Canton discovers legal talk isn't cheap

By DARLENE STINSON

Going to an attorney is no cheap venture.

Canton officials, who paid attorneys $15,097 for services rendered during the first six months of 1977, are the first to admit that. Another $3,100 was paid during 1977 for legal services rendered in 1976.

The bills cover a variety of lawsuits begun by the previous administration as well as telephone calls and personal visits made by attorneys to township officials about official business.

Attorney William Sempliner and other attorneys in the firm of Sempliner, Thomas and Guth received $5,286 for services rendered during the first half of the year. The attorneys, who charge $45 an hour for their services, base their bill on the hours and minutes each telephone call, personal consultation and research session takes.

Bert Burgoyne and other members of the Travis, Warren, Nayer & Burgoyne law firm received $10,773. According to Township Deputy Treasurer Mike Gorman, the firm charges an average of $75 an hour, depending on which attorney renders the service.

CANTON SUPERVISOR Harold Stein hopes Canton's attorney bills during the last half of 1977 will be less. The supervisor says he has not initiated any new court battles at the township's expense since he took office last November.

During last fall's campaign for the supervisor's seat, Stein had criticized former Supervisor Robert Greenstein and the previous administration for initiating needless litigation over zoning and urban blight. At the time, Stein said Canton's attorney bills were far too high.

Last year, the township paid attorneys almost $25,000. The township paid even a larger amount in 1976, when legal bills totaling more than $35,000 were made out.

"A lot of litigation we paid for this year was pending from before," Stein explained. "There still is some litigation left over from the Greenstein administration that really isn't settled yet."

A court battle with Slavik Co. over the company's right to construct an apartment complex near Windsor Park Subdivision is one legal battle initiated by Greenstein, the supervisor noted. Homeowners who live next to the proposed apartment complex want lesser density and individually-owned condominiums instead of rented apartments.

Although Burgoyne this year advised dropping the lawsuit against Slavik, the township board, Stein included, voted to continue the lawsuit and contract the attorney firm of Reading & Etter to handle the case after the homeowners demanded a "more acceptable" compromise. The township paid Reading & Etter $1,161 for research on the Slavik case on June 29. In addition, Burgoyne was paid $2,325 for earlier services on the Slavik case. A $4,632 check made out to Burgoyne on April 6 covered "miscellaneous matters," including the Slavik case. The case is still pending.

The $4,362 check made out to Burgoyne covered another lawsuit initiated by Greenstein—Canton vs. Boron Oil Co. The township had hoped to stymie Boron's plans to construct a gasoline station without a full-service garage on Michigan near Lotz.

After paying the bill, the township board voted to drop the lawsuit on Burgoyne's advice.

"The majority of cases initiated by the previous administration were losers," Stein maintains.

MANY OF THE ATTORNEY bills paid so far this year cover consultation fees.

The township board recently approved a $720 payment to Burgoyne for an opinion on the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) lawsuit.

Although Stein had promised to personally pay for the ZBA lawsuit in hopes that one of the township's two ZBAs would receive legal sanction, a member of the ZBA ousted by Stein had asked the township to pay his defense fees.

The township board asked Burgoyne if Canton were legally obligated to finance the fees for the original ZBAs legal defense. Burgoyne researched the matter and said no.

"I'm paying my bill. They're paying theirs," said Stein. The supervisor said he has not received his bill for the ZBA case in which Wayne Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald declared both ZBAs invalid.

The township also paid attorney Michael H. Feiler $977 for his research on the legality of growth control techniques and for a meeting he had with the township's growth control committee.

WHAT'S INSIDE CANTON

An old-fashioned saloon was the theme of the Plymouth Theatre Guild's float in Monday's Fourth of July parade. If you missed the parade, you can do a lot of catching up by walking through the pages of today's Observer on 2A, 3A, 8A, 9A, 10A.

There were plenty of garbage cans filled Monday in Plymouth-Canton at numerous backyard picnics, at the chicken barbecue of the Mayflower VFW Post, and the ox roast of the Knights of Columbus. For a pictorial report on the latter two, see Page 5A.

Budget jumps with windfall

Canton's 1977 budget was increased by more than 20 per cent in an annual budget revision Tuesday night.

Township board members unanimously voted to add $463,581 to the general operating budget in a move that will balance revenues and expenditures at $2,216,448, up from the original budget figure of $1,752,867.

The increase reflected added income from a number of sources.

THE BULK of the increase is an unexpected $350,000 in additional state revenues, according to deputy treasurer Mike Gorman.

The additional funds will come Canton's way because of a state attorney general's opinion last April that gives Michigan communities more state funds on the basis of mid-decade censuses.

Canton conducted its own mid-decade census in 1975 and found that its population had increased from more than 11,000 in 1970 to almost 26,000 in 1975.

The revised budget reflects other unexpected revenues, including $45,000 in additional CETA funds; an additional $56,0000 from building, electric, heating, plumbing and refrigeration permits; and $10,000 in recreation fees.

THE BOARD decided to spend the new money by, among other revisions, adding $40,000 to the original $37,400 itemized line item for a $40,000 study on the feasiblity of retaining Canton's agricultural land.

Officials added $57,000 to the original law enforcement budget of $56,000 to eliminate an expected deficit of $16,000, provide for a police chief's salary and allow a minimal expansion of the police department.

Other expenditure increases include an additional $38,000 for the building and grounds department to finance the salaries of four additional employes; $53,000 for the fire department to finance additional salaries; $39,000 for additional building department salaries; and an additional $25,000 in capital outlay funds to purchase additional township automobiles and other items.

Sluggers on parade

What's the Fourth of July without parades and baseball? Fortunately, no one had the opportunity to find out last weekend. Developer buys park acreage

Canton officials Tuesday agreed to sell a strip of land originally proposed for recreational use and turn proceeds from the sale into further development of Griffin Park.

Proceeds from the sale of a 10-acre, 165-foot-wide strip of land between Canton Center and Sheldon north of the Detroit Edison corridor will net the township $72,660 plus interest.

Developer Richard Lewiston of Practical Homebuilders plans to construct single-family homes on the land as an addition to the proposed Embassy Square Subdivision.

Lewiston has agreed to purchase the land under a one-year land contract with 25 per cent down and 7½ per cent interest.

FRANK McMURRAY, chairman of the township's recreation commission, told township board members that the recreation commission endorses the sale.

The land was purchased by the township for $4,500 an acre a few years ago as a proposed addition to the already-developed Griffin Park, located on the east side of Canton Center near Cherry Hill.

Original plans for the land called for 45 parking spaces and access drives to Griffin Park from Canton Center and Sheldon.

But, according to McMurray, recreation commission members feel that trees and Detroit Edison towers between the 10-acre strip and Griffin Park would impede walking between the two areas.

McMurray urged township officials to sell the land and use the proceeds for further development of Griffin Park. He did not propose ways to use the money.

The five township board members at Tuesday's meeting unanimously approved Supervisor Harold Stein's motion to sell the land. Trustees Brian Schwall and Lynne Goldsmith were absent.

After the meeting, Trustee Eugene Daley noted one advantage of selling the land.

"If we didn't sell the land and Lewiston's subdivision backed up to our land, residents would want us to share the cost of fences between their backyards and the park," he said. "Now their yards will back up to Detroit Edison land, and Detroit Edison will have to share the cost."

Canton debates golf course buy

Canton officials are considering buying the privately-owned Fellows Creek Golf Course, located on Lotz between Michigan and Palmer.

Board members Tuesday night admitted negotiating with the owner of the 18-hole golf course, after resident Noel Culbert plied the board with questions about the secret negotiations.

Supervisor Harold Stein was visibly disturbed.

"Nothing has been consummated yet," the supervisor told Culbert. "The negotiations that are taking place are a sort of gentleman's agreement at the owner's request not to discuss a price publicly. These things will go before the public if we decide to purchase the golf course."

Clerk John Flodin said that negotiations with the owner, Whitney Ballantine, went unpublicized because of Ballantine's fear that his employees would quit if they learn of the talks.

Board members have met in private session to discuss the possible purchase.

Backhoe digs too deep

Gas line rupture forces evacuation

About 200 Plymouth Township families were evacuated from their homes early Tuesday morning when a steam shovel dug too deeply and pierced a natural gas line at Wilcox and Schoolcraft Roads.

Although no one was injured by the construction mishap, it brought an abrupt end to the holiday weekend for residents within a 2,000-yard radius of the broken Consumers Power Co. main.

"Fortunately we got everybody a safe distance away, and there was no explosion. But with main line breaks you never can tell what will happen," said Plymouth Township Fire Chief Jim Gignac.

The break in the line occurred at 6:45 a.m., when "an over-zealous" steam shovel operator, who was working on the M-14 expressway, let his bucket strike too deeply into the ground.

According to Gignac, the township fire station on Wilcox Road was immediately alerted. They, in turn, notified the Wayne County Sheriffs, the Michigan State Police and the Plymouth and Livonia police departments.

WHILE OFFICERS BLOCKED access to the vicinity and roused slumbering families, Consumers Power Co. shut off the gas flow to all homes from Eckles to Sheldon roads.

According to Mike Blomback, a spokesman for Consumers, the line had been clearly marked some time ago.

"It was just an accident. With all the construction that is going on, things of this nature will happen from time to time."

The major danger had passed by 9 a.m., Blomback said, and only 18 homes in the area remained without gas as repair crews monitored the break.

"Aside from inconvenience to our customers, there were no serious problems. We'll keep our eye on it for some time, but we're delighted we were able to get a handle on everything so quickly."

Construction workers caused the evacuation of many Plymouth Township residents Monday morning when a cable-operated backhoe steam shovel severed a natural gas line. Escaping gas shot up in the air and some homes were left without gas for a short period.

Fourth of July auto accident

Drivers of two cars were ticketed by Wayne County Sheriff officers July 4th afternoon after ambulances took four people to the hospital following an accident on Michigan Ave. and the I-475 exit ramp.

Sheriff's officers report that Merle L. Smito of 36805 Farragut, Westland, failed to yield to traffic when he entered Michigan Ave. from the exit ramp. Smith's car was hit on the left front fender by another car. He was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way to traffic.

Daniel T. Dennis of 44503 Ashley Court, Canton, was ticketed for careless driving by sheriff deputies who said Dennis was traveling at an excessive speed. The impact of the crash totaled both cars and sent a motor flying down the street.

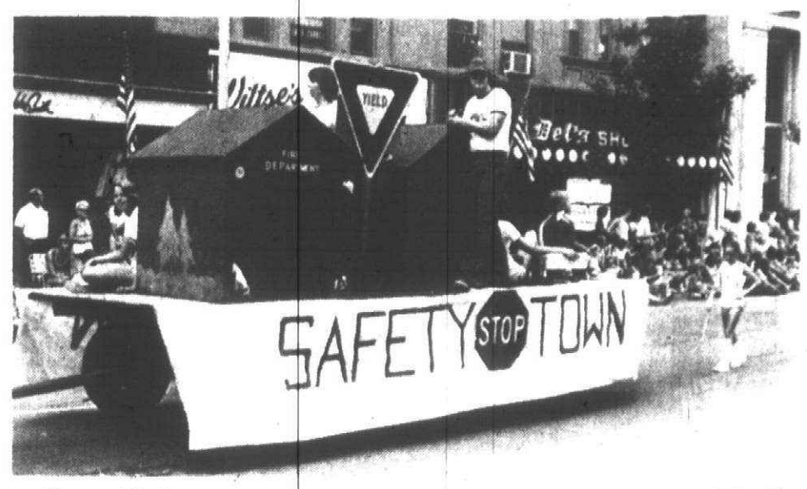

Four persons—the driver and passenger in each car—were transported to Wayne County General Hospital at 3:38 p.m. by Canton Rescue Squad. The four were treated for minor injuries and released the same day.

Trustees' pay still undecided

At the present rate, Canton trustees may never receive a wage increase.

An attorney's opinion, expected to clear confusion on the type of wages trustees can receive, only created more confusion at the township board table Tuesday night, leading the board to table a wage increase for the third meeting in a row.

At last week's meeting, board members tabled the raise to give attorney William Sempliner an opportunity to submit an opinion on the matter.

Although the township's compensation commission had recommended an annual salary for trustees to replace their current per-meeting pay of $40, trustees doubted whether a annual salary would be legal under the township's charter.

