Struggling Goodfellows seek money

Group starting summer campaign to avert shortfall

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A Canton charity that helps hundreds of children and families at Christmastime is launching a summer fund drive, amid worries the group may be forced to scale back its efforts because of dwindling finances.

Last year alone, Canton Goodfellows gave gifts to 442 children and provided holiday food for their families, fulfilling its motto of No Child Without a Christmas.

Facing a money crunch, however, the volunteer group has decided to launch a mass mailing this month in Canton to raise money and thwart a potential shortfall in aid for the coming holiday season.

Goodfellows President John Spencer said the fundraising goal is $35,000. He said he is optimistic the Canton community will help its less fortunate families.

"The money is out there," he said, "we just need to go get it."

Canton Goodfellows once had $100,000 in its coffers, an amount that has dropped gradually — but significantly — as demand for help outpaced funds raised.

"We're down to $34,000," Spencer said Tuesday.

Every year, the group collects gifts and donations to help struggling families at Christmastime — an effort that brings together a small core of volunteers each year.

Jon LaFever, Goodfellows vice president, said the mass mailing is crucial because the group especially needs money for gift cards and food for families and children.

"These are kids who generally don't have food in the pan-

Plymouth parent appointed to P-CCS board

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

Plymouth resident Patrick Kehoe has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the seven-member Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Kehoe and retired Plymouth-Canton educator and administrator George Belvitch were the two finalists seeking to fill a vacancy on the board left by longtime trustee Mark Horvath, who resigned in July. Following a series of the same seven questions — asked of both finalists — Kehoe was selected, based on total scores awarded each candidate.

The Board of Education made their choice official in a 5-0 vote. Trustee Mike Maloney was absent.

Kehoe, a solutions engineer with Hewlett Packard, will serve the remainder of Horvath's term, which expires in 2018. All board members serve six-year terms. Kehoe, who with his wife, Jennifer, has two children in the school district.

Canton street repairs slowly inch forward

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Canton is inching toward $1.8 million in street repairs pledged to local subdivisions after a local lottery was held to divvy up a chunk of Wayne County money.

"We're trying to keep this thing moving so we can get a shovel in the ground before the end of the year," township Supervisor Phil LaJoy said Tuesday.

However, officials couldn't say with certainty how quickly street repairs might begin.

LaJoy's remarks came before the township board Tuesday was set to choose an engineering firm, Northwest Consultants, Inc., for $158,500 and to approve revised language contained in an agreement with Wayne County.

Canton officials have indicated the Wayne County Commission and Executive Warren Evans still have to approve the intergovernmental agreement to release money for the projects.

Canton officials in January held a lottery to determine which of 20 subdivisions that sought a share of $1.5 million in county money would be chosen.

Subdivisions had to pay 20 percent of their repairs, taking the total for all projects to $1.8 million.

Officials said the $1.5 million wouldn't cover all 20 proposals, so the lottery was held and 13 street-repair projects emerged as winners.

Village Homes Association, called the county road funding approach flawed, with one subdivision roads committee member, Bill Springer, calling it "a systemic issue" that needs a long-term solution.

Local officials have agreed that funding for county-maintained street repairs has been lacking, but they nonetheless welcomed the $1.5 million from a cash-strapped county government.

"It's work that's going to be done that wasn't planned for," LaJoy said. "There are a lot of needs out there. This is a step in the right direction."

The money came from an initiative announced by then-County Executive Robert Ficano to fix some of the township streets, which fall under the county's jurisdiction.

During the lottery in January, the $1.5 million had been exhausted by the time 13 numbers had been drawn that represented 13 subdivisions, leaving seven projects off the list for repairs.

County officials have indicated a second round of money could come next year.

Officials have described the street repairs as mostly cosmetic, such as replacing crumbling concrete and fixing damaged catch basins.

"Both of you are outstanding candidates," board President John Barrett said, as he announced Kehoe's selection, followed by his swearing in. Kehoe shook hands with each trustee before taking his seat on the board for the regular Tuesday meeting.

The two-meeting appointment process began with the interviews of eight candidates Aug. 4. Based on scoring that night, Belvitch and Kehoe were selected for final interviews Tuesday. Barrett congratulated the eight candidates who sought appointment. He suggested any or all seek school district committee appointments or election to the Board of Education.

"I would like to thank the board for giving me this opportunity," Kehoe said.

Trustee Kate Borninski thanked Belvitch for his participation. "I wish we had two spots (on board)."

The seven questions asked by trustees ranged from the candidates' approaches to decision making to working with people with whom they may disagree, their assessment of a board member's role, and being offered a multiple choice of what they might cut to balance a budget.

Trustee Sheila Paton — making clear the question was not based on facts — gave each candidate a choice of cutting: 12 elementary school teachers, which would increase class size from 28 to 30 kids; or eliminating 12 reading intervention support staff; or 12 media specialists.

Belvitch told the board that as a retired educator — with friends who are educators — he felt it was unfair to make that choice for the interview. His decision, however, would be based on what would be best for students, he added.

Kehoe answered with a question. "Can we cut four of each?" That way, he said, a smaller reduction in each category might minimize the impact on students.

The new board member — in response to questions — said that when faced with someone whose opinion he doesn't immediately support, "I try to put myself in their shoes."

Doing that, Kehoe continued, in some cases has led him to change his opinion. "It is always important to be respectful and understand these (opposing) positions."

LaFever said the fund drive is expected to reach 36,000 residences and businesses in Canton. He said the money is used to help local families only.

"All the money stays right here in Canton," he said.

Volunteers have consistently stepped up to help Goodfellows, which distributes holiday gifts from the Canton Administration Building.

However, Spencer said Goodfellows this year may resume selling newspapers outside of local stores.

Salvation Army looking for back-to-school donations

The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps, in partnership with the Plymouth-Canton and Van Buren school districts, the Wilcox Foundation, the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation, the Plymouth Rotary Foundation and Payless Shoe Stores, has launched a school supply drive now through the Aug. 31.

The drive seeks to collect new school supplies and backpacks for students K-12 for the upcoming school year for students in Plymouth, Canton, Belleville and Northville.

Families who are struggling with school supplies this year can call the week of Aug. 17 for an appointment to apply for assistance. All families will need to provide proof of residency, as well as Social Security cards for each member of their home and picture ID for those over 18.

This year, the Salvation Army is urging the public to show teachers they are appreciated. Teachers spend a great deal of their personal monies to help stock their classroom. It is the organization's goal to help them by making sure there are school supplies in each classroom so all kids are equipped to learn, said Laurie Aren, director of Family and Community Ministries.

Since its inception in 2008, The Back 2 School Blitz has sent 1,854 students back to school with grade-appropriate school supplies. Noting the need for classroom supplies, as well as individual student supplies, we want to support teachers by collecting loose leaf paper, hand sanitizer, Kleenex, glue sticks, dry erase markers and red pens.

Needed supplies include new backpacks (particularly for older students), binders, markers, wide-ruled paper and one-subject notebooks, pens (red, black and blue), No. 2 pencils, rulers, protractors, compasses, composition books and folders.

In addition to school supplies, the Army will accept donations of new socks and underwear and gently used clothing that will be distributed through the Plymouth Canton Community Clothing Bank, a partner of The Salvation Army throughout the year.

Monetary gifts will be used to purchase Payless gift cards and miscellaneous school supplies that will be distributed to each child. Following the distribution to registered families, the remaining school supplies will be divided between the Plymouth-Canton and Van Buren Schools to be shared where the need is greatest.

Donations will be accepted from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. For more information, contact Aren at 734-453-5464, ext. 29, or by email at laurie_aren@usc.salvationarmy.org.

Get out hogs and helmets for first 'Ride for Red Shield'

By Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

Sandy Kollinger will be on her Honda Shadow on Saturday, Aug. 22, in the Plymouth Salvation Army's inaugural "Ride for the Red Shield."

