Court is coming to Canton

By CRAIG PIECHURA

A permanent courtroom will be built this year in the fire hall at Cherry Hill and Canton Center, according to Supervisor Harold Stein's plans.

Legislative steps have already been initiated by 37th District State Rep. Tom Brown to establish a new municipal court district in Canton within the next two years, Stein said.

But before Canton has its own district and its own judge, Stein is working with 35th District Court Dunbar Davis to set up an annex of the 35th District court in the room used for board meetings at Fire all No. 1.

"I've already made some provisions for setting up a Canton court district," Stein said. "Working with Rep. Brown, Bill 35-A was introduced, which would be the name of the new court district.

"All this is still pretty early, so I can't be more specific. I asked Rep. Brown to introduce the bill knowing that it takes a year or better before the legislature gets around to establishing a new municipal court district. Then we'd have to elect a judge to preside over the district. I just wanted to set the wheels in motion."

Judge Davis is receptive to the idea of holding court in Canton "once or twice a week." Davis said Canton currently accounts for one-third of the court's cases and pays nothing for court costs.

At present, Canton doesn't receive any money paid by persons who are convicted of violations of state law committed in the township. Traffic tickets issued by the state police and sheriff's deputies are state violations, and court costs on those convictions go to the municipality where court is held.

Canton currently does receive one-third of the money paid by people convicted of violating local ordinances such as sign, blight and handicapped parking violations. The remaining two-thirds revenue goes to the City of Plymouth.

"MOST OF the money people pay in my court is for court costs," Davis explained. "If a person convicted on a drunk driving charge has to pay $200; usually $150 of that is for court costs and $50 is the fine."

In dividing up the fine and court fee, the $50 fine would go to the state, $50 goes to the county library fund and $100 would go to the municipality in which the case was tried.

If a court annex is established in Canton in late 1977 and one-fifth of the 35th District Court cases are held in Canton this year, Judge Davis explained that Canton would have to pay one-fifth of the court's operating expenses. Because the court's time is split between Plymouth and Northville at present, Plymouth pays 50 per cent of the court's operating expense and Northville pays 50 per cent.

"I'm sure Canton will want to set up a separate district court and elect its own judge in the next few years, because of its desire to have its own identity," Davis said. "With the present growth, I'd guess it'll be about two years before they split off."

Judge Davis alternates weeks between the courtroom in Plymouth and the courtroom in Northville. Between 1970 and 1973, Davis sat in a temporary court facility in Plymouth Township also. But because of added cost to Plymouth Township, the practice was eliminated.

"Canton should be able to break even with the court," Davis said. "The amount they take in should cover their expenses."

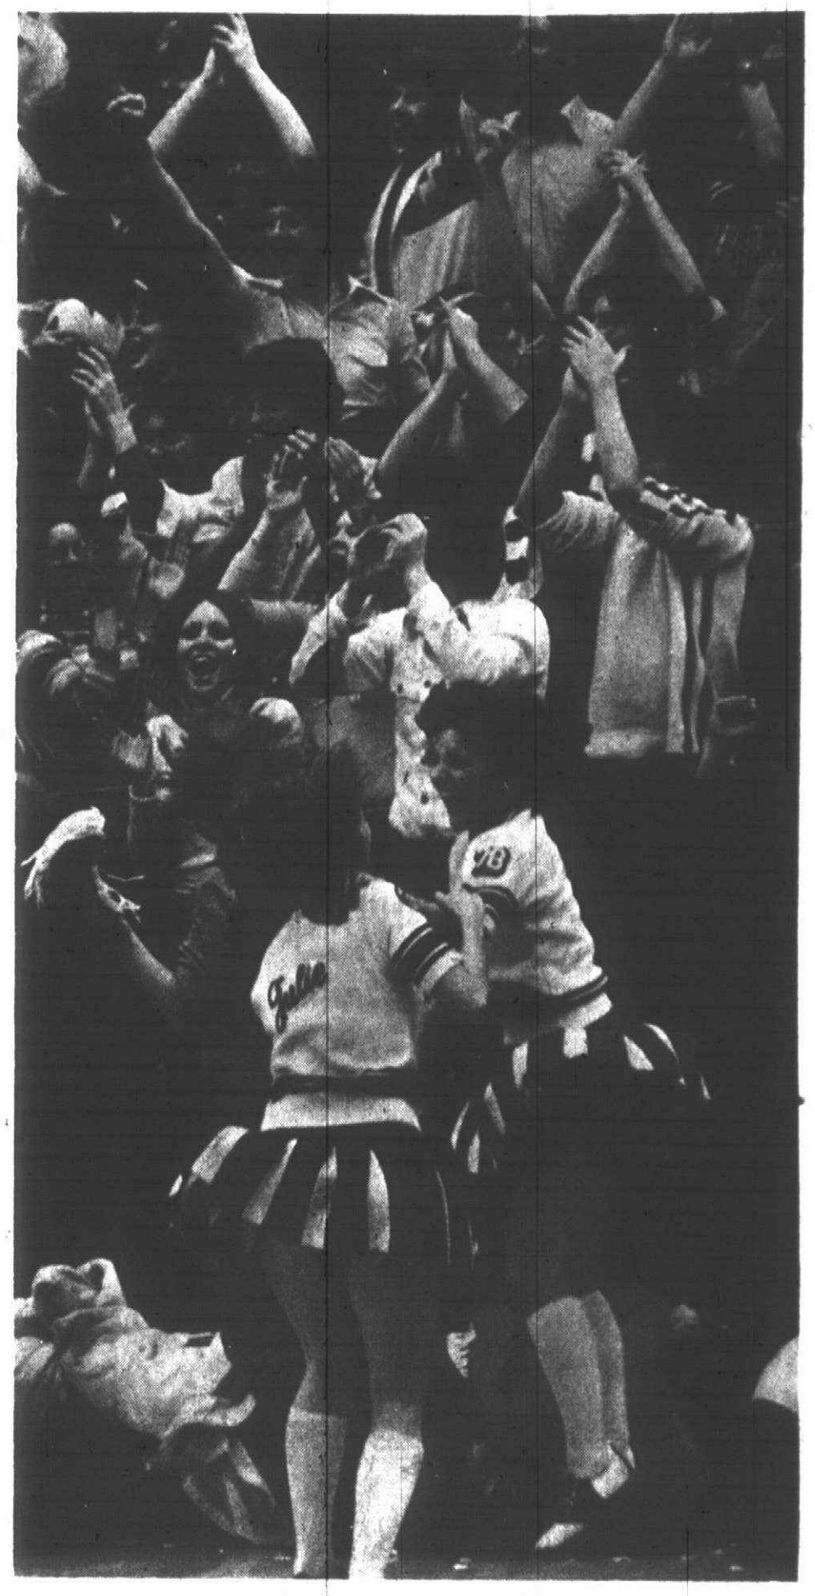

If magistrates are used to handle arrangements, Davis said he would have enough time to hear cases in Plymouth, Northville and Canton.

THE NEW administration building will not house the district court operations, according to Stein. When the fire hall is modified into a dual-purpose meeting room and courtroom, all court operations will remain there, Stein said.

"We would maintain court in the old building so we could keep court activity separate from the administration building, Stein said. "You wouldn't have prisoners being led in next to secretaries who are trying to carry on with their business. The court activity is a problem in the City of Plymouth and that's why I believe we should keep the two functions separate."

Emotion ignites crowd when CEP rivals clash

By FRED DeLANO

If you've been thinking there's a wide disparity between Plymouth Canton's brand of basketball and Plymouth Salem's, forget it.

An estimated 1,500 local followers of the two cage teams learned first-hand Thursday that Canton has come of age as they watched the Chiefs give Salem's Rocks the battle of their lives before bowing, 55-52, in state high school tournament action at Southfield.

The intense desire that gripped players of the neighboring schools was apparent from the moment they stepped on the court until the final buzzer.

In turn, this emotion caught fire in the packed stands as the Southfield gym echoed to the screams of Plymouth fans for almost two hours.

If there was a lone sphinx in the house, it was John Sandmann, director of athletics for all the Plymouth-Canton schools, who forced himself to remain neutrally expressionless throughout the loud, exciting evening.

BUSLOAD AFTER busload of students from the two schools were in their seats an hour before the opening tip-off, and the din they raised never stopped.

Interspersed with the young folks were the representatives of an older generation who have been close followers of local basketball since the less complicated days when they could concentrate all their enthusiasm on Plymouth High School—when Salem and Canton were simply the names of close-by townships.

They were all there, going by such names as McAllister, Draugelis, Wilhelmi, LaMirand, Blunk, Stirton, Bouie and many, many more. Adding to the drama were two faces on the opposing benches that brought back winning PHS memories—Pat Cunningham, now freshman mentor at Salem, and Dave VanWagoner, coach of the undefeated Canton frosh.

As noisy, emotional and intense a showdown as it was that brought all these followers together, it was obvious that they were there as rivals—not as enemies.

IT WAS THE THIRD basketball meeting between the two schools. Salem won a regular season game by 33 points, 85-52, in the 1973-74 season and took a 19-point decision, 74-55, in last year's district tourney.

"It's going to be a good one," correctly prophesied Canton coach Casey Cavell minutes before game time. His Salem counterpart, Fred Thomann, sensed the tension and knew his troops would have to be at their best to emerge with a victory by any margin this rainy night.

As related in the Observer sports pages, 7-9A, Salem rushed to a quick 12-0 lead and then led 16-8 after one quarter. The margin was four points, 29-25, at halftime, and how the gym rocked with vocal thunder when Canton went ahead for the first time, 35-34, late in the third period.

Although the record book always will list Salem in the win column, in no way should Canton be called a "loser." In any sport, it takes outstanding competitors to gain the throng's admiration when they finish on the short end of the score, and such an accolade belongs to the Chiefs.

Bitter winter takes a toll on Canton homes

Local builders hint that people will be paying for the winter weather and the recently-settled Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. strike when they hunt for homes in Canton this summer.

By LORI BRICKMAN

Home builders in Canton Township say they've been faced with back-breaking construction costs that can be directly attributed to this winter's severe weather and the recently-resolved strike by employees of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

The builders say everything, short of admitting their cost increases will raise the price of a new home this spring.

"Our propane tanks are running seven-days-a-week to keep the inside temperature even," said Henry Caron, construction superintendent of Smokler Homes. "We hired extra manpower for installation on the propane units and for supervision and maintainance of the equipment. That's another additional outlay we hadn't anticipated."

The strike at Michigan Consolidated caused home builders and some new homeowners to resort to large propane tanks to heat the homes under construction and, in some cases, completed homes. With the gas strike over, the propane tanks are gradually being replaced by natural gas with homeowners given priority over builders, according to a company spokesman.

"IT WAS COSTING me $200-a-day for propane during the gas company strike," Caron claims. "Normally, natural gas lines are laid to heat the structure and our cost is far less."

The use of propane presents a potentially explosive situation, according to the construction superintendents.

"Houses have to be air-tight for better heat circulation and, at the same time, provide for ventilation," Caron said.

Even with the propane tanks, Caron said, Smokler employees have worked only five full days in the 68-day period between December and February. Sub-zero temperatures and high winds caused the work slowdown, he said, keeping roofers, carpenters and other tradepeople away from the job site.

One tradesman, bricklayer Paul Folner, said he has never once refused to work, "but there are days when it's been impossible."

"Mortar freezes below 30 degrees and even adding an anti-freeze agent like calcium chloride won't help mortar when it's below zero outside."

CANTON ORDINANCES comply with Michigan State Building Code restrictions and township building superintendent Charley Thompson outlines the qualifications for building in cold weather:

- Exterior brick cannot be laid in weather below 25 degrees unless protected by a plastic shield.
- The plastic secured to a wooden frame must cover the brick 24 to 48 hours to allow the mortar to set. Thompson said some builders put chemicals in the cement for a faster set.

There's no question that propane usage has created headaches and bills for the builders this winter, Thompson said. But the proliferation of propane heaters is also a headache for the township's inspectors, Thompson said.

"There is no code controlling the use of salamanders (interior space heaters)," said the building superintendent. "But, if our inspectors indicate there's a problem with one, we can shut it off until corrections are made. The 100-pound temporary containers and the residential tanks do fall under our jurisdiction. They have safety shut-off valves and are carefully checked to head off any trouble."

During the gas strike, Thompson said, some new Canton homeowners installed giant propane gas tanks in their yards while waiting for their gas furnace to be installed and hooked up.

"These pigs, as they are called, serve as a temporary measure," Thompson said. "But many families wouldn't be able to move in without them."

HEAT IN THE HOMES hasn't solved all the problems brought on by a mean winter. The frost line is so deep this year that steel support posts in basements—such as the home under construction at the corner of Saltz and Walnut Ridge Circle—have heaved. In those cases, stop-work orders issued by Canton building inspectors will remain on the construction sites until the thaw.

Using probes, inspectors can determine if an area has thawed enough. With a positive reading, the stop-work order is lifted.

Norm Graft, construction supervisor for Huntley Homes, said the deep frost line is plaguing the builders this winter.

"I'm paying $100 an hour for a ground ripper at a minimum of eight hours a day," Graft said. "The frost line is between 48 and 68 inches deep, so it takes a full day for the specially-designed shovel to dig one basement."

Lost work time causes interest owed on building materials to soar, Graft said.

"The bigger companies with more capital can survive this season, Graft said. "But some of the smaller outfits have already overextended themselves and may fold up completely.

Pyramid Homes of Southfield, builder of many homes in Canton, closed up shop early this winter because of a credit crisis. Homes half-finished by Pyramid are being completed by Beachum and Roeser.

One person interviewed said the severe winter weather has increased his business. Bill Kane of Air Tite Insulation said he has better luck with his job this winter than other building tradesmen.

