Union election set for police

Full-time Canton patrol officers will vote Dec. 19 on a proposal that would institute the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) as their official bargaining agent.

Patrol officer Leonard Bush, a leader in the unionizing drive, said the political controversy that has surrounded the police department since its inception in 1976 spurred the organizing attempt.

According to Bush, 16 full-time patrol officers would comprise Canton's POAM unit. The unit would not include part-time police reserves, full-time sergeants, the department's secretaries or the police chief.

THE FULL-TIME patrol officers took an informal 13-3 vote some weeks ago to join the POAM, Bush said.

He said the officers' current salary of about $13,000 a year is below the salary received by many unionized police officers.

Bush said, however, that the past political climate—not economics—is the primary force behind the unionizing drive.

The Canton Police Department was established as a part-time force in 1976 by former Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who is now a Canton trustee. The department became a full-time force last June.

Police Chief Walter MacGregor announced his intention to resign from the force two weeks ago after a dispute with former Supervisor Harold Stein over the swearing-in of police reserve Greenstein as township trustee.

Carl Parsell, executive director of the POAM and a former Canton treasurer under the Greenstein administration, said the Canton police officers want job security above anything else.

"All we want to do is keep the department out of politics," he said. "The police officers don't want to have to know Mr. Stein, Noel Culbert (present Supervisor) or whoever's in office just to keep their jobs."

"We're going to scream to high heaven if there's any political interference."

BUSH BELIEVES the new township board will show more sympathy toward the police department than the former administration.

Falkiewicz takes Donahue's offer of deputy position

Maria (Dolly) Falkiewicz has accepted a job as deputy to Canton Treasurer James Donahue, who defeated her in the race for treasurer in the November general election.

As deputy, Mrs. Falkiewicz will be entitled to an office at township hall and a seat on the Canton board whenever illness or other factors prevent Donahue from performing his duties.

Donahue also intends to hire Mrs. Falkiewicz to fill the position of lead tax clerk. The clerk works part-time during tax collection season, which lasts approximately from December to February.

According to Donahue, the township board will have to determine Mrs. Falkiewicz's rate of pay when she performs deputy treasurer duties. He added that the salary of the lead tax clerk is "flexible."

Donahue, a Republican, beat Mrs. Falkiewicz, who ran as a Democrat, for the treasurer's slot Nov. 7 by approximately 1,000 votes.

Donahue said he chose Mrs. Falkiewicz as his deputy because of her knowledge of township issues.

"When you're a candidate, you must become versed in township issues and take a stand. She did those things well," Donahue said.

"To take that talent and throw it away would be terrible."

Under a 1977 state law, all township clerks and treasurers must appoint a deputy to take their place in the event of absence.

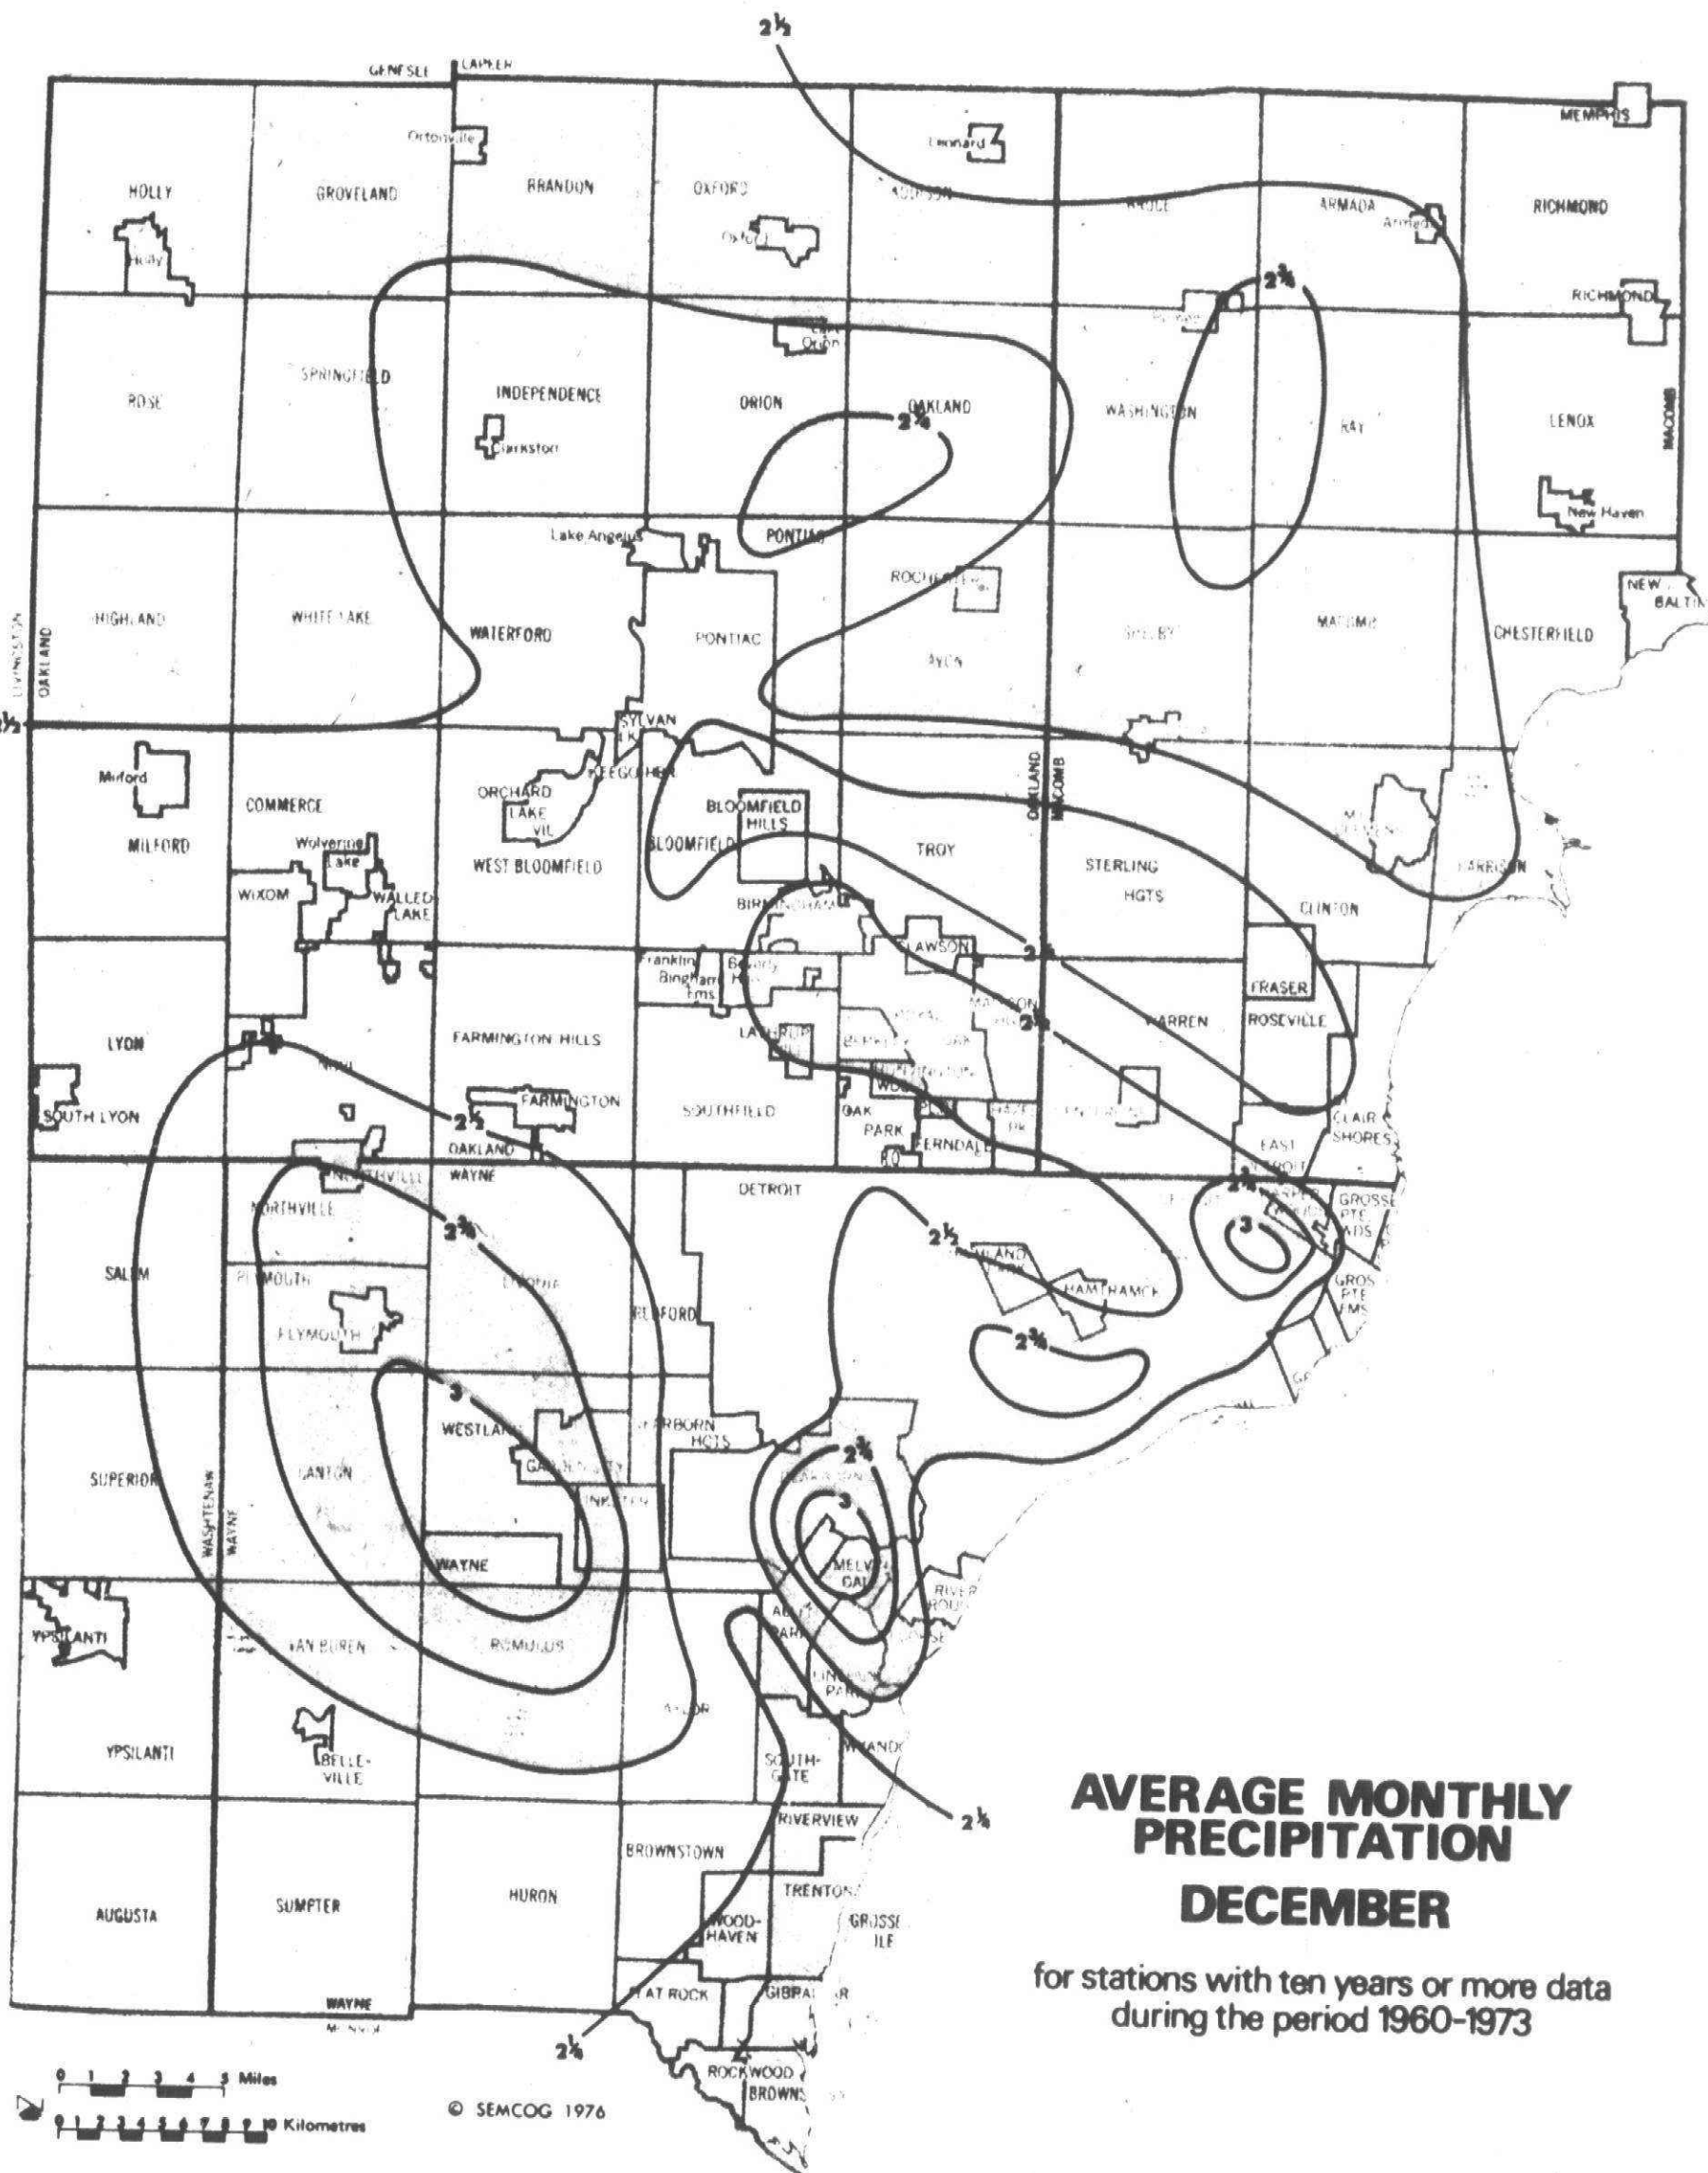

The deputy is eligible to sit on the township board with full voting power in the elected officials' absence.

Canton deputy clerks and treasurers have not performed official duties or sat on the township board in the past.

Bernice Flodin, the wife of long-time Clerk John Flodin, is the township's deputy clerk. Former Treasurer Anne Bradley appointed her husband, George, as deputy treasurer.

Donahue plans to depart from tradition, however, and give his deputy more than a title.

AVERAGE MONTHLY PRECIPITATION DECEMBER

for stations with ten years or more data during the period 1960-1973

Blue-gray areas show the region's places of highest rain and snowfall—around industrial plants in Wayne, Dearborn and Detroit's east side. Source: "Precipitation in Southeast Michigan," copyright 1976 by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, reprinted with permission.

Everyone talks about it, but...

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

There's an old saying: "If you don't like Michigan weather, wait five minutes."

To which you can add: "—or drive a few miles."

The plain fact is that some areas of this region get more rainfall and snow than others. This map, from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, shows the patterns clearly.

During December, the yellow and green areas get the least amount of precipitation—under 2½ inches. Red areas are moderate, 2½ inches. Orange is 2¾. Blue-gray areas, more than 3 inches.

PRECIPITATION means both rain and snow. In general, the folks who plow your roads figure that one inch of rain is the equivalent of 10 inches of snow. Of course, there are wet, heavy snows and light, powdery snows, so the 10:1 ratio doesn't always hold true.

The three areas of heavy precipitation on the map occur near heavy concentrations of industry. The best explanation seems to be that smoke "seeds" the clouds by giving water vapor a nucleus around which to condense.

The condensed water vapor becomes rain—or snow, or sleet or something else unpleasant.

Actually, December is an average month for precipitation. June is your heavy month.

And even though there's a lot of mid-winter snow on the ground, February is the month of lightest precipitation. Most of the stuff on the ground is left over from January.

Any newsman knows when the worst storm of the year will occur. It will be the third weekend in January, when the Michigan Press Association holds its annual convention.

THOSE LINES that form irregular circles on the map are called "isohyets." By definition, isohyets are lines of equal precipitation.

In southeast Michigan during December, precipitation ranges from a low of 2.05 inches to 3.2 inches—both spots in Wayne County.