She will be joined by her husband and dad, as well as at least 11 other motorcyclists — so far — and a minimum of four Wayne County Sheriff's deputies, members of the department's motorcycle unit, as the procession begins in Plymouth and heads to Wyandotte for this first-time fundraising event.

"It's exciting and nervous and everything in between," said Kollinger, Salvation Army volunteer and special events coordinator.

raise money for the Salvation Army. She finally took pen to paper and planned it this year.

The ride has a number of purposes. The first is fun. The second is a fundraiser. Thirdly, Kollinger and other Salvation Army officials want to get new groups of people — such as motorcyclists — familiar with the Army and its programs. "Anything the Salvation Army does is about awareness," she said. "We want to get the community to see what we do."

Kollinger has quite a ride planned for participants. When she asks folks to get their hogs out, she's not talking farm animals. By the way, it's still open for more riders — right up to the morning they gather at the Plymouth Salvation Army, 9451 S. Main Street.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. with a continental breakfast for all riders and their passengers. Tours of the corps community center and information about the Salvation Army's programs and services will be offered prior to the ride. Registered riders will depart from Plymouth at 11 a.m., escorted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Motorcycle Unit.

Motorcyclists will start down Ann Arbor Trail and take a break with refreshments at the Dearborn Public Schools Career Center in Dearborn Heights and then head down Outer Drive, a bit of the Southfield Freeway, to Biddle and, finally, Wyandotte and the Salvation Army's community center there. A barbecue lunch will be served in Exchange Park right behind the Salvation Army.

"When the barbecue is over, everyone is free to go on their way," Kollinger said.

The event is $25 for motorcyclists and $15 for passengers. Each rider and passenger will receive an event T-shirt. "Ride for the Red Shield" proceeds will support programs and services offered at the Salvation Army of Plymouth and the Salvation Army of Wyandotte corps community center.

Thunder Valley Powersports, Inc. in Plymouth is a supporter of this event.

For more information about the event or to register, contact Kollinger at 734-453-5464, ext. 24, or Janice Quick at 734-282-0930, ext. 100.

Northville man arraigned on child pornography charges

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

A Northville Township man faces serious prison time after being arraigned Tuesday on a dozen felony counts involving child pornography.

James Ciccarelli was arraigned Tuesday before Judge James Plakas in 35th District Court in Plymouth on 12 felony counts, including three charges of child sexually abusive activity-distributing or promotion, a seven-year felony; three counts of using the computer or Internet to communicate with another to commit a crime, a 10-year felony; three counts of possession of child sexually abusive material, a four-year felony; and three counts of using a computer to commit a crime, a 10-year felony.

A not-guilty plea was entered on Ciccarelli's behalf and Plakas set bond at $100,000 (or 10 percent). Ciccarelli was also ordered not to access the Internet or have contact with children.

In court Tuesday, Northville Township Detective John Huerta testified Ciccarelli was found with several images he'd taken using his cellphone camera.

Huerta, along with state, local and federal officers, conducted an ongoing investigation associated with Ciccarelli. Over the course of this investigation, a large volume of suspected child sexually abusive material was seized. These items consisted of images and videos.

The Northville Township Police Department has had an ongoing partnership as a member of the Michigan State Police Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force. This task force is responsible for conducting investigations which focus on children who are exploited via the internet involving sexually based crimes.

Ciccarelli is due back in 35th District Court for an Aug. 28 preliminary hearing.

CANTON CRIME WATCH

Teen: Father threatened to kill me

A Canton man accused of brandishing a gun and threatening to kill his 18-year-old daughter was taken into custody after the young woman escaped the home and went to the police station with her mother.

No shots were fired and no injuries reported.

The incident unfolded shortly before 6 p.m. Aug. 5 in the 41700 block of Wild Turkey Lane, near Palmer and Haggerty.

The teen told police she had sent texts to her father at work asking if she could go to a friend's house and then to her mother's house.

The teen said the father arrived home, took her cell phone away and went to the basement. She said she followed him and he yelled at her, telling her not to return to his residence if she went to her mother's.

She began to pack and said he began yelling. She closed her bedroom door and propped a chair in front of it, saying she was frightened. She said he began kicking the door and threatened to assault her.

The teen said her father damaged the door, then threatened to kill her and went downstairs to get what she described as a black semiautomatic handgun. She said he pointed it at her and she ran into a bathroom and locked the door.

She said he knocked on the door and threatened her before going back downstairs. The teen then went to her room, grabbed her bag and fled the house, calling her mother from a neighbor's house.

Police took the father into custody and continued their investigation.

Weapons arrest

A 29-year-old Canton man wanted by Michigan State Police for a weapons offense was arrested Saturday by Canton police during a routine traffic stop.

Police noticed a Mercury Tracer with a loud muffler about 1:45 a.m. Saturday and pulled the driver over near his home at the Sherwood Village mobile home community, near Haggerty and Michigan Avenue.

Police ran a background check on the man and learned he was wanted for a weapons offense. The report didn't elaborate on the offense.

Canton police arranged to turn the man over to Michigan State Police and also issued him a citation for defective equipment.

Here's how to aid a choking victim

My partner and I were sitting in our patrol vehicle working traffic along Interstate 96. It was around 11 p.m. A dispatch came out of a small child choking, requiring emergency response.

Although we were not the closest vehicle, we started to respond all the same. Another unit closer also was en route. As we drove, the dispatcher continued to keep us apprised of the situation. I remember my partner driving the car and repeating in a low voice, "Come on ... get there ... get there." We were both waiting and wanting to hear the other unit check in on-scene.

Choking is when someone is having a difficult time breathing because food, a toy or other object is blocking the throat or windpipe. A choking person's airway may be blocked so that not enough oxygen reaches the lungs. Without oxygen, brain damage can occur in as little as four to six minutes. Rapid first aid for choking can save a person's life.

Abdominal thrusts are an emergency technique to help clear someone's airway. The procedure is done on someone who is choking and also conscious. Most experts do not recommend abdominal thrusts for infants less than 1 year old. You can also perform the maneuver on yourself. First ask, "Are you choking? Can you speak?" Do not perform first aid if the person is coughing forcefully and is able to speak. A strong cough can often dislodge the object. If the person is choking, perform abdominal thrusts as follows:

» First, call 9-1-1 or send someone to call 9-1-1. Get help on the way. It is better to have them coming and not need them than not have them coming and need them.

» If the person is sitting or standing, position yourself behind the person and reach your arms around his or her waist. For a child, you may have to kneel.

» Place your fist, thumb side in, just above the person's navel. Grasp the fist tightly with your other hand. Make quick, upward and inward thrusts with your fist.

» If the person is lying on his or her back, straddle the person facing the head. Push your grasped fist upward and inward in a movement similar to the one above. You may need to repeat the procedure several times before the object is dislodged.

» If the person loses consciousness, start CPR. If you are not comfortable performing abdominal thrusts, you can perform back blows instead on a person who is choking.

The radio seemed to be quiet for a long time. Finally, we heard the other unit check in at the scene. A few more moments passed as my partner and I kept staring at the radio waiting for good news. A few more minutes passed before a voice, filled with relief, responded the object had been dislodged and the child was breathing.

At that point, I think anyone listening to the radio that night took a deep breath.

Sweet corn is waiting at annual Canton Lions roast

Don't forget the annual Canton Lions Club corn roast from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 22, near the Cady-Boyer Barn in Preservation Park, off Ridge Road north of Cherry Hill, on Canton's west side.

This is a big fundraiser for the Lions, who use the proceeds to buy eyeglasses, hearing aids and other devices for hearing- and vision-impaired people who can't afford the price tag.

For some, the corn roast stirs memories of a time when Canton had many more cornfields, before large subdivisions and shopping centers changed the landscape.

Local historians say Canton was once touted as the Sweet Corn Capital of Michigan. Dave Curtis, one of those historians, said the title was earned for the amount of corn grown and sold from about 1950-70.

Canton Lions Club is charging no admission for its all-you-can-eat roasted corn, served along with hot dogs, baked beans, watermelon, ice cream, cotton candy, snow cones and beverages, during the annual event.

