Tight-fisted budget shows revenue decline

By DARLENE STINSON

Finance director Mike Gorman says layoffs of some township employees are possible in 1980 because of the tightness of Canton's proposed $3.9 million budget.

For the first time in Canton's history, revenues are expected to decline from this year's levels during the upcoming fiscal year.

Despite a half-mill increase (50 cents per $1,000 assessed property valuation) in the tax rate, the 1980 budget proposal falls some $260,000 short of this year's $4.1 million general fund.

Gorman admits that township officials may have to dip into Canton's $500,000 surplus or lay off some township hall workers if unexpected expenses arise or revenues fall short of anticipations.

Employees in the building and water departments could be most vulnerable to layoffs because of a sharp decline in construction activity and a resulting decrease in building permit revenues.

During the first seven months of 1979, the building department issued 45 percent fewer single-family permits than the number issued during the same period last year.

BUT GORMAN says that the slowdown in Canton's decade-old construction boom is only adding to the tightness of the 1980 budget.

The building decline is not expected to result in a loss of revenues in 1980 as long as the anticipated 1,000 permits are issued.

Gorman said building revenues are expected to equal last year's levels because of action taken by the township board some two months ago to increase fees for building, plumbing, electrical and other permits.

He attributes much of the decline in anticipated revenues to an expected $294,000 cut in monies which Canton will receive from the state of Michigan next year. Also missing from the 1980 budget proposal is the $800,000 of township surplus monies which were pumped into the general fund in 1979.

A half-mill increase in the tax rate will only make up about $400,000 of that amount.

The millage hike brings Canton's operating tax rate to the charter township limit of five mills. The rate was rolled back to 4½ mills last year when surplus funds were used for the operation of the township.

But Gorman expects Canton's surplus will equal only $500,000 by the end of the 1979 fiscal year. He says the fund must be kept on hand for contingency purposes.

THE EXPENDITURE side of the proposed budget shows little expansion of staff and capital improvements which Gorman called "practically non-existent."

The only new positions funded by the proposed budget are an assistant planner post and a part-time secretary for the newly-hired personnel director.

Approximately $280,000 has been earmarked for capital improvements, but Gorman says that most of that amount will be used for payments on prior commitments.

The finance director described the budget proposal as a "corner-cutting" effort.

The budget was formulated after department heads submitted their requests for additional staff positions and capital improvements in 1980. Gorman said most of the requests were denied. Allocations for most line items in the budget approximate the sums which were earmarked last year, despite double-digit inflation.

Allocations for some line items, such as legal fees, were reduced.

The 1979 revised budget allocated $80,000 for legal opinions and lawsuits. The 1980 budget proposal earmarks only $50,000 for that purpose.

"That's enough if the township board and department heads make it enough," Gorman said of the legal fee allocation. "They'll have to ask for as few attorney opinions as possible. It could work (if unexpected lawsuits don't arise.)"

