Artist's works hitting bar circuit

Sports, music icons adorn several local spots

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Artist Jeremy Allen Rheault reached up with the Detroit Lions logo in his hands and carefully placed it between his wall art of former Lions great Barry Sanders and ex-Detroit Pistons legend Isaiah Thomas.

"How does it look?" he asked.

It looked right at home, this 15th piece of art Rheault has created for Spoon's Place, a Canton sports bar and restaurant. Other works depict Tiger Stadium, Muhammad Ali and former Tigers pitcher Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, as featured on a 1977 Topps baseball card.

What the Spoon's Place art has in common is that Rheault painted them on cardboard, using enamel and acrylic paints and oil pastels. He meticulously sketches his idea, plans it, paints it, seals it and cuts it out with a box knife.

"It's beautiful," Spoon's Place customer Tim Hackett said. "I love the sports theme. It's very decorative and it spruces up the place."

STEP adds beehives to its Westland building

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

It's an un-bee-lievable sight in the backyard of Services To Enhance Potential's Western Wayne County Resource Center.

The center, located at 450 Venoy in Westland, recently got into one of the more trendy agricultural phenomenons: beekeeping.

"We've had one hive that has done really well," said Terrie Hylton, vocational services manager for STEP.

The center, which helps those with disabilities go out into the community and work, received two hives about a month ago. They're tucked behind the building on a concrete slab and surrounded by a gate to keep unsuspecting visitors out. Thousands of bees fly in and out on a daily basis, pollinating area flowers and preparing to make honey.

The two hives have been successful so far, Hylton said, and have garnered buzz among the customers who utilize the center.

"They are going to learn how to get honey," she said.

Not only will the customers at STEP

Wyandotte man charged in fencing operation

Matt Jachman

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

A Wyandotte man faces 22 criminal charges in an alleged fencing operation that prosecutors say trafficked in high-value merchandise stolen from big box stores in Canton Township.

Anthony P. Wojtala, 25, was arraigned July 19 in 27th District Court in Wyandotte. He is charged with one count of conducting a criminal enterprise, two counts of using a computer to commit a crime, eight counts of organized retail crime, six counts of failing to keep proper records as a second-hand dealer and five counts of receiving and concealing stolen property. He was also charged as a habitual offender, which could increase the length of any sentence if he is convicted.

Judge Randy Kalmach entered not-guilty pleas for Wojtala and set bond at $250,000. Wojtala was being held Friday in the Wayne County Jail and is scheduled for a Friday, July 27, probable cause conference.

Wojtala is the owner of Tony's Pawn Shop on Fort Street in Wyandotte, where Canton police executed a search warrant July 18. He is accused of buying stolen merchandise and reselling it there and out of his home.

The search was the result of a several-month investigation by Canton police and the Michigan State Police, with assistance provided by the prosecutor's office.

Canton stores victimized in the scheme, police said, include Home Depot, Target, Walmart and Meijer.

Running a criminal enterprise is a felony punishable by up to 20 years in prison.

Cantoro's gets TV close-up for 'Food Paradise'

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Cantoro's Italian Market & Trattoria has had its television close-up. Now it's a matter of waiting to see when a segment filmed for the Travel Channel's "Food Paradise" will air. Cantoro's, 15550 N. Haggerty, in Plymouth Township caught the eye of the Travel Channel after photos of the restaurant and executive chef Anthony Calabrese's kitchen creations were shared on social media, including Instagram. A channel representative called Alex Bazy, Cantoro's general manager, and arranged to film Calabrese at work. It made Cantoro's the only Michigan location — among a handful of Italian restaurants nationwide — for this particu-

"It's quite an honor," Bazy said. Filming began about 11 a.m. July 19 and finished about 10 p.m. "It was a long day to shoot 5½ minutes of video," Bazy said. The film crew shot video of Calabrese cooking in a downstairs prep kitchen, away from the public eye. Just what he prepared is being kept secret until the show airs, Bazy said.

Cantoro's chose select guests to sit in an area and sample Calabrese's food as the film crew shot video. Otherwise, Bazy said, it was business as usual as other customers dined inside the restaurant.

As word spread that Cantoro's was in the television spotlight, customers showed up in large numbers. "It created quite a storm," Bazy said. For more information, go to www.cantoromarket.com/plymouth/.