The club does, however, ask for donations so it can support its charitable efforts. Gift baskets and a 50/50 raffle also are slated that day.

Among the highlights:

- » The Canton Concert Band, the resident ensemble of the Village Theater at Cherry Hill, will perform.

- » The Canton Historical Society will show what life was like in Canton Lions Club members are expecting hundreds to attend the annual corn roast. But there's always room for more.

Canton's past.

- » Canton-based Ear Center Audiology will offer hearing tests for those attending.

- » Eversight, formerly the Michigan Eye Bank, is expected to attend. It assists donors who want to provide the gift of sight.

- » Face-painting and balloon-twisting for children, along with a bounce house, will be available.

- » Leader dog school representatives will be hand to explain the services they provide.

- » A petting farm has been organized.

- » Project Kids Sight will be there to help identify potential vision problems in children.

was among scores of competitions as hundreds of seniors touted their skills in a softball throw, soccer, euchre, volleyball, baking, bocce ball, photography, billiards, horseshoes and other events.

Hassan Darouie, a 71-year-old Canton man who has accumulated 36 medals over eight years in bocce ball, volleyball, tennis, basketball and soccer, didn't let shoulder surgery in April keep him from Senior Olympics, even though he is still healing.

Darouie said it's important to stay healthy mentally and physically and "be positive about life."

Michele Matuszewski, who signed up in Plymouth for Senior Olympics, won a silver medal in basketball in the age 70-79 age bracket, as did her husband, Rich, in the men's division. She was competing for the first time.

"Last year I was watching all the other ladies and they were having so much fun, I decided to try it," she said.

Seniors from Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Wayne, Westland, Redford, Garden City, Northville, Northville Township and other communities participated.

Even before this week's contests, Canton resident Janet Brady, 57, already had won 100 medals in Senior Olympics, most recently earning silver for her horseshoe talents during a national competition in Bloomington, Minn.

"It's a good feeling," she said. "It's a lot of work."

Pam Cameron, Canton senior sports coordinator, said the senior games help keep the athletes healthy and active "while they enjoy the camaraderie" that the events bring.

And make no mistake, they are competitive.

"They are very serious about their games," said Susan Doughty, Canton senior specialist.

Harold Shanks Sr., 69, clinched the bronze medal Monday in men's basketball in the 60-69 age group. He said he also competes in events such as bowling and billiards.

"I used to play a little basketball with my son," he said, noting that his son, Harold Shanks Jr. used to play for Salem High School.

Shanks said it's important to stay physically fit and mentally alert while interacting with others. So, he not only competes in Senior Olympics but is a regular at Summit on the Park's fitness center.

"It's a nice place here," he said.

Seniors are expected to wrap up their Olympics competitions Thursday. They are set to receive their medals during a luncheon Friday at Burton Manor in Livonia.

How to maximize your wireless Internet connection speed

Are you paying for premium Internet service, but not receiving premium Internet speeds?

Poor performing wireless Internet doesn't mean your provider is giving you less than you are paying for. It could be you aren't following best practices when it comes to equipment and network set-up. Follow these tips to ensure you are getting the most out of your Internet.

1. Remove old devices from Wi-Fi.

An old phone, tablet or computer might be a nice toy for your kids, but it could be slowing down your entire network. Older hardware could be using an extra amount of

Jon
Gunnells
TECH
SAVVY

"juice," so to speak. If you have an old smart phone or original iPad, for instance, it might be time to disconnect it from your Wi-Fi to benefit your other devices.

2. Have a proper router.

Online gaming, streaming movies and recording HDTV shows on your DVR are just a few ways you are clogging up bandwidth via your router. If it is an older model, it could be having trouble keeping up. You have two options here.

First, you can buy your own router online or in a local big box store. A solid router can meet just about anyone's needs for about $50 or less – unless, of course, you are running a business.

The second option is to call your service provider and see that you have the most up-to-date equipment. It might be willing to upgrade you to new equipment for free. Often times, service providers will charge you to rent a router from them. This is more costly than purchasing your own (in the long run), but by renting through a provider, you get the benefit of new equipment, installation and troubleshooting. For some people, the peace of mind is worth the extra couple of bucks a month.

3. Lock your network.

Are neighbors or passersby mooching off your wireless Internet? You should password protect your wireless network to keep your hard-earned Internet for you. Locking down your wireless network also prevents people from accessing your passwords or financial documents.

4. Manage your home logistics.

There are many other ways to quickly boost your wireless speeds. Putting your router in the proper location (center of the home) is key. Or, if you have a large home, multiple routers may be the best way to get a signal in far reaching corners of your basement, the attic or outside.

Surprisingly, buying the right router will help get less interference from your appliances. A dual-band router for instance, should help you avoid interference from your microwave. Meanwhile, you can coordinate your router with cordless phones that are on different bands.

Even simple fixes like restarting your router occasionally can help improve the signal that you are paying so much to receive. There are also throngs of articles and DIY videos dedicated to Wi-Fi extenders that can improve range, but typically your issues can be fixed by implementing one or all of the aforementioned tricks.

If after trying all of these tips, your wireless still isn't working as advertised, you may want to consider upgrading your plan. One last tip: If you want to measure your Internet speed versus what you are paying for, go to Google and type in "Internet speed test." In a few seconds, you will have real-time results that you can compare to what your plan offers.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Kroger recognized

The Kroger Co., with two stores in Canton and one in Plymouth, gained first-place recognition among supermarkets and fifth place overall in 24/7 Wall St.'s annual 2015 Customer Service Hall of Fame. Kroger made its debut on the list this year, placing with such notable names as Amazon, Chick-fil-A, Apple and Marriott. The Customer Service Hall of Fame list recently appeared on USA Today online.

According to Jayne Homco, president, Kroger Co. of Michigan, the Customer Service Hall of Fame recognizes companies that truly stand out by creating a positive experience for their customers. Results were based on a collaborative effort between 24/7 Wall St. and research survey group Zogby Analytics, which polled more than 1,500 adults regarding the quality of customer service they received at 151 of America's best-known companies in 15 industries.

"We are very honored to have Kroger top the supermarkets on this prestigious list," Homco said. "Customer service is not just a philosophy, but a commitment we emphasize every day."

Research participants were asked to rate each company's service as excellent, good, fair or poor. More than 77 percent of survey respondents reported a good or excellent experience with Kroger.

Survey respondents provided various reasons as to why they ranked a company's customer service at a certain level, but most responses directly related to the person's interaction with a company employee.

"Customer service continues to be our focus as we strive to deliver an in-store experience that exceeds customer expectations during every visit," Homco said. "We invest in our great people and provide the training and resources necessary to help associates provide world-class yet personal service that encourages customers to choose Kroger."

Kellogg Park murder mystery helps Tail Wagger's spay/neuter program

Tail Wagger's 1990, a local nonprofit organization, is inviting the community to join it for a Murder Mystery fundraiser at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19, in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

The Broken Time Machine is a benefit to help prevent pet overpopulation and support the spay/neuter program. This "completely different, truly entertaining" event will have teams of four people racing through downtown Plymouth.

Founder Laura Zain said that, according to Quizzo Detroit, the organizers of the event, "intelligence is telling us that a time machine is going to crash land in Plymouth and qualified members will work together to find the missing 'out-of-towners' and help get them back home to whatever century they came from. Help us solve this extraordinary problem before we alter the course of history or the future or the universe!"

Taking place entirely on foot, the night will feature real actors, riddles, scavenger hunting and problem solving.

Grab a team of four — individuals are also welcome — and be part of the fun. This event is only open to 25 teams or 100 people and features prizes for the winning team and a rockin' after-party at the Box Bar in downtown Plymouth.

The cost is $25 per person. Register at www.tailwaggers1990.org or contact the office at 734-855-4077 and include the names of the participants. All registrations must be paid and received by Sept. 15 or contact Tail Wagger's to make special arrangements. Team members' names and checks made payable to Tail Wagger's 1990 can also be mailed to Tail Wagger's 1990, 28402 Five Mile, Livonia, MI 48154.

