The furry and friendly namesake of Plymouth's newest restaurant is still getting accustomed to the freight trains that rumble past her owner's latest venture at 885 Starkweather Road.

The transition has been smooth, however, for the faithful foodie following that Bob Ostendorf has developed with his growing brand of Stella's eateries.

Ostendorf, whose Bernese mountain dog Stella is the centerpiece of his growing dining empire's marketing plan, is bringing the taste of New Orleans to Plymouth's Old Village with the opening of his two-of-a-kind hybrid restaurant Stella's Too/Stella's Trackside.

Stella's Trackside in Plymouth now offers a Friday afternoon happy hour.

Call in those terrible potholes

Ed Wright Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

If you live (or drive a lot) in Canton Township and are tempted to invest in one of those "I'm not drunk, I'm avoiding potholes!" bumper stickers, hold your horses.

Township Supervisor Pat Williams suggests an alternative that should be more effective: Visit the Wayne County Public Services website and fill out a ticket that lets the pothole-patching decision-makers know where the rattle-rattling breeding grounds are popping up (or down).

"It just takes a moment," said Williams. "I know. I fill out about three or four a week, for myself and for the township's residents. When the pothole you report is fixed, they'll send you a confirmation email."

"It's a case where the squeaky wheel gets the oil."

If township residents are wondering why the "oil" has to come from the county and not the township in the wake of last year's successful roads-improvement millage, Williams has the answer.

"Not one cent of the money raised by the millage will go toward fixing a pothole," Williams said. "Pothole repairs are 100 percent the responsibility of the county. Nothing has changed in that regard. Funds generated by the millage will be used incrementally on major road work done in the township by Wayne County and MDOT."

Drivers whose vehicles were damaged along one of Canton's pothole breeding grounds that are under the jurisdiction of the county — for example, Sheldon and Canton Center roads — can file a damage claim on the Wayne County website and potentially receive a refund for the amount of their car repair.

"I've heard of people having success with this, but it depends upon the amount of evidence they have and whether the stretch of road where the damage occurred was reported before the incident," Williams said.

Drivers can also call 1-888-762-3273 to report road hazards.

"It's better to submit a ticket online," Williams advised, "because that

Livonia police arrest I-96 Speedway robbery suspect

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Livonia police say they have arrested a suspect accused of holding up a gas station off of Interstate 96 last week.

Police say they, with the assistance of the United States Marshal Service, arrested Sean Ragland, 26, of Highland Park, on Feb. 15. Ragland, a former employee at the gas station, is accused of entering the Speedway at 31374 Schoolcraft in the early morning hours Feb. 14 and robbing the store clerk at gun point.

The store clerk working at the time called police after running from the store after the suspect arrived.

Police say Ragland entered wearing a bandanna over his face and brandished a semiautomatic handgun, demanding cash. Police say he took the cash and left the store on foot.

He was unable to be located by police immediately after the incident.

Ragland was arraigned on charges of armed robbery and felony firearm in district court. He was given a $150,000 cash/surety bond and is due in Livonia's 16th District Court for a probable cause conference at 9 a.m. Feb. 28.

Wayne County Jail online records show Ragland still in the county jail as of Monday morning. If convicted, Ragland faces up to life in prison.

New app rewards walking in Livonia

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Have you always wanted a little extra reward for taking that half-hour walk? Livonia residents can now have just that.

The Healthy Livonia initiative, a program launched by the city, St. Mary Mercy Hospital and other groups, is a fitness challenge program that rewards users with a digital currency for the steps they take.

Using an app called Carrot, participants can sign up for the challenge with Healthy Livonia and receive a step goal. Then, their pedometer-enabled smartphone can track their steps and determine whether or not they've hit their goal for the day. Participants can then use the coins to purchase goodies such as gift cards through the app.

The best part of the program, said Healthy Livonia Program Coordinator

Jane Muszynski, is that goals are determined by daily activity and not at an arbitrary figure. If a participant does more sitting at a desk during the day, their goal will be different than a more active person.

"Then your goal is going to be set lower," she said. "You wouldn't have the same goal as a mailman who walks all day does."

Users who sign up can also link their fitness tracker, such as a FitBit, to the app to count their steps as well. The app is available in the App Store for Apple and the Google Play Store for Android devices.

Muszynski said the program launched at the 100 Days to Health event at the Jack E. Kirksey Recreation Center last month and has seen more than 150 participants sign up. Of those participants, she said, more than 41 percent have been routinely hitting their daily step goals.

In addition to the accumulation of regular steps, users who travel to one of 12 spots around Livonia can earn 1,000 bonus steps just for visiting. These locations have special beacons that will recognize users within several hundred feet. They range from city facilities and parks to local businesses and eateries.

Once such beacon location is Merri-

Bowl Lanes, 30950 Five Mile. Richard Glomb, one of the bowling alley's owners, said he heard about the program from an employee and got involved with Healthy Livonia. In addition to promoting the program, he saw it as a way to get people talking about the benefits of bowling.

