New ESY calendar adopted

By GLENN BUNTING

The Plymouth Education Association (PEA) and the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education wasted no time in settling their differences over Extended School Year (ESY) calendars during a negotiating session Thursday afternoon.

The schedule agreed upon was neither the "B" calendar the school board recommended to the negotiating teams nor the "C" calendar the PEA advocated, but a joint or "J" calendar.

Both the PEA and Norman Kee, school board negotiator, signed the tentative agreement calling for accord on the ESY and traditional calendars slated to begin later this summer.

The PEA entered the negotiating session weary of signing another tentative agreement because the school board had earlier reversed similar obligations on three different occasions, according to Derald McKinley, PEA chief negotiator.

But Kee said he polled the board and came up with "five sure votes." He then gave the teachers' union full assurances the tentative agreement would stick. The calendars will be sent to the school board on June 13 for official ratification.

The administration, under time constraints to provide Ecotran, a private computer firm, with calendar information, will proceed with the assumption the board will adopt calendar "J," said Kee.

See schedule on 6A

THE PEA IS satisfied with the bargained agreement, according to McKinley. "Both sides realized there was no way to please every individual, but everyone can live with this calendar. We put in some new things and if they don't work out, we can correct it next year."

McKinley said that like parents, many teachers voiced different interests. "We thought calendar 'C' best met the teachers' needs, but then some supported the 'B' calendar. We think that this joint calendar is even better than either 'B' or 'C'."

The "J" calendar consists of four different tracks (groups of students), A through D. Tracks A, B and C will start school on Aug. 29, while track D does not begin until Sept. 29. Track A will end on Aug. 4, B on Aug. 10, C on July 24, and D on Aug. 22.

The schools going on the ESY calendar will be Eriksson, Field, Gallimore and Isbister elementaries, and Pioneer Middle School. The remaining schools will continue on the traditional schedule, which runs from Sept. 6 to June 14.

The only question that remains unanswered is the reception to the "J" calendar, a product of PEA and school board negotiations. The school board nixed the original tentative agreement because there was no public support for the recommended calendar.

THE SCHOOL BOARD held a public workshop two weeks ago to hear input about parental concerns. At the time, most parents either supported calendar "B" or denounced the "C" calendar.

It is unlikely, however, that the board will reject the latest recommendation. Said McKinley: "I feel fairly well assured the board will accept this calendar on the basis of the negotiator's word. But then, I thought they would adopt the last calendar."

If the board pulls another reversal, besides losing all faith in bargaining practices with its negotiator, McKinley said the PEA will insist that the district revert to the ESY calendar in the previous contract, as used at Miller school.

"Let's just hope they adopt the 'J' calendar and get this thing over with," McKinley said with a sigh of relief.

Dog pack back; 4 animals dead

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Four more farm animals were attacked and killed Tuesday night at Canton's Real Life children's petting farm and riding stable, according to Don Fraser, son of the farm owner, James Fraser.

The reported attack Tuesday night comes just eight days after 21 farm animals were slashed to death at the farm.

In the May 16 slaughter Fraser initially suspected "a human element" was involved in the killings of various farm animals. After two Wayne County Humane Society veterinarians investigated the scene and concurred that dogs did the deed, the Frasers now say they are convinced that it is the work of a pack of dogs running in the vicinity of Geddes and Denton roads.

WEDNESDAY morning one large duck was found killed, along with two baby ducks, and a small pig, said Don Romaine, an employee at the farm.

"There was nothing' eaten, they were just left dead—slashed like before," Romaine said.

He and young Fraser were reluctant to talk to the press about the latest incident because publicity about the dog attacks has hurt business on the farm and riding stable.

"Everybody's cancelling their reservations," Romaine said. "They've read about it in your paper, saw it on TV and they say they don't want their kid out here. They're afraid their kid will be attacked by wild dogs, which is kind of ridiculous. They don't attack when someone's out here. They attack at night when people are gone and they hear the ducks quacking or the pigs oinking."

"If it's a pack of dogs, they're running scared. You wouldn't be able to get near them."

Romaine said he intends to keep watch at night for the next two or three weeks with a 10-shot semi-automatic shotgun, waiting for the dog pack to reappear.

"I think I'll put two baby goats out in the barn with me as decoys," Romaine explained. "When the dogs hear them making noise I'll be waiting at the window with the shotgun.

The farm worker pointed to a piece of tin and styrofoam torn away from a small hole in the north side of the barn. This is where it is believed the dogs entered the barn Tuesday night, Romaine said.

There are patches covering a number of small holes in the barn.

A pen near the hole contained five ducks and only one was killed, according to Romaine. In another part of the barn a pig pen was broken into and screening is ripped away from the coop which contained two ducklings.

James Fraser, owner of the farm at 48700 Geddes, is out of state on business and has not computed a dollar figure on his losses at the farm. It is also not known if he will ask Canton Township to reimburse him for the animals. Under an old township law, townships may be held financially responsible for farm animals killed by loose dogs.

The Fraser family says that in the past eight months their farm has been victimized five times.

3 small homes are all Smokler will build in sub

Homeowners in the Willow Trails subdivision are convinced they have won a court fight to preserve the "architectural integrity" of their neighborhood.

Smokler Construction Co. of Southfield reached a compromise settlement with the group Thursday morning which will allow Smokler to finish and sell three smaller houses presently under construction before the firm withdaw as developer in the subdivision.

Smokler now owns seven lots in the subdivision and has started construction on three of them. However, until agreeing to withdraw from the neighborhood, the company had an option to buy the remaining 117 lots in the one-third completed subdivision.

Michigan National Bank owns the 117 lots and is reportedly willing to buy back the four undeveloped lots from Smokler.

The homeowners went before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Moynihan demanding that Smokler comply with a covenant signed by the original developer, David Nelson of Phoenix Homes, and the Willow Trails homeowners.

The covenant provided for resident input on an "architetural control committee" to insure that future homes would be compatible with existing homes in terms of similiar size and materials.

Three of the homes Smokler is building in the subdivision have brick on the front of the houses only, said Tom McNamara, president of Willow Trails Homeowner Association. And two of the three houses have one-car, instead of two-car garages. The irate homeowners also objected to the lower price of the homes and the smaller square footage, arguing that the homes lowered property values in their area.

PETER BUNDARIN, Canton attorney, represented the Willow Trail Association in the court fight. He was quite pleased with the settlement and hinted at possible future court action to uphold property values and rights of the Willow Trails residents.

Deadline near on road patrol

With the threatened cutoff of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol only 30 days away, the issue of police protection for out-county townships remains unsettled.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has not altered its decision to terminate funding for the 28-man road patrol and the six-man helicopter squad June 30. And the townships have not negotiated individual contracts with the Sheriff's department to insure the patrol's continuation.

Although there have been numerous meetings to discuss proposals and counter-proposals by each side involved, no clear picture has emerged.

"We have asked them for meetings and more information time and time again," said Canton Township Supervisor Harold Stein, "but we have gotten nothing. We're still in limbo on this."

Plymouth Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert also said he has heard nothing since the last meeting with members of the public safety and judiciary committee early last month. The committee has the responsibility of advising the full board of commissioners on how to proceed on the matter.

"The last time we talked," Notebaert said, "the attorney for the county said the county was responsible for providing protection, but they didn't have to patrol the roads. It seems it's not going to be as easy to get out of as they might have thought."

TO FEND OFF a budget deficit, the full board of commissioners voted last year to end the funds for the patrol at the end of June. In addition to Plymouth and Canton townships, seven other municipalities were affected by the decision.

The nine governments banded together and took the county to court, hoping to have the decision declared illegal. However, two lower courts affirmed the county's right to set its own budget priorities. And an appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court proved unsuccessful when it upheld the previous rulings.

Despite the county's intention to stop the money as the June 30 deadline nears, it appears that a final resolve rests with Local 502, the Sheriff's union, and the negotiators for the county, instead of the commissioners and the townships.

The current Sheriff's contract with the county July 1, and negotiations have been in progress for several months. The road patrol positions, which the commission wants to do away with, are part and parcel of the total contract.

Jamil Akhtar, union president, has gone on record maintaining that he will not give up those positions in any new agreement.

If the cutoff date comes and a new pact has not been reached, the old contract will be in effect on a day-to-day basis until negotiators can iron out their differences or until a state arbitrator is called in to impose an agreement.

"The bargaining situation is too delicate to comment on right now," Akhtar said last week. "But I have said I won't bargain the township's protection away, and I meant it."

County Commissioner Royce Smith (D-Belleville) also felt the question would not be resolved by June 30.

Crackdown in Hines Park pushed

By PATRICK TOUHEY

Although local officials are nearly unanimous in the opinion that there is a significant crime problem in Hines Park, they differ in their ideas on what can be done about it.

The problem—as police and government representatives see it—are the thousands of young people who make the 17.5-mile parkway strip their home from early morning until late at night.

They congregate in groups along the road, drink alcohol, and openly use drugs, in defiance of the Wayne County Sheriff Park Patrol officers who are charged with protecting the park and those who use it.

But according to Sheriff Inspector Richard Novak, there are not enough police to do the job adequately. He maintains that it will take "a coordinated and consolidated effort" by all communities along the park to reduce the crime.

State Rep. Bob Law (R-Livonia) thinks the same thing. He has proposed a joint task force, made up of representatives from Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Dearborn Heights, Westland, and Livonia, to explore both the problem and possible solutions.

LAW CONTENDS that a relatively small group of park-users are ruining things for everyone else. "I think people are sick and tired of allowing a small minority, who do not respect the rights of others, to dominate the park.

"We want to find methods for curtailing the harassment and vandalism that has plagued the area, while not curtailing the right of people to use the park."

While city and township officials agree with Law, each one reacted to his proposal from his own particular point of view.

"What else is the park

TV hurts kids and cops, Parsell tells convention

Michigan police officers do not like sex and violence on television and are urging consumers to boycott products of companies who sponsor the offending shows.

Delegates attending the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) held recently at the Raleigh House called for a "turn-off" of programs that portray sex and violence.

"One way the public can help to reduce crime is by doing its share to put a stop to TV violence," said Carl Parsell, former Canton Township treasurer and POAM executive director.

"This can be done by selective TV viewing and by refusing to buy the products of companies that sponsor such programs. When the ratings drop and the profits plunge, the TV programs will go."

Parsell cited a study compiled by researchers at the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School of Communications which showed that television programming in 1976 was the most violent since 1967.

