Borowski is board president

'Pool communities for police funds'

By EMORY DANIELS

Marcia Borowski was elected president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education—by a unanimous vote—at Friday's night organizational meeting. In fact, the vote went 7-0 for all offices, as Tom Yack was elected vice-president, Flossie Tonda secretary, and Steve Harper treasurer.

The unanimous balloting for each officer came as a surprise to school board observers who had anticipated a 4-3 vote for the chairmanship.

By remarks made afterwards, it became obvious trustees are intent on attempting to work together in an atmosphere of trust despite obvious differences among them on issues.

MS. BOROWSKI was nominated for the presidency by Joe Gray, outgoing president, and supported by Mrs. Tonda. George Lawton then moved that a unanimous ballot be cast and that request was granted by a 7-0

"I would like to thank the board members for their confidence in me,' Ms. Borowski began her acceptance remarks, "I certainly appreciate it.

"I hope and pledge to do my darndest to keep us all working together. That hope shouldn't be construed to mean that we are all in agreementhappily we are not. We do represent different viewpoints and that's the way it should be.

"I will do my best as board president to see that each of our separate views can be fairly presented in pub-

Gray told the Observer after the meeting that he was pleased with the selection and voting. "Being board president is something each member should have a crack at if they want the position. This will be Marcia's last year on the board before she faces reelection so it's a good time for her to serve as president.

"It's a well-known fact Marcia and I very often disagree on things, and we probably always will. But she deserves a chance at the presidency, and I'm glad to support her in that endeavor. I'm sure all other trustees

Ms. Borowski had sought the presidency last year when Gray was elected to the post. She lost by a 4-3 vote with Gray, Dick Arlen, Mrs. Tonda and outgoing trustee E.J. McClendon in the majority.

The exit of McClendon and replacement by Harper was seen as four votes for Ms. Borowski this

One trustee noted after the meeting: "Sure, there could've been three 'no' votes this year, or maybe somebody else could've got elected. But why? Member Borowski was interested in the position and deserves it."

IN OTHER ACTION, the board voted to:

•Hold regular meetings of the school board on the first and third meetings of the month during summer months in the board of education offices on Harvey in Plymouth, with the location for meetings to be reviewed in September.

·Named Mrs. Tonda as the board's representative on the governmental Committee; Yack on the community school advisory committee; Lawton on the rural life committee; and Ms. Borowski on the Title IX Committee.

The board deferred making appointments to the site committee and energy committee until hearing a report from the administration on whether these committees are necessary and what their charges should be if they are needed.

Ms. Borowski and Yack were named delegates to the Michigan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL).

•The CPA firm of Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel was named school district auditor

·Legal counsel appointed were: Draugelis, Ashton and Scully, general counsel; Thrun, Maatsch & Nordberg, for linancial and election matters; and Clark, Hardy, Lewis & Fine for labor relations matters.

The holding of board meetings in the central administration office building will be experimental for the summer only. Friday night, trustees discussed holding meetings in the cafetorium or little theater at Plymouth Canton High, the auditorium at Central Middle School, and the board offices. The board offices, though, can only seat up to 80 people.

Recall election set for August

By CRAIG PIECHURA

It's official.

A recall election to decide the fate of three members of Canton's board " of trustees has been tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 27 by Wayne County Clerk James Killeen.

Deputy Clerk Orville Tungate announced Thursday that a check of the recall petitions received by his office June 24 had a sufficient number of valid signatures to force scheduling the first recall election in Canton Township history

A minimum of 1.251 valid signatures are needed to force a recall election of any elected official in Canton:

Tungate said 1.267 signatures were submitted against Supervisor Harold Stein: 1.528 valid signatures were submitted against Treasurer Anne Bradley and 1.520 signatures were counted calling for Trustee Gene Daley's ouster.

While the clerk's office has requested that Canton conduct the recall election on Saturday. Aug. 27. Tungate said the date will not be finalized or official unless the Wayne County Election Scheduling Commission approves it. The election scheduling commission meets next on July 13.

SUPERVISOR HAROLD Stein didn't appear surprised and unimpressed upon learning that the recall election was a certainty.

