Opening dates and times of schools have been announced by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, with attendance starting for some students on Aug. 28.

Because of the Extended School Year (ESY) calendar, teachers meetings and one shortened elementary school day per week, school schedules could cause some confusion.

STUDENTS IN ESY schools on tracks A, B and C start school Monday, Aug. 28. Their first three days of school will have different morning starting times.

High school students have make-up arena scheduling from 1-3:30 p.m. on Aug. 28, 29.

Track D students do not start until Sept. 18, but all other students begin classes on Wednesday, Aug. 30.

Cards with bus routes and regular stop times are being mailed to every student who rides a school bus. These schedules will hold for the entire school year unless special adjustments must be made. Changes in school opening times result in similar changes in school bus stop times.

These are the attendance times for next week:

Monday, Aug. 28: ESY students will be picked up one hour later than the time listed on their bus cards. School will start at 9:50 at Eriksson, Field, Miller and Gallimore elementary schools. Isbister will start at 10:05 and Pioneer Middle at 8:50. These times are for this date only because of a district-wide teachers meeting

Tuesday, Aug. 29: Miller Elementary School will start at 9:35, Isbister at 9:50, and Eriksson, Field and Gallimore elementaries at 8:50. Pioneer Middle will start at 7:50, its regular daily starting time.

Wednesday, Aug. 30, all Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be in session

Elementary schools with a late start every Wednesday are Allen, Gallimore, Starkweather, Eriksson and Field opening at 9:35 and Farrand, Tanger and Isbister opening at 9:50. This is a 45-minute delay replacing the unified arts instruction, which was eliminated in an economy move following the defeat of the 1 1/2 additional mills in June.

These elementary schools have a regular starting time on Wednesday: Bird at 8:35, Geer at 8:25, Smith at 8:30, Fiegel at 9:05, Miller at 8:50, and Hulsing at 9:05.

Middle schools start at 7:50 except West at 7:40. Both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools start at 7:15.

After Wednesday all schools follow their normal schedules.

EACH SCHOOL WILL have a complete bus schedule for its attendance area in the school office.

According to school officials, this year's transportation schedule should be much simpler and more efficient once everyone gets used to it. No major changes are planned after any initial problems are corrected.

"Water Fight" is the title of this photograph by Canton resident Mary Lemon. It features two of the most distinguishing features of the suburbs-kids and construction. "I had been driving around looking for a good subject," Ms. Lemon says, "and I found it right in my own backyard." The children in the picture are the daughters of Robert and Mary Lemon. Julie, in the multi-colored suit, is 8 years old; sister Courtney is 5. Their brother Benjamin, 3, isn't in the picture because "he was filling his bucket at the time."

This is Ms. Lemon's first photo contest, and she won a $100 gift certificate from World Camera and Sound for her effort.

Surveillance snags robbery suspects

By CRAIG PIECHURA

After more than a week of intense, undercover surveillance-prompted by a string of cat burglaries-two Detroit men were arrested Wednesday morning. Police said the pair was observed taking tools and two power saws out of a garage in Plymouth Township.

A surveillance crew made up of Livonia and Canton police officers arrested Douglas R. Hill, 32, of 14594 Greydale and James D. Sutton, 31, of 15051 Patton, both of Detroit.

Police have been unable to positively link Hill and Sutton with approximately 40 early morning cat burglaries that occurred in Canton Township and Livonia since July 31.

But police decided to follow the pair after observing Hill's beat-up, green Pontiac station wagon cruising Canton subdivision streets twice during early morning hours.

Once the car carried improper plates, according to Canton Det. Sgt. Larry Stewart. The second time the vehicle was pulled over, the car carried plates registered to Hill.

Police say their subsequent check revealed that Sutton had been convicted once for burglary and three times for larceny. Hill's record shows three jail terms, one for carrying a concealed weapon and another for car theft, said Det. Walt Holowka of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

A SURVEILLANCE squad made up of officers from Canton, Wayne County, Livonia, Inkster and Garden City tailed the pair for two days before reportedly observing the men rob the home on Aspen in Plymouth Township. On the night of the arrest, police said Hill and Sutton cruised through Detroit, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Taylor, Redford Township, Livonia and Plymouth Township.

A chain saw, circular saw and various tools that police said belong to the Aspen homeowner were recovered. Sgt. Stewart added that police also found a Minolta 35 mm camera and a Minolta movie camera in the car. A Livonia man reported those two items stolen on Aug. 14.

Sutton and Hill are charged with receiving and concealing stolen goods and entering a home without breaking in. They are being held in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $25,000 cash or surety bond imposed by 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis. Both men must post the full $25,000 bond in order to be released, not just 10 per cent of the bond.

The latest cat burglary (a break-in that occurs while people in the home are sleeping) that was reported occurred Monday, Aug. 14 in Livonia, according to police. Canton police report a total of 23 cat burglaries took the cat burglars to relocate in Livonia, theorizes Sgt. Stewart.

Hardly an inconspicious vehicle, police followed veillance trying to stop a string of cat burglaries this car for two days before arresting two of its occupants. Canton and Livonia police spent hours in sur-

"IT GOT SO BAD that some people were stopped by us several times if they would leave home or come home at odd hours," the officer explained.

"One guy who drops his kids off in the morning to pick up the Free Press was pulled over repeatedly. It was like someone in Oakland County who drove a blue Gremlin.'

Sgt. Stewart said the arrest was made on the basis of "solid police work, not a tip or a call of a B&E in progress."

Close to 300 persons were stopped in Canton during the surveillance. Canton officers logged a total of 375.5 hours on the case and were paid a whopping $3,359.31 in overtime over the 12 days they worked on the case.

In all but one of the Canton cat burglaries, the thieves entered through nial houses is the reason they were the targets, theorized Sgt. Stewart.

In most of the late-night burglaries, TVs and money from purses were stolen. Canton police estimate approximately $9,300 in cash and another $9,300 in valuables is the cat burglary

John Wiktor, one of the victims of the cat burglar, said he thought police should have acted sooner and alerted residents to the crime wave. Police explain that they did not want to tip off the burglars.

Joy-Sheldon rezoning bid opposed in petition

A group of homeowners living in the vicinity of Sheldon and Joy have started a petition drive to block construction of a shopping center at that corner

On July 24 the Canton Planning Commission voted 6-1 to rezone the property from an office zone (O-1) to a commercial zone (C-2). After hearing George Peek, planning consultant, tell the board that recent construction of new homes in that area makes a shopping center "economically justified," all board members but Robert Schefferly approved the rezoning.

J.L. Properties of Plymouth, represented at the hearing by Cal Jabara and Dave Phips, want to build a neighborhood shopping center on the 11.3acre parcel that would include an A&P supermarket, a drug store and specialty shops.

The petition drive sponsor, Larry Markiewicz, cites excessive traffic, proximity to schools, poor road conditions and an "overabundance of existing and proposed shopping centers" as reasons for opposing the rezoning.

THE REZONING request will be decided next month by the Canton Board of Trustees.

smith points out that Mike Manore, the planning consultant from Wade, Trim and Associates who preceded Peek, argued twice-in 1974 and '75-against attempts to rezone that corner for commercial development.

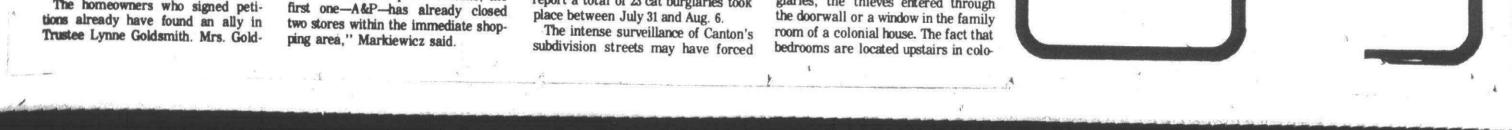

Mrs. Goldsmith said she agrees with the previous planner's opinion that commmercial development along Joy at Sheldon would "destroy the residential character of the area."

Planner Peek said that arguments about increased traffic and the poor road conditions are legitimate but he stresses that the road will have to be widened "no matter what happens."

Commercial construction has not kept pace with Canton's recent growth, Peek said. And a neighborhood shopping center would service Mayfair, Forest Trails and Windsor Park residents, he said.

Markiewicz says it is absurd to say that stores such as the proposed drug store are needed when a SuperX drug store, which was located less than two miles south on Sheldon, closed its doors last month due to lack of business.

TV Newshawk sues Patterson, paper

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Libel, slander, alleged

WXYZ-TV's "Newshawk" Jerry Stanecki filed suit last week in Oakland County Circuit Court against Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, The Oakland Press, a daily newspaper published in Pontiac, and Press reporter Ira Rosen.

According to briefs filed with circuit court. Stanecki, an investigative reporter for Channel Seven, claims Patterson slandered him and the Oakland Press maliciously printed statements which it knew to be false

The suit revolves around Patterson's Organized Crime Task Force's arrest of a number of allegedly middle-echelon mobsters in July after months of investigation. Undercover policeman Vincent Mazzara, who rose to fame as Detroit's Serpico in helping to bust a multi-million dollar heroin ring in 1974. was insturmental in the Oakland County investigation.

According to articles written by Rosen and published in the Oakland Press. Patterson and other unidentified sources said Stanecki, a Southfield resident, tipped off a Teamster Union official that Mazzarra was an undercover cop. Patterson and others also said the Federal Bureau of Investigation was investigating Stanecki for possible obstruction of justice.

Patterson claimed the alleged Stanecki tip almost ruined the investigation.

THE ROOT OF the suit against Patterson is the prosecutor's statement that the FBI was considering bringing obstruction of justice charges against Stanecki.

According to the suit, Stanecki claims Patterson's statements were intended to "subject Stanecki to embarrassment, ridicule, disgrace, and scorn.

He also accused the Oakland Press and its reporter with publishing "untrue, false and defamatory" statements. He also claims the newspaper knew the statements were untrue but printed the information anyway.

"THE OAKLAND Press, Rosen and Patterson gave erroneous and slanderous information and tried to destroy my career. I have spent the last 10 years as an investigative journalist and exposed corruption and corrupt politicians," Stanecki said last week before leaving on a vaction.

The suit, which asks damages of $10,000, has been assigned to Circuit Court Judge Farrell Roberts. It has brought disclaimers from Patterson's staff, the Pontiac-based newspaper and the FBI.

Patterson, who also was on vacation, could not be reached for comment. Richard Thompson, Patterson's chief assistant prosecutor, however, dismissed Stanecki's suit as "just one of many harassing lawsuits for his pursuit of organized crime.

Thompson said the suit was just another attempt to "put pressure directly on an investigative agency by having that agency defend itself in all these lawsuits.

The Oakland Press, which ran the Stanecki articles July 20 and 22, is standing by its story

"Prior to writing the articles, we took every precaution to insure their accuracy. We are standing behind our original stories and have confidence in the sources for them," said Oakland Press Editor Richard L. Conner.

THE FBI, which is in the middle of the Oakland County tempest, said "FBI Detroit is not conducting an invvestigation concerning a TV reporter on the possibility of obstruction of justice charges.

"The FBI has no investigation pending concerning a reporter, TV or otherwise, concerning the recent investigation in Oakland County.

The statement was released July 19 by O. Franklin Lowie, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office. Last week a spokesman for the FBI refused to comment as to whether the bureau had ever investigated Stanecki prior to the July 19 statement. "We'll stand on our original statement," said FBI spokesman Bill Napp.

No action will be taken on the suit for six months.

Hail the Rock

Sergeants Dale Horner gets a helping hand getting down from atop the rock from Sgt. Robert Byrd. The two Army recruiters in Plymouth made initial contact with Plymouth Salem High when they learned of the challenge of moving a six-ton rock to the high school site. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

SFC Jerry Malholland of the 300th Military Police Command of the Army Reserve in Livonia made all the arrangements to use the heavy military equipment of the Area Maintenance Support Activity (AMSA) unit. The rock is being loaded up here at the gravel pit near Seven Mile and Beck owned by Thompson Sand and Gravel which donated the boulder to Salem High for its "mascot."