"Study after study has shown that agression and criminal acts are linked to TV violence," he said. "A noted child psychiatrist testified in Washington last week that TV violence is a 'public health hazard,' but Congress has refused to take any action in the matter."

THE POLICE ASSOCIATION also took a slap at the cop shows on TV, charging that they do not accurately portray the professional police officer.

"If a TV cop program showed it like it really is, nobody would watch," Parsell maintained.

Schoolcraft candidates night a 'cozy social'

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

The "Meet the Candidates" night for Schoolcraft College trustee hopefuls was a cozy, get-acquainted affair for them and the 50-member audience.

The candidates, who are contesting three seats on the college board in the June 13 election, spent the evening doing just that—getting acquainted, as well as reviewing their backgrounds, qualifications and visions for the future of the two-year college that serves the K-12 school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth-Canton.

HARRY G. GREENLEAF, an organizational planning specialist on corporate staff of Ford Motor Co. making his second try for the Schoolcraft board, said "Most people tend to think of Schoolcraft as a new institution. It's 16 years old. It's a changing institution.

"The average age at Schoolcraft today is approximately 30. Members of the faculty are now approaching retirement. There is change in the community around us. There's a change in school distribution. More people in more categories are going back to school."

Greenleaf said Schoolcraft must keep pace with these changes if it is to prosper.

GEORGE GRAVILA, a Livonia engineer, making his first bid for public office, emphasized the need for the school to work more closely with industry in the coming years.

"I would try to assist in setting up some sort of curriculum which would aid both industry and students. I would also like to see more non-college, professional-type courses implemented," said Gravila.

LAURA M. TOY, a 1972 Schoolcraft graduate who now specializes in youth work, also stressed a tie with business and industry. "I would place a concentrated emphasis on career education. There's a changing job market out there and we must make our students aware of it," she said.

"I would stress the establishement of internships and an expansion in field studies in our liberal arts programs. This would enable students to sample the realities of life outside the classroom."

ROSINA RAYMOND, the only incumbent seeking another six-year term, said, "I know I don't have all the answers, but after six years I think I have some notion of where you might find the answers."

Mrs. Raymonds, who has served as vice-chairwoman of the board for the past four years, agreed that Schoolcraft College was a changing institution. "There's one thing we must be on guard against—hardening of the attitudes."

She said, "We must remember, people must be prepared to make a living."

KARL SJOGREN, a Ford Motor Co. cost analyst and former Schoolcraft Student Senate president., said he feels his election would add a new dimension to the board.

"I don't need to make assumptions about Schoolcraft. I've been there. I'm already familiar with Schoolcraft. I know the feeling of being a student. I'm not that far removed, and I've been through the trauma of being a transfer to a four-year institution."

Sjogren said, "Over the past five or six years the demand for some programs has evaporated. The college must be responsible for changing those programs and bring them into line with new demands."

He also pointed out that he believes he has proven a deep commitment to Schoolcraft. "I believe I'm the only candidate, besides Rosina, of course, to have attended the board meetings regualarly since January," he said.

RICHARD J. HAYWARD, who also is making a second bid for a trustee seat, said, "We're going to have to think of other things besides culinary arts and waiting lists.

"We must think of who is going to adminster our growing programs over the next 10 years.

"There are five things which go into a good, effective member of the board of trustees: Diversity, executive experience, education, availablity and motivation." He went on to cite his background in business and education, in light of those five criteria.

"I have 30 years of experience in engineering and construction; the last 12 in an executive capacity. I live and work in Livonia and haven't been forced to go out of town in the past 15 years," Hayward said.

"And I must be motivated. I ran two years ago, and now I'm running again."

LEONARD E. WOZNIAK, an account manager for Datapoint Corp., said his goal was to provide financial accountablity as well as broad-based programs. "During my last 12 years at Datapoint I've worked with executives from Ford and General Motors. I've worked with smaller firms also. I've had an exposure to finances; I think this background will be a valuable asset to the board," he said.

He also pointed to providing extensive counseling for career changes and continued curricular excellence to guarantee the ability of Schoolcraft students to transfer to four-year institutions.

JACK BOLOGNA, a management consultant from Plymouth, said, "Schoolcraft's continued growth depends on decisions made by the board of trustees.

"The growth rate for community colleges doubles the rate for all other four-year institutions. This explosive growth shows that a real and serious need is being met by the community colleges."

Bologna said his goals, if elected, would be to implement zero-based budgeting and to see that a "small business training program" is established at Schoolcraft.

MICHAEL M. CICCHELLA, executive director of the Livonia Family Y, called present state and federal funding practices unfair. "We must redirect funds to education. If we don't we have no one to blame but ourselves," he said.

He also said that the college must enlarge its "field placement" program enabling more students to earn college credit outside the classroom.

"We must also attain a higher level of visibility in the community. We must actively compete for students."

Two of the three seats open in the June 13 election will definitely be filled by new members. Trustees Leroy Bennett and Arch Vallier, both from the Plymouth-Canton district, are retiring.

LaBell is working to sweep out Stein's slate

Lynne LaBell, leader of a drive to recall Treasurer Anne Bradley and Trustee Gene Daley, says many persons in Canton Township have the wrong idea about her and the recall.

"I'm not trying to divide the township," she said, "I'm trying to bring all the different segments together. I care for the whole township. We have a beautiful community. I want to bring together the business community, the subdivision homeowners, and the farmers."

Mrs. LaBell was criticized for starting a recall less than a year after moving in to Canton's Sunflower Village.

"If people who have been here 10 years cared as much as I do, then they'd be out ringing doors for this recall," she said.

The Daley-Bradley recall backers began circulating petitions a week ago last Saturday door-to-door and in front of Kroger supermarket in Harvard Square.

MEANWHILE, Peter Gabbert's earlier-announced drive to recall Supervisor Harold Stein is completed, say leaders of that recall movement.

Last Wednesday 78 more signatures on Stein recall petitions were turned in to Canton Clerk John Flodin.

Flodin's staff has not yet checked the signatures for validity against the local voting rolls, but only 31 more valid signatures are needed to force a recall election against Stein.

A total of 1,251 signatures of registered Canton voters are needed to force a recall election against any Canton Township elected official.

There is a 90-day time limit for circulating recall petitions which gives Gabbert's group until June 25 to collect enough signatures. Mrs. LaBell said she intends to have all of her Bradley-Daley recall petitions submitted by that date to avoid the necessity of having two separate recall elections.

Four of the charges against Bradley and Daley are identical. The first maintains that both have "caused a school tax crisis" by refusing to limit new home development.

The second charge is that Bradley and Daley have attempted to "limit public input" at township meetings.

BOTH HAVE "refused to support the interest of homeowners from incompatible land uses that will undermine the property values of their homes" is the third charge. And the fourth count against them on the petitions is that they "blatantly ignored" Atty. General Frank Kelly's legal opinion stating that the original zoning board of appeals was removed illegally by township trustees.

Daley has two more counts against him than Bradley.

Mrs. LaBell's petitions accuse Daley of a conflict of interest by being a Wayne County sheriff lietenant and "repeatedly voting against the local police force."

Finally, it is charged that Daley has "continually supported huge tax expenditures for the Wayne County Sheriff's road patrol."

Mrs. LaBell showed a packet full of completed Bradley and Daley recall petitions which, she claims, represents close to 600 signatures calling for a recall election against the two officials.

A frequent critic at township board meetings, Mrs. LaBell calls herself a political independent and resents being called a supporter of former supervisor Robert Greenstein.

"I'm striving to stop all these damaging political labels," she said last Thursday. "When I first joined the land use study committee I was called a 'Greenstein plant' and that irked me to no end.

"I won't pretend I'm against Greenstein. If there is a man running for office who is more qualified than Mr. Greenstein, I'll support him. But I won't be intimidated by labels like 'Greenstein supporter.' And I'll speak up if I feel someone's trying to crucify Greenstein."

She said she decided to expand the recall to include all three members of Supervisor Harold Stein's political slate soon after she began helping Gabbert circulate Stein recall petitions.

"People kept asking why there weren't petitions to recall the whole Stein slate," said Mrs. LaBell. "I would say 90 per cent of the people I approach are willing to sign the petitions. Most of the people say they're upset with overcrowding and the problems its bringing in the school system. They don't feel Stein, Bradley or Daley are doing anything to stop growth."

The remaining 10 per cent that Mrs. LaBell claims are not signing her petitions are "either unregistered or tired of politics and I had one very belligerent Stein supporter."

The drive to recall Treasurer Anne Bradley and Trustee Eugene Daley should not be thought of as a divisive factor, says Lynn LaBell, leader of the second recall movement started in Canton within the past three months. "I want to bring together the business community, the subdivision homeowners and the farmers." (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Stein seeking bus funding

By DARLENE STINSON

The Intergovernmental Committee took one more step toward a possible dial-a-ride program in the Plymouth-Canton community Thursday night. The committee members agreed to explore the financial ramifications of forming a transportation authority.

Canton Supervisor Harold Stein, the township's representative on the committee, pledged to discover any federal or state funds available to a transportation authority for purposes of implementing a dial-a-ride program.

In the meantime, committee chairperson Flossie Tonda, secretary of the Plymouth-Canton School Board, will write a letter to Plymouth and Canton township's, and City of Plymouth's officials to gather their feelings toward the dial-a-ride proposal.

STEIN SUSPECTS formation of a transportation authority is the most economically feasible way to implement a transportation program for senior citizens and handicapped residents of the three communities.

Such an authority, he says, could apply for state and federal funding.

"There are funds available for dial-a-ride programs," he told other members of the Intergovernmental Committee. "An authority could serve as the vehicle to apply for any funds that are available."

The Intergovernmental Committee envisions eventual establishment of one main bus line through the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton. Individual vans could shuttle senior citizens and handicapped residents from their homes to stops on the bus route for a nominal fee.

In addition, the vans could transport seniors and the handicapped to doctor offices, grocery stores and shopping centers.

The main problem holding up implementation of the program is money.

As yet, intergovernmental members have little idea how much the program would cost. They're fairly certain one thing, however—the program would be too costly for local municipalities to implement without some state or federal money.

THE DIAL-A-RIDE program is the brainchild of a revived Intergovernmental Committee, composed of representatives of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth, Canton and Superior townships.

The committee is modeled after another intergovernmental committee that died a few years ago for apparent lack of interest.

MESC is an 'employment center' too

The minute someone loses their job, the first thought that comes to mind is applying for unemployment benefits at the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC). Ed Dowling hopes to change that line of reasoning.

