Mary's Farm Market will not reopen

David Veselenak Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

A longtime Canton Township staple left last year, as Mary Hauk closed her family's 99-year-old farm and moved to Milan. With the farm closed, she vowed to keep the market open at Ford and Beck for customers looking for fresh produce and other goods.

But after a tough year, she decided last year would be the market's last. The market, 47453 Ford Road, will remain closed this year as she decided it wasn't financially viable to reopen.

"The last few years, it was going down, down, down," she said. "We tried to keep it there. It wasn't making enough money any more."

She decided last year to sell her family's farm on Ridge Road, which had been in operation for 99 years in Nankin Township (in present-day Garden City) and in Canton. She planned to keep the market open, which it was last year. But she announced in early May on Facebook that keeping the market, which had operated since 1993, wasn't in the cards for her or her family's future.

Prices for produce have remained relatively stable, she said, while production costs continue to increase. Those differences made it difficult to keep the market running.

Canton studio a haven for rap, hip-hop

Ed Wright Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Sporting shoulder-length hair and white skin, Rick Young is not your prototypical rap and hip-hop music producer.

Looks are definitely deceiving in the case of Young, who has bolstered the careers of a variety of soulful artists — D12, Lockdown and Ricochet, to name three — while smashing stereotypes from his south-Canton Talent Live recording studio.

Even some of Young's clients have been fooled by their first impressions of the former rock-band guitarist.

"Back in the day, Erick Sermon from EPMD started using the studio, and he liked it so much he started sending all these rappers up here," said Young. "One time I looked out the door (of the studio) and saw all these blacks guys getting out of a car. I knew they were rappers from Georgia who Erick knew.

"They walk in the studio and one of them says, 'Hey Dog, what's up? How ya doin'?' I said, 'I'm OK.' They said, 'We're here to see Slick Rick.' I said, 'I'm Rick.' Then he went like this (Young delivers an expression of disbelief) and says, 'It's like this, bro. We're here to see Slick Rick, the guy who does hip hop.

Two catalytic converters stolen from Madonna University

Susan Vela Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Livonia police say the Schoolcraft campus of Madonna University was targeted in late May, and at least two employees returned to their vehicles to find their catalytic converters gone.

According to reports, an employee had his stolen from the facilities parking lot on May 23. He returned to his vehicle, started it up, and noticed it was "extraordinarily loud."

He looked under his vehicle and realized the device was gone.

Another employee said the theft of his catalytic converter happened the same day. He returned to his vehicle in front of the administration building around 11:15 a.m. and took it to a shop because the vehicle sounded different.

The mechanic told him the catalytic converter was gone.

Thieves are known to target catalytic converters because of the precious metals it contains.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Livonia Police Department at 734-466-2470.

Teen involved in fatal wreck gets competency hearing

Susan Vela Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK – MICHIGAN

A competency hearing is ordered for Micaiah Minor, a 17-year-old Canton Township resident facing a second-degree murder charge because of his role in a fatal wreck.

The hearing is scheduled to happen Aug. 14 in 34th District Court in Romulus.

Authorities have said Minor was unlicensed when the vehicle he was driving sped southbound on Belleville Road, disregarded a red light, and crossed over the double yellow line.

Around 2:30 a.m. on May 7, his vehicle struck a northbound vehicle near Ecorse Road in Van Buren Township.

The other driver — John Robert McElreath, 64, of the township — died from his injuries.

Minor was transported to a hospital for his injuries.

He was in stable condition later that day.

The teen was arraigned on the second-degree murder charge soon after.

Police use Taser on suspected liquor thief at Sam's Club

USA TODAY NETWORK – MICHIGAN

Canton police took a suspected liquor thief into custody after Taser-ing him outside the Sam's Club on Ford Road. Along with store personnel, they are accusing him of stealing hundreds of dollars worth of liquor, along with a backpack, in late May.

According to a report, police were dispatched to the store shortly before 1:30 p.m. May 22 because someone was leaving without paying for several bottles of liquor.

Upon arrival, someone identified the thief to an officer. The thief dropped his backpack and an officer began driving toward him. The officer exited his vehicle and the suspected thief ignored commands to stop.

The accused began yelling that the police officer couldn't arrest him because he was going to kill himself.

More officers were called, and a physical struggle ensued. An officer made his Taser weapon audibly arc, the report stated. Although no contact was made, the accused thief then surrendered to arresting officers.

Police said the male would face a first-degree charge of retail fraud.

