Canton doubles its goal for recycling

Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Canton residents have more than doubled a recycling goal set for them in 2008, when a change to a single-stream program meant they no longer had to separate their cereal boxes, milk jugs and empty cans. Local officials had hoped to boost recycling efforts from 2,132 tons in 2008 to 3,500 tons by 2015. They wanted residents to go green — and not just those who are Spartans fans. Residents not only blew past that goal by 2010 — five years early — but they more than doubled it, recycling 7,368 tons of materials last year. “We have far surpassed our goal,” Canton Municipal Services Director Tim Faas said. Canton now recycles about 17.2 percent of its waste stream. That increases to 32 percent when yard waste is factored in. Rizzo Environmental Services, Canton’s trash hauler, considers Canton’s effort to double its recycling tonnage impressive. “It was an ambitious goal and Canton is doing a great job of encouraging people to recycle,” said Joseph Munem, Rizzo’s director of government affairs. “There’s an educational process here and it’s almost like a culture shift where you have to change people’s way of doing things.” Faas said the uptick in recycling also means less garbage being hauled to the Sauk Trail Hills landfill in Canton. Faas cited two primary reasons the recycling program has succeeded: » The single-stream program meant residents could simply toss all their recyclables together in 18-gallon bins — no more tedious sorting — and place it by the curb. “If you make it more simple,” Faas said, “they are more likely to do it.” » Canton has sought to educate residents through its monthly newsletter Focus, the

Canton ready to jazz up summer

Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

An outdoor jazz concert series that draws thousands of people to Canton’s core shopping district returns in July, ushering in what has become a summertime tradition. This marks the 11th year for the Canton Color Tour Jazz Series, which takes its name from color-coded streetlight banners along the Ford Road shopping corridor. One concert might occur in the so-called orange block; another in the purple block. The six-week series unfolds at 7 p.m. each Friday, starting July 8 and ending Aug. 12. It is rolled out by the Canton Downtown Development Authority, whose mission is promoting the business community.

Carvel Ice Cream sells sweet treats from a canopy-covered cart during concerts. Owner Gary Krone’s business is located in the blue block, anchored by Michigan’s only IKEA. “I actually serve my ice cream at the jazz concerts,” Krone said. “We’re just next to the stage.” He has witnessed concertgoers set up their chairs and coolers in parking lots and then go inside stores such as Kohl’s. “I believe there is definitely some people going into the local shops,” Krone said. Organizers aim to offer a quality jazz series while bringing visitors to the Ford Road shopping district. Concertgoers are encouraged to bring chairs and coolers — but not alcohol — and some bring

Lower Rouge River Trail users will face bridge shutdowns

Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Joggers, walkers, bicyclists and nature buffs who use the Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail in Canton will face obstacles starting Monday as work crews shut down pedestrian bridges to perform maintenance. The pristine, tree-shrouded trail winds 5.5 miles from Canton Center, near Heritage Park, to the I-275 Metro Trail. It is located north of Michigan Avenue and has an offshoot to Flodin and Griffin neighborhood parks. Canton has hired a company to power wash and stain the eight wooden pedestrian bridges linking the trail. Work is expected to begin as early as Monday on three bridges between Canton Center and Sheldon. Work crews then will make their way east amid hopes of finishing the project by the Fourth of July, weather permitting.

Charges pending in armed robbery of Super Eight motel in Canton

Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Charges are pending after a lone gunman robbed the Super Eight motel in Canton and seized an undisclosed amount of money, police say. The suspect, who has a criminal history, is in custody of the Michigan Department of Corrections as possible charges loom for the Canton robbery and others in Van Buren Township and Ann Arbor. The suspect was captured in Ann Arbor one day after he is accused of robbing the Super Eight motel on Michigan Avenue, near Lotz, about 4:40 a.m. Friday, June 10. “He went into the location and jumped the counter,” Canton police Lt. Craig Wilsher said. “He pointed a gun at the clerk.”

No shots were fired and no one was injured. The suspect was captured the following day by authorities in Ann Arbor. He is being held on parole violations until he can be formally arraigned on charges expected for robberies in Canton, Van Buren and Ann Arbor. With charges pending, Canton police declined to release any further information about the suspect.

Admission is free to the jazz series, which draws crowds from across southeast Michigan and visitors from as far away as Florida, who plan visits to relatives here with the concerts in mind, DDA coordinator Amy Hamilton said.

"This has become huge," she said. "It's a great event."

She said most concerts draw a thousand or so people, though some have had crowds of 2,000. While it's impossible to gauge the economic impact to Canton, the concerts occur along a shopping corridor that has more than 300 retail shops, restaurants, department stores, financial institutions and hotels, among other businesses.

township's website and by providing information to homeowner associations.

Rizzo has its own education efforts. It sends a recycling educator into schools, including some in the Plymouth-Canton district, Munem said. "Kids are better at educating their parents than we ever will be," Munem said. "The kids get it — they are very receptive to recycling."

Rizzo serves about 27,200 households in Canton, all residences except apartments. Altogether, Rizzo collects about 42,900 tons of solid waste a year in Canton.

The company hauls the recyclable portion of the solid waste to a recycling center in Royal Oak, where it is sorted and baled. It's then taken to a processing facility, where it is melted down to become other products.

for Canton recycling efforts would involve implementing an automated program, allowing Rizzo trucks to pick up 64-gallon carts with mechanical, robot-like arms. Faas said there is no timetable for such a plan, though discussions are expected this year. He said it comes with a cost of more than $1 million for four new

Rizzo trucks and $1.5 million for new recycling carts — costs residents would likely face. "Ultimately who pays are the customers," Faas said. Canton households currently have a flat $142 fee per year for solid waste collection. It is placed on their tax bills. Just how much that fee could potentially spike with an automated recycling program isn't yet known. Officials say it is the direction in which communities either have moved or are moving toward. "It's where every community is eventually going," Munem said. For now, residents who need a recycling cart can get it for $10 at the treasurer's office, located in the Canton Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center.

Downtown Plymouth doubles bike parking spaces

Joanne Maliszewski
Staff Writer

As debate continues over available vehicle parking in downtown Plymouth and as more residents bicycle into town, the Downtown Development Authority — in partnership with the Wilcox Foundation — has just doubled the number of bike racks.

