RECALL PETITION
We, the undersigned registered and qualified voters, and residents of the TOWNSHIP of CANTON in the County of WAYNE, hereby petition for the calling of an election to recall HAROLD STEIN, TOWNSHIP SUPERVISOR.
(District) for the following reason or reasons:
Mr. Stein has consistently proposed and supported policies and programs to undermine the progressive development of Canton. 1. He is seeking to have the Canton Board of Trustees rescind the 1976 Master Land Use Plan. 2. He has refused to support the interest of homeowners from incompatible land uses that will undermine the property values of their homes. 3. He has initiated the removal of a professional police officer over Canton's police force without providing a suitable replacement. 4. He has failed to fulfill his campaign pledge to make Canton's Township government open and not to hold secret meetings. 5. He has undermined the effectiveness of his study commissions when they have taken direction opposite from that which he wanted.
WARNING: Whoever knowingly signs more than once for an officer being recalled or signs a name other than his own is violating the provisions of the Michigan Election Law.

Teacher talks stalled as waiting game begins

The status of teacher contract talks remained unchanged over the weekend, but the stalemate could be broken early this week.

Late last week the bargaining team of the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) met for a strategy session to decide what action, if any, to take next.

The PEA last week rejected the school board's latest offer, leaving both sides holding tight waiting for the other to make a move. No bargaining sessions were scheduled over the weekend.

THE ONLY ACTIVITY last week related to bargaining was formal rejection of the board's offer followed by a memo sent to all teachers informing them to expect an adjustment in their paychecks last Friday, March 25.

Teachers were told by the PEA that tentative agreement had been reached on a salary package and, according to that TA, the school board would begin paying the faculty pension contribution effective March 25.

Teachers were advised to call the personnel office Friday if their net pay didn't reflect an adjustment for pension contribution.

Supt. John M. Hoben Friday said the memo apparently was sent out to harass the administration because "tentative agreement hasn't been reached yet on salary. The board's latest economic package offer is contingent upon acceptance of five conditions by the PEA. Those five conditions were rejected, and so there is no

TA (tentative agreement) on salary. "It should be quite clear to the PEA that the salary package was offered as a tentative agreement with the proviso that the other five issues be accepted."

CANDI REECE, PEA President, said the memo was sent to harass anyone.

"We signed a tentative agreement March 15 which said the pension contribution would go into effect March 25. The superintendent made the work rules which states that, until a contract is negotiated, we will work under last year's contract and all tentative agreements."

"Under those work rules, all TAs negotiated to date—including the salary TA—become effective. I understand completely that we don't have agreement on a total contract. But we signed a TA on salary and, like any TA, it's now in effect. I don't think the superintendent can pick and choose which TAs will go into effect and which ones won't."

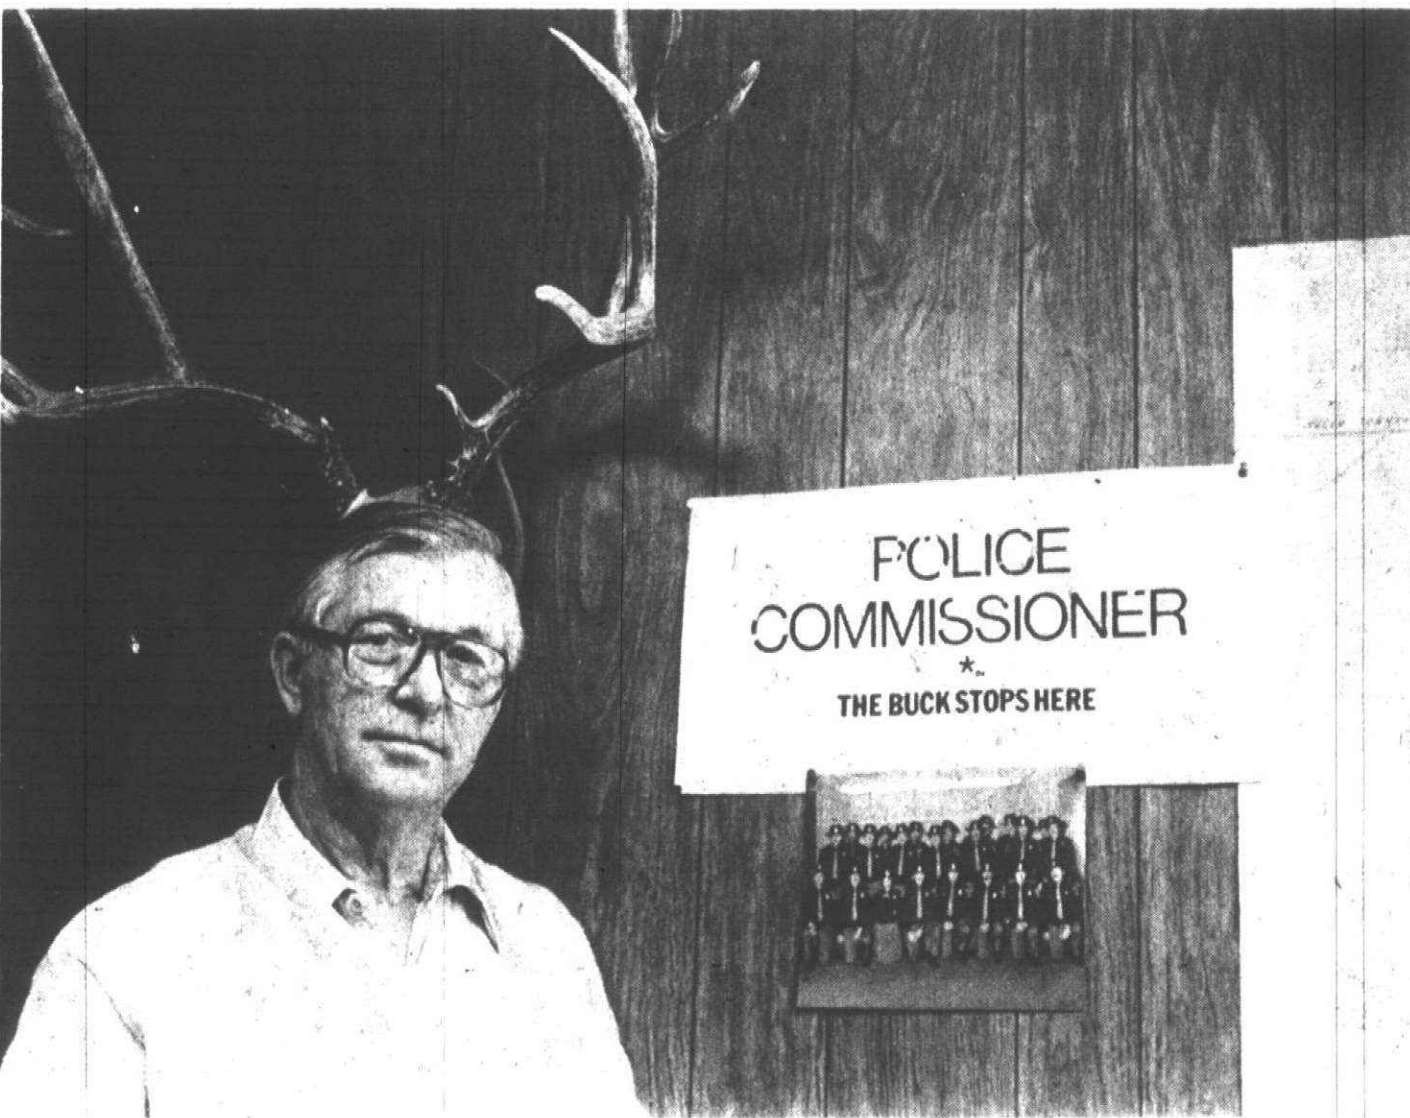

Ms. Reece also discounted the claim that the salary offer was a tentative agreement only if the PEA accepted the board's five conditions. "During negotiations nothing was said about the five conditions prior to the signing of the TA. We heard nothing about the five conditions until after we signed the TA on salary. How, then, can the TA be said to be contingent on accepting conditions after the signing?"

Hoben adds that at the time a document was signed on salary there were 12 unresolved issues. "The document, signed and handed to facilitator Irv Rozian, stated the salary offer would be a tentative agreement only if the 12 unresolved issues were settled. Over that weekend, agreement was reached all but five and those were the conditions the board gave to the PEA."

"There is no TA until the five conditions are met, and that's where it stands."

THE SCHOOL BOARD takes the position that, in tennis parlance, it has made an offer and the ball is on the PEA's side of the court—waiting for a return.

The PEA, meanwhile, can continue the stalemate, re-open talks on the five conditions, make a counter proposal, or begin job actions which could include a strike.

In his office, Clerk John Flodin said he still believes the police commission may have a legal right to meet in closed session. Tomorrow drive but both said they are extremely dissatisfied with Stein's record. Donahue said "the timing isn't right for recall" and doesn't think the majority of residents would support a recall at this time.

Thursday Bundarin revealed that he picked up the recall petitions, acting as "legal advisor" to a group of "subdivision homeowners" who want Stein recalled for "ignoring the concerns of the majority of Canton's residents."

Asked who he was legally advising, Bundarin declined to reveal the leader of the recall drive.

"It's not anyone from the Greenstein camp," Bundarin said. "The people doing it aren't seeking publicity. I'm acting as attorney. I'm advising them on how to do it so it's legal."

Bundarin said he discussed the possibility of recall with former supervisor Robert Greenstein and concluded that neither of them should direct the campaign.

"I'm not saying I'm not involved," Bundarin said. "I'm not a virgin. I guess the leader is determined by who initiates it."

STEIN, who assumed office last Nov. 20, said he believes a recall effort would fail—but in the process "it will tear this township wide open."

"You know, you don't have to write an article about this, you should start a cartoon in your paper about it," Stein said. "Call it 'Canton Capers.' You could put in a little notation, saying 'Thanks, and a tip of the hat to Harold Stein.'"

"I've got all these watchdogs surrounding me, you've got to laugh about it—otherwise you'd go crazy."

Bundarin said the recall petitions haven't started circulating yet, "but it's going to happen."

The overall charge against Stein on the recall petition exhibited by Bundarin is that "Stein has consistently proposed and supported policies and programs to undermine the progressive development of Canton."

THE PETITION lists five specific counts against the supervisor:

• "He is seeking to have the Canton Board of Trustees rescind the 1976 Master Land Use Plan." • "He has refused to support the interests of homeowners from incompatible (sic) land uses that will undermine the property values of their homes."

• "He has initiated the removal of a professional police officer (Carl Silvers) for Canton's police force without providing a suitable replacement."

• "He has failed to fulfill his campaign pledge to make Canton's township government open and not to hold secret meetings."

• "He has undermined the effectiveness of his study commissions when they have taken direction opposite from that which he wanted."

Petitioners have 90 days in which to circulate recall forms. In order to force a recall, there must be signatures equal to 25 per cent of the votes cast in Canton for the office of governor in the 1974 election. A total of 4,975 people voted for the office of governor, so the recall petitioners would need 1,243 valid signatures to force a recall election.

Open meeting Tuesday

Police future explored

In light of the recent controversy over closed meetings by the police commission, Canton Trustee Lynne Goldsmith says she'd like nothing better than to see a full house at tomorrow night's special meeting on the direction of the Canton Police Department.

"This is the first real opportunity the public has had to give their views on which we should go with the police," Goldsmith said. "I've heard people in the community say they want more police protection—well, Tuesday night would be a good time for them to come in and say that."

"The police commission will be pointed in a direction Tuesday night, as of right now they have no charge. So it's a very critical meeting in determining which way we're to go with our fledgling department. And I think it would be wrong for members of the board to sit back and relax just because it appears that the Sheriff's road patrol may be extended beyond the June 30 cutoff date."

