Knochel, who won the Graduate Dean's Scholarship Award.

Other students winning awards were arts and humanities students Kenneth Hobbs of Detroit; Morgan Lorkowski of Grosse Pointe Park; Nancy Boyd of Highland and Trevor Hamilton of Wixom; Brighton resident and school of business student Katherine Alessio; education students Kristen Drabek of Newport and Hannah Faber of Grand Rapids; nursing and health students Jennifer Burgdorf of Taylor and Jaclyn Standing of Shelby Township; science and math student Lisa Hursin of Dearborn and social sciences student Kayla Vogel of Hastings.

According to Olla, Madonna University has become a beacon for community-focused research.

"The symposium was an excellent opportunity to showcase the efforts and community collaborations of both students and faculty at Madonna. The future of research, scholarship and creativity at Madonna is bright and we are embarking in exciting new territories in forensic sciences, health informatics, film production and entrepreneurship" Olla said.

CRIME WATCHDriver 'taking a nap'
at 112 mph

A 19-year-old man was arrested early Monday on a charge of driving with a suspended license after police stopped him for speeding on northbound I-275 in Plymouth Township.

Radar had clocked the driver, in a 2012 Mercedes-Benz, at 112 mph, according to a Plymouth Township Police Department report. The incident occurred about 1:35 a.m. Monday on I-275 near Ann Arbor Trail.

The driver, police said, told the arresting officer he had been "taking a nap" and had been traveling "about 100" mph. The Mercedes-Benz was impounded.

Tire theft

The tires and rims were stolen Saturday night or early Sunday from a Ford Taurus that was parked outside a condominium on Sycamore Drive.

Police said the car had been left on landscaping blocks. The victim told police she had last seen the car intact about 10 p.m. Saturday and discovered the tires and rims were missing shortly before 9 a.m. Sunday.

In addition, a window on the Taurus had been broken out. Police said the landscaping blocks used were of a type used in other similar thefts in the township within the previous week.

Vandalism

Two windows on the pavilion under construction at Plymouth Township Park were recently damaged, police report.

The vandalism was reported Sunday. Police said it appeared the glass in the windows was cracked and appeared to have been struck by a small projectile like a BB or a rock.

Teen threatens to kill grandparents

A Canton teen, angry at her grandparents, threatened to kill them and grabbed a shovel to begin digging a hole in their back yard before police arrived and took the 16-year-old to a University of Michigan psychiatric facility, a police report said.

Police received a call from the girl's 68-year-old grandmother Sunday morning as an incident was unfolding in the 1400 block of Ledgewood, near Palmer and Lilley. The teen was reportedly throwing objects, saying she no longer wanted to live with her grandmother and 70-year-old grandfather, who have legal custody of her.

The teen claimed that her grandmother had gone through the texts on her phone and found references to a marijuana party, a police report said. The girl also accused her grandmother of going through her purse and taking money she had earned from babysitting, amid fears the teen would use it to buy drugs.

The police report said the girl went to her grandmother's room to get her money back and began throwing jewelry onto the floor and ripping clothes off their hangers. She then took the grandmother's car keys and threatened to leave.

The girl went to the backyard to call a friend and the grandmother took the phone away from her, the report said. The girl then began throwing objects in the yard, threatened to kill her grandparents and grabbed a shovel to dig a hole, before going back inside the home and breaking her grandmother's eyeglasses, police said.

The grandparents told police they didn't actually fear for their lives. The girl was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Thefts and drugs

Canton police arrested a 22-year-old Ann Arbor woman following allegations she was involved in stealing merchandise from retail stores and returning it for a refund — all because she had a drug problem, a police report said.

The case unfolded after police went to a shopping center near Ford and Lilley roads to investigate reports that a man was sitting in a car using drugs with a small child inside the vehicle. Police instead found the 22-year-old woman in the car with her small child — and the woman said she was waiting for her male companion to return from a store.

The woman denied knowing anyone was using drugs in the car, but a police dog detected a small plastic container of marijuana that police found near the front passenger door, the police report said. A subsequent investigation revealed the woman had a journal in her purse containing the names of stores and dates pertaining to retail merchandise that allegedly had been stolen and returned for money, the report said.

The woman admitted stealing from Meijer and Michaels along with a male companion, who was no longer at the scene. The woman was taken into custody for receiving and concealing stolen property and possession of marijuana. Her car was impounded and her child was turned over to its grandmother.

Back at the police station, officers found a small packet inside a cigarette pack that appeared to contain heroin. The woman admitted she is an addict and spends $150 to $200 on her habit, the police report said.

Tax fraud

A 53-year-old Canton couple notified police after they tried to file their tax returns April 14 and learned that someone else already had filed a fraudulent return using their names and Social Security numbers, a police report said.

The victims said their address also had been used fraudulently, raising concerns that intruders might come to their home. Police advised the couple to remain vigilant and report any suspicious behavior and to alert their neighbors to do the same.

Home damage

A 47-year-old Canton man told police he returned from a visit to Pakistan to see his wife and children to learn that someone had broken out a window of his home at The Winds, a condominium complex southeast of Cherry Hill and Haggerty roads.

The man indicated to police that it didn't appear anything was missing from the home. He returned home around noon Sunday from a trip that began April 4.

Police spoke with a neighbor who recalled hearing the sound of glass being broken and voices before the possible intruders left the neighborhood.

In a similar incident, a 50-year-old Canton man told police he returned home from work about 8 a.m. Monday and found that a front window of his home had been broken out. He had been away since 7:30 p.m. the previous day.

A police report said it didn't appear anything had entered the home, located in the 1700 block of Brookdale, northeast of Palmer and Lotz. The man told police he doesn't know of anyone who would be upset with him or his 17-year-old son.

Kentucky Derby arrives early at Canton chamber bash

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Kentucky Derby hats, mint juleps, horse-racing chatter — surely the springtime setting for this galloping good time is Louisville's famous thoroughbred racetrack, Churchill Downs, right?

Wrong. This Derby party happened Saturday night — two weeks before the official Run for the Roses — as a crowd of nearly 350 people gathered inside Livonia's Burton Manor for the Canton Chamber of Commerce's 28th annual auction and dinner.

Linda Obrec, president of the women's social group Canton Newcomers & Neighbors, donned her Derby hat for the chamber's biggest fundraiser, which had a decidedly spring theme every year.

"Women love to wear their hats," Obrec said. And what better place than to a Derby party, even if organizers trotted out plastic horses, rather than actual thoroughbreds, for a racing game that accompanied an auction and raffles to support the Canton business community.

"We really tried to bring the Kentucky Derby home to Canton," chamber President Thomas Paden said. "It was nice to see so many people get into the spirit of the Kentucky Derby."

The amount raised by the chamber event hadn't been tabulated, Paden said Monday. The money will be used to support the organization's programs, services, events, marketing and professional development activities.

"It allows us to continue to fulfill our mission of serving the business community," Paden said. "We want to make sure the business community is as vibrant as it can be."

Just to toss in an artsy flair, chamber member Denise Staffeld organized a skit from My Fair Lady, proving that acting can co-exist alongside horse racing when it comes to a Canton-style Derby party. A group of eight sang one of the musical's songs, Ascot Gavotte, which has a horse-racing theme.

The production came before the chamber event's racing games.

"It was a perfect tie-in to kick off the event," Staffeld said.

Obrec lauded the generosity of the Canton business community, which donates a large number of prizes for the auction and raffle. She said the fundraiser continues to inspire.

"I just think it gets better and better every year," she said.

This year's event, dubbed "Kentucky Derby: A Night at the Races," was a $75-per-person event that brought prizes such as a vacation stay at a time-share condo in Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, a gift donated by Rob Bovitz, a chamber member and certified public accountant.

Bovitz routinely supports chamber events, saying it's important to raise money so the organization "can give back to its members."

Other items from the auction included a Las Vegas getaway donated by Mayflower Towing Co. and a diamond-and-emerald ring from Showroom of Elegance. Plus, Susan

ACCENT TABLE

Nicolette McKeivitz,

Project: Accent Table with a planter box built in to the table top Nicolette, a 20-year old Novi resident came to The Village Workshop to pursue her dream of building custom wood furniture. Nicolette enjoys other hobbies such as oil painting, writing poetry and working on retro pick up trucks. You could say Nicolette likes to work with her hands.

Nicolette became interested in art in grade school and continued classes through-out high school. She attended Kendall College of Art and Design where she discovered her love for furniture through 3d art classes. Although she learned about design, Nicolette had the need to design and build furniture with her own hands. Within a week of her first visit to the Village Workshop, Nicolette had completed her Wood Shop Safety Class. Motivated by a design she had been working on, she got right to work on her first furniture project, a wood table with a planter box built in to the tabletop.