"People are paying the same. They're not paying a lot more," she said. "But all of the costs of things have gone ridiculously high."

Despite the moving out to southern Washtenaw County, Hawk said she's still planning on selling products, though mostly in 2020 when they relaunch the market out in Milan. She said she hopes to sell Christmas items later this year, including wreaths and trees, from her family's new farm in Milan. She may even find a way to do a one-day pickle sale out of the farm this year.

Customers looking to keep tabs on the farm can do so by following it on Facebook or by checking the website, marysfarmmarket.com.

She said she'll miss the regular customers who would come in, and hopes they can still stay in touch if they're willing to head to Milan to pick up their goods.

"We miss our customers. That was

Livonia school board honors the late Jamie Kalis

Shelby Tankersley
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK – MICH.

Following her untimely death after a long battle with cancer, the Livonia Board of Education passed a resolution of sympathy for the family of Jamie Kalis, a former instructor for school age child care at Kennedy Elementary and Cleveland Elementary.

"Whereas, She consistently demonstrated her outstanding dedication to students, parents, and staff; and, Whereas, Jamie Kalis will be profoundly missed by her students, colleagues, and the community," the resolution reads.

Kalis died on May 16 at the age of 41. She was a wife and a mother of two.

Livonia Superintendent Andrea Oquist said it's employees like Kalis that make the district an enjoyable learning environment for students.

"Oftentimes, our students are very eager to get to their SACC classroom and, oftentimes, don't want to leave when they're ready to be picked up at the end of the day," Oquist said. "It's people like Mrs. Kalis that help make these rooms a special and safe place for our students, so we thank her for that and our hearts are with her family."

According to her obituary, spending time with young minds was something Kalis greatly enjoyed.

"Even during all she went through in regards to her health, she was dedicated to those children and treating them as if they were her own," it reads. "Jamie was loved by her students and fellow staff members and will never be replaced."

Livonia police: Big appliances don't run away

USA TODAY NETWORK – MICHIGAN

A few Livonia homes up for sale recently were raided for big appliances.

According to reports, a break-in happened at a Farmington Road home listed for sale, resulting in the theft of a Carrier air-conditioning unit, worth at least $3,000, and a Samsung oven and dishwasher, both worth about $800.

Police were dispatched to the home in the 20000 block of Farmington Road on May 28 because a relative of the person selling the home was reporting signs of a burglary.

He had arrived to find the front door wide open and appliances gone and tampered with.

A refrigerator was in the dining room. Copper wire connected to the basement's furnace was cut.

A showing and open house had happened there.

The relative had talked to a woman at the open house who seemed evasive

She was described as approximately 30 to 40 years of age and heavy set. She had brown or auburn hair.

The relative found a bedroom window had been opened soon after she departed.

Also on May 28, police were called to the 35000 block of Hathaway because someone found a lockbox laying on the ground. She and another neighbor realized it could be connected to a home for sale.

Police saw that a door knob and glass pane were broken.

They determined a basement water heater was stolen.

A chrome lamp and end table also were gone.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Livonia Police Department, 734-466-2470.

Man dragged by car as he tries to save stolen dog

Susan Vela Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK – MICHIGAN

A gang of two or three apparently did a dastardly deed and stole a man's small puppy while he was walking his pet in Farmington Hills, police said.

According to a Farmington Hills Police Department press release, the pet owner actually was walking two of his dogs when a compact car, possibly a Chevy Aveo or Spark, approached him around 6:45 p.m. Wednesday near Lochmoor and Queensboro streets.

Perhaps two black males in their teens or early 20s, along with the driver — a black female, around the same age — were in the car, police said.

At least two exited the car and grabbed the dogs. The dog owner retrieved one of his pets but could not save the other.

He held onto the car and was dragged for a short distance before he had to let go.

The stolen male dog is a year old.

Hennessy is a five-pound, brown Maltese and Yorkie mix.

Officers will be conducting increased patrols in the subdivision that's southwest of the intersection of 14 Mile and Middlebelt roads.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to contact the Farmington Hills Police Department at 248-871-2610.

How to deal with telephone scams

Money Matters
Rick Bloom
Guest columnist

The other day I got a phone call. The phone rang and since I didn't recognize the number I let it go to voicemail. When I played the message back, the voice was very harsh and told me that a criminal indictment is being filed against me for non-payment of taxes. The call went on to explain that the only way to stop the proceedings was to contact them immediately and to make a payment.