Mrs. Goldsmith and Trustee Rbert Myers have criticized three of their fellow board members for holding private meetings of the three-member police commission.

Because of criticism of the police commission for scheduling closed meetings, Clerk John Flodin, head of the police commission, asked attorney William Sempliner if the board subcommittee has to comply with the open meeting statute which goes into effect April 1.

Sempliner responded that "the act will apply to the police commission."

QUOTING FROM section two of the open meeting act, Sempliner states that the police commission meetings must be open because it is a subcommittee of a governing body empowered to "exercise governmental or proprietary authority or perform a governmental or proprietary function. The board shall comply with the open meetings act," stated Sempliner, "in its entirety, including the giving of notice of its meetings and in the keeping of minutes."

Flodin said he respects Sempliner's opinion and plans to follow it, but said he still has some doubts about whether an advisory subcommittee "capable of making recommendations rather than law," must comply with the open meetings act.

"Tom Brown asked Attorney General Frank Kelley this very question and it was answered in a recent opinion by Kelley which went out to all local governments," Flodin said.

IN KELLEY'S opinion, "a subcommittee which can only make recommendations to the public body for final decision is not required to hold its committee meetings in public hearings."

"I do believe, however, that where such subcommittee contains the entire body of the 'public body' which it serves, it would be a violation of the act to allow such subcommittees to meet in closed session," Kelley writes.

Three of the Canton Township board members comprise the police commission. They are Flodin, who is police chairman, and trustees Brian Schwall and Gene Daley.

Daley also works in the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Canton cops on sheriff's radio

Signs of a thawing relationship between the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Canton Police Department can be detected in the recent radio communications agreement established between the two agencies.

Last December, Chief Inspector Richard Novak, of the sheriff's department, denied radio transmission rights to Canton until "the uncertainty surrounding the Canton police clears."

Stein said last week that continued contact with the sheriff's department proved successful when he assured them that the radio would be used for "support and back-up purposes only."

The part-time Canton Police Department is open 55 hours a week, primarily during night hours.

"The sheriff will handle all reports and investigations in regard to any accidents, etc.," Stein said in a letter to sheriff William Lucas. "Our department will log in and out with the sheriff's dispatcher."

The sheriff's deputies still have first jurisdiction in township crimes.

AT PRESENT, only one dual-purpose police car is equipped with a radio on the sheriff's frequency. The car is usually driven by the commander or another police supervisory person. Canton's call number on the band is No. 360.

Director of police Charley Thompson is sending three $50 bids to the City of Plymouth for three used two-channel Motorola radios that can be converted to provide communication with both the sheriff's headquarters and Canton township hall.

FOUR NEW dual-purpose cars have been ordered by the township. During the day the cars are used by the building department while at night lights

Jaycees hunting for new members

The Canton Jaycees is hosting a reception for new members Saturday, April 2 at the Canton Recreation Center, 44237 W. Michigan Ave.

Cocktails will be served at 7:30 p.m. followed by a talk on the Jaycees' community goals for Canton. Supervisor Harold Stein, an ex-Jaycee, will be main speaker at the function.

Tom Salapatek, officer of the Canton Jaycees, detailed the type of person the Jaycees are seeking.

"The Jaycees are a non-political organization that aims for growth of the individual through community involvement. Members are encouraged to speak out and present their ideas on what needs to be done in the community and tell how to accomplish the task."

"Stein has stressed the need for citizen's input in the running of the township," Salapatek said. "The Jaycees offer a means for citizen's ideas to not only be heard but put into action."

"Our membership meeting this Saturday is an opportunity for all armchair critics to put some of their ideas into action."

Although "active" membership in the Jaycees is limited to men 18-35, Salapatek said older men are invited to explore "associate" membership. The Jaycees offer a separate auxiliary unit of women called Jayettes, who also participate in community projects.

Major fund raising projects for the Canton Jaycees are the annual Millionaire's Party, Haunted House and Jaycee Fair.

The 1977 fair is set for June 21-26 and Salapatek said that by involving by the entire township, this year's fair should top previous ones in size and scope.

Funds generated from Jaycee projects have been used to extend scholarships to young graduates and to help the mentally ill and the afflicted, such as the donation which went to the Ann Arbor Burn Center.

If someone is considering joining the Jaycees, Salapatek says you can expect to work.

"The Jaycee membership does a considerable amount of work but the organization is not designed to enslave its members."

The Jaycees also serve a social function with events such as the New Year's Eve party, plays and trips to ballgames.

To visit daughter

From the mountains to Plymouth

By W.W. EDGAR

"The scenery was just wonderful, but I am glad to be back in the United States."

These words tell the story of Mrs. Mary Ellen Kenyon's reaction to a month's vacation in South America, where she and her husband, John, visited their daughter, Mrs. Gay Bellini.

Proudly displaying the many pictures of the trip while sitting at her desk in the Plymouth Township Hall where, as deputy clerk, she was catching up with her work that piled up during her absence, she confided that the language barrier was their biggest problem.

"Most of the people speak Portuguese, which was rather surprising in that I thought it would be Spanish. And very few of them are capable of speaking any English. It was difficult to communicate under these conditions."

ASIDE FROM THAT though, Mrs. Kenyon said the trip was well worthwhile, and some the things, aside from the scenery, that she says she will remember forever were the food and the manner in which it was served.

"Even along the sidewalks— under the sun— the waiters wore white coats and black ties and were very courteous."

Asked if she encountered any unusual food during the trip, Mrs. Kenyon recalled an unusually large, yellow-skinned melon.

"When it was peeled, the fruit inside was white with the tiniest white seeds. And it was delicious," she explained.

Another thing that impressed her was the monetary exchange.

"One dollar of United States money can be exchanged for 1.58 crusaelos, but the prices are terrible."

As an example, I visited one of the parlors to have my hair done. Ordinarily, in Plymouth, I'd pay anywhere from $4.50 to $6. Down there I was charged 12.50 crusaelos, which makes it almost twice the price here at home."

It was the scenery that left the greatest lasting impression, said Mrs. Kenyon, who spent four days in Rio De Janeiro and the rest of her trip in Sao Paulo.

"It was just wonderful, and when you fly into Rio and see that huge crucifix atop the mountain overlooking the city it is sight no person could forget." At night, Mrs. Kenyon added, they play large lights on the mountain to make it even more impressive.

In recalling the beauty Mrs. Kenyon emphasized the fact that she and her party climbed to the top—"and what sight it was," she exclaimed.

"We also climbed to the top of Sugar Loaf mountain, which is only half as high. But we had to take two cable cars to get there."

This was Mrs. Kenyon's first trip out of the country, even though she served as a m.p. and driver in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II. "It was a lot of fun, but it didn't take me out of the country," she said.

City parking meeting tonight

The Plymouth City Commission will hold a special meeting tonight to discuss recommendations made by its parking planning committee.

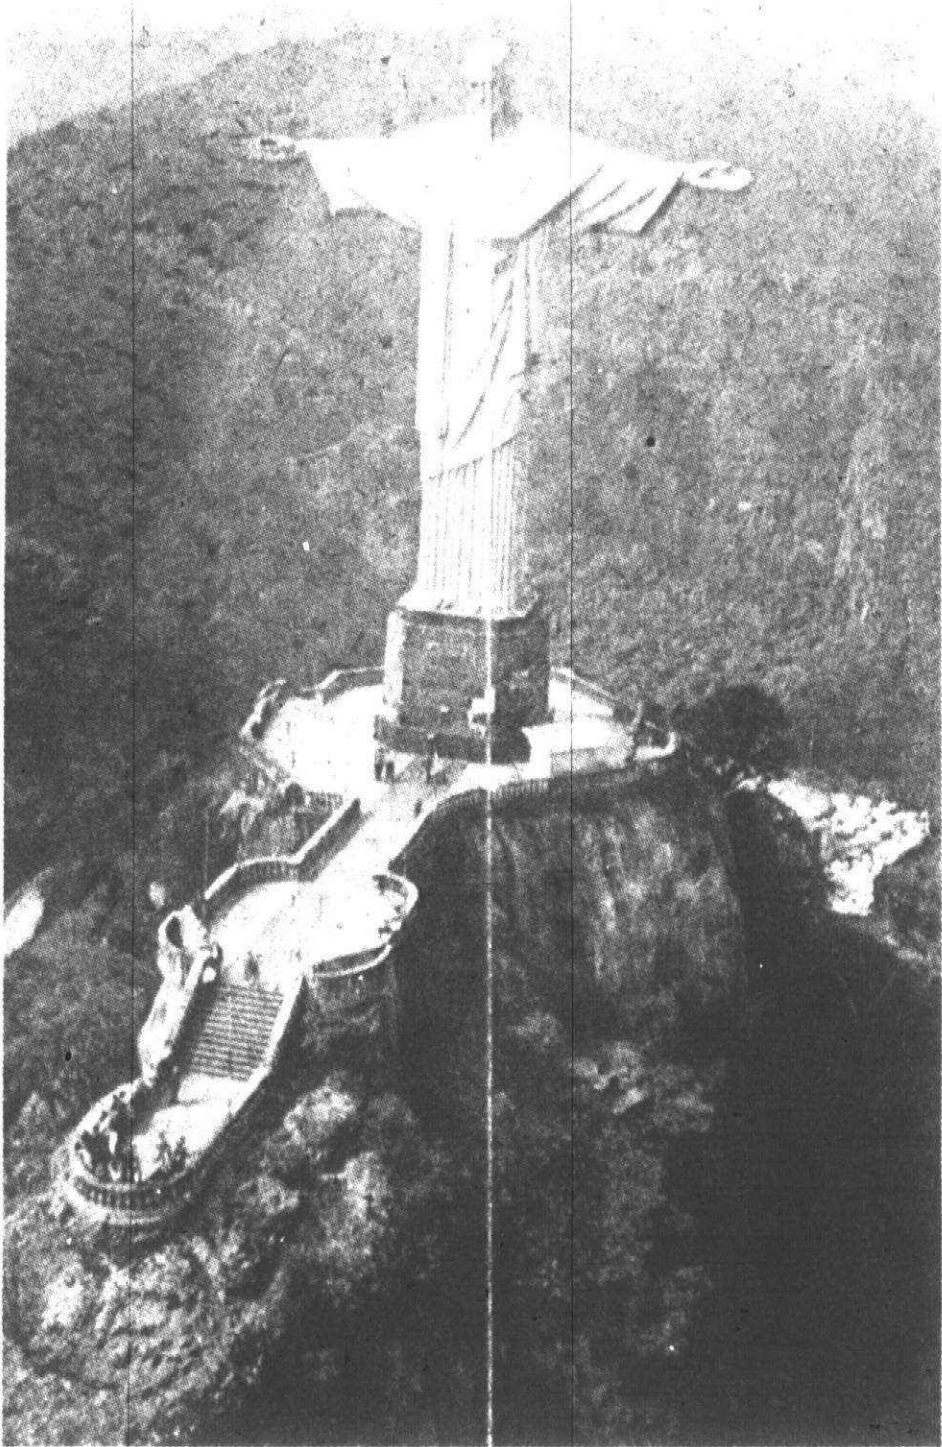

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in commission chambers upstairs in city hall, 201 S. Main.

The commission has completed a series of public hearings on recommendations of the parking committee, and now is attempting to adopt a city policy on parking and decide whether to approve specific parking improvement projects.

At the same meeting, the commission is expected to approve bids to purchase lights for the Don Massey softball field next to Riverside Cemetery on Plymouth Road.

The commission also will review the application being made by building authority for federal rent subsidy funds. The application is being made to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for Section 8 funds.