Her design will be a combination of modern and eclectic style with a black finish to bring out the texture and grain in the wood. The back legs will feature straight lines while the front legs will be turned spindles. Dream Project: Nicolette's dream is to build custom furniture that is not only functional, but also pieces of art. At the top of her list is a chair design that will combine nature with classic furniture lines featuring natural living edges that bring out the beauty of the grains in the wood. Her vision would be to make it a functional piece of art with a modern twist.

CUSTOM VINTAGE MOTORCYCLE

Mike Brimm works in the automotive industry building global show vehicles.

Project: Custom Vintage Motorcycle
Starting with a 1970 BSA motorcycle, Mike's vision was to bring this vintage machine into the future! He used his metal working skills and artistic background to make the jig to create his masterpiece from the frame to the custom paint he calls "Magic Rootbeer"!

Since Mike is a hands on guy he puts hours of labor into his project including the use of an English wheel to fabricate the fuel tank. This labor of love will be custom from the ground up.

A friend urged him to enter his project in a contest called the "Amateur Chop Off". Just the motivation he needed. Although the prize is cash and a feature in a motorcycle magazine, Mike was motivated by the challenge.

Mike's passion for working with metal started in the ninth grade. For over 25 years he has enjoyed restoring old cars. Mike once helped a friend restore an Imperial Speedster to a show car. He recalls living in his friend's guest room for close to a year while working on the nearly three-year project.

Although Mike is a perfectionist he found that his self-taught welding and fabricating skills were also useful in expressing his creativity through creating metal art. He says that the metal art gives him more creative freedom than working on cars.

Mikes passion, enthusiasm and ideas intrigued Brian Donovan, co-owner of The Village Workshop so much, that TWV will be the sponsor for Mike's "One of a Kind" creation.

Dream Project: When asked what his dream project was, Mike laughed and said there was a list of 251 inspired by other Village Workshop members Mike would like to create an artistic metal gate for the metal shop to enhance the overhead door entrance and let the fresh air in. Another idea, is designing and creating a "Motorized Drift Trike", also known as "A Big Wheel" for adults.

Mike believes that his gift for creative metal work came from not being afraid to "just do it!" He says, "You can create it in your head and then on paper, but the real joy comes from building it with your hands".

He shares that thought with his new friends at the Village Workshop and adds that being a member gives him the tools and inspiration to bring his dream projects to life!

What if there was a place that had everything you could ever think of to make anything you could ever think of?

The VILLAGE WORKSHOP has the tools, the equipment, the staff, and the software you need to make your ideas come to life.

Plymouth showcases business, community at annual chamber event

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

It's not every day you see folks counting Styrofoam eyeballs for a prize, carrying rolls of free toilet paper or trying to catch money while standing in a cash cube for 20 seconds.

But that was just part of the fun Monday at the 26th annual Showcase and Taste of Plymouth, a Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce event, at the Inn at St. John.

"It was a really good year," said Wes Graff, chamber president. "It was a good vibe."

So good was the vibe that an estimated 600 people attended in the two-hour window to meet and greet 94 vendors, 16 of which were area restaurants.

"The vendors told me they got some really good leads," Graff said. "There is a great sense of community in Plymouth."

Just ask longtime resident Doris Carter, a florist, who works from home. She has attended the showcase since the day it began. "I've won stuff — we've seen a couple of basketball games," she said, referring to her winnings.

Carter admits it is hard to resist the food offered by the restaurants at the showcase: "You really do get to know the restaurants a bit better."

While Carter is a familiar face at the showcase, the event also drew new attendees, such as Dave Haradon and Mickey Trayner, both Plymouth residents. "Some of the soups are really cool," Trayner said.

Haradon said the event also allowed them to take a peek into the Inn at St. John, a long-time Plymouth landmark.

While the restaurateurs handed out food, so did some of the businesses on hand. In the case of Horton Plumbing, however, guests were free to pick up a roll of toilet paper, handed out by employee Stan Stukel.

When asked who came up with the idea, Stukel pointed to his colleague, Nancy Dwan. "You always use toilet paper," she said.

At Monroe Bank & Trust, employees invited guests into the cash cube that was filled with real and fake money. The idea was to stand in the cube surrounded by wind gusts, blowing the money all over. Though guests aren't allowed to bend and pick up the money, they grab as many dollars as possible and put them through a slot within 20 seconds.

Whatever the guest has grabbed — in real money — they get to keep. Employee Wendy Distelrath showed how the cash cube worked. Within 20 seconds, she was able to grab about $4 of real money.

"We have had people in past year get as much as $10," said Scott Albright, Plymouth assistant manager.

At Benchmark Optical, employees had a large jar filled with Styrofoam eyeballs for guests to guess just how many there were. A correct guess landed a lucky guest a gift from the business.

"She hand-painted every one of those eyeballs," employee Shaun Seabolt said, pointing to colleague Alice Spas.

Not a real tough job, though. "I always add some more, so the number is never the same," said Spas, who also works with her daughter Mary.

Tasting delicacies from participating restaurants and visiting area businesses was certainly a focal point of the showcase, but Graff honored local volunteers at the event.

"It's a celebration of the community," he added.

Showing the entrepreneurial spirit

Young business owners sell their products at inaugural Kids Mart

By Joanne Maliszewski
 Staff Writer

Ryan Triolet and a buddy needed another product — and fast — as revenues from his once-popular homemade computer games began a nosedive.

"We needed something different to break even," the Canton High School ninth-grader said.

And just like the natural entrepreneur he is, Triolet immediately developed another product — marshmallow shooters made of PVC pipes and, of course, mini marshmallows.

"People really liked them. I made a huge profit," Triolet said.

KT Marshmallow Shooters was one of 10 businesses — owned by kids — that displayed and sold their wares Saturday at the inaugural Kids Mart, developed by Elle and Charles Dare, owners of the Genuine Toy Co., in the Westchester Mall in downtown Plymouth.

In addition to marshmallow shooters, shoppers had their choice of pillows, mini paintings, key chains, baked goods, artful decor items, clay figurines, felted pocket pets and what fourth-grader Lucy Shelby of Redford called her Happy Brain Jars.

The idea to let entrepreneurial youngsters sell their products actually began when Triolet asked the Dares if they would sell his marshmallow shooters. Well, they would have loved to have helped. But toys are one of those products the government wants to be sure are safe.

"He is such an entrepreneur," Elle Dare said, adding Triolet had even worked out his profit and loss sheets, as well as marketing for his products.

So the Dares decided the best way to help Triolet, and any other fifth-through ninth-grader interested in trying their hand in business, was to host the Kids Mart. Interested young business owners were required to apply to the Dares for a Kids Mart business license, which each participant displayed at their table in the mall's hallway.

"They even spent time on their signs and marketing," Dare said. "They are having a lot of fun. They took time to make their products. The kids are really very creative."

From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., the young business owners kept busy selling their products and, in fact, many had to hang "sold out" signs before the end of the event. But true to the entrepreneurs

KIDS MART ENTREPRENEURS

Participating businesses and their owners at Saturday's Kids Mart included:

- » A. Clay Craft, Allison Stowe
- » Kara's Key Chains, Kara Wolf
- » Glitter Glory, Lucy Shelby
- » Ella's Art Studio, Ella Dekiere
- » KT Marshmallow Shooters, Ryan Triolet
- » Felted Friends, Zoe Hajec
- » The Purrrfect Crafters, Lillian Kehoe and Ria Noble
- » Claymation Station, Selena Vidojevski
- » Sew Cute, Mya Kim and Emma Johnston
- » Splendiferous Sweets, Faith Long and Nicklas Miller
- » West Middle School Tech Education (Michigan-shaped cutting board), Colin Young and Jake Courtney with teacher Mark Trzeciak

they are, the kids were ready with sheets for shoppers to sign up and order the products.

"It's a pretty proud day for mom," said Pamela Shelby, who beamed as her daughter Lucy sold her last Happy Brain Jar.

As Shelby described, the jars filled with moving or semi-liquids are designed to create a sense of peace, while providing mesmerizing colors. "It takes away your anxiety. It is a mental time," the fourth-grader said.

But when asked the ingredients of the popular Happy Brain Jars, Shelby shot her mom a quick look and confidently announced: "It's a trade secret."

Zoe Hajec, who attends Branch Line School in Livonia, is the owner of Felted Friends, all items she sews. Ella Dekiere, a Bird Elementary fifth-grader who is destined to become an artist, sold her products as Ella's Art Studio. Ella's art also extended to baked goods.

Selena Vidojevski, owner of Claymation Station, and Allison Stowe, owner of A. Clay Craft, showed their talents in clay figurines, pencil toppers, clay jewelry and charms.

Felt pillows of various sizes and mini paintings were the brain child of Sew Cute, operated by Emma Johnston and Mya Kim. "It's hard to decide which one to make," Mya said, looking over the pillows. For the Bird Elementary students, Kids Mart was their first foray into the business world.

