Canton's plan for new water storage facility averts any potential delay

Darrell Clem Staff Writer

Canton's decision to build a water storage facility — a move intended to curb consumer rate hikes — comes amid landmark changes as a regional authority in January begins oversight of Detroit's water and sewer system.

Canton plans to build a 2.5million-gallon, ground-level storage tank after buying a 2.2-acre parcel of land from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department near Joy and Morton Taylor, on Canton's north side.

James Fausone, who chairs the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners, called the timing critical as DWSD relinquishes its oversight in January to the new Great Lakes Water Authority. Fausone said the plan could have stalled, perhaps for a year, if negotiations had spilled over to next year.

Officials say Canton's plan should rein in water rates that, for a typical residential customer, currently amount to quarterly bills of about $358.

Culminating a years-long debate and avoiding an 11thhour snag, the Canton Township Board of Trustees in late October agreed to pay $100,000 for DWSD property where Canton plans to build its own water storage facility and pump station. The plan allows Canton to regulate its own water flow and save money.

"It's not a unique step by Canton," Fausone said, adding that many suburban communities have built their own water storage tower or ground-level facility. What is somewhat unique, however, is that Canton can pay for its $11.6 million facility within three years.

"That's a pretty quick payback," Fausone said.

Canton Finance and Budget Director Wendy Trumbull has said Canton can use $8 million from unspent money from a $44 million bond issue that the

The trio has been performing locally – both together and on their own – for many years, but their biggest moment came last August, when they took top honors at the BeckRidge Chorale's Canton Idol sing-

The highly competitive Canton Idol – a voice competition open to middle and high school students throughout southeast Michigan – features cash prizes of $2,000.

Wagner took first place in the competition, with Moore winning second place and Rhodes taking third-place honors

"It was really great to win, but it was even better because my good friends were right there with me," said Wagner, 17, a Plymouth Township resident.

Moore agrees wholeheart-

Winning Canton Idol, he said, "was a good experience to share. It would have been great if any one of us would have won individually, but the fact that we all succeeded together was really great."

For Rhode, 17, of Canton, the opportunity to perform alongside lifelong friends has been rewarding.

"Winning Canton Idol would not have been the

Canton to honor veterans with Salute to Service

Canton will once again honor area servicemen and servicewomen who have served and who are currently serving in the armed forces in a special Salute to Service ceremony at The Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road.

This Veterans Day celebration opens the doors at 6 p.m., with the formal program starting at 7 p.m. It will recognize military personnel currently on active duty in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, National Guard and Reserves, as well as veterans for their exceptional commitment and dedication.

The public is encouraged to attend this free event, presented by Canton Township. Attendees may enjoy exhibited military memorabilia displays and a cookie and punch preshow reception prior to the program.

This year's keynote speaker is Bob Hynes, director of public relations for the Yankee Air Museum at Willow Run Airport. Hynes has also served in numerous capacities as a narrator, host, auctioneer, actor, model and pilot. He is also a veteran Detroit broadcaster. Back in the day, Hynes was a WXYZ-TV (Channel 7) morning show host, perhaps best known for his gutsy street reporting of Detroit's 1967 township board approved in 2007 for water-sewer system improvements.

The remaining $3.6 million comes from the township's $19 million water-sewer fund, leaving it with a balance that Trumbull said will remain healthy.

Canton's annual costs to maintain the storage facility is projected at $131,000.

An outside firm, OHM Advisors, has said Canton's storage tank could be working by May 2017 saving Canton an estimated $3.4 million a year in water costs and, ideally, easing water rates for consumers.

"It's good for the community in that it will save Canton dollars that it would otherwise pay to Detroit, DWSD or the future Great Lakes Water Authority," Fausone said. "It's also good for the (water-sewer) system because it lowers the overall demand on that system."

Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy agreed.

"I think it will enable us to better manage our water supply," he said. "It's an opportunity for us to save money." How?

Once the storage facility is built, Canton can draw in water from Detroit's system during low-usage hours, such as overnight, then store it and release it to local consumers when usage

spikes during morning and evening hours. That places less of a strain on the system and saves Canton money.

Township Trustee Pat Williams has called it 'positively the right decision" going forward.

We cover hyper-local stories others often ignore. I know what we do still matters, but I also know that our business will continue to evolve.

Change is relentless and that was the case Friday, when valued colleagues dispatched one final deadline before walking out the door for the last time.

There were a few tears as friends said goodbye, but most left the newsroom smiling. Corporate buyouts often have that effect. Those who take them leave behind the daily grind and those who stay dig in.

Susan Rosiek, our former publisher, left me in charge of the newsroom. Few people will ever know how hard she worked or how much she cared.

We also said goodbye to three editors: Sue Mason, Karen Smith and Cal Stone. All three cared deeply about journalism, but were excited about new opportunities, too.

O&E Media publishes 13 newspapers. From our flagship Livonia Observer to the Birmingham Eccentric and the Northville Record, our editions are ingrained in the communities they serve. The Northville Record started in 1869 and the Birmingham Eccentric was founded in 1871. The local newspaper is often the oldest member business in any chamber of commerce.

But newspapers, even local ones, are businesses that depend on subscribers and advertisers.

We are fortunate to have the power of our parent company, Gannett, behind us.

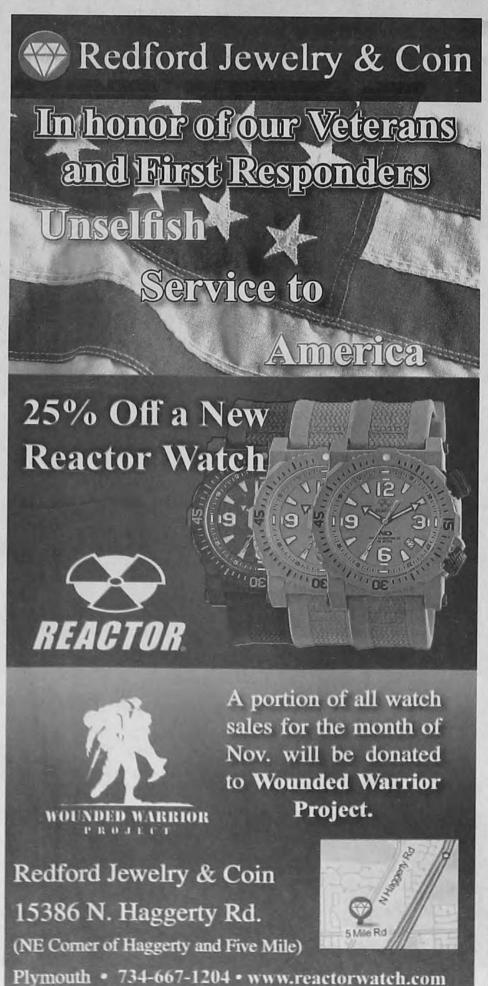

While our focus is on producing compelling content in print and online, Gannett and our advertising professionals at Michigan.com are far ahead of the curve in providing solutions. I went to lunch Monday with our advertising director, Jani Hayden, to talk about the future.

Hayden could barely contain her enthusiasm for what lies ahead. The entire department is committed to delivering agency-style solutions these days, she said. Gone are the days of calling an ad rep to get a notice in the paper about a sale planned for next week. Our company now offers merchants improved search results, email blasts, social media campaigns and even website builds.

I left the lunch feeling more certain than ever that we not only had a good plan for moving forward, but also the right people in place to make it happen.

All other charges, including an attempted burglary in Canton, have been dismissed, Wayne County Circuit Court records

Canton police in August had urged senior housing facilities to remain alert after an attempted break-in at an assisted living center. Police had declined to identify the facility.

Motorist threatened at gunpoint outside Walmart

A motorist leaving a Canton retail store pointed a handgun at another driver and then waved the weapon out the window of his car, a police report said.

