Hall groundbreaking hung up

By CRAIG PIECHURA and DARLENE STINSON

With an April 20 deadline for groundbreaking on the $2.7 million township administration building hanging over their heads, Canton officials are becoming uneasy.

The proposed three-story structure is one story higher than the township's zoning ordinance allows, which apparently means it must receive a zoning variance from the township's zoning board of appeals.

But which board of appeals is the question. No one has determined yet which of two boards claiming to be the legally-appointed ZBA is legal.

Twenty days ago township trustees asked members of the two disputed ZBAs to postpone any hearings on zoning variances until Wayne Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald decides which board is legal.

The groundbreaking deadline is threatened because one of the nine defendants in the suit filed by Supervisor Harold Stein and Gary Sands says he will wait the full 20 days to respond to the allegations.

Ex-Supervisor Robert Greenstein, the defendant, says it will be April 19 before the court can hear the dispute.

Greenstein adds that Canton could have its variance if township officials would reinstate the original five ZBA members he appointed.

"If Stein drops his lawsuit against us and reinstates us to our proper position on the ZBA, we'll give him the variance," Greenstein said. "Their troubles will be over.

"But I'm afraid that Stein's personal vendetta against the original ZBA and his ego may very well cost the township nearly $3 million in federal funds. And that's crazy."

Trustee Brian Schwall called Greenstein's suggestion "political blackmail." But Schwall said he doesn't know what the board will do to secure the variance in time for groundbreaking.

Howls of protest greeted Supervisor Stein's suggestion Tuesday night that trustees permit the ZBA he appointed to meet "just this once" to approve the variance for the township.

Greenstein said a ruling by Stein's ZBA could jeopardize the federal grant.

CONTROVERSY BEGAN the minute the first ZBA was appointed last September by Greenstein.

In order to comply with a 1976 state law requiring at least a five-member ZBA, five men were appointed, on a 4-3 vote, to the Canton ZBA. Greenstein, who had lost in his attempt at re-election, appointed himself, Jim Donahue, Robert Miller, John Burdziak and Tom Quinn.

William Sempliner, one of the township's lawyers, said he told Greenstein in August that Canton had to amend its local ordinance, changing board membership from three to five. Sempliner is representing Stein and Sands in the suit, which Stein says he'll pay for personally.

Greenstein contended that the state law automatically superceded any local ordinance and that an amendment was not a necessity as long as there were five people on the ZBA. Last month Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley concurred with Greenstein's opinion.

BUT ON Jan. 25, Canton board members voted to change the local ordinance to call for a five-member ZBA.

On Feb. 8, they ousted the Greenstein group and appointed Gary Sands the ZBA chairman along with Robert Padget, Trustee Gene Daley, Kathy Prince and William Gilmore.

All trustees except Robert Myers voted to replace the Greenstein ZBA, which they said was illegally appointed because the local ordinance in effect when they were appointed was in conflict with state law.

The most recent attorney general's opinion stating that the original ZBA appointments were "perfectly proper" is as good as law unless a judge overturns it, Greenstein claims.

"IF THE board lets the second ZBA approve the zoning variance for the administration building, the federal government may discover that board was not the legal board. Our whole federal grant could be blown out the window," Stein said.

Township Atty. Bert Burgoyne has been directed to find out if Canton is immune from its own zoning requirements and if the township has a "legal and ethical" responsibility to pay the legal fees for the defense of the Greenstein ZBA.

Stein said he wasn't about to do anything until Burgoyne reports back to the board on the question of whether Canton may be immune from its height restriction.

A one-room schoolhouse could be Canton museum

It should be quite a study in contrasts—a modern three-story municipal building located next to a 19th century one-room schoolhouse.

The Canton Center Schoolhouse, built about 1885, is being eyed as a historical museum by the Canton Historical Society. The Canton Township Board of Trustees last week forwarded a request to the Plymouth Community Schools in an effort to purchase the building at a nominal fee.

"This is the only one-room schoolhouse in Canton that still stands in its own old glory," says Mary Hauh, a member of the historical society board of directors. "The Cherry Hill school was remodeled when Henry Ford made it into a factory. But the Canton Center School's outside has not been touched. It has the original bell steeple and we're looking for a bell."

"We would like to acquire the school," Flodin said. "Mike Gorman (deputy treasurer) is looking into the possibility of getting a federal grant to preserve the building and start a museum."

Classes were held in Canton Center School at Canton Center Road and Proctor for almost 70 years until 1954 when Plymouth Commmunity Schools consolidated with much of Canton. Kindergarten through eighth grade was taught there. The historical society is currently interviewing some of the women who taught at the school house over the years—and claim to have contacted a woman who taught there 63 years ago.

"Whatever we put together has to be historically correct," said Mrs. Hauk. "That's why we're interviewing people who were around then and digging through records. Every fact we check and double check. It'll be quite a project."

Mrs. West of the historical society knows some of the history of the school because her children attended the school.

"I remember one teacher, Mrs. Marie Cox of Ypsilanti, taught there for quite a while," Mrs. West said. "She taught at Allen School too when the one-room schoolhouse closed."

There had been talk from the school district about possibly moving Canton Center School to the Centennial Farms next to the high school. But Ralls, Hamill, Becker and Carne, architects for the municipal building, have said the old brick will not withstand the move.

John Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth Community Schools, said he had just received word of Canton's plans and couldn't comment on the possibility of the school selling the school.

"At one time the school district talked about making the Canton Center School into a museum," Hoben said. "Then there was talk about relocating it to the farm, making it into a library, but it never got out of the talk stage."

Hoben said Canton Center School is being leased to the township for $1 a year but says the school has no immediate plans to sell the site.

"The school may want to preserve Canton Center School as an old-time one-room schoolhouse for the same reason Canton wants it."

Another one-room schoolhouse owned by the school district in Salem Township, called South Salem Stone School, is of concern to the school board. Some members of the township board want it razed while various members of the community would like to see it restored. Hough School at Warren Haggerty (a two-room school) is being rented by a co-op nursery.

The old Truesdell School, now occupied by the alternate school New Morning, will revert to the school district next year, according to Hoben. It will be a kindergarten school. And Geer Elementery—at Gottfredson and Ann Arbor Road—is still operating as a one-room school. This year 24 children in grades one to five were taught and Hoben expects 45 students next September.

Teacher's pact mixed in problems

Both sides met late Friday afternoon in a problem solving session to see if that approach would lead to a negotiated settlement between the school board and teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. But the session didn't work.

The PEA team left the meeting still planning to hold a general membership meeting of teachers Wednesday afternoon to take a vote on ratifying a contract. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High.

Norm Kee, chief negotiator for the school board, and members of the PEA bargaining team met Friday afternoon at Kee's call to see if steps could be taken to get both sides back to the table to discuss the unresolved issues needed for a settlement. After that session, Kee met with members of the school board to update them on the status of negotiations.

DERALD MCKINLEY, chief negotiator for the PEA, said the union leadership still believes agreement on all issues had been reached verbally with Kee and teachers have a contract upon which they can vote.

If teachers vote to ratify that contract, it will then be forwarded for ratification to the school board which quite likely won't ratify because it doesn't recognize the instrument as a negotiated contract.

Kee stresses there is no final negotiated agreement for the teachers to ratify. "We still have issues to negotiate and a master agreement won't be forthcoming until both sides get back to the bargaining table."

THE CONTRACT teachers will vote upon Wednesday includes items which Kee and McKinley agreed to verbally on March 20.

"After the negotiations were completed, after some 22 hours, Kee simply refused to sign the pile of tentative agreements which we all verbally agreed to. But because the issues were negotiated, and verbal agreement reached, we have included these

Springtime at museum

It's springtime at the Plymouth Historical Museum, Main Street at Church in Plymouth.

The stores in the Street of Shops are bedecked with flowers and there's a new tree in full blossom.

The museum is open from 1-4 p.m. Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is adults, $1; ages 12-17, 50 cents; and children ages 5-11, 25 cents.

Recall forms on the streets

Petitions for the recall of Supervisor Harold Stein started circulating door-to-door last Monday in Canton Township.

Peter Bundarin, unsuccessful Republican candidate for supervisor in 1976, said he expects enough signatures will be obtained before the end of this week to force a recall election. Bundarin said he is "legal advisor" to the group seeking Stein's ouster. He said Peter Gabbert is the leader of the recall drive.

Gabbert was out of the state for the weekend and unavailable for comment.

To force a recall election 1,243 valid, registered voters must sign the official petitions.

ROBERT GREENSTEIN, ex-supervisor of Canton who lost in a write-in attempt last November, said Thursday he believes Stein will be recalled. He refuses to actively support the recall drive because not enough elected officials are named in the recall drive. He would prefer to have Treasurer Anna Bradley, and trustees Brian Schwall and Gene Daley removed too.

"In my opinion Stein isn't fit to hold office for 10 minutes," Greenstein claimed, "but Bradley, Daley and Schwall are just as bad. I have no moral criticism with what Bundarin is doing, I just find fault with his timing and his scope.

"Should they file recall papers against all four, then I'd support it," Greenstein said. "But just recalling Stein will still leave us with that crazy treasurer, the sheriff (Daley) and Schwall."

Greenstein said he fears that if Stein is recalled, Trustee Robert Myers will be the swing vote on the board "and I'm not ready for that," he said.

Bundarin cleared up the whispers about recall last week when he admitted he was the one who picked up 6,000 recall petitions from the Wayne County Office of Elections.

The petitions list five charges against Stein:

1. "He is seeking to have the Canton Board of Trustees rescind the Master Land Use Plan.

2. "He has refused to support the interest of homeowners from incompatible land uses that will undermine the property values of their homes.

3. " He has initiated the removal of a professional police officer (Carl Silvers) over Canton's police force without providing a suitable replacement.

4. " He has failed to fulfill his campaign pledge to make Canton's township government open and not hold secret meetings.

5. "He has undermined the effectiveness of his study commissions when they have taken direction opposite from that which he wanted."

Bundarin acknowledges that he discussed the idea of forming a recall coalition with Greenstein and said the plan broke down over an argument about how many of the officials should be recalled.

"No one likes a recall," Bundarin said Friday, "including myself. But the buck stops here with the supervisor. He dictates most township policy. If we went for more it would look like a political vendetta by Stein's previous opponents. We're not after any bloodbath."

Stein's replied curtly, "If they think they've got enough support, let's do it."

Phone equipment purchased for hall

The latest in telephone equipment will link offices in Canton's new administration building with each other and the outside world.

Township trustees last week approved purchase of the solid-state, computerized system, after listening to a presentation by a Michigan Bell representative.

Equipment for the system will cost the township $30,394. Installation costs are set at $1,075, while programming the system's computer will run $4,814. Monthly service charges are $385 under a three-year contract.

Mike Gorman, Canton's deputy treasurer, said the township's $2.7 million federal grant for the administration building may cover the system's installation and programming costs.

According to Gorman, the township pays $800 a month for the present Comkey telephone system in township hall. Monthly fees for the new system will be less, because township board members agreed to pay installation and programming costs in one lump sum to Michigan Bell.

Trustee Robert Myers cast the only vote against purchasing the new telephone system. Myers has consistently opposed construction of the new administration building.

A Michigan Bell representative listed numerous features of the computerized system, including a variety of rings that prioritize calls; beeps on occupied lines to indicate someone is waiting; the ability to eliminate unauthorized calls by restricting service to certain areas; and a "hold" system that brings "on-hold" calls back to the switchboard every 30 seconds.

The system will link all departments of township government, including those not located in the new structure.

STOP THE PRESS?

The rising costs of newsprint is an added burden to the already financially strapped school newspapers at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools. Another problem, at least for one of the schools, is low number of students on the staffs. But will these dual problems be enough to stop the presses at the Centennial Educational Park? That question is explored in an in-depth report on Page 3A.

Bagging leaves

City of Plymouth homeowners who didn't get their leaves out last fall for pick-up will have to put them in plastic bags and set them out at the curb on their regular refuse pick up day.

Residents may purchase heavy-duty plastic bags from the city at $7 per hundred. These may be obtained either at the DPW Yard, 975 Arthur, or from the fire department at Plymouth City Hall, 201 S. Main.

Student weekly radio listings

April 5—Bob Claeer, director of the Native American Indian Heritage and Culture Center, is interviewed on a WSDP feature interview. During the program, Claeer discusses the Title IV program now underway at Central Middle School.