If the request is granted, Plymouth would get money to subsidize rents for about 35 households. Applicants would have to meet low-income guidelines and be living in a single family home now which they are renting. The subsidy is aimed at widows and could assist senior citizens.

Nankin Transit hedges on Canton's entry

Financial concerns of a local transportation authority are delaying the start of an economical dial-a-ride bus service for Canton's senior citizens and handicapped residents.

Township supervisor Harold Stein is scheduled to discuss money problems next week with Glenn Shaw, chairman of the Nankin Transit Commission which currently serves senior citizens and handicapped residents of Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster.

Although Canton officials requested entry into the commission's dial-a-ride system last January, commission members have repeatedly tabled Canton's request because of questions on how much Canton should pay.

If Nankin Transit's dial-a-ride service is expanded into Canton Township, senior citizens and handicapped residents could travel anywhere within the five Nankin Transit communities for a round-trip fee of 50 cents.

BUT, ACCORDING to Shaw, Nankin Transit officials must first decide on a fee for Canton's participation, and township officials must agree to pay the cost.

"Right now, the majority of commission members appear to be in favor of Canton's entry," said Shaw, "but they want to be sure that Canton's willing to pay for bus drivers, gas and administrative costs."

Nankin Transit officials estimate those costs at about $50,000 a year, Shaw said, but he warned that the figure is only a rough estimate. Canton officials could use funds from the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) to cover those fees.

Township officials have already promised to lease two of Canton's vans to Nankin Transit for $1 a year.

"But it's not even that simple," Shaw said of the estimated $50,000 fee. "I'm working with a handful of ifs."

Currently, a grant from CETA and the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) fund all of Nankin Transit's $200,000 budget. But, Shaw said, neither CETA nor SEMTA have promised funding for the commission's 1977-78 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

SHA PLANS to ask city councils of Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster to split approximately $40,000 of the commission's budget on a per capita basis if funds from SEMTA and CETA are not extended into next year.

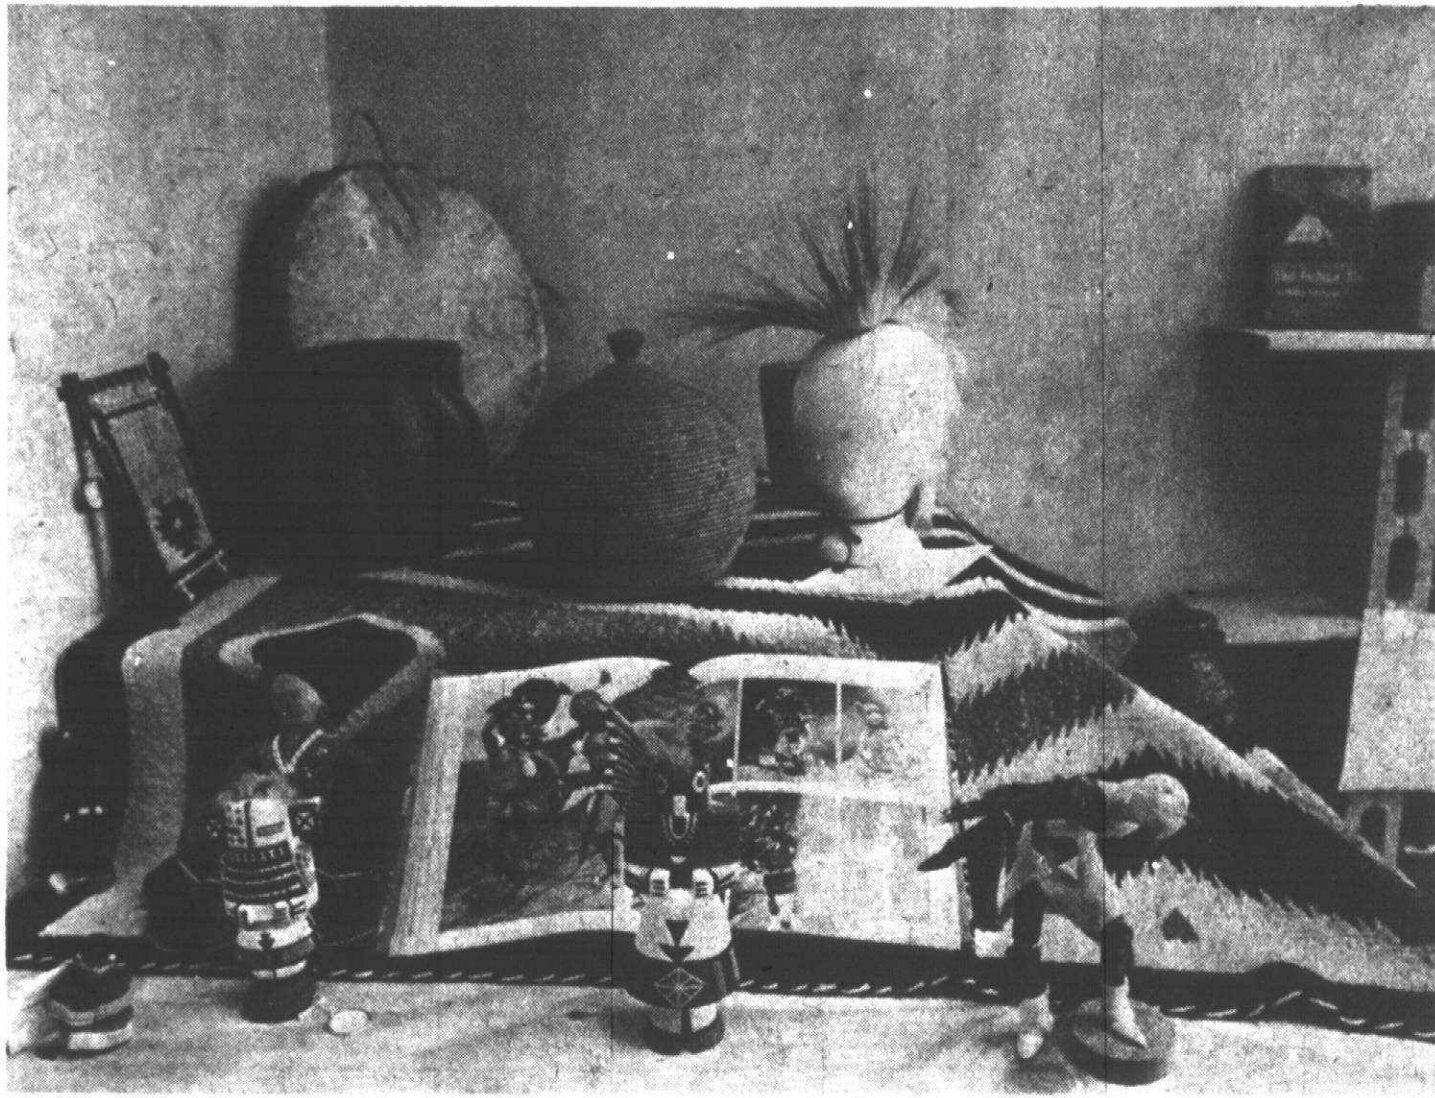

Shaw said commission members would have to work out a formula for Canton's share of the $40,000 if the township is admitted into Nankin Transit.

Shaw explained Canton currently has a smaller population than any of the municipalities now participating in Nankin Transit's programs. But the township's land area equals that of all four participating municipalities put together.

"It probably wouldn't be fair to ask Canton to pay its share of the cost on a per capita basis," he said. "That's what we really have to work out with Mr. Stein."

Canton officials requested entry into the Nankin Transit Commission after researching the cost of providing dial-a-ride bus service on their own.

Grant gives schools special Indian center

By GLENN BUNTING

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have established a Native American Indian Heritage and Culture Center, thanks to a $45,000 federal grant.

Funded by Title IV, part of the Indian Education Act, the center opened in October in an effort to improve the educational opportunity of Indian students.

Last year notices were sent to public school districts notifying of funds available for Indian students on the elementary and secondary school levels. The amount available per district was based on the numbers of students with Indian ancestry. Students must have had at least one Indian great-great-grandparent; there were 420 in Plymouth and Canton.

Chances are next year's allocation will be reduced by $10,000. In response to budget cuts, requirements have been tightened; only students with Indian ancestry of at least one great-grandparent are eligible. The district now has 250-300 qualified Indian students.

But money woes aren't worrying Bob Claerr, the center's director who has been interested in Indians all his life. An Eastern Michigan University graduate with a BA in social science, Claerr has taken part in many studies of the Sioux Indians, including one that was funded by the Canadian government.

GETTING THE CENTER off the ground has been a problem for Claerr, as few supply orders have been delivered to his four-room facility in Central Middle School.

Literature and tape recordings of Indians are in the process of being shipped to the culture center, which is presently equipped with materials from Plymouth Canton High's library and Claerr's own personal collection.

The center offers a wide range of Indian-oriented programs. Its first project was to originate craft classes every Wednesday from 3-6 p.m. Open to all Indian students and parents, the class tanned deer hide last week, which was used to make leather knife sheaths and pouches.

Other works include traditional style moccasins, complete with beadwork decoration. The classes are held in the Indian culture center, room 110 in Central Middle School.

One of the center's first events is scheduled for Tuesday. A program will feature Charlotte Green, a member of the Upper Mohawk tribe. She will appear in traditional Indian dress to talk about Indian culture and life today.

The program will offer an opportunity for children to broaden their awareness of native American Indian culture and meet other members of the Plymouth and Canton Indian community, Claerr said. The program starts at 7:30 p.m.

FIELD TRIPS will include a North American Indian Association minipow wow at Hazel Park High on April 1. Radio broadcasts concerning Indian culture can be heard on Tuesdays and Thursdays on WMZK (98 FM) from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The center is designed specifically for Indian students but Claerr said other students are welcome to use the facilities. Many non-Indian Central students have expressed an interest in Indian culture, he said.

Social science classes studying Indian history make occasional trips to the culture center; other teachers often request that Claerr lecture their classes on Indian history.

Claerr hopes to destroy many of the Indian myths that persist in society today. "I want to inform people about the pride of Indian culture." This effort includes erasing the stereotypes with which Indians are saddled.

"Indians are very poorly portrayed by the media," Claerr said.

Claerr only hopes he's provided with the funds to keep the center growing.

Townships could pay one-third patrol costs

Plymouth and Canton Township supervisors have given a cool reception to a Wayne County commissioner's latest suggestion of how to pay for the Sheriff's road patrol when funding expires on June 30.

Commissioner Richard E. Manning (D-Redford) proposed that out-county townships pay one-third the cost of the patrol, or about $300,000 a year. But Plymouth Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert and Canton Supervisor Harold Stein said they aren't too impressed with the offer.

Last year the county board of commissioners voted to terminate the funding for the 28-man road patrol in nine out-county townships at the end of June.

The townships took the county to court over the decision. But in February, the Michigan Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal of two lower court rulings which said the commission had the right to cut the township's protection out of its budget.

The issue has been further complicated by the possibility that the Sheriff's union won't agree to a contract without the township patrol positions. The county and Sheriff's Local 502 are currently negotiating a new agreement. The present contract expires July 1, 1977.

MANNING MADE HIS proposal as a member of the public safety and judiciary committee, which has the responsibility of making recommendations on the matter to the board of commissioners.

Rose Mary Robinson, chairman of the committee, said Manning asked her to send a letter to the townships informing them of his proposal. She said that although she sent the letters, the offer is in no sense formal.

"Mr. Manning is a very creative person. But really it's just one man's idea. It does not represent the commission's position."

"One of the main reasons I sent the letters out was to get other people thinking about alternatives. I want to get as many alternatives as possible. But so far everyone has been quiet."

