

CB group runs a weekend weather watch

Breaker-break. This is post 12. Black cloud sighted north of Canton, moving south. Alert status.

From advance tornado warnings to where you can buy bread at 3 a.m., the Plymouth Area Reaction Team, a CB channel 9 monitoring group, is standing by every weekend to provide information and service.

"We are a full-service monitoring group," Chuck Van Vleck of Plymouth said. "It is our intention to furnish the surrounding communities with a network of weather posts. And we're on hand to do what we can in emergency situations," Van Vleck is the team commander.

The group first went on the air as an official reaction team the weekend of May 6, and they will be there every weekend from now on.

"We'd like to be able to monitor seven days a week, 24 hours a day, but right now we just don't have enough members."

The first weekend the team manned the airwaves, Van Vleck said, it handled more than 150 "assists."

An assist can range from giving directions to a lost motorist all the way to informing the Metropolitan Weather Service that a tornado is in the area.

The newly formed team is comprised of CB operators from Canton, Plymouth, and Northville townships and the cities of Plymouth and Northville.

According to Van Vleck, there are about 40 members in the group. Each weekend they are assigned different monitoring shifts around the clock.

There are 14 posts scattered along the western side of the communities. "If I had to put a figure on it, I'd say 99 per cent of all the tornados would hit from that direction."

THE REACTION TEAM has been trying to get off the ground since March of this year. But lack of money and no place to set up operation, proved to be large obstacles.

"We had people who were interested, and we felt there was a definite need for a better warning system, but there was a whole lot to arrange."

Then some help arrived in the form of space and equipment donations. Northville Township Police Department offered to let the team use a spare room in its station and supplied a base radio antenna.

In addition, Plymouth Township picked up the initial cost of installing the base phone. "Everything just sort of fell into place all at once," said Van Vleck.

However, Van Vleck said the club still needs a few items to enable it to continue to offer the emergency service, including a back-up radio at the base station. The members would also like assistance with the monthly phone bill, which Van Vleck estimated will be about $25.

"I have sent out letters to the various service clubs in the area," he said, "and I hope one or more of them can come through for us."

"We think we are offering a worthwhile service that benefits the whole community."

"The calls started coming into our office around 3 p.m., and by the time we were done, we had about 3,500 of them. We got the emergency crews working right away, though, and most of the repairs were made by early Monday morning."

"While the UTILITIES crews were working, the police and fire traffic around fallen live wires."

"We had about six runs on downed wires, both Edison and Michigan Bell," said Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman. "In these cases there isn't much you can do except stand guard till the crews get there."

Plymouth Township fared better than either Canton or the city. There was no flooding reported. Fire Chief Jim Gignac said, and there were only three fire alarms set off accidentally.

"We thought we were in for trouble when the alarm at the Hines Park Lincoln Mercury body shop went off, but it was just because of the electricity. We got off lucky as hell with this storm."

The worst flooding conditions were reported by Ken Vogras, Plymouth DPW superintendent. He said his crews were kept busy on Blunk, Irvin, and Harvey Streets and in the central parking lot downtown cleaning off catch-basins so the water would drain.

"My men sure got a lot of help from the homeowners on the flooded streets. It made it quite a bit easier."

fee to homeowners who sold their trailers to others who wanted to remain in Plymouth Hills.

"If they sell a trailer on our lot, they're getting $1,500 to $2,000 more for it because it's a nice park. Besides that, all our tenants are on a month-to-month basis. They don't have any guarantee they can stay on the lot forever."

According to Kelley, though, that practice is in direct violation of the mobile home commission act of 1977. And he has notified Ruggirello of his intention to start legal action.

"The law, which is brand new, just says you can't get money from people leaving the park," Ruggirello said. "It doesn't say anything about selling trailers on the lot."

Robert Myers, Canton Township trustee and president of the Michigan Mobile Home Commission, feels that the law is clear in its prohibition of charging sales fees.

"I don't think there's any question about it. Ruggirello is not entitled to collect a seller's fee for allowing the new tenants to stay in the park. It is not a common practice in other trailer parks. Why should he get the money?"

The mobile homes commission was the group responsible for bringing Ruggirello's practice to Kelley's attention.

Despite his confusion on what the law says, Ruggirello said he has stopped charging the fee until he meets with state officials and gets more information.

"I've got a meeting set up with the attorney general's staff next month. And I've sent off a telegram telling them I will suspend the fee until that time. But I'm still not convinced that I'm doing anything against the law."

a declaratory judgment to determine "once and for all" which board is legal.

Burgess calls Sempliner's request for declaratory judgment by the judge "an incorrect remedy to the problem."

"There is only one remedy, when there is a dispute and claim for public office," Burgess told the judge. "Court rules say quo warranto, an action brought by the Attorney General, is the proper and exclusive remedy."

BURRESS USES an opinion signed by Attorney General Frank Kelley two months ago to bolster his client's defense. That opinion signed by Kelley stated that Greenstein's five appointments to the first ZBA were "perfectly proper."

The opinion from Kelly's office went on to state that the 1976 state statute requiring at least five members on a ZBA in a community of 5,000 or more residents, superseded any local ordinance in conflict with it.

Burgess said the legislature did not intend to "put zoning boards out of business" when it passed the new law.

The attorney for Stein and the second ZBA, Sempliner, maintains that the new state law (Public Act 131) clearly states "the precise number of members which shall comprise the zoning board of appeals shall be specified by the township board in the zoning ordinance."

"You know how to read English: what would you say that means?" Sempliner said to a reporter outside the courtroom.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL opinion cited by Burgess "is not backed up by any legal authority" according to Sempliner. He says he does not believe it was written by Kelley himself.

And Sempliner disagrees with Burgess' contention that the Attorney General decides in all cases where there is a dispute over public office. Quo warranto action by the attorney general is taken "when someone who still holds office is challenged. And even then a judge can give a declaratory judgement on the matter," said Sempliner outside the court chambers.

Zoning cases pile up

ZBA dispute in court

By CRAIG PIECHURA

In an attempt to settle the question of which of two zoning boards in Canton is legal, Wayne County Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald said Monday he would study the arguments in the privacy of his home.

The issue has become a politically hot one in Canton and, until a decision is made, no hearings on zoning variance requests have been scheduled. A backlog of zoning appeal cases has been accumulating in the past three months.

At Monday's initial court hearing, Fitzgerald said he would read the legal arguments of both attorneys and contact them when he is ready to issue a ruling. No further court testimony is expected.

Township Attorney William Sempliner is arguing that the original five-member zoning board of appeals (ZBA) was illegally appointed by former supervisor Robert Greenstein and rightfully ousted by current supervisor Harold Stein because, at the time of the five original appointments, Canton's local zoning ordinance called for a three-member ZBA.

A 1976 state law requires at least five members on a ZBA in townships with a population of 5,000 or more residents.

Stein has promised to personally pay township attorney Sempliner's fees in the lawsuit "to avoid all the criticism I know we'd get about playing politics with taxpayer's money."

Sempliner asked the judge to issue

State raps mobile home lot for resale fee

Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley said he intends to start legal action against the owner of a Plymouth Township mobile home park to stop him from charging departing tenants $500 for selling their homes to people who plan to use the same lot.

Joe Ruggirello, owner of Plymouth Hills Mobile Home Park on Ridge Road, claims that the law Kelley says he is violating is confusing and has asked the attorney general for clarification.

According to Kelley, though, that practice is in direct violation of the mobile home commission act of 1977. And he has notified Ruggirello of his intention to start legal action.

"The law, which is brand new, just says you can't get money from people leaving the park," Ruggirello said. "It doesn't say anything about selling trailers on the lot."

Robert Myers, Canton Township trustee and president of the Michigan Mobile Home Commission, feels that the law is clear in its prohibition of charging sales fees.

"I don't think there's any question about it. Ruggirello is not entitled to collect a seller's fee for allowing the new tenants to stay in the park. It is not a common practice in other trailer parks. Why should he get the money?"

The mobile homes commission was the group responsible for bringing Ruggirello's practice to Kelley's attention.

Despite his confusion on what the law says, Ruggirello said he has stopped charging the fee until he meets with state officials and gets more information.

"I've got a meeting set up with the attorney general's staff next month. And I've sent off a telegram telling them I will suspend the fee until that time. But I'm still not convinced that I'm doing anything against the law."

PCJAA request denied

Schools keep 7th grade sports

Seventh grade football and basketball programs will remain with the four Plymouth-Canton middle schools next year.

A request by the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association (PCJAA) to take over these programs was unanimously defeated by the school board of education at Monday night's meeting.

"Even though I'm a firm believer in the philosophy of the PCJAA, and my kids participate in the program, I believe the schools play a role in this," said trustee Marcia Borowski. Ms. Borowski sighted the transportation factor, which the schools offer children who can't otherwise get home from practices, as one of the assets the schools give participants.

Trustee Richard Arlen said he was aware of the "elitist sports system" in this community but viewed athletics at the middle school level as a program for participation. He said people should worry about winning in the junior and senior years of high school.

"Right now, I feel the school program is not as good as the PCJAA, but I don't think we should give it away," said Arlen. "We should work on improving it."

President Joe Gray was upset because the board waited as long as it did to make a decision on the issue.

The original proposal by the junior athletic association was made in February. Gray said waiting this long meant that the junior football association could not implement new teams this fall with the addition of middle school children.

Despite the defeat, Gray reminded the board that the outlet for the junior athletic association to take over programs was still available when the board decided on future budget cuts.

Gray, Borowski and Arlen all argued for passage of a related resolution which called for the middle school liaison committee to set new guidelines for participation which are similar to the PCJAA.

He said the committee would continue to meet and set guidelines for this fall's sports season.

athletic ability must play a certain portion of a game.

Present middle school rules do not have this participation standard.

Athletic Director John Sandmann told the Observer that his Middle School Liaison Committee has been working all year to set a participation standard at this level.

He said the committee would continue to meet and set guidelines for this fall's sports season.

What you can't do on Monday

The Memorial Day weekend is fast approaching, and liberated employees will be flocking to beaches and parks or just spending a quiet day with friends and family.

But no matter how you are going to spend the holiday, remember that because it is a holiday and many services will be interrupted, and some stores will be closed.

All government offices in the Plymouth-Canton area will be closed for business Monday. Garbage pick-up in both the City of Plymouth and Canton Township will be delayed one day also. Plymouth Township has no municipal garbage service, but individual residents who have contracted with private firms can check on their schedules.

According to Plymouth Postmaster John Mulligan, postal services will be offered on the "Sunday" schedule. The lobby of the post office will be open, but no clerks will be on duty.

No regular mail deliveries will be made, and mail pick-ups from post boxes will be made once during the day.

If YOU HAVE TO make a car payment or take money out of your savings account, you won't be able to do either one on Monday.

Most banks in the area will be closed, and that includes the drive-in windows.

For those of you who find yourselves with last-minute shopping for drop-in guests or a spur-of-the-moment backyard barbecue, the prospects are good that you'll find something open.

In addition to the small beer and bread specialty stores, many of the larger chain stores will have special hours for the holiday.

All Kroger stores will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Chatham stores in the area are scheduled to be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Or, if you don't happen to feel like cooking, you probably won't be stuck for a restaurant. The Clock on Main Street in Plymouth Township will keep its regular round-the-clock serving schedule.

The Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth also will be open. The hotel restaurant will serve one meal at 12:30 p.m.

Many other restaurants and retail stores will either be closed or open for a limited time only. In all cases, it's good to plan ahead and make any arrangements early.

Banquet tables, loan funds given to SC

Two gifts worth a total of $2,750 have been accepted by the Schoolcraft College board of trustees.

Diners at the popular Gourmet Club banquets will sit at 40 round banquet tables now owned by the college.

The Gourmet Club made a $1,000 contribution toward purchase of the tables, worth a total of $1,940.

Churches multiply like loaves and fishes

"Just get me to the church on time!"

Catholic, Lutheran, Baptist and other sects are heading that cry from Canton residents and mapping out plans to build new parishes or closer to the far western suburb.

Several denominations already hold Sunday services in area elementary school buildings while their church construction plans are being mapped out.

MARANATHA BAPTIST Church is one of the new churches well on its way to Canton.

Located on Cherry Hill between Canton Center and Sheldon, Maranatha Baptist is the only church building currently under construction in the township. Phase one of the building's construction will include a gymnasium and auditorium—a large sanctuary will come later.

The Rev. Bruce Stewart expects the building will be completed by July or August.

Stewart echoes views of other church pastors when he says the township's population boom prompted the decision to locate in Canton. Stewart, current pastor of West Chicago Baptist Church in Detroit, said many members of his Detroit congregation have moved to Canton. Those Baptists will serve as the nucleus of Maranatha's membership drive.

Stewart and the Rev. Joseph Mac-

Mullen, associate pastor of West Chicago Baptist Church, will serve as co-pastors of Maranatha.

A new Catholic Church, still un-nanted, will take up residence in the Field Elementary School gymnasium on June 19 when the church's first Mass will be celebrated. Services are scheduled for 9:30 and 11 a.m. on Sundays.

Fr. Ernest Porcari, pastor of the new church, expects a new church building will be constructed within the next two years.

Boundaries of the new parish are I-275 to the east, Canton Center to the west, Ford to the north and Palmer to the south.

FR. EDWARD BALDWIN, pastor of Blessed John Neumann Catholic Church, expects that a portion of his parishioners will transfer to the new Catholic church in Field School.

Called Blessed John Neumann for about a year now, Fr. Baldwin's church started holding services in Miller School about three years ago as a mission of Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth.

The church now has about 650 member families. The parish hopes to start construction of a new church on Warren, west of Sheldon in October.

The John Neumann parish is bounded by I-275 on the east, Canton Center on the west, Joy on the north and Ford on the south. The church celebrates Mass on Saturdays at 5 p.m. and on Sundays at 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m.

Fr. Gerald Flannery of Divine Savior Catholic Church expects his congregation will move out of its temporary facility in Fiegel School to a new church building at Joy and Eckles next Easter.

About 25 per cent of the church's members live in Canton; the rest come from Livonia, Westland and Plymouth. Fr. Flannery, pastor of the church, says his parish is bounded by Newburgh, Haggerty, Ann Arbor Road and Ford.

Divine Savior celebrates Mass on Saturdays at 6 p.m. and on Sundays at 9 and 10:30 a.m.