(P,C)3A

Taken over the scales, the Rock weighed in at 11,520 pounds. The boulder stands almost seven feet tall and has a diameter of about four feet. It was moved by a five-ton crane operated by AMSA 40, an Army Reserve unit of the 124rd Army Reserve Command.

The rock is aboard a flatbed driven by members of AMSA 40, who are civil service employees on weekdays and Army Reservists on weedays. The AMSA "civilians" who did most of the work moving the Rock to Salem High Thursday morning were Charles Lundberg, Thomas Taylor and Charles Gould.

Thomas Taylor strains to turn the rock to a good position before touchdown on Rock territory-at the horseshoe in front of Plymouth Salem High.

Canton coordinators for the United Foundation fund drive are looking for neighborhood chairpersons and people who will agree to canvass their street for contributions. Local UF volunteers (from left) Margo Whiting, Esther Wilcox and Mary Jo Ochylski just found a new recruit.

UF starts local drive; bellringers are needed

The leaders of Canton's United Foundation fund drive believe it's about time the township had a fullfledged collection effort.

"This year there's actually going to be a Canton drive," said Mary Jo Ochylski. "Last year there was very little done locally. For example only 30 businesses were contacted and 27 of those gave.

Solicitation in the area will start on Oct. 2 and continue through Oct. 23, the final date for all contributions.

The three local chairwomen, Ms. Ochylski, Margo Whiting and Esther Wilcox, are in the process of signing up volunteers-men and women-to be bellringers and neighborhood chairmen. Interested persons can contact Ms. Ochylski at 397-3023, Ms. Whiting at 455-3563 and Ms. Wilcox at 455-7342. The UF staff representative for the area is Diana Kohler Lodge, who can be reached at 565-7141. The Canton community campaign organizers want to ask for donations in every subdivision and apartment in Canton. Because of the sparce population in the rural western half of the township, mailings will be distributed in that region.

Ms. Ochylski said all UF volunteers will carry identification and a special folder to guard against phony solicitation attempts.

One UF-sponsored agency is located in Canton but township residents take advantage of services offered in five areas.

Some 29 residents are serviced by child care, three are taking advantage of institutions such as the Todd-Phillips Children's Home and Vista Maria School; three residents are housed in Marillac Hall, a maternity home; 127 Canton residents benefit from Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County; 20 receive special services such as the Legal Aid and Defender Association's services and 14 residents receive UF health services.

66 senior citizen apartments being built by Hendry, Herbert

By EMORY DANIELS

Construction has started on a 66unit, three-story apartment in the City of Plymouth for senior citizens.

Plymouth Towne Apartments is being built on Plymouth Road just west of the existing Hendry Convalescent Center. The principle investors are John Hendry and Chuck Herbert.

Hendry and Herbert, partners in the project, also are acting as developers and general contractors for the $1.25 million project.

There will be occupancy for some 80 residents when the building is completed, probably in mid-summer 1979.

HENDRY STRESSES that the development is not a nursing home but "an adult living community which provides services to renters, similar to living in a hotel."

The three-story building will contain 54 one-bedroom apartments, each with a complete kitchen and 12 two-bedroom units.

The project will include a spacious lobby, kitchen, community dining facilities and facilities for recreation and activities. There also will be a beauty shop and a doctor's office.

Green space surrounding the building will be used for horse shoes, shuffle board and croquette. There also is space for a a small garden for each of those residents who would like to garden and also space for a large patio.

HEBERT AND HENDRY say that anyone providing housing for elderly people have "an obligation to make the housing attractive and noninstitutional in character and to provide organized services essential to the well-being of older people.

Six organized services essential to older adults, they say, are transportation, meals, organized activity, shopping, meaningful daily activity, and medical care.

"More than 80 per cent of the elderly have no means of transportation," Hendry says. "Without organized transportation the elderly person is a prisoner in his dwelling unit

"Inexpensive meals must be regularly available. Elderly people are often unwilling to prepare meals for themselves. As many as one-third of are planning will become a national people 65 years and older, regardless of economic means, suffer from dehydration or malnutrition.

"Organized activity must be available on a regular basis. Older people must be urged to participate in group activities. And convenient shopping must be readily available

"The ability to continue meaningful work or to participate in hobbies and recreation must be provided by making facilities and equipment available.

"The older person must know that should a health emergency arise, "medical care is immediately available to him," Hendry says.

Hebert adds that the location of the apartments is advantageous as a housing site for the elderly because it is a safe location adjacent to apartment housing within short distance of downtown Plymouth.

Hebert commented: "There is a myth that all old people have no adequate means and require subsidization.

"With the increase in Social Security, pension plans and large equity in their own homes, many older persons have more than sufficient means to rent comfortable surroundings and purchase services they require. Unfortunately, organized, non-institutional assistance is virtually unobtainable at any price.

"Plymouth Towne Apartments is much more than just an apartment. It isn't a nursing home or a home for the aged. Its residents are people who require more than just shelter housing. These are not people who are ill or feeble enough to require institutionalization. With a little help, they can continue to live independently."

SERVICES TO BE provided will include a full-time activities director, planned vacation trips, planned daylong recreational and cultural outings, linen service, maid service, facilities for personal laundry, transportation, an emergency call system, and meals delivered to the room of anyone temporarily indisposed.

The transportation service will allow residents to go to churches, movies, the library and shopping.

"We believe that the community we example of all that is the best in providing housing for the elderly who have much to give to the community and ask very little of it," commented Hendry.

"Plymouth Towne Apartments will enable residents of Plymouth to continue to be close to their children and friends after they no longer want or are able to maintain a single residence.

"It will offer a safe haven to older people who neeed a minimum of help to stay active and well. HENDRY AND HEBERT have been planning the project for about three years now, but kept running into roadblocks trying to obtain financing. At one time an attempt was made to finance the project through the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) When that effort failed, the pair turned to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

When HUD denied application for support, Hendry and Hebert than turned to the private sector and obtained a conventional loan from First Federal Savings of Detroit. "It will be non-subsidized, rental housing," said Hebert.

Thus far, the names of some 35 persons are on a waiting list to rent apartments. Anyone with questions or who wishes to have their names placed on a waiting list may call 455-0510.

Hendry and Hebert also share ownership in the nearby Hendry Convalescent Center, but stress that the apartment will be a separate operation.

Rebuilt after major fire

Parmenter's is ready for another cider season

Vern Bodker wiped beads of sweat from his forehead, smiled, waved his hand at the front of the new building and said, "It's going to be nip and tuck but we'll be on stream.

He's pitching in with the construction crew that bustles to complete the new Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill in time for a September opener.

"I'm confident we'll be in business on Sept. 2," the owner said. "Our presses will begin operating that Saturday, the same day we'll start selling.

If he succeeds, Bodker will have done what many thought was impossible late last year when flames consumed one of the oldest, continuously operating businesses in Northville.

Success will mean the unbroken seasonal operation will have been continued into the 107th year at its Base Line Road location.

years since buying it from the last operating Parmenter family member, Bodker was wiped out last December by the early morning fire.

Not only was much of the main building destroyed but others were sufficiently damaged to require their removal.

Destroyed, too, was much of the old equipment, including the historic old presses

Authorities labeled it the work of an arson as they did several other fires in the area

Shocked by the loss of this important piece of Northville's history and facing a financial drain, Bodker pledged almost immediately to rebuild.

The new facility won't be as large as the older one, admitted Bodker, "but it's going to be a credit to the community-I'm certain of that. I just couldn't afford to duplicate the size of the

Although the cider mill will be a new one, it will retain its historic ties. What's more, Bodker has deliberately chosen a configuration for the new building that reflects the rural past. It's barn-like appearance will fea-ture a board and batton exterior that will be stained "barn red" in color.

Having 4,000 square feet of floor space, it will feature a large panelled sales area in the front and facilities in the rear for presses, for caramel apple and peanut butter-making equipment, and for doughnut making.

It also will contain a large walk-in cooler for storage of fresh cider.

The entire second level of the building will be used for storage.

Public lavatories are especially designed to accommodate the handicapped. Bodker said, "that's important because a large number of our customers come from area hospitals."

The front sales area will be smaller than the former facilities but the owner is confident it will be functional.

Concerning the new presses, Bodker is both excited and apprehensive. There's no doubt, he admitted, that the old-fashioned presses were an attraction. With the new all-stainless steel equipment, the presses will be far more functional and a good deal more sanitary, but perhaps not as appealing to the oldtimer.

"I'm delighted we won't be using the old cloths and frames. I'm a stickler for cleanliness, but no matter how meticulously we maintained the old equipment, there simply was no way to meet the standard of cleanliness I insist on

"Sure, I'm a little afraid some people won't like the idea of new presses, but they can be confident of receiving cider quality that can't be topped.'

A side viewing area will permit the public to watch the press operation.

The drive and the area in the front and west of the cider mill will be blacktopped. Paving is slated to begin next week. The rear area will be graveled as it has in the past.

About the only substantial equipment saved from the previous operation, according to Bodker, were the refrigeration tanks (but not the com-pressors), washer, and the device that dumps the pallets.

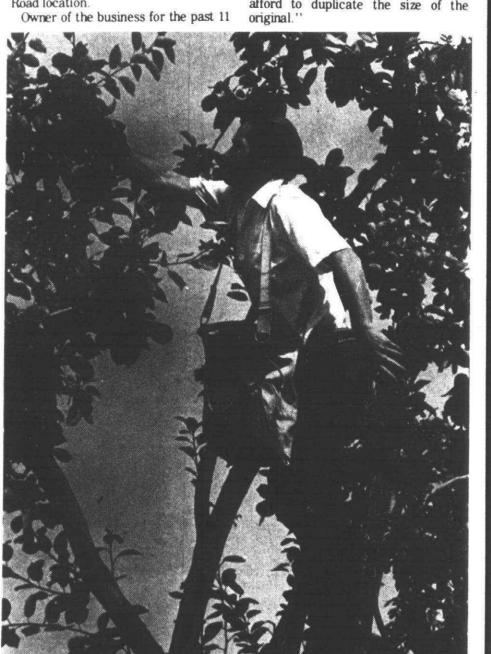

So confident is he of the September opener, Bodker already has made arrangement for the purchase of apples from North Carolina.

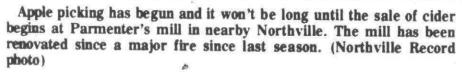

"We buy from there," he said, "to ensure the avilability of fresh apples that may not be available that early in Michigan. I'd rather have fresh apples than last year's apples taken from storage.

Bodker intentionally has added the "Northville" to the cider mill name. "We've retained the Parmenter name but added and emphasized Northville because it has more recognition in other metropolitan areas." he explained.

Massey Cadillac and Daly Drive-In lived up to their first-place finishes in the Plymouth Slow-Pitch Softball League by winning post-season playoff tournaments in the men's and women's action last week.

Massey, once beaten in regular season play and champions of the 'A' Division for the second straight season, breezed through five games to win men's playoffs and the sponsor trophy. Massey beat Wagner Electric, 8-6, in the championship game of the 12-team double-limination event.

The men's tourney included the top four teams from the three divisions competing for the playoff honor. The runners-up from Wagner Electric won the 'B' Division in regular season action

Daly, undefeated in the eight-team women's league had no problem in its championship game against secondplace American Community, trouncing its foes, 12-0, for the playoff title. Daly topped the four-team double-elimination event by tripping Box Bar and Little Caesar before taking the title.

IN THE MEN'S championship game, Massey spotted Wagner three runs in the first inning and third more in the third inning before staging a sixth inning rally. Wagner held a 6-4 lead through five innings, but Massey's awesome home runs power prevailed in the sixth.

Cal Glomski started the fireworks with his three-run homer which scored Brian Gilles and Pete Woodard in front of him. Tim Abramski offered the encore when he followed Glomski with a solo shot to end the scoring.