April 7—Throughout the day WSDP will feature special programs celebrating both Good Friday and Easter. Specific times of programs will be aired throughout the day.

APRIL 7—WSDP will sign-off the air for Easter vacation. The station will return on the air Monday, April 18.

SPEAK OUT: STP—Is It Working?

By John Dobcsak

"The energies of the school personnel can quickly be dissipated if all-out campaigns on both attendance and discipline are launched." This is recommendation number 6 of the Wayne State Study completed in 1976. From this recommendation and information of the 1975-76 freshman advisor-advisee came the input for developing the student teacher planning program.

In a recent study formulated by Centennial Education Park staff slightly more than 70 percent of the teachers surveyed supported the basic goal of the S.T.P. program. However, 64 percent thought it wasn't accomplishing its goal of improving the teaching-learning process. In fact only one out of four teachers believed it has improved student behavior.

The study revealed that some 60 percent of the teachers who are an important part to making S.T.P. work want it discontinued.

If the teachers agree with the basic idea of S.T.P. why do teachers want S.T.P. discontinued?

In another survey by C.E.P. educational aides and security personnel each checked five students for their S.T.P. form, results, 30 percent of the students either didn't have their S.T.P. forms or were in a place other than specified on their S.T.P. forms.

Mr. Brown defines S.T.P. as "a combined effort between teachers and students and parents in planning their unscheduled time." As shown in the preceding paragraphs teachers are uncertain and question S.T.P., this and students' casual obedience. S.T.P. would appear not to be succeeding in its function.

The Wayne State Study, the advisor-advisee of last year and groups like concerned parents and citizens advisory group is what Mr. Brown contributes as the reasons for S.T.P. The Wayne State study suggested all-out campaigns on attendance and discipline but S.T.P. is not accomplishing this. The Advisor-Advisee only concerned freshmen and S.T.P. is improving behavior and attendance among them but for grades 10, 11, and 12-it does work. So it seems concerned parents and citizens advisory group with its membership of parents is the reason for S.T.P. continuation among sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Is STP just an appeasement to the parents who hear only the negative and want stronger restrictions placed on the students?

STP among seniors has already been compromised. Seniors with a good grade point average can decide not to follow their STP.

If a system for improving students' unscheduled time is needed perhaps a system involving more input from all concerned is necessary for making the program function smoothly. At any rate it would seem aprious evaluation of the program is needed. So that the program can learn from both its strength and weakness.

Dave Champion working out with J.V. Coach Mr. Phillips for the State meet held February 26-27. Champion and Ronne Lelut placed in the top 15 in the recent state competition.

The Centicore staff would like to put out a student Literary newspaper at the end of May. It will consist of poetry, prose, essays, short stories, photos and drawings. If you have anything to contribute, please place the article, with your name attached, in the special library box or submit it to Mr. Siedleman. Deadline is April 25 and there is no basic theme. Thank you.

Rockettes prepare for their annual show that will be held this year March 25 and 26.

It's the Same Old Song and Dance

By Linda Bar

It's the "Same Old Song and Dance" for the 1976-77 Plymouth Salem Rockettes as they host their annual show this March 25 and 26.

The Rocketttes, directed by Mrs. Debbie Teichman, will perform on stage to songs such as "Rock 'n Roll Music", "Steppin' Time", "Blind Feelings", and their theme song, "Same Old Song and Dance" by Aerosmith. The Junior and Sophomore Rocketttes Perform their own routine to "Your Still the One" while Senior Rocketttes, Karen Habermas, Cindy Kay, Terri Kohler, Jan Matthews, Sue McCormick, Missy Moon, Corrinne Tallman, Ann Stirton, and Cathy Mann perform the traditional 'Mini Bods'.

Along with the Rocketttes, various acts have auditioned. Some of them performing in the show are Mike Hees and Mary Harsh singing "Everything I Own", Bill Heiney and his Magic Show, and Sandy Neu singing "My Song" with accompaniment Jane Rosbolt on flute. These acts along with various others help to put the show together and run smoothly.

In preparation for the upcoming show the Rocketttes practice everyday after school from 2:40-4:30. They will supply their own costumes for the show. Tickets are $1.50 for students and $2.00 for adults.

Smoking Club Aimed at Elementary Kids

By Tim J. Cooney

Smoking has been a spreading menace among teenagers for the past twenty years. Due to this teachers at Centennial Park are trying to cure smokers before it's to late. Mr. Faber and Mrs. Spradling have headed up a non smoking club, along with Senior Mark Bosche. All Canton and Salem students are welcome to join the committee but they must be people who don't smoke or would like to quit smoking.

The club's initial start was last year in the P.C.E.P., and has been going ever since, they are organized and are sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

"Livonia Bentley High School has pioneered the whole thing, and got it started," stated staff advisor Mr. Faber.

"We are most interested in concentrating on kids that are in the elementary age bracet," continued Mr. Faber.

Also according to Mr. Faber, kids are very impressionable, and it's essential to make them aware of the health aspects involved with smoking.

"Our goal is not aimed at high school kids at all, it is more important to aim at elementary kids that are much younger."

We can do this by presentation through slides and cartoons, demonstrating that smoking will hurt them in the long run," stated Mr. Faber.

The smoking committee will be showing slides and giving presentations in the high schools for quite some time. They have attended all middle and elementary schools in Plymouth, giving presentations, and they are trying their best to spread the word about smoking to kids that are younger and don't know better.

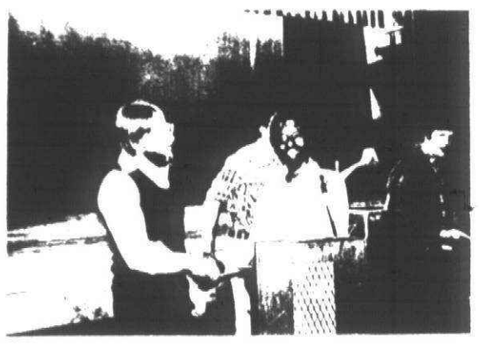

Voter Registration

All Centennial Park students who will be 18 by April 23 are urged to register for voting on Tuesday, March 15, 9:30-11:00 a.m. Registration tables will be located in the Upper Commons area near the 2nd floor general office.

The local chapter of The League of Women Voters is coordinating this registration effort with the Salem senior Government classes.

City of Plymouth residents as well as those from the Townships of Plymouth and Canton may use this service.

If registered, students will be able to vote in the April 23rd School District election and future elections.

Gambian Talks Of Real Africa

[illegible] Bruce Soma, a native of Gambia, West Africa, spoke to several classes on March 8. Soma, who is currently attending [illegible] State University, touched on several topics, including his reaction to the current [illegible].

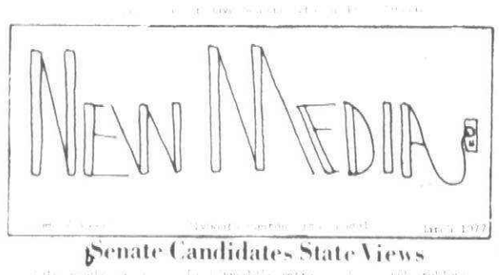

Soma, 25, came to the states in 1972, [illegible] Indiana College in Indiana. There, he studied for two and a half years, obtaining his bachelor's degree in political science. [illegible] he earned a master's degree in political philosophy. He is currently [illegible] an historical philosophy [illegible].

Speaking of a "very little known, [illegible] the English colonization of Africa in the 19th century, and the African reaction to British control. According to Soma, the British controlled everything from clothing to meat, use to function socially, even salt [illegible] to eat. Finally, Gambians began to resist the British rule, and gained independence in 1965. Soma spoke bitterly of the colonization, and stressed the British oppression of the blacks. Speaking on the current troubles in South Africa, Soma noted that "the situation is the worst in the entire history of colonization". South Africa, which has a population of four million whites and 20 million blacks, is under white minority rule.

Soma talked of Alex Haley's eight[illegible] novel, "Roots", in which Haley traces his ancestors back to Gambia. Saying that "it was really exciting to see ROOTS on the TV", Soma noted that the Kinte family, whose ancestor is Kunta Kinte (the main character in Haley's book), reside in the village of Juffure, as did [illegible] over 200 years ago. The Kinte family are members of the Mandinko tribe, which makes up 80% of the Gambian population. The estimated population is 600,000. Soma himself speaks fluent Mandinko.

Soma's main goal in the lecture was to give an accurate picture of Africa and its people. "Most Americans believe we live in trees with animals," joked Soma, trying to destroy the belief that Africans are a backward people.

Concluding, Soma said, "I hope all of us will leave...with a different idea of Africa."

McKinley also objected to claims that the PEA has refused to give up anything in negotiations.

"There is no language in the contract on class size. A number of our teachers are upset about this, but that's one of the issues the PEA gave in on to get a settlement.

"On extended school year (ESY), our team first agreed to allow the board to implement ESY at six schools in three years. We then agreed to ESY at 10 schools, which is in the tentative agreement of March 20 which Kee didn't sign, and later gave in some more and agreed to ESY at 12 schools in the next three years.

"We also gave in and agreed we wouldn't insist on air conditioning at schools being used for ESY but would ask only for climate control so the buildings would be properly ventilated. We did this to help save the school district money.

"On schedule D we agreed to a per diem pay for counselors instead of a stipend, and agreed to grandfathering all other teachers receiving stipends for special duties. Thus, in all categories on schedule D the district could eliminate the stipends for new hires.

"On health insurance, the PEA agreed to wait until the second year of the contract for dental coverage to save the district money during the first year. That written agreement, which Kee didn't sign, stated all other fringes would remain the same as in the last contract. There was absolutely no mention or hint of a cap on the health insurance premium.

"We also agreed we'd work with the administration to see if adequate insurance coverage could be obtained, at a cheaper cost to the district, by switching carriers.

"All of the above concessions by the PEA, plus others, are included in the contract we will ask our members to ratify Wednesday. That ought to show how serious we were about giving in to reach a settlement."

MCKINLEY showed the copy of the agreement on the economic package signed March 15 by himself, Kee, Sam Ulsaker, Candi Reece and Bill Bartlett.

"That agreement on economics will remain on the table as a tentative agreement. There's no way that offer can be withdrawn. After it was signed, we negotiated all other issues and reached a settlement. Kee's refusal to sign his name to those agreements doesn't alter the fact we had reached agreement on all issues. Ratification is the next logical step and that's what the PEA bargaining team is recommending to teachers.

"What the school board did was to place conditions on a settlement after both sides had reached verbal agreement over the weekend of March 20. The school board tried to inject new issues on matters already agreed to."

Miller's special guests create through inquiry

Two British educators visited Miller Elementary School Friday to demonstrate to teachers the concepts of an "inquiry-based method of teaching."

The educators attempt to sharpen observation skills in art and writing by teaching students to observe, question, study and record stimuli.

Ms. Davis and Taylor have been attending Oakland University workshops.

Stop the press? It's unlikely at CEP in spite of dollar woes

By GLENN BUNTING

The recent massive increase in the number of college students studying journalism schools apparently is not taking roots at the Centennial Educational Park.

Of CEP's 4,000 students, only 43 are enrolled in one-half credit courses responsible for publishing two newspapers.

Spurred by the Woodward and Bernstein Watergate episode, journalism schools are growing across the country at unprecedented rates. According to national statistics, there are currently enough students in journalism schools today to fill every newspaper in the country.

Both newspapers, Centicore of Salem and New Media of Canton, offer contrasts in style and leadership. But one trait both papers share is financial hardship. The costs of operating a high school newspaper are skyrocketing while subsidization is dependent on millage elections and declining school budgets.

Because it is both set in type and printed by the Northville Record, Centicore's annual operating budget exceeds $3,000. The New Media staff, however, types its own publication, which is printed by Hartco of Brazil, Ind. Its budget is an estimated $2,000.

Both papers only receive $1,100 apiece from the schools' activities budget, leaving a sizeable deficit that must be overcome by aggressive advertising sales.

BOTH ADVISORS, John Seidleman of Centicore and Eileen Hewett of New Media, agree that the strain of having to produce advertising dollars hinders the students' capacity to gain a thorough education in journalism.

The Centicore staff sells more than $2,500 annually in advertising revenue. Most of the money is raised at the start of each year when a massive campaign is launched. Although some attention must be paid to local merchants for the remainder of the school year, most accounts take care of themselves, Seidleman said.