Kara Wolf, meanwhile, admitted she had been making key chains — many featuring dogs — for some time: "I will give some (of the profits) to the Michigan Humane Society." But there's no denying it, Kara loves the artistic effort of her creations.

While Lucy Shelby wants to study electrical engineering and make robots, Triolet is 100-percent certain he sees himself as a business owner. As with many of their fellow young business owners, Shelby and Triolet were mindful of marketing. "We have gone over marketing and she has learned how to take out a business loan — from mom," Pamela Shelby said.

Triolet, dressed in a T-shirt boasting "KT Marshmallow Shooters," offered shoppers his business cards. "I am a big fan of Shark Tank. I want to go into business," he said. "I'm a product guy. I like marketing. I like being my own boss."

Staff Writer

The 2015 Lincoln MKX is on sale now at Jack Demmer Lincoln, where customers benefit from the Demmer Difference.

Sales Manager Chris Conley said that this midsize luxury crossover vehicle is ideally balanced, and noted its 305 horsepower and 26 miles per gallon highway on regular unleaded.

When is a pre-nup appropriate, necessary?

Rick Bloom
MONEY MATTERS

I received a call from one of my clients that his son had just become engaged. He asked me whether his 30-year-old son needed a pre-nuptial agreement.

My client was in favor of the agreement, because his son owns a business. My client's wife, on the other hand, is totally opposed to it. Her view is that since this is a first marriage, a pre-nuptial agreement is not appropriate.

My advice is that their soon should execute a pre-nuptial agreement.

Many people mistakenly believe that pre-nuptial agreements are only for the very wealthy and second marriages. In fact, more people are doing a pre-nuptial agreement for a first marriage.

Anyone getting married needs to consider what would happen if the marriage does not work. For people who are getting married at a young age and who do not have any substantial assets or unusual complexities, a pre-nuptial is probably not necessary. However, if someone is getting married later in life or has substantial assets or is a business owner or has professional licenses, then a pre-nuptial agreement would be appropriate.

Good luck.

Canton Connection Church welcomes new children's pastor and family to community

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Julie Brown
Joe Bridger, the new children's pastor at Canton's Connection Church, likes the diversity of Canton as a place to raise the couple's four children.

Joe Bridger and his family appreciate the warm welcome they've gotten at Connection Church.

"We really are excited to learn more about the community," said Bridger, 38, the Canton congregation's new children's pastor. "We want to help as many people as we can and get them going in a good direction."

Bridger graduated in 2008 from Northwest University in Kirkland, Wash., with a bachelor's degree in religion and philosophy.

"My plan was to be a college professor or work with teenagers or youth," he said. His work with teens while in college led to a gradual realization that his gifts from God are more with younger kids.

He's been at Connection Church, on Sheldon, north of Michigan Avenue, just over three weeks. Bridger is originally from the Seattle area. "I met my wife there in college," he said.

He and Dorothy are parents to Josiah, 11, J.J., 9, Hannah, 2, and Gabriel, 4 months, the younger two children having been born in Texas where he was working with churches.

"The church was looking for a children's pastor," he said of Connection. He and his family began to pray for the right person for Connection.

At that time, he was working on remodeling for a Texas church, where the senior pastor also had health issues. "I didn't think it was right for us to leave," Bridger said.

The senior pastor in Texas regained his health, the work was done and Bridger again contacted Connection Church late last year when the children's pastor job was open. He then met with senior pastor Rocky Barra, the elders and church members here.

"Our first Sunday here was Easter," Bridger said of his family settling in their new Canton home.

He appreciates the interim youth pastor, preschool director and many volunteers who have held down the fort while the job was open. "The folks just seem to care a lot about the children and the children's ministries. They really have done a good job," he said.

He's now learning spiritually where people are, "getting to know people's stories of why this church is important to them. And to be able to pray with people."

On a recent Monday morning, a women's group at Connection prayed for his ministry and family. "It's things like that. I want to make as many connections as possible. The spiritual component is what really matters," Bridger said.

He'll preach some to adults each Sunday, including for Barra's spring "Faith Like a Child" series "and anything else they ask me to do," he said with a smile.

The church draws well over a thousand worshippers to Sunday services, with Bridger working with nursery school through fifth grade of some 140-200 kids. He noted the Michigan economy impacted churches and is now rebounding.

"You guys are doing a lot better than Seattle," where they have family and friends. "This seems to be doing better. The recovery isn't happening as quickly in Seattle." The family's Texas home sold within days, however.

In his younger days, Bridger had difficulty getting a pastor's position. "So I just kept plugging away. I kept volunteering." He helped to start three churches over 10 years.

"This is also a smaller role at a bigger church," he said of Connection. "This kind of is more focused and I like that."

In his free time, Bridger is with his family. He likes hiking and plans to visit the Upper Peninsula. "I went to the Detroit Zoo with my family," he said. "Locally, I haven't really done anything else. The people are great."

Many church members came to help the family unpack. Barra said of Bridger, "We're so thrilled to have Joe Bridger on our staff. Several people have told me that he's one of the top children's pastors in the nation. We're excited about what is ahead for the children of our community."

Bridger is eager to offer leadership and notes that churches often talk about how vital children are: "You can tell when you walk into a church whether it is or not. This really is a spiritual need in their life. I feel like I really do fulfill a spiritual need in their life."

He likes to give parents practical things to encourage spiritual growth in their children.

Bridger was saved at age 15 and hadn't been a Christian as a young child. "Nobody ever told me about Jesus when I was a kid." God wasn't explained in terms then he could understand.

His father died of alcoholism; Bridger's mother was mentally ill and he ended up in foster care.

He came to live with a pastor and his wife.

"That was the beginning of my spiritual life," Bridger said.

He and Dorothy are pleased with Canton's diversity, with Joe Bridger noting the large Hispanic population at their children's school in Texas. "We're pretty well-equipped," he said of diversity, adding in the Seattle area he had many black, Asian and Puerto Rican friends growing up.

The Bridgers wanted their children to experience diversity as well. "That was one of those things I wanted, a diverse community," he said.

Peters talks business, transportation at chamber breakfast

By David Veselenak

Sen. Gary Peters spoke to the Livonia and Greater Farmington Area chambers of commerce Monday morning at the Italian American Club in Livonia.

senator who replaced Carl Levin in the Senate this year, spoke to the Livonia and Greater Farmington Area chambers of commerce Monday morning at the Italian American Club in Livonia. He touched on a variety of topics in response to questions from chamber members, including federal funding for roads, business regulations and things the federal government can do with the skilled trades and manufacturing.

He said supporting various programs, including union apprenticeship programs and two-year community college programs like those at Oakland Community College and Schoolcraft College, is something he'd like to focus on.

"I think we could do a better job of working with some of the unions," he said. "I think there is a role for us to help those kinds of apprenticeship programs."

Dan West, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, has brought the issue of the skilled trades and manufacturing up during several breakfasts with state and federal officials in recent months.

It's an issue that's seeing a lot of attention in Livonia, especially as companies in the city continue to seek trained workers in fields such as advanced manufacturing.

"We're happy he's talking about it," he said.

Transportation issues

Transportation, especially around metro Detroit, is a big issue Peters said he would like to see more done on. While the light rail under construction in Detroit is a good step, Peters said that rail will need to extend far past the few miles it's currently planned for.

Westland Mayor Bill Wild, who attended the event, said the issue of transportation stuck out for him.

He said adding transit running between Metro Airport and downtown Detroit would benefit the region. Having someone in Washington supportive of adding transit in western Wayne County is a plus, Wild said.

"If we start to build that out, we're going to need a champion in D.C.," he said.

Technology with driver-less cars is another issue Peters examines while serving on the Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee for the Senate. This technology is important to Michigan, he said, especially since the domestic car makers are all located in the state.

"These are incredibly high-tech machines," he said. "We have great engineering here in Michigan. We don't want to take it for granted."

OUR VIEW

Vote yes May 5 on Proposal 1

Michigan roads and bridges need fixing – now. Proposal 1, although not perfect, offers a path for that to happen. On Tuesday, May 5, voters can raise taxes to ensure that roads and bridges will be repaired or say no and deal with the deteriorating, often unsafe, road conditions for several years to come.

For too many years, state leaders have settled for short-term fixes for roads instead of long-term solutions. Michigan roads are worse than other Great Lakes states. It's not surprising that Michigan roads and bridges are crumbling.

» Michigan spends 70 percent less per mile or $2 billion less than the Great Lakes average.

» One in three roads are in poor condition and one in nine bridges is considered "structurally deficient" by the Federal Highway Administration.

No one likes a tax increase, but current road and bridge conditions are dangerous. Proposal 1 guarantees that state taxes collected at the pump will go to transportation.