Sempliner's opinion was expected to clear that confusion, but it failed to answer questions about salaries Tuesday night.

"Our charter provides that a trustee may receive in addition to the other emoluments provided by law a sum for meetings actually attended by him," Sempliner said in his opinion. "The salaried officers, i.e. supervisor, clerk and treasurer, do not receive this per diem compensation."

TOWNSHIP BOARD members were still confused.

"The way I understand it is that trustees can't get a salary," said Trustee Eugene Daley.

But Trustee Robert Myers, who last week unsuccessfully introduced a motion to double trustees' per-meeting pay, apparently interpreted Sempliner's opinion differently.

He moved to maintain trustees' current per-meeting pay rate of $40 but add an annual salary of $1,500 to trustee's incomes. Like the motion over wages that he made last week, Myers' motion died for lack of support.

Not knowing what other action to take, Clerk John Flodin won unanimous support for his motion table the matter until Sempliner's opinion is clarified and the full township board is present.

Bookworms have a heavy diet

By PATRICK TOUHEY

You can't tell a book by its cover. At least an old chestnut would have it that way. But can you tell a town by its books?

Beth Simaescu thinks so. Mrs. Simaescu is the head librarian at Dunning-Hough Library. And in her opinion, the Plymouth community is highly literate with a wide variety of reading interests.

"I can't put my finger on what it is about Plymouth, but it is one of the most well-read communities I have ever been in. The people here keep up with books like nothing I've ever seen."

Right now, Mrs. Simaescu said, the reading interests in Plymouth and Canton run a close parallel to the national interest. There are waiting lists for all the books on the New York Times Best Seller list.

Of those, however, some are more sought after than others. Leon Ursis' "Trinity" is one of the most popular. If you want to take it out today, chances are you won't be able to. At least 11 people are ahead of you.

"And that's not too bad," Mrs. Simaescu commented. "At one time more than 30 were signed up for the book. In cases like that we have a hard time keeping up. Usually we buy two or three copies."

OTHER FICTION BOOKS Plymouth community readers are anxious to get their hands on include: John Cheever's "Falconer"; Robert Ludlum's "Chancellor Manuscript"; and "Condominium" by John MacDonald. All of them are current Times best sellers.

The most demanded non-fiction best seller is Brooke Hayward's "Haywire," a biography.

Although the Times Sunday book section is the best indicator of what the hot books will be, according to Mrs. Simaescu, TV and radio also are influential in shaping tastes.

"If I'm watching a talk show, and some author comes on to plug his or her book, I usually figure that there'll be a lot of requests for it."

These advance plugs for forthcoming books, though, have caused the library staff some problems. "People come in the next day and want the book," she laughed, "and we have to tell them that it hasn't been published yet."

Aside from the hard-backs, a number of paperback books have long waiting lists. Presently the two top ones are the Bicentennial American Series by John Jakes and Kathleen Woodwiss' "Shanna."

Ocassionaly a television series will generate a lot of requests for a particular book, Mrs. Simaescu said. When the continuing saga of "Rich Man, Poor Man" was presented weekly, the demand for the book was very high.

This year it's Taylor Caldwell's "Testimony of Two Men."

When asked what effect TV had on "Roots," the librarian just shook her head. "I don't even want to talk about that one. Let's just say it was one of the all-time biggies."

BUT WHAT ABOUT BOOKS which aren't on the best seller list? Does the Plymouth community have any special tastes in reading?

"Definitely." Mrs. Simaescu said. "This is an area full of people who are interested in antiques, and many of them not only buy the furniture but do their own antiquing. So any book having antiques as a subject matter is always very popular."

Besides books on antiques, all manner of "self-help" books leave the library shelves as fast as they are put up. These include books on "how to" develop a better personality, have a better marriage, or loose weight.

6 in the race for police chief

Six applicants will be given an oral interview for the open job of Canton Township police chief starting at 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 12.

The number of applications has been narrowed down from the original 30 who applied for the $21,000 fulltime post.

Still in the running are Clattie M. Berryman of Detroit; Elliot D. Fredland of Ann Arbor; Robert Hislop of Southfield; Walter D. McGregor, former police chief of Wayne; Harold Meldrum, and James Spickard of Saline.

Current commander of Canton's part-time police department, Carl Silvers, has withdrawn his application for the chief job.

According to John Flodin, head of Canton's police commission, the six finalists for the job received the highest scores in the written test administered by the Michigan Municipal League of Ann Arbor. Although the MML is conducting the testing, the Canton Township Board will make final selection.

Police chiefs back 2 bills

The Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police recently adopted a resolution supporting State Rep. Paul A. Rosenbaum's (D-Battle Creek) legislative efforts to crack down on big time heroin dealers in Michigan.

The Association commended Rosenbaum for introducing legislation "dealing with the threat that large heroin dealers pose to the people, and particularly to the children, of the State of Michigan by providing for mandatory sentences, electronic interception and plea bargaining."

Rosenbaum also sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment which would deny bail to "career criminals."

The Chessie Steam Special

A chance to relive yesteryear

Plymouth-Canton residents can "relive yesteryear for a day" by hopping aboard the Chessie Steam Special this month for a passenger train trip to Grand Ledge, Clio or Grand Rapids.

As part of its 150th anniversary, the Baltimore & Ohio (B&O) Railroad—now part of the Chessie System—is scheduling special passenger runs of Chessie No. 2101. The 18-car train is powered by a steam engine, the type in use until 1950s when it was replaced by the diesel engine.

Fares for the trips vary from $20 for adults and $18 for children to $18 for adults to $16 for children, depending on which tour is taken.

THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY here will be Saturday, July 9, when the Chessie 2101 will roll into Plymouth at 8:50 a.m. from the Oak Yard in Detroit.

From Plymouth, the Chessie Steam Special will travel to Lansing and then to Grand Ledge at 12:25 p.m. before heading back for Plymouth for a 5:30 p.m. arrival. Fare is $20 for adults, $18 for children with youngsters four and under seated free.

On Sunday, July 10, and Saturday, July 16, the Chessie Special will arrive in Plymouth at 8:50 a.m. and then head north for Clio and Hoyt, arriving back in town at 4:15 p.m. Fares are the same as the Grand Ledge trip.

The final tour is Sunday, July 17, when Chessie 2101 leaves Plymouth at 11:50 a.m. for a one-way trip to Grand Rapids with a stop inbetween in Lansing. Arrival time in Grand Rapids is scheduled for 4:45 p.m. The fare is $18 for adults and $16 for children.

A charter bus has been arranged at Grand Rapids to return Chessie passengers to Detroit. The total cost of the Chessie Steam Special and the bus tickets will be $30.

On all trips, anyone wanting to ride inthe parlor or observation car may do so for $50 each.

THE CHESSIE Special is co-sponsored by the Michigan Railroad Club and Friends of Engine 1223.

Tickets may be obtained locally from Beitner Jewelry, 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, or by mail order from the Michigan Railroad Club, Post Office Box 586, Dearborn 48121 or from Friends of Engine 1223, 19205 Gainsborough Road, Detroit 48223, telephone 835-1963. Fred Beitner is a member of the Michigan Railroad Club.

Tours will operate rain or shine and all tickets are non-refundable. Bring your camera because there will be photo run-bys on all trips.

Special group discounts are offered to clubs, businesses, friends or neighbors wanting to go as a group. Groups of 30 or more may receive a discount of $1 off each ticket.

Light food service will be available on the train.

THE CHESSIE SPECIAL, pulled by a 31-year-old locomotive which also pulled the American Freedom Train throughout the nation during the bicentennial year, carries 26 tons of coal and 35,000 gollons of water. It must stop to refuel every 160 miles. Some of the individual cars on the train ate 50 years and older.

The first trip of the train out of Michigan was last Saturday when a one-way tour was taken from Cleveland through Toledo to Detroit.

When the Burton team plays, you win.

The entire Detroit metropolitan area is served by a number of Burton teams. Each is a self contained unit with a single purpose: to process orders for title insurance promptly and efficiently.

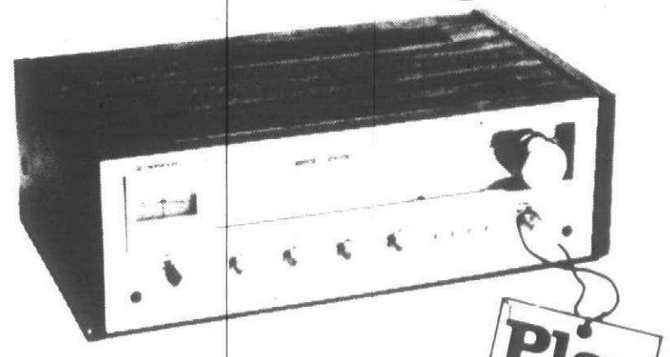

Each team is responsible for orders for its own customers and can answer their questions at any time. Because each team always serves the same accounts, these Burton professionals take a personal interest.

There's something about driving a Gremlin that just puts you in a good mood. It's fun!

AMC Gremlin

For some folks, it's the way Gremlin zips in and out of city traffic and cruises on the highway with ease. For others it's the thrill of shifting the silk-smooth 4-speed transmission — the gearbox Car and Driver said "would do any sports car justice." Still others just get a kick out of scooting around in a neat looking car, sitting on their optional Levi's seats.

We gave Gremlin a perky new optional 4-cylinder engine and 4-speed transmission to give you a good blend of economy and performance.* And we back Gremlin with our exclusive Buyer Protection Plan, the only full warranty that covers everything on your car (except tires) for 12 months/12,000 miles.

But while the individual kicks may vary, the collective feeling of Gremlin owners is pretty much the same. It's just one heck of a fun car to drive. And that makes us feel good at AMC, too, because we built Gremlin to be that way.

So, if you're not driving a Gremlin, don't miss out on the fun any longer. Head for your nearby AMC Dealer soon. He's ready to offer you a deal that'll put you in a mighty good mood.

It's designed wider than most small cars — so it's unusually roomy inside. In fact, Gremlin has more front and rear hip and shoulder room than any other domestic subcompact. And that wider track makes for a smooth, stable ride, too.

*Based on estimated E.P.A. test results of 33 mpg on the highway cycle, 21 mpg in the city cycle and 25 mpg combined for the optional 4-cylinder engine with 4-speed transmission. Your actual mileage will vary depending on your car's condition and optional equipment and how and where you drive.

Greetings from overseas

British Consulate Allen H.S. Linton brought greetings from Plymouth, England, for spectators watching the parade Monday. In his message, Linton commented: "The relationship between the cities of Plymouth each side of the Atlantic typifies the deep friendship and understanding between our two nations and this occasion, when you celebrate the anniversary of your own independence 201 years ago, also is an apt moment to renew to you the assurance of the great regard and esteem in which we hold the United States and, in particular, the sister city of Plymouth.

"For the United Kingdom, this is a year for particular celebration, the 25th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth's accession to the throne. It is good to know that her Jubilee has aroused such great interest and feeling in the United States, matching the great interest and participation felt in Britain during last year's bicentennial celebrations in the U.S. Two-hundred and one years ago, one might have thought that America's independence had separated us. These last two very significant years of national and mutual celebration have, I firmly believe, brought us very much closer together."

The Stroller

Let's glorify the rock

By W. W. EDGAR

It was about an hour before the big parade was about to start. Hundreds and hundreds of people were gathering along Main Street in Plymouth for the annual July Fourth procession.

They came in all shapes and sizes. Some were carrying chairs, looking for a vantage point. Some wore large straw hats, or carried thermos bottles of cold drinks as a means of relief from the excessive heat. But a most peculiar thing happened.

As they passed city hall, very few, if any, took time to look at the precious piece of rock that is the center of the monument to the sister city program with the city of Plymouth, England. It was given as a gift of friendship just a decade ago.

As The Stroller stood there in the excessive heat, he couldn't help feeling that the time had come for the powers that be to let the world know there is something more to that bit of rock than just a stone that could be obtained most anywhere.

This is a bit of rock that was taken from the steps of the dock from which the Mayflower sailed in 1620, and brought our forefathers to these shores. It never should be shunned.

When it was presented to the city at a civic dinner that marked Plymouth's centennial, Lord Mayor Frank Chapman of Plymouth, England, said it ever should stand as a symbol of forgiveness and a token of the peace between our two countries.