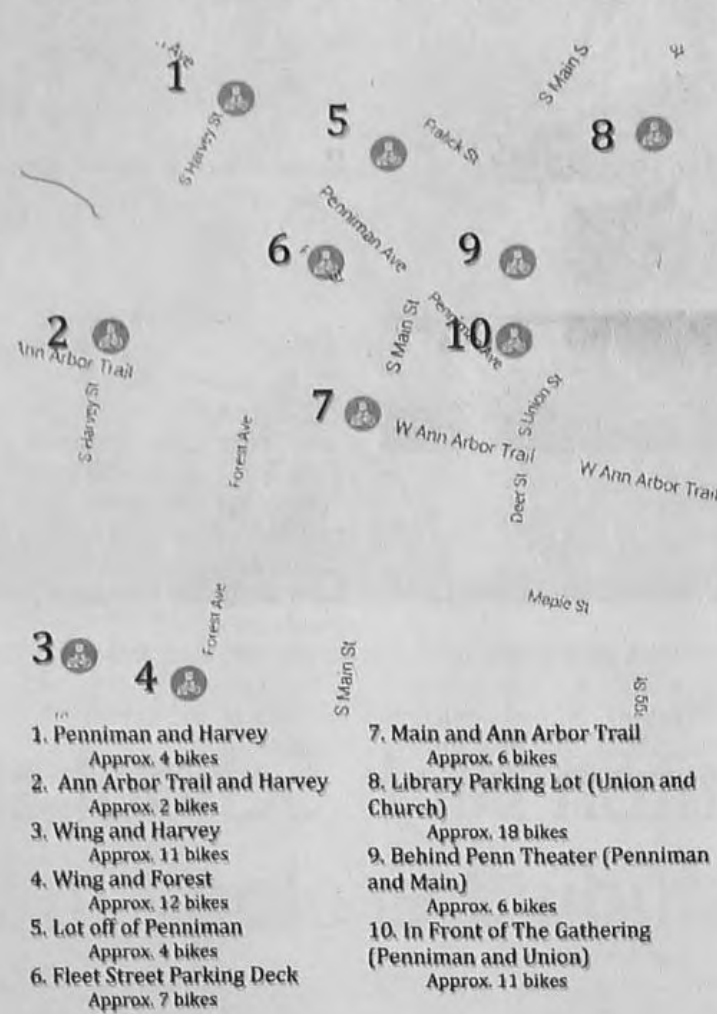

“We saw more people riding their bikes downtown and we didn’t have as many places as we would like to park bikes,” said Tony Bruscato, DDA executive director.

With the additional racks, bicyclists have 75 parking spots throughout downtown. Bike racks have now been installed in four new locations, including The Gathering, at Forest and Wing, at Wing and Harvey and single parking posts on Penniman, east of Harvey.

As more bicyclists ride into town, the DDA had received some questions about additional parking.

Plymouth resident Del Templeton, a retired school district employee, was one of those bicyclists. Without designated parking, he and others have to find a place to stand the bike and chain it.

“Downtown is busy. But you see a lot more bicyclists,” Templeton said. He had mentioned the need for more bike racks to a friend on the

Wilcox Foundation board. “I think it is great the DDA went with it.”

Templeton began bicycling in earnest about 10 years ago, as he says, to be healthy and he has been riding since, in-increase in bicyclists and began removing vehicle parking spots to install bike racks. Business owners complained that they would lose customers. As it turned out, businesses saw an increase in customers who biked into town.

“In climates that are more conducive, businesses are starting to embrace bicyclists to come to their places,” Templeton said, adding that in one vehicle parking spot there’s room for six to eight bicycles.

Canton Public Works Manager Bob Belair said signs will be posted to alert trail users to bridge closures. He said the maintenance work is needed to keep the bridges — built from 2008 to 2011 — in good condition.

Municipal Services Director Tim Faas said trails have consistently been ranked as the top priority of Canton residents who have responded to community surveys spearheaded by Canton Leisure Services.

has been No. 1 for years.”

One such survey in 2014 found that 81 percent of Canton residents had a desire for trails where they can walk, run or bike.

Specifically, the Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail has been used for events such as Liberty Fest runs and biking events, along with trail users who enjoy it as a quiet, peaceful nature getaway that some say is one of Canton’s hidden gems.

“I’ve never been on the trail when I haven’t seen people using it,” Belair said.

Access to the trail head and a parking lot can be found off Morton Taylor, north of Michigan Avenue. No motorized vehicles are allowed on the trail.

Meanwhile, amid strong demand from residents, Canton officials have confirmed plans for a 1.5-mile extension of the trail from the I-275 Metro Trail to Hannan Road — the dividing line between Canton and Wayne.

Belair said the project should be completed in 2017.

Canton Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy,

when the trail expansion to Hannan was announced, said the trail system is one of the amenities that makes Canton desirable to longtime residents and newcomers, saying it “has proven to be a considerable asset to the community.”

Even longer-term, Canton officials say the Lower Rouge trail could potentially be extended further east into the city of Wayne and also west to Cherry Hill Village on Canton’s west side.

Thomann selected as new P-CEP band director

G. Jonathan Thomann has been selected as the new director of bands at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park, following the resignation of David Armbruster.

Thomann was associate director of bands since 2011 and director of the P-CEP Marching Band since 2013. Thomann received his master's degree in music education and wind band conducting from the Hartt School at the University of Hartford in 2015 and his undergraduate degree from Eastern Michigan University

Thomann's vision and commitment to excellence are reflected by the growth and initiatives he set in motion over the past five years, which include increased enrollment in the curricular bands, implementation of the Chamber Winds course and curriculum, development of two jazz bands, design and implementation of the Plymouth Soundscape Ensemble, Michael Colgrass and Frank Ticheli Composer/Artist in Residence and the P-CCS Middle School Honor Band.

Thomann's experience also includes numerous other teaching and performing appearances.

Canton High School students traveled in June to Belize with teacher Danielle Ramos to study the Caribbean ecology.

Canton High School students studied ecology in Belize

Science teacher Danielle Ramos of Canton High School organized a group of 16 students to participate in a nine-day Reef Ecology Program in Belize through Ecology Project International. EPI is a field science and conservation organization that partners scientists with local and international students and educators in ecologically critical environments in the Galapagos, Costa Rica, Baja Mexico and Yellowstone, as well as Belize.