"Oh yeah." said the yawning supervisor. "I thought they had enough peti-

Cindy Monks, co-chairman of the Stein recall group, said the next step for her group will be to meet with Linda LaBell and her supporters, who organized the later drive which expanded the recall to include Bradley and Dalev

Ms. Monks said she believes both recall camps will conduct a combined effort and strategy,

"We might as well share the costs if we want to get this recall over with," said Ms. Monks. "We'll have to coordinate things like lawn signs, and bumper stickers. My own personal feeling is that the sign should read: 'Vote Yes on Recall.'

Mrs. LaBell supports the idea of recalling all three officials, but Peter Gabbert and Peter Bundarin, who worked on the Stein recall drive, have said publicly that they only wanted to see Stein recalled. Gabbert had said previously that he "wouldn't mind" seeing Treasurer Bradley dumped in addition to Stein. but said that he couldn't see where Trustee Daley had done anything that warranted his removal. Gabbert has been quoted as saying that ousting Stein would be sufficient and that the recall of any more officials "would look like a bloodbath and we don't want that."

Stein, Bradley and Daley have said all along that the two separate recall camps have been working together The three officials who face the possibility of recall believe that Bundarin and former supervisor Robert Green stein are behind the whole recall campaign. Both Bundarin and Greenstein were edged out by Stein in a threeway race for the supervisor's seat last November.

Stein, Bradley and Daley all ran on the "Stein Slate" in the election. Stein said that factor may be detrimental to him in a recall election.

"That slate thing could kill me. Stein said. "If one of us goes, we all will. We ran on a slate for financial reasons not because we all think alike. It costs a lot of money to run for office so we figured there would be strength in numbers. Misery loves company. But we were unknowns at the time and decided to pool our efforts. Anyone who has been to a board meeting knows we don't vote as a

The major charge against Stein and Bradley is that they are encouraging, rather than discouraging, new home construction in the rapidly growing township. The recall backers also claim that Stein and Bradley oppose the concept of saving agricul tural land which was outlined in the 1976 master land use plan.

"Daley," who also works for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department is accused of a conflict of interest in. Canton police matters. It is charged that he wants to see the sheriff's depu ties patrolling Canton on a con tractual basis, rather than expanding the part-time Canton police force.

Daley said he wants the voters to de cide if the size and hours of the local police force should be expanded

Study compares cost to develop or retain farms

In an effort to set Canton's future course concerning land use, township board members have allocated $40,000 to study the economic pros and cons of retaining agricultural land.

With Trustee Lynne Goldsmith absent, board members unanimously agreed Tuesday to direct the consulting firm of Wade. Trim & Associates to begin the six-month study and submit a progress report each month. Board members placed a $40,000 ceiling on the study's cost.

In the study, the the consultants will determine the cost to taxpayers of purchasing development rights to some 6.000 acres of agricultural land as a means to preserve farmland in the western section of the township

Those costs will be compared with costs or providing the land with urban services should it be developed. Potential tax revenues from developed farmland will be compared with tax revenues from undeveloped farmland.

Although land use-committee members say township residents will have to finance the farmland retention program through purchase of development rights and a reduced tax rate for farmland, they have not estimated a cost for the proposed program.

If the cost of retaining Canton's farmland is not unreasonably high. township officials will ask residents at the polls if they're willing to pay the

"That is one beautiful piece of land." Fred Burger said. slowly stripping a weed he had plucked from the ground. "I'd hate to see houses on it."

The land Burger was talking about is a nine-acre piece of dense woods directly behind Hulsing Elementary School in Canton Township.

In the first place, the land is owned by Canton Township. And it is valuable land indeed. Burger estimated that a developer would be willing to pay close to $100,000 for it.

"I know we (the Jaycees) would be willing to supply some manpower to keep things in shape, and I think Hulsing would help out with a few people. And it would be nice if the township recreation department could donate some men and equipment."

Despite the numerous details to be arranged and possible conflicts to be avoided. Burger is optimistic about completing a preliminary trail by the time school starts this year.

Last week Burger invited Jee Luel-

Trustees in Van Buren Township made $2,900. trustees in Brownstown made $3.000, and trustees in Redford made $4,700, he said.

"Based on these. I would have to say we've got to have a raise." Myers maintained. "I don't know whether I'll run again. But I do know the job takes a lot of time and involvement. If you're going to get qualified people to serve. I think you've got to have a

"I think a 100 per cent raise is unreasonable absolutely." Schwall said. A compromise motion introduced by Clerk John Flodin for a $60-per-meeting wage also died for lack of support.