Snow showers are rated by your visibility while they are passing. A snow shower is called "light" if visibility is .625 mile or more; "moderate," .3125 to .625; and "heavy," less than .3125.

Sleet occurs when rain falls through a layer of cold air and freezes. It doesn't stick to trees or utility lines.

Freezing rain is something else, and more treacherous. Rain lands on the ground and pavement as water, but then it freezes, covering everything with a coat of ice. That's when roads are most dangerous and when power lines fall.

It's a good idea to have a stock of food for storm emergencies. It should be dried or packaged food, in case your electricity goes off and you lose the use of your refrigerator. Don't forget to include food for Rover or Tabby in that supply.

And be sure to include bird seed, too. You have a feeding station. A bad storm is when birds need you help the most—and the time when folks usually run out.

Little Buttercup

They call her sweet Buttercup, dear Little Buttercup. Her name is Jocelyn Wilkes, and she's a member of the cast of the New York Savoyard's production of "HMS Pinafore," in town this weekend.

The Gilbert and Sullivan operetta will be presented at 4 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road west of Canton Center.

The New York company and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will join forces for the special Christmas concert.

Tickets are $5 in advance, $2.50 for students and senior citizens, and are available at Beitner's Jewelry, Plymouth Book World, Heide's Flowers on Harvey at Ann Arbor Trail, Audette's Office Supply and Arnold's.

A Riverview man is facing a 10-year felony charge for smashing a beer glass in another man's face Nov. 18 at Mr. Magoo's bar in Canton Township.

Canton police said David Moore, 22, of Ypsilanti, may have lost the sight in his left eye because of the incident in the Michigan Avenue bar.

Michael Joseph MacDonald, 20, is scheduled for arraignment today (Monday) on the charge—assault with intent to do great bodily harm—before 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis. A warrant for MacDonald's arrest was issued last Wednesday, 11 days after the incident.

occurred in the crowded bar around 11 p.m. Nov. 18 after MacDonald bumped into Moore.

The two men, who police said did not know each other, began arguing. According to Moore's complaint to police, MacDonald threw the beer glass into his face before either man threw a punch.

Police said bar patrons broke up the fight. The township fire department rushed Moore to Wayne County General Hospital where he was treated for a cut face and left eye.

Moore was released from the hospi-

Herman ending 25 years in Box

By W.W. EDGAR

Another familiar face will be missing from the Plymouth scene during the holidays when Herman Halprin, owner of the Box Bar and Grill for the past quarter of a century, retires because of ill health.

According to Halprin, who is suffering from Krown's Disease, which is hereditary among Jewish people, he will join his wife Rose in therapeutic lessons in what he calls the latest act in the modern version of the old stage play, "Abie's Irish Rose."

As he looks forward to a life of ease in their Bloomfield Hills home, he can't help recalling how close his life with Rose followed the old-time stage play.

"When I was courting her, her name was Rosemary and she was Catholic. But because my father was president of the synagogue at the time—39 years ago—we had to change to Mary or he would not have permitted the marriage."

"And it is just like the play in other ways. My parents came over here from Roumania and met in New York. So, you see, our lives have really been an immigrant story."

"We have seven children, now all married, and Rose and I can enjoy the rest of our lives trying to ease our pain as she, too, is suffering with arthritic knees."

BORN IN DETROIT 58 years ago Halprin spent his childhood in the city, but came to Plymouth in an unusual move.

He aspired to live in a nice, quiet place, and answered an ad from a brokerage house. It was for the purchase of what now is the Box Bar and Grill.

At the time it was strictly a tavern, which meant that the sale of alcoholic beverages was limited to beer and wine.

When the sale of liquor by the glass was approved by the voters in Plymouth in 1967 he obtained one of the first full class C licenses.

"The whole environment of the place changed since then, as food has become the lure for many of the customers who have gathered here at noon for years."

"Before that, liquor could be purchased by the glass in Plymouth Township and the only day in the week when I could hold my own with them was on Sundays, when there was no liquor sale."

While he has enjoyed every minute of his business life in Plymouth, Halprin decided to retire when his doctors told him his spine was deteriorating and that the hard work and long hours were taking their toll.

"I'm only 58 years old and if I take good care of myself I should have a good many years left. Aside from that Rose needs company and we can take our therapy together."

Plymouth-Canton OBITUARIES

ELLEN C. LAIBLE
Funeral services for Mrs. Laible, 78, of Plymouth, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth, with burial at Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Henry J. Walch, D.D. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

BERT D. METCALF
Funeral services for Mr. Metcalf, 65, of Heritage Drive, Plymouth, were held recently in Casterline Funeral Home, Inc. in Northville with burial in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit. Officiating was the Rev. Robert Shade of Shepherd of the Lakes Evangelical Lutheran Church of Walled Lake.

Mr. Metcalf, who died Nov. 22 at Ford Hospital, Detroit, moved to Plymouth three years ago from Detroit and retired from Chrysler Corp. 10 years ago. Survivors include: wife, Vivian; sons, Richard of Dearborn Heights, Douglas of Walled Lake; and two grandchildren, Vince and Todd.

First concert to be Thursday

The instrumental music department at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) will present its first concert of the year Thursday, Dec. 7 in the Plymouth Salem auditorium.

The concert is free to the public and is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Associate director of bands Carl Battishill, conductor of the CEP Varsity and Concert bands, will be making his first appearance on the concert stage with the Plymouth bands.

Coming from the Frankfurt School District, Battishill has four years of experience and is a music education major from the University of Michigan. He also received his masters in music education from the U of M.

Starting Thursday's program with the varsity band, Battishill will conduct such numbers as "Tunes of Glory" by John Cacavas, "Slavonic Dances" by Antonin Dvorak and "Holiday on Ice" by James Christensen.

The CEP Concert band will follow with selections including "Themes from the Nutcracker Suite" by Tschai-kovsky, "Introduction and Fantasia" by Rex Mitchell and "Pride of the Wolverines March" by Sousa.

James R. Griffith will then take over the podium to direct the CEP symphony band in selections such as "Commando March" by Samuel Barber, "Chorale and Alleluia" by Howard Hanson, "Dance of the Spirits of Fire" by Gustav Holst, "The Light Fantastic March" by Leonard Smith and "Prelude to Christmas" arranged by John Krance.

Planner to shed light on zoning

Something like an urban planning 101 course has been proposed by Canton planner Jim Kosteva to acquaint township residents with the basics of planning and zoning laws.

But registration fees and classroom tests will have no place in the series of community education seminars that Kosteva has proposed.

The seminars, open to anyone with an interest, will cover such planning matters as master land use plans, zoning, special uses, variances and growth management techniques.

Kosteva hopes to schedule the seminars as a one-hour prelude to Canton planning commission meetings, which will begin in mid-January.

He also wants to publish supplementary classroom work material in local newspapers prior to planning commission meetings, scheduled for the second and fourth Mondays of every month.

KOSTEVA, who was hired as Canton planner six months ago, said residents' interests in planning matters provided the spark for his idea.

The concept was endorsed by the township board last week.

"During my six months here, I've seen the community show a very active and vocal interest in planning-related activities," Kosteva said.

"And I think it's imperative to hear opinions from people. But if we can have a better educated public, then the input to the planning commission and township board will be that much better."

Kosteva sees the seminars as an exchange of ideas. He hopes to invite speakers to some of the meetings and reproduce portions of textbooks and other materials that will shed light on some of the topics discussed.

Kosteva asks residents interested in attending some or all of the seminars to contact him at township hall, 397-1000.

Kosteva, 26, holds a bachelor's degree in metropolitan studies from North Central College in Naperville, Ill., and has completed work on a master's degree in natural resources at the University of Michigan.

He has served as planning aide in Naperville and assistant planner for the City of Westland.

Counseling center gets Ford grant

Ford Motor Co. Fund has awarded a $5,000 grant to Growth Works, Inc.

Announcement of the grant was made last week by Dennis Campbell, manager of the Sheldon Road Ford Plant in Plymouth.

The money will be used to reduce the mortgage on Growth Works' facility on Main Street.

Growth Works operates youth services programs and counseling and crisis intervention services for residents in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The Ford Motor Co. Fund contribution is a significant factor, says David Smith, board member of Growth Works, because it is the largest industrial contribution to the organization.

AWARDING OF THE grant is the culmination of three years effort to sustain capital fund support from the Ford Fund, which is the state's seventh largest foundation.

The request, sponsored by the Sheldon Road Plant community relations committee, could not be acted on until the foundation's capital contributions moratorium was raised earlier this year.

According to Smith, the effort involved the energies of four plant managers and the local plant's industrial relations manager.

"Greg Wold, G.R. Shoettley, John McRee and Gene Burkhardt worked diligently and unceasingly to move the Fund in our direction," Smith said. "We are indebted to them for their efforts and those who aided them in their efforts."

The contribution from Ford's complements the efforts of other local corporations, most notably Burroughs and Western Electric. Both have made major capital contributions in the past.

The joy of victory

The Plymouth Canton girls' basketball team experience the thrill of victory after an upset 39-37 victory over the Plymouth Salem Rocks. The Rocks, undefeated in the Sub 8, were favored in the first meeting on the courts of the two squads. The Chiefs now advance to regional play in the quest for the state title. See story and more photos in sports section on Page 1B. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Board split on court location

Canton Township will be getting a branch of the 35th District Court to call it's own, but the decision where to put it has yet to be made.

Members of the township board met with Judge Dunbar Davis and Judge-elect James Garber at a special meeting last week to discuss options for the new branch.

The board has scrapped plans to put the court in the meeting hall at the Canton Fire station at Canton Center and Cherry Hill. Although other locations have been considered, the choice now seems narrowed down to the new township hall building.

However, the board is divided whether the court should be in the basement or the third floor of the building.

According to Davis, a third class district such as the 35th Court should, by law, have a branch in a city with a population more than 3,250 or a township with population more than 12,000. Garber, who was elected to the position of judge during the general election, is expected to be the main judge in Canton. Davis had been the only judge in the 35th district, which includes Plymouth and Northville, prior to the addition of a second judge.

The board has officially resolved that there will be a court branch in Canton, but will not decide between the two possible portions of the township hall until a future meeting.

However, the choice between the two floors has already resulted in spirited arguments and building tours, as board members promoted their choices for the court.

Trustee Robert Greenstein proved to be the most vocal of those favoring a court on the third floor. That level had been designed to house a local library, but voters shot down a millage request to institute the project.

Greenstein maintained that the third floor is already set up to house a court with few alterations, and is more dignified than the basement. "The basement is indeed a basement. It just isn't proper for a court."

Treasurer James Donahue, however, came out in strong support of a basement location, saying security would be easier to maintain there. "The only difference is that you could not have outside daylight. The lower level (as those in favor of the basement location preferred to call it) could be made every bit as nice."

Supervisor Noel Culbert seemed inclined to favor the third floor, as did the two judges. Both Greenstein and Culbert are attorneys. They claim a dignified atmosphere tends to make those who visit the court behave in a more reserved manner.

Both judges Davis and Garber said they preferred any spot in the township hall to the proposed firehall location, but would take the third floor over the basement if given a choice. "I don't care if I sit in a chicken coop," Davis commented.

Trustee Nancy Goldsmith said she saw no reason to debate the location, and wanted to see breakdowns on the cost of adapting one area over another. "We need also to look at what compatible uses could be made of the rest of the third floor if we have the court there," she said.

The basement is being used primarily for storage at the present.

Wherever the court eventually goes, township and court officials do not expect it to be a drain on Canton's general fund coffers.

According to Donahue, preparing a location in township hall will cost anywhere from $20,000 to $30,000 initially. Necessary moveable partitions are already in place on the third floor, but have not been installed in the basement.

The 1979 budget for the local court has been estimated at between $325,000 and $350,000, which includes the salaries of a clerk, bailiff, second judge and court reporter. Canton's share of the court costs, with a local branch, are estimated between $145,000 and $172,000.

Revenues, which come from fines and repayment of court costs, are estimated at $212,710 for Canton alone.

According to Donahue, court revenue for Canton is rising because there is now a full-time police department in the township.

Trustee gets planner's seat

Newly-elected Trustee Carol Bodenmiller will serve as the Canton board's representative on the township planning commission.

Supervisor Noel Culbert recommended Mrs. Bodenmiller for the planning appointment last week, and the township board unanimously approved his recommendation.

Mrs. Bodenmiller will take the planning commission seat formerly held by ex-Trustee Brian Schwall, who resigned from the post when his term on the township board expired Nov. 20.

Mrs. Bodenmiller will complete Schwall's term on the planning commission, which expires Dec. 31. The township board is expected to appoint the new trustee to her own three-year term on the planning commission later this month.

The planning commission is responsible for reviewing site plans submitted by developers and submitting recommendations to the township board. The commission is currently reviewing the 1976 master land use plan and sign ordinance.

"The planning commission job is probably the hardest in the township," Culbert said.

A guest column

Every magazine, every commercial you see at this time of year seems to feature someone entertaining someone else.

There are articles ad nauseum with recipes for exotic culinary masterpieces and unusual drinks to appease the appetites of the witty and urbane people one is expected to have on the guest list.

Commercials, too, focus on the vital importance of having a house that doesn't smell like a litter box should you contemplate an intimate gathering. If the commercials are correct, your guests will not shun you if you place dozens of little smelly plastic owls about and serve dishes with liberal quantities of processed cheese melted in.

It is also important to have only the finest furniture adorning your mansion so visitors won't say nasty things behind your back. There is a commercial showing late at night that has an evil-tempered shrew berating her husband for the couples' junky furniture, which precludes them from having people over.

In the next scene, the couple, now joyous, are shown surrounded by furniture that best can be described as bordello gothic, which was gotten from the store which contracted for the commercial. Everything is apparently just ducky for these two now, because they can impress all their friends. I must confess that I preferred the before furniture and would have avoided this couple no matter what the shape of their house.

SOMEHOW, I HAVE always felt more comfortable visiting people who are more interested in my company than in whether or not their possessions—or lack thereof—will offend me.

Most of the people I know do not have domiciles straight out of House Beautiful. They have some new furniture and a lot of stuff they've picked up from relatives or secondhand stores. Some of the used stuff is much better made and more interesting than anything available at the average furniture showplace.

No one gets outraged if they visit a slightly

(or very) messy place because they don't make it a prerequisite for friendship. This is a good attitude, because no one ever stops by right after I've cleaned up my place. People only visit when clothes are scattered about the floor and the dishes haven't been done and the cupboard is bare.

I've noticed that most people apologize for "everything being such a mess" before they let anyone come in. Most of the time, I wonder if these conscientious types even know what a mess is, because I never see any.

When I apologize for the mess, I'm talking about a real mess, not an imaginary one. I believe in truth in advertising.

I've always wanted to be the type of person who can whip out the fancy food and drink when anyone comes over. Apparently, you do it by cooking up neat things to eat and freezing them, so you can have a fancy dinner at hand merely by turning on the oven.

The sad truth is that the best I can usually do is drag a few forlorn-looking beers out of the refrigerator and maybe come up with an onlet or soup.

Those few times that I do have goodies in the cupboard or on the stove, no one ever shows up.

Back in the days when my friend Becky and I lived together, we lived on a lot of TV dinners and an occasional gourmet meal.

Her fiancé never dropped in on the evenings we had just finished setting a splendid feast on the table. He always showed up on the frozen food nights. He thought we lived like pigs.

But now I shall reveal the truth: when no one else is present, my son and I feast on caviar and champagne with classical music in the background. We drag out all our very, very, expensive and tasteful furniture from its hiding place and all our jet set friends stop by on their way to Monaco.

We play a few rounds of backgammon and drape our furs across the back of the Chipendale chairs. When all the beautiful people go on their way, we hide the stuff because we wouldn't want to appear ostentatious. You should have been there.

Cops to vote on police union

"But the way things change out here, you never know what will happen," he said.

Last week, the township board turned down a request from the POAM to recognize the union as the police officers' official bargaining agent.

Parsell said the POAM routinely submits such requests to all municipalities in hopes of cancelling the need for a union election.

Supervisor Culbert said township officials recognize the right of the police officers to unionize, but turned down the request to avoid possible confrontations with other labor unions.

Without an election, other labor unions could complain that they had no opportunity to approach the police officers with their own organizing proposals, Culbert maintains.

Although Bush believes Canton police are paid less than many unionized departments, he attributes the salaries of the township police to "the financial situation of the township."

According to Bush, Canton patrol officers receive the same pay as the township's unionized firefighters, who are represented by the International Association of Firefighters.

He said the police receive the same fringe benefits as the township's other non-union employees.