Not that those workers who are unemployed should stop picking up their checks at the MESC office. Rather, they should take advantage of an additional service there—namely, a job placement program.

Dowling of Livonia is manager of the MESC office in Plymouth on 8825 General Drive at Joy, located across from Mettetal Airport. He says that not enough people are aware of the employment service program.

"We're making a concentrated effort to locate jobs for the unemployed, but a lot of people around town don't know anything about this service," Dowling says. "When they hear MESC, they immediately think of unemployment compensation."

MESC has offered this employment service since its inception in 1937. Yet, it is still relatively unknown. Dowling says the program was fairly popular in the mid-1960s, but fell flat on its face when the job market collapsed in the early 1970s.

Now, MESC is in the progress of rebuilding the placement service to benefit all unemployed persons seeking jobs. The program is federally funded and uses an elaborate statewide computerized system to help locate jobs.

LAST YEAR, MESC filled more than 89,000 jobs for Michigan residents. Dowling says his office is well ahead of its quota and expects to provide additional staff interviewers by next year.

Anyone seeking employment should visit the MESC office and fill out an application form. After a short interview, Dowling and his staff go to work finding applicants suitable jobs. "We don't guarantee anything, but we like to think we're pretty helpful. You've got nothing to lose by coming in here," he said.

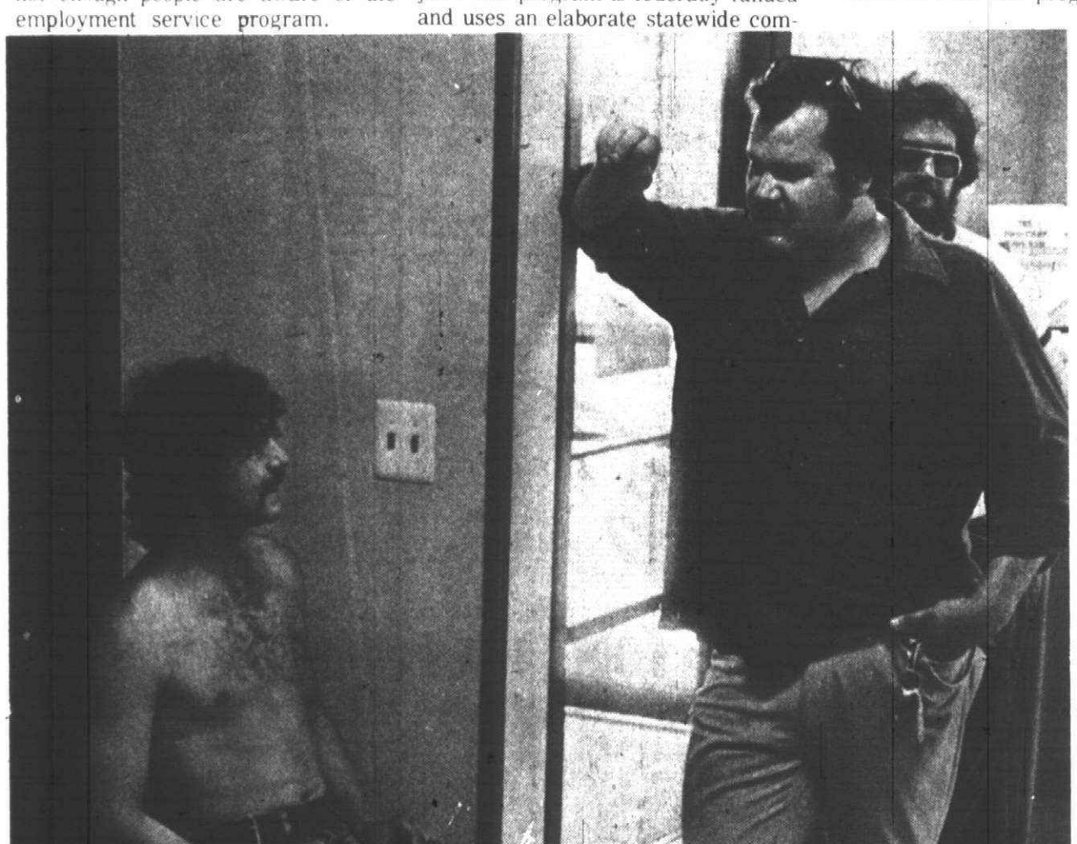

Applicants for the program do not have to be claimants to qualify for the job placement service, which is open to anyone willing to work, regardless of age of the level of skill. The service has been particularly successful in finding jobs for veterans, and temporary employment for students, Dowling says.

The Plymouth office employs three interviewers who are kept busy every day working with job applicants. Dowling is hopeful of getting relief help when schools let out for summer and the rush of youngsters seeking employment begins.

The MESC now has more than 400 jobs avaliable in its file. It also is making a pitch for local employers to take advantage of its placement service.

Dowling is concerned with the growth problem developing in the Plymouth and Canton area. The Plymouth office serves Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville, Northville Township, Novi, South Lyon and parts of Livonia and Westland.

To handle the high number of unemployment benefit applicants, MESC rents the VFW Hall on Mill Street. To meet the growth problem, the office on General Drive is being remodeled to provide for more working space for the job placement service.

The lines for unemployment checks remain long as the jobless rate in metropolitan Detroit area continues in double figures.

Why have 1,500 community residents borrowed three million dollars from their community credit union during the past four months?

Because:

They enjoy the friendliness of being treated as a member, not a customer.

They like fast, efficient, confidential service.

They receive life insurance protection on their unpaid balances without added charge.

They pay the lowest interest rate charged in this area.

No warrant on Monks 'assault'

Officials in the Wayne County Prosecutor's office have not issued an assault and battery warrant in a complaint lodged against Leonard Wasczenski by Cindy Monks.

The complaint stems from a politically-motivated incident May 8 in the Rusty Nail Lounge.

Sheriff Deputy Charley Sprat wrote in a deposition held by the prosecutor's office that Ms. Monks told him the trouble started after she began circulating petitions to recall Supervisor Harold Stein inside of the bar.

Ms. Monks denies that she was soliciting signatures or circulating recall petitions on the bar property. She also denies telling Sprat that she was.

Investigators in the prosecutor's office say they must "evaluate the truth" because both parties give conflicting reports of what happened before Wasczenski took the petitions outside and began ripping them up. Ms. Monks had a bruise on her arm and hip that she says were caused when Wasczenski knocked her down by striking her with his arm.

Deputy Sprat also wrote in his report that Wasczenski claims Ms. Monks had hit him repeatedly on the arm in an attempt to get him to hand over the petitions he'd taken away from her.

Based on the deputy's written report, officials in the prosecutor's office say Ms. Monks may have provoked the incident by harrassing bar patrons. And, if Ms. Monks was hitting Wasczenski on the arm, one assistant prosecutor said Wasczenski could have been acting in self-defense.

Mrs. Monks denies ever hitting Wasczenski.

Wasczenski is living with a relative in Westland while his new home is being built in Canton. Repeated visits to the home, which has an unlisted number, have been unsuccessful by Observer reporters.

Prosecutors did not rule out the possibility of issuing a warrant in the case.

Judge Davis: Hines crime is exaggerated

there for except to be used?" asked 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis. "Anytime you have thousands of people gathered in one place you are going to have some type of problem."

He supported Law's task force idea and said additional police officers could rid the park of its more troublesome element. But he questioned how troublesome that element really was.

"I play tennis in the park nearly everyday, and I jog there also. I don't have a problem with Hines Park. I'm not all that sure there is that much danger down there."

As he saw it from the bench, Davis said, most of the crime was generated from specific locations. In particular, he mentioned "Beer Hill" (Cass Benton) as the scene of large groups of young people who violate the law.

editorial opinion

Don't reject individual rights

Editor:

The minority opinion of the Growth Management Committee refutes the claim that free growth in terms of housing and business expansion is detrimental to a community and must, therefore, be regulated.

This report offers an alternative to governmental interference in the marketplace by supporting the private sector in utilizing land to its best advantage and providing for the material needs of local citizens.

The issue of "quality of life" has become a predisposing reason for initiating growth control measures in Canton. The issue is a complete fraud, because when natural growth is suppressed, the quality of life is truly diminished in many ways.

The demand for housing in Canton is real. New homes are constructed and occupied quickly; older homes are rapidly appreciating. This reflects the importance of housing in Canton.

We are a part of the greater metropolitan area and many of our citizens are attracted to reside here because of the convenience of travel to other communities of work. We are not an isolated rural community. Actions we take in suppressing natural residential growth will be reflected in adverse conditions in adjoining communities.

THE DEMAND FOR HOMES in these communities would force them to enact similar growth control measures, further reducing the supply of homes. If all communities enacted growth control measures, overcrowded conditions would occur in places of existing residence and the quality of life would certainly be diminished.

The idea that increased rates of growth would drastically increase property tax percentages for everyone in the community due to more required governmental services and school facilities is unsubstantiated.

It must be realized that with more homes and businesses, the tax base does, in fact, provide for more operating funds. Higher home value assessments provide more dollars for government and public schools.

A healthy ratio of businesses and residential development can only exist in a free market situation where the laws of supply and demand dictate the extent of feasible development.

Regulation of residential expansion through zoning and other growth control techniques will simply cause an imbalance in the amount of goods and services available to our community. In the final analysis, this will bring about the very shortages which we are trying to prevent. Regulation and growth control is the policy of scarcity.

HERE ARE SOME recommendations:

- Insure quality of life by allowing for the Huron Valley Sewer System to be constructed and utilized before the community exceeds current sewer capacity.
- Provide for sewer and water for industrial expansion along the Michigan Avenue corridor.
- Remove restrictive ordinances that discourage business expansion, such as the berm and sign ordinances.
- Enact no growth control ordinances in Canton. It will simply end in constitutional legal entanglement, infringe on the rights of individuals and cause a totally unnecessary shortage of goods, services and shelter for the people.

The most important alternative with respect to township growth, is for the township government to accept growth and plan for the corresponding needs of the future community. De facto growth control by limiting sewer capacity is as morally wrong as any adopted ordinance to accomplish the same goal.

The imminent English journalist, G.K. Chesterton once stated, "If you have 10 men and only nine hats, the solution is not to cut off one head; it is, rather, to make another hat."

It would be interesting to observe the extent of governmental interference and oppression if it desired to purchase development rights and a property owner refused. The people of this community should not impower local government to force confiscation of property rights through growth control ordinances.

A society that rejects an individual's rights for the sake of the so-called "common good" must in time degenerate to mobocracy, demagoguery and finally, absolute tyranny. So much for the quality of life.