"I think it's too high," reiterated Schwall, who introduced the third motion of the evening to-table the matter. Unlike the tabling motion made earlier by Trustee Eugene Daley, Schwall's motion passed.

Two weeks ago, board members approved an eight per cent pay hike for the township supervisor and clerk by unanimous vote.

Hines Park's main problem is overuse

The newly-formed Hines Park Task Force met for the first time last week and heard that law enforcement in the increasingly crowded park is now too big a job for the 29 sheriff's deputies assigned to patrol it.

Lieutenant Terry Shenk, director of the sheriff's park patrol, told the group that arrests doubled in two years, from slightly more than 1,000 in 1974 to some 2,000 in 1976. By April 1 1977. Shenk said, about 625 persons already had been arrested in the there now," said Gregory. Shenk, who said he's already requested an extra 24 deputies and two sergeants be assigned to park patrol, said: "With double the size of the patrol I've got now, I think I could improve the situation."

izer State Rep. Robert Law (R-Livonia), an assistant Wayne County prosecutor, and members of both the

Wayne County Sheriff's and various

Police representatives, including Lt.

Russ Gregory of the sheriff's department, agreed the primary problem in local police departments.

A VARIETY OF WAYS of increasing police protection in the park were discussed, including special state funds earmarked for the purpose, a "collective security pact" allowing local police departments to patrol the park in the day so more deputies are available at night, and the adoption of a "park ranger" force.

The park rangers would be upperlevel college students paid with federal funds and equipped with two-way radios to be used in notifying police of lawbreakers. The rangers wouldn't carry weapons, and wouldn't have any powers of arrest. Although nearly all agreed a relatively small "bad element" is responsible for most park problems, there were horror stories about the park, Shenk, asked what age group was primarily involved in police-related incidents in Hines Park, said, "We've seen 12-and-13-year-old prostitutes out there, and 40-year-old drug dealers, so that's the age group we're talking

Most park users tend to be Wayne County residents, Shenk said, although other members of the group reported having seen cars with out-ofstate license plates cruising through the 17½ mile long park.

In emphasizing the need for greater police patrols of the park, Shenk said:

"All we really have to do is be there and everybody shapes up, but if one of my men arrests somebody, they'll be off the street at least an hour.

Shenk and Gregory reported that police work is hampered in the park by a general unwillingness to cooperate among many young park users with police seeking out drug sellers and other lawbreakers.

A VOTE ON FUNDING for the sheriff's department is scheduled for the next meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners

Credit cards are here for better-or for worse

By MIKE SCANLON

Some people love it, some hate it, and some have been ruined by it. The credit card. It's been around at least since 1923, when Sears, Roebuck & Co. issued their first one.

But it was just 10 years ago that the form of credit card most recognizable today, the national bank card, was introduced as BankAmericard, recently renamed Visa.

Since then, the impact of credit cards is difficult to exaggerate.

Total credit card purchases were so huge in 1976 that if you didn't use a credit card to buy $250 worth of goods and services for every member of your family, then you used your card less than the national average.

One estimate puts the amount of interest owed as a result of 1976 credit card purchases at more than $5 billion

In effect, when you use a credit card you're taking out a loan. There's an advantage to the loan, in that most credit card companies charge no interest on their money until a certain period of time, usually 30 days, has

There's a big disadvantage, too. If you don't pay off the loan within that time period, in Michigan and all but a handful of all other states, you pay 18 per cent interest on the balance.

RETAIL CREDIT, which includes but isn't limited to credit card debts, is a closely-watched stock market indicator. The disastrous Wall Street slump of 1974 was foretold, to investors with the eyes to see it, months earlier through the retail credit index. Many more investors first noticed

The three largest credit card companies today are Visa, Mastercharge and the privately-owned Sears credit system

the connection about 1975

A spokesperson for the San Francisco-based Visa, while willing to argue over whether Visa or Mastercharge was actually bigger (one verdict: too close to call between them), had no qualms about conceding the top spot to Sears.

Actually, Sears is third on the list. But Sears stores last year sold more than $14 billion worth of goods and services, and 53 per cent of that total was purchased with Sears credit cards.