"We've discussed (joining a union) ever since we got out of the police academy," Bush said. "I can't think of any other police department in the area that isn't unionized."

Carnegie class is in big demand

Saturday, Nov. 25, will mark the third anniversary of a decision which has affected the lives of some 480 persons.

It was on Nov. 25, 1975 that John Czubaj of Canton provided his first Dale Carnegie class in Plymouth in the Mayflower Meeting House.

At that time, Czubaj had planned on offering about one class a year. But the demand was greater than expected, and during the past three years Czubaj has led some 12 classes for about 480 area residents.

The training in personal growth has now reached the point where Czubaj leads four classes a year in the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

CZUBAJ MOVED to Canton seven years ago and, after a stint in business, held his first Dale Carnegie class on Jan. 6, 1974, for the Ralph Nichols Corporation in Southfield.

"I was working out of our Southfield office and arranging for Carnegie classes. That was quite a drive, from Canton to Southfield, and so I decided to line up instruction in Plymouth and spend a year here. And I've never left."

"The demand for Dale Carnegie training here is so great that it's become a fulltime effort. Although I started with the idea of holding one class a year in Plymouth, I've now reached 13-as of Nov. 15."

"This suggests to me that people in this area are very interested in personal growth. Quite a few years ago, the normal thing was for Carnegie training to be offered in an area maybe once every three to five years. So there has to be a lot of interest to command enough persons to support four classes a year."

Although a lot of the students signing up for Czubaj's classes are from Plymouth and Canton, a good number are from nearby communities such as Livonia, Westland, Redford, Northville, Novi, South Lyons. And people come to the Plymouth Hilton from as far away as Warren, Union Lake, Highland Park, Allen Park, and West Bloomfield.

"So you see, there's a lot of alumni out there—people who have spent four hours a night once a week for 14 weeks because they want to move closer to their full potential, because they are not satisfied with standing still."

While talking about his alumnus of almost 500 strong, Czubaj pointed to the symbol "5x" on his wristwatch. "I wear this '5x' on my watch as a daily reminder to me. And '5x' has a very special meaning to anyone who has taken Carnegie training with me."

"Anyone who has taken Carnegie training should remember what 5x means. But anyone who sees the 5x on a wristwatch can recognize someone who took Carnegie training with me. It's a special feature used only in the Carnegie classes offered in Plymouth."

ONE OF THE reasons Czubaj gives for success in Carnegie training is that decision to offer the training here.

"There were a lot of people before interested in taking Carnegie training, but didn't want to make that drive to Southfield. Holding classes here has made all the difference."

Another important difference that decision has made for Czubaj is that it has allowed him to be part of the community. "What I like best about the job now is to be able to be so well accepted by leaders in local business, industry and in the professions. I plan to stay here, and others appreciate the fact that I will stay in the community and not travel around the country teaching Dale Carnegie."

"In this business, in the past, an instructor might come into town, form a class, and then move out afterwards. But I will still be here."

"Because of that I can serve smaller companies in the area which cannot afford to contract with a large consulting or training firm. I act like an employee for small business. And the product of service is needed in today's business community."

PERSONS WHO sign up for Carnegie human relations and effective speaking training learn techniques for living happier, more successful, worry-free lives.

In the 65 years of its existence some two million graduates—from housewives to business people, politicians and corporation presidents—have tapped their potential.

Basically, Czubaj explains, the Carnegie philosophy is following the golden rule. Doing such things as taking a sincere interest in other people's ideas and giving honest appreciation are encouraged. A person following these techniques is generous with praise and stingy with criticism.

"The number one fear is speaking before other people," says Czubaj. "This often holds people back. People who aren't afraid will advance."

Alumni of that first class in Plymouth on Nov. 25, 1975, include Janet Curlee, John Gibson, Karen Saxton, Ben Stahl and Jerry Loiselle.

Other local graduates of include Jim McKeon, Margaret Wall, Dennis Knapp, Roger Haslick, Dinnie Mauer, Dr. Gary Hall, John Rakov, and the entire Loiselle family.

Falkiewicz accepts deputy job

He says he will ask Mrs. Falkiewicz to take his place on the township board whenever he is unable to attend a meeting.

"I wouldn't hesitate for a minute to call Dolly and have her take my place," Donahue said. "We agree on a lot of the same things."

MRS. FALKIEWICZ said she will continue attending all board meetings and keep her files on township issues up to date to stay prepared for the deputy treasurer's job.

She said she decided to take the position after Donahue promised that the job would be more than a title.

"A title means nothing to me if you can't work," she said.

Mrs. Falkiewicz admitted, however, that sitting on the township board as a non-elected official "would be scary at first."

She plans to ask the township board for permission to abstain from voting on crucial issues that she is not familiar with.

"If I really don't feel I know enough about an issue, I don't think it would be fair to Jim (Donahue) or the township for me to vote," she said.

Township Clerk Flodin said Mrs. Falkiewicz would lose her deputy treasurer appointment if Donahue resigned from the treasurer's job.

The clerk said the township board would appoint a replacement for Donahue to complete the treasurer's unexpired term. The new treasurer would appoint his or her own deputy.

"She's Donahue's appointee, and she serves at his pleasure," Flodin said. "If he should vacate his position, she'd have to vacate hers too."

Mrs. Falkiewicz will not serve as Canton's official deputy treasurer until she is sworn in by Flodin. The swearing-in ceremony has not been scheduled.

Goodfellows drive planned

Canton Goodfellows will take to the streets and shopping centers Dec. 16 to sell papers in order to brighten up some family's Christmas.

Gary Bodenmiller and Bob Myers, co-chairmen for the organization, said proceeds from the paper sale will be used to provide presents and gift baskets for needy children and senior citizens.

The local Goodfellows group met last week and appointed John and Ruth Wiles as treasurers and Delores Bashor as head of a committee to place and remove canisters from area businesses. The chairmen ask that anyone who knows of someone who could use the help of the organization contact the Goodfellows' secretary, Nancy Longwell, at Canton Township Hall. Volunteers to help sell papers are also needed.

The Canton organization had not been active for some time. Bodenmiller said he hopes to see new life in the group this year. Publicity chairwoman is Mary Dingley of the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Snow removal for aged

The Youth Community Conservation Improvement Project (YCCIP) is planning a snow removal service for senior citizens 65 years and older living in the City of Plymouth. YCCIP is a federally funded youth employment program which has as its main interests helping the community and helping youth

Schools study building uses

More than 100 areas to investigate were identified by members of the Bond Issue Advisory Committee of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools at its meeting last week.

Every roof, room, and radiator in the school district may be subject to inspection by the group before it is finished.

The 10-member committee was appointed Nov. 13 by the board of education to assess the need for new buildings and for energy conservation modification of present facilities. The committee will advise the board on a proposed bond issue for 1979. They meet from 7-9 p.m. Mondays in the board office at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

Committee chairperson Charles Heidt says they plan to use the individual expertise of each member to prepare recommendations in the areas of land use, building maintenance and finance.

Some members of the committee toured school facilities last week to check their condition. They are also studying building capacity and will observe first-hand the number of students in the classrooms.

At tonight's meeting, committee member Den Storton will report on the research resources available from the University of Michigan and Leslie Cavell will review facilities, planning and enrollment.

The committee plans to issue weekly progress reports to the community by way of local newspapers and "Board Business Bite Size."

Your Children May Inherit Spinal Weakness

Your children inherit many physical characteristics and traits from you including strengths and weaknesses of their spinal columns. Just as the shape of their noses, color of their eyes, curly hair or skeletal frames can be inherited, so can curvatures or weak areas in their spines. This is evident in all of Nature...red Winesap apple seeds produce trees that bear only red Winesap apples; round watermelons' seeds produce vines which bear round watermelons.

ARE YOU SUFFERING FROM DISORDERS DUE TO SPINAL PROBLEMS?

If so, your children may have a tendency to inherit the same or corresponding problems, just as you may have similarly inherited your spinal weaknesses from your parents...or the accumulated weaknesses of several generations. Ask yourself these questions: what illnesses did my own parents or grandparents have? How long did they live? The answers may very well furnish clues to your and your children's present-day strengths and/or weaknesses.

If you suffer from attacks of headaches, backaches, nervousness, shoulder pains, leg or arm aches, bursitis, constipation, stomach trouble...or any of a much longer list of common physical complaints...your own children may certainly be subject to these same disease conditions. Natural parental concern compels you to prevent your children from experiencing the same distressing health problems you have known.

CHIROPRACTIC EMPHASIZES PREVENTION!

As chiropractic has grown, it has continued to place greater emphasis on the PREVENTION of spinal problems which can, in turn, cause any number of other health problems due to spinal nerve pressure. When is the prevention most effective? In the formative years! A regular spinal examination at least once a year during your child's growing years is one of the best physical health insurance procedures you can obtain for him. If chiropractic corrective adjustments are indicated, you will have the great satisfaction of knowing that you have taken the proper steps to assure your child of a healthy body, and, therefore, a nervous system free from nerve pressure or irritation. Many serious health conditions in youth, as well as later in life, can be prevented by this precautionary procedure. Remember "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree!"

CHIROPRACTIC AND YOUR CHILDREN

As professionals of the natural science of chiropractic, we conscientiously recommend that you include regular spinal examinations in your children's health schedules. You will be rewarded as you see the benefits from this regular analysis as your children develop normal, well-balanced, healthy spines, nervous systems and bodies.

TREATMENT STOPS THEIR SEIZURES

When my friends told me to take my children to a chiropractor, I didn't think he could help them. Daniel had been having at least one seizure every month since he was six months old and he was in and out of hospitals.

Medical doctors said he was epileptic and gave him phenobarbital. By the time he was two, he could hardly walk straight. He would start in one direction and stagger a different way. The doctors put Daniel through a lot of painful tests. My husband and I could only cry and pray to God that he wouldn't leave us.

Then our younger son Donny began having seizures.

The doctors told us that both boys were epileptics. They said Daniel would be an epileptic the rest of his life. Donny, they said, had a chance to outgrow it. Both boys were put on medication and if they continued to have seizures the medicine would be made stronger. Both boys took the medicine three times a day. The doctors said that if they missed it once, the boys might die.

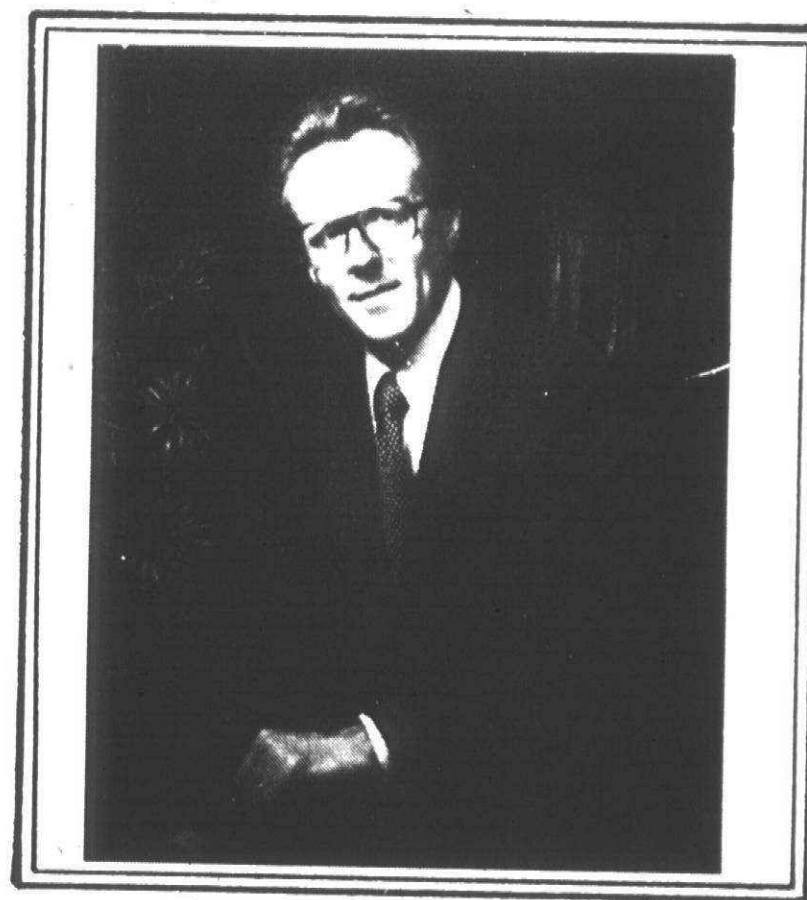

Then I took the boys to see Dr. Grassam. I am so thankful that I took my boys in to see a chiropractor!

After a couple of visits I stopped giving them the medicine and neither one has had a seizure since. They both act normally now and can talk much better. Everyone has noticed the change and no one can believe it. From now on if something happens to my children, I bring them to the chiropractor. I have faith in chiropractic.

"Hey Doc, What About My Family?"

That's a question that we have heard for years and we have now devised a plan to enable your whole family to enjoy the many benefits of good health.

Many times in the past, after being restored to good health through chiropractic care, our patients have asked about care for their entire family. "I just can't afford to have the entire family treated at the regular office fee," they say. Even though our $10 office call is the very lowest in the area, we realize that it can be a burden to large families.

So, to serve the needs of patients who do not have full family health care insurance, we are proud to announce the Family Health Care Plan which will make good health a family affair.

Under our new plan, which is in effect whenever two or more family members who do not have full family insurance visit us on the same day, the first member pays only $8. The second family member would pay only $3 and the third is only $1. All members after three, no additional charge. In other words the maximum cost for the family would be $12.

We have designed this plan to extend good health to everyone. There is a genuine concern that families should stay healthy together. Good health is, indeed, a family affair and it is an affair to be remembered.

Take advantage of our new plan today. Call now — 422-7800 and ask about our Family plan.

All insurance plans pay for Chiropractic services, including: Blue Shield, Aetna, Metropolitan, Teamsters, auto insurance, workmen's compensation, Medicare and Medicaid.

The scene from the opposing benches tells the story as the wide-eyed anticipation of the Plymouth Canton Chiefs (left) gives a feeling of the victory to come, while a stunned and disappointed Salem bench

Canton squeaks by Salem for district title

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

It was a sheer case of TOGA-mania as a loose and carefree Plymouth Canton girls basketball squad upset undefeated arch-rival Plymouth Salem, 39-37, to win its first-ever district basketball championship.

The quick Chiefs cheered their famous 'Toga' chant throughout the emotional, defensive contest to surprise the bigger and stronger Salem team with the two-point triumph in the first meeting ever between the two sister schools cage powers.

Canton's senior four-year starter Evie Pasek, who hasn't had one of her best seasons this fall, blossomed at the perfect time, scoring nine of her game high 15 points in the crucial fourth quarter to spark the Chiefs to victory. More importantly, Pasek showed the poise of a four-year starter with her domination under the boards against the taller Salem players.

"Evie Pasek is an underrated player," said Canton coach Mike McCauley. "She's the only girl in our program to start every game for all four years. She was the difference in this game."

Canton held a slim one-point lead, 27-26, entering the fourth quarter and never let the Rocks, who finish the season at 21-1, get ahead.

Canton mounted as much as a five-point lead midway in the final period but Salem came charging back thanks to five straight turnovers the Chiefs committed when they tried to stall the game away with their four-corner offense.

With only four seconds remaining, Salem's leading scorer this night Doris Hoelscher (eight points), sunk a 13-footer from the right side to bring Salem within two, 39-37, and was fouled by Canton's Laura Butler.

Rather than complete the three-point play, Hoelscher intentionally missed the one free throw, hoping Salem would get the offensive rebound and a basket to tie the game. The ball bounced off the boards, through the hands of both Diane Goodrich of Salem and Kathie Peck of Canton, and came to Salem's Nan Horwood, who pushed a 14-footer toward the hoop but to no avail as the clock expired.

"I thought we had a good opportunity at the end but missed," said a disappointed Salem coach Bob Blohm. "We never got over the hump. The ball didn't go down for us but what the hell, they (Canton) didn't make that many baskets either."

"You've got to give Canton credit. They played their kind of basketball and executed well. Canton is a very capable basketball team if they are allowed to do what they want."

"You can make a thousand reasons for losing — that's the way basketball is."

"I'm proud of our girls. They were steady and consistent all year, and won all their close games."

"I'm not going to let one game and one loss detract from the season," said the coach of the Suburban Eight League champions. "But it's not going to be easy living around here for a year."

"I think we were rated high and should be because we are a good team. But so is Canton and they proved it."