Canton police arrested the 42-year-old suspect who, according to the report, told authorities he pointed the gun because other people scare him and he was afraid for his life. He also admitted he had taken the gun into the Walmart store on Michigan Avenue, west of Belleville Road.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

The incident unfolded about 5:30 p.m. Oct. 26, when police received a call that the suspect, driving a small green Honda, pointed a handgun at a 30-year-old Ypsilanti Township man who happened to be driving behind him in the parking

The suspect was accused of pointing the gun toward his back window at the other driver before they both turned onto southbound Belleville Road. He then began waving the gun out the window, the report said.

The victim notified police after he saw the suspect pull into a driveway in Belleville. Police went to the scene and found the suspect with a loaded AR-15 rifle leaning up against his car and a handgun, unloaded, that he apparently used to threaten the other motorist.

Police said it appeared the man had been drinking alcohol. It was learned he did not have a concealed pistol li-cense. The suspect was facing charges including felonious assault, carrying a concealed weapon, felony firearm and brandishing a firearm in pub-

Child left in van

Police cited a 42-year-old Northville woman for child neglect after she left her 1year-old daughter alone in a vehicle for a half-hour while she went inside the Walmart store on Ford Road in Canton.

The incident happened shortly before 3 p.m. Friday. A witness notified police that the child was alone and sleeping in a secured car seat inside a silver Dodge Caravan. A police report said the temperature was 45 degrees at the time.

Police said the woman returned to her vehicle about 3:25 p.m. She told police the little girl had been napping and that she forgot about her. However, surveillance video from Walmart showed the woman opening a van door and checking on the child before she went inside the store.

The woman was cited for fourth-degree child abuse.

Shot fired

A 31-year-old Canton woman who fired a shot as she and her husband struggled over a gun was taken to a hospital for evaluation after it was revealed she may be suicidal, a police report said.

The incident unfolded about 9:40 p.m. Oct. 28 on Longfellow, southwest of Saltz and Sheldon. The woman's husband told police that their family, including children ages 7 and 8, had gone to a Halloween event earlier and that his wife was depressed.

The woman reportedly said the family would be better off without her and went down-stairs to get her handgun out of a safe, but her husband was close behind and grabbed her gun before she could get it. However, she then went for his gun in the safe and accidentally fired it, a police report said.

She suffered a bloody nose after her husband said he mistakenly hit her while taking his gun from her.

Police confiscated her gun, took her to a hospital and also cited her for reckless discharge of a firearm.

Drunken driving suspect fights blood-draw try

Four police officers were needed to restrain a suspected drunken driver who resisted attempts to draw his blood at a Canton Township clinic one night last month.

Extra police officers two from Canton Township and one from Plymouth Township joined a Plymouth Township officer at the clinic Oct. 24 after the suspect said he would fight a blood draw, according to a Plymouth Township Police Department report.

The man would not hold still and directed racial epithets at a clinic technician who was trying to draw the blood, police said. With officers holding the man, the technician was able to get two vials of blood. The man then tried to fall out of a wheelchair, police said, but was caught by an officer.

The man then tried to fall two more times and refused to straighten his legs, but police eventually walked him out of the clinic and to a patrol car.

The man had been driving a Mercury Marquis on eastbound Ann Arbor Road shortly after 8 p.m., when an officer saw him veering within the right-hand lane and driving with the left wheels on the lane markers, a police report said. He was stopped just west of Haggerty; the officer found that his license had been revoked.

Upon his arrest for driving with a revoked license, police said, the officer noticed a smell of alcohol and that the man's eyes were bloodshot. He was given sobriety tests, police said, then taken to the clinic after refusing a breath test for alcohol. The blood samples were sent to a Michigan State Police laboratory; the man was later re-

A 58-year-old man was warned about speeding after police searched his pickup truck Sunday night because it smelled of burned marijuana.

Police found nothing illegal in the Ford Ranger, which had been spotted on police radar traveling 63 mph in a 35 mph zone on southbound Beck, north of Ann Arbor Road, according to a police report. The Ranger's driver turned east on Ann Arbor Road, police said, and the officer who had spotted him stopped him near McLumpha and searched the truck.

Growing up in Old Village, I was often told by family stories of the Underground Railroad and why Plymouth was an important stop on the route through Michigan, which loosely followed the Michigan Central rail line. When travelers arrived in Plymouth, they generally headed north, through Port Huron. A more southerly route along the Rouge took travelers through

A few years ago, when going through family papers, I happened upon a piece typed by my grandfather Karl, for Mrs. Arthur Mills, dated April 18, 1953, yellowed with age. One of the way stations on the Underground Railroad in this area was located on the farm of Jehial and Mary Davis

This farm was two miles northwest of Plymouth or, to be exact, on the southeast quarter of Section 16 of the then Plymouth Township. This same quarter section is now the site of the present Wayne County Training School.

Amelia Starkweather (Mary Davis' foster child) frequently mentioned the days of her girlhood on the Davis Farm and about the escaped slaves who at infrequent intervals might be fed and sheltered there on their way to Canada and freedom.

In the years which followed the Civil War, it seems that one of these former slaves continued his residence in Canada and there increased his general education and culture. And then, for a number of years afterward, in gratitude for assistance provided in time of great stress, he would some-times return to Plymouth for just long enough to pay respects to Mrs. Davis. Mr. Davis died before the first shot of the war had been fired. These and other related family papers were provided to the Plymouth Museum Archives by many local families in the 1950s and were also provided to the archives of the National Park Service at Nankin years later. They are on file there.

The Davis farm was located in what is now Northville Township and, then, Plymouth Township. After her husband died, Mary sold the farm, purchased a home on Main Street at the site of the former Plymouth Mail building, now Growth Works near Kellogg Park. She then relocated to what I always knew as the Davis House in Old Village, on Starkweather, where Puckett Heating is now located. Davis B. Hillmer made sure I knew it. In advanced years, she moved to the Starkweather Home on the corner of Starkweather and Liberty. Mrs. Davis was hiding slaves even after her husband died. Back then, it was extremely risky. One risked property, freedom and worse, due to the Fugitive Slave Act of 1850.

Underground Railroad

An entire chapter could be written about Plymouth and its importance to the Underground Railroad. Nankin Mills, now part of the National Park Service, has a display and information about local Underground Railroad activity in western Wayne County. There is a link between Nankin and Plymouth townships. Many local pro-abolitionist folks were driven out of Nankin, a result being the burning of the first mill at Nankin. Two outcasts from Nankin, the Rev. Marcus Swift and the Rev. Samuel Bebbens, met in the little back room in Bebben's Carriage shop in 1840, in Plymouth, to found the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Plymouth, which became a major hub of Underground Railroad activity in Plymouth.

There were many locations, many folks in Plymouth involved in the Underground Railroad in the 1850s and early 1860s. Saxton's is another location. The most important abolitionist who lived in Plymouth was Erastus Hussey. For a short time, before becoming a major Michigan abolitionist figure and moving to west Michigan, was a neighbor to Erastus Starkweather - just off Six Mile Road, now Northville Township. I believe the fact that Mr. Hussey spent his earlier years in Plymouth is a reason Plymouth became a hub given his former connections and friendships in the area. Back then, everything was coordinated by church members, who believed that no matter what the color of one's skin, humans should be Another of the many Old Village residents who I feel was important was A.J. Lapham. I had been in contact since January with his grandaughter, Janet Millross Renwick, and had the opportunity to visit with her and Jim Salamay of the Plymouth Museum over the summer. She was gracious enough to share photos and info with us both concerning her family in Old Vil-

A.J. operated a business in Old Village for 60 years, which pre-dates the businesses on the Liberty Street block. He supplied mainly the local farmers. I believe he may hold the record in Old Village and possibly all of Plymouth, as operating the longest continuous operating business as a sole proprietor - at least up until the time of his death.

His place of business, unfortunately no longer there, was located on the southeast corner of Hardenberg and Holbrook, not far from Plymouth Mills. Much of his business, according to his granddaughter, was tied to Plymouth Mills (located at the former Wilcox Lake Ford plant). He gleaned much business from local farmers traveling to the mill and, in later years due to his time in the area, was an extremely well-respected business person. His life and work in Old Village deserves mention in helping to make it what it is today. A.J. was also a trustee of the Plymouth Village Council, being shown as such in an 1898 souvenir book. There is an extensive history on him. I suggest to anyone interested, read his June 10, 1927, obit in the Plymouth Mail written by Karl Starkweather.