"Sure it's a chore to maintain accounts, but it's a responsibility that must be taken care of," Seidleman said. "We're in a position where we cannot operate in the red."

Ms. Hewett's staff relegates the responsibility of ad sales to one staff member. New Media operated at a small deficit last year, in spite of expenses far less than Centicore's.

"We spend a lot of energy putting the paper together," Ms. Hewett said. "It's important for the students to gain experience in the production of a newspaper. Selling ads isn't that high of a priority. We're just happy to sell enough to break even."

There is a fear that the CEP papers may someday follow the trend of area high school publications going under. Livonia Clarenceville's paper went down three years ago, Franklin's is said to be in trouble, and even Madonna College's paper ceased publication a year ago.

THE PROBLEM is that the price of newsprint has tripled in the last decade while activities budgets are the first to feel the pinch when high schools are lacking funds.

Both CEP papers requested and were granted budget hikes to $2,000 for next year, assuming the 5-mill renewal passes. If the millage renewal is defeated, the papers will face 33 per cent budget cuts, according to Bill Brown, principal at Salem High.

This would mean a reduction of $363, lowering the budget to $735. At this rate, both Centicore and New Media would face serious financial difficulties.

"If the millage failed, the school paper would not go under," Brown said. "I think it would mean either a reduction in the number of issues or a cut back in the number of pages."

The papers' financial status is represented by a lack of equipment. Centicore's staff doesn't have a typewriter, while New Media, which types its own paper, owns only one, and must often borrow another from the English department.

The staffs of both publications are organized in contrasting manners. New Media has two staffs of 10 and 20 students that publish alternating editions. Each staff consists of an editor-in-chief, (Chris Torin and Matt Norris) and six page editors of news, editorial, sports, feature, entertainment and creative sections.

CENTICORE, which was named after an Ann Arbor book store, consists of only 13 staff members. Instead of the standard hierarchy approach, the Salem paper uses a team concept. All matters from story assignments to layout are shared by the team.

Both papers, however, have been successful in meeting their monthly deadlines. Seidleman, who considers himself a strict enforcer of deadlines, said that few have been missed in the last four years. Ms. Hewett said for the first time, her students have managed to make every deadline.

Censorship has never been exerted during Seidleman's tenure as Centicore advisor. "Never in my six years have I had pressure, direct or indirect, not to publish a story."

"The opportunity to censor has never really surfaced here. There haven't been any real controversies taken up by the staff. I wonder sometimes, though, about the input of the paper in this area."

New Media, on the other hand, has experienced censorship difficulties in the past. "We have controversial articles," Ms. Hewett said. "The students are usually thinking of issues to be dealt with on the editorial page."

It's Cancer Month

The month of April has been designated Cancer Month in Canton by proclamation of Supervisor Harold Stein. He pledged support of the American Cancer Society's fund-raising efforts to Peggy MacLachlan, the society's field representative and Vickie Whipple, zone chairwoman of the residential cancer crusade. Wilcox's oak door unhinged

Crimestoppers' textbook says you should lock your door to protect your valuables. But how do you protect your door?

That's the question that has unhinged at least one Plymouth resident.

Jack Wilcox, of 676 Penniman Ave., told Plymouth police Friday that someone had stolen his antique front door. According to Det. Bill Carpenter, the thief or thieves took the pins out of the hinges and made off with the door during the early hours of Thursday morning.

And the door in question is not just any old door. Wilcox said it was built in 1903 out of solid oak with beveled glass windows. "It's a very valuable door. Not only does it have financial value, but to me it has sentimental value. It's irreplaceable."

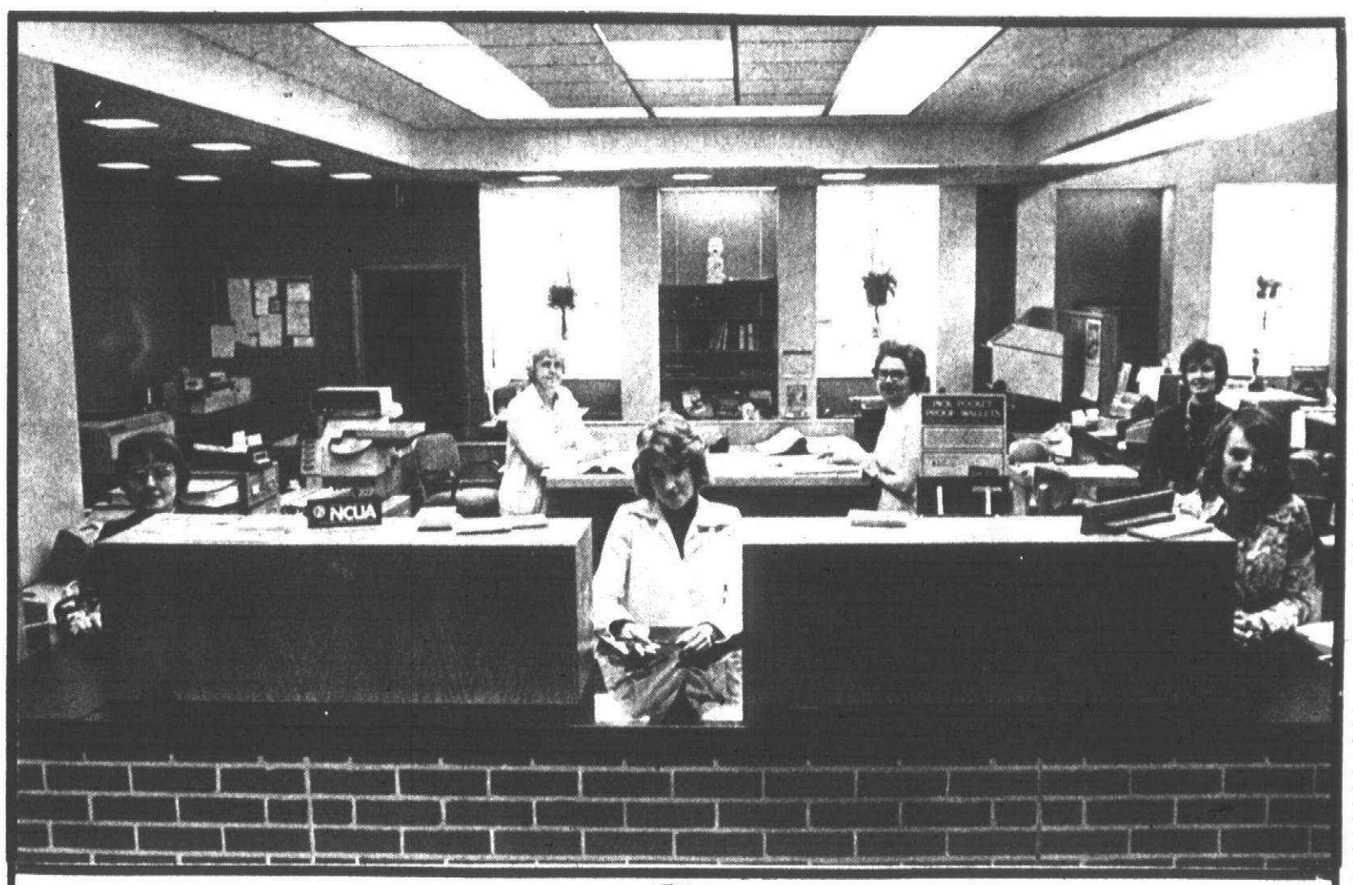

Although police have no leads in the theft, they are theorizing that whoever took the door is planning to sell it to an antique shop.

"We are notifying every antique dealer between here and Ann Arbor to be on the lookout for the door," said Carpenter.

Wilcox, too, has no ideas about who might have taken it. "A lot of people have admired it, and some have offered to buy it, but most of them were hippies."

He added that the missing door was the only one not wired to an electronic surveillance system. "My room is right over the front of the house, and I know I would have been able to hear any noise."

Wilcox was out of town when the theft took place.

The Stroller

Thrill of thrills

By W.W. EDGAR

There are times in a fellow's life which leave him speechless, his body becomes almost numb and he just sits and stares at a sight in almost disbelief.

This is what happened to The Stroller on his first visit to Mount Rushmore when he sat atop the bank and looked across the valley at the four presidents' faces carved in stone.

He sat there for several hours—just looking and on the verge of not believing it was possible.

It happened again when he stood on the overpass at the entrance to Yosemite Valley, where the beauty of the scene was something no artist could paint.

It happened again when he watched Queen Elizabeth review troops and the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, and was repeated at such places as the Canadian Rockies and the ride through the Black Forest enroute to Luzerne, Switzerland.

But the sight that had the most telling effect came just few days ago—right in his hometown.

Several months ago, The Stroller had been told that the City of Livonia was planning to honor him by naming the city's major ice rink the Eddie Edgar Sports Arena. The very thought of this was thrilling.

EVER SINCE THEN, as he strolled along the journalistic trail, he kept wondering just how he would feel on seeing his name on the building that is the mecca for the city's skaters and hockey players.

Then the other afternoon came the call to advise him that workmen had finished placing his name on the building. The big moment had arrived. So off he went, in company with his wife, Leona, to enjoy the sight. And what a sight it was. Both of us just sat there staring at the lettering, and The Stroller's body stiffened just a bit as he sat speechless.

Looking at the large white letters, he couldn't help letting his memory take him back to a morning in the long ago when his widowed mother took him aside and gave him a bit of advice that he has carried through the years.

" Now that your father has gone, you must make up your mind that you can't have what the other boys have. It's going to be hard work, but don't look over the fence. You just make the most of what you have and there will be a lot of enjoyment for you as you grow older."

AND SEATED at his side, Leona, who had been his companion through thick and thin for most of the past half century, maintained silence too.

Without saying a word, The Stroller could tell that she, too, was getting a thrill she little expected when we moved to what was then called "the country" four decades ago.

It falls to the lot of few men to have their name emblazoned on a building in his hometown. But it has happened to The Stroller.

And as the band played at the rededication, and in the midst of the colorful ceremonies, The Stroller was enjoying the greatest thrill of his life.

But he couldn't help recalling what his mother had told him years ago. "You can't have what others have. But make the most of what you have and there'll be plenty of enjoyment for you."

If only she could have been there.

New National Honor Society members are honored at CEP

Some 83 new members of the National Honor Society at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) were honored recently at a special convocation in the little theatre of Plymouth Canton High.

It was the 21st convocation held in the history of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

PRESIDING OVER the convocation was Denise Ruttenberg, president of the NHS.

Musical entertainment was provided by the swing ensemble directed by Betty Weideman. The convocation address was given by Gary Faber, newly-appointed area coordinator in charge of counseling and student activities at the CEP.

All NHS members must meet qualifications in scholarship, leadership, character and service.

NHS members provide several services for the school district and Plymouth-Canton community, including: tutoring services to students having academic difficulty at the CEP; guide services to visitors to the CEP or to new students.

National Honor Society members also collect gifts at Christmas time for needy children (the Methodist Children's Home this year), and raise funds for charity through the faculty talent show.

"By working in these and other areas members of the National Honor Society hope to have a positive impact on their schools and their community," says Miss Ruttenberg.

Fiegel sings

Second and third graders at Fiegel Elementary School put on the production "America Sings" for the entire school March 31 and April 1. The presentation included dancing, singing and skits and ran from the Revolutionary War to the Charleston and Boogie Fever of a later era.

Scott Thiesmeyer portrayed Uncle Sam. Jimmy Calahan is the boxer flanked by two doctors, Jenny Stevenson (left) and Julie Winneur. Handing out programs, in colonial attire, is Cheryl Roessler.

Don't rap everyone with CEP problems

Editor:

The letter in Thursday's Observer "Dropout tells problems at Salem, Canton High" was of great concern to me. I feel sorry for the writer. She is obviously quite confused.

In one paragraph she states "I am responsible for my own actions," yet in another she blames her principal, area coordinator, counselor, teachers and modular scheduling for her problems.

In another paragraph she said, "I don't think it is a bit fair to blame the parents. Every single one of those kids at the high school are old enough to be responsible for their own actions."

In another she said, "If the school had been on a strict schedule where there is no free time, except for lunch, and very strict discipline, I would still be in school today." Which of these statements does she want us to believe?

I'm sorry that her crowd chose "filthy language, drugs, booze and free open sex." But if one is, as she said, "responsible for their own actions," she was free to make other choices.