THE CANTON CALVARY Assembly of God, the first church of that denomination in the township, took up temporary residence in Eriksson School in February.

The Rev. Gregory Gentry, pastor, says his congregation is looking at land on Sheldon between Warren and Joy as the future site of a permanent church building. Gentry hopes the proposed building will be ready by the summer of 1978.

Sponsored by Brightmoor Tabernacle in Detroit, Canton Calvary Assembly of God holds services at Eriksson Elementary Sunday at 3 p.m. Beginning the first Sunday in June, a Sunday school and Bible hour will be held at 2 p.m.

Mount Zion Lutheran Church holds services Sundays at 10 a.m. in the clubhouse of the Fordham Green Apartment complex on Ford, east of Sheldon.

The Rev. John Klatt hopes to begin construction of a new church building within one or two years. A location for the building has not been selected yet.

The new congregations will join several more established churches in Canton that have already constructed church buildings.

8 per cent raise urged for supervisor, clerk

Canton's supervisor and clerk will get their first pay raise in three years, if an eight per cent salary hike proposed by the Canton Compensation Commission is accepted by the township board.

By the commission's recommendation, the treasurer's annual salary of $7,500 will remain unchanged. In addition, township trustees will be paid an annual salary instead of the $40 per meeting they currently receive.

The recommendations will automatically go into effect July 1, unless the township board vetoes the proposals by a two-thirds majority.

Supervisor Harold Stein and Clerk John Flodin have indicated they are in favor of the recommended salary hikes.

FLOSSIE TONDA, a member of the compensation commission, said pay hikes for the clerk and supervisor were recommended because of inflation. The recommendation would hike the supervisor's pay from $19,488 to $21,074 and the clerk's from $18,288 to $19,751.

According to Mrs. Tonda, pay board members rejected a pay hike for the part-time treasurer, because the administrator's workload has decreased since the last raise was granted in 1974. Since that time, a deputy treasurer and assistant accountant have been hired for the treasurer's department.

The commission recommended abolition of the current salary structure that pays trustees $40 for each meeting they attend but did not set a recommended yearly salary.

Mrs. Tonda believes an annual salary would make trustees "more accountable to the people."

"There may be cases where business could be taken care of at one meeting, but trustees vote to delay it simply for the money," Mrs. Tonda said. "If they're on a salary and attend meetings for no extra pay, that lets the people know they're conscientious about their jobs."

Pay board members have also recommended a choice between health insurance and increased life insurance benefits for the supervisor, clerk and treasurer. Under that recommendation, administrators could opt for an additional $25,000 life insurance policy in lieu of their Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan.

UNTIL THIS YEAR, township officials set their own salary hikes. Under a new state law, however, township supervisors are required to appoint compensation commissions that meet every two years to review salary structures.

"I think this is good," Mrs. Tonda said. "It removes the pressure from township officials in giving themselves a raise."

But Flodin said he has already heard some criticism over the compensation commission's task. Some critics say township officials should set their own salaries and believe letting the commission make the recommendation is a "cop out."

"Either way, you're damned if you do, and you're damned if you don't," Flodin said.

45-15 calendar up in the air

By GLENN BUNTING

Several months of committee work, meetings and negotiations was supposed to have resulted in a Monday decision by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education on a satisfactory Extended School Year (ESY) calendar.

Instead, the school board rejected the recommendation by Supt. John M. Hoben to accept the tentative agreement by the school negotiator and the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) to implement the "C" calendar.

The board defeated plan "C" by a 4-2 vote, but approved to send the "B" calendar back to the negotiating table by a 5-1 vote.

By postponing a final decision, the board missed its May 23 deadline to furnish Ecotran, a private computer firm, with definite school scheduling information. Hoben said the board is running short on time and will likely have to call a special meeting to resolve the issue. Basic differences between "B" and "C" include days off between school years, time off for holidays and teacher inservice training days.

The next school board meeting is scheduled for June 13, which is too late to finalize plans, Hoben said.

The school year begins on July 1, which gives the administration less than five weeks to complete preparations. These include figuring bus schedules, handling appeals and notifying parents of their students' schedules in advance.

THE BIGGEST PRIORITY for the board is to settle the calendar issue quickly. Because it is a negotiable item, the board was forced to send the "B" calendar back to the bargaining table.

Norm Kee, board negotiator, said a meeting was "partially planned" for yesterday (Wednesday) with the PEA. Kee said he hopes to resolve all conflicts with the union on both traditional and ESY calendars.

But the PEA will be firm in its demand for the implementation of the defeated "C" calendar, according to Derald McKinley, the union's chief negotiator.

"Unless I hear further suggestions from teachers, we're going to stand pat with calendar "C,"" McKinley said. "We negotiated with Kee and arrived at a tentative agreement just to have it turned down by the board. Why go through it again?"

"I don't even see why the board employs a negotiator if it's just going to reverse his decision. This is the third time they've negated a tentative agreement."

McKinley added that because the issue is a negotiable item, the school board cannot unilaterally pick a calendar, and if an agreement is not reached by the bargaining units, the board must revert to the original, traditional schedule.

Hoben disagreed stating that "if the matter cannot be settled at the bar-

THE REASON WHY the school board turned down the "C" calendar was a result of the public workshop held a week earlier. Both Marcia Borowski and Flossie Tonda said that not one parent supported calendar

"C."

"All of the telephone calls that I've received, and there have been many, either support calendar "B" or criticized calendar "C,"" Ms. Borowski said.

Task force seeks child safety

The call-in program would require parents of absent students to advise the school by phone of the absence by 9 a.m. Daily checks would be made of student absences as call-ins.

Opponents of the program, according to the task force report, "felt significant numbers of parents would not remember to call the school if their children were going to be absent."

The dissenters were concerned about the difficulty of contacting working parents if they forgot to phone in, and the effort attempting to contact parents would have on school clerical staff workloads.

They were also concerned about whether school principals would be forced to either call the police where no parent contact could be made, or simply do nothing.

Deciding to call police on a frequent basis, the dissenters maintain, could lead to "lessened" police response to such requests.

Not calling the police, the dissenters worried, could contribute to a tragedy and possibly trigger litigation involving school personnel.

The board will decide at a later meeting whether to accept the task force recommendation or to make changes.

Yack votes against PEA pact

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education quickly dispensed with a year-long headache Monday night, ratifying a three-year contract with the teachers' union by a 5-1 vote.

As expected, the master agreement was not unanimously approved with Trustee Thomas Yack casting the only "no" vote. Supporting the measure were Trustees Joe Gray, Flossie Tonda, Richard Arlen, Marcia Borowski and George Lawton. E.J. McClelland, board vice president, was absent.

The teachers, members of the Plymouth Education Association (PEA), voted 10 days ago to ratify the contract. The vote was 216-16, with four abstentions. About 160 teachers failed to attend the ratification meeting.

The 16 no votes reflected dissatisfaction with the fact that the new contract does not make implementation of the so-called Extended School Year (ESY) a negotiable issue, according to Derald McKinley, chief negotiator for the PEA.

Trustee Yack said he voted against the agreement because he felt it unwise for the school board to enter into a long term contract. "By ratifying a three-year pact, we are totally vulnerable to inflationary pressures. We have no way of knowing what the economic situation will be three years from now. I favor a two-year contract."

ARLEN SAID that he originally felt the contract was inflationary, but changed his mind: "Inflation has reached 9.6 per cent this month and could easily exceed 10 per cent by September. If this pattern continues, the contract will not even meet inflation."

Said Lawton: "Both negotiating teams spent a good amount of time on this issue, and I can't help but think it's a fair and equitable contract. Three years down the road from now, we'll see who's right."

Mrs. Tonda said her husband receives cost-of-living raises on a job that does not require a college education, a benefit the teachers do not receive under the agreement.

"I'm quite sure the PEA doesn't feel it got everything it wanted and neither does the board. It's a good settlement because nobody feels they won," Gray said.

Yack, who remained firm in his opposition during discussion of the contract, added, "We're not like the auto companies, who are able to generate new revenue by raising prices. It seems to me that two years is the only sensible way to go."

Parade, fireworks fundraising begins

The Plymouth Jaycees have launched a fundraising campaign to collect up to $5,000 to cover the expense for a parade and fireworks on the Fourth of July.

The Jaycees have drawn up their budget for both events and are in need for $1,600 for the parade and at least $2,800 for the aerial fireworks display.

"Holding the fireworks is contingent upon us raising the funds, as was the case last year," explains Jim Picard, Jaycees president. "Our total goal for the parade and fireworks is to raise $4,000 to $5,000."

Current Jaycee funds aren't adequate to underwrite the Fourth of July activities staged for the greater Plymouth community, explains Henry Salla of the finance committee.

Fundraising projects from throughout the year haven't generated the surplus needed for July 4th events. The Jaycees, therefore, are appealing to the community and friends of Plymouth for support. We are seeking donations from industry, professionals, retailers and residents.

"Commercial and professional community members will be contacted by mail and in person by the Jaycees. Residents are asked to send their contributions to the Plymouth Jaycees P.O. Box 279, Plymouth 48170."

Picard noted that other fundraising activities will consist of parade entrance fees, which only brought in $120 last year, and a fee for the fireworks display—as a last resort.

As recognition, Salla adds, contributors of $200 or more will receive an engraved plaque. All contributions will be acknowledged weekly in the Plymouth Observer.

Anyone having questions may contact Picard at 455-4781 or Salla at 459-9396. Others which may be contacted are: Darryl Dooley, parade committee, 455-7382; Doug Jaskierny, finance committee, 455-9807; or Larry Kennedy, finance committee, 455-9000.

Grote explains SC need for tax

By TIM RICHARD

"It's no longer possible to offer the same programs and services on 177 mills," said Schoolcraft College President C. Nelson Grote as he told why the community college is asking an 0.8 mill property tax increase on the June 13 ballot.

If passed, the millage would eventually raise $1.48 million in five years, when spread across five K-12 school districts in northwestern Wayne County.

"It will cost the average taxpayer $1 to $1.25 a month. That's small to the taxpayer, but it makes a major difference to the institution," Grote said Tuesday in remarks prepared for a League of Women Voters candidates night.

IF THE MONEY is voted, he said, the college will be able to:

• Retain its low tuition for in-district students. The current rate is $13 per credit hour. College officials have hinted that a tuition increase would come if the millage fails but they haven't said how much.

• Offer current programs and services "with some minor degree of expansion."

• Reinstate major maintenance programs. This item was cut $100,000 when the college suffered revenue losses due to the recession and the loss of some personal property taxes due to the advent of the single business tax.

• Reinstat $75,000 into the equipment replacement fund, also cut for the same reasons.

• Defray current operating expenses and the costs of operating the next phase of the capital construction program. He referred to the $10 million expansion program the college plans to undertake in the next five years.

A SIMILAR millage proposal lost in 1976. When that happened, Grote said, the college had to make a long series of cuts in service offerings.

"We closed the library on weekends... we discontinued all Sunday and most Saturday afternoon classes... We discontinued the Sunday Health Club, which brought many to the college..."

"We reduced major maintenance by $100,000 and equipment replacement by $75,000... We allowed vacancies to occur by attrition and retirement, and we did it across the board—faculty, administration, office and custodial personnel..."

"We slowed weekend use of buildings to save operating costs and energy... We curtailed some class offerings and some services."

THE COLLEGE has made a major effort to serve the entire community, and not just the post-high school students seeking the first two years of a college education, Grote said.

When Grote became president in 1971, enrollment in vocational-technical programs was 44 per cent of the total. Currently it's 68 per cent, and a new Applied Sciences Building has been constructed.

In 1972 only 42 per cent of our students were women. In 1975, that reached 48 per cent," he said, "and in 1976, when the final figures are in, we'll be right at 50 per cent. We've made a real effort to bring women into the mainstream of education."

Until recession budget cuts crimped the effort, the college was opening more and more of its facilities to the community. Grote cited the Gourmet Club dinners, the trustees' dances, the expanded cultural and performing arts programs, and use of the facilities for events such as proms, banquets, and employee recognition dinners.

"We've graduated 5,000-plus persons since the college opened its doors in 1964 and enrolled some 90,000, and we've done it all on 1.77 mills. But it's no longer possible," Grote said.

Like businesses, Schoolcraft has suffered because of soaring utility costs, insurance increases, unemployment and workers' compensation increases, materials costs, and salary and wage costs, although the president credited the board with "trying to hold the last item in line."

But Schoolcraft faces problems that a business doesn't, he said—state aid cuts during a recession, loss of local revenues due to the single business tax, and a state-mandated five per cent contribution to employee retirement programs.

Selling space offered at fair

The Canton Chamber of Commerce is offering space for businessmen to display and sell their products in a "big top" at this year's Jaycee Fair, scheduled for June 7-12 at Ford and Lilley roads.

Booth space is limited, so businessmen are asked to reserve space early. To reserve a booth, stop by the chamber's office at 5834 N. Sheldon or call Mary at 453-4040.

Danger seen in tranquilizers

It animal studies are any indication, some barbiturate tranquilizers, commonly prescribed for pregnant women, could have detrimental effects on their babies' sexual development and behavior, say researchers at Michigan State University. Dr. Lynwood Clemens, professor of zoology, and doctoral candidate Teresa Popaham, found that pentobarbital (Nembutal) administered to newborn male hamsters produces a serious decrease in the animals' adult sexual performance.

"Hamsters are born in a very immature state," Ms. Popaham said, "and their degree of development is very similar to the 'in utero' condition of human babies when sexual development starts to occur."

Clemens added, "Barbiturates, hormones and other drugs are commonly administered to pregnant women with very little scientific knowledge of the long-term behavioral and physiological effects on the children."

Normal male sexual development requires the hormone testosterone, which is normally produced within the males' sex organs. Studies have shown that barbiturates can block the processing of testosterone by the body's biochemical machine.

"It's a big step from hamsters to humans," Clemens said, "but the implication of animal studies make it clear that drugs given to human mothers must be evaluated in terms of their effects on the fetus as well as the mother."

For voc-tech and child care

S'craft trustees approve curriculum expansion

Schoolcraft College is ready to offer new programs in automotive mechanics, horticulture technology, child care teacher's aide, and manufacturing production planning.

Trustees approved the programs unanimously, although there was some debate about the necessity for speech course requirements in the manufacturing program.

THE AUTOMOTIVE service offering will consist of eight separate programs.