Over at Liberty Street Brewing Co. in Plymouth, Rheault's cardboard art can be found in an upstairs gallery. Rather than a sports theme, though, these paintings focus on "Star Wars" characters and superheroes. One piece depicts prescription pill bottles alongside Pez dispensers featuring Batman, Spider-Man and Darth Vader. It's titled Pils and Pez.

Rheault's work goes far beyond cardboard art, which is simply the latest form he has explored. His collage artwork, drawing inspiration from the likes of Edgar Degas, also can be found at Liberty Street, where he is curator for other artists.

Rheault, a Westland resident and longtime art teacher at Livonia Franklin High School, has displayed the works of 21 other artists — many of them his former students — at Liberty Street. Their work can be viewed during a public reception 4-9 p.m. Saturday, July 28, with a Jamaican-American, or Jamerican, food truck on hand.

"I love being an advocate for other artists and showing their art," Rheault said.

Candy Randolph, Liberty Street pub and hall manager, said it's a partnership that has worked well for Liberty Street Brewing. Artwork is displayed upstairs and eventually gets rotated downstairs, where it is switched out every month. It gives the brewing company fresh décor and the artists a chance to show their work.

"It just brings a lot of different, unique people and things here," Randolph said. "We had the same décor for years, but now people look forward to it. And we like to promote local stuff."

Rheault is best known to some for his former high school coaching days at Livonia Franklin and Canton high schools for a cumulative 33 seasons over 24 years. He coached girls and boys basketball and boys track and field.

At 46, Rheault has put aside his coaching duties to focus on creating art, selling it and promoting other artists.

"Now all the time I once put into coaching, I'm putting into my art," he said.

Township. It features Johnny Cash, who played at the restaurant in 1955.

Rheault's art is for sale and has price tags at Spoon's Place and Liberty Street. Most of the sports figures and superheroes paintings sell for $200 to $1,000. When one piece of art sells, he replaces it with a new one.

He also created the big cardboard 'M' for the University of Michigan and similar logos for Michigan State University and Eastern Michigan University at Spoon's Place. Those sell for $120.

Rheault became serious about art in high school. He received his bachelor of fine arts degree from EMU and began teaching art at Livonia Franklin in 1998. His work has been shown at the Livonia Civic Center and will be on display in December at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill in Canton.

Rheault began his cardboard art two years ago, with his first pieces depicting the character Tyrion from "Game of Thrones," the late rock star Prince and artist Picasso. He refuses to recreate the same original art. He painted an image of former Tigers pitcher Justin Verlander, for example, a piece of art he will not recreate. He will, however, paint a different image of Verlander.

Rheault has found that bars and restaurants are good places for his artwork. He gets exposure, he said, and the paintings "become conversation pieces."

At Liberty Street Brewing, last year marked the first time he began showing the works of various artists, calling the initiative Connection. This year marks Connection 2 and each artist on display will at some point have a chance to have their own exhibition and show more of their works.

"I'm trying to promote these artists and sell their work," he said.

Rheault welcomes other artists to contact him in an effort to show their work. Ideally, he would like to expand what he has done at Spoon's Place, Liberty Street and Karl's Cabin to other venues, both to promote his own art and that of others.

Don't rush to buy the Tiger Stadium piece titled "The Corner" at Spoon's Place, though. It sold for $300.

For artwork prices and requests, contact Rheault through Facebook messaging, Twitter @Rheault_ism or through Instagram messaging @jeremyallenrheault.

have the opportunity to learn about bees, but so do members of the public interested in beekeeping. A class on the life of a honeybee will take place at 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 31, at the center on Venoy, south of Cherry Hill. There, participants will learn about the life of bees and each bee type's role within the hive.

Opening the classes to the public is just one way STEP hopes to engage with the community.

"We're kind of engaging both to make sure that they are informed and those who are interested in it can come to the classes," STEP CEO Brent Mikulski said. "If it's going to draw folks to our property, then it's definitely a step in the right direction."

The facility, which STEP moved into earlier this year, has plenty of room for potential, he said.

"It has a lot of land, six or seven acres of just grass area," he said. "Our hope is to develop that area, parts of that area, into a variety of things."

The beehives are just one part of that. Another, albeit in a temporary location, has a butterfly garden.