"I work on the inside so the weather doesn't affect me too much. In fact, homeowner demand for extra insulation has kept me pretty busy."

$55,000 given to gifted

A special program for academically talented students, that was recommended two years ago, moved a step closer to reality last week when Plymouth Board of Education allocated $55,000 for a preliminary study and coordinating costs.

The final vote for the grant passed by a 5-2 margin. Boa'd members opposing the program felt there were too many unanswered questions about how the money would be spent, and that the district had more pressing needs.

Members, who favored the allocation, argued that questions would never be answered if money wasn't made available. They also maintained the program was needed, particularly at the elementary and middle school level.

Supt. John Hoben, who recommended funding the program, said the money would be used to hire a coordinator and to gather information and material.

"I see this as an evolving program. There is a lot of groundwork to do, and it may not go into operation until April."

For the time being, Hoben added, the money will be used to study other programs, buy equipment, and do basic organizational work.

The board stipulated that before any additional money could be spent in implementing the program, it would have to approve the plans.

TRUSTEE RICHARD ARLEN, who was against the program, said he felt the board needed to deal with the problems of the majority of students before money was spent on a minority.

"This is just another piecemeal adjustment to the curriculum. Look at the whole district, not just this one. There are other, more pressing needs."

Trustee Flossie Tonda, who also voted against granting the money, asked what the program was all about. "How many kids participate? Who makes the decision? Who does the testing?"

The answers to those questions would never be known, said Trustee Marcia Borowski, if they weren't studied.

Trustee Tom Yack also argued for the program. He maintained that a number of people in the community were interested in the devleopment of special instruction for the gifted, and they had waited long enough.

Hoben told the board members that while he felt the program for exceptional students was adequate at the high school level, there was a need for a more complete and unified approach in the middle and elementary schools.

Watch your sweet tooth — Girl Scout cookies are being delivered this week. This year, the Plymouth-Canton Scouts sold so many cookies—35 per cent more than in 1976—that two semi-trucks were needed to make deliveries. The local Scouts' record-setting sales were tops in the Huron Valley Council. For story and pictures on the massive job of distributing the orders, see Page 1B.

For June 13

Schoolcraft millage election set

By TIM RICHARD

It's definite. Schoolcraft College will ask voters to approve a property tax increase in the regular June 13 school election.

The two-year community college will seek approval of 0.8 mills (80 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation).

It is understood, however, that the actual increase will amount by 1980 to 1.33 mills because the new money will be used to operate new facilities to be financed by a $10 million bond issue. Taxes for the bond issue interest payment and debt retirement, however, are not subject to a popular vote, though the bond issue and millage request are inseparable.

THE BOARD VOTE was 5-1.

Favoring the millage request were Chairman Paul Kadish, Vice-chairman Rosina Raymond, Treasurer Nancie Blatt, Trustees Gerald Cox and Mark McQuesten.

Opposed was Trustee Leroy Bennett, who wanted the board to sell the $10 million bond issue prior to the millage vote to impress on the public the need for expansion of the campus.

Missing from the vote were trustees Arch Vallier and Ron Cowden. Vallier is in semi-retirement in Florida. Cowden was involved in his duties as a Livonia school principal, but has been supportive of the millage request in past discussions.

LEROY BENNETT
Not running

McQuesten confessed to having "qualms" about holding the election when classes aren't in session. The college's spring term concludes at the end of April.

THE ELECTION will be held at the same time as elections for three college trustee seats and for local board of education seats in Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth school districts.

Mrs. Raymond said publicly what she has been hinting at for some time—that she will seek a new six-year term on the Schoolcraft board. She said she will strongly support the millage request in her platform.

Bennett confirmed officially what he, too, has been saying—that he will not run again.

Vallier has been wavering, but leaning toward not running because his travels have caused him to miss so many meetings.

MRS. RAYMOND, of Livonia, is a part-time Wayne State University teacher and long-time political activist in the Democratic Party. She lines up with the board's liberal group on student-oriented issues.

Bennett, of Plymouth, is a math department head in the Livonia School District. He has been a swing vote, usually lining up with the business-oriented members. Bennett has been the board's most outspoken—some years its only—champion of a fine arts center.

Vallier, of Pymouth, with a background in industrial engineering, has been the board's most business-minded and hard-liner in dealing with the faculty union.

IN A RELATED action, the board designated its entire membership to serve on the millage campaign steering committee.

Two members—Dr. Cox and Mrs. Blatt—volunteered to meet with the college administration to discuss composition of the steering committee.

This will be the college's second millage request in two years. A similar, though slightly smaller, proposal was defeated in the regular June election last year under significant circumstances: K-12 school districts which had money proposals on the ballot all rejected Schoolcraft's request; K-12 districts with no local money proposals on the ballot favored the Schoolcraft proposal.

Those political circumstances led the board to consider a special election—until it found a special election would cost $50,000 to $60,000 and might generate much ill-will among local districts. The college currently has 1.77 voted mills but levies 2.13 mills because debt retirement taxes aren't subject to a popular vote.

Plymouth Township eyes police options

At its regular meeting Tuesday, Plymouth Township Board of Trustees will be asked to consider what steps should be taken to continue to provide police protection for the township when county funding ends June 30.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the township hall at the corner of Lilley and Ann Arbor roads.

The Michigan Supreme Court's recent refusal to hear an appeal of a lower court ruling, stating that out-county townships had to pay for the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol, has put the question of police protection squarely in the township's lap.

The county board of commissioners voted to terminate the money for the out-county road patrols at the end of June. At the time of the court's decision, Supervisor Thomas Notebaert told the Observer he had no real plan of action.

Township voters turned down a millage request for a police department last August, and Notebaert made reference to that when the court's decision was announced. "Because the citizens did not grant the millage, I have to assume they are satisfied with the protection they have been receiving from the sheriff."

ALTHOUGH THERE HAS been no official discussion of what action the township should take, there are several options to be considered.

The township could negotiate an independent contract with the Sheriff's department, or it could contract with the City of Plymouth for protection.

Other possibilities are establishing its own police department, or joining with other townships to form a combined police agency.

According to township calculation, it would cost about $350,000 to start a police department, compared to an estmated $513,000 to contract with the city. No figures have been calculated for other alternatives.

Notebaert said he has no preference as of now. "At this point, I want to check out the options and go from there. I'm going to be asking board members for their feelings and also to consider updating our police study." He added he may suggest forming a committee to study police protection and make recommendations.

Waiting for train more often lately?

By GLENN BUNTING

Anyone who drives a car through the streets of Plymouth realizes the inconvenience of the city's railroad crossings. What may not be known, however, is that little is being done to discourage traffic delays and that the situation will likely grow worse.

By state law, traffic at railroad crossings can only be held up for five minutes, at which point the train cars must either break up and allow traffic to clear or risk a possible fine.

Penalties must be initiated by citizen complaints, which are filed at city hall on Main St. The maximum fine that can be levied on a railroad company is $500 per violation. George Hudson, a General Motors retiree who acts as a liason between the court and the Chessie system, estimates that only one of every 20 misdemeanors is reported.

The Chessie system, however, literally ignores the five minute regulation. The railroad company was hauled into Judge Dunbar Davis' court 86 times last year, up 30 from the preceeding year.

Represented by attorney John Holden, the Chessie System will, in most cases, plead guilty and pay whatever fines are assessed by Judge Davis.

DESPITE PUBLIC pressure to slap the Chessie system with a $500 fee for every violation to discourage traffic delays and increase city revenues, Judge Davis refuses to do so. His present rates are consistently set at $35 for five minutes, $50 for seven, and $100 for more than eight, excluding $5 judgement fees.

Of the fines paid last year by the Chessie system, approximately two-thirds were for $100.

Davis cited several reasons for his relatively light treatment of the Chessie system. "I don't think it's good for the judge to be at odds with the railroads," he said. "But at the same time, I know you can't kow-tow to them.

"It doesn't do any good to levy excessive fines because they'll fight with appeals and run up attorney fees. Then the courts will lose whatever cooperation exists with the railroads. We must remember that they are responsible for much of the industry in this community."

Hudson said that Davis' predecessor, Ed Draugelis, fined the Chessie system $500 a crack but that the stiff fees failed to reduce the number of violations.

"The amount of money the railroads were forced to pay in fines amounted to peanuts when you consider its volume of operations," Hudson said. "All the fines did was muddy relations with the court."

HUDSON ADDED that the railroad company is aware of the problem and has shown a definite interest in attempting to eliminate the vast number of irritated motorists.

"But there are some incidents I would like to see stopped. For example, it isn't uncommon for a locomotive engineer to stop at Main St. to grab a hamburger. This type of problem can be eliminated," Hudson said.

Tim Ford, Plymouth chief of police, once was so irritated by the train employees' lunch break that he nearly went after them. "The whole crew was off getting coffee while traffic started to pile up," Ford said. "I was so close to hauling them in I could taste it."

Ford said the train crossing delays could get worse. "The trains are longer and heavier today than they were years ago. This results in slower speeds and longer delays," he said.

Hudson said that some trains will carry as many as 110 cars, stretching more than a mile long when higher temperatures set in. Summertime could bring a doubling of the length of blockages. One ticket given this month was for a 40-minute delay.

One sore point with Hudson is that warning gates will replace the flashing stop lights at the Farmer St. railroad crossing. "I can't understand for the life of me why Ford wanted the gates in the first place," he said.

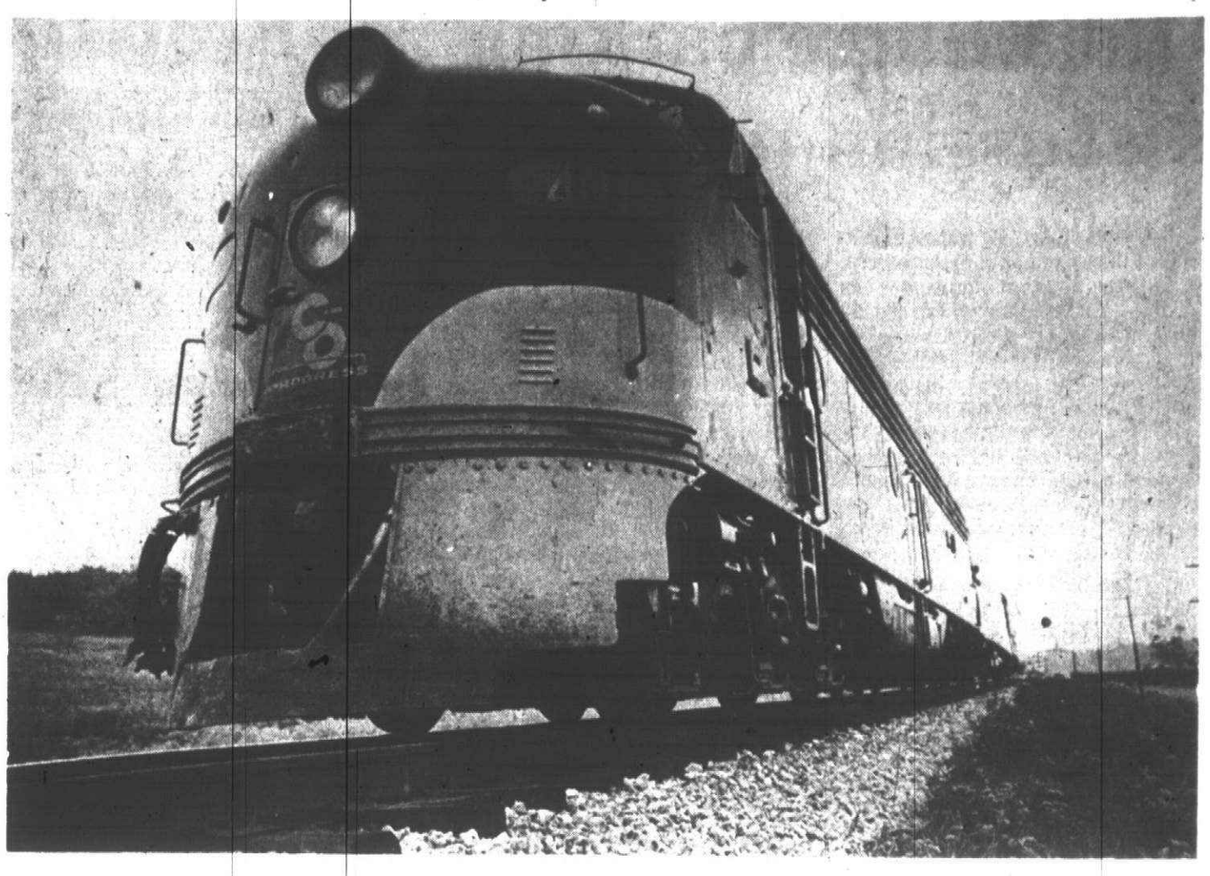

"WHEN THEY'RE put in, the gates are going to be down 2½ hours a day and court complaints will double."

Mel Paulun, Canton fire chief, said his department faces problems with crossing delays at Joy, Koppernick and Warren roads. The department is planning an alert system through the phone company to solve its woes by notifying firefighters of delayed train crossings in advance.

The system will be installed sometime after the fire deptartment moves into fire hall no. 2 on Warren near Haggerty in late April.

Ford said the only relief he sees in sight for local motorists is the development of highways on the outskirts of the city. "In five years, the various highway construction projects are due to be completed, taking a great load of the city traffic," he said.

But until then, there appears to be no longterm solution to railroad crossing delays.

Residents annoyed by long delays at crossings can sign a complaint by getting the number of the train from the front of the engine or the caboose.

Soundproofing approved

Schools will be quieter

Plans have been approved by the school board for soundproofing the Plymouth-Canton Schools new elementary schools—Hulsing, Eriksson and Field—in Canton.

Since the schools opened last fall, administrative, teacher and student reactions have helped identify high noise-level areas for acoustic treatment.