When asked if suggestions other than Manning's had been made, Ms. Robinson said a number of things had been discussed, but no definite decisions had been made.

"Some of the commissioners are adamant about getting out of the police business, and others aren't too sure." In order for Manning's or any other proposal to become formal, it would have to be approved by the full board of commissioners and the townships involved.

BUT AS OF now, that approval appears to be a long way off. Both Notebaert and Stein said they received Ms. Robinson's letter and are not ready to jump at Manning's idea.

"This is merely a proposal by Manning," said Stein, "and it's a little involved. I'm going to withhold judgment until I find out what they are talking about."

Stein also said he was going to try to arrange a meeting of the other supervisors to work on a counter-proposal. "It seems to me the onus is on the county to provide us with the best possible service for the least amount of money. This proposal doesn't do that."

Notebaert, too, expressed some difficulty in understanding the proposal. "I don't know what that one-third means. It sounds like $290,000 which doesn't impress me."

"But other trustees have read the letter, and they have completely different interpretations. I guess I would like more clarification."

He said a meeting with the commissioners had been suggested but no date had been given.

Twp. eyes funds for police tower

are placed on the cars and the police logo is applied.

Stein said he wants to maintain a "high-visibility, low profile" department for the present time.

I repeat, we are not a full-time department," Stein said. "The people will decide by voting how much police protection they'll pay for. Just payroll alone will eat up this year's budget for police."

Asked if there was any timetable for a police millage election, Stein said "maybe they can vote on the police millage when they have the recall."

Last month the police study committee recommended immediate hiring of a police chief. Stein said that question will be decided by the board's police commission subcommittee. "Right now there's no formal move to hire anybody," Stein said.

STEIN ALSO mentioned that a joint application is ready to be submitted to the federal government asking for funding for a five-community police radio tower. Canton, Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter Townships are included in the grant application along with the City of Belleville.

If approved, the five communities would pay five per cent of the cost of the tower with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration picking up the lion's share.

State to purchase prison site

The state may not lease the former Wayne County Child Development Center for a jail after all. Instead, the state may just purchase the property outright.

The state's thinking about purchasing the center emerged last week when Wayne County Board of Commissioners failed to approve a resolution which condemned using the Northville Township site for a state prison.

The commission decided against the anti-prison resolution because the state hasn't yet made a formal offer to lease the 300-acre site for a prison. The resolution was sent back to the commission's public works committee.

TOWARDS THE END of 1976, state corrections officials confirmed they were considering the vacant buildings at the center, located east of Sheldon and north of Five Mile, as a prime location for a minimum and medium security prison for about 500 men and 50 women.

Since the center was phased out in 1974, Wayne County has paid $165,000 annually to maintain the land and apparently is eager to unload the property.

On March 17, led by chairman John Barr, county commissioners defeated an anti-prison resolution by sending it back to the public works committee.

Two days before the vote, Barr sent a letter to each of the 26 other commissioners urging them to vote against the resolution because the state hasn't yet made a formal proposal.

"It would be presumptuous to reject a plan prior to presentation," he said. "We must keep a reasonable and courteous rapport with the State of Michigan."

Barr also said the center "represents a possible answer to most of our fiscal problems. We must not prematurely close the door on any proposal."

The board will still hold public hearings in the Northville area before any deal on the land is made. But Wilson Grier, Northville Township Supervisor, called that a hollow victory. "Public hearings will not have one bit of weight on the outcome on whether the prison comes to Northville. Ten thousand people at public hearings won't change that."

"The commissioners intend to sell this community to the state. Wayne County and Detroit have already made up their minds. We're the sacrificial lambs."

Grier urged area residents to send letters to Gov. Milliken in opposition to location of a jail at the center.

A FIGHT AGAINST the prison proposal had been led by Northville Township which is concerned because of its already heavy burden of institutions and other non-taxable land in that community.

One third of the township land is committed to public use, including: Plymouth State Home, Edward Hines Park, Northville State Hospital, Hawthorne Center, Detroit House of Corrections, the Department of Natural Resources, Mayberry Urban State Park (former Mayberry Sanatorium), and land owned by the City of Plymouth.

Prison foes say that DeHoCo, Northville State Hospital, and the Plymouth State Home accounted for about 550 escapes and walkaways last year.

THE STATE, however, is already facing a space crunch in its prisons and expects the situation to worsen now that the mandatory two-year sentence for crimes committed with a gun has gone into effect.

The state is now appraising the possibility of purchasing the center site, according to Al Whitfield, deputy director of the state corrections department in charge of administrative services.

"Originally the county talked about leasing. Now they are talking about selling."

If the funds were made available by the legislature, Whitfield says the corrections department would find a purchase "agreeable."

Whitfield gave no timetable for further state action, but aid the state department of management and budget would try to negotiate a deal with the county once the appraisal is completed.

Such negotiations would be monitored at the state level by the legislature's joint capital outlay committee.

IRS offers tax help

Taxpayers can elect to have the Internal Revenue Service compute their income tax on either the short form 1040A, or long form 1040 if they have an adjusted gross income of $20,000 or less.

Persons filing form 1040 must also take the standard deduction to qualify for the computation, IRS spokesmen said.

Another requirement, according to the IRS, is that the taxpayer's income must be solely from wages, salary, tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities.

Canton gets $23,000 for growth

By PATRICK TOUHEY

The City of Plymouth and Canton Township have been doing some creative thinking. And it's going to pay off.

Both municipalities have been given money from the Wayne County Office of Program Development to carry out "innovative projects" in the community.

The city was awarded a Community Development Grant grant of $5,000 for a paint distribution program. Canton will use its $23,000 grant to pay for a growth management study.

According to Mark Wollenwebber, assistant city administrator, the money is made available to the county by the federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Plymouth's and Canton's awards will come out of special funds earmarked for innovative ideas and projects.

"There is about $160,000 available for creative community projects. We submitted our application for the painting program, and the county thought it was a good idea."

With the money, Wollenwebber said, the city will buy paint, and then give it to low or moderate income families who want to paint their homes.

"We still have a few details to work out, but the way it looks now, we'll have the applications here at city hall, and anybody who meets the income requirement will be eligible."

Although there is a sliding income limit scale, for the average family of four to qualify its income could not be more than $14,600 a year.

ECANTON TOWNSHIP'S Deputy Treasurer Mike Gorman said Canton will use its money to explore alternative ways to cope with growth.

"The study has to go out on a bid basis. And we're hoping a firm will pick it up that is capable of doing a good job, and hopefully whatever results come out of the study could be used by other communities as a model."

Gorman said that Canton originally asked for $40,000 to pay for the study, but the development office limited the amount to $23,000 and promised to look at how the study was going in July.

"They kind of put our grant in phases. We'll show them what we've come up with this summer, and if they like it, there's a good chance we could get more money if it's needed."

Gorman said he hoped the study would incorporate ideas on how communities could manage the effects of rapid growth in the areas of schools, taxes, and development planning.

"At this point we don't know. Is control the answer or would growth management be a better approach? I hope we can come up with some good, sound guidelines."

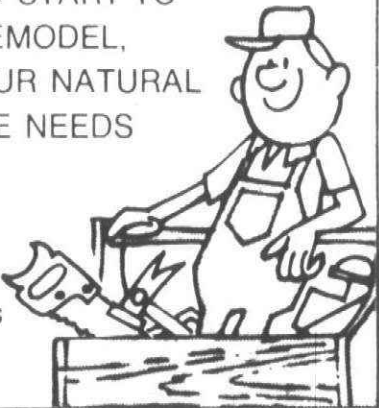

Canton is the logical place for a growth study, Gorman said.

"The heart that loves is always young."

Windmill power?

By year 2000, will futuristic windmills be a common sight on our landscape? Can wind power become a major source of energy?

As part of its ongoing study of energy, the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi will learn more about wind power at a public meeting beginning 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 6, in Geneva Presbyterian Church on Sheldon Road just north of Ford Road in Canton.

The speaker will be Penny Wright of Plymouth whose interest in wind power was sparked during a four-month stay in Holland a couple years ago. Since then she has become an expert on both the historical importance of windmills and current developments relating to wind as an energy source.

As part of the presentation, she will show a series of slides to visually tell the story of wind power.

The public is invited to this, and all, League meetings. Anyone wishing more information may call LWV President Annalee Mathes at 349-7334.

Webster workplace

New Haven lexicographer Noah Webster published the first edition of his American Dictionary of the English Language on April 14, 1828.

This amazing work of scholarship, which went a long way toward standardizing American speech, contained some 70,000 word entries and took 20 years to compile.

The two-volume work was completed in the upstairs study of Webster's New Haven, Conn. home. That house today stands in Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Hike of parking credits sparks debate

A discussion about raising commercial parking credit fees Monday turned into a debate between Plymouth city commissioners and several businessmen.

Commissioners maintained that parking for city businesses should pay for itself. The businessmen argued the taxpayers should share some of the cost because they derive benefit from a healthy business district.

Commissioner Beverly McAninch rebuffed one merchant's charge that she consistently opposes aid to city businesses by saying they should pay for themselves because that "was the difference between capitalism and socialism."

After much discussion, the commission voted 4-1 to raise the city's parking credit fee from $1,000 to $1,750 per space. Commissioner Beverly McAninch voted no. Mayor Joseph Bida and Commissioner John Moehle were absent.

The fee system was established in 1968 at the $1,000 rate. The same rate was re-approved in 1972.

Under city ordinance, new or expanding businesses which are required to pay a set parking credit fee in lieu of the parking space.

The city then places the fee in a special fund to be used for future construction of off-street parking areas.

ACCORDING TO CITY calculations, the current cost of constructing one parking space is $3,500. The commission felt business owners should pay half that amount, with the remaining 50 per cent coming from money obtained from parking charges.

However, two commissioners were not satisfied with the method of calculation. Commissioner Norbert Battermann argued for a "more solid basis for establishing what the cost of a parking credit should be."

Mrs. McAninch felt the $3,500 figure was low. She said $5,000 would be a better estimate and made a motion to set the parking credit fee at $2,500 per space. It failed for lack of support.

Jim McKeon, of McKeon-Noling Realty, told the commission he understood Mrs. McAninch's resolution to mean business had to pay for itself 100 per cent which was "her constant position."

Mrs. McAninch replied that she agreed with McKeon's statement. "I do think business should pay for itself. That is the difference between capitalism and socialism. How can we ask some citizens to pay the way for others?"

The city benefits from a vital business community, McKeon answered, so some of the cost of providing adequate parking should be borne by the general fund.

Tex Thoman, of J.L. Hudson Real Estate, agreed. "Businesses bring in a tax base and provide revenue for the city." He, too, felt the city would be acting in its own best interest by easing the parking expense for business owners.

Commissioner Scot Dodge interrupted the debate, saying the question was strictly philosophical and the city had a long way to go before its parking problems were resolved. He moved to establish the parking credit fee at $1,750. Commissioner Mary Childs seconded, saying, "We can't win on this no matter what we do. Let's just go with this."

Although Battermann voted for the motion, he had argued for developing a formula which would tie the cost of a parking credit to the assessed value of individual pieces of land.

Credit union elects Bill Sliger to board

Bill Sliger, publisher of the Northville Record, has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Plymouth Community Credit Union.

Sliger was one of three new directors elected at the Credit Union's annual meeting Thursday night. Other new directors are Julie Thoman of the Wayside in Plymouth and Kirk Lorenz, manager of the Mayflower Meeting House. Ms. Thoman and Lorenz were elected to two-year terms.

Re-elected to the board were Walter for a two-year term was Walter Hagen. Re-elected to three-year terms were Russ Koepke, chairman of the board this year, Clarence Moore and George Lawton, manager of the Credit Union.