McCauley's squad, Western Six League champions and 20-2 overall, the second-best record in Observ-erland behind Salem, now advances to the Ann Arbor Huron Regional Wednesday night at 8:30 p.m. The Chiefs play the winner of the Lansing Sexton District.

"Our game plan was to get them tired," McCauley said. (Diane) Goodrich and (Erin) Moore both had injuries. It wasn't poor conditioning. But they were tired at the end. We out-rebounded them in the fourth quarter."

"Bob Blohm's team is a great and very fine team. Another 30 seconds and he might have won. It was only two points."

Salem grabbed an early 8-7 first-quarter lead and dominated the early portion of the second quarter. The Rocks were getting inside on Canton's zone defense but continually missed inside shots and failed to break it open.

Crazy antics spark Chief win

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Every coach has his or her way of getting a team emotionally ready for a big athletic contest.

Most of the time, this is done with highly enthusiastic pep talks to go along with strategic plans on how to beat the opposing team.

But if you are Plymouth Canton girls basketball coach Mike McCauley, your methods include no game plan, no scouting report, dressing casually rather than in a traditional suit, and also having your players run around the court with costumes on five minutes before game time—while the other team is warming up.

This was all part of McCauley's loose and care-free, yet well considered, attitude before the big game against arch-rival Plymouth Salem for the district championship.

Salem coach Bob Blohm didn't think these weird antics by the Canton squad affected his team, but there is no doubt the crazy style helped the scrappy Chiefs prepare for their eventual 39-37 victory over favored Salem.

Canton was ready to play, despite the unusual pre-game performance.

"It was all attitude," said McCauley. "We were loose and played our kind of game."

"In the past before every big game, I always, always gave the girls a detailed scouting report and we lost. So I theorized that this approach increased the fear and anxiety in the girls by saying the other team is so great."

"In the Salem game, we only talked about it for 10 minutes in Wednesday practice. And then we only talked about who would guard who. Of course Salem is a great team but we were positive, happy-go-lucky and really stressed playing our kind of game."

"We have seven seniors and they're all a little crazy, but they played loose. We talked only about our team and what we had to do to win."

McCauley said running around the court in toga costumes before the game was to get his players relaxed. There were a number of other methods the Canton coach used to get his team ready, including having the team sit in the pitch dark for 10 minutes, thinking only about themselves and the Salem game.

"I think it made a difference for me," McCauley said. "And I think I called a better game, instead of being tight. I wore old clothes and looked like a fan because I didn't want to get emotionally involved (with the game). I wanted to be relaxed."

"I had (assistant coach Pat) Cunningham put on a shirt and tie. He looked like the coach and I looked like his brother. It was funnier than hell. Some fans probably thought we were crazy, but we were loose and relaxed. I'm going to go out and buy another woodsman shirt (for Wednesday's regional game)."

"It shows me that its more important to have a positive attitude than to know something about the other team," said McCauley, who saw Salem play only one time this year and put his scouting notes on one 3 x 5 card. "I think we were very positive and it showed in the girls."

"This is important especially for girls. They get too uptight as it is without knowing how great the other team is. Maybe it's different for boys and they can use the information (scouting report) successfully."

"I just know it was a great game no matter what the outcome. It was just like a Canton-Salem game should be—tight to the finish."

"Hopefully we can go 25-2. The girls would like to play Mumford again."

Mumford knocked Canton out of the state tournament last season and are expected to win the title this year. But if the Chiefs get a chance to play the Detroit squad in the state semifinals, it might be a little different.

McCauley will see to that—old shirt, and all.

Doc's Corner

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

The girls gave us a show

Yes, the good doctor's prediction turned sour. But before we examine just why Plymouth Canton upset Plymouth Salem, 39-37, for its first-ever district championship, I think it would be fitting to let you know winning coach Mike McCauley's initial feelings after the game.

He said, "It's nice to see the fans really enjoyed it. That's what it's all about. How many were there? 1,200? It's good for the girls and good for the sport. The fans really helped us."

"(Salem coach Bob) Blohm and McCauley made it exciting and the players made it exciting. The people got their money's worth tonight. We are 20-2 and Salem's 21-1. And we're only 100 yards apart. Imagine if we put the two teams together."

That's McCauley. The wild- and sometimes eccentric Canton coach. Most coaches would be babbling about their team after pulling off such a tremendous victory. But not McCauley. Yes, he cares about his girls and wants to give them recognition, but he also cares about the fans and the sport, as well. Now, isn't that another important part of prep athletics which we should all think about?

The excitement and emotion of the game proved both squads should play two non-league regular season games every year. The fan interest is there.

McCAULEY'S one of those psychological coaches who believes in tricks or downright weird ways of getting his teams ready to play. Now, I'm not one who believes in any of this psychological garbage, but I can't argue with the man's success.

And, oh yes, he has quite a talented group of ball players whose scrappy, quick style of play ran the giant, undefeated Rocks ragged all Thursday night.

Put aside any of the crazy things McCauley does, like when his team dressed in awkward costumes and ran out the gym five minutes before game time. Because when it came time to play, McCauley's team was serious, oh so serious, about winning this game.

Salem's height was clearly an advantage in the early going, and the Rocks could have blown it open in the second quarter. But they hit a cold streak. Patty Weidman converted on only one of nine shots from inside and Diane Goodrich's outside shooting was stifled when a Canton defender's hand was in her face on every shot.

And once more, Nan Horwood hardly ever took a shot until near the end of the game, when it was far too late. Doris Hoelscher was the only Salem player able to convert a basket consistently.

You could tell, after Kelly Heaton and Evie Pasek tied things up at half-time with two outside shots, that it was going to be Canton's night. The Chiefs had stayed close, tied in fact, at halftime.

McCauley preached his squad had to stay close to win. And although the Chiefs were outplayed in the first half, they managed a tie.

Then the momentum swung to the red side. Guards Kathie Peck and Vickie Cavallaro were just too quick for Salem to handle. And Evie Pasek proved, this night, that she was better than any of the Salem giants. Kelly Heaton also held her own underneath, defensively.

What about that Salem depth I talked about earlier? Well, it actually was Canton's depth which sparked the victory. While the Chief reserves made many mistakes on the floor, they kept Canton in the game, and gave the starters the needed rest to put the final touches on the victory.

THE PREDICTION may have been wrong, but it was a great basketball game, nonetheless. It must go down as one of the classic confrontations between Salem and Canton athletics in the short history of the rivalry.

Let's just hope we see these two fine programs meet more often during the regular season, and not just in tournament play.

2 in a row Rocks whip Edsel Ford

Plymouth Salem scored 23 points in the first quarter and then relied on its tenacious defense to win its second straight road game of the season, 74-45, over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

It was a sweet Suburban Eight League opener for coach Fred Thomann's squad, which began its fifth straight defensive of the league crown with the convincing victory.

The Rocks streaked to a 12-point lead after the first quarter, 23-11, but scored only nine points in the second period.

"We had a 12-point spread but it was only three at halftime," said Thomann. "We got into a running game with them but we didn't convert. We didn't play good ball (in that quarter)."

Salem corrected its second quarter mistakes, however, holding Edsel Ford to a mere two points, while it scored 16 to take control of the game. The Rocks added 26 points in the fourth period to only 14 for the Thunderbirds, as all 12 Salem players saw action.

"I told my team after the game that it (the third quarter) was the best defensive quarter any of my teams ever played," Thomann said.

Rich Hewlett took scoring honors for Salem with 15 points. He was followed by centers Howard Monk and Bill Thimm with 13 and 12 points respectively.

"We got 25 points inside," Thomann said. "It wasn't a dynamic performance inside but it was something to build on."

"We also got good guard play. Our fast break looked tough. We got 15 baskets on the fast break."

Junior forward Jim Anderson added eight points, while Kevin Kelliher and Rob Neu canned six points each.

Thomann, once again, rotated 10 players in and out of the game, looking and experimenting with different combinations early in the season.

Salem faces yet another road test tomorrow night at Redford Union in a non-league battle. The Panthers are no longer in Suburban Eight League competition.

The Rocks end their initial three-game road trip Friday with a home opener against Allen Park.

Canton eyes another strong season

By M. DAVID CAMPBELL
How can one make its best better?
For the Plymouth Canton boys swim team, this season will be a tough act to follow.

Canton re-wrote its record books last year, as it enjoyed its best season ever, 11-1. Two of the Chiefs' feats were beating Northville and placing second in the league.

Both accomplishments were 'firsts' in the program. Canton head coach Bill Faunce said his team and Northville will battle Northville for the league trophy again this season.

Faunce said this year's squad is "a building team." Faunce, the Chiefs' first and only coach, has improved his squad for six consecutive years.

"One goal for us this year is to be versatile," he said, despite having only 10 returning lettermen.

Paul Peterson, the junior star of this young team, represented the Chiefs well last year at the state meet. Peterson placed sixth in the state in the breaststroke and 10th in the 100-yard butterfly.

A large hole to be filled was left by the departure of Steve Wood. The all-state swimmer was a member of both relay teams that went to the state meet last year.

Senior Dave Tanner could be a candidate for his replacement. Tanner swims butterfly and freestyle.

Steve Gray, recovering from a knee injury he suffered from football, should boost the Chiefs in diving.

Mike Gaab, another senior, looks strong in freestyle and butterfly. Besides Peterson, Canton also has many returning juniors who must be relied on for a successful season.

Canton's schedule is once again tough, but a meet with Redford Union and Catholic Central will add an extra sting. This marks the first time Canton has met a Catholic school.

Faunce received his masters degree at Eastern Michigan University and teaches industrial arts at West Middle School.

Salem tankers soak Thurston

By M. DAVID CAMPBELL
The 1978-79 swimming season started out on a good note for the Plymouth Salem boys, as they demolished Thurston's hope for an upset, 100-70, Thursday night.

WSDP airs district games

Plymouth Canton's radio team will accompany the regional-bound girls' basketball squad Wednesday night to Ann Arbor High.

WSDP-FM announcers John Matthews and George Hamblin will broadcast the first round of regional action starting at 8:25 p.m. when the upstart Chiefs face the winner of the Lansing Sexton district.

It marks the first time Canton will play in a regional contest.

WSDP-FM (88.1) will follow the Chiefs throughout the state tournament action.

Christmas treats to be tasted

"Christmas Treats" is the theme of the Dec. 7 meeting of Delta Zeta Western Wayne Alumnae to be held at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Barbara Attard of Detroit. Co-hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Mary Jo Workman of Plymouth, and Mrs. Pam Cronngett of Dearborn Heights.

Each member is asked to bring six dozen cookies to exchange, plus their recipe and a Christmas card to be given to a nursing home patient.

3 Salem cagers honored by Sub-8

Suburban Eight League girls basketball champion Plymouth Salem placed all three of its nominations on the first-team all-league squad, recently selected by the Sub-8 coaches.

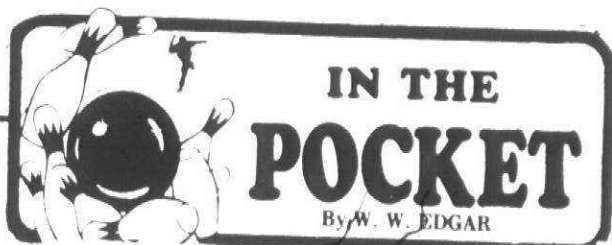

Left-handed senior forward Erin Moore, junior center Patty Weidman, and junior co-captain guard Nan Horwood all received first-team accolades for Salem after the voting was completed.

Other first-team members included Livonia Bentley's top guard Carla Hally and Belleville forward Laurie Houle.

Second team selections were headed by Bentley's other outstanding guard Beth Burgess and Trenton center Kim Nash. Bentley's center Krista Pray received honorable mention recognition.

The Rocks, undefeated in the Sub-8 and in the regular season with 12-0 and 20-0 records respectively, dominated the league play with two big victories over second-place finishers Bentley (10-2). Dearborn placed third in the standings with an 8-4 mark.

You never hear his name mentioned when all-star bowlers are discussed, but John Hurley, who does most of his bowling at Westland Bowl, is pounding out a record that may make him the highest scoring pin-spiller in the area.

After his string of four consecutive 700 series was broken a week ago, he came right back last week to round out an 815 series that tied him with Dick Wittl, of the Bonanza All-Stars, for high game of the season.

Hurley got his big count in the doubles league where he put together games of 259, 290 and 266 for an 815. He had 32 out of a possible 36 strikes. After his big series, Hurley rolled a finishing game of 257, giving him an average of 268 for the four games at Westland Bowl.

ASIDE FROM Hurley's big count, several other unusually high scores were reported in the area.

The first of these came in the West Side Proprietors Traveling league, where Quintan Greene rolled a 780 series that included a perfect game at Crown Lanes. He opened with a 257, added a 223 and closed with the first perfect game of his bowling career.

Hank Tyl joined the select group of those who broke the 700 barrier by firing a 746 in the Super Bowl Classic. He began the big series with a 235, added a 256 and a 255 for the barriershattering effort.

WHILE SCORING WAS HIGH in other places, it took a drop in the Wonderland Classic, where high scores have become a tradition.

This past week, Harry Fill showed the way with a 676 that included an amide game of 256. Maurie Quinlan was right behind him with a 665 and Mort Friedman's Construction team had high series of 3,140.

In the ladies division, Chris Kramer was high with a 627, made possible because of a 240 opener. Her closest rival was Marcie Bashor with 616. Others who bettered double-century figures were Sue Gosicki with 602 and Marge O'Neil with 600.

THE MEN in the Ford League at Woodland Lanes have found the range and this week came up with some of their best scores.

Terry Ondejko landed on top with a 680 that included a 280 game. Bob Stanley took the runner-up spot with a 666 and Jerry Cyril finished third with a 633 that included a 278 game. Arnie O'Brien, who carries a 179 average, joined the high-game leaders with a 257.

Nancy Jones paced the Bowling Belles with a 536 that was only seven pins better than Maureen Roman, who had a 202 in 529.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER combinations put on quite a show in the Las Vegas league at Super Bowl, when Margie Brothers fired a 234 in 560 and her daughter, Karen, had games of 212 and 196 in 530 series.

The senior citizens also did well, as Fred Domise posted a 237 and Cass Wollak followed with a 226.

A NEW NAME has been placed on the honor roll at Bel-Aire Lanes. It is John Bevak, who earned the place by rolling a 711 series that included a 266 game. His closest competitors were Jerry Hay with 697 and Don Kinjorski with a 676.

JERRY OHL returned to the winners' circle in the Vinco league at Garden Lanes. He posted a 619 to beat Lanny Riguli by five pins while Harry Totalian landed third with 608.

Chiefs' 104 points stop Franklin

Canton is awesome in opener

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

One couldn't ask for a better coach debut than Plymouth Canton's Craig Bell, who calmly unveiled his version of the 1978-79 Chiefs with a subtle warning to all teams in Observeland.

Yes, Plymouth Canton is for real, setting a school record of 104 points in its 104-66 thrashing of a stunned Livonia Franklin team Friday night at the Chiefs' gym.

Six Canton players reached double figures, as the Chiefs put together 30, 26 and 34-point quarters. Only in the third period did Canton score less than 20 points. The Chiefs hit the century mark at the 3:08 mark of the final quarter on a three-point play by reserve Brad Westin.

Before the 100-point plateau was reached, it was all Canton, Canton, Canton, as the Chiefs put on an awesome display at both ends of the court, much to the surprise of both Bell and losing coach Jim McIntyre.

"In a game like this it was a surprise to see things fall into place," Bell said. "One good thing led to another. It was like a snowball effect."

"I thought the game would be much closer," the first-year varsity coach said. "We prepared for a close game. I had no idea we would win this big. But everything we did was right."

NOTICE

CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

LEGAL NOTICE TO FAMILIES WHO LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS OPERATED BY THE PLYMOUTH HOUSING COMMISSION OR LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS IN ANY OTHER CITY BETWEEN MARCH 16, 1971, AND SEPTEMBER 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Plymouth Housing Commission or any other Public Housing Agency during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support, and/or;
2. a dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971, to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submission of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form obtained from The Plymouth Housing Commission, 1160 Sheridan, Plymouth, Michigan. This form must be submitted to the address indicated on the claim form, within 120 days from December 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 4, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

U.S. looks to Livonia for top bookings from show world

By MAURIE WALKER

When many of us think of entertainment, we are inclined to picture Hollywood or New York. But to hundreds of industrial and business firms as well as thousands of organizations and individuals, when they think of entertainment, they just naturally think of the Livonia-based firm of Gail and Rice Productions.

