Canton cop back on job after crash

Darrell Clem
hometownlife.com

A motorist driving the wrong way on Michigan Avenue apparently was experiencing a medical condition when she struck a Canton police officer's patrol car, authorities have confirmed. Michigan State Police spokesman Michael Shaw said Monday it appears no criminal charges will be sought from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office for the two-car crash that occurred about 7:20 p.m. Friday on Michigan Avenue, near Lilley Road.

The wrong-way driver was taken to a hospital for non-life-threatening injuries. The police officer received treatment at an area hospital and went back to work.

"We're pretty lucky on both counts," Shaw said.

Police haven't disclosed the names of the drivers.

Canton Deputy Director of Police Chad Baugh said the police officer returned to her job soon after the crash.

"She went right back to work," he said. "We're very, very excited about that."

Authorities said it appears the wrong-way driver was traveling about 25-30 mph in the 55 mph zone. Police haven't said what kind of medical condition she may have been experiencing at the time of the crash.

State troopers from the Metro South Post responded to the crash and learned that a 2007 Ford Focus had struck the patrol car of a police officer who was responding to reports of a wrong-way driver.

Authorities said the wrong-way motorist was driving eastbound in the westbound lanes of Michigan Avenue.

Shaw said alcohol and drugs do not appear to have played a role in the crash. The wrong-way driver was alone in her car.

Pagan to lead state Democratic campaign to win back House majority

Pagan

Darrell Clem

State Rep. Kristy Pagan, D-Canton, is confident Democrats can make gains in the state House in 2018 if they listen to voters' concerns, recruit viable candidates and develop an effective campaign strategy.

Pagan, a second-term state lawmaker, is one of four House Democratic Caucus leaders chosen to lead the 2018 campaign amid hopes that Democrats can win support from voters and potentially take majority control of the House. Come Jan. 1, Republicans will have 63 seats compared to Democrats' 47.

"I think Democrats have to have a new approach. We're not winning and we need to change that," Pagan said.

Pagan and state Rep.-elect Kevin Hertel, D-St. Clair Shores, will chair the 2018 campaign while state Reps.

Jon Hoadley, D-Kalamazoo, and David LaGrand, D-Grand Rapids, will serve as finance chairs. The team was selected by incoming state House Democratic Leader Sam Singh, D-East Lansing.

Woman longs to find brother's misplaced Dutch grave

Lisa Roose-Church
Livingston Daily

Jacoba Uman survived growing up in the occupied Netherlands during World War II. Her brother, Anton Brower, did not. He was buried there.

Uman, who prefers to be called Jackie, visited her brother's grave in the 1970s and discovered his remains are missing.

"He died because the Germans put him to labor and starved him to death ... and now the Dutch lost his grave," 91-year-old Uman said as she choked back tears.

Uman did not tell her family about her discovery until her son, Ray Noble, began looking into his uncle's short life in the 1990s.

Noble learned the Dutch government moved "the entire cemetery," which is now the site of a hotel, and no one can tell the family the location of Anton Brower's remains.

"It's absurd they moved an entire cemetery, and nobody knows where it is," said Noble, who has hit brick walls with the Dutch government and church officials.

Born in America

Uman's parents immigrated to America from the Netherlands before she was born. Their firstborn daughter, her older sister, went with them. Uman was born in 1925, and her brother was born the same day the following year.

Jacoba "Jackie" Uman shares memories of her brother, who was forced by the Nazis into hard labor during World War II. Her son, Ray Noble, lends support as she tears up.

In about 1930, Uman's parents had difficulty finding work so they decided to pack up their home and return with their three children to the Netherlands, where they welcomed their fourth child.

Uman said her childhood was nothing extraordinary.

"I was just a teenager, living at home," she said. "We had a little band - my sister, my brother and my brother-in-law. We had a little group, and we played for some places. It was like a rock band. I played Hawaiian guitar."

The family's world was devastated when Germany invaded the Netherlands on May 10, 1940, just days shy of Uman's 15th birthday.

"We were at war," Uman said quietly. "We saw bombs falling on the city. My grandmother lived on the other side (of the city), and we were worried about her."

Uman struggles as she talks about the war, admitting that it is something she likes to forget. She says the memories, however, seem to come more and more as she ages.

She does not remember dates, but does recall that major events always happened in May.

Her hands shake slightly, and her son reaches out to hold her hand as her voice wobbles while remembering the knock at the family's door that meant she would lose her brother.

"They went door to door, taking young men and older men, any man the Germans could find," Uman said. "I tried to hide him. ... We were going to stick him behind some boards. We had a plan."

The plan failed. Uman watched from a window in her family's home as her brother was led outside and joined other men who were forced by the Nazis to walk down the street. She said she doesn't remember if the Nazis had guns, but assumes they did.

Uman's mother was returning home when she noticed her son walking in the line. Unable to reach out, Uman's mother continued home.

"They took him to the freight cars and put him in," she said.

The Nazis took her father the same day.

Uman's mother worked as a seamstress in a factory to support her daughters during the war, but eventually the factory ran out of fabric, Uman said.

The food ran out, too, and her mother sold the family's piano to pay for food. Uman also traded the gin her grandfather made to farmers for food.

"The farmers liked their gin so I got food for gin, potatoes and flour," she said. "I tried to find sugar beets that would fall off the truck sometimes."

At night, Uman, her family and friends would gather around the radio to listen to updates about the war.

Uman, who did not learn about the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor until she returned to America in 1946, did hear that America had joined the war.

She lived with the sounds of Allied bombs dropping on her city.

Allied air forces carried out a number of operations over Rotterdam and the surrounding region during World War II. The Allied forces also dropped leaflets and, during the last week of the war, emergency food supplies.

Aftermath

Americans found Uman's brother "wandering the roads of Germany," and they took him to the Catholic hospital in Vaals, a town in the extreme southeastern part of the Dutch province of Limburg.

He was able to get a message to his mother and sisters. It was May 1945.

"It was awful," Uman said. "First my mom went to see him, and then I went down there. He was blind, bad (shape), skinny and seemed a lot taller. He was skin and bones.

