Police report urges full-time local unit

By CRAIG PIECHURA

If Canton residents have to bankroll additional law enforcement, it should be for an independent, full-time, fullservice police department, according to all four members of the township's police study committee.

Listed by the committee as "one of the least desirable" options open to the township was contracting with Wayne County for the services of the

The sheriff now provides the bulk of the township's police patrol. The state police and Canton's reserve department provide additional protection.

The police committee, comprised entirely of professional policemen, arrived at its concensus 10 days ago, before learning of the Michigan Supreme Court's refusal to hear an appeal by seven out-county townships.

The high court's refusal in essence upholds a circuit court ruling that said the townships must pay for road patrol service after June 30.

We'd have to pay about $350,000 per patrol car if we entered into a contract with the county for sheriff's road patrol," George Rose told the Observer last week. "The sheriff's contract with Romulus isn't easy to decipher. I think the only way we'd be able to find out how much it would cost Canton to contract with the county would be to sit down and negotiate a contract with them. It doesn't appear to be the way to go.

"For better than a half a million dollars a year, we could put a lot more than two officers on the road." Rose

The report states: "The cost of providing a full-time, full-service Canton police department, based on cost estimates available, would probably be somewhere between one and two million dollars." The committee's final report called this "a long-range objec-

HIRING A FULL-TIME chief of police is an "immediate necessity in Canton, according to Rose, chairman ered." of the police committee.

"When should it be done?" he asked? "Last week." Rose said a police millage is overdue.

"We looked at the police set-up in the Village of Manchester (near Chelsea) and found a community of 12.000 people looking at a $200,000 police budget." Rose said. "Here in Canton with over 30,000 people we've got a $50,000 police budget.

The police committee findings state that employing a full-time police chief can be accomplished with a "minimum of effort.

The most satisfactory method of securing the services of a highly-skilled police administrator, without becoming involved in the mechanics of selection, would be the utilization of the services of Michigan Municipal League." the committee suggested

For a reasonable fee they will examine, conduct oral interviews, and perform all the mechanics of selection after the community has provided them with names to be consid-

THE POLICE CHIEF should report to a three-member committee or commission, according to the study recommendations. Rose said that the supervisor of the township should not sit on the police commission because the supervisor is automatically chief law enforcement officer in the township. Three members of the police commission could be picked from the remaining members of the township board of trustees, Rose said.

Prior practices of having a supervisor as police chief (Robert Greenstein) and an "interim police chief" who held a day job in downtown Demittee, retired from the Detroit Po- troit (Carl Silvers) "are not acceptable," Rose said. The present practice where Building Supt. Charley Thompson serves dual duty as day time "director of police" is also frowned upon by Rose. "A man who is police chief must be available at most always on 24-hour call." Rose said last week. "We've got to get our selves a leader who is a professional policeman and eminently qualified

Judge allows confession

Witness saw suspect in motel

BY PATRICK TOUHEY

Based on the testimony of an eyewitness, Marvin Earl Williams was bound over for trial to Wayne County Circuit on charges of first degree murder in the hammer slaying of Carolyn Kovacs, a night clerk at the Red Roof Inn in Plymouth Township.

Daniel Boyle, a guest at the motel. identified Williams as the man leaving the manager's office at the motel the morning the young Livonia woman was murdered.

Boyle provided police with the description which led to Williams' arrest. Boyle was the prosecution's main witness Thursday during Williams's preliminary examination in the 35th District Court. Ms. Kovacs was beaten to death with a hammer Feb. 4 while on duty as a night clerk at the motel.

District Judge Dunbar Davis also admitted as evidence Williams' confession to the slaying, despite objections from defense attorney Jay Kal-

Williams, a Canton resident, will face pre-trial examination March 11. Davis ordered Williams held without BOYLE TESTIFIED that he received a wake-up call at the motel at 5:30 a.m. Feb. 4.

He then went to the office to see if he owed any phone charges from the night before. He told the court that when he arrived at the office, the girl on duty was dusting a table. She noticed Boyle through the window, and unlocked the door so he could get in.

After checking about additional charges and turning in his key. Boyle said he went to a table in the corner of the office to make tea.

He testified that while making the tea, he heard a woman say in a frightened voice, "Oh, my God, my coat's back there." Boyle said he turned from the table and started walking toward the desk. As he reached the desk, a man came ouh of the office behind the desk, looking "excited, scared, and surprised.

him, he said, "Go call the police, she (the clerk) fell down and hurt herself." Boyle then said he tried to use the phones behind the desk but could not get an outside line. He then left the motel and went to a gas station across the street and called for help.

Boyle said when he returned to the motel, the office was locked, and the man he talked to was gone. When Assistant County Prosecutor Varskin Baydarian asked Boyle if that man was in the courtroom, the witness nodded at Williams and said, "That's the man over there.'

WHEN WAYNE COUNTY Sheriff Det. Ray Allen, the officer in charge of the case, testified that Williams confessed to being in the office on the morning of Feb. 4, helping Ms. Kovacs "wash walls and paint." He said Williams confessed to knocking

She also threatend to tell Williams' fiance that he was having an affair with her. At that point, he knocked her down.

However, Allen said police had no evidence to support Williams' claim that she was involved with drugs. A coroner's report on the day of her death said there were no traces of drugs or alcohol in the victim's body.

Before Allen testified about Williams' confession, defense attorney Kalish asked Judge Davis to prohibit its admission as evidence because it was obtained from Williams without an attorney present.

In earlier testimony, Allen had said Williams requested an attorney from the Detroit Police Officer's Association on Feb. 5, the day after his arrest. However, the DPOA declined to provide a lawyer because Williams was no longer employed as a police officer. Allen said Williams was informed of this and was not questioned about the murder until he volunteered to "tell us what we wanted to know."

Williams signed the confession on the morning of Feb. 11, after talking to his mother and girlfriend the night before and a minister that morning, Allen said.

Kalish contended that because Williams had been held without an attorney for six days, the confession could not be considered "voluntary." Davis said he was satisfied that Williams' rights had not been violated and over-ruled the objection.

Allen further testified that Williams was arrested on the night of the murder at an apartment in Canton Township and held on three separate charges of writing bad checks until the day of the confession.

KATHLEEN SIMMONS, of Plymouth, manager of the motel, told the eash register on the morning of the murder Williams also is charged with the theft. Mrs. Simmons testified that she had seen Williams in the office with Ms. Kovacs on "three or four occasions" He had been a guest

Stein: revoke master plan, focus on sewer's capacity

If Canton Supervisor Harold Stein has his way, the 1976 master land use plan engineered by ex-supervisor Robert Greenstein and township planner Mike Manore, will be discarded.

Stein issued a statement last week suggesting the present plan be declared "null and void since it does not appear that than an ordinance giving it effect will be enacted in the near fu-

Stein said the master plan conflicts with the existing zoning ordinance and is unworkable because "it does not provide just compensation" for the farmers of the township.