Since 1931, when the firm was founded by Max Gail, it has expanded into an international operation, providing entertainers for automobile shows, sales conventions, parties for thousands or for small gatherings.

Al Rice, who joined Gail in 1949, is president of the firm, having purchased Gail's interest in the business in 1967.

The firm has been at its Livonia site at 11845 Mayfield in the industrial area since July of 1977. For the five years prior to that, Gail and Rice was located on Grand River near Telegraph in Detroit. Originally the firm was in a building in downtown Detroit.

"It was just a matter of outgrowing the building. Our Grand River site had 5,000 feet of space. This building gives us 10,000 feet," Rice explained. Last year they booked more than 4,000 engagements.

"Primarily we are show producers, we work for the client providing everything from trios to big bands, dancers and singers, comedians and soloists."

INDUSTRY MAKES up the majority of Gail and Rice's business. The automobile manufacturers call on the firm for sales conventions, retirement parties and of course, the automobile shows held throughout the country.

Most of the major industries have used the firm's know-how in setting up entertainment. Gail and Rice do a lot of business in Las Vegas, Nevada; California and Florida.

"The client tells us what type of entertainment and who they would like. We give them the price which might range from about $40,000 for Bob Hope to do one show for one night, to a much smaller fee for a trio or combo that might be desired for a personal party."

Gail and Rice's contacts include practically every entertainer in the country as well as some relatively unknowns.

"We don't go for entertainers that concentrate on smut or obscene acts. There are no strippers on our list, either," Rice said.

The entertainers the firm can provide include such singers as Edie Adams, Debby Boone, Pearl Bailey, Vikki Carr and Cher. Male singers available through Gail and Rice include Paul Anka, Frankie Avalon, Tony Bennett, Pat Boone, Vic Damone, Sammy Davis Jr. and Tennessee Ernie Ford as well as Engelbert Humperdinck, Jack Jones and Tom Jones.

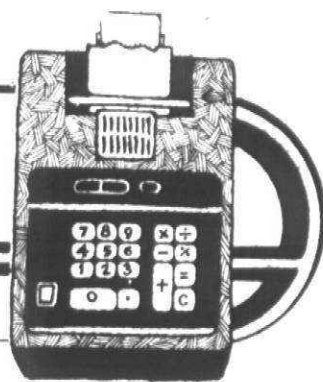

Want comedians? Gail and Rice can, for the price demanded of a particular talent, get you, along with Bob Hope, such stars as Bob Newhart, Milton Berle, Joey Bishop, Foster Brooks, Victor Borge, Red Buttons, Sid Caesar or Johnny Carson, to name a few.

Comedienne available through Gail and Rice include such names as Carol Burnett, Phyllis Diller, or Joan Rivers. If you desire an orchestra, they can obtain for your group Les Brown, Bob Crosby, Woody Herman, Stan Kenton, Matovani, the Glenn Miller Orchestra or Lawrence Welk.

The firm doesn't confine itself to producing shows.

"Our organization is equipped to do

technical training films for auto firms as well as executive films by a company that may be shown to its offices throughout the country. We write speeches for executives as well as producing slide films to go with the talk," Rice said.

The majority of the slide films are done on location. However, narrations for slide presentations are done in the Livonia studio.

Rice commented on the most popular acts for the area. He said the big bands are still popular.

"There is that group in their early 30s who are calling the shots these days. They grew up with rock and roll but don't want it for their shows. In fact, the younger group is rediscovering the Glenn Miller type music."

RICE, LIKE MANY of us, is sentimental about the "old days." In fact, his secretary, Jane Stewart, was in show business, running the "Jane Stewart Dancers," who played such spots around Detroit at the Gay Haven, the 509 Club, Top Hat, Northwood Inn and the Mickey's Showbar. Rice was in show business himself.

Although he earned his master's degree in business administration at the University of Michigan, he played the bass violin with such groups as Art Mooney and Larry Funk, "The Band of a Thousand Melodies," and George Olsen.

Today he lives in Redford Township, has a wife and four children, one of whom, Tim, works with him.

"This is an interesting business. It involves a lot of travel, meeting thousands of persons as well as celebrities. Of course, like any business, it appears to be constantly glamorous to outsiders. There is still the nut and bolts of running a business."

But business continues to climb for Gail and Rice. Even though much of their business may run into the thousands, occasionally there is a group who needs a little music for a small party. The firm will provide an accordion player or singer for a reasonable price.

In addition to booking entertainers, Gail and Rice are also a modeling agency where aspiring young women are screened for modeling jobs throughout the country.

Depression talk called 'stupid'

Predictions of a "deep, deep depression" in 1979 are "stupid" and a recession isn't even likely, a noted Michigan State University business forecaster said recently at a meeting of the Purchasing Management Association of St. Louis.

The present downturn in the business outlook from "excellent to good" is only temporary, said Dr. John L. Hoagland, professor of management.

He attributed the downturn in part to confusion over wage and price guidelines, but said that business trends will only "stutter step briefly before again jogging along at a respectable pace."

According to Hoagland, economists have placed too much emphasis on Gross National Product (GNP), and do not realize that purchasing behavior determines many business cycles and inflation activities.

"THE SUCCESS or failure of curbing inflation rests primarily upon those who buy industrial materials and products," he said.

"The magnitude of industrial, wholesale and retail purchases is far in excess of GNP, yet most economists still worship the false altar of GNP."

They would be much further ahead in understanding business trends and inflation, Hoagland said, if comparable attention was devoted to "GIP (Gross Industrial Purchases) or GBP (Gross Business Purchases)."

According to Hoagland, industrial purchases are about $1 trillion annually, and their impact "far outweighs the impact of any tax cut."

He added that economists have erred in thinking that the behavior of the final consumer determines what happens to inflation and business cycles.

"It is time people realize that every purchaser pays for the materials, labor, overhead and profits for prior producers," Hoagland said.

"How and when purchasing is done determines the allocation of our resources, business cycle activities and the degree of inflation or deflation."

State's historians pressing search for firms that have hit century mark

Wanted: Businesses that have operated in Michigan for more than 100 years.

The Historical Society of Michigan is continuing its search for centennial businesses operating in the state. The society sponsored a contest during the Bicentennial year to locate the oldest business in Michigan. Because of the enthusiastic response, the recognition of centennial businesses has been adopted as an ongoing program of the society.

Overall winner of the contest was George Jerome and Company, a Detroit surveying firm founded in 1828, nine years before Michigan became a state.

According to Frank C. Wilhelm, executive director, more than 265 centennial businesses have been located through an intensive search conducted by local historians throughout the state since 1976.

IN ADDITION to local ceremonies, all businesses celebrating their centennial during the coming year will be honored at the society's second annual Salute to Michigan's Business Pioneers, Wednesday, May 23, 1979, Livelihood Day of Michigan Week. The Salute will be held in Lansing.

Each century-old business will be presented with a certificate officially designating the recipient as a Michigan Centennial Business.

Wilhelm noted that the centennial business program has encouraged many communities to become active in preserving their business and industrial heritage.

"We hope that the contest has also stimulated an interest in preserving important commercial and industrial buildings throughout the state," Wilhelm said. "These structures serve as significant visual links with our past."

THE SOCIETY is especially interested in locating all businesses celebrating their centennial in 1979 and 1980. Older businesses not yet identified are also urged to notify the society.

The names of all centennial businesses and their founding dates will be sent to the State Library, the State Archives and the State Historic Preservation Officer.

4 seminars scheduled to review new tax law

Four free seminars on the topic, "What the new tax law means to you as an investor," have been scheduled by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc.

The first will be held Wednesday, Dec. 6 in the Southfield Holiday Inn, followed by another Thursday, Dec. 7 in Stouffer's Restaurant at Eastland Center. The third will take place Monday, Dec. 11 in the Troy Holiday Inn. Site of the final seminar Tuesday, Dec. 12 will be the Plymouth Hilton Inn. All will start at 7:30 p.m.

Each program will touch on four major areas that affect individual taxation: 1) Investment tax, including capital gains and tax shelters; 2) Compensation, including pensions, deferred compensation and stock options; 3) Estate tax; 4) Sale of homes.

The government's efforts to spur the economy through reduction of corporate taxes also will be discussed.

Each seminar will include a videotape narrated by Bernard Hughes which digests the highlights of the tax law. There also will be a slide presentation on various investment vehicles individuals can use to shelter income from taxation.

"We will discuss the new law as it affects the investor, and we'll suggest effective tax-favored investment opportunities for the employee and the self-employed," said a Merrill Lynch official.

Employee trip

Scans Associates, Inc., of Livonia, recently chartered two buses to send 72 employees to Cleveland to see a facility they had manufactured but which never had been fully assembled locally. It had taken two years to design and construct an automatic engine hot test facility for a Ford engine plant in Cleveland. About two-thirds the size of a football field, the system consists of three conveyors and 48 automatic test stations. In Livonia, components were run in pieces. Not until they were in Cleveland, on a paid day away from their usual work, did employees have the opportunity to see the fully assembled system in operation.

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

While the stock market continues to pivot around the 800 level in the Dow Jones Industrial Averages, little movement of significance has occurred during the past three weeks.

Volume of trading has been low, compared to the levels that existed in the earlier part of the year.

The Federal Reserve discount rate (the interest rate that banks pay to borrow money from the central bank) stands at its highest in history—9½ per cent.

The prime rate (the interest rate that America's largest corporations pay) stands at 11½ per cent. The record prime rate occurred in 1974 when it reached 12 per cent.

Without much further comment necessary regarding the current status of the market, I thought this might be an opportunity to answer some of the more common questions asked by new investors.

CAN STOCKS be registered in more than one name?

Yes. It is possible to include as many names as practical. This is called "joint tenants with right of survivorship," and not a tenants in common.

Any and all parties whose names appear on the certificate are considered to be sole owners of the property. So, accordingly, if one party dies, 100 per cent ownership is retained by the survivors. The property does not become part of the deceased person's estate.

The joint tenancy is usually advisable with husband and wife.

Can stocks be registered in the name of a minor?

No, at least not directly. Michigan, along with several other states, has adopted a "uniform gift to minors act" which makes it possible to register certificates in the name of a custodian acting on behalf of the minor.

The actual registration would appear "John Doe, custodian for James Doe, a minor under the laws of the State of Michigan."

Once established, the property belongs to James. John has the responsibility of acting in the best interest of James. When James reaches maturity, he may then have the certificate registered anyway he wishes.

DOES THE price of a stock indicate its quality?

Absolutely not. The simplest way to explain this is in terms of apple pies. If two apple pies are placed in the oven—each of identical ingredients—and baked for the same length of time, we can assume that they would each be worth the same retail value. Let's assume a value of $4 each.

If the first pie is cut into four pieces, then each piece would be worth $1. If the second pie is cut into eight pieces, then each piece would be worth 50 cents.

The market price of a stock depends primarily on the number of pieces the corporate pie has been sliced into.

Is a stock split, in itself, sufficient reason to buy a stock?

No. A two-for-one stock split, for example, is no different than exchanging a $20 bill for two $10s.

Most stock splits, however, are an indication of a healthy company. They are often accompanied with an increased dividend.

The lower price resulting from the split will sometimes attract more investors, and, as a result, the split proves to be beneficial.

Each situation must be graded on its own merits. A split alone is not a good reason to buy a stock.

MONEY GO ROUND

By BRENDA L. SCHNEIDER

Sally and Bill Jones have been married six months. The afterglow of their wedding is still present. They've returned the six toasters, two coffee pots, and countless other duplicates.

The thank you's have all been written except for Aunt Martha's whatchamacallit which is already collecting dust. Sally and Bill are your typical newlyweds but they don't know that a head-on collision looms down the road.

Last night on his way home from work, Bill stopped in at an auto dealership to look at the new cars. He'd been attracted to a classy new sport model he'd seen advertised while watching Sunday's ball game and wanted to take a closer look.

Besides, his car was accumulating mileage which could mean expensive repair bills could be right around the corner. And it wouldn't be hard to pay for what with a raise expected and now, Sally's income.

SALLY, ON THE other hand has a dream of her own and Bill's new car isn't part of it. She is secretly hoping that their sparsely furnished apartment will soon feature some badly needed furniture. By careful finagling, she figures she can buy some living room furniture.

But the money she plans to spend for the furniture has been earmarked by Bill for the new car. And therein lies the potential conflict. There is only so much money coming in and certainly not enough in Sally and Bill's case to allow them to buy the furniture and the new car.

The future success of Bill and Sally's marriage is going to be based partly on how well they successfully communicate their different attitudes about money.

All couples, whether contemplating marriage or already married, need to explore their attitudes about money. It is very imperative in all relationships, but becomes even more critical if the woman has an income-producing job.

EACH PERSON comes into the relationship with a set of values accumulated since birth. There is no way two individuals can have identical value structures. The differences need not, however, become points of conflict if the couple keeps the lines of communication open. There are some basic steps which can be followed to insure that the relationship will grow even stronger.

• COMMUNICATE. Realize that there are bound to be areas where your attitudes will be different. But the airing of the differences can be healthy. Determine where your spending priorities are similar, where they are different and where you will need to compromise when you merge your financial affairs.

• ESTABLISH GOALS. The establishment of goals sounds easy but usually causes the greatest problems. Both members of the relationship may see the ownership of a home as a goal, but when it will be achieved may differ between the two as they are forced to make spending decisions. To insure that the goals are achieved and that both members of the relationship are happy, it is best that each person first establish a list and then give it a priority. Then, the two lists should be combined. This is when it becomes important to remember that key word: Communicate. Some compromise is going to be necessary on each person's part.

• TAKE STOCK. Once you've determined your goals, you need to assess your financial status. Determine your assets and liabilities. This will help you determine your net worth which then becomes the key to your financial future.

• MAKE A BUDGET. Usually couples quit when they get to this point, but this is the area where many marital problems begin. Living without some sort of organized guide is like driving in a strange city without a map. First, list your fixed expenses and then the flexible. Make an estimate of what you think it'll take to live for one month. Two or three months and a little record keeping later, you should have a more realistic outlook on your monthly expenses.

• PLAN AHEAD. After two or three months, you are ready to do some long range planning. With your income and expenses firmly in mind, you can develop a plan suited to your needs. Try and keep things simple. A too complicated system will only become a source of frustration and ultimately will probably lead to abandonment of the whole thing. The purpose of any financial plan is to help you control your money so it can't control you.

Above all else, keep working with your income and expenses until both of you are happy with what you are able to accomplish with your money.

Canton upsets Salem, 39-37

Two outside hoops in the final minute of the first half by Pasek and Kelly Heaton, who played a strong defensive game, tied the score at 16-16.

Then Canton's sparkling guards, senior four-year starter Kathie Peck and junior Vickie Cavallaro, put on their usual show of stealing and fast-breaking to swing the momentum to Canton's favor in the second half.

Canton opened up an eight-point lead, 25-17, with 2:53 left in the third quarter before McCauley made a five-player substitution.

Salem took advantage of the substitutes and pulled within one point after three quarters before Pasek and the rest of the first-team Chiefs did their thing in the fourth quarter to ruin Salem's perfect record.

"That was the key point of the game—when we were up by eight in the third quarter," McCauley said. "I knew Salem would come back but I had to do it (substitute). I had to make the decision to take them out and give them a rest. The end justifies the means. We had to be in top shape."

Grid popularity continues to grow

By W.W. EDGAR

When the attendance figures for all of the college football games in the country during the past season are reported and tabulated it is almost certain that the University of Michigan Stadium has been the most popular battlefield for these gridiron rivalries.

In its six home games this year Michigan has averaged more than 104,000 and played to sell out gatherings at Notre Dame and Ohio State. What's more, the Wolverines have played before sellout crowds at every home game for more than two seasons.

These figures are a far, far cry from what Fielding H. (Hurry-Up) Yost envisioned when he supervised the building of the Michigan Stadium back in the mid 1920s.

Thought to be wildly optimistic when he insisted on building a stadium with a seating capacity of 72,000, the followers of the Wolverines — and the officials of that day — have every reason to wonder what the "Old Man" would have to say if he returned and saw one of the modern football crowds at the stadium.

While the plan for 72,000 was thought to be almost too optimistic in the mid 1920s, the stadium has since been enlarged several times and there is talk of further expansion — although no official plans as yet. A feeling now that it may be enlarged again. This time it will not be a new ring around the top but a series of special boxes across the field from the press box.