KOEPKE ANNOUNCED at the meeting that the credit union expected reached a growth of 25 per cent in assets during the past year, and now has assets in excess of $10 million.

Koepke informed shareholders that the credit union has been given permission to expand into Northville and plans to acquire land and build a branch operation there.

Lawton reported that there has been a high acceptance from customers of the credit union's new drive-in service units.

During the annual meeting, a public address system was presented as a gift to the credit union by its community room by the Creditors. Ed Grossjean presented the PA system on behalf of the senior citizens group.

Sliger has maintained close contact with the Plymouth community since he once served as editor of the Plymouth Mail before it became part of Observer-News.

Plymouth Township avoids Canton's ZBA problems

Unlike its neighbor Canton, Plymouth Township is taking no chances with its zoning board of appeals (ZBA).

In a unanimous vote Tuesday the board of trustees amended the township's ZBA ordinance to provide for a five-member board, as required by state law, prior to making any appointments.

Canton currently has two ZBAs—one appointed before the local ordinance change and one appointed after. The legal battle to determine which board is "official" is still being waged.

Although Plymouth Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert had originally planned to make his appointments in December, he followed the advice of township attorney Donald Morgan to defer filling the two extra positions until the ordinance was changed.

Prior to a state law change last summer, townships were allowed to have three-member boards of appeal. Now that the ordinance has been amended, Notebaert said he will make his recommendations to fill the two new slots at the board's next meeting on April 5.

"Personally I'm very pleased with the change," said Notebaert. "The three member requirement was difficult to work with. One person had to be the chairman, and that left only two people to make motions and discuss appeals."

CANTON TOWNSHIP'S PROBLEMS with its ZBA began last September when Robert Greenstein, then supervisor, went against advice from attorney William Sempliner and appointed a five-member board without changing Canton's ordinance.

When Harold Stein took office in November, Sempliner told him Greenstein's appointments were made illegally, and the appointees could be replaced.

Stein then made his own appointments to the board, which set off the arguments about which ZBA had official status. In the latest development, Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelly said Greenstein's original appointments were "perfectly proper."

"It looks like we handled this a little better than our neighbors to the south," said Trustee Frank Millington after the vote to change Plymouth Township's ordinance was taken.

Representing western Wayne County

Bev McAninch named to SEMTA

Beverly McAninch has been elected as a representative for western Wayne County to a vacant seat on the board of directors of the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

The election was conducted during the annual meeting of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) Friday in the Michigan Inn, Southfield.

During the annual meeting, the general assembly also elected Oak Park Mayor Dave Shepherd as board chairperson for 1977-78.

Elected vice-chairpersons were:

West Bloomfield Township Supervisor John Doherty; Trenton Councilman Robert Bovitz; Kathleen Fojtik, commissioner, Washtenaw County; William Smiley, commissioner, St. Clair County; and Robert Smith, a member of the Livingston County Intermediate School District.

Mrs. McAninch was the SEMCOG nominee for the vacant seat on the SEMTA board. She is a member of the Plymouth City Commission, former Plymouth mayor, and has been chairman of SEMCOG's housing committee. She also has been on the executive council of SEMCOG.

Mrs. McAninch was nominated last month by a 17-9 endorsement of the executive committee of SEMCOG. The election Friday resulted in the first western Wayne County representation on the SEMTA board during the past four years.

Mrs. McAninch is filling the seat vacated by Walter Douglas, who quit the SEMTA board last January to apply for the general manager's job.

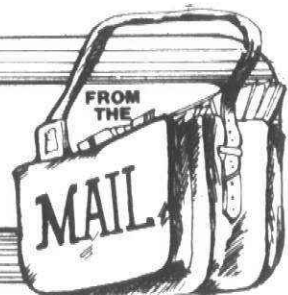

The SEMTA board has two members from Grosse Pointe, two from Detroit, two from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area of Oakland County, and one each from Macomb County and the Ann Arbor area.

The vacancy will be one of the last at-large vacancies on the SEMTA board to be filled by the general assembly of SEMCOG. A new reorganization law, proposed by Gov. Milliken, strips SEMCOG of most of its appointment power, giving those appointments to Detroit and various county boards of commissioners. The law goes into effect April 1.

At present, SEMCOG names nine members to the SEMTA board and the governor three. The new law will expand the SEMTA board to 15 members.

2 seniors receive ROTC scholarships

Two seniors from the Plymouth-Canton Centennial Educational Park have been selected to receive U.S. Marine Corps college scholarships through the Marine Option NROTC program.

Greg Kregoski and Joseph Scott Gray were selected in a nationwide competition which saw 300 scholarships awarded to the 4,917 applicants. Only 12 from Michigan were selected for the grants.

The two will receive full tuition, books and lab fees plus $100 per month for four years of college. Upon graduation, they will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The seniors submitted their initial application last October and were selected as a finalist based on college test scores. They then completed a final application consisting of high school transcripts, letters of reference, a medical examination, physical fitness test, and an interview with two Marine officers. Final selection was by a board of officers in Washington, D.C.

Both have indicated they will attend University of Southern California. Gray will study business administration and Kregoski will study electrical engineering.

The scholarship program is available at 50 colleges and universities throughout the United States. Applications are accepted from March through November each year for the following year's graduating seniors. Applications are available from high school counselors and local Marine recruiters.

April's closing

Two April inventions gave buttons a run for their money.

On April 10, 1849, Walter Hunt received a patent on the safety pin—helpful for those quick repairs. And an improved closing device, the zipper, took its rightful place in American fashion after Gideon Sundback of Hoboken, N.J., received a patent for his "separable fastener" on April 29, 1913.

Bowles leaves law firm

George E. Bowles announced this week that he will continue his general law practice from his present offices in Plymouth but will no longer be associated with the firm of Sommers, Schwartz, Silver & Schwartz, P.C.

The retired Wayne Circuit Court judge described the parting as friendly and said he would maintain his office at 509 S. Main Street, where John F. Vos III would continue to represent the Sommers, Schwartz firm.

Bowles, a Plymouth resident, retired from the Wayne Circuit Court last year after 19 years on the bench.

"I'm enjoying the practice of all aspects of general law and, of course, will continue to handle arbitration cases for industry, local governments, colleges, and school districts," Bowles said.

He explained that he is introducing his experience as an arbitrator in the industrial sector to consultative roles in family law as well as disputes involving individuals.

During the past year, Bowles has donated time and services to the Lawyer Reference Service of the Detroit Bar Association. The 61-year-old attorney said this service provides a half-hour consultation for $10 for individuals with problems involving contracts, business, marriage, real estate, and wills. The small fees are turned over to the Bar Association for promotion of legal advice service.

Bowles said his background in helping to settle disputes and differences makes this kind of service especially attractive and enjoyable to him.

He was chairman of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board for six years prior to his service on the bench.

For 2d time Chiefs seek Western-6 title

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

Flexibility in using talent at many different positions has Plymouth Canton softball coach Joan Ryan hoping for another Western Six League title.

If the Chiefs bring home a first place finish this spring, it will mark the first time in the school's history that a girls sports team has won two consecutive league crowns.

Canton tied Waterford Mott for a Western-6 title last season with identical 8-2 records, and with all but two starters returning to the lineup, the Chiefs' hopes could become a reality.

"We have a lot of talent this year," said Ryan. "The girls have been developing their skills over the years and are ready to play."

Ryan started Canton's softball program three years ago and still has five players from that original squad.

"I plan on the team doing well this year," Ryan said. "We are more flexible and the girls coming back have improved. We are better than last year."

THE BIGGEST concern that the Chiefs have this season is filling the shortstop and catcher positions vacated by the graduation of Cindy Krieg and Jan Haarer.

Ryan plans on moving sophomore

Kathie Peck to shortstop. As a freshman, Peck played most of the year at second base.

"Kathie is a good infielder and is very quick," the Canton mentor said. "Her arm is comparable to Cindy's but she's not used to the position yet."

Two candidates will compete for the second base position that is open with this switch.

Cathy Verduce, one of three seniors on the squad, and freshman Vicky Cavallaro have been working at second.

Verduce played third last season but Ryan admits that this wasn't her natural position. Cavallaro played one year of ball last season for East Middle School.

"Verduce is a very good hitter and is part of the lineup," Ryan said. "If Vicky plays second, Cathy will move to leftfield. Cathy has played both these positions."

Three players are vying for two positions at catcher and third base.

Senior Laurie Barnes is one player fighting for a position. She didn't play last year but played both positions for the Chiefs in her sophomore season.

Kim Young is a returning sophomore who was the backup catcher to Haarer last year. She is an excellent hitter. Pam Schipani is the final member of this trio who, as a freshman,

By W.W. EDGAR

When the huge spotlight played on Bob Strampe last Thursday night as he walked down the runway at the American Bowling Tournament in Reno to be inducted into the ABC Hall of Fame, he added another bright chapter to bowling history in Detroit and the surrounding area.

Strampe has brought a lot of honor to the city. He not only bowled with Stroh when it won the titles around here, but he won the national all-star in 1963 in Dallas and has been the 10-year average leader for some time.

More than that, his entry into the Hall of Fame gives Detroit a major share of honors in the coveted hall.

SCORING HIT one of its highest peaks of the season in the Ladies Major League when three teams bettered the 1,000 mark.

Showing the way was Ethel Hanna's Quick Made team with a 1,090. Next in line came Cora Feibig's Luxury Lanes team with 1,065 and Lavolia Brown's Mottown squad was third with 1,088.

While this was going on, Mary Kilgore of Mottown took top series with a 258 game in a 692 series. Sharing the spotlight was Phyllis Orlando who lined up 10 consecutive strikes only to leave a No. 7 pin on her 11th ball and settled for a 288.

THE 700 BARRIER was broken again in the Wonderland Lanes Classic.

This time it was the work of Bill Hardy who put together games of 244, 218 and 238 for an even 700 that gave him a place in the exclusive 700 club.

His nearest rival was Fred Ringrose, who registered a 682, while Joe Sharron's team paced the circuit with a 3,147 series.

Bob Allen was the big man in the Trio Classic at Garden Lanes. He fashioned a 631 to beat Rick Setlock by 12 pins with Dick Hall earning a deadlock with Al Messer for third place at 603.

In the ladies house league Nan Beeszeko was high with a 606. Pat Libby was next in line at 558 and Mary Van Ness tied Pat Hughes at 550 for the next slot.

IT ISN'T OFTEN that a bowler can go 172 pins over his average, but that is what Rick Nadeau did in the 700-800 league at Westland Bowl.

He did it by linking games of 227, 196 and 235 for 658. At that figure, he held a big lead over Dan Rosseau, who had games of 246 and 200 in 607.

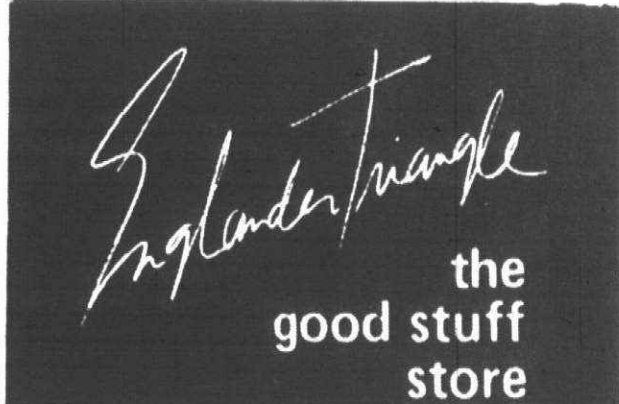

In the ladies classic, Sharon Daniels had a 224 in 593, with Carol Satala rallying 221 and Marcie Bashor fashioning a 220.