Having the beehives at STEP is one way to integrate every-day activities for those people who may not normally have the opportunity otherwise. Hylton said the customers STEP serves aren't always thought of when it comes to the STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts and math) fields, but the center hopes it can alter that approach.

"The first thought is not always people with disabilities. Well, we want to change that," Hylton said. "People with disabilities can learn anything. And just like each of us, we know a little bit about something, but we don't know everything about everything in the world. And they are exactly the same way."

Now is a good time to examine all your financial needs

Money Matters

Rick Bloom
USA TODAY NETWORK —
MICHIGAN

It seems that, almost on a daily basis, I get emails telling me that I can save money by changing my Internet provider, my cellphone carrier or my cable TV company. Most of the time, I don't have the time or energy to review these offers. Occasionally, one of the offers will intrigue me and I will look deeper into the offer to determine if making a change makes sense. All too often, I find that when I analyze the offer and factor in the gimmick rate, it is not worth the time or the hassle to make the change.

That being said, there are times when the savings are real. In those situations, I have no problem making a change. Unfortunately, because people are continually inundated with offers and with life as busy as it is, most never make a change. Many people believe the status quo is fine and just want to keep things as is. This may work for your cellphone or cable TV, but it doesn't necessarily work when it comes to personal finance.

When it comes to personal finance, change can be extremely important to not only make sure you are not overpaying for something, but to ensure you have a product or service that best suits your current needs. Something that may have worked for you 10 years ago may not be effective for your needs today. Since we're in the dog days of summer, this is a good time of year to look at your situation to determine whether changes are needed.

There are a few areas regarding personal finance that you ought to spend some time on to determine whether a change is warranted. The first is your banking relationship. We all know that banks and the services they have provided, along with the cost of those services, have changed dramatically over the last 10 years. The services you use from your bank today may be totally different than when you first began your relationship. Why not look at your banking situation to analyze the services you are using and the fees the bank charges you. You may find that, by shopping around, you can significantly lower your fees and, at the same time, have better services. For example, 10 years ago, you may have written more checks than you do today or you may use your ATM differently than you did in the past. Looking at your banking relationship and making a change may be a win-win situation.

I know many of you may be thinking that making a change with automatic withdrawals and direct deposit is a hassle. I don't disagree with you; the issue isn't how much of a hassle you are going to have, but how much money you can save and whether you will have better services that will make life easier for you. You may find that for a couple of hours of aggravation, you may save hundreds of dollars a year. That is a good return on your investment.

Another area that has dramatically changed over the last decade is charge cards and how you use them. In the past, you may have carried a balance on your charge card, whereas today you don't. At one time, the interest rate may have been the deciding factor, while today the points and the perks may be more important. Many of you will say you've had your charge card for decades and you think that somehow your loyalty will be rewarded. Trust me, it won't be. You should have a charge card that suits your current needs, not one that was right for you 10 years ago.

I've always been a believer that you should seek competitive bids for your homeowners and automobile insurance on a regular basis. Not only will you find that you can significantly lower the cost, but also get better coverage. You should not have loyalty to your insurance company. They don't have loyalty to you; why should you be loyal to them?

When you do shop your auto and homeowners policies around, don't forget to ask about the discounts. You may qualify for discounts from one company and not another. Don't make the assumption that every company offers the same discounts, because they don't.

I wish things wouldn't change as fast as they do, but it is what it is. It is important to your financial affairs that you have products and services that best suit your needs today. I'm not one who believes you should make changes for change itself, but if making a change means you are in a better situation at a lower cost, why not? The money you save looks better in your pocket than it does anywhere else.

Good luck!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Supports Bentivolio for Congress