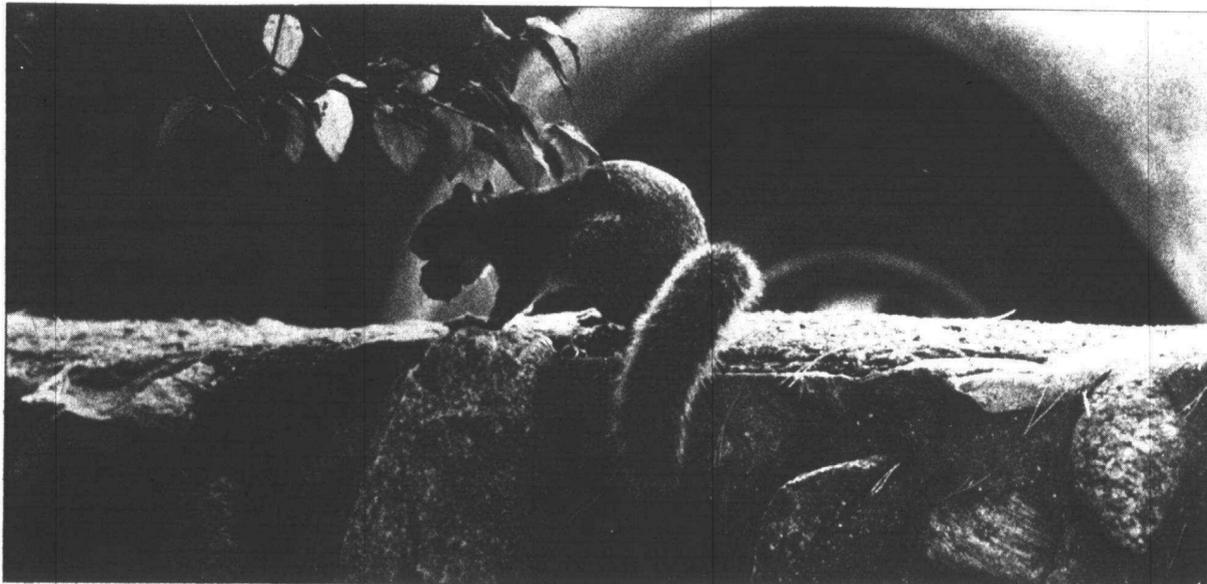

"Estimates this year are on the low side," he said of line item expenditures. "There's no room for any excesses. It's to the point where if estimated revenues aren't there, the people can't be there."

Gorman expects that the 1981 fiscal year will be just as tight for Canton Township. He anticipates that federal revenue sharing funds will be cut altogether in 1981 and that state revenue sharing funds will be reduced further.

Under the township's charter, the budget for the fiscal year which begins Jan. 1 must be approved by Oct. 31.

The township board has scheduled a public hearing on the proposed budget for Oct. 23 and expects to approve the budget on Oct. 30.

Grant for aged denied

Five communities which banded together in order to apply for a senior citizens program government grant saw their $48,000 request slashed to $3,000.

Canton Township, Westland, Wayne, Garden City and Dearborn Heights failed to discover why the grant request was not honored by the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging, Director Fred Ferris was unavailable for comment.

The agency, which allocates some $6 million in various senior citizen programs, directed that the $3,000 be used for the purchase of equipment such as mops and brooms.

The five communities last summer applied for the grant in order to continue a home services program that had, until September, been run by the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA. The Y decided not to re-apply for the $21,000 federal grant it had been receiving.

The program provided such services as meal preparation, financial planning, light housekeeping and grocery shopping under homemaker services; and household maintenance, lawn care and other non-continuous jobs under chore services.

Canton Township officials had criticized the operation of the Y program, saying senior citizens in their community were not getting an equal amount of service compared to other communities involved in the program.

According to Canton grants coordinator Terry Carroll, the disagreement over the running of the home services program was one of the reasons Canton decided to apply for the grant in conjunction with other communities.

He said he was convinced Canton would have had no chance of getting a grant by itself.

CARROLL SAID Canton is now considering the option of Westland serving as a coordinator for a homeservices program conducted by the communities that were turned down for the grant.

David Wiacek, director of Westland's department of aging, said the city has had a home chores program funded

Jocks vs. freaks

High school rivalry sparks rumble, arrests

At least six students were arrested Tuesday afternoon after a ruckus at Plymouth Salem High School.

Rivalry between two rival groups, which has become part of homecoming activities in recent years, apparently escalated into a fracas during which police were called to the scene.

In past years, the two groups, self-labeled as "jocks" (athletes) and "freaks" (non-conformists) challenge each other to a rumble, gather around and look at each other, and then disburse without serious incident.

But this year the chanting between the groups led to someone throwing a milk carton, which was followed by rock throwing. No one was injured. Three or four large plate glass windows in the commons area were broken, according to Salem principal Bill Brown.

When Wayne County Sheriff deputies responded, students moved outdoors and began rocking the police car back and forth, threatening to tip it over.

Before it was over, some eight Sheriff patrol cars responded as well as police from Canton Police Department and the Michigan State Police in Northville.

Six students were arrested and taken to the Sheriff's Hines Park Mini-Station. Five juveniles, formally charged with being disorderly persons, were released and will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

An 18-year-old female student was arrested by deputies, charged with obstruction of justice, and released on $100 bond. An arraignment will be scheduled in 35th District Court.

Police would not confirm that at least three other students may have been arrested. School officials were told one student was charged with assault of an officer.

DEPUTY ANDY PRUNER said he was on general patrol in Plymouth Township when he got a call about a fight at Salem High.

"I went in and there were about 200-300 youth on the south side of the school, yelling and screaming. The school officials were trying to break up the group but couldn't and they asked us to stick around.

"I placed myself in a position so I could watch the group, and a number of youth came over, surrounded my car, and started to rock it back and forth. It almost turned over a couple of times."