"What we saw was an opportunity to promote Merri-Bowl but also the activity of bowling," he said. "That's why we jumped all over this."

Other places with Carrot beacons include:

- Biggy Coffee, 37403 Ann Arbor Road
- Community Alliance Credit Union, 37401 Plymouth
- Community Choice Credit Union, 15420 Farmington
- Embassy Title, 15704 Farmington
- Jimmy John's, 37671 Six Mile and 33177 Eight Mile
- Jack E. Kirksey Recreation Center, 15100 Hubbard
- Livonia Chamber of Commerce, 33300 Five Mile
- New 5 Nutrition, 37665 Five Mile
- Rotary Park, 32184 Six Mile
- Tatigian Park and Nature Preserve Bridge, 34501 Curtis

Healthy Livonia has launched several programs and assisted in several areas since it launched, including assisting with the new universally-accessible playground that opened at Rotary Park last year.

Ted Davis, superintendent of parks and recreation for the city, said in addition to encouraging people to visit sites such as Tatigian Park, the program will help move Livonia residents closer to living a more healthy lifestyle.

Millage-related repairs

An overview of what millage-funded Canton Road Program projects are expected to unfold in 2019 can be found on the Canton Township website.

Fifty-five percent of the funds generated by the 20-year millage will go toward matching projects on major county roads, 30 percent will go toward local county subdivision roads and 15 percent will go toward state roads, the biggest chunk being the Ford Rd. boulevard project.

"One year ago, the Ford Road project was not in MDOT's five-year plan; now it is because of the money we will be able to match from the millage," said Williams.

"I think it's important to emphasize that the Canton Road Program is a long-term plan, the funds will stretch over 20 years. As a result, residents may not be saying 'Wow!' until we're eight to 10 years into this."

The Canton Township Board of Trustees has allotted $1.5 million (30 percent) of the funds generated from the road millage to repairs on local public roads.

Throughout 2019, the township will focus on completing work centered on preventative maintenance and drainage repairs throughout the area. The drainage work will occur for the most part north of Ford Road in 2019 and south of Ford Road in 2020.

The township is currently soliciting homeowners associations to submit project ideas for matched work in residential subdivisions and other residential roads.

The projects will require the HOAs to contribute matching funds for the projects, which will range in cost from $20,000 to $200,000.

To be considered for match work in 2020, interested parties must submit a completed "Letter of Interest" to the township by 4:30 p.m. on April 30.

Events worth checking out this weekend

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Getting over the constant freeze/thaw process of winter? So are we.

But here we are, the last weekend of February with March around the corner (though truth be told, that's sometimes not much better). But now's the best time to enjoy what's left of the cold and have a little fun this weekend.

Here are three events worth checking out this weekend across the region.

Winter Jamboree in Westland

If you haven't had the chance to ever visit the Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center in Westland, this weekend is the perfect excuse.

The former elementary in the historic Norwayne neighborhood off of Merriman at 32150 Dorsey will host the Norwayne Citizen's Council Winter Jamboree from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. There, families can play dodgeball with police officers, do library crafts, enjoy some walking tacos for lunch and compete in a paper airplane contest. A scavenger hunt will also take place, along with a school supplies giveaway.

For more information on the event, call 734-595-0288

Indoor triathlon in Livonia

If you promised yourself you'd get back in shape this winter, the Jack E. Kirksey Recreation Center in Livonia will be where you want to go Sunday.

The annual indoor triathlon will take place Sunday at the rec center, 15100 Hubbard. There, participants will compete in a 20-minute swim, a 20-minute cycling ride and a 20-minute run, all with 10 minutes in-between. Swimming takes place in the 25-yard lap pool, cycling will be on upright stationary bikes and running will take place on treadmills. Total distance will determine scoring and placement.

Awards will be given to the top male and female in several age groups: 18-30, 31-40, 41-50, 51-60, and 61 and over. Registration is $35 and must be done by Friday at the rec center.

For more information, contact the rec center at 734-466-2900.

Black History Month at the Detroit Institute of Arts

It's not too late to take part in Black History Month. And the Detroit Institute of Arts is a great place to do just that this weekend.

In addition to viewing influential pieces of artwork by black artists, enjoy the final program celebrating the month at the DIA begins at 7 p.m. Friday night.

There, Friday Night Live featuring Charenée Wade, a jazz and soul/R&B musician will perform. She'll be joined by other members of her working band including Oscar Perez (piano), Paul Beaudry (bass), and Timothy Angulo (drums).

Admission to the DIA is free for Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County residents, and the concert is also free.

Amazon confirms big money for Plymouth Township startup

Eric D. Lawrence Detroit Free Press
USA TODAY NETWORK

Amazon will lead a $700 million investment in Detroit-area electric vehicle startup Rivian.

Recent reports have focused on a likely large investment in the company from the online package delivery behemoth and possibly General Motors, but the news, minus a GM announcement, was confirmed Friday.