"They worked him to death," she said estimating that her brother had been in the labor camp at least six months.

Her brother, known as Ton, died in September 1945. He was 19.

Decades later, Uman's son learned her brother, who was born in Detroit, was forced to work on a railroad in Hamm, Germany, during the war.

Noble believes his uncle was the only American-born laborer in the railroad factory.

Uman's father survived the war. Eventually, her parents divorced, and her mother remarried.

In 1946, Uman boarded a boat and returned to America, because her mother wanted her to grow up in her native country. She turned 21 while sailing from Rotterdam to Portland, Maine.

Uman, who worked as a bookkeeper for a bank in Detroit, married in 1949 and had four children. After the birth of her oldest child, Uman was able to sponsor her mother and stepfather and then her youngest sister so they could come to America. Her oldest sister, who was married, remained in the Netherlands.

"In the beginning, I really hated the Germans," Uman said. "Now, I don't. It's just too much to carry hate forward. ...

"I think about my brother. What we would have been like had he lived?" she added. "It would have been nice to have a brother in my life."

majority in the state House begins today, and I have faith in these leaders to build our caucus and return the voice of working families to the state Capitol," Singh said in a statement released this month. "I look forward to working with this team to recruit promising candidates around the state, helping them reach out to voters and raising the resources to take this campaign to every corner of the state."

Pagan has won two state House races and said she is up to the task of moving Democrats forward.

"I think my experience running and winning competitive elections brings a lot to this team," she said.

Pagan said Democrats need to inspire more voters and candidates to get involved in the election process and to use technology to run effective campaigns. She called for efforts to "recruit top-notch candidates, train them to run very strategic campaigns and coach them" to win.

Pagan said a strong Democratic gubernatorial candidate in 2018 also can help legislative candidates in the state House and Senate.

"I hope it will be a good year for Democrats," she said.

In her first term, Pagan served on the House Appropriations and House Oversight and Ethics committees and was viewed by Democrats as a strong advocate for pay equity, school funding and domestic violence and sexual assault prevention. She has a bachelor's degree in education from Western Michigan University and a master's degree in political management from the George Washington University.

As the 21st District state legislator, her district includes Canton, Belleville and Van Buren Township.

Still time to donate to Salvation Army Red Kettle effort

The Salvation Army of Metro Detroit says there is still time to give to the 2016 Red Kettle fundraising campaign. All tax-deductible donations made through the campaign's official end date of Saturday, Dec. 31, will be doubled thanks to matching support by Detroit area businesses and community leaders.

The nonprofit organization is 10 percent behind in donations, and needs more than $3.5 million to reach its $8.4 million goal.

While the iconic red kettles left storefronts on Christmas Eve, select Kroger locations will host bell ringers and kettles throughout metro Detroit.

"The Salvation Army is grateful for the generosity of those supporting the Red Kettle campaign," said Major Russ Sjögren, general secretary and metro Detroit area commander for The Salvation Army Eastern Michigan Division.

"There is still great need to help those in the metro Detroit community and 87 cents of every dollar donated goes back into the community."

Red kettle donations help support programs and services that assist families and individuals throughout the year across Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. To make a tax-deductible contribution to The Salvation Army, visit www.salmich.org, text SALMICH to 41444 or call 877-SAL-MICH.

Trinity House show celebrates Blind Willie

Concert will celebrate music of Blind Willie Johnson

Six of Michigan's best roots and blues artists join together for an evening celebrating the music of Blind Willie Johnson on Saturday Jan. 7, at 8 p.m. at Trinity House Theatre, 38840 West Six Mile, Livonia.

The performance will benefit Neighborhood Service Organization.

The artists who will perform include Joel Mabus, Shari Kane and Dave Steele, Jo Serrapere and John Devine, Lac La Belle, Danny Kroha and Rollie Tussing.

Blind Willie Johnson was a gospel blues singer and guitarist who came to prominence in the 1920s and 1930s. The American based record label, Alligator Records, recently celebrated his music with a tribute CD called "God Don't Never Change - The Songs of Blind Willie Johnson."

The album received two Grammy Award nominations.

Joel Mabus made his first record for a small Michigan label in 1977 with mandolin legend Frank Wakefield guesting. Three years later, he signed with Flying Fish Records for a two-record deal. In 1986 he was one of the first indie folksingers to start his own label (Fossil Records), even before the advent of the home studio and compact disc, which makes the practice so common today.

Mabus has toured widely and makes his living at music, though he is flying under the radar of American pop culture. Whether you label him folk, Americana, or a singer-songwriter, Mabus remains a one-off, walking that lonesome valley, making and marking his way as a working artist outside the confines of the usual music business.

As an acoustic blues duo, Shari Kane and Dave Steele throw a four handed guitar party of original and time-honored blues, gospel, swing and ragtime. Steeped in Daves smoky vocals, percussive rhythm and innovative lead lines, Shari's crisp picking style, rootsy leads, and stinging slidework, their music has been described as street swing and stomp blues, such as a testament to sounds once heard on the streets of Harlem, the juke joints of Mississippi, or from the jug bands of Memphis.

Jo Serrapere (sarah-pear), a songwriter from Detroit, started playing guitar at 23 when seeking out lessons from Delta Blues guitarist, Shari Kane. Shortly thereafter, Jo began writing her own songs while completing her college studies in clinical psychology.

She now plays at music venues throughout the United States. Whether recreating old songs from the Mississippi Delta or performing songs in her own confessional style, Jo's music stands original while always reflecting her love of American roots music. Her eclectic writing and performance fuses elements of various modern and traditional folk music, old-time and electric blues, roots rock, garage surf, swing and alt-country.

John Devine, also a Detroit native, attended masters classes in classical guitar at Miami University. He went on to explore traditional blues styles and develop a love for the race records of the 1920s and 30s. John performed as a solo blues artist and songwriter before teaming up with Jo in 1998. He continues to explore other forms of American roots music and teach his craft.