"A student who completes all eight programs will receive a certificate of achievement from Schoolcraft College for each specific program and should be qualified to pass the State of Michigan Certification Test for master mechanic," according to Thad Diebel, dean of applied arts and sciences.

Potential enrollment is estimated at 20 new students per year. Two new engine stands and two new transmission stands costing a total of $1,500 will be needed, Diebel added.

Two new courses will include Auto 129—Engines Laboratory—and Auto 130—Transmissions Laboratory. No new faculty will be hired.

A FIRST for southeast Michigan will be Schoolcraft's new horticulture technology program. It is dependent, however, on passage of the 0.8 mill property tax increase on the June 13 ballot.

"The nurserymen have been after me five, six or seven years for this," said Fred Stefanski, curriculum coordinator.

"Students will come primarily from the industry for upgrading," added Diebel. "Students would be educated and work as assistants to nurserymen, landscape technicians, horticulture sales, grounds and turf managers, greenhouse operators, etc."

In addition, Western Michigan University is interested in a two-plus-two relationship for students who want to transfer there and earn a degree after completing their technical programs at Schoolcraft.

A full-time instructor would be added in the winter semester (January 1978). Next fall, the courses would be taught by a part-time instructor from the industry.

New courses will include these horticulture offerings: 100—Principles; 020—Introduction to Soils; 130—Landscape Gardening; 240—Landscape Design; 250—Land Use and Soil Conservation; 270—Problems; and 280—Field Experience.

"It is anticipated the cost of equipment and facilities (portable greenhouses) would be $60,000. Land to the south of the south parking lot would be utilized as experimental plots. The entire campus would be considered the laboratory," said Diebel.

THE CHILD CARE teacher's aide program will be offered July 1. It is an additional option to the child care program, which was developed to provide trained personnel to work with the mentally retarded.

The new program was developed by staff members of Northville School District, which serves the state's Plymouth Center for Human Development in caring for mentally retarded children.

Interest in such programs has been stimulated by a 1971 state law requiring K-12 school districts to educate every child, regardless of intelligence.

Classes will be taught entirely by part-time faculty. No special facility or equipment will be needed, but there will be field experience at institutions dealing with the retarded.

THE MANUFACTURING and production planning program is a packaging of courses already offered by Schoolcraft for some eight years. Students will be educated as manufacturing technicians for such positions as job setup, production planning and foreman—"in essence," to work with production engineers," said Diebel.

"These graduates will not be machine operators, machinists or tool and die persons."

At least 200 district industrial firms have openings for one or more graduates, he said.

No new personnel, equipment or facilities will be needed, but several manufacturing courses will be added to the curriculum.

Trustee Mark McQuesten, noting no speech courses were required, said he saw "a continuing effort, deliberately or otherwise, to eliminate speech requirements."

But Diebel pointed out the program still requires 22 general education credits, or 25 per cent of the associate degree requirements.

TWO OTHER programs were eliminated by board action on the strength of curriculum committee recommendations:

• Labor studies, where the college attempted to work with the United Auto Workers union. The stumbling blocks were that students weren't attracted, and there were no real job openings for graduates. "One must work one's way up within the union," the curriculum committee said.

• Mental Health Certificate and associate degree program. The programs were created for the New Careers Department of the Michigan Employment Security Commission early in the 1970s for a specific group of students. No courses in the field had been offered since April 1973.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"Our customers need to have cars that are more fuel-efficient."

Fred Porter, Assistant Staff Engineer, Vehicle Systems Engineering

"I'm responsible for optimizing the fuel economy of a car targeted for the 1980's. We're redesigning our cars because our customers need to have cars that are more fuel-efficient. Right now, we're working on a family-sized car which will yield better fuel efficiency by approximately 30% than the car it replaces, without sacrificing passenger comfort.

"The first thing you have to do when you want to optimize the fuel economy of a car is to examine where the fuel is actually being used. And what you'll find is that fuel is primarily used to push the air aside, to roll the tires and to move all the components, like the fan and so on. What we have done in this program is to take those components and analyze how much fuel is being used by each one. Primarily, we have concerned ourselves with weight reduction, the engine, aerodynamics, tires, gears and component efficiency, pretty much in that order.

"The problem is that you have to identify the trade-offs that you're making. A tire that consumes less power, and as a consequence consumes less fuel, may be very desirable. But it also has to ride properly. The challenge is to make a car efficient and still comfortable.

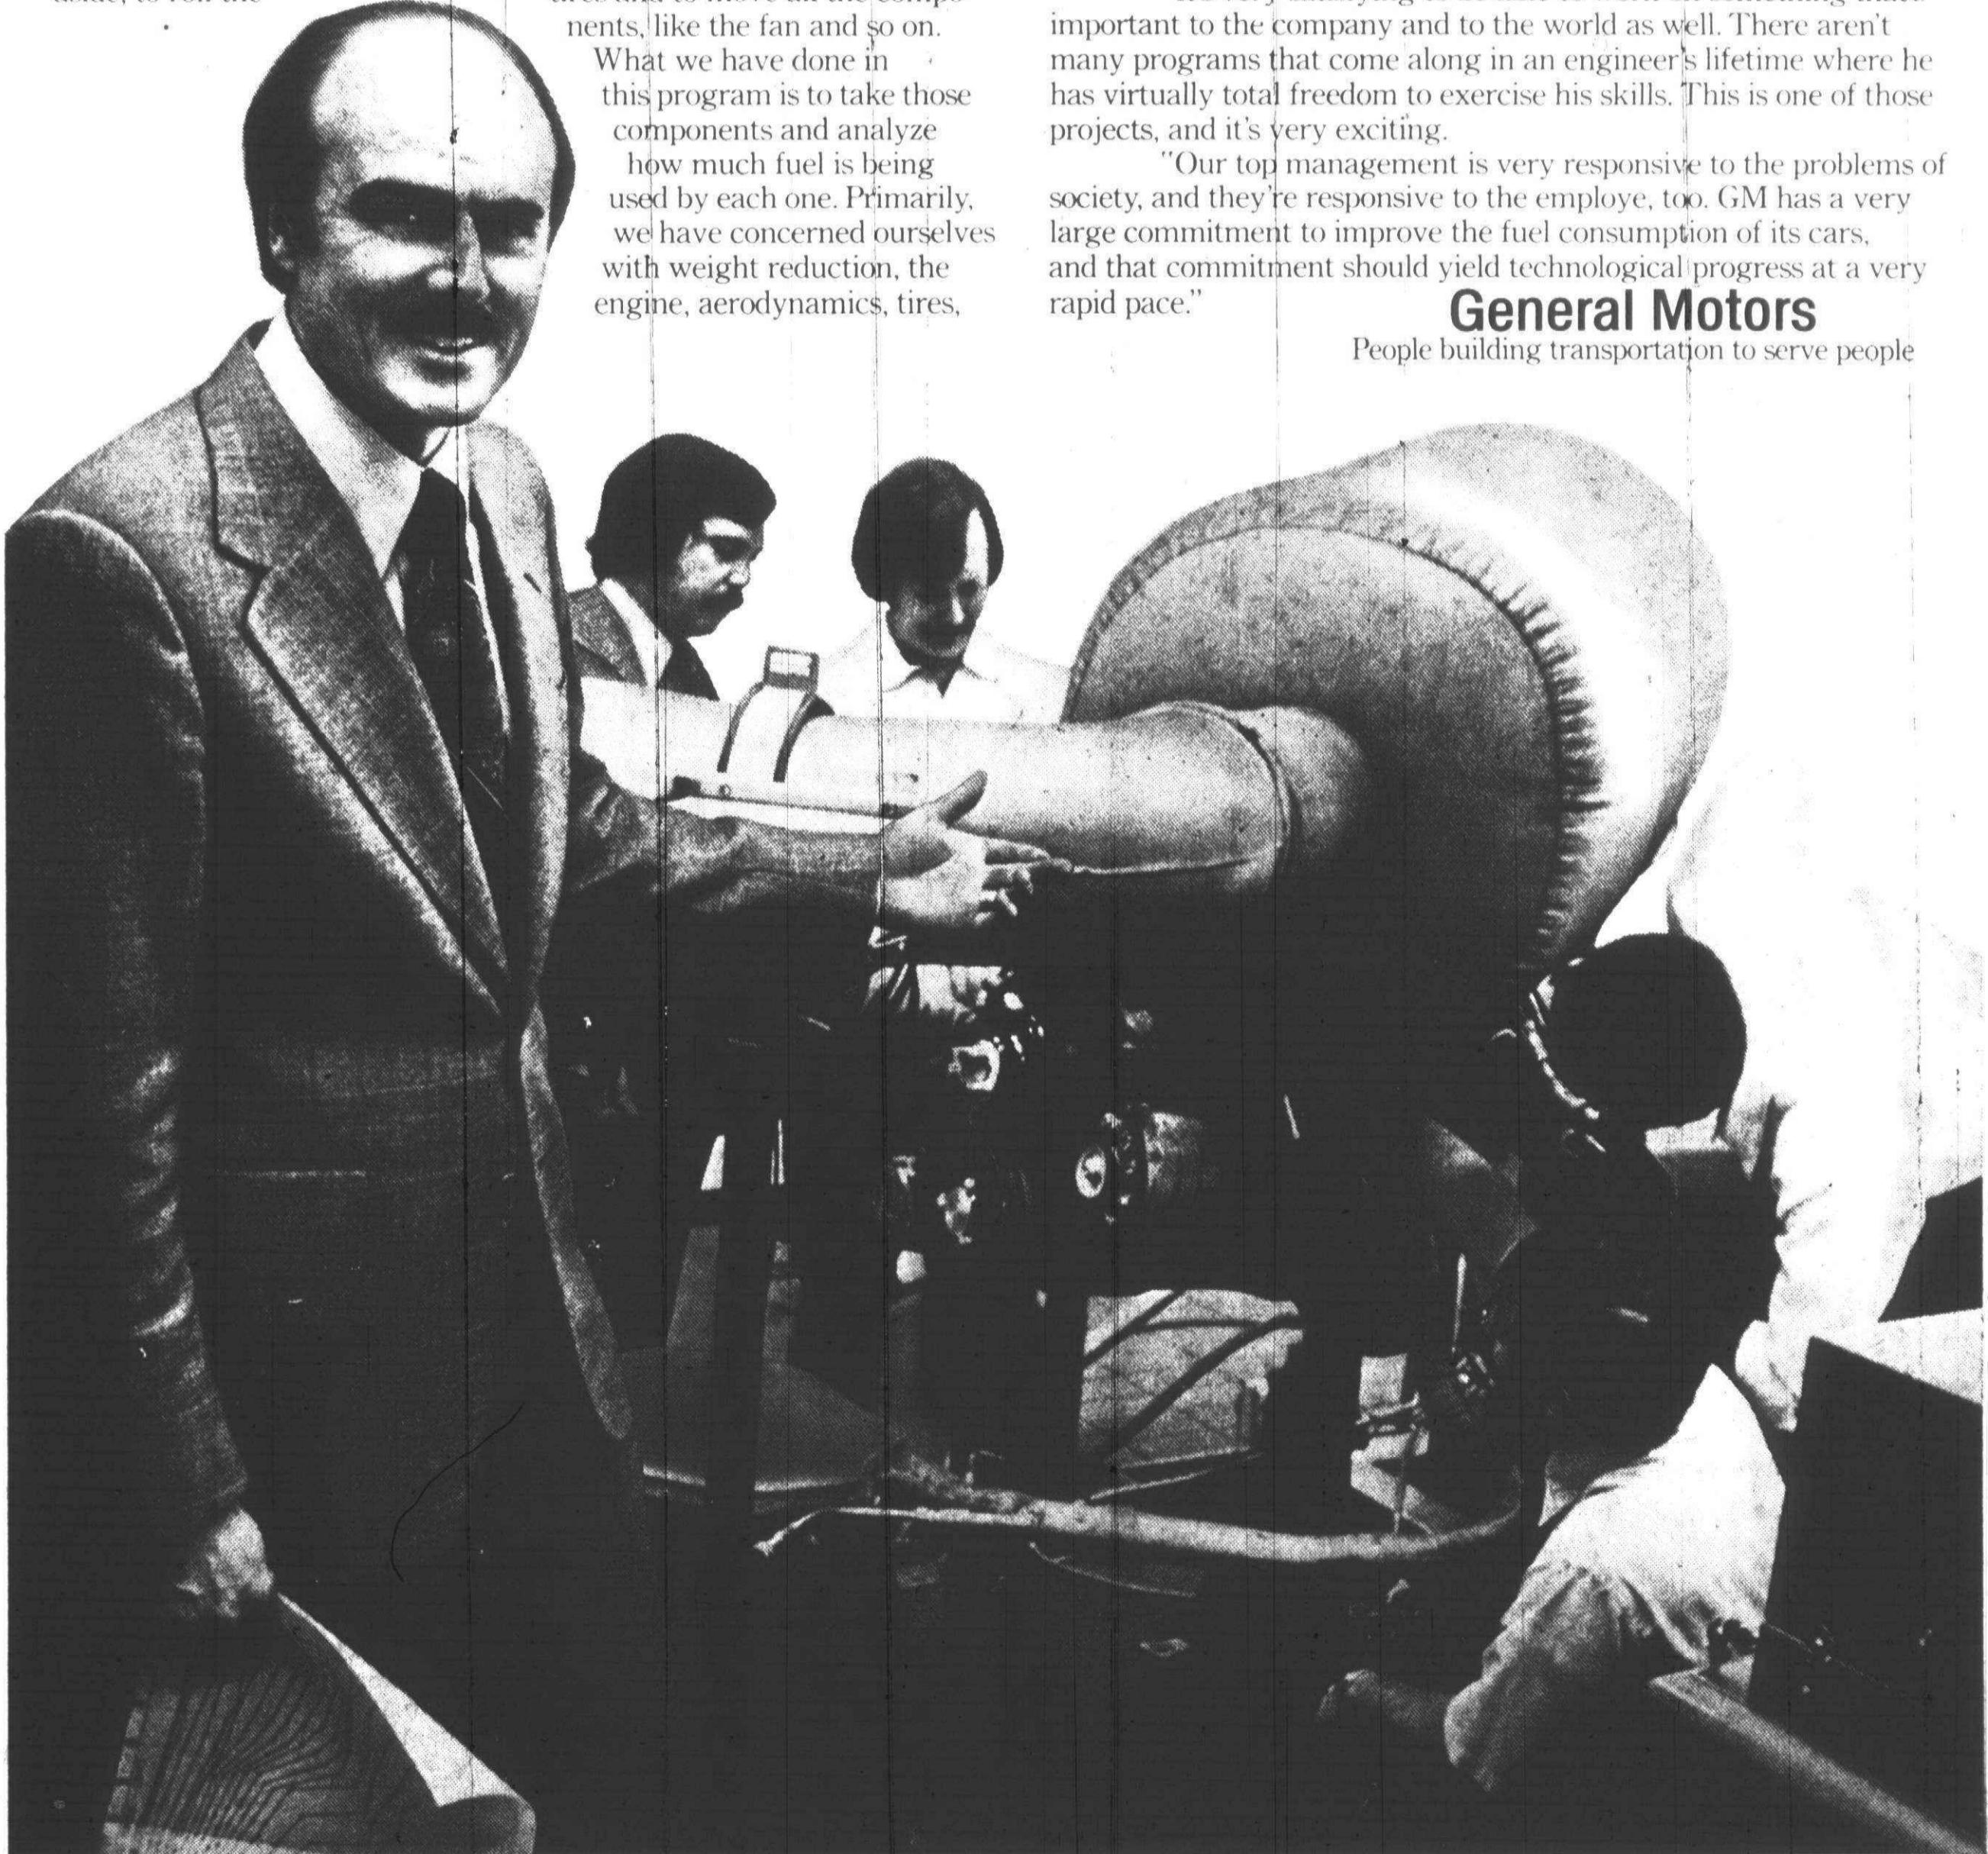

"There is no reason why an efficient component must always cost more than an inefficient one. We have to optimize our vehicle from a fuel usage standpoint without causing the cost of the components to drive the price of a car beyond what the general public is willing to pay.