Tail Wagger's 1990 is committed to helping people help animals. It is their ultimate goal to be able to support dedicated pet owners who are in need of assistance along with providing necessary funding for those animals in emergency situations.

CRIME

juana and $96,000 in cash in Romulus.

The incident unfolded Aug. 6, when Canton police met with federal authorities to conduct a search warrant in the 8400 block of Hannan. Canton's canine helped authorities find additional marijuana in a dresser and a chest after officials already had uncovered the larger amount of cash.

In a similar incident, an officer and canine companion went to Detroit about 6:30 a.m. Aug. 6 to help conduct a search warrant and look for narcotics in a home on Newport, a police report said.

The Canton officer met with Detroit police and deployed a Canton canine, who helped authorities find marijuana and cash near a pile of clothing. All evidence was retained by the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Domestic dispute

Canton police cited a 45-year-old Taylor woman for trespassing after she apparently caused a stir while trying to pick up her son, 16, at a residence where he lives with his father and grandfather.

The incident unfolded about 4:15 a.m. Aug. 6 on Orhan, near Joy Road and I-275.

Police were sent to the residence for a reported child custody dispute. A woman said she came to pick up her son and said her ex-husband refused to turn him over, punched her and threatened to kill her, a police report said.

The woman told police she doesn't see her son often. Her ex-husband said she hadn't been to see their son since Christmas. He said she caused a scene when she arrived, yelling while standing on the porch.

Everyone in the home denied that threats had been made against her. A neighbor also reported seeing the woman banging on the door and yelling. She was cited for trespassing.

Medical card lost

A 60-year-old Canton man notified police after he found a woman's health insurance card in front of his house in the 41400 block of Ayrshire, near Haggerty and Palmer.

He found the card about noon Sunday and said he didn't know the woman whose name was on the card.

Police tracked down a Canton woman who had the same name as the one that appeared on the card, but she said it wasn't hers.

$300 bike stolen

An 18-year-old Canton woman told police her Schwinn bicycle, silver with blue graphics, was stolen from outside her residence in Stoneybrooke Apartments, near Joy Road and I-275.

The woman notified police about 10:40 a.m. Sunday. She said she had parked her bike, valued at $300, outside her apartment and learned it was later missing.

Police checked the apartment complex, but didn't see the bike.

OUR VIEWS

Protect yourself from becoming crime victim

There's nothing worse than going on a nice long summer vacation — or even taking a quick weekend trip up north — and returning home to find your house had been broken into or your vehicle on blocks.

Unfortunately, those instances are far too common in the summer months as criminals seek to prey on victims when they are away.

Many communities, including Canton and Plymouth townships and the city of Plymouth, have had their fair share of home invasions and larceny from automobiles the past few months, putting a damper on summer for many people.

And while there is no sure-fire way to prevent these crimes from happening, there is a lot residents can do to protect themselves.

Livonia-based H.E.A.T. (Help Eliminate Auto Thefts), Michigan's statewide auto theft prevention program, offers the following tips for keeping your vehicle safe:

» Tire and Rim Thefts: H.E.A.T. recommends that drivers consider investing in locking lug nuts and park in a garage whenever possible or in a parking lot with an attendant.

» "Push" Steals: Since thieves need keys to steal newer vehicles, they get around it by using a second vehicle to push your vehicle away after forcing entry to release the gears. H.E.A.T. recommends arming your vehicle with extra security to help prevent criminals from "pushing" your car. Try to park in a driveway or lot rather than on the street and turn your wheels toward the curb to prevent theft.

» Older Vehicle Component theft: As technology in newer vehicles improves, criminals are turning to older models and stripping the vehicles for their parts. H.E.A.T. recommends increasing security options with visual and physical deterrents such as steering wheel locks, steering column collars or kill switches meant to disable the starter.

For home security, make sure doors and windows are secure, don't let the mail and newspapers pile up when you head out of town, install timed lights inside and outside, make sure the landscaping is kept up and don't leave the garage door open — even when you are home.

The smart criminal (if there really is such a thing) tends to keep an eye out for these things, especially the open garage door that tends to serve as a showroom for a later visit.

A lot of the items on the checklist are common sense but, if followed, can go a long way to ensure your safety.

The key is not being a target. Another helpful tactic is enlisting the eyes and ears of your neighborhood. There tends to be success in numbers, so having a group of people looking out for each other is a critical element of having a safe neighborhood.

And most importantly, be vigilant. If you see someone or something suspicious, do not hesitate to call the police. That is what they are there for, so let them be the ones to determine whether the suspicious person or scenario warrants action.

Summer is one of the best times of the year in this state. Don't let it be ruined by not doing your part to protect against crime.

OUR VIEW

When oversight becomes busy work

Finding the balance between responsible oversight and wasteful micromanagement can be a challenge. Yet putting oversight on auto pilot is no path to success.

Unfortunately, many will think that's what the Michigan Legislature has done over time as lawmakers mandate hundreds of reports from state agencies, yet apparently pay little attention to what many of those reports say.

Case in point: 20 years after the Michigan School for the Blind closed, the Michigan Department of Education is still required by law to send not one, but two reports, on the school to the Legislature. Has no one noticed for 20 years that a report comes in saying there is nothing to report because the school has closed?

Fortunately, the act of reporting nothing doesn't waste much in staff time or tax dollars. It does, however, push the ridiculous factor to record heights. And it doesn't stop there, because there are two additional reports that MDE must regularly file about other discontinued programs.

(T)he Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (has) studied the impact of the many mandated reports and found many unneeded ... it takes the equivalent of one full-time employee working more than eight months to ... prepare ... unnecessary reports.

Over at the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, folks have studied the impact of the many mandated reports and found many unneeded. They calculate that it takes the equivalent of one full-time employee working more than eight months to gather data and prepare just those unnecessary reports. Example: A report on Canadian trash exported to Michigan, a problem fixed years ago by legislation.

Michigan.com state government/investigative reporter Justin Hinkley surveyed every state department to learn how many mandatory reports there are and what, exactly, they achieve. Officials say some have produced beneficial results. Monitoring bovine tuberculosis, for example, raised awareness of that problem.

Better news for taxpayers, though, is awareness that the unneeded reports must be addressed. The state's Office of Regulatory Reinvention is looking into the matter and lawmakers say they are open to change.

Start by writing sunset provisions into laws requiring such reports. Then if lawmakers don't vote to renew the report, it dies. Another option is just making more data available online so interested lawmakers — or members of the public — can look it up. And since some data is requested by both lawmakers and the federal government, aligning state requests with federal reports would add efficiency.

No one is suggesting that lawmakers abandon their oversight role. But requiring reports that have no useful purpose is not meaningful oversight.

Competent leader

In response to "Detroit water chief draws Canton support" (Aug. 2, 2015), as a professional engineer, I've worked on big projects for DWSD and for its customers for over 30 years, worked with knowledgeable people who go back even further with DWSD and was a member of The Engineering Society of Detroit's Blue Ribbon Panel that examined DWSD's problems a few years back.

I can say that Sue McCormick is the best and most competent leader DWSD has had since the 1960s, if not longer, especially considering today's tough political dimension. Plus, she's not politically driven and after three years at the helm, she knows the system and its challenges. It would be a shame if a misguided search for "perfection" or political squabbles get in the way of retaining her as DWSD leader at this critical time.

Perfect 'Dream Team'

After my grandson watched an online political rally from Denver, he joked that I should sue Bernie Sanders for plagiarism. I knew very little about the man other than he was an independent U.S. senator from Vermont.

After viewing the video, I found a new respect for Sen. Sanders. He spoke about practically every issue I have railed against, most notably NAFTA and the new Asian Pacific Free Trade deal. He and Sen. Elizabeth Warren of Massachusetts have been the most vocal opponents of these job-killing deals. They have both called out President Obama (rightly so) for siding with the right wing to get this Asian deal passed.