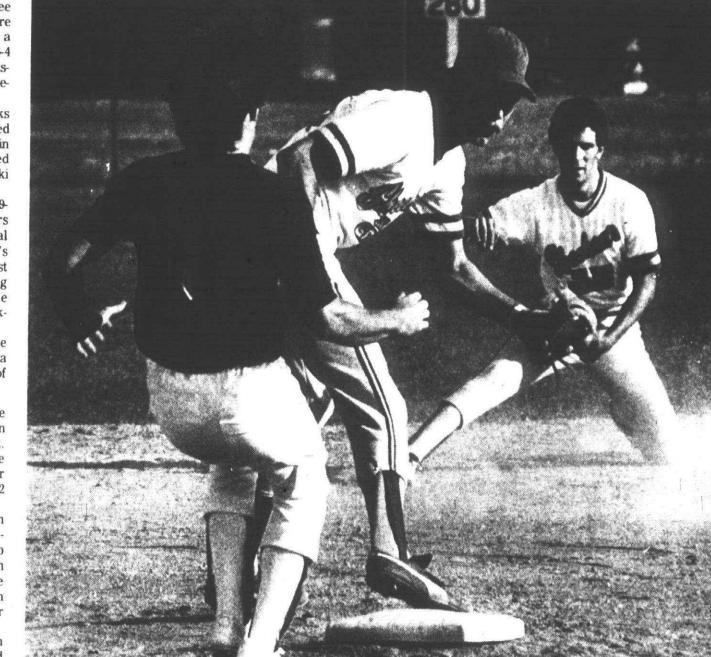

Wagner reached the finales with a 9-6 triumph over third place finishers Finlan Insurance in the semifinal battle. Wagner reached the winner's bracket final before losing its first game to Massey. Robot Printinng placed fourth, while Beautiful People and Sheehan's on the Green, a darkhouse contender, tied for fifth place.

Manley, Bennett, McDonald, the champions of the 'C' Division, made a quick playoff exit, losing two out of three.

DALY PROVED to be the best in the women's league, outclassing American Community with the 12-run shut out. American Community reached thee finals with a semifinal victory over Little Caesar, despite committing 12 errors.

Daly was in control all the way in the championship game, as Nan Hewson opening the scoring with a solo home run in the second inning. Coach Jeanne Martin's squad went onto score three runs in the third inning, one in the fourth, three in the sixth and four more in the seventh.

Barb Smith smashed a three-run homer in the third inning, Di Stanfield blasted a solo roundtripper in the fourth, and Hewson added another home run in the sixth. Hewson was the hitting hero in the game, adding a three-run double in the seventh to help the onslaught asis wins title Oasis Golf Center, the Plymouth-Livonia women's fast-pitch softball team, will compete in the Class 'D'

Labor Day weekend. Oasis earned this honor by winning the four-team Livonia District competition Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Oasis edged Mason's Lounge 3-2 in the first game and then squeeked by upstart Spectrum Lounge in the championship to take the title.

state tournament in Midland over the Oasis, coached by Linda DeWitt, was supposed to compete in a regional tournament but advanced to the state event when Port Huron and Flint failed to send Class 'D' representatives for action.

The state tournament is an eightteam event featuring regional winners from all over Michigan.

Coach DeWitt felt that Mason's Lounge would be the toughest district competition before the tourney began. Spectrum, the last-place team in the Livonia regular season league, proved to be Oasis' best challenge, however.

"I thought we would skate through Spectrum," DeWitt said after beating Mason by one run. "But they (Spectrum) were ready and really rose to the occasion.

Denise Cifaldi, coming off a twoweek absence because of an injury, spotted Spectrum two runs in the third and fourth innings as Oasis found itself down 4-2 in the championship game. Then Oasis rallied for three runs in the fifth inning, and Plymouth's Jan Boyd hurled three spotless innings of relief work to give Oasis the title.

Cifaldi led off the fifth-inning rally with a base-on-balls. Plymouth's Vickie Cavallaro singled her to second and both runners scored when Pam Schipani's sacrifice bunt resulted in a throwing error. Schipani, the team's captain, moved to third base on the play and scored the winning run when Plymouth's Sue McDowell hit a sacrifice fly.

Oasis outhit Spectrum 5-4 but it was the defense that sparked the victory.

"The girls showed great poise under the pressure," DeWitt said about her first-year team. "We didn't make an error in either district game."

Boyd sparkled on the mound against Mason, hurling a masterful four-hitter. She struck out seven hitters.

Oasis registered six hits from six different batters, scoring twice in the fourth and one in the fifth inning. Mason tallied two in the fourth inning

PCJAA promotes involvement

(This is the second of a four-part informational series which examines the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association (PCJAA). This article discusses the history and philosophies of the huge organization).

By DENNIS O'CONNOR Sports Editor

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association is a non-profit and voluntary organization which offers sports programs to all boys and girls in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools

THE PCJAA was created by the junior football league back in April of 1967 and extended its membership immediately to the junior baseball and junior basketball associations. In the fall of 1970, the junior hockey program juoined the other three groups.

Jim Sinclair has been the president of the four-member PCJAA since 1976. In his third year as presient, Sinclair, an original volunteer in the junior football program, has been the main thrust behind the drive to help raise money for the organization.

Previous presidents include Jack Gray (football-1974-76), Howard Oldford (basketball-1972-74), Dick Randazzo (hockey-1971-72), Ron Hees (football-1970-71), John VanWagoner (basketball-1969-70), George Hunter (football-1968-69), and John Ennis (baseball-1967-68).

THE PURPOSE of the PCJAA is to sponsor and promote organized sports activities for all Plymouth-Canton youngsters youngsters. Through these programs it is hoped that children will develop their citizenship, sportsmanship, fellowship, and physical abilities.

The objective of the PCJAA is to raise additional funds for its programs through soliciting civic organizations and merchants interested in helping athletics.

Among the philosophies of the PCJAA, coordination of physical fitness programs with competent adult supervision is one of the most important things the organiztion stresses.

Basic administration, coaching, and adult involvement is strictly voluntary. All youngsters, ages 6-20, who live in the school district may participate regardless of financial situations. If any youth is unable to pay for the registration fee of a particular sport, the PCJAA helps with any assistance possible.

Anyone who registers to play in any of the four PCJAA programs is guaranteed to compete in each contest. There are specific minimum and maximum playing rules in each sport.

To help continue offering these four sports in the community, the PCJAA tries to keep registration fees as low as possible. To reach this goal, the organization stresses and tries to maintain complete volunteer help for all its programs, in order to keep costs down.

Besides promoting physical fitness and youth involvement, the PCJAA also wishes to develop community leadership through family enjoyment of all the activities.

SINCE THE Plymouth-Canton community is a fast-growing area, the PCJAA has also worked hard to expand all its programs.

In 1970, the junior baseball league involved 650 boys and no girls. Seven years later, there were 1,449 boys and 338 girls playing on the diamonds. Football has grown from 104 boys and 16 cheerleader in 1970, to over 200 boys and 40 cheerleaders this fall.

Basketball included 540 boys in 1970 and no girls in 1970. Now, there are the same number of boys, but 232 more girls. Hockey saw only 100 boys participate in 1970, but there were 350 icers in 1977 and two girls teams in 1977.

Course to test O&E entrants

By DOUG FUNKE

Whispering Willows Golf Course, site of the 10th annual Observer & Eccentric Open Tournaments next month, will be an excellent test of ability even though it is a municipal rather than a private facility.

That's the word from Dave Montgomery, head greenskeeper at the Livonia course.

Montgomery and his staff of three full-time assistants and six seasonal employees are now grooming the 6,265-yard, par 71 layout (5,772 yards, par 71 for women) for the upcoming tournaments.

Whispering Willows is different from most municipal courses in that at Willows there are a number of traps and water hazards that must be negotiated for a successful round.

Most municipal courses are designed to expedite play. Sand traps, woods and water, however, tend to slow movement.

Whispering Willows has managed to combine the best of both worlds-a great amount of play (505 rounds one day this summer) with the challenge of a tricky layout.

Montgomery said there are 48 traps on the course, six holes in which woods come into play and five holes in which water must be avoided.

Unlike some courses, which are doctored before a tournament to make the test more challenging, nothing radical is planned for the O&E Tourneys, said Montgomery.

"The pin placements will be more challenging, but other than that, the course will play standard," he said.

The course seems unusually green considering the relative lack of rain we've experienced. The fairways have been watered more this summer than in years past, said Montgomery.

Fifteen tons of fertilizer will also have been spread around the course by the end of summer.

Montgomery, a golfer who plays to a five handicap, said that several holes will offer challenges to the best of competitors.

"Number 11 (390 yards, par four) was on Jim Price's TV program last year," said Montgomery. "There are traps in back of the green, water in front and woods on both sides.

"There are good par threes—six (217 yards) and 14 (205 yards)-and seven (485 yards) is a good par five," continued Montgomery.

"It's a fairly long drive out of the woods (on the seventh hole) to the fairway and there are three traps around the green.'

Medium-length, narrow chutes face drivers on the second and 11th tees. Those two fairways form a V.

There are several holes, though, on which even novice golfers have a chance to do well-the wide, 460-yard, par-five first and the 125-yard, parthree 16th. Both are good birdie holes. Upwards of 80 entries have been received so far for the tournaments. The men will compete Sept. 9 and 10 and the women will take to the course Sept. 12.

Entry fee is $24 for men and $10 for women. The field will be divided into flights based on handicap. Medal (stroke) play will prevail.

Entry deadline for men is Sept. 5 and Sept. 7 for women.

All amateur golfers who are residents of Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, Redford, Westland, Garden City, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Township, Troy, Rochester and Avon Township may enter.

Players can register by mailing the entry coupon which appears in most editions of the O&E to Whispering Willows, or by registering in person at the course, which is located on Newburgh Between Seven and Eight Mile.

Through the years the bowlers in metropolitan Detroit have made many fine contributions to charity.

For instance, they have helped to build up a cash pot of close to $50,000 in the drive sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association.

They have done a great job for the Capuchin Fathers in helping to maintain the Soup Kitchen on the east side, and they have responded nobly to the Heart Tournament at Timber Lanes. These were all group efforts in which all bowlers took part. But something new was added this year when the Goebel team of the all-star league, set out on its own to build up a fund that would help a blind person obtain a leader dog form the famed school in Rochester.

When the drive got underway, it was hoped that $4,000, the cost of training one dog, could be raised. But due to the generosity of the bowlers and their followers, the fund reached $13,568.38.

Physicals here

Physical examinations for all middle school and high school athletes in the Plymouth-Canton community will be offered this week.

The boys' physicals take place on Tuesday, while the girls report on Wednesday. The physicals will be at the Plymouth Salem High School upper commons area at 6 p.m. both nights. Cost is $5.

All school athletes who will compete in the 1978-79 season are eligible for the physicals.

Salem tennis

An organizational meeting and the first practice for the Plymouth Salem girls tennis team takes place Monday at the Centennial to come to practice.

If it rains, the meeting will be held in the gymnasium balcony at Salem High School.

Rocks coach Jan Lawson said if girls miss the first meeting, they are still welcome to tryout for the team at any practice session from 9-11 a.m. on the week of Aug. 21. The second week of practice, starting on Aug. 28, will take place from 3-5 p.m.

Morrell's stats

Morrell's Builders, Plymouth champions of the Men's Modified Softball League this past season, recently released its team statistics.

They finished with a perfect 14-0 regular season record and 25-1 in overall competition. Morrell's final season record was 30-5, including out-state tournament action.

As a team, Morrell's batted a hefty .337, scoring 284 runs on 342 hits. Morrell's smacked 39 homeruns for the season. Dan Pierce led Morrell's in batting with an impressive .464 average. Pierce smacked 46 hits in 99 trips to the plate, including 15 homeruns. also a teamtops on the team.

Steve Karas followed Pierce with a respectable .435 batting average, while Rob Willette was third at .412.

Canton golf results.

Ray Horrey and Jim Gabriel lost 41/2 points to Sam Natoli and John Mogelnicki to fall from first to third place in the Canton Men's Golf League last week. Charlie Sheets and Merph Eminger swept five points from Gary Rehberg and Dan Riggs to take over the lead Natoli and Mogelnicki now hold second-place alone after blitzing the former leaders. Eminger and Sheets total 201/2 points after five weeks of play. Natoli and Mogelnicki have 191/2 points, while Horrey and Gabriel have 18.