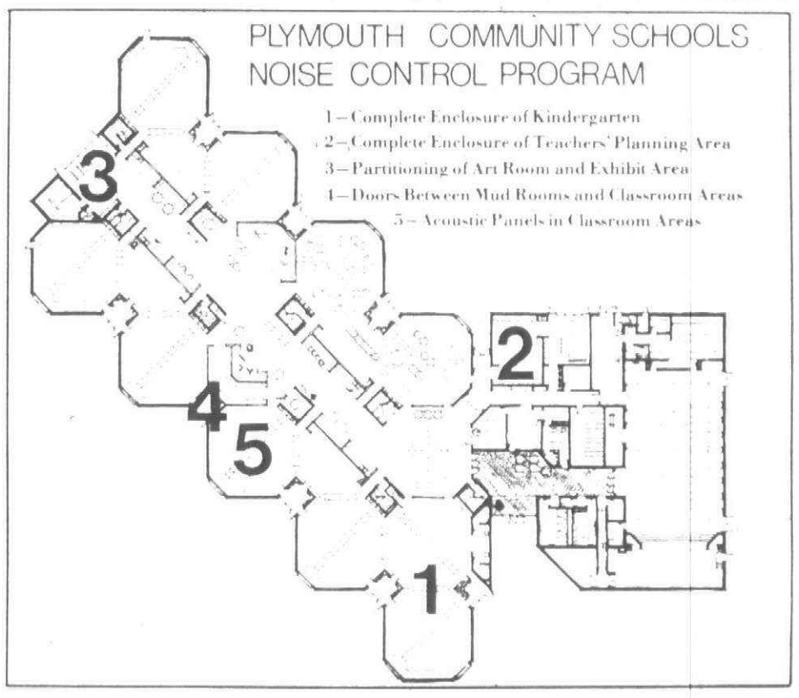

In gaining the school board's approval, Lawrence D. Morris, project architect for TMP Associates, Inc., noted that sound control features are best installed after a building of this type has been in use for several months.

Morris explained that becasue a building's acoustic behavior isn't accurately predictable, teacher and student experience in the building is the most direct way to decide where and how to spend the sound control portion of the construction budget.

THE ANTI-NOISE features approved by the school board include:

- Complete enclosure of the kindergarten, separating it from the elementary class areas.
- Complete enclosure of the teacher's planning areas.
- Partitioning of the art rooms and exhibit areas.
- Installation of doors between the mudrooms and classroom area.
- Installation of acoustic wall material and suspended sound absorbing panels in the classroom areas.

The three schools, which recently received a design award from the American Association of School Administrators, were each built for less than their $1.45 million construction budgets which included an allowance to pay for these noise control measures.

Computer decides school

In an effort to balance the student populations of Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High schools, the board of education voted to begin a computerized random selection process for the 1977-78 school year.

Supt. John Hoben told the board that the random selection would begin with this year's eighth graders. He said an independent computer firm would tabulate questionnaire results and assign students to one of the two high schools.

The only deviation from the randomness of the selection will be for students who have brothers or sisters in either of the high schools, and they will be allowed their preference.

The purpose of this new approach, Hoben said, is to create a sex and number balance in the student populations. He explained that the current feeder system was overloading Salem.

Under present school assignment, students who attend Pioneer or West middle schools go to Salem, and those who attend Central and East middle schools go to Canton.

"It will take four years to attain the desired balance," Hoben said. "But at least we will be working on it."

The motion to establish random selection passed, 6-0. However, Joe Gry, board president, who was absent from the meeting, had his objection to random selection read into the record by Trustee E.J. McClendon, acting chairman.

At an earlier workshop meeting, Gray told board members he was in favor of getting balanced student populations by changing attendance boundry lines.

45-15 has fans in school survey

Most parents would prefer year-round school to any other option known at this time to meet the demands of rising school enrollment, according to a random telephone survey conducted by Plymouth-Canton Schools.

The survey showed three-fourths of the parents would prefer year-round school as opposed to use of portable classrooms, split sessions, increased in-district busing, or busing students to another district.

The results of the survey had been presented to the Plymouth Board of Education about a week before trustees voted to designate five elementaries and one middle school to go on the 45-15 schedule starting July 18, 1977. Under year-round scheduling, students attend classes for nine weeks (45 school days) and are then off for three weeks.

"The school board and administration will continue to make every effort to negotiate an ESY (extended school year) calendar with the Plymouth Education Association," reports Florence Beier, community relations director for the district.

"Planning, however, cannot be delayed if ESY is to start this summer. Alternatives to ESY are overloaded classes, split sessions, or busing to rented schools outside the district—the closest available being in Garden City.

"Before making a decision to designate schools for 45-15, the school board had for consideration results of a scientific random sample telephone survey which was conducted the first two weeks in February."

THE SURVEY was conducted by 21 trained volunteers from the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women. Calls were made Feb. 4-14 to a random sample drawn by computer from the registered voter file.

Some 403 residents were interviewed and asked to respond to 15 questions.

Of those called, 85 per cent indicated they were aware that the school district is expected to grow by more than 5,000 students in the next five years. Most interviewees (62 per cent) had either pre-school or school-age children.

Before the questions were asked, the following statement was made: "Our present school buildings are nearly filled, but the board of education is considering all possible alternatives to avoid overbuilding. Please indicate which of the following you are familiar with and which you approve of using:"

The residents would first be asked whether they were "familiar with" an option, such as portable classrooms, and then whether they would "favor" use of that alternative.

The alternative to new buildings which most residents (90½ per cent) were familiar with the 45-15, followed by portable classrooms (85 per cent), busing within if space is available (83 per cent), busing to rented space in other school districts (74 per cent), split sessions for grades K-8 (57½ per cent). The option those sampled were least familiar with was an extended high school day—an option of which only 45 per cent said they knew about.

When asked which alternative to overbuilding they'd prefer, 73.7 per cent selected year-round school, two-thirds opted for busing within the district, 57½ per cent chose portable classrooms, 45 per cent selected the extended high school day, almost one-quarter picked split sessions K-8, and 27½ per cent opted for busing to another school district.

Only slightly more than one-third of those sampled said they would vote for a bond issue for new schools if acceptable alternatives couldn't be found to accommodate all students. Some 47 per cent said they'd vote against a bond issue and 16 were undecided.

AFTER THE 403 responses were tabulated, the computer sorted out those respondents who were parents of pre-schoolers or children attending school.

Of the parents of school children, almost 87 per cent were aware of the growth problems facing the school district. The options to overbuilding, in order, were: year-round school, 76 per cent yes, 15 per cent no; in-district busing, 67 per cent yes, 27 per cent no; portable classrooms, 60 per cent yes, 27 per cent no; split sessions, almost 20 per cent yes, 54 per cent no; outside-district busing, 27 per cent yes, 65 per cent no.

About 45 per cent of the parents of school children said they'd vote for a bond issue, 41 per cent said no, and 13½ per cent were undecided.

The proposal to seek voter approval to borrow $30 million for new construction is expected to meet classroom space needs for five years "if we also use alternatives to building" such as ESY, in-district busing, and portables, adds Mrs. Beier.

The bond issue would require an estimated 1.26 mill ($1.26 per $1,000 state equalized valuation) increase to the school district's debt retirement levy. Cost to a taxpayer on a $40,000 home, for example, would be $25.20 per year.

As reported previously, schools designated by the board for 45-15 are Field, Eriksson, Miller, Hulsing and Isbister elementaries and Pioneer Middle School. Option schools are: Fiegel for Field, Allen for Eriksson, Fallimore for Miller, Tanger for Hulsing, Starkweather for Isbister and East Middle for Pioneer.

Options for parents to whom 45-15 is unacceptable will be provided on a one-year guarantee, if space is available, with transportation furnished to the option school by parents in all ESY programs.

Old Village parking discussion tonight

Discussion of parking improvements in Old Village and an ordinance defining charges against businesses for parking "credits" are on tap for the Plymouth City Commission at tonight's meeting.

The city commission, during the regular portion of the meeting, will be asked to approve an ordinance to amend the city code dealing with parking credits. The amendment includes language to allow businessmen to pay the charges for parking credits over a period of 10 years.

After the regular meeting, the city commission will meet in a committee-of-the-whole public session to discuss recommendations of its parking study committee for parking improvements in Old Village.

PRESENTLY, there aren't any municipal parking lots in Old Village, although the city has provided unmetered on-street spaces and has participated in construction of a private parking facility on Spring between Starkweather and Mill Streets.

The study committee has concluded that there is a deficiency of 47 parking spaces in Old Village—based on city code requirements.

The study group stressed, however, that additonal parking is needed to encourage conversion of residential properties into commercial use in the future.

Alternatives to additional parking in Old Village include: parking fronting on Farmer at the south end of Old Village area; 10 parking spaces for about $10,000 on the south side of Spring just west of Mill; providing 64 spaces by the city acquiring a private lot on Liberty near Mill.

The committee estimates all of the above alternatives possibly could be implemented at a cost of about $210,000 or $22 per space. The committee suggests that 10-cent meters be used for on-street parking to lower the cost of parking to merchants to about $15,000 annually. The $15,000 could be raised, the study suggests, by selling 30 permits to merchants at $10 per month each. Under this plan, merchants would be required to buy parking permits for employees.

Growth Works begins its fertilizer fundraiser

Teams of adults and young people are soliciting orders for lawn fertilizers throughout neighborhoods in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The fertilizer sale is part of a fundraising effort by Growth Works, Inc. to complete the purchase of the Youth Center Building over a five-year period.

Growth Works, Inc. is the parent organization for the Youth Center at 271 S. Main, the Community Intervention Project at 711 Ann Arbor Trail, and Our House, 185 S. Harvey.

THE FUNDRAISING teams are taking orders for three different "Wondergro" fertilizer products.

The prices will vary from $6.25 to $15.45 depending on product type and bag size.

The orders will be delivered to homeowners' doors in early April. Growth Works will purchase the fertilizer through Saxton's Garden Supply.

The fertilizer sale has started in the City of Plymouth and will begin today (Monday) in Plymouth Township and continue until March 12.

Pending approval by the Canton Township Board, orders will be solicited in Canton from March 14-19. The Canton trustees are expected to make a decision on whether to approve the solicitation at tomorrow night's (Tuesday) meeting.

THE FERTILIZER sale, along with a recent paper drive, is part of what is expected to be a protracted fundraising effort to pay off the $105,000 mortgage on the Youth Center building.

Mettetal expansion could be an asset

Editor:

It is indeed unfortunate that the Feb. 25 meeting held to review potential improvement at the Mettetal Airport reached "a new high" when a member of the group (opposed to) the airport resorted to four-letter profanity, followed by a mass exodus from the meeting.

Most pilots certainly appreciate the concerns of residents who are in near proximity to an airport when there are grounds for real concern.

I, as resident of the Pickwick addition, do not believe the present concerns are truly based upon fact, but mostly on emotion.

Secondly, the Pickwick Village Association meeting, held several days prior to the Feb. 25 meeting, was attended by approximately 35 people total, not families. A few people making much ado is not representative of Canton Township needs.

The frequency of aircraft which may be creating noise is less than that from trucks on Lilley Road or the screech of police cars' sirens, or motorcycles, or the local hot rod. I am convinced that if one were to truly run a bona fide noise level test, the noise produced from aircraft is far less than other sources.

SAFETY? Yes, airplanes do crash—but infrequently. However, the media has a tendency to play up what is sensational. It sells newspapers. Also, double-bottom tankers crash, motorcycles crash, cars crash, ad infinitum.

I don't have the figures for 1976, but here are a few facts for 1975:

Some 205,062,000 people were carried on U.S. certificated airlines. Some 193,864,000 people were carried on U.S. general aviation. General aviation flew 84 per cent of the total hours flown in 1975 and 62 per cent of the total miles flown.

There were 44,690 highway fatalities (in 1975) and only 1,448 due to aircraft. This, not to mention the hundreds of thousands injured in surface accidents to relatively very, very few injured in aircraft accidents.

General aviation is a major industry in the United States serving many and varied roles in industry. Unfortunately, airports are always the victim of the mercenary and the continuing encroachment of builders. This is a detriment to a community which should consider ways to be luring business and industrial expansion.

It is well known among professional people that airports mean business.

One can travel from Plymouth to Florence, S.C.; conduct business, and return in five flying hours total, and do it non-stop. To do this via certificated airlines would require two airlines, several stops, five hours each way in travel time waiting at airports, and the necessity to remain overnight.

BUSINESS LOCATED near airports increases the assessed evaluation of an area resulting in a greater tax base. The people employed in these businesses earn salaries and some will spend their money with local merchants. Some will move to Canton to be near their employer.

All this is denied because those interested in improving the airport are guilty. Yes, the aviation community is guilty of not appraising others of the true value of an adequate airport.

Rather than Canton Township passing a resolution to suppress any changes to the airport, I feel it would be better to pass a resolution to deny any consideration involving the airport until a proper proposal is formally submitted to the trustees by a group with proper credentials representing aviation interests.

I believe that this resolution, if accepted, will certainly allay the fears of the "emotional group," yet allow future consideration at that time subject to acceptance or denial of what could very well be an asset, not detriment to Canton Township.

sketches to convert the meeting room into a dual purpose room.

"We'd have to make sure all traffic comes in from the rear entrance where the clerks would sit behind a counter," Stein said. "We can't have people coming in from the door next to the firemen's desk. That would disturb the courtroom proceedings.

"Next to the clerk's counter at the rear entrance we're going to have to build small attorney's rooms and a jury room. The space is there now."

Stein said the board table could easily be modified to allow the judge to sit at the center chair and have witnesses testify at the podium.

Since the plans are still "in the discussion stage," Stein said he wasn't prepared to give a cost figure for the building modifications and labor.