"When the Wayne County Planning Commission adopted the '76 master plan, they said it would only be implemented when just compensation is provided," Stein said. "We must rework the plan, rework the zoning and then talk about establishing a unique plan that suits all the people of Canton.

The master plan, approved by the township planning commission last May, called for "half-urbanization." Most land west of Canton Center would become part of an agriculturally-industrial district for commercial farming. Other kinds of development were to be prohibited unless they were needed in the for commercial farming in the district.

But the plan's intent to tax farmland at its use-value instead of taxing it at market-value—an inflated price pushed upward by land speculationbecame impossible when the township failed to adopt a zoning ordinance implementing the plan, Stein said.

According to Greenstein, the only way to get the tax break for western farmers, and make most of the western half of the township a viable farmship property as farmland, and not as vision for on-site sanitary disposal. potentially developable land.

Stein said last week that he objects to the east-west dividing line along Canton Center and urges sensible planning that would not limit growth to either side of the township.

Addressing the people circulating petitions for controlled growth. Stein said that growth can be controlled with strict supervision over sewers.

"The situation with Canton's sewers almost speaks of an automatic growth control situation in Canton," Stein said Friday. "I want to establish a committee that looks at every future development to make sure there is adequate sewer capacity."

Stein said the new committee 'would be charged with reviewing every application for a building permit submitted to the building department after the date of the emergency ordinance. It would be the function of this special committee to make certain that sanitary disposal is being properly handled, either through available sewer taps or some adequate pro-

If his idea is adopted by the board. developers who have plans to subdivide an area would notify township officials of their future plans. Stein said, and the developer would be told if there is enough sewer capacity to support his project.

This committee should be reporting regularly to the board and should also keep a running count of the remaining available taps (in sewer pipes) which should be reported to the board and planning commission on a weekly or monthly basis.

"In part of its function with the assistance of the township engineer, this committee should attempt to establish some standards for sanitary disposal in situations where taps may not be available.

Much of Canton's land is clay-based which provides poor perk for septic tanks. But Stein said it may be possible for developers to dig large septic fields by hauling in sand. He pointed to a subdivision in Brighton, Michigan which features homes with septic fields, instead of sanitary sewers.

SEMTA snubs west county?

Unhappy that western Wayne County has been left out of any major public transportation plans, local state legislators, county commissioners and municipal officials are joining the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) back at the drawing boards.

'Look at the programs-the 13 alternatives SEMTA is considering," said State Rep. Robert Law (R-Livonia). "No matter how you shuffle and combine them, they leave out western Wayne County.

For starters, said State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland), local leaders and SEMTA should consider express bus service on a loop of three freeways that will be serving the area

These are the I-96 freeway under construction in the Schoolcraft Road corridor, the M-275 freeway in the Haggerty Road corridor, and I-94.

The fresh- population of more than 810,000, which man lawmaker said it would be better makes it almost as large as Oakland to propose an alternate public transportation plan, with the help of SEMTA, than to categorically oppose what SEMTA is doing. "We thought the plans for western Wayne County were lacking," said Brown, "and we want to propose some modification for all of the western suburbs. SEMTA's idea (of a service area) was more to the north (Woodward) and northeast (Gratiot).

"The freeways of western Wayne County would make ideal express bus routes," said Brown, adding that the western suburbs contain many points that non-residents would want to visit by public transportation.

State Sen. James DeSana (D-Wyandotte) said downriver employers are having problems complying with "affirmative action" hiring programs because blacks can't get there to hold

Borrowing rights given to credit untouchables

By MAURIE WALKER

Credit managers of several major chain department stores say the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, slated to go into effect next month, won't raise prices and or alter past policies. but will create more paper work.

The tougher, more comprehensive federal regulations will replace an earlier set of rules set by the Federal Reserve Board.

The regulations are aimed at ensuring that everyone with the willingness and ability to repay will have equal access to credit. The new law means that credit must be extended in all types of borrowing-from department store charge accounts to home mort-

One store executive interviewed said his only fear was that the regulations might make creditors overcautious in their lending policies.

He said that some companies might refuse to extend credit to more persons with borderline credit ratings to reduce the chances of being charged with discrimination.

Under the act, everyone applying for credit March 23 or after, will be equally eligible, regardless of color, against an applicant, lenders must tell age (19 and up) or whether paid by an the customer why it was taken or inemployer or by welfare.

The new regulations ban discrimination on the basis of marital status. color, race, sex, religion or age. Present regulations only bar credit discrimination on the basis of sex or marital status.

Expected to benefit most from the act are 19 and 20-year-old buyers. It will also stop discrimination against elderly borrowers.

Under the regulations, elderly are defined as 62 or older. Lenders who use a "point system" to determine credit eligibility must give elderly applicants the best age score.

Consumers also will be given the right to know why a credit application is rejected or is withdrawn or offered on terms much different from those sought by the customer.

The regulations dictate that a creditor can't just issue a general statement that the applicant didn't meet loan requirements

A person believing he was discriminated against also will have the right to sue for actual damages and up to $10,000 in punitive damages.

Should adverse action be taken form him of his right to know why.

The law also states that a creditor's policy may be found to be discriminatory if it has the effect of excluding from credit the elderly, women, minorities or welfare recipients James W. Mayes, group credit manager for Sears, said it wouldn't change his company's policy. "It's really nothing new to us. We have for some time looked at each applicant for credit on their own individual merits

Mayes said Sears strictly abides by the new rulings. The mean change, he added, is increased paper work

Vincent Jordon, assistant credit manager for Crowley's, said the regulation will mean that "we will have to be more alert that we are not operating in error

"We have been operating under the regulations on our own for several

'Actually, all it becomes is a matter of more paper work for all credit ors and lenders.

Ann Wolf of the Kresge public relations department said the regulations won't increase Kresge's prices but agreed it will increase paper work.

'All our Kresge and Kmart stores honor the major credit cards. We discontinued our own credit card some

"As far as we are concerned, anyone with a credit card recognized by our company can have credit. There is no discrimination.

Al Bidwell of the Mongromery Ward central credit office said his company is well aware of its obligations in granting credit

There are a lot of legal intricacies in the regulations, however, Ward's has never denied any person credit because of age, sex or color. J. L. Hudson Co.'s manager of credit administration, R. Matheson, said the regulations won't have any big affect on Hudson's policy

"We have always provided credit for those who have the ability and willingness to pay.

'It will require more paper work in that we will now be reporting both names of a married couple for credit history when an account is shared or if the couple requests it

The school board meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafetorium of Plymouth Canton High, 8415 Canton Center Road.

The board also will be asked to appoint a director of finance, and approve a student selection procedure

John M. Hoben expects year-round scheduling will have to be relied upon even once new schools are built because of future enrollment demands.