"This investment is an important milestone for Rivian and the shift to sustainable mobility," R.J. Scaringe, Rivian founder and CEO, said in a news release. "Beyond simply eliminating compromises that exist around performance, capability and efficiency, we are working to drive innovation across the entire customer experience. Delivering on this vision requires the right partners, and we are excited to have Amazon with us on our journey to create products, technology and experiences that reset expectations of what is possible."

In the same release, Jeff Wilke, Amazon CEO for Worldwide Consumer, praised Rivian and its founder: "We're inspired by Rivian's vision for the future of electric transportation. R.J. has built an impressive organization, with a product portfolio and technology to match. We're thrilled to invest in such an innovative company."

Rivian, which is headquartered in Plymouth Township west of Detroit, debuted two vehicles at the Los Angeles Auto Show last year — the all-electric R1T pickup and R1S SUV.

The vehicles, which are expected to be delivered to customers in late 2020 with more than 400 miles possible on a charge, are to be built at the company's manufacturing plant in Normal, Illinois.

The news release said Rivian will remain independent, and that the funding round will be led by Amazon while including participation from existing shareholders.

While GM has remained tight-lipped about its part in any investment, a source familiar with the matter told the Free Press on Friday that there is nothing "imminent" to announce on Rivian. The source did not deny talks are ongoing. Bloomberg, quoting people familiar with the matter, also has reported that Rivian remains in talks with the automaker.

Rivian, a startup with an engineering base in Plymouth Township, has received a $700 million boost from Amazon. BEN MOON

GM has hinted at developing an electric pickup in the future. During a talk at Harvard last fall, CEO Mary Barra teased that GM has given a "tiny bit" of thought to producing an electric pickup truck someday.

But when pressed, she declined to comment on future product programs. She has been asked about it since and has reiterated the line that GM envisions an all-EV future, but declines to offer specifics.

Michelle Krebs, executive analyst, Autotrader, said the Amazon investment will mean a lot to the Michigan startup.

"The investment is a drop in the bucket for Amazon, but it is huge for Rivian in terms of the amount of money and in terms of raising the profile of Rivian," she said. "Amazon is exploring ways to reinvent its delivery fleet, and Rivian's electric-powered skateboard concept, which could carry a variety of body styles, offers an interesting possibility."

She continued: "While Rivian has shown a concept pickup truck and SUV, it could just as easily be offered as a delivery van. Electric vehicles for fleets makes more sense than individual ownership as routes, with charging stations strategically located, can be planned to optimize charging and range."

Brian Moody, executive editor at Autotrader, said that while Rivian's pickup design is "really like nothing the industry has seen, with the battery strategy creating all sorts of opportunities for improved storage and functionality," there is always a question about production.

"Amazon does not bring vehicle production capability to the party, something Rivian would desperately need," Moody said. "Of course, with Amazon money, Rivian can easily make the Normal, Illinois, plant state of the art fairly quickly."

Red Wings announcer Daniels to share family opioid tragedy

His voice has described Red Wings games on television for two decades, but Ken Daniels is also using his voice for a more serious matter.

Daniels lost his son to an overdose in December 2016, at a time his family thought he was nearing successful completion of an opioid rehabilitation program. Jamie Daniels was 23 years old.

Inspired to use his family's tragedy to save lives, Ken Daniels started a foundation in his son's honor and speaks about opioids, its horrors and the importance of getting the addicted to help.

Daniels is scheduled to appear and share his message at a Livonia Chamber of Commerce luncheon Feb. 27 at the Schoolcraft College VisTaTech Center. The 11:30 a.m. luncheon is sponsored by St. Mary Mercy Livonia and Growth Works, as both are becoming more involved in the opioid fight in Western Wayne County.

Daniels

"For those who want to judge, and you hope like hell it is not happening in your house, and if it's not, it is happening two, three doors down because the numbers show it," Daniels said in an interview with Fox Sports Detroit.

At the Livonia Chamber event, Daniels will talk about hockey, his family, coping with a tragedy, and how to support those dealing with addiction. The audience for this luncheon will feature a collection of business people and high school students.

"This is an issue that impacts many families and our businesses right in our backyard," said Dan West, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce. "We are grateful that someone of Ken's stature and personal passion has made himself available to us to share this important message in the hope of saving people's lives."

Stella's

One side of the 8,000-square-foot space will feature a higher-end Creole-themed dining experience while the other side will offer a family-oriented atmosphere, similar to Ostendorf's other Plymouth restaurant, Stella's Black Dog Tavern.

"Stella's (Black Dog Tavern) has done really well, and we maxed out there with only 1,200 square feet of dining space, 800 feet for the kitchen and just 29 parking spots," said Ostendorf, 68, a private equity turnaround specialist. "It was either grow, or not."

"(The previous owners of Station 885) had been in business quite a while and they wanted out, so we cut a deal. We have 255 seats here (compared to 120 at the Black Dog Tavern), so we feel we can grow. A big thing, too, is that we have 145 parking spots now and we're excited to be a part of the Old Village resurgence."

Ostendorf revealed he was initially interested in purchasing the Courthouse Grille site in Plymouth, but switched gears due to that building's structural issues.