Proposal 1, if approved, will raise the state sales and use taxes from 6 to 7 percent (a 17-percent increase) and institute a new tax on gasoline and diesel. It will also remove fuel from sales tax collection.

The new fuel tax will pay for roads and replace the revenue – and more – that will be lost by removing fuel from the sales tax base.

Proposal 1 also extends pavement warranties to projects more than $1 million and most local road projects. If the roads are not built right, the road builders – not taxpayers – will pay for the repairs.

Some opponents of Proposal 1 claim to have a Plan B. Really? Plans C, D and E are also out there, according to some opponents. The problem is none has seen the light of day and none has the legislative or public support needed to solve the road problem. And the state can't wait another two or three years to fix roads and bridges.

Potholes that are more like sinkholes, crumbling bridges and buckling pavement are dangerous. Proposal 1 is the best available solution to a problem that has been ignored for years.

The time is past to argue. Without more money – an increase in taxes – our state roads and bridges will continue to crumble.

Voters should be aware that they are being asked to approve a proposal that raises money beyond what's needed for roads. Money will go to restore education revenue levels and another portion of funds will improve revenue sharing to local communities. It isn't ideal to lump all of these complicated issues into a single vote but, in doing so, legislators gave voters an opportunity to shore up three areas of need at the same time.

Safe roads and a sound transportation infrastructure are important to moving Michigan forward.

Vote yes May 5 on Proposal 1.

Disappointing

How exciting to see a new Celtic-themed sports pub under construction in one of the vacant storefronts in a Canton strip plaza.

How disappointing to walk in to see waitresses in uniforms as bad as Hooters with even more cleavage and their entire torsos exposed.

I hate knowing an establishment exists that only hires the "bombshell next door." And that we live in a community with the Canton Celtic Soccer Club and now a similarly-themed restaurant promoting women as sex objects.

It's time to give my young sons a lecture on misogyny and the problem with sexualizing women, in general and in the workplace.

"The Best Looking Sports Pub You've Ever Seen?" Gross. Put on a T-shirt. Bailey's looks great to me.

Vote no

Since I last wrote about the May 5 election to raise the sales tax, much more has come to light that bolsters my argument against the proposition.

From what I understand, the majority of the new tax, at least in the first few years, will go to pay off debt incurred by the State Highway Department for previous road work. Over the past few years, millions of dollars came out of the General Fund to supplement the gas tax.

If the amendment passes, you can believe that not another dime will be allocated by our lawmakers. They can't! The state budget is out whack, thanks to the lavishing of tax credits on corporations. Even though Snyder and Co. added $400 million to the $9 billion already in place, they blame previous administrations. However, neither Engler nor Granholm approved the credits and then turned around and gave these same people another, to date, $4 billion by doing away with the corporate tax.

Starting Oct. 1, between $550 and $800 million in tax credits are set to be redeemed. And this will go on for the next 14 years.

Where will that extra money come from? You can bet Snyder won't go to his corporate buddies and tell them they can't have both the credits and a tax cut, pick one, that's all our state can afford.

No, just like they raided the school fund to cover this fiscal year shortage, they will do the same thing in the future. Local government units and schools will not gain one red cent from the election because any funds they currently receive from the depleted budget will disappear.

My advice is don't bail out political incompetence and corporate greed. Vote no. On that note, I just read where the commission that rewards our esteemed politicians with pay raises decided to put off a vote until after May 5. Not at all surprising.

Care with potholes

Potholes have returned, and hitting one with your car can do a real number on tires, wheels, steering and suspension and alignment. To help determine if hitting a pothole has damaged your vehicle, watch for these warning signs:

» Loss of control, swaying when making routine turns, bottoming out on city streets or bouncing excessively on rough roads are indicators that the steering and suspension may have been damaged. The steering and suspension are key safety-related systems. Together, they largely determine your car's ride and handling. Key components are shocks and/or struts, the steering knuckle, ball joints, the steering rack/box, bearings, seals and hub units and tie rod ends.

» Pulling in one direction, instead of maintaining a straight path, and uneven tire wear, are symptoms of an alignment problem. Proper wheel alignment is important for the lifespan of tires and helps ensure safe handling.

» Low tire pressure, bulges or blisters on the sidewalls, or dents in the wheel rim will be visible and should be checked out as soon as possible, as tires are the critical connection between your car and the road.

April is National Car Care Month and the nonprofit Car Care Council offers many free tools on its website to help you drive smart, save money and be car care aware, including the popular 80-page Car Care Guide and a custom service schedule and email reminder service.

Road tax? Not really

It was a welcome relief to read Brad Wolkan's article in the March 26 Observer. Taxpayers should become informed about Proposal 1 before they exercise their right to vote on it May 5.

As Mr. Wolkan says, it is not a road tax, as being advertised. It is an increase in the sales tax where the revenue goes into the general fund. The present governor and Legislature have said a portion of it will be used to fix the roads, with major parts of it going to fund other issues.

No one disputes the fact that our roads are a dangerous mess and need to be fixed.

It is a disappointment that our legislators can only come up with this proposal to solve a problem they have been discussing for years. Apparently, the only way to move a proposal forward and satisfy every legislator is to put a solution to their issues in the proposal. Considering all the horse trading to get to this point, what assurance do we have the portion recommended for roads will stay in that category? Since all the funds go into the general fund, there is no assurance a future administration or legislature may develop a different set of priorities for these funds.

The other changes in the proposal are bothersome. Vehicle registration fees will go up for vehicles older than one year – the depreciation schedule currently used will be dropped. Vehicle registration fees will no longer be deductible on federal taxes, as Mr. Wolkan mentions. Also, the new method of taxing fuel will result in high fuel taxes – estimated to be 8 to 9 cents per gallon.

Most agree that additional revenue is needed to address the road issues, but why should we automatically have to agree to additional funding for schools and cities, low-income subsidies, and transportation support? The proposal is being sold as all or nothing – do this or nothing will get done. Many legislators are now not supporting the proposal and discussing alternative "Fix Roads Only" proposals. A different way to fix the roads can be done!

Understandably, some won't agree with Mr. Wolkan and myself in our rejection of Proposal 1, but voters need to be informed what this proposal really is before they vote. Hopefully, most will not support Proposal 1.

GUEST COLUMN

Proposal 1 would benefit local schools

The Plymouth-Canton community expects an elite public school system.

After all, our communities are consistently ranked as top places in the state and country to live, work and raise a family. Strong schools are the foundation for strong neighborhoods. P-CCS's success is a key determinant in the overall health and prosperity of our community. There has been and continues to be a tradition of educational excellence in P-CCS; we strive to get better each day to help our students learn, prepare and thrive.

We are a growth enterprise; we specialize in growing all students and, therefore, we do not stay the same. We either get better or we decline. Our challenge is to not become complacent, stagnant or content with the status quo. As a community member, you give us your most prized assets: your children and your hard-earned money. We recognize and respect this awesome responsibility.

There is much to be proud of in our district, which is evident each day in the achievements and accomplishments of our students and staff. And while our challenge as an organization is to grow and innovate, the essential question remains: How do we do more with less?

During the past five years, our Board of Education has made approximately $30 million in budget reductions. As we begin the development of our budget aligned to our educational plan for the 2015-16 school year, we project a structural deficit of $5 million each year for the next five years. Therefore, we will operate with $25 million less over a five-year period.

You can see what I mean by "more with less." But the financial realities cannot take us away from the uncompromising principles of:

- » Academic achievement for all students
- » Eliminating achievement gaps that exist
- » Supportive classroom conditions in safe schools
- » Valuable partnerships with our community
- » Develop our teaching staff to be the best
- » Fiscal responsibility and alignment of resources to strategic priorities

For more on our pursuit of these goals, take a look at our Systems Assessment, which is available on the P-CCS website.

The fact is we can no longer "cut" our way to fiscal health. This business model is not sustainable and we need to contemplate a different paradigm to keep our budget balanced. Also, a budget does not just "happen." It is a year-long cycle of development, communication, implementation and evaluation. Given our challenges, we are approaching the 2015-16 budget as a needs-based budgeting process.

Now for the numbers. Since 2008, P-CCS has seen a 3-percent decline in its foundation allowance (from $7,500 to $7,251) per student and it has seen an 8-percent decline in student population (currently about 17,405). A portion of this is due to the declining birthrate in Wayne County and Michigan; a portion is due to charter school expansion. This is obviously a negative combination, considering that our funding is based on numbers of students in seats.

It also can be surprising to learn that the foundation allowance per student from the state is not equal among districts; neighboring districts such as Livonia, Northville, Ann Arbor, Birmingham and Detroit all receive a higher amount per student than P-CCS currently does.

We cannot rely on millages or bonds to increase our revenue, as laws prohibit the ability to use millage or bond money for our annual operating expenses.