"It's very satisfying to be able to work on something that's important to the company and to the world as well. There aren't many programs that come along in an engineer's lifetime where he has virtually total freedom to exercise his skills. This is one of those projects, and it's very exciting.

"Our top management is very responsive to the problems of society, and they're responsive to the employee, too. GM has a very large commitment to improve the fuel consumption of its cars, and that commitment should yield technological progress at a very rapid pace."

Harper is best qualified for board of education

Three candidates are on the ballot June 13 vying for one position on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

While each candidate has individual qualifications which would help him or her serve on the school board, there is one the Observer recommends as best qualified—Stephen Harper.

Major qualifications for office include involvement in school functions, a knowledge of how the school district operates, including some grasp of its strengths and weaknesses; a commitment to quality education at a reasonable cost, and an understanding of how school boards meet their legislative charge of balancing administrative plans against community wishes.

The candidates are Arlene Callahan of Canton, Mary Jane Mulaski of Canton, and Harper of Plymouth Township. Mrs. Mulaski has a sincere interest in the education of young people, and some involvement in school functions. Mrs. Callahan and Harper have a more intensive background of involvement and volunteer service to the school district.

In fact, Mrs. Callahan scores just as high as Harper in areas of involvement and knowledge of the school district. She shares with Mrs. Mulaski and Harper a commitment to quality education at a reasonable cost.

Harper, though, best demonstrates an awareness of procedures which must be taken to assure expenditures are reasonable.

Harper ranks very high in understanding the legislative process necessary to get things accomplished and he also has keen insight into the decision-making process.

In fact, Harper's strongest asset is he understands decisions aren't made by just getting interested parties in the same room but evolve through interaction at many levels. He, particularly, understands that if good decisions are to be made, sound decision-making procedures must be followed.

Kirksey, Dumas: best in GOP House primary

The state House of Representatives will be facing a lot of difficult issues in the next few years, and Livonia residents and businesspersons will need all the help they can get to find equitable solutions.

Livonia voters are fortunate in having several qualified candidates in next Wednesday's 35th District Republican primary from which to pick for the general election on Tuesday, June 20.

Leading the field in the GOP primary are Jack Kirksey, elementary school principal and director of probation for the Livonia district court, and Mary Dumas, in her third term as a Wayne County commissioner and a former Schoolcraft College board member.

Both have an impressive list of professional and personal credentials to present to voters.

Kirksey has several assets which would make him a strong state legislator if he wins the primary and general election. He has the ability to identify and articulate problems, work with a variety of groups and people, and find solutions to those problems.

Kirksey also has a long record of public service in education and the court staff. Elective office would be a logical extension of his philosophy of helping people.

Besides his work as an elementary school principal, Kirksey has demonstrated his concerns for the human problems in suburban society through his part-time position as the Livonia district court's probation director. In that post, he oversees 200 volunteer probation workers who have contact with more than 1,000 defendants placed under probation.

The college kept its promises

Voters are being told by the Schoolcraft College administration and trustees that if they approve an 0.8 mill property tax increase June 13, they will levy the money as they need it, and not raise the rate all in one year.

Past performance must lead one to believe the promise.

In recent years, Schoolcraft College has set out to expand vocational-technical offerings, to provide special services for the growing numbers of women who are looking for opportunities close to home, to expand cultural programs and to allow the community to use the campus.

The college has delivered.

'Suburbs' are communities

As any newspaperman (or politician) knows, words can conceal and deceive as often as they can clarify and inform. The trick is to take careful note of what they really suggest and then to test that against what's really so.

Take the word "suburb."

My American College Dictionary defines a suburb as "a district lying immediately outside a city or town, esp. a residential section outside of the city boundaries." Let's take this definition apart and test it against what's really so.

The dictionary starts by suggesting that a suburb is a "district," hence not really a city or town. But if you ask the residents of Birmingham-Plymouth, Farmington or Livonia—or any number of other "suburbs" in this area—whether they live in a "district," they'll look at you with a funny expression and say, Why, no, we live in a city.

Do suburbs lie "immediately outside a city or a town," as the dictionary suggests? Rochester-West Bloomfield and Canton Township—just to mention a few "suburbs" in this area—certainly do not. They are separated from Detroit by other suburbs, and these, too, are not always immediately adjacent to Detroit.

Is Detroit the only "city or town" in this region, as the dictionary definition implies? Plainly, not so.

ARE THE SUBURBS a "residential section outside of the city boundaries"? Certainly many people do live in the suburbs, but the suggestion that the suburbs today are bedroom communities inhabited entirely by people who work downtown is simply false.

As long ago as the mid-1960s, when the Transportation and Land Use Study (TALUS) was being conducted, it became clear that as many persons lived and worked in the suburbs as worked downtown. The trend toward increased numbers of jobs in the suburbs has accelerated during the past 10 years.

In fact, when the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority board met two weeks ago to decide the direction of rapid transit in this area it was clear the majority of trips taken by people in this area were within a given suburb or from one suburb to another, rather than from a suburb to downtown Detroit.

Once set aside—in the dictionary and in our minds—as bedroom communities feeding workers and shoppers into the center city, the suburbs have changed and evolved enormously.

IT'S THIS EVOLUTION that provoked me to fuss with the dictionary definition of a suburb.

For I believe that the suburbs are no longer what the dictionaries say they are, just as I believe that unless and until we in the suburbs and others in the core city wake up to this fact, we'll all be making terrible errors of judgment about one another.

Obviously, the word "suburb" has continuing use. A suburb today is a community—any community—in a metropolitan area geographically near a large central city.

But the key is that today suburbs are not "districts," as the dictionary says, but rather fully functioning communities—communities, in fact with just as much community life as Detroit.

People work in the suburbs, and they play at suburban ball diamonds and at the Silverdome in Pontiac. People get higher education in community colleges (and even four-year colleges) located in the suburbs, just as they go to concerts in suburban auditoriums. People go to neighborhood bars in the suburbs, and they look at exciting art in suburban art galleries. People talk and visit and relate to one another in the suburbs in just the same way they do in the center city.

In fact, you could turn the argument around and say that any given suburb—a Plymouth, a Birmingham or a Rochester—has more community life within itself than the often split and disjointed city of Detroit.

WHAT IS REALLY going on is that the term "suburbs" has become out of date in today's world, just as has the term "center city." Suburbs are communities, just as are neighborhoods within Detroit such as Indian Village or Old Redford or the east side.

What has really happened is that people in this metropolitan area are living in one or another community, strung together like an interlocked mosaic throughout the area, rather than in the center city and the suburbs. And that the real question that affects the everyday life of people is not whether they live in the city or the suburbs, but rather whether their community is working as a functioning community.

So let's not be deluded into thinking, because the prefix "sub" is attached to communities in the suburbs, that there's anything inferior, subordinate or incomplete about them. Once we do that, our thinking about the city and suburbs is artificially and incorrectly locked into words and images that no longer reflect reality.

The wild Huron

It is still fashionable to contend that our state government in Lansing ignores the populous southeastern portion of the state. The truth, however, is that Michigan's natural resources programs are paying increasing attention to the corner where the people are.

We note with pleasure that the state Department of Natural Resources has placed a special designation on the Huron River as part of the "natural rivers" program. The purpose is to preserve the Huron's shoreline and ecosystem through appropriate zoning and land use regulations.

Thus, the Huron joins the lofty company of Ernest Hemingway's Two Hearted River, along with the Betsie and the Boardman and others in the north country. Keep up the good work, Lansing.

Intern plan advocated by candidate Toy

Nursing and therapy programs could provide interns for day care centers, according to Laura M. Toy, candidate for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees in the June 13 election.

Speaking to a recent meeting of the Deiter Day Care parents, Ms. Toy said such a program could be made available to students in two-year health programs and others planning to transfer to special education fields at four-year colleges.

"I feel it's not only an excellent opportunity, but it gives new insights which help in the classroom seminars," she said.

"I was (Livonia) Mayor McNamara's first intern as a requirement of my one major in political science. I worked 16 weeks and gained knowledge about local government and what made it go. Working with these people was quite a great experience for an undergrad."

Ms. Toy added that "Schoolcraft does need more outreach programming and its role should be help advise and aid such groups whenever feasible."

Technical field has educational need—Bologna

The future needs in higher education programming lie more in the area of vocational-technical training than in the professions, said Jack Bologna, candidate for the Schoolcraft College board of trustees in the June 13 election.

Bologna told a group of supporters at a fund-raiser in Plymouth recently: "Our society is moving simultaneously in two educational directions: the need for the knowledge worker, which four-year colleges are designed to handle, and the need for greater technical proficiency, which community colleges were designed to satisfy."

"Like it or not, ours is a technological society. I honestly believe we have been slipping in technical competence, and that deeply concerns me. For as John Gardner once said, 'A society that can't produce a decent plumber won't produce many philosophers; and if it fails at both, neither its theories nor its pipes will hold water.'"

Bologna added, "The fact that we produce a better trained lawyer than France, England or Germany makes me feel good, but doesn't excite me half as much as knowing that our skilled tradesmen, technicians, engineers and scientists are better equipped educationally than their counterparts overseas."

SC board needs broad input

Schoolcraft College board of trustees decisions would be benefited if it had more input from across the district, according to candidate Karl M. Sjogren.

Speaking to a recent meeting of the Clarenceville school board, Sjogren said, "I know of no instance where the board's decision on an issue would have been different had an unrepresented district been represented."

"There are, however, at least three benefits that would result from such broad-based representation," said Sjogren, the only Clarenceville resident among the nine candidates in the June 13 balloting.

"The concept of Schoolcraft as a community college—established to serve the needs of all its member dis-

Rune sticks and stones are different things

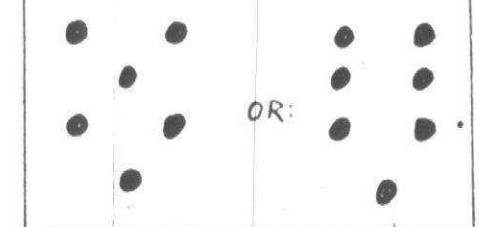

(the one for whom the witch is reading).

Each time, the results are written down. Example:

Then, through an elaborate system of adding and eliminating, involving some 17 diagrams in all, the witch finally ends up with one diagram which is interpreted according to a formula that tells the subject what he wants to know.

The rune stones are more to my liking, since they are more easily interpreted.

OR:

Witch Watch
by GUNDELLA

prettied, or more easily understood.

Traditionally, nine flat stones are used. Each stone is marked with two symbols, one on each side of the stone. No two stones are alike. In other words, there are 18 different symbols on the stones.

Using a stick, the witch traces a circle on the ground, and the stones are cast into that circle. Sometimes the subject tosses three stones, and sometimes the witch does it with the subject in mind. The person tossing them always stands facing the east.

The witch then looks at the way the stones lie in the circle to tell the subject a story about himself or herself. She does this by picturing the circle as divided into 12 parts, or planes of influence, roughly corresponding to the 12 houses of the zodiac.

By combining the symbol on the stone with the plane in which it lies, she then has nine bits of information to relay to the subject.

Both rune sticks and rune stones may be fun, but as I have pointed out before when discussing tea leaf readings, wax drippings, and other means of divination, the future can be predicted by viewing what has happened in the past.

But each of us holds the power to change the future by our own actions in the present. Never forget that you can react in many different ways to whatever is destined to happen, and the way you choose to treat will really determine the final outcome.

Be prepared for tornadoes

By JOE MARTUCCI

Memories of last year's tornado disaster in West Bloomfield were rekindled Saturday, as twisters struck several sections of the state.

Some safety tips compiled by the Oakland County Disaster Control and Civil Defense office may prove useful again, perhaps in the near future.

It's important to know the difference between a tornado watch and a tornado warning.

A tornado watch is issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau when conditions are such that a tornado may develop within a defined area. A tornadowarning is issued when tornadoes are actually sighted. Whenever possible the path of the tornado will be given.

On Saturday, for example, it was reported that a tornado had been sighted near Howell and was heading toward Oakland County at 65 miles per hour.

Peak tornado months in Michigan are April, May and June. Twisters can occur, however, from March through September and are not impossible during any month.

Tornadoes are difficult to predict because forces that cause them are complex. Michigan has an average of four tornadoes per year, with most of them developing in the hours following the warmest part of the day.

In homes, take shelter in the northeast corner of the basement, or under sturdy items in the basement, such as a heavy laundry tub, pool table, work bench or under the staircase.

If time allows, open windows on at least two sides of the house, preferably on the east and west sides. This will equalize air pressure, which can build inside the house, blowing out walls.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

Here are some energy-saving tips to help take the heat off your air-conditioning budget this summer.