In Canton's course, students split their time between EPI's Caribbean research site and a rainforest biological station. At the reserve, students explored Belize's barrier reef and searched for the invasive lionfish to study and dissect back on land. In the rainforest, students stayed at a jaguar preserve, hiked to waterfalls and learned about the country's plant and animal life.

Wayne County Community College District's Forty-Seventh Annual Commencement Ceremony

Dr. Mark S. Schlissel, the 14th President of the University of Michigan, delivered the keynote address for the Wayne County Community College District's (WCCCD) 47th commencement ceremony at Ford Field in Detroit on Saturday, June 4th. More than 1,800 students received degrees and certificates in various disciplines.

"I want to give a very special shout out to Chancellor, Dr. Curtis L. Ivery for his amazing 21 years of leadership of the District and opening the doors to higher education for the people of Wayne County," Dr. Schlissel went on to say.

"The key to thriving through change is education, and the benefits extend beyond enhancing careers. It enhances life – for you as graduates and everyone you interact with," Dr. Schlissel told the graduates. "Education is the gift that keeps on giving. It informs how we interact as citizens, how we vote, and how we approach our greatest challenges."

Among this year's graduates was Ms. Ruby Watson Parker, a great-grandmother, received her nursing degree at age 87. Ms. Parker enrolled at WCCCD in 1969, and remembers her journey here at WCCCD. Also making news was Meranda Sawabini, the mother of quadruplets, who graduated with her nursing degree.

Dr. Curtis L. Ivery who conferred the various degrees and certificates reminded the students that "As we approach our 50th anniversary, education continues to be the key to achieving success. Our students leave with the assurance that they step forward into this changing society with the knowledge and tools they need to succeed."

These sentiments were echoed by Dr. Schlissel when he said, "We need college graduates. Twenty-five percent of Michiganders over the age of 25 have some college but no degree. Yet, the Business Leaders for Michigan estimates that by the year 2020, 70 percent of the jobs in Michigan will require education beyond high school level. Think about the problems we face as a society in our state, in our schools and neighborhoods. These problems can best be solved by educated citizens who understand what communities need. Congratulations! You made it!"

Main Street Opera packs wallop with inaugural gala

Main Street Opera Theatre held its inaugural formal Opera Ball Gala Fundraiser at the PARC on Saturday, June 18. The event opened with a red carpet with pictures provided by local photographer Krisjan Krafchak. Guests then enjoyed a concert featuring some of Main Street Opera Theatre's opera singers: Alexa Lokensgard, Brittney Ward, Aaron von Allmen, Leslie Naeve, Catherine Davis and executive director Noelle Jacquez of Plymouth. The pianists were Richard Lenz and Kevin Naeve.

Canton resident and world class chef Claude Thomas prepared a stunning meal for the guests, followed by homemade sorbet.

Guests danced the night away to the band led by Plymouth resident and former lead singer Al Jacquez of 1960s and '70s rock band Savage Grace. Band members included Jim King on piano, Jerry Hall on drums and Owen Ananich on bass guitar.

Plymouth residents Elsbeth and Dan Carty led the crowd in two waltzing lessons.

Main Street Opera Theatre is led by Jacquez; Elsbeth Carty, who serves as production director; and Diane Craighead, design director.

The Main Street Opera Theatre is in the PARC building, Room 204.

The Al Jacquez Band provided the evening's dance music.

Michael Schuster and Jessica Montgomery dance the night away.

Check out 2016 Maxima at Nissan of Canton

The redesigned 2016 Nissan Maxima is a powerful, good-handling sedan that stays true to the nameplate's performance-oriented heritage and features an upscale interior that befits its price. You can view and test drive one at Nissan of Canton, 42175 Michigan Ave.

"Maxima" is Nissan's longest continually-in-use nameplate, and the eighth-generation car is a boldly styled sedan that draws heavily from the Nissan Sport Sedan Concept.

Ever since the Nissan Altima grew into a mid-size family sedan in the early 2000s, the Maxima hasn't fit neatly into a segment. Nissan says the 2016 Maxima is designed to compete with larger, traditional full-size sedans like the Chevrolet Impala and Toyota Avalon, as well as appeal to buyers looking to move up to a luxury car, like the Acura TLX.

The 2016 Maxima is offered in five trim levels — S, SV, SL, SR and Platinum — that determine the level of equipment; accessories are available, but there are no option packages. We drove an SL, which is priced at $37,715, and the $38,495 SR. That one is the most performance-focused model, with unique suspension bushings, springs, shocks, front stabilizer bar and chassis bracing, in addition to 19-inch alloy wheels with stickier Goodyear tires (prices include an $825 destination charge).

Exterior and styling

The Maxima brings Nissan's Energetic Flow design language to its sedan lineup. Signature cues include a plunging grille bordered by LED daytime running lights and gloss-black pillar finishes that give the roof a floating appearance — something Nissan says is inspired by a fighter jet's canopy. The front end is aggressive — the car looks menacing when you see it coming up on you in your rear-view mirror — and also memorable. It's a design that demands a reaction, good or bad.

How it drives

Large cars may be known for a forgiving, comfortable ride quality, but that's not the Maxima formula. Compared with a Chevrolet Impala or Chrysler 300, which both do a good job smoothing out bumps and cracks in the road, the Maxima is a much more connected, tighter-handling car. There's remarkably little body roll when driving quickly through a corner. You feel bumps, but they're dealt with in a refined way.

The SR trim level's unique suspension is considerably firmer and busier; you feel more road imperfections, even smaller ones, and the impact is harsher when you hit a big pavement crack. It's a little too rough-riding for me, especially considering the good ride-and-handling balance the regular suspension provides.

You'll want the SR trim if you really care about steering feel, as it offers the best of the bunch. Press the Sport button in an SR, however, and the steering wheel gains a nice, firm heft to it and some feedback through the wheel. It feels right in this performance-focused trim.

All trim levels benefit from the performance of the standard 3.5-liter V-6 engine, which provides smooth, effortless acceleration. Rated at 300 horsepower, the V-6 still has power to spare for a quick pass at highway speeds. It pairs with a continuously variable automatic transmission that's programmed to act like a conventional automatic at low speeds for a more traditional driving experience, according to Nissan.