Former Congressman Kerry Bentivolio of Michigan’s 11th Congressional District, has tossed his hat into the ring this election cycle and his name will appear on the primary ballot, Aug. 7. Bentivolio served in the 113th Congress 2013-2015. Since experience really does matter, Bentivolio believes strongly that his past tenure in the House of Representatives will serve him well and he will not need to go through the on-the-job training (Freshman) period this time around. If elected, he will hit the ground running and will be an invaluable asset to both the House and President Trump, whom he supports mightily. No other candidate running can avoid the two-year learning curve. With the stakes so high, we need experienced conservatives writing our laws and representing us in D.C. While in the House, Bentivolio served with distinction and earned a 93% conservative rating and was successful in initiating and passing 3 bills. This was “a first” (and totally unheard of) where a freshman could actually get 3 bills passed, which he sponsored. Bentivolio is an Army veteran, a past schoolteacher and has even raised some seasonal livestock. He has received numerous commendations and medals for his combat service to this nation and cherishes each of them. He believes strongly that success in all things occurs when “preparation and opportunity” happen to meet. Such was the case when he won his seat in November 2012. Motivated by love of God, family and country, he was supported by the grassroots and accumulated the needed ballot signatures for a primary face-off against, then Congressman McCotter. Of course, the rest is history. Bentivolio believes that he has yet much to contribute for the benefit of his District. His tenure was cut short in the 2014 primary by a candidate with near unlimited personal financial resources and who, for reasons unknown, desired his seat. Bentivolio does not believe that seats in Congress should be obtained solely by the most affluent, the well-connected or the elite. Rather, he believes that capable “servant leaders” of ordinary means should also be elected to office, supported by donations from the interested electorate, as intended by the Founders. As a long time precinct delegate in Livonia, I have known Bentivolio since he decided to run for his first term in 2012. I believe he is the salt of the Earth, dedicated, not corruptible, places integrity above all else and will listen to the wishes of the electorate. I believe he is the one who can best represent our district in D.C. I urge the electorate in the 11th District to seriously consider voting for Bentivolio in the Aug. 7 primary. Visit www.kerrybentivolio.com for additional information. Carlo Arciero Livonia precinct delegate Justice will prevail Justice will prevail eventually. Authentic change in the hearts and minds of candidates, voters, all types of governmental leaders for democracy to survive. Hope with action. Hannah Provence Donigan Commerce Support St. Jude’s at outing Cancer sucks. Now that I have your attention, I hope you read this letter. Several years ago I received a calendar for St. Jude Children’s Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. It wasn’t a calendar of beautiful mountains and waterfalls or animals or flowers. It was a calendar of 12 very sick children, ages 2 to 16, who are all battling some kind of cancer. The have more in common than cancer, they were all bald and all smiles. In that calendar, John Dean, 13, for the month of July caught my eye. He was on his bed at St. Jude with a large sign above him, saying “cancer sucks - but god willing there’s tomorrow, I hope.” That calendar shows 12 kids, but there’s 77 more kids at the hospital with many more coming in for treatments, check-ups, shots on a daily basis. It’s a busy place. If you want to help these children at St. Jude, here’s how. The Knights of Columbus, the Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen Council #7444 is hosting a golf outing for the children at St. Jude on Aug. 19 at beautiful Mystic Creek Golf Course inside Camp Dearborn. Here’s the details. Registration is at 8:30 a.m. with a shotgun start at 9:30 a.m. The cost is $400 per foursome or $100 per golfer. This includes a continental breakfast, lunch at he turn and after a hard day of golf a super buffet dinner. Besides your golf game, there will be a skins game, longest drive and closest to the pin contests, a putting contest and 50/50 raffle. Fathers and sons, mothers and daughters, we welcome you. To sponsor a hole is $100. Donations from non-golfers are welcome, as well. To register or make a donation, mail your checks to John Rogers, 3101 Sands Ct., Milford, MI 484380. Make checks payable to Kinghts of Columbus #7444 and earmark them for St. Jude. For a form, contact me at 248-714-5353. All proceeds go to St. Jude. Danny Thomas had a dream and made a promise that “no child should die in the dawn of his life” and no parent or child is turned away because they can’t afford treatment. Danny had a dream, and that dream goes on with help from people like you. Who knows, your donation may be the one that finds that cure. By the way, that kid in the calendar with the poster? He’s in his second year playing basketball in college. Let’s keep Danny’s dream alive. John Rogers Milford

Salem grad eyes U-20 World Cup tourney

Marty Budner
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

World Cup champion France is the soccer capital of the world these days. Izzy Rodriguez hopes some of that French flair rubs off on her national team in its World Cup title quest.

The 19-year-old Canton resident is a member of the U.S. squad that will compete Aug. 5-24 in the 2018 FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup in France. Rodriguez is one of seven defenders and 21 players who made the final roster following training camp in Portland, Ore.