Lac La Belle is an acoustic duo from Detroit, Michigan. Made up of multi-instrumentalists Jennie Knaggs and Nick Schillace, Lac La Belle is influenced by early Americana, blending history with the present to create stories that capture the human experience via accordion, mandolin, banjo, ukulele, organ, harmonizing vocals, and finger-picking resonator guitar.

What sets this acoustic duo apart is their utilization of their varied experiences; Schillace has a separate career performing his instrumental guitar pieces, and he wrote the first academic work on the recordings of John Fahey; Knaggs has history with New Music compositions and improvisations, including her vocal work in Matthew Barney's film River of Fundament. Their separate experiences learning folk and blues in Appalachia, American roots binds the duos compositions with a heavy thread.

Danny Kroha is a singer, songwriter, guitar player, record producer, and performer who has been working and performing in Detroit since the 1980s. In the last 30 years, he has been a member of eight bands, including the influential blues-punk group the Gories (singer and rhythm guitarist) and the minimalist, performance art garage trio the Demolition Doll Rods. Danny has recorded albums and singles which have been released by various record labels in the U.S. and Europe.

His tours have taken him across the U.S., through Europe and to Brazil. His work has been extensively written about, including his first solo full-length album, Angels Watching Over Me, released in 2015, featuring traditional gospel, blues, and folk songs performed on a range of instruments including mouth harp, diddley bow, and slide guitar.

Award-winning guitarist, educator and performer Rollie Tussing has performed in concert halls, major music festivals and sidewalks all over the United States and parts of Europe. His raggedy brand of music is informed by the era of 78 rpm records, juke joints, and street performers. He composes a lot of his own songs and has a knack for re-working an old obscure tune, finding beauty in the forgotten scratches, pops and grooves of his esoteric record collection.

After winning the National Slide Guitar Competition in 2001 Rollie moved with his wife to Portland Oregon. He spent the next decade touring, performing, writing songs and playing with some of the best

Church hosts city's 'biggest' Christmas party

Maria Taylor
Correspondent

Holiday cheer was in high gear at Ward Church in Northville. Horses clip-clopped through the snowy parking lot, pulling wagons draped with garlands and red bows. In front of the main entryway, people waiting for rides stopped at a manger-themed petting zoo to say "hi" to the camels, donkeys and little goats.

Inside, the church was an array of lights, carols and general festivity for Ward's first-ever Jingle Jam event, a holiday carnival billed as "Northville's Biggest Christmas Party."

Indeed, it may have been: About 2,250 people attended. Admission was free, with attendees split pretty evenly among Ward members and non-members.

Bekah Greenman, 25, of Livonia, sings "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" in the show's finale.

MARIA TAYLOR

"We think that's great, because that was our goal," said Barry McKenna, Ward's executive director. "We just did major updates to the church facility, so it's a chance to invite our community to see what our church is like, as well as to have a big Christmas party for everyone. It's a gift that we would like to give to the community."

Susan Robinson of Novi, who spent most of the day working in the cookie-decorating room, was one of the 500 volunteers who helped staff the event. "It's so good to see the people that come — we love welcoming them here," she said. "The transformation in the church is amazing."

McKenna and his team pulled out all the stops. There was a DJ playing Christmas songs, several bouncy houses and a big green bouncy obstacle course that stretched the length of an entire hallway. "Who would have ever thought we'd have this in our narthex?" McKenna said, laughing.

Around the corner, near the church's brand-new cafe and indoor playground, several motorized trains whistled their horns, waiting to take kids and their parents through a tunnel of lights to several rooms with bumper cars, games, crafts and cookie-decorating stations.

Highlighting the day were three performances of a special Christmas show, put on by the church's FX or "Family eXperience" production team. Green and red lights swirled through the darkened auditorium as performers and a live band acted and sang the Christmas story and its message of joy, finishing with a rousing version of "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The big, splashy FX shows are a monthly occurrence at Ward, where they tie into the church's Christian education program. "Every month, we talk about a different virtue — honesty, persistence, trust," said Cindy Ziembra, director of children's ministry. "We take a positive virtue and present it in a way that's fun." That means drama, music, high-energy performance, lights and sound, all with the goal of getting kids engaged.

Matt Greenman served as Jingle Jam project manager. He is Ward's director of elementary ministries and he runs the church's FX productions.

"We're very passionate about family ... reigniting that flame of family togetherness, especially at Christmastime," Greenman said. "Our goal is that what we do here transfers home and affects conversations. These big, dynamic productions ... provide talking points at home, keep conversations going all week long."

Dan Waidelich, dressed in Renaissance garb, was one of the actors in the production. In between shows, he hung out in the hallway, giving kids impromptu acting lessons. "Imagine someone just gave you the worst Christmas present ever — a box of rocks," he said as a crowd started to gather.

Aidan Stratton, 8, and Amaris Grubaugh, 10, followed his lead, making their best "shocked" faces and throwing their hands into the air. Both kids are Ward attendees, hailing from Livonia, and said they'd been having a great afternoon.

"We liked the playscape, the bumper cars, and of course the show — all about joy during the holidays and the story of Jesus' birth," said Christine Grubaugh, Amaris' mom.

Aidan couldn't pick a favorite activity. "All of it," he said.

That's exactly the kind of introduction to Ward that McKenna was hoping to provide.

"It's a large church; sometimes, people might be intimidated to come to regular church service," he said. "But then someone might come to this, think 'This is fun,' and come back. We're trying to break down those barriers."

Gift giving brings joy to first-graders, seniors

The heart-warming sounds of excited kids (who know the holidays are near) rang through the halls of Botsford Commons – A Beaumont Community.

It was another successful year for the Giving Tree, an annual project Botsford Commons organizes to bring the “gift” of reading to the students at Botsford Elementary in Livonia. As a Title I school, Botsford Elementary is located in an area with low-income families, many without books and many without a daily reading influence. Botsford Buddies, a monthly program during the school year, provides students the opportunity to read out loud to visiting residents. The special relationship between the seniors and the students began the idea for the Giving Tree and now is a successful, annual event.