He also made sure everyone knew that Stella's Black Dog Tavern is staying put — Stella would have it no other way.

"She's not a big fan of the noise the trains make here," Ostendorf said from a seat in his new venue. "We're definitely going to keep our other Plymouth location open. With Trackside and Stella's Too, we want to give people more options and to marry the best of both worlds...."

"By opening this place, we can grow and make life easier for our faithful customers."

Ostendorf's plan is to make Friday and Saturday nights at Stella's Trackside a festive, Mardi Gras-esque atmosphere with dueling pianos, a singing wait staff, and a cajun-style menu.

Ostendorf has plans to add a caboose and a beer garden on the exterior of his new place.

"The food will be a little bit more expensive than the food we normally sell, but it won't be off the wall," he said. "It will probably cost 10 percent more. With that added cost, though, we'll give you a whole different dining experience."

The kitchen-orchestrating duties at Stella's Too/Stella's Trackside will be handled by chef Brian Doyle, who was head chef at Doyle's Tavern and the Black Dog Tavern.

Doyle has already developed a Trackside menu that will be highlighted by everything from shrimp gumbo dip to oysters rockefeller.

"We want this room (Trackside) to be booked every Friday and Saturday for weeks in advance," Doyle said.

"We're trying to make this a fun place," Ostendorf added. "It's going to be a little bit above, so you can come here and have a nice dinner with your wife, hold a birthday party. If you make reservations at the Trackside, you'll be guaranteed to be entertained and enjoy a great meal."

The Stella's Too menu will feature an integration of the Black Dog Tavern's offerings along with some favorites from Station 885.

"For example, we're going to continue to offer the escargot that (Station 885) served," Ostendorf said. "I'm not sure we're going to keep the frog legs, though."

Other favorites on the Stella's Too menu include the plant-based Impossible Burger, and the Angus-based Slop Burger and Tavern Burger.

Among the popular entree offerings are various serving sizes of filet mignon, baby back ribs and prime rib.

The pizza portion of the menu is highlighted by a build-your-own pizza.

Ostendorf is making it a point to give something back to the community he so greatly admires.

For instance, Friday night is "Teachers Night" and educators are the beneficiaries of discounted prices. The proceeds from two children's books featuring Stella will be donated to veterans-related causes and the Plymouth Library.

"I love Plymouth; it's one of those solid Midwestern cities where you see what you get and get what you see," he said. "I think it's important to give back to the community where you live and work."

Before he's done with the restaurant industry, Ostendorf hinted that a third Stella's location may be down the road.

"If this place launches well and as long as my team is able and willing to stand behind me, I'd like to someday add a third place, maybe like a Stella's Hole In The Wall that is across the street from a transmission plant," he said. "It'd be a place you could come for some good appetizers, a good burger, but a place you wouldn't feel bad about bringing your wife to."

"That's a little premature to talk about now, though. We need to get this place going."

Stella's Trackside/Stella's Too will hold its official grand opening, March 5 — Mardi Gras.

Stella's owner Bob Ostendorf talks about changes to the Starkweather restaurant as its namesake, his Bernese Mountain dog, Stella, sits near his feet.

A WEST BLOOMFIELD VALENTINE'S LOVE STORY

Susan Bromley Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Bill and Helen Barz have been sweethearts for six decades.

The happy couple met at a dance in Detroit in the late 1950s, and while they aren't exactly doing the tango anymore, Bill, 95, and Helen, 92, are still the perfect partners through life.

"It took a little while to find the right woman," Bill said as he sat next to Helen at the American House Senior Living Community in West Bloomfield, their home for the last two years.

Bill was 34, an Army veteran and former World War II prisoner of war when he met Helen, then a 30-year-old bilingual secretary at a social services agency in a Polish neighborhood in Detroit.

"She was with her sister and I said, 'I'll take her home,' and I drove her home," Bill recalled. "We started going out every once in awhile, polkas and dancing."

Helen remembers "very nice" dates, which also included sambas, cha-chas, waltzes and fox trots. The pair were good on the dance floor and even won a couple prizes, Bill said.

After about three years of dating, and after standing up as best man in five weddings, Bill proposed to Helen one night in his car.

"All of my friends were married, and I thought, 'I better get married, too,'" he laughed as he gazed at Helen sitting next to him. "It took a little while to find the right woman."

Bill and Helen were married Aug. 27, 1960, at St. Peter and Paul Church on the west side of Detroit.

Their first child, Mary Ann, was born in 1961, followed by two sons, William John, born in 1963, and John Joseph, born in 1965.

Bill worked as a tool designer, while Helen was a stay-at-home mom.

They had a home on St. Lawrence Street in Detroit and one on Vaughn Street in the early years of their marriage.

In 1968, they bought a home adjacent to the Shenandoah Golf Course in West Bloomfield, where they lived for almost 50 years until moving to the American House community two years ago.

Asked what is the key to a long and happy marriage, the grandparents of seven keep their answers short, making a lifelong partnership look easy, when many couples think it is anything but.