Pruner said he asked for back-up assistance after the students refused to disperse and eight units from the Sheriff's patrol responded.

When the eight cars arrived, Pruner said, the officers began to drive into the crowd and eventually broke it up.

Pruner said heavy damage was done to his patrol car, including a bent antenna and deep gashes in the side of the car.

State police and Canton police were on the scene in case they were needed, Pruner said, but the crowd was disbursed as soon as the eight deputy cars arrived.

BROWN SAID the problem began about 11 a.m. while all the administrators were on cafeteria duty.

Earlier in the day, Brown said, a student was brought in to his office for throwing a milk carton against a window and was suspended for three days.

Another student involved was questioned and released when it was determined he had not been throwing objects. Brown speculated that student apparently returned to the commons area and may have agitated student feelings.

Brown said the trouble started because of rivalry between jocks and freaks.

"The jocks and freaks have declared certain areas of the high school to be their turf. It's been that way for some time.

"Apparently some two or three girls, who identify themselves as being part of the freak group, went to the upper commons area — an area staked out by the jocks. They came back downstairs and told friends they had been shoved around.

"The students began recruiting others from Canton High and returned. The trouble started when someone began throwing milk cartons, and then both sides began throwing rocks and pieces of broken concrete.

"By this time it was noon and students were out of class, so a large number of students had gathered around.

"The fifth hour was about to begin and I went out and ordered everyone to go to class, and was greeted with some obscene gestures."

At this point, Brown decided to request police assistance on the premises in case they were needed. "I then got on the public address system and asked everyone to return to class. About 100 did go back to class, leaving about 200 outside.

"We then instructed teachers to begin taking attendance so we could identify those who weren't in class. This got some more back in class, leaving maybe 150 outside.

"I wasn't there but I understand from an administrator that, at this point, a Sheriff's car moved to a spot behind the cafeteria to encourage students to get inside. That's when the kids started to push the car around."

Brown said he was told that when a deputy moved in to get students back into class, one student responded by jeering, cussing and spitting at the officer and then kicked him. That student was arrested and charged with assaulting a police officer.

Brown also said he didn't believe the outbreak was related to homecoming activities. "This rivalry goes on all the time, and just happened to break out now."

Proposal cuts off building permits for companies lax about repairs

Under a proposed zoning ordinance amendment now being studied by the planning commission, the township building department would no longer issue permits to builders who have failed to make construction repairs.

The ordinance, submitted to the planning commission Monday night, authorizes the permit stoppage if a builder fails to comply with an arbitration decision of the Home Owners' Warranty (HOW) board or an order of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulations.

The ordinance also requires builders to post a performance bond at the time temporary occupancy permits for unfinished homes or businesses are issued.

If all unfinished work is not completed by the time the temporary occupancy permit expires, the bond money would be used to make the repairs.

The bond would equal 110 percent of the value of the unfinished work to a maximum $20,000 for builders of several homes in a development.

SUPERVISOR NOEL CULBERT, who drafted the ordinance along with building and planning department employees, said the zoning amendment would "take care of the trouble builder."

Although building complaints have stacked off in recent months, hundreds of homeowners have complained in the past of shoddy workmanship and building defects that were never repaired.

According to Culbert, only two or three homeowner complaints are unresolved at the current time. A task force comprised of building department employees and construction company representatives cleaned up most of the complaints that were submitted last winter.

At the time, township officials talked of passing an ordinance that would cut off additional permits to builders who had failed to make repairs within a reasonable period of time.

An ordinance modeled after a downriver community's law was presented to the township board last spring. But Culbert said no action was taken on the proposal because the ordinance was too complicated to be workable.

He believes that the ordinance which was sent to the planning commission this week will give the township "leverage" against builders who are sluggish in making repairs.

"If a guy doesn't do things properly, we see no point in issuing him more permits," Culbert said. "The bond doesn't hurt them if they do the work, because they'll get all the money back."

BEFORE THE ORDINANCE can be passed, the planning commission must schedule a public hearing on the proposed law and submit its recommendation to the township board. Township board members will ultimately pass or reject the proposal.

Planning commissioners took no action on the proposed ordinance Monday night.

Culbert said provisions in the township's subdivision control ordinance would supplement the builder regulations contained in the proposed zoning ordinance amendment.

The subdivision control ordinance authorizes the township planner to require a performance bond from builders to ensure completion of utilities and sidewalks in a development.