When the stadium was built 50 years ago at a cost of $950,000, it had a seating capacity of 72,000 and everyone thought that would be enough for all time. But, as demand for seats increased, temporary wooden bleachers were added to the rim of the stadium. In 1949, the school replaced those temporary stands with permanent steel ones, and the capacity rose to 84,401.

Seven years later, in 1956, the capacity was raised to 101,001 and to 101,701 in 1973. Although that is the official capacity, the popularity of the Michigan football program has meant one overflow crowd after another.

While the stadium has undergone many changes in the past half century, so has the entire football program.

Can you imagine Michigan opening the season now with a double header against Central Michigan and Western Michigan? Well, that's what it did in 1931.

What is even more surprising, in looking back, is that Coach Yost took every means of letting the public know that it was invited to attend any of the games. And the price was only $3 a seat.

Today, Yost would be in Seventh Heaven, if he knew that the program he started years and years ago was now the most popular in the country and ticket sale soon will be limited to season tickets only. And at a price of $10 each home game.

That's what is about to happen for the 1979 season. This year the demand for seats was so great that Don Canham, the athletic director, had to abandon "Band Day" on a football Saturday when the team was home. He couldn't afford to give up that many seats when the public was clamoring for them.

In 1979, the demand is expected to

Bentley wins district by thumping Thurston

An ironclad zone defense carried Livonia Bentley to a surprisingly easy 54-31 girls' basketball victory Friday over Redford Thurston.

The win, the Bulldogs' 19th in 23 games this season, qualifies them for the Dearborn High Regional this week in the Class A portion of the state tournament.

"It was just super. The girls played just great," raved Bentley coach Tom Lang. "Overall, it was a super team effort."

The Bulldogs used both a 3-2 zone and a 2-3 zone and never pressed.

"When we had the ball, we played a spread zone, held the ball outside and made them come out," said Lang. "Then, our guards would drive the basket. We had a lot of three-on-two possibilities."

Beth Burgess led the balanced Bentley scoring thrust with 13 points. Again, everyone played for Bentley and 11 cagers scored.

Jean Rowley totalled 14 points for Thurston before fouling out.

"They (Eagles) played well, but couldn't put the ball in the hoop," said Lang. "We're playing well again."

Bentley nips Belleville

Behind the scoring talents of four players, Livonia Bentley eased to a 67-62 Suburban Eight League basketball victory Friday over Belleville.

Brothers Eric and Kurt Thorderson paced Bentley with 17 and 15 points, respectively, while Steve Booth and Chris Bollin added 14 points each. Bollin also collected 13 rebounds.

"Our balanced shooting and good solid rebounding played a key part in the game," said Bentley coach Jim Komula. "The Belleville kids were really scrappy, but our kids really worked hard."

The Bulldogs opened up a 23-17 lead after the first eight minutes of play and 39-27 lead by the intermission.

Canton cagers thank all

Sports editor:

The members of the Plymouth Canton boys' basketball team would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to all the people who made our 24-hour basketball marathon possible.

A special thank you goes to the Plymouth Elks, and the Red chapter of the Plymouth Boosters for their generous contributions. Also, we would like to say thank you to the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders who cheered for the full 24 hours.

Most of all, we would like to thank our parents, who supplied more than enough food and refreshments throughout the marathon.

To the community of Plymouth Canton, we say thank you for your contributions to our program. The money will not only be used this year, but also in the future for the betterment of our program. Thank you.

Cross-country skiing can be scenic

By LEM MESEE

Outdoors writer

It was a zero morning, but the sun was bright, and not a frost-covered branch stirred in the early light. I reached the crest of a hill overlooking a river not a half-hour's drive from here.

The doe at the water's edge was big and well formed. It took her several seconds to realize I was there. She had a long run before she disappeared around another hill, and I had a breath-taking view of nature.

You will never see sights like that on a snowmobile or trail bike, which is why so many of my friends are taking up crosscountry skiing.

And as often as not, I see couples, not just guys, in the woods and trails where I take my weekend constitutional.

IS CROSSCOUNTRY skiing for you? It's cheap enough to find out. Rent some equipment and take a lesson.

Either Kensington Metropark near Milford or Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester is the place to start.

Outdoors

Both have concessions operated by Raupp Campfitters, a reputable company.

You can rent a complete set of equipment (skis, poles, boots and bindings) for $5 a half-day, which is as long as you will want to try it first time out. There's an additional $2 charge for insurance, and you get $1 back if you bring the stuff back undamaged. Or you can put down a $15 deposit and get it all back if nothing is damaged.

Lessons are available for $3 an hour.

At Kensington, lesson time is 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. At Stony Creek, call 781-3000 for times or call Raupp Campfitters in Royal Oak at 547-6969 or in Redford at 534-4044.

Kensington's ski touring center is in the golf starter building on the west side of Kent Lake (use Kensington Road exit from I-96). Stony Creek's ski center is at the Eastwood Beach site.

The ski centers are open daily (except Christmas) at normal daylight hours, weather and snow conditions permitting. The metropark entrance fees still apply in winter.

So when you add it up, you can learn whether you want to get into cross-country skiing for $8 or $9 plus a park sticker that's good all year.

The old question about whether to get wax or non-wax skis is one I'll sidestep at this point. Ask your dealer that question once you've learned the basics.

"SNOWLINE" is a service of the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association to tell you snow conditions at major regional ski resorts.

Call 357-2600 any time of day or night to get a taped message that's changed twice a day.

Snowline will report inches of snow base, grooming, hours of operation at resorts and weather conditions.

You can also get a free guidebook called "Winterfun." It describes 100 ski runs in nine counties near home as well as descriptions of crosscountry skiing trails and other winter activities.

For a copy of "Winterfun," write: Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association, American Center Building, Suite 350, 27777 Franklin Road, Southfield 48034.

HUNTING has been generally average or below this year, according to my DNR sources.

Deer sightings were fewer than in past years, though we don't have a count yet.

Duck hunting in Macomb County and on the lower Detroit River has been slow.

Small game hunters I talked to during the recent bird and rabbit season said they found next to nothing on public lands. Only the love of the outdoors was keeping them out.

Schoolcraft offers 2 chances to enroll

Schoolcraft College is offering two more opportunities for advance registration before the holidays. But mail registration for the winter semester has ended.

Registration for classes at the Garden City Center will be held from 1-7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5 in the library there at 6701 Harrison. Students who plan to take classes on the main campus as well as at Garden City may enroll at that time.

A four-day advance walk-in registration will be held on campus beginning Dec. 11. Hours each day are reserved for student numbers according to this schedule:

- Winter graduates—from 2-3 p.m. Dec. 11.
- Student numbers 010000 to 059999—from 3-7 p.m. Dec. 11.
- Student numbers 060000 to 069999—from 2-7 p.m. Dec. 12.
- Student numbers 070000 to 077999—

Dec. 13.

- Student numbers 078000 to 099999—Dec. 14.

Winter schedules have been mailed to all addresses within the college district. Although scheduled for delivery the week of Nov. 13, they were delayed, in some instances nearly two weeks, by circumstances beyond the college's control.

Registrar Russ Bogarin said his office continued to accept mail-in registrations beyond the announced cut-off date to accommodate as many as possible of those who received their schedules late.

Bogarin urged those who missed mail-in to take advantage of the advance registration periods at Garden City and on campus.

REGULAR REGISTRATION is set for Jan. 3-4 on campus at 18600 Hagerty, Livonia. Classes begin Jan. 6.

Back in May of this year, I was in a very serious motorcycle accident in which I was nearly killed. The accident left me with a severely twisted neck--my head wasn't very moveable. A friend told me about Chiropractic, so I tried it I'm happy to say.

When I first stepped into Dr. Trent's office, I didn't know what to expect. Well, he examined me and took X-Rays and proceeded to make adjustments on my neck and back. I could tell that he helped me after the first visit. In a couple of weeks my neck was as moveable as its ever been. Thank God for Chiropractic!

Opal Carter D.O. REDFORD

After 18 months of coughing, resulting from injuries in an accident, I went to see Dr. Trent. The X-Ray he took showed that I had a problem in my spine which I had not had before the accident. After three treatments, I was greatly relieved from the cough and when he took another X-Ray the problem was nearly gone.

I would like to tell everyone to follow through with the treatments to get good results like I did.

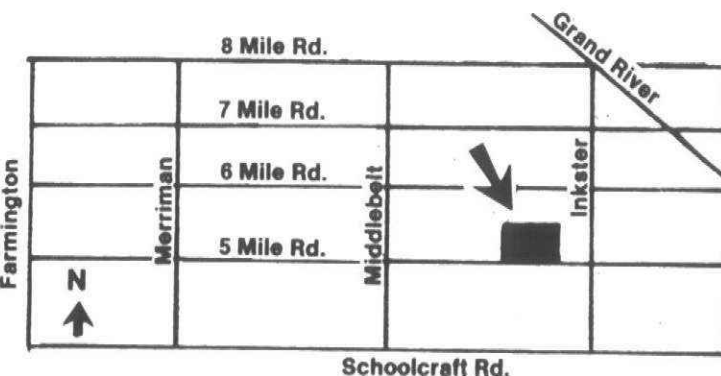

One of our younger patients gets her adjustment from Dr. Trent and gives the doctor a hug afterwards.

Patients respond to Chiropractic at all ages. You're never too young or too old to enjoy good health. We are a family health center.

WE PREVAIL WHERE OTHERS FAIL The vast majority of our new patients have been treated by other doctors with no results. Our highly trained staff specializes in chronic or difficult cases. Try Us!

Vandals hit East Middle School

The recent Thanksgiving holiday took its toll at East Middle School when vandals shot out 13 gymnasium windows. Principal Carl Taylor says the damage, caused by BB guns, was estimated at about $2,100. The windows have been boarded up while administrators consider redesigning the area in an effort to prevent further incidents. The redesigning is part of an effort to curb increasing vandalism in the school district, said Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

How to earn bucks for going to school

Would you like to go to school free and get paid for it?

It's not the second coming of the GI Bill, but if you qualify for the program you'll get training and the minimum wage to boot.

Before you pack your bags for Michigan State, though, you should take a look at what is being offered and its requirements. Made possible through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA), the program is designed solely for vocational-technical education in fields where there are definite employment possibilities.

To qualify you must:

- Be a resident of out-Wayne County, Livonia, Dearborn and Detroit offer their own paid vocational training programs.

• Meet income requirements. According to Wayne County Office of Manpower officials, applicants who qualify will be unemployed, underemployed or will be making little money at their present jobs.

- Have a high school diploma or the equivalent.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL students have been collecting the minimum wage for attending classes since 1973, said program coordinator Pat Urban. Last year about 400 persons took advantage of the program.

This year, with the recruiting help of the Chrysler Learning Institute, a branch of Chrysler Corp., more students are expected to enroll, Ms. Urban said.

"It's such a good opportunity. I can't figure out why more people don't take advantage of it," she said. The Office of Manpower currently is paying for training in various fields including, drafting, clerical, medical technology and assistance, electronic engineering, computer maintenance and technology and auto mechanics.

"If qualified people who need and are interested in this training could contact our office today, they could then be enrolled in most programs and have money plus educational benefits by the early part of the new year," said Marlene Dewling, a program manager at the Chrysler Learning Institute.

"We have a real variety of students," Ms. Urban said. "We've got people right out of high school to middle-aged displaced homemakers."

Most program students are enrolled in private technical schools. Ms. Urban said the Office of Manpower prefers using the accredited private vocational schools because it is easier to keep tabs on the students.

If placement the school fails, though, she added, the Office of Manpower will attempt to place the job seeker, Ms. Urban said.

Persons can register for the program by calling the Chrysler Learning Center at 956-1581.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT ABOUT A TRUST?

Your bank's Trust Officer may be the best source of information about whether or not you should be setting up a trust—but here are a few thoughts to start with.

Is the size of your estate large enough to warrant the care, advice and management of a professional? It may be, if you own shares in a business, have investments in a securities portfolio, or have income-producing real estate.

Does your wife have experience with financial affairs? If not, creating a trust and selecting a professional at a bank or trust company to manage your estate's finances might be a wise move.

Does your will (and your wife's will) convey your wishes for the care and education of your children (or grandchildren, too, for that matter)? Selecting and naming a guardian and arranging a trust NOW may be the best way to avoid grim legal entanglements later on.

When the future financial security and comfort of your family is concerned, you'll want to attend to them promptly and while you're of good mind and body. We can help you pre-plan your funeral, but for financial counsel we suggest a local bank trust officer.

BREVITIES

INDIAN CRAFT

Dec. 2—All students of Native American Indian descent are invited to craft classes to make dance costumes and beadwork and to cooking workshops on Saturdays, beginning Dec. 2, in the gym annex of Central Middle School, 650 Church, Plymouth. Students will be making art projects, learning dances, making dance costumes, learning and playing Indian sports, and cooking traditional foods. Classes are free to Indian students. Those with questions may call the Indian Heritage Center of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools at 453-8220.

WALDHORN CONCERT

Dec. 5—A Detroit Waldhorn Ensemble Concert will be presented free beginning at 8 p.m. in Waterman

Campus Center, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty. The free concert is co-sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts, Schoolcraft College, The Music Performance Trust Funds, and the Detroit Federation of Musicians. The waldhorn is the valveless forerunner of today's French horn. The concert will be narrated by Robert Jones who will explain the instrument, the music and the composers.

EAST PTO

Dec. 7—The research skills program at East Middle School, which was instituted by principal Carl Taylor, will be the topic of discussion at the school's PTO general meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the library. The program is designed to further the students' research skills and to instruct them in the preparation of research reports and use of the library's tools. Taylor will explain the program and parents are encouraged to ask questions. Some interested and involved faculty members also will be available. Coffee will be served.

CEP CONCERT

Dec. 7—Bands at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) will present their first concert of the season beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem auditorium. Concert is free to the public. Featured bands include the CEP Varsity and Concert bands under direction of Carl Battishill and the CEP Symphony Band directed by James R. Griffith. Intermission music will be supplied by the eight-member jazz improvisation class.

JC MEMBERSHIP

Dec. 9—U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell and County Commissioner William Joyner will be guest speakers at a Plymouth Jaycee Membership Night at Stroh's Ice Cream Parlour at Ann Arbor and Sheldon Roads. Purpose of the evening will be to interest people in the Plymouth Jaycees and Jaycettes. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. Those interested in attending should call Bob Jarmol at 453-8377.

With Customs' blessings

'Tis the season for extravagance

New customs regulations provide a duty-free bonanza for people doing their Christmas shopping outside the United States.

Travelers, once limited to $100 worth of duty-free goods every 30 days, can now bring up to $300 worth of duty-free goods every 30 days under the Customs Procedural Reform and Simplification Act of 1978.

The exemption is $600 every 30 days for goods imported from the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa and Guam.

The United States Customs Service has sweetened the pot further, and speeded up customs inspection, by removing old tariff regulations on an additional $600 worth of goods.

Duty has, in the past, been charged by the item, with each item listed in a bulky 691-page tariff book studied by harried customs inspectors. Under the new rules, when you have exhausted your $300 worth of duty-free goods, you can bring in up to an additional $600 worth of goods at a flat duty rate of 10 per cent.

This 10 per cent covers almost all tourist goods. Limitations of one quart of duty-free liquor and 200 duty-free cigarettes remain, but you can import more of these two items at 10 per cent duty plus a moderate charge (sometimes as high as $10.50 a gallon on whiskey, gin, bourbon) by the Internal Revenue Service.

To the average traveler, this means that one person traveling abroad can buy $300 worth of goods without paying duty and an additional $600 worth by paying $60 duty. A family of four can bring in $1,200 free and $2,400 at 10 per cent.

An additional bonanza, little-known among travelers, is created by customs rules relating to developing countries. Under the Generalized System of Preferences, provided for in the Trade Act of 1974, a significant number of purchases made in developing countries can be brought back to the U.S. duty-free. They are not counted in the $300 personal exemption.

About 50 countries are included under the act. Some of the major areas are Afghanistan, Haiti, Egypt, India, Israel, Nepal, Pakistan, Mexico, many of the Caribbean islands, Antigua, Cook Islands, and developing countries of Africa, South America and Asia.

Goods under consideration must be produced and manufactured in the country in which they are bought, which automatically excludes English bone china bought in Curacao, or Swiss watches purchased in Mexico.

For the most part, clothing is dutiable, while crafts are duty-free. Silver jewelry may be imported free for personal use if it doesn't cost more than $18 for a dozen pieces, which limits you to trinkets. Gold jewelry is duty-free if it is within the $300 limit.