The U.S., which qualified after placing second in Trinidad in January, is in a four-team pool that also includes Japan, Paraguay and Spain. Its first game is 1:30 p.m. Aug. 6 against Japan.

"I'm really excited to go. It should be a lot of fun," said Rodriguez, whose first time in France was last April for 13 days training with the U-20 team. "We're about a two-hour train ride from Paris, I believe. It's really a great opportunity and I'm really honored to be part of the team."

It is Rodriguez's first World Cup with the U-20 team, but not her first taste of international competition. Rodriguez already has 19 U-20 caps and is one of 10 players who represented the U.S. at the 2016 FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup in Jordan.

Grateful to make team

The 2017 Salem High School graduate is thankful to be part of the team.

"I honestly didn't think I'd be going from the U-17 to the U-20s right away and to have another opportunity to be in another World Cup is really exciting," said Rodriguez, who will be a sophomore on the Ohio State University soccer team this year. "After I was finished with the U-17s, I just wasn't really expecting it right away because, technically, I'm playing up an age group right now."

"It was difficult at the beginning and it was kind of hard competing against the older girls. I never competed against the older age groups, but I think going to college and playing my freshman year and getting a lot of game experience

South Lyon resident heads to national motocross fest

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Young Logan Lockwood has motored into the national motocross amateur championships and he couldn't be more excited.

Logan will be one of more than 1,400 cyclists zooming into the 37th annual Rocky Mountain ATV/MC AMA Amateur National Motocross Championships, set for July 30 through Aug. 4 at the historic Loretta Lynn Ranch and Campground in Hurricane Mills, Tenn.

"I've been trying for four years to qualify (for the nationals) and I haven't made it until this year," Logan said. "I was just happy that I finally made it and, hopefully, I can keep making it after this year. One of my goals is to get top 12 or top 10 this year."

The 11-year-old South Lyon resident advanced to the championships by surviving two North Central Zone qualifiers in the 10-11-year-old 65cc Limited racing class.

In late April, Logan placed fifth in an area qualifier held at the Lincoln Trail Motorsports track in Casey, Ill. The top eight finishers from each of the nation's 57 area qualifiers advanced to the next round of competition.

Last month, Logan punched his ticket to the national championships by racing to second place among a field

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

It's hard to tell what Jake Kneen is more excited about: Qualifying for his second U.S. Amateur or playing storied Pebble Beach.

Kneen has played numerous highly-regarded golf courses across the state and country, but he's never tackled Pebble Beach.

The 2018 Oakland University graduate can't wait to attack the picturesque and challenging California coast course in the 2018 U.S. Amateur Championship, scheduled for Aug. 13-19.

"It's exciting to make it again. I'm going to Pebble Beach in a couple of weeks and it's going to be a blast," Kneen said. "I've played the course in video games before and watched plenty of golf tournaments there on TV, but for me to actually be out there, it's going to be an awesome experience and I can't wait for it."

"The U.S. Amateur in itself is one of the biggest tournaments in the world and the prestige of playing it in the first place is great," he added. "But for it to be at a venue like Pebble Beach is a whole other level of prestige, I would say. It will be very cool."

A playoff survivor

of 60 competitors at the regional qualifier at Sunset Ridge in Walnut, Ill. The top six placers at each of the 13 regionals advanced to the final event in Tennessee.

Largest amateur motocross race

It is the largest amateur motocross race in the world, as more than 22,000 cyclists were registered for this year's championships.

"You gotta have the skills, you gotta have some speed and you gotta have some luck," said Logan's mother Marcey. "You have the fastest 42 on the line. You crash. People crash you out. You get a flat tire. Who knows? Anything can happen.

"In the past, Logan's had the speed, but hasn't had the luck. And so finally, it all came together for him this year. He had the luck. He had the speed. He had some good starts and was able to pull it all together.

"When he qualified (for nationals), we went through every emotion as a family as humanly possible," she added. "It his his last year on the 65 and he really wanted to make it in and, hopefully, he'll have a good showing on the national stage. There were tears and we were so happy when we made it. We're super-excited."

Pursuing his passion

Logan took an interest in dirt bikes as soon as he removed the training wheels from his bicycle. The sixth-grader to be at Millennium Middle School started on pedal bikes at the tender age of 5 and began racing a year later.