We have done what we can in the areas over which we do have control: privatizing transportation and custodial services, enacting limited school of choice programs and freezing salaries of many of our hard-working staff. The fact remains that we are dependent on the state for 95 percent-plus of our revenue.

While trying to maintain our commitment to excellence, our district has been in a cost-containment mode for a long time. It is a task of reducing programs that benefit children and make our school district the caliber of which we have spent decades to build.

We are at a tipping point. Do we continue to reduce or do we look at options to increase revenue?

Tuesday, May 5, Proposal 1 will be voted on in a statewide election. Passage of this would lead to an increase in sales tax that would contribute to much-needed road improvements, but also has the potential to boost nearly $300 million into another much-needed area: our state's School Aid Fund.

While the specifics of how much this could potentially help P-CCS's budget are yet to be determined, I do know that passage of this proposal could only help the cause. And while it's dollars and cents in the budget, we all know – and ultimately our focus is on – that the true beneficiaries would be our students, who all deserve to have the best resources and opportunities available to them as they continue to learn, prepare and thrive.

Our job is to educate and I am asking you to educate yourself on Proposal 1 and make the important choice that could help P-CCS.

'Cats ace early test

Plymouth finish first at conference preseason tourney

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Sometimes it's the way you start and finish that makes the difference.

Plymouth's varsity boys golf team captured Monday's KLAA Kensington Conference preseason tournament at par-72 Walnut Creek Country Club in South Lyon.

That could be a springboard that launches the Wildcats the rest of the regular season, which is capped off by the association tourney May 26 at Whispering Willows in Livonia (also when conference champion will be crowned).

On a blustery day, the Wildcats collected 11 conference points right off the bat thanks to topping the field with a team score of 322, nipping runner-up Novi (324).

In third with 336 was Canton. Meanwhile, Salem finished seventh with 357.

"It's important, but the real prize is at the end," Plymouth head coach Dan Young said. "We know this is just the start of the season."

"There is a lot of golf to be played and we need to get better if we want to be champions in the end."

Leading Plymouth was junior Kyle Kozler, who registered 77, good for third overall. Also strong for the Wildcats were senior Andrew Lloyd (fifth, 79), and sophomore Justin Kapke (seventh, 81).

Canton boys, Plymouth girls prevail in dual

By Tim Smith

With Friday's annual city meet still fresh in their collective memories, Canton's and Plymouth's track and field teams met again Tuesday — this time in a KLAA South Division dual meet.

The setting was completely different, however, as Canton defeated Plymouth 73-64 in the boys meet, while the Wildcats won the girls meet by a 85½-42½ score.

Instead of a balmy afternoon and evening, Tuesday's competition at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park's junior varsity field took place under weather conditions that alternated between rainy, windy and brisk.

"They know that and they come prepared for it, it's just a matter of working through it," Canton boys head coach

Jess Shough said about weather conditions. "We don't expect our best time, but we still want to keep improving and working hard."

Plymouth boys head coach Jon Mikosz said there's nothing athletes can do about weather. All they can do is push through any adversity.

"A couple minutes ago, it was freezing cold and raining, now it's sunny and warm," Mikosz said. "It's a crazy day today. All those variables are a lot for these guys to take in. But we run every day, so they're used to the cold and they're used to the rain."

Ricky Styes, head coach of Plymouth's girls team, said he emphasized to his team the importance of winning races, even though "we're not going to see a lot of personal records today because of the weather."

The Canton boys, who finished second to Salem at the Bolger-Mangan meet, were strong Tuesday in sprints, hurdles and relays, while the Wildcats again were

Rocks roll at Pioneer tourney

Pitching, balanced attack lift Salem to tournament sweep

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Spearheaded by freshman pitchers Morgan Overaitis and Maddy Rosiewicz, Salem swept to victory at Saturday's Ann Arbor Pioneer softball tournament.

The Rocks (7-1) continue to impress veteran head coach Bonnie Southerland, who recently tallied her 400th victory as Salem coach.

"We did some really good things today," Southerland said. "And we moved some players around in different positions, (so) it was nice to see them working so well together."

"I've got to say, both Morgan Overaitis and Maddy Rosiewicz sure pitched very well," Southerland added. "They kept us in the games when the bats were quiet."

In the championship game against the host Pioneers, it was Rosiewicz who handled duties in the circle as the Rocks won 7-4. Rosiewicz went the distance, allowing seven hits.

Salem needed to rally in the late innings against Pioneer. Trailing 4-1 in the fifth,

Canton buries W.L. Western with 19-goal outburst

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Six Canton players tallied at least two goals Monday night as the Chiefs steamrolled Walled Lake Western 19-10 in a Kensington Conference varsity boys lacrosse match.

The Chiefs (5-3), who will square off at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Park against Salem (varsity turf field), came out strong against the Warriors and never looked back.

Spearheading the romp with four goals each were junior attackman Carson Pakula and junior midfielder Jay Krebs. Chipping in two goals apiece were senior attackmen Brocton Baechler and Austin Bauer, senior midfielder Gerald Belanger and junior Micah Rinke.

Also finding the mark were senior midfielder Nolan Gilo and junior midfielders Ben Phillips and Lukas Pashigian.

Canton's best offensive surges book-ended the contest. The Chiefs led 6-2 after the first quarter and 11-5 at half-time, but then scored seven times in the fourth to blow open a relatively close game (it was 12-9 after three quarters).

Helping to close out the victory in the fourth was a solid defense, anchored by junior goaltender Trevor Stahl, who gave up just one tally in the quarter. He faced 25 shots on the night.

Plymouth prevails

The Wildcats varsity boys lacrosse team defeated Ann Arbor Pioneer 9-3 Friday to even its record at 4-4. Plymouth jumped out early when Nolan Ouellette netted two quick goals.

Taking things from there were Kyle Robertson and Justin Brodzik, who each registered a three-goal hat trick. The other goal was scored by Derek Szczepanik.

At the other end of the field, goalie Trevor McManus was outstanding, making 15 saves. Protecting McManus with excellent defense were Ben Stover, Ben Riley, Tyler Ramer, Charlie Shaver, Grant Koppelberger, Andrew Withers and Brady Terechenok.

Howell tennis invite

Veteran leadership and team depth were credited with helping Plymouth's varsity girls tennis team win the Howell Invitational.

Head coach Robert McLaren noted that he had to shuffle his lineup due to the ACT and other academic conflicts.

Several junior varsity players stepped in and the Wildcats did not miss a beat, finishing with 17 points.

Plymouth edged South Lyon (16 points) and Howell (15 points).

Illness curtailed No. 1 singles player Sarah Gamble, despite a gallant effort. But the Wildcats took the Nos. 2-4 flights, as Amber Tseng won all three matches without losing more than a game at No. 2 singles.

In the No. 3 spot was Kara Hug, who also swept to victory. Senior Alexa Earls "adjusted her game well when she was called upon to switch from doubles to (No.) 4 singles. She won all three matches in straight sets."

Also solid was the doubles lineup of Tiahn Horton-Emma Mullenax (No. 1), Alyssa Lopez-Lauren Conley (No. 2), Arwa Harawala-Justine So (No. 3), Amy Luo-Emily Solecki (No. 4) and Bei Li-Martin-Dani Escalera-Sanchez (No. 5).

outstanding in distance events.

Shough noted the performances of Alan Jones Jr., Darren Davis, Brennon Pelland and Jacob Malled in the victorious 400- and 800-meter relays: "They've been improving all along and they're a solid group."

Jones also took first in the 100 (11.67 seconds) and 200 (23.78) dashes. The Chiefs' Jemal Vaunado won both the 110 (16.54) and 300 (43.74) hurdles.

Plymouth senior standouts Jonny Dalton and Matthew Pahl again spearheaded the Wildcats. Dalton captured the 400 (50.85) and 800 (2:08.78) runs; Pahl finished first in the 1,600 (5:02.69) and 3,200 (10:32.89) runs.

Another similarity between Tuesday and the city meet were first-place showings by Plymouth's Nathan Harris in the high jump and teammate Michael Jordan in the shot put and discus.

In the girls dual, the Wildcats featured first-place finishes from Ryan Draper (100 dash), Jewel Davis (200, 400 dashes), Annie Bonds (1,600, 3,200), Kirsty McInnes (100 hurdles) and Aleah Rogalski (300 hurdles).

In the high jump, Plymouth's Katherine Harris and Canton's Ryan Sparks shared top honors. Shamyia Butler took first in the long jump for the Chiefs.

Other highlights for Canton included victories by Elaine Bradlee (800 run), Emily Meier (shot put, discus) and Shamyia Butler (long jump).

The teams split the relays. Canton prevailed in the 400 and 3,200, while Plymouth took first in the 800 and 1,600.