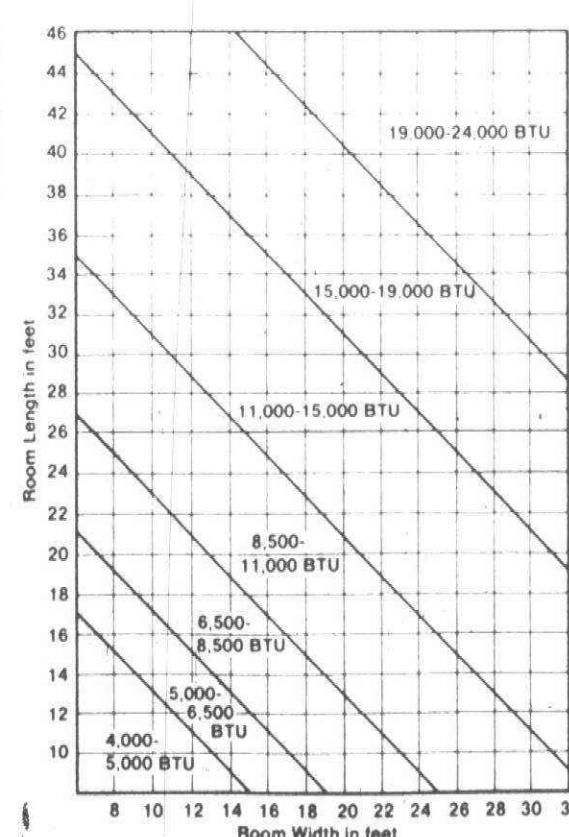

The right BTU and high EER spell comfort and savings. Whichever you choose, a portable room air conditioner or central air conditioning to cool the whole house, the right size unit (BTUs) and a high Energy Efficiency Rating (EER) will give you the best return for your air-conditioning dollar.

The right size (or capacity) is important because an air conditioner that's too small will work overtime and still not return the comfort you want. If the unit is larger than you need, it will cool too quickly, cycle too frequently, and not remove enough excess moisture from the air. You'll feel uncomfortable and clammy and you'll be wasting money on energy costs.

Some air conditioners use more electricity than others to do the same job. So look for a unit with a high EER number. The higher the number, the more efficient it is.

Here's how to size up an air conditioner.

To find out the size of the air conditioner you need, measure the length and width of the room you want to cool. If you're considering a central air conditioner, measure each room in the house.

Now find the zone on the chart where the lines for room length and width meet. The figure in that zone is the BTU output, an indication of the air-conditioning capacity required to cool your room. For a central air conditioner, add the BTU requirements together, for all rooms.

A little simple division makes you an efficiency expert.

MODEL NUMBER ACR20B 74F
VOLTS	CYCLE	PHASE
115	60	1
COOLING BTU/Hr	AMPS	WATTS
6400	7.5	800
BTUS		WATTS

To figure out the EER number of any air conditioner yourself, divide the BTU number by the number of watts needed by the unit. You'll find both numbers on the metal plate attached to the air conditioner.

For example, a unit that delivers 6400 BTUs with 800 watts has an EER rating of 8. (800 goes into 6400 8 times.) The recommended EER number for any air conditioner is 8 or more. You may pay a little more, but you'll save energy costs in the long run.

Keeping your air conditioner cool keeps you cool.

When you bring your portable room air conditioner home, install it on the shady side of the house. If you must place it on the sunny side, you'll keep your operating costs lower if you plant shrubs or trees near it for shade during the hottest part of the day. Carefully seal all around your unit and close cracks around windows and doors. If central air conditioning is installed in an existing furnace, it's important to seal all cracks in the air ducts.

It pays to insulate.

Good home insulation will keep you more comfortable in summer and cut down on your air-conditioning costs. It will also make a big reduction in your heating bill in winter. It's one of the best home improvements you can make and will pay for itself in a few years' time. Spring and summer are good times to have the job done when contractors are less busy. Detroit Edison can help you with the financing and give you the names of professional contractors. Just call or stop in at your Detroit Edison customer office and ask about Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan.

Tips to help you maintain your cool.

You'll conserve energy and save on operating costs if you keep your air conditioner in good working order. So before each cooling season, have a licensed service contractor check your unit over. During the summer, replace or wash filters often and keep outside coils free of debris, and keep cooling drain open for free condensate flow. Clean registers and return ducts regularly on central air-conditioning systems and avoid blocking cool air outlets. Set your thermostat no lower than about 10 degrees below the outside temperature for the most comfort and best efficiency.

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy plays one of the most important roles in that effort. But it requires a working partnership between those who supply energy and those who use it.

Selecting energy-efficient appliances is one of the ways you can help. You'll also save on your electric bill.

Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

THE ARGUMENT was an old one: Why was the first high school in Plymouth Centennial Educational Park named Salem High School?

The discussion finally ended in a challenge and a wager.

"I'll bet if you stood in front of the post office all day and asked people where Salem is—the Salem community with the church, store and gas station—you wouldn't find two people who knew," said Ralph Lorenz.

The post office is on the shady side of Penniman Avenue during the morning hours. A cool breeze and cooperative passersby made the man-on-the-street interviews a pleasant assignment.

Twenty-two responses to the question "Can you tell me how to get to Salem?" seemed a fairly representative sampling.

The directions were interesting and sometimes confusing.

by ELLIE GRAHAM

• "I've been through there. It's on Pontiac Trail at Seven Mile Road."

• "It's someplace out Five Mile at Beck. There was a big train wreck there in 1889."

• "I don't know. But I'm from Garden City."

• "It's out Five Mile or Six Mile. You go past Sheldon, Beck and Chubb Road."

• "I've been there. We go there to watch airplanes. It's south or west."

• "I can go there in my sleep. I can make a map of it. It's out there on Five Mile or Six Mile."

• "I don't have any idea."

• "Go out Six Mile and you'll hit it right on the nose."

• "It's south of here."

• "Not the high school."

• "Then I don't know where it is."

• "It's west of Plymouth Township."

• "The community."

• "Is there a Salem?"

• "I know where Salem High School is. I don't know where Salem is."

• "No I don't. Sorry."

• "The school? No? I can't help you."

• "The school? Sorry, I've only lived here a year. I can't help you."

• "Salem is on Six Mile Road west of the railroad track and the airport."

• "It's over there (a wave of the hand). I think Out North Territorial."

• "It's west of Northville."

"Out this way (another wave of the hand). I'll never understand why they named a school after it. We've often talked about that at home."

"And another thing. There is just one postcard of Plymouth in town. I found just two postcards—both with the same picture of Kellogg Park. There should be more postcards."

• "It's at Six Mile and Salem roads. We were reading about the year-round schools in Plymouth and the thought crossed my mind. Why did they name that school 'Salem'?"

• "It's out by Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. That's all I know."

• "No, I don't."

• "I should know—I've lived here 50 years. I'd say it's off the expressway, north of I-96."

It seems there was some kind of prize promised when the challenge was issued.

We'll have to wait until the challenger returns from Minnesota to declare the winner.

Robin Wideman, a graduate of Plymouth High School, performed with the Ars Musica baroque in its final concert of the season last Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Wideman was one of the featured soloists. A viola made by George Klotz in the late 18th century was played by Wideman in a performance of Telemann's Viola Concerto in G major.

Original instruments were used by all members of the ensemble for the concert. The old string instruments have the shorter neck, smaller bass bar, lower bridge, gut strings, and pre-Tourte bows.

The ensemble has performed many concerts outside Ann Arbor this year, including one at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

PATRICK TOUEY has been responsible for some added excitement around this office the past two weeks. He and the lovely Pamela Desch will be married this Saturday.

With the long Memorial Day Weekend, Pat and Pam are not planning a wedding trip at this time.

Pat will, of course, arrange his vacation so he will not miss a Plymouth Township board meeting.

Best of luck and much happiness, Patrick and Pamela.

Symphony League reviews season

Members of the Plymouth Symphony League met in the Round Table Club Monday for their annual luncheon, a review of the season's activities and the installation of officers for the 1977-78 year.

One of the last actions of Stephanie Miller's presidency was the presentation of a bonus check for $1,000 to Fran Lang, president of the Plymouth Symphony Society. This was over their pledge to the the society and was designated for programming for the orchestra's 32nd concert season.

The new president, Mary Weed, gave Mrs. Miller a pewter trivet, a gift from the league.

Janet Repp is the new vice president. Other officers are Evelyn Funk, secretary, and Sarah Chance, treasurer. Millie Ferrari will be refreshment chairwoman and Sharon Davy is the new public relations chairwoman. First project for the league will be the antique mart in the fall. Fran Lang and Joyce Kelly are co-chairing the annual event which is held during the Plymouth Fall Festival, the weekend after Labor Day. Jean Sigmon will be treasurer of the project.

Mrs. Weed announced something new is planned for this year's mart. An appraiser of antiques will be on hand to estimate the value of family heirlooms for person's visiting the show and sale in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

There will be a luncheon fashion show Oct. 12 arranged by the Crescendo group of the league. The Staccatos are planning a membership tea and will have the Symphony Ball as their project. The Vivaces, co-chaired by Carol Stirton and Connie Heidt, will plan the pops concert. The Night ingales will have a spring project.

GUESTS AT THE the luncheon were entertained by a string trio with piano accompaniment.

The musicians perform in the schools as part of the Excursions in Music program sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Violinist Janita Hauk, violinist Jean Braun, and cellist Janet Holt are members of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. They were accompanied by Bernice Russian on the piano.

Because arrangements for string trios are limited, Jean Braun arranges most of the music chosen to appeal to the youngsters in the schools.

Mrs. Weed emphasized that new members always are welcomed to the league. The annual membership fee is $3; persons need not wait to be invited to join.

She also announced a new category—a sustaining membership.

"We would much rather have your $3 and your time," said Mrs. Weed. "But for those who are unable to work on the projects, for those former members who still are interested in the league but feel they can no longer devote their efforts to league work, we offer the sustaining membership."

The league is the largest single financial supporter of the orchestra. Besides the antique mart, symphony ball, luncheon fashion show and pops concert, the league's social and fundraising projects are a round robin bridge, golf and bowling leagues, bake sales and art auctions.

Members of the league serve refreshments to the orchestra at each Monday night rehearsal in Central Middle School. They also serve coffee during intermission at the regular symphony concerts.

Beauty pageant planner explains motives

By LORRAINE MCCLISH

Kimberlee Marre Foley, Miss World-USA, gets ready to relinquish her crown as plans for the 1977-78 Miss Michigan World Pageant go into full swing.

The pageant is open to all women between the ages of 17 and 25 who live in Michigan and want a chance at the title. The winner will be named on the night of the pageant, June 27, in the Raleigh House.

"Age and Michigan residency are the only requirements. There is no talent contest in the pageant," said Cindy Guenther, who is executive director for the 23-year-old event.

Speaking from her Farmington-based office, Ms. Guenther said, "Our motives are completely different than the Miss America contest. That is all oriented to scholarships and education. Ours is given for girls heading for modeling, television, or show business careers and maybe don't know how to go about it. We open doors for them."

ONE OF THE prizes is that the winner automatically hired at auto shows in Detroit, New York and Chicago.

"And even those who don't win, will be seen by a couple of spotters from talent agencies we know will be in the audience that night," Ms. Guenther said.

Miss Foley, the only Michigan woman to ever win the Miss USA World competition, is now doing auto shows and promotional work across the country.

Ms. Guenther, a former title holder, is lottery hostess for television's "Michigan" and now owns the Miss Michigan World franchise.

Another former winner, Marj Wallace, recently seen on the cover of People magazine, has appeared in movies as well as several television series.

Linda Carter, of television's "Wonder Woman," is a former winner.

"The winner," Ms. Guenther said, "will have lots of occasions to meet celebrities; in fact she'll be working with show people all week long at the national contest."

MS. GUENTHER has pushed the state contest up to June, to give the winner an adequate amount of time to prepare for the national competition.

scheduled for the last of August in California.

"I'll be working very closely with her all that time to get her ready to compete with those other girls because I want her to be a big winner for us," she said.

Prizes for the contest are all-expense-paid trips for two to Las Vegas for both the winner and the first runner-up; modeling portfolios, and the use of a 1977 Cougar; plus all expenses paid for the week-long national competition.

"On top of that, there will be many smaller prizes, theatre tickets, cosmetics, total nail care, things like that," she said. "Everyone will get a souvenir booklet and some memo-

Brownie play day a 'super success'

They had a fantastic time. From the morning flag ceremony until the closing evening ritual, the Brownies agreed their May 21 play day was a "super success."

The play day at a small private lake had been planned by Romain Kling for Brownie Troops 328 and 208 of the Allen Elementary School cluster.

A host of mosquitoes also arrived for the opening ceremonies. But the 40 Brownies, their leaders and assisting parents were prepared. They wore long pants and everyone was sprayed with insect repellent.

A sack lunch followed the morning scavenger hunt and the brownies had their choices of two interest groups.

There was fire building, micro-environmental map-making, fishing, nature weaving, twig and rock creatures, and cup and ball game.

After a game session they prepared the evening meal using a typically girl scout menu.

Barbara Radabaugh, field director for the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area, joined the group for dinner.

There were grilled hamburgers, ants on a hill (celery sticks stuffed with drink, an Oreo peanut butter and covered with raisins), bug juice (Kool-aid) to drink, and s'mores for dessert.

Jane Boyle and Carol Theard are leaders of Troop 328. Mrs. Kling and Carol Packard are leaders of Troop 208. Adult helpers for the playday were Shirley Work, Sue Eix, Joani Sherran, Frank Kling and Gregg Packard.

Mrs. Kling instructed the fire-building group.

Mrs. Boyle was in charge of the map-making session. A small area was chosen and micro maps were drawn showing every weed, flower, tree and ant hill.

Mrs. Sherman showed her group how to construct a cup and ball game. The fathers, Gregg Packard and Frank Kling led the fishing expedition. The total catch was 16 panfish.

Carol Theard taught a group how to weave with rushes and grasses and Carol Packard helped identify the twig and rock creatures.

Jendrycka-Borow

Chester and Carolyn Jendrycka of Surrey Road, Livonia, formerly of Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Louise to Ronald Allan Borow, son of Alvin and Catherine Borow of Canterbury Lane, Warren.

The bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Bentley High School and attending Schoolcraft College while working for the Hearthsides store in Livonia. Her fiance graduated in architecture in 1976 from Lawrence Institute of Technology, where he was affiliated with Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. He is employed by DiClemente Siegel Engineering, Inc., in Southfield.

They plan an October wedding in St. Maurice Catholic Church of Livonia.

Conner-Riley

Mr. and Mrs. I.V. Conner of Garden City announce the engagement of their daughter Camilla to Kenneth Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riley of Northville, formerly of Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Garden City West High School and is employed by Hawthorn Center. Her fiance graduated the same year from Plymouth High School and attends the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

A November wedding is planned.

Pastor and wife mark golden anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank B. Smith will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary June 11 at Calvary Baptist Church, Plymouth.

The pastor retired in 1967 from the active pastorate after 42 years as a minister. For the past three years he has been with Calvary Baptist Church as associate pastor of visitation and senior adults as well as doing pulpit supply work in various churches in the Detroit area.

At the time of their retirement, Pastor and Mrs. Smith moved to Port Lambton, Ontario, making that their permanent residence.

The Smiths have three children. Irene Comstock of Westland, JoAnn Schultz of Warren, and Richard Smith of Farmington Hills. They also have eight grandchildren.

How can funeral service follow a set formula?

We don't believe it can.

After all, people are individuals . . . and all families have their own ways of thinking.

This is why every service we direct takes shape according to the family's individual thoughts and preferences.

UNITES ASSEMBLY OF GOD, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will offer a weekend of gospel music and evangelism with the Sharrett Brothers on Saturday and Denny Duron, evangelist and former football professional, on Sunday.

The Sharrett Brothers concert, scheduled at 7:30 p.m., brings a area group well-schooled in harmony and gospel music. The brothers recently made their first record album and it has been released by Word Records.

Duron, speaking at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. services, has played quarterback in the World Football League and recently was named head coach at Evangel College.

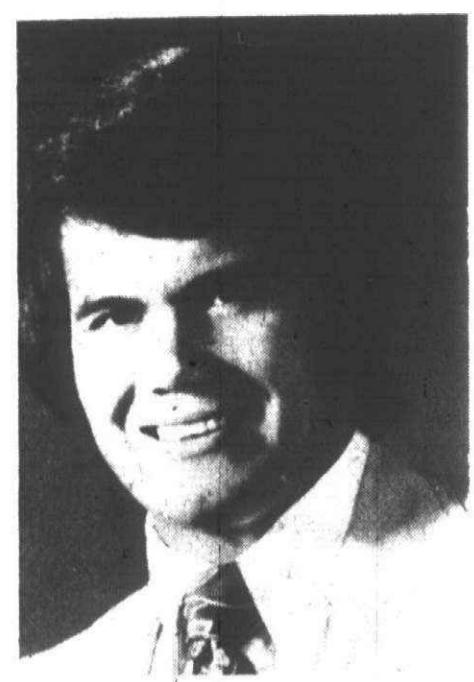

"At 24, one of the youngest head coaches in college football, Duron has been known throughout his brief career as a professed Christian who has chosen to use his talent in ministry to the Lord."

LIVONIA CHRISTIAN CHURCH (Disciples of Christ), 36075 Seven Mile, will welcome the Rev. Eric White, executive minister of the Christian Church Michigan region, to its pulpit for Pentecost Sunday.

Making his final visit here before retirement, he will speak on the topic "Amazing Grace."

Arthur Smith will be worship leader for the service, and Howard Groce, chairman for the congregation, will make a special presentation to the visiting clergyman at the conclusion of worship.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Six Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia, will have participation by the Garden City Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7575 for Memorial

DENNY DURON

Day services at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The post participating for the third consecutive year at Ward, will be led by its commander, Ernest Sparks, in presentation of the colors at the beginning of the service and retrieving them following worship. The Rev. William C. Moore will preach on the subject "Land Where My Fathers Died."

Dr. Errico also will speak at 7:30 p.m. Friday on "Eshoo-Jesus, Man of the Near East," and at 9:15 and 11 a.m. Sunday services on "The Lord's Prayer in the original language of Jesus."

Fr. Forish also will speak at 7:30 p.m. Friday on "Eshoo-Jesus, Man of the Near East," and at 9:15 and 11 a.m. Sunday services on "The Lord's Prayer in the original language of Jesus."

Fr. Forish had been the Livonia parish for three years at the time his classmate and longtime friend was named to join him there.

The parish council of St. Michael designated June 5 Clergy Recognition Day to honor the two priests.

On that occasion they will celebrate a mass at noon in the church located at the corner of Plymouth and Hubbard.

Following the mass, parishioners and other friends are invited to attend a reception for Fr. Forish and Fr. Partensky in the parish activities building from 14 p.m.

The final event of the day will be a dinner party for the guests of honor, their relatives and friends, and parishioners at the Daniel A. Lord Knights of Columbus Council Hall.

Fr. Forish was born in Coral, Pa., and attended SS. Cyril & Methodius grade school before entering Sacred Heart. Later he graduated from Mt. St. Mary Seminary at Norwood, Ohio.

He served as associate pastor and pastor in both his home parish, SS. Cyril & Methodius, and SS. Andrew

St. Michael honoring pastors long on teamwork

Veterans will be honored at all Sunday services at Ward, and in the morning worship times Dr. Bartlett L. Hess will preach on the topic "Memorial Day and the Gentile Pentecost."

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, will dedicate the site for a new memorial garden, planned for construction in the near future, as part of Memorial Day services Sunday.

The Session, governing body for the church, has approved construction of the garden on the church grounds for interment of remains of deceased members and friends of the parish.

UNITY OF LIVONIA, 28660 Five Mile, will present a seminar titled "The Seven Eastern Keys," 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Seminar leader will be Dr. Rocco A. Errico, an expert in Aramaic, the language of Jesus. Cost for the seminar is $15.

Dr. Errico also will speak at 7:30 p.m. Friday on "Eshoo-Jesus, Man of the Near East," and at 9:15 and 11 a.m. Sunday services on "The Lord's Prayer in the original language of Jesus."

The final event of the day will be a dinner party for the guests of honor, their relatives and friends, and parishioners at the Daniel A. Lord Knights of Columbus Council Hall.

Fr. Forish was born in Coral, Pa., and attended SS. Cyril & Methodius grade school before entering Sacred Heart. Later he graduated from Mt. St. Mary Seminary at Norwood, Ohio.

He served as associate pastor and pastor in both his home parish, SS. Cyril & Methodius, and SS. Andrew

Hands tell the story in evangelism for deaf

By SHERRY KAHAN

It may have been the quietest revival meeting in history. That's because both the speakers and members of the audience were deaf.

Deaf evangelist Ronnie Rice brought his message to the Community Baptist Church in Garden City with his fingers rather than his voice.

And when the congregation swung into the hymn, "Hallelujah, Thine the Glory," they sang with their fingers and hands, spelling it all out in sign language.

The church has been building up a special department for the deaf ever since a missionary, the Rev. Harold Hency, visited 12 years ago, and taught some of the members sign language, explained Mrs. Bea Snow, superintendent of the deaf department.

"Our pastor, the Rev. James B. Allen, decided it would be a good idea to have a deaf ministry," she added. "At that time there weren't many of them around. It was a barren field. The deaf had no one to minister to them."

It was a struggle to get started, but the deaf responded, and a peak attendance of 83 was reached at a recent Sunday.

COMMUNITY BAPTIST now holds a special Sunday school for the deaf from 10 to 11 a.m., and follows it with services.

"I found the Lord really wanted me to go all out for the deaf," noted Mrs. Snow. "I wouldn't have it any other way. It's a love the Lord really gives you for the deaf. These people are the most important people in our lives. They mean everything to us."

Among the members of the group which learned sign language to be of service to the deaf are George Bradley and Bob and Paula Shipman of Garden City and Sandy Linden of Wayne.

Their work is not only in supplying church services for the hearing handicapped.

"We help in other areas too," pointed out Mrs. Linden, who lives in Wayne. "We take them to the doctor, the hospital and to weddings and funerals. At these ceremonies I sometimes interpret for the deaf in the audience."

"It's happy work, very fulfilling. This is the Lord's work, not mine. But I enjoy being used by the Lord in this way."

THE REVIVAL SERVICE STARTED with brief messages from members of the deaf group, with several of them then taking turns in leading songs.

Instead of words pouring forth in unison from the audience, hands and fingers moved together in "The Old Rugged Cross" and other old favorites.

The visiting deaf evangelist, Ronnie Rice is from the Bill Rice Ranch of Murfreesboro, Tenn., the world largest ministry to the deaf. He told the audience that "our Father in heaven loves to see the deaf coming here for a revival to get a blessing in their heart."

He added: "It helps the deaf to understand what the Bible says in the name of Jesus."

Hymn singing at services for the deaf may be quiet, but hands are busy. From left, Jessie Gould of Westland, Mrs. Lula Seger of Inkster and Sybil Johnson of Wayne participate. (Staff photos by Sherry Kahan)

Mrs. Leala Pastore of Westland leads her deaf audience in "singing" a popular hymn.

Elementary field day exciting for runners, fans

More than 500 fourth and fifth graders participated in the annual Plymouth Elementary Field Day held Saturday afternoon at the Centennial Educational Park track.

Seven different events were conducted as competitors from all 14 elementary school were represented. Elementary school competition qualified runners, jumpers and throwers for this meet.

Ribbons for the top five places in each event were awarded to the youngsters.

Field Day coordinator Candy Gilles said she felt the event was a success because she felt there was "more balance" among the participants from the different teams.

Three new records were set.

The fifth grade girls at Bird school broke the old 440-yard relay race time by one-tenth of a second, clocking 1:02.6.

Fifth grader Lou Ann Hamblin from Tanger beat the old softball throw record by one foot with a toss of 135 feet.

Fourth grader Dana Higgason from Smith ran the 440-yard race in 1:14.4 to beat last year's record by three seconds.

Golfers lose

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton girls golf teams each lost dual matches last week.

The Rocks, coached by Bob Waters, lost their second match of the season against six victories, as Saline scored a 192-211 victory.

Saline's total was a new team record for that school.

Lori Erickson and Betty DeLano paced Salem's attack with nine-hole rounds of 49 each. JoAnn Szilagi added a 53, and Nancy Grotz scored 60.

THE DELAY OF FINAL JUDGMENT
Through the parable of the wheat and tares the Lord Jesus Christ tells us that He is the sower who plants the righteous in the world, and the harvest is at the end of the age (Matt. 13:37-43). These facts are woven together to teach us that the kingdom of God has come without effecting the final separation of men. The kingdom comes in a way unexpected to some, involves a delay, and undergoes a fulfillment of Old Testament promises. It has a complexity in which future events are often lumped together in the prophecy and species apart in the fulfillment. Therefore chronology is not an emphasis of biblical prophecy instead stress lies in the unity and the certainty of God's saving promises.

The fulfillment of biblical promises has a now and a not yet. The kingdom is here now but its fullness is not yet. Since deliverance from guilt has been definitely secured by Christ, the issue of the harvest can be settled now. You can know patient and long-suffering now through submission of yourself to the longsuffering that is the kingdom of Christ.

Judgment is delayed. What then do you have in this time between? where final punishment is not now executed? You have the gospel, the adventure of grace. Read it, believe it, repeat it, proclaim it. Give it to others forever. You will never be gathered out of God's heaven; instead you will shine forth as the sun in the Father's kingdom (v. 41-43). Here is radiance, dignity, glory. It is found in humble submission to Christ as Lord.

50 years

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Suddendorf will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary May 28 with a family dinner.

They were married May 28, 1927 in St. Margaret Mary Church in Cincinnati, Ohio. Suddendorf retired in 1963 after 36 years with Ternstedt division of General Motors. They have lived on Newburg Road in Livonia for 33 years.

The couple has two sons, Jack of Canton Township, and Neil of Northville. They have nine grandchildren.

ObituariesCLYDE H. TROMBLEY

Funeral services for Mr. Trombley, 85 of Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Waller Lake, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial at Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Samuel F. Stout.

Mr. Trombley, who died May 18 in Sarasota, was a retired styling engineer from Ford Motor Co. Survivors include: wife, Pearl; sons, Raymond of Plymouth, Robert of Wixom; daughters, Mrs. Gladys Gaddey of Plymouth, Mrs. Florence Mocock of Milford, Mrs. June Byrd of Livonia, Mrs. Thelma Henderson of Clinton, and Mrs. Mildred Connell of Ann Arbor; brother, Henry, retired postmaster of Farmington Post Office; sister, Mrs. Laura Sutherland of Birmingham.

Allwin-Ursa

Pamela Fern Ursu was given in marriage by her father when she and Roger Paul Allwin exchanged vows at a candlelight service in Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aurel Ursu of Plymouth and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Allwin of Livonia.

Officiating for the ceremony were the Rev. William A. Ritter and the Rev. Richard Schmidberger.

The bride wore a chiffon and polyester gown with a sweetheart neckline and seed pearl trim. A diamond and emerald necklace, gift of the bridegroom, was her jewelry, and she carried white daisies and ivy on top of a white Bible that had been given her by her godparents when she was baptised.

Madal of honor Brenda Allwin wore a pink polyester dress with a flowered cape, and bridesmaids Karen Rauls, Kelly Stever, Susan Denski and Wendy Dushibier were in similar dresses in yellow and green. Holly Stever and Cindy Shemwell were bride's nephews.

Randal Ojanen was best man and the groomsmen were David Ursu, James Shell, Alan Ingebretson and Raymond Ananiam.

The reception for 200 guests was held in Roma Hall, and after a Florida honeymoon the couple will live in Canton. The new Mrs. Allwin is a graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and attended Schoolcraft College. She is employed by Hydramatic Filter Co. of Livonia.

Her husband is a graduate of Bentley High School and the University of Michigan and works for Marco Corp. in Taylor.

'57 singers reunite

Eighteen members of the 1957 Wayne State University Men's Glee Club, some now living as far away as Texas and Hawaii, return to Detroit to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Club's first European tour at an annual spring concert Saturday, June 11.

The concert, "Encore III," begins at 8:30 p.m. in Orchestra Hall, Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

Dr. Harry M. Langford, Glee Club director for 31 years and director for Saturday's performance, said he was pleased 18 of the original 19-member group could all make it for the concert. The 19th member, Gil Sirotti, died in 1967.