The Maxima shows how far CVT technology has come recently, at least when paired with a powerful engine. It's mostly unobtrusive, with only a hint of the droning that's associated with this type of transmission when you accelerate hard. If you've been driving a car with a conventional automatic, this CVT won't seem strange or different.

One of the benefits of a CVT is that it's able to quickly increase engine speed when you want more power because it doesn't need to shift to a lower gear. The Maxima's CVT is very responsive; nudge the gas pedal and engine rpm immediately increases, providing more power.

CVTs usually enhance gas mileage, and the Maxima's EPA-estimated 25 mpg combined rating tops most V-6 competitors by a few mpg or so.

Interior

Overall quality and attention to detail is very good. The standard leather-wrapped steering wheel feels great; it's even better in the SR, which has Alcantara simulated-suede inserts.

The upper sections of the doors are finished with soft-touch material that's a comfortable alternative to the door armrests.

The center console has a padded section to rest your knee against, and there's real stitching on the doors, console and dashboard. One element that doesn't look premium, however, is the simulated metal finish on the dashboard, doors and center console. It doesn't look real.

Fighter jets also informed the layout of the cabin controls, according to Nissan. The center dashboard control panel is angled 7 degrees toward the driver, and center console controls are close at hand.

The new Maxima's roofline is 1.3 inches lower, which contributes to the sedan's hunkered-down look.

The Maxima has the latest version of Nissan's NASA-inspired Zero Gravity front seats. They're finished in cloth (S), leather (SV and SL), premium leather with quilted Alcantara inserts (SR) or premium leather with quilted leather inserts (Platinum).

Ergonomics and electronics

Digital screens are rapidly taking over the dashboards of modern cars, and there are two in the Maxima: a 7-inch screen between the gauges and an 8-inch touch-screen in the center of the dashboard. The gauge cluster screen lets you cycle through different modes to see information like speed and heading, trip data, tire pressure and active safety features.

The dashboard screen is the primary display for the standard navigation system and multimedia functions. The Display Commander control knob on the center console can also operate the dashboard touch-screen.

Cargo and storage

The Maxima's 14.3-cubic-foot trunk is nicely shaped, and the trunk lid's support arms move within an enclosed area, so there's no risk of them crushing your cargo. The release straps for the 60/40-split folding back-seat are in the trunk. The rear seatbacks fold flat with the trunk floor.

The Maxima has a media bin just ahead of the center console cup-holders. The bin is large enough for an iPhone 6 Plus, according to Nissan, and it's also where the car's two standard USB ports are located.

Safety

Most of the Maxima's active safety features come on SL and higher trims. These models have standard blind spot warning, rear cross-traffic alert, adaptive cruise control, forward collision warning with autonomous braking and predictive forward collision warning. Predictive forward collision warning uses low-mounted radar to "see" under the car directly ahead of you to the next one in line. The system can issue a warning if it senses that car slowing suddenly — even if you can't see it yourself.

The top-of-the-line Platinum trim adds a surround camera system with moving-object detection and a drowsy-driver warning system. Drowsy-driver warning compares steering inputs at the beginning of a drive with ones later in the trip to determine if the driver is getting tired and needs to take a break.

Value in its class

Years ago, Nissan dubbed the Maxima the 4-Door Sports Car. It's an ambitious tagline, but it reflects the fact that the car caters to a specific type of buyer: the driving enthusiast who still needs sedan practicality. The 2016 Maxima is no different from its predecessors in this regard, but its new level of luxury — both in terms of cabin materials and features — now makes it a credible alternative to entry-luxury sedans. If you're shopping sport sedans, it's worth a test drive.

Eagle project helps scout's former elementary school

Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

A good start at Isbister Elementary, Tom Cousino says, motivated him to give back to the school years after he'd moved on.

Tom, a 15-year-old from Plymouth Township, recently returned to his alma mater for his Eagle Scout project: sprucing up the Isbister grounds, including the two wood-sided pits for playing gaga ball, a variation of dodge ball that's popular at the school.

"It's kind of the starting ground for all of my success," Tom said of Isbister, which is on Canton Center Road.

"The teachers there really helped me out. I was really close to Mr. (Lee) Harrison," the principal, he added. "It was just a really fun place."

Tom is with Boy Scout Troop 1537, based at Plymouth First United Methodist Church, and is a candidate for the rank of Eagle, the highest level in the Boy Scouts.

Eagle candidates are required to organize and manage a major project as one of the steps toward achieving the rank. Tom picked Isbister as the beneficiary of his project.

He met with the principal, Lee Harrison, to get approval for the work: rustproofing and painting several metal poles on the perimeter of the school's Dumpster area and cleaning and staining the wooden walls of the two octagon-shaped gaga ball pits.

Tom planned out the project, estimated the cost, helped raise money for supplies (the Isbister parent-teacher organization kicked in $200) and enlisted fellow scouts — and even a non-scout friend — to help with the labor, which was completed last month.

The gaga ball pits, Harrison said, were just purchased last year by the Isbister PTO and needed to be protected from the elements. The poles defining the Dumpster area were old and rusty; rustproofing and new beige paint helps them blend in with nearby fencing, Tom said.

The work was performed on two different days, one in April and one in May; volunteers included fellow scouts, Tom's father Jeff and Phil Klump, Troop 1537 Scoutmaster.

Tom estimates he spent between 50 and 60 hours planning the project, starting last fall. The total cost, for materials, was around $400.

"It's nice to see him grow up to be this independent, hard-working young man," Harrison said. "He really did a great job. He's very serious about it. ... We're really proud of him."

Tom has been in scouting since his days at Isbister, when he was in the Cub Scout pack there. He has been a Boy Scout for about four years.

Scouting, he said, develops leadership skills and requires one to be self-motivated.

"It's not like sports or school, where you're just kind of told what to do," he said. "You have to kind of learn on your own at times."

Tom will be a sophomore later this year at Salem High School, where he was on the soccer and swim teams as a freshman.

He plans to study engineering in the future and have a career in vehicle design.

Plymouth Historical Museum now has its own defibrillator

The Plymouth Historical Museum is the owner of a new LifePak CR Plus defibrillator. The museum purchased the AED with a $2,500 grant from Plymouth Community United Way. The AED was recently installed inside the museum vestibule.