As he spoke, he called attention to the fact that the wounds of the Revolutionary War were now healed and that the people of England were proud to look upon the United States as a friend.

He then explained that the "bit of rock' was taken from the famed dock, and everyone present was made aware that it was the only "official" Plymouth Rock in America.

Sure, there is a Plymouth Rock in Plymouth, Massachusetts that is more famous than the one on Main Street in Plymouth, Michigan, but there is a difference between the two. The rock in Massachusetts was on the beach when the Pilgrims landed. It is an American rock.

The one displyed in the monument of Main Street is a British Rock, brought over here as a symbol of friendship and a reminder that the Revolutionary War was but a memory and that both sides were now at peace.

ALL THESE THOUGHTS went through The Stroller's Mind as he stood at the monument made possible by the generosity of former city mayors. And he figured the time had come to show off the prized possession in a more official way.

Why not make it a historical marker, so designated that it will attract attention in all the tour guides and become a tourist attraction. A picture of it should appear in all the state's official tour guides.

There isn't another city around here that has a better setting than that colonial block along Main Street, with the Dunning-Hough Library, city hall and the Plymouth Historical Museum. The three buildings are of the rich colonial design, and "the rock" is enshrined in their midst. It should be a bit of hallowed ground, now that it not only has the rock, but two trees dedicated to the memory of Mayor Chapman, who presented the rock a decade ago.

For the past nine years it has been a tradition that the British consul attend the July Fourth parade and stand at the rock to deliver a message from the Lord Mayor of Plymouth England—a message that told of the condition of the locust trees presented by Michigan's Plymouth to the folks across the sea, and which now are growing on the lawn of the municipal building in Plymouth, England.

This year that simple ceremony was bypassed, and the British consul spoke of the friendship between the two cities. Aside from having him pose for a few pictures at the rock, it was ignored.

It was said that there were no facilities at city hall to handle that part of the program. Maybe so. But let's get the facilities.

It could be done if effort was put forth to have the rock officially designated by a historical marker. Then the world would know that the rock was appreciated.

It never should be ignored. So let's act now.

Bad debt report

Not all pay for ambulance service

The City of Plymouth has collected on about 95 per cent of its bills for ambulance service, maintaining an average bad debt proportion of about five to six per cent.

In 1977, the city issued 1,875 bills totalling $28,155 to residents and 687 bills for $20,840 for non-city residents for ambulance service.

Of that amount, reports City Treasurer Kenneth Way, some $25,223 or 90 per cent was collected from residents and $17,510 or 84 per cent from nonresidents. Bills cancelled as bads debts, or non-collectible, as of June 7, 1976, were $1,124 or four per cent for residents and $1,570 or 7½ per cent for nonresidents.

The proportion charged nonresidents is higher because of an additional $1 per mile charged for hospital destination beyond Plymouth's 17-mile service radius.

"WITH THE assistance of various agencies made available to us," explains Way, "our collections have been reasonably successful.

"When our requests for payment fail to bring a response, a warning letter from the city attorney has brought in payment from at least 36 per cent of the 263 invoices submitted to his office. This action usually sorts out the circumstances and disposition to follow on the remainder.

"Any letter that is returned unclaimed or is for a $15 item is turned over to a collection agency. Others might be welfare cases or low-income social security recipients. Since April 1975, we have been able to assist or file a claim for full or partial payment on 17 bills through Blue Shield-Medicare and 17 through the Department of Social Services-Medicaid. Those who did not respond to the city attorney's letter on charges of $30 or more are filed with Small Claims Court."

Of the accounts filed with Small Claims Court, explains Way, at least 29 per cent have paid as soon as they are served the court summons to avoid the actual appearance at the hearing. Only 10 per cent have followed the court order and paid the account after the judgment hearing. More than half of the 155 cases filed during the past 6½ years didn't make a court appearance, sometimes because the affidavit couldn't be served.

"At this point, we have no alternative but to turn them over to the collection agency for a final effort."

Of the 235 bills submitted to a collection agency since 1969, some 45 per cent were collected—with the agency retaining a 50 per cent fee—and 47 per cent were cancelled by the city commission as uncollectible and recorded as bad debts. The balance of 38 per cent remains on file in efforts to collect.

"We feel that we have made all reasonable efforts to collect the ambulance bills that have been issued during the past eight years," Way told the commission at its last meeting, when the commission voted to cancel as uncollectible some $1,080 in outstanding bills for ambulance service. The $1,080 had remained in the city's unpaid bills file for the past three years.

Of the non-residents cancelled, the last known addresses included such diverse areas as Romulus, Westland, Ft. Carson, Colo., Canton, Farmington, Pittsburg, Livonia, Taylor, South Lyon, Mt. Clemens, and Detroit. The majority, though, were Plymouth addresses.

A good omen?

Burying the hatchet

Last week's organizational meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education was certainly much better conducted than those of previous years.

Less important than the 7-0 vote for board president and other offices was the absence of any personal bickering or infighting among board members. For that accomplishment, each individual trustee can take pride.

More specifically, though, it needs to be noted that the good will just didn't happen. A special effort was made—to the credit of Joe Gray, Dick Arlen and Flossie Tonda—to give "the other side" a chance at leadership without some of the bad will created in earlier years, especially last year.

There is no point in digging up the politics of 1976, except to note in a positive vein that Gray-Arlen-Tonda conducted themselves very well when they found themselves, a year later, on the losing side of the board majority. And so instead of putting up a fight, or lashing at the other four trustees, they made each vote unanimous as a gesture of good will for the coming school year.

That point we all should remember during the 12 months ahead when trustees get into heated exchanges on the issues. Last Friday, in effect, all trustees committed themselves to settle their differences as a team. It will be a rare occasion that trustees will vote 7-0 on major issues, which is the way it should be. But differences on issues shouldn't result in personal conflict.

We wish Marcia Borowski good luck during her year in the chair. The position of board president is a demanding one and can be very trying. There are many more headaches than there is glory.

President Borowski will perform well, especially with the moral support of the entire board. Her job will not be easy, but her fellow trustees have made it easier. The burden will be lighter than it was for Joe Gray, who a year ago began his presidency with some very serious personal differences among trustees. And Ms. Borowski won't be the only one reaping the benefits of Friday's detente—the agreement to disagree sensibly will benefit each trustee and all in Plymouth-Canton community schools.

A despicable act on the 4th

The days of flag desecration seem to be over, but that doesn't mean the American flag is safe from all harm.

On July 4, two American flags were stolen in Plymouth, one from the Mayflower Hotel and the other from the VFW Mayflower Post on Lilley Road.

The flag from the VFW post was stolen while the Fourth of July Parade was in progress downtown. Some members had come downtown to watch the parade, while others remained at work on the chicken barbeque pits behind the VFW hall, preparing to feed hundreds of hungry spectators after the parade.

There's not much that can be said about someone who would steal a flag. As one VFW officer stated Monday, "Hell, there's no reason to steal our flag. If someone wanted a flag, all they'd have to do is ask us for one, and we'd give them one free."

The theft at the VFW Hall was a particularly cruel, thoughtless act. The missing flag had been presented by the Veterans Administration to a widow upon the death of her husband—a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces—who in turned donated it to her brother, Anthony Russo, commander of the Plymouth VFW this year, to hang in front of the Mayflower Post. Thus, the flag has special sentimental value above and beyond its national symbolism.

Russo is convinced it wasn't just young kids who stole the flag, because today's youth isn't into that sort of thing. And he might well be right.

Although the identity of the theft is unknown, the best description for the culprit is one which, unfortunately, cannot be printed in a family newspaper.

Today another flag is flying proudly in front of the VFW Post Home. The loss to the post itself was minimal. The loss is a personal one to a family who saw it as a memorial for their dad, a man who had served his country in time of war and died in time of peace.

We need to remember that a flag isn't a political symbol, and often is something more than a symbol of patriotism—sometimes, the flag is a living memorial for the dead. The theft of this flag is just as despicable as stealing a tombstone. It's a shame!

Detroit Concert Band looks to suburban friends

Tim Richard

"We got our annual story," said Helen Rowe, publicist for the Detroit Concert Band, her gentle humor mixed with a little sadness.

By "our annual story," she meant accounts in the Detroit papers of high school graduates raising the devil on Belle Isle. One of those accounts said the Detroit Concert Band "completed its concert without incident."

That figures, said Miss Rowe, because the band was actually performing in Birmingham that night and was enthusiastically received, thank you. But that's getting ahead of the story.

FOLKS READ the annual story and get afraid to go to Belle Isle and the State Fairgrounds. That saddens Miss Rowe, who works without pay as a labor of love—both for the band and for her husband, director Leonard B. Smith.

"The mounties are back this year," she said of Belle Isle. And so she labors to counteract the effect of the annual story.

Actually, both Belle Isle and the fairgrounds have been perfectly safe every time this fan has taken in a band concert at either place. The fairgrounds are closer for a suburbanite, but Belle Isle, with its canals and grass and river traffic, is the more inspiring setting. Belle Isle is also more convenient if you happen to have a small black poodle who likes classical music and the mellow sound of the Detroit Concert Band.

"WE'RE STRIVING to get to the suburbs," Miss Rowe went on, pointing out the band visited not only Birmingham but also Allen Park and Warren this year.

Birmingham Mayor Dorothy Conrad held out hope the Shain Park visit may become an annual event. A lot of other suburbs may eye the same plan.

It's not easy to arrange, however. The band is all professionals, and its price is $3,750 a performance. Miss Rowe said the band has sought help from the National Endowment for the Arts, but so far without success. That body is orchestra-oriented, she said, and doesn't seem to understand there's a difference between the commercial bands you hear on TV and a concert band.

Yet if the truth could be known, it would likely be that the Detroit Concert Band's audiences are more heavily suburban than city residents.

THE BAND'S sound is in a class by itself.

Musicologists, Miss Rowe said, believe John Philip Sousa (1854-1932) honed his talents as conductor of the U.S. Marine Band, dissecting it like a guinea pig. When he formed his own band, Sousa reduced the brass and percussion sections, beefed up the woodwinds and added a harp.

Leonard Smith uses the Sousa pattern with the Detroit band. The effect is considerably less spirited than the University of Michigan Marching Band. But, then, Smith's band isn't playing for 15 minutes in a stadium with 101,000 people. It's playing a two-hour concert.

It has a repertoire of some 1,200 works, ranging from classical to modern show tunes. Of the Bach arrangements, Miss Rowe said, "The band, with all of its reeds, recreates the sound of the organ, but better than the organ can do it."

Smith was once premier cornetist for the Edwin Franko Goldman Band, and in his possession the horn becomes a delicate, mellow, precision instrument. The aforementioned small black poodle is particularly fond of Smith's handling of the Haydn Concerto for Clarino (a predecessor of the modern trumpet). A bright sound. A clear tune. No crash-banging of timpani. Civilized harmonies. This year the band is plowing back what it made from its Sousa records last year to make a record of some of the crowd's favorite soloists. But the live sound is still the best—if the "annual story" doesn't needlessly scare you off.

Pot abuse is just one part of the misuse of chemistry

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Lots of young people—and adults, too—in these suburbs smoke marijuana and think nothing of it. But that's against the law, being a felony punishable on conviction by a one-year jail sentence and a fine.

Just what to do about the obvious gap between increasingly common behavior and public law has been a serious problem for some time.

Just how serious State Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) learned last week when he got conked over the head with a heavy glass ash tray wielded by Rep. Rosetta Ferguson (D-Detroit).

Seems Bullard has been working for some time on a bill which would "decriminalize" possession of marijuana by reducing penalties for possession of up to one ounce of the drug. The bill came up for a vote in the house, provoked fierce debate, was passed narrowly, and next day lost on a motion to reconsider.

Feelings ran—ah, shall we say— high on the subject, leading to the Bullard bashing.

OTHER THAN the fireworks it provoked on the floor of the state house, the marijuana bill is interesting because it is one of the new set of issues on which there is very little partisan consensus.

It used to be that most bills which came up would be supported by Democrats and opposed by Republicans, or vice-versa. Usually, splits would come along traditional party lines.

But not on a whole list of emerging issues, including protection of the environment, civil liberties and lifestyles (which includes pot smoking). Of state representatives from this area, three Democrats opposed reducing pot penalties, and two were for it. Four Republicans were against the bill and two for it.

That's hardly strong partisan voting, especially given the emotional intensity of the issue.