More than 60 first-graders from Botsford Elementary walked into the dining room at Botsford Commons and sang holiday songs with their innocent voices and smiles of pure joy. The sounds of ecstatic kids echoed in the room when Santa walked in – a tear-jerking moment for many who were there. Santa greeted the students and asked if they’d been good this year. Of course, the answer was yes and, with that, the gift giving began. Santa’s helpers included staff and teachers, but the real helpers were the gift donors.

“A special thanks to staff, families and residents at Botsford Commons for donating funds to purchase brand new, hand-picked books from Scholastic for each student,” said Colleen Kashawlik, manager of business development at

Botsford Commons. “A gracious thank you goes to the two anonymous donors who purchased Michigan sports blankets from Pro Sports Zone and brand new, cuddly stuffed animals for every student as well.”

In addition, each student chose a holiday painting from Painting with a Twist in Farmington Hills and bags from Senior Helpers of Southeast Michigan held their gifts.

This year, a shining

“star” was placed on top of the beautiful event. It came in the form of a conversation between Fritz Putkela, a resident at Botsford Commons, and Santa. In front of the entire room, they chatted about when Putkela was a boy 100 years ago, plus all the Christmas Eve visits Santa had made.

Santa told Putkela this Christmas Eve would be his favorite visit, because he would get to see him on his 100th birthday, a gift that knows no price.

First-graders from Botsford Elementary in Livonia walked away with presents, courtesy of generous donors.

While listening to a room full of Putkela’s friends, literally from 1 to 92, sing “Happy Birthday,” it became clear. Santa has been very good to Fritz Putkela, a charming, 100-year-old storyteller from the Upper Peninsula. Every birthday, on Christmas Eve, Putkela was gifted with time — the one gift that everyone wants, but is never guaranteed.

“This holiday season and into next year, enjoy each other, be kind to your neighbor and remember, relationships know no age,” Kashawlik said. “The community’s generosity to Botsford Elementary students and the residents of Botsford Commons is a true testament to the power of people and the holiday spirit.”

Substitute teacher shortage is reaching critical stage

Lori Higgins
Detroit Free Press

You’ve probably seen the billboards on highways across Michigan, screaming in bold, blue letters, “SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS NEEDED.” They underscore a crisis afoot in school districts all over the state.

Substitute teachers are becoming increasingly scarce, causing a shortage that is making it difficult for schools to cope when there are absences due to illness or family emergency, or for those times when a teacher needs to be away for training. Many tie the shortages to declines in the number of people pursuing teaching as a full-time career.

“We’re all competing for the same group of employees,” said Clark Galloway, president of EDUStaff, which provides staffing, including substitute teachers, to more than 300 school districts statewide.

“It’s a huge problem,” said Wendy Zdeb, executive director of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals. “You are seeing

IF YOU WANT TO BE A SUBSTITUTE TEACHER

Michigan issues four types of substitute teacher permits. The most basic is the daily substitute permit. Among the requirements:

- 90 semester hours of satisfactory credit from one or more regionally accredited two- or four-year colleges or universities.
- Satisfactory credit means a grade of C or better
- Limited in a single teaching assignment to no more than 90 days

Other permits cover longer-term assignments. For information, go to www.michigan.gov/documents/mde/Permit\_Overview\_529841\_7.pdf

Want to sub? EDUStaff works with more than half of the school districts in Michigan. You can call the company at 877-974-6338. Other companies provide subs to schools, too. Contact the local school district you’re interested in working in and find out who you should contact.

principals having to cover classes on a regular basis.”

It’s Galloway’s company that has put up about 40 billboards on state highways, hoping to lure people into considering subbing.

Michigan law requires substitute teachers to have completed 90 college credit hours. But many districts go beyond those requirements, opting only to take on people with a teaching certificate.

In some districts, administrators are offering incentives to get people in the door.

In Wayne-Westland Community Schools, for instance, the daily rate for subs who take on long-term assignments and retirees who return to sub have been increased from the standard $90 a day to $110 a day.

But the problem still persists. And it’s not just in Michigan. Galloway said the fill rate — the percentage of open positions — has declined from about 95 percent in 2012 to as low as 85 percent in 2016.

That means a school district that needs 100 subs on a given day may only get 85 openings filled.

“That means we have 15 classes that do not have a teacher, that do not have classroom management, that do not have a mentor,” Galloway said.

Schools then have to scramble to combine classes, enlist principals to help or have teachers give up their preparation time to cover classes for absent colleagues.

“You can imagine the disruption at the building level when we’re unable to put a substitute in place,” Galloway said. “Children are not receiving proper education during those situations. If it’s one unfilled position or it’s 15, it’s still a problem.”

Judy Pritchett, chief academic officer for the Macomb Intermediate School District, said “it’s a symptom of a much bigger problem.”

She and others cite a drop in the number of people pursuing teaching as a career. In April 2015, the Free Press reported there was a 38 percent decline in enrollment in teacher preparation programs from the 2008-09 to the 2012-13 school years.

A decade ago, Galloway said, the typical sub was a recent college graduate with a teaching certificate. Graduates would be lined up out the door, he said, to take on substitute teaching positions because it was often a gateway toward a more permanent position.

But the number of people receiving teaching certificates — now those who actually pursue teaching after going through a prep program — is dropping significantly. In Michigan, the numbers fell from 6,058 during the 2009-10 school year to 4,559 during the 2016-16 school year, according to the latest figures from the Michigan Department of Education.

Now the typical sub is 43, predominantly female and a returning-to-work mother without a teaching certificate, Galloway said.

A more specific sign of the times: During the 2014-15 school year, the Wayne-Westland district received 695 applications for elementary teaching jobs, Superintendent Michele Harmala said. During the 2015-16 school year, that number had dwindled to 270. At the high school level, the numbers declined from 299 to 85 during the same period.

“The state really needs to do something,” Harmala said. “We have to look at ... why are students not going into education.”