TWO TRIPPLICATES took the honors at Mayflower Lanes. Jim Martineau came through with three consecutive counts of 125 and the Pussy Willow squad added another at 523.

Sandy Botke topped the scorers with a 569 that included a 222 game.

Three new members were inducted into the Split Conversion Club.

Shoot for Sub-8 honors Talented Rocks ready to go

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

"As far as individual skills and overall talent, no team in our league is comparable to us," said a confident Salem softball coach Liv Way. Way started the Rocks' softball program three years ago and she feels this is the year that her team will win its first Suburban Eight League title.

With the successes that other Salem girls sports teams have had this year, Way hopes the winning attitude will carry over into the spring season.

Rock pitcher Debbie Pitera looks forward to her best season on the mound since joining the Salem squad three years ago. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Salem's girls program has produced Sub-8 champs in swimming, basketball and volleyball so far this 1976-77 sports year. And a large portion of the members of this softball team played on these winning squads in the fall and winter.

"We have a positive attitude," Way said. "These girls have been winning all year and I think this is the group that can do it in softball."

"I have so much individual talent. But more than anything, I want to see these girls play as a team."

One of the reasons that Way is confident going into league play is because of returning junior Debbie Pitera who will carry the load on the mound.

"Pitching will make the difference in the league and I think I have the best pitcher," said Way.

Pitera is in her third year as a Salem player. After a shakey freshman season, she came into her own last year with the speed and accuracy that earned all-league and All-Observation selections. Sophomore Jan (Continued on page 9A)

Craig Decker made it by topping the 2-7-10 and Len Dargo got in when he erased the 3-6-7-10. The third was the work of Pete Harmon, who tipped over the 6-7.

THERE NEVER will be finishes any closer than the one that cropped up in the Bel-Aire Lanes Classic where only two pins separated the top four bowlers. Ted Smith and Art Samuels tied for the lead at 667. Jerry Weiner was next with 666 and Pete Bumpus followed with a 665. To gain his share of the tie, Samuels had games of 222, 222 and 223.

In the mixed classic, Steve Killian topped the men with 671 that included a 258 game and Carol Parker paced the women with 547. In the senior house circuit, Joe Gresser was top man with a 684 and Bob Springale paced the Lady of Sorrows with 655.

ANOTHER BOWLER who made a mockery of his average was Tom Sisko at Woodland Lanes when he rolled a 247 to go 96 pins over Noreen Donaldson also did well by rolling a 210 game in a 517 series and she carries a 135 average.

In the Franklin High League, Cherie Logie, who carries a 144 average, age, inserted a 231 game in a 566 series. And Jeanne Moore, bowling in the Thursday morning league with a 145 average, posted a 503.

AT COUNTRY LANES, Don Davis stole the show in the Open Classic. With a 182 average, he laced games of 235, 258 and 178 for a 671 and helped his team to a 3,059 series that included a 1,137 game, both of which are high for the season.

In the Farmington Elks League Fred Cattrau, a 148 average bowler, also found the range with a 288 game.

THE LOW AVERAGE bowlers had another great time at Plaza Lanes.

Sue Rodriguez, with an average of 135, had games of 166, 246 and 178 for 590 and Mary Zurawski, with a 132 average, opened with a 209 for a 553 series.

showed the potential of a good, young hitter.
"These girls have been working with the infielders," Ryan said. "I'm not sure yet on who will play the two positions. I won't know until they start working on catching the pitchers.

"All three girls have good arms and can play either position."
THE BULK of the Chiefs' offense will come from clean-up hitter Kim Zoladz. She is the power of Canton's lineup from her first base position. She has batted well over .400 in her last two years and was an All-Observerland selection last season.

Rounding out the infield finds freshman Jeanne Krashovetz who plays shortstop.
The Chiefs' pitching contingent is led by Lucy Howe who started most of the games last season as a freshman. Other possible hurlers are sophomores Evie Pasek and Laura Butler, who have the speed but must work on accuracy and confidence.
Butler also plays third base and Pasek can be used at first.

Rounding out the 16-member squad are five outfielders, four of which are juniors. Leading this group is junior Kathy Sochacki who also gained All-Observerland honors with Zoladz. Sochacki is the mainstay in center-field.
Three other juniors that return to the lineup are Sue Rekuc, Judy Freeman, and Kim Clarke. A promising sophomore who joins this crew is Stephanie Hancock.
"We will be switching the outfielders in a rotation until we find the right combination," Ryan said.
The Chiefs finished last season with a 10-5 overall mark.

Senior Kim Zoladz will be looking forward to another great season for the Chiefs' softball team. Zoladz was an all-Observerland selection at first base last year. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Harris earns MVP honors

Plymouth Canton swimmer Kevin Harris won Most Valuable Swimmer honors at the Chiefs' season-ending banquet last Thursday night at the Canton cafeteria.
Coach Bill Faunce presented the trophy to Harris who capped a fantastic senior season and career as a Canton tanker.
Diver Scott Wales was awarded with the most improved swimmer honor for his efforts. Wales was one of the top divers in the state and finished second in Observerland point totals.

Steve Wood was the other trophy recipient as the three "D" winner for excellence in Dedication, Desire and Determination.
All three swimmers were members of this year's All-Observerland swim team.

Rock softballers Tennessee bound

Plymouth Salem coach Liv Way will be travelling with her 16-member softball squad to Tennessee over Spring vacation.
The Rocks will head south between April 9 and 16 to a facility just outside of Nashville.

"The trip is simply for training of our offensive and defensive skills," Way said. "We won't be playing any games but will be practicing six hours each day of the eight-day trip."

Way stressed that this was not a pleasure trip but just another way of training for what she hopes will be a championship year.

"I feel that the girls need more intensive training with fastpitch softball. They need to learn just as much about the game as the boys know," Way hopes this venture becomes an annual excursion. She said that setting up games next year could be a possibility.

The whole trip will cost around $800. The Salem girls have been raising money throughout the past year. The biggest money-maker was the sale of plants during a three-day period.

The Rock softballers also sold candy at the football games and bagels at the boys basketball games.

Rocks want Sub-8 crown

Boyd is the backup pitcher to Pitera.

BUT THE KEY to success in Way's mind is getting the good-solid hitting from the rest of her players. And whoever shows Way the ability to be a good hitter will break into the starting lineup.

Way explained that Pitera needs offensive support to make her a better pitcher.

"We have three power hitters coming back from last year and I hope to have six this season," Way said.
We will be offensive-oriented. Our strength is in our offense.

Senior Peggy Moore (first base) and juniors Donna Goodrich (shortstop) and Kathy Dillon (catcher) are the three top hitters that Way is counting on to have great seasons.

Two other Rock seniors playing the infield also possess the capabilities of being fine hitters.
Kathy Lehmann returns for another season at second base, and Lynne Stone moves from her outfield position to third base to replace Lisa Szczodrowski, who graduated last year.

Other young infielders are Julie Somers and Nan Horwood. Somers, a sophomore, and freshman Horwood are playing their first seasons on the varsity. Sophomore Becky Crespo also is in her first year and will back up Dillon behind the plate.

ONE PLACE that the Rocks will be young and inexperienced is in the outfield where six girls fight for positions.

Salem was hurt by last year's graduation of Dorothy Spitz and Ann Schwaller who teamed up to be the backbone of the outfield.

Returning lettermen, Diane Goodrich (sophomore), Venus Jeter (senior), Wendy Webb (junior) and Doris Hoelscher (sophomore) head the list of prospective outfielders.

Newcomers Cindy Cindrich (sophomore) and Sue McDowell (freshman) will also battle for a starting position. Way is very high on the hitting ability of McDowell and mentioned the strong arm of Goodrich.

Dearborn is seen by Way as the strongest league contender the Rocks will face because of its strong pitching. Trenton is also seen as a potential threat to the Rocks' hopes.

Salem finished last season with a 9-5 record in third place behind these two squads.

Mandle reaps cage award

Plymouth Canton's senior basketball captain Rob Mandle was named the teams' Most Valuable Player at last Tuesday's banquet held at the Plymouth Elks Club.

Mandle was the Chiefs' floor leader this season and was named by area coaches as a member of the All-Observerland second team.

An other player honored was senior Kevin Randazzo who accepted the Most Peckable Player award from Canton coach Casey Cavall.

This award is named after 1975 graduate Marty Peck for dedication and hustle to the team.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mary Ellen and Chuck Skene on the birth of their daughter, Erin Suzanne, March 22 in New Grace Hospital, Detroit.

Erin weighed one ounce more than eight pounds and her father already sees her growing up, attending Michigan State University, and leading the Spartan team to victory as a cheerleader.

Chuck is parks and recreation director for the city of Plymouth. Erin is their first child.

FOUR MODEL HOMES in the last phase of Beacon Hill Estates were introduced last Thursday evening.

Throngs of real estate people and Plymouth Township officials visited the new houses and congregated for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in the large colonial at 12215 Beacon Hill.

Bud Gould said he was delighted with the turnout, "and the acceptance of the houses. They have already sold 29 houses in this group—and they are all in the $90,000 and up price range."

Among the guests were Cathy and Richard Gornick, a Plymouth Township trustee; Joe West, township treasurer; John Goulet, chairman of the township planning commission; Jim Briggs and his crew from the township building department; Barry Jack, Bob Bake, Bob Fitzner, Bill Decker, Bob Tothman, Joe Hudson and Mary Fear.

The Sam Dibbles, Sr. and Jr. were there, also Cliff Densmore, Al Miller, Sue LaSota, Carol Larone, Pat Stokes, David McBride, Clinton Stroebel, Bill Graham and Paul Perrot.

The reception was in the four-columned colonial just off Ann Arbor Trail built by John Casey and the Derry Development Company. Gary Beglinger of Garey B. Interiors in Plymouth designed and coordinated the interior decorating in the house.

Township residents Helen and Dick Holloway who have lived in Trailwood subdivision for three years formed their own little chamber of commerce at the party.

The Holloways were full of enthusiasm for the quality of life in the Plymouth area. They appreciate things the oldtimers take for granted.

Mrs. Holloway praised the schools. "We love the schools and modular scheduling. Bill Brown is a marvelous principal. We love the people and shops."

"We do all our shopping in Plymouth," added Dick Holloway. "Even if we had to pay $5 or $10 more, I'd still shop in Plymouth."

Made you feel good just to listen to them.

The showing of the new models was arranged by Impact Marketing Services.

TICKETS FOR THE afterglow following Saturday night's performance of "Jest Foolin'" have been heads so fast they could be going around almost spinning.

As of last Thursday, only 14 were left. Persons should call the Plymouth Community Arts Council office to check on cancellations or to see if there are tickets available.

One afterglow angel was missed in our last edition. Don Massey of Don Massey Cadillac is one of the local businessmen who helped underwrite the cost of the party.

"It really wasn't planned as a money-maker," said Mary Weed, chairperson of the event which starts at 11 p.m. April 2 in the Mayflower Meeting House. "We will just about break even."

And it will be a gala end to the weeks of rehearsal and months of planning that went into the show.

Proceeds from the follies will be used by the arts council to expand the educational and cultural programs in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

SPEAKING OF ANGELS, rumor has it that Judge Dunbar Davis and Plymouth Mayor Joseph Bida will be angels in the PCAC follies.

With halos and wings?

We'll have to see it to believe it!

THE NEWS FROM ROCHESTER, Minn., was better at press time.

Mabel Lorenz who has been a patient in the Mayo Clinic for several weeks has shown improvement. Her husband, Ralph, contemplated leaving her bedside and flying home for a day over the weekend.

Also, the word at Friday's Rotary Club meeting was that Robert Snick was feeling better. Bob is in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Spirits will brighten up on Main Street when those two return.