I MUST OBJECT, however, to her maligning everyone at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) in her appraisal. There are many fine young people and many excellent staff members at the CEP.

Because of my attendance at the bi-monthly parent coffees held at the high school, my service as a parent participant in the Curriculum Coordinating Committee, my work on an ad hoc committee in support of the school libraries and my participation with the Great Books program at the CEP, I am in both Salem and Canton high schools frequently.

I have never seen anything there that did not go on when I attended a very traditional Redford High School from 1947-1951. I agree things certainly are not perfect at the Park. Neither are they perfect in Livonia, Northville or Belleville, all on traditional schedules.

Many things can, should and will be improved. Life has not been perfect for us at the Park, but I have had two occasions to call Salem principal Bill Brown with specific complaints. In both instances, the problem was acknowledged and taken care of immediately.

And when I think of the anti-smoking committee that goes into the elementary schools, the McDonald-Geake debate, the voter registration drive, the ninth grade orientation program, and the scheduling of Rob Lytie to discuss the use of unscheduled time and how to prepare for college, all of which were arranged and run by students and staff, I cannot believe all is lost.

I could not allow that letter to go unchallenged.

'Growth is good' myth must end

Editor:

The Growth Management Study Committee has been meeting for seven weeks and is near making final recommendations in terms of alternatives available to Canton Township in the area of growth control.

It is the consensus of this group that the "growth is good" myth needs to be dissolved. Growth can only be good when it progresses at a rate when services can be maintained and improved as needed.

This study group was formed out of concern over the possible inability of the township to keep up with service needs. Our prime concerns center around the limited sewage treatment capacity available to Canton (even after the probable advent of "super sewer") and the stress placed on the Plymouth-Canton Schools by burgeoning enrollment.

WE FURTHER do not feel present police and fire protection and road conditions can withstand a rapid increase in population without jeopardizing the present quality of life. Recreational and library services are already somewhat limited.

We feel somewhere in all the assorted growth control techniques studied by this group lies the proper blend of techniques whereby growth could progress in a more orderly fashion without placing undue hardships on any group of residents.

We feel this is necessary if the services are going to keep pace with the population.

Canton was already growing prior to the opening of I-275. This highway, teamed with I-94, makes Canton a prime target for growth. Further, we have been informed that natural gas will continue to be available in this area while other areas are not extending gas services. These factors lead us to believe rapid growth will increase in rate if left unchecked.

We feel that Canton Township must be a responsible government of the total region and therefore would hope to see a growth ordinance that would take land use into account and use environmental guidelines set by SEMCOG.

BY GROWTH MANAGEMENT, or orderly growth, this group does not advocate any ceiling on the total population for Canton.

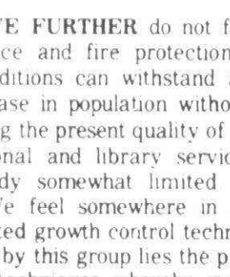

Any management we would consider would be in terms of the anual growth and the distribution of that growth. This group does not desire that the township be exclusionary or limit any individuals freedom to travel or take up residence here.

Further, we feel it is the township's responsibility to increase public input on this issue—perhaps through a survey, a referendum question or public hearings. We realize no growth management plan can stand without the support of the people and the administration of the township.

How to run for SC board

Nominating petitions for candidates for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees are available at the president's office in the administration building on the main campus at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Petitions require 50 to 200 signatures of registered voters in the college district. The district includes the K-12 school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

Filing deadline is 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 26.

Three trustee positions are to be filled in the June 13 general election.

A fourth seat may be filled if the Michigan legislature passes a bill to increase the board from eight members to nine. On the other hand, the legislature could decide to cut the board's membership to seven, the standard number for most school districts.

Several persons are reportedly circulating petitions for the six-year terms on the board.

Vice-chairwoman Rosina Raymond of Livonia has announced she will seek re-election. Trustee Leroy Bennett of Plymouth will not. Trustee Arch Vallier of Plymouth is doubtful he will run again.

Also on the ballot will be a proposal to raise the college's property tax limitation by 0.8 mills to finance an expansion program.

Trustees for local school districts will be elected at the same election.

Schoolcraft petitions are available only from the president's office. They should be filed with Clara Rousseau, secretary of the board of trustees and the president's full-time office secretary.

Kee joins C-C board

Norman Kee has been named to the board of directors of the Plymouth-Canton Community of Commerce, replacing Norman Dietrich who has resigned.

Kee is administrative assistant for personnel of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Dietrich is chief principle of Norman L. Dietrich and Associates of Plymouth, planning consultant and engineering firm.

Kee will serve on the Chamber board until December 1979 at which time he may elect to run for a second term.

Beside his position with the school district, Kee also is very active in the Rotary Club of Plymouth since 1969 and on the Plymouth Fall Festival board since 1972. He was Junior League basketball coach from 1969-72.

"In an effort to have the chamber board of directors reflect all business sectors of the community we are most pleased to have Norm Kee representing our local community schools," said Margaret Wilson, Chamber president.

Awareness training

Two classes on self awareness will be offered beginning the week of April 18 by the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA.

The classes will be Mondays at 8 p.m. and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. with babysitting provided on Wednesday mornings.

Participants will learn how to achieve more satisifying relationships with others through the use of assertiveness, communications and problem solving skills, transactional analysis and behavior modification.

Instructor is Fred Prezioso, pastor of Ephiphany Lutheran Church in Plymouth. For further details call the YMCA at 453-2904.

Triple twister

Like lightning, tornadoes are not supposed to strike twice in the same place. But don't count on it. Oklahoma City was struck 26 times between 1892 and 1972, and the hapless town of Codell, Kan., was truck on May 20 three years in a row—1916, 1917 and 1918.

Chiefs eye improvement

Netters set for spring

The experience of nine returning letter winners, plus the needed depth to win the low matches, has Plymouth Canton tennis coach Jim Hayes hoping for improvement this spring.

The Chiefs won only three dual matches last season and finished fifth in the Western Six League standings.

The biggest loss from last year's squad is Steve Prueter who graduated. He carried most of the winning load for the Chiefs last season.

Prueter served as captain, and is the only Canton tennis player to letter three times in this sport. He was the Chiefs' first singles player and was considered one of the top performers in the league and regional last year. Prueter currently competes at Henry Ford Community College on a partial tennis scholarship.

Other members lost to graduation are singles player John Herrin and doubles player Don Fulkerson.

Senior Steve Pasley is the top player for the Chiefs this season. He has the job of replacing Prueter at that first singles position.

Canton also will be helped with the return of Kurt Hopfner and Chris Davio, who sat out last season but played in the varsity lineup as sophomores two years ago. Davio is a singles player; Hopfner is the team's top doubles performer but could be used at singles.

Plymouth / Canton Observer
SPORTS
Monday, April 4, 1977 (P,C) 9A

Another returning singles player is senior Stuart Sobczynski who played in the fouth position last year.

HAYES EXPLAINED that it was too early to determine what his doubles lineup would be, but said he was pleased with the number of players he had to choose from.

"We should be fairly deep," Hayes said. "I hope to take some of the low matches (second and third doubles) since we have strong players returning."

Harrison and Northville are the contenders for the Western-Six title this season.

"I think we are going to be in the middle," Hayes said. "We hope to be much more of a contender this season."

The Chiefs open their season Wednesday at home against Dearborn Heights Riverside starting at 3:30 p.m. Last season, the Chiefs lost to Riverside in a close non-league match, 4-3.

Rock netters experienced

Plymouth Salem's tennis team might have only one senior on this year's team—but it still possesses the experience that could result in a successful season.

The Rocks have eight starters returning to the lineup this spring.

The only senior lost to graduation is Ken Bloom, and his absence will definitely hurt the Rocks.

Bloom not only was Salem's best singles player last year but was the top performer in the Suburban Eight League.

The 18-year-old Bloom currently is attending Henry Ford Community College on a tennis scholarship. He is the defending singles champion of the Plymouth-Canton Tennis Tournament which is held each summer.

Singles players who return to the Rocks are juniors Kurt Schultz and Bill Cook, and sophomore Bob Braun.

These three netters will move up one position this season with Bloom's departure.

Schultz should start the season as the first singles player, and has a good possibility of placing high in the Suburban Eight League competition.

Returning doubles players are Craig Stevens, Ed Thomas, Jeff Bearup, Phil Coosiai and the squad's lone senior Chris Saxton.

ROCK COACH JIM STEVENS is excited about a strong crew of freshmen players who hope to fill in the rest of the starting lineup.

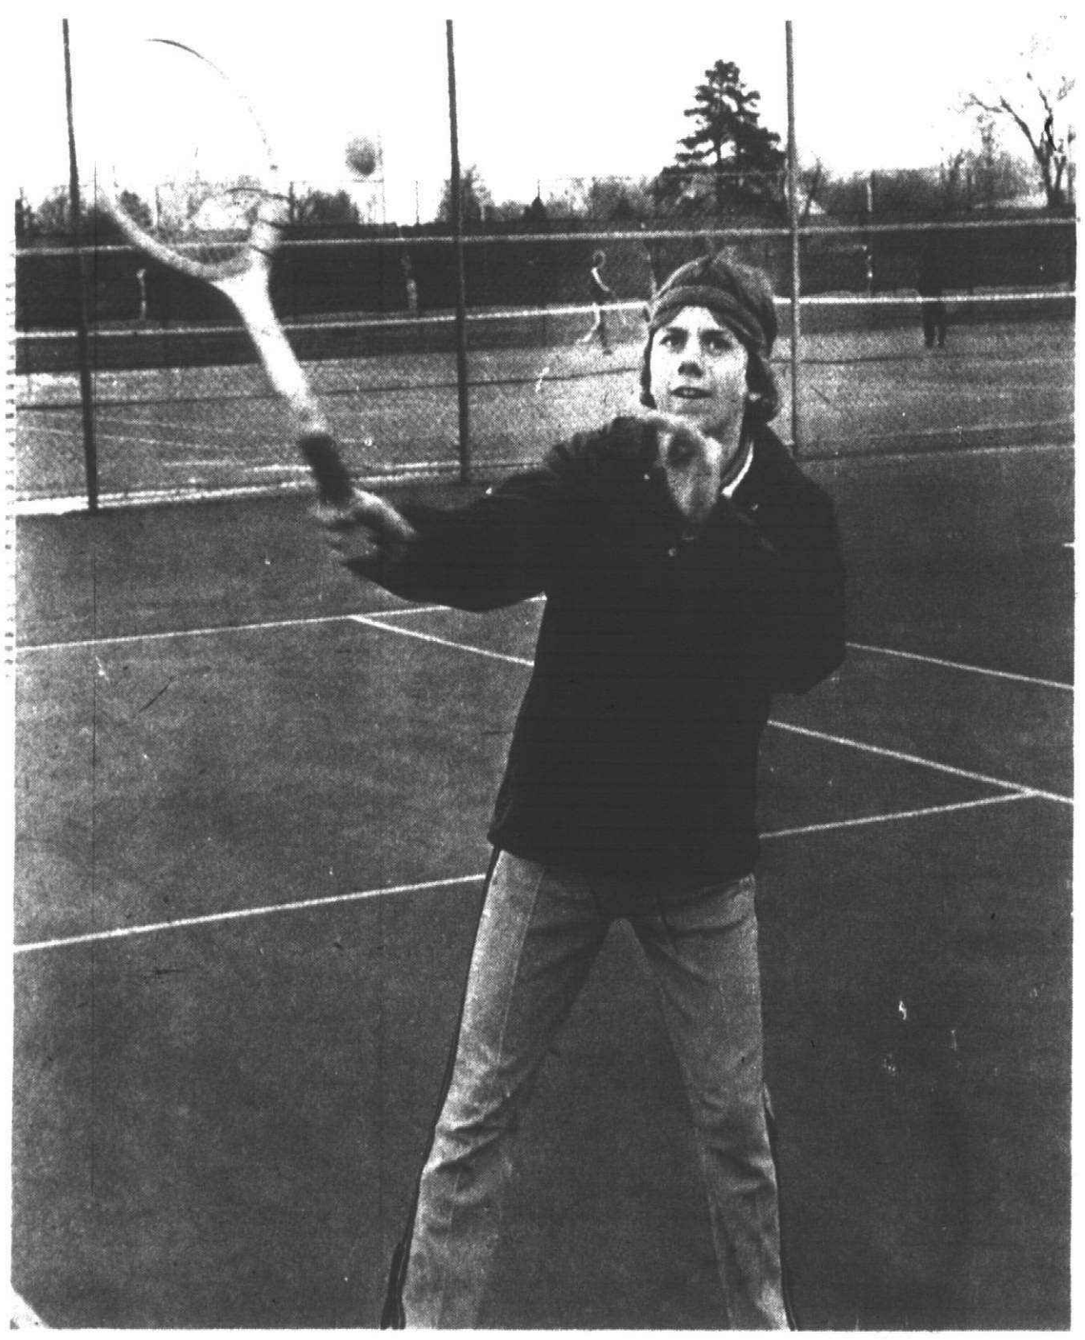

Heading this talented group is strong singles player Dick Cook. Other ninth graders include Blake Lundberg, Bob Owens, Greg Widmer, Larry Krummer and Eric Heidt.