Of course I know this is a scam, so I ignored it. Within an hour, I received two more calls from the same number. Each of the calls was a little more threatening, with the last one claiming that U.S. Marshals were on their way over to arrest me.

I knew that the calls were fraudulent, and it was very easy to avoid them.

I've talked about this many times in the past, and this is just a reminder that if you receive a call from anyone who claims they're from the IRS, the best course of action is to not take the call, or if you do take the call, hang up as soon as they claim they're from the IRS. The IRS does not contact taxpayers out of the blue. Therefore, unless you've had some previous dealings with the IRS, their initial contact with you will be through the mail; it won't be through email or through the phone.

Consequently, if your initial contact with the IRS is a phone call or an email, you know you're being scammed.

When I received the call, part of me wanted to call the people back and play with them for a while. I didn't do this, and I would also recommend that you don't. Remember, these people are very good at what they do, and there's no reason to open the door for them.

In addition, don't forget if you answer their emails they have a way of attaching viruses and other ways of attacking your computer, and therefore, the only proper course of action is to delete the emails. Remember, it is up to you to protect yourself and your sensitive information.

As a reminder, identity theft continues to be a major problem, and as I've said many times in the past, you and I are our last line of defense. That is why it's always important that you think twice before providing anyone information such as your Social Security number. In addition, just because you receive an email, doesn't mean you need to answer it. When I receive an email from a debt collector claiming I owe money, it goes right to trash.

Phone scams are a growing business in America. I recently read that someone estimated that nearly 45 percent of all calls to cellphones are fraudulent. This number a few years ago was estimated to be only 4 percent.

My advice is to never answer the phone from someone you don't know, and also keep in mind that government institutions like the IRS and Social Security do not contact people out of the blue. Therefore, if your caller ID says IRS or Social Security, you know you're being scammed. One other way you know you're being scammed is if you ever tried to google the phone number the crooks are calling from. It wouldn't be surprising if the search showed that it was an unsafe number.

It would be nice if I could tell you that the government is on top of these scams. Unfortunately, that is not the case. The scam artists always seem to be one step in front of the government and that is why we have to protect ourselves.

Good luck!

“I said, ‘Did you like the beats you guys are about to record here? Well, I’m the guy who created those beats. I’m Slick Rick.’”

The beats go on

Young’s taste in music is broader than the menu at a Baskin-Robbins.

As a youth, he started playing the clarinet and quickly learned to appreciate the work of Pete Fountain and Benny Goodman.

Up until the mid-1980s, Young was the lead guitarist for the band Teezer, which performed predominantly at metro Detroit venues like Harpos in Detroit and Canton’s Center Stage.

In 1987, Young and his dad Bruce built the recording studio on a plot of Canton land just north of Michigan Avenue.

“Before we built this, I visited just about every recording studio around Detroit,” Young remembered. “I’d make mental notes about what I did and didn’t like about each one.”

“Once my dad and I agreed to go into business together, we wanted to create something unique. For example, we wanted to get the sound that Led Zeppelin was getting ... a big, big drum sound, so we found out how they did it and recreated it in here.”

Young’s love for rap and hip-hop had vanilla origins.

“I got into it because I liked it,” Young says matter-of-factly. “I was the only long-haired caucasion in rap back in the ‘80s when I started making beats. Rappers started hearing my beats and they’d come here and ask me, ‘Can you make me a beat?’”

“When I started doing hip-hop, people looked at me like I was a nut. I’d say to them, ‘Listen to this beat by Big Pun. They’d say, ‘What?!’”

One day, the members of D12 — longtime collaborators with Eminem — showed up to record at Talent Live, sparking a relationship that would last for years.

“The first day they recorded here, I sent a picture of me and D12 to my daughter, Kelsey, with a message saying, ‘Look, Eminem’s guys are in here,’” Young reflected. “She said, ‘Oh, that’s cool, but you look like a shrimp.’”

Talent Live is a family-first business, said Young.

“One night, about 2, 3 a.m., Lockdown is here recording some pretty hard-core rap,” Young said. “These guys are like 6-11, 6-10 ... the shortest one is 6-1 and they’re kind of intimidating if you don’t know them. My mom, who was about 4-10, comes into the studio and says, ‘Let me make you boys some sandwiches. She wasn’t afraid of anything.

“As it turned out, they started calling her ‘Moms’. When my mom passed away last year, the Lockdown guys got up and spoke about her at the memorial we had right out here in the parking lot. The Warden — the 6-11 guy — broke down in tears. It was just one example of how much the artists who came in here to record loved my family.”