An interesting snippet of his life, especially given he was a former railroad man, was his mishap on Mill Street on June 3, 1918. When crossing the Pere Marquette line on Mill Street, he was side swiped by a PM steam locomotive. His car was totally wrecked and he was carried by the pilot of the locomotive down to Starkweather Avenue. When he regained consciousness, one of the first things he muttered is that he should have bought a Buick, which he later did, and drove it for many years.

Truck farming

Truck farming was very important to the growth of Michigan and the Midwest. Plymouth was on the cusp of at that time a new national trend and Old Village was the hub. Once the rail lines came in 1871, Plymouth-area farmers became players. This was a main reason why rail lines were brought in.

The practice of growing fruits and vegetables on medium-sized farms, shipping them to distant markets by trucking them via horse drawn wagon to shipyards or rail stations, was key. Note the 1868 Detroit and Howell RR stock certificate and the Plymouth Plank Road ticket. The rail line replaced the plank road between Plymouth, Detroit and on to Northville.

Speaking of fruit, trucks and Old Village character, here is an interesting vendor. On the photo back written in Karl Starkweather's hand: fruit vendor sees a car coming and about ready to hit the corner of his car - and it did." Date unknown, but believed to be about 1930.

Those interested in further NRHP research: Detroit Free Press article of Jan. 27, 2007, by Joel Thurtell: both Northville and Canton had much local governmental support for historic districts, unfortunately as the article states, Plymouth did not. I hope that changes. Change is good.

Daniel Sabo is the grandson of Karl Starkweather.

Needed: Apprentices to replace baby boomers in building trades

As baby boomers continue to exit the job market and more construction projects pop up in Detroit and other places, the end result is a shortage of trained workers for those jobs.

And that includes apprentices for the building trades.

To address the situation, a coalition of skilled labor unions and organized construction contractor associations have teamed to launch a campaign to encourage young people to consider becoming an apprentice.

MUST, which stands for Management and Unions Serving Together, includes the Michigan Building Trades Unions and their contractor associations who employ that labor.

"As both labor and management looked ahead at the growth in the market, we expanded the MUST brand to include MUST Careers to assist folks interested in joining the trades to more easily connect with our opportunities," said Donna Pardonnet, MUST Careers Management co-chair and executive director of ACT Michigan (Architectural and Construction

Celebrate veterans, but also help them adjust to civilian life, new jobs

As our communities observe Veterans Day, Nov. 11, we pause to remember great sacrifices made on the battlefield and also on the home front.

Older veterans of World War II, Korea and now Vietnam pause to reflect on their service to their country. Veterans are now returning from conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq, many having served more than one tour of duty.

The Plymouth and Canton communities next week will celebrate all veterans. At 11 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, veterans organizations will gather in Plymouth's Memorial Park for the annual salute that will include speakers.

In Canton, a special "Salute to Service" ceremony will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, at The Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road. This year's keynote speaker is Bob Hynes, director of public relations for the Yankee Air Museum at Willow Run Airport. The program will feature musical tributes sung by the Workman Elementary Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Keri L. Mueller.

In addition to the formal Canton presentation, items for servicemen and women will be collected by the Michigan Military Moms, including individual or travel size disposable hand and foot warmers; foot and body powder; Q-tips; Beef Jerky; hot chocolate mix; wipes; granola/power bars; and monetary dona-

GUEST COLUMNIST

Colbeck touts direct primary care as all-in-one tool hat if there was a way that state govern-ment could fix the roads, repair potholes in healthy Michigan, stretch school dollars, free up more resources for local government and reform auto nofault? How about one that would accelerate job growth? It turns out that one tool does it all. What is that tool? The answer is direct primary care.

Direct primary care eliminates the middle-man for routine health care services and refocuses health care on the doctor-patient relationship. It provides better care for less money. In fact, more than 20 percent less. Michigan is seeing rapid growth in direct primary care service providers in the wake of the passage of my bill (Public Act 522 of 2014) to protect these providers from insurnce regulations. An estimated 150 doctors have already adopted the direct primary care business model in the state of Michigan and more are contacting my office as word spreads. Direct primary care is good for doctors, good for patients and good for employers seeking quality health care options for their employees.

How could it help fix our government policy potholes?

We spend $664 million per year to provide health insurance for more than 51,000 state employees. A 20-percent savings frees up $133 million per year.

We spend $17 billion per year on Medicaid for more than 2.4 million of our 10 million citizens. A 20-percent savings frees up $3.4 billion per year, of which almost $1.4 billion comes from state revenue.

We spend $1.25 billion per year on health care costs in education. A 20-percent savings frees up $250 million per year, or more than $167 per pupil.

We spend an estimated $775 million per year on local government health care. A 20-percent savings frees up $155 million per year for our communities to hire more policemen

Each of us spends $150 per vehicle per year on no-fault auto insurance. Health care services are the principle purpose of no-fault insurance. A 20-percent savings should reduce the cost of no-fault insurance by up to $30 per vehicle per year. A reduction of 20 percent in the liabilities for the current $18 billion Michigan Catastrophic Claims Association Fund would free up $3.6 billion for further reductions in insurance premiums.

Last, but not least, Michigan businesses spend an estimated $31 billion per year on health care. A 20-percent savings frees up $6.2 billion per year for employers to invest in their employees and help their businesses achieve a competitive edge over businesses in other states. This would have a tremendous impact on job growth in Michigan. This job growth would in turn generate additional tax revenue to fill all of the potholes previously

In short, direct primary care could be used as a "Swiss army knife" tool to fix many of the policy issues facing the state of Michigan. As we expand the use of this tool throughout our state, Michigan has an opportunity to be at the center of a free-market health care revolution. This revolution will reverse today's trend toward less care and more money to one that provides better care for less money.

For more information on direct primary care Services, see my healthcare reform strategy at www.SenatorPatrickColbeck.com or go to www.DPCare-

Dangerous legislation

At the beginning of the summer, Gov. Rick Snyder announced the formation of a "Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force." It was an important move and perhaps an even more important acknowledgment — Michigan is facing a prescription drug abuse crisis.

According to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, a record 1,533 people lost their lives to a drug overdose in Michigan in 2013 - with prescription pain killers resulting in more deaths than any other drug.

Now United States Attorney Barbara McQuade and law enforcement have weighed in, publicly calling out Michigan as a "drug pipeline" with pushers illegally pumping highly addictive prescription pain killers across the Midwest.

And it seems like every day we read another news story about prescription drug abuse claiming lives and tearing apart communities.

Unfortunately, lawmakers in Lansing are poised to pass a new bill that could make this crisis much worse.

Senate Bill 320, which could receive a vote from the Senate Health Policy Committee very soon, would for the first time ever give full prescribing authority to 3,000 certified registered nurse anesthetists, without requiring any additional training.

What's more, it would remove all physician oversight of opioid prescription by nurse anesthetists, tossing away the common sense safety measures and oversight required of every other Michigan nurse with prescribing authority. The numbers tell a frightening story. The Department of Health and Human Services recently reported that between 2009-12, 36 percent of fatal drug overdose victims had obtained prescriptions from five or more prescribers in the year before their deaths. The more prescribers, and the less oversight, the worse the problem.

Adding 3,000 new prescribers overnight, while stripping away basic oversight requirements will only drive those numbers higher and exacerbate Michigan's opioid abuse crisis. All with lives in the bal-

Gov. Snyder, Lt. Gov. Calley and Attorney General Bill Schuette are taking important steps to combat Michigan's prescription drug abuse crisis. And law enforcement is fighting back. But just when policymakers, physicians, and drug treatment experts are picking up steam in their battle to address opioid abuse, Senate Bill 320 would make it worse. We strongly urge lawmakers to reject this dangerous legislation. Dr. Fred Campbell

Truth about vehicle warranties

True or false: Until your vehicle is out of warranty, it must be serviced by the new car dealer or the factory warranty will be void. Although you may have answered "true," the correct answer is "false." It's the law that consumers can have routine repairs performed by their local independent repair shop or do the work themselves without affecting the warranty. The Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act, enforced by the Federal Trade Commission, prohibits a manufacturer from voiding the vehicle warranty because service was done by a non-dealer.