Wood carvings are duty-free from all developing countries. So is leather, except if it comes from China. This means that you can bring back a leather coat from Yugoslavia without paying duty on it.

The U.S. Customs Service has a free book, "GSP and the Traveler," with more specific information on duty-free items from developing countries. Write the U.S. Customs Service, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit 48226.

TRAVEL LOG of Iris Jones

Much less shakin' going on in Pleasant Hill

But old ways are preserved

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES

PLEASANT HILL—Members of the Shaker community once danced wildly here in the meeting house at Shakerstown, to the tune of songs like "Come Ye Shakers, Shake, Shake, Shake!"

The religious community is defunct now, wiped out by what they called The World and that society's own vows of celibacy. But the restored village recreated in its name is a good location for people planning great winter weekends for 1979.

Reservations are being taken for every weekend during January and February, when the non-profit organization called Shakerstown at Pleasant Hill Inc. offers this popular tourist attraction to travelers on a package plan.

The package includes two nights lodging, five meals, special musical and films programs, wagon or sleigh rides, and regular exhibits and demonstrations in the 27 buildings and sites in the village.

The package costs $70 for an adult. Children younger than 12 pay $15 and those 12-18 pay $30 if they accompany their parents.

Pleasant Hills is one of several Shaker communities established in the late 18th and early 19th centuries by religious followers of Mother Ann Lee, who led her group from England to America in 1774.

A study in concentration this weaver is as she plies her craft in the Sisters Shop in Shakerstown. (Photo by Micky Jones)

Followers were called the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing, but they became known as Shaking Quakers or Shakers, because of the wild dances performed during worship services.

They left behind a wide range of agricultural and community innovations, including the well-known Shaker furniture and Shaker architectural design.

THE TRAVEL experience at hakerstown is one of quiet living, country cooking, open air, and the chance to explore another world. The tourist crowds disappear from November through March, leaving the village to fortunate winter weekenders.

The weekend schedule begins with a Friday afternoon reception in the Trustee's Office, a two-story building where deacons and elders once lived and where visitors were entertained. This now holds the main dining room, which features traditional Kentucky country cooking and specialties such as Shaker lemon pie.

This main building, like all the buildings at Shakerstown, contains authentic Shaker furniture and the pegged wall-boards on which furniture, candles and utensils were traditionally hung.

After dinner, which is served by women in the long dress, modestly shawl and lace cap of Shaker tradition, guests are invited to an evening of Shaker folk music in the Meeting House.

Sleeping accommodations are in restored buildings in the village. Traditional Shaker simplicity is combined with modern conveniences such as good mattresses and built-in bathrooms.

The buildings were designed to house five families of men, women and adopted children who chose the life of the community.

The celibate life is evident in the Centre Family Dwelling House, across the picket fence and the paved path from the Meeting House, where two graceful staircases rise on either side of the wide entrance hall. Both lead to the second floor.

One was for the brethren and one for the sisters. The story is that flour was sprinkled on the upstairs floor so that anyone who tried to cross from one side to the hall to the other during the night would leave telltale footprints.

No such rules are enforced now.

Tradition alive in state

Michigan is also involved in the Shaker tradition. When experts at Pleasant Hill are asked where authentic Shaker furniture can be purchased, they recommend the Guild of Shaker Crafts Inc. at 401 W. Savidge Street in Spring Lake, Michigan. A publication called the Shaker Messenger has recently begun publication in Michigan. For information, contact The World of Shaker, P.O. Box 45, Holland, Mich. 49423.

Alcohol is not served on the premises, but nobody minds if you bring your own. Ice machines and soft-drink machines are available.

THE SHAKERS liked to eat, so Saturday and Sunday mornings in a Shakerstown weekend start with a buffet breakfast among the polished wooden tables of the dining hall.

Nobody can confirm that Shakers really eat all this, but travelers stuff down juices, scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, grits, fried apples, baked fruit, cereal, hot breads and lots of the local hot pumpkin muffins along with their coffee.

Lunch and dinner are just as caloric, with choices of country ham, chicken, steak or a dish of the day accompanied by three vegetables, salad, homemade bread and desserts.

Actress Helen Hays narrates a film about the history of the society in the conference center, a building once used as the washhouse for the West Family. The building had been internally gutted and was being used as a gas station when the restoration began, so it was refitted with a stage and auditorium seating.

Wagon or sleigh rides, depending on the weather, are offered during most of Saturday for guests who want to take a tour of the grounds and adjoining countryside. It was along this road, and across this highway, that Shaker families took their wagons full of seed-packs and homemade brooms to flatboats on the nearby Kentucky River.

Shaker goods were floated down the Mississippi River, where the community became regular traders with The World. Their inventions included the flat broom, circular saw, clothespin, washing machine, metal point pen, screw propeller, threshing machine, pea sheller, cut nails and the popular double-barreled Shaker stove.

Much to do in December

Michigan is ready with a month of holiday-related events.

Christmas Around The World is depicted by display at Grand Haven from Dec. 7-30. Christmas trees decorated in keeping with the customs of various countries will be exhibited in the Community Center at Grand Haven.

The Christmas Walk at Meadowbrook Hall is a stroll through a floral wonderland created by area florists. The stately, 100-room mansion on the Oakland University campus at Rochester, and the Walk continues through Dec. 3. There is an admission charge.

Christmas in Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum continues through Dec. 31. Village buildings are decorated in character with their period in American history, yuletide music and the aromas of holiday cooking filling the air.

Sugar plums and elves, toy shops and candy canes are a sampling of what's in store for children of all ages who visit magical Fantasyland, through Dec. 24. Kennedy Memorial Center, Lincoln Park. More enchantment prevails Dec. 9-21, at the Christmas Carnival, Cobo Hall, Detroit. A giant 6-foot Santa in a wooden airplane surrounded by parachuting elves will be the featured attraction at this year's Carnival along with perennial favorites such as the giant snowball throw and Santa's castle.

On stage, there is the popular seasonal favorite, "The Nutcracker Suite" ballet will be presented at the Music Hall Detroit, Dec. 10; and in Miller Auditorium, Kalamazoo, Dec. 16. "Scrooge," a musical adaptation of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," will be the family theatre presentation at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Dec. 9, 16, and 26-31. At Port Huron, the Peanut Butter Players will take you down the yellow brick road to the "Wizard of Oz," Dec. 9-10 and 14-15.

Snow oriented activities include Sled Dog Races, Atlantic Mine, Dec. 30-31; Wendell Troop Memorial Ski Races, Pine Mountain, Iron Mountain, Dec. 16-17; 150 Snowmobile Race, Gladwin, Dec. 29-31; and the Mardi Gras Winter festival, Harrison, Dec. 26-31.

'Lord of Rings': 24-karat sparkler is animated gem

Three Rings for the Eleven-kings under the sky,
Seven for the Dwarf-lords in their halls of stone,
Nine for Mortal Men doomed to die,
One for the Dark Lord on his dark throne
In the Land of Mordor where the Shadows lie.
One Ring to rule them all, One Ring to find them,
One Ring to bring them all and in the darkness bind them
In the Land of Mordor where the Shadows lie.

It is estimated that more than twenty million people throughout the world have thrilled to these spellbinding lines echoing the theme of J. R. R. Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings." The epic fantasy boasts devoted followers from Jersey to Japan.

The monumental task of translating this lengthy trilogy to the screen has stymied many an experienced filmmaker. Ralph Bakshi, who dared to tackle sex, politics and social problems in adult cartoons "Fritz the Cat" and "Heavy Traffic," had the temerity to tackle Tolkien. The result, after nearly three years and $8.5 million, is his brilliantly animated feature, "Lord of the Rings" (PG).

"Lord of the Rings" is the story of the hobbit Frodo, who travels with his steadfast companions to the dreaded land of Mordor to return the ring created by the evil Sauron.

The tale contains all the ingredients of a myth with universal appeal. It's a story of courage, heroism and loyalty; of fellowship and adventure; of mission and sacrifice; of good and evil.

"LORD OF THE RINGS" is an animated feature intended for an adult and young adult audience; it's not a kiddie caper. Bakshi describes the movie as "not a cartoon, but rather the first realistic painting in motion. I'm trying for Rembrandt; I don't want it to look like 'Popeye the Sailor.'"

Very young children will be confused by the film and possibly frightened. Indeed, adults who are not familiar with Tolkien's turf, inhabited by hobbits, elves, orcs and other strange folk, may plead confusion.

This is one of the hazards of interpreting Tolkien in another medium. The complexity leads to other problems: Excessive length (the film runs over two hours), the inclusion of some very slow and dull sequences, and the necessity to conclude the film midway through the trilogy (the end suggests that a sequel might be forth-coming, although Bakshi has nothing underway at present).

Individuals are bound to quarrel with the animators' visualization of the characters. Every reader has his own idea of what a hobbit looks like. But no one can quarrel with the quality of the art and animation.

The diverse and multiple movements, the detailed and imaginative landscape settings and the general variety of images establish a new standard of excellence in animation art.

As might be expected from Bakshi's previous work, he excels in depicting violent action and evil characters. Thus, the forces of evil — the black riders, ringwraiths and orcs — are captured in powerful screen images, and the climactic sequence of the battle at Helm's Deep is as stirring as any I've ever seen on film.

These electrifying scenes of pursuit and battle more than make up for a tangled story and occasionally stumbling pace.

Catch "The Ring." It's a 24-karat film.

Glimpses

A WEDDING (PG). All the action takes place in one day as director Robert Altman dissects "the last of our country's big rituals."

WILD GESE (R). Action film with Richard Burton, Roger Moore and Richard Harris as mercenaries on a suicidal mission in Africa.

THE WIZ (G). Lavish but lumbering version of the Broadway musical presenting Diana Ross in an update black "The Wizard of Oz."

WHO IS KILLING THE GREAT CHEFS OF EUROPE? (PG). Comedy-mystery with George Segal as fast food franchiser and Jacqueline Bisset as master dessert chef.

NEW RELEASES

THE BIG FIX (PG). Another fetching performance by Richard Dreyfuss who plays a former college activist turned private eye.

BROODBROTHERS (R). Hard look at lives of two blue-collar brothers whose macho values affect their families.

THE BOYS FROM BRAZIL (R). Some fine actors at their worst (except for Laurence Olivier) in loony film about fiendish Nazi plot.

A DREAM OF PASSION (R). Melina Mercouri and Ellen Burstyn star in modern story that strains in its parallels with Greek drama, "Medea."

GIRL FRIENDS (PG). Melanie Mayron and Anita Skinner star in Claudia Weill's directorial debut that focuses on marriage versus career.

GOIN' SOUTH (PG). Fine character study by Jack Nicholson in adventure that proves there's still hope for the Western.

INTERIORS (PG). Woody Allen's serious film explores the tensions within a family where neuroses and artistic sensitivity dominate their lives.

Road tax petitions threaten chaos

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

A petition drive aimed at overturning the newly-increased state gasoline and weight taxes could cause chaos with the Wayne County Road Commission's budget plans.

The road commission has committed a substantial portion of its anticipated share of the new revenues over the next three years to meeting contract provisions recently negotiated with its unions.

If the new funds don't come through as expected, road commission officials say they may not be able to meet payrolls.

If that happens, out-Wayne County residents, who have long complained about road repairs and snow removal, may be complaining even more.

The road commission's anticipated revenues are threatened by a petition drive sponsored by State Sens. John A. Welborn (R-Kalamazoo) and Harry DeMaso (R-Battle Creek).

A successful drive would prevent the state from collecting the increased taxes. The issue of increasing those taxes would then appear on the November 1980 general election ballot.

The road commission, was banking on receiving between $18 million and $23 million over the next three years as its share of the increased fuel taxes and license plate fees, according to Public Information Director Louis Sugo and Finance Director Batis Norton.

The loss of those revenues would hurt the commission's operation under any circumstances, Sugo said. But because the new revenues had unofficially been earmarked for higher wages and fringe benefits, any program cuts would now be much more severe.

THE TOTAL COST of the contracts' provisions remains clouded because figures provided by the road commission and other sources agree.

According to one county source, the contracts negotiated with the seven road commission unions call for increased expenditures of about $4.5 million in the first year of the contract, $5.2 million in the second year and $6.5 million in the third year.

Over three years, the increased wages and fringe benefits, totaling $16.2 million, would eat up most of the anticipated new revenue.

Norton, however, labeled those contract estimates "on the high side." He said over three years, the contracts would cost the road commission only $13 million. However, he could not provide an annual breakdown of the additional costs.

THE SIZE OF the road commission's contract settlements prompted one disgruntled Wayne County commissioner to ask, "What does that leave for road repair?"

"That two-cents-a-gallon gas tax increase was sold to us on the promise that there would be some road improvements," said the commissioner, who wished to remain unidentified.

Road commission officials do not deny they are in a tight financial corner, but they called the contracts "a fact of life."

They added that the road commission was in financial trouble even before the contracts were settled. "We already had serious financial difficulty," Sugo said.

"We've already had to reduce service. We had to reduce our work force through attrition and the force continues to diminish."

Sugo said the road commission could not convince the unions to settle for less. "In an atmosphere where you have viable union organizations, the employees quite realistically don't settle for less than they got in the last contract. The union wants better than that."

He quickly added, however, that the pay increases fell in line with President Jimmy Carter's guidelines.

IF ANTICIPATED revenues do not pan out, though, officials warn of serious cutbacks.

"If that happens," Sugo said, "it'll be an interesting time. So say a prayer."

The main reason for their concern is that even if the additional revenues do not roll into the commission's coffers, the contracts' provisions will still have to be met. That means cutting programs to save money to meet the increased payroll.

"There's only a limited area where we can cut," Sugo said. "We will have to look at cutting construction and maintenance projects."

Indian aid drive seeks local help

Members of the Indian affairs committee are scrambling to collect canned food and toys by Dec. 12 for a trip to children and senior citizens in the Holy Childhood Indian Mission School, Harbor Springs.

The trip will be made Dec. 16, said Hank Chruscial, chairman of the committee, sponsored by the Western Wayne County Conservation Association.

So far, collections are going slowly, he said.

The mission school has 45 children in grades 1-8, ranging in age from 6-13.

Chruscial works from his home at 19345 Brentwood, Livonia, and can be contacted at 476-7178.

"A group at Lowell Junior High in Westland called and said they would hold a food drive," he said.

He also reported gifts of $50 from Mrs. Jane Morehead of Livonia and of $30 and $40 from friends who asked to remain anonymous.

In recent weeks, the club has provided toys and clothing to the St. Catherine Mission near L'Anse and to the tri-county area around Muskegon.

Why 2 senators oppose road tax

State Sen. John Welborn (R-Kalamazoo) and Harry DeMaso (R-Battle Creek) want to give Michigan residents a $140 million Christmas gift.

They are leading a petition drive to roll back the newly-increased fuel tax and license plate fees.

Welborn, Demaso and their supporters need more than 150,000 signatures to stop collection of the taxes. If they succeed, the issue will be put to voters in the November 1980 general election.

Ideally, Welborn said last week, he would like to have the petitions certified before Christmas, although the deadline for submitting the signatures to the secretary of state's office is March 31. Welborn said he wanted to spare the state the problems of rebatting the money collected after Jan. 1. "They rammed it through the Senate," said Welborn. "Deals very definitely were cut in the House of Representatives to get it passed," he added.

Not only is he opposed to the high-power politics used in gaining the one-vote victory for the increase, he objected to the "raise taxes" mentality he sees in the legislature.

"They're raising taxes every time we turn around," Welborn said. "No one ever says let's not spend more. We don't ever try to spend less money."

He said that with less than a two percent cut in overall state spending, there would be enough money to take care of Michigan's roads.

Chorus in good voice

The halls of East Middle School are alive with music Tuesday evenings when the Plymouth Community Chorus is in residence.

As the Christmas season approaches, the 30-member choir is rehearsing for its holiday concerts. Under the direction of Mike Gross and accompanied by Carol Chen on the piano, the joy of singing is apparent as the voices blend in perfect harmony.

Sponsored by the City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, the chorus attracts singers from Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton, Romulus, Brighton, Detroit and Westland. Age varies from teenagers to senior citizens. The chorus is open to anyone who enjoys singing. There are no auditions.

"CHRISTMAS Around the World" is the title of the formal Christmas concert which will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17 in Newburg Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

Tickets will be available at the door—$2 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

The chorus has been invited to perform at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 18 at the Westland Shopping Center with Dick Pur-tain of CKLW radio. Christmas shoppers will be able to enjoy the Christmas carols and later join the group in a sing-along.