The decline is due to a number of factors, with some saying the profession has become less attractive because of increased demands, pay cuts, weakened bargaining rights and cuts in salaries and benefits.

Harmala said this school year is her first in 30 years in education in which she had full-time elementary jobs go unfilled until late October.

She used long-term subs to staff those classes.

“I’ve been trying to get the message across with our legislators, to help them understand that the reality of a potential shortage isn’t looming — it’s here,” Harmala said.

Rising interest rates will hurt some people, help other consumers

As expected, for only the second time since the Great Recession, the Federal Reserve has decided to raise interest rates. The feds raised interest rates one-quarter point and gave every indication that we would see more rate increases in 2017. I’ve frequently been asked if it is good or bad for ordinary people when the Federal Reserve raises interest rates. My answer — rising interest rates are good for some people and not so good for others. It all depends on your situation.

Those who typically will be impacted negatively are those who currently have adjustable-rate debt and those who are looking at borrowing money in the near future. There are many mortgages and credit cards offering adjustable-rate interest plans. When interest rates go up, so does your interest rate. People with adjustable-rate debt will see their interest increase at the next adjustment. Typically, adjustable-rate mortgages will adjust once a year, whereas adjustable-rate charge cards adjust more frequently.

In addition, people

Rick Bloom

who want to borrow money in the near future will be faced with higher interest rates. If you apply for a mortgage six months from now, I have no doubt that interest rates will be higher. As a result, you will be paying a larger monthly payment.

On the other hand, there are also many winners as a result of the Federal Reserve policy. If you’re an individual who likes to travel abroad, with the Federal Reserve raising interest rates, it’s more likely than not that the U.S. dollar will strengthen against foreign currency. Americans traveling abroad will see that their dollar has more buying power than it did before; their trip will be more affordable.

Others who will benefit from higher interest rates are those who save money in banks and such vehicles as CDs and money market accounts. Although I believe it will be a while before interest rates on CDs and money markets will rise, those who save in these types of vehicles will see higher returns in the not-so-distant future. Particularly for seniors who typically keep a good portion of their money in banks, rising interest rates provide a great sense of relief for them. After all, over the last decade or so, with interest rates artificially low, it has disproportionately hurt our seniors.

Others who may benefit from rising interest rates are consumers who purchase imported goods. With interest rates rising, it once again will strengthen the U.S. dollar against other currencies. Prices on imported goods should be less expensive, helping consumers.

Even though interest rates are rising, others who could also benefit are those who need to borrow money but cannot. In many sectors of our economy, it has been difficult for people to borrow money for such things as starting a business. With higher interest rates, banks will now have a greater incentive to loan money. If banks do make it easier to borrow, it could spur economic growth, which has been anemic in our economy as of late.

Rising interest rates can also be a benefit to stock market investors. As the Federal Reserve pointed out, it is returning to a policy of normalization and this may, once again, make stocks trade on their fundamentals. With interest rates artificially low, markets have been more difficult for investors to understand. A return to normalization could make the markets a little more predictable, which will help investors.

The bottom line is, in any move by the Federal Reserve regarding interest rates, there are going to be winners and losers. The key is if you are going to lose due to rising interest rates, look at ways to reduce the impact. That could be accelerating the payment of the debt or even converting an adjustable-rate mortgage into a fixed-rate mortgage.

One thing everyone should keep in mind is, although interest rates are rising, it is not going to immediately impact the rates that were paid on CDs and money market accounts. It seems those rates don’t move until we have at least two or three interest rate increases. Although the Federal Reserve has said we will see those increases in 2017, there can be all sorts of reasons that the Federal Reserve backs off from that policy. Therefore, people have to take a wait-and-see attitude as to exactly how much interest rates will rise on savings accounts, CDs and money market accounts.

I always tell investors to never overreact to changes such as the Federal Reserve raising interest rates or even change in tax laws. Too many investors feel that, when something happens, they have to react.

In many situations, I tell investors the best course of action is to do nothing. Remember, when making any investment decision, don’t focus on what the stock market is doing or the direction of interest rates. The key is your situation. What your neighbor may be doing may be great for their situation; it just may not be good for you.

Plymouth-Canton Cruisers swimmer, 14, keeps getting better with help from 'Coach Z'

Cutting through the water and cutting to the chase is all good for Sophia Tuinman of the Plymouth-Canton Cruisers.

The 14-year-old Tuinman competed Nov. 30 through Dec. 3 at the USA Swimming AT&T Winter National Championships in Atlanta, Georgia.

She was one of only four girls ages 14 and under participating, and she came in 39th during preliminaries of the women's 100-yard backstroke with a time of 56.13 seconds. She entered the event with a seed time of 1:04.51, so her hard work helped shave a significant chunk of time.

"Going to a national meet was one of the most exciting events that have taken place in my swimming career along with many other achievements," said Tuinman, a ninth-grader at Northville High School. "The national meet provided me with some experience and a list of things I need to improve on in order to qualify for World Trials."

Three Michigan schools earned invitations to college football bowl games in 2016, with each berth representing a significant milestone.

The University of Michigan will face Florida State in the Orange Bowl on Friday. While the Wolverines had legitimate national championship playoff hopes all season, the Orange Bowl berth is another step forward for the program that was revitalized by Jim Harbaugh's hiring as head coach two years ago.

Meanwhile, Western Michigan is preparing for the most significant bowl game in program history, as the unbeaten Broncos square off with Wisconsin in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 2.

Last week, Eastern Michigan capped a 7-win season by returning to bowl action after a 29-year drought. Despite a 24-20 loss to Old Dominion in the Bahamas Bowl on Dec. 23, the bowl berth symbolizes Eastern's improving fortunes.

First annual basketball game between West and Liberty middle schools unites community Basketball fans filtered in as the doors opened Dec. 16 at Canton's Liberty Middle School.

The game plan was to involve students, families, school staff and local business in an event to foster the spirit of giving back to those in need throughout Plymouth and Canton.

After Plymouth-Canton Community School teacher Marc Szalka reached out to the district and Educational Excellence Foundation, he was able to organize the first annual Crossover Charity Basketball Game.