The supervisor said he expects the Canton court annex would open in the fall of 1977, "maybe earlier.

"The judge said he could move in here six weeks after the Canton board passes a resolution inviting him. If we can get some more local revenue from the courts, then I'm all for the idea. Every little bit helps if it goes in the Canton coffers. I'm for the needy, not the greedy, know what I mean?"

Guess number of nails or get married at show

The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan have come up with two gimmicks to stir interest in this year's Home, Furniture and Flower Show at Cobo Hall March 19-27.

A young couple to be chosen will be married at the show to kick off the traditional spring-oriented extravaganza, and $20,000 will be given away in a nail-counting contest.

Young couples planning matrimony are invited to submit photos and brief letters explaining why they would like to be married in one of the show's huge gardens.

The couple chosen will be feted at the show, treated to a dinner at the Main Event Restaurant in Pontiac Stadium and a night in a bridal suite at the Pontchartrain Hotel.

Among the other goodies provided are wedding flowers, a $500 ring set and a wedding gown and tuxedo.

Couples wishing to enter the competition should send photos and letters to Wedding, Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, One Northland Plaza, Southfield, 48075, immediately.

Aided by mortgage experts familiar with the endless variety and size of nails, contest judges filled a plastic scale model house with an assortment of nails that will bring someone $20,000.

THE JUDGES took newly-purchased nails of all sizes from bags and piled them into the see-through house. The house was then sealed and will remain so while on display in the First Federal Savings Building of Detroit until show time, when it will be moved into a key garden area at Cobo Hall.

Showgoers estimate the number of nails on ticket stubs. After the show, the winner will be selected. Five times in the last 10 years there have been multiple winners. In 1973, ther were five winners. Nail counts have ranged from 13,00 to 162,000 in the past. Last year's total was 15,161.

The annual show has been a traditional end-of winter event for Detroit area people for more than a half a century. Each year, as a preliminary to the show, area builders present a parade of Idea Homes to kick off the home-planning and building season.

This year, there are 25 Idea Homes scattered throughout the suburbs. Advance tickets are available at each. Two of the homes are in Canton.

The 1977 show will be one-third larger than last year, with more than 400,000 square feet of exhibits, including lush garden and floral displays. More than 250 exhibits of all kinds will fill the hall.

Tickets can be obtained in advance for $1.50 at J.L. Hudson's, along with several other metropolitan stores. Tickets at the door will cost $2.50.

BRASS will join Youth Symphony

The Plymouth Youth Symphony Association will present the Plymouth Youth Symphony and wind ensemble in its 1976-77 winter concert Tuesday evening, March 8 in the Plymouth Canton High School Little Theatre.

The concert also will include a special guest appearance by "B.R.A.S.S." The concert will start at 8 p.m. and is open to the public free of charge.

Robert G. Burr holds the position as musical director and principal conductor of the symphony and the wind ensemble. He also is musical director of "B.R.A.S.S." James C. McCullough is also a musical director for the symphony.

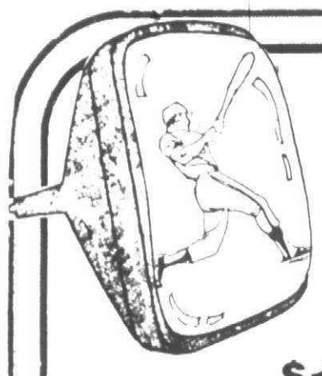

The wind ensemble will start the concert off with the "Athletic Festival March" by Prokofieff and arranged by Goldman, "Symphonic Overture" by Carter, "Second Suite in F Major for Military Band" by Holst (the movements entitled "March" and "Fantasia on the Dargason"), "The Fairest of the Fair" march by Sousa, and "Masque" by McBeth.

The performance of "The Fairest of the Fair" will be under the baton of student conductor Betty DeLano.

"B.R.A.S.S." will follow with "Gopak" from "The Fair at Sorochinsk" by Moussorgsky arranged by Farkas, "Sonata Pian'e Forte" by Gabrieli, "Trumpet Tune" by Stanley and three movements from "Suite for Brass" by Holmes.

The symphony orchestra will conclude the concert with "Sarabande and Allegro" by Corelli, "Pavane" by Ravel, "The Great Gate of Kiev" from "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Moussorgsky, and "Russian Sailors' Dance" from "The Red Poppy" by Gliere.

Members of "B.R.A.S.S." include trumpeters Arthur Larson, Bruce Ruttenburg and David DeLaHaye; Joseph Sullivan, Robert Moyer and Steven Stetu on french horn; trombonists Robert Humphries, Bradley Kleiber and John Sullivan, and Kim Bissey on euphonium with Mathew Schroeder and John Upton on tuba.

The Stroller:

The ballpark in the sky

By W. W. EDGAR

It seems like a small price to pay for the privilege of walking along the journalistic trail for more than half a century when a fellow takes time out to mourn the passing of a friend.

Over the years, The Stroller has had the unique honor of saying a fond farewell to many of his compatriots along the river of printer's ink as they moved to the Great Beyond.

As he looks back now, the Stroller has come to realize that he has outlived all the members of the sports staff who were present to greet him in 1924 when he reported to the Detroit Free Press. As a matter of fact, he has outlived the members of both the Detoit News and the defunct Detroit Times sports staffs who were on the job when he arrived, a half-scared lad from the Dutch Country.

More than that, he is now the only survivor of the Livonia Charter Commission and the first City Council.

One by one, his former colleagues have left the scene until now The Stroller is left with only fond memories of the days when he was struggling to make good so many miles away from his home in the Dutch Country.

There were such legendary figures as Fielding Yost, the famed Michigan coach; Gus Dorais, former University of Detroit football coach and the man who popularized the forward pass; and old "Dad" Butler, one of the country's best track coaches. With them were stout figures like Frank J. Navin, one-time owner of the Detroit Tigers, Gar Wood, the great speedboat racer, and a host of others.

Then, just last week, two more were added to the list with the passing of Newell Banks, the great checkers champion, and Sam Bishop who became a legend on the Detroit high school scene while coaching at Northwestern High School.

The memory of these two will forever remain green for the simple reason that they were among the first to offer a helping hand to The Stroller as he started up in the major journalistic ladder.

It seems like only yesterday that Newell Banks walked into the sports department and introduced himself. He was the first world champion with whom The Stroller ever shook hands. He did more than offer his hand. He gave The Stroller one of his first feature when he revealed how a checker champion trains for a big match.

It seemed odd at the time but he told of how he walked to keep his legs in shape for the marathon checker matches. And how, for the last three days before meeting an opponent, he dominated his meals with green onions " just to keep my eyes in condition."

For a time, The Stroller thought he was joshing, but it proved to be the truth and the story offered the inspiration to devote more time to feature material than straight news. And he has that penchant to this day.

And he'll never forget Sam Bishop—for several reasons. It so happens that Sam and The Stroller hit the Detroit scene at the same time. And they moved along together. It is a strange coincidence that Sam reired from coaching at the same time The Stroller left the Free Press after 25 years.

The meeting with Sam was quite by accident. The Stroller had goneout to Northwestern High School to get acquainted with Bert Maris, the athletic director, who had been Knute Rockne's track coach at Notre Dame.

He wanted to get some information on Rockne and from the man who coached him.

Instead, Bert Maris introduced him to his new football coach, Sam Bishop. From that moment on Sam, became one of The Stroller's best friends and the source of many stories that enabled the young lad from the Dutch Country to earn his place on a big time sports page.

It is a matter of record that Sam not only produced winning teams, but he turned out such luminaries as Probate Judge Willis Ward, Forest Evachevski, the blocking back for Tom Harmon, at Michigan, along with great runming backs like Ron Johnson, who once held the total rushing record at Michigan.

It was Sam who also started Willie Horton on his way to stardom in major league baseball.

Sam was a giant among coaches, just as Newell Banks was a giant at the checker boards.

It was a pleasure to know them. After them, they must have thrown the mold away.

Are exciting weekends like this keeping you out of the Naval Reserve?

If there's one excuse given most often for not joining the Naval Reserve, it's "Hey, I've got better things to do on weekends than spend them in the Reserve."

Now don't get us wrong, weekends are important. They're a great time for catching up on chores, seeing friends and just plain relaxing. We know, because that's how we spend 3 out of 4 weekends, too. You see, we're just like you. But when we joined the Naval Reserve, we agreed, as part of our commitment, to train one weekend a month, plus two weeks during the year on active duty. Maybe that sounds like a lot, but we get a lot in return.

First, there's the satisfaction of being part of the greatest team in the world again . . . the U.S. Navy. And the satisfaction that comes from doing an important job.

The experience you gained on active duty really counts in the Reserve. If you left with a critical rating, we'll try to get you back and working in that rating. You'll be paid well for it, too. In fact, a lot of Reservists use their monthly checks to make their monthly car payments.

You'll also be eligible for low-cost Life Insurance. Just $3.41 a month for a $20,000 policy. Try matching that price anywhere!

Time spent in the Reserve also counts towards retirement pay. Sure, retirement sounds a long way off, but the day will come when that check is going to come in mighty handy.

And here's a benefit you'll like: Exchange privileges.

OK, those are some of the benefits the Naval Reserve can offer you. Now we'd like to talk to you and see what you can offer us. And the quickest and best way to do that is to call or visit the Naval Reserve unit nearest you.

Who knows, we could have you doing something really exciting this weekend.

It was a great game to watch

It was full of emotion. It was full of excitement. It was everything that a Plymouth fan could have wanted. The only sad part was that one team had to lose.

That's the only way to describe what happened Thursday night at the Southfield gym where Plymouth Salem edged its friendly rivals from Plymouth Canton 55-52.

For those of you who didn't see the game—you missed a lot. For this wasn't only a basketball game. It was a portion of the community taking part in an activity that was every meaningful.

It really didn't matter which team won. The important thing was that every Plymouthite should have felt proud of the the two great performances that the Rocks and the Chiefs displayed—I know I did.

At the start of the tournament, I pushed hard to get this district-semi-final clash moved to the Plymouth gymnasium where it belonged. But I can honestly say that it was well worth the drive to Southfield to go see these two fine teams compete.

FOR THIS WASN'T just another rivalry. Sure, on that same night Ann Arbor Pioneer played Ann Arbor Huron. Taylor Center matched up with Taylor Kennedy. And Redford Union battled Redford Thurston.

But the Plymouth Salem—Plymouth Canton contest is different from all your another crosstown rivalries. When the Rocks and the Chiefs play it's more fitting to call it the cross-creek rivals because both teams go to school together on the same plot of land.

And the creek that separates the two schools is the only thing that keeps these two schools apart.

Yes, there are two separate athletic programs. But remember, all 26 kids that made up the two competing teams go to school together every day of the week. And the two coaches probably have taught the same players in a classroom situation that they were coaching against on the court.

These were two teams that have shared practice facilities for the past four years—up until three weeks ago when Phase III opened.

The opposing players probably are in the same classrooms together, learning the same things and working on the same projects.

SALEM AND CANTON may have been split for the hour-and-a-half on the basketball court Thursday night, but in the end Plymouth and its people in the community, were the true winners.

There should be a sense of pride for these two basketball teams for the way handled themselves on the court—in a true competitive (but friendly) matter.

I know I felt this pride all during the game. And I was equally proud to be a part of it—reporting it back to you.

Two more women bowlers in the metropolitan area are being honored in high places—and for the third time.

When the Michigan State Women's Bowling Association opens the doors to its Hall of Fame in Battle Creek next month, Stella Hartrick, one-time member of the famed Olympic team, and Elvira Toepfer, of the present Jac-Ro team in the All-Star League, will be inducted.

Stella, who is 81-years-old and still bowling once a week in a league, is being honored as the Star of Yesteryear. Elvira, a five-time Detroit Bowling Queen, is being honored for her outstanding performance.

Both of these honorees hold places in the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame and the coveted hall sponsored by the Women's International Bowling Congress.

THE WOMEN all-stars are giving the men a run for their money in the matter of high scores in the all-star leagues.

During the past week, three of the women's teams bettered the 1,000 mark in the Ladies Major League.

Showing the way was the Motown team, with a middle game of 1,070 in a 2,915 series. Bowling close by at Luxury Lanes, the Rollie Barrett team posted a 1,027 and the Jac-Ro squad added a 1,025. The 1,070 was a new high for the season.

TO ADD TO THE SHOWING, Cathy Zimmerman, bowling at Mayflower Lanes, posted a 703 series—the highest of the year by a women in the house. On the men's side, Howard Davis was high with 709.

The race also was close for single-game honors. Bill Shade rolled a 289 to pace the men and Dot Haggard was high among the women with a 268.

Meanwhile, the Split Conversion Club added four new members. Ida Guronlian made it by toppling the 4-6. Don Christie also qualified by knocking over the 3-4-7-10, while Pat Boone did the same with the 2-7-10. Dolly Wood earned a place in the spotlight by posting a 224 in 570.

THE BOWLING BELLES also contributed three members to the Club. Natalie Gryor gained admission when she converted the 5-7. Sharon Hunt followed her with the making of the 5-8-10, and Nancy Jones toppled the 5-7 in a 510 series to complete a good week at Woodland Lanes.

LOUISE STAHLEY provided the best performances in the Plymouth Newcomers League at Plymouth Bowl.

She opened with a 211, then fell to 182 in her middle game and finished with a 171 for a 564 series.

ANN SETLOCK, a former bowling queen who is the day manager at Garden Lanes, got back into her winning ways last week in the Ladies Classic. She paced the field with a 613, while Ann Jaciuk was next with 595 and Virginia Nega had a 586.

Bill Perry was top man in the St. Linus League when he came through with a 639. With that figure, he beat John Bamer, who had a 611, and Tom Barry who had a 608.