The administration was considering year-round schooling at Bird Elementary next year but now recommends Isbister instead. "It was felt that the Isbister school has the two largest potential growth areas in the corridor between Warren and Joy roads," said Hoben. "In addition, it has the Sunflower and Trailwood III subdivisions. It was felt that consideration should be given to the boundary committee to relieve some of the overload at Gallimore by realigning the total Sunflower population to the Isbister attend-

For the schools with 45-15 scheduling, except for Miller, parents will be given options of sending their children to a paired school without yearround scheduling. Miller wouldn't be included because it has been on a 45-15 year for two years and parents already have exercised options.

Hoben suggests to the board that options be granted on the following basis: that no guarantee would exist that options could extend beyond the current year; and, that transportation and Isbister to Starkweather. THE BOARD will be asked to approve a random selection procedure to balance student populations between Salem and Canton high schools.

If approved, the phased-in program would begin with this year's eighth graders when they enter the ninth grade next fall. Hoben says it would take about four years to reach equal distribution at the two high schools.

Besides approving the hiring of a director of finance, the board also will be asked to approve the assignment of Mrs. Lolita Buikema as principal of Tanger Elementary School. The board also will be asked to adopt a program for talented and gifted students and budget $30,000 for its implementation. The program places emphasis on dealing with the academically talented student grades kindergarten through eight.

two-man cars also on the street. A certified officer always is in a patrol car with a reserve, he said. Monday through Thursday nights, there are two two-man cars on the road with a sergeant usually riding in the supervisor's car. Two one-man cars start patrolling at approximately 11 a.m. Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Police Commander Silvers said the most encouraging news in the police committee's report is the recommendation that Canton start its own police department.

"MY PEOPLE WERE a little anxious waiting for the committee's report to come out," Silvers said 'Now, there's a load off our shoulders. We agree with their recommendation about an independent police department. Each community should have control of its own destiny." Sil-

'Sure, there are the state police and the sheriff's department, but the head man in the state police sits in Lansing and the head man of the county sheriff's department sits in Detroit. 'We've got a growing community and a need for two patrols round-theclock and maybe two extra officers during peak hours."

SUPERVISOR HAROLD STEIN is pleased with the investigative work done by his police committee, but doesn't think the township board is obligated to follow the recommendations of the police committee.

"I agree that our first priority is hiring an efficient chief of police," Stein said.

While Silvers thinks the police department should go full-time before June 30, the date the sheriff's road patrol funding expires, Stein said there is no hurry.

"Let's go at this thing gradually," Stein said. "I still say the crime threat has been exploited. I don't feel an emergency exists just because the sheriff's road patrol may be taken

"My personal feeling is that the sheriff's will continue to be funded beyond June 30," Stein said. "But we have more state police patrolling the community than ever before and they have the the largest post in the area with the most comprehensive crime lab in the state.

"Plus, the back-up facilities of the sheriff's will still be available. So, the supreme court decision (to uphold the road patrol funding cutoff) has nothing to do with us. It doesn't mean a

LWV urges final ERA ratification

On the occasion of the League of Women Voters' 57th anniversary, we feel it is fitting to remind the nation that while we won the right to vote a half century ago, we are still struggling for equality in many other important areas

More than 57 years ago we were able to overcome insurmountable odds because we believed that failure was impossible. Today as we celebrate our anniversary, we call upon the public to rekindle this spirit of determination which gave women their franchise and helped build a nation

The Congress of the United States along with 34 state legislatures has voted to ensure the legal rights of women in the Constitution through passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. This year's state legislatures have the opportunity to make the final decision to end two centuries of sex-based discrimination in the law once and for

This nation was founded on the belief that given the opportunity, citizens will offer their best to the country. We can renew this optimism in 1977 by passing the Equal Rights Amendment-for only through its passage can the full potential of all our citizens-men and women, ever be re-

We urge governors, state legislators and all those who feel as we do that much of this nation's potential has yet to be realized, to speak out on behalf of ERA and to assist supporters in the states that have yet to ratify

This year we can and must set aside needless fears and pessimism which have permitted sex-based discrimination to continue. We can and will ensure women the opportunity for full participation in American life and equal opportunity under the law.

Political lessons are learned late

Editor

Oh, Mr. Greenstein, you could defimitely have taken some political lessons from your successor. Mr. Stein.

Lesson 1: During the Public Forum section of the board meetings you should have done as Mr. Stein doeslet the people come up and voice their complaints, demanding answers to the township's actions (or inactions); then have them be seated again and call on the next resident complainernever answering the first complaint. Mr. Greenstein, you always had to explain the circumstances-you always felt you should answer to the peopleyou should have been like Mr. Steinbe answers to no one, particularly the Further, in the Public Forum (which is supposed to be 30 minutes), if other residents wish to voice their opinions and the Public Forum time has run out-you should have followed Mr Stein's example-abruptly end the forum and go right into the reagenda, You, Mi Greenstein, felt it necessary to listen to every resident first-even if it meant extending the time of the forum to over an hour.

Lesson 2 Never practice "the buck stops here. Again, like Mr. Stein's profound example, you set up middlemen-such as Mr. Silvers or Mr. Thompson-or middle-departments or organizations, such as CETA, so that when a township action displeases the people of Canton, you can easily pass the buck to your middle sources. Although the initiating instructions have come from you-the implementing source (the middle source) is the one that takes the public flak-easy. Mr. Greenstein, you always made it clear that if there were any problems, you were solely responsible... Now, is that any way to be a politician?

Lesson 3. Never follow the advice of qualified, township-paid consultants or official agencies-just submit to the guidance of fellow political confidants and inept attorneys. Like Mr. Stein, you should never heed the counsel given by the Michigan Township Association (even though they are the legal and information center for all

Also, Mr. Stein has found it much easier to go to a local attorney for "certain" legal opinions—so approved by the board and used for as many years as one cares to remember -Note: experience in the simple does not make one experienced in the difficult. But, with proper guidance from you-and maybe a reminder of who the payee and payer are-you get the legal opinion you want. Be sure, however, not to get a second legal opinion from attornies experienced in large municipalities-even though they are also approved by the township, such as Travis, Nayer, Warren and Burgoyne (or whatever their names are).

For development and other areas in need of advice, you follow suit and head for the guidance of confidants as Mr. Stein carefully listens to his political cronies in Wayne. Mr. Greenstein, you should have known better than to want something better and different for Canton-man is a creature of habit-we follow others' examples, even if it means more development, higher taxes, no schools, etc.