It was a success on and off the court. The game itself was a crowd-pleaser, and more than $5,000 so far has been raised and donated to Plymouth Goodfellows, Canton Goodfellows, Liberty Intervention Fund and West Intervention Fund.

There were more than 300 people in attendance as the stands were full of energy, cheering and chanting either for West or Liberty middle school teams comprised of teachers, administrators, para-professionals and custodians.

During the first quarter, neither team was able to make a dent in the scoreboard. After many efforts of the mixed-ability teams, mostly non-basketball players, West managed to gain a lead.

Both teams had their school mascots, West Bulldog and Liberty Lion lighting up the crowds, leading spirited cheers for defense.

The game was intense as the score was within a few baskets for either team until the big upset in the fourth quarter. West's Brett Wells lit the gym

Senior forward Alec Giragosian notched two goals and an assist Friday night as host Novi ran its unbeaten streak to six games with a 7-0 Kensington Conference boys hockey crossover win over Livonia Franklin at Novi Ice Arena.

The Wildcats, who improved to 8-2-1 overall and 4-2-1 in the KLAA's Central Division, broke open a close game by scoring five goals in the final period.

Novi, which won its fifth straight, jumped out to a 1-0 first period lead on Derek DuBois' goal at 2:14 from Evan Chippa and Ryan Wexler. The Wildcats then made it 2-0 at 3:02 of the second period on Ryan Fonda's goal from Giragosian and Chippa.

The floodgates opened in the third with Novi goals coming from Giragosian (from Chris Martin); Anthony Luongo (from Brandon Kour); Chippa (from Logan Londo and Mitchell Grinshpun); Alex Scarozza (shorthanded from Nathan Graff); and Giragosian (from DuBois and Chippa).

Meanwhile, Novi senior netminder Manny Legace Jr. posted his third shutout of the season.

The loss dropped the Patriots to 1-9 overall and 0-4 in the KLAA South.

NORTHVILLE 7, CANTON 1: Senior Easton Rea notched his first varsity goal and added an assist on Dec. 21 as the host Mustangs (5-4, 2-2 KLAA Central) romped to a Kensington Conference crossover victory over the Chiefs (2-5, 1-3 KLAA at Novi Ice Arena).

"We did a nice job of crashing the net and generating offense from that," said Northville coach Clint Robert, whose team out-shot Canton 47-18. "That is something as a team we wanted to make a bigger commitment to doing, so it was nice to see."

Northville led 1-0 after one period on Danny Scorzo's goal at 9:10 from Rea and Luke Skillman.

The Mustangs increased their lead to 5-1 after two periods, getting goals from Nick Williams at 0:18 (from Nick Bonofiglio and Daniel McKee), Devin Laba at 4:35 (from Alex Iafrate and Scorzo), Iafrate at 9:27 (from Laba and Nick Bogenhagen) and Rea just 10 seconds later (from Skillman and Sanuda Gunaratine).

Emerson Taylor also tallied the lone goal for the Chiefs in the second period.

Northville put it away with a pair of third-period goals from Skillman at 2:15 (from Iafrate) and Jimmy Dales (unassisted) at 12:30.

Brett Miller started in goal for Northville.

NOVI 6, BERKLEY 1: Senior goaltender Manny Legace Jr.

turned in a workmanlike effort, stopping 19 of 20 shots and senior defenseman Ryan Fonda collected four assists on Dec. 21 as the host Wildcats (7-2-1) skated to a non-league win over the Bears (2-6) at the Novi Ice Arena.

The Wildcats jumped out to a 3-0 first-period lead on goals by Nathan Graff at 9:51 (from Evan Chippa and Alec Giragosian), David DeNova at 16:23 (from Ryan Fonda) and Cam Czapski at 16:37 (from Fonda).

After a scoreless second period, Novi increased its lead to 4-0 at 1:51 of the third on a goal by Chippa from Ryan Wexler and Fonda.

Berkley spoiled Legace's shutout bid at 5:03 on goal by Kevin Jurvis.

But Novi put it away on Alex Scarozza's goal at 8:58 from DeNova followed by Giragosian's goal at 16:15 from Fonda and Anthony Luongo.

PLYMOUTH 7, SOUTH LYON 1: Josh Weber collected a goal and three assists to propel the Wildcats (7-0, 5-0 KLAA South) to a Kensington Conference crossover victory Wednesday over host South Lyon Unified (1-6-1, 0-5 KLAA Central) at the Kensington Valley Ice House.

Other top point-getters for Plymouth included Zachary Gallagher (one goal, two assists), Timothy Baldwin (three assists), Nathan Stoneburg (one goal, one assist), Adam Rebecca (one goal, one assist), Jack VanDenBeureury (two assists), Jack Chumley (one goal) and Colton Borke (one goal).

SLU got its lone goal on a two-man power play advantage 8:15 into the final period by defenseman Zach Vanboven from Anthony Bagnasco and Sean Millane.

South Lyon starting goalie Jared Paugh played the first 37 minutes and 18 seconds before giving way to Nolan Smith. The two combined for 42 saves.

TUINMAN

Her coach with the P-C Cruisers, Alexandra "Z" Morgan, said the progression the youngster continues to make is no surprise given her unrelenting work ethic.

"Sophia is very driven, yet down to earth," Morgan said. "She has big goals but very little fear. Most sports will label this an X-factor, because it is rare that kids, even at high levels of sport, don't have some type of fear of failure."

"Sophia can look at good and bad races, without a large range of emotions. She's a happy kid that likes to work really hard."

Does she ever. A typical workout week with the P-C Cruisers includes seven or eight trips to the pool, either at Canton High School or the Plymouth Arts and Recreation Complex.

"My coach, Z, has created workouts that push me to my limits every day at practice," explained Tuinman, in an email to the Observer. "She helps me focus on my short-term goals in my swimming career and what needs to be done."

"This past March, there were some distractions going on that pulled me away from my seasonal goal time."