The set-up for Young’s studio is one-of-a-kind. Instead of having a single live room, artists from the same group are Things can seem bleak when we see all the kinds of suffering going on in humanity, perhaps even among our own family members or neighbors. But sometimes these very circumstances spur individuals to find new ways to help and heal. One such example is Phillip Hockley, practitioner of Christian Science healing, and international speaker. After sustaining a debilitating injury which was diagnosed as rendering him permanently disabled, Hockley began investigating ways to improve his situation. Along the course of his search, he attended a lecture on Christian Science.

‘During the lecture,’ he says, ‘I found something that was indeed life-transforming. Christian Science gave me a new view of God that I’d not had before: a view of God as Love itself, divine Love that loved me fully. I also discovered that this loving God was not the source of my troubles (which were many) but the solution to them. My life began to improve quickly and I became a healthy man.’

broken up into smaller rooms that are partitioned off throughout the facility.

Young's recording equipment is state-of-the-art, which is just one of the draws for aspiring and established musicians.

"We isolate the musicians in various rooms, then I have patch bays to help put everything together," he said. "A lot of performers that come in here — I'd say about 90 percent — don't want anyone watching them while they're recording; they don't want to be judged, which is why we isolate them."

Young revealed that his digital automated sound board is "like 1,000 times" what his previous board was.

"Our mission is to give our clients pristine, crisp quality," he added. "All of them are just blown away once they hear the final product."

Where dreams come true

Inkster native Ricochet started his now ultra-successful rapping career at Talent Live.

"Jay-Z actually picked him up," Young said. "When he started recording for Jay-Z, he refused to go to the studio they had picked out for him. He told Jay-Z, 'I want to work with this guy name Slick Rick in Canton, Michigan. His CD ended up going platinum and he toured with Eminem and Snoop Dogg."

"Once the tour ended, Ricochet landed at Metro Airport and instead of going home first, he came here. He gave me a big hug and told me thank you."

Young didn't make a dime off one of his proudest projects — a collection of songs he produced with Merrill Osmond immediately following the Sept. 11 attacks.

Proceeds from the sales — several million dollars, Young said — of the CD were donated directly to the families that lost relatives in the attacks.

Now that he is financially set for life, Young said his purpose is to help people's dreams come true. He charges a modest $75-an-hour fee for recording at the studio.

A 14-year-old rapper from Detroit was recently propelled to stardom by the beats created in the Talent Live studio.

"He just signed with P Diddy," Young said.

You never know ...

After excelling in the business for decades, there are still times when the background of Young's clients surprises even him.

"I had a guy come in here to record scripture; he is a pastor at a church in Detroit and he wanted to get young people to come to God," Young said. "He's a large man and as we got to talking, I found out he had earned 10 certifications in martial arts."

One day, after Young had gained the man's trust, the pastor told Young an amazing story that "he'd never told anyone."

"The pastor opens up to me and tells me he used to be in to hip-hop," Young said. "He told me he was cussin', drinkin', womanizing, the whole shebang. He told me he was doing some hardcore stuff."

"One day he came home to Detroit to visit his family before he had to fly back to Los Angeles for his job. At this point, he asks me, 'Do you know who I am?' and I had no idea."

"He said, 'I was Tupac Shukur's personal bodyguard. I was supposed to be in the car the day he was killed. I would have been sitting right next to him, so I probably would have been killed, too. I was running late that day and I missed my plane."

"A couple hours later I heard Tupac was dead."

Plymouth storms back to beat Saline

Claim first regional title in school history

Andrew Vaillencourt Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Plymouth entered the playoffs in one of the toughest regionals in the state.

In order to win an elusive regional title, the Wildcats would have to beat two top 10 teams — Northville and Saline — which had both already beaten them this season.

Despite the odds, Plymouth was the team left celebrating at Tom Holzer Field in Northville Wednesday night after the Wildcats stormed back to defeat Saline 19-12, securing a berth in the state quarterfinals.

It's the first regional championship in school history, which comes after falling in the regional final each of the last two seasons.

"It feels great," Plymouth coach Ray Miller said. "We didn't have an easy road, we went through Saline and Northville, hats off to both of those teams and both of those programs. Our second half tonight was unbelievable. ... For us to battle back, to really take it to them and come out firing in that second half, I'm so proud of our boys."

Plymouth improves to 17-4 overall on the year and will play Rockford in the quarterfinals on Saturday.