Mastercharge is owned by Interbank, a New York holding company. Visa has two divisions, Visa U.S.A., with more than 30 million card holders, and Visa, International, with about 14 million card holders, most of them in Britain, Canada, and South Africa.

The company is controlled by Bank America, but in Britain and South Africa the cards are administered by Barclays, Ltd., a name familiar in the United States only to those who've bargain-hunted for traveler's checks:

In addition to the 18 per cent interest against unpaid credit card balances, the companies also charge fees ranging from three to six per cent to the retailer who sold the goods or services charged on the card.

MERRILL, LYNCH, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., is planning to issue a eredit card this fall to any margin account holder in three test cities who has the money to get one.

A final amount hasn't been decided on, but a New York spokesman for Merrill, Lynch said a margin account balance of $5,000 is now being considered as a minimum for issuance of the card, If so, it will be the most exclusive credit card in the world.

There are now three basic types of credit cards; national bank cards, retail store cards, and what members of the trade call "T & E" cards—travel and entertainment cards.

Those include American Express, Carte Blanche, and Diner's Club. Taken together, one expert estimated they comprise less than five per cent of the total market. American Express is the biggest of the three. Many of the outstanding cards are owned by corporations.

Some financial experts are convinced that credit cards represent only the first step toward a "moneyless economy," in which all transactions will be recorded via computer terminals and charged against bank accounts.

Local merchants report that the importance of credit cards to their businesses is widely varying. Credit card use seems related to the expense involved.

Bob Evans, manager of the men's clothing department at Hudson's Westland store, says credit card purchases are three times greater in frequency than cash purchases.

ASKED IF customers ever came looking for a $5 tie and left with a $50 wardrobe, Evans pointed to a salesman and said, "Sure, that's their job."

At Sweeney's TV repair in Garden City, however, technician Don Judson estimated credit card purchases at "maybe 10 per cent of the total."

"But I'll tell you, they charge you

18 per cent, they charge us five per cent—if you own BankAmericard you can't lose."

Dan Weeder, manager of the Action bicycle store in Livonia, said credit card purchases account for about 20 per cent of total sales there. The cards are most often used for large purchases, but Weeder said discounts on the sticker price for bicycles are only offered to cash customers.

only offered to cash customers. "It's just not worth it after we pay their service charge," Weeder said.

The Yankee Clipper barber shop in Redford Township has anywhere from 10 to 25 per cent credit card sales, depending on whether you talk to employee Arlene Moore or owner Dave Johnson.

Ms. Moore said customers "older than their mid-20's" tend to charge the $13 haircuts more often than younger people. Johnson, who said he's glad to have the cards, put total trade at "call it seven to 10 per cent."

Del Moergely, director of Client Services for Credit Counseling Centers, Inc., a non-profit debt management company, said that "about three per cent of credit card holders can't SURPRISINGLY, Moergely said impulse buying isn't the big problem.

"You can't say the credit card caused the crumbling." Moergely says, "but it certainly led to it."

"They've overbought and not made any plans for that perennial rainy day," is how Moergely explains how most people fall into deep debt.

"They'll spend the whole check, come to depend on that overtime, the 48-hour week, and then all of a sudden they don't have that anymore and they don't have anything to fall back on."

Moergely says young people in their early 20s and even teen-agers seem, as a group, more financially responsible than those who are 10 to 15 years older.

"The younger generation is taking a more realistic approach at having a little more cash before they purchase something." Moergely says.

So, if you handle it right, the credit card is a convenience.

and thrill that lay ahead.

By W. W. EDGAR Few holidays have brought back more fond memories for The Stroller than the Fourth of July

And each year as the day comes along he is reminded of one of the wildest and scariest moments of his life, a few wild seconds in which he thought the world was coming to an end or that we were caught in the midst of another World War.

It happened on July 4, 1956 when, by force of circumstance he was in Honolulu and, up to those few moments, had been enjoying one of the finest vacations of his life.

At the time he was serving as execu-· tive secretery of the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan and was representing them at the annual national con-

FOR SEVERAL DAYS we had been wined and dined by the Hawaiian proprietors who figured it was a great compliment to them when were named hosts of the annual get-togeth-

For several days we had seen the beauty of the islands, the thrilling sights at Waikiki Beach and the surf rolling in on the sand beaches of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel-- a nightly sight that was a joy to watch.