Mr. Greenstein, you just weren't a politician as is Mr. Stein. Too bad for

Good citizenship citations

Three Plymouth residents were honored last week with citizenship citations by the Michigan State Police. They are (from left): Chris Vukovich, Sgt. James Belcher, Scott Wilson and Marcelle Stobbe. Wilson and Stobbe were honored for their pursuit and apprehension of a subject caught in a daytime burglary of an apartment in June 1976. The pair caught the suspect, involved in at least five other burglaries, and held him until police arrived a short time later. Vukovich and Stobbe were honored for reporting to police suspicious nighttime activities of a subject in a car observed to be watching an apartment complex from a parking lot. State Police responded and apprehended the subject just after he returned to his car with property he had stolen from an apartment. The three residents honored all live on Risman Drive. Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"The lessons of two hard winters will help us all weather future emergencies."

Twice in less than a year, severe weather has caused interruptions and disruptions in electric service in Southeastern Michigan. It could happen again—with another ice storm, another spell of sub-normal temperatures or an extreme summer heat wave. It could also happen any time there isn't enough power to go around. We can't control the weather but Detroits Edison has developed programs and procedures to cope with nature's extremes and minimize the discomfort and inconvenience to its customers.

The worst ice storm in history.

March I marks the anniversary of the worst ice storm in Michigan's history. One out of every five families in Southeastern Michigan was affected directly by interrupted electric service. Damage to Detroit Edison equipment was disastrous and succeeding storms compounded repair problems. Over 1,000 poles and a million feet of wire had to be replaced. Nearly one-fifth of Detroit Edison's entire electric distribution system had to be restored or rebuilt. More than 5,000 Detroit Edison employees, contractors and crews from other utilities worked around the clock to get service back to normal

Now a record-breaking cold spell.

This year on January 11 and again on January 17, severe cold and icing conditions put some of Detroit Edison's critical power plant equipment out of service. In past emergencies, Detroit Edison has been able to buy power from neighboring utilities. But during the coldest January on record, with accompanying high demands for electricity, there was little power to spare anywhere. Detroit Edison lowered voltage five percent and asked customers to reduce their use of electricity for two ten-hour periods. Additional load reductions were prevented through cooperation of our customers, efforts of our employees, and an effective interchange system with other utilities. Since then, Detroit Edison has been able to help other utilities that are still having problems by selling them emergency power Supply and demand.

If you're like most people, you're using a lot more electricity today than ten years ago. In fact, the average Detroit Edison residential customer now uses 41 percent more than in 1966. So far, this has caused no serious power interruptions in Detroit Edison service. But it could happen. Especially in sub-zero weather when everyone is trying to keep warm, or on hot summer days and nights when air conditioners are working overtime. To help balance power supply and demand. Detroit Edison developed remote-controlled water heating and is pioneering interruptible air conditioning and heat pump operation More importantly, to assure our customers a continued supply of electricity. Detroit Edison is resuming its stalled power plant construction program. Work will be started immediately on two partially completed plants, the Greenwood I plant near Port Huron and on the Fermi II nuclear plant near Monroe

You can help by using energy wisely.

During this January's power shortage Detroit Edison customers helped reduce demand by more than 400,000 kilowatts by reducing their use of electric power Detroit Edison would like to thank all of its customers. Their patience, understanding and cooperation during very difficult times helped prevent more severe hardships. Now, here are just a few things you can do during non-emergency times to help save energy and also save money. • Insulate your home with the help of Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan • Put up storm windows and doors . Check weatherstripping and caulking . Dial down in winter and dial up in summer . Lower furnace fan settings • Keep electric appliances in good repair

Prepared for power problems.

We could be in for more severe weather. but Detroit Edison is ready to put into effect tested disaster and emergency procedures which have been reviewed and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. The patience and cooperation that Detroit Edison customers have demonstrated in the past will also help relieve abnormal conditions. Our experiences have brought home the importance of America's crusade for conservation - and how it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it. Together we can face the future with confidence.

Save energy for all it's worth. THE POWER IS IN YOUR HANDS.

Success training popularity gains

You've heard the claims before. "Do . . . . and you will find fame, fortune, and happiness." And while John Czubaj of Plymouth doesn't promise miracles, he does claim that anyone who takes his Dale Carnegie Course will be pleased with the changes they see in themselves.

Czubaj-pronounced Shoe-by-has taught three Carnegie courses in the Plymouth area and will start a fourth on March 3 at 7:30 in the Plymouth Hilton Hotel The class will meet one night a week for four hours for 14 weeks.

swer questions

The cost of the course is $395, and Czubaj is so confident that it's worth the money, he offers a full refund to anyone who completes the course and is not satisfied. He says in the three years he has worked for Carnegie no one has asked for their money back.

He said that one of the things he has noticed about people in his years of teaching is that they have difficulty expressing what they like about other people. It's much easier to find fault. "All our lives we are told what is wrong with us, and we do the same thing to those around us. It's so much easier to get along with people if you don't criticize, condemn, or complain. You just have to find a positive way of telling others how you feel.

CZUBAJ GRADUATED from Central Michigan University in 1969. After graduation, he went to work for the Office of Economic Opportunity, and at 23 became the firm's youngest executive-director of a four-county area near Mount Pleasant.

Senate primary report

Plymouth 'loses' with low turnout

With the general election less then a month away, the campaign already has started for the 14th State Senate District

Robert Geake (R-Northville) and Patrick McDonald (D-Redford) will square off against each other and Hector McGregor of Redford, candidate for the American Independent Party (AIP) on the March 23 ballot.

Geake and McDonald won impressive 2-1 victories in Wednesday's party primaries. On that evening, in a victory statement. Geake challenged his Democratic opponent to a debate on the issues before the public throughout the district, which includes Plymouth. In the City of Plymouth, Mrs. Moehle led with 499 votes followed by Plymouth Mayor Joe Bida with 115 votes and Geake with 111. Mrs. Dumas had 28 votes in Plymouth and Ray Kimble of Plymouth Township gathered 11 votes.

In Plymouth Township, Mrs. Moehle led with 513 votes followed by Geake with 182. Bida, 76. Dumas, 38, and Kimble, 23 votes.

Geake's victory margin in Livonia was 4,339 to 677 for Dumas and 429 for Moehle. In Redford. Geake ran up 642 votes against 284 for Dumas, 158 for Moehle, and 114 for Kimble.

McDonald could not be reached for comment Friday, as he was attending a meeting all day of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments as a delegate representing Redford.

The voter turnout was 10 per cent in Plymouth Township and 15 per cent in the City of Plymouth. District-wide, 10 per cent of the registered voters actually went to the polls Wednesday.

Folk and youth lose a friend

Those who knew, loved and respected Herbert (Herb) Cohen, owner of the Raven Gallery in Southfield, mourn his recent death.

Countless persons of all ages whose lives touched his, and others who never knew him, owe Cohen a debt of gratitude for his dedication to youth and his belief in the young as builders of a better tomorrow.

Cohen. 62, of Bloomfield Hills, died Feb. 23 after suffering a heart attack. His death came as a shock to city officials as well as patrons and performers who considered the Raven one of the country's finest folk music clubs and its owner a legend.