THE FACTS in the matter seem as confusing as the voting patterns.

Many parents whose children have got into serious trouble with hard drugs blame early experimentation with marijuana. Other parents whose children have a felony rap on their records (which, among other things, bars them from admission to such professional schools as law or medicine) argue that such tough penalties do nobody any good.

Scientists say it seems marijuana is not addictive physically, though it may be so emotionally. They add that they don't know what are the long-term effects, and they point out that alcohol is a much more widely abused drug than pot.

The police admit the present law is clear, but the tough penalties for marijuana possession are inclined to produce varying standards for arrest: some officers take a soft line, others a hard.

PART OF THE problem lies in the similarity of the situation to alcohol. The law in Michigan regulates the sale of alcohol, but it also sets penalties for its abuse (drunkenness) and improper driving (driving while drunk).

Opponents to softening penalties for possession of pot argue it simply doesn't make sense to make it legal, in effect, for people to have marijuana in their houses but a felony for somebody to sell it.

Those who favor reduced penalties cite another alcohol parallel—prohibition. They point out that during prohibition, a lot of people kept right on drinking illegally, and this widespread refusal to accept the law led, in the end, to its repeal.

IN MY VIEW, the marijuana hassle is really a particular instance of a more general problem in our society: substance abuse.

Some people drink too many martinis; others smoke lots of cigarettes; still others regularly pop pills ranging from mild tranquilizers to heavier stuff; and a few others use heavier drugs such as cocaine and heroin. All of these abuses of substances are dangerous. All, if taken to extremes, result in death.

In the case of alcohol, the law has set forth the terms under which booze can be sold legally, and sets penalties for abuse. In the case of cigarettes, we have a warning from the U.S. surgeon general that smoking is dangerous to your health, but no penalties for over-smoking.

Some mild drugs can be bought over the counter, and others require a doctor's prescription, but I know of no law which sets forth penalties for specific over-use.

THAT IS HARDLY consistent public policy.

Possession or sale of heavy drugs, of course, are prohibited by law, one result of which is to create vast profits to drug pushers who prey on addicts.

It seems to me we should be considering the overall problem of substance abuse rather than merely concentrating on the problem of marijuana possession.

It may well be that such an approach will make distinctions between the occasional tranquilizer or the odd martini and the heavy use of pot or experimentation with heroin.

But at least we ought to be considering the problem as a whole, rather than getting into slugging matches by isolating the problem of marijuana.

Wifey's away

Cooking's fun; cleanup isn't

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

Dear Wifey:

How's the weather up north? Home hasn't changed much since you have been gone.

This gay life as a bachelor isn't quite what it's cracked up to be.

It was fun to get up and cook my own breakfast—the first morning—but after cleaning up the kitchen I'm not as hungry as I used to be in the morning.

I now have toast and coffee each morning. That way you only dirty one knife, one cup and the coffee pot each week. Things like plates and saucers are ornamental anyway, and are not necessary to enjoy good food. I admit that the cup does get a little dirty by Friday.

You know how I'm not the world's best gardener. Well, I decided that instead of mowing the lawn each week, I'd let it grow and harvest it just before you got home. After the third week the neighbors got together and now they're mowing it for me.

To repay their kindness I'm distributing to each of them the bottles of milk and newspapers that we forgot to stop while I was up there with you.

I had the man in to fix the washing machine yesterday. I tried to do my own laundry last week.

I also tried to iron one shirt, but luckily I started in the back, and with a coat on, it will never show.

THE PLANTS that I was supposed to water are coming back very well. You'd never know—except for the dead leaves and the bare spots.

I had a little trouble trying to get those contour sheets on the bed. The first three corners were a breeze, but since I don't sleep on the whole bed anyway, I left the fourth corner alone.

My diet has been varied. It's amazing the number of ways restaurants can prepare hamburger, but then, isn't eating out every night most people's dream?

I never noticed before how old our house was—when you are alone and the wind blows, it kind of creaks and groans. The first few nights, I thought we had visitors who were trying to borrow our silverware, but each morning I check the house in broad daylight, and nothing seems to be missing.

When you first left town I had a lot of invitations to eat out, but apparently I ate as if I hadn't eaten anything all day, and I haven't been asked back.

The house is spic and span, except for a few rooms. I've sealed off part of the house by taping the doors shut so they should be just as you left them.

I suppose I shouldn't admit it, but I miss you and the kids and hope you hurry back home soon.

Love,
Hubby

More women needed in the government

—From our readers—

Editor:

On June 16 the Observer published a letter from John Barr, chairman, Wayne County Board of Commissioners, regarding the "dumping" of Beverly McAninch of Plymouth from the SEMTA board, as reported in the Observer on June 6.

Barr very euphemistically stated that this was "no act of chauvinism." I would like to call attention to Barr's statement regarding being "careful to place at least one woman on every committee, believing them to be full partners in our country's business." Barr gave women credit for being capable of logic and common sense the same as men.

Well, using logic and common sense, I would like to point out that women make up more than half the population in this country, and if Barr really believed that we are "full partners" in the business of our country, then wouldn't it make sense to have more than a few token women on these committees? Does he also carefully appoint a few token blacks and other minorities to his committees?

I agree women are capable of logic and common sense, and as a woman can I can tell you that Barr based his argument on a fallacy, according to the rules of logic.

For the record, John Barr and I grew up in the same town and went to the same high school (although I am not acquainted with him), where I learned that equality is more than just "lip service." Perhaps we had different teachers on the subjects of equality, common sense and logic, but if women are to be "utilized" in government as Barr advocated, then let us follow the Utilitarian philosophy which means, "the greatest amount of good for the greatest amount of people."

Because women do make up a larger portion of the population as a whole, then logically it would follow that more women in government would serve the greatest amount of good for the greatest amount of people.

Reader supports column for seniors

Editor:

This letter is directed to Dawn Rice (Observer, June 30) who in a letter to the editor criticized Mrs. Jean Campau's column, "For the Gilded Age Only."

Good for you Dawn Rice—for being able to do the things you do as a 65er—and to the many like you! But, there are many, too, who are not financially or physically able and Mrs. Campau knows of what she speaks. She can give you exact count of those 65ers and up who have used the In-Home Support Services, which Mrs. Campau coordinates, and I wish many of them could write to the paper to tell how much they appreciate these services.

Mrs. Campau would be the first to thank you for complimenting her photograph. She is a most capable person, having just completed her college education at University of Michigan with a master's degree in guidance and counseling. And Mrs. Campau is a grandmother herself!

Gifted program a fine addition

Editor:

I was equally "appalled" with Mr. and Mrs. Hall's letter opposing Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' initial steps to create a talented and gifted program.

Why should the needs of a child who is behind be considered more legitimate than those of a child who is ahead? Even a child with special talents needs help to develop them. Why should the school help your poor reader but not your gifted child?

Our school system isn't perfect, and kids do get left behind. Parents have every right to move in a positive manner to correct such neglect. Still, far more is being done in our school system to help children who are poor readers, have learning disabilities, or have other learning problems, than is presently being done to help children with high academic potential.

I, too, appreciate the school board members who voted for the gifted program and feel it has been long overdue. I hope the money will be well spent and reach the kids who will benefit from it. Not all parents can afford the high cost of private school.

City businesses hit by burglars

Two Plymouth businesses were robbed within a day of each other last week, and police are still searching for the thieves who engineered the burglaries.

Tim Wing's Gulf station on Starkweather was robbed sometime Thursday night. Don's Texaco on Main was broken into Friday.

Try a tasty centerpiece

A centerpiece which can be eaten as a first course will stimulate both appetite and conversation, says Holly Cantus, author of "The Pocketbook of Household Hints."

ALUMINUM COLLECTION

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company's mobile units this month will continue their every-week collection of aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum.

The units will be at the south end of parking lot 5 at Westland Shopping Center, Wayne and Warren Roads, from 10 a.m. to noon every Saturday, July 9, 16, 23, 30.

Last month, Detroit area residents turned in more than 48,500 pounds of aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum. The June collections were equivalent to more than 1.1 million beverage cans which otherwise might have ended up as litter, and resulted in payments to area residents in excess of $8,200.

Gift shop sets hours for summer

The Detroit Association for Retarded Citizens' gift shop will only be open three days a week during July and August, returning to a regular five-day schedule this fall. The shop's new summer hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays.

Located at 51 West Hancock in Detroit near the Wayne State University campus, the gift shop offers a variety of items for sale, ranging from jewelry, wall decorations, and crystalware, to china, flower arrangements and more.

Volunteers operating the shop donate all proceeds to help finance the hot lunch program offered free of charge to clients attending academic classes and a sheltered workshop at Hancock Center. This is for some clients, their only hot meal of the day.

DARC is an organization devoted to the betterment and well-being of mentally retarded persons and is partially funded through the Metropolitan Agency for Retarded Children, a subsidiary of the United Foundation.

This is who we are and what we do at General Motors.

"I trust all the workers. I think we turn out a great car here."

Eileen Gilleo, General Motors Assembly Division, Tarrytown, N.Y.

"I have a 1963 Chevy now and I hate to part with it. It's still working great. But this year, I'm going to buy myself a new car. Sometimes people go right around the plant with the cars they order. I don't think I'll do that. I trust all the workers. I think we turn out a great car here."

"I started my 25th year in January. I work on the outside moldings. It's called supplying the line. I have what they call "nests" that I put the moldings in. As the car comes down the line, I take the plastic adhesive paper off the moldings and the men put glue on each end and put it on the car so that it lines up evenly on the doors.

"It's a fast job. If it's a four door car, I have to make up three, six, nine pieces of molding within seconds because we're doing better than a car a minute. You have to keep moving all the time.

"It's really teamwork. If I put the molding down right, it's going to be right. If I put the stock upside down, then the men might have to take the molding off and reglue it. So it's just a case of thinking every time I put the molding down.

"Ours is a happy area. We laugh and joke and still do our job first. Some people might find the job drudgery. I just really enjoy my work. I feel proud that I make cars.

"I think there's more opportunity for girls today. The whole attitude at General Motors has changed in the last few years. I see more girls with different jobs. A lot of them are doing jobs that amaze some of the men.

"My foreman is really great. She can do any of the jobs on the line. In fact, she broke me in on the job I'm on now.

"If a person's really interested, I don't think it makes a difference if they're male, female, old or young. After you're here for a while, for most people doing a good job becomes like an obsession. They're proud of their work."

CHAMPION EGG TOSS team in the Plymouth area was decided July 4 at the Knights of Columbus ox roast.

Facing stiff—and spattered—competition, Jack Gilles and Mary Lee Krochmalny earned the K-C egg toss crowns which will be theirs' for the 1977-78 season. Jack and Mary Lee had no trained for the contest. They were a last-minute, pick-up team.

Their prize was a 48-count carton of toilet tissue.

THE YOUNG AMERICAN CBers entered their first float in Plymouth's Fourth of July parade.

It was a big one—65 feet long with 45,000 flowers and 200 feet of chicken wire.

They took 3,000 of the tissue flowers to Canton Collision where they were dyed red.

RICHARD AIROLDI of Inbrook Drive in Plymouth Township was honored July 2 for 21 years with Burroughs Welcome.

More than 30 persons attended the dinner party sponsored by the company in the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Airoldi is regional sales manager for Burroughs Welcome which is headquartered in in Research Triangle Park, N.C.

Richard and his wife Dolly moved to Plymouth seven years ago from Massachusetts. They have two children, Bob, 18, and Lisa, 15.

by ELLIE GRAHAM

GEORGE AND BETTY Masson, former Lake Pointe Village residents,were in town for the Fourth of July parade.

The Massons have lived in Puerto Rico for the past five years where George was an American Motors Company representative in the English-speaking cities fo the Caribbean.

The Masson's granddaughter, 9-month-old Andrea, saw her first parade here. She and her mother, Alice Delaney, planned to return to their home in Oklahoma on Wednesday.

The Massons have bought a condominium in Northville Township but are living in a Holiday Inn in Southfield until their furniture arrives from Puerto Rico.

WONDER HOW MANY saw the the steam locomotive when it passed through town Saturday evening.

It was a sound from the past. I think I must have heard it first at the Ann Arbor Trail crossing. Train whistles are no novelty in Plymouth—part of the background of living that is there but ignored.

When it hit the Main Street crossing, some subconscious memory stirred. This was no ordinary train; this was a special exciting sound—the way it used to be.