Gabriel, Paul Oberhelman and Jim Young turned in the best rounds of the week, as all three men scored 41s.

IN WOMEN'S ACTION, Ginnie Johnson continues to hold a slim lead after five weeks of play. Mary Kay Frey took over second place from Bev Green. Frey is one point off the lead with 23 points, while Green totals 22. Tiiu Himmelberger and Pauline Pryor are tied in fourth place with 21 points each.

IN SENIOR ACTION, Floyd Vickery and Bill Beggs have increased their lead by 19 shots over second-place Judy Bond and Ralph Dietz. Emma Aleman and Gary Aleman are in third place.

Griffin splits in Johnstown

After winning their opening game easily, Griffin Sport Shop went down to defeat in its second contest last week in the All-American Amateur Baseball Assocation championships at Johnstown, Pa.

New Orleans pasted Griffin, 17-3, after the Livonia-based squad blasted host Johnstown, 8-0, in the doubleelimination tournament.

"The score really was not indicative of the type of ball game that we played. The New Orleans squad went into the game with a season record of 69-3. They were quite a team," said Griffin coach Roger Frayer after the defeat

New Orleans cracked a total of 18 hits during the contest and committed one error. Griffin tallied eight hits without an error

Griffin went through four pitchers during the nine-inning contest. Mark Wilkins, the starter, was charged with the defeat. Wilkins hurled just two innings before Doug Smith came on. Smith was relieved by Bill Bardwell who, in turn, was pulled for Art Wendt

New Orleans opened the scoring in the first frame with two runs and kept slamming at Griffin with one run in the second inning, three in the third, two in the fourth, six in the seventh and three in the eighth.

Griffin collected two runs in the second inning and one in the fifth.

In the second, Tim Murphy singled and scored on Rob Taraskavage's double. Taraskavage then crossed the plate when Randy Rodriguez banged out another single.

Ron Colone singled, Scott Collins walked and Ken Scarpace singled to account for Griffin's lone run in the fifth frame.

In the opening game of the tournament, before a crowd of 17,500, Griffin blanked Johnstown, 8-0, with a string of 12 hits. Johnstown collected just three hits.

Brent Erickson was the winning hurler. He pitched all nine innings, walked one and struck out 14 batters.

"He was impressive. Brent was in complete domination of the contest," Frayer said.

Griffin exploded for six runs in the third inning and then added two more in the seventh to knock off one of the tournament favorites.

In that third frame, Dennis Rusiewski singled, stole second and Collins then followed Colone's blast with a single as did Scarpace and Murphy cracked another home run, a three-run blast over the left field fence. Taraskavage then tripled and scored two batters later on a wild pitch. John Massab was at the plate on the wild pitch.

Scarpace walked, Murphy doubled and Taraskavage singled to produce Griffin's two runs in the seventh frame.

Murphy slammed three hits in five trips to the plate to lead Griffin's offensive attack. He also collected four RBIs. Tararskavage and Mark Galasso each went 2-4 at the plate.

"It was just fantastic to play for a crowd like that. The whole team was in awe but we loved it," said Frayer.

The college of hard knocks Obscure LPGA rookie wins little money

By DOUG FUNKE

If Nancy Lopez has climbed to the top of the ladder of golfing success this year by winning $153,947 through 20 events, then Martha Nause, a 23-yearold pro from Sheboygan, Wis., can be described as someone looking for a foothold on that ladder.

Lopez won an unprecedented seven tournaments during her recently-completed rookie year. Nause, currently a rookie, had won exactly $691.23 since the first of the year as of last Friday.

In 19 outings this year prior to the Lady Stroh's Open, Nause's best finish was a tie for 41st place at the Wheeling Classic. She has missed the cut 10 times, five in a row during one stretch.

During the tour's stop prior to the Lady Stroh's-the Western Union International Classic in New York-Nause made the cut and finished 72 holes, but failed to win any money.

Nause earned her tour card during the winter qualifying school and must earn at least $1,800 this year to retain her touring privilege. She is running out of time

While Lopez generally draws large crowds wherever she appears, Nause's

"They wanted me to get a job where I would have a definite plan," Nause continued, "and I thought, 'How about a golf professional?'

And why not, considering that she has been playing the game since she was six years old.

"I think secretly they wanted me to do that, but they never pushed," she said. "My parents have been as generous and understanding as can be. Probably everyone here could say the same. My parents have been so encouraging.

"They keep telling me not to worry about the money," Nause added. "This year is sort of like an internship. I'm learning every week. There hasn't been one week that's gone by that I haven't gained something.

Although Nause is confident she'll earn the minimum amount of money to keep her playing privileges, she admits sometimes she gets worried and starts to press.

"I try not to think about it, but I can't help it," she said. "I don't think about winning, but to get in the money.

Nause travels alone by car from tournament to tournament. She said sional Golf Association, to stay in prievery time," she said. "They don't vate homes at each stop. "That's play within themselves.

"They don't want to accept the fact that maybe they can't hit very far, they try to anyway and that's when they start to press.

Nause is convinced that the experience she picks up during her initial pro season will make up for some of her short-term agonies.

Morgan's rolling

The newly-installed $50,000 racing surface at the Detroit Race Course has slowed times of the horses to a gallop, but it has also served to hasten the career of jockey Mike Morgan, off to the fastest start of his five-year racing career.

Morgan, a resident of Redford, has had a history of being a bridesmaid in jockey races throughout his brief career.

The dimunitive Nebraska native has always been a good place bet, finishig second in the jockey race at both DRC and Hazel Park to more publicized rivals. This year, Morgan may be for real

"I've got the lead now and I want to keep it," he said following his 12th winning ride of the meeting. Through the hurried process of weighin, weigh-out and change of silks, interupted by a quick cigarette, Morgan talked about his fast start in the first nine days of the DRC meeting.

The new track has a lot to do with it. It's deeper. You have to be able to hold the horse up when he gets tired,' Morgan said.

Morgan said there were other things which he did not care to elaborate on which have put him on top of the early jockey standings

Among those "other things" certainly has been the quality of horses booked for him by agent Frank "the Greek" Garousalis. Both in quality and quanity, Morgan's mounts have been matched only by traditional jockey leader Wayne Catalano.

Through Monday's races, Morgan had ridden 58 times, better than six times a day and second only to "the Cat" who has gotten top jockey title at Hazel Park.

"I'm stronger now," said Morgan.

(P,C)3B

MIKE MORGAN

"I like to ride the card if I can," he said, expressing his desire to ride every race.

Morgan now hits the scale at 110 to 111 pounds, three pounds over his track weight last year. Only those who deal in the pounds and ounces of the thoroughbred sport can appreciate what that kind of a weight difference can mean when trying to rate a thousand-pound horss.

Rating has become especially important over the new surface of the Livonia track which is deeper and heavier than its predecessor. As a result, horsea with early speed have been faltering as have jockeys who have made careers out of hustling horses out of the gate and holding off the field

Morgan has never been such a rider, as is reflected in his four-win lead over the ever-present Catalano and the remainder of the jockeys.

Even if Nause doesn't retain her playing card, it isn't too difficult to believe that she could be a success in a number of other fields

During her relative young lifetime, Nause has graduated from St. Olaf College with a degree in biology, worked as a surgical aide for two summers, learned to play the French horn and backpacked through Alaska.

'I didn't know what to expect," said Nause recalling her feelings before starting to play-for-pay her first year on the pro tour.

'When I got to the (qualifying) school, I didn't know what was going to happen. I got my card so easy I thought, 'This isn't going to be so bad.'

Nause's parents-Frederick, a surgeon, and Rebecca, both low handicap golfers-agreed to finance her first couple of years on the tour. For tax purposes, they formed a corporation with Martha listed as an employee.

However, that may be getting ahead of the story a bit.

Nause was cruising through her senior year of college looking for a graduate program in marine mammal studies. She said she couldn't find one until it was too late to enroll last year.

"My parents wanted to know, 'What are you going to do?' I told them I would work for a year, but they wanted me to tell them exactly what I wanted to do.

she enjoys the travel, but adds that "it gets awful tiring.

"When I was in school, I was around friends, but I'm an introvert in things like this. It's hard to feel really included."

When not competing, Nause said she runs approximately three times a week, reads and occasionally goes sightseeing.

She also admits to being a photography buff. "Sometimes I carry a camera around practice rounds and take pictures of interesting holes," she said.

Nause said she would much rather play with the likes of Lopez, Judy Rankin and other established pros than amateurs or fellow rookies, although she spends more time socializing with the latter.

Nause said she really seems to concentrate when competing head-to-head with the big names. "It gets my adrenalin going. I played with Nancy (Lopez) last week and with so many people around, I didn't want to make a fool of myself."

The soft-spoken Nause, who frequently punctuates her remarks with a smile, said she is finally glad to see women's sports get their just recognition from the public

"For so many years when I was growing up, I was good in sports and put down for it," she said. "A few years ago, you were not a good athlete if you were a girl.

"Now, people appreciate it, the time and skill you put to work. It's fun to be appreciated.

Nause said her weekly tour expenses are not as high as some of the other players because she has arranged, with the help of the Ladies' Profes-

Finds demand growing after 21 years

Vagaries of taxi business don't deter Foster

By BETTY MASSON Special Writer

With two and three automobiles sitting in so many suburban garages, a taxicab company might not seem like a very vital factor in the quality of life in the suburbs, except possibly to the businessman who has to catch a plane at 6 a.m.

Not so, says Vernon Foster, owner of Livonia's cab firm, the Yellow and Red Cab Co., which celebrated its 21st birthday Aug. 14. Foster also owns and operates companies in Garden City, Westland, Redford Township, Plymouth, Northville, Farmington, West Bloomfield and Dearborn Heights.

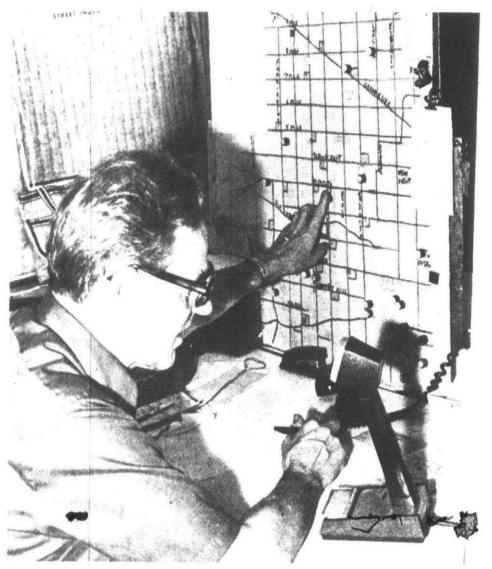

Foster calls his customers "the transportation disadvantaged." He identifies them as "the elderly, the handicapped, the blind and the infirm to whom a taxicab is a vital link in a fuller life.

It was in a presentation during a recent Detroit hearing conducted by the Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration that Foster pointed out the importance of taxi service to a suburban community.

The department is attempting to determine what steps to take if gas rationing becames necessary in the United States under terms of the nation's commitment to the International Energy Program.

Foster made the presentation in his role as executive secretary of the Metropolitan Taxicab Association, representing 8,000 persons in the metropolitan area whose livelihoods are concerned with the business.

HE POINTED OUT that during World War II, taxicabs were alloted 100 per cent of necessary gasoline.

Foster claimed that the services of taxicabs are even more essential now because of urban sprawl.

"I am the only 'public mass transportation' in the majority of cities in southeastern Michigan," he said. "I'll take you anywhere you want to go, any time you call me.'

In his comments for the industry as a whole, he continued, "I'm pretty damn efficient, too, not because you told me to be- but because to exist I have to be efficient, fuel-efficient, mechanically-efficient, managementefficient.

"If I waste fuel or oil, I go broke. That's it. I can't apply to SEMTA, UPTRAN or UMTA for an operating assistance grant. I must carry as many passengers as possible for every one of my dollars that I spend for gasoline.

Foster pointed out that taxis are not only "mass transit," but also an emergency medical service.

"My customers know. Ask the Red Cross, ask the hospitals. When they need blood, I'm the guy they call. I am NOW delivery when time is important.'