Logan pursued his passion and began navigating the sport's rigid obstacles, such as jumps, corners and tight tracks. He became such a fierce and capable competitor that sponsors like Bell Helmets, Lucas Lowe Motocross Training, Acerbis, Bentley Graphics, Dunlap Tires and Twin Air, among others, hopped on the bandwagon.

"Ever since he was a little guy, he wanted a motorcycle," his mom said. "So we said, 'Once you can ride your bike without training wheels, you can go ahead and we'll get the motorcycle.'

"He literally marched out to the barn with his little tool kit that he had and my husband helped him take off his training wheels. It wasn't too long after that that we got him a little TW 50 dirt bike so that he could get around.

"He was scared at first, but then he wouldn't get off of it. He would just ride and ride and ride," she added. "None of us knew what we were getting into, because we weren't from a racing background. He had to deal with our learning curve. Aside from all of that, he just made it."

Logan simply loves the sport.

"I just like the adrenaline rush and I just like trying to work to get to the next level," he said. "At the local races, it's not as much fun because there's not a lot of competition. But when you go to the higher-level tracks, there is more competition.

"The corners is what matters most, because you have to slow down. Whoever er carries the most speed through the corners usually wins," he added. "It's better when you're battling and, when you finally make it, it's a great feeling. It's just a lot of fun."

Family-oriented sport

Motocross is a family-oriented lifestyle and Logan's parents, Jason and Marcey, along with his younger brother Landon, are looking forward to the competition as well. They will not only cheer on Logan, but plan to take in some of the sights and sounds of the Loretta Lynn Ranch.

The national event is known as The World's Greatest Motocross Vacation and has been the launch pads for some of the sport's biggest professional stars, such as Ricky Carmichael, James Stewart, Ryan Villopoto and Ryan Dungey.

"The sport isn't just rider. It's kind of a lifestyle ... a family commitment," Marcey said. "We have traveled thousands and thousands of miles. He has spent endless hours on his bike and a lot of the riders are home-schooled.

"It's a year-around sport and he travels back and forth from Michigan to Florida," she added. "He's been there either trying to qualify for races or just training in the off-season. We're pretty much gone every weekend traveling or training somewhere. We try to help him out the best we can."

The championships occur in a wide variety of classes for children as young as age 4 and extends to women's classes and a senior division for riders over 50. The are 35 different classes overall for competitors in both stock and modified machine classes.

Race action will be broadcast live daily on www.RacerTV.com. In addition, two highlight shows will be featured later this fall on the NBC Sports Network.

Izzy Rodriguez has 19 caps with the U-20 women's national soccer team. U.S. SOCCER really helped me develop and compete for a spot on the team.

"I've been playing with (the U-20s) for two years now, so to be able to do that has been a lot of fun," she added. "There are a lot of girls on the team who played with me on the U-17 age group and now we are just bonding with the older girls and that's really nice."

Rodriguez, who began playing soccer at age 4, honed her game with the Canton Celtics travel team and later with the reputable Michigan Hawks program. She helped lead the Hawks to the 2015 State Cup and the U-17 and U-18 ECNL national championships.

While a midfielder with the Hawks, she transitioned to back-line defense for the national team and at Ohio State, where she earned third team all Big Ten honors last year as a freshman.

"I like playing defense a lot, especially now that I have more game experience with it," Rodriguez said. "I feel a lot more comfortable and confident in the position and I'm learning a lot more new things that I didn't know before.

"Originally, the hardest thing for me was more the tactical part of it, like positioning-wise and where to be. Like, learning what to do in a certain situation," she added. "I think playing (defense) in college has really helped, because I'm getting in a lot of playing time and playing against stronger, older girls has really helped me develop in a good way."

Likes aggressive style

Rodriguez believes the aggressive playing style of U-20 head coach Jitka Klimkova suits her game perfectly.

"I think maybe I didn't want to play defense as much when I was younger, because it wasn't really an attacking position, but now it is," she said. "Now the outside backs, which is what I play, get up and own the field so much more and you're so involved in the game.

"I like to be involved in the game on both sides — defending and attacking," she added. "It gives you a chance to be creative."

The U.S., Rodriguez recalled, tied and lost to Japan in couple of friendly matches last year. She is expecting a strong showing at this year's World Cup and is motivated to do better than what she experienced in the U-17 World Cup.