On Sunday, Dec. 10 from 2:30-3:15 p.m., the chorus will be performing Christmas music for the enjoyment of shoppers at Twelve Oaks Mall. They will sing in the JC Penny Court.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

DOROTHY GINTHER of Ann Arbor was in town the other day. She had been trying, without success, to telephone some of her former students.

Several years ago — she didn't say how many — Ms. Ginther had been a junior high school teacher in Byron, Ohio. Some of her flock had migrated to Plymouth and she thought she would give them a call.

According to her, they were an exceptional group, the type a teacher recalls with fond pride. "Well, they're all nice people and have done very well," stated one of our residents.

"Of course," agreed Ms. Ginther. "They always were nice people."

Now these were not the words of a kindergarten teacher, remembering shy little boys and a sweet little girl. Nor was this the assessment of a third grade teacher, remembering eager youngsters who begged to clean the blackboard and pass out papers.

She was speaking of a time when students are at the best and the worst of all ages. The scope of their interests and a discerning ability to digest and discard make teaching an exciting challenge. Yet, there are other forces at work that effect personality changes and cause disciplinary problems.

For a teacher, it can be sublime or it can be a disaster. But it's never dull.

by
ELLIE GRAHAM

Here was this fine lady speaking with affection and pleasure of her former junior high students Bill Ackerman, Denver and Gae McCord, and Fred Foust.

There could be no greater compliment.

THE PLYMOUTH Jaycees and Jayettes are planning what sounds like the perfect New Years Eve party. And the public is invited.

There will be a buffet dinner and dancing to a live, five-piece band. Beer, setups and munchies will be provided. Along about 2 a.m. a continental breakfast of juice, coffee and hot sweet rolls will be served.

Reservations at $17.50 per person must be made before Dec. 15. Persons wishing to make reservations or ask for more information can call the co-chairmen, Bob Karby, 459-9893, or Mary Decker, 459-7978.

The party will be in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Fair Street, Plymouth. Plenty of free parking is available.

THE OPTIMIST Club will have its ladies night and Christmas party at 7 p.m. Dec. 18 at the Mayflower Hotel.

Everyone will take along a white elephant concealed in Christmas wrappings. President Stanley Tkacz Jr. promises member Bill Neff will lead the singing of carols.

Special guest will be Lt. William Harfoot of the Salvation Army with a traditional red kettle.

AND SPEAKING OF the Salvation Army kettles, the Rotarians will be out this coming weekend, manning the kettles and ringing the bells. The following weekend, Dec. 15 and 16, the Kiwanians will be out.

It's all part of the "Sharing and Caring" message of the Salvation Army.

The army's kettles and bells have been part of the pre-Christmas scene for as long as we can remember. It all started almost 90 years ago this month.

Salvation Army Capt. Joseph McFee of San Francisco decided in December of 1891 that he would provide free Christmas dinners for 1,000 poor persons.

It was a noble plan. The big hitch was how to pay for the food. He spent most of his waking hours pondering the problem.

His thoughts went back to his days as a sailor in Liverpool, England and a large pot — "Simpson's Pot" — into which charitable donations were tossed by passers-by.

THE NEXT morning, he received permission

Holiday feast Traditional-style dinner in fashion

By LYNN ORR

Fresh chestnuts, plum pudding, crisp roast goose, candied sweet potatoes—all the ingredients for an old-fashioned holiday dinner once again are in fashion.

After years of searching for the exotic, homemakers and cooks will return to tradition to capture the holiday glow for entertaining, predicts Larry Janes.

Customers are flocking to Janes' shop, Gourmet Galleries in Plymouth, in pursuit of pudding steamers and large roasters, cookie cutters and expertise—through Janes' cooking classes conducted in the store crammed with kitchen essentials.

And parallel with the push for tradition is an urge to "do it yourself," Janes says.

"Doing it is half the fun," he explains, which is why he and his wife will go all-out for a traditional Christmas this year. Stringing popcorn, a homemade dinner fit for Tiny Tim, and lots of pre-prepared munchies for entertaining fill Janes' pre-holiday agenda.

And preparation is the best way to juggle holiday activities and enjoy yourself, he advises.

"DON'T WAIT until the last minute," he tells his customers. "All the special food for Christmas should be ordered the week after Thanksgiving. Plan your menus, do your marketing early, and then the time is cut when you're ready to prepare and serve."

Planning ahead works for a variety of reasons, he explains. Spending time in the kitchen when your guests are in the living room is a poor way to entertain, he maintains.

"Company is there to enjoy you, not to be impressed with your food," says Janes, a gourmet cook himself. "The week after Christmas is the busiest visiting time in the year. Why not be prepared?"

Why not indeed. Janes, 27, offers several tips gleaned during years of training at Schoolcraft College and the Culinary Institute in New York.

Getting as much done ahead as possible isn't as difficult as it sounds, he explains.

An easy trick to keep a tricky sauce, such as Bearnaise, hot, is using a thermos. Fill the thermos with hot water, empty it (making sure the inside is dry) and pour in the sauce. When you're ready to serve hours later, the sauce is hot, perfect, and you're free of last-minute worries.

Try these goodies on drop-in guests

In preparation for holiday week entertaining, having a few things in the cupboard can help prepare for drop-in guests, and save frazzled hosts and hostesses from last-minute shopping trips.

Larry Janes, owner of Gourmet Galleries in Plymouth, claims he can whip this meal together in ½ hour with a little pre-planning. If you don't want to tackle the whole meal, try the hot artichoke spread for a quick appetizer.

MENU

Hot artichoke spread
Stracciatella
Cucumber salad
Chicken-mushroom Scallopini
Rice Pilaf
Herbed bread
Raspberry parfaits
Coffee-Tea

For the hot artichoke spread, beat 1 cup mayonnaise and 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese together. Add one can drained, chopped artichokes (packed in water). Put into an oven-to-table greased baking dish and bake at 400 degrees for about 20 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika before baking, and serve warm with crackers.

Stracciatella

5 cups chicken broth
3 eggs, lightly beaten
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1-2 cups boiled pasta
Freshly chopped parsley
Heat broth to simmering point. Beat eggs and add cheese. Then add the egg mixture to boiling soup. Stir with fork to break up egg. Add pasta and heat throughout. Garnish each serving with parsley.

Cucumber Salad

2-3 cucumbers
Salt
Dressing:
¾ cup sour cream
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. vinegar
salt-pepper
dried mint leaves
Combine ingredients for dressing and pour over cucumbers that have been sliced, salted, and drained well.

Chicken-Mushroom Scallopini

4 chicken breast filets
¼ cup butter
½ cup minced green onions
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 cup medium sherry
½ cup beef consommé
½ tsp. crumbled oregano
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 egg yolk
2-3 Tbsp. heavy cream

In a wide skillet over medium high heat, saute chicken in the butter 4-5 minutes, or just until opaque throughout and a little golden on both sides. Do not crowd in pan; if necessary, cook only a few pieces at a time. Remove from pan and keep warm.

Increase heat to high. Add onions and mushrooms to drippings in pan and saute until tender. Stir in sherry, consommé, oregano, and garlic. Cook, stirring until liquid is reduced to about ½ cup. Remove from heat.

Beat egg yolk and cream together and stir into pan. Mix well. Add chicken to pan and with heat on low, gently turn chicken to coat with sauce. Makes four servings.

Rice Pilaf

1 cup rice
¼ cup broken spaghetti
2 cups chicken broth
¼ cup butter
Melt butter and brown broken bits of spaghetti. Then add rice brown slightly. Add broth, bring to a boil, cover and simmer for about 15-20 minutes until all water is absorbed.

Raspberry PARFAIT

1 small package raspberry gelatin (3 and ½ oz.)
About one pint vanilla ice cream (softened)
Fresh or frozen (and then defrosted) raspberries
Soften ice cream in large bowl. Make jello by adding one cup boiling water to package of gelatin. Stir completely. Then while still very hot, pour into bowl of ice cream and mix until well-blended.
Add well-drained fruit and then spoon into serving dishes. Let firm up in refrigerator until ready to serve. Top with a dollop of whipped cream or with a favorite liquor.

Who would dare nibble away at this completely edible gingerbread house? Larry Janes applies the finishing touches to the red, white and green decorated molasses wonder. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Other tricks used by Janes includes setting the table the night before, particularly if you're working during the day; and storing a prepared salad in a rolled towel in the refrigerator crisp.

Store all cookies in airtight containers, he stresses.

"People who send cookies in shoeboxes are out of their minds," he says. Few cookies will retain their freshness out of airtight tins, he says.

KNOWING what to cook is as important as knowing how to cook it, he advises.

"Make sure you've made it before, and do what you're good at," he stresses. Tackling an unknown recipe for Christmas is asking for trouble. Try it ahead of time, he suggests.

That's an easy task for eager holiday cooks who've enrolled in Janes' cooking classes.

Eight classes in the art of baking and making a gingerbread house were sold out as early-birds eyed tradition this year.

The house is put together with meringue powder icing, which is totally edible, and gumdrop trees, and candy decorations enhance the house dripping with icing "snow."

This year Janes is adding tiny cars made of circus peanuts and lifesaver wheels and a skating pond to the extravaganza.

While the kids might want to nibble away, the architect may want to preserve the structure for years ahead, he warns.

Other instruction offered by the shop include classes in making bread dough ornaments, holiday entertaining, and holiday hor d'oeuvres and appetizers.

Last year the shop offered a total of 637 classes throughout the year, including children's cooking classes, and specialty classes arranged for private parties.

And Janes is preparing for another late-night rush before Christmas, as last-minute shoppers and the cook lacking the right utensil seek out his shop.

Planning to close at 3 p.m. last year, Janes didn't get home until 8 that evening. Since he plans to decorate the tree on Christmas Eve and serve a holiday meal for all the relatives Christmas Day, he plans to be prepared and advises the same.

GINGERBREAD HOUSE

To make the gingerbread dough assemble the following ingredients:
¼ cup solid white vegetable shortening
1 cup old-fashioned molasses
4 cups all-purpose flour (sifted)
½ cup sugar
1 ½ tsp. baking power
½ tsp. baking soda
1 ½ tsp. ground ginger
½ tsp. salt
Melt shortening and then add the molasses and ½ cup warm water. Mix in dry ingredients, until smooth. Chill several hours. Roll dough out in small amounts to ¼ inch thickness. Cut out pattern and transfer to a greased and floured baking sheet, making sure to straighten the pattern pieces as you lay them on the sheet. Bake in pre-heated oven (350 degrees) for about 10 minutes or until golden brown.

The recipe makes one large house or about 4-5 small ones. Assemble house using Royal Icing (below).

ROYAL ICING

3 Tbs. meringue powder
1 pound confectioner's sugar (four cups)
6 Tbs. warm water

In a heavy duty mixer, beat all ingredients at medium speed for 7-10 minutes until icing forms stiff peaks. Keep icing stored in an air-tight container. Needs no refrigeration. Whip up before using again. It dries out quickly so do not leave exposed to air. Keep decorator tip on damp towel during use to prevent hardening.

ASSEMBLING THE HOUSE

1. Bake each piece, making sure the windows, doors, etc. are cut out before baking.
2. Cook baked pieces on a flat surface.
3. With pastry tube and royal icing, frost or decorate each piece as you desire. Except for the large house, decorate all pieces before assembling. The icing hardens fast, so have candies, etc., ready to apply once the icing is put on the house parts.
4. Once all the parts are decorated, squeeze a row of frosting onto the base or board, the width and length of the house. It will look like a letter L.
5. Pipe icing on the base and side edge of the end piece and the side piece. Bonding both edges makes a better fit.
6. Put end and side pieces into piped lines on the base, making sure the sides are touching. Hold for a minute until they feel set.
7. Do the same thing with the other side and end piece until house is up. Now you are ready for the roof.
8. Pipe icing onto the upper edges of the ends and one side wall (half the house). Put one roof piece on, making sure it is set before letting go. Make sure it is in the right position to match up other half of the roof also. Hold on to the roof for a minute or two so it will not slide down. If you have it heavily decorated, the weight of it may make it harder to stay up and may cause you to hold it in place longer. DO NOT RUSH THIS STEP.
9. Repeat the process in Step. 8 with the other half of the roof. Again, do not rush. If you plan to use heavy decorations on the roof, it might be best to decorate it after the roof has set for several hours.
10. Pipe all edges to cover the seams. Licorice can be used nicely here for some added detail.

Happy building and merry Christmas.

Clubs in Action

from the authorities to place a similar pot at the Oakland ferry landing at the foot of Market Street. A pot was placed in a conspicuous position so that it could be seen by all those going to and from the ferries. In addition, a brass urn was placed on a stand in the waiting room for the same purpose.

Thus, the captain launched a tradition that has spread throughout all the United States, Canada, Korea, Japan and Chili, in fact, the world.

By Christmas 1895, the kettles were used in 30 Salvation Army Corps on the west coast. A William McIntyre suggested the use of kettles in Boston in 1897. His fellow officers refused to cooperate for fear of "making spectacles of themselves." McIntyre, his wife and his sister set up three kettles at the Washington Street thoroughfare in the heart of the city.

That year, the kettles provided Christmas dinners for 150,000 of Boston's needy. In 1901, kettle contributions in New York City provided funds for the first mammoth sitdown dinner in Madison Square Gardens, a custom continued for many years.

They have our number, do you?

No, we're not talking about our telephone number, although that's an important number too, we're talking about "736", the classification number for "Wanted to Buy" want ads.

Lots of people think the only way to use ads is to tell people what they have to sell. Not so. One little 736 ad will tell people what you want to buy. Looking for a cradle, scuba gear, a 1937 "Superman" comic book? Stick it in 736 and wait for people to call, it's that simple.

And if you've read this far and are thinking, "I really don't have any one special thing I want to buy....we have plenty of numbers for you, too...626...700...708...722. We invite you to try any of these because all of our numbers add up to a lot of satisfaction for you, whether you're in a buying or selling mood.

Light Ford

Courier leads Ford's light truck lineup in fuel economy with a new 2.0-liter four-cylinder engine and four-speed manual transmission. Offered with a six-foot or seven-foot pickup box, Courier options include the three-color tape stripe shown, a soft ride package, a youth-oriented package, a luxury decor group and even automatic transmission.

Auto tips

Start easier this winter

By PATRICK KELLY

Short of a heated garage, there is no better insurance that your car will start on a frigid morning than a properly serviced engine.

The best way to avoid a frustrating wait for a tow truck is to have your car in proper shape.

Most cars with starting troubles have worn spark plugs and defective ignition systems. The incidence of starting complaints reported by car owners climbs in direct proportion to the number of miles before service maintenance.

To help you make sure your car does not show up on the list of "won't starts" this winter (if it hasn't already), here is a checklist of items that should be inspected right now:

- Battery. Have your dealer or service man check the battery with a hydrometer to determine the specific gravity of the battery fluid. If the specific gravity readings are low, have the battery recharged and determine the reason for the low readings.

If battery condition appears doubtful, have the mechanic test it for weak cells. Also, be sure he removes all corrosion from the battery terminals and lubricates them so the corrosion will not soon reoccur.

Remember—corroded cables and terminals restrict the flow of electricity through the entire system and can prevent the car from starting if allowed to go unattended.

- Voltage regulator. Make sure the regulator is properly adjusted. An out-of-adjustment regulator may not allow the battery to charge enough or may result in overcharging, which eventually will ruin the battery.

- Starter and generator. Chances are, if your car is only a year or two old, these components will be operating satisfactorily. However, make sure your dealer or service man removes any corrosion that might exist on either starter or generator connections—and that the connections are securely fastened.

If your car is more than two years old, better have the generator brushes and commutator looked at. Badly worn brushes reduce the generator efficiency and can result in a constantly weak battery.

- Distributor. If your car has been driven more than 10,000 miles since the distributor has been serviced, you will probably save yourself a lot of trouble by having the mechanic install new points, condenser and make whatever adjustments are necessary. Improperly operating distributors are a major cause of starting difficulty.

- Coil. Again, if your car is reasonably new, chances are you will not have to worry about coil condition. However, better keep in mind a weak coil not only can cause starting failure but also contributes to poor performance in general and reduced gasoline economy.

- Spark plugs. If the plugs are nearing the 10,000-mile mark, they should be replaced before the weather becomes even colder. Worn-out plugs are probably the biggest single factor in hard starting.

It is a good idea to have your mechanic check the engine with a timing light. Out-of-time engines not only are much harder to start but lose much of the efficiency and performance they were intended to deliver.