AIDED BY A MIDDLE GAME of 258, Joe Charron paced the Wonderland Classic with a 669. He opened with a 215 and closed with a 196 for the big count. Ron Sharples was next in line with a 664.

John Cox' team had top series with a 3,050.

Late spree ends Salem's district hopes

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

A stunning 18-2 scoring spree in the final four minute of action helped Southfield romp past Plymouth Salem, 71-55, in the Southfield District Championship game played Saturday night.

This victory gave the Blue Jays their first district crown since 1974. Southfield advances to regional competition tomorrow night at Ypsilanti High School.

Southfield faces Livonia Churchill in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Churchill, champions of the Western Six League, defeated Detroit Pershing to win its district last Friday.

The Blue Jays currently hold a 19-4 overall record to go with their Southeastern Michigan Association title. Salem, winners of the Suburban Eight League for the fourth consecutive season, finished the year with a 17-5 mark.

Neither squad could break lose from one another for the first three-and-one-half quarters as the biggest scoring advantage mounted to only five points, (30-25) for Southfield at the beginning of the third quarter.

But with the game tied, 53-53, midway in the fourth quarter, the Rocks outside shooting turned sour and Southfield made its race to the district championship.

Two outside baskets by the Jays' Marvin Miles built the victors advantage to four points with 1:50 remaining in the period.

Plymouth / Canton Observer
SPORTS

AFTER SALEM'S Rich Hewlett converted on two free throws, Southfield's Rodney Rice and Jeff McCall scored two more baskets on offensive rebounds to build a 61-55 lead with 1:12 left on the clock.

The Rock's Tom Ellinghausen hurried down the floor, but missed a shot and MCall rebounded. Ellinghausen was too anxious in trying to get the ball back and fouled McCall in the backcourt.

After this call, the Salem bench was slapped with a costly technical foul which helped ice the game away.

McCall converted on the two foul attempts and Miles hit the extra two technical shots giving Southfield a commanding 65-55 lead with 52 seconds left.

Rock coach Fred Thomann conceded the victory to the Blue Jays 12 seconds later as he cleared his bench of substitutes with 40 seconds remaining.

The Blue Jays' game-long full court pressure finally took its toll on Salem in those final minutes. Four costly Rock turnovers aided Southfield's final spree.

"We thought that the pressure would win it at the end," said Southfield's coach Don Kaump.

The Blue Jays also converted on 11 of 11 charity tosses in the final quarter which helped put the game out of reach.

"We missed a few foul shots in the first half which I thought we should have made," Kaump said.

"But if you can make them in the end, that's what counts."

Southfield's scoring attack was led by McCall and Miles who canned 24 and 22 points respectively. Rice chipped in with 13.

Salem scoring was lead by Ellinghausen with 15. Hewlett followed with 12 and John Broderick added 11.

Rocks barely hang on to down Chiefs, 55-52

Plymouth Salem fought off numerous comeback efforts from Plymouth Canton to salvage a 55-52 verdict in a district semifinal clash at Southfield High School Thursday night.

This Salem victory, over its friendly rivals from the Centennial Park, advanced the Rocks to the district championship game against Southfield.

The obviously disappointing loss for the Chiefs finished their season earlier that expected with a 9-11 overall record.

Canton overcame a stunning 12-0 first-quarter deficit in the first five minutes of play and trailed the Rocks by only four, 29-25, at the intermission.

The Chiefs grabbed one-point leads on two different occasions during the third quarter. But the experience and coolness that Salem showed was something to behold.

For each time Canton grabbed the lead, Salem hurried downcourt to score a quick two-points which regained the lead and showed everyone who was in control.

"ALL I CAN say is when there is a two or three point game we will win it," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "People ask me why we always win the close ones and I don't know why. We just have a very competitive group of kids on this team."

Salem's claim to winning the close ones almost slipped away in this game as the final Canton effort to send the game into overtime failed.

The Rocks held what seemed to be a comfortable six-point lead, 54-48, with 1:48 left when the Chiefs' Randy Rienas popped in a field goal and added two free throws to cut the margin to two.

The Chiefs forced a Salem turnover with 35 seconds left and maintained control of the ball when they used their last timeout with 17 seconds left.

Salem's stingy defense wouldn't let Mandle shoot so the Chief captain passed the ball inside to Keith Fuelling.

Fuelling then returned the ball to Mandle who was ready to run back behind King's pick.

The Rocks took the ball out of bounds and sophomore Rich Hewlett was fouled. Hewlett calmly sank one free throw with one second left on the clock to ice the game away.

A somber Canton coach Casey Cavell took the loss hard but was pleased with his players' defensive accomplishments.

"I couldn't have asked for for a better job on defense," the Canton mentor said. "It didn't bother me when we were down early because I knew we could come back.

"But I didn't expect to shoot as bad as we did on the foul line.

The game's got to be the biggest disappointment ever-that's how badly we wanted it."

The Rocks scored only one more field goal that Canton. But the Chiefs shot five more free throws and converted on only 14 of 29.

The Chiefs also shot below 40 per cent from the field, making 19 of 50 attempts. Salem only took 42 shots from the floor but converted at nearly a 50 per cent clip.

"SALEM DID A GOOD job of keeping us off balance on offense," Cavell said.

The Rocks put pressure on King, Canton's top scorer, throughout the game and held him to only eight points. But senior captain Mandle was the real shooting surprise for Canton as he picked up the slack with a 19-point effort.

"We felt that if we stopped King we would win," Thomann said. "We wanted to make shooters out of the others, and Mandle took that responsiblity and did a hell of a job."

The Rocks had a lot of firepower of their own in sophomore Hewlett.

Hewlett has had an up-and-down season but come through with 20 points in this contest to lead all scorers. He also pumped in 15 points in the first district game against Northville proving his value as a clutch player.

Dearborn keeps title

Plymouth Salem's swim team finished fourth in the Suburban Eight League swim meet held at Redford Union Friday night.

The lone bright spot in the Rocks' attack was senior Ron Finley's first-place finish in the 100-yard backstroke.

Finley edged rival Drew Dunworth from Dearborn for the top placing with a :55.4 clocking. Finley also placed second in the 100-yard butterfly competition. It was only the second time all season that Finley has been beaten in a race.

The Rocks' 400-yard freestyle relay of Craig Finley, Mike Etienne, Tom Rubadue and Ron Finley place fourth.

Rubadue was a fifth-place finisher in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyle sprints.

Dearborn defended its league title was a narrow 242-236 victory over Belleville. Edsel Ford fell to third one point behind Belleville.

Plymouth grads compete for Schoolcraft College

By LINDA OLIVERIO

Many area prep athletes are now members of Schoolcraft College's winter sports teams.

Coach Cecil Woodruff's entire gymnastics squad, for example, is made up of Plymouth and Livonia products.

Plymouth Salem graduates Jeff Brown, Pat Manville, Tom Powell, and Mike Kennedy make up more than half of the squad.

Livonia Bentley grads Dave Goldberg and Dennis Martino and Stevenson graduate Lyle Percival are the other Ocelot gymnasts. All of the athletes are freshmen, with the exception of sophomore Percival.

"Lyle is doing a good job this year. And Mike Kennedy is one of our top two all-arounds," said Woodruff.

Brown specializes in the high and parallel bars. Powell's specialties are the still rings and vaulting. Martino excells on the pommel horse.

"All of them have come a long way," said Woodruff. "Next year we should be better. We were rebuilding this year."

Salem products Craig Richter and Steve Lazarus, Bentley graduate Dave Akey, Aaron Tian from Stevenson, and Garden City West grad Doug Hickman are some of swimming coach Jim Millen's top tankers.

Richter and Akey have both qualified for the National Junior College finals. Richter is a state champion in the 50-yard freestyle. Akey, a diver, took fourth place in the state finals on the one and three meter boards. In doing this, he set two school records.

Tian, a breaststroker, took sixth in his event.

Richter, distance swimmer Hickman, and individual medley swimmer Lazarus qualified for the 400- and 800-yard freestyles and 400-yard medley relay, respectively.

Schoolcraft came in second overall in the State Junior College Championships.

"They were super," said Millen. "They (Richter, Akey, and Tian) helped us take the state meet."

Only two former area high school basketball players are on the Ocelot squad. Howard Inch, a Plymouth Salem graduate, and Larry Kaplan from Clarenceville, are both on the team. Both are freshmen.

"Howard is very well coached in the fundamentals of the game," said coach Ron Hall. "He has a great outside set shot."

Kaplan is, at 5-8, one of the smallest players on the team but "an excellent defensive player and a team man," according to Hall.

Rocks, Chiefs meet again... in volleyball

By BETTY DeLANO

The Plymouth Salem girls' volleyball team beat Livonia Churchill in a pre-regional elimination match in state tournament action Thursday afternoon. The victory qualified the Rocks to play Plymouth Canton today (Monday), startind at 4 p.m. at Salem's gym.

Churchill took the first game, 15-12, after Salem had a 7-2 lead early in the game.

The Rocks finally got it together during the second game, moving to an 11-5 lead after three minutes of play. Churchill came back strong, but, with the score 14-13 in Salem's favor, two aces from junior Kathy Dillon gave the Rocks a 16-14 win.

Both teams were in a do-or-die situation in the third game. The lead changed back and forth several times before Salem came out on top, 15-12.

"Everyone on the team played extremely well, and they played together as a team. We kept up our determination to win and it paid off," said Salem coach Brian Gilles.

Salem also played a match last Wednesday night at Dearborn Edsel Ford. The Thunderbirds won it, 8-15, 13-10, 8-6.

Salem played a good first game in gaining its lone victory. In the second game, after trailing 10-7, senior Peggy Moore brought the Rocks to a 10-10 tie only to see Edsel Ford's Janet Timm score on the last five serves for the Thunderbirds.

Edsel Ford led all the way in the third game, and won the match leading 8-6 when time ran out.

Jr. sports sets registrations

Registration begins this weekend for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League. All girls and boys, ages seven to 15, who live in the Plymouth-Canton School District are eligible to participate in this summer's program.

All interested children should bring their birth certificate and registration fee to Plymouth Canton High School on one of the next three Saturdays.

Registration will be held in the cafeteria between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on March 12, 19, and 26.

Boys B and C Leagues (ages 7-9) and the G Junior girls league (ages 7-12) have set the registration fee at $11.

Boys A League (11-12) costs $13 while the boys E and F Leagues (13-15) and the G Senior girls (13-15) is priced at $15.

The regular meeting for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League will be held on Wednesday, March 9 at Canton High School, room 150. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

REGISTRATION FOR Vince Lombardi Junior Football will also be held on these three Saturdays in March at Plymouth Salem's cafeteria between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

All children, ages nine to 13 and weighing between 65 and 130 pounds, are eligible.

Children must bring their birth certificate and $15 registration fee to participate in this fall's activities. For further information, call 455-2687.

Regular season ends for men cagers

The final week of the Plymouth men's recreation basketball league found defending champions Little Caesar winning its closing game over Morrell Builders 65-40. Dave Erickson led Caesar with 16 points as the victors finished with an 6-8 record. Bill Gratsch paced Morrell with 14.

In Wednesday action, Century 21 finished the regular season in second place by defeating Wagenschutz 85-61. Century had five men in double figures as George McDowell hit for 18 points. Bob Kellman and Dan Moore each added 15, Dave Yeager 14 and Tom Davis 12. Wagenschutz was paced by Rob Willette who recorded game-high honors with 19. Russ Olsen and Brent Boegler followed Willette with 18 each.

Third-place Air Tite Insulators and Morrell Builders closed out their seasons with Air Tite breezing to a 64-47 victory.

The winners were never challenged as they junped into a quick 15-4 first quarter lead. Craig Riblett topped Air Tite with a fine 20-point performance. Dale Siefker followed with 12 and Eric Haarz had 11.

Morrell was led by Gratsch's 17 points, and Bill Nelson chipped in with 12.

THE CITY playoffs begin tonight. Regular season champion Side Street meets Wagenschutz while Century 21 and Air Tite Insulators battle.

These two games will be played at the Central Middle School gymnasium beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Little Eli honored

Six different Plymouth basketball players weere honored last week when the Western Six and Suburban Eight announced their respective all-league teams.

Heading the list of Plymouth cagers was Salem's 6-4 Tom Ellinghausen, who was selected as a first-team member of the Suburban Eight League. The junior forward was the Rocks' regular-season leading scorer and led his squad to an unprecedented fourth consecutive conference title.

Sophomore Rich Hewlett headed the list of second-team Sub-8 members, while senior captain Chris deBear was named to the honorable mention list.

CANTON'S third-place finish in the Western Six apparently did not warrant a first-team member by the conference coaches.

Nonetheless, the Chiefs placed two members on the second-team as sophomore Butch King and junior Randy Rienas were selected. Both cagers were the mainstays of the Chiefs' offense this season.

Your new car will self-destruct in three years.

Or less. From rust.

No, your car is not rustproofed at the factory. Any factory. And undercoating alone may do more harm than good.

Have your car rustproofed by Ziebart.

We start by covering the entire underside with a sealant that locks itself in place and remains moisture-proof indefinitely.

Then our factory-trained men use special tools to spray our sealant into all the hidden, boxed-in sections of a car's body, where rust damage begins.

And that helps to keep your new car from self-destructing before it's even paid for.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

by ELLIE GRAHAM

IT'S ALWAYS INTERESTING to watch new neighbors move in.

Jane Dugan, Kay Westing and Carol Swienckowski, our new neighbors at 459 S. Main, have been in the process of renovating the offices next door for the past month or so.

The old Michigan Bell office has taken on a new look—Wedgewood blue shag carpeting and rough-paneled walls. The beams were painted a shade of the carpet's blue.

John Dugan, Jane's husband, built the fireplace on the south wall. Their sign went up a couple of weeks ago—The Art Gallery Inc.— and the pictures began to arrive.