Why our president would align with the very people who, for over six years, have attempted to thwart ever honorable thing he has proposed and called him everything but a human being is beyond my reasoning. But he is wrong, wrong, wrong.

Speaking of Sanders and Warren, if we could get one in the White House and the other as leader of the Senate, that would truly be a Dream Team.

Perhaps with those two at the top, we could finally see some positive effect of the false "trickle down" economics President Reagan boasted of. But alas, with the new breed of Republican in D.C. and Lansing, the only trickle down is when a fat cat urinates on a poor person.

Excessive parking costs

The cost for additional parking at Plymouth Township Park seems excessive at $6,500/added space ($712,000 and 109 added spaces). It sounds like these spaces are being built over a road bed better than usually built for Michigan highways.

Hypocrites are comical

Let see if we understand this correctly. State Republican Rep. Todd Courser, married with four children, has an affair with Republican Rep. Cindy Gamrat, married with three children. That is seven children by different spouses. Both are Tea Bag darlings and profess to be strong social conservatives.

Rep. Courser then hatches a bizarre plot to hide this adulterous affair, which reportedly involves a Courser affair with a male prostitute. When aides of these representatives refuse to go along with the cover up, both were fired.

Both Courser and Gamrat profess to be strong social conservatives while touting traditional marriage, opposition to gay marriage, supporters of guns, God and the ever present anti-abortion. Courser wears God on his sleeve, both professionally and personally. He never misses an opportunity to preach his morals and values to any and all others. Evoking God into his politics is a routine effort by Courser.

The behavior of these two hypocrites would be comical and fit for a made-for-TV comedy. The sad part is these two Republican representatives carried on their affair on the taxpayers' dime. We are subsidizing these role models and this behavior.

Sour effects of GOP

For those voters who hope and pray that the GOP will control both Houses of Congress, it is time to look at some GOP history and take a good look at the sour effects created by the Republican Party.

For those voters who praise the era of Ronald Reagan, let us face the facts that Reagan increased the bureaucracy, increased government deficits, and presented a so-called "plan" to cut taxes, cut spending, to create a smaller government. Reagan said he would cut the Departments of Energy and Education. It did not happen. In fact, Reagan added a Department of Veteran's Affairs. Reagan increased the size of government from 1981-89. When he entered office, the U.S. deficit was $79 billion. When he left office the budget deficit was $155 billion. Is that GOP progress?

In 1994, the GOP took control of the House and Senate. Bob Dole and Newt Gingrich pelted Bill Clinton to no avail until Gingrich softened and they passed a budget and welfare reform.

So if the American voter wants to see the U.S. government grind to a halt, then let the GOP takeover and we can say goodbye to the EPA, goodbye to Pell Grants for college kids, goodbye to food stamps, goodbye to Consumer Finance Protection. Of course, a GOP Congress and GOP president would spend money and time investigating the Benghazi Affair which is just another Republican mindless witch hunt where there is no win except in the minds of people like Donald Trump.

Tech bolsters concussion battle

New tools added to help recognize head injuries

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

In the ongoing war against sports-related concussions, high school athletic trainers like Garden City's Brandi Hildreth are on the front lines.

Thanks to a recently implemented Michigan High School Athletic Association pilot program, Hildreth and her colleagues across the state will be armed this season with new, head injury-detecting weapons: the King-Devick Test and MHSAA-issued computer tablets.

Beginning with the fast-approaching fall sports season, athletes at Garden City and several other schools across Michigan will be asked to complete the King-Devick Test, which is a rapid-eye movement screening evaluation that requires them to read single-digit numbers displayed on a tablet computer.

The test takes just two to three minutes for each athlete, Hildreth said.

"The athletes read the numbers as quickly as possible and a baseline is created that we store, along with their name, birth date and other information," Hildreth said. "If, for instance in football, I see a player involved in a hard hit, I will bring them over to the sideline and have them re-take the test. If the time it takes them is even one second longer than their baseline or if they skip a line or miss a number, there's a chance they may have suffered a concussion."

Hildreth said the athletes she's worked with so far this summer haven't had a problem with taking the baseline-establishing test.

"It's quick and easy and

Farmington girl is AAU national champ

Valadian Pallett wins discus competition in 12-year-old age bracket

By Dan O'Meara
Staff Writer

Valadian Pallett knew her goal was within her reach and made it a reality at the AAU Junior Olympics last week in Norfolk, Va.

The 12-year-old Farmington girl won the national championship in her age group with a career-best discus throw of 103 feet, 2 inches.

"I'm really excited, because I've been working on it for six years," Pallett said. "I've taken second place in the past, so it's always been my dream to get that gold medal."

It was the fifth consecutive AAU national competition for Pallett, who will enter the seventh grade at East Middle School in a few weeks. With the benefit of those previous competitions, she knew how to approach the event and had the mental discipline to stay cool throughout it.

Every one of her six throws with the one-kilogram discus exceeded 92 feet. Her winning throw ranks second in the nation for 12-year-olds, according to eliteyouth.net.

Pallett has been the top seed at previous AAU national meets and was ready for this one.

"I knew I had some really good competition, so I didn't want to get my hopes too high," she said. "I've seen some girls get overly confident and get crushed when they didn't win."

"I think some of the girls would get distracted. I felt like

Ace golfers

» Livonia resident Christine Murphy registered a hole-in-one Friday, Aug. 7, on the 95-yard seventh hole at the Lower Huron Par 3 Golf Course.

Murphy, who has been playing golf for 15 years, used a 7-iron on her memorable shot and carded an 18-hole score of 65.

It was her second career ace. The shot was witnessed by Thom Bales.

» Renee DiPonio of Livonia recorded her first hole-in-one Monday at Farmington Hills Golf Club. She used a 9-wood to ace the 97-yard 13th hole.

DiPonio has been playing golf for 10 years. Her feat was witnessed by Susan Prasali and Peggy Raymond.

Soccer referee training

The United Federation of Officials is offering a soccer referee training class Thursday, Aug. 20, at the Southgate Public Library, located at 14680 Dix Toledo Rd.

The target audience for the class includes high school juniors and seniors, who will be a part of the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Officials Legacy Mentoring Program. Interested adults can also take the class.

The fees for the class consist solely of MHSAA registration fees.

Those who complete the course will be eligible for officiating high school, junior high and CYO soccer matches beginning with the fall 2015 season.

For more information, contact Byron Beattie at 734-281-3461.

Churchill 'Meet the Team' night

Livonia Churchill will host its annual "Meet the Team" night Wednesday, Aug. 19, for all students who will be participating in the Chargers' 2015-16 athletic programs.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. in Churchill's James P. Carli Auditorium.

The event is for all fall, winter and spring athletes and their parents.

Several topics will be covered that are pertinent to both Churchill High School and MHSAA athletics.

For more information, call the Churchill athletic department at 734-744-2650, ext. 46117.

COMPETITIVE SKATING

Livonia teen rolls to impressive medal haul

Smyser's willingness to work at sport fuels her success

By Ed Wright
Staff Writer

Just a couple of years after learning how to roller skate backward, Livonia's Amanda Smyser is skating circles around many of the top competitors in her sport.

A senior-to-be at Livonia Franklin High School, Smyser returned from last month's USA Rollersports Championships in Albuquerque, N.M., with three medals – one gold and two bronze – that reflect a diligent work ethic and deep love of the challenging activity.

"I'm not exactly sure why, but I have a deep passion for artistic roller skating," the personable 17-year-old said, minutes before a three-hour practice session with hall of fame coach Vickie Hudson was about to begin at Canton's Skatin' Station II. "I want to do this for the rest of my life. After I'm done competing, I'd like to coach."

Smyser's golden performance at last month's national event came in the no-room-for-error figures competition, which requires participants to meticulously skate around a circle with three incredibly-observant judges watching your every move.

"Figures is all about edge quality, posture and how you look," said Hudson, a longtime coach who lives in South Lyon. "If you go off the line even a little, you're out of the game. There were six figures Amanda had to do and she won them all."