Cohen gave a first start to numerous young entertainers who are now nationally known. The Raven booked top performers like Joni Mitchell; Josh White Jr. Chuck Mitchell: Buffo the clown. Chad Mitchell: Professor Irwin Corey: Pat Paulson: Odetta. and Gamble Rogers

Possible Plymouth cage battle stays in Southfield

By GLENN BUNTING and DENNIS O'CONNOR

Any hopes of a possible Salem-Canton district match-up being played in Plymouth Thursday night, were dashed last week when tournament director Fred Goldberg and Plymouth athletic director John Sandmann decided to keep the local rivalry in Southfield.

Both men feared that completing the switch could potentially harm the structure of the Michigan high school basketball tournament.

"By changing sites a whole can of worms could be opened," Sandmann said. "I don't want to do anything to change the format of the state tournament. If we brought the game here then other high schools would want to follow in our footsteps.

"As nice as it (bringing the game to Plymouth) would be. I think Goldberg has a very valid point.

The opportunity to transfer gymnasium sites occurred when Salem and Canton were placed in the same bracket of the Southfield High School district. The winner of Tuesday night's Salem-Northville encounter meets Canton, which drew a first round bye, in one semifinal game Thursday night.

The Rocks are heavily favored to defeat a mediocre Northville team, forcing an all-Plymouth semifinal. With the thought of both teams and a large contingent of Plymouth fans traveling to Southfield, The Observer contacted Allen Bush, director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA).

"THE TOURNAMENT director can play games where he sees fit," Bush said. "But if he had some reasons to move the site, then he would have to clear it with this office.

"I wouldn't want to categorically say yes or no, but I'm not enthused about it just because two teams from the same city want to play at home. But if the tournament di ector had other reasons. I would be interested in listening to them."

Although both Goldberg and Sandmann were reluctant to press for the site change, bringing the Salem-Canton rivalry to Plymouth poses some definite advantages

The seating capacity at Salem High exceeds that of Southfield's gym by

Monday, February 28, 1977

gains for everyoneinvolved-Plymouth, Southfield and the MHSAA.

Switching courts would enable more Plymouth fans to view the game with far more convenience. Also, with an energy shortage, preventing hundreds of spectators from making the 50-mile round trip would rroduce a considerable savings.

At the urging of The Observer, both Goldberg and Sandman contacted Bush's office in Lansing. The MHSAA. however, was not convinced of the proposal offered by the two men. Thus the decision to maintain the game's

"THE ONLY TIME I remember this type of thing occurring was due to poor weather conditions." Bush said. "It's also common in the upper peninsual where schools are located 180 miles apart, but even that's planned ahead of time."

Surprisingly, Salem head coach Fred Thomann was against bringing the possible showdown to the community. Canton coach Casey Cavell was indifferent about any change.

Despite the decision, there is hope that Plymouth will host postseason play sometime in the near future "We've held district and regional tour naments in the past, but haven't pur sued them recently because of the condition of the floor." Sandmann said Moisture bubbles popping up on the tartan floor in the Salem gym have created undesirable playing conditions in the past three years. With the opening of Canton's Phase III facility next year, this conditon will improve

"I think there's a definite possibility of Plymouth getting postseason tournaments again." Sandmann said Maybe next year.

Rocks demolish pitiful Allen Park

By FRED DeLANO

It wasn't textbook basketball, but who cares when the good guys win?

Plymouth Salem wound up its regular schedule with a 66-36 multi-dimensional romp over Allen Park before a big turnout of home town followers Friday night, thus breaking the tension that had grown during three straight losses.

Multi-dimensional? Well, let's con-

It sends the Rocks into the state tournament with an impressive 15-4 record, but better vet Salem may be the only school in the state which has won the championship of its league—one of Michigan's toughest-four successive

In the Suburban Eight the Rocks were 11-2, followed by Dearborn (9-4). Belleville (9-5), Trenton (8-6), Livonia Bentley (7-6), Edsel Ford (6-8), Redford Union (4-9) and Allen Park (0-

That's right, Allen Park went winless in the league and the Jaguars were just what the doctor ordered as a tonic to instill new enthusiasm and momentum into coach Fred Thomann's Rocks

IT WAS PARENTS' NIGHT Friday in the Salem gym and every mom and pop in the house had to be bursting with pride whether son or daughter was ball player, cheerleader, Rockette, statistician, water boy or usher. It was that sort of fun occasion, and, oh. ves. Allen Park helped by scoring only four points in the first quarter and but six in the second.

Every senior was in the starting Salem lineup—Capt. Chris deBear. Bruce Gerish, Pat McKendry and Kevin Roose. Those four might have whipped Allen Park by themselves, but Thomann would have been assessed technical fouls from here to breakfast had he not started a fifth man, so he chose Tom Ellinghausen, a junior who is the team's leading scorer and

It was 11-4 for Plymouth when Thomann began substituting after the first quarter and at halftime it was Then, for the first time all evening, Thomann put his regular starting unit of deBear, Ellinghausen, Gerish, Doug Agnew and Rich Hewlett together for a third quarter workout and they immediately rolled off 22 points.

Thirteen men played, 11 scoredwith Ellinghausen tops at 21-and when the glee had subsided a bit, Thomann ordered the squad to report for its first Saturday scrimmage of the year, promising an all-out 90-minute drill "to get into a tournament frame of mind." The test of how it pans out will come against Northville in the first round Tuesday night.

Harrison's Bryant Gilbert (54) and Canton's Keith Fuelling (dark uniform) battle for a rebound

Ice-cold Chiefs fall to Harrison, 54-45

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

It was one of the sloppiest ways to end the regular basketball season but Farmington Harrison managed to topple Plymouth Canton 54-45 in a battle for second place in the Western Six League conference.

The game was marred by a combination of poor shooting and countless turnovers as both squads looked like they didn't even want that runners-up spot in the league.

Both squads entered the Friday night contest at the Harrison gym with identical 5-3 conference records and 9-9 overall marks. And in the end, it was the home team that finished with the above average record and some extra momentum going into the state districts this week

It looked like both teams were playing like this was for the championship instead of a second-place finish," said Harrison coach Bob Sutter in commenting on the ragged play. "Both teams looked like they were walking on eggs out on the court.

The Hawks have been riddled with poor offensive showings in the past three weeks of the season, but in this game it was the defense that proved the margin of victory.

"We wanted to play a zone against Canton," Sutter said, in reference to his stingy 3-2 zone. "We felt if we moved and got our hands up on their shooters then we would be all right."

THE RESULT OF the Hawks' defensive strategy was a sub-30 per cent shooting night from the floor for Can-

"When you get three guys off (shooting) then the whole team is off," Canton coach Casey Cavell said. "We missed shots that should have gone in. We were forced during our offensive

Wins finale

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity basketball team went out in flying colors Friday night with a come from behind 76-67 victory over Farmington

The victory was the third in a row for the reverse squad which finishes the season 10-9 under coach Wayne Weimer.