BOLGER-MANGAN CITY TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Rocks repeat as Park champions

Salem boys, girls track squads win annual meet for P-CEP bragging rights

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

For the second year in a row, Salem High School will have all the Park bragging rights when it comes to track and field.

Friday night at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park, both the Salem boys and girls teams prevailed at the annual Bolger-Mangan city meet.

After the final totals of the boys meet were announced — with Salem's 64½ points enough to edge Plymouth (57½) and Canton (53) — the Rocks mobbed each other near the 50-yard line of the football field, hoisting the trophy high and cheering each other on.

That so-called traveling trophy will reside in the Salem showcase for another year, as will one for the girls meet. Salem's girls rolled to the title with 88 points, well ahead of Plymouth (63½) and Canton (23½).

"It's Park bragging rights for the year and that's what we tell them," Salem boys head coach Steve Aspinall said. "We see these guys (Wildcats, Chiefs) again, at the Observerland meet, at the conference meet and the regional meet."

"But the city meet is our thing, it's not John Glenn and Wyandotte Roosevelt, Northville and Novi. It's our thing and it's pretty special to win it."

According to Salem girls head coach Pat Ignagni, in his first season at the helm, winning the Bolger-Mangan meet "feels fantastic, the girls could not be more coachable, they couldn't be a harder working bunch."

Ignagni tipped his cap to predecessor Dave Gerlach for setting a winning foundation with the program "and we're just trying to live up to the standard he set."

Both Aspinall and Ignagni pointed to depth and versatility as crucial to their respective victories.

"The hardest thing in a meet like this, I think, is there's 17 events," Aspinall said. "Points come from everywhere and anywhere. You really have to score all over the place in order to get it."

"We score four deep; the thirds and fourths add up and we saw that."

It was a similar story with Salem's girls team.

"We took some points in the field events, where the girls really put forth a great effort," Ignagni said. "Plymouth's got some outstanding sprinters and so we knew it was going to be a real challenge to earn points in the sprints."

"But we thought maybe our mid-distance and our distance could score some points. Our 800 runners got 11 out of 11 points. We scored eight in the (3,200). In the 1,600, we scored eight out of 11."

When it was all over, both Jared Zella of Salem's boys team and Isabel Rodriguez of Salem's girls team were exhausted — but they were thrilled to again be the best of the Park.

Zella and Rodriguez each were part of their respective 800-meter relay team that finished first.

"We all worked hard," Zella said, trying to catch his breath. "All of our practices have been leading up to this, to show how we compare to other schools."

Rodriguez said she was helped along at the end of her leg of the relay by enthusiastic teammates on the sidelines.

"I really love running with this team," Rodriguez said, smiling. "They all put in so much work. Everybody was screaming at me, 'She's right behind (you),' so I just thought we needed to finish with a bang, get through it and win."

"We really wanted to hold our title from last year and I'm really happy we got it. We're all very excited."

Boys recap

According to Aspinall, the success the Rocks had during field events set the tone. "We did pretty well in the field events, better than I thought we were going to," Aspinall said. "We had some phenomenal performances in the discus from Jannik Schmitt and Christian Pearson. All that stuff adds up. I knew it was going to be a close meet between all three schools."

Aspinall really cited the efforts of sophomore Ver-Shawn Patrick as a key factor behind Salem's championship.

"The performance that sticks out in my mind is Ver-Shawn Patrick," Aspinall said. "He won the 100, he was the anchor guy in the (400-meter relay). They were even, the Salem and Canton teams were even going in to the last leg and VerShawn pulled away from that."

"And he came out and won the 200. He's coming into his own; he's a fantastic runner and ran some great times tonight."

In the 200, Patrick's time of 23.04 eclipsed Canton's Alan Jones Jr. (23.70) and Darren Davis (23.71).

With the city meet victory secured, Aspinall said the Rocks now look forward to making a run in the KLAA Central Division and being strong for the upcoming Observerland meet.

"We got a couple meets next week, Stevenson next Tuesday," Aspinall said. "We're 2-0 in the division and they're the next step to try to win the division. If we can be 5-0 in the division, we'll win the division. And hopefully it is a springboard."

Meanwhile, Plymouth head coach Jon Mikosz said the runner-up Wildcats came away from the meet feeling a lot better about how the rest of the season might go.

"We've had it a little rough getting things started," Mikosz said. "But we bounced back today, had a great meet, scored in every field event, which is something we haven't done in a long time."

"Nate Harris broke the school record, did a 6-4 today in high jump. Michael Jordan had a 20-foot PR in the discus (139-1). We had a lot of good things in the field events."

Mikosz also pointed out how strong Victor Abraham was in the sprint events, tying for second with Salem's Jacob Miller in the 100 dash (11.49).

"And our distance guys just dominated like they usually do," Mikosz added. "Jonny (Dalton) came in, was part of our (3,200 relay) that won, was second in the (1,600) and was first in the 800 (2:03.51), first in the 400 (51.54). That's a pretty big day for him."

Another Plymouth senior, Matthew Pahl, finished first in the 1,600 with a time of 4:48.89 and also won the 3,200 in 10:19.67.

Canton's Jemal Vaunado had a big day in the hurdle events, winning the 110 (16.23) and 300 (41.55).

Another highlight for the Chiefs was a 1-2-3 finish in the pole vault. Theodore Lang won with a 12-0 mark, with teammates Andrew Koenigsnecht (11-6) and Derek Triebwasser (11-0) right behind.

The Chiefs also prevailed in two relays, winning the 800 and 1,600 with times of 1:31.79 and 3:34.72, respectively.

Girls recap

Just like Aspinall's team did, the Salem girls squad enjoyed cross-the-board production.

"Shekinah Johnson, Izzy Rodriguez, they really did a great job in the 200 and 400," Ignagni said. "Our (400) relay team really came through with a big win."

"Shara Long and Rebecca Falzon in the throws got some important points."

Ignagni also cited Salem's "whole distance and mid-distance crew, from Lauren Arquette to Erin McCann, Kaya Knake, there's a host of others. Just a tremendous overall team job."

To illustrate that point, the Rocks took places one through five in the 800 run, led by Knake's 2:23.98. She was followed by Elizabeth Tripp (2:37.64), Madison Justice (2:37.71), McCann (2:37.82) and Hannah Jeffress (2:42.71).

And Arquette took the top spot in both the 1,600 and 3,200 with times of 5:20.70 and 11:33.35, respectively.

Plymouth's Ricky Styes and Canton's Alan Jones Sr. liked what they saw out of their respective teams.

"We came in knowing Salem was going to be pretty tough to beat. They're really talented across the board in pretty much every event," Styes said. "And so beating them today was going to be difficult."

"We've had a lot of PRs (Friday). ... When we talked to them yesterday at practice, we told them, don't worry about the score book, try to break PRs. If you do that, we can't ask you to do any more than that."

Among Plymouth standouts were Ryen Draper, Kirsty McInnes and Jewel Davis.

"Ryen Draper won the 100 and 200 today and anchored our (800)-meter relay, which ran really fast today," Styes said. "We were really happy with that time. The school record and the Park record (set in 2014) is 1:44.4 and our girls ran a 1:45.4."

Styes said 300 hurdler McInnes ran her best time of the season, while Davis took second in the 400 with a time of 59.51, just behind Salem's Johnson (58.84).

"Jewel Davis took second place in the 400, ran under a minute, which is something all girls try to do," Styes said.

For Canton's Jones, his team did "pretty good, except we were faced with a few last-minute injuries and I had to substitute a lot of runners."

As a result, he couldn't field lineups for every event.

"You're only allowed four events per athlete," Jones said. "So I had to scrap a couple events because athletes would have exceeded that. But other than that, I think we competed pretty well."

"Once again, for the second year in a row, we came in last place. But I'm not the least bit discouraged, because I know this has been a growing program ever since I took it over."

There was a definite highlight for the Chiefs, however, as thrower Emily Meier established a new Park record in the shot put with a throw of 42 feet, 6.5 inches.

Meier thus broke the former mark, which had been held by former Canton coach Tiffany Grubaugh.

Chiefs stymie Novi in 5-2 victory

Plymouth plays to 9-9 tie in suspended contest

Canton held off Novi's offense in a 5-2 KLAA Kensington Conference crossover baseball victory Friday.

The visiting Chiefs, who improved to 6-2 overall and 3-1 in the KLAA's South Division, got a strong pitching performance from Noah Spencer, who went the first six innings to pick up the victory.

Spencer allowed two earned runs on five hits and three walks while striking out two. Mitchell Zelenak pitched a scoreless seventh to pick up the save.

Mike Flaishans knocked in two runs, while Spencer added two hits and scored another run as Canton put it the game way with two in the top of the fifth inning after leading 3-2.

Losing pitcher Adam Tobias allowed five runs (three earned) on seven hits and three walks over 4½ innings. Reliever Jack Reilly closed the door over the final 2½, allowing just two walks while fanning two. The Wildcats committed three errors.