Smyser out-skated approximately 35 competitors from across the United States. All of the participants at the national competition were required to qualify at one of nine regional events.

"The only thing that is really hard for me when it comes to roller skating are the nerves I get before I compete," Smyser said. "It can be super nerve-racking, but I take a few deep breathes before I go out there and I focus on what I have to do."

Smyser practices up to four hours every day, a regimen Hudson said is instrumental in

Intensity Track Club athletes get it done

Five members of area track club win medals at AAU Junior Olympics

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

They went, they conquered, they returned with medals.

So it went for the Wayne Memorial-based Intensity Track Club at the Amateur Athletic Union Junior Olympics Aug. 2-8 at Norfolk State University in Virginia.

Five of nine Intensity athletes who competed in the age 17-18 division found their way onto the podium. Montel Hood (Wayne Memorial) and the 3,200-meter relay team of Hood, newcomer Zach Gray, Andrew Chant (Wayne) and Will Jackson (Hartland) garnered silver medals.

Intensity head coach Jamal Johnson, who also coaches the varsity boys track and field team at Wayne (where the AAU club practices), said Hood and the relay team missed winning gold medals by less than a second.

Hood clocked in at 1:54.71 in the 800 (the first-place winner finished in 1:54.11) while the 3,200-meter relay team finished with a mark of 8:01.92 — topped by Willingboro Track Club's time of 8:00.96. Westland John Glenn's Caroline Mahalak placed seventh in the racewalk.

"This is a huge step for us as a team, seeing as we walked away empty handed in our first year last summer," Johnson said. "For the people who didn't medal, they still competed very well and had some great PRs. I was extremely proud of the entire team."

Other team members included Anavia Battle (Wayne), Ledell O'Bryant (Wayne), Shiann Proffitt

(John Glenn), Alyssa Johnson (Wayne) and assistant coach Jana Hughes.

COMPETITIVE ROLLER SKATING

RASCals roll out championship performances

Riverside
Arena-based team
shines in New Mexico

The RASCals, a team representing the Riverside Arena Skating Club in Livonia, brought home six top placements at the USA Roller Figure Skating Championships held in July in Albuquerque, N.M.

The top Riverside skater, Ian Heersink of Livonia, earned a spot on the team that will represent the United States at the upcoming World Roller Skating Championships in Cali, Colombia.

The Riverside club members, who practice up to three hours a day, four to five days a week, perform in a variety of disciplines, including compulsory team and solo dance; creative dance; figures; freestyle; pairs; and precision skating.

Thirteen club members participated at the championships, with four receiving medals.

Leading the way with three placements was Heersink, who earned a gold medal with partner

gory at the World Championships in September.

Also winning multiple awards was Joshua Stadler of Livonia, who, with partner Miranda Esser of Plymouth's Chloe LaMay won a bronze medal in Open A Inline Creative Solo Free Dance.

Miranda Esser of Northville and Joshua Stadler of Livonia won a pair of medals in the pairs competition.

Northville, won gold in the Juvenile/Elementary B Pairs event, as well as a bronze medal in Juvenile/Elementary B Singles.

Closing out the top placements was Chloe LaMay of Plymouth, who captured a bronze medal in Open A Inline Creative Solo Free Dance.

Also participating in the championships were Livonia residents Christine Asai, Emma Chapell and Ryan Heersink; Northville's Tina Stadnik and Andrew Esser; Chloe King of Garden City; Arhianna Stokes of Dearborn Heights; Tanvi Karkare of Canton; and Kiera Trinity of Redford.

The Riverside team is led by coaches Lawaun Modrich and Jillian Heersink.

Riverside, which has a 75-year history of supporting competitive roller skating, is owned and operated by Lionel and Debbie LaMay.

The Riverside RASCals Skating Club has been active for six years. It started with five club members and grown to more than 30 at its peak.

there's no memorization, so I think they like it," she said.

Garden City football head coach Scott Murray said he's all for any additional tool that can help trainers and coaches recognize concussion symptoms.

"Ideally, we never have to use it, but if we do need it, the test is a good gauge of where a kid's at in terms of thinking," Murray said. "It seems like every year they're coming up with new ways to prevent and recognize concussions, so that's a positive sign."

The King-Devick Test was developed by doctors at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

"The first and most critical step in managing concussion in the youth athlete is to recognize when one has occurred, which is not always a simple task," said Dr. David Dodick, professor of neurology and director of sports concussion services at the Mayo Clinic.

"The King-Devick Test helps take the guesswork and subjectivity out of the sideline evaluation in a rapid, accurate and objective way."

The MHSAA supplied each of the participating schools with five tablet computers to distribute among their coaches.

Garden City athletic trainer Brandi Hildreth holds the MHSAA-provided tablet she will use throughout the upcoming school year to help detect when an athlete has suffered a concussion.

RECREATION SOFTBALL

I was focused in during the competition and trying my best and not talking to friends."

Pallett owes a great deal of her success to her father and coach, Toby, a former collegiate thrower who runs the Magsig-Pallett Throwing Club.

"I like having my dad as my coach," Valadian said. "That way he knows more about me and how I work. Sometimes, I do need to be pushed a little harder; otherwise, I might not go to practice."

"He got me into track and field, where most girls my age don't know what a shot put, discus or javelin is. He's inspired me to do it. I've seen him throwing and seen how far the shot and discus go for him. He has inspired me and I want to impress him."

Pallett's older brother Vonn was a two-time all-Observer thrower at Farmington High School and will continue in the sport at Grand Valley State University.

"He juggles multiple sports and still keeps his grades up," Valadian said. "I want to do the same in high school."

Pallett earned three medals at the Junior Olympics for the second year in a row, pushing her total over five years to 10. Including districts and regionals, she has close to 30.

She also was fourth in

the six-pound shot put at 35-10½ and fifth in the turbo javelin with a throw of 90-7.

Pallett's throws with the discus and javelin are personal records. In the shot put, it remains 37-8. Her previous best in the discus was 100-9.

Not surprisingly, Pallett's favorite event is the discus, because she does the best in that one, she said.

"Since I'm 5-foot-9 at age 12, I'm taller and have longer arms than most girls, so there's an advantage in your height," she said.

Pallett also won the AAU regional but, ironically, not the district. The defending national champion, Sarah Mavin of Gaines, Mich., also was in those meets.

She was the runner-up to Pallett at the next two levels. Mavin won the national title in the shot put.

"The district meet was one of my first meets of the season and I was a little more nervous," Pallett said, knowing Mavin would be there, too.

As for the near future, Pallett's goal is to set the East record in the shot put. She'll have to be content with that since there is no discus competition in middle school.

In addition to Pallett, Joe Ghafari of Farmington Hills placed fourth in the discus in the 17-18 division with throw of 164-11 and also was 10th in shot put.

Ghafari, a 2014 graduate of Farmington High and a former all-Observer thrower, was all-state and owns the school record in the discus.

"She wants to be a world-class skater someday, so she does what it takes to get there," Hudson said. "Plus, she is lucky enough to have a mom (Brenda) who is 100 percent behind her."

"To be good in this sport, you have to practice enough so that as nervous as you get, your practice habits take over and Amanda definitely puts in the time it takes to achieve this."

Smyser started skating recreationally at the age of 13 at Riverside Arena in Livonia.

"A couple years ago, I took lessons to learn how to skate backward and it went from there," she said, discussing her introduction to competitive roller skating.

"Somebody told me about artistic roller skating and I thought it sounded like fun."

Smyser's path to multiple medals hasn't always been easy. She thrives despite dealing with the effects of epilepsy – she suffered a seizure just two days before her gold medal-winning effort – and Chiari malformation, a rare neurological condition that required Smyser to undergo brain surgery in 2009.

Fire safety advice is key for students headed off to college, says veteran firefighter Tom Kiurski, a lieutenant with the Brighton Area Fire Authority who's retired from the Livonia Fire Department.