It seemed everyone should be out on the street listening, as if a band were marching by.

Linda Luke was the only one in sight. It was bedtime for son Timmy and she was calling him in from play.

"Did you hear it? Did you hear the steam locomotive?"

We heard it cross Farmer Street, Starkweather, Mill and finally fade in the distance.

In the same way that music brings total recall, so did that train whistle. Memories of the old neighborhood and the old neighbors—Bert Krumm gazing at his front lawn: "If I was 10 years younger, I'd dig the whole thing up and reseed."

The Dunns, Frank and Pearl, sitting on the front porch listening to the Tiger baseball game. The Lykes in the corner house, Mrs. (Jopesphine) Hammond across the street—all gone.

The next steam locomotive will stop in Plymouth July 9 to pick up passengers at 8:50 a.m. It's all part of the B&O's 150th birthday celebration. Four more tours are scheduled, cosponsored by the Michigan Railroad Club Friends of Engine 1223.

Fred Beitner is local representative of the club and those interested in taking one of the tours can get more information or make reservations at Beitner Jewelry, 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

THE VILLAGE of Manchester has something new going on that should attract a flow of visitors.

Months of hard work culminated Friday night with a special showing of Neil Simon's "Star Spangled Girl" in the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre on Main Street, Manchester.

The theater is in an old building built in 1867. The third floor was used as a theater until 50 years ago. After that it was an American Legion Hall. It is across the street from the Black Sheep Tavern, a colorful and unusual restaurant established in 1873.

The summer season, July 6 to Oct. 1, will include dinner-theater packages for the two Black Sheeps— dinner and tavern.

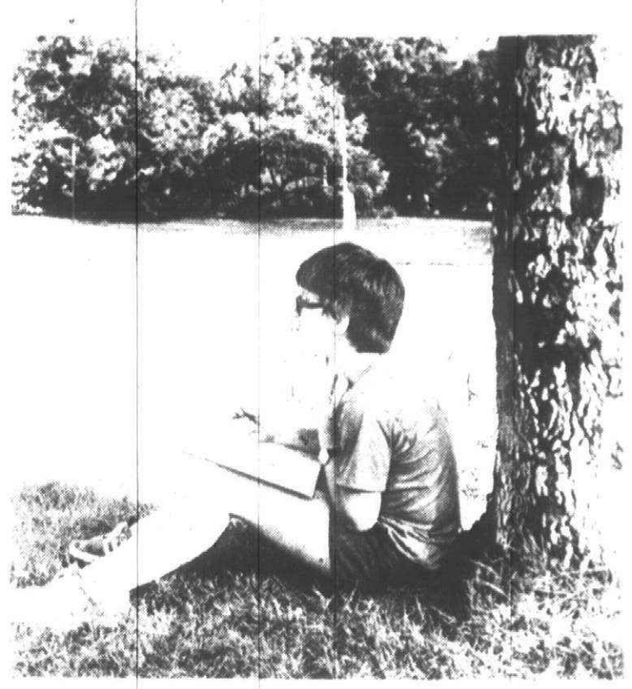

Friday's performance received a standing ovation. Although less than an hour's drive from Plymouth, it was surprising to see a familiar face at

Evening artists

The young people were so busy during the day that a request was made for an evening art class. Art instructor Marlene Kutz of the Phoenix Gallery in Old Village agreed. One of their first sketching projects was the old cannon on the corner of Starkweather and Farmer streets.

Kitchen is target for energy saving

If you want to save energy—and money—in your home, concentrate first on the biggest area of home energy use: space heating. That's where the biggest energy savings are waiting.

Your next target might well be the kitchen.

"Because the kitchen is the center of food storage and preparation and a major water user, it's a good place to save energy," said Anita Dean, extension foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University.

Consider the energy use of appliances, she suggested. Keep the number of appliances to a minimum and buy multi-use items rather than single-use gadgets whenever possible. Avoid buying appliances with a larger capacity than you ordinarily need. And keep appliances in good repair so they can operate at peak efficiency.

Defrost freezers and refrigerator freezer compartments regularly so the frost never gets more than a quarter of an inch thick. A layer of frost insulates the cooling coils and makes the refrigerator run more.

Also keep the freezer filled to capacity as much as possible. It takes less energy to keep a full freezer cold than it takes to maintain low temperatures in a half-full or nearly empty one. Bread makes a good space-filler, and can be used up quickly when space is needed for other foods.

PREHEAT YOUR oven only for convenience foods like pizza and leavened products like cakes, muffins, biscuits, bread, rolls and cookies, Mrs. Dean advises. You do not need to preheat for most other oven-cooked foods.

"If you're going to use the oven to cook a roast, for instance, plan to cook the rest of the meal in the oven, too," says Mrs. Dean. "As long as you're going to have the oven on, make the most of it." You might even consider baking a custard or dessert for the next day.

Consider using a broiler oven for small jobs. It uses quite a bit less energy than a full-sized oven. Avoid opening either the oven or refrigerator door more than absolutely necessary. It takes extra energy to reheat or recool the appliance.

Thaw frozen foods like roasts in the refrigerator before cooking. Thawed meats take considerably less time, and therefore less energy, to cook. They also reduce refrigerator opeating costs.

"Avoid wrapping in foil foods like potatoes for baking or turkey for roasting." Mrs. Dean advises. "Foil insulates the food from the heat and lengthens cooking time."

Placing lids on pans, on the other hand, shortens stove-top cooking time.

If you have the choice of cooking on the top of the stove or in the oven, you'll probably save energy by using the stove top, the specialist says. For greatest efficiency, be sure the pans fit the burners.

SAVING WATER in the kitchen will help save energy, too. "Avoid running hot water more than you really need to," Mrs. Dean suggests. "If you need to rinse dishes before stacking them or putting them into the dishwasher, run a little water into the sink or dishpan and swish them in that rather than running a steady stream of hot water down the drain."

When hand-washing dishes, wash a stack and then rinse them all at once. Letting the hot water run to rinse each piece separately is literally money down the drain.

Use an automatic dishwasher only when it is completely full. It will use the same amount of hot water whether it's full or not, so you might as well get the most work for your energy investment, she points out.

Air dry dishes rather than using the hot air drying cycle on your dishwasher. You'll save about half the energy ordinarily used to wash a load of dishes.

"It isn't difficult to put these and other energy-saving practices to work in your kitchen," Mrs. Dean observed. "Once you begin to look for ways to cut back, you'll be surprised at how easy it is."

She created a gem of a garden

"You have to have something to love," said Pearl Quarles, whose flower garden is evidence of her loving care.

Then she added, in self-deprecating tone, "Probably the only remarkable thing about this garden is the small size."

Pearl Quarles' flower garden is a source of pleasure to her neighbors and to Mrs. Quarles who turned a small plot of ground into a thing of beauty. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Mrs. Quarles' flowers are a bright spot in the lives of her neighbors in the apartments at the corner of Sheldon and North Territorial roads.

The apartment manager told her, "You know I always bring peopleout to look at your flowers."

"The residents do appreciate them," said Mrs. Quarles. "Somebody don't look for cheaper things. Get the best you can get."

FLOWERS ALWAYS have been a source of pleasure of Pearl Quarles.

"I have had homes with beautiful flowers. When I had more space, luckily I had a good gardener to help with the work."

When her husband died, she moved to the south, where she lived for the next 20 years.

"Every member of my family down there died so I came back up here. I built another house." She has been in the apartment for six years.

"You know I'm 83, I can't just give up."

In the small plot of ground she has planted coleus, geraniums and marigolds with the perennials she set ot several years ago.

She said she used to slip the coleus and keep them over the winter.This spring she set out just one slip. She bought the rest. "It's better then trying to save them. You can get all you want for $4. It's better to just go and buy them.

"And the residents appreciate them."

MRS. QUARLES enjoys living and good health.

"This is an excellent location."

"I can walk to the bank. I go to church. I do walk downtown twice a week, and I have dinner with friends."

One of her sons is a doctor. When he comes to visit, he brings along his medical kit and checks her out. "He gets out his stethoscope and listens front and back. He takes my blood pressure and then tells me I'm in perfect health.

He is the one who encourages her to keep walking. She believes the fresh air and exercise contribute to her well-being.

"There's a time to plant and a time to harvest," said Pearl Quarles. "I'm in the harvest age. I enjoy life."

Canton chatter

By SHARON STARON 455-5322

For those of us who stayed close to home over the Fourth of July weekend there was still a whirlwind of activity about town.

Backyard barbeques and late night parties were being held at various intervals throughout the three day vacation.

On the fourth a majority of Plymouth-Canton residents were running on somewhat the same kind of schedule. To start the day the Plymouth Jaycees Parade on Main Street was where one could see many of their friends and neighbors trying to keep cool with bottles of pop or dripping ice cream cones while watching and cheering on the parade participants.

As the last fire engine wailed in the distance children and adults headed for their cars to later be seen enjoying themselves at the lake. At the end of the day discussion was centered on what time everyone would be leaving for the fireworks.

As I was walking to the parking lot of Burroughs, after leaving the car several blocks behind, I was reminded of what a man who had been in the Jaycees years ago once told me. He said that all the work the Jaycees do for the Fourth of July was started so our residents would stay home and still have plenty to see and do.

From the large applause given to the fireworks after this year's beautiful display many of us obviously were home enjoying the Jaycees efforts.

Thank you Plymouth Jaycees for another fun Fourth of July - Love Canton.

Miller Cub Scout Pack 854 had its annual Blue and Gold Banquet on June 14 at Plymouth Canton High School.

The theme of this years banquet was "Save the Animals." The pack is sponsoring an animal at the Detroit Zoo. They have donated enough money for the care and feeding for one calendar year of a large male boa constrictor. Each den had to make a centerpiece and decorate mint cups in keeping with this theme.

Cubmaster Larry Barkoff showed slides of the past three years' events. These were available for any parent to purchase if they saw one they liked.

Blue and gold committee chairwoman, Debby Slater, had been visiting area merchants for months acquiring donations for door prizes. Thanks to her efforts and those of committee members, plus merchant generosity, every boy received a gift in the drawing. The gifts ranged from Lionel trains and Timex watches to Frisbees and rocket kits. In addition, every boy received a bike flag from AAA, a free cone from King Custard and many assorted items in a "goodie bag."

Due to the success of the paper drive this year the dinners of all cub scouts, leaders, and committee members were paid for by the pack.

Many certificates of appreciation were awarded to the adults who have helped in various ways during the year. These certificates also were given to the area merchants and people who supplied prizes and supplies for the banquet.

Bag prizes for some of the men attending the packs two camping trips were awarded plus prizes to the boys that won the fishing contest held on the June campout. The grand prize winner of a Timex watch for the largest fish was Cliff Lambert. The three runnersup were Jim Mosti, Gary Slater and Kyle Austin who received fish stringers.

All Webelos who will be 11 years old before Dec. 31 and have completed the required number of acheivements participated in the arrow of light ceremony and officially advanced to Boy Scouting. Ken Dunn, leader of Boy Scout Troop 854, gave a talk on what the boys could expect out of scouting in their future years. Those advancing are Brian Arnold, Darrin Blue, Kenneth Jensen Jr., Mike Killingbeck, Mark Malone, Gary Slater and Chris Wood.

Matt's Caterering of Dearborn Heights served the scrumptious dinner and McDonalds supplied machines for orange drink.

The pack was entertained by Irene Burns and her colorful and well trained African Love Birds. It was a delightful show enjoyed by all ages.

Lloyd Dibble and Gloria Hammonds who have worked in the pack for three years and are now leaving received special engraved thank you gifts.

For the closing ceremony taps was played on a bugle by Doug Bulmer.

The blue and gold banquest marks the end of another great year for this cub scout pack. They will now have the summer months to enjoy their memories until they resume activity again in September.

A HEALTH SAVING SERVICES FACILITY

Our high-interest certificate savings accounts help you earn extra money by waiting.

Pretend it's six years from now.

You go to your desk drawer and look at the six-year certificate savings account you opened back in 1977. Remember the $1,000 you took to First Federal Savings of Detroit? Well, now it's $1,584.00. And all you had to do to get that additional $584.00 was wait.

Of course, if you'd rather pretend it's four years from now, or two and a half, or even just one, we can show you plans that still will turn your money into more than you might have thought possible.