They will be open for business Wednesday and a champagne preview is planned for March 13.

They will specialize in original graphics and prints. The Peter Max prints are signed and dated. The original Norman Rockwell graphics are signed by the artist.

They have original watercolors by H. Parselle, and Leroy Nieman graphics.

Jane Dugan says they will do framing and will have one-day delivery on reproductions which can be ordered from a sample book.

The Observer office decor is casual by comparison. Our works of art are old glossies that appeared in the newspaper, maps, calendars and three political cartoons.

Oh well, we do have that comfortable, lived-in look.

CONGRATULATIONS to Ada Phillips of Adams Street who recently celebrated her 80th birthday.

Her family surprised her with a birthday dinner at the Roman Forum in Canton Township, complete with birthday cake and candles.

Attending the party were her children: Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Campbell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Scrimger.

The Scrimgers and their daughters Andrea and Kristen provided the big surprise when they came down from Cheboygan for their mother's and grandmother's party.

Mrs. Phillips has lived on Adams Street for 40 years. She has 22 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

DAVE HOUGH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hough of Stonecrest in Plymouth Township, was awarded top honors last week in the culinary arts show at Northland shopping mall.

Dave's elegant Sacher torte was judged best pastry in the show. He also won first place in the culinary arts salon classification.

Judges in the fourth annual culinary arts show sponsored by Oakland Community College praised the Plymouth senior's "true showmanship" in his culinary creations.

Other students in Carey Schwartz's culinary arts program at Plymouth Salem High School were awarded special recognition. They were Lisa Belcher, Paul Fogarty, Tracy Haas, Andrew Petersen, Ellen Terlesky, and Cindy Williams.

Dave works under professional chef Douglas Douglas at the Great Dane restaurant on Middle Belt at Northwestern.

"When I told him I was going to enter the competition, he suggested I look through one of his books," said Dave.

It was there he found the recipe—a one-layer chocolate torte with an aprocot puree. The crown with its six pieces of lattice work made separately, then joined and decorated with roses and leaves, was the "elegant" touch which attracted the judges' attention.

We hope to have a picture of Dave's creation for our next issue.

THE STUDIO OF ELLICE on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township is listed as a private occupational school in a recent News Service bulletin from the Michigan Department of Education.

The series of weaving courses at Ellice's studio takes approximately 60 hours. It is licensed by the stste department of education.

To be granted a license, a private occupational school must have its curriculum approved by the state board, post a bond, have its facilities inspected and have the qualifications of its instructors on file with the state board.

The news service says, "Private occupational differ from colleges and universities because they they are not qualified to grant academic degrees.

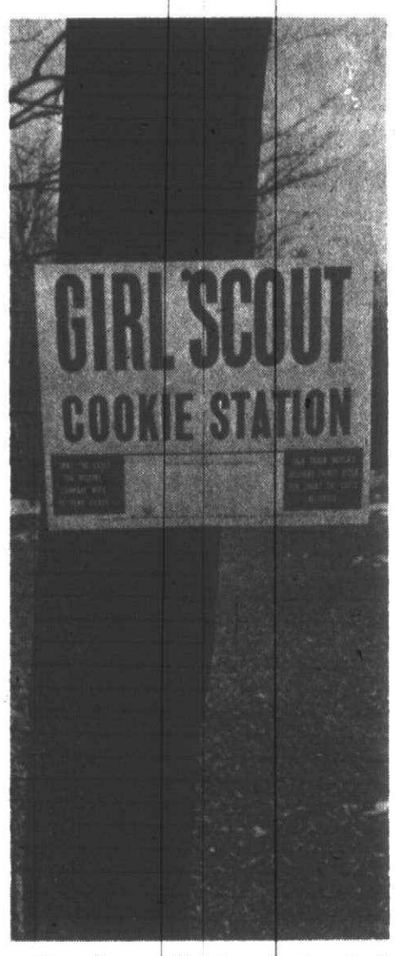

THE PLYMOUTH Business and Professional Women's Club chose a sports writer as its young careerist for the year.

Donna Lomas, who succeeded Dennis (Doc) O'Connor when he left the Community Crier to become sports editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observers, is now eligible for regional honors.

How sweet it is!

32,540 boxes of GS cookies arrive

The sign on the tree in front of Doris Rorabacher's house guides troop cookie chairpersons to the pickup depot in her back yard.

The two large moving vans—or semis—arrived at 8:30 a.m. Thursday at the Rorabacher's home on Gold Arbor and the annual delivery of Girl Scout cookies was under way.

Doris Rorabacher, area cookie chairman for the sixth time, was ready for them. The garage had been emptied and when it was filled to capacity there was room on the driveway for more.

The Plymouth-Canton area girl scouts had taken orders for 32,540 boxes of cookies. They had topped the list in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Their sales were 35 per cent higher than any previous year.

"The whole council was up," said Mrs. Rorabacher. "We set a goal of 350,000 boxes and we sold more than 370,000."

Famous Foods of Virginia (FFV) baked the cookies for the scouts this year. As an added incentive, the company announced it would award a cookie patch to each girl who sold 50 boxes or more.

The Huron Valley scouts earned 3,000 cookie patches.

ANOTHER INCENTIVE for the 1977 sales was offered to those who sold 77 boxes.

In the Plymouth-Canton area, there were 182 who reached that quota and each will receive a T-shirt bearing the number 77.

"The top 10 per cent will get free camping at Camp Linden," added Mrs. Rorabacher.

The cookies were sold for $1.25 a box. Each box costs 51 cents and the scouts have to pay a state sales tax on each sale. Most of the profit goes toward the upkeep of Camp Linden, but each troop keeps a 15-cent per box profit.

The local troops will realize $4,068 from the cookie sales.

Junior Troop 735 sold the most cookies this year. The 24 fourth, fifth, and sixth graders who meet in Field Elementary School sold 156 cases of cookies. There are a dozen boxes in each carton.

THE DULL drizzle of rain turned to sleet as the cookies were being unloaded. The unsheltered cartons in the driveway were covered with sheets of plastic.

The final carton was unloaded before 2 p.m. and pick-ups started soon after. Mrs. Rorabacher had the troops scheduled so that before the day ended, the driveway would be clear and the garage doors could be closed for the night.

One of the first set of troops to collect its cookies was Troop 316 which meets in Allen School. The 22 girls in the troop had sold 121 boxes.

Norma Gottschalk, who is co-leader of the troop arrived with her daughter Carol and son Mike to load their share.

Mrs. Rorabacher kept a close tally as she dispersed the cookies. They were counted as they were removed from the piles—41 mints, 16 shortbreads, 31 peanut butter patties, the sandwich creams, and the peanut butter sandwiches.

From her dispensing office, a card table set up in the driveway, the cookie chairlady checked them out. She took the forms for the T-shirts and cookie patches.

As Mike Gottschalk covered the cartons in the back of the blue pickup truck, Doris Rorabacher said, "That is almost $2,000 worth of cookies. You have to account for every carton."

She explained that she had set an early pickup time for Troop 316 because they were preparing to go camping over the weekend at Camp Linden.

The cookies sold by the local troops were made in Battle Creek. From the size of the stacks, it seems area cookie preference is decidedly the chocolate covered mints.

The scouts planned to begin deliveries as soon as they received their allotment.

Two semis delivered 32,540 boxes of Girl Scout cookies to Plymouth-Canton area troops.

Luncheon-fashion show is sellout

The Plymouth Newcomers Club's fashion show played to a full house last Thursday when members and guests jammed Napoleon's disco room for preview of the designers' spring offerings.

Nancy Grawe, Cathy Piasta, Bernie Kidwell, Beth Lurtz, Sharon Pettit, and Bernadine Witkowski wore selections from the spring collection at me and mr jones.

Scot Jackson, Cheri Millard, Marla Pawluszka and Joseph Shevlin were decked out in pre-teen finery from Richards Children's Shop

The husband models, Vic Victorson and Tom Madson, modeled wardrobes from John Smith.

PAT HANN and her House of Glamour staff were responsible for the female models' makeup and shining tresses. The men's and boys' hair fasnions were by Mel Bocean of Mel's Golden Razor.

Final Touch, aboard the Mayflower, supplied accessories—that final touch to the ladies' ensembles. Nancy Petrucelli of the Green Thumb provided the greenery.

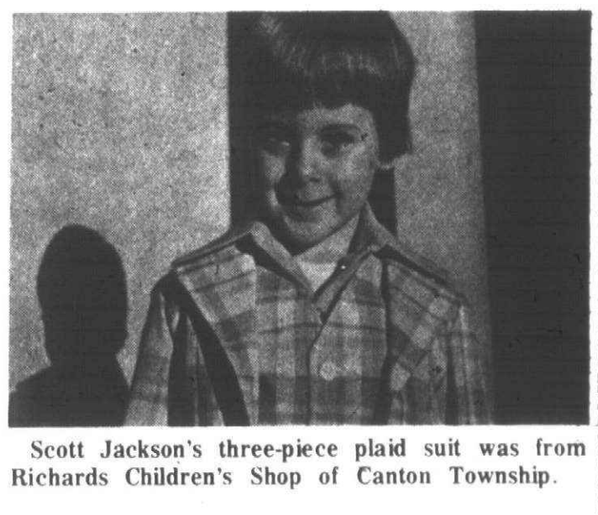

Attention was centered on the gazebo where the audience had its first glimpse of the models.

The mood was set—instant sunshine. Hanging pots of trailing ferns and banks of greens created the atmosphere of an airy summer house.

FASHION commentators were Sylvia Mullen, manager of me and mr jones, and Carol Wilson, who cochaired the program with Eleanor Shevlin.

Sallee Burns, president of the club, welcomed the guests and modeled a La Jolla of California appliqued denim.

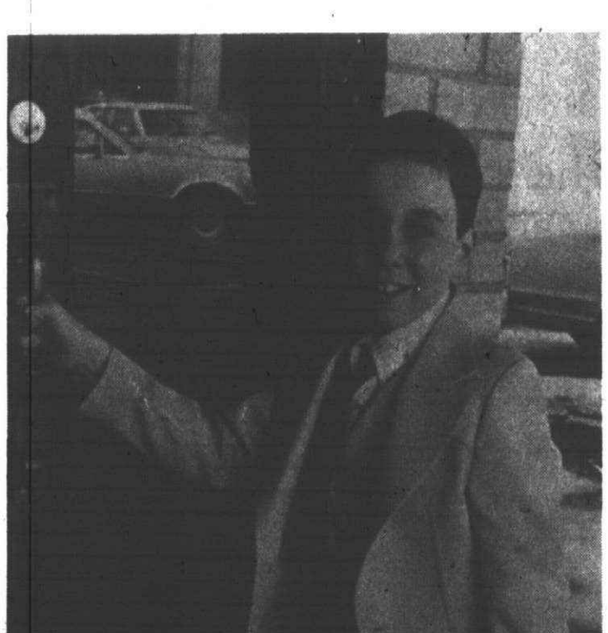

Ann Deroche handled publicity for the luncheon and fashion show. Lois Bell was in charge of ticket sales.

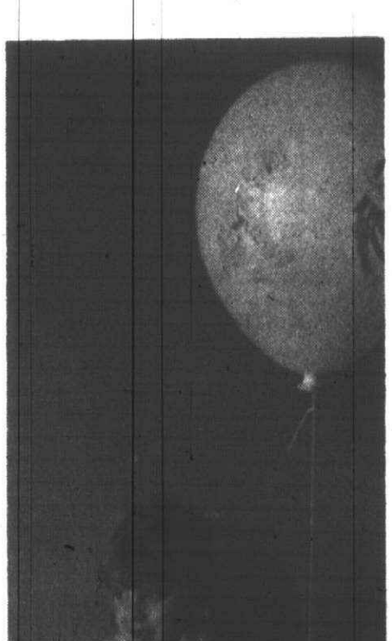

Scott Jackson's three-piece plaid suit was from Richards Children's Shop of Canton Township.

Vic Victorson modeled an Austin Reid suit from John Smith. His oxford cloth shirt had a button-down collar and the all-weather coat slung over his shoulder was a Harbormaster.

Joseph Shevlin's creamy suit was a Farah for Boys. He wore a Don Juan shirt and a Briar Jr. tie.

Marla Pawluszka's two-piece suit featured a split skirt and a top in soft pastel stripes that matched the flowers in her hair.

Sharon Pettit wore a white linen blazer with a green and white polka dot dress by Kollection. Dress and blazer were from me and mr jones. (Staff photos)

Artist of the month

Three Cities Art Club artist-of-the-month for March is Margaret Lambert of Northville. Her paintings will be on exhibit in the Plymouth Community Credit Union on Harvey. Among her still lifes and scenes will be a painting of the old barn at Meadowbrook and Thirteen Mile Road which won second place last year at Northville Fair. The artist began painting when she retired after 12 years with Recorders Court Psychiatric Clinic in Detroit. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Seniors on the go

from your house

By Lori Brickman

981-0237

Forty-eight Canton Township senior citizens and their bus driver traveled to Windsor for a tour of the Canadian Salt Company, lunch at Holiday Inn, and back to Detroit to visit Old Mariners Church.

During the salt company tour, the seniors were informed of the different techniques in "farming" salt.

The Canadian plant uses the hydraulic process of retrieving halite. Salt wells are drilled similar to oil wells. A large pipe is inserted into the well reaching down to the top of the salt bed. A longer and smaller pipe is inserted inside the first tube and forced to the bottom of the bed.

Water is pumped down under pressure, between the two pipes. The brine solution created is pumped back up through the smaller tube.

The raw brine is filtered and purified before evaporation.

At this stage thesoupy mixture is called "slury." Powerful fans are used to dry the salt moving along conveyors. The result is halite blocks which are similar to ice cubes in appearance.