"I think we have a lot of experience this year, and as a team we want to win the Sub-Eight," Stevens said.

The Salem mentor explained that dual meets would determine the conference champion, and the season-ending Suburban Eight League meet is for individual honors only.

Edsel Ford won the title last season and the Rocks finished fourth.

Salem gets a chance to improve on that finish when it opens the season tomorrow afternoon against Allen Park at the Centennial Park courts. Match time is 3:30 p.m.

Rock thinclads place at EMU

Tri-captain Walt White placed 10th in the two-mile run with a 10:01 clocking.

White joined Chris Ritchey, Tom Covington and Jeff Mangan as a member of the two-mile relay team. This foursome also placed 10th in the competition with an 8:37 timing.

Bob Dasher led the Rocks in field events with an 11th-place finish in the shot put. Dasher shot put distance was 48 feet-five inches.

Gymnast Jill Moorehead qualifies for regionals

Plymouth's Jill Moorehead qualified for regional competition with her performance in the state Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) gymnastic championships held last Saturday at Plymouth's Phase III facility.

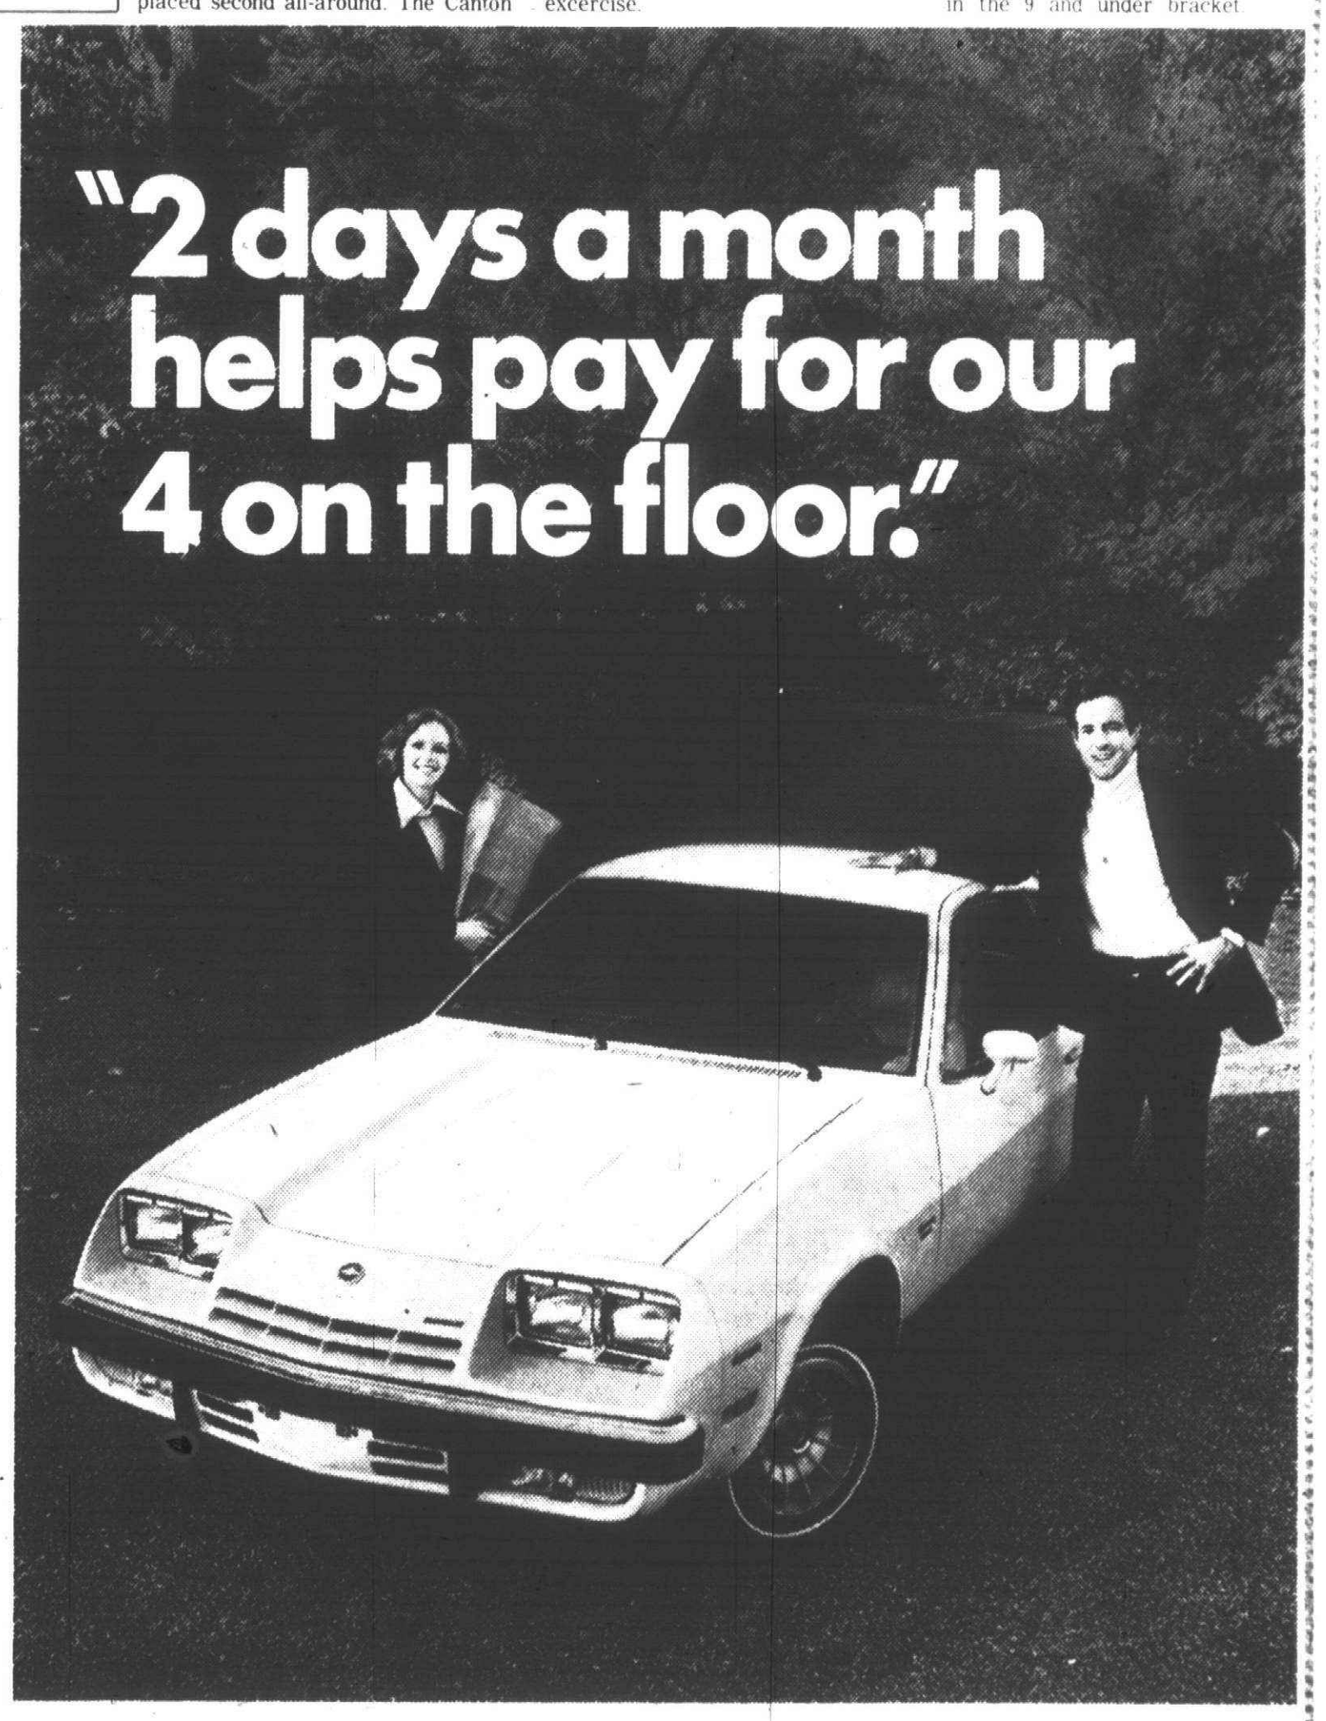

Moorehead, 16, represented the Plymouth Gymnastics Club in the 15 years-and-over competition where she placed second all-around. The Canton High School junior won the vaulting competition, placed third on the uneven bars and balance beam, and was eighth in the floor excercises.

Teammate Wendy Gray also excelled in this age bracket, placing sixth overall. Gray was sixth on the uneven bars and balance beam, eighth in vaulting and ninth in floor excercise.

Coach John Cunningham had six other girls compete in various age groups. None, however, placed in the top 10.

Laura Michalik, Cheryl Newport and Laurie Beal competed in the 13-14 year age group. Pam Modson and Linda Beal were the 10-11 age gymnasts, and Sarah Michalik competed in the 9 and under bracket.

"2 days a month helps pay for our 4 on the floor."

"The pay wasn't the only reason I had for joining the Naval Reserve, but I've got to admit that monthly check comes in mighty handy. Especially in this day and age."

Good pay. It's a good reason to join the Naval Reserve. But it's only one way of making your experience count.

When you join the Naval Reserve, you'll also get the satisfaction that comes from doing an important job. And doing it well. If you left active duty with a critical rating, we'll try to get you back in the Reserve and working in that same rating. You'll do the job you were trained to do, with an opportunity to do it even better.

Life insurance is another extra. Just $3.41 a month buys $20,000 worth of insurance. You can't beat that price anywhere!

But there's more. You'll once again be eligible for Exchange privileges. As well as knowing that time spent in the Reserve builds toward a retirement pension.

So what's the catch? You have to work one weekend a month, plus two weeks during the year on active duty.

But if you think you can spare the time, you owe it to yourself to find out more. Just call or visit the Naval Reserve unit nearest you. And find out what your monthly check will be.

Little guys might not play

The Plymouth Canton Junior Baseball League is still looking for nine managers to instruct in the Boys B League, ages 9-10.

League representatives told the Observer Friday that 135 children are on teams that don't have managers. Another 50 players are on the waiting list for this league.

Junior baseball officials warned that if managers were not found soon, the 185 players would not be allowed to participate this summer season.

If any parent who volunteers to manage and has a son on the waiting list, their son would be immediately taken off the waiting list and placed on the same team.

Any adult interested in volunteering manager services should contact Jeanne Goodrich at 455-7065.

Area diamondmen prepare for season

By DOUG FUNKE
Sports Editor

Area baseball teams are enthusiastically putting the final touches on their pre-season training this week before the start of another campaign.

Livonia Churchill, with an excellent diamond tradition, seems bent on reclaiming the Western Six League title won last year by Plymouth Canton.

"We haven't had this much enthusiasm since we won the state championship," said coach Roger Frayer. "Speed is our real big strength now and we have experience on the mound."

Bill Bardwell, who compiled an 8-3 record last season and hit .292, again will be the ace of the Chargers' staff. Dave Schomberger, who had an off year pitching in 1976, is also back.

Other key players, according to Frayer, are outfielders Bill Coyl and Mark Galasso and infielders Dave Colley and Mike Devlin.