"We've been trying for some time, through various channels, to get an AED donated," said Elizabeth Kerstens, the museum's executive director. "We were so happy when we heard that the United Way approved our grant application." This is the museum's first grant from the United Way.

"We just want to be prepared," Kerstens said. "The average age of the volunteers and employees in our building daily is over 60, but the reality is, anyone can have life-threatening heart issues. Most schools have an AED now." The fire department will train museum personnel on proper use of the AED.

Capt. Jim Davison of the Northville Fire Department, Plymouth Station, recommended the purchase of a LifePak AED based on ease of use and the availability of supplies. These are the same AEDs used at Plymouth City Hall and the Cultural Center.

"The fire department is just across the street and they are thrilled we now have an AED," Kerstens said.

The American Heart Association notes that at least 20,000 lives could be saved annually by prompt use of AEDs.

Every year the museum welcomes thousands of visitors representing all age groups. The addition of the AED to the museum, along with the training that will be received by the staff, will allow for immediate response to medical emergencies on site.

The Plymouth Community United Way works to improve the lives of all people affected by the community's issues by pinpointing the root causes of problems that threaten our community — developing strategies and partnerships to change them. For more information, go to www.plymouthunited-way.org.

The Plymouth Historical Museum is a privately funded membership organization dedicated to preserving, teaching and presenting history through the operation and support of the Plymouth Historical Museum.

The museum is located in downtown Plymouth at 155 S. Main Street. Hours of operation are 1-4 p.m. Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children. Go to www.plymouthhistory.org for events and exhibit information.

Apps to make life easier

Jon Gunnells
TECH SAVVY

Angry Birds, Candy Crush, the WatchESPN app. These are all great tools to help entertain and improve quality of life. But the real MVPs are the productivity apps that simply make life much easier. Whether you have an Android, iPhone or even a Windows or Blackberry device, there are countless apps that will help you save time, money or simply organize your life better.

Read2Go reading app

Who doesn't love a good book? Endless entertainment. But also endless logistics problems. They are hard to lug to work and you can't bring too many of them on vacation. They never seem to be on your person when you have down time. But we all know our phones never leave our sides. The Read2Go app is a paid app ($19.99) that lets users access more than 200,000 eBooks and even newspapers. Maybe you can use the app to read my columns on the go!

Just like your Kindle devices, you can adjust font size, color and background and even bookmark pages. So when you pick up your book the next day, it is right where you left it. The app has been around for a few years, but was recently updated with easier navigation. Of course, if you already own a Kindle and/or a library card, a simpler solution may be available.

The Kindle app allows readers to access its purchased and free eBooks, articles, audiobooks and more. And with Kindle's Cloud Reader, books are synced across devices. Need to stow your laptop during a flight takeoff? Pull out your phone and you will be on the correct page. Library patrons can also choose from hundreds of thousands of eBooks and audiobooks through a system called Overdrive, which links your Kindle account with your library account and lets users access free books without even visiting a library. Downloads last for a few weeks, can be extended and you can even place a hold on books that are currently unavailable.

Reliable weather apps

We've all been burned by our native weather app. Dark Sky is a bit more reliable, but will cost a few bucks and Weatherbug is both free and more detailed than what comes pre-loaded on your phone. As of June 2016, you can even delete your unwanted iPhone apps (weather, tips, etc.) and clear space for apps you actually use.

iDealo price comparing app

With so many online retailers, it is difficult to discover the best prices on products. And there is nothing worse than making a purchase only to find a better deal somewhere else. The iDealo app prevents these pain points by allowing users to compare prices for more than a million products in more than 20,000 online stores. Items are searchable by entering the product name, EAN number or by scanning a bar code. The best part: the app is free and is compatible for iPhone and Android devices.

MediSafe pill reminder

Life is busy and so we forget things, but some things we can't afford to forget. Doses, measurements and schedules can all be recorded in the MediSafe application. Users can receive daily reminders and even refill notifications. The Medi-Safe Pill Reminder app is family friendly, so you can manage multiple users within a single interface. You can even send progress reports to your doctor. The Medi-Safe app is less than a dollar and available for Android and iPhone devices.

Of course, if reading books, spending money and taking pills doesn't sound like fun to you, there's seemingly always another sequel to Angry Birds, Candy Crush or another addicting game waiting for you in the app store.

NHL ENTRY DRAFT

USA Hockey alums dominate first round

NHL teams draft several ex-NTDP players on opening night

Tim Smith
Staff Writer

There indeed was a red-white-and-blue glow Friday at Buffalo's First Niagara Center.

Led by Auston Matthews, Clayton Keller and Kieffer Bellows, USA Hockey alums paraded to the podium during the National Hockey League Entry Draft's opening round.

Matthews, a center from Arizona who played for the U.S. National Team Development Program in 2013-14 and 2014-15, was drafted first overall by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

But the draft's American flavor continued when former NTDP players Matthew Tkachuk and Clayton Keller were selected 6-7 overall — by Calgary and Arizona, respectively.

"It's unbelievable, it's crazy to think I'm here today," Keller, who with 189 points is the all-time scorer in NTDP history, said on NBC Sports Network. "All the work I put in when I was younger is finally paying off, and I think the real work starts the day after the draft."

Keller (2014-16 in the NTDP) and Tkachuk (2013-15 in the NTDP) were teammates as youngsters in St. Louis, and exchanged a hug as they passed each other on the First Niagara Center floor.

"Matthew Tkachuk's been one of my best friends since we were little," said Keller, whose second season with the NTDP was out of USA Hockey Arena in Plymouth. "We played on the same line together, we're so close and still are." As for Matthews, also interviewed on NBCSN, it was "a dream come true" being drafted first overall and "especially (by) a storied franchise like the Toronto Maple Leafs."

Matthews, whose NTDP tenure (2013-15) was out of the Ann Arbor Ice Cube, can't wait to start his Toronto career. "Just be myself every day, be a good teammate, work hard and use my skills to the best of my abilities."

The NTDP had other alums who had the chance to don NHL uniforms and caps during the opening round (picks 1-30). Subsequent rounds were set for Saturday.