Helen thinks it helps to be the same nationality and the same religion, in their case, Polish and Catholic. Bill never objected to anything she wanted to do.

"I did a lot of crocheting, he did a lot of golf," she said.

"We never argued," Bill says simply, to which their son John laughs and responds, "I plead the Fifth."

Helen's next words are so earnest though, it makes success in love look basic, if the rule could just be met by two people, day after day, decade after decade.

"Care about each other and do things for each other," she said. "It's just living every day doing for one another and telling each other you care."

Bill and Helen did, and they still do, Valentine's Day and every day.

Gift cards, cash taken from man's wallet at LA Fitness

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Livonia police continue to warn gymgoers to keep their valuables secured after a gym patron reported cash stolen out of his wallet while in his car.

A 57-year-old Garden City man came into the Livonia police station the morning of Feb. 12 to report his car had been entered illegally while he was at LA Fitness, 30273 Plymouth, the previous Saturday.

He said he arrived at the gym at about 2:30 p.m. and locked his vehicle when he parked in the lot. He put his keys in a locker without a lock and left his wallet in the car.

When he was done at the gym a few hours later, he grabbed his keys and went back out to his car to find his wallet felt thinner than before.

He checked it and discovered several gift cards were missing, as well as some cash. He told police he believed the suspect grabbed his keys from inside the unlocked locker, unlocked the car, took the items from his wallet and returned the keys to the locker.

Later on, the victim received a text from his bank telling him there was a fraudulent charge on his credit card on Walmart.com. He still had possession of his card, so he believed the suspect took a photo of it and used it fraudulently.

Anyone with information is encouraged to contact Livonia police at 734-466-2470.

78-year-old out $8K in 'grandparent scam'

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Be careful who's calling pretending to be a relative.

That's the message Livonia police are sending out after yet another 'grandparent' scam, this one costing one resident thousands of dollars.

A 78-year-old Livonia woman came into the Livonia police station Jan. 30 to report she had been scammed out of $8,000. She said she received several phone calls from "unavailable" numbers. She answered one of them, with the caller claiming to be her grandson.

He said he was arrested and in a jail in Winnipeg, Manitoba, and needed money for bail.

Believing the caller to be her grandson, the woman then went out and bought $8,000 worth of eBay and Home Depot gift cards as payment to help get him out.

When the suspect called back, the Livonia resident read out the card numbers to the suspect. She received a call the next day from the suspect again, which is when she realized she may have been scammed.

She then called her actual grandson, who said he had not been arrested in Canada. She then came to the police station to file a report.

Such scams are fairly common. The Michigan attorney general's office provides plenty of information, including the signs to look for when such a call is made.

Anyone who believes they have fallen victim to such a scam is encouraged to report it to their local police department, as well as the Federal Trade Commission by visiting that agency's website or by calling 877-FTC-HELP.

Brick thrown at driver in road rage incident

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Livonia police say a road rage incident that spanned several communities ended with a brick thrown at another motorist earlier this month.

Police say the incident, which took place Feb. 5, began when one driver, a 41-year-old Romulus man, and a 41-year-old Taylor woman were driving to their jobs in Livonia.

Somewhere in Inkster, the driver said a gray Jeep Grand Cherokee cut them off and a road rage incident occurred.

The driver said the man in the Jeep stopped near Joy and Middlebelt in a residential neighborhood and picked up a landscaping brick, while the two driving to work in Livonia arrived at their place of employment in the 31000 block of Industrial.

A few minutes later, the Jeep driven by the suspect pulled up driving fast and parked behind the victim's vehicle. The suspect appeared to throw the brick, striking the car and then hitting the Romulus man in the head.

It then bounced off the dashboard and into the back seat. The suspect then drove away, turning left onto Industrial.

The victim had a laceration on his ear and the vehicle's window was smashed.

A license plate number could not be read by the victim, but the Jeep is described as being 2005-2007, gray with tinted black windows and shiny rims. The suspect was described as a 6-foot-1 male with a goatee and a medium build wearing dark clothing.

Anyone with information is encouraged to contact Livonia police at 734-466-2470.

PREP BOYS BASKETBALL

Tech sends Novi star to bench in loss to Howell

Bill Khan
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Winning a basketball game wasn't the priority for Novi coach Chris Housey.

It was more important to provide a teachable moment, even if it jeopardized the Wildcats' chances of beating Howell Friday night.

The game was very much hanging in the balance when Giovanni Miles, Novi's best player, picked up a technical foul with 4:07 remaining in the fourth quarter.

It wasn't Miles' fifth foul, so he was free to remain in the game, but Housey put him on the bench the rest of the night.

Howell, which led 43-42 at the time, went on to win, 57-45.

"We talk to the kids all the time about maintaining your composure and moving forward to the next play, the next play after stuff happens," Housey said. "We kind of just lost ours at the end there. It ended up costing us. It's never one guy, it's never one moment. If we had been winning by 20, instead of the 10 we were, it might not have made that big of a difference. It ended up costing us, but we'll learn from it."