Sophomores who have been impressive are Ron Nutter, Bob Campbell, Dave Krick and Todd Gardiner, the best group Frayer said he's had in several seasons.

First-year Livonia Stevenson coach Dave DuBois makes no bones about it—this should be the Year of the Spartans.

With a cluster of six solid returning letterwinners and a predominantly senior squad, Stevenson again merits the favorite's role in the Inter-Lakes League race.

"Three kids I'm really counting on are Ron Colone, a shortstop and .300 hitter last year, Brent Erickson, a pitcher, and Fred Ritz, a center fielder and catcher who hit over .300," said DuBois.

Dave Katz, Tom DePriest and Mike Laird—all seniors—also figure in DuBois' plans as do Dennis Rusiewski and Jack Lang.

"I'm an aggressive coach and we'll be doing a lot of hit and run," DuBois noted.

Redford Union, which has not finished lower than fourth place in the Suburban Eight since 1962, will again be guided by veteran coach Robert Atkins.

Mark Ward, a catcher, hit .308 last year as a sophomore, Jeff Sheeran, a second baseman, batted .302 and Jim Utych, a shortstop, hit .278. Sheeran and Utych are both fine defensive players, Atkins said.

Other infield prospects include Terry DeCamillo at first base and Gary Barden at third.

John Gazley is the team's only experienced pitcher and it is at that critical position where RU may be most suspect.

Other diamondmen from whom Atkins says he is looking for help are Jerry Thom, A.J. Baker, Brian Macek, George Baker, Corey Drew, Bill Miller and Kevin Jann.

"We're very solid, defensively, up the middle," Atkins said. "Pitching should be good, but not great."

Five returning lettermen will attempt to lead Livonia Bentley to a finish as good or better than last year's team which placed third in the Suburban Eight with an 8-6 record.

Steve Dinsmore, who batted .333 last spring, and Ron Cross, an all-purpose man, are key cogs.

Kevin Schultz, a righthander who compiled a 1.50 earned run average, will anchor the pitching staff and receive help from Jim Ross, who wasr impressive in his only start last year.

Pat O'Connor and Bill Burgess, both infielders who lettered last season, may prove valuable to the Bulldogs' title quest.

Bob St. Clair and Dave Frazier are battling for the catching assignment and Steve McDermott and Kevin Perino have been impressive in the early stages of practice, said Bentley coach Marty Klozik.

"I hope our strength is going to be in our pitching," Klozik said. "We should be a fast team, a team that likes to run."

Redford Bishop Borgess coach Jim Brisky surmised defensive play and speed are his team's best attributes nearing the season opener.

Gary Glandon, an all-Catholic League designated hitter with a .387 average last year is back, along with Craig Miller, shortstop, Dave Priebe, pitcher-outfielder, John Babcock, third baseman, and Greg Zink, relief pitcher.

Brisky said he is also counting heavily on Vince Diroff, Phil Hakin and Dean Wiley.

Clarenceville coach Del Cory said his crew's fortunes this season "could go either way."

The Trojans' returning lettermen are Tim McCamant, a pitcher-outfielder who earned all-Metro West Conference honors last year, Bart Van Dike, another all-league choice, Larry Laird, Mark Anusbigian and Jack Rolnitzky.

Plymouth skaters gain trophy honors

Thomann show reviews season

A special edition of the "Fred Thomann Show" will be aired Wednesday, April 6, by Plymouth's radio station, WSDP-FM, 89.3, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The program, hosted by WSDP-Sports Director Andy Melin, will feature Plymouth Salem head basketball coach Fred Thomann.

Track, golf, softball here

A track club is being formed by Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department. This club is open to all participants, young and old.

An advanced golf class also is beginning today from 7:30-8:30 p.m. This class will be held in the Cultural Center with an admission fee of $18.

Correction

The name identifications of Plymouth Salem's two All-Observerland basketball players were mistakenly switched last week.

Tom Ellinghausen was pictured on the left side of the trio of players which appeared in the March 24 edition. He was a first-team selection.

Canton seniors golf

A Senior Citizen Golf League is starting for men and women, age 62 and older. This league is sponored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

Golfing starts Monday, April 11. A registraion fee of $1 must be paid before entering the league. Green fees are $3 weekly.

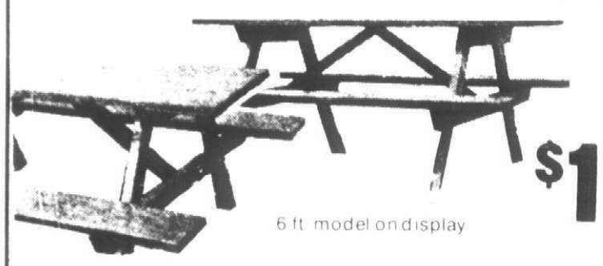

For more information, call the Canton recreation department at 397-2777.

Plymouth sets hockey school

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a summer hockey school in July for all interested young players. Dan Farrel, head hockey coach at the University of Michigan, will be the main instructor of the classes which will be held in the Cultural Center. For more information, contact the recreation department at 455-6620.

Baseball, softball, tennis

Spring season opens

Baseball, softball and tennis are here.

And after spring break at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park, boys' track, girls' track and girls' golf get into the swing of things.

Weather permitting, both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem baseball teams will hold home openers Tuesday afternoon.

The Chiefs start their season with a non-league doubleheader against Sault Ste. Marie beginning at 2:30 p.m. at Central Middle School.

The Rocks waste no time in starting Suburban Eight League play as they host Allen Park in a 3:30 p.m. contest at the Centennial Park.

Redford Thurston comes to town to play Canton on Wednesday and Salem on Thursday. Both contests are non-league battles starting at 3:30 p.m.

Both girls' softball teams start their seasons on the road. Salem begins action at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Allen Park. Canton travels to Redford Union on Wednesday for another 3:30 p.m. encounter.

Salem's tennis team starts action at home against Allen Park Tuesday. Canton netters also are home for their opener against Dearborn Heights Riverside. Both matches start at 3:30 p.m.

Her name is Peggy

In The Pocket.

When the high schools in the state start competing in the annual basketball tournament, the competition is referred to as "March Madness."

But the prep players have nothing on the state's bowlers who now are engaging in tournament in all sections of the state and the midwest. More than that, the men have their sights focused on the American Bowling Congress tournament in Reno, Nev. and the women on their national event at Milwaukee, Wisc.

Along with these there are charity tournaments in all sections in addition to the men's and women's city and state tournaments.

While all sanctions are handled out of the respective national offices, the Detroit area officials are of the belief that the tournament competition—in number of events-is setting a new record.

RICH WALTERS, one of the bowling association officials, is setting a fast pace at Cloverlanes. Bowling in the Junior House League, he posted a 279 a week ago and then came back in his next appearance with a 276-181-222—685 series to set the pace for the league. Al Krejic was next in line with a 234-267 start in a 675 series. He was followed for high game by Leo Mullins, who had a 245.

THERE'S A NEW high-water mark posted in the ladies classic at Garden Lanes. It is the work of Gloria Powell. To set the new high she opened with a 247, followed with 246 and closed with 188 for a 681.

Meanwhile, Mike Burniski showed the way in the St. Linus loop with a 687 series.

THE WOMEN in the ladies classic at Westland Bowl also had a great week. Sally Brees showed the way with a 219 in 597 while Mary Porter had a 584 that included a 222 game. Others with fine counts were Doris Turner with 234 and Jo Ann Campbell with 224.

AFTER SEVERAL WEEKS of low firing, the 700 barrier finally was broken again at Wonderland Lanes. This time, Ed Armstrong did it with games of 223, 267 and 211 for 701. Sharing the spotlight was Don Mc Kay, who was on his way to a perfect game only to leave the 6-10 on his final ball and settle for a 298 in a 665 series.

Only two pins separated the women in their weekly battle when Irene Howe linked games of 203, 213 and 232 for c 648 only to see Marge Moore come along with a 650 on games of 198, 232 and 226.

One of the brightest bits of bowling for the week was the showing of Anita Luka in the junior league. Although only 16 years old, she rolled games of 199, 169 and 244 for 612.

MIKE CHADWICK still is at the top of the list of high scorers at Super Bowl. Competing in the suburban bowling proprietors league several weeks ago, he fashioned a 756 game and no one has come close to that figure.

For the eight years she has been bowling, Alice Krashovetz has been hoping that some day she would roll a 200 game. Her dream came true during the week when she posted a 214 in a 526 series in the Super Stars league.

Others with good scores in this loop included Gail Guse with 194 and Alice Wall with a 210.

Things were even better in the Monday morning league where Sandy Coombs rolled a 224 in 578. Barbara Braw had a 224 and Mary Faussett had a 222.

PAUL GITILLI realized a dream this week at Bel-Aire when he broke the 700 barrier with games of 243, 215 and 259 in the Tuesday League. Sharing honors was Joe Gresser who had high game of 247.

Another close finish marked the Classic when Chuck Roame rolled a 689 to beat Jerry Heilstedt by one pin. Ken Brown was next with 68 2. Other high scores included Adam Beffer with 665, Ted Smith with 660 and Verne Gooding with 656.

In the senior house, Ernie Johnson was high with 681 and Aron Lipshay next with 649. In the Woodcraft league Roger Walker had a 227 and Wanda Ferguson a 222.

Your new car will self-destruct in three years.
Or less. From rust.
No, your car is not rustproofed at the factory. Any factory. And undercoating alone may do more harm than good.
Have your car rustproofed by Ziebart.
We start by covering the entire underside with a sealant that locks itself in place and remains moisture-proof indefinitely.
Then our factory-trained men use special tools to spray our sealant into all the hidden, boxed-in sections of a car's body, where rust damage begins.
And that helps to keep your new car from self-destructing before it's even paid for.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

by ELLIE GRAHAM

THE APRIL 2 issue of Sporting News carried the following obituary:

"Elmer Burnham, former football coach at Purdue University and the University of Rochester, died of pneumonia in Rochester March 9. He was 82.

"Burnham coached at Purdue in 1942-43 and at Rochester from 1944 until 1960 when he retired.

"In 1942, Burnham's record with the Boilermakers was only 1-8, but the next year he was 9-0, thanks to a program which brought a number of Navy and Marine personnel to the campus. There were many excellent football players enrolled, including Alex Agase, Tony Butkovich, Babe Dimancheff and Tom Hughes, all of whom earned all-American honors.

Burnham, a graduate of Springfield (Mass.) College, decided to switch to Rochester where the football program had a low profile. He said he didn't like the recruiting pressures at a large school.

His record at Rochester was 82-48-6 and he was described as the school's greatest coach."

Elmer Burnham was a frequent visitor to Plymouth during the past 20 years. He and his wife came to town to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Willard DenHouter.

We recall the great "do you remember" sessions he had with the late Tommy Thompson, former executive editor of the Observer Newspapers.

Burnham was football coach and Johnny Wooden was basketball coach at the same high school in South Bend, Ind. They maintained their friendship over the years and Elmer Burnham followed with interest the championship basketball teams Wooden produced at UCLA.

MARCH 30—mark that date. It was the birthday of the Observer's entry for Plymouth's second annual chicken race.

A slightly frantic call from Craig Piechura, Canton Observer editor, gave the news that it was on its way. It was his first experience at mid-wifery and he was pretty excited over the whole thing.

"It's broken one little piece of membrane, should I leave the light bulb on or just leave it at room temperature?

"The directions say if the temperature rises to 105 degrees it will die. I think the thermometer is broken and stuck at 105. It doesn't feel all that warm."

The question "Will they let you keep that chicken in your apartment?" went unanswered. He had hung up the telephone and returned to the hatching.

BERKINE FAIR and Carl Peters were top scorers at the March 24 party bridge game in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

THE PLYMOUTH THEATRE GUILD was among 11 community theater groups performing in state competition in Midland the last weekend in March.

Flint Community Players was awarded first place with an original play. Flint will go on to the regional competition in Illinois next month.

"It was our first attempt," said Clemie Cyburt, president of the guild. "It was an interesting experience and we learned a lot. We plan to go back."

The Plymouth players were the first on the program and Mrs. Cyburt admitted 9:30 a.m. was not an ideal time to perform. They were very impressed with Midland's Center for the Performing Arts.

"The stage is unbelievable," said Mrs. Cyburt. "There is room for sets for 10 shows."

Members of the cast were Dale Feldpausch, Pat Bray, Dennis Whalen, Clemie Cyburt, Tom Hinks and Arnie Lutz.