BUSINESSES AND individuals today are increasingly using taxis when they want someone or something delivered in a hurry, Foster said.

One recent trip involved delivery of a vital part from the Veterans Administration hospital in this area to Iron Mountain in the upper peninsula when that city's airport was closed in by fog.

Taxis also are often used to transport work crews, such as railroad workers, during emergencies, according to Foster.

During the 1967 riots in Detroit, he said, taxis from Livonia carried Detroit Edison, Michigan Consolidated Gas, Bell Telephone and hospital emergency personnel into the area.

Foster himself came from Detroit in 1957. He was a school teaster who realized, in 1953, that he could not keep his wife and two daughters on a salary of $3,357 a year. So, he started by buying half a cab in Detroit.

IN 1957, THERE WERE no taxi companies licensed to operate in Livonia. After petitioning the city council, Foster and another person who operated a small bus service on Five Mile and Farmington Roads received their licenses on the same evening. Foster recalls that he began operations with five cabs "at a little old gas station at Five Mile and Farmington." He had a partner at the time, but he quit after six months.

He said that in the early days, 'when there wasn't much out here,' one of the big costs was repairing springs and wheels broken down by the bad roads. Later, drivers did a lot of wading through subdivisions which flooded due to lack of storm sewers.

During one period, Foster operated his business out of his own home "with a two-way radio set on the kitchen sink and a phone and microphone next to the bed.'

"I'm the guy who got out of bed at 4 a.m. on a cold morning to take an expectant mother to the hospital for $1.80, Foster told the government hearing.

Today, Foster's cab companies cover an area of more than 200 square miles with a population of about 400,000. He also is a stockholder and general manager of Checker Suburban Cabs in Livonia.

FOSTER HAS branched out as smaller companies went broke. He says it is impossible to make a living operating a company in just one small city in a suburban area.

Under licensing laws, the small cab driver can pick up passengers in the town for which he is licensed. He can deliver his passengers anywhere in the area. But he cannot pick up passengers in places where he is not licensed, so the return trip is at a loss

In Redford Township, he said, there used to be eight cab companies, operating 21 vehicles. Today there are three companies.

Foster's drivers have six licenses. Most drive in their spare time. One, for, instance, "owns a Cadillac, a rec room, a swimming pool, but drives a taxi weekends because he enjoys it."

Area junior colleges are a good source of drivers, and Foster reports that he has had "good luck" with the 18-year-olds. The minimum age used to be 21, but Foster was instrumental in getting that changed.

"At one time," he said, "we had nine women drivers, and all were grandmoners." Today h has I women on I employment/roser. Cab drivers must hold a chauffeur's license and must be cleared by local and state police departments. Their fingerprints are, also checked by the FBI. Anyone who has been convicted of a felony cannot obtain a license to drive a taxi.

street. Pickups at the race track and at shopping centers account for the rest of his business.

Foster reported that racing fans frequently will use a taxi for the trip home when they have lost their last dime and can't take a bus. They rely n wife or mother or even a friendly bartender to provide the wherewithal for the trip home.

In the early days, Foster found that while it was profitable to deliver such things as messages, faise etter impressions or a tuxedo jacket for a musician who had torn his leading the orchestra too vigorously, it really didn't pay to deliver pizzaa.

deliver 200-250 emotionally and physically handicapped children to various special schools.

Each cab driver is assigned to pick up four or five students on a regular basis, and drivers and students often become very attached to one another. So much so, that the drivers have planned special treats for the students on holidays such as Christmas.

Atome time, when Foster was acree in the Duopia Lions Club, his company delivered donations of leader dogs to Rochester free of charge TAXI COMPANIES boast of never being closed. "We've had more than 185,000 hours of continuous operation.

GM names Atwood as general manager for Diesel Division

The General Motors board of directors has elected Donald J. Atwood its newest vice president and named himgeneral manager of the Detroit Diesel Allison Division, headquartered in Redford Township.

Atwood, who has been general manager of the Delco Electronics Division at Kokomo, Ind., since 1974, will succeed James E. Knott, who is retiring Sept. 1 following 38 years of service with the division in Indianapolis and Detroit.

Atwood is a native of Haverhill, Mass. He has bachelor's and master's degrees in electricall engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology

He joined GM in 1959 as asssociate director of the Boston Research and Development Laboratory for the AC Electronics Division, now Delco Electronics.

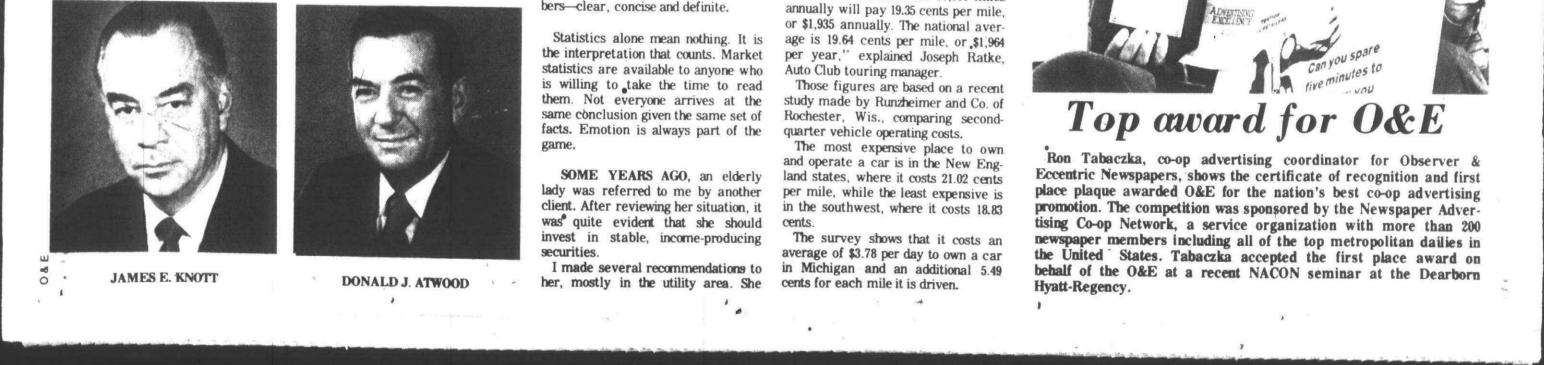

He became director of the laboratory in 1961, and in 1962 was promoted to director of engineering and sales for AC in Milwaukee. Atwood became director of operations at the Milwaukee facility in 1968.

HE FIRST JOINED Detroit Diesel Allison as manager of Indianapolis operations when the Detroit Diesel Engine and Allison Divisions were consolidated in 1970.

Atwood left Detroit Diesel Allison to become the first general manager of GM's new Transportation Systems Division when it was formed in 1973, a post he held until moving to the assignment as Delco general manager at Kokomo.

Knott, a native of Springfield, Ohio, attended Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, and was graduated by the University of Michigan with a degree in aeronautical engineering in 1938.

He joined the Allison Division in Indianapolis in 1940 as an aircraft engine installation engineer. He served in a variety of engineering and sales-engineering posts leading to his promotion to assistant director of engineering for aircraft engines in 1958.

In 1960 Knott became director of engineering for aircraft engines, then was named director of engineering and sales for both aerospace and transmission products in 1964. The following year he was appointed plant manager for Allison Indianapolis plants

Knott was named manager of plant operations for Allison Division in 1969, including the division's Cleveland tank plant, and became general manager of the division and was elected a GM vice president in 1970.

Later that same year be assumed his present position as first general manager of the newly formed Detroit Diesel Allison Division with headquarters here.

DETROIT DIESEL Allison Division currently is General Motors' fourth largest employer with 25,000 employees. Approximately 10,000 men and women work in the division's Detroit area plants, located in Redford and Romulus, producing heavy-duty diesel engines for trucks, boats, buses and a large number of other on- and off-highway applications.

The division is the largest manufacturer of these products in the United States.

The local office is also headquarters for the division's international operations, overseeing product sales and service in 98 foreign countries, as well as manufacturing operations in Wellingborough, England.

Allison heavy-duty automatic transmissions and gas turbine engines are manufactured in the Indianapolis plants, employing 13,000 people.

Market Watch By JOHN E. VERNIER

During a recently televised baseball game, the announcer commented that more statistics are kept on that sport than any other. If you are a sports fan, I think you will agree Facts are available on every imaginable aspect of the game- from batting averages and runs batted in to the brand of bubble gum the pitcher may prefer.

Baseball statistics, of course, are important. They serve a dual purpose in helping the managers to develop game strategy; and in giving baseball commentators something to fill the void during an otherwise dull encounter.

Thr stock market is STATISTICS. It is a world of numbers. It ranges from the datum of each individual company (sales, expenses, profits, ratios of profits to sales, profits to expenses, price to earnings, debt to equity, etc.) to statistics on the total stock market (trading volume, advances to declines, the level of various indices, odd-lot transactions, chart formations, etc.).

ANY SERIOUS stock market student must have the desire and the capacity to digest endless streams of statistics.

The market experiences dull days and exciting days, good days and bad days. But, at the end of each trading day, it has always excited me to realize that i have again witnessed the result of thousands of individual decisions all boiled down to simple num-

DRIVING A TAXI in the suburbs is different from driving one in a city such as Detroit, says Foster, who reports that 98.5 per cent of his business is through telephone calls.

Practically no business is done through someone hailing a cab on the made it clear, however, that she was not the least bit interested in my recommendations. When I asked her what her objections were, she indicated a concern that utilities might someday become obsolete. She wanted something that would never go out of style.

I told her there was nothing that could offer that guarantee.

With that statement, she reached in her purse and took out a rumpled newspaper clipping that announced the first public offering of shares of Diamond Crystal Salt.

She said, "I don't think people will ever quit using salt, young man. Buy me some of that.

Nobody could argue her interpretation of a basic statistic.

Michigan car owners beat cost average

It is costing $29 less per year for Michiganians to own and operate cars than it does for motorists nationally, according to Automobile Club of Michigan

"The Michigan motorist who drivees his intermediate-size car 10,000 miles annually will pay 19.35 cents per mile.

This was in the days when cars had cloth roof linings. The pungent cheese aroma came back to haunt them in the summer time, and customers objected strongly

THE CAB COMPANIES try hard to please the senior citizens, who are so dependent upon them. After last winter's big storm, several of Foster's drivers picked up and delivered groceries for those who were snowbound.

They also operate the "only 24-hour senior-handicapped program in the state" for residents of Farmington and Farmington Hills. Under the program, the city manager issues a letter saying that the senior citizen or handicapped person is eligible to use the firm's taxis for transportation in the area for only 50 cents.

The service also extends to Botsford Hospital for emergency service. Discount rates are given to senior citizens in other areas.

One regular Livonia customer who broke her ankle persuaded the cab driver to do her shopping for her every week for an extra dollar. But this came to an end when Foster found out that she had been square dancing the previous week.

Foster picked up one customer at 2 a.m. who had a drill bit sticking out of his head. A home handyman had run afoul of his tools and needed transportation to the hospital.

But the majority of suburban trips are much more routine, trips to doctors, dentists, shopping centers and to school when a student has missed the bus

Foster's companies have contracts with nine boards of education to said Foster

During and after a severe storm, it may take longer to get a taxi, "but we eyer 'plug' our switchhboard." he added. During busy times, customers are asked to leave their names and telephone numbers so they can be called back when a cab is on the way.

Cab companies also receive calls from husbands and wives wanting to know where their spouses have gone.

The callers are referred to the police department, a policy formulated after one cab driver almost got beaten up for refusing to tell.

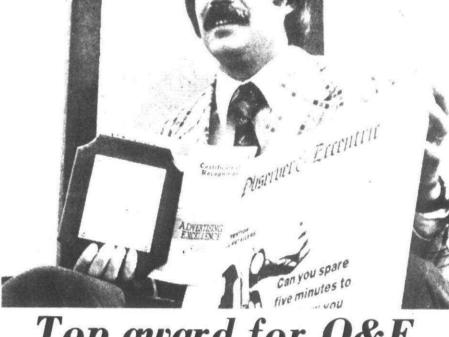

In another curious incident in Foster's career, his company gave "the best of service" to a fellow who had just held up a Livonia bank. He'd driven his own car home, packed the more than $150,000 in a couple of suitcases, and called a taxi to take him to the airport.