And remember, too, that you can have certificate savings accounts in addition to your regular savings account (which earns 5¼% per year daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly). In fact, that's how many people get the money to open a certificate savings account. They save for it.

What's more, at First Federal, certificate savings accounts can entitle you to a number of special services, many not available anywhere else. We think you should know about these things because we know that money is important for you.

So don't wait to find out.

We know what money is for.

Hughes-Hudson

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hughes of Joy Road, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Anne, to Bruce K. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hudson of Cleveland, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Livonia Franklin High School, and Lake Erie College. She is employed this summer at a pony day camp in Plymouth. Her fiance graduated from Garfield Senior College in Painesville, Ohio. He is a civil service accountant at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton.

They plan an October wedding in Roseville Gardens Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

Penterics-Samples

Mr. and Mrs. John Penterics of Clinton announce the engagement of their daughter, Diane Lynn, to former Plymouth resident Michael Gordon Samples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Samples of Clinton.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School and is employed by the University of Michigan Medical School. Her fiance is a 1972 graduate of Plymouth High School and the Detroit Engineering Institute.

They plan an October wedding in St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Tecumseh.

Corn-y

Fresh sweet corn is one of summer's joys. Add taste appeal to this summer's crop by barbecuing ears of corn.

Here's how. Pull back husks and remove silks. Spread each ear with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with garlic or onion salt.

Bring husks back up around ears and wrap each in heavy-duty foil. Place on grill about four inches from hot coals for 25-30 minutes.

the gathering. There was Bernie Morrison of Famous Men's Wear.

"I'm an angel," said Bernie. He explained that Stan Gill, actor and officer in the Association for the Performing Arts, is the son of his good friends Jackie and Bernice Gill.

It also turned out that director Robert Horner works with Sandford Burr at Southfield High School. "Sandy is one of my all-time favorite people," he said.

He was interested in young Charles Burr's recent production, "Songs of Myself," at First Methodist Church of Plymouth.

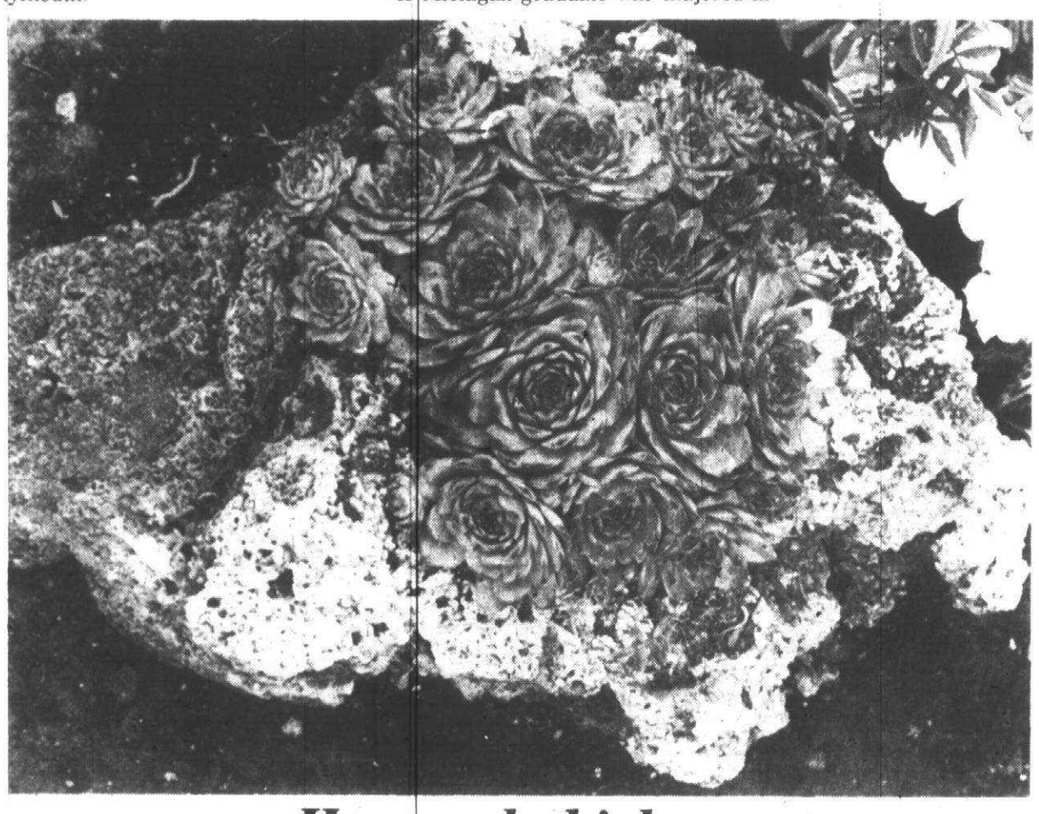

We were happy to report it had received an enthusiastic reaction and, hopefully, will be repeated.

The repertory theater will present "The Roar of the Greasepaint and The Smell of the Crowd," "Of Mice and Men," "The Owl and the Pussycat," "Jacques Brel is alive and well and living in Paris," and "Star Spangled Girl" during the summer months.

Dinner at the Black Sheep Tavern after the theater brought one last surprise in the form of a long-skirted waitress. It was Susan Schell-Clarke, Plymouth High School and University of Michigan graduate who majored in dance. Susie will spend two months this summer in Boulder, Colo. where she will take a concentrated dance course.

She is the daughter of Sylvia Schell of William Street.

THE PURPOSE OF PARABLES
PART I - JUDGMENT

In Matthew 13:11 Christ gives two reasons for his exclusive use of parables. The parable is intended to bless and to curse, to reveal and to conceal truths of the kingdom. As a judgment, the use of the parable serves to aid the sinners advance in ignorance of salvation unto eternal destruction. "It is not given them to know." The cause of the veiling of truth is found in the fact that the multitudes have closed their eyes and stopped their ears (v. 13). Hence the foolishness of man's wisdom: by human logic man cannot know God unless he submits his mind and heart to Him. Those who are unresponsive to the coming of Christ's kingdom receive from His hand blindness and deafness. Jesus veils truth from the spiritually poor that they may be poorer still. (cf. Matt. 13:12; Jn. 9:39). Jesus intends to leave some who are spiritually poor in their poverty forever. This serves God's purpose of election (cf. Rom. 11:7).

Why are men blinded and made more deaf? It is because of unbelief. Distrust is a road of less and less receptivity. It leads to servere petrification into hearts of stone. This path is absolute and irrevocable for man in himself.

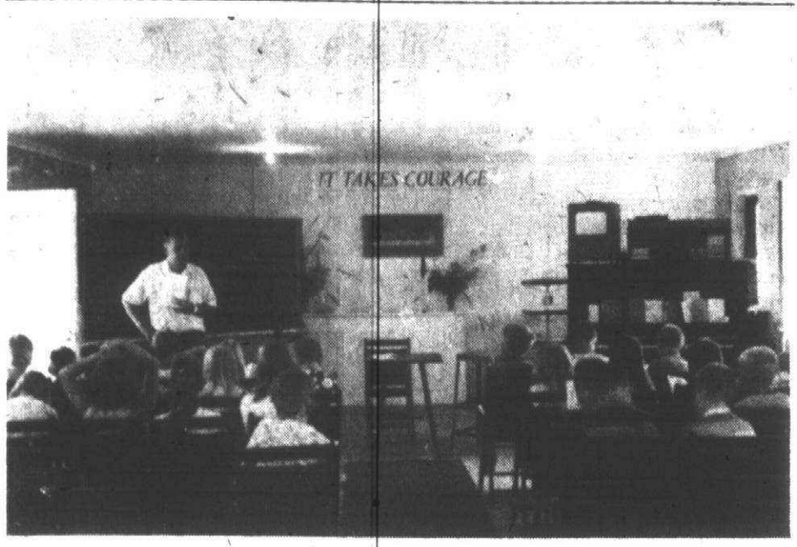

These truths do not excuse unbelief. The fact that you cannot hear except Christ supply you with ears does not excuse your sin. It is an index of your sinfulness, of its irrevocability and of its absoluteness for you in yourself. This shows your helplessness. There is only one who can help you. Admit your utter helplessness and spiritual poverty. Flee to Christ to save you from yourself. "He that has ears, let him hear."

Luther Vista needs campers

Attending chapel, picnicking and fishing are all parts of the scene at Camp Luther Vista, and members would like to see the scene expanded.

By MARGARET MILLER

Thirty-one youngsters and a like number of adults from St. John Lutheran Church of Redford Township are traveling just a little ways north Sunday for an activity-filled week of Bible camp.

Their destination is Luther Vista, a tract near Brighton which for 23 years has been the pride of the St. John congregation but which now is beginning to seem a bit of a problem.

The elementary school contingent, the state-required staff of adult advisers and 15 junior and senior high youth who are there this week under the leadership of the church's pastor, the Rev. Robert Johnson, represent practically all the camp's users this summer.

And that, said Miriam Hojnacki, church secretary and camp helper for more than a decade, is the problem.

It represents a situation so different from the heyday years at Luther Vista that some members of St. John are beginning to wonder if it's all worth while. Or if there is some move that would make it worth while.

NOT TOO MANY years back, she remembers, there were two week-long camps, one for elementary schools and one for junior highs. Each filled to capacity the 80 spaces available. There was even a waiting list.

There was also a senior high week, and a week for elderly adults who had come to the church in the first place because of its Finnish roots.

"They liked to come and talk Finnish for a week and hear talks in that language," Mrs. Hojnacki said.

The camp was used every Sunday then, too. "A lot of people would pack a picnic lunch and we'd all go out after church," the secretary said. "We'd enjoy the day swimming or fishing or playing ball, and then in the evening we'd have a vesper service."

But the Sunday outings were discontinued about four years ago because people seemed to find other ways to spend family time, and the attendance at camp has been going down too, though those who go come back reporting a great experience.

"I think a lot of children are used to swimming pools and don't enjoy our lake swimming," said Mrs Hojnacki, "and I wonder if children raised on television still enjoy the things like camp singing and crafts and evening dramas."

CAMP LUTHER VISTA actually a most unusual venture for a a small, single congregation, came into being because members of the church liked going to Bible camp.

The church was located in Detroit and members went each summer to a camp in Ohio, the only one availble to Lutherans in the general area.

"People didn't much like to travel so far," said Mrs. Hojnacki, "and someone heard about this property near Brighton."

The church leaders investigated and invested in farmland located on a small lake which included a huge apple orchard.

That was 1954, and the next summer the congregation went to work to turn it into a camp.

The people in the church did the building. Entire families went out to the property to join in the construction of a big dormitory that would sleep 80 children, a utility building with showers and washrooms and a hall for kitchen, cooks' quarters, dining room and all-purpose room which doubled as a chapel.

A couple of farm buildings also were converted, one as a craft workshop. The old farmhouse was occupied by a caretaker.

THE PROGRAM at the camp was largely supported by the property itself, because each fall the orchard yielded bushel upon bushel of saleable apples.

St. John members took care of the spraying and pruning on a volunteer basis during the summer, and they were on hand to harvest, too, selling them to friends and other regular customers. The remainder always went to cider mills.

The orchard still gives its bounty each fall, but some members of the Redford Township church wonder about the bounties of summer camping.

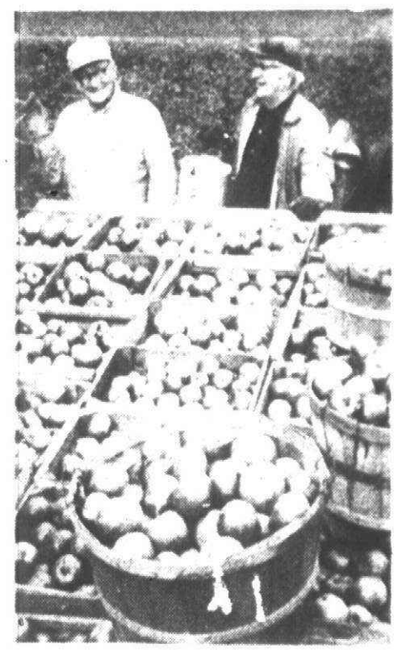

Luther Vista has been rented to other organizations occasionally for day-long conferences, and last year a Baptist church in Brighton used it for two weeks of camping for elementary and junior high students.

"But this year they had to cancel out," said Mrs. Hojnacki. "Not enough kids."