In a marathon with more than 1,300 runners, a South Lyon eighth grader was the youngest.

Josh Lassaline, a Millennium Middle School student, was the lone competitor under the age of 15, and finished in a time of just over 3 hours and 40 minutes at the Bayshore Marathon May 25 in Traverse City.

"A lot of marathons won't even take you if you're not at least 16- or 18-years-old, because it's a lot of stress on your body," said Brenton Montie, one of Lassaline's track and cross country coaches. "He's a good example to other kids, because it takes a lot of dedication to do the training and takes a lot of time. A lot of kids won't take that time."

Typical training schedules for a marathon runner include gradual increases in long runs, including at least one 20-miler, leading up to a marathon to build endurance and confidence.

Lisa Taylor, executive director of the Traverse City Track Club, said there is no minimum age for runners in the Bayshore Marathon, although it is uncommon to have a runner younger than 15 as shown in race records dating back to 2000. Many other marathons do have limits, she added, including the

Down 2 with 6 minutes left, Plymouth wins district

Ed Wright Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Erasing daunting late-game deficits has turned into an art form for Plymouth's girls soccer team.

Thursday night against Canton, the Wildcats painted a Picasso.

Trailing 4-2 with less than six minutes remaining in the second of two 10-minute overtimes in a Division 1 district title match at Dearborn Heights Crestwood, senior Kennedy White scored twice — the second on a penalty kick with 2:15 left — to force a shootout that Plymouth won, 3-2.

It was the second time in less than a month that the Wildcats dug out of a late two-goal hole to upend the Chiefs. They also overcame two-goal deficits in their pair of wins over Northville.

The 5-4 victory propels the Wildcats (16-4-1) into Wednesday's 7 p.m. regional semifinal encounter against host Dearborn (16-4-3), a team Plymouth defeated 6-1 earlier in the season.

"Until that last whistle blows, we play our hearts out," said Plymouth goalkeeper/forward Rebecca Przybylo, summing up the Wildcats' spirit. "We're a very driven, competitive team and we don't like to lose."

Przybylo played a pivotal role in the

Canton wins first district since 2011

Ed Wright Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Canton's baseball team captured its first Division 1 district title since 2011 on Sunday, June 2, when it outlasted Salem, 10-6, in the championship game.

The final two games of the district tournament were moved to Salem from Plymouth — and from Saturday to Sunday — due to unplayable conditions on the Wildcats' field.

The Chiefs will carry a 27-6 record into Wednesday's regional semifinal at 4:30 p.m. against the winner of the Saline-hosted district, which won't be completed until Monday, according to the MHSAA website.

The three schools still in the hunt are Saline, Ann Arbor Huron and Ypsilanti Lincoln.

Canton scored in five of the seven innings against the Rocks and mounted bases-loaded rallies in the two frames that ended with no Chiefs crossing the plate.

The prime benefactor of the 10-run/11-hit uprising was junior right-handed starting pitcher Nick Yeager, who yielded four runs (three earned) in 5 and 1/3 innings, striking out seven Rocks while issuing four walks.

Evan Petersen relieved Yeager in the bottom of the sixth and yielded one hit and an unearned run. Jake Rubis retired Salem 1-2-3 in the seventh, striking out a pair and getting the final batter to ground out.

Canton seized a 2-0 lead in the top of the first off Salem starter Owen Keyes when lead-off batter Ben Stesiak — the hero in Canton's Saturday afternoon semifinal win over Plymouth — walked, stole second and scored on Nate Blaine's double. Blaine later scored on a wild pitch.

Salem slashed its deficit in half, 2-1, when Luke Jakubik reached on an error and scored two batters later on a second Chief bobbled grounder.

Canton extended its advantage to 3-1 in the top of the second when, with one out, Liam Radomski singled, advanced to third on Nate Herberholz' single. Radomski scored when No. 9 hitter Marco Johnson dropped down an effective sacrifice bunt.

The Chiefs loaded the bases without a hit in the third against Jake Nastally, who managed to strike out Bryce Mandelka with two outs to squirm out of the jam.

Salem inched to within 3-2 in the bottom of the third when Matt Claerhout RBI single plated Tyler Overaitis, who had worked a two-out walk.

It appeared Nastally would cruise through the fourth when he registered back-to-back whiffs of Radomski and Herberholz. However, the Salem reliever walked the next two batters and gave up an infield single to Jake Rubis that scored Johnson. Blaine then roped a two-run single and Jack Rector hammered a run-scoring double to inflate the Chiefs' lead to 6-2.