Scott Beaton and Alec Bageris each had an RBI for the Wildcats, while Michael Mitchell went 1-for-3 and scored a run.

NOVI 9, PLYMOUTH 9 (SUSPENDED); In a

KLAA Kensington crossover Monday, play was suspended with two outs and no runners on in the bottom of the seventh inning because of darkness and will be completed at a later date.

Novi (5-4, 2-1 KLAA Central) led 4-3 after six innings and scored five times in the top of the seventh to take a 9-3 lead, only to have Plymouth (7-4, 3-1 KLAA South) answer with six runs in the bottom of the seventh after a costly Novi throwing error led to the final two runs.

Plymouth was led offensively by Pete Carravallah (3-for-4, run); Cameron Stella (2-for-4, two runs, two RBIs); and Andrew Jossey (2-for-4, two RBIs, run).

Kyle Wolter started for Plymouth, going the first six innings, allowing four earned runs on five hits and four walks. Regan Fleisher came on in the seventh and allowed five runs on four hits and a walk.

FRANKLIN 6, SALEM 4: The visiting Rocks dropped a non-division game Monday at Livonia Franklin despite two hits each from Brandon Gillen and Josh Penn.

NORTHVILLE 12-6, SALEM 0-0: The Mustangs proved to be the king of the hill April 15, posting back-to-back shutouts to down the host Rocks in a KLAA Central Division doubleheader.

Northville senior left-hander Evan Flohr, who was locked in a pitching duel with Salem's Tyler Brooks through seven innings, had seven strikeouts while allowing just two hits and two walks.

The Mustangs then exploded for 12 runs in the top of the eighth after a Salem error opened the floodgates.

In Game 2, Ian Borthwick tossed a four-hitter for Northville.

Salloum's bat carries first-place Madonna to sweep

Churchill grad keeps Crusaders tied for first

Sophomore shortstop Nicole Salloum's clutch homer in the top of the eighth inning gave Madonna University a 4-3 win in the opener of its women's softball doubleheader Wednesday against host Indiana Tech at Havenhurst Park.

The Crusaders then remained atop of the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference standings – tied at 10-2 with Davenport University – by taking the nightcap in a five-inning mercy, 9-0, as winning pitcher Erin Combs helped her own cause going 3-for-3 with four RBIs.

Salloum, who hails from Livonia Churchill High, finished the day going 4-for-7 with four RBIs as the Crusaders improved to 26-9-1 overall. She has four homers and 36 RBIs on the year.

Senior Bree Crampton (12-6), the winning pitcher, cruised through the first five innings in Game 1 before giving up a three-run homer to Jessica Cotton in the bottom of the sixth to force extra innings. Crampton allowed just two hits, walked one and struck out 10 in going the distance.

Losing pitcher Jenevive Rivas (0-1) gave up 12 hits, walked one and struck out six.

Other top MU hitters included North Farmington's Karleigh Creighton (2-for-4, RBI) and Mikey Kish (2-for-4, run).

In the second game, Combs gave up just three hits without a walk to improve to 14-3 overall.

MU broke the game open with five runs in the third inning and three more in the fourth as Breanna Keethler also went 3-for-3 with a homer and two RBIs.

Salloum was 2-for-3 with two RBIs, while Morgan Kaiser was 2-for-3 with two runs scored for Madonna, which returns to WHAC action with a pair of 1 p.m. doubleheaders Saturday against University of Northwestern Ohio and Sunday against Lourdes (Ohio), both at home.

Last-place Indiana Tech fell to 11-22 overall and 0-12 in the WHAC.

Natalie Nowicki lead all scorers with six goals, while Gretchen Schoen and Marissa Cirino both chipped in three. Michelle Burke tallied two goals and both Sophia Miller and Cierra Steiner added one. Cirino added two assists, with Sophia Miller, Cathryn Van-denBosch and Madeleine Caswell each drawing an assist.

The defense was stout all day with contributions from a number of players, including Sarah Curtis, Shelby Strawn, Hannah-Renee Figley, Elizabeth O'Donohue, Emily Johnson, Emily LeBlanc, Abigail Bolterman and Megan Eschelbach. Erin Oleszczak and Elizabeth Elliott both had solid games in goal for the Wildcats

(6-2).

PLYMOUTH 12, FARMINGTON 8: Nowicki lead the 'Cats with five goals, an assist and eight draw controls Friday night. Cirino added four goals and an assist. Jessica Cristiu, VandenBosch and Schoen each tallied a goal, while goalie Elliott made four saves.

PLYMOUTH 6, SALEM 5: A tight defensive battle April 15 between Park rivals went Plymouth's way.

The Kensington Conference contest was played on the varsity turf field at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Cirino and Nowicki each scored two goals for Plymouth, with Burke and VandenBosch also scoring.

A key to the win was excellent team defense, anchored by the play of goalies Oleszczak (five saves) and Elliott (four saves). Other excellent defensive work was turned in by Strawn, Curtis, O'Donohue and Figley.

For Salem (3-5, 1-2), Andi Marthaler registered three goals, while Leah Tardiff and Joslyn Longe both tallied one goal.

Plymouth (4-2, 1-2) outshot Salem 21-14, with Rocks sophomore goalie Maddie Johnson making 15 shots.

"Plymouth is a strong team," Salem head coach Dave Medley said. "I know their kids have worked hard in the off-season and have a good record this season to show for it."

"We came up a little short, but we played more like we're capable of playing."

Canton also enjoyed a strong showing, highlighted by Suhass Potluri's 80 (sixth overall).

Other Chiefs included Noah Lindlbauer (84), Chris Dooley (85), Hunter Schlampp (87), Josh Johnson (98) and Brian Oldani (99). Not in the lineup was stand-out senior Donnie Trosper.

Salem's top performer, Adam Marcero, also had a big day. He finished with 82, tying for eighth overall with Novi's Mikey Ulle.

Other individual scores for the Rocks included Hayden Winch (87), Jakob Lenders (94), Matt Schaumburger (94), Jake Stropes (95) and Shawn Weldon (97).

In addition to Ulle, Novi's top performers were Bryan Fertert (second, 76) and Ryan Welch (fourth, 78).

"It was cold and windy, but the guys hung in there well," Young said. "We have good players and we know how to grind the game in tough conditions."

Ocelots fourth at tourney

By Tim Smith

Schoolcraft's varsity men's golf team finished fourth April 10 at the Oakland Community College Invitational.

The Ocelots finished in the middle of the eight-team pack with a total of 341, good for 53-over-par at the par-72 Pontiac Country Club in Waterford.

Finishing on top was Mott Community College with 307, followed by the host Raiders (324) and Muskegon Community College (325).

Individually, Mott's Tyler Lewis and Ryan Fulton finished first and second with scores of even-par 72 and 76, respectively.

For Schoolcraft, Eric Perry had the best showing. He tallied 80 to finish sixth overall.

Tied for ninth with 82 for the Ocelots was Chad Berger.

Also competing for Schoolcraft were Austin Harris (88, tied for 30th) and Ray Pockerwinski (91, tied for 39th).

Jamie Squires tripled in three runs to tie the contest.

The Rocks then took the lead in the sixth. Emily Stewart led off with a double. A bunt single by Malaleigh Silverman and double by Caroline Miller gave Salem a 6-4 advantage. Miller then scored on a hit by Kristin Mihalic (3-for-4).

In the earlier games, the Rocks earned wins of 11-1 over Grosse Ile (five innings) and 5-3 and then 1-0 in the semifinals over Hanover.

In the latter, the game that catapulted Salem into the championship game, Overaitis held Hanover to three hits and struck out four in five innings. She was relieved by Rosiewicz, who closed it out with a pair of 1-2-3 innings.

On offense, Mihalic had two hits in three at-bats, with one hit each from Kara Hutchison, Stewart, Silverman, Rosiewicz and Maranda Armstead.

Overaitis and Stewart combined to pitch the Rocks' opening win over Grosse Ile, which ended after five innings due to the mercy rule.

Stewart also helped the offense with two hits and two RBI, while Squires tripled in three runs.

Salem's 5-3 win over Hanover in the Rocks' second game of the day featured a three-run rally in the sixth to tie the game and a winning rally in the seventh.

After the Rocks went ahead, Southerland said outfielder Abbie Riedel "made a breathtaking grab on a deep fly ball. Without that catch, the game could have changed."

Contributors to the Salem attack were Mihalic (3-for-4), Overaitis and Squires (two hits each), Stewart (single) and Hutchison (double).

Happy about 400

One of Salem's first wins of the season, against Wayne Memorial, gave Southerland her 400th victory at the helm of the varsity Rocks.

Southerland coached 10 years with the JV before taking over the varsity in 1995.