Then came one of the real treats. As guests of the U.S. Navy, we were given a special tour of Pearl Harbor that included a lecture by one of the well ribboned officers. He explained how the Japs had studied the harbor from the mountains and how they schemed to get a complete layout of the harbor and the location of every beach. Many screamed. Many were too scared to talk-it was a moment the battered hull of the USS Utah that of fear that never will be forgotten.

It wasn't until several hours later that we learned the bombers were from our own Pacific fleet. They were paying tribute to those who had made the supreme sacrifice at Pearl Harbor by flying low over Punch Bowl cemetery where they are buried.

They didn't drop bombs. They tossed bouquets of flowers, hoping they would hit their mark. They did. It was a fine tribute-but at that time of the morning it seemed most unusual and left all of us with the memory of a few moments that can never be forgotten.

July Fourth always has been The Stroller's favorite holiday since the days of his youth when he was taken to Independence Hall in Philadelphia by his elderly aunt who had him place his hand on the Liberty Bell and say a prayer for our country.

Through the years he has spent the day in places like Bar Harbor, Maine; Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies, Havana, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Yosemite Valley and many of the nation's top resort areas.

They all have left memories, but none like the memory of that morning in Honolulu when the U.S. bombers paid tribute to their departed brothers in service.

You wouldn't have forgotten it either, had you been there and been awakened by the roar of the bombers close by Pearl Harbor

Our neglected children- Part I

Paniels Pen 1888

Much has been written about neglected children, but most often the topic has been centered on child abuse or "underprivileged" children.

But we must learn to accept the fact that all children in America, to a degree, are neglected and underprivileged. As a society, we haven't treated youth as the valuable resource it is and have assumed that families, somehow, can managed by

As a result, we have left the responsibility of child-rearing almost entirely with the family and have never seriously considered whether the family is capable of handling this awesome task alone. By intuition, and tradition, we leave the family to fend for itself-inspite of the drastic changes which have occured in our society since World War II.

We need to re-assess our attitudes about families, about children, and about the role each of us should assume. I happen to think this need is so important that a series of columns will be devoted to the discussion. Hopefully, by the time the series ends, we all will have given some serious thought to children in America today and family life.

LAST YEAR my thinking was changed after reading "Two Worlds of Childhood: U.S. and U.S.S.R" (1970) by Une Bronfenbrenner.

Bronfenbrenner is a professor of human development and psychology who earned his Ph.D. at University of Michigan and taught at U-M until moving to Cornell University in 1948. He was instrumental in developing the Project Head Start program and has made several trips as a visiting scholar to Russia and the People's Repub-

The problems of the American family was recently addressed by Vice-President Walter Mondale who cited these pressures

• Juvenile crime is on the rise.

•The illegitimacy rate has more than doubled in the past 30 years. Suicide is a leading cause of death among young people.

· At least as many as 200,000 youngsters are physically abused each year by parents or guardians.

These figures suggest that the family as an institution is in trouble. What we must accept, if we aren't already aware of the fact, is that many of the pressures bearing down on parents are often beyond their control. This Mondale recognizes when he

"For all inherent strengths, families are also deeply affected by changing social patterns and conditions-by the increasing urbanization of our society, by increased mobility, by changes in patterns of work, by economic conditions, by the mass media, and by government policies.

"We need to begin examining the impact of these changing social conditions on family life. We need to begin shaping a society that doesn't just tolerate family life, or pretend to be neutral toward it. We need instead a society that nourishes it and helps it grow strong.

"We can't afford any national crusades to 'save the family.' We don't need or want any new bureaucracies intruding on the privady of family life. This administration understands that we are a diverse and pluralistic nation, that there is no single, ideal model for family; and that government must not try to impose one.

WE HAVE HEARD much of the decline, since World War II, of the extended family and its replacement by the "nuclear family" of only the mother, father and children. Today, however, even the nuclear family is in decline,

More than 17 per cent of all children in America today are living in single-parent families. That single parent usually is a woman who works fulltime. And this trend is growing because, despite birth control, the number of unwed mothers is growing dramatically

Inspite of our wealth, America is the only developed nation in the world which doesn't have a national program of child care for working parents, minimum family income, and health care for families with young children. That is neglect, intentional or otherwise Another trend is the increasing number of children coming home to empty houses. "If there's any reliable predictor of trouble it begins with children coming home to an empty house." writes Bronfenbrenner. whether the problem is reading difficulties, truancy, dropping out, drug addiction or childhood depression.