Other members of the guild who attended the meet were Richard Brown who was sound engineer for the play, Fran Cyburt, Patti Troth, Tim O'Rourke and Dorothy Whalen.

ELIZABETH MOEHLE, a sophomore at Kalamazoo College, is working at the Library of Congress in Washington.

After spending a week a Trinity College, Liz and three friends found an apartment in the Georgetown section of the city.

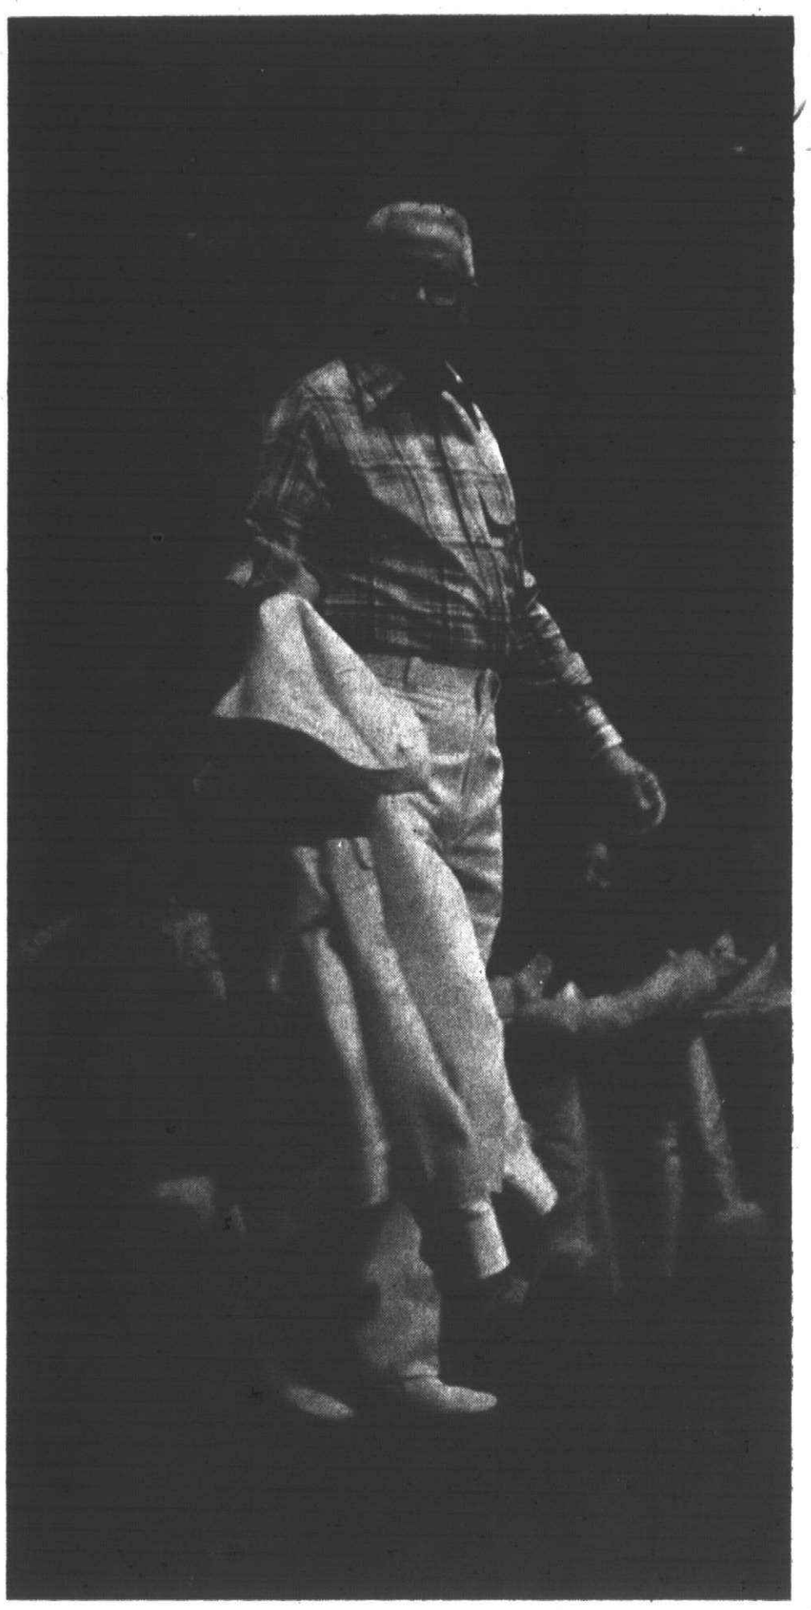

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Moehle, returned recently from a week's vacation on the island of Majorca in the Mediterranean.

One of highlights of their trips was being invited to have lunch with Madam Alexander in her exclusive Palm Beach home.

The creator of Madame Alexander dolls is now 82.

After lunch and a personally-conducted tour of her beach-front condominium, she insisted on packing an assortment of fruit and other food for them to take with them

Robert Richardson modeled white separates—slacks and a hooded jacket—with a plaid shirt.

Are delinquent kids disabled learners?

The relationship between learning disabilities and juvenile deliquency will be explored at a meeting at 7 p.m. April 7 in Waterman Center of Schoolcraft College. It is sponsored by the Livonia-Redford Chapter of the Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities.

It will be highlighted by a speech by Dr. William Cruickshank, director of the study of mental retardation and related disabilities at the Institute for the Study of Retardation at the University of Michigan.

Cruickshank is also professor of maternal and child health, education and psychology, and author of several books, the latest being "Learning Disabilities in Home, School and Community."

In 1976 he received an international award for his work from the International Federation on Learning Disabilities, an organization with members in 16 countries.

MACLD DEFINES a learning-disabled child as one of normal, potentially normal or above normal intelligence, who does not perform well in school because of disorders in one or more of the basic processes involved in understanding or using spoken or written language.

Because he was born with a slight flaw in his nervous syste, this type of child may exhibit disorders in thinking, talking, reading and writing. He may be the child who can never sit still in class, or the one who is poorly coordinated, distractible, withdrawn or uncooperative.

This can lead to behavior problems which can lead to trouble with the law. Aware of this possible tie between learning disorders and delinquency, the probation department of the 16th District Court in Livonia has suggested to its probation officers that they use attend the April 7 meeting.

"We deal only with adults, but I think what a man as renowned as Dr. Cruickshank will say about deliquency and learning disabilities will be beneficial," said Glen Toy, deputy chief of Livonia's probation department.

"If there is not early intervention in a school system the child with a minimal brain dysfunction will have a poor self-image and his whole psychological health will be affected," said Mary Messerschmidt of Livonia, a founder and past resident of the Livonia-Redford MACLD chapter.

"This can lead to behavior such as vandalism, reckless driving, drinking

BPW fashion show is sure sign of spring

Straw baskets overflowing with yellow daffodils and fuji mums set the mood for the Business and Professional Women's Club's annual spring fashion show.

Guests filled the large ballroom at the Plymouth Hilton Inn to see the fashions and hair styles by Jacobson's and to enjoy the array of pastries and desserts at intermission.

Helen Richardson chaired the show. She was assisted by Susie Baker, Velma Bartel, Alice Fisher, Nettie Frick, Ellice Kulick, Sylvia Schell, Barbara Lockwood, Millie Blackford, Laverne Carpenter, Margaret Stremich, Gertrude Drouyer and Elizabeth Donnelly.

Alan Hawes of Jacobson's said it was one of the largest crowds he had seen in his 10 years as fashion commentator.

CLUB MEMBERS who modeled the resort, after 5, sports,daytime and evening fashions were Barbara Lockwood, Elizabeth Donnelly, Patsy Sadowski, Jean Wagoner and Betty Mende.

Daughters and grandchildren showed off the junior and children's fashions. They were Allison Roberts, Lynn McAllister, Chris Overbeek and Clifford Blackford.

Robert Richardson, husband of chairperson Helen, and David Eklund of Jacobson's, modeled the men's clothing. The models stepped along the runway to the background music provided by Danny Saliba of Anderson Music Co., who played an organ.

The show ended with models in attire suitable for a a garden wedding party.

Each club member donated a prize package. After these were distributed, the winners of the gift certificates were announced. Susie Baker received a $100 certificate and Maxine Willoughby a $50 certificate from Jacobson's.

Woman's Club benefit tickets now available

Mary Ellen Kenyon handed out tickets for the Plymouth Woman's Club annual breakfast theater party at Friday's club meeting in St. John Episcopal Church. Members of the club will sell tickets for a continental breakfast in the Masonic Temple followed by a showing of the movie "That's Entertainment II" in the Penn Theater. This annual and major fundraiser attracts a large number of men and women. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Our House Crisis Center has completed six years of service to our community. Due to the confidential and sometimes dangerous nature of their work, we will have to express appreciation while retaining their anonymity.

There is one exception. Bill Henry, director of the center, also handles public relations and is therefore well known in the area. Henry says Our House is a volunteer organization serving the psychological needs of Canton, Northville, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

They receive approximately 115 emergencies each month on a telephone or walk-in basis. A wide range of crises are handled through the program's services.

Counseling is the center's primary role. Whether it be suicide prevention, drug overdose aid, legal referral or referrals to other helping organizations, all problems are kept in strict confidence.

PARENTS Anonymous (PA) is one of the special programs. It does not deal with the child-abuser, but the parent who is tempted to "lose his cool" with his offspring.

A free learning and tutoring service is available for students 6 and up. Reading, writing and mathematics are the basics, but help in some specialized area can be arranged.

The center offers an information and referral service for senior citizens. The list of helping organizations is updated constantly.

Contributions to Growth Works, Inc., the parent organization, is one way to show appreciation. But an even more meaningful demonstration would be to volunteer your services.

At the present time, Henry needs three additional helpers. Each must complete a 64-hour training program.

Volunteers receive instruction in personal awareness, medical and drug information, empathy, effective crisis intervention and counseling skills, drug overdose training, transactional analysis theory, and CPR skills.

For more information about Our House or to volunteer, call Bill Henry, 455-4902, between 9:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Although the couple has lived on Yorkshire in Canton Township for more than a year, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shirk were unable to get away for a visit until recently.

The trip from Gary, Ind. finally was achieved and the foursome had an opportunity to catch up on family news. Dave said his folks also liked the house.

The new president is Bess Szilagyi and vice-president is Mary Ellen Lanphear. Laurie Brown is secretary and Lisa Bishop treasurer.

The six class representatives are Kim Harms, Dana Harter, Laura Skrobecki, Kathy Benson, Traci Trullard and Kathy Weber.

CONGRATULATIONS also are extended to the Jeff Goldsmith family. Jeff's sister, Gerry, gave birth to her first child, Sara Katherine Nesbit, March 28.

The Goldsmiths visited Gerry and her husband Bill in Oakland, Calif. during the holidays. But the new niece's arrival had to be heralded by a telephone call and a responding congratulatory telegram.

CATHY GORNICK of Amherst Court, Plymouth Township, hosted the American Association of University Women's craft group.

Six of the members endeavored to conquer the technique of country carving.

The process involves gouging a design into wood then staining or painting the final product.

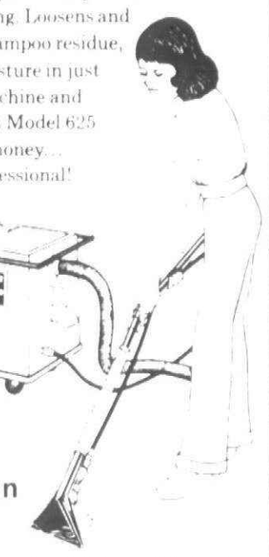

Chairman Marlene Lloyd said the carving is not difficult as long as the gouge doesn't slip in the wrong direction. Several of the carvers found the suggestion easier said than done.

Bird egg exhibit at museum

The museum received an extensive collection of birds' eggs.

After considerable study the eggs were identified and now are on display on the main level of the museum. Main Street at Church, Plymouth.

The exhibit had been enlarged to include bird houses, butterflies, moths and other insects.

The eggs have been arranged in nests typical of the species.

SC choral concert with a bit of Scotch

The Schoolcraft College Symphonic Choir, Chorale and Madrigal Singers will present a combined choral concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 17.

The choir, under the direction of Marilyn Jones, will feature tenor Jonathon Swift in Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise."