According to the FTC, "It's illegal for a dealer to deny your warranty coverage simply because you had routine maintenance or repairs performed by someone else. Routine maintenance often includes oil changes, tire rotations, belt replacement, fluid checks and flushes, new brake pads and inspections." It is also important to note that the "Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act makes it illegal for companies to void your warranty or deny coverage under the warranty simply because you used an aftermarket or recycled part."

The council strongly recommends adhering to scheduled maintenance requirements and keeping records and receipts for all vehicle service. If a warranty claim arises, these records will provide proof that maintenance has been performed in accordance with the manufacturers' recommendations and requirements

Arrogance amazes

The sheer audacity, arrogance and incompetence of our GOP-controlled state Legislature just never ceases to amaze. After avoiding, evading and hiding and using one excuse after one for over a year, road repair has now died over, of all idiotic things, an argument over a tax cut. The state House in particular has time to kick out the bums Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat, but not time to pass a long overdue infrastructure permanent repair

The Senate has long since approved a highway repair bill and Gov. Snyder agreed. The crazies in the House balked at any tax increase for anything ever

People and business are leaving Michigan because of or crumbling roads. These are facts. So quit your pre-adolescent squabbles, man up and pass a permanent road repair bill now.

Those few of us who must stay here do not want to face another winter with roads further deteriorating to just dirt roads everywhere. You cowardly dumped this decision making on to us. If you are going to refuse to take any action, why are you in the Legislature? More specifically, why are we paying you?

You should really be ashamed and embarrassed into action now. Tax cut. Absurd, ridiculous and grossly untimely, out of the question. Fix our roads now or just get out of the way and let others for you.

Man dies of injuries suffered in house explosion

Staff Writer

A Redford man has died of injuries suffered in an explosion Sunday evening that leveled a home at 19462 Gaylord.

The resident of the home, William Rice, 58, died Tuesday, according to Redford police.

The cause of the explosion, which was felt for miles around and damaged neighboring homes, was a fuel oxygen mixture, police said in a statement.

Natural gas has been ruled out as a fuel source and the only other fuel source at the location was propane, the police statement said. Two sources of propane were present at the premises, according to police.

DTE checked for natural gas leaks Sunday evening and none were found, according to Sgt. Kevin Crittenden of the Redford Township Police Department. In fact, DTE confirmed that the house hadn't been hooked up to the natural gas lines since

But propane tanks were found on the site and that is under investigation, Crittenden said. The propane was being used to heat portions of the home, as well as the garage, which has an apartment inside, he said. Propane isn't any more dangerous than natural gas, but when allowed to build up it can explode with a source of ignition, the same as natural gas, Redford Police Chief

Eric Black said. Redford resident Steve Hinzman said Sunday night he had just finished shooting pool in the garage in the back of the home that exploded. "It was like an atomic bomb had blasted," he

"Debris was flying everywhere," his wife

Dawn Hinzman said. Steve Hinzman said he helped attend to the man who was injured.

Crittenden said they don't know where the man was when the blast occurred, as he was already being assisted by neighbors when help arrived. It's not "overly common" for propane to be used to heat a house in Redford, said Rick Pringle, Redford Building Department supervisor. It's more common in rural areas, he said.

"But it's not mandatory that you're hooked up to DTE," he said. Broken windows and doors is the most common damage and structurally the neighboring houses seem to be intact, Pringle said.

"Most of damage appears to be minor, except for the house next door," he said.

The Tracey family lives right next to the explosion site and their home appears to be heavily damaged. They stood outside of the police tape Sunday evening looking at lumber and cinder blocks blown into their yard from the destroyed home.

"I was sitting on the sofa and the wall started coming down on me,' Debbie Tracey said as she sat on a neighbor's front porch.

"I thought maybe a bomb had gone off," she Tracey said, but she grabbed her pet dogs and ran from the house.

Daughter Shannon Tracey was asleep when the blast went off and it blew her bedroom door open, she said.

She took a picture of the hole in the living room wall before leaving the house.

Homeowner John Tracey said he was sitting on his front porch and thought at first it was fireworks.

He's not sure how much damage his home suffered, as it was cor-doned off with police tape and he hasn't been allowed to look at the Things fell off her walls and her back yard is full of debris from the blast, she said.

People came out of their houses to see what was happening. But then so many people stopped on the street to watch, the emergency vehicles had trouble getting through, she said.

The explosion was felt for miles around and people began calling the police and fire stations to find out what was happening.

At one point Sunday evening, Redford Township Supervisor Tracey Schultz Kobylarz urged people to refrain from calling the police department requesting information. "Lines are being tied up with inquiries, making it difficult for other emergen-cy call information," she

Residents also began lighting up social media about the blast, including theories on the

Twelve Oaks Mall celebrates holidays with 'Peanuts' gang

To celebrate the launch of The Peanuts Movie, a special family-friendly holiday experience is being offered exclusively at Twelve Oaks Mall and Great Lakes Crossing Outlets from Nov. 6 to Dec. 24.

Developed in partnership with 20th Century Fox, the iconic Peanuts characters will take center stage within unique, interactive Ice Palaces at each participating mall. The indoor holiday displays will feature a 30-foot dome complete with falling snow, a light show and other activities for the entire fam-

"We are thrilled to be featuring these loveable characters in this year's Ice Palace," said Melissa Morang, Great Lakes Crossing Outlet's marketing and sponsorship director. "For those of us who grew up alongside these characters, as well as children who might be experiencing the Peanuts gang for the first time, this year's holiday experience is sure to be crowd-pleaser."

In addition, kids can watch special scenes from the new movie, create and compare their icy hand print alongside Snoopy and Woodstock, have their photo taken with a lifesize graphic of Snoopy and his dog house and much more.

Both malls will also offer the opportunity for families to visit with Santa Claus as part of the Ice Palace experience. Those who visit Santa will receive a complimentary gift. The Twelve Oaks Mall Ice Palace, which is sponsored by An Inkster woman was struck by a car and fatally injured Halloween night on Merriman in Westland.

The woman, 43, was crossing west on Merriman, north of Palmer, at 7:50 p.m. when she was struck by a northbound car driven by a Toledo, Ohio, woman, according to Westland Police.

It was dark and rainy at the time of the accident, police said, with the victim crossing in an area between intersections and wearing dark cloth-

The driver was not under the influence of alcohol; police said the pedestrian may have been drinking before the accident.

The investigation into the fatal accident is continuing, but police report no charges are expected to be filed against the driver.

Domestic servitude survivor to speak at Madonna

Often tricked into working for little or no pay in a country where they may not know the language - too many women and men are silent victims of domestic servitude. One survivor will share her experience at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 9, at Madonna University in Kresge Hall. The event, free and open to the public, is part of the univer-sity's year-long Conversation about Human Dignity, organized through Madonna's Committee on Diversity and Inclusion.

The survivor scheduled to speak at Madonna was enslaved in her captor's home, after her parents were tricked into allowing her to visit. She eventually escaped and soon will graduate from college.

Amy Allen, a victim specialist with the U.S. Immigration and Customs Department of Homeland Security Investigations, will lead the presentation about domestic servitude, forced labor and sex slavery. A social worker focusing on child abuse issues for more than 30 years, she now works primarily with investigations involving child exploitation, human trafficking and human rights violations. The evening also will include a discussion of the signs of domestic servitude, forced labor and sexual exploicooking, driving or caring for the elderly or young children. They are frequently from foreign countries and often told before they leave their home country that they will make a good income.