Miles had a team-high 12 points and might have provided a counter-punch to Howell senior Josh Palo, who took over the game in the second half.

Palo scored the 1,000th point of his four-year career with his only basket of the first half, then went off for 25 second-half points. Novi held a 37-25 lead with 2:36 left in the third quarter.

From that point on, Palo scored 22 points during a 32-6 run. He had 15 points in the fourth quarter, going 9-for-9 from the line.

"We were down a lot," Palo said. "We really didn't have anything going, so I knew I had to make stuff start happening. That's what I was doing. I was just attacking, I was finishing my layups."

Novi was able to limit Palo's chances in the first half, with Jacob Clay and Miles Sloan taking turns guarding him.

"We played good defense on him in the first half," Novi coach Chris Housey said. "We played really good defense on him in the second half. He's just a really good player and made plays. He just beat us; he just flat-out came out and beat us."

Ashton Smith scored 11 points off the bench for Novi (8-10, 7-7 KLA West). Jett Porter scored all eight of his points in the first half.

Howell's Josh Palo reached the 1,000-point career milestone when he made this jump shot over the outstretched arm of Novi's Giovanni Miles on Feb. 15.

When student-athletes need a quick in-game pick-me-up (think spinach for Popeye), they often turn to their student-cheering sections — the best of which provide choreographed chants and cheers for their hometown heroes.

Earlier this month, two of the area's most rambunctious momentum generators were stationed 25 rows deep and just over the length of a basketball court from one another in the South Lyon East High School gymnasium, adding some pizzazz to a rivalry game between the host Cougars and the visiting South Lyon contingent that was already overflowing with electricity.

Cohesive in their theme-of-the-night sports jerseys — there were a lot of yellow Lion jerseys and one bright-orange Tim Tebow uniform in the mix — South Lyon's mojo igniters were their usual spontaneous selves, going bonkers when their team knocked down a long three-point shot and displaying perfect harmony with "You can't do that!" when an unfortunate East player was whistled for double-dribble.

And, yes, there were a few choruses of "Airball!", aimed at unnerving (at least temporarily) a shooter whose shot failed to even nick the rim.

The home team's supportive throng opted to go with a white-out apparel theme, turning their collective backs whenever a Lion stepped to the

PREP GIRLS BASKETBALL

Brighton topples Northville, now 17-1

Ed Wright
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

With the precision of a world-class surgeon, Brighton's girls basketball team proved Friday night against host Northville why it's regarded as one of the best teams in the state.

Applying a full-court pressure defense that gave the Mustangs little room to breathe, let alone execute, the Bulldogs forced more turnovers in the first quarter (12) than they allowed shots (seven).

Now 17-1 overall, 13-1 in the Kensington Lakes Activities Association's West Division and ranked ninth in Class A by MaxPreps.com, Brighton led 20-3 after one quarter and 42-16 at the half.

Brighton's top weapon was first-player-off-the-bench Kylie Seiter who scored 15 points — nine the result of a trio of threes — and was a hawk on defense for the winners three steals and a perpetual get-after-it tenacity on defense.

Also turning in valiant efforts for Brighton were junior center Sophie Dziekan, who netted 13 points and six rebounds while proving to be a menace in the paint on defense; and senior guard Lauren Brown, who scored 13 points while swiping five steals.

Brighton drained eight threes — seven in the first half.

Despite the lopsided outcome, several Mustangs distinguished themselves with strong games, namely junior post player Morgan Thompson, who registered 10 points, six rebounds and three blocked shots.

Senior center Julia Straky (seven points) and Lauren Marshall (eight points, four rebounds) also excelled.

The Mustangs slipped to 9-9 overall and 5-9 in the division.

Here are four takeaways from Friday night's action:

No wasted energy

The Bulldogs' efficiency on both ends of the court was stellar. Dribbling on offense was minimal while sharp without-the-ball cuts and crisp passing were maximized as is reflected by their five turnovers over the first three quarters.

On two occasions late in the third quarter and throughout the fourth, the Bulldogs milked big chunks off the clock with impatient examples of unselfish ball control. Following a timeout with 1:20 left in the third, Brighton ran the clock down to 0:02 when Brown launched a right-wing triple that found nothing but net.

Hustle not the problem

Even though their odds of pulling out a victory grew slimmer by the quarter, the Mustangs never hit the brakes on their effort.

A prime example unfolded with 4:10 remaining in the game and the hosts trailing 59-28. Sophomore reserve guard Avery Tolstyka sprinted more than a quarter of the quarter after a loose ball before laying out for a last-gasp dive for the sphere and ultimately sliding 10 feet across the floor just beyond the baseline.

Mustang Lauren Marshall runs into a lot of Bulldogs near the basket. PHOTOS BY JOHN HEIDER/HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

The Mustangs showed a lot of spunk in the second half, playing Brighton toe-to-toe on the scoreboard (19-19) even though the Bulldogs' starters remained in the game for the most part until the final four minutes of the contest.