A 42-point second half sparked Canton's comeback.

The big story of the game was a spectacular 37-point performance by the Chiefs' Kurt Herbert. Herbert scored 15 of his of his points in the final period to aid the comeback.

SALEM

It was a totally discouraging night for the Plymouth Salem swim team as the Rocks suffered their worst defeat of the season with a 107-65 setback to Edsel

This whalloping that Salem suffered came at the final home meet of the season Thursday night. It was also the final Suburban Eight League dual meet of the year as the Rocks now look toward the conference meet held this Thursday and Friday at Redford Union.

"They (Edsel Ford) will probably be league champions," said Salem coach Byron Williams.

THE ONLY BRIGHT note in Salem's loss was the continued excellence of senior Ron Finley.

The potential All-American set two new pool records and one team mark with his lowest times of the season in the 200 and 500 freestyle races.

Finley's 4:49.4 clock-five swimmers in the state for that event. He already holds the topranking in the 100-yard backstroke event.

Finley's 200-free time was another season-low of 1:46.4 which also ranks as one of the best times in the state.

Farmington Harrison swim coach Mark Holdridge gambled with a slim lead in the next-tolast event in his dual meet against Plymouth Canton. His parlay paid off, and the Hawks gained a decisive advantage entering the final event saving, Holdridge untold embarassment and avenging an earlier loss to the Chiefs, 87-85.

Canton trailed Harrison 72-70 before the 100yard breaststroke. The Hawks placed first, third and fourth to grab an 83-75 lead.

"They found a third breaststroker and that really surprised us.' said Canton coach Bill Faunce. "We knew it was going to be a tight squad 65-32.

and they won."

Canton had to place one-two in the 400-yard freestyle relay to win the meet. But, that's a tall order to fill, and it was not about to happen with the Chiefs swimming shorthanded due to injuries. Canton handily won the event but could come no closer than five seconds to capturing the runners-up spot.

While Canton is understandably dissapointed at losing the cliffhanger but their gamble worked to a league rival, it can take solace in view of several performances.

Diver Scott Wales won his 10th straight dual meet against Western Six foes with a 233.75 score. Steve Wood won the 200-free in 1:57.1. while Kevin Harris tied a school record in the 50-free in 23.1.

Harris also won the 100-free in 50.4. Canton's 400-free-relay quartet of Dave Tanner, Wales, Wood, and Jamie Greenwood won in 3:39.6.

Air Tite Insulators solidified third place in the standings of the Plymouth men's recreation basketball league by overtaking a determined Wagenshutz team 62-56. Charlie Wolfe and K.C. Jones had 16 and 15 points respectively for the winners. Mark Falvo and Rob Willette scored 16 each to pace the Wagenschutz attack.

Richardson's continued to improve by posting a 59-51 victory over Morrell Builders. Mike Evans topped Richardson's with 19 points. Dave Wert had 18 for Morrell.

The final Monday evening contest broke a first-place tie as Side Street toppled Century 21, 67-66.

The victors built up an early seven point lead but Century 21 only trailed by two at halftime, 35-33. After three quarters. Side Street maintained a two-point lead at 47-45. In the fourth quarter, the lead changed hands six times. With 1:09 left to play, Bill Car-

Salem will defeat Canton

Plymouth will win the much talkedabout semifinal game against Plymouth Canton Thursday night at the Southfield District. But don't be surprised if the Southfield Blue Jays make the coveted trip to the Ypsilanti

Salem will beat Northville Tuesday night in a first round game and then cameback to defeat its friendly rivals from Canton on Thursday. But if you are going to put a bet on the game. I wouldn't give away any more than three points. The contest will go down to the wire with Salem's experience in state tournament play proving very valuable at the end.

As for that other bracket, the host team from Southfield has a cakewalk to the finals, as the Blue Jays compete against Mildford Lakeland on Monday and Mildford High School on Wednesday.

Having such an easy road to the district championship could hurt Southfield in the long run. But my fellow colleague Tom Baer, Sports Editor of the Southfield Eccentric, says the word from Southfield is that the Blue Jays are hungry to get a chance at knocking off Salem.

THE ROCKS experienced something in the final weeks of the season that coach Fred Thomann's teams have never had to cope with-a threegame losing streak.

While the Rocks victory over Allen Park stoped that skid, it really didn't prove anything. Five nuns from the Little Sisters of the Poor could have beaten pitiful Allen Park.

Salem opens its tourney drive against a Northville squad that has had internal problems in the past weeks. Word has it that a lot of unhappiness lingers on the team.

Salem will have to be alert in stopping the Mustangs' Tony Armada who is a super player. But Armada's supporting cast is weak and Salem should emerge as the victors.

AS FOR THE all-Plymouth semifinal, expect this contest to be close all the way. It pits the most evenly matched Plymouth basketball squads since Canton first opened its doors

The key to this ball game is in Canton's ability to run its offense. If the Chiefs can fast break then I wouldn't be surprised to see a Canton victory. If Salem forces a slowdown game then the Chiefs will be headed for

But the Salem minth graders did something in the first half that no team was able to do all season. The Rocks forced Canton to play eatch up for the first time this year by posting a 12-6 first quarter lead and a nine point halftime margin, 31-22.

"I just told the kids to take it easy." VanWagoner said. "In the second half, we started playing like we were capable of doing.

The Chiefs pulled within three, 41-38, with a 16-10 third quarter advantage and went ahead for good in the final period.

Canton's Dave Vissar led all scorers with 23 points including a sparkling nine-for-nine at the free-throw line. Dan McGlinn added 13 and Steve Eddy chipped in seven.

Jim Anderson paced the Rocks with 14 points. Brian Kelliher pumped in 12. Bob Jarvis followed in nine and Mitch Symonds added seven.

Canton spikers split 2 matches

The Plymouth Canton volleyball team met up with Farmington Harrison last Thursday and Livonia Churchill on Wednesday. Canton split the matches with a two-game victory over Harrison, 15-13 and 15-3, but losing to Churchill in two straight, 15-8

We played well in both matches, just not good enough against Churchill," said Canton coach Cyndi Burn-

'Harrison kept us moving and kept us guessing as to what kind of plays they were going to make. They hit a lot of spikes from the back court but we were able to return them with a little more power.

Against Churchill, the Chiefs' main problem was that they couldn't get their bumps into the front row, making the second hit all the more difficult for the setter.

During the first game against Churchill. Canton's defense was strongholding Churchill to three points for the first five minutes of play. But then Churchill came up with some extra strength and pulled away to a 14-4 lead. A small comeback moved the Chiefs to eight points but it wasn't enough to stop the Chargers from getting the winning point at 15-8.