Concert program includes the French folk song "Au Clair de la Lune;" southern folk hymn "Wondrous Love" and a Robert Shaw arrangement of "Wait for the Wagon." Eric Schreiner and Willie Edwards, Glee Club soloists during the 1957 tour, will appear as soloists at the concert.

Folk group Rural Route 3, comprised of former Glee Club singers, will perform original compositions.

Members from the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club from Livonia include singers Chris Soltesz, Phil Fouts, and Chris Mac.

Tickets for the concert may be bought at the WSU bookstore, Orchestra Hall, any Glee Club member, or by calling 577-2618. Tickets available at the door.

Advance prices are $2 general and $1 students.

New group at Pontch

Birch & Company, a group of five musicians, has opened a four-week stay at the Top O' The Pontch in Detroit.

The group is led by Dan Birch and consists of his wife Martha, brother Bob, Mark Van Haaren and Frank Kaszuba. Birch & Company plays almost every type of music but specializes in Top 40 dance music.

Dan Birch studied music at Wayne State University where he performed with the concert and jazz bands. He now teaches music. His specialties are sax, flute, piccolo and synthesizer as well as lead and back-up vocals.

Martha handles lead vocals and doubles on piano, organ and keyboard. Bob plays bass, flute, piano and bass guitar.

Lead guitarist is Mark Van Haaren, a former guitar teacher at the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Frank Kaszuba is the drummer.

Improv group has new show

University of Michigan-Dearborn's popular improvisation group, "Genesis I," will return to the stage with a new production June 3, 4, 10 and 11.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. in room 119 of the Engineering Laboratory Building on the UM-D campus in Dearborn.

Directed by Susan Flierl, assistant professor of theater arts, the troupe has delighted audiences with a wide selection of improvisational routines including "Truth," in which actors cast aside the usual societal restrictions to reveal what many would like to say in personal relationships but never dare do. "Variations on a Theme" offers a situation first performed straight and then repeated as a tragedy, situation comedy, soap opera, spy drama, western, supernatural tale, or spy story.

All scenes are based on audience suggestions and will include "John-Marsha," "Place," "Newscast," "Unnoticed Actions" and "Lone Wolf."

Tickets for the shows are $1.50 and are available at the door.

Stately Dearborn Inn receives a 4-star rating

The Dearborn Inn and its reproduction colonial homes located nearby have been named as the recipient of the Mobil Four Star award. Only 268 establishments representing restaurants, hotel, motels and resorts have been honored with Four-Stars this year.

The rating, published in the 1977 Mobil Travel Guide, is determined only after consideration of detailed reports by experienced field representatives and observations submitted by Mobil Travel Guide readers who visited the famous colonial inn. An independent consulting firm determines the actual ratings.

Mobil Travel Guide

Each year, the travel guide rates establishments nationwide on a one-to-one basis. All ratings are awarded on merit alone.

The Dearborn Inn was built by Henry Ford in 1931 for the convenient accommodation of travelers who landed at the nearby Ford Airport. It was a port hotel."

DEARBORN INN offers three types of facilities—the Georgian Inn itself, and on the grounds, five reproduction colonial homes and two motor houses. A total of 180 rooms are available on the 23-acre site.

A visit to the Inn is like stepping into America's colonial past. Entering the circular drive, you see an inn of stately Georgian architecture, typical of old inns in the South.

The colonial homes on the inn's grounds offer something unexpectedly different. Each colonial home is a reproduction of the home of a famous American.

The interiors have modern features in a colonial atmosphere. There are five colonial homes: Walt Whitman House, Edgar Allan Poe Cottage, Barbara Fritchie House, the Patrick Henry House and the Governor Oliver Wolcott House. The homes range from two to 14 rooms or suites.

Two separate buildings—the Burbank House and the McGuffey House—comprise the modern motor houses.

Persnickety snook are troublesome lot, but can be caught off Florida coast

Snook are persnickety Florida gamefish aptly described as long-bodied with a projecting lower jaw and a vacuous look about the eyes—when a fisherman gets close enough to view one. In discussing snook fishing, sensible largemouth bass anglers who fish on open lake waters instead of the puddles between mangrove swamp branches use degrading phrases like "state of mind" and "moonburn fever."

Why? As a sporting activity, snook fishing often makes unusual demands on both native experts and visiting tourists. Hal Morris, resident angling expert at Punta Gorda Isles 80-odd miles below Tampa on Florida's West Coast, insists that a 25-pound snook is perfectly capable of hanging on to a mangrove root with its fins while chomping on a baitcaster's plug with slab-snouted jaws.

"Furthermore," insists Morris, "a 30-pound snook habitually backs out of the mangrove when approaching a lure in order to have a head start getting back home with the bait."

THERE WAS an eruption on the water's surface precisely where Morris had just cast a plug bare inches from a protuding mangrove branch. A streamlined torpedo, vaguely cigar-shaped but certainly self-propelled, exploded skyward. The snook rattled its gill rakers, leaped over the branch, weaved the monofilament line through a tangle of mangrove roots and broke free. That fish weighed a minimum of 40 to 45-pounds—maybe.

The snook would have been a magnificent opponent for Paul Bunyan if the species lived in the Minnesota northwoods for a really big snook rivals the pulling power of Bunyan's Babe, the Blue Ox.

Unfortunately for snowbird story-tellers on angling exploits, Centropomus undecimalis, the snook—also variously known by such nicknames as robalo, sergeantfish, pike or even the Spanish brochet de mer—is found largely along the Texas-Louisiana Gulf of Mexico coastline and the Florida west-central to southern tier, plus tropical waters in Central and South America.

While visiting snook habitat on a Florida vacation, you can tangle with the fish using the identical tackle and sportfishing techniques employed on largemouth bass most anywhere in the country—with one notable exception. To net or gaff a limit catch using artificial lures, you must learn to behave as though every second were your last—cranking your reel handle frantically and retrieving as though you had the Furies on your shoulder and a tiger by the tail.

Morris suggests that you imagine your plug is a baitfish dropped practically into the mouth of a predatory snook and that you're trying to yank it clear before it is gobbled down.

SNOOK ARE well known to inhale spinners, spoons and many varieties of feathered or bucktail jigs, the latter most particularly in chilly weather when the fish tend to lie in deep holes. They'll strike such natural baits as finger mullet, shiners, pinfish, shrimp and small needlefish with appropriate gusto. Try dangling such offerings from the side of a boat anchored in good snook waters or from canal and highway bridges such as the span between Port Charlotte and Punta Gorda along Florida highway no. 41.

But for really superlative snook fishing, head for the mangrove jungles after sunset since snook and mangrove go together like grits and fish chips. "I like an ebbing tide just after daybreak or before sunset along with the nocturnal shift via moonlight," says Morris.

Air fares differ row by row

If somebody would take a poll of passengers on the same airplane, going to the same destination, it would show that passengers in the same row pay vastly different airfares.

There are many reasons for this, but the most important one is that people who make their reservations and pay for their tickets well in advance pay the lowest air rates. We have in this category the various charter types, the APEX (Advance Booking fares), the CCF (Charter Class Fares in Canada only) and the Freedom fare within the United States.

Another way to save is to use rail passes in Europe. There is a Eurailpass for two weeks to three months for unlimited travel in all West European countries, plus the passes restricted to one specific country like the BRITrail passes.

France, Germany, Italy and Switzerland offer similar rail passes and many of them are available only outside the countries. They allow travel for free or at a discount on buses, steamships and mountain railroads, too.

WHEN SELECTING a destination you should also bear in mind the rate of inflation and the exchange rate of the American dollar. Italy's currency is very weak at this time, so is the English pound and to some extent the French franc.

U.S. money buys more in these countries, even if we take into account that prices went up somewhat because of inflation. The same is true for Israel, Spain and Portugal.

Socialist countries (Yugoslavia, Russia, Rumania, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria) have government-controlled hotel rates and food is generally not expensive, even though their standards are somewhat different from ours.

Sure, it is nice to travel footloose without advance reservations. But sometimes the traveler who wants to play it by ear will find that one hotel after the other will turn him away and he will end up in a fleabag, or in far too expensive place.

If you want reservations in a Spanish Parador or a nice and inexpensive "Pension" (boardinghouse), make sure you make your reservation as far as a year ahead of time.

IF YOU WANT to choose your cabin on a cruise, the same principle of advance booking applies. Later on it is a "seller's market," and you have to ask the steamship line, "What cabin is available?"

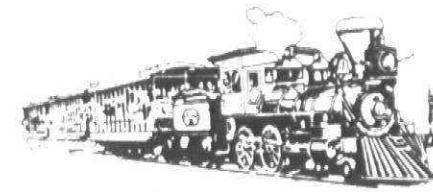

Travelers checks are the best means of payment. If you shop around, you may find out that American Express, Thomas Cook or one of the banks who issue them has a special and will sell unlimited amounts at a fixed, low rate.

'Consumer Mailbag' series begins

Getting the big questions of ecology into consumer-sized chunks is the aim of Concern, Inc., and the column will begin providing this newspaper.

The column, titled "Consumer Mailbag," will answer a variety of questions about such environmental issues as solar energy, wetlands, saving fuel energy, nutrition, additives and chemical products that can affect people's lives.

Betty Shaw, Redford Township's longtime ecological concerns leader, and Grace Gluskin, a West Bloomfield resident, are among the members of Concern working on the series.

It has been running weekly for several months in Oakland County editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., and now is being made available to papers in Livonia, Garden City, Redford Township, Westland, Plymouth and Canton.

"What we try to offer," Mrs. Gluskin said, "is information that is consumer-oriented."

"So much of what is available is either so technical it's almost impossible to understand or else it's pretty scary. We want to fill the gap between those two."

The information also will be oriented, Mrs. Shaw said, "at pointing up what the individual can do to preserve the environment."

"You read so many things that are overwhelming," she said, "and you begin to wonder if what you do can make any difference at all. But energy conservation and other ecological concerns are very much an individual thing."

THE ORGANIZER and leader of Redford Township's successful recycling station said she now is particularly interested in energy conservation and will try in the Mailbag columns to pass along some of her ideas, as she does when speaking to women's groups.

"I look at it as a challenge and try to play a game," Mrs. Shaw said. "The object is to try to keep the costs for water, gas and electricity at last year's level, which of course means using less since prices are higher."

"I'm not sure that's completely possible, with the latest round of increases, but it's certainly worth trying to make myself keep thinking of ways to save energy."

"It's really not necessary, for instance, to turn on a light in every room in going through the house; lots of times I can see perfectly well without turning that switch."

MRS. GLUSKIN said members of Concern, Inc., an environmental awareness group headquartered at One Northfield Plaza in Troy, are interested in making more people conscious of living in a way that protects and preserves our world.

"We don't want people to give up the good life," she emphasized. "It's just a matter of paying more attention to what really is good in life."

And living with concern for the environment doesn't have to be inconvenient, she added.

"I have a busy household with three active boys," she said, "and I certainly don't spend all my time and energy worrying about recycling. It's just a matter of turning your thinking to things that preserve the environment, and then it becomes part of your life style."

BOTH WOMEN made the point that informed consumers have a voice that can effect change and should not sell themselves short.

"Think, for instance, of the aerosol cans," Mrs. Gluskin said. "It was the consumers who worried about inundating our atmosphere who forced the manufacturers to look again at the product, and they came up with another kind of spray can no less convenient."

"Now we're getting a great deal of alphabet soup thrown at us—PBB, PCB and all the rest—and by being informed we can let people in government and industry know how we feel."

Nutrition knowledgeable Betty Matzner is another member of the Mailbag question/answers, and she will have columns on additives and the various components of today's supermarket offerings.

"We don't particularly push health foods," said Mrs. Gluskin, "but we do want people to know how they can find healthy foods."

Chorus will perform 'Potpourri of songs'

"Potpourri of Songs," the final concert of the Plymouth Community Chorus, will be presented Sunday June 5 in Geneva United Presbyterian Church, 5835 Sheldon Road.

The program will begin at 4 p.m. with selections from the classics.

Under the direction of William Grimmer, the chorus will sing Brahms' "Motet," Ingegneri's "Behold and See," Farrani's "Call to Remembrance," and Mozart's "Ave Verum.

Folk songs will include Zaninelli's "Americana," Folk Song Suite" and "The Water is Wide," the popular

"Scarborough Fair," and Tyson's "Four Strong Winds."

Songs from Broadway shows selected for the performance are selections from Lerner and Loewe's "Gigi," Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific," Sondheim and Bernstein's "West Side Story," and Kern and Hammerstein II's "Showboat."

Admission at the door will be $2 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens.

James Wagner is accompanist; Sara Humphrey is assistant director, and Peter Humphrey is narrator.

CITY OF NORTHLVILLE

HOUSE FOR SALE

TO BE MOVED FROM PRESENT SITE

The City of Northville will receive sealed bids for the purchase of a house located at 136 E. Cady in the City of Northville, bids to be received no later than 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 15, 1977.

The house is a story and a half frame structure with approximately 884 square feet of floor space on the first floor.

Bidders desiring to see the house may arrange to do so by calling 349-1300.

The City desires to have the house removed from the present site within 45 days of the sale, but will consider bids which require a longer time for completing the move if the bidder presents facts justifying the extra time needed.

Bidders should furnish the following:

1. Price offered for the house

2. A good faith deposit equal to 10 percent of the price offered, which will be returned if the bid is not accepted.

3. Site to which the bidder will move the house, evidence of ownership or other control of that site, and evidence that house can legally be moved to the site proposed (zoning, etc.)

4. Time required by bidder to remove house from present location.

The bid information should be submitted in a sealed envelope marked "HOUSE BID" no later than 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 15, 1977, to:

White, Koma Gray qualify

Plymouth Salem's Mark Koma and Walt White, along with Plymouth Canton's Scott Gray, all advanced to state meet competition in boys track.

Koma and Gray finished first and second respectively in the pole vault competition in the Milford Regional last Saturday to advance to the state meet.

White finished second in the mile run to earn state meet considerations.

But the big story of the meet was the overall team performance that the Rock thinclads accomplished.

Salem scored 17½ points to finished in fourth place out of the 18-team event.

And if one recalls, last season neither Salem nor Canton scored a point in the regionals or qualified a participant to the state meet. That makes both squads accomplishments even more impressive.