"Hardly a school in the country doesn't have a problem with vandalism and violence. Think what that suggests. A major institution, charged with preparing the next generation for adult life, is a focus of aimless de-

MORE WOMEN are working now then in past years.

The problem, as Bronfenbrenner points out, is "we keep the old male work rules, nine to five, 40 hours a week, and if there's overtime you do it or you don't keep your job. Neither man nor women can combine working and parenting under those rules. We need new ways of working."

The responsibility of employers will be looked at again in a future column of this series. The point to be understood now is that it's gross over-simplification to blame parents for problems their children are being faced with. In weeks ahead we will look at schools, business, neighborhoods, urbanization, community planning, small town life, television, self-responsibility, and the critical issue of age segregation

It was an interesting conversation

A young lady of 18 was talking with a learned man. He had asked her about her career, what line of training she wanted to pursue She said: "Well, you know, sir, I would like to become a psychologist. but it requires so much time in school that I am afraid I would be too old.' The wise man sat in silence for a few moments and then asked: "Young lady, how long would it take you to become a psychologist?" She answered: "Probably seven years." "How old would you be then?" was the next question. "I would probably be about 25.

Then the man asked, "How old will you be in seven years if you don't become a psychologist?" Of course, her answer was, "Well, I guess I would be about 25.

A PROVOCATIVE THOUGHT.

How many people have cheated themselves? How many have relinquished their desires and forfeited their dreams because the voices of procrastination and failure whispered negative thoughts into their ears?

This is where many fall into the trap of growing old when they are, in reality, still young. They grow prematurely old because, in their early years, they start planning to grow old. If you were to drop your left arm to

Love spells from Gundella

Speak the word "witchcraft." mention magic and spell-casting, and almost at once the thoughts of most people will turn to love.

Nearly everyone seems to link love and magic. This is not hard to understand, for when one is in love, he feels as if he were enchanted. We refer to those we love as "charming." "bewitching," or "enchanting.

Wherever I go, as soon as it is known that I am a witch, someone asks me for a love spell.

Seniors' clubs end busy season

The Canton Township Senior Citizens Club has had a busy month filled with activities, games, prizes and, most importantly, it was shared with good friends.,

At their June 3 meeting, members celebrated the birthdays of Lester Foose, Leo Hoffman and Gertrude Koppen. The guests of honor received some gentle teasing on the subject of age. But when the refreshments were served, the conversation furned to more delicious topics.

Fathers Day was recognized by the seniors during a special program June 17. Some of the gentlemen present received special awards, a few of which were rather unusual.

George Updike was congratulated for having raised the largest family. The Updikes have five children. Claude Truesdell received a round of applause when it was announced he had '16 grandchildren. Lester Foose claimed a prize for having the youngest child.

A bit more unusual were the honors received by Robert Sumption, whohad the shiniest shoes, Harold Beattie with the most gray hair, and John Lustria who sported the largest musday of fun in the sun. Many rented paddle boats and exercised their way around the lake while others enjoyed a leisurely lunch with a shaded view of the water and their more venturesome companions.

Later in the day, they enjoyed an interesting walk through the park's nature center. It was a weary but happy crew that wandered back to Canton that night.

They were home long enough to recharge their batteries for the June 24 Canton Senior Citizen Club pienic. A record number gathered at the shelter at Wilcox Lake, north of Plymouth,to partake in all the good food and friendship.

Debbie Smith, of the Canton Township Recreation Department, organized an enthusiastic program of games for everyone as well as special recognition for members celebrating birthdays in July.

The picnic festivities marked the close of the 1976-77 season. They will recess until September, using the interim period to recuperate and energize for the fall program.

The Royal Holiday senior Citizens have been equally busy winding up their season. A tour of the Dow Chemical plant and a picnic at Wilcox Lake were part of the June activities.