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

The summer leagues got away to a fine start during the week, with the all-star combinations that did so well last year again setting the pace.

In the opening event at Taylor Lanes last Wednesdsy night, Cora Feibig's Royal Oak team set the pace for the circuit with a 2339 count that included the night's high game of 869.

Close behind came Penny Behn's crew from Crown lanes with a 2283.

Individually, Dick Lang grabbed the spotlight for the men with a 278 in 677, while Helene Bailey, a newcomer, showed the way to the women with a 245 game in a 616 series.

The action swings to the new West Bloomfield Lanes next week.

TOM NIPA picked a fine time to roll a perfect game. He turned the trick in practice this week at Plaza Lanes—and it happened right in front of the counter where all the clerical help could see it.

He is a regular member of the Midnite Mixers and was just trying to sharpen up his game. He couldn't have done any better.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS are continuing their fun at Plymouth Bowl.

Last week, Linn Reid osted a 226 game in a 499 series and Dottie Mc Clain paced the ladies with a 197.

THERE'S A NEW trend in summer bowling this year. It is a trend toward large leagues.

In fact , at Westland Bowl, the entry was so large that the group was divided into two circuits. All told, 46 teams enlisted. Of this number, 24 will be known as the Foxy Ladies and the other 22 as the Ladies of the Evening.

Over at Garden Lanes, there also will be two leagues, each with 20 teams. One of these will be strictly a women's league. The men will have their own circuit, too.

BOOTS CARR, who chuckled about her name got off fast in the Sun Streakers League at Westland. With a 143 average, she came through with games of 161, 182 and 173 for a 516.

The pacemaker for the day was Linda Pryde, who fired a 202 in 537.

WHILE THE WOMEN'S state tournament still has four more weeks to run, the Detroit area girls are almost certain to garner most of the honors. They now hold the lead in the four divisions of actual competition.

Anita Cantaline's Jac-Ro team is leading with a 2795, while Gail Griwicki and Carol Gaddis top the doubles with 1288. Dorothy Lisowski heads the list in the singles with a 648 and Mary Mohacsi holds the lead spot in the all-events with 1897.

The event, the longest in the women's history, will close June 26.

DALE SEAVOY, one of the ran campaigners in the all-star leagues, is listed as one of the good bowlers with a chance to boost his averages in the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

At present, he is credited with a 202 in 18 ABC events.

Of course, the leaders are two Detoiters—Ed Lubanski and Bob Strampe—who have averaged tbetter than 203 for 22 of the annual events.

Acting earns money

Acting is a money earner at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. Three more seniors have earned dramatic arts scholarships bringing this year's total recipients of drama grants to six (more than $12,000 from three universities. Sinda Nichols (left) and Jaime Weiser have earned grants to Michigan State University while Scott LaRiche has earned one to Eastern Michigan University. The six drama scholarships for one school district is a unique feat which brings honor and pride to Plymouth, says Mrs. Gloria Logan, drama instructor. In the past seven years, the drama department at the CEP has earned more than $30,000 worth of dramatic art scholarships under the directorship of Ms. Logan. (Staff photo)

Intern plan advocated by candidate Toy

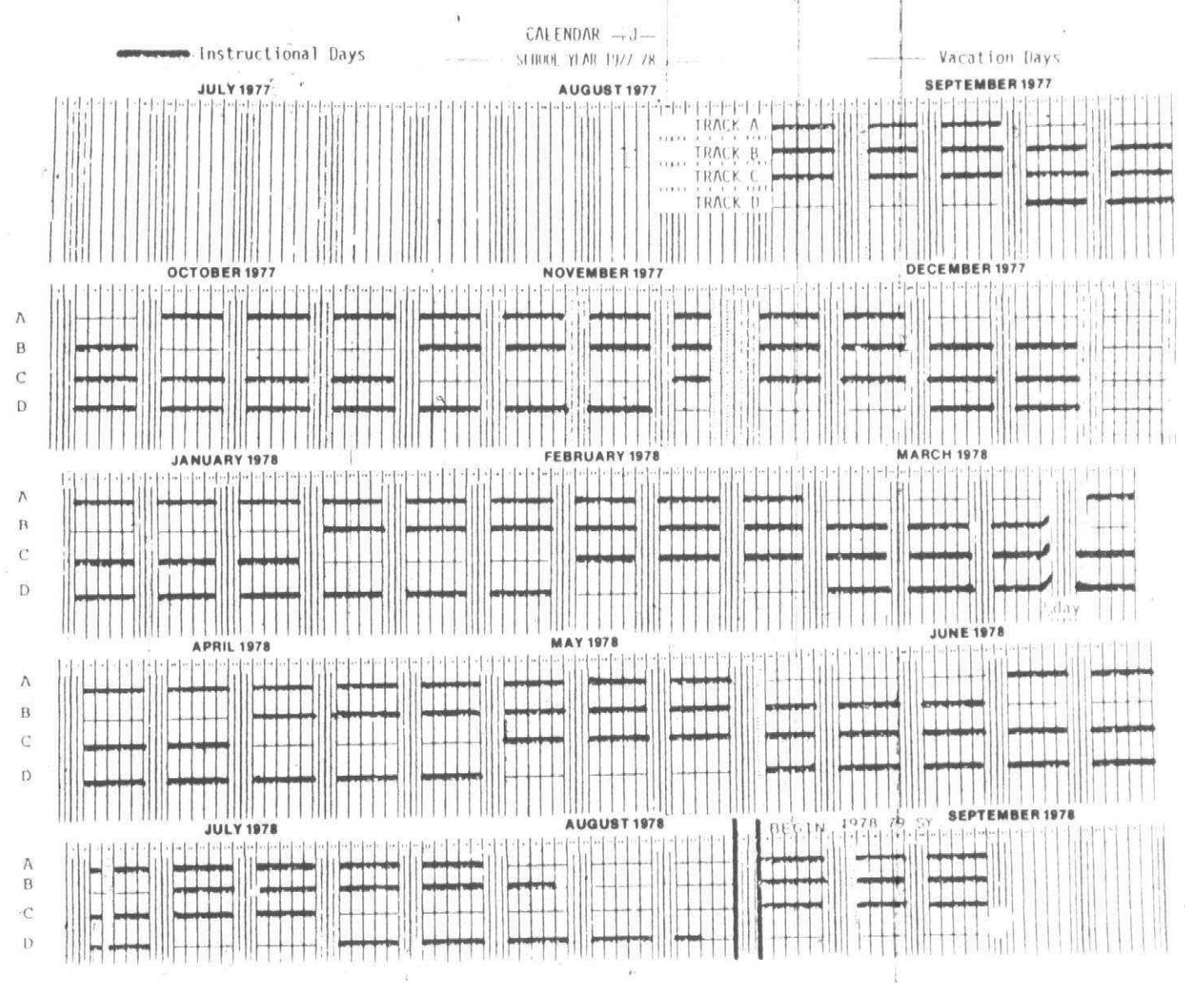

Nursing and therapy programs could provide interns for day care centers, according to Laura M. Toy, candidate for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees in the June 13 election.

Speaking to a recent meeting of the Deiter Day Care parents, Ms. Toy said such a program could be made available to students in "two-year health programs and others planning to transfer to special education fields at four-year colleges.

"I feel it's not only an excellent opportunity, but it gives new insights which help in the classroom seminars," she said.

"I was (Livonia) Mayor McNamara's first intern as a requirement of my one major in political science. I worked 16 weeks and gained knowledge about local government and what made it go. Working with these people was quite a great experience for an undergrad."

Ms. Toy added that "Schoolcraft does need more outreaching programming and its role should be help advise and aid such groups whenever feasible."

Senior survey winding down

The Plymouth Blue Ribbon Study Committee on Aging is winding up its survey of city senior citizens, according to Terry Carroll, senior citizen coordinator.

The survey, which is being conducted by volunteers, is designed to find out seniors wants and needs in housing, health care, recreation, and services.

"We have almost completed the poll," Carroll said. "But we want to make sure we have included everyone who is eligible so our final tabulations will be accurate."

Volunteers will be contacting seniors for another week. However, any city resident 60 or older who has not yet been interviewed can call Carroll at 453-1234 to ensure they are not left out.

The Stroller

Homemade root beer— what a drink!

By W.W. EDGAR

Browsing through the public prints the other morning, The Stroller came across a surprising statistic dealing with our way of life.

There, in bold print, it revealed that Michiganders drank 31 gallons of pop per person last year compared to the national average of 28.7 gallons. Broken down still further, it reveals that the average was two and one half quarts each week of the year.

Mind you, that is aside from all other beverages—beer, wine and fruit juices, along with liquor and all the other concoctions we swallow to quench our thirst.

It hardly seems possible that so much pop could be consumed and it all has come about, possibly, because of TV. It is stylish nowadays to blame everything on the tube, so why not the drinking habits of the humans?

There is scarcely a time when one turns on the tube that there doesn't flash on the screen the picture of some youngsters with a bottle of pop. If it isn't a bottle, it is either Anita Bryant or Bing Crosby extolling the virtues of orange juice.

This is a far cry from the days when soda pop, as we called it, was a luxury and most of the families made their own.

THIS WAS BACK in the days when Hires extract was the chief commodity found on the pantry shelves of any home and the corner grocery stores had it on display at all times.

You won't find it on the supermarket shelves today and you would possibly draw a surprised look from the manager if you asked for it. But it was the favorite beverage before the world was flooded with such drinks as Coke, Pepsi, Fresca, Sprite, Dr. Pepper, Old Towne and the rest of the conglomeration we now see on the s shelves.

It is interesting to look back now and recall that every family had its own set of bottles and a copper kettle in which the Hires extract was brewed into root beer. It was a simple process and one needed only to be careful of the amount of Fleischman's yeast used.

The yeast came in small squares, not much larger than the present day pad of butter. But it was strong and an overdose of it would cause the bottles to explode with a bang that could be heard throughout the household.

It was with this old-fashioned root beer that The Stroller got one of his first lessons in business. It came when his father who operated a small lunch counter, decided to offer home made root beer on the menu. And he put The Stroller in charge of keeping the shleves well stocked.

UNDER HIS FATHER'S watchful eye, The Stroller had to purchase the extract, clean the copper kettle, and see that there was a sufficient amount of clean bottles on hand for "brewing day."

It was was a simple brew and once prepared, the big task came in the bottling of the beverage. There was a spigot on the copper kettle and in time The Stroller became proficient enough to keep the s spigot open and change bottles without missing a drop.