"It's a nice number," Southerland said. "Every year you're like, 'Oh, is this going to be my last year?' But then you get another group of amazing kids come in like this year, it's hard to walk away. Now we shoot for 500."

She said 400 victories was a milestone that the Rocks should have achieved in 2014, "but I'm happy to get it with this team, because I know this team's going to do great things."

"This opened Dec. 1st last year," said Wong, who lives in Northville. Bob Bake lives in Plymouth. They have five Realtors on staff, including the three family members.

"Great," Wong said of the location. "We've just had a lot of positive feedback about the sign," which was made in Petoskey, Mich.

Appeals court upholds tree height standard

Q: Our Declaration in our subdivision says that all trees in a residential community may not exceed six feet. Is that a reasonable restriction?

A: Yes. In a similar case out of Wisconsin, where some of the community's lots have sweeping views of the surrounding terrain and community amenities, including its golf course, marina, and lakes. The first owner purchased his lot in 1987. At that time, the view from his lot was largely unobstructed. The adjacent lot owner, located downhill from the first owner, always either trimmed his trees or gave the uphill owner permission to do so to protect the views. In 1999, a new owner purchased the downhill lot. He stopped trimming the existing trees, and also planted new trees, all of which grew to over six feet and blocked the view of the uphill landowner.

Robert Meisner

The community's governing declaration stated no trees in excess of a height of six feet could be planted, and that no tree could be allowed to exceed six feet without written permission of the association's architectural control and maintenance committee. The declaration also stated that no trees or shrubbery could be removed unless approved in writing by the committee.

The downhill lot owner refused to either trim his trees or remove them. The association took no follow-up action, so the uphill lot owner sued the downhill lot owner. The trial court ruled that only human-planted trees must be trimmed back to six feet, because it found the declaration's restriction showed clear intent to preserve the naturally-occurring trees.

The uphill lot owner appealed. The Court of Appeals found the height restriction to be absolute and applicable to all of the trees because the language in the declaration contained no exception for natural growth. The Court of Appeals sent the case back to the trial court to consider appropriate treatment for the naturally occurring trees, however, because of the restriction that they not be removed unless approved in writing by the architectural control and maintenance committee.

Q: If the delay of a homeowner's association in providing corporate records to a member is found to be reasonable and in good faith, can that finding prevent an award of costs and attorney fees?

A: Yes, according to a Wyoming court, and the same result might apply in Michigan. In this case, homeowners sued the association, claiming it had denied repeated requests for inspection and copying of corporate records. The association argued, prior to hearing, that it had already provided the records. The homeowners continued to press for an order from the court, stating they had not received all of the records and further arguing for an award of attorney's fees and costs.

After the hearing, the court ordered production of records but denied the request for attorney's fees and costs, because it found the association had made reasonable efforts to meet the demands of the homeowners, and it further found the association had a reasonable basis for doubting the homeowner's rights to inspect documents which dealt with the privacy interests of individual members. The appellate court agreed with the result reached by the trial court, but Michigan's new changes to the Nonprofit Corporation should be reviewed and explained to you by competent counsel. But seek advice from your attorney regarding recent changes to the Michigan Nonprofit Act.

RichRealty in 'better location' in city of Plymouth

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

RichRealty is now at 281 N. Main St. in Charlestowne Square and can be reached at 734-459-5100 or www.RichEteam.com. A Customer Appreciation Day was held Monday, April 6.

Richard Eisiminger, broker/owner of RichRealty, was eager to show his new location. "I just moved across the street for better location," explained Canton resident Eisiminger.

They held their fourth annual Customer Appreciation Day April 6. "It's done on Tigers' opening day," Eisiminger said. "It's getting a little bigger every year."

He has 22 agents ("Every agent does their own territory.) who concentrate on a five-to-10-mile radius of properties. "The brand name," he said of being an independent firm. "It's honesty, it's being truthful." He began in real estate in 1991, and has been in Plymouth six years.

"This was all self-done," Eisiminger said in looking around the RichRealty office. "I started Jan. 15." The landlord handled some duties like HVAC and the ceiling, but Eisiminger really rolled up his sleeves.

He's a carpenter by trade who upon graduation from Westland John Glenn High's program went into the Detroit Carpentry Apprenticeship School.

RichRealty is on Facebook.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Helping: Rock out at Birchler family concert for hunger relief

The eighth annual Jammin' To End Famine concert will raise money for hunger relief on a new day, with longer hours, and more music this weekend.

Doors open at 6 p.m. Saturday, April 25, at Plymouth-Ann Arbor Elks Lodge #325, 41700 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. One of five bands will perform every hour, free pizza and salad will be served and a cash bar will be available. Tickets are $25 for adults and $10 for students. They're available at the door or in advance by emailing tombirchler1@gmail.com or by calling 248-722-1820.

"Friday wasn't available for some of the bands, so we moved it to Saturday. We thought we'd try it and see what happens," said Tom Birchler, a Livonia resident and one of several Birchler family members who organize and perform at the concert. "We've had good support, almost 200 names on our mailing list. We have a good base of generous people."

The concert will start an hour earlier this year and include five bands, all with Birchler family members. Jim Birchler of Ann Arbor will emcee the show, which will run to 11 p.m.

The bands

New this year is The Fun Guys, consisting of Tom Birchler on bass and his son, Michael, on drums, and two of their friends, playing 1970s rock and funk. John Birchler of Plymouth is a member of the cappella vocal jazz group, The Grunions, which will kick off the evening. Tom Birchler, and two of his brothers, Dave of Bloomfield Hills and Keith of Bay City, along with Tommy Anderson and Ron Graham, make up Paisley Fog, which will play Beatles tunes and other favorites from the 1960s. 2 Dayz Gone, with Tom Birchler's stepson, Mark Warren of Livonia, will kick the show into high gear with danceable tunes from the 1980s and 1990s and Playing Mantis, featuring Michael Birchler on drums, will end the night with contemporary rock.

"As the night goes on the music gets more danceable," Birchler said. "It's how the night goes. People come in, eat pizza and salad and have drinks." By the time Paisley Fog and 2 Dayz Gone hit the stage, "people are ready to hit the dance floor."

The charity

The family donates all concert proceeds to Kids Against Hunger Coalition, a nonprofit organization that packages and distributes nutritious rice-soy casserole meals to starving children abroad and in the U.S. The coalition relies on volunteers to package the food at satellite locations worldwide and through packaging events at churches, schools and through other partners.

"When we first started doing this we just gave the money to Kids Against Hunger Coalition and they used it for whatever they needed. The past two years we've been able to sponsor our own packaging event, because that is the way Kids Against Hunger Coalition works," Birchler said. "You raise money for the food and provide the labor to package it."

Brother Rice High School students will volunteer for the packaging event in conjunction with its all-school service day on Wednesday, Oct. 28. The Birchler brothers, who grew up in Bloomfield Township, are Brother Rice alumni.

"It's amazing how much fun you can have and it goes fast. It's quite amazing to witness," said Birchler, who has attended most of the packaging events supported by the concert funds.

Hunger relief

Jammin' To End Famine has raised enough money over seven years to pay for 100,000 meals. One third of the meals goes toward disaster relief and another third goes to developing countries. Any group that raises money for a packaging event is allowed to designate the final third of its donation. The Birchler family always sends it to the Capuchins, an organization their father, Don, supported. This year marks the 10th anniversary of his death.

The brothers initially planned a concert 10 years ago to entertain family and friends. They rented a hall and prepared to party, but "the day we were supposed to do the concert was the day we buried our father," Birchler said. "Instead of partying, we were laying our dad to rest."

Two years later, they decided to try again, but with the added element of a fundraiser for charity. They chose hunger relief because food is "one of the most basic things we all need," Birchler said.

"The concert has become sort of a way to honor my dad's memory because he was one of those guys always doing something for someone else."

Whether you're trying to achieve wellness goals or just looking for simple ways to add more nutrient-rich food sources into your family's diet, now is the time to dust off that blender or juicer. Naturally sweet and nutritious, watermelon is a great addition to drinks that nourish and replenish the body.

For years, health professionals have touted the many benefits found in nature, especially in fruits such as watermelon. Whether you need to flush out toxins or reduce bloating, healthy and hydrating watermelon is the all-natural solution conveniently found at your local grocer's produce section.

Packed with arginine and citrulline, watermelon may help improve blood flow. The watermelon's high water and potassium level may also help the body flush out unwanted fluids. Plus, watermelon is said to have a diuretic effect, which helps the body beat bloating. The following cocktail recipes feature this star ingredient, which along with other healthful ingredients, offer natural solutions for common conditions.

When incorporating these drinks into your family's diet, use a strong blender when you can. This will help retain essential phytonutrients and antioxidants within the blended mixture. Many conventional juicers require you to throw away the pulp, which means throwing out these bonus health benefits.