Fred Crissey has been named the Observerland coach of the year for boys baseball. Crissey led his Plymouth Canton team to a sparkling 23-3 record and a third-straight Western Six League title this spring. (Staff photo by Dennis O'Connor)

Crissey named area's top coach

Plymouth Canton's Fred Crissey has been selected as the Observerland baseball coach-of-the-year. It marks the second time in the past three years that the Canton mentor has won this honor

Crissey is the original baseball coach at Canton where he has compiled a phenominal overall record of 97-24 during the school's short fouryear history

Another mark of Crissey's successes is shown in the consistency of his program. Canton teams have won 20 or more games in two of his four years and won three consecutive Western-Six League titles.

This year's Canton squad compiled an overall mark of 23-3 which included a league championship record of 9-1. Canton also won the four-team Windsor Assumption tournament and advanced the district finals before bowing to Wayne.

In 1975, when Crissey was last named coach-of-the-year in the Observerland area, his team finished the year with the number-one ranking in the state high school polls.

This season, the Chiefs were members of the elite top 10 for two of the three times the ratings were compiled. Canton ended the season with a fourth place rating.

OTHER COACHES to win Observer honors for their respective spring sports include Fred Price. Livonia Churchill boys track coach; John Soave, Livonia Stevenson softball coach; John Dunn, Bishop Borgess girls track coach.

Price led the Chargers to its sixth consecutive Western Six League title and a second-straight Observerland Soave led the Spartans to a 17-3 record which included a share of the Inter-Lakes Conference. All three Stevenson setbacks were by single runs.

Dunn's Borgess runners placed fifth in the state meet which was the top finish of all the Observerland squads.

THE SELECTION of Crissey as coach-of-the-year marked the fourth time this season that a Centennial Park coach has been selected for such an honor. Crissey is the only member of Plymouth Canton staff to gain the Lion & the Sword, 25-24. Meijer scored the winning run in the sixth inning as the game was called because of the time limit. Dave Bartig scored the winning run.

The Meijer hitting attack was paced by the keystone combination of Tom LaPorte and Joe Shanabrook, who registered four hits each.

The power from the Sword team almost captured the victory. Terry Brozek, Ryland Ott and Ray Horrey all

The Merchants squeaked by Chapman Realty, 16-15, in one of the most exciting games of the week.

The Merchants scored 10 runs in the fifth inning to secure the victory. The merchant attack was led by Tom Hebel who hit for the cycle by smacking a home run, single, double and triple. Mike Skrowski also banged out two singles and a double for the win-

It long has been the creed in the bowling leagues to beware of a substitute who complains of a bad back. More often than not, he steals the

It happened again last Wednesday night when Bob Goike, Jr. paced the all-star mixed league at Crown Lanes.

In the role of a substitute, he found the range early and posted a 268 game in a 726 series. He had to share single game honors with Murray Schroeder, who also had a 268. Schroeder faltered after that game and Goike had no trouble leading the field in the series.

One other bowler broke the 700 barrier, as Roger Thorpe came through with a 704 Dick Witty was right behind with a 697. On the women's side Jan Marciniak, one of the rising young stars, showed the way with a high single of 233, but vielded series honors to Dorothy Jenkins who fired a Goike's big series enabled Gerri Ritter's Woodland team to register a 2497. It was the high series in the league thus far.

AS SO OFTEN HAPPENS, the pacemaker in Fred Wolf's Ladies Singles Classic who holds top place for weeks was nosed out near the finish Shiela Shields is the latest victim.

She held the lead for the past month with an 1107 series, but was edged out this week by Loretta Johnson, who came through with an 1115 count just as the curtain came down.

THE 700 BARRIER again has been broken at Wonderland Lanes.

Willette ends asst. coaching

Rob Willette. 1973 graduate of Plymouth High School, just completed his second sports season of student coaching at the Centennial Education-

Willette, who worked this past semester as a student teacher in history under Scott Beaman, initially assisted Plymouth Canton junior varsity basketball coach Wayne Weimer in the

In the spring. Willette served as the first base coach of the Plymouth Salem varsity baseball squad under the direction of Brian Gilles.

Throughout the regular league season, it has been broken at Wonderland more than at any other establishment in the western suburbs.

The latest to do the trick is Fred Dallas. Bowling in the summer league, he put together games of 232, 247 and 233 for a 712.

Despite that he had to yield singlegame honors to Greg Cohen, who rolled a 267, but slipped along the way and had to be content with a 606

This is the first time that an effort of this kind has been made at any of the festivals and it marks another forward step in promoting the game.