More than that he had to keep account of the financial end of the root beer business. So, The Stroller became a small time bookkeeper and had to watch the pennies until the kettle and the bottles were paid for. It was a big event in his young life and it taught him the value of money along with the inside into the business world—as small as it was.

Later on we added a new beverage. It was a drink on the order of lemonade, but much sharper. It was made with hops and spices and the old fashioned "potato" yeast. The trade name was "mead"—a drink you never hear of today. But it was tarty and a great thirst quencher. Strangely, too, it was popular on the morning after a fellow had imbibed too freely of the amber brews and liquor.

But it is the root beer that leaves the fondest memories, especially at this holiday season, when The Stroller can vision himself behind the counter again selling Hires root beer that he made himself.

Isn't it funny, what a mere statistic in the daily prints, can do for a fellow.

School management decisions lack logic

Editor:

Having tested and proved a 45-15 program at Miller Elementary, the administration—and apparently their subordinate school board (Do I have the roles reversed?)—have stated that this schedule will not work and they wish to experiment with our children again.

No educational reasons are given for this change. Rather they reject it out-of-hand and provoke an argument which makes the Miller parents the villians because they must attack the computer-based bus-oriented schedule.

It would seem that competent managers begin by asking the following questions:

Why must there be a change? What has failed in the existing program? What new educational benefits will be surely gained by making a drastic change? What is the possibility that another schedule will provide greater success?

Having explicitly answered these questions with factual, not speculative, answers, the competent manager would proceed to alter programs. If these questions could not be answered with specific benefits resulting from the change, then no change is in order. If this logic escapes our administrators and their board, then I suggest that their management competence is below my standard and perhaps below that of my fellow parents and educators.

SUCH LACK OF ABILITY, logic and sensitivity to our children leads me to question whether other decisions of the administration are reasonable ones. In fact, because the administration has deceived the parents of of children scheduled to attend ESY schools by informing us about one proven schedule and then changing to another, I wonder what other incomplete truths are being spoken about major decisions—for example the decision regarding needed construction bonds.

I call upon our elected officials to demand that the hired management apply the above logic based upon these facts:

A. The schedule at Miller works.

B. The computer firm admits to being able to design around any of the proposed schedules—including the present one.

C. The perceived difficulties at the middle school will be the same regardless of calendar, so say the educators.

D. It is always possible to convert from a staggered start to a block start, if deemed necessary, in future years. It is not possible to convert from a block start to a staggered one if the block start is a late August one.

I trust that I will be heeded even if I am a "bad guy" from the Miller area. DOUG KOCH

Depends who pays

Editor:

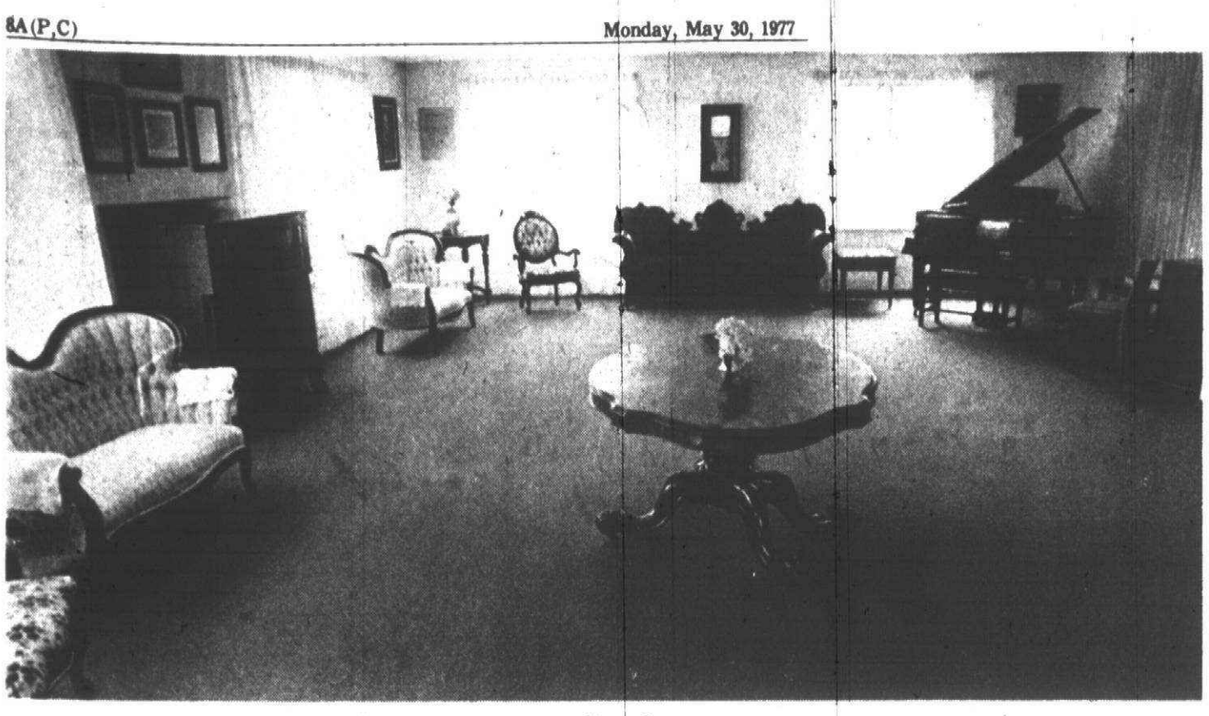

As I drive up Main Street after dusk, I can take one look and be assured our Historical Museum operates on private funds. How can I tell? First the library then city hall—lights glowing on taxpayers' dollars! Then the museum, with just a porch light as a beacon, because the Historical Society is hard put to pay those utility bills. Take a look any evening.

Array of Antiques

There's quite a collection of antiques adorning the living room of the Hendry Convalescent Center in Plymouth, with some pieces of furniture dating back to the early 1700s. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

This sofa with red upholstery and artistic carvings dates back to 1843.

"Rhapsodic Hongroise" is the tune on this roll placed on the Steinway player piano. There are some 250 companion pieces for the piano.

This clock was 50 years old when Lincoln gave his Gettysburg Address.

S'craft resolves tape issue

By TIM RICHARD

Persons attending Schoolcraft College board meetings will be able to record nearly all proceedings without fuss, under a set of public participation rules adopted 6-0-2 by the board of trustees.

Vice-chairperson Rosina Raymond abstained because she thought the taping rule too restrictive. The board would reserve the right to deny permission to record "quasi-judicial or personnel-related hearings."

Trustee Mark abstained for the opposite reason—he thought the board should reserve the right to deny taping of any proceeding.

WHAT WAS adopted at the May 26 meeting was a compromise version on a problem that has deeply split the board in the last month as it drafted rules as required under the new state Open Meetings Act.

The final version provides:

•Anyone wishing to record proceedings by tape, video tape, live television or radio must request permission, which will be automatically granted for most matters of business.

•The board reserved the right to deny permission in hearings involving personnel matters and student discipline, when it is acting in a quasi-judicial capacity. Because these items occur so rarely in the course of a year, recording could be banned for only about one per cent of total agenda items.

Missing from the final version was the suggestion that the college would ask persons who made unauthorized tapes to "relinquish" them.

THE RULE amounts to a request for courtesy—trustees want to be informed if they're being recorded.

In the case of student and employee hearings, the board was advised by attorney Virginia Metz that selected portions of a tape could be introduced as evidence against the board collectively or a trustee individually in a subsequent court case.

McQuesten said that at a later time he would propose the board make its own tape recordings of itself. (The Farmington City Commission and Oakland County Board of Commissioners tape their meetings.)

THE OTHER Schoolcraft rules on audience participation generated no controversy.

Meetings are held in a conference room adjacent to the president's office in the administration building. About two dozen persons, in addition to those at the board table, can squeeze in. So the rules ask that "when a large number of persons plan to attend," they should notify the board so that other seating arrangements can be made.

All agendas will have an item following board roll call called "introductions and comments from the audience." Prior to adjournment there will be an item called "comments from the audience."

Persons wishing to speak on a particular matter may request in writing a block of time. Normal time limit will be five minutes.

A person may ask to defer his comments until a particular agenda item comes up.

In prantice, the Schoolcraft board has recognized persons from the audience whenever they wished.

Should birth control be taught in schools?

By MARGARET MILLER

Is information about birth control a necessary part of a teen-ager's knowledge, or is it a blueprint for promiscuity?

When you teach him about contraceptives, does it foster knowledgeable decision making or does it represent irresponsible permissiveness?

Is such teaching solely and forever the responsibility of parents, or should the schools play a role?

The questions, not new, foster strong feelings on both sides, a fact made clear once again as a public hearing on Michigan House Bill 4425 came to the Schoolcraft College campus Monday.

The bill amends Michigan's public school code of 1976 to permit discussion in sex education classes of "the matters of sex hygiene, birth control and symptoms of sex disease."

State Rep. Barbara Rose Collins (D-Detroit) introduced the bill and conducted the hearing, called at the request of Rep. Robert Law (R-Westland).

She stated that Michigan and Louisiana are the only states in the country in which sex education is permitted in public schools but birth control information is prohibited.

SPEAKERS at the hearing, carefully alternated by the law-maker, took both sides of the question with vigor.

Two Livonia ministers, the Rev. Roland DeRenzo and the Rev. Charles Webster of St. Paul United Presbyterian, voiced opposing views.

"I oppose the bill on behalf of our congregation because it is in violation of Article IV in the Bill of Rights," Rev. DeRenzo stated. "That section guarantees people the right to be secure in their persons, and this bill voilates the rights of parents and minor children in personal security."

The pastor insisted that "the three Ps—pill, promiscuity and permissiveness—are the cause of our problems, and sex education involving teaching birth control is treating the symptoms."

"I don't see how we can solve major social problems unless we deal with the causes," he added.

Asked by Rep. Collins what type of legislation he would recommend "to deal with the three Ps," he answered:

"We need to think through all the implications and get back to the Bible and the idea of God."

REV. WEBSTER, stating he was taking the stand as "father, husband and clergyman," pointed out that "the concern of all of us is to prevent unwanted pregnancy and venereal disease."

He said he too felt birth control information is best dispensed within the family, but pointed out a couple of major problems.

"The role of the family is changing—that's real in our society," he said.

And he added that "there's a whole area of misinterpretation between the generations on this matter." "Parents feel they have told their children what they need to know, but then I talk to the same kids in seminars and workshops and find there is great ignorance. The discrepancy is unbelievable."