At this point the police were still looking for a man carrying the money in a couple of shopping bags

"That guy got away, and didn't even give the driver a tip," said Foster However, he was captured later in Texas.

Meanwhile, another man who had taken a taxi about the same time and who was carrying a couple of shopping bags received the surprise of his life when the police paid him a visit after a tip from the cab driver.

And once a year, the company gets a call to play Santa Claus and deliver 450-500 frozen steaks to area businessmen as Christmas presents from "a good customer." With judicious routing, all are delivered in one day, still frozen.

Community Fund covers Growth Works deficit

The Plymouth Community Fund has again responded to the needs of its agencies by granting a special appropriation of $4,000 to Growth Works, Inc

The amount was awarded in addition to the $28,000 allocation received for 1978 for Growth Works which operates recreational, counseling and other support services for youth and adults in Plymouth-Canton. The fund provides monies to finance services for residents of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

In July 1977 Growth Works, which operated youth service programs and provided crisis intervention services, forecasted a $9,000 deficit for 1978.

Because the fund is Growth Works' principal funding source for operating purposes, Growth Works' board members and staff met with the Community Fund budget committee and developed a plan to reduce the deficit.

Through a series of efforts, including a grant from the Rotary Foundation of Plymouth, the deficit was reduced to $4,000.

Informed of its present situation and positive efforts taken during the year, the Community Fund responded with a special grant to allow continuation of needed activities without further outside fund raising for this year.

According to David L. Smith, a Growth Works' board member, the grant puts the organization on a sound operating level for the remainder of this year

"Now all we need to do is generate the necessary support for the building payments," said Smith, referring to the organization's on-going effort to raise mortgage monies for its Main Street facility.

One of the Growth Works' programs was the Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Project. Participants in the YCCIP project take a breather while constructing an erosion wall at Tonquish Creek.

A special meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has been called for tonight to deal with the question of option busing.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the administration offices on Harvey Street in Plymouth.

The board will discuss what action to take, if any, in light of an apparent reconsideration by the state attorney general's office on whether to allow parents to volunteer to transport their own children to a school.

A clarifying opinion has been requested by Dr. John Porter, state supt. of public instruction. That step is Never let it be said that The Stroller is opposed to the modern day supermarket. They have been a boom to the American housewife.

No longer does she have to wait in line in the old-fashioned neighborhood grocery store while the clerk tramps back and forth for the items she wants. Now, through the genius of the business world, she can wait on herself. Walking up and down the aisles she can take from the shelves everything she needs. And she can do it on her own time and act independently.

If anything, the modern supermarket makes the items too inviting and the lady of the house often times spends more than she really planned when she entered.

Looking in to her shopping basket she, many times, has many items she never anticipated buying when she left home. More often than not she has a prepared list of the things she needed. But as she walked from one aisle to another here her eyes were focused on things that looked so inviting, she just reached and took them.

BUT WITH ALL OF this convenience for the housewife The Stroller feels that the modern supermarket has erased from the scene one of his favorite characters-the farmer who came to town with a load of vegetables and fruit and rode up and down every street shouting his wares.

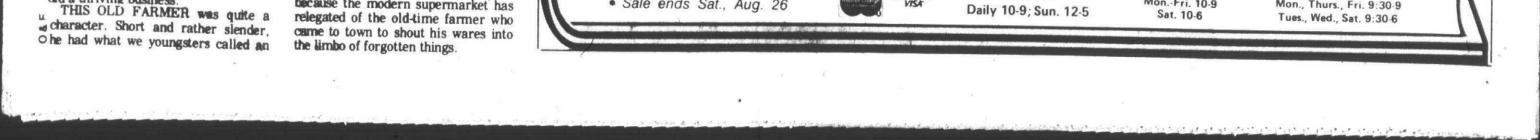

The memory of these unsung merchants came to mind the other day when he visited the neighborhood supermarket and noted the giant displays of blueberries and cherries. They were neatly packaged and inviting. But somehow there was something missing

As he stood there feasting his eyes on his favored blueberries he seemed to hear in the distance the voice of the old farmer who used to visit our little hometown at least twice each week and shout his wares so everyone within aa block of houses could hear him

So familiar did this chant became that we looked forward to the day when he would ride past our house shouting, "Berries! Berries! Berries for pie!

His little farm was about eight miles from town, but he was taken almost as a neighbor as he went merrily along. And every housewife awaited his coming. It seemed that his fruit and yegetables were better-certainly fresherthan anything that could be found in the town's two grocery stores. So he did a thriving business.

because the modern supermarket has

Double-bottom tanker lav vague—Milliken

New rules from Gov. William Milliken's office will govern the transportation of highly flammable liquids in double-bottom tanker trucks.

The restrictions are intended to implement the double-bottom control act, signed into law by Milliken last month, until permanent rules can be drawn up, subjected to public review and approved by the legislature.

In signing the bills, Milliken complained of the new law's failure to be specific about safety standards which double-bottoms are to meet by Nov. 1.

He directed Michigan State Police to "take whatever steps are necessary to require that 'retrofitting' equipment, such as that suggested by the University of Michigan Highway Safety Research Institute, is in place" at that time for all double-bottoms hauling flammable liquids in bulk with a flashpoint of 70 degrees Fahrenheit or less.

The U-M institute developed a coupler between the two trailers to further stabilize the tankers. Most fatal tanker crashes come about when the

•In the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb, double-bottoms hauling flammable liquids with a flashpoint at or below 70 degrees Fahrenheit (gasoline, acetone and ether) will be restricted to certain limited access highways between midnight and 6 a.m. Direct routes from the limited access highway to the supply depot are designated for travel (and listed at state police headquarters).

•Double-bottoms carrying flammable liquids with a flashpoint more than 70 degrees are not restricted.

•Single-bottom tankers capable of transporting flammable liquids in bulk quantities of more than 9,000 gallons are subject to the same time and route restriction as double-bottoms when transporting liquids with a flashpoint of 70 degrees or less. Single-bottom tankers with less than 9,000 gallons, or carrying liquids with a higher flashpoint (fuel oil, turpentine and diesel fuel) are not restricted.

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Garden City senior citizens, after months of fighting, may be satisfied with the quality of the food, but other seniors and county commissioners are still in revolt.

They want to change a state regulation which allows senior citizen nutrition centers to send out only 15 per cent of its meals to shut-ins. Under the state program, if a senior citizen nutrition site serves 100 meals, 15 can be delivered to persons who can't make it the center.

Senior citizens advocates and commissioners ask what happens if there; are 16, 17 or 18 persons who need the meals. Under state guidelines those people would go without meal.

"We feed Bangladesh. We feed people all over the world. We send millions of barrels of wheat to the Soviet Union every year. But we can't afford to feed our senior citizens," said Dorothy Stacey of Dearborn, who has been trying to find ways around the 15 per cent limit.

"We've got 46 people in Dearborn who can't get meals. We got private funding to help feed these people and it was refused in my area," she said.

The Nutrition Task Force of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, after getting nowhere with state and federal officials, is going to Washington for relief.

The task force is asking Robert Benedict, commissioner on aging for the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), for more money and an easing of the 15 per cent limit.

The county is asking for immediate additional federal funding to provide 500 more on-site meals and 500 more home-delivered meals.

"This will eliminate all our waiting lists," said Larry Gareau, a county spokesman.

In addition, Wayne County commissioners are asking for at least $400,000 annually from HEW to continue the proposed 1,000 additional meals when the new fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

THE 15 PER CENT limit is a touchy question, everyone concedes.

The limit on meals to be delivered to homebound seniors has its roots in the nature of the senior citizens food program, said Donald Bentson, program manager for community nutrition services of the Michigan Office of Services to the Aged.

The whole point of the program, in addition to making sure seniors get a nutritious meal, is to get seniors out of their homes and involved with people. The state office on aging, Bentson said, would love to be able to feed all the senior citizens who need the daily meals, but "miniscule" funding has not kept pace with the demand.

Florence Smith, a representative of the U.S. Office on Aging, said there are only enough meals for three to four per cent of the all the people "we should be reaching."

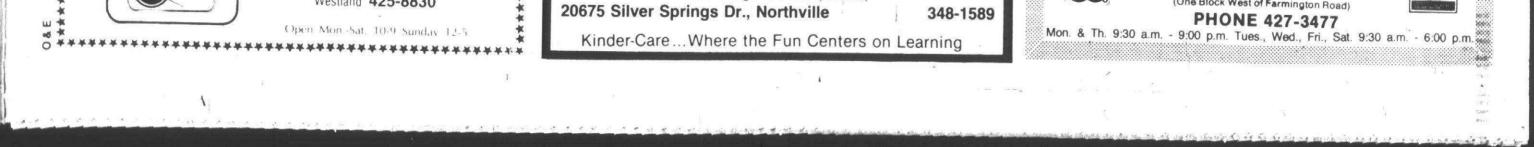

She and Bentson said, though, that Congress, in renewing the Older American's Act was considering increasing funding for senior citizens programs from 250 million to betweeen $430 million and $480 million.

"That'll mean a lot more meals being served," Miss Smith said.

Fascination for nature is shared by collector

It all started when Bill Micol's Sunday school teacher gave him an arrownead

"I don't think I did anything special to deserve it," said Micol with a grin. "It probably was just for being there."

But that was the beginning. He started looking for more arrowheads. "No one had any more worries about what to give me for Christmas or birthdays. They knew I wanted arrowheads." His interests broadened and he has been a collector for 30 years.

The Collectors Shop in the Penniman Avenue Shops reflects his love for very rare collector's items. The one-of-akind creations all are natural or have nature as their theme. It is a place to browse and enjoy-a place where Micol can share his facination with beautiful things-both natural and manmade

BILL MICOL was born in Plymouth, one of the third generation of Micols in the area. His grandfather's farm was on E. Ann Arbor Trail at General Drive. Micol Street bears the family name. His grandfather had a slaughterhouse on the farm and a meat store in town.

Bill left Plymouth High School at 16 to go into the service. He did not return directly to Plymouth after his discharge from the Army. He was a tool and diemaker and moved around.

He continued to collect with the thought that sometime he would open a shop.

"Collectors are a kind of fraternity," he said. "You always have more than you need for your own collection. You have extras to trade and a lot of trading goes on at rock and mineral shows.

He has a wide circle of friends made on digs all over the country. And they have been a help since he started the Collectors Shop.

HE HAS BEEN to Mexico about 15 times. The trips follow a pattern.

Micol visits remote mining villages that American tourists never see.

"There may be a worked-out mine there. The people know your're a collector because regular tourists never visit there.

"First thing you do is go to the bar and buy a round of drinks. They gradually come around."

He is invited to their homes, their basements and they bring out clumps of crystals. The haggling begins.

He showed an onyx grasshopper that to the uneducated eye could be ancient. Micol explains that it is a recent work, but made by the same Indian tribe in the same way they made them 1,000 years ago.

He has a water bottle found in Arkansas. It is 1,800 years old. There are other old pieces of Puebelo pottery. Then are are the ones they are making now-same method, same design. But the prices are almost as far apart as the date of manufacture.

HE HAS FOSSIL fish from the Green River formation in Wyoming that are 50 millions years old and brightly colored sea urchins from the English Channel-no two alike. There are hand-carved balsa wood birds from China all carved and painted by the same artist. There are polished slices of agates, small geodes on chains, moss on rock paintings, coral and jade jewelry from China, crystal jewelry, and etchings on copper.

Micol is particularly pleased to have the Brumms. These copper enamels mounted on pine knots are made in Charlevoix by Norman and Judith Brumm in Charlevoix.

"They have an incredible scientific approach," marvels Micol. "They develop their own pigments. Look at those wild strawberry leaves. Most people would have every leaf alike. Not only are they different in size, look at their colors. There are 38 hand operations in creating this.

"They go to the woods and collect the pine knots. They use an old Indian method of heat treating them. There are 11 operations in making just the base."