Undaunted, the Rocks countered with two runs of their own courtesy of two walks, an infield single and a run-costing Canton error on a pick-off to pull to within 6-4.

Rubis, playing second base, prevented what may have evolved into a disastrous inning for Canton when he dove to his left to track-down a hard grounder from Overaitis, spun while still on the ground and fired out Overaitis on a bang-bang play at first.

The Chiefs broke it open in the fifth, scoring three runs on three hits, an error, a squeeze bunt and a walk to pad their lead to 9-4. The big hits were delivered by Herberholz, who singled in Mandelka, who had led off the frame with a single, and Johnson, who stroked an RBI double to bring home Herberholz.

Rubis chalked up an RBI on a squeeze bunt that plated Johnson.

Trailing by five, Salem kept chipping away, scoring twice in the sixth on a walk, wild pitch, Carlton Harper single and a Canton throwing error.

The Chiefs tacked on an insurance run in the top of the seventh when Blaine was hit by a pitch and ultimately scored on Rector's fielder's choice grounder.

Plymouth-Canton semifinal

Stesiak and Blaine were the stars for Canton in their weather-shortened 4-1 triumph over arch-nemesis Plymouth, which had knocked the Chiefs from the tournament three of the four previous years.

Stesiak cranked a grand slam in the second inning to account for all the runs the Chiefs would need, thanks to the dominating mound work of Blaine, who gave up just one run on four hits. He struck out seven and walked only one.

Plymouth's lone run scored in the first when Dalton D'Alexander singled, stole second and scored on Kai St. Germaine's single.

With one out in the top of the second, Ben Spencer doubled and went to third on an infield single by Rubis.

After Radomski grounded out to Plymouth starting pitcher Kane Elmy, Johnson walked to load the bases. Stesiak then cleared them with a towering shot that barely cleared the fence in left-center field.

Plymouth put their first two running on base in the bottom of the sixth when umpires called for a 30-minute delay after thunder was heard in the area.

The weather only grew worse as the day wore on forcing the game to be called complete by the site officials.

Elmy was filling in for Plymouth's pitching ace Dylan Brown, who was reportedly sidelined by an arm injury.

Salem-John Glenn semifinal

Salem lit up Westland John Glenn pitching ace Chad Stephens early and often on the way to a 10-2 semifinal victory that was moved to Sunday at 2 p.m. due to Saturday's soggy weather.

The Rocks set the tone early, scoring four runs in the opening frame. Harper singled, Jakubik doubles and Overaitis brought them both around with a scorching two-bagger.

After Jake Amato reached on a fielder's choice, Claerhout plated Amato and Overaitis with a sharply-struck single.

The Rockets struck back with two runs in the top of the second — their lone tallies of the game — while Salem kept hitting ropes off the hard-throwing Stephens, scoring single runs in the third (a Claerhout home run) and fourth (RBI bunt by Claerhout), before piling on three in the fifth (key hit: an RBI single by Dante Douty).

Harper picked up the Rocks' final RBI when he walked with the bases juiced.

Jake Amato was brilliant on the mound for Salem, scattering two hits and two walks while striking out five.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Readers respond to McCabe's column on Sunday sports

Cease fire

In spite of Mike McCabe's tirade against the Archdiocese of Detroit (AOD), war on athletics has not been declared. And, it is hardly due respect to call the decision idiotic. Perhaps McCabe needs to wait and see how the plan works out before doing his best to dis it.

As leader of the Detroit area Catholics, the Archbishop has cleared the family Sunday sport schedules to make it possible for families to attend mass together with their own parish family (rather than looking for a mass somewhere else) and maybe re-prioritize their lives to recognize what should be taking precedence.

If parents/families choose not to do this, it is between them and the Lord, but at least one of the obstacles to church non-attendance has been eliminated, for which the Archbishop is to be commended. Possibly the new plan can accommodate some compromises, such as when weather related cancellations occur or when late Sunday afternoon or evening events call for it, but that has yet to be revealed.

McCabe's examples are anything but stellar. He compares once-a-year events with the once a week AOD activities that take place. Like the mass at Catholic Central prior to the once-a-year Boys Bowl game, or the once- maybe-twice-a-year school play, choir or band concert, or open house, versus the weekly games the AOD has been sponsoring.

And if some of the players only attend mass prior to a game, now they have an opportunity to make a personal decision as to how important their faith is to them.