"I think we're a little more motivated, since we didn't make it out of our group in the U-17s," Rodriguez said. "So I really want to come back here and, hopefully, do a lot better than what we did in that age group.

"I think we have a very good chance at going far in the tournament," she added. "We've really been developing and each camp we've been to, we're getting better and better. We're playing really good soccer right now and we're beating teams we weren't beating before. I think we're going to have a really good shot at winning it."

Kneen

The 22-year-old White Lake resident shot a two-day total of 136, tying for first place with Canton's Donnie Trosper and LaSalle's Thomas Demarco. Only the top two players were awarded qualifying spots, which necessitated a playoff.

The playoff did not last long. Trosper birdied, Kneen parred and Demarco shot a bogey on the first hole.

As a result, Kneen and Trosper earned the two qualifying spots. Demarco is the first alternate and Novi's Ben Smith finished fourth with 138 to earn the second alternate position.

"I played 36 holes with Donnie that day. We were in the same group and we were doing for a couple of hours," Kneen said. "It didn't look like anyone was going to catch us. Then, in one of the last groups, (Demarco) tied us and we had to go back out after sitting in the clubhouse.

"It was quite a roller-coaster of emotions, but we got back out there and I was able to make it through the playoff. It was a very exciting moment, for sure.

"Going into this qualifier, I was feeling pretty good. I had been playing pretty well all summer and I felt like my confidence was pretty high," he added. "I felt like if I was playing my best game, I'd be able to (qualify). It's tough, because there are only two spots with 70-some players, so you have to be on your game.

Jake Kneen's memorable season includes being named the Horizon League's Golfer of the Year and winning the Michigan Open. WENDY KNEEN

Luckily, I was."

Kneen, who graduated from the International Academy West at Lakeland High School, competed in the 2015 U.S.

Amateur held at reputable Olympia Fields Country Club in Illinois. He did not make it to match play after two days of stroke play.

Valuable experience

Kneen is looking for better results this year and believes having previous U.S. Amateur experience will be a great benefit.

"The first time I played in this, I felt I was kind of star-struck, because I saw a lot of big names that I saw on TV or winning college golf tournaments and national championships, stuff like that," said Kneen, who will play in the Michigan PGA of Champions, which starts July 30. "Now I can go in expecting to see players of that caliber and I think my game is good enough to compete with them."

The U.S. Amateur qualification simply puts a great exclamation point on Kneen's memorable summer.

In his final season at OU, Kneen was named the Horizon League's Golfer of the Year, ranking first on the team and in the league with a 72.76 average. In June, he became just the state's sixth amateur to win the Michigan Open, which was played at Grand Traverse Resort and Spa in Acme.

Needs his total game

Kneen, whose strength is his iron play, realizes he's going to have to pummel Pebble Beach with his all-around shooting arsenal.

"I'm going to have to be on top of my game out there. It's always been tough. Scores have always been high there for some of the best players in the world," Kneen said. "I'm just going to have work hard on all facets of my game. I don't think there's going to be any one thing in particular.

"I just really want to go out there and enjoy the experience this year. Playing Pebble Beach is going to be something only happens once in a lifetime, maybe," he added. "I need to soak that in, but by the time the practice rounds are in, I'm going to focus and do the best I can do. I think the No. 1 goal is to make match play and go as far as I can from there."

Following the U.S. Amateur, Kneen plans to take his shot at the pro circuit when he heads to the web.com qualifying tour. In fact, he held off turning pro just so that he could attempt to qualify for the U.S. Amateur at Pebble Beach.

"Essentially this summer, I wanted to try for the U.S. Amateur one more time before I turn pro. The plan is to turn pro this fall," Kneen said. "But I was talking to my parents earlier in the year and we said, if I could qualify for the U.S. Amateur this year to play Pebble Beach, that would be something special. It was worth taking a little bit of time to stay amateur before turning pro. Luckily, I did."

MHSAA news and notes

■ The Michigan High School Athletic Association saw a rise in student-athlete participation in the 28 sports in which it sponsors postseason tournaments. A total of 284,920 participants competed in MHSAA-sponsored sports for the 2017-18 school year, up 0.46 percent from 2016-17. It is the best participation rate in four years and occurred despite a 1-percent drop in enrollment among member schools. Girls participation rose for the third straight year (121,349), while boys participation fell to 163,571 — less than one-10th of a percent decline from last year.