Pressure cookers

At times, it seemed as if there were seven Brighton defenders on the floor — that's how daunting the team's full-court, girl-to-girl press appeared.

Brown and Seiter were the defensive catalysts, filling passing lanes with lightning-quick bursts and exhibiting in-your-face technique that often led to poor passes by Northville and subsequent layups for the Bulldogs.

The best example of how Brighton's defense produced offense played out with 1:42 remaining in the first quarter when Elaine Halonen secured a loose ball caused by a turnover and finished off a smooth left-handed layup to extend her team's 10-0 run.

Lady Luck played a small role in the Bulldogs fortunes midway through the first stanza when Dziekan banked in a three-point shot before smiling and putting her hand over mouth, signaling she didn't call bank on the release.

Plenty of positives

Other than failing to handle Brighton's pressure, the mostly-underclassmen Mustangs hung tough.

Senior guard Jenna Lauderback doubled-down on the much taller Dziekan on one Bulldog possession, forcing a jump ball with the possession arrow pointing Northville's way.

Just before halftime, Lauderback defied a Brighton double team and threaded a slick pass to Thompson, who had gotten behind the Bulldogs' defense.

Thompson returned the favor a short time later when she stole a pass near mid-court and lasered a pass to Marshall, who finished the play with a smooth left-handed layup.

Brighton canned nearly half of its shots (24-for-50) while the Mustangs found net on 11 of 31 attempts.

forget.

It began that morning with the Northville teens raising their arms and linking hands across from each other, forming a human tunnel into the Novi ice arena and cheering as the grinning Detroit students ran through and into the building, for something extraordinary.

"Most of these kids have never skated," said Susan Evans, a member of the board of directors with Bridgepointe, a non-profit that organized the event. "They are not exposed to hockey in their community like they are soccer and baseball."

In an even broader sense, just getting exposure to a new experience is special, she added.

About 65% of the students from Neinas, a southwest Detroit public school, qualify for free or reduced meals. Evans said a quarter of the students' families don't own a vehicle and are limited from attending events happening in their own city. Exposure to cultural events, field trips like going to the zoo or even visiting a park, are essential hands-on learning experiences that are often in short supply for inner-city children.

After strapping on their borrowed skates, the littler kids were venturing on to the ice, with help from their older mentors, clad in full hockey regalia. Small hands clasped large ones, sometimes with a fourth-grader paired with two high schoolers for double the assistance.

The degrees of confidence varied, with some children staying close to the walls of the rink, or using cones for support, while others soon let go of the supporting hands and skated toward the center of the ice, arms out for balance. There were frequent spills, but also frequent laughs and near constant smiles.

Daniel Roblero, 9, a first-time skater, fell a few times, but proudly shared that he then "got the hang of it" and also shot a puck five times into the net in a sport he has never seen.

"I had a good coach to show me how," he said. "I want to play hockey and skate when I grow up. It was cool being here."

Northville Varsity Assistant Coach Jon Gates said the hockey players teaching the Neinas kids were just as excited. He noted the 15- to 18-year-olds often don't let their guards down as they are kids trying to become adults. But on this day, he said, one could catch a glimpse behind the façade.

"You get to see energy, love, caring and when you see the smiles on their faces, you see they are still kids at heart," Gates said. "You see they care about the kids of the future."

The Northville Hockey program first joined the Bridgepointe community service program four years ago, making two treks to Ross Hill Academy to participate in skill-building activities with those students before the school closed. Last year, the Northville students went to Neinas for the first time, playing basketball and field hockey with fourth-graders who hadn't had a physical education teacher at the school for eight years.

This is the first time the Northville players have been able to welcome Detroit students to their own "turf."

"It's really fun, I love seeing these kids try something new," Grace Lapinski, a Northville High School senior who has played hockey for nine years, said. "They're nervous, but it is good to see them get some confidence on the ice. I'd love to see them try it later in life, especially the girls."

Melissa Castellanos, a 10-year-old Neinas student, said she also was excited to skate with a girl.

"It was really hard, but it was fun," she said. "I want to do this again."

Rose Becker, a fourth grade teacher at Neinas, accompanied her students to the Novi Ice Arena for what she called "an amazing opportunity."

"You read stories to kids, but when they experience something, it means so much more," she said. "This feels foreign to them, but now it also feels like something in reach and possible... Sometimes when you live in the big city, you don't leave the big city."

For the Northville kids, the all-day experience, which also included lunch and off-ice games, was just as valuable.

"We look forward to this," Nick Bogenhagen, captain of the Northville varsity hockey team, said.

This was his third straight year doing the program in which the team also donates food and school supplies to Neinas.

"The kids have a great time and we have a great time with them," he continued. "They're nervous, they don't want to fall, but holding on to us, they gain trust. And then they want to shoot pucks."

Lisa Cruz, 9, said it was scary. But as she leaves the ice with a grin, she gives a thumbs up, and adds, "It was awesome."