The shop always was somewhere in the Micols' future. It was a retirement project. "But my wife, Dorothy, is working. We decided this was the spot and we would give it a try now. If I ever got to the point of selling fake arrowheads or souvenir rocks, it would be time to quit."

Bill Micol believes, after four weeks in the Collectors Shop, that there is a whole world of people out there who share his appreciation of nature and its beauty.

The theme for window decorations during the Plymouth Fall Festival is "The Gay '90s." Store windows in downtown Plymouth, the Old Village area and the Ann Arbor Road-Sheldon section will be decorated for the festival

Nancy Petrocelli of the Green Thumb is chairing the project this year. Windows will be judged by a panel composed of Geneva Guenther, Chuck Avis, Bev Hoisington and Barbara Saunders. Ribbons will be awarded for several categories. Some windows will be decorated by the merchants themselves. Other windows are available for individuals, service clubs and Scout or Camp Fire Girls troops. Garden clubs in the Plymouth-Canton area are urged to take part.

"There will be added incentive this year," said Ms. Petrocelli. "Besides the ribbon awards, Betty Stremick is giving a prize of dinner for two at the Bottom of the Hill, and four tickets to the Growth Works art auction will be presented.'

Individuals or representatives of clubs willing to join in the shop window display event should call 459-2323 for more information or to reserve a window

Strong-Samhat

(P,C)9B

Linda Ann Samhat and Robert Wayne Strong exchanged nuptial vows in a double-ring afternoon ceremony in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church of Plymouth. The Rev. Francis C. Byrne officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Samhat of Graham Road, Redford Township. Mr. and Mrs. David E. Strong of Carol Street, Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white voile dress with appliqued daisy trim and a protrait hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Maid of honor Gayle Samhat wore a deep rose polyester gown, and bridesmaids Kelly Jean Riddle, Paula Townsend Crawford, Sue Lindberg Biehl, Sherry Richardson Massey, Lisa Martin Holdenberg, Robin Mac-Arthur, Angel Strong and Linda Cieslak, were dressed similarly in dusty rose.

All carried arm bouquets of longstemmed roses and wore single roses in their hair.

Jennifer Bennet and and Jodie Strong, flower girls, wore white eyelet dresses with rose velvet sashes and carried baskets of rosebuds.

David and Manuel Strong served as best men for their brother, and the guests were seated by Steven Samhat, Robert Cieslak, Charles Wise, David Makila, Mike Godvin, Robert Bridges and Dennis Belknap.

A reception for 300 guests was held in Vladimer's hall in Farmington Hills.

The newlyweds will live in Wixom. The new Mrs. Strong is a 1973 graduate of Redford Union High School. Her husband graduated from Stevenson High School in Livonia in 1970 and is a ' Vietnam veteran. Both attended Schoolcraft College.

Ratliff-Buno

Katherine M. Buno and G. Michael Ratliff were married Aug. 12 in St. Peters Evangelical Lutheran Church, Plymouth. The Rev. Leonard Koeninger officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buno of Old Salem in Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George B. Ratliff of Dexter. Honor attendants were Stephanie Shuster, the bride's cousin, and Randy Blankenship, nephew of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were Suann De Saele and Mary Tieber, both of Ypsilanti; Linda Waitsman of Winchester, Mass.; Teresa Grannis of Dexter; and Patricia Buno of Plymouth.

Ushers and groomsmen were Mike Scott, Stan Starzec, Dennis Buno, Patrick Mattie, Dan Ratcliff, Jack Starzec, John Zink and Dan Buno.

'Rain' loses novel's depth

Robert Stone's National Book Award novel, "Dog Soldiers," has beenmolded by director Karel Reisz into a gripping, if flawed, film.

As a film, 'Who'll Stop the Rain?'' (R) succeeds on the physical level of chase and pursuit capture and escape. It fails, however, to develop cinematic images equivalentto those elements in the novel treating character development. Psychology, social background and motivations are lamentably neglected.

The brief openingscenes of bloody fighting in Viet Nam adequately convince anyone of the war's horror, but they do not suffice to explain what follows. Michael Moriarity as John Converse, a journalist in Nam, comments, "In a world where elephants are pursued by flying men, people are going to want to get high." Immediately after, we find that straight-arrow John is dealing in drugs.

JOHN PERSUADEShis friend Ray Hicks (i ick Nolte), who is returning to the states, to carry twokilos of heroin back with him. Ray is to deliver the cache to Marge (Tuesday Weld), Converse's unsuspecting wife

As Ray is delivering the smack to a bewildered Marge, two crooked Federal agents crash the scene. There is a brutal fight and Marge and Ray flee with their bundle. The tense and suspenseful chase begins.

The agents, led by Antheil (Anthony Zerbie), their cold and villainous chief pursue the couple from Oakland to L. A. to a desert in New Mexico. The Feds take along Converse, who was nabbed on return from Viet Nam, to give them some bargaining power: John for the heroin.

JOHN IS PLAINLY a jerk playing out of his league. The movie offers no explanation of why he got involved in this dirty business. Nor does it account for Ray's conduct: his desperate efforts to protect Marge, and ultimately, John.

One senses in Ray a need to act heroically. Nolte's strong portrayal helps considerably to illuminate Ray's enigmatic personality. This is necessary, especially since the film omits any sexual relationship between Marge and Ray that would make his attitudes more comprehensible.

Perhaps their intimacy was omitted in the interest of making Marge a more sympathetic character. The movie, unlike the novel, also makes her an innocent party to John's smuggling.

TUESDAY WELD, who was so outstanding in "Looking for Mr. Goodbar," confirms her maturity as an actressand gives an excellent performance as Marge Moriarity's interpretation of John Converse seems vacuous and undistinguished until late in the film. Then, as John senses that the end to either his captivity or his life is near. Moriarity reveals subtle facets of his character hither to unseen.

The final confrontation brings all the characters together in a bleak desert setting. A giant peace symbol is painted on a rock wall and sand blows over a bare stage and rusty trappings.

Architecture and culture mix well

A tour of Michigan's cultural and architectural attractions provides a unique look at the state's history from prehistoric times to the most modern paintings and sculptures, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The opportunity to hear the music of Maynard Ferguson, Helen Reddy or Johann Sebastian Bach, see a Shakespearean comedy or a high school musical or view a former governor's collecton of African art are all part of such a tour.

A trip to Mackinac Island's stately Grand Hotel or a visit to the magnificent Honolulu House in Marshall offer a glimpse of 19th century building feats.

Situated high on a bluff is one the Great Lakes' outstanding landmrks, the Grand Hotel. Built of Michigan white pine, the Grand was only half its present size when opened in 1887. It is now the world's largest summer hotel with 350 guest rooms and an 880-foot front porch, longest in the world.

Calloway and Reddy on stage

There will be music in the air at Meadow Brook this week, with pop vocalist Helen Reddy and the multitalented Cab Calloway appearing on stage

Popular songstress Helen Reddy will entertain Friday evening, Aug. 25. The recording star performed for a sell-out crowd last summer at Meadow Brook. She returns with a variety of her award-winning songs, which include "I Am Woman," "Delta Dawn," and "I Don't Know How to Love Him.

The performance begins at 8:30 p.m. All pavilion seats are sold, but lawn tickets are still availble

The distinctive sound of Cab Calloway, the "hi-de-hi" man, will fill Baldwin Pavilion on Sunday evening, Aug. 27. An exciting, vigorous and animated performance is promised by this veteran showman, singer and bandleader, who celebrated his 70th birthday a few years ago. Pavilion and lawn tickets are available. The Cab Calloway concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

A CART FULL OF COUPONS

What do George Gomolak and Stephane Fill have in common? Obviously neither one wanted their picture taken because George, who manages Stan's Discount Produce in Livonia, is nowhere to be seen and Stephane, who is too tiny to argue, sought refuge in her "security pillow."

Gary

Stephane's Mom likes fresh produce and George sells it. Fresh lettuce, crisp cucumbers (Stephane's favorite) and sweet corn that's picked daily. He sells all this and more by advertising in the newspaper you hold in your hands. Your hometown newspaper.

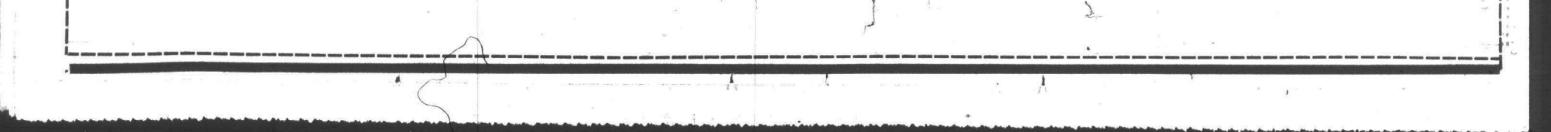

"We've always used it, we like it, it works. We don't cheat and give out coupons in the store," said George, a tall exuberant man. He corralled a clerk to confirm his claim, "Do we Rosemary?" Rosemary shot back an emphatic "No!" They may not give out coupons in the store, but when George put one in his ad on Monday, July 24 he got more than 600 of them back!

That means more than 600 people who saw Stan's Discount Produce ad in the Monday edition of their hometown newspapers ripped, tore, or cut out the coupon and brought it in.

So, if you're in business and want the kind of traffic George is used to every day, your hometown newspaper can do the job for you. Take it from a camera-shy guy who knows his produce and knows where to advertise it. Or ask Rosemary. Or Stephane.

(P,C)13B All ages affected by divorce explosion

By SHERRY KAHAN

With an estimated one of three marriages ending in Splitsville, the phrase, "til death do us part" seem to be on the way to becoming as obsolete as, "Give me your hand in marriage."

While all ages have been affected by the divorce explosion, it was mostly middle-aged women who attended a recent three-hour daytime seminar on divorce arranged by the Women's Justige Center of Detroit. It took place in the Northwest Branch YWCA in Redford Township.

The seminar was designed to shed light on divorce as it relates to children, income, property, court procedure and how to pick a lawyer.

It seemed to be mostly homemakers taking part in the program. The ones on the brink of filing for a divorce eagerly lapped up information presented to them by Joan Young, a Troy attorney. Others were already in the midst of divorce proceedings, and appeared to be comparing what the speaker said with what they had already heard from their lawyer.

MS. YOUNG DEFINED divorce simply: The dissolution of the marital relationship.

She added that under Michigan's no fault divorce, it is no longer necessary to allege specific behavior on the part of a spouse to be divorced. For a divorce in Michigan, the marriage must simply be broken down and reasonably unable to be preserved.

Behavior, however, may affect the outcome of the custody of children and the division of property

"Law is what the judge says it is," Ms. Young announced right off. There are 11 circuit court judges in Oakland County and 11 kinds of equity.

"The judge in a divorce case is drawn blindly, and that is who you get. If there is some sort of bias on the part of the judge, he may be disqualfied, or he may disgualify himself.

Divorces can zip through the court fairly routinely unless settlements of children and property can't be reached by the couple's lawyers.

'There are no rules that say you get half the property or alimony," observed Ms. Young. "The judge is only bound by a statute that says the property divison must be equitable.

"The judge can do anything he wants. If you don't like what he did, you can appeal. The court rules say an appeal must be made within a specific period of time, a short period.

"If the time period runs out, you are atr the mercy of the court about getting an appeal. Appeals are not terribly successful.

WHAT HAPPENS when the property is divided?

First there is a discovery process when each side answers questions about the property owned.

"You, like your husband, have the obligation to declare what money or property you have." said the attorney.

"If you don't tell, you might be held for fraud. It doesn't mean you will lose your money. It just means that the total property of the couple must be considered in order to make an equitable division.

"Once the property settlement goes through, there is nothing you can do about it unless there was fraud."

One of Ms. Young's few words of hope to the women was that more and more courts are recognizing a woman's contribution to her husband's monetary success.

Usually the lawyer recommends to her clients that they make a settlement rather than count on alimony. "There is no rule that he has to pay alimony," she indicated. "I also counsel them to go out and find employment so they can support themselves. Neither alimony or child supports is reliable.