PATRICIA BURNETT, chairman of the Michigan Women's Commission, gave figures showing that the number of pregancies among unmarried teens nearly tripled from 1960 to 1970.

"Contraceptive methods are not being used by sexually-active teens; they don't understand the relationship between sex and reproduction," she stated.

"Since classes now are not able to address the subject of birth control, they just skirt the subject and don't do any good at all."

She also mentioned the health hazards inherent in pregnancy among young girls and the school drop-out rate.

Robert Gurvin of Plymouth, representing Michigan Citizens for Life, insisted that "there is also risk to health in pills."

He added that main objection, though, is that "teaching birth control in the schools is going to be impersonal, and yet the decision that the student must make from that information is one of the most personal there can be."

"The family has a right to be safeguarded against unreasonable interference," he stated.

WOMEN SPEAKING in favor of the bill included Kathleen Fojtik, a member of the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners, who said she was speaking "as a teacher who feels children have a right to knowledge, including knowledge about how to use their bodies," and Eleanor O'Brien of Planned Parenthood, who described herself as "a mother and grandmother, a parent who understands her limitations."

"We'd all like to be perfect parents," Mrs. O'Brien said, "and I'd be the first to agree with the pastor that the bill is treating symptoms. But the state is treating symptoms all the time in the many ways it takes care of the kids produced by unwanted pregnancies."

Livonia residents Verda Bonello, a member of Happiness of Womanhood, Inc., and Margaret Spas, of Michigan Citizens for Life, took stands against the bill.

"We are depriving children of the chance to use their skills to meet the problems of over-population," stated Mrs. Bonello.

"We can see some of the results of declining birth rate, closing of schools and increases in Social Security payments."

Mrs. Spas said she objected strongly to some of the material Planned Parenthood has used in sex education and stated counsel for a legislative committee in Arizona had called one such publication "pornographic."

Patricia Nixon, a Birmingham resident, said she felt the bill involves "degradation of women and children."

She explained she had found evidence that among some members of the medical profession "there is a growing tendency to regard pregnancy itself as a venereal disease," and asked:

"Do you think this attitude keeps respect for women? Will we be teaching this to our children?"

"SEXUAL EXPERIMENTATION does take place," stated John Ort, counselor at Franklin High School, "and we have to understand that's real.

"But for some reason we're forbidden to tell young people that there are ways to not get pregnant."

"I don't believe in keeping knowledge from children, and I have seen teens in great ignorance of sex, basically because they are unable to communicate with their parents.

"Now, that's the crux of the problem."

From Sandra Bennett of Detroit, leader in Planned Parenthood, came a statement that "the irony is that teens can get information—they do a pretty good job of finding out what they want to know."

"We need to get information off the bathroom walls and into the classroom," she concluded.

REP. COLLINS stopped testimony only once, when HOW member Connie Tarran of Rochester stated that the bill would allow discussion of "sexually deviant behavior."

"That's already in the law," Ms. Collins said. "The only thing that has been added to that section is that birth control may be discussed."

Mrs. Tarran ended her testimony. She stated later that the legislator was correct in her action, but added:

"If this is in the books, our children have no protection whatsoever."

Rep. Collins summarized at the end of the hearing, stating that the bill as put forth is "a working paper" and will be worked on further after reports from medical and educational task forces.

'The three Ps: Pill, Promiscuity, Permissiveness, may be the real cause of our problems. Sex education is treating symptoms.'

—The Rev. Roland DeRenzo

'I don't believe in keeping knowledge from children. Experimentation does go on outside wedlock, that's real. But for some reason it's wrong to say there are ways to not get pregnant.'

Plymouth Soroptimists host awards banquet

Scholarship winners and their parents were guests of the Plymouth Soroptimists Club May 24 for the annual awards banquet.

Lorraine Hendrickson and Lucille Mckinney co-chaired the affair in the loft of the Round Table Club.

Members and guests were welcomed by Millie Blackford, president of the club.

Mrs. Blackford presented scholarships to four graduating high school seniors—one from Plymouth and three from Northville.

Mark E. Borsche was given the first place award. He is president of the senior class at Plymouth Salem and a member of the National Honor Society. He was instrumental in forming the anti-smoking club which carried the message of the consequences of smoking to the elementary and middle school classrooms. He plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall.

Second place award was earned by Elizabeth Ann Harrison. The Northville high senior was feature editor of her school newspaper, a cheerleader, class representative and member of the student congress. She will attend MSU and hopes to major in tele-communications.

One of the third place awards was given to Steven Massel of NHS.

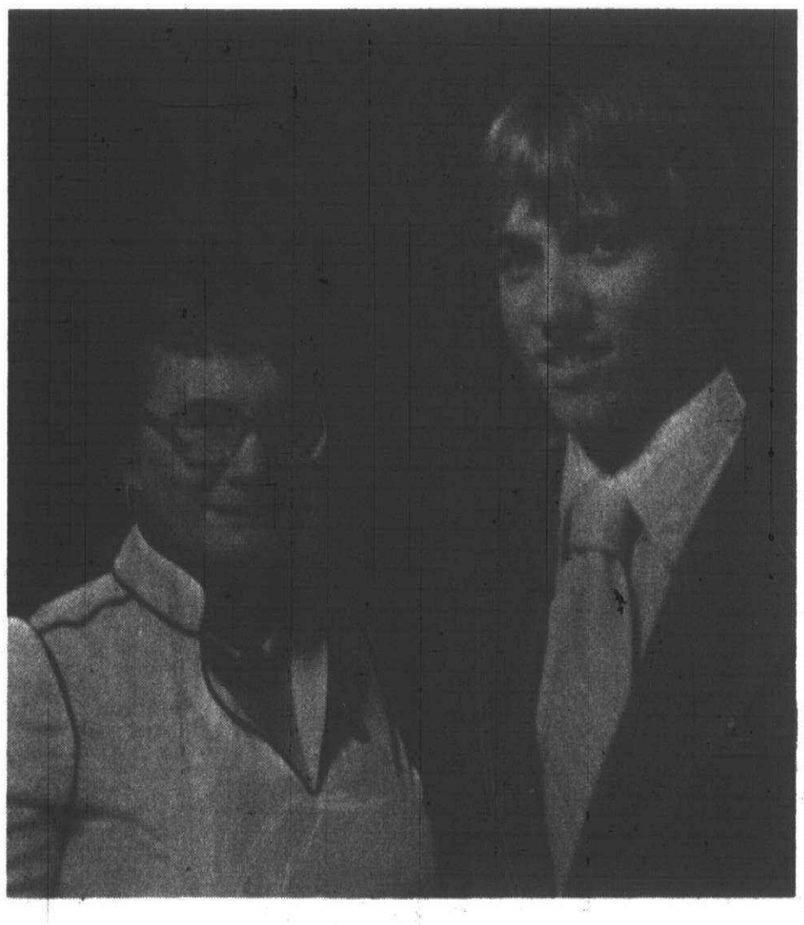

He was active in music and dramatics at school and his interests spread to church and community involvement. He will continue his education at Schoolcraft College unless a drama scholarship comes through and changes his plans.

Elizabeth A. Ward also won a third place award. She is a member of the National Honor Society and has been involved in school and community activities. Lisa had to leave the party early to play in the last performance of the NHS jazz band.

Laura Upton provided musical entertainment at the banquet. She played her quitar and sang a series of folk songs. Her selections included an old Gaelic song from Ireland. "Long Blach Veil," "Try to Remember," "Silver Dagger," "Ballad of Frozen Water," and an old Welsh song, "My Fisherman."

Guest speaker was Trooper David Saas, community service officer for the Michigan State Police at the Northville post.

His subject was "Citizenship."

Millie Blackford, president of the Plymouth Soroptimist Club presented the club's top award to Mark Bosche, a senior at Plymouth Salem High School. Mark is president of the senior class and plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall. (Staff photo)

AAUW wraps up season

from your house

By Lori Brickman

981-0237

The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women had its final meeting of the season May 19. Newly-elected board members took their oath of office, appointed positions were announced, and two outstanding service awards were presented.

Carol Davis will begin a two-year term as first vice president in charge of programs, and Carol Heiser, second vice president, will be responsible for membership. Diane Coleman was elected treasurer.

Continuing for another term are Judy Stone, president, Cheryl Holmberg, corresponding secretary, and Sue Silletto, recording secretary.

Appointed positions to the board include chairpersons Barbara Hanson, directory; Coralyn Riley, historian-photographer; and Judy Morgan, UNICEF.

The organization's bylaws will be in the hands of Lynn Culotta, and Dee Winter will continue to head the Landmarks committee.

THE ANNUAL children's play is a very successful event for the group and the community. Alice Chrenko, director of this year's "Wizard of Oz," will be stepping down. Sharon Belobraidich will replace her. Another AAUW project well known to the community is the used book sale at Westland Shopping Center. Its success this year can be attributed to the hard work of Liz Gribble and her many volunteers. An equally dedicated lady, Phyllis Johnson, has accepted chairmanship for next year's sale.

Representatives will be Peggy Fisher, community; Marilyn Dwyer, cultural interests; Janis Migyanka, education; and Pat Francek, international relations.

Topic chairwomen are Linda Luke and Cathy St. Clair. Standing committee heads are Jackie Binder, Sally Rowland, Launa Badendiek, Nancy Vernon, Bobbi Abbott and Sally Hanert.

ACTION, INTEREST and study groups will be the responsibility of Camille Zornow, Joan Anderson, Launa Wakenhut, Phyllis Johnson, Cecile Molyneaux, Audrey Crain, Arlene Jensen, Linda Osborne, Mary Beth Hausman, Cathy Rife and Donna Reynolds.

Two special service awards were presented at the meeting to Elaine Kirchgatter and Cheryl Holmberg, for their outstanding service during the year.

Mary Uhl has been the very active legislative chairwoman for the past two years. She has kept the members well informed on issues being discussed at local, state and federal government levels.

When one is good at her job, people take notice. This is what happened to Mary. She recently was appointed state division legislative chairwoman of the association by incoming president, Betty Davis.

Mary will be a voting member of the state executive board and will be responsible for her committee of 15 persons as they research and discuss issues.

The association is a powerful political force and the committee's recommendations, if adopted by the division, will have far-reaching effects on political representatives and their policies.

Mary is well-qualified for her new role. The Plymouth branch and the community wish her a successful term of office.

JANET REPP INTRODUCED Dr. Weldon Petz, Lincoln historian who was the guest speaker. His topic was "The Women Who Influenced the Life of Abraham Lincoln."