A NEW BONSAI Club has been formed which includes several area residents.

The club will meet at 7:30 p.m. March 28 in the Log Cabin, 200 Log Cabin Road, Garden City. Ray Boardman is president of the group. George Randall will give a demonstration at tonight's meeting.

With Nancie, who needs an orchestra?

Nancie Purtill is the accompanist for the PCAC follies. This is her third Cargill show and she says they are stupendous, just like New York vaudeville at its best.

"We don't need an orchestra with Nancie at the piano," said Joanne Hulce, general chairman of "Jest Foolin'," the Plymouth Community Arts Council's follies which opens Friday night.

Nancie Purtill is musical accompanist for the show. "But I am not alone," said Nancie. "We have Ron Utterbeck on bass and the best drummer in the state, Jerry McKenzie, who used to be with Stan Kenton's orchestra."

"This will be my third Cargill show and the second time I've worked with Gary."

Gary Randolph of Jerome H. Cargill Producing Organization of New York is the professional who is directing the revue.

Mrs. Purtill's first experience with a Cargill show was in Muncie, Ind. When she signed up for as a member of the cast, she did not mention the fact that she could play the piano, organ and accordion.

She is most interested in the dramatic arts and also is a singer and arranger. It was not until the cast party that she revealed her skill at the piano.

Since then she has provided the accompaniment, and in "Jest Foolin'" she will play more than 70 tunes. "Gary is backstage," she said. "It's up to us out front to keep it flowing smoothly."

MRS. PURTILL and Jerry McKenzie are neighbors on Parklane Drive in Livonia. She is a member of Ward Presbyterian Church and had the role of the mother in "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the church last Christmas.

She has played Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," and has performed in "The Boy Friend," worked on television and radio, and made recordings.

Her husband, Sean, works for the international division of Unistrut. While rehearsing six hours a day with the Plymouth group, she has found time to entertain her husband's business acquaintances—a Frenchman and two Venezuelans.

The Purtills have three sons, aged 11, 12 and 13. "They are very talented and now have their own agent," said their mother. The boys have been doing TV commercials in New York.

Nancie Purtill was a public school music teacher for 14 years. She taught in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and the Farmington schools.

SHE SAID SHE does "improvise and stylize everything. But, of course I have to stay within the design of the song, especially for the dancers."

The PCAC follies which opens Friday night in Plymouth, Salem High School auditorium on Joy Road at Canton Center, is a first for the Plymouth-Canton community.

"The audience will be shocked," said Mrs. Purtill. "The show is so spectacular—just like old New York vaudeville, with beautiful costumes and dance routines."

"Those that miss it will so disappointed. It will be something everyone will talk about for ages. I hope there is a full house Friday night because when the word gets around after the first performance, there will be a lot of disappointed people who won't be able to get in to the Saturday night show."

"Gary is one of the best," she added, inferring that the director could work miracles with the residents, many of whom are going on stage for the first time in their lives.

Rehearsal for "Jest Foolin'" goes on each morning in the annex at Central Middle School. Getting in shape for opening night on Friday are (bottom to top) Stephanie Koljat, Nancy Hayes, Joan Gerigk, Debbie Russo, Penny Helmer, Sandra Sofios and Pat Shoals. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Wife abuse is no longer a bad joke

By MARGARET MILLER

"In England there are no bad jokes about wife abuse any more."

"You still have them here, though—things like 'when did you stop beating your wife'—and they indicate acceptance of a terrible situation."

The speaker is Nikki Hay, who had a part in changing the picture somewhat in her native land and is on a fast tour of American cities to help women's groups do the same thing here.

She is traveling companion to Erin Pizze, author of "Scream Quietly or the Neighbors Will Hear You," a book that tells the story of Chiswick Women's Aid, a shelter for abused wives in south London.

The two visited Detroit as guests of a number of organizations—including the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College—seeking to help women abused by their mates.

One of those closely associated with Ms. Pizze in operating the Chiswick Women's Aid shelter, Ms. Hay suggested that those who want to help in this country "need the anger that got us off the ground."

IT WAS THAT kind of anger that launched the Chiswick center, she said, but the success it is able to achieve is based on constant serving up of loving and caring to replace violence in the lives of those who come there.

The refuge, Ms. Hay said, was a community center operating on a governmental grant when, in 1971, a woman arrived after being beaten.

"She showed Erin her bruises, and asked if she could stay because she could not go home," the visitor from England said.

"Erin had known violence in her own life and remembered how terrible it had been to have no one to turn to, so she let her stay."

That was the beginning, but the word that there was a place for women to go to escape husbands' tempers soon spread.

"Before long the center was crowded with them, sleeping in the corridors, spreading out thin mattresses for their children, because anything was better than going home."

Then center received a major boost when a construction firm offered to pay for a bigger location "which we picked out in a couple of days," she said.

AND MS. PIZZEY and her staff still are operating a full house at that nine-room location—but not without continuing problems.

Chief among these is insistence on an open-door policy which means no one is ever turned away, Ms. Hay said.

"In the last few years, a number of centers have been opened by the National Federation of Women's Aids. They restrict the number of women

Canton Observer
Suburban Life

(C1B)

that may be in residence at one time to six or seven.

"We refuse to do this. We have women and their children coming from all over—England, Scotland, Wales—and they know we won't turn them away. Some stay a couple of days, some for weeks, and we try to show them a community of caring and show them that there is a different way to live than by violence."

The accept-anyone-who-comes policy has meant overcrowding, and because of this the government has withdrawn financial support and is seeking to close the center, Ms. Hay said.

"We are now at the final appeal, to the House of Lords, and if we lose, which appears likely, Erin may have to go to jail for three months."

"If that happens, though, there are many of us to carry on."

AND CARRYING ON means a program of support for not only the woman abused but also her children and the abusing husband, Ms. Hay said.

"We know violence is like a disease that keeps going on."

"Abused children grow up to be abusers, and the wife who has known only abuse may in some strange way need this in her life unless a different atmosphere can help her turn around."

"So we also have at the center gentle and loving men who can help with the children, maybe play with them and give them the first happy male relationship they have ever known."

"And we try to talk to the husbands when they come banging on our door for their 'possessions' after their wives come to us. We now have acquired a place for some of them to stay, and with them, too, we try to show that there is a different way that is better than violence."

"It takes a lot of loving and caring to get the message across, but somehow we have to try to break the cycle of violence."

MS. PIZZEY'S book, she said, contains case histories and tries to point out the causes for violence in living. One of the reasons for the trip to this country, she said, is to seek an American publisher so the message can be spread.

The women also brought with them a filmed record of the work of Chiswick center which they hope to put on public television around the country.

The film was shown to women from all over the metropolitan area—including representatives from Schoolcraft—who gathered in the downtown Detroit Women's Justice Center to meet the visitors and hear of progress toward opening a center in this area.

"I hope our visit can serve as a catalyst in this country to get the various groups together and get more centers going," Ms. Hay said.

Bishop collection at antique show

An exhibit of fine American folk art and Shaker furniture will be featured at the third annual Michigan Antiques Show and Sale April 1-3 in the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

Some 75 pieces of folk crafts and Shaker furniture will be in the special exhibit, part of the personal collection of Robert Bishop, director of the Museum of American Folk Art in New York City.

Margaret Brusher, who manages the show in cooperation with the University of Michigan "M" Club, says, "Dr. Bishop's loan exhibit is very impressive."

"His collection of fine paintings, carvings and furniture has been gathered from all parts of the country," she said.

"One of the most intriguing aspects of folk art is the way it varies through each region of the country."

"IT IS A DIRECT result of the different ethnic backgrounds of the settlers who established permanent colonies in each section," said Bishop who was museum editor for Greenfield Village before assuming the New York position March 1.

He says the faultless workmanship in the Shaker furniture reflects the group's deep religious faith and extraordinary spiritual dedication.

The Bishop display will contain a six-foot hand carved wooden fish decoy used as a lure by ice fishermen around the turn of the century, other fish and frog decoys, and a pet's carved marble gravemarker.

The furniture in the exhibit will include an 1835 New England painted and decorated bed with matching dome-top trunk, a Shaker candlestand and Shaker sewing table, both on tripod bases. There will be a Queen Anne table with button feet, a painted and grained blanket chest with drawers, and a mantel from the Otterbein community in Lebanon, Ohio.

pod bases. There will be a Queen Anne table with button feet, a painted and grained blanket chest with drawers, and a mantel from the Otterbein community in Lebanon, Ohio.

THE 63 DEALERS in the show will offer "an exceptional variety of museum quality furniture and accessories," according to Mrs. Brusher.

Some will be making their first appearance in the Midwest. A partial list of their wares includes Shaker, period and country furniture; early porcelain, pottery and stoneware; samplers, quilts and coverlets and other textiles; American and English signed pewter; and a quantity of jewelry and silver.

There will be collectors edition books; early lighting devices; many oils, prints, watercolors and fraktur by Krebs.

A dealer from Paris, France will feature pine furniture, French porcelain, woodware and brass. Another will bring 17th and 18th century-country English furniture and accessories.

One dealer will have only fine early quilts. There will be a specialist in Shaker and early tools.

REVIEWERS HAVE RATED the Michigan Antiques Show and Sale among the top annual shows in the nation.

Hours of the sale are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Crisler Arena is located at Stadium and Main Street in Ann Arbor. It can be reached by turning north from Exit 175, the Ann Arbor-Saline Road exit of I-94. Admission is $2.

Items in the Robert Bishop collection which will be on display at the antiques show and sale will be a fireplace surround by a pair of Shaker chairs and footstool from Mt. Lebanon, N.Y., a portrait of a child by William Matthew Prior from the 1830s, duck decoys, a late 19th century whirligig and a carving of an eagle inscribed "peace and plenty."

AAUW considers art, millage

Artist Michael Church announced his plans to leave Michigan at a farewell lecture to the Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women.

Ill health has forced him to seek the warmer climate of Florida. He will close his Ann Arbor Studio in May.

He is an accomplished artist, photographer, writer and musician. With these talents and dedication, he gained national prominence as an art lecturer, show juror and critic. Until his retirement last year, Church was director of Cultural activities in the University of Michigan Extension Service.

His list of credits also include service under six governors and various commissions. He was on many steering committees which aided in the establishment of more than a dozen Michigan Art Centers.

Church led in the development of the state's first art council, the forerunner of today's Michigan Council for the Arts.

"Through art, we might better acquaint ourselves with the beauty which surrounds us each day," He told the AAUW members. "The music of traffic on a busy boulevard or the brilliant hues of the dandelion can be esthetically appealing. And we don't have to search for them in museum galleries."

The U-M Bentley Library has received a number of Church's slides and lectures for its art files.

Paintings, books and manuscripts in his collection are being sold before he closes his studio at 1712 Dunmore Avenue, Ann Arbor. Persons interested in seeing the works should call 665-6674 for an appointment.

She discussed the extended school year (ESY), the 45-15 scheduling which divides students into four tracts. Each tract attends school for nine weeks and then has a three-week vacation.

Her discussion made it clear that the election will require well-informed voters. Further details will be discussed in this newspaper before the election. Voters also can call the school board office or board members for answers to pertinent questions.

GAYLE WEAST just returned from her Christmas present. The trip to Hawaii was a gift from her husband, Norm.

The couple flew to the islands with a tour group. They visited Hilo, Waikiki and the big island of Hawaii with several new acquaintances. They viewed Mauna Loa, one of the volcanoes responsible for the islands' physical development. They also spent time in the lovely orchid gardens which are in abundance due to the tropical temperatures and the lava soil composition.