Instead, victims receive little or no pay, are held cap-tive and have their passports confiscated. They may be told they will be deported or arrested if they run away. They may be sexually abused by their captors or denied adequate food or rest. Similar to domestic servitude, victims of forced labor also are coerced to work for little or no pay, but they may be forced to work in mines, factories, farms, etc. Victims also can be subject to abuse and isolation and children are sought as workers for their small size and vulnerability. They may be coerced into working through debt bondage, being told they owe money to their employer and must work

Victims of sex trafficking are commonly controlled by violence, threats and forced drug addiction. Most are vulnerable to trafficking due to pre-existing conditions in their lives, such as poverty or abuse. These conditions may also make it difficult to escape trafficking situations, as they frequently have nowhere to

Canton's Nolen succumbs to cancer at age 22

Small in stature, defensive back leaves big legacy

Ed Wright

During the final days of his life, with his body weakened beyond measure by a relentless beast called renal medullary carcinoma, Josh Nolen maintained the fighting spirit, milliondollar smile and selfless character that were his trademarks.

"When I went to the Nolen (University of Michigan) hospital to visit him a couple weeks ago, before I could even ask Josh how he was feeling, he asked me how the (Plymouth-Canton Steelers) football team I'm helping coach was doing," said Angelo Lanava, who forged a strong friendship with Nolen during their four years as football teammates at Canton High School. "And he wasn't just asking to ask; he really cared. "Despite all he was going through, he always smiled when we walked in the hospital room. His smile and his personality were infectious. Nolen died Friday afternoon from the effects of a form of kidney cancer that is as rare as it is difficult to contain.

He was just 22 years old.

According to Wikipedia, as of 2009 just 120 cases of RMC had been reported. The median survival rate after diagnosis is just three months, the site noted.

Relatively small in stature he stood just 5-foot-8 and weighed 170 pounds - Nolen

Salem players are revved up after scoring a big point during Monday's district game against Canton.

Chiefs take charge early, but determined Rocks rally late for win

Tim Smith Staff Writer

For two hours Monday night at Northville High School, volleyball players from two Plymouth-Canton Educational Park teams battled tooth-and-nail.

Bodies flew all over the court to keep the ball alive in the Class A district opener between Canton and Salem.

And the Rocks had enough extra oomph to pull out a 3-2 victory - winning the final three sets after the KLAA South Division Chiefs looked poised to move on to a date with No. 1-ranked Novi in a district semifinal.

Expertly tipping the ball into an opening for the winning point in Salem's 15-12 fifth set win was senior middle hitter Emma Merlington. "The ball came up and I saw an open corner and I said, 'Smart play, let's do it,'' Mer-lington said. "And it felt really Reset button

Jeffress nearly lifts Rocks

Led by the incomparable Chaz Jeffress, Salem's varsity boys cross country team nearly earned a spot at Michigan International Speedway.

The Rocks finished fourth with a team score of 156 points Saturday at the Division 1 regional held at Willow Metropark in New Boston, trailing Novi (55), Northville (60) and Novi-Detroit Catholic Central (75). The top three squads automat ically qualify for the state finals, scheduled for Saturday in Brooklyn.

But Salem senior stalwart Jeffress will be there as an individual qualifier, after nearly capturing the regional championship. He came in second with a time of 15:33.2 for the 5,000-meter course, just behind Novi's Joost Plaetinck (15:33.1).

Also qualifying (top 15) were Plymouth's Ethan Byrnes (10th, 16:13.3) and Canton's Zac Clark (14th, 16:22.4).

"We ran well in windy conditions against three of the top teams in the state in Novi, Northville and Catholic Central," Salem head coach Steve Aspinall said. "All three of those teams will likely finish in the top 10 of the state next weekend. "Chaz Jeffress had another extremely exciting finish and ran a great race, as did senior Griffin Skaff (27th, 16:54) and freshman Luke Haran (46th, 17:23), who both ran new per-

The Dave Gerlach-coached Rocks qualified as a team for the fourth consecutive season, this time with 81 points - trailing only first-place Northville, regional champion with 32

"This year has been unbe-lievable," Gerlach said about the 2015 season. "The last three years, we have lost our No. 1 and No. 2 runners to graduation and no one knew what this

Canton cruises to another division title

Chiefs boast strength in numbers

Tim Smith Staff Writer

Another season, another KLAA South Division championship for Canton's varsity girls swim team.

Spearheaded by a deep and versatile lineup, the Chiefs easily won their third straight division meet Saturday at Westland John Glenn with 691.5 points - surpassing runner-up Plymouth (566.5). In third with 263 points was Livonia Chur-

Veteran head coach Ed Weber emphasized that Canton did not finish first in the most events. But that didn't tell the tale, as the Chiefs outscored the rest of the division in eight of 12 events, with the top 16 finishers per event scoring at least one point.

"The entire year has been a team effort," Weber said. "Our team is very close and works well together. Daily practices are accompanied by smiles, laughs and encouragements from each other.'

Weber said strong senior leadership sets the tone, but that the program's winning culture continues year after

"The senior leadership on the team is outstanding," Weber said. "They will surely be missed next year. As long as we stay healthy and committed, we'll continue the tradition of competing for South Division champions, which is a combination of dual meet record and championship place-

"Three of the past eight years we've shared the title with Plymouth and five years we've won it outright. The formula for developing a winning tradition is a splash of athletes, trickle of talent, sprinkle of commitment and a drip of coaching.

Mans also topped the field in the 200 IM with a time of 2:14.33, as well as the 100 backstroke (1:00.45). She has qualified for the state finals in three events (also 500 free)

In the 100 back, the Chiefs also had the third through fifth finishers in seniors Sydney Darnall (1:09.97), Ruoxuan Shi (1:11.12) and Madelaine Brownley (1:11.26) — testament to the team's strength in numbers. Adding points to the ledger with an eighth-place finish of 1:13.85 was senior Adrienne Paton.

Weber cited the one-two finish in the 500 free by senior Emily Osika and freshman Sophia Balow, with respective times of 5:34.37 and 5:45.32.

The Chiefs also came in second and third in the 400 free relay.

The 'A' team of freshman Jessica Clark, sophomore Kristen Wiseman, Mans and Osika finished in 3:50.75, with the 'B' team of Darnall, Balow, Russo and freshman Katelyn Waligora clocking a time of 4:07.17.

Victorious in the 400 free relay with a time of 3:50.75 was Plymouth's quartet of freshman Kelsey Peregord, junior Kathryn Waters, sophomore Grace MacLellan and senior Allison Lennig.

Other bright spots for the runner-up Wildcats were firstplace performances by Lennig (200 free, 2:01.39; 100 free, 54.66), Waters (100 fly, 1:00.97) and the 200 free relay team of Waters, Peregord, junior Isabella Giacobone and Lennig (1:45.15)

Northville edges Salem for KLAA Central title

Brad Emons Staff Writer

The same teams who battled Saturday for the KLAA Central Division girls swim title are expected to be the favorites again this weekend at the Kensington Conference meet. Northville scored 576 points and survived a stiff test from Salem, which scored 555, to earn its fifth straight divisional crown in the five-school meet held at South Lyon East.

Rounding out the top five were host South Lyon Unified (467), Novi (297) and Livonia Stevenson (258).

Salem was led by the Zhang sisters, Linda and Lisa, who figured in five first-place finishes. Linda set a meet record in the 200-yard freestyle (1:53.99) and was first in the 100 butterfly (58.2). Lisa set a new KLAA Central record in the 50 freestyle (24.57). They also were members of the firstplace 200 freestyle (1:39.68) and 400 freestyle (3:40.43) relay

PREP CROSS COUNTRY

SMALL, BUT QUITE MIGHTY

Plymouth Christian Academy captures another Division 4 regional

Tim Smith Staff Writer

Plymouth Christian Academy's Eagles are the little team that could ... and is, dominating in Division 4 varsity boys cross country.

Evidence of such is Saturday's first-place finish at the D4 regional, held at Willow Metropark in New Boston.
PCA captured its fourth regional in five seasons with a score of 36 points, well ahead of runner-up Riverview Gabri-el Richard (56) and Lutheran High Westland (81)

The Eagles, ranked No. 10 in Division 4, now have won the regional in 2011, 2012, 2014

Leading the charge for head coach Jennifer Lemieux were Aaron Vicars and Seth Windle, who finished first and second with respective times of 17:08.10 and 17:28.40. "Seth Windle and Aaron

Vicars are wonderful team-mates," Lemieux said. "They never compete against each other, but encourage each other to do their best.'