ANSWERING THE MAIL. The first Detroit bowler ever to gain prominence as a three-stepper was Joe Scribner, who held the national singles match game title close to a half century ago

Another was Lee Jouglard who bowled with the Stroh team and set the ABC singles record with a 775.

Scribner did most of his bowling at the now defunct Palace Recreation on Gratiot Avenue when it was the show place of the country without a pillar

The first automatic pin setters in the country were installed by AMF in the Bowl-O-Drome in Mt. Clemens. It was back in 1950 and the Mt. Clemens site was selected because it was a small town in the mid-west that was accessible.

One of the most popular bowling establishments in the 1935-40 era was the present Meeting House owned by the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. There were eight lanes available. They later were moved to Lofy's Restaurant on Ann Arbor Road and Mill Street and finally disposed of before fire destroyed the building.

Adray rips Sálem

A two-run homer by Mike Thomas in the sixth inning last week carried Adray Appliance to a 5-3 Adray Connie Mack baseball win over Salem.

Thomas, in fact, put on a one-man show for the winners. In addition to his clout over the left field fence, he singled in another run and was awarded the pitching victory after relieving starter Corey Drew in the fifth

Adray bunched four of its nine hits in the fourth inning for its three other

Mark Ward doubled, Thomas singled, Drew singled and Kevin Jann singled to count one run and leave the bases loaded. A wild throw on a pickoff attempt enabled both Thomas and Drew to score Mitch Symonds knocked in Salem's first run with an opening-inning groundout. Bob Waite pushed Salem's second run across the plate with a groundout and Bob Smith provided the third run with a triple.

Doug Holloway, who entered the game for Salem in a relief-pitching role, was tagged with the loss.

Griffin grounds King

Griffin Sport Shop broke open what had been a close Adray League baseball game last week by erupting for five runs in the fifth inning and went on to defeat Burger King, 7-2.

Singles by Mark Galasso, Tim Murphy, Rob Rose and Jim Snyder accounted for Griffin's first two runs of the rally; a three-run homer by Ken Scarpace finished the job.

Ron Griffin and Ron Colone each collected an RBI for Griffin in the second inning. Calvin Beer knocked in both of Burger King's runs, the first with a solo home run in the first inning and the second with a single in the seventh.

Mark Perkins, who hurled the first six innings, picked up the win. Paul Chatlin was the losing pitcher: Rose, Snyder and Scarpace all rapped two hits apiece for the winners. Beer had two for Burger King.

Loiselle announces for the commission

Ronald G. Loiselle, 33 of 503 Ann Street, has announced his candidacy for the Plymouth City Commission in the August primary.

Loiselle is one of 11 candidates whose names will appear on the primary ballot in August. Three will be eliminated with the remaining eight running in the November general election for four seats—three four-year terms and a one-year term.

Loiselle says he is a candidate "because Plymouth needs growth and development to improve the tax base and ease the burden on residents. "If our community does not change

"If our community does not change with the changing needs of the community, we will stagnate. But in our quest for improvement, we must not destroy the charm and beauty of our unique city."

"I can offer a fresh new approach to the many issues facing our community." Loiselle adds. "My valuable business experience and training plus my interest in the community would make me an excellent city commissioner."

Loiselle graduated in 1968 from Wayne State University with a BS degree in accounting and a minor in economics. He then served two years in the U.S. Army.

Loiselle is part owner and general manager of Jerry's Bicycles on Ann Arbor Road where he has worked for the past 20 years.

Loiselle and wife Fran, a substitute music teacher in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, have three sons, four-year-old twins and a 1½-year-old.

Now your monthly payment can be lower, even if the cost of your new car is higher.

Most new cars cost more this year than last year.

Then how can your monthly payments on your auto loan be less than they used to be?

Because, now you can take advantage of an extended time period to repay your auto loan at Detroit Bank & Trust.

Your DETROIT BANK-er will be glad to finance your new car for a longer period of time than previously offered. And the longer you take to repay it, the lower your monthly payments become.

We want your auto loan payments to fit into your monthly budget. The total loan will cost you slightly more, but you should find it easier to handle the payments.

When it comes time for your next auto loan, talk to any DETROIT BANK-er about our lower auto loan payments. Take a little longer to repay your auto loan and make it a little easier on your budget.