Danish visitor dies

Bitten Petersen, a visitor from Denmark, died Sunday morning in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. She had collapsed Saturday at the home of her sister, Olga Hubert of Deer Street, Plymouth. Cause of death was attributed to a massive brain hemorrhage.

Mrs. Petersen and her husband, Henning, were in the United States on an long-planned and extended vacation tour. They spent the first two weeks in Plymouth with Mrs. Hubert, and had explored Plymouth churches, the library, the Cultural Center and the skating rink.

"Plans for trips to the Soo locks, Mackinac Island, Greenfield Village and a two-week visit to Florida completely collapsed Saturday when Bitten took ill at my home," said Mrs. Hubert. "She was taken to St. Mary by the Plymouth Fire Department ambulance — very efficiently.

"All the family from Plymouth, Hamburg, Ann Arbor, California, Florida and Southfield gathered at her bedside. They had looked forward to this trip since Henning retired from teaching school in Denmark for 40 years."

The Petersens have two brothers and two sisters in the United States and they planned to see all of them during their eight-week visit.

The Petersens' children in Denmark were notified at once of the tragedy and their oldest daughter arrived Tuesday evening via Scandinavian Airline System. She planned to stay for a few days before returning with her father and mother's ashes for services and burial in Denmark.

Parents display concern about school first aid

A report that student records failed to disclose serious health problems of a Hulsing Elementary student intensified the health/safety issue facing Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The discovery, brought to the attention of the board Monday night by the student's mother, prompted board members to postpone action on the policy of administering first aid in schools until investigation of the incident.

Valerie Gildo of Canton, mother of a student with hearing problems and a severe allergy to bee stings, reported that neither health problem was noted in her daughter's records. In addition, Mrs. Gildo explained that her daughter's allergy medication had not been transferred to Hulsing with her daughter.

After Mrs. Gildo discovered a Hulsing class was studying bees and some students had been stung, she went to the school to make sure her daughter's medication was available and ready for use.

Mrs. Gildo's daughter had been transferred to Hulsing and the allergy medication was to have been sent over from the school she was attending.

Mrs. Gildo explained to the board that her daughter could die within 20 minutes if allergy medication were not administered immediately after she was stung by a bee.

Mrs. Gildo learned that the medication had not been transferred and, furthermore, that Principal Kate Otto would not allow any Hulsing employee to give allergy shots as they were not trained to do so. Mrs. Gildo said her daughter has attended three schools in four years and Hulsing was the first which wouldn't accept the allergy medication and agree to administer it if needed.

After this discussion, Mrs. Gildo contacted her family physician to administer pill-type medication in lieu of the allergy shots.

But in the meantime she had learned other things which were disturbing, she said.

THE STUDENT records of her daughter failed to mention her allergy problem. Neither did the records indicate that she had a hearing loss problem — something her classroom teacher was unaware of.

The school also did not have an emergency medical card on file giving phone numbers where the Gildos could be reached in case of an emergency.

Finally, Mrs. Gildo said, emergency medical cards were sent home during the third week of school for parents to fill out and return.

She also asked why no one at Hulsing Elementary is trained to administer first aid.

Another mother from Canton reported that her son received a head injury (a large lump on his forehead) at Hulsing and the school failed to notify parents by phone.

The school board expressed concern that up-to-date emergency medical cards were no on file at the school, and also were upset that important medical information had not been transferred when the student was switched to Hulsing.

Trustee Steve Harper said he was "appalled at what happened" but said that first aid training does not include instruction on how to administer shots.

Judy Clement, first aid instructor for the school district, confirmed that she does not teach how to give shots and that it is not part of the Red Cross training program.

"In a case like this, school people should call the township rescue squad immediately. They can be at the school within three minutes, and they can administer shots for allergies."

BOARD MEMBERS have been wrestling with the problem of administering first aid in schools for some time. The PTO has continually backed such a plan and asked for adoption of a policy.

The first aid step in solving the problem was taken some time ago when first aid and CPR training were made available to school employees on a voluntary basis.

School administrators then rewrote the policy on student health and safety to make sure proper procedures were being followed.

That policy was up for adoption, but the board tabled action after hearing about the health/safety problems encountered by parents of students attending Hulsing.

Richard Arlen pointed out, as he has been said a number of times in the past, that school employees cannot be forced to administer first aid but must volunteer to take the training.