Sending kids off to college? Practice, heed fire safety tips

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

When Tom Kiurski and his wife sent their daughter off to Central Michigan University, they had the usual advice about studying, personal conduct and more. Kiurski, who's been in the fire service since 1981, had additional fire safety advice he also shares with other college-bound students.

"I made sure she had a smoke alarm," said Kiurski, who's retired from the Livonia Fire Department and a lieutenant with the Brighton Area Fire Authority. She also took along a carbon monoxide detector.

"We talked about fire safety exits," he recalled. He acknowledged, "It's going to be crazy when you move in."

The couple's daughter just graduated from CMU with her bachelor's degree in education, and her firefighter dad is glad to share his knowledge with all students and their families.

"It is improving and that's a good thing. Dorms are being built with sprinklers now," Livonia resident Kiurski said, referencing past tragedies in which students have died in college/university housing. Some other schools are retrofitting their older housing, he said, with federal grants available to help with installing sprinklers there.

"Many times, it's their first taste of freedom," he said of students away from home. The young adults may have relied on parents for knowledge of using a fire extinguisher or testing a smoke alarm.

"We can't forget safety because that's No. 1," Kiurski

The university's resident adviser, or RA, can help with pointing out where alarms are, conducting fire drills, and locations of extinguishers.

"You're probably not going to be able to have a hot plate," he said, noting schools provide a list of what's allowed for cooking. Candles are likely also a no-no for dorms.

"Some are better than others," he said of the orientations done by resident advisers. "They're going to be able to show you the exits."

On campus, housing will have alarms, but in off-campus and Greek housing, "the college might not have much say there," Kiurski said. When his daughter lived on a second floor off campus, he showed her the safe route to a lower roof and way out.

"I think you run the gamut," he said of off-campus housing. "Some do a good job. You kind of have to check it out yourself."

Some students will disable an alarm, he noted. "Sometimes, it just happens," and isn't the fault of a management company, Kiurski said.

"Once humans are out, everything can be replaced," he said of a fire. "It might not be easy."

He hopes college instructors and professors would be understanding of students in such circumstances who've lost term papers with their other valuables.

"Not worth the risk. If you get out, stay out," Kiurski emphasized, both as a firefighter and dad.

Consult your attorney on disability question

Q: I live in a condominium and suffer from a medical condition that causes muscle spasms in my back. My association declined to allow me to install a hot tub on my outside deck to address the issue, but I put one in anyways. Even though I provided a letter to the association from my doctor indicating that hydrotherapy helps my condition, I still received a letter telling me to remove the hot tub. Do you think I have to remove it?

Robert Meisner

A: The association must consider whether declining your request violates Fair Housing Act (FHA) provisions that allow a resident full enjoyment of a unit to accommodate a disability by making necessary structural modifications to a common area. Your doctor may be able to provide certification that you are indeed legally disabled and that, as a result, you require the hot tub on your outside deck as a reasonable accommodation. However, before you speak to your doctor, I would suggest that you first seek the advice of a qualified attorney to determine your eligibility in regard to these factors and, how the letter from the doctor should be framed to accomplish the result intended.

Q: Do you know anything about privacy laws as they relate to the use of drones? Most companies offering insurance policies for commercial drone use exclude privacy claims due to lack of data, uncertainty over how drones work, and how legislation protecting privacy from drone surveillance will behave towards violators.

A: These are all legitimate questions, but I can tell you that in Florida, the newly minted Freedom from Unwarranted Surveillance Act went into effect on July 1, 2015. The law prohibits a person, state agency or political subdivision from using a drone to capture the image of a privately owned property or anyone on the property with the intent to conduct surveillance. Those who wish to use drone technology in this manner must have written consent from people on the property. While the law allows an exception for drone use by a business licensed by the state, it does not apply to professions that regularly obtain information about a person's identity, whereabouts, what habits are or associations. Those who feel their privacy has been violated under these terms may sue for civil damages and injunctive relief. It is obviously something that Michigan and other states should consider undertaking.

A cool way to reduce energy costs

It's the time of year when even a dip in the local lake won't cool you down for long. What you really need is effective, efficient air conditioning that provides constant and reliable comfort.

Ductless technology, an all-in-one cooling and heating system without ductwork is one option that is gaining a great deal of attention in the U.S. This technology has been commonplace in Europe and Asia for decades. The system is designed to ensure that energy is not wasted while keeping you cool and dry.

In addition to keeping your utility bill low, ductless technology offers homeowners several benefits:

1. Individualized control. Rooms can each be their own zones - one zone in the master bedroom, one zone in the kitchen, one zone in the living room, etc. Mitsubishi Electric systems use advanced technology to precisely adjust the temperature to a homeowner's preference in each room.

2. Comfort at your fingertips. You can operate your system from any place at any time. With a few swipes on your smartphone, you'll ensure that comfortable, cool - and not sticky, hot air - greets you as you step in the door.

3. The sweet sound of silence. Summer has long been synonymous with noisy air conditioners, but ductless cooling and heating systems operate quieter than a human whisper. Whispers come in at 35 decibels, ductless systems at 19 to 34 decibels.

4. Space: a precious commodity. With traditional cooling and heating systems, space is eaten up by bulky ductwork or unsightly window air-conditioning units.

5. Healthier environment; healthier globe. Ductless offers a triple-action filtration system that may reduce allergens, viruses and bacteria circulating in your home's air. The systems benefit the environment, as well. They are made of mostly recyclable parts and use an environmentally friendly refrigerant that won't pollute the environment.

Learn more about how a new cooling and heating system may be your solution for a more comfortable summer at www.MitsubishiComfort.com.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Actress Susan Isaacs brings humor, wit to spiritual quest

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

In 2003, Susan Isaacs took God to couples counseling. It had been a tough year for the film and television actress. Her father had died and her mother had suffered a stroke. Her acting career had fizzled in New York and subsequently tanked in her native California, just as four of her best friends got big acting breaks. Her boyfriend of three years had left her with a broken heart, and to make matters worse, her four friends had all gotten married.

Isaacs

Isaacs, who was raised a "Bible-believing, Jesus-loving Lutheran," was angry and blamed God for her troubles. So, when a church friend suggested that relationships with God were like marriages, Isaacs couldn't wait to get the Almighty on the therapist's couch.

The imagined counseling sessions are sprinkled throughout her humorous spiritual memoir, Angry Conversations With God, published by FaithWords in 2009. Isaacs will perform selections of the story, Saturday-Sunday, Aug. 15-16, at the Penn Theatre in Plymouth as a part of the annual Heartbeat of Plymouth festival. The program, which will start at 12:30 p.m., also will include Brian Hardin, who podcasts daily Bible excerpts. Tickets are $10 and available through the festival's sponsoring churches. Visit heartbeatofplymouth.com.

Isaacs, who "divorced" God a few years after considering couples therapy, re-connected when she traded her false gods — the God in her mind, the kindly Jesus in the painting on the wall — for the real thing. Her spiritual quest, chronicled from childhood to midlife crisis, included anorexia, an alcohol problem, and recovery. She also explored a variety of churches, from Pentecostals to Slackers for Jesus.

Healing time

"I got led to a church and was counseled by a woman there (for anorexia) for two years," Isaacs said, in a phone interview with The Observer. "For two years I had to write down all the food I ate, and give her information about my finances." Isaacs became embittered by the authoritarian approach and with advice from a roommate, a graduate student in counseling, she severed ties with the counselor and began to make her own decisions. The move enraged the counselor.

"She gave out Biblical curses. She said, 'God will curse your career.' I was so traumatized. I felt God had betrayed me. God led me to her and then she controlled me. It wasn't until I was in the process of writing about it that I felt God spoke and said 'I knew you'd blame me, but at least you'd be alive to blame me.' There was so little in the conversation about eating disorders at the time. God was willing to take the fall for that."

At another church, she found congregants "barking in the spirit."

"Even in how weird that was, God used that as a time to heal," she said.