Salem finished behind very fine teams as both Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern placed first and third. Livonia Churchill, the top team in Observatory, placed second.

"It was a very pleasant surprise to finish fourth," said Salem coach Gary Balconi, who has seen definite improvements in his crew since first taking the varsity position three years ago. "The kids came through in different places."

"As a team, this was our finest performance in three years—there's no doubt about it."

Canton coach Mike Spitz was equally happy with his squad's performance which saw many personal best times for the year.

Koma was the only vaulter to clear the 12-foot nine-inch mark in competition which was extremely below average. Gray missed the 12-foot nine-inch mark, but was successful on his first attempt at 12-foot three inches to place second.

Salem's Walt White ran a disappointing 9:51 in the two-mile race, but showed a lot of guts in coming back and running a blistering 4:22 mile run which broke his own school record by 13 seconds.

Canton Bill Murphy set a school record in the two-mile with a 9:54 clocking.

Salem netters place 5th in regional

Plymouth Salem's tennis team placed fifth in the 13-team tennis regional held last weekend at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park courts.

The Rocks scored eight points for their fifth place finish.

Stevenson and Northville led the regional participants with 18 and 16 points respectively. John Glenn placed third with 13 points, and Churchill finished fourth with 10.

Plymouth Canton scored five points on the day for a three-way tie for eighth place.

All team members from Stevenson and Northville will advance to state meet competition in Milford. Finalists in the first singles and first doubles competition also advanced to the state meet.

Plymouth First singles players Steve Pasley and Curt Schultz both played well against stiff competition. Canton's Pasley advanced to the semi-finals with two match victories, while

ing. All three Canton relay teams performed personal best times.

The 880-yard relay combination of John Tarr, Greg Kregoski, Steve Barnes and Mike Mowry tied a school record, with a 1:37.9 clocking.

Salem's Mike Cristie and Bob Dasher just missed qualifying for the state meet with fourth-place finishes in the low hurdles and discus throw respectively. Mike Skone placed sixth in the low hurdles, and Doug Agnew advanced to the semifinal heat.

Jerry Basierbe and Tom Kindree placed fourth and fifth in the 220-yard dash. Both runners sacrificed individual times in this event when they teamed with Jerry Kachenko and Curt Lewis in the 440-yard relay prior to the 220 race. The 440-yard combination finished fifth with a 44.7 timing.

Runners compete for Mangan

Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem boys and girls track teams will battle each other in a "Jeff Mangan Memorial Track Meet" exhibition Saturday night.

The meet will be run in honor of Salem thinclad Jeff Mangan who died suddenly last month.

Admission for adults is $1 and 50 cents for students. All proceeds are earmarked for the four Centennial Park track teams.

The meet will be run under a regular double dual format with team members running against the same sex.

The only twist to the meet is that the boys and girls scores will be combined for the respective schools.

The only event that won't be run is the two-mile race. The pole vaulting competition will be held on an exhibition format because the girls don't have the event.

Canton sews up league title with 2 late inning rallies

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

The Plymouth Canton baseball team won the Western Six League title early this week—this was an inevitable to what already has been a great season.

But it was the way the Chiefs won the title that was something to behold. The Chiefs won it in typical Canton style—coming from behind in both games.

The Chiefs assured themselves of a tie for their third straight title Friday afternoon with a 2-1 victory over Harrison.

Canton clinched the outright crown Monday afternoon, beating Walled Lake Western, 3-2.

And just to add the icing on the cake, Canton went out and defeated Churchill, 3-1, Tuesday afternoon in a contest that really didn't matter in the final outcome.

So two more victories for the Chiefs closed out their league season with a 9-1 record and raised that amazing overall record to 21-2. The Chiefs have won their last nine games in a row.

And now everything can focus on state tournament play which begins with pre-district action Friday afternoon against Belleville.

Did Chief coach Fred Crissey ever expect his squad to have the outstanding season they've experienced so far?

"Of course not," Crissey answered. "Yes, we always set given goals and we've accomplished them."

The Chiefs' main goal was to win their third straight league title. The 21 victories on that outstanding record is just an added bonus to the package.

"I'm most pleased with the come-from-behind wins," Crissey said. "We've had one it eight or nine times this season. The kids never quit on us."

THE ONLY disappointing aspect of the Churchill victory was a pre-game injury to first baseman and pitcher Steve Morman. The Chiefs' second-leading hitter dislocated a knee cap during infield drills and might miss the tourney game against Belleville.

Canton shook off Morman's injury and came back from an early 1-0 deficit to beat the Chargers.

The Chiefs tied the score in the fifth on an RBI single by Rob Mandel which scored John Young from second. Canton scored the winning runs in the top of the seventh when Mark Zydeck's sacrifice fly, and John O'Connell's double brought home the deciding tallies.

Mark Perkins settled down after three shaky innings to record his eighth victory against no defeats. He threw a two-hitter and struck out 10.

Morman hurled all the way against Western as the Chiefs erased an early 2-0 deficit.

Scott Collins poked a solo homer in the fourth inning to put the Chiefs on the board. Zydeck scored Young in the fifth with a sacrifice fly to tie the score.

Doug Bricker accounted for the eventual winning run with a perfect suicide squeeze bunt.

O'Connell made a great catch in left-field to save two potential Western runs in the fifth inning.

Quick-start Rocks top Edsel

Plymouth Salem's baseball team continues to jump on opponents early—and win games going away. It was this same story Tuesday afternoon as the streaking Rocks won their fourth straight game with an 8-2 victory over Edsel Ford.

This triumph evened the Rocks overall record to 11-11 for the season. It also raised their Suburban Eight League record to 8-4. But the Rocks can only settle for a second-place finish in the standings since Livonia Bentley clinched the title two days ago with a 3-0 victory over Redford Union.

Salem currently holds that second spot in the race with only two league games left on the schedule.

The Rocks scored five times in the first inning and three more times in the second before coach Brian Gilles lifted his starting line up.

Tom Chiatalis started on the mound and worked the first four innings before junior Doug Hooloway relieved for the final three frames. Chiatalis was sailing along with a no-hitter for the first three innings before Edsel Ford touched him with its three innnings. Chiatalis was sailing along with a no-hitter for the first three innnings before Edsel Ford touched him with its only two runs of the game in the fourth.

Both Holloway and Chiatalis allowed only two hits each. The home run ball accounted for all of Salem's offense.

A bases loaded walk to Chitalis scored the first Rock run. With two outs and the bases still loaded, Dave Nidgorski delivered a grand slam home run to put the Rocks into a commanding 5-0 lead.

Nidgorski's round tripper, his third of the season, was a blast to left-centerfield, 355 feet away.

Bob Waite socked a three-run homer in the second inning, scoring Pat McKendry and Ben Wilcox in front of him.

On the Plymouth Canton team, the only thinclad to score was Veronica Gray, who placed fourth, running in the 220-yard dash. She, however, will not go on to state, because one must score at least a third place to advance to state meet. Gray went on to state last year again running the 220.

Canton competed with Harrison yesterday in a dual meet, and the Salem girls team will compete today against Bentley.

"I hate to say wait until next year because some of the girls may not be here next year," said Kurtz. "But I think we may redeem ourselves in the league meet."

One member of the Salem team, Sharon Radionoff, threw the discus a surprising 97 feet, attempting a new style, but she fouled.

Chiefs nipped; Rocks out of race

A valiant comeback by the Plymouth Canton softball team failed in extra innings, as the Chiefs lost a non-league battle to Thurston, 7-6, Monday afternoon.

The setback dropped the Chiefs' overall record to 5-6 for the year. The Chiefs jumped on Thurston in the opening stanza with three quick runs.

The Eagles fought back with two halves of their own in the bottom of the first inning to cut the Canton lead to 3-2.

But Thurston didn't stop there. The Eagles proceeded to score single runs in the second, third, fourth and sixth innings to mount a 6-3 lead.

Canton came alive in the top of the seventh to knot the score at 6-6 with three more runs.

An unearned run in the eighth inning gave Thurston the narrow victory.

Pam Schipani started the seventh inning rally with a single. She moved to second when Kim Zoladz walked. The bases were loaded when Cathy Verduce was safe on an error.

Judy Frieman's single quickly cleared the bases for the three runs when the Thurston centerfielder bobbed the ball.

Frieman received a bases loaded walk to force home Canton's first run of the game. Kathy Sochacki then singled home Laura Butler and Schipani with the other runs of that first inning. Plymouth Salem was knocked out of the Suburban Eight League race Tuesday afternoon when the Rocks lost an 11-7 decision to Edsel Ford.

Donna Goodrich hit a home run for the losers.

Doc predicts pre-districts

Schools didn't give any results

It's been about three weeks since I last spoke about the poor field conditions at the Centennial Educational Park and Central Middle School.

I was told by Plymouth Athletic Director John Sandmann earlier this month that the Plymouth-Canton school's central maintenance department was contacted and results would be forthcoming. I am sorry to report that no results have been made in trying to improve field conditions at either site.

And to be honest with you, I am really not surprised that these facilities have not been taken care of.

That's how central maintenance works—they don't do anything for the athletic facilities and it's obvious they don't care.

There was a big uprising by the Salem girls softball team last month when its diamond wasn't worked on.

I found out later that it wasn't just the girls that were being slighted, but all the spring sports teams with outside activities.

No one helps maintain the two boys baseball diamonds which are constantly under the supervision of the coaches, players and volunteer parents.

There are so many things wrong with the track and field facilities that it's down right embarrassing when visiting teams come to the Park for meets.

There were ruts in the track surface for the first three weeks of the season. The discus and shot put throwing areas have yet to be fixed. And the long jump area constantly has sand on the runway.

As far as the softball and baseball diamonds are concerned, all central maintenance does is chalk the field on the day of a game. And half the time this isn't even done correctly.

The Salem softball diamond is still uneven—it hasn't been rolled all season long. The Canton softball facility by the tennis courts has hardly been touched. Half the time, the Canton players have to use the Salem diamond for a game because nothing was done with their diamond.

And remember that beautiful football sod which was donated last fall? Well, that grass is almost dead—truly a waste.

But does one recall all the promises we heard when the sod was first installed—how it was going to be properly maintained?

What a laugh!

It's really too late to do anything about this horrible situation. The spring sports season is quickly drawing to a close.

But it just grinds me that no one in the school system took a little time out to give some people at central maintenance a swift kick—to remind them of a job they haven't done all season.

Because, in the end, it's the schools which are once again wasting the taxpayer's money. These facilities are quickly going to hell because they haven't been properly maintained. The workers on these fields haven't done their job—and the people who oversee that the workers' jobs get finished have also failed in their responsibilities.

It's been a very long and frustrating season for all the spring sports teams. Hopefully, these players and coaches won't have to experience another one like it next spring.

PREDICTIONS

It's pre-district baseball time for Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton teams tomorrow afternoon.

Canton travels to Belleville for a 4 p.m. battle tomorrow while Salem's busy against Westland John Glenn at the same time.

The winners of these two games will meet in the district semifinals next week in Belleville.

I predict that area fans will get to see another Canton-Salem matchup in this semifinal round.

The Chiefs should easily handle Belleville, despite the fact that the contest will be played in Belleville. Canton has superior talent to the Tigers.

But the Chiefs shouldn't expect a cakewalk against Belleville. The Tigers are just the kind of team which can make a strong squad like the Chiefs look and play bad.

Canton will have to be on guard against any overconfidence. Anything can happen in a one-game elimination tournament.

I'm sure a lot of people think I'm crazy to pick the truly unpredictable Rocks to beat John Glenn. Salem lost a doubleheader to this same team two months ago.

I really don't know how the Rocks are going to play against Glenn this third time around. But I do know that the Rocks have a capable ball club that should never have lost two games to Glenn—and shouldn't lose to the Rocks this time.

But who knows if the Rocks will feel like playing with any kind of spirit against Glenn?

CANTON'S SOFTBALL team also plays a pre-district game at Adrian tomorrow afternoon. The Rocks are still waiting for a date and time for their pre-district battle against the winner of a first round game.

I'm not going to even attempt to predict the outcome of the Canton-Adrian softball game because I know nothing about the Chiefs' opponent.

But I do wish both Canton and Salem softball teams good luck in their tourney quests.

Chiefs finish last

Rock golfers take loop title

An excellent 18-hole score of 95 by Plymouth Salem junior Lori Erickson led the Rocks' girls golf team to a first place finish in the Central Five League meet held Monday afternoon.

Erickson, who missed the first half of the season because of an appendectomy, was the medalist at the Green Oaks golf course in Ypsilanti.

Erickson earned the honor with a 47 on the front nine and a 48 on the back side, helping her team to a 424 finish ahead of second-place Saline.

The Rocks finished the regular dual meet season with a 6-2 league record and beat Saline in the conference meet by five strokes.

Both squads were tied in the league race throughout the season before Saline dumped the Rocks in dual match action last week.

Willow Run placed third in the final league standings with a 484. Brighton was fourth at 517, and Plymouth Canton finished last with a 542 total.

Despite Saline's higher finish in the regular league standings, the Rocks were awarded the league championship by virtue of the league meet victory.

Other Rock scores included JoAnn Szilagyi's 101, Nancy Grotz' 113 and Betty DeLano's 115.

Canton was led by sophomore Peggy Visser who shot 66-64-130. Linda Nurmi shot 134. Kelly Heaton scored 136 and Jenene French added 144.

"The girls had a job to do; they knew that, and they came through with flying colors," said Salem coach Bob Waters.

"The fact that we were able to play six golfers in the league meet, rather than four, also played an important role in Monday's victory."

The six lowest scores on the day were chosen as all-league selections. Salem's Erickson and Szilagyi gained these honors.

The All-Star Classic, which was organized 40 years ago to give the better rated bowlers a chance to compete at home at least once a week, now is spreading its wings.

For the first time in its long history, the league is going international next season. This will be made official at the annual meeting in June when Junior Donoso, one time member of the Stroh team, will be granted a franchise for a team from Windsor.

At the same time, the league will act upon two requests from Toledo for admittance. At the present time at least four of the teams that finished the season are on the hunt for sponsors, and it is possible that the Toledo groups might be accepted.

The league started as The Detroit Times Classic and later became affiliated with the Bonanza group. The teams now bowl twice each week.

THE DETROIT area bowlers still are picking up honors around the since the season closed.

The latest was Ann Setlock's group which won the actual pinfall division of the Trio Classic at Roscommon.