Physical activity is essential for quality of life

Angie Ferguson | Guest Columnist | USA TODAY NETWORK - FLORIDA

How much physical activity do adults aged 65 and over need to do to stay healthy? Well, that depends. The amount of physical activity you need to do each week depends on your age, current health status and fitness goals.

To stay healthy or to improve health, older adults do need to engage primarily in two types of physical activity each week: aerobic conditioning and muscle-strengthening activity.

Of course, regular physical activity has many benefits for persons of all ages but it is especially beneficial for our mature adult population. It not only helps you to feel better physically and emotionally, it also does the following:

- Helps to control weight, blood pressure, cholesterol, diabetes and bone and joint problems like arthritis
- Reduces the risk of heart disease, stroke and some cancers
- Helps manage pain
- Helps maintain and increase joint movement

Regular physical activity helps improve balance and stability, and in turn helps to reduce the risk of injury from falls, a major concern with aging.

Adults aged 65 or older, who are generally fit and have no health conditions that limit their mobility, should try to be active daily. It's recommended that adults aged 65 or older do at least 30 minutes of moderate intensity physical activity on most, preferably all, days. Some activity, however light, is better for your health than none at all — you should aim to do something, no matter what your age, weight, health problems or abilities. You should aim to be active every day in as many ways as possible, doing a range of physical activities that incorporate fitness, strength, balance and flexibility.

Moderate-intensity aerobic activity means you're working hard enough to raise your heart rate and break a sweat. One way to tell if you're working at a moderate intensity is if you can still talk but you can't sing the words to a song.

Examples of activities that require moderate effort for most people include walking fast; doing water aerobics; ballroom and line dancing; riding a bike on level ground or with a few hills; playing doubles tennis and canoeing.

Daily activities such as shopping, cooking or housework don't count towards your daily 30 minutes of moderate-intensity activity. This is because the effort required isn't hard enough to increase your heart rate.

Vigorous-intensity aerobic activity means you're breathing hard and fast, and your heart rate has gone up quite a bit. If you're working at this level, you won't be able to say more than a few words without pausing for a breath, and you should stop if you feel unwell. It is not recommended that beginners start out with vigorous activity, however, if you have enjoyed a lifetime of vigorous physical activity, you should carry on doing it in a way that suits you now, provided you stick to recommended safety procedures and guidelines.

Make time to exercise most days of the week and not only will you enjoy improved fitness but you'll find the quality to your years improve as well.

free-throw line that was just a bounce pass away.

"It seems like we have more participants this year since a lot of us are seniors," said the Lions' section orchestrator Nate Logan, possibly the only person on the planet sporting a Orange Crush Denver Broncos Tebow jersey at the time. "Our team has had a rough start (the Lions had won just one game prior to their Feb. 8 triumph over East), so we want to show them as much support as possible.

"We try to think of a theme for each game. Tonight was jersey night. The last time we played East, it was an ESPN theme. A bunch of us wore suits and we had an anchor desk, stuff like that. We try to get creative, especially for the rivalry games."

Logan said the section's goal is twofold: encourage the Lions while providing some ribbing to the opponents.

"When we play East, sometimes we like to pick out an individual player and get on them a little bit, because we went to elementary and middle school with most of them, so we know them. Anything we can use to our advantage ... as long as it's not over the top."

South Lyon principal Chad Scaling is a huge fan of his school's huge student-cheering section, which knows how to have a good time without crossing the line into questionable behavior.

"They provide a lot of energy for the athletes and they get the rest of the crowd going," said Scaling. "It makes for a better event when we get a good turnout like tonight.

"They're kids; they're going to get excited. We tell them to just make sure to keep it fun and be respectful. We've never had a problem with bad sportsmanship."

East athletic director Greg Michaels concurred with Scaling that the school spirit the loud and proud supporters supply is priceless.

"We emphasize that sportsmanship is always first," said Michaels. "A lot of the kids have gone to school together since elementary, so they're friends even though they go to different high schools. The cross-town rivalry games are always fun because the students get into it and we usually have a packed house."

Michaels said he is impressed by his student fans' knowledge of the sports.

"They understand basketball and they'll cheer when there's a good play," Michaels said. "And they'll cringe when or 'oohhh' and 'aaahh' when there's a blocked shot."

East senior Tommy McKeon, who is the unofficial manager of the Cougars' student-cheering section, said his school's crew has been growing steadily as the 12-year-old school's teams get better.

"We usually fill up the section almost all the way to the top and everyone is loud, which is nice," said McKeon. The rivalry games are the best, obviously, but we'll get good turnouts at other home games as well."

McKeon said there is usually not a game plan going into a game, but the students who decide what chants to unleash try to get as creative as they can.

"When the other team is shooting free throws right in front of us, we'll turn our backs," he said. "If that doesn't work, we'll get really loud. Whatever it takes."

High school student-cheering sections have become so prominent at basketball, football and volleyball games over the years that the Michigan High School Athletic Association started a "Battle of the Fans", which is in its eighth year.

This year's finalists are Midland Dow, Saginaw Heritage, Parchment, Buchanan, Montague and North Muskegon.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