In fifth overall was Gareth Matson (18:12.30), while the fourth Eagle to land in the top 10 was Ben Fuller (eighth, 18:26.10).

Other PCA finishers included Ian Hay (20th, 19:18.70), Paul Chamberlain

(30th, 20:05.40) and Aaron Giesler (52nd, 22:53.10). "We won as a team," Le-mieux said. "All our athletes ran hard on Saturday. We would not have been first with out every member doing their

"Gabriel Richard Riverview is a very strong team and we knew we had to go to work. Paul was able to recover enough to participate in the meet after his (foot) injury and we were happy to have him back running."

The team will compete at the D4 state finals, scheduled for Saturday at Michigan In-ternational Speedway in 'Our (boys) team consists of five freshmen, one sophomore, one junior and two seniors," Lemieux said. "My expectation is the boys run hard and score in the top 10 teams of the state.

'Seth (also MIAC championship MVP) is ranked eighth

Plymouth Christian Academy's boys cross country team won the Division 4 regional Saturday at Willow Metropark in New Boston. Also, two PCA girls qualified as individuals. Sitting (from left) are Natalie Shaffer, Sienna Ruiter-Diaz and Joy Chamberlain.

and Aaron is ranked 10th at this time. It would be fabulous to see them as all-state runners. Gareth and Ben are ranked in the top 50. It is very exciting.'

Lemieux cited a special ingredient to the cross country program's excellence — despite the challenges of trying to find enough athletes in a school with low enrollment.

"The key to the boys' success is their firm belief that they run for God's glory, not their own personal glory," she said. "They work extremely hard developing the gifts God has given each of them.

"Being a Division 4 school has its challenges. We have 143 students total in our high school. We need to maximize the talent on the team.'

PCA girls qualify

Also qualifying as individuals were two PCA girls runners (the school did not have enough participants to compete as a team in the girls division).

In second overall was Sienna Ruiter, with a time of 20:40.10.

Placing 10th with a mark of 23:02.10 was Joy Chamberlain.

"Sienna has been consistently strong all year," Le-mieux said. "In her very first race, she was 10th overall at the Holly Invitational.

She was second overall at the Wayne County Championship meet. And she broke our school record, which now stands at 19:49.8."

As for Chamberlain, "she was very motivated to make it to the state finals. She ran an excellent race and we are very proud of her."

25-15 to go up 2-0 (the Chiefs had won a nip-and-tuck opening set, 25-23).

"We just decided this is not going to be our last game as seniors," Merlington said.

Concurring was senior outside hitter Tess Ganich (24 kills, 18 digs): "After the second, we decided this is not how we want it to end and we are going to do everything we could, in our power, to get the five-game sets." In the third set, won 25-22 by Salem, the Chiefs led 10-8 as they looked to sweep the Rocks. But Canton gave points away on service errors and Salem's collective confidence began to grow with every clutch spike at the net or daring defensive play in the middle or back rows.

"That's a position I really haven't played in a while," said senior libero Drew Smiley (25 digs), who said a jolt of adrenaline helped her make some phenomenal reaction plays on defense. "But it was really exciting once I got the hang of

"I thought it was a really good game and I didn't want that to be our last game.'

The set remained close at 20-18 Salem before Ganich served up three points in a row, helped by a spike by junior outside hitter Kendall Gillen (15 kills, 26 digs) and a tip by Merlington.

Closing out the win with another tip was Gillen.

Momentum shift

Both Canton head coach Irick Gardner and senior middle hitter Hannah Madis pointed to the third set as Monday's turning point.

"You hate to talk about losing at the end of the year, but a loss like that, people are looking for an answer," Gardner said. "The answer is we didn't lose it in Game 5, we lost it in Game 3. We had all the momentum, we let them back into it and we stopped playing.

"It wasn't over after two (sets), but we played like that in Game 3.

Madis said the Chiefs "got it in our heads expecting to win, because we did so well at the beginning and I think it got to us. And Salem was out to

into the match after the third

In the fourth, which the Rocks won 25-18, coming up big at the serving stripe was senior middle blocker Lauren

Featuring a hot-to-handle line-drive serve, Wylie registered two aces among a threepoint run that put Salem ahead 11-9. Wylie chalked up four aces for the match.

Canton fought back to tie it at 13-13 on a tip by middle hitter Ciara Walega and a spike by senior Emma Clark

(16 kills, 11 digs, four aces) The Rocks (19-15-1) pulled ahead, however, helped by aces from senior right-side hitter Kassidy Hewett (three aces, five kills, 17 digs) and Wylie. A Soltis-to-Gillen spike sealed the win and set up the deciding set.

During the fourth set, Canton standout Clark left with an injury and did not return for the fifth.

Chiefs respond

Salem took a quick 8-2 lead in the fifth set, but the Chiefs showed resiliency thanks to excellent serving from outside hitter Gabrielle den Boer (five kills) and defensive specialist Lexi Granowicz (19 digs)

Canton finally went up 10-9 after a block by Walega and maintained a 12-11 advantage with setter Emily Meredith (36 assists) preparing to serve.

But the Rocks' defense got a defensive side-out point, with Soltis teeing one up for Gillen to tie the game at 12-12

Gillen then secured the victory with a three-point run, punctuated by Merlington's perfectly placed deep tip.

"Emma's been great all year," Middleton said. "She's not a true middle, she's shorter for being a middle, but this year as a senior, she really stepped into that role. And did a phenomenal job.

Meanwhile, Ganich said the Rocks remained confident, even after their seemingly comfortable lead in the fifth set slipped away.

"There's always nerves, but I don't think we were worried anymore," Ganich said. "We trusted in each other and we had faith we would pull it out."

In doing so, Salem turned the tables on Canton, which looked to be in the driver's seat early in the match.

They (Rocks) earned it, they played hard enough three out of five games," Gardner said. "We played hard enough two out of five. And that's who wins, the team that wins three out of five.

Other Canton players with solid contributions for the night included right-side hitter Gina Giacomini (nine kills), defensive specialist Alyssa Burke (14 digs) and middle hitter Hannah Stefanek (six

Schoolcraft sweeps at NJCAA regionals

Tim Smith Staff Writer

The trophy case at Schoolcraft College will have to get bigger.

On Sunday in Kirtland, Ohio, both the men's and women's soccer teams won the National Junior College Athlet-ic Association Region XII championship. Schoolcraft's men's squad followed up Saturday's 1-0 victory over Cincinnati State in the semifinal with a 2-1 shootout win Sunday against Owens Tech.

The Ocelots (14-2-3) needed to get to penalty kicks after playing to a 1-1 tie through regulation and two overtimes. In the shootout, Schoolcraft prevailed 4-3, with Livonia resident Jacob Rosen burying the deciding PK. Also scoring during the shootout was Livonia Stevenson alum Billy Werthman. Schoolcraft reached the final thanks to Jon Quintana's free kick against Cinci State, with the goal standing up as the winner.

Next for the team is the NJCAA North Central District contest Nov. 7 in Maryland, against the Community College of Baltimore County-Essex. Named to the all-region team were Werthman, Quintana, Victor Contreras, goalkeeper Andres Hernandez and head coach Rick Larson. Women prevail

Also victorious were the Lady Ocelots, who blanked Muskegon 5-0 in the semifinal Saturday and followed up with Sunday's 4-1 victory in the final against Cincinnati State.

Schoolcraft (16-1) earned a berth in the NJCAA Division I National Tournament the week of Nov. 16. The tournament is hosted by East Florida State College.

Selected to the all-region team were (first team) Shae van Gassen, Colleen McKay, Cynthia Konan and Lacey Chanady and (second team) Cienna Rael-Whitsitt, Katie Vitella, Katie Dangelmaier and coach Dave Carver. MCCAA HONORS: A number of Schoolcraft gained gridiron accolades at Canton while excelling as an afraid-ofno-one defensive back.