SOME OF THE SALT is packaged for use at this point. But the table salt must be further refined to make it free running. Iodine is added to some. All mixing and packaging are done with automatic equipment so that human hands do not come in contact with it.

Detroit salt mines use a different process. The salt is mined by a room and pillar operation. It resembles the mining of coal and ironore.

The visitors wore goggles and helmets during their tour. They were impressed with the safety standards and cleanliness of the facility.

After a delightful buffet luncheon, the group journeyed to Detroit's Old Mariners Church. Now part of the city's civic center complex, the church was moved to its present site in 1855.

The seniors were inspired by the magnificent Helen Calder Memorial organ located in the gallery, and the rose window above it. They wandered through the church, viewing its 122-year-old hardwood pews in the nave, and pausing to examine panels of bas-relief sculpture depicting scenes of the Detroit waterfront.

A NATIONALLY recognized historical church building, Mariners has been a landmark for more than 127 years. Its creation was the idea of Julia Anderson, who arrived in Detroit in 1819 on the steamer Walk-on-the-Water.

In her will, dated 1848, the administrators were instructed to build a stone church on the site of her former home on Woodward.

Lack of sufficient funds postponed Julia Anderson' wishes. But, in 1849, the church was completed. It was moved to Larned and Renard in 1850, and improved over the next 20 years.

There it rested, undergoing modifications, until development of the civic center began.

One of the most popular events at the church is the blessing of the fleet in the spring. The annual memorial service is not widely publicized because of the large and often uncontrollable crowds which surge into the downtown area.

It was a weary group that arrived back in Canton. But all felt the trip was enjoyable and informative.

CONGRATULATIONS to Tim and Mary Martha Frankel on the birth of their second child, Sarah Elizabeth, Feb. 19. Brother Zachary is excited about the arrival of his new sister.

JANET CLARK proved that woman's liberation has arrived in Canton. She vacationed in Florida WITHOUT husband and children.

Visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoopes in Clearwater Beach proved to be a warm and restful experience. The days were sunny and the temperatures remained in the 70s—a good environment for lying on the beach or taking quiet walks along the ocean's edge.

Janet's husband, James, took a week's vacation from his job to watch the children and handle household responsibilities. Sons Scott, Brian and Eric went off to school as usual while little Colleen helped dad at home.

Jim will take his annual hunting vacation in the fall. During the summer, a third vacation week will be used for family excursions.

"This is the first time I have been away from the kids," said Janet. "Jim really was supportive of my opportunity to get away for a rest. The trip worked wonders for and I have a fresh, new outlook.

"The winter doesn't seem so depressing, and I'm looking forward to spring's arrival."

According to Janet, the venture was so successful, she may make it an annual tradition.

Teens' ideas traditional

More than two thirds of the high school girls involved in a national survey of 23,900 high school juniors and seniors say the feminist movement has encouraged them to pursue jobs traditionally filled by men.

But, according to pollsters for "Who's Who among American High School Students," 80 per cent of the young men and women participants still favor a traditional marriage contract. 87 per cent plan on two or more children and 58 per cent consider a homemaker a total woman.

Today the number of high school boys who plan to volunteer help at home after marriage is 10 per cent lower than in 1974. Five per cent of the teens polled are in favor of switching roles. Just a year ago, 27 per cent said they would swap permanently.

The era of militant feminism has given women a wider variety of life styles and a greater acceptance of her choice, according to the survey.

Women's Day events tomorrow at Salem

Students have organized a program for International Women's Day to be observed tomorrow (Tuesday) at Plymouth Salem High School.

Using their unscheduled and independent study time, a group of students has set up presentations and discussions from 9:20 a.m. to 2:20 p.m. March 8. All sessions are open to the public. Salem High is located at 46181 Joy Road, just west of Canton Center Road.

STUDENTS WHO have put together the International Women's Day program at the Centennial Educational Park include:

Birgit Muller, Lori Scappaticci, Jean Partin, Colleen Bauman, Linda Dudley, Connie Brown, Jeaninne Caesar, Lisa Malone and Moira Foley.

From 9:20 to 10:20 a.m. professor Virginia Nordby of the University of Michigan will discuss "The Legal Rights of Women" in Room 2208. During the same time period will be a panel discussion on women in traditional and nontraditional careers in Room 2205 and a workshop on rape, presented by a representative from the Women's Crisis Center in Ann Arbor, in Room 2510.

Events scheduled for 10:20 to 11:20 a.m. include: panel discussion on women in Europe and Latin America with participants including women of various ages from Germany, Yugoslavia, Chile, Sweden, Switzerland (Room 2803); workshop on women's sexuality, Beth Goldman of Ann Arbor Free Peoples Clinic (Room 2208); sexism in advertising, a display and discussion led by high school women's independent study group (Room 2510).

"WOMEN IN U.S. HISTORY" is the topic for a lecture and discussion by Marcy Fink, a student teacher, from 11:20 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. in Room 2209.

Other activities during the same time period include a slide show on women artists by Nancy Conklin of U-M in Room 2207, a family planning lecture and discussion by Paula Weinbaum, a coordinator at the Ann Arbor Free People's Clinic, in Room 2208.

From 12:20-1:20 p.m. will be "The Equal Rights Amendment," presented by representatives from NOW in Dearborn, Room 2203. "Sexism in music," a workshop by high school women's independent study group in Room 2207, and a self-defense workshop (for females only) led by Eileen Smorger in Room 2208.

Activities slated for 1:20-2:20 p.m. are: "Men and the women's movement," Steve Williams and Kevin Krales, Room 2208; "Women's Liberation Movement," workshop of students from the CEP, room 2208; and, "Elimination of Discrimination in Education—Title IX," Florence Beier, community relations director, Plymouth-Canton Schools, Room 2204.

Doinidis-Gotsis

Linda Gotsis became the bride of Nicholas Steven Doinidis in a ceremony in St. Clements Eastern Orthodox Church of Dearborn.

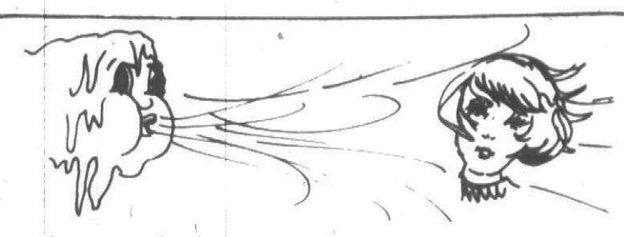

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gotsis of Livonia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Doinidis of Canton Township.

Lace and satin fashioned the bride's dress. With it, she wore a juliet veil with satin and pearl trim and carried white roses and English ivy. He attendants, wearing burgundy velvet halter dresses with hooded capes, were Beth Juntunen, Christine Gioutsos, Linda Gioutsos, Kathy Collop, Frann Andreson and Evonne Rokoff.

Assisting the bridegroom were Greg Genna, Chris Doinidis, Bill Vangoff, Tom Guina, Mark Menestrina and Mark Doinidis.

Nichole and Jimmy Addis were flower girl and ring-bearer.

Victorian love tokens are rare

By JEAN DAY

Norma Killinger of Livonia has evidence aplenty that young love flourished well in this country a century ago.

Her proof is in the form of a large collection of coins, known as love tokens, that lovers used to exchange at the time of betrothal.

The tokens, created by grinding one side of a coin smooth and then engraving it with initials, are collectibles now, and Mrs. Killinger has been gathering them since 1960.

Visiting the Silver Springs Questers' meeting in Northville, she took along many samples of the tokens, many of them made into necklaces, bracelets and watch fobs, and told the Quester members her specialty is getting harder and harder to collect. "It's not the cost," she explained, "but you just can't find them."

Mrs. Killinger said the craze for love tokens came to this country from Europe and reached its peak here between 1880 and 1890.

"Dimes were most frequently used when the fashion appeared in the United States and Canada," she said.

HER COLLECTION includes love token bracelets that were a craze of Victorian schoolgirls who exchanged tokens with initals of the giver. A dime oken in her collection, finely engraved with the name "Maud" also boasts a tiny, engraved bird, as does a Canadian silver coin of Victoria Regina in her middle years.

Some coins are engraved on both sides and are considered love tokens, also.

"If this is the case," Mrs. Killinger instructed, "look for the reeding on the edge that indicates it was a coin."

Sometimes initials or designs were enameled on coins. These colorful pieces are included in her collection of tokens, but she pointed out that not all collectors consider them valid love tokens.

Coins with the head or design cut out she called "whimsy pieces." There's a current popularity of silver dollar or half-dollar coins so cut.

AFTER 1900, the speaker recalled, it was illegal to deface or melt coins in this country, and love tokens no longer were made here. This ruling has been changed, she added, and now is not illegal if there is no intent to defraud. "It has been determined," Mrs. Killinger explained, "that the coin belongs to you."

There is a great variance in the quality of engraving on the tokens, some having been the fine work of a jeweler and others the pin-hole work of English sailors or prisoners.

Mrs. Killinger has a dime-size coin minutely engraved with the Lord's Prayer as an example of the former and a sketch of the Morro Castle as an example of the sailor art.

Many young girls in the second half of the 1800s must have acquired their love tokens at fairs and carnivals where the pitchman or a jeweler engraved a beau's initials.

DURING WORLD WAR II American soliders overseas resurrected the art with foreign coins, often making them into bracelets.

While some of the speaker's tokens have been used to make stickpins, necklaces and bracelets, most of her collection is of coins alone. They are neatly displayed in boxes catalogued by design and type. Since so little is known or has been wrtitten about the love tokens, she hesitates to place a value on the collection but does not keep it at home.

Norma Killinger shows some of her collection of love tokens. (Staff photo)

"When I wrote the Smithsonian to ask if it had any information," she said, "there was nothing, but I have been invited to display my collection there for a month."

SHE HAS ACQUIRED some tokens by advertising in hobby magazines.

Mrs. Killinger particularly treasures a bracelet she acquired as the result of an ad from a woman in Seattle, Washington. It was created with 11 dimes with interesting engravings. But it is having its history that most appeals to Mrs. Killinger.

The bracelet had belonged to the seller's mother and was given to her when she was a girl in Cheyenne, Wyoming about 1872. The initials were those of friends. One token, engraved with the name "Dick," the former owner thought, might have been her father, who was a captain at Fort Laramie.

The younger sister of the bracelet owner married Duncan Hines.

Another piece, a three-token necklace, must have held special sentiment as "Mama," "Papa," and "John" are engraved.

A large Spanish Hispan coin must have celebrated a birth as the engraving reads, "Mary Nickson, born May 11, 1769."

"When a love token collector finds a coin with his own initials," Mrs. Killinger observed, "the seller can almost name his price."

Rossow recalls good old days

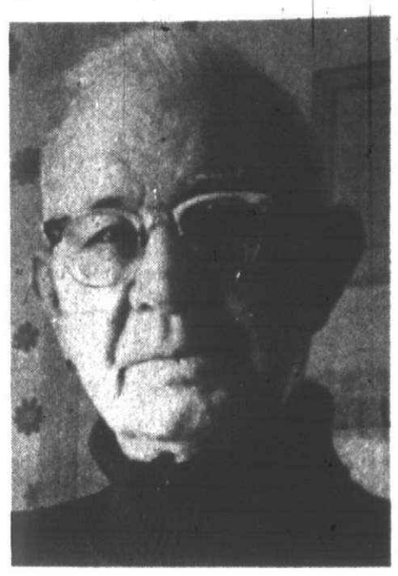

Friends from the good old days turned up at a surprise birthday party recently for Herman Rossow, who grew up in Redford Township, farmed in Plymouth, and now lives in the Rosedale Gardens subdivision of Livonia.

Celebrating his 80th birthday, Rossow could have talked with guest Walter Schweizer of Farmington about the period they both worked for a stock buyer and used to drive cattle down Grand River into Detroit as "cowboys on foot."

Growing up on his family's farm at Seven Mile and Grand River, Redford Township, Rossow later farmed on the site of the present Ford Motor Co. plant on Sheldon near Five Mile in Plymouth.

Sponsoring the birthday party were Rossow's children and their spouses, Harold Rossow and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smithson of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Taylor of Westland and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rossow of Farmington Hills.

A party took place also on a previous evening planned by all the children of Mr. and Mrs. Rossow. It was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Priebe of Plymouth.

HERMAN ROSSOW

Rossow, whose recipe for a long healthy life is "hard work" is active in the Senior Citizens Bowling League in Livonia.

Council backs ERA stand

Huron Valley's Girl Scout Council is supporting the National Board of Girl Scouts of the United States for its backing of the Equal Rights Amendment.

A message of congratulation was sent to the national board.

"The communique represented the majority view of the 32-member local board only," according to Council President Frances Bauer of Plymouth, "and naturally not that of each of our 17,000 adult and girl members. We encourage our members to study such issues for themselves and form their own opinions."

The action was proposed by the organization's Employee Relations Advisory Committee which cited the council's long-standing support of affirmative action in hiring and equal employment opportunities for women with equal pay and benefits for all employees, she said.

The position was adopted as formal council policy in March 1974.

Opposition to the message centered on the desirability for more input from volunteers and girl scout members as well as on possible conflicts of this type of action with National Girl Scout policy.

A recent statement by Dr. Gloria Scott, Girl Scouts of the United States of America president, recalled a national resolution made two years ago calling for the organization to be "actively involved in current issues which will have an impact on the lives of our girls as they mature into womanhood."

"The Equal Rights Amendment will affect the present and future lives of more than 3,160,000 of the organization's membership," the resolution stated.

Critic's view

'A Chorus Line'

By RON KRUMAN

The critically acclaimed and long-awaited musical, "A Chorus Line," opened at the Fisher Theater last week. For those who braved the Feb. 13 lines, the show was definitely worth the wait.

Conceived by Michael Bennett, director choreographer, "A Chorus Line" is deserving of every award it has received.