■ Jack Fairman from Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook Kingswood High School is one of eight student-athletes who will be juniors at their schools and have been selected to serve a two-year term on the MHSAA's Student-Advisory Council. The council is a 16-member group that provides feedback on issues impacting educational athletics from a student's perspective. The others selected to the council this year are Grace Beardley (Gladwin); Kaitlyn Bricker (Pellston); Nathan Eccles (Port Huron Northern); Alexis Mohnney (Mattawan); Trevin Phillips (Caro); Isabella Santiago-Lindsay (North Muskegon); and Lance Wiltse (Saginaw Michigan Lutheran Seminary).

■ Len Ciemniecki (Seaholm HS/Birmingham), a sophomore at Albion College, was placed on the Scholar All-America Teams as selected by the College Swimming & Diving Coaches Association of America. The award recognizes student-athletes who have achieved a 3.5 or higher grade-point average and competed in their respective NCAA/NAIA/NJCAA championships. Ciemniecki achieved All-America status in the 400-yard medley relay at the NCAA Division III Swimming & Diving Championships in March.

■ Addisyn Lewis (Plymouth HS/Canton) is among five recruits — the only one from Michigan — who will join the Malone (Ohio) University women's soccer team this fall. Lewis played for the Wildcats soccer and basketball teams and also excelled academically as she was a four-year recipient of the Scholar-Athlete Award. She also earned the AP

■ Boston University's Justin Flynn (Rochester Hills/Brother Rice) set the 100-meter record in a gold-medal showing at the recent Patriot League championship meet with a time of 10.45. The time broke the BU school record of 10.48, set by both Cam Williams (2015) and Johann Jack (1998). Flynn also was a member of the 400-meter relay team that placed third, which also included former high school teammate Chiebuka Onwuzurike (Bloomfield Hills/Brother Rice). Flynn competed as a graduate student, while Onwuzurike completed his sophomore year with the Terriers.

■ Carlie Castiglione (Northville/Northville) is one of 10 women's soccer recruits for the University of Detroit Mercy. The 5-foot-8 goalie earned three varsity letters for the Mustangs and was credited with more than 225 career saves. Castiglione played club soccer with the Michigan Hawks, Jags and Rush and helped lead her team to the state semifinals. "Carlie is technically sounds and will add to our great goal-tending group," U-D head coach Mike Lupenec said. "She is hard-working and very vocal and demands a lot out of her back line. She is also very good with her feet and plays out of the back well."

Eichenlaub captures Gatorade state honor

hometownlife.com

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Bloomfield Hills Marian's Jansen Eichenlaub recently was honored as the 2017-18 Gatorade Michigan Girls Soccer Player of the Year.

The award recognizes Eichenlaub, who last month led Marian to a second straight Class B state championship, as Michigan's best high school girls soccer player. She is the first Marian player to win the award and joins an elite list of past national winners, including Alexi Lalas (Cranbrook, 1987-88), Abby Wambach (Our Lady of Mercy, N.Y., 1997-98) and Mallory Pugh (Mountain Vista, Colo., 2014-15).

The senior-to-be at Marian scored a team-high 34 goals and helped the Mustangs finish with an undefeated (19-0-1) record this past season. She posted eight multi-goal games — five hat tricks — and made the all-state Dream Team for the second straight season.

Eichenlaub, who has committed to play soccer at the University of Virginia, maintains a 3.74 grade-point average.

A few of the recent Michigan girls soccer players who have won the award are Megan Buckingham (Northville, 2013-14), Madi Lewis (Plymouth, 2012-13) and Olivia Brannon (Athens, 2010-11).

The diagram consists of a grid of letters, primarily 'A', 'B', 'C', 'D', 'E', 'F', 'G', 'H', 'I', 'J', 'K', 'L', 'M', 'N', 'O', 'P', 'Q', 'R', 'S', 'T', 'U', 'V', 'W', 'X', 'Y', 'Z'. Overlaid on this grid are numerous overlapping loops and paths, some of which are highlighted with thicker lines. These paths appear to be generated by a specific algorithm, possibly related to the 'Axiomatic Design' process mentioned in the text. The paths are complex, with many crossings and loops, suggesting a highly interconnected system or a complex optimization problem.