They were reminded of another portion of history when they visited Pearl Harbor. Not all their time was given to the pursuit of knowledge. They enjoyed the beach and several night club floorshows including the Diamonds and Don Ho.

The Weast children, Laura and Mary Beth, stayed at home in Holiday Park subdivision with relatives.

According to Gayle, Norm usually does his Christmas shopping Dec. 24. With that in mind, the family is wondering how dad will top this year's surprise.

Korte-Lazarowicz

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Korte of Warren Road, Canton Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen, to Dennis Lazarowicz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lazarowicz of Westland.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She attended Western Michigan University and is employed by the Automobile Club of Michigan. Her fiancé graduated from Cody High School in 1971 and works for Chrysler Corporation.

They plan a July wedding in First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Girl Scout lodge plans announced

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has announced plans to construct a $112,000 lodge at Camp Crawford, a 50-acre campsite on Crane Road south of Ypsilanti.

The first building of the camp facility will be approximately 3,200 square feet and contain kitchen, bathroom, and activity rooms for 50 girls and adults. A four-room caretaker apartment will comprise one wing of the lodge.

Construction is possible because of a $55,000 capital funds grant from the United Foundation of Detroit.

Architectural drawings are scheduled to be completed by early summer with ground-breaking by midsummer and completion planned for early next year.

Plans will incorporate ideas from drawings submitted by scouts over the past six months describing their thoughts on the ideal camp.

THE 455,000 GRANT is to be funded by a capital funds drive conducted by the United Foundation of Detroit this spring in which only Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County companies, corporations and foundations will be contacted.

Of this year's $55,000 award, $40,000 has been allocated for the Camp Crawford structure with the remaining going for improvements at Camp Hilltop and Camp Linden.

"For our girl scouts in the eastern part of the council area, Camp Crawford is our most convenient campsite," said Jo Stevens, executive director of the council. "The new lodge will make it possible for the camp to be enjoyed year-round. It also will be used as a training center for our 3,000 adult volunteers."

The camp was named for Mildred Crawford, an Ypsilanti school teacher who was a troop leader from 1924 until her death in 1956.

The Huron Valley Council receives operating funds each year from the Detroit Torch Drive, the Plymouth Community Fund, the Washtenaw United Way, and nine other area United Ways.

Turn in vouchers

Persons who have exchange vouchers for the April 1 or 2 performances of "Jest Foolin'" must turn them in to receive reserved seat tickets.

The Detroit Edison Box Office, corner Main and Ann Arbor Trail, has an auditorium seating plan and tickets.

Nancy Sharp of the Plymouth Community Arts Council says, "Vouchers are not tickets. They must be exchanged."

Lamaze classes

The Livonia Lamaze Association is offering classes in prenatal care each Thursday evening.

The classes run from 7-9 p.m. in St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia.

The cost for the four classes is $3 per person.

For further information, or to register, call Mrs. Yvonne Bouchard, 13990 Jackson, Plymouth, 459-3753.

Girl Scouts paper drive

Cadette Troop 411 has decided to launch another paper drive because of the success of its March 19 venture.

Newspapers can be dropped off April 2 at 9314 Sheldon Road. For pickup call either of the troop's co-leaders—JoEllen Odom, 453-5913, or Carol Scruggs, 453-5505.

The troop is part of the Smith School Cluster.

The cadettes have received council approval of their plan to join a wagon train June 18 for a week's journey in North Dakota.

As part of the Fort Seward Wagon Train they will travel from Jamestown north to the James River and on to Big Rock.

In preparation for the trip, they will study the history of the area and make their own pioneer-type dresses to wear on the trek.

The paper drive is a fund-raiser to help pay for the wagon train vacation.

Regulars returning to Stratford

One of Canada's leading actors, Douglas Rain, will return to Stratford (Ont.) this summer to appear as Jean in "Miss Julie." The actor has distinguished himself in close to 40 roles for the festival, most recently as Angelo in the 1976 "Measure for Measure."

Artistic Director Robin Phillips has announced further casting of key roles in the anniversary season.

Ontario-born Jack Wetherall, young Canadian actor who scored a hit last summer as Ferdinand in "The Tempest," will play Orlando to Maggie Smith's Rosalind in the Stratford Festival's 1977 production of "As You Like It." As announced earlier, the actor will also be seen as Demetrius in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Casting for "As You Like It" will also include Ian White as Jaques du Boys. Not previously announced for the festival season, White is an actor whose roles have taken him from London's West End to African villages in Rhodesia. Shakespeare roles have included Guildenstern to Alan Bates' "Hamlet," Oberon and Orsino in London's Regent's Park, and Petruchio, among many others.

IN CANADA, he has appeared in major roles at the National Arts Centre and Manitoba Theatre Centre and with regional theaters in Vancouver, Calgary and Barrie. His roles at Stratford will also include Old Capulet in "Romeo and Juliet."

In his first season at the festival, 1977 National Theatre School graduate Robert Ruttan will be seen as Oliver in the Shakespeare comedy and as Clarence in "Richard III."

One of the mainstays of the festival acting company for more than 12 years, Barry MacGregor will be seen in key roles in two productions this year: As Theseus Oberon in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and as Dogberry in "Much Ado About Nothing." The versatile actor has many characterizations to his credit, among them Al-gernon in "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Trinculo in "The Tempest" in 1976 and Antipholus of Ephesus in "The Comedy of Errors" in 1975. He is also festival company manager.

Other casting for the season will include Lewis Gordon, who was announced earlier as Puck in the "Dream," as Don Pedro in "Much Ado," Paul Batten, who has been announced as Tybalt in "Romeo and Juliet," will be seen as Claudio in "Much Ado." Another young Canadian actor, Tom Wood, will appear as Richmond in "Richard III."

This is an additional role for Wood who has been announced as Lavache in "All's Well That Ends Well" and Simon in "Hay Fever."

The 1977 acting company will also include festival newcomers Karen Austin, Roger Barton, Christopher Britton, Peter Donaldson, Richard Hardacre, Francois-Regis Klanfer, Dion McHugh, Richard McMillan, Marylu Moyer, John Pollard, Barbara Stewart, Colleen Wagner and John White, together with Keith Batten who is back at Stratford for his fourth summer.

Meadow Brook sets pops lineup

Count Basie, Kris Kristofferson, Helen Reddy and Ella Fitzgerald will headline Meadow Brook Music Festival's popular entertainment series this summer.

In addition to the usual Friday nights being set aside for pop music, Meadow Brook will offer some popular mid-week concerts.

The New Orleans sound of the Preservation Jazz band will kick off the mid-week concerts on Wednesday, July 22.

Kristofferson will appear Tuesday, Aug. 9. Andy Williams will wrap up the season on Saturday and Sunday of Labor Day weekend.

THE REGULAR FRIDAY series will open with Ella Fitzgerald and Count Basie and his band on June 24.

Other Friday performers are:

- Jazz pianist Oscar Peterson and Dizzie Gillespie, July 1
 - Soft rockers England Dan and John Ford Coley, July 8
 - Stan Kenton and orchestra, July 15
 - Grammy award winner for "Bel-lavia," Chuck Mangione, July 22
 - Gordon McRae, Rosemary Clooney and the Four Lads, July 29
 - The Wolverines Classic Jazz Orchestra, the Marian McPartland trio and Lionel Hampton and his quartet in a jazz jamboree, Aug. 5
 - Maynard Ferguson and Buddy Rich and their bands, Aug. 12
 - Helen Reddy, Aug. 26
- Meadow Brook is still in the process of contracting for other appearances.

Ship to sail around world

Holland America Cruises has announced that the SS Rotterdam will sail on its 20th annual Around-the-World cruise in 1978, departing from New York Jan. 17, from Pt. Everglades Jan. 19, and from Los Angeles Feb. 2, 1978.

The company's flagship, for the first time, will sail in a westward direction through the Panama Canal via California to Hawaii and Japan and will feature "springtime in the Mediterranean" with calls at 23 ports in 20 countries on the 87-day cruise from New York.

Ports of call include Curacao; Cartagena, Colombia; Christobal and Balboa, Canal Zone; Singapore; Colombo, Sri Lanka; Bombay; Djibouti, (French Colony) Afars and Issas; Suez and Alexandria; Haifa; Piraeus, Greece; Naples; Villefranche, France; Malaga, Spain; Casablanca; and Funchal in the Madeira Islands.

Rates range from $8,105 to $23,865 (for outside double deluxe cabins). The 38,000-ton liner returns to Pt. Everglades April 12 and to New York April 14, 1978.

More than 100 shore excursions ranging from a few hours to several days overland are being planned and will be announced soon. A brochure describing the cruise is available at your travel agent or from Holland America Cruises, 2 Penn Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10001.

Ailey's back

Alvin Ailey and his American Dance Theatre, including ballerina Judith Jamison, will take the Music Hall stage March 30-April 3. They have been billed as the dance troupe that can fill the Music Hall more easily than any other dance attraction. Ticket reservations can be made by calling 963-7680.

Ladies' Dept.

Ralph Klomprens of the Plainfield Shop in Grand Rapids, welcomes you to stop at the shop.

BARBER SHOPS add to the list of one-stop shopping convenience found at most Meijer Thrifty Acres.

USUALLY LOCATED on the balcony, our barber shop customers can get their hair cut, while other family members shop. Haircuts are convenient, saving on gas required to make a second stop and saving time as well.

REGULAR HAIRCUTS are available and at the same locations, styling including layer cuts and radial cuts is featured.

SPECIALISTS in their trade, the barber stylists attend seminars to update their knowledge and skills. A calm spot in a busy store, the barber shop is a friendly place to visit, get a haircut, and accomplish two tasks, a haircut and shopping in one stop.

COME IN ANYTIME and get acquainted with Ralph and the other barbers at Thrifty Acres locations, except Greenville, Grand Haven, Ionia, Holland and the Gull Road Store in Kalamazoo. The barber shop is just one more good reason to shop at Meijer.

WE WELCOME YOU to take advantage of this and our other specialty shops and services available.

THERE'S NOTHING FUNNY ABOUT BEING SICK

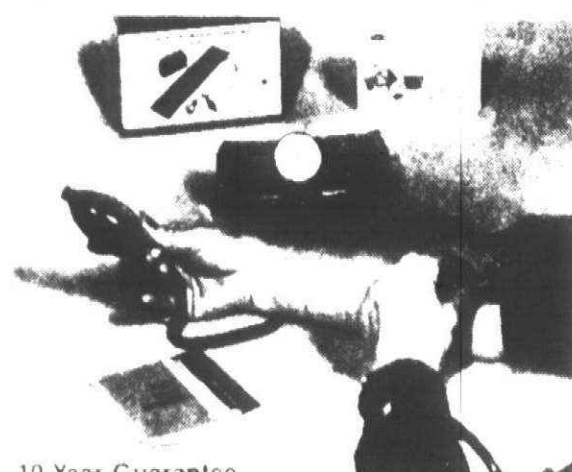

Nothing. Not the time lost from your job. Not the way you feel. Not even the "humorous" get-well cards your funny friends keep sending you. But the unfunniest thing of all is the high cost of getting well again.

Of course, you can fight the high cost of getting well the same way you fight the high cost of living. Next time you're at your Meijer Thrifty Acres saving money, just stop over at the Pharmacy Department and have your prescriptions filled there. That should help a little bit. And every little bit helps.

check your BLOOD PRESSURE at home...

with this simple to use Home Blood Pressure Monitoring Kit.

10 Year Guarantee

About 25 million Americans suffer from high blood pressure. NOW you can monitor your own blood pressure regularly in the privacy of your own home. This home blood pressure monitoring kit includes all professional components along with the most complete, step-by-step illustrated instructions. Don't let high blood pressure catch you by surprise.