The second game was pretty much the same, but the Chiefs were a little tougher. Having a two point lead when the score was 11-9, the Chiefs showed signs of pulling out a victory. Churchill came back, however, and had a one point edge over Canton at 12-11 when time ran out and then carried it out to one more point for the

With Canton's loss to Churchill, it put the Chiefs in third place in the Western Six Conference after Churchill and Canton had been tied for second behind Northville

Canton JVs also split their matches last week, winning from Harrison 12-14. 15-11. 15-6, and losing to Churchill by scores of 15-6 and 15-4.

Mary and Mike can't be considered as 'old' bowlers. But they are the last bulwark in the challenge from the youthful contenders in all sections of the metropolitan area.

Mary was the Bowling Queen several years ago when she topped the averages-and the point system-for the entire metropolitan area.

And Mike, now the owner of Bowlcraft Lanes, has been around for more than a few seasons. Yet, they are showing the way this season in the keenest competition in years.

ANOTHER VETERAN of the mapleways who still is toppling the pins at a greatest is Dick Preston. Like Totsky, Preston has been

Color splashes spring fashions

Splashes of vivid color, totally washable rayon and cotton blends that look just like linen, and blouses with umbrellas to match will be but a few of the latest trends revealed in the Plymouth Newcomers Club's fashion show March 3 in Napoleon's of Plymouth.

Following lunch, members of the club, their children and husbands will model spring collections from two Main Street Plymouth shops,me and mr jones and John Smith Men's Wear, and from Richards Boys and Girls Wear, Sheldon at Ford Road in Canton Township.

Fittings were completed last week, and Sylvia Mullen, manager of me and mr jones was enthusiastic about the models and their ensembles.

The appliqued denims by LaJolla of California were worn by the hostesses at the Andy Williams Open. They are handmade, one-of-kind and each is signed with the embroidered initial of the maker. There will be mix-andmatch sets with slacks or the split or gaucho skirt.

Fred Hill said the Christian Dior suits worn by the men will prove the vested suit—pin stripes or glenn plaid—has carried over into the spring fashions.

Button-down collars are back on the shirts, and the new color for the casual rugby or soccer shirts is khaki.

Loyal friends share the long wait

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Jane West and Sarah Haas were cohostesses of the election night party for Jane Moehle, one of the five Republican candidates in the 14th District State Senate primary.

They were among the more than 250 volunteers who been campaigning since Jan. I in the hope that a woman would once again be elected to the state senate. The primary was the first step. It was an off-season, off-day (Wednesday) election to pick candidates for the seat vacated by Sen. Carl Pursell who had been elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in November.

With the polls closed, the Joseph West home on Charnwood was filled with friends and well-wishers, waiting for the results. The candidate's daughter, Elizabeth, had come home from Kalamazoo for the election. Son Bill, a first-year law student in New York, did not get home.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP lived up to its reputation by having its votes tallied first. The City of Plymouth was next and although their candidate had a whomping majority in her hometown communities, alarm was expressed over the low turnout at the polls.

There had been a 10 per cent turnout in the township and 15.2 per cent in the city.

The word went around. "We needed more than that."

Livonia, Redford Township and Northville were yet to come and guests visited the punch bowl and snacked on hors d'oeuvres—and wait-

Conversations were brisk and there was no evident gloom as the campaign workers, a mixture of Republicans and Democrats, kept wandering back to the family room to check the chart.

Mrs. Moehle had taken a leave of absence from her job in Lansing as coordinator of community colleges to run for the senate seat. She had been commuting to the capital from her home on Ann Arbor Trail for two years and her supporters were hoping she'd go right on commuting, to the state Capitol.

THE TELEPHONES continued to ring. Most of the callers wished to speak to the candidate. Friends wished her luck. Joanne Hulce called with words of encouragement from Flor-

When she made the announcement that Robert Geake was clearly winner, there was no histrionics. The ladies—candidate and campaign workers—were gracious in defeat.

Some guests always gravitate to the kitchen and so it was on election night. Among them were Frank Millington and Betty Ervine.

Lily Ball coming March 5

Dinner and dancing in Roma Hall of Livonia on Saturday. March 5. will serve as a kick-off for the spring fund-raising campaign by the Easter Seal societies of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The occasion is the first Lily Ball, which the charity hopes to make an annual event. Beginning at 7:30 p.m., it will include a buffet dinner, entertainment by Kevin and Bruce and dancing to the music of Dick Murphy and his orchestra.

Tickets are $12.50 per person, and may be reserved by calling the Wayne County Easter Seal office, 722-

The event is a prelude to the Easter Seal telethon, scheduled March 26 and 27 in the Pontiac Silverdome. Part of a nationwide fund-raising effort, it will be telecast over Channel 50. Michael Landon of television fame is national chairman for the campaign and the metropolitan area chairpersons will be Dollie Cole and Mark Avery.

Working on arrangements for both the telethon and the Lily Ball are Raymond Tent, a Livonian, serving as vice-president of the Wayne County Easter Seal Society, and Kitty McKay of Wayne, coordinator of volunteers for Silverdome activities.

Tent, a product design engineer for the Ford Motor Co., has been actively involved in Easter Seal campaigns for six years.

He was chairman of the Livonia City Planning Commission when former mayor Harvey Moelke asked him to represent the city with the Easter Seal Society, and he remembers he went to his first meeting with that group "with a pretty negative attitude"

"But I went down there, saw how hard people worked and how the resources went directly to the the handicapped individuals," he said.

"I became interested and stayed and I'll keep on working for them. Wayne County Easter Seal has provided a great service for so many people—and they're always there when needed."

Mrs. McKay began working with Easter Seal "because the girl I babysit for was interested and the Wayne Jaycees were involved."

Her role has grown. This year she is in charge of coordinating the work of some 400 volunteers who will be at the Silverdome to accept donations and pledges for Easter Seal.

One of the evening's highlights was provided by Gary Best and George Piavis. The audience clapped their hands and stomped their feet to the strains of the blue grass music emanating from both banjo and guitar.

TRUE blue grassophiles, the gentlemen have been strumming their instruments since childhood. Both of their families originate in Arkansa, where songs like "Foggy Mountain Breakdown" and "Molly and Tenbrooks" were born.

According to Gary, blue grass is a totally separate music form from country and western. Its origins are in the folk songs of early Irish immigrants and can be traced back to Ireland itself.

Any stray mandolin, fiddle, bass or guitar player interested in playing blue grass should call Gary at 397-1897 or George, 349-8822

Jean Braun and sister Janet Holt, both members of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, played a lively jazz canon, "After You, My Dear Gaston." Mrs. Braun is principal violist in the symphony, and Mrs. Holt is a cellist.

The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the church choir. In a complete antithesis to their usual spirited anthems, they donned somber choir gowns for the occasion and proceeded to the stage with dirge-like steps and foreboding music.