McCabe has also not considered that some families have two or more children in sports, playing at various venues around town at the same time. This hardly promotes Sunday family unity. Nor has McCabe addressed the involvement of the many support personnel: coaches, field and gym facilitators, refreshment stand operators and others.

Finally, unless McCabe is responsible for game scheduling or for obtaining officials for the games, his rhetoric about a different brand of chaos is a bit premature. What he really needs to do is take a deep breath, pray for a renewal of the fruits of the Holy Spirit, among which is patience, and give the plan a chance.

To all-out dismiss the directive of the Archbishop and publicly denounce his decision is not an intelligent response.

Reaction over the top

"Declaring war" Really? Isn't that a little over the top? I think Mick McCabe is suffering from the same illness many parents these days are, which could be termed sports addiction.

Where and when does it end? Isn't six days a week enough? The "war" is only about one day a week and only CYO sports - isn't 7 days a week of recreational league, school sports, travel teams, etc. enough to satisfy anyone's addiction? Doesn't God and the family really come first before sports?

When was the last time any of the sports addicted families went to church together on a Sunday or just had a good time doing a fun activity together? When was the last time the whole family actually sat down at the dinner table together, all at the same time, to share happenings, insights, and laughter?

How much of the family budget, that takes away from many other important things, is spent on this craze? USA Today says that nearly 20% of U.S. families spend more than $12,000 a year, or $1,000 per month, on youth sports, per child, and two-thirds spend up to $500 per month. To put that number in perspective, that $1,000 per month is also the average home mortgage payment.

What is the actual possibility of the child obtaining a scholarship or going pro - maybe about 1% and 1/10 of one percent respectively? Where's the balance? Is that really sufficient for a tirade about bringing back an important and rejuvenating family day? Is ranting about not having every available minute, in every available venue devoted to sports that important?

I'm with Archbishop Vigneron on this decision.

Lassaline shows the medal he received for running in the Bayshore Marathon.

Marathon

famed Boston Marathon, which does not allow runners younger than 18.

"It's controversial, because young people, their bones are still growing, their bodies still maturing," Taylor said. "It's a hard thing to do, but it's an individual thing, every family has to decide for themselves. Usually kids who choose to do it are unique kids with a desire to train and prepare. Usually it's a pretty special individual who says, 'Hey Mom and Dad, I want to run a marathon.'"

Lassaline, who also plays soccer, did not take up cross country running as a sport until last year, because "My friends were doing it and it seemed kind of cool."

His father, Brian Lassaline, has run four marathons and asked him in November if he was interested in running the Bayshore Marathon.

"I thought that would be kind of neat," Josh said. "He told me I would have to follow a training schedule."

Prior to deciding he was up to the challenge of a marathon, Josh Lassaline's longest run was a 5K race. What is even more remarkable is that while he was running five to six days a week the last few months training for the marathon, his training runs were ordinarily not more than 7 miles. His longest run before the 26.2 miles he would do at Bayshore was only 13 miles.

At the starting line on May 25, he said he felt "pretty good," but nervous.

The weather was on his side, in the low 50s, with parts of Lake Michigan covered in fog. He was aiming for a pace of about 8-and-a-half minute miles and kept feeling good until about the halfway mark, the maximum distance he had done in training, at which point he was wishing he had run more.

"I was still doing pretty good until about three-quarters of the way, when I really started feeling it in my legs," he said. "And the last six or seven miles was the longest... I was just hoping to finish."

Spectators helped with encouragement, and he recalls that when he saw the finish line, his thought was, "Yes, I did it, holy cow!"

He crossed with a time of 3:40:38.

Four days after the race, speaking on a track at Millennium Middle School, Lassaline said his legs were still sore, but overall, he feels really good about having completed a marathon at his age.

"I feel accomplished," he said. "No one else I know this young has done it."

Lassaline, who set a personal record of 5:27.57 in the 1600 meters the next day at the Oakland County Middle School Track Championships, has no plans to do another marathon any time soon, laughing as he says, "I might wait a couple years."

triumph, stonewalling two of Canton's penalty kicks in the shootout (a third Chief PK sailed over the cross-bar).

"Fortunately, I've played against a lot of these Canton girls, so I'm used to what they do for PKs," Przybylo shared. "I kind of just went with what they've done in the past."

White, whose three goals gave her a school record 27 for the season, never doubted her team's resolve.