She referred to a study made several years ago by the Oakland County courts which showed that five years after the divorce, only 15 per cent of the husbands were paying anything in child support.

MS. YOUNG, a Birmingham resident, thinks that automatic wage assignments may be the answer to the father who is unwilling to support his children. It would involve an order by the court requiring employers to take child support payments from the father's wages and send them to the Friend of the Court, which in turn would send them to the mother.

"In this way it would never get into the husband's pockets," she commented. "The employers would hate the bookkeeping, but the woman would always know that support would be coming on a specific day. She could live with some certainty.

The problem of what to do with the children is perhaps the most anguishing aspect of divorce.

"Children are often lost in the shuffle," said the speaker. "That is the tragedy of divorce.

" In general women get the children but more and more fathers are expressing a genuine interest in keeping them."

To remove youngsters from the battleground of divorce, some judges appoint a special lawyer to work on their behalf. Ms. Young has been such a lawyer, and she was quickly challenged by some of the women in the audience when she announced she had once decided to award custody to the father.

"I BELIEVE THE MOST important thing for children during a divorce is stability," she began. "They should have at least one parent who has their them as his primary interest.

She then explained that the father in the case was in a stable position and " would keep the kids in the same home.

The mother was uncertain about her desination and her future. In addition, she has once left her husband and children and went abroad with a boyfriend.

How can you fight for your kids? This was another question directed to Ms. Young.

"Let me tell you a secret," she responded. "The first person who asks for an ex-parte order requesting custody, and serves it on the spouse, will be looked upon a little more favorably by the court.

In addition, the children will then be awarded temporarily to the spouse getting the order. However, the other spouse can go to court and ask for a change of the order. "Many times what parents are looking looking for is a fight, a way to vent their hostility." said Ms. Young. "They have to have something to fight over, so they fight about the kids.

VISITATION RIGHTS were also explored. A woman raised the question of her son who didn't want to go out with his father, his father's new girlfriend and her child.

In the opinion of Ms Young, no child should have to be exposed to a blatantly sexual relationship of a divorced parent.

"But the wife has no right to say the child can't go with his father." she stressed. "She has to do it properly by filing a notice to modify visitation, and she'll have to produce proof for her request. However, most judges would order the child to see his father unless the circumstances were severe.

"In a case of proven physical abuse by a father, a judge still allowed visitation.

Children are torn up by a divorce. , she reminded her listeners. Many agencies supply counseling for them. "They need help at this time," she asserted, "and help is available. OFFERING ADVICE on picking a lawyer, she first suggested finding someone you feel comfortable with. Then she mentioned the lawyer referral service.

"It is sponsored by the bar associ ation," she said. "It will give you several names. For an initial fee of $10-$15 you can have an initial visit.

SC plans new women's studies course

"New Woman, New World: the American Experience," is the title of a new course to be offered in Schoolcraft College's women studies program this fall.

The course was developed by Marilyn Huss, a woman instructor in the English department, and Evan Garrett, a man who teaches history.

They will teach the day and evening sessions as a team, with students who elect the four-credit course earning two credits in each department.

Ms. Huss said the course seeks to correct the androcentric (male-oriented) bias which she says has devalued woman's experience in western society.

This devaluation, she said, has led to a situation in which women's productivity and creativity has been considered relatively unworthy of study.

Garret pointed out that while history has recorded the many deeds of "great men," it is virtually impossible to recite the accomplishments of women.

"We will be looking at the significance of much of this lost history." he said.

The course is an outgrowth of a seminary which the two Schoolcraft instructors attended at the University of Michigan. Sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities, it was aimed specifically at developing inderdisciplinary syllabi on women's studies for sophomore level students.

At Schoolcraft, five courses were developed as a result of that seminary, and the new English/History 270 is the latest of these.

The development has been aided by the granting of release time to the U-M sets clinic and open house

An information clinic for adults thinking of returning to college and an open house brown bag lunch for information sharing is planned on the University of Michigan campus Wednesday. Aug. 23.

The events will be sponsored by the university's center for continuing education for women, and both clinic and lunch will be held at the center, s office, 328-330 Thompson, Ann Arbor

All interested are welcome, and it is not necessary to register.

Admission requirements and financial aid opportunities will get the focus at the clinic, scheduled 10 a.m. to noon.

Discussion will center around the possibilities of taking one or more courses, where to get applications and what to ask for, child care resources, what to do about transcripts or changing fields and how to avoid some of the common hassles.

Time also will be planned for questions.

The open house brown bag lunch from noon to 1:30 p.m. will give women who attend the clinic a chance to talk informally about what it is like to be an adult on campus with some of the members of the center staff and other women who are combining school with families and jobs.

Amateurs shoot up a storm in suburban photo contest

The hardest part was choosing the winners from the photo entries that came pouring in from all over the Observer and Eccentric circulation area.

Our color photo contest theme was "Life in the Suburbs," and the entries proved that the suburban lifestyle is a many-faceted one. The color slides submitted ranged in subject from the blizzard of '78 to the balloon races in Rochester. A panel of Observer and Eccentric photographers and editors participated in judging.

Each slide was presented without identification by city or name, and final winners were selected through the process of elimination.

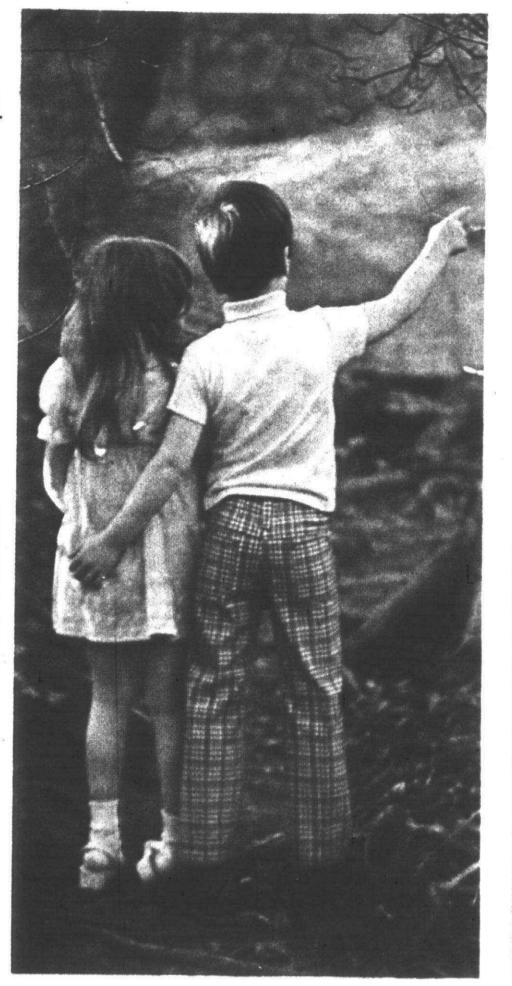

Our judging criteria were based on originality, theme, technical quality, and suitability for reproduction.

The first place winner, by Mary Lemon of Canton, was a clear favorite all the way through, but judging other entries proved to be an agonizing process.

We think the suburbs should be proud to have photographers (who are all amateurs) as fine as the ones who took our winning pictures. The prizes were gift certificates of various denominations provided by World Camera and Sound.

BRENDA AHRENS, second place winner, has just graduated from high school and isn't sure yet what the future will bring. She is staying with her aunt and uncle, Joyce and Dennis Capp of Canton, which is where her charming portrait was taken. The two children in the picture are Ms. Ahren's cousins, Elizabeth and Larry. Ms. Ahren's says she likes "taking pictures of kids." She learned photography while working on her high school yearbook. She won a $75 gift certificate for the photograph.

ROBERT BABIARZ of Rochester lives right across the street from the launch field for the HighAmerica balloon races held this summer. Babiarz's picture of the graceful balloons expresses his own interest in subject. He says he'd like to try ballooning, but so far his wife Carol is the only member of the family who actually has taken a balloon ride. Babiarz is an employee of Farmer Jack's supermarket in Avon Township. The Barbiarzs have two children. Our third place winner, who says he thinks the balloons look as good from the ground as they do in the air, won a $40 gift certificate.

Honorable Mention winners

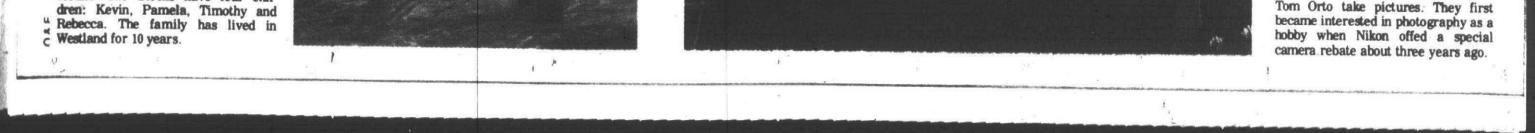

MARC HULET of Westland says he took this sensitive picture through Thermopane glass at his girlfriend's apartment. The seal on the double pane was broken, which caused the misty effect. Hulet, who won a $10 honorable mention, is working for Ford Motor Co. during the summer, but plans to go to Schoolcraft College to enter the nursing program this fall. He's been taking pictures for about four years. "I read a lot about it. You make a lot of mistakes along the way," he says.

BARBARA ORTO of Canton likes to take pictures of celebrities like Paul McCartney, Sonny and Cher and the Bay City Rollers. The only celebrity in her winning picture "Don't pick the Daisies" is her daughter Ami, age 2. Ms. Orto is a registered nurse by trade, but is now staying home with Ami and her other daughter Becki, 5 months. Both Barbara and husband

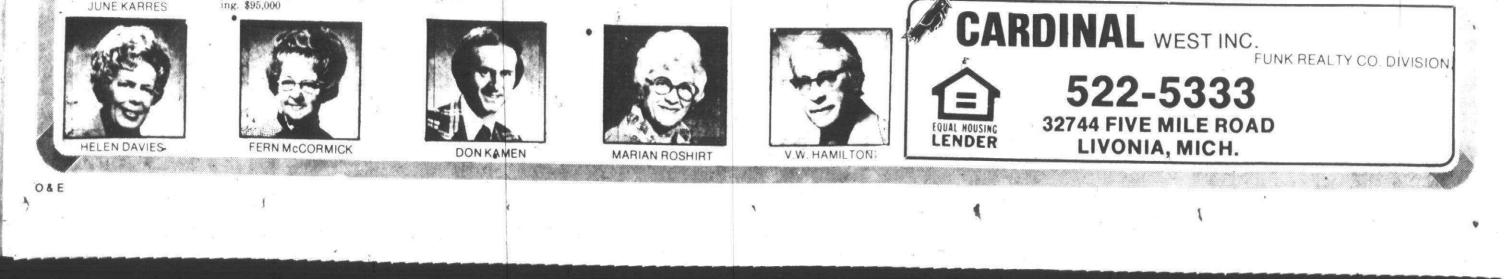

BARBARA BLOCH of Westland calls this picture "Wet, Wild, Wonderful Westland." Ms. Bloch says she hadn't intended to take any pictures that day, "but the kids in the neighborhood pulled out a slip and slide, and I just started taking pictures." Ms.Bloch says her husband, Gerald, bought her a Nikon for Christmas "after a lot of pursuading" and told her he hoped she got results. This picture is one of the results. The Blochs have four chil-

Oh, we're sure you learned about the birds and bees long ago, but Horace, have you heard about "736"? That's a Want Ad classification in your home-town newspaper. It works this way Horace:

Remember when you almost went crazy trying to find a solid oak hat stand? How you embarassed your wife in the antique store because they didn't have one and tried to interest you in a chamber pot instead and you told that sweet little old lady what she could do with it? Remember?

Well, if you had used the "Wanted to Buy" classification that we have just for this kind of situation. one of our thousands of readers would have called you and your troubles would have been over.

Now, that little bird on top of your head (what's he doing there, anyway?) just told us that you're in the market for a 1938 Chevrolet hood ornament. So here are the facts of life, Horace; "Wanted to Buy" ads get results-that's a fact. 736-that's a figure. Use them and get results-that's a suggestion.

Looking for something unusual or run-of-the-mill? Try a "Wanted to Buy" ad.