But, once assembled, they dismissed the gloom and broke into a surprising rendition of "Accentuate the Postitive." Removing their robes, the choir members displayed an array of brightly colored outfits including a Farah Fawcett-Majors T-shirt worn by Pete Vance.

APPLAUSE and more applause was given to all the performers.

Elise Miller and Ginnie Koon, along with a host of helpers, served refreshments to cast and audience. Between mouthsful of cake and coffee, congratulatory handshakes and compliments were passed around

Young and old alike agreed it was an evening well spent. Even the outlandishly dressed and mysterious talent scout was eager in his praise. Some thought the scout looked suspiciously like Jim Scott

Her collection sparkles

By W.W. EDGAR

Some odd and unusual things can happen to a person while attending antique shows or conventions of collec-

One of the finest examples is Mrs. Will Egly of Plymouth who now has a collection of more than 200 toothpick holders-of all things-and is hoping to build her collection even higher.

"I got the urge some time ago while visiting an antique show," she said, explainingher start in developing a hobby.

I always have loved cut glass and so does my husband (who is an engineer at Ford's), and I wanted to get involved in something that wasn't too expensive. Toothpick holders seemed to be about the best thing available."

As she spoke the pleasant Plymouth housewife sat in a cozy little room looking at shelves filled with toothpick holders of all shapes, colors and sizes.

The most eve-catching of the lot was a toothpick holder in the form of a baby grand piano. It stood about four inches tall and and about four inches in length, accompanied by a small piano bench made of cut glass.

" Because my husband is so fond of cut glass, the fellows at Ford made this for his mother. When she died I got it for my display.

WITH A BROAD smile, she selected six holders from the shelf and sat them on a table

These are my latest collections."

she said, " and I got them last Sunday at a show in Jackson."

Asked if her husband helped her select them she chuckled: "He is not so fond of going to antique shows. So I went with a girl friend, and we had a grand time.

Mrs. Egly explained that she is a member of the National Toothpick Holder Collectors Society that was organized two years ago by by Judy Knauer of Fairfax, Virginia and that she attended the first convention last year in Cambridge, Ohio. "There were about 150 collectors in attendance, and when we have our next convention in August at the Dearborn Inn the attendance should sur-

'You meet the nicest people among the collectors. I hope I never lose my interest in the holders or in my collec-

She confided that the membership of the society is spreading and that she has met collectors from as far west as Arizona.

As she spoke, she turned to another holder and explained that it was her smallest—a bronze holder about the size of a one-inch cube.

ADMITTING THAT she had no idea of the worth of her collection, Mrs. Egly confided that some of the holders have been known to bring as much as $1,000 on the market. This was far more than her costliest which she said was "about $95."

Though nothing was mentioned that there was a time when toothpick holders were quite the thing at the biggest society dinners, and in our better homes, she did admit a fondness for each one of her collection.

While her husband confided that the tooth pick holders were selected "because they were the cheapest," Mrs. Egly said the real reason for selecting them was their size.

"I couldn't collect antique furniture because we have no place to put it. It is the same with many other things. But, as you can see, I have 200 holders on the shelves in this small room-and we aren't crowded."

As she placed her choice holders back on the shelves, she couldn't hold back a chuckle as she said, "It all started because I enjoyed going to antique shows."

75 years of American Motors

One of the oldest automobile companies in the world. American Motors, will observe its 75th anniversary on March 1. The first onecylinder Rambler (top) was sold at the 1902 Chicago auto show. The company's latest model to be introduced is the 1977 Pacer station wagon (bottom). That first Rambler was built in Kenosha, Wis., and sold for $750.

Among the nameplates manufactured by AMC and its predecessors are the Jeffery, Hudson, Nash, Overland, Essex, Terraplane and Rambler. The Jeffery Co., which built the Rambler, became Nash Motors in 1916 and in 1937 Nash-Kelvinator. Hudson joined with Nash-Kelvinator in 1974 to form AMC. Jeep Corp. was added in 1970.

MEASURING UP AT MEIJER

INSPECTORS FROM the Weights and Measures division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture visit Michigan retailers frequently. Their job is to help protect the consumer by insuring that customers actually get what they pay for at the checkout counter.

AT MEIJER, all of our products are subject to government examination at any time, without advance notice. For example, several packages of meat might be brought to the back room, unwrapped, and weighed. Canned goods may be sent to a laboratory in Lansing to make sure the cans have been filled properly. Inspection is not limited to edible items. Fabric measuring tables and garden supplies are also checked. Any type of weighing or measuring that a retailer has done to prepare merchandise for the sales floor is SUBJECT TO GOVERNMENT IN SPECTION.

AT MEIJER, we have employees who work full time testing, adjusting and replacing our weights and price marking machines. Other employees check the weights of our meat products daily, by stripping them to the bare product and reweighing them. The product alone, not the package, must match or exceed the weight listed on the package.

ever have any doubt about the weight or price of a package at Meijer, please let us know. We will be happy to reweigh the product to check its correctness and to insure your confidence in Meijer.

HATS OFF to the City and State Inspectors, and to the capable Meijer employees who together help insure honest value for Meijer customers.

WHY METRIC?

HAVE YOU WONDERED why the United States is converting to the METRIC SYSTEM? A commonly asked question is, "Why can't we just leave things the way they are?"

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES OF-FICIALS explain that the system is a better system because it is EASIER. They have adopted METRIC AWARENESS NOW as the theme of this year's Weights and Measures Week, March 1-7.

OUR PRESENT SYSTEM of measuring length, for example is based on six units, none of them related. They are the inch, foot, yard, fathom, rod, and mile. The METRIC SYSTEM uses just one unit for measuring length-the METER. Quantities greater or less than the basic unit can be expressed in multiples or subdivisions of ten. Computations can usually be done in your head simply by moving the decimal point, just as you do with the dollar. RIGHT NOW, of course, there will be some confusion as we attempt to learn the new system. In time, however, the term METER, as well as GRAM (unit measure for weight) and LITER (unit measure for volume) will be commonplace. We will have made the changeover to the system the rest of the world uses the METRIC SYSTEM.

WE AT MEIJER commend Weights and Measures Officials as they make the effort to relate the METRIC SYSTEM to our everyday lives.

> WILL NOT SACRIFICE QUALITY BEEF WE ALWAYS CUT!

Stop shuffling soup bones and boiling beef from one corner of your freezer to another.

As a freezer beef customer you have become accustomed to a 275-325 lb. side of beef, which costs anywhere from 89-99¢ lb. From that side of beef you'll lose approximately 35%, leaving you with 175-210 lb. take home weight. Of the 175-210 lb. take home weight you'll have from 60-90 lb. which is soup bones, short ribs, boiling beef and hamburger. Why fill your freezer with bones and fat which you pay from 89-99¢ a pound for? STAN'S will save you many dollars in the long run (net cost per pound) even though you pay a little more per pound initially. Stop in the store and ask Don for more details, or call 464-0330.