"I remember telling Z short course states (25 meters instead of 50 meters) just didn't feel like a state meet and she reminded me of the expectations I had for this season at the beginning of the year. This made me refocus and chase after the time I wanted, during the race."

Less is more

Morgan stressed that, with the P-C Cruisers, her goal is for "quality over quantity" in terms of how many yards per workout Tuinman and others complete.

"Sophie is successful because she has teammates that surround her with a hard-working ethic, (have) positive attitudes, and enjoy each other's company," Morgan said. "Right now she has a core group of nine other girls, and when the boys get back from high school season the group will grow to 18."

"All of these athletes swim year round and compete above a state level. This past August, Sophie and two other (P-C Cruisers) teammates, Eugene Li and Kevin Hao, travelled down to Atlanta for a meet one step below nationals."

Tuinman, Li and Hao have many teammates in the P-C Cruisers who are benefiting from Morgan's coaching approach.

"With the boys and girls at this level," Morgan explained, "my goal is to continue to enable them to accomplish more every season, whether that be physically, mentally, aerobically or mechanically."

"I think the continued success of our team though is solely dependent on the relationships that the kids maintain with each other, day in and day out."

Morgan was still earning a degree in mechanical engineering and a master's in hydrodynamics at University of Michigan when she started coaching in 1999 with the Ann Arbor Swim Club.

Her advanced college education informs her coaching, which she described as "mechanically driven."

To that end, Morgan's coaching — and hours in the pool, of course — help swimmers gain the muscle memory needed to perfect various movements and get faster and more efficient in the process.

Quick study

The daughter of Roeland and Kim Tuinman of Northville is a prime example.

With Morgan's coaching, she has made up for being a couple years behind other swimmers.

"It is true that I have started competitive swimming a little bit late for the level that I am currently at," Tuinman said. "I started swimming when I was 8 years old while most start at 6. I gave up competitive figure skating to focus on swimming at the age of 10."

But she has shown herself to be a quick study, one with potential to at least perform for a college.

"Her level of swimming for her age is bigger than high school swimming," Morgan said. "Most colleges will come knocking on your door for just one of the cuts that she has made."

"She's already made it to a level that will catch the eye of top swimming colleges."

Indeed, Sophia Tuinman's next wave of success already is beginning. Where it takes her could be a journey worth keeping an eye on.

up with a shot from a special five-point box set up outside the three-point line. With only seconds ticking away on a 49-45 scoreboard, the Liberty Lions humbly accepted defeat as the Bulldogs let the clock run down.

Although, West Middle School took home the first annual Crossover Trophy, the whole community won.

In addition to helping those in need through Goodfellows, the Crossover charity established intervention funds to support at-risk student programs for academic interventions and assistance for Liberty Middle School and West Middle School.

To date, more than $5,000 has been raised, a feat accomplished through business sponsorships, concessions, raffle tickets, T-shirt sales and admission fees.

Some lucky fans also walked away with some fabulous prizes like a set of four Detroit Red Wings tickets, a signed Dylan Larkin Red Wings jersey and other rewards.

After the thrilling basketball game on Dec. 16, members of the teams representing West and Liberty middle schools posed for a massive group photo.

Haeger resigns from Madonna University post

Coach racked up 651 wins, 11 league titles

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

Greg Haeger, who spent nearly half of his life connected to the Madonna University baseball program, has stepped down after 21 seasons as head coach.

Haeger, a two-time All-Big Ten selection at the University of Michigan and a former Detroit Tigers farmhand, said he has accepted a job at Total Sports in Wixom as its director of baseball operations.

"It's not the same Madonna that I've been working at for the past 19-20 years of my life; it was just a good time," Haeger said.

The 47-year-old Haeger, who ranks 17th among active NAIA baseball coaches in wins (651), recently submitted his letter of resignation to Scott Kennell, who is in the midst of his first year as MU's new athletic director.

"He just said this is just the right time to step down from the position," Kennell said.

Madonna is undergoing a transition period with its administration after the installation of new school president Dr. Michael Grandillo during the fall of 2015.

Kennell replaced Bryan Rizzo, who left to take a similar position at Dearborn Divine Child High School in June. The school's head athletic trainer Beth Hubbard and sports information director Tim Johnston both resigned recently.

The Madonna athletic director said an immediate search has begun for Haeger's replacement, but he has yet to conduct any interviews.

Meanwhile, assistant coaches Mike George (whom Haeger replaced as head coach in June of 1996), along with Stu Rose and Mark Henkel, remain listed on the school's website as current baseball staff members.

"Obviously we want somebody to come in here is going to keep our program at a high level, just not in the playing realm, but also in the classroom as well," Kennell said. "Our student-athletes have done a great job in the program on the field and off the field, and that's something we take pride in and want to continue that throughout our program."

In addition to his baseball duties, Haeger was also responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of Ilitch Ballpark, as well as University Field's soccer and softball facilities. He also assisted in management at MU athletic events.

During his 21 seasons, Haeger posted a 651-413-5 overall record, capturing 11 Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference regular season (including four straight from 2008-11), along with five WHAC playoff titles.

The longest tenured head coach in the WHAC, Haeger guided the Crusaders to five NAIA National Tournament appearances (2009, 2010, 2013, 2015 and 2016). In 2010, MU won a school-record 48 games. He was named NAIA Region Coach of the Year three times and NAIA Great Lakes Section Coach of the Year in 1998.

In his final full season (2016), the Crusaders finished 41-17, including a 24-4 mark in the conference. During the new WHAC fall baseball schedule, which ended in early October, MU went 5-3.

"He had a strong rapport with all the student-athletes," Kennell said. "I know he had a deep care for all the student-athletes at Madonna University, and it showed every day at work. He's someone we valued a lot at Madonna."

As a pitcher and first baseman, Haeger led Detroit Catholic Central to the MHSAA Class A state baseball title in 1987. The Livonia native was named Michigan Amateur Player of the Year and was drafted his senior year by the Tigers, but opted to accept a scholarship play under coach Bud Middaugh at U-M.