It was enlightening to learn that Ann Rutledge played only a minor role in Lincoln's life and that their romantic encounter was the fabrication of a law partner seeking to embarrass Mary Todd Lincoln.

THE LECTURE, which included artifacts and slides of the Lincoln family, their homes and acquaintances, revealed many other fascinating details in the life of the 16th president.

The evening closed with an outstanding photographic display of Lincoln portraits accompanied by Petz's favorite interpretation of theBattle Hymn of the Republic.

The membership's craft group had its spring salad get-together last Tuesday.

Those who shared a dish and ideas for next year's projects were Kathy Gornick, Liz Gribble, Carole Matthews, Judy Stone, Ronnie Wroblewski, Camille Zornow, Claudette Fountain, Cindy Zajac, Mary Beth Wrubel and Edna Fleming.

The evening's hostess was crafts chairwoman Marlene Lloyd of Appletree Drive in Plymouth Township.

Hospitalized kids need a friend

Picture this child for a minute. He's got a broken leg that is going to keep him hospitalized for a while. Mom and Dad stay for as long as they can with him in his hospital room.

But then what? Youngsters are fearful about hospitals, and when they are not fearful, they are bored and lonely.

At Wayne County General Hospital they are trying to do something about this problem with the cooperation of the YWCA of Western Wayne County, in Inkster.

They are looking for both adult and teenage volunteers to spend time at the bedside of children between the ages of 3 and 10. Volunteers would work one afternoon per week, from 1-3 p.m. in the eight week summer program.

The adult volunteers make supervisory rounds, while the students play games, read and talk with the patients of the pediatric ward.

"The children like it a lot," reported Jane Libbing of Plymouth, who prior to her job as a hospital teacher, was in the homebound teaching program in the Wayne-Westland school district. She initiated the program a few years ago.

"The visitors bring something of the normal to them," she added. "It makes them less fearful."

She explained that having these hours filled with activities for the children relieves the nurses to work with children who are really in need of nursing care.

"It has worked so beautifully," said Mrs. Libbing. "It is particularly important to the children who are here for a number of months. A hospital can be a lonely place for a child, or it can be a traumatic experience.

"Having someone to play with who is not in a rush is good for them. The continuity is good, too, when the student returns each week.

"It gives them something to look forward to."

The hospital offers free TB skin tests to volunteers. Orientation-training sessions are run for both adult supervisors and high school volunteers. Substitutes assist for vacationing supervisors.

Individuals interested in being either a supervisor or general volunteer may contact Melinda Finger at the YWCA, 561-4110.

Smith-Elton

Lynne Elton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Elton of Harvey Street in Plymouth, exchanged wedding vows May 7 with Michael David Smith in St. Peters Lutheran Church, Plymouth. Pastor Leonard Koeninger officiated.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, former Plymouth residents who now live in Maryville, Tenn.

Judith Ann Schaening Tolles of Brighton was matron of honor. Thomas Smith of Denver, Colo. was best man.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii and Los Angeles following a wedding reception in Roma's of Garden City. They will live in Victoria, Tex.

The bride graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a bachelor of science in secondary education. She majored in dramatic arts and English literature. Her husband is a University of Michigan graduate with a BS in mechanical engineering.

Rocks, Chief advance to all-Plymouth district battle

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

The qualifying round and pre-district games have finally been completed. Now it's down to the real business.

Both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem baseball teams won pre-district contests on the road Friday afternoon and prepare to face each other.

The all-Plymouth distrcit semifinal game will be played at 10a.m. Saturday at Belleville High School.

And if past Salem-Canton tournament battles are any indication, Saturday's "meeting of the neighbors" should prove to be as exciting than ever.

Friday the Rocks disposed of Westland John Glenn 4-3, while the Chiefs were busy beating Belleville 6-2. Salem's overall record is an even 12-12. The Western Six League champions from Canton hold a fabulous 22-2 mark.

The Chiefs were in control all the way against the Tigers, scoring two runs in the third inning, three in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Belleville touched winning pitcher Doug Smith with two meaningless runs in the final inning. The victory for Smith was his sixth in seven decisions.

Leadoff hitter Doug Bricker and shortstop Scott Collins paced the Chiefs attack with three hits each. Rob Mandle also had an excellent day, playing first base for the injuried Steve Morman.

DOUG HOLLOWAY proved to be the spark plug in Salem's victory against John Glenn. The junior hurler rescued starter Tom Chiatalis in the opening inning after Glenn scored all three of its runs.

Holloway proceeded to shut out the Rockets for the remaining eight and one-third innings while his teammates were busy cathing up.

Bob Smith's sacrifice fly produced Salem's first run in the opening inning before Glenn spurted to a quick 3-1 lead in the bottom half of the inning.

Pat McKendry and John Lewelling knocked home two runs to tie the game at 3-3 in the second stanza.

Rocks' streak snapped at 4

The four-game win streak of the Plymouth Salem baseball team came to an abrupt end Thursday afternoon when the Rocks lost a 3-2 decision to Dearborn in Suburban Eight League action.

The setback slipped Salem's overall record beneath the .500 mark again. The Rocks stand 11-12 for the year and 8-5 in league play.

"We played good ball defensively, but we didn't hit," said Salem coach Brian Gilles.

The Rocks scored their only two runs in the first inning with the help of one single and two Dearborn errors.

But Salem couldn't hold onto that 2-0 lead as Dearborn bounced back with one tally in the sixth and two winning runs in the seventh.

The Salem offensive was stymied after that first inning, as the Plymouth squad mustered only one hit the rest of the game.

Bruce Gerish started on the mound and was the hard-luck loser. He hurled 6⅓ innings before running into seventh-inning problems. Junior Bruce Piper came into relieve Gerish but couldn't hold the advantage.

Gerish threw no-hit balls through three innings and allowed only five safeties on the day.

The Rocks scored their runs when leftfielder Bob Smith started a rally with a two-out walk. He moved to second on a passed ball, an scored on an RBI single by Bob Waite.

Waite later scored thanks to two Dearborn errors.

The Rocks close out their Suburban Eight League season against Bentley Tuesday afternoon. Salem is the only conference club to defeat the champion Bulldogs.

Chief runners just fall short

The ever improving Plymouth Canton boys track team fell just short of winning its first dual meet of the season, losing 82-76 to Farmington Harrison Wednesday afternoon.

"I haven't seen such an effort put forth—ever," said Canton's proud coach Mike Spitz. "It really made me hapby. We did a super job—even though we lost."

The Chiefs won only one relay race on the day but it was by far the most exciting event of the meet.

Canton flopped in its second exchange of the mile relay and fell some 30 yards behind the Harrison combination. But sophomores Dan McGlinn and Mike Mowry burned the track in the last half mile and caught the opponents, winning by two-tenths of a second. Cliff Norris and Mike Kriefer led off the race.

Strong field permancences, which included two school records, started the Chiefs in fine fashion.

Junior Randy Rienas reached the 20-6 mark in the long jump, and Any Lewis heaved the discus 141-6 to break the records.

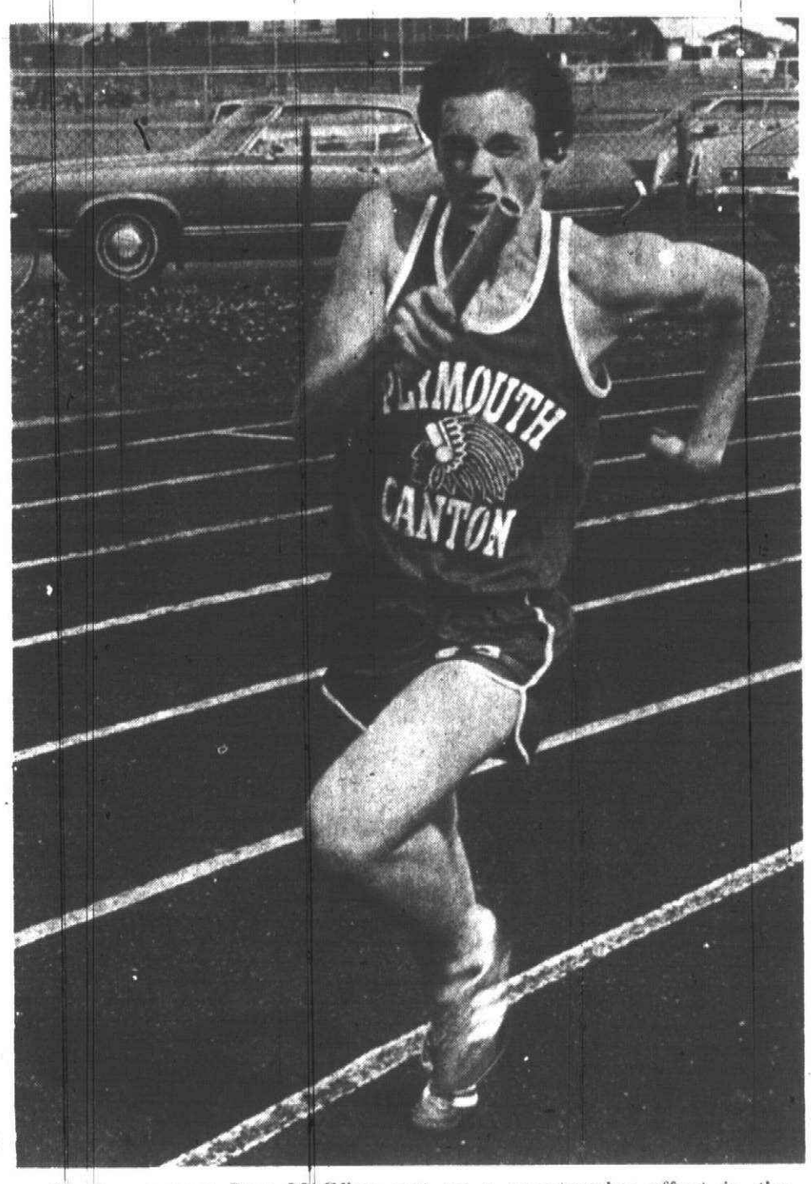

Rienas, Norris and Bill Murphy combined to sweep all three places of the high jump, while Scott Gray continued his steady performance with a first place finish in the pole vault.

Murphy placed second in the two-mile run, but came back with a gusty performance in the mile race to place first with a new school record time of 4:40.

Martin Hinckley set another school record, placing second in the 330-yard low hurdles with a :42.7 clocking.