Taken 14th overall by Boston was defenseman Charlie McAvoy (2013-15 in the NTDP) while high-scoring forward Kieffer Bellows — who was a

HIGH-PERFORMANCE EXPORT

Naubert proving he can play with Europe's finest

Ed Wright
Staff Writer

When opponents of the German professional basketball team based in Ibbenbueren learned that 5-foot, 10-inch point guard Bobby Naubert secured the Swap Ballers' only roster spot allotted for an American, their reaction often bordered on disbelief.

"They were usually surprised because, hey, if you only get one American on your team, it figures you'd sign some 6-foot-8 guy who can jump through the gym, not a 5-10 point guard," Naubert said during a recent phone interview.

But the shock factor would dissipate quickly with every three-point rainbow Naubert would deliver through the net, and every slick, pin-point assist he'd distribute to a teammate.

During the 2016 season for Ibbenbueren, a town of 51,000 people located in the district of Steinfurt, Naubert proved that average-sized Americans can ball, as he singled the nets to the tune of 18.5 points per game and a league-leading 5.5

assists.

Those who knew Naubert during his highly-productive careers at Livonia Stevenson and Madonna University are anything but surprised by the success the smooth-as-silk lefty is enjoying overseas.

Among his collegiate accolades were a Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference "Player of the Year" award while playing at Madonna, where he set a WHAC record for career assists.

He is also the only player in the conference's distinguished history to score 1,800 points, dish out 700 dimes and grab 500 rebounds.

His skills are translating well in German.

"A lot of times, the defense would sag on me, at least early in games," he said. "After I hit a couple threes, they'd get up

MAKING THEIR MOVE

After successful Schoolcraft careers, players getting chance to advance to the next level

Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Schoolcraft College is turning into a fruitful proving ground in basketball, with several Ocelots earning tickets to four-year colleges to continue their careers and work toward academic degrees.

Off the heels of two hugely successful seasons in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association, along with long runs in the NJCAA tournament, a handful of players from Schoolcraft's men's basketball team are reaping life-changing benefits.

Guard Dre Black, who went to Westland John Glenn, received the green light to become a Detroit Titan in 2016-17. Canton alum Davon Taylor, a hard-working power forward who turned double-doubles into nightly occurrences, is headed to Corcord University in West Virginia.

"For us it means everything," Schoolcraft head coach

Abe Mashhour said. "When we recruit kids, we talk to them about, our number one goal is to move them on to four year schools. Give them the option.

"The other part for them, Dre and Davon both have just matured so well on and off the court. Totally improved their basketball skill level, their overall game, and academically as well. They both worked very hard in the classroom, they both represented the college and the program very, very well."

JUNIOR GOLF

Piot treats Western Junior as a 'learning experience'

Marty Budner
Staff Writer

The Western Junior Championship did not exactly finish the way James Piot had envisioned Thursday at Red Run Golf Club in Royal Oak.

The Canton resident entered the final 18 holes of play in a seven-way tie for fifth, seven shots behind leader Sean Maruyama. Piot's hopes of making up ground on the leader never materialized.

Maruyama, from Los Angeles, finished with 2-under 70 in his final round to win the tournament by two strokes over Texan Trevor Brown, 278-280. Ryggs Johnston from Libby, Mon., was third at 281 after finishing with 6-under 66 over his last 18 holes.

Piot, on the other hand, had a tough afternoon and carded a 4-over round of 76 and finished in a three-way tie for 26th.

"This isn't what I was hoping for at all," Piot said. "At the beginning of the day, I had it going. I was 2-under through eight to start my day and I was hoping to keep it going."

"But it started falling apart. It started going downhill and I was just grinding for pars near the end," he added. "I tried to keep it together the best I could."

A learning experience

Piot, a Michigan State commit, had dreams of a much higher finish this year after having done well in last year's Western Junior Championship at Chicago. Piot held a late lead in that tournament and ended up tied for seventh.

James Piot, a Canton resident who will be a senior at Catholic Central, lines up a putt on the ninth hole during Thursday's final round.

This year, Piot put himself in a strong position through the first 54 holes of the three-day tournament, especially after carding 3-under 69 in the second round, which put him in a tie for fifth. The final 18 holes Thursday afternoon proved the difference, as he had just one birdie to offset three bogeys and one double-bogey.

Piot finished his week of work with 46 pars, 12 birdies, 12 bogeys and a pair of double-bogeys. Both double-bogeys came Thursday on the same hole — the par-3, 194-yard fourth hole.

"I was thinking about winning this thing after the first two rounds and, through my first eight holes today, I was definitely thinking I was in it, for sure," said Piot, who helped lead Catholic Central to its second consecutive state championship earlier this month.

"Every tournament I play, I try to win," he added. "But it's always a learning experience whenever you don't play your best and you're hoping for better. Today, I definitely can take some stuff out of there and use it to help me better myself in the future."

Even with the disappointing outcome, Piot still entertains positive vibes about historic Red Run.

"I've played (Red Run) three or four times," said Piot, whose father Glenn served as his caddy. "I love this place. It's pretty straightforward. You hit the fairway and keep it below the hole. It's just that today I didn't do a good job of it. But it's a simple course."

Catholic Central's James Piot makes a putt during the Western Junior Championship held at Red Run.

Missing the cut

Orchard Lake resident Devin Deogun and Bloomfield Hills native Imaad Qureshi also participated in the Western Junior, the country's oldest national junior golf championship. Neither were among the low 44 scorers after the first 36 holes and did not make the cut.

Deogun, who will be a senior at Cranbrook Kingswood, finished at 150 after rounds of 76 and 74. Deogun, the Division 2 individual state champion, highlighted his final round of play with an eagle on the par-5, 465-yard first hole.

Qureshi finished his tournament at 151, rallying with 73 Wednesday after opening with 78. Qureshi, out of Detroit Country Day, posted five birdies and 19 pars in his two days of work.

The Western Junior is considered a proving ground for future pros. Rickie Fowler, Hunter Mahan and Jim Furyk have been past champions, while Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson and 2015 PGA Tour Rookie of the Year Daniel Berger have also competed.

The tourney was last played in Michigan in 2005, when Fowler won at Blythefield Country Club in Belmont.

linemate of Keller's — was picked by the New York Islanders with the 19th pick.