Maybe, she mused, if other churches in this area knew about a camp that could be shared, they would be interested in trying their own Bible camps. Or maybe children from other churches or no church would enjoy a week of relatively unstructured camping, with fun lessons and craft projects and time in between for fishing, swimming and just lying under a tree.

Camp Luther Vista is ready for all, and the upcoming session for children 7 through 12 will run from July 10 to 16.

Call the church, 538-2660, to find out about possibilities.

Sale of apples fills most camp needs—except for more people to participate in the program.

Rev. John Ferris ordained elder

The Rev. John C. Ferris, associate pastor of Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia, has been ordained an elder in the United Methodist Church and received as a full member of the Detroit Annual Conference.

Ordination by Bishop Edsel A. Ammons came during the 136th annual session of the conference at Adrian College earlier this month.

Rev. Ferris is beginning his second year at Newburg, where he coordinates youth activities and assists the Rev. William A. Ritter, senior minister, in other responsibilities.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Irett Ferris of Detroit, he is a graduate of Cooley High School and Adrian College. He earned a MA in divinity from Garrett Evangelical Seminary in Evanston, Ill., in 1976.

Rev. Ferris was recommended for a license to preach by the charge conference of the First United Methodist Church of Adrian in 1973 and elected to deacon's orders the same year.

In 1973 he also was received as a probationary member of the Detroit Conference. His receiving elder's orders and reception into full membership marked the final step into the ministry of the United Methodist Church.

Rev. Ferris and his wife, the former Deborah Kennedy, have one child, Sonya Michelle, 2½.

'Celebration' camp draws area clans

About a dozen families from this area will join their counterparts from all over the country in the "Celebration, Challenge, Consecratio" camp scheduled at the Y camp in Estes Park, Colorado, July 12-16.

The gathering, two years in the planning, is co-sponsored by National Marriage Encounter, the Christian Family Movement and the family ministries staff conference of the National Council of Churches.

The session will include programs on marriage and family life, worship services reflecting the varied traditions of faith and recreation and fellowship.

The Rev. Jerome Fraser, pastor of St. Edith Catholic Church of Livonia, will take part in the program after serving on the committee planning the workshops.

"We had quite a few meetings making plans," she said. "There's a camping contingent and a motel group, and we'll do some meeting on the way to Colorado and certainly be together while there."

The conference will feature programs on a specific aspect of family life each day, with the themes emphasized through speakers, guided family discussion, workshops and recreation.

Among the themes are "The individuals in a Family," "The Family Unit," and "The Family in Society."

Nearly 60 workshops have been planned, taking in various age levels of participations.

Special guests for the gathering will include the Rev. Dick Avery and choirmaster Don March, a duo from California who will lead music for the total group each morning, Bill and Betty Genne of Montclair, N.J., who will lead sexuality workshops, and Karen Allen of Tucson who will conduct sessions titled "A Dancing Family."

Theater opens with star-spangled show

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Old Manchester Village in Washtenaw County is the picturesque setting for a new community theater, the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre which opened Wednesday.

The village is only about an hour's drive away.

Performances by the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre will be presented in old Goodyear Hall, which was established in 1867. Extensive renovation has updated the theater located on the third floor of the structure originally called Goodyear Block.

Theater-goers also will have the option of a buffet dinner before the performance, at the historic Black Sheep Tavern.

THE TAVERN, in operation since 1873, is presently owned by Chris and Tim Hoover. Chris used to work at the old Charley's Crab in Pine Lake and was formerly manager at the Gandy Dancer in Ann Arbor. The Hoovers bought the Goodyear Block building this year.

A roast beef buffet, including chicken, salad and vegetables, will be offered along with theater, on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays. The $13 price tag includes buffet at the tavern, tax, tip and theater.

Dinner theater will be available for individuals or couples, and there will be group discounts, also. No dinner theater packages are being offered Friday and Saturday nights.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. at the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre, an air-conditioned auditorium seating 230 theater-goers. Velvet curtains will cover all the windows from the inside, lending a new look to the old opera windows.

James R. Fleming, producer of the theater, said Goodyear Hall was used as a gymnasium at once time and that the floor had been marked for a basketball court.

He said the hall probably was vacant from 1935 until the present reconversion. "Structurally it is in great shape. . .fantastic," he said.

Bob Horner of Bloomfield Hills is directing the opening production "Star Spangled Girl." He is director of the theater department at Southfield Lathrup High School. Cast members are mostly professional actors and some students who are college majors, according to producer Fleming.

The Black Sheep Repertory Theatre was founded by Fleming, Owen J. Anderson and Stan Gill. Anderson portrays Andy Hobart in "Star Spangled Girl," Gill plays Norman Cornell and Linda Hart is Sophie Rauchemyer, the star spangled girl.

All three co-stars have extensive theatrical experience in the Detroit area.

The Neil Simon comedy will open Wednesday for performances to the public. Other productions scheduled for the first season, through Oct. 1, are "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd," Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," "The Owl and the Pussycat" and "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris."

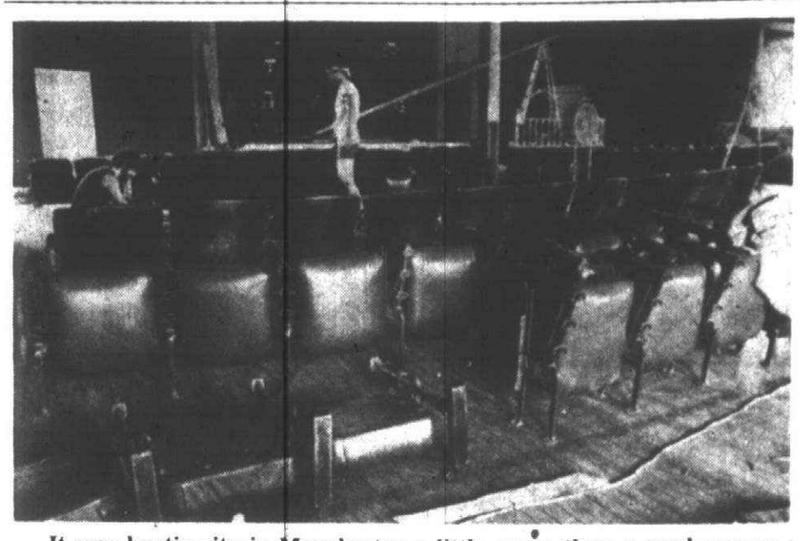

THE VILLAGE of Manchester totals 1,600 residents in a township numbering 6,000. There are no hotels at present in Manchester; one was torn down and the other is being used as a boardinghouse.

"Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor is the closest," Fleming said. "We're making arrangements with them for people who want to stay overnight."

Manchester is 10 miles southwest of Ann Arbor (take I-94 West to 52 South).

Fleming is president of the Association for the Performing Arts in Manchester, a non-profit Michigan corporation. He was assistant vice-president for student affairs at Chicago State University and formerly was director of student activities at Michigan State University. He has been producing for about 10 years.

For reservations and information phone 428-9280 in Manchester. Peggy DeMarsh, Detroit representative, can be reached at 861-8361.

It was hectic-city in Manchester a little more than a week ago as workers completed renovations.

DiPonio dumps Detroit

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

DiPonio handed Detroit Southwest its first loss of the season after 23 victories to win the Plymouth Salem-Plymouth Canton Fourth of July Baseball Tournament held Sunday afternoon at the Salem diamond.

DiPonio represents Plymouth Salem in the Mickey Mantle League (ages 15-16).

The Plymouth squad, coached by Mike Michalek Sr., defeated its friendly rivals from Plymouth Canton in the first round, 8-7, before upending Southwest in the championship, 6-1.

The Detroit team edged Winsdor Mic-Mac, 7-5, in its opening game to reach the finals.

In the consolation contest, Windsor defeated Canton 3-1 for a third- place finish.

DiPonio's winning efforts earned a trophy for the squad.

"I think this tournament was a real good idea," said Michalek. "All the teams were evenly matched, and a lot of people got to see good baseball."

Salem, Canton and Detroit Soutwest currently hold first-place positions in their respective divisions of the Northwest Suburban Mantle League. Windsor is a front-runner in the Metro-Detroit Mantle conference.

MATT ETIENNE hurled the distance against Detroit in the championship battle, allowing only four hits while striking out eight and issuing six base-on-balls.

Etienne started a first-inning rally which led to a quick 2-0 DiPonio lead.

The hard-throwing lefthander walked with one out in the opening stanza and moved to second when Sam Merrill followed with another free pass.

SPORTS

Thursday, July 7, 1977 (C)1C

Both runners moved up a base on a flyout and scored on a two-out single by Bruce Piper.

Detroit came back with its only tally of the game in the second inning to cut the lead to 2-1.

DiPonio scored two more runs in the fourth when Jim Anderson and Craig Flower scored on singles by Chris Hannan and Merrill to make the score 4-1.

Hannan finished the game with two singles to pace DiPonio's seven-hit attack.

Singles by Greg Michalek, Hannan and Etienne accounted for the final tallies in the sixth inning. Etienne's hit was a bunt which dribble down the third-base line and stayed in fair territory after it bounced foul. Two runs scored on the bunt.

PLYMOUTH'S TWO best summer ball pitchers collided in the Salem-Canton battle in the opening round—but the battle turned into a hitter's affair during which 15 runs were scored.

Both hurlers went all the way despite the potent offensive attacks.

Kolloway struck out four and walked seven. James fanned seven hitters but didn't walk a batter.

DiPonio knocked James for 12 hits including a solo home run by Dan Palubinsky.

With the scored tied at 7-7 going into the bottom of the final inning, DiPonio exploded for three straight hits to quickly end the contest. Etienne smashed a double off the rightfield fence, Merrill singled up the middle and Mike Michalek ripped a shot down the third baseline to score Etienne.

Michalek finished the day with three hits and three runs batted in. Etienne, Merrill, Palubinsky, and Wilcox all added two hits each.

DiPonio led by 3-1, 6-3 and 7-6 scores but Canton kept fighting back until the very end.

Leading Canton's nine-hit attack was Don Dreher, Dale Albright and Dave Weiss with two hits each.

IN REGULAR SEASON play, DiPonio holds a first-place 9-1 record. The team's overall mark is 13-1.

DiPonio's only league game last week was a 2-0 shutout against Dearborn Fairlane. DiPonio registered only four hits but bunched three safeties together for two runs in the second inning.

Hawkeyes, Titans place in 'F' league tournament

A valiant comeback effort by the Livonia Merri-craft Flowers went for naught this Fourth of July when Roseville raced off with an 18-1 victory in the Don Massey 'F' league baseball tournament at Plymouth's Central Middle School.

This tourney included the top eight 13-year-old teams from the metropolitan area competing throughout the holiday weekend in double-elimination play.

Two teams from Plymouth and Livonia, along with one Westland squad, represented the Observer area. The other three teams came from Northville, East Detroit and Roseville. These squads were chosen based on the standings at the holiday break.

Merri-craft lost its first-round contest to the eventual champions from Roseville, 6-2 on Friday. The Livonia squad battled its way back into the finals, competing in six games-four of which were played on Monday.

Merri-craft defeated fellow Livonia league members Don Massey with a comeback 9-8 victory Sunday morning, and then proceeded to knock East Detroit out of the running with a 13-8 triumph.

In the championship contest, Merri-craft sent down Roseville for the first time with a 6-1 victory.

But Roseville came back strong in the finale to defeat Merri-craft by the 17-run margin that won the tourney.

This tournament included a nine-inning pitching rule which hurt Merri-craft in the end.

THE TWO PLYMOUTH squads which participated were the Hawkeyes and the Titans. The Titans won their first game against the Westland Dodgers, 6-2, but lost its next two games to East Detoit and Merri-craft. In the East Detroit game, the Titans were ahead by five runs going into the seventh inning, but a late Detroit rally sent the Plymouth squad to the loser's bracket.

The Hawkeyes lost to East Detroit, 9-4, in their first-round game. The Plymouth squad proceeded to eliminate the Westland Dodgers with a 9-7 win that lasted 11 innings.

The Hawkeyes were eventually eliminated by Don Massey Cadillac, 8-5.

Don Massey whipped the Northville Cards in their first-round game 10-2, but lost the second game to Roseville 9-5.