Nolen's cover and tackling skills were so ferocious that he earned a scholarship to play football for Saginaw Valley State University, where he played briefly before suffering a career-ending injury. "Off the field, Josh was a great kid, a real gentleman, a great student," Canton football coach Tim Baechler said. "On the field, he was a fighter in the sense that he wasn't going to take a back seat to anyone. He had a competitive edge to him that almost crossed the line into being nasty, but that's what made him such a great player. "The last time we went to see Josh in the hospital, he couldn't talk, but I could tell in his eyes that he knew we were there. I bent down, kissed him on the forehead and told him I loved him. His dad (Derek Nolen) said, 'He's moving his right hand; he wants to shake your hand.' So I shook his hand. He fought that disease as hard as you can fight it.

Canton's football team will honor Nolen's memory by wearing a decal with the No. 8 — Nolen's number at Canton — on their helmets during the remainder of the season.

A few hours after Nolen's death, the Chiefs, who weren't told of his death, defeated Livonia Stevenson, 70-35, to advance to Friday's Division 1 district final at Northville.

"This football pro-gram is a family," Bae-chler said. "The phrase we use is, 'Once a Chief, always a Chief.' We will keep Josh alive in our hearts and we will use the way he battled to motivate the players, just like we keep other players and coaches who we've lost - Homer Elias and Deshon McClendon - alive."

The community's love for Nolen was reflected in a GoFundMe account that raised more than $15,000 to help his family offset mounting medical

During an early-July phone interview with the Observer, Nolen spoke confidently about how he would battle the disease with a combination of faith, positivity and support from his family and friends and hopefully be able to finish his senior year of college at Western Michigan University, where he was close to earning a degree in finance/economics.

On one of his final posts on his GoFundMe page, Nolen wrote: "Keep me in your prayers. I truly do appreciate all your love and support, it keeps me motivated and reminds me why I'm fighting this battle. I love you guys."

Despite dire reports from the doctors who were treating him, Nolen never gave up on pulling off a miraculous recovery. "He fought so hard, right to the end," Lanava said. "Even when we saw him a couple weeks ago and he was at his lowest point, he was talking about getting better."

Visitation for Nolen will be 3-8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 5, at Life Application Ministries, 31601 Scheonherr, in Warren. Family hour at 10 a.m. Friday, Nov. 6, with funeral service at 11.a.m.

Mustangs look to shut down Canton's potent running attack

Brad Emons

Northville football coach Matt Ladach said he can only put last year's 48-7 pre-district football loss to Canton well back in his rear-view mirror.

It's a new season and a new set of players as the Mustangs (10-0) get the Chiefs (8-2), this time at home beginning at 7 p.m. Friday at Tom Holzer Field, in the MHSAA Division 1 district final.

Canton is coming off a 70-35 first-round win over Livonia Stevenson, while Northville held on to beat Plymouth on the final play of the game at its own 1-yard line, 24-20

"They're a talented group and well-coached and they're very disciplined, so it's a good recipe for success right now," Ladach said of Canton, which is averaging 38.8 points per game. "We definitely did not play well against them at all last year. In fact, they kicked our butts. It would be irresponsible for me to say that playing them last year is helping us prepare for them, because we didn't play well at all."

Northville's offensive output may not be as po-tent as Canton's, but the Mustangs are averaging 28.4 points per outing, while holding their opponents to 16.4.

And with senior dual

Northville will be trying to contain Canton running back Markus Sanders (No. 2) in Friday night's playoff game.

threat running and passing quarterback Justin Zimbo steering the ship, the Mustangs have managed to find a way to win the close games.

As former Oakland Raiders owner Al Davis used to say, it's "Just win, baby," as six of Northville's 10 victories have come by 10 points or less.

'I've been saying it every week from that fact that they lean on one another, consistently do the right thing and they're just absolutely playing their guts out," Ladach said of the team's formula for winning tight ball-

Ladach anticipates his team will be at near full strength for Friday's encounter with the Chiefs.

"We're little beat up," he said. "Plymouth is a tough team, so we're definitely banged up and bruised up, but in terms of injuries, we're fine. We're a little hurt, but not in-

Northville's biggest challenge this week is slowing down Markus Sanders and Canton's explosive running attack out of its wing-T offense.

Ladach said it can be done, but only one way.

"Every single player has to do his job and he can only do his job," he said. "He can't try and overcompensate for a teammate, just have to remain disciplined."

The city of Plymouth has many older, restored homes, including one on the market at 391 Maple St. that is a classic example of Italianate Victorian architecture.

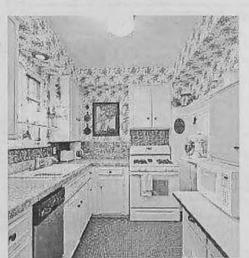

The home is listed with Bake Real Estate of Plymouth at $310,000. It was built in 1879 by John Hood and is known as the Hood-Behr Home.

John Hood returned from the Civil War and bought the land from John Kellogg, Previous owners of the land included William Starkweather, Tim Lyons and Ben Holbrock.

"The current owners have done a fantastic job enhancing the features of the home while maintaining the historic character, which is important to them," said broker/owner Carrie Bake, the listing agent, in an email. "The tall windows and ceilings are dramatic and it has a location very close to Kellogg Park and all that downtown Plymouth has to offer."

The home description notes: "The original home is a square, two-story house with a simple hipped roof. There are wide overhanging eaves adorned with large decorative brackets. Heed law if deciding whether to ban drones

Q: A board member in our condominium association has been piloting his drone to inspect construction work being done by contractors to a common element in our building. This has upset the co-owners living in the complex as they are concerned about the privacy issues that this activity raises. Can we demand that the association prohibit this ity? A: It's not clear from your question whether the individual operating the drone is doing so in his official capacity as a board member, under the board's authority and approval, or for his own curiosity as a hobbyist. The Federal Aviation Administration has recently proposed rules regarding small unmanned aircraft which, in addition to aircraft requirements, include operational limitations, certification and related responsibilities. FAA policy specifically ex-cludes the use of drones for business purposes. If a drone is to be used for business purposes, it must first get an exemption from the FAA.

The board will also need to consider the facts of this present situation and determine this individual's status before it finalizes a resolution. However, it must also eventually establish guidelines for thirdparty individuals (hobbyists) and professional entities (Realtors and insurers), if it is going to address this matter in a thorough manner. If the board decides to ban drones for particular reasons, they should include these restrictions in the association's bylaws and/or rules and regulations. I would recommend that the board seek qualified legal counsel before it makes a recommendation to the co-owners regarding this topic, as it has such sweeping ramifications. An error in judgment could invite unnecessary litigation against the association. : I have a condominium in Florida and the issue of drones is a growing concern for our community. Many residents have discussed the issue at homeowner's meetings, but we are not sure where the law stands in this regard.

A: Many states have enacted statutes to regulate unmanned aircraft and Florida recently passed a new law on July 1 that addresses the various restrictions and regulations placed upon drones. Florida legislators reviewed the concerns of their constituents and found that privacy issues were at the forefront of their concerns. As such, the "Freedom from Unwanted Surveillance Act" was enacted, which limits the use of drones by both private individuals and government entities.