"It's unbelievable," said McAvoy, who played 2015-16 at Boston University. "I don't even have words right now. I don't have to go too far. It's just an honor."

Bellows 19th pick

Bellows reached the 50-goal plateau in 2015-16 with the NTDP U18s and also collected more than 100 minutes in penalties to illustrate his mix of power and skill in the offensive zone.

"I'm a power forward, I'm not afraid to throw around my body," said Bellows, on NBCSN. "I love to score goals, I always loved to shoot the puck."

"I'm not afraid to get into the dirty areas and hit some guys."

Although excited to be drafted by the Islanders, Bellows likely will play 2016-17 at Boston University along with NTDP linemate Keller.

Meanwhile, his dad, Brian Bellows, was the second overall pick in the 1982 draft (taken by the Minnesota North Stars) and went on to score nearly 500 goals in over 1,000 NHL games.

The elder Bellows smiled when asked what NHL draft day was a bigger thrill, his own in 1982 or his son's.

"This one for sure, I'm just so excited," he said. "He ended up going to one of the couple teams I really wanted him to go to."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Just 'Super'

The Michigan Interscholastic Golf Coaches Association announced its 2016 Super Team, and three area high school golfers were named to the prestigious group.

Making the squad were Novi Detroit Catholic Central's James Piot (of Canton), Ben Smith and Plymouth's Jack Boczar. All just completed their junior seasons.

Hole-in-one club

Richard Czopek, 71, of Woodhaven, recorded a hole-in-one June 20 at Fox Hills Golf & Banquet Center in Plymouth.

Czopek aced the 156-yard No. 5 hole at the Lakes course, using a 7 Wood and Top Flite ball. He recorded a 43 for nine holes.

Coaching vacancies

Snapshots of Little League joy

Tim Smith
Staff Writer

For many youngsters, there is nothing better than being part of a little league team.

Whether the sport is baseball, soccer, football, basketball or hockey, rec leagues give them opportunity to be with friends, have fun and learn and grow while playing their favorite game.

Recently, I asked Jeff Holt, president of Plymouth-Canton Little League, if he could submit photos of baseball players from recent contests to show a glimpse of what the are experiencing and enjoying this spring and summer.

Some of those photos accompany this story.

I would be interested in receiving photos from other little league organizations — and not just baseball — that could be published in the Observer as space permits.

I would need names of players and coaches (first and last names), what league and division, and where the photo was taken.

Until August, the Observer will publish a regional sports section including Canton, Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington, Westland, Garden City and Wayne.

Photos should be e-mailed to me (tsmith@hometownlife.com) or colleagues

Dan O'Meara (domeara@hometownlife.com) and Ed Wright (ewright@hometownlife.com).

They likely will run as standalone photographs and not as stories.

MOVING UP

Realizing a dream

Black was understandably ecstatic about the chance to play at University of Detroit Mercy and attain his goal of joining a Division I program.

"It's a dream come true to be able to have this opportunity given to me," said Black, who was recruited by new Titans' coach Bacari Alexander. "It feels like all my hard work is paying off. It feels great knowing that the coaching staff at UDM have a lot of confidence in my ability to be a part of something special."

According to Black, his two seasons playing for the Ocelots proved invaluable in his all-around development.

"Schoolcraft helped me become a better player as well as give me experience in a collegiate setting both on and off the court," Black continued. "Coach Abe and Corey (McKendry) and Mike (Allie) all helped put me in positions to be seen by multiple coaches. That helped out tremendously."

"Schoolcraft just gave me a second opportunity to get to where I wanted to be. Now I get to spend my next two years on the D-I level as a Titan playing for coach Alexander and I couldn't be happier."

Opportunities

Black and Taylor aren't the only Schoolcraft products who are moving up in the collegiate basketball world.

Center RJ Coil will play the 2016-17 season at Florida Institute of Technology, a NCAA Division

II school.

"He had multiple Division I schools that were interested in him and a couple that even offered," noted Mashhour, about Coil. "But he wanted to go to school on the beach, and he had that opportunity."

Howell native Tyler Johnson, a sharp-shooting guard for the Ocelots, also is primed for a chance to keep playing. Mashhour noted that Johnson was slated to visit the University of Minnesota-Moorhead and had several other options to consider.

Guard Ja'Christian Biles also is on the D-I radar after losing his spot with the Titans. Mashhour said Biles needs to complete his two-year degree at Schoolcraft before being eligible to advance.

"It's more because of academics, he's academically behind right now," Mashhour stressed. "I know several universities are interested in him, but has to finish his two-year degree at Schoolcraft. He'll go Division I but not this upcoming year."

Biles had been recruited to go to Detroit by former Titans coach Ray McCallum, let go following the 2015-16 season.

Particularly proud of Taylor's growth as a player and person during his Schoolcraft career was Canton Chiefs head coach Jimmy Reddy.

"When he came to us as a ninth grader he was not that polished as a player," Reddy said. "He's one of the kids we're most proud of in terms of growth from ninth grade to 12th grade, and then the two years he did at Schoolcraft, he got better from year one to year two, so much better from year one to year two."

"And now he's got an opportunity to play at a Division II, four-year school and get a college degree, which is most important. He's turned into just a really outstanding young man. I've told him how proud I am and I can't wait to see how it ends up down there in West Virginia."

Stepping stone

Meanwhile, Mashhour said the fact several of his players are getting the chance to join four-year colleges is evidence to show incoming freshmen — that what Schoolcraft has to offer is as on the money as a Johnson trey from the corner.

"Absolutely, and that's what these kids want," Mashhour added. "They're coming to a junior college, and they're not looking at it as being the final destination, they're looking at it as being a stepping stone."

"For us, we welcome that opportunity for us to be a stepping stone."

Concurring was Patrick Yelsik of Schoolcraft's athletic department.

"It's a huge feather in our cap," Yelsik said. "We know that the majority of the kids we get are kids who out of high school would like to go to a four-year school. But for one reason or another, whether its academic or they were under-recruited, that was not an option for them."

"Now we can show incoming recruits, hey we've got all these kids who were in the same position as you two years ago and look where they're going?"

on me a little closer.

"There are a lot of very good players over there. I've gone up against guys who played Division I basketball — one from Georgetown and another from South Florida. Not only are the players pretty athletic over there, they play smart. The guards can all dribble the ball really well and they have great vision."