Known to many former and present Stevenson High School students as Mr. Swift, chairman of the English department at the Livonia school, Swift has sung on stage, radio and television througout Europe, North America and Australia.

Swift was born in Scotland and holds bachelor and master degrees from Wayne State University. His education includes graduate work at the universities of Paris; Michigan and Michigan State, and voice studies with Georges Jouatte of the Paris Opera in France.

The Schoolcraft Chorale, conducted by Bradley Bloom, will present selections of sacred and secular music. Works will include J.S. Bach's "Crucifixus" mass in B minor, Randal Thompson's "Alleluia," spirituals and pieces by Bruckner, Brahms, Ernst

JONATHON SWIFT

Toch and Robert W. Jones. Both choirs will be accompanied by pianist Tamara Najar.

The Madrigal Singers will perform chamber works from Victoria to Vaughn Williams and range from the Madrigal style to contemporary secular.

The concert is free and open to the public in Holy Cross Evangelical Church, 30650 Six Mile, Livonia. For more information, call 591-6400, ext. 342.

25 and out?

A silver jubilee it isn't when Mrs. Brook (Adelena Reynolds) is encouraged by son, Gideon (Ricardo Gilbert, center), to stand up to her domineering husband, played by Earl Fields Jr., in "Five on the Black Hand Side," by Charlie L. Russell. The comedy plays weekends at the Bonstelle Theatre, April 22 to May 1. Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and two matinees at 2:30 p.m. Sundays. For ticket information, call 577-2960.

New horizons for Davey and company

Ford Auditorium will be the scene of a double debut April 21-22, when Max Davey Productions, Inc. presents "Here Comes Spring."

Detroit's Max Davey Singers are launching a new venture as a professional singing group, while guest star John Schuck will premiere as a singer.

"Schuck has an exciting rich baritone voice," said Davey, "and his homespun humor and personality will be a great treat."

Schuck appeared as a narrator in the Davey Christmas show last December. He is best known for his role as Sergeant Enright on "McMillan and Wife" on NBC and his recent performance as the computerized cop, "Yoyo" in "Holmes and Yoyo" for ABC. His latest role was in the record-breaking television special "Roots."

DAVEY HAS presented two Detroit shows annually for the past 12 years as the non-profit Concert Series, Inc., bringing nationally known guest stars in for every show.

After starring with the Davey Singers, Metropolitan Opera Star Jerome Hines declared that such a group should not be hidden in Detroit and invited the singers to his home town, South Orange, N.J., to present their original "America, I Hear You Singing" as a bicentennial program. (They played to a sell-out 4,800 at Seton Hall University.)

"Mr. Piano"—Roger Williams—has joined Davey for several programs, the most recent being the Beaumont Hospital Benefit in the fall of 1976 at the Meadow Brook Music Festival grounds in Rochester.

Star of the 1975 Christmas Show, Shari Lewis was enthusiastic about the quality of the Davey Singers' performance. She referred them to New York writer Lan O'Kun, who wrote the book, music and lyrics for "The Littlest Angel" for Hallmark and was writer for the "Shari Lewis Show" for eight years, winning four Emmys and the Peabody Award.

O'Kun was more than enthusiastic. He became one of the stockholders in Max Davey Productions, Inc.

"Here Comes Spring" will feature original material by O'Kun plus a number of long-time favorites such as "Sing, Sing a Song" and "It Might As Well Be Spring."

THE SHOW will be a full-scale musical review with choreography by Dominic Missimi, who recently received rave reviews for his "Naughty Marietta" at the Music Hall.

Missimi's wife, Nancy, will do the costumes.

Reserved seat tickets are available for either night of the spring show. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the Ford Auditorium box office, Hudson's, Montgomery Ward's, or by calling or writing Max Davey Productins, inc., 25747 Kilreigh Court, Farmington Hills 48018 (phone 476-6276).

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

Black Sunday fine thriller

If you've been upstream for awhile, perhaps doing field research in the Panamint Mountains for the last three years, then you may find "Black Sunday" (R) an engrossing film.

If you are a regular movie-goer and you enjoy suspense thrillers, you also may find "Black Sunday" engrossing or you may simply experience a sense of deja vu.

The bad guys in "Black Sunday" are Black Septemberists planning to fragment 80,000 people at the Super Bowl. The good guys are the FBI and the Israeli commandos trying to aprehend the terrorists and abort the plot.

It's tense and suspenseful. People are killed quickly and remorselessly. There are no torture scenes as in "Marathon Man," but there is enough bloodshed and anticipated horror to make up for that deficiency.

HARDLY ANYONE gives a second thought to gunning down anyone else, whether it's the Israelis raiding Black September headquarters or a terrorist shooting his way through a crowded Miami street. "Shoot first, ask questions later," is the rule, and it's supported by the exeptions.

The FBI dawdles because of its respect for "legal procedure" and is shown to be ineffectual and dull-minded. The Israeli leader, Kabakov (Robert Shaw), hesitates once and it proves fatal. When Kabakov and his men raid Black September headquarters, he finds a woman crouching in the shower. He pauses but doesn't shoot. The woman (Marthe Keller) happens to be the agent running the Super Bowl play.

Of course, she leads a charmed life anyway. The commandos plant explosives throughout the headquarters' building; yet she not only survives the interruption to her shower but manages to emerge clean and unscathed as everything blows up around her.

Bruce Dern, as the American blimp pilot who Keller controls, gives a remarkably good performance. Self-pitying, enraged, frightened, paranoid, impatient, calculating, sensual—his virtuoso acting includes an impressive range of feelings and emotions.

The blimp pilot is an ex-POW, mentally awashed, who nevertheless manages a facade of normalcy on the job. (Director John Frankenheimer also directed "The Manchurian Candidate," which deals with the theme of innocent people caught up in the terror caused by a brainwashed and programmed ex-POW.)

Some daredevil acrobatics from the stuntmen dominate the finale in a helicopter-blimp showdown. It's all so well done one hates to nitpick, but the product lacks nutritional value. It's a run-of-the-mill thriller based on a run-of-the-mill subliterary book.

Visually, however, it's terrific, a credit to Hollywood professionalism. Thus, "Black Sunday" is a slick, well-paced, polished film that moves toward an exciting conclusion. Most likely, the packaging will sell the product.

The good, the bad, and the contest

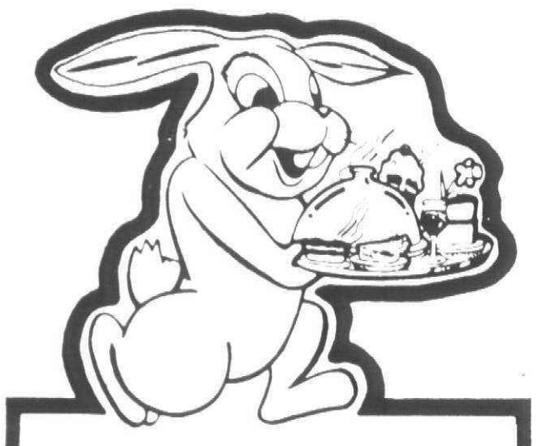

There's some good news and some bad news about the Observer & Eccentric's Movie Contest to guess the Academy Awards. The bad: In the seven categories listed, no one scored higher than four. The good: We grouped together the 15 entries that selected four Oscar winners, drew two names at random and now have two contest winners.

Mike Bass of Birmingham and Marlene Solomon of Southfield will each receive two passes valid at several area theatres.

Our readers' choices tallied with the Motion Picture Academy's in naming Best Picture and Best Actress. Of 155 entries, the top vote getter for Best Picture was "Rocky" and for Best Actress, Faye Dunaway ("Network"). The Oscar winner for Best Actor was Peter Finch ("Network"). Forty per cent of our entries named Finch, but 50 per cent named Sylvester Stallone, the star of "Rocky."

The popularity of "Rocky" was evident in our readers' ballots. Many who named "Rocky" as Best Picture went all the way and checked off a "Rocky" candidate in every category that contained one.

The Academy Award winners in the other categories we listed are Best Supporting Actor, Jason Robards ("All the President's Men"); Best Supporting Actress, Beatrice Straight ("Network"); Best Direction, John Avildsen ("Rocky"); and Best Foreign Language Film, "Black and White in Color".

Talented ladies

Works of two members of the Three Cities Art Club will be featured in the Plymouth Community Credit Union during the month of April. Kathleen Coleman (left) teaches ceramics and her students took three ribbons at the 1976 Michigan Ceramics Dealers Association Show. Her ceramics will be on the lower level of Credit Union. Audrey Paul (right) has been painting for 10 years. Her oils will be on the second level. She is vice-president of the art club, treasurer of the Livonia Artists Club and the Plymouth Juried Art Society. Her latest interest is sculpture, but she also enjoys golf, bowling, bridge and needlework. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey) and drug use because school pressure is too much for him.

"The law enforcement agencies from the judges on down are not usually aware of why the child is behaving in an unsocial way. So he is put in jail, and a whole cycle starts from which it is hard for him to escape.

"In his speech, Dr. Cruickshank will tell what lies behind this child, so that the public and the police can become aware of the situation."

According to Lt. Melvin Murphy of the Livonia Police Department Youth bureau, these children are being identified in Livonia and efforts are made to help them.

"FOR THE EIGHT YEARS I have been in the bureau, we have advised parents of these children to take them to Hawthorn Center," he said, referring to the Northville facility for disturbed youth. "The bureau has guidelines through which its members distinguish the problem learners.

"But some parents won't admit their youngster has learning problems and don't take them.

"But the ones who go are the ones who don't come back to us."

Easter plans

Thoughts were on Easter last week for both parents and children in the PLUS (Pupils Learning Useful Skills) program at Tanger Elementary School. Roxanne Sparkman (left) showed the parents (right) how to make sugar Easter eggs. Filling the molds were (from left) Marilynne Selemba, Cathy Courtright, Allen Walker, Josephine Gazzo and Kay Krazwski, all of Canton Township. Next week, they will hollow them out and place a suitable scene inside.

Charge It!

Now it is even easier to advertise in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Section. Just dial our classified department, tell us what you would like to advertise and charge it, to your Bank Americard or Master Charge account.

Whenever you call, be sure to have your Bank Americard or Master Charge ready and give us the account number and expiration date directly from the card. Then the total cost of your ad will be billed directly to your monthly statement, simplifying your record keeping while earning money for you and your family.

You can benefit twice from this bonus by placing a Double Action Family Want Ad. Double Action ads run two consecutive issues for one low price of $6.00, with no changes or cancellations in the second ad. These 15 word ads save you $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues and are so easy to place now that you can charge them.

So arm yourself with a list of unwanted items and your favorite bank card and strike a blow against inflation by calling us today.

MEIJER

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND

IF YOU ARE AN active Big Brother or Big Sister, all you need is understanding, a kind heart, and three hours a week.

THE PURPOSE of the BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS program is to provide responsible adult companionship for children in single parent homes. The single parent often faces overwhelming financial pressure. Basic material needs are difficult to satisfy and the parent is unable to devote enough time to his/her children. The result can be loneliness. The children experience negative feelings about themselves, and their future possibilities. A BIG BROTHER or SISTER can give ATTENTION and REASSURANCE.

FOR OVER 70 YEARS, BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS has offered the opportunity for personal growth and development on a ONE-TO-ONE BASIS. The DEMAND for this kind of stable guidance is INCREASING. The NEED for VOLUNTEERS is tremendous. Throughout Michigan, BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS have waiting lists of children who want someone to care.

ALMOST ANYONE can volunteer. If you are 18 or older and can invest some time, contact your local BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS office for more information. It's listed in the white pages under BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS.

Pat Gaskill, full-time cashier for 15 years at the Muskegon Thrifty Acres is a Big Sister. She has found time in her schedule to share, and can readily list the benefits of being a Big Sister.

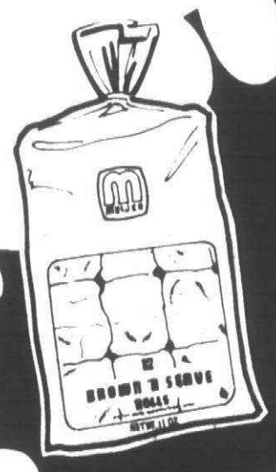

WE AT MEIJER are proud of Pat and others like her in our communities who participate in the BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS PROGRAM.