The new statute provides that law enforcement may not use drones to gather evidence for purposes of carrying out criminal investigations. Furthermore, no person, state agency, or political subdivision may use a drone on privately owned property without the written permission of the owner, tenant, occupant, invitee or licensee of such property where there is a reasonable expectation of privacy. There are exceptions outlined in the statute. These exceptions include specific law enforcement issues, as well as legitimate business or governmental concerns, such as use by utility companies to observe easements. The law provides that if a person has been found guilty of violating the statute, that individual may be subject to civil penalties, including reimbursement of attorney's fees. Look for more statutory and homeowner association restrictions to be adopted to deal with the increased prob-

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the MARILYN 72, of Farmington Hills, Michigan, went to be with the Lord on November 1, 2015. She passed peacefully in her home surround-ed by her loving family after a long battle with pulmonary disease. Marilyn was born on July 12, 1943 in Memphis, Tennessee, the only daughter of Walter and Marie Mitchell who preceded her in death. She is survived by her long time partner, Shelly Knoll and by her two brothers, Bill (Marilyn) and Don (Nina). She was blessed with nine nieces and nephews and 25 grand nieces and nephews, all of who affectionately knew her as Auntie Mart, and will sorely miss her Marilyn had a long and successful career in nursing and nursing administration. She held masters degrees in both nursing and social work and was a licensed Nurse Practitioner. Family, friends, co-workers, and patients all loved her for her extraordinary gifts of humility, empathy and other centeredness that allowed her to love and care for everyone she encountered in ways that will be long remembered. At her request, the memorial service will be a private family celebration of her life. Friends are invited to visit Marilyn's Book of Memories at www.keehnfuneralhome.com. Contributions can be made to Hospices of Henry Ford, One Ford Place-5A, Detroit, Mi, 48202 in her memory.

MOORE, SR., JAMES H. Died Monday, October 19, after a brief stay at the Indian River Medical Hospital and VNA Hospice, surrounded by family around James, known as 'Jim'or 'Jimmy' to his family and friends, was born to Lewis and Florence Moore on December 12, 1924 in Niemetta Detroit, Michigan. He grew up on Edison Avenue in the City of Detroit in the same neighborhood as car moguls, including the Ford and Dodge families, during the heyday of automotive growth in the Motor City. Jim graduated from Northern High chool in Detroit and entered Duke University at age 18. He was inducted into the U.S. Army in April of 1943 reporting to the 11th Airborne Division, as part of the 66th Infantry where was trained as a paratrooper. He made nine combat jumps onto various islands in the Pacific Ocean Theater becoming a returned to Duke in 1946 where he met his future wife, Joyce Ellen Dawson of Douglaston, New York. They wed May 7, 1949 and began married life in Detroit. Jim secured a position in the insurance industry eventually forming an agency partnership in Birmingham, Michigan. The couple was among the original 50 members to form the Congregational Church of Birmingham. After retirement, Jim and Joyce moved to Vero Beach, Florida where they enjoyed their 'new life' on the Treasure Coast, generously hosting frequent family vacationers. Jim, an avid golfer and boater, was a charter member of the Birmingham Athletic Club and a member of Forest Lake Country Club in Bloomfield Hills. In Vero Beach he joined the Dodger Pines Golf Club and the Vero Beach Country Club. Jim enjoyed traveling, circumnavigating world once, chartering sailboats in the Windward Islands, and visiting his beloved ancestral land of Scotland on several

Of Plymouth, passed Sunday morning at the age of 82

Robert was born to Oscar and Elizabeth on May 2, 1933, in Melber, Kentucky. He came to Plymouth when he was 7 years old and was the owner of the Puckett Company, Inc. for over 60 years. He was dedicated to his work and being in Plymouth his whole life, he was very generous to his customers from the community. Robert was an avid walker, loved his antique shopping, and was a big poker player. He also loved paintings of ducks and birds. Robert proudly served his country in the United States Army. He was an awesome father, grandfather and an all good person. Robert is survived by his five children: William (Linda) Puckett, Pennie Cole, Mic. Puckett, Michael (John) Puckett and Paula (Steve) Puckett-Potoczak. Five brothers and sisters: Doris Johnson, Lura (Pat) Morin, Marilyn (Bob) Ray, James Puckett, and Shirley (Tom) Wandrey. PLACES VETERANS CAN EAT FREE NOV. 11 former and active military members can get a free lunch at many local restaurants on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

"It's a way for us to give back to people who have given so much to us," said Drew Sienkiewicz, general manager of Applebees, 43500 Ford Road, Canton.

Veterans and active military personnel will get a chance to choose one of seven meals at no charge at Applebees with proof of service, such as a U.S. Uniformed Services ID Card, U.S. Uniformed Services Retired ID Card, veterans organization card, a photo of themselves in uniform or commendation. Meals include pasta, grilled chicken, chicken salad and chicken tenders, sirloin, shrimp, and hamburger.

The restaurant will open an hour early on Veterans Day and the free meals will be available from 10 a.m. to midnight. All Michigan Applebees will participate in the national restaurant chain's Veterans Day program.

Sienkiewicz said the "best part" of Veterans Day is talking with customers who served in the military. He assigns more staff than usual, so they can engage with veterans as they serve them lunch. Some customers bring in photographs of their time in the service.

"It's about hearing their stories, reliving the past," he said, adding that veterans "love it."

"We encourage people to show up in uniform.

Family story about biking Lake Superior becomes feature film

> Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

Edd Benda first heard the story five years ago at Thanksgiving dinner. His uncle Karl recalled biking 1,300 miles with his cousin, Dan "Dudza" Junttila, around Lake Superior at age 17. He still owned the bike he had pedaled 40 years earlier and the essay he had written for school about the

"I was so fascinated about the time and place that young men could do that. They woke up, said what do you want to do today? Want to go on a 1,300-mile bike ride? Sure," said Benda, recalling Karl Benda's conversation. "I don't think I've developed the confidence to ride 125 miles a day over a span of 10 days with change in my pocket and a shirt on my back. Had it not been cool the morning they left, they wouldn't even have had jack-

Inspired by his uncle's impromptu journey, the former Birmingham resident expanded the story into a feature film, Superior, which will end its nine-city tour of Michigan at 7 p.m. Mon-day, Nov. 9, at the Maple Theater, 4135 W. Maple, west of Telegraph, Bloom-field Township. Benda, who wrote and directed the film, will be on hand for a Q&A with the audience. Tickets are $10; themapletheater.com.

The movie, filmed in 21 days in summer 2014 in the Keweenaw Peninsula, premiered in June at the Chinese Theatre in Hollywood, Calif. as part of the Dances with Films festival, and was screened at the Heartland Film Festival Oct. 6-25, in Indianapolis, Ind.

It was produced by Beyond the Porch Productions, a company Benda and Washington native Alex Bell, who served as cinematographer on Superior, created three years ago while they were students at University of Southern California's School of Cinematic Superior, set in 1969, tells the story of two best friends, Derek Suntila, (Paul Stanko) and Charlie Eskola, (Thatcher Robinson) who bike around Lake Superior the summer after high school graduation. It's their last adventure before Eskola goes off to college and Suntila likely is drafted into the military.

Benda tapped film school alumni for his crew and auditioned lead actors in a forested area of Griffith Park in Los Angeles, Calif., hoping to simulate a Michigan environment.

'Hurdle number one was can this person hike to the middle of the woods and have a smile on their face," he said. "Everybody else in the film is local, from the U.P."

Battling black flies

The lead actors biked more than 100 miles during filming and everyone on the crew and cast fought black

flies

"We were constantly battling bugs and the weather. That was part of the struggle and the charm of what we were doing. If anything went wrong with the film equipment, the nearest place (for replacements) was an eighthour drive to Minneapolis."

The group bunked in a cabin owned by one of Benda's aunts. They drew names randomly for sleeping arrangements that included beds, a couch and a mattress on the basement floor.

"There was a lot of comedy and good humor about the way we lived," he said, adding that the team remained in good spirits. "Having a team that I worked with for years and knew and they knew what needed to be done, was crucial."

Learning the craft

Before Superior, Benda worked on short film projects, such as The Hipster Werewolf, (2013) while at USC

His film experience prior to college had been watching movies, listening to his father quote movies, and working on film projects while at the International Academy in Bloomfield Hills.

I set up a production studio in an old closet," said Benda. "The summer before my senior year I had that space and built it into a studio. I managed a film elective class in association with one of our faculty members. I wanted to tell stories and I wanted to do that visually.

Storytelling had always been a part of his childhood. Family dinner time was like a story slam, with his relatives trying to outdo each other. Benda wove some of their characters, places and story bits and pieces into the Superior script.

He also read his uncle's school essay about the trip. "He got a B minus on the paper. That was our baseline," Benda said, with a laugh. "We knew we had to do better than a B minus.'