Naubert's opportunity to play professionally overseas materialized when — to make a long story short — a friend of a friend informed him that the TuS Red Devils, who are based in Bramsche, Germany, were in the market for a point guard.

"I attended a tryout, played pretty well and made the team," he said.

"They liked how I attacked the basket and could get to the free-throw line."

"My teammates included mostly Europeans. When everyone was talking German, I'd get a little lost and confused, but for the most part, we all communicated really well."

Naubert said the games are well-attended and the fans are spirited.

"They really get into it," he said. "There are usually chants going on in the stands. They love basketball. They like talking to us after games or if they recognize me around town, they'll stop me and talk to me. It's a cool area to live in. They really embrace the foreign players."

Naubert gave the team's supporters an abundance of thrills, including a three-point bomb that he swished as the buzzer sounded to give his team a one-point victory.

Videos posted on YouTube of Naubert's highlights show that he was a fearlessly drove the basket, could score in traffic, around the rim and from well beyond the three-point arc.

Ibberbueren provided Naubert with an apartment and a car this past season — a reflection of the respect the American has garnered in Europe.

"It's nice to be able to have some freedom and go and check out the sights over there," he said. "People are a little more laid back over there than in the United States. Everybody is pretty relaxed and not in a big rush to get somewhere."

With an eye on eventually becoming a teacher and coach — he majored in education at Madonna — Naubert has arrived at a crossroads, of sorts, as far as his basketball career is concerned.

"I've already received an offer to play for a team at the same level I played at last year, which I appreciate, but I'd like to try to move up a division," he said. "I'm still debating about whether to go back next season; there's a lot involved in it, and I have some time to think things over."

"If I don't go back, and my professional basketball career as a player is over, it's been a great two-year experience."

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Veteran Thomas returning to Madonna

Paul Thomas will return to the sideline for his second stint at the helm of Madonna University women's soccer effective July 1.

The announcement was made by director of athletics Bryan Rizzo after Jeff Hodgson, the Crusaders head coach for the past six seasons with a record of 52-48-11, held a meeting on campus to inform his team.

"I am so grateful to coach Hodgson for taking our program when we were without a field and seeing it through to the new facility," Rizzo said following the announcement in the team meeting. "Coach Hodgson has built a consistently competitive team and leaves a very strong group of returners plus an impressive group of recruits for coach Thomas."

Thomas

With the move, Rizzo is confident the women's soccer program will be in good hands moving forward. "It is wonderful to welcome coach Thomas back into the Madonna University head coaching family. He was very successful in his first run as the head coach and I see an incredibly bright future for the program under his leadership. He is a good man and good coach. Madonna is lucky to have him."

Thomas, a native of Manchester, England, takes over for the Crusaders with a head coaching record of 35-14-4 over three seasons (2006-08), highlighted by the 2008 campaign's 15-4 record, including a 12-0 mark in Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference play.

The Crusaders captured the WHAC regular season title and advanced to the conference tournament championship match in 2008. The Crusaders ended the 2008 season ranked 22nd in the NAIA. For his efforts, Thomas was named WHAC Coach of the Year.

After a two-year stint (2003-04) as an assistant coach at Saginaw Valley State University, Thomas joined Madonna as an assistant in 2005 before taking over as head coach for the 2006 season.

The Crusaders return 12 student-athletes from the 2015 roster and open the regular season with a home game against Huntington (Ind.) at 2 p.m. Sept. 2.

Quit your job without hurting your reputation

BY MARY LORENZ
 CAREERBUILDER

For many people, quitting a job can be a liberating experience, particularly when it's a position that's making you miserable. But while you may fantasize about leaving in a blaze of glory, telling your colleagues what you really think of them and where they can shove next month's financial reports, such rash behavior could come back to haunt you, career experts say.

"In many fields, people are very interconnected, so if you leave a position on bad terms, people in other organizations in your same field may hear about it," says Cheryl Palmer, a certified career coach and owner of the coaching firm Call to Career.

Even if you do not hold any ill will toward your employer and are simply leaving for a better opportunity, it's worth your while to keep in touch with former co-workers.

"You never know where your career path might lead you," says Samantha Lambert, director of human resources for Blue Fountain Media. "It doesn't make any sense to burn a bridge you (might) need to cross one day."

For example, Lambert says, you may find yourself interviewing elsewhere with a former boss or colleague, or you may need a recommendation or referral from them down the line.

When it comes to leaving your job, take the high road to maintain both good professional relationships and your reputation. Use these expert tips to quit your job gracefully.

Give adequate notice.

Two weeks is the standard amount of time to give your boss notice, but some companies have different policies, and certain roles may need more lead time to find a replacement. Find out your company's policy on giving notice, Lambert says, and offer to extend it if necessary. She also suggests volunteering to be available once you leave to help out with any questions. Should you need a referral from your former boss in the future, he or she will remember your thoughtfulness.

Resign with respect.

Be mindful when writing your resignation letter. "Your resignation letter lives in your file forever. It is not a place to air grievances, list everything you think is wrong with the company or place blame," says Michele Mavi, a career expert with Atrium Staffing. You won't gain anything by criticizing the organization at this point, and you also might regret your behavior later, should you ever run into a former colleague or decide you want to come back.

Don't be a lame duck.

Resist the urge to slack off in your last days on the job. "How you work during those last two weeks is essential to maintaining and growing your credibility," says Mindy Mackenzie, author of "The Courage Solution: The Power of Truth Telling With Your Boss, Peers, and Team." If you slack off, your colleagues will grow to resent you, and you never know when you might need a favor from one of them in the future.

Set your colleagues up for success.

"Be proactive about setting up your boss and colleagues for success (after) your departure," Mackenzie says. During your last few weeks, wrap up as many projects as possible, and delegate any unfinished or time-sensitive tasks to the appropriate people. Leave account login and password information in a central folder. Volunteer to help the company find and train a replacement, if possible.

Leave on a high note. No matter how you feel about the company you are leaving, try to leave on a good note.

"Keep it professional, positive and express gratitude for all you've learned," Mackenzie says. Even if the company treated you poorly, it is important to take the high road. "How you behave and how diligently you work will be long remembered. This is all about your name and your reputation."

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