The musical has won numerous awards in New York including the 1975 New York Drama Critics' Circle Award for Best Musical, and, in 1975, won nine Tony Awards including Best Musical, Best Director, Best Choreography and Best Score.

"A Chorus Line" is the story of 17 people who share with the audience their personal reasons for wanting to dance in a line.

The opening number, "I Hope I Get It," brings to life the dreams and fantasies of dancers everywhere.

The musical begins with Zach, the choreographer played by Elvind Harum, who must choose eight dancers for his chorus line. Anyone who has ever had to compete in an audition will recognize the anxiety. Unrelenting tenseness envelops the stage and spreads to the audience as the dancers go through the motions.

The confidence of Mike (Jeff Hyslop) in "I Can Do That" draws the audience deeper into the highly competative world of dance. Hyslop displays a relaxed quality that enhances his precise dancing ability.

Sheila, the voluptuous redhead played by Jane Summerhays, abounds in apparent talent. A convincing performance if ever there was.

There are a few very sensitive moments which will reach into you heart and touch your soul. Tommy Agilar (Paul) performs a tender and moving soliloquy about his drag show experience and family background. Cassie (Pamela Sousa) has friends who recognize her talent more than she does. She dances "The Music and the Mirror" with a grace any dancer would have to note.

Lighting by Tharon Musser is to be mentioned and commended. With the aid of revolving mirrors lining the upstage area, the lighting created an exacting mood of the characters' feelings.

The final number "One," tells it all. Gold costumes, enthusiasm, music, dancing, singing, make "A Chorus Line" one of the most entertaining shows I have seen.

Dance, Dance, Dance

The Detroit Artist's Market will come alive with an afternoon dance experience conceived and choreographed by Lynn Crimando and Judd Sheldon.

The presentation will feature independent dancers and actors, who are not presently associated with a troupe or company, in "Transportation Suite," "Conversation Pieces," and "Penumbra."

Ms. Crimando directs the dance department at Detroit Community Music School where both she and Ms. Sheldon teach.

Ms. Sheldon is assistant director of the Nonce Dance Ensemble.

The experimental presentation is at 3 p.m. March 20 in Detroit Artist's Market at 1452 Randolph Street, in Harmony Park, Detroit. For more information, call Lynn Crimando at 831-2870.

Lori Jacobs at the Raven

Lori Jacobs, a songwriter and singer in the tradition of Carole King and Joni Mitchell, will be appearing at the Raven Gallery in Southfield Tuesday, March 8, through Sunday, March 20. Performances are at 9:30 p.m. On Friday and Saturday, additional performances are scheduled for 11:30 p.m. For additional information call the Raven at 557-2622.

Chamber music at UM-D

The Japan Trio, one of the most heralded young performing groups on the musical scene, will be presented in concert at 7:30 p.m. March 13.

The trio, which is the first of two international attractions to be offered as part of the chamber music series, will perform in the Sisson Room of the Fair Lane Conference Center, on the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus.

The program will include Trio, Op. 1, No. 3 in C minor by Beethoven; Trio Homage to Chestnut Hill, by Maniya; and Trio in A minor, Op. 50, by Tchaikovsky.

Founded in the summer of 1971, the trio has been acclaimed for "its exciting performances by three charismatic musicians of insight and verve." The trio has appeared in Carnegie Hall.

Members of the group include Kishiko Suzumi, violinist; Tsuyoshi Tsutsumi, cellist, and Yuko Ninomiya, pianist.

Tickets are $4.50 for general public and $2 for students at the door.

Genealogical society sets meet

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research will hold its monthly meeting at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 12 in the Explorers Room of the Detroit Public Library.

Speaker for the March meeting will be the Probate Judge Kenneth Sanborn, of Macomb County.

Judge Sanborn's topic will be The Use of Probate Records for Genealogical Research.

The public is invited to attend.

Judges to select Award recipient for PTP

Three nationally prominent judges have been selected to read manuscripts for the David B. Marshall Award in Musical Theatre which was recently established at the Professioanl Theatre Program (PTP) of The University of Michigan, Ricard D. Meyer, PTP executive director, has announced.

Supported by a gift from the Contempo Communications Foundation for the Arts, the award is intended to "stimulate playwrights, lyricists and composers to collaborate in the creation of original works for the musical theater." The $2,000 stipend is one of the largest awards available for new, young, talented people.

The panel of judges includes Harold Clurman, Arthur Laurents and Lehman Engel.

Clurman of New York City has worked in the theater for more than 50 years (since 1924) in a variety of roles—as director, manager, author, critic and lecturer. He has served as critic for The Nation and New Republic, as guest critic for the London Observer and has conducted classes for actors since 1954.

Laurents, author of the long-running musical "West Side Story" (1957), will also seve as judge for the competition. Laurents, both a dramatic author and director, has authored the musicals "Gypsy" (1959) and "Hallelujah, Baby" (1967), among others. In addition, he has written radio scripts and screenplays , most notably "Rope," "Bonjour Tristesse" and "Anastasia."

Engel, a composer, conductor and author, has worked in the media of lyric theater, radio, TV and film. He has conducted "Wonderful Town," "Fanny" and "L'il Abner" for the lyric theatre, served as musical director of the Musical and Dramatic Theatre Academy in America and is the author of "Planning and Producing a Musical Show" (1956) and "The American Musical Theatre" (1967).

Announcement of the award will be made in April. If no manuscript is considered worthy of an award, no award will be made that year. For applications and further information on the 1977-78 award, contact the PTP Office, Mendelssohn Theatre, Ann Arbor 48109 or call 763-5213.

Deadline for contest

The 1976-77 deadline for Wayne State University's annual playwriting contest, open to anyone who has been a WSU student during the last two academic years, has been set for April 8, according to an announcement by Prof. Vincent Wall, chairman of the contest.

Only original manuscripts which have not received prizes in other competitions are eligible for entry. Scripts should be turned in to the Theatre Promotion Ofice, 95 W. Hancock, Room 102, at Wayne State in Detroit.

Complete contest rules and application forms are available at the English Department office in State Hall or the Theatre Promotion office.

Art sale to beat the March blahs

Are you tired of being out in the cold? Has dialing down caused you to spend those supposed savings from the heating bill on fingernail wraps? Do you need a new driveway and sidewalks because of wear and tear from the scraping and shoveling?

If the answers to the above are yes, the Ferndale Democratic Club invites you to its art auction.

The auction will be held Sunday, March 20. A champagne preview begins at 1 p.m. with the auction beginning at 2 p.m.

A collection of 170 art works consisting of oils, lithographs, acrylics, art deco posters, etchings, watercolors, prints, sculpture, and wall hangings will be offered.

Tickets are $1 at the door or by calling 545-2160 or 548-9640. The auction will be held in Ferndale Community Center, 400 E. Nine Mile, Ferndale.

Pipe organ concert set

Ken Saliba will be featured in an afternoon concert at the Redford Theater's Barton pipe organ at 2 p.m. Wednesday, March 9.

Redford Theater is on Lahser north of Grand River. Free parking is available in the lots north of the theater.

New Z-28

The Camaro Z-28 returns to the Chevrolet lineup after a two-year absence. The car was reintroduced because of an upswing in the specialty vehicle market and increased demand for performance-type vehicles. For a retail price of $5,171, the Z-28 offers a suspension system designed for GR70x15 radial tires and 15x7 wheels, dual exhaust outlets and a 350-cubic-inch 4-barrel carburetor V-8 engine.

Winter '77: Expensive

By BRENT RUSSELL

Motorists will pay many economic penalties because of the unusually cold weather this winter.

An obvious example is the effects of the extra salt now being poured onto streets and highways. The salt will cause the undersides of automobiles to rust, but that rust may not show up for months.

Salting roadways, according to the Environmental Protection Agency, costs motorists $2 billion in a normal year.

But that's hardly the only extra cost. Worn batteries choose cold weather mornings to give up. Tires forced to travel on icy streets and on salt or chemically treated streets are weakened and may expire prematurely. All other rubber parts, such as hoses and gaskets, are strained because of the temperature extremes.

The District of Columbia highway department estimates that each inch of snow that sticks costs $50,000 for plowing and salting. This is money that cannot be used for street building and repairs.

The weather causes severe damage to streets and highways that are paid for with gasoline taxes. Repair costs are high, and unrepaired potholes damage tires and frames and knock wheels out of alignment. Shock absorbers can be taxed to and beyond their limits.

Add to this the extra risks of collisions, and you can make a partial tally of the direct costs.

Indirect costs may be even higher. For example, disproportionate use of any fuel usually has an impact on all others. The now-realized natural gas supply crisis will mean a redoubling of efforts for more production plus new conservation steps through higher prices.

Gasoline and home heating oil—both petroleum products—are now in ample supply because foreign imports have been increased. But this ample supply could be reversed by mid-summer, at least in part because some users have switched from natural gas to petroleum products.

Because of these and other hidden problems, motorists will no doubt remember the winter of 1977 as an expensive one.

LIFE IS WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

PEOPLE ARE WAITING. According to the Kidney Foundation in Michigan, approximately 100 individuals in Michigan are waiting.

FOR WHAT? -- for kidney transplants. Advances in medical science make it possible to replace certain malfunctioning organs. For instance, since 1954 thousands of kidney transplants have taken place.

KIDNEYS for transplants are donated by individuals with the donation going into effect at the time of death. If circumstances permit, the donation can be used to benefit the health and life of another person.

MARCH IS NATIONAL KIDNEY MONTH and the Kidney Foundation urges individuals to consider the uniform donor card.

THE UNIFORM DONOR CARD is your consent to donate your kidneys or other organs. It is to carry in your wallet. If you change your mind at a later date, you simply tear up the card. If you'd like to be a donor, you might also mention it in your will and inform your family and physician to insure their cooperation.

United Way

PICK UP your donor card this month by asking anyone at our Pharmacy counter at Meijer or contact the Kidney Foundation of Michigan at (313) 971-2800 or in the (313) area at this toll-free number 1-800-462-0757.

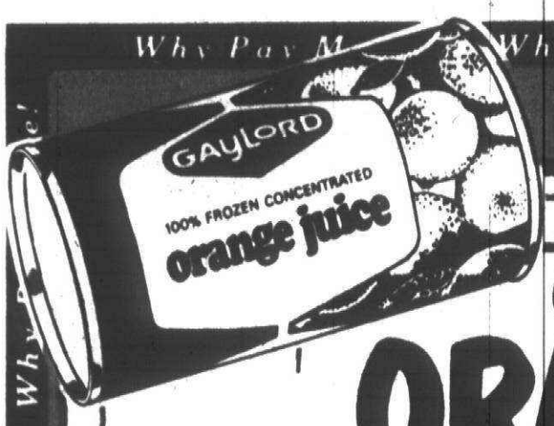

F IS FOR FOOD AND FITNESS ...

THE AMERICAN Dietetic Association has chosen "Nutrition... Foodway to Fun and Fitness" as the theme for NATIONAL NUTRITION WEEK, MARCH 6-12. Look for the article on nutrition next week in this column... and, together with ADA, we at Meijer hope you have the best possible health in 1977.

OUR REG. 97¢

WHO IS POISONED?

1. Of all those poisoned: 77.4% are children under 5 years of age.
2. More 2 year olds are poisoned than any other age group.
3. 10% are adults and 12.6% are children 5 year and over.

WHY DOES IT HAPPEN?

1. A product was stored in a pop bottle or other container usually used for food or drink.
2. Storage areas were within reach of a child.
3. A product was removed from the usual storage area and placed "just for a minute" where a child could reach it.
4. No attempt was made to prevent poisoning.

HOW TO PREVENT POISONING!

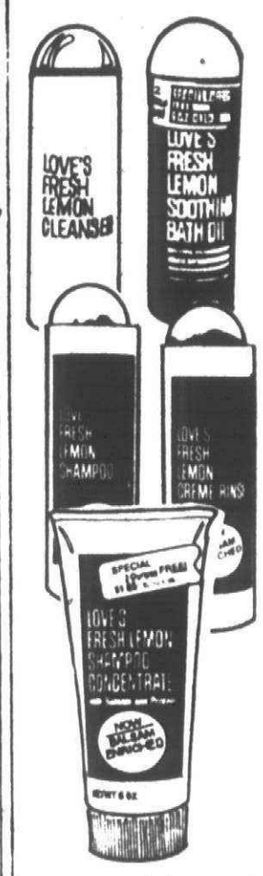

QUESTIONS YOU SHOULD ANSWER...

1. Where are your cleaning supplies, drers and laundry soaps?
2. Where are your automobile products, paints and thinners?
3. Where are medicines?
4. Where are your garden chemicals?
5. Do you have syrup of ipecac?
6. Do you have Epsom salts available?

YOU SHOULD CHECK THESE THINGS EVERY WEEK!

They must be kept out of reach or locked up!
They should be locked in a cabinet!
They must be in a locked cabinet or drawer!
These products should be locked up!

BICYCLE LIMITED WARRANTY

Five-Year Limited Warranty on Frame. Meijer Thrifty Acres warrants, to the original retail purchaser, for a period of five years from the date of purchase, the entire frame against manufacturing defects and faulty workmanship. The balance of the bicycle is warranted by Meijer to the extent of the manufacturer's warranty enclosed in the carton. For additional information, ask our sales personnel. Warranties do not cover wear and tear or accidental breakage. In the event of a warranty claim, return the warranty card and the bicycle to any Meijer Thrifty Acres store. All repairs covered by this warranty will be made at our bicycle shop. The customer will not be charged for parts or labor involved in any warranty repairs. Repairs not covered by warranty will be made upon your approval only. You will be charged our "Why Pay More" prices for labor and parts for such additional repairs when you pick up your repaired bicycle. This warranty gives you specific legal rights, and you may also have other rights which vary from state to state.