In Plymouth, Isaacs will perform an abridged version

What if you could take God to a therapist?

ANGRY CONVERSATIONS WITH GOD
THE SOLO SHOW

SUBMITTED

Susan E. Isaacs takes God to couples counseling in her one-woman show. She'll perform an abridged version at Heartbeat of Plymouth.

A SNARKY BUT AUTHENTIC SPIRITUAL MEMOIR

"Angry Conversations With God," was published in hardcover in 2009 and as a paperback (shown) in 2011. Writer/actress Susan Isaacs also tells her story on stage.

of the 120-minute stage show that she has staged for both secular and church-going audiences. She'll take the show to a major theater festival in New York City, N.Y., and to several other venues across the country this fall.

"I think everyone is spiritual. Everyone is trying to connect with God," she said. "This is my specific journey. I'm telling you what happened to me. But the thing that is most satisfying is when people walk in off the street and say they grew up (in the church) and left it and the show made them rethink their connection with God."

Shaping the story

Isaacs workshopped her story in a writers group as a stage performance before writing it as a book, and then creating a one-woman show.

"I had to learn how to make it honest and vivid so people would say, wow, I've never thought of that. If I can get someone to rethink or reopen or reconnect to God — and get them to laugh — I've done my job. God is working everywhere. It makes me happy that someone who would in no way darken the door of a church would go to the show, laugh and reconsider."

Isaacs was cast in roles on Seinfeld, My Name Is Earl, Scrooged, Parks and Recreation, Trains, Planes and Automobiles, and other television shows and films. She was a member of the improvisation theater, The Groundlings, and earned a master of fine arts degree in screenwriting from the University of Southern California. She teaches at Azusa Pacific University and lives in Los Angeles with her husband, Larry Wilson, their two dogs and a cat.

From October through January she enjoys turning old sweaters into brooches, tea cozies, and hot sleeves for coffee cups. She calls her passion for felting a "seasonal craft disorder."

"At the last show, I sold as much felt as I did books."

She's working on her next book, which will focus on her last few years of being single — including crazy dating experiences — and her first few years of marriage.

In the meantime, she hopes church-goers, especially those with anger, tension and wounded feelings, will find their way to the Penn Theatre this weekend and discover "they are not alone."

"For people who call themselves spiritual but not religious, I hope they'll know it will be a safe place. That it's a 'yes and ...' thing," she said, "and not a 'no, but' ... thing."

Canton engineer portrays quirky DJ in 'Memphis' musical Dan Clair of Canton will play the central character in the musical, Memphis, Aug. 14-16 and 21-23 at the Croswell Opera House in Adrian.

Clair, an engineer by trade, "fell in love with the music and then the storyline itself," when the musical's first national tour came through Detroit.

"It's a piece of iconic history showing what music has done for American society when it comes to racial segregation, and the impact that music has had," Clair said.

Clair's character, Huey Calhoun, is based on Dewey Phillips, the first radio DJ to play Elvis Presley's music. Calhoun loves the rhythm and blues that he hears in the nightclubs of Beale Street in the heart of Memphis' African American community, where he falls in love with a talented young singer.

Calhoun is eccentric, quirky and a loudmouth, but he also has heart.

"Even though he can be big and obnoxious, there's always an opportunity in the script to pull him back to the love story or to the things he's passionate about," Clair said.

Although Memphis is Clair's first show at the Croswell, he's been cast in many plays throughout southeast Michigan, including as Clyde in Ann Arbor Civic Theatre's Bonnie and Clyde, in the title role of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, at Monroe Community Players, as Claude in Hair, at St. Dunstan's Theatre in Bloomfield Hills, and as Bobby Strong in Urinetown, at Avon Players in Rochester Hills.

Memphis is at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, at the Croswell, 129 E. Maumee Street in downtown Adrian. Tickets are $15-$35. Call 517-264-7469 or visit croswell.org.

BARBECUE BENEDICT

Makes: 6 servings
Prep time: 45 minutes
Cook time: 7 minutes

1 white onion cut into ½-inch-thick strips

Onion Marinade

Barbecue Benedict Sauce

3 English muffins cut in half

1 pound leftover beef brisket

6 poached eggs

Onion Marinade:

9 tablespoons soy sauce

3 tablespoons lemon juice

6 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil

6 tablespoons water

6 teaspoons dark brown sugar

¼ teaspoon garlic powder

¼ teaspoon black pepper

Barbecue Benedict Sauce:

3 egg yolks

1 teaspoon vinegar

1 teaspoon water

1 cup butter, melted

¼ teaspoon salt

Pinch of cayenne pepper

3 tablespoons of your favorite KC Masterpiece barbecue sauce

In small bowl, mix onion marinade ingredients. Pour marinade into resealable plastic bag and add onion strips. Let marinate for 30 minutes.

For sauce, place egg yolks, vinegar and water into stainless steel bowl and vigorously whip until mixture is thickened and doubled in volume. Place bowl over sauce pan containing barely simmering water (just below boil), making sure bottom of bowl does not touch water. Whisk continuously, making sure eggs don't get too hot or they will scramble. Very slowly drizzle melted butter into mixture while whisking rapidly until mixture thickens and doubles in volume. Remove from heat and stir in remaining sauce ingredients. Build charcoal fire for direct grilling. Place onion strips in grill basket and cook directly over hot coals (approximately 450°F), stirring often for 5 minutes or until onions brown and start to soften. Remove onions from grill and set aside. Place English muffin halves directly over hot coals for 2 minutes or until toasted. Remove each from grill and top with leftover beef brisket, grilled onions and a poached egg. Drizzle with Barbecue Benedict Sauce.

GRILLED GREEK SALAD PITA WITH BEEF BRISKET

Makes: 8 stuffed pitas
Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 6 minutes

Greek Dressing:

2 tablespoons olive oil

1 ½ tablespoons Kalamata olives, minced

4 ½ teaspoons lemon juice

½ teaspoon dried oregano

½ teaspoon black pepper

4 pita bread rounds, cut in half forming 8 pockets

1 cucumber, cut into ½-inch slices

1 tomato

½ red onion, cut into ½-inch slices

2 cups romaine lettuce, cut into 1-inch pieces

½ cup feta cheese

1 pound leftover beef brisket

In small bowl combine all Greek dressing ingredients. Set aside. Build charcoal fire for direct grilling. Place pita bread directly over hot coals (approximately 450°F) and cook for 1 minute on each side or until grill marks are visible. Place cucumbers, whole tomato and onion directly over hot coals (approximately 450°F) and cook, turning once, for 4 minutes or until they brown and start to soften. Remove vegetables from grill and dice. Place vegetables into medium bowl and stir in dressing. Let mixture stand for 5 minutes before adding romaine lettuce and feta cheese. Fill each pita pocket with leftover beef brisket and grilled Greek salad.

BARBECUE BEEF BRISKET

Makes: 8-10 servings
Prep time: 30 minutes
Cook time: 5-6 hours

1 beef brisket flat (5-6 pounds)

1 tablespoon beef bouillon base

Dry Rub

1 cup beef broth

Dry Rub:

½ tablespoon salt

½ tablespoon paprika

½ tablespoon black pepper

½ tablespoon sugar

¼ teaspoon garlic powder

¼ teaspoon onion powder

¼ teaspoon oregano

¼ teaspoon ground coriander

Build a charcoal fire for indirect cooking by situating coals on only one side of grill, leaving other side void.

Cover entire brisket with beef bouillon base. In small bowl, mix dry rub ingredients and coat brisket with rub. When cooker reaches 225°F, place brisket on void side of grill and close lid. Cook for 4 hours, until internal temperature reaches 160-170°F. Remove brisket from grill and place in shallow baking dish or disposable aluminum pan. Pour beef broth over brisket and cover pan with aluminum foil. Place baking dish in cooker for an additional 1-2 hours, until internal temperature reaches 185°F. Remove baking dish from grill and let meat rest undisturbed for 20-30 minutes. Slice brisket across grain and serve.