Haeger signed with Tigers' organization following his junior draft-eligible year at Michigan and moved up the minor league ranks, earning All-Star honors for the Florida State League champion Lakeland Tigers in 1992.

But a knee injury prematurely cut short his pro career and he returned to U-M to earn his degree, while also landing an assistant coaching position under George.

"It was fun, I grew up there," said Haeger, who resides in New Hudson with his wife Jean and sons Trey and Evan. "Madonna is a very integral part of my life from the friendships across the board, the faculty, athletic staff, the coaches and then the players. I had an opportunity to get to know quite a few young men coming through the baseball program and other sports at Madonna. And those relationships are unique. I still appreciate how they helped me grow as a person and I hope they appreciate how I helped them grow. It was a good run. I definitely will miss it. I'll miss the kids, I'll miss what Madonna was to me, not necessarily recently, but I'll miss it."

BOWLS

Lucky Shamrocks

Michigan's success this year — a 10-2 record and No. 6 ranking in the playoff standings — has been founded on one of the nation's top defenses. Catholic Central graduate Matt Godin plays a key role on the Wolverines' stout defensive line as the starting nose tackle. Godin, a senior, has 25 tackles this season, with two tackles for loss, including a sack. Much of his contribution goes unrecognized on the stat sheet, however, as his success in plugging the middle of Michigan's line often provides other defenders the opportunity to shoot through gaps to make a tackle.

Godin joined U-M under head coach Brady Hoke, who played a hands-on role in coaching the defensive line. "I learned a ton from Coach Hoke and Coach (Greg) Mattison," Godin said. "Those two taught me everything I know about playing defensive line, honestly. It was great having a head coach who specialized in the defensive line."

When Harbaugh took charge prior to the 2015 season, former defensive coordinator Mattison became the D-line coach, providing Godin and his fellow linemen some continuity, and helping the Wolverines post back-to-back double-digit victory seasons for the first time since 2002-03.

The former Catholic Central All-Stater has played in 41 games at Michigan, with 15 starts, and earned honorable mention All-Big Ten notice this season. In his final college game on Friday, Godin says Michigan will emphasize stopping the Florida State running game, led by Dalvin Cook, to force third-and-long situations. "He's probably the fastest running back that we've faced," Godin says. Godin adds that the Seminoles have a strong offensive line and a "tough" freshman quarterback, Deondre Francois.

After the Orange Bowl, Godin will focus on training for Michigan's pro day, with the hope of continuing his football career in the NFL.

Friday could also be the last game for another CC grad, fourth-year senior Garrett Moores. The former Shamrocks quarterback became Michigan's holder for extra points and field goals this year. He performed flawlessly — and also ran in a two-point conversion — to earn the second national "Holder of the Year" award. The honor was originated last year by former Minnesota holder Peter Mortell, who gave the initial award to himself. Although it's not an official NCAA honor, Moores' victory was announced nationally on ESPN and was celebrated among the Wolverines.

"It's great to see him have some success," Godin says. "It's not easy to hold it and place it down as well as he has. He has a bigger role than some people think, and we're definitely fortunate to have him."

The Undefeated

Shortly after earning the first bowl game victory in Western Michigan's history in last year's Bahamas Bowl, head coach P.J. Fleck told the team it was his "expectation" that the Broncos would appear in the 2017 Cotton Bowl, according to senior linebacker Lucas Cherocci.

The Brother Rice grad admits that the team initially felt Fleck's goal was "crazy," but as Western piled up victories this season — including wins over Big Ten foes Northwestern and Illinois — the players began to believe. "We had the vision, the people in the program did the work and now we have the ultimate goal," Cherocci adds.

Cherocci, who joined the Broncos as a walk-on, redshirted in 2013, playing on the scout team and helping prepare the starters for each game. He saw the field as a special teams performer in 2014, and after the season, Fleck awarded him a scholarship. Cherocci has played linebacker but has mainly been a special teams player over the last two years, a role in which he takes pride. In three seasons, Cherocci has 14 tackles in 26 games, with two tackles for loss.

At Western, Cherocci said, special teams performers are called "how" guys, which he defines as "a guy that plays with passion and plays with his heart."

"It sounds like a bunch of program (cliches), but that's how everyone operates on this team," Cherocci said. "Everyone's bought into the program, the culture. ... The big thing about our success this year is, we're a family. And I (compare) that to my time at Brother Rice. I always thought that my team at Brother Rice was a family. And then I came here and everyone's so tight-knit."

Cherocci calls Cotton Bowl opponent Wisconsin — ranked eighth in the college playoff standings, compared to 15th-ranked Western — an "elite team" but adds that the Broncos "don't have anything to prove. We just have to be ourselves and we have play like ourselves and play like we know we can. ... And that's the way to win the game."

The Cotton Bowl marks Cherocci's last football game. After graduating this spring, he hopes to work as a parole officer while also developing his own fitness business.

Other area players

Cherocci's Cotton Bowl opponents include Wisconsin redshirt freshman David Moorman, a 2014 All-State selection from Northville High, who played in all 13 games as a reserve offensive lineman this season.

Michigan's area talent includes senior tight end Michael Jocz from Novi High, who served mainly as a blocker and special teams performer, but also caught one pass for 12 yards, returned a punt for 27 yards and blocked two kicks. Country Day grad Maurice Ways, a junior wide receiver, caught two passes for 24 yards. Other local Wolverines who saw the field this year include sophomore quarterback Alex Malzone from Brother Rice; Plymouth native Nate Schoenle, a freshman wide receiver; and junior running back Joe Hewlett from Novi High, who carried the ball twice for -1 yards. Brother Rice grad Anthony Dalimonte, a senior safety, was named Michigan's scout team player of the year by the coaching staff.

At Eastern, sophomore defensive back Ross Williams, a Birmingham Groves graduate, has played in 20 games in two years. He had 10 tackles and an interception this season. Sophomore defensive back Brandon Macklin from Novi High played in one contest in 2016. Offensive lineman Jeremy Hickey from Brother Rice played in 10 games in 2015 but didn't see action this season.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