"We've been down two goals before this season and came back and won, so I had all the confidence in the world we'd be able to do it," she said. "Our team chemistry is amazing. We all want to win so bad and we work well together."

Canton seniors Marlee Taylor, Carly Schwinke, Kiera Savage and Katie Clark closed out their careers with spectacular efforts.

Schwinke missed 20 minutes of the first half after sustaining a bloody nose, the result of a collision with two Wildcats. When on the pitch, she was a force.

Blood, sweat and tears

Plymouth was flagged for a foul in the 18-yard box on the play, leading to Taylor's successful penalty kick that gave the Chiefs a 1-0 advantage in the fifth minute.

The Wildcats retaliated quickly, knotting the game at 1-1 at the 32:39 mark when White secured the rebound off a close-range attempt by Lindsey Melnick and tapped a soft right-footer past Clark.

Clark registered a highlight-reel play a few minutes later when she forced a streaking White to go wide before sending a tough-angled bender off the cross bar. Seconds later, sophomore Brianna McNab unleashed a rising net-finder that Spiderman could have stopped, giving the Wildcats a 2-1 edge.

The out-of-character offensive fireworks continued less than a minute later when Canton drew even at 2-2 on Jayna Fraser's point-blank goal after Lilian Lucas's well-place corner kick.

The two rivals then spent the next 69 minutes and change playing scoreless (but brilliant) soccer, setting the stage for two exhilarating 10-minute overtimes.

Canton seized the momentum and the lead 49 seconds into the first extra stanza when Schwinke juked a Wildcat defender near midfield and motored up the heart of the pitch before sending a looping lead pass to Taylor, who eluded the fast-closing Przybylo and punched the ball into the unguarded net to give Canton a 3-2 advantage.

The Chiefs appeared to put a head-lock on the district trophy, extending its lead to 4-2 with 1:42 remaining in the first OT when Taylor tipped in a rebound shot following Emma Morrison's near-perfect 35-yard free kick that dinged off the cross-bar.

During the three-minute break between overtimes, Plymouth coaches Jeff Neschich and Mickey Djerisilo delivered a stark message to their team.

"A lot of us were crying, so Jeff and Mickey pretty much said, 'Stop crying! This game is still in doubt, so get out there and play soccer,'" said Przybylo.

Plymouth teammates race over to the stands to celebrate their 7-6 victory with their fans. JOHN HEIDER/HOMETOWNLIFE.COM

Which they did.

With Przybylo shifted to forward and Ashley Bowles inserted as the goal-keeper, the Wildcats shifted into high-pressure mode.

With 5:22 left, White overpowered a Canton defender 12 yards out and drove a scorching liner past Clark to cut the Wildcats' deficit to 4-3.

As tears filled her eyes, White deposited a penalty kick into the right side of the net, making it 4-4.

"I got a little overwhelmed there for a second before I took the PK," White recounted. "I usually go right on those, which I did, and it worked."

Each team then selected five players to alternate taking penalty kicks for the pressure-packed shootout.

Canton coach Jeannine Reddy replaced Clark with senior Danielle Wilson for the shootout, which was tied at 1-1 after Lucas scored for Canton and Sophie Zelek followed suit for Plymouth.

Turning the tide

Przybylo then dove to her right to turn away Katie Nestico's PK. McNab then drilled her offering off the cross-bar, leaving the score at 1-1 with three shooters left.

Schwinke delivered a shot into the lower-right corner of the net, giving her team a 2-1 edge, but it would be the final moment to celebrate for the Chiefs.

Plymouth's Emma Lennig made it 2-2 with a shot to Wilson's left.

After Morrison missed high with her attempt, Rivers Smyth netted the eventual game-winner when she steered the ball in the opposite direction that Wilson guessed.

Przybylo then put an exclamation point on the victory by going horizontal to deny Taylor's well-struck ball.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

THE BOLD LOOK OF KOHLER.

Choosing between a new walk-in bath or shower for your home depends greatly on your needs and accessibility. While both offer the safety benefit of a low step-in for easy entry, the comfort and aesthetic advantages vary.

The KOHLER® Walk-in Bath allows you to bathe in a comfortably seated position while enjoying the therapeutic benefits of hydrotherapy whirlpool jets. It also allows you to recline as you bathe. However, those who feel comfortable standing for a longer period of time may find that the KOHLER® LuxStone™ Shower, which provides a more traditional shower experience, better meets their needs.

Contact your Kohler specialist at New Bath Today to discuss your bathing needs and options, and to help make a decision today.