After defeating the Hawkeyes, Massey was eliminated by Merri-craft in an eight-inning affair, 9-8. Massey held a 7-3 lead after six innings but couldn't hang on.

MEMBERS OF the all-tournament team, as selected by a committee of coaches, included: Gary Tsiang, catcher, Plymouth Titans; Don Petersen, first base, Don Massey; Brian Snapke, second base, Merri-craft; Mickey Tschirahart, shortstop, Roseville; Mike Gatt, third baseman, Don Massey; Mike Lim, outfielder, Don Massey; Chance Sheridan, outfielder, Roseville; Keith Braun, outfielder, Plymouth Hawkeyes; Jim Driscoll, pitcher, Merri-craft; and Brian Wolfchlager, pitcher, Roseville.

The Most Valuable Player of the tourney was Driscoll from Merri-craft.

THIS HOLIDAY tournament was conducted by tournament director Don Petersen and sponsored by Don Massey Cadillac of Plymouth.

Boosters name officers

William Parson remains the Plymouth Athletic Booster Club president for the upcoming 1977-78 school sports season.

Parson was elected to his first year of service last August replacing Joe Dillon.

John Anderson and Willian Lewelling also maintain spots on the Booster executive board for a second-straight season.

Anderson serves as the Booster vice-president and Lewelling is the orgaization's treasurer.

The lone change on the executive board is the secretary's position where Cindy Merrifield replaces Orlean Baker from the post. Baker remains as an officer, serving as a trustee this year.

Last year's Blue (Plymouth Salem) chairman Don Ellinghausen has taken over the duties as program chairman. Replacing Ellinghausen as the new Blue chairman is Jack Christie.

Canton's Dick Mandle was elected as the Red chairman for the second consecutive year.

Membership officer is Fred Hallway, while John Rumberger serves as trophy officer.

Other trustees on the board along with Ms. Baker are Ron Nyhus and John Prueter.

The Booster Club holds monthly meeting on the first Monday of every month in the Home Economics Room at Plymouth Canton High School starting at 8 p.m.

The next Booster meeting will be this Monday, July 11 because of the Fourth of July weekend. All citizens interested in supporting the community's athletic programs at the Centennial Park are welcomed to attend every meeting and urged to participate.

THE BOOSTERS would like to remind all 1977 graduating senior athletes who won varsity letters that plaques are given courtesy of the organization.

Summer baseball galore

Summer baseball dominated the sports scene in the Plymouth-Canton area this past holiday weekend as tournaments were hosted at the Central Middle School and Plymouth Salem High School baseball diamonds.

The tourney at Salem was the Salem—Canton Mickey Mantle Fourth of July competition which included a four-team format that saw each squad play at least two games last Sunday afternoon.

The battle at Central brought the best 'F' League (13-year olds) teams together from the metropolitan area for a mid-season eight-team double elimination event which lasted throughout the four-day weekend.

Plymouth had the pleasure of hosting two of the eight teams since Warren dropped from competition.

BASEBALL ACTION in the summer time is a major summer activity in this community for boys and girls, ages 7-18.

It all starts with the ever-growing Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League which serves children fron ages 7-15.

The co-ed tee-ball league of 18 teams includes all seven and eight-year old players.

The boys then split from the girls and play 'B' League hardball (9-10-year olds) and 'A' League (11-12-year olds).

The girls are active in slow-pitch softball from ages 9-13 in the 'G' Jr. League.

The oldest boys in junior baseball play in the 'E' and 'F' Leagues.

This 'F' League tourney fielded the top two teams in the Plymouth league at the Fourth of July break as part of the 13-year old event. The 'E' League consists of 14-15-year olds with cross-league play against Northville squads.

The older girls, ages 13-15, play in a modified softball league as part of the 'G' Sr. League activities.

AFTER JR. BASEBALL, the boys continue action in respective Sandy Koufax (13-14-years old), Mickey Mantle (15-16-year olds) and Connie Mack (17-18-year olds) leagues under the Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High School programs.

Varsity coaches Fred Crissey (Canton) and Brian Gilles (Salem) consider these three leagues a valuable part of their school programs. The high school mentors mainly rely on summer ball as part of the rebuilding stage for the school season—although the possiblity of of winning a division title and participating in post-season tournament action always exists.

Crissey and Gilles coach the older boys in the Mack league while interested fathers conduct the Mantle and Koufax play.

SUMMER BASEBALL coverage in the Observer is limited to the older boys' leagues.

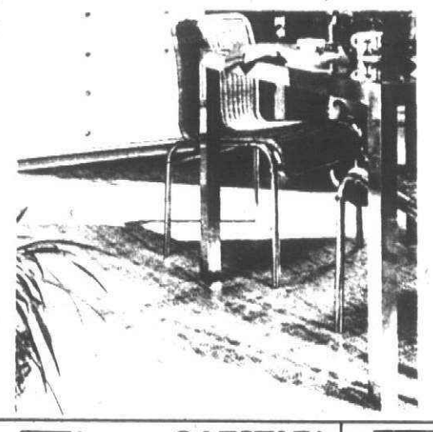

It is quite impossible to cover every single team in the massive Jr. baseball league—but standings and results appear in every Monday edition.

Jr. baseball coverage includes to all-star and tournament action, for individual teams and leagues.

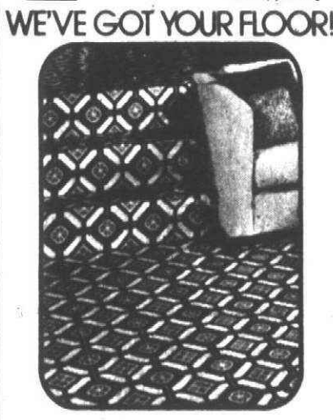

Coverage of the Salem and Canton summer clubs does not occur on the regular basis the Observer hopes it would because coaches have not been consistent in reporting the week's action to us.

All Canton and Salem summer league coaches who are interested in coverage from the Observer during the second half of the season are encouraged to contact Sports Editor Dennis O'Connor on Sunday mornings or nights at 459-2700 (office) or 453-6206 (home).

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

All-star bowling in the metropolitan Detroit area will have a new look when the new season opens in the fall.

For the first time since the All-Star League was organized 40 years ago, it will have an international flavor on Tuesday nights and an out-state competitor on Thursday evenings.

These drastic changes came about when the All-Star league granted a franchise to a Windsor team that will be captained by Junior Dinoso, who once bowled for the Stroh team.

Dinoso has developed a strong team across the river and he is certain it will be a factor in deciding the championship.

The Windsor team will not be the only newcomer. A franchise also has been granted to a Toledo combination that will be captained by Bob Kwiecien, an old hand in Detroit All-Star bowling.

He has picked his team from the top average bowlers in two Toledo establishments and it is bound to cut a figure in the battle for honors.

These two newcomers will compete at Thunderbowl Lanes on Tuesday evenings and will mark a new era in Detroit bowling.

Not to be outdone, the Thursday section of the league that bowls at Orchard Lanes also has spread its wings.

A franchise has beenawarded to a Saginaw team that will be captained by Larry Doyle.

The Saginaw team was accepted for the Thursday section on the fact that it would be too much to ask the team to travel to Allen Park's Thunderbowl Lanes on Tuesdays.

The admission of these three teams—especially the one from Canada—may be the first step in state wide and international competition.

Ten pin bowling is becoming more popular across the river where five pins had the rule for years. So, there is a possibility that inter-league competition will sprout on both sides of the Detroit River.

WHILE THE LEAGUE was shuffling it franchises, the individual teams have been undergoing a great shake-up.

Ever since the close of last season when Bill Spargo announced that he was tired of travelling on weekends and was leaving the Stroh team, speculation has been rife regarding his successor.

Now it can be told that Tom Vallone, who bowled with the Bonanza team last season, has changed places with Spargo. Vallone will bowl with the Stroh combination and Spargo will wear the Bonanza shirt.

Meanwhile, Chuck Sunseri, who had bowled with the Goebel team, has organized a team of his own and has rallied a number of stars.

Downriver Legion zaps Adray Mack all-stars

The Downriver American Legion All-Stars punched 11 hits off eight Adray Connie Mack All-Star pitchers Monday to claim a 5-3 victory in a special holiday baseball game played at Redford's Capital Park.

Legion scored single runs in the second and fourth innings and three runs in the fifth frame. The Adray-Mack Stars retaliated with one run each during the second, third and fourth innings.

Adray-Mack scored in the second on a single by Bob Zielinski, a stolen base and a single by Bill Picollo.

Don Dales started the third-inning mini-rally with a walk; Bob Waite singled and Scott Collins walked to load the bases. Gus Patek sent home Dales with a sacrifice fly. Brian Macek singled and ran all the way to third base when the ball went through the legs of the Legion leftfielder. Jeff Sheeran then ripped a single to score Macek.

Corey Drew, the fifth of eight Adray-Mack pitchers, took the loss. Each hurler worked one inning.

All six teams in the newly-formed Adray Connie Mack League sent several representatives to the game.

Kirk Hunter, Steve Topalian, Mike Thomas, Drew, Sheeran, John Kalil, Macek and Patek were selected from Adray Appliance.

Canton's representatives were Collins, Doug Briker, Paul Zydeck, Steve Morman and Steve Dawson, while Salem's selectees were Waite, Dave Nidsgorski, Mitch Symonds and Bruce Gearish.

Southfield's all-stars were Eric Swartz, Dennis Cooper, Joe Silver and Dave Smith, while Thurston's choices were Zielinski and Greg May. Greg Armstrong, Dave Heckeral, Dales and Doug Mazonie were Northville's representatives.

Hilltop Glen golf roundup

By BETTY DeLANO

As the summer days get shorter and hotter, the golf leagues at Hilltop Glen golf course become more and more active. And, naturally, the scores get lower and lower.

The first low net team in the Monday night Hydramatic league is the four-some of Jim Meier (with a 42 gross and a 32 net), Bob Korson (53-36), John Touse (58-38), and Gary Thompson (59-39).

Chris Meyer (47-37), Dave Strzalka (51-37), Bob Titzer (51-37), and Jim Dent (50-37) were the second low net team for the evening and Bill Hanna (48-38), Ron Springer (65-41), Don Carman (44-37) and Jim Lommel (59-40) took third low net.

Four low net individuals from the league were Meier (42-32), Joel Clark (43-34), Dave Acton (47-35) and Korson (53-36). Peggy Luxton helped her final score by chipping in off the ninth green.

In the Windsor Park ladies league, Fran Brudzinski holds the low score honors from last weeks play with a 53 followed by Rita Heath with a 56. Both Brudzinski and Heath are in the A flight.

Pat Thiburtz took first place in the B flight with a score of 67 and Yvonne Burdziak shot an even 70. Phylis Anders led the C flight with a 71 and Marcy Hirshauer followed with an 86. D flight leaders were Pat Fodey, 87, and Bobbie Plopan, 93. In the Wednesday night Businessmen's league, Hilltop's own four man team has won nineteen of their last twenty points for a total of forty points and a first place standing the league for another straight week.

Hilltop's Buck Zornow is to be comended on the fact that he has gone undefeated all season in the nine matches he has played in.

The weekly low net team was from Jerry Abram Stamps including Jerry Abram, Pat Herbert, Gene Bryne and Tom Hall. The team shot a total low net of 132 for the nine holes played.

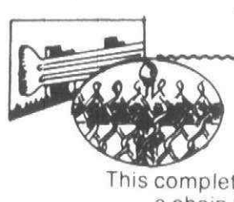

Herbert also gained individual low net honors with a 29. This was the second week in a row that Herbert shot a 29.

Behind Hilltop's team, the standings are as follows: Jerry Abram Stamps—34 points, Derby Bar—33, Johnston Insurance—31, Madison Products—27, Michigan T-Cats—25½, Plymouth Office Supply—23, Merriman Insurance—22, Mel's Golden Razor—20½, Evenson Shell—18½, Team 4—15.

"Where Customers Bring Their Friends"

In times like these, we still give our customers what they want.

Some home improvement ideas.

It's funny how a new car seems to improve your attitude, your home and even the whole neighborhood. Everybody wants to get in on the excitement.

That's why before we deliver your new car to you, we completely prep and inspect every inch. We go over it mechanically with a fine tooth comb to make sure it functions properly. And, we check the interior, door alignment and trim, too.

When you park your car in front of your home, we want you to be proud. Proud of your car and your dealership. Because at times like these, good customers are important.