Mike Phillips surprised everyone with a :10.6 first place time in the 100-yard dash. Phillips was running in place of the injuried Steve Barnes who pulled up lame before the meet.

Rich Fleischer, John Tarr and Greg Krzowski also performed well in the sprint races. Fleisher won the 220-yard race and placed second in the 440-yard dash.

Rock thinclads win 4th in a row

The longest victory string in the three-year tenure of Plymouth Salem boys track coach Gary Balconi continues to grow.

The Rock thinclads extended its surprising win streak to four with two dual meet triumphs over Bentley and Belleville last week.

It also marked the fourth Suburban Eight League victory for the Rocks which should increase their hopes for a first-division finish in this week's conference meeting.

"All along, my personal goal was to finish as one of the top four teams in the league," Balconi said. "But it was a question of being realistic. I would really be proud if our kids could do it."

The vaulting trio of Scott Kappler, Mark Koma and Dennis Ogden proved to be the winning spurt in the 82-76 victory over Bentley Thursday afternoon.

All three vaulters reached the 13-0 mark to tie for first place honors. Bob Dasher placed first in the discus and second at the shot put, while Rich Hanchu and Mike Skone placed first and third respectively in the long jump.

Walt White continued his brilliant running with first place finishes in both the mile and two mile races.

Mike Christie had an excellent day, winning both hurdle races with personal best times. Skone placed third in both those races.

Jerry Kachenko won the 100-yard dash with his best clocking of the season—10.3. Greg Stevens and Steve Maisner followed at :10.5.

Jerry Basierbe won the 220-yard dash while Tom Kindree placed third. Scott Kleam placed second behind White in the mile, and Tom Rubadue was third in the two-mile.

Against Belleville, the big story was the 440-yard relay team which shattered the previous school record by four-tenths of a second. The combination of Kachenko, Kindree, Curt Lewis and Basierbe executed perfect handoffs enroute to the record breaking time.

The Belleville victory was a surprise to all Salem fans, as the Rocks literally blew the respected Tigers off the track, 91-67. It marked the first time in eight years that Salem has beaten Belleville.

Salem was ahead from the start, crushing the Tigers in the field events, 42-13.

Salem swept all three places in the discus and pole vault. The Plymouth squad also won two of the three relays and four of the running events.

Both girls' squads run to victory

By MICHAEL BLEDSOE

Both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem defeated their respective league opponents in dual meet action, last week.

The final score in the Salem meet was 72½-67½. Sharon Radionoff broke the school record in the discus with a 91-4 heave, scoring a second place. Kathy Sample placed first in the mile run, also breaking a school record, crossing the line at 5:47.9.

Kathy Zielke had a personal best in the 880-yard run with a 2:32.2 time, and Erin Lucas placed first in the hurdles with a :17 flat timing.

"I asked them to do a little extra today and they came through in the clutch," said Salem coach Scott Kurtz.

There was a dead heat in the 880 relays as both teams had a 1:52.1 clocking. JoAnn Langkabel finished first in the 220-yard run and second in the 100-yard dash. Sue Jenkins placed second in the 440 run with Sarah Marks placing second in the two mile with a 14:20 clocking.

The mile relay team of Kathy Sample, Kim Brown, Kathy Zielke, and Polly Richards placed first with a time of 4:43.

"This relay decided the meet," said Kurtz. "Our team made up a 220-yard deficit to come from behind and take the victory."

Kim Brown placed third in the half mile followed by fourth place Beth Warner. Places were switched in the 440 when Warner placed third and Brown finished fourth.

The Cheifs won their meet with Harrison, 77-59. Long jumper Kathy Kiefer placed first with a 14.2½ leap. Jill Pedersen finished second. Veronica Gray placed first in the high jump, clearing four feet 10 inches. Lynne Bigelow followed in third. Lynne Rudolph came in second throwing the discus 73.3½. Geri Shufeldt set a school record in the two mile, hitting the line at 13:38. Lynne Rudolph finished second.

"Our distance people are beginning to pull points for us," said coach Barb Winn. "Both Geri Shufeldt and Lynne Rudolph did spectacular today."

Kathy Kidston placed first in the 880 run with a 2:40.2 clocking. Veronica Gray finished third. Robbie Bennet placed second in the 100-yard dash with a :12.5 clocking.

Jann Pedersen came in second in the hurdles. Carol Durocher followed in second. Sue Vitoratos finished first in the shot with a 28.8-feet throw. "We've been slacking off lately because of torn muscles and hurt people," said Winn. "But the other kids are coming up and working harder."

Lynne Rudolph placed first in the mile run with a 6:20 clocking. The 440 relay team placed first with a 56.3 clocking. The mile relay team of Veronica Gray, Beth Richardson, Jennifer Tregembo, and Cheryl Coble also placed first.

Salem batters win; Canton gets smoked

It was a happy birthday for Plymouth Salem softball coach Livy Way, as her Rocks rebounded with a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over rival Dearborn Thursday afternoon.

Salem scored two early runs but saw that lead slip away when the Pioneers scored three times. The Rocks then rallied with the two winning runs late in the game.

Rocks pitcher Debbie Pitera went all the way on the mound for the victory. She had excellent control as she walked only two batters.

Salem's overall record is 10-4, which includes a second-place 10-3 Suburban Eight League mark.

PLYMOUTH CANTON—RU

Plymouth Canton's softball team lost its second straight non-league contest of the week, falling to Redford Union, 14-1, Wednesday.

The Chiefs' overall record dropped to 5-7 with the setback.

Canton's only run of the game came in the third inning when freshman catcher Pam Schipani led off with a single. She moved to second base on a walk and came home on the run-producing single by Sue Rekuc.

Both Schipani and Rekuc registered two hits each to pace the Chiefs' five hit attack. Vickie Cavallaro accounted for Canton's other base hit.

Redford Union scored in every inning against losing pitcher Lucy Howe. The Panthers' big inning was in the third when a six-run burst put them ahead 10-1.

Jayvees win diamond game

Both Plymouth Salem baseball and softball junior varsity squads were victorious last Tuesday afternoon.

The Salem boys toppled Edsel Ford 22-3 behind a 26-hit attack. Leading the offensive surge for coach Gary Temple's team was sophomore catcher Dave Wilcox who registered four hits including a home run.

Salem's overall record stands at 10-5 for the year and 8-3 in Suburban Eight League play.

The softball squad won its fourth game in nine decisions with an easy 16-8 victory over Willow Run.

Julie Lynch and Terry Tripb each socked four hits. Cindy Dusha and Lisa Gannon chipped in by blasting home runs.

Fiesta coming

Fiesta, the most successful new car ever introduced in Europe, will go on sale at Ford dealerships in the United States later this summer. A three-door hatchback, Fiesta has as standard rack-and-pinion steering, MacPherson-strut front suspension and Michelin steel-belted radial tires. The front-wheel-drive car is powered by a 1.6-liter Kent engine with a four-speed manual transmission. Fiesta is available in four trim levels, standard, decor, sport (above, with optional cast aluminum wheels) and Ghia.

Lower speed limit has its limitations

Are most motorists obeying the 55 mph speed limit? Is it saving gasoline and lives? What are its drawbacks?

Engineers at the Highway Users Federation have been studying these questions since the national speed limit was approved Jan. 2, 1974, and have come up with some answers.

On main rural roads, where the temptation to speed is greatest, about half of all drivers exceed the 55 mph speed limit. But before the 55 limit, about 70 percent of all drivers exceeded 55 mph, burning up far more gasoline than they now do.

The average driver on an intercity trip who, reluctantly or not, has reduced his speed five, 10 or 20 miles per hour, knows he goes farther on each tank of gas. If he now drives a little under 60 in an average car when he used to go between 70 and 75, he has boosted his fuel efficiency at least 15 per cent.

He now goes 30 miles farther on each ten gallons of gasoline, saving

BETWEEN JAN. 1974 and July 1975, cars, trucks and buses travelled 650 billion miles on intercity roads and highways. At pre-55 speeds, they would have used three billion extra gallons of gasoline.

WHAT TO DO IN THE BIG BLOW

WITH THE WARMER weather comes tornado weather...hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. This is the time of the year when you will hear the terms "Tornado Watch" and Tornado Warning." A watch is a forcast area where weather conditions are right for a tornado to occur. At this time, you should be on the alert, but if a tornado is sighted, this watch turns to a warning, and you should take cover immediately.

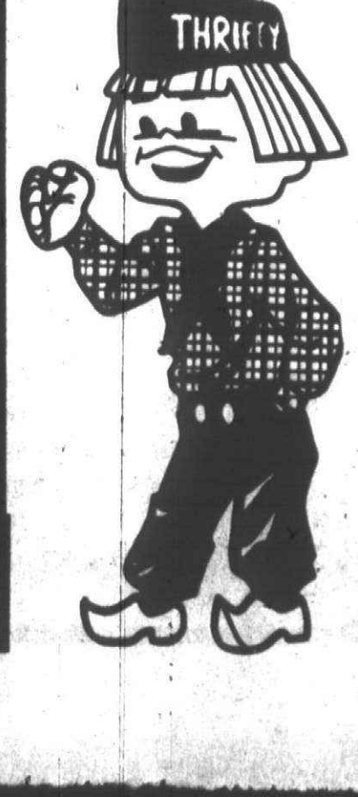

IN HOMES, the southwest corner of the basement usually offers the greatest safety. People in homes without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm shelter. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east side of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

IF YOU ARE IN OPEN COUNTRY, move at RIGHT ANGLES to the tornados' path. Tornados usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

KEEP CALM! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into the streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado.

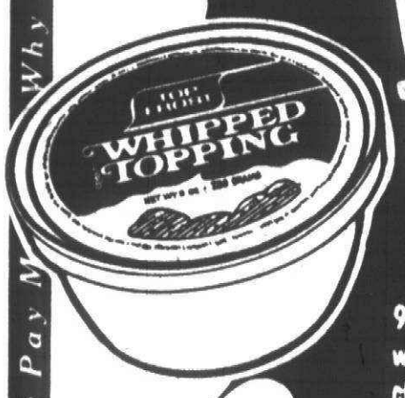

KEEP TUNED to your local radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. DO NOT CALL THE WEATHER BUREAU, except to report a tornado.

IF YOU SEE A TORNADO before it has been reported, dial operator. Tell the operator you want the U.S. Weather Bureau Emergency Collect. Give the weather bureau the location and direction of travel. Then, also, call the Sheriff's Department to report the same information. We at Meijer hope you have a happy and safe summer.