Because of court rulings on good Samaritan cases, Arlen said, school employees or private individuals who administer first aid may be held liable in a lawsuit if negligence is alleged.

W-W school enrollment declines

Although the enrollment of Wayne-Westland Community School District dropped by about 1,000 students over the summer, school administrators say there will be no major changes in the curriculum as a result.

"A year ago we anticipated we'd lose 1,000 students and consequently we planned for that when we made our budget," said Daniel Slee, executive director of student activities for Wayne-Westland schools.

Slee said he predicted the school system would lose 1,073 students between June and September. The actual fourth Friday count, used as a basis for state aid allotments, was just 11 students less. That leaves 19,181 remaining in grades K-12 and the special education programs.

While the totals were close, a breakdown of where the losses occurred shows some surprises. That break down is being studied by school officials. Deputy Supt. Dennis O'Neill said elementary schools had 164 more students than were expected. That was balanced out by junior highs which lost 89 students more than expected and by high schools which lost an additional 64 more than projected.

The largest number of unexpected students, 69, occurred at Walker Elementary School, whose attendance area draws from fast-growing Canton Township. The school recently had an addition built in recognition of Canton's growth potential.

O'Neill said that growth may mean the future school boundaries are shifted, transferring some students to Roosevelt elementary which has some vacant classrooms.

Stressing that his comments were an "overview" of the situation, O'Neill said that long range plans are yet to be made. He added that since Wayne-Westland's residential community has primarily "starter" homes purchased by young families, the district eventually may become more stable than others in the area.

The balance of the district's enrollment of around 23,000 is made up of adult and continuing education students.

The state government contributes about $1,000 to the district coffers for every pupil enrolled in the school system. Since the district lost about 1,000 students, it may receive about $100,000 less from the state. This amount is about 1/2 of 1 percent of the district's budget, according to Richard Keilhacker, assistant superintendent of business and operations.

Keilhacker said the district may not even lose $100,000 this year because the adult education program has expanded, which will raise the student count. Registration for all adult education classes is not yet closed, so Keilhacker does not yet know how much continuing education classes will raise the enrollment.

The grades in which the student count dropped the most were second and ninth, according to Slee, but he was unsure why.

Bond asked of developer

For the first time, a developer of a Canton Township subdivision has been required to post a performance bond which ensures completion of sidewalks, parks and construction cleanup work.

A representative of Canton Investment Co., the developer of Oakview subdivision at the northwest corner of Lilley and Palmer, agreed to post the bonds Tuesday night in order to receive final approval for the subdivision.

Township planner Jim Kosteva said Canton's subdivision control ordinance authorizes officials to require the bonds. He said many developers have failed to complete sidewalks and subdivision parks within a reasonable amount of time.

Kosteva said he will determine the amount of the bonds required of the Oakview subdivision developers after estimating the monetary value of the work which must be performed.

Planning rates doubled

Fees charged to developers for site plan review, rezoning requests and other planning functions have been increased to approximately twice the current rate.

The Canton Township board approved the new rate schedule submitted by planner Jim Kosteva by a 5-2 vote at Tuesday's regular board meeting. Trustees Robert Greenstein and Eugene Daley voted against the rate hike.

Supervisor Noel Culbert, who requested Kosteva to draft the proposed fee schedule, said the rates have not been increased since May, 1976.

According to Kosteva, Canton's current rate schedule is low compared to the fees charged by surrounding communities.

Under the new rate schedule, developers must pay:

- A flat fee of $700 plus a charge of $25 an acre for site plan review of new commercial or industrial buildings.
- A fee of $700 plus $6 per dwelling unit for site plan review of apartment buildings.
- A basic fee of $1,150 plus $8 per lot for plat review of subdivisions.
- A fee of $400 for rezoning requests involving less than one acre and $500 for rezoning requests involving one acre or more.

Publicity seminar offered

Does your organization have a story to tell to the community?

Most organizations do. But some groups never tell their stories because they just aren't sure how to go about doing so.

One of the best ways to tell your story to others is through the community newspaper — specifically, the Observer Newspapers of Plymouth and Canton.

But submitting information and ideas for publication often can be difficult for those persons who handle publicity for community organizations.

There are so many things to consider: Who do you talk to? What information is needed? How should the information be presented? Can a picture be taken? How much time is needed? What are the deadlines?

Providing answers to these questions is why the Canton and Plymouth Observers each year sponsor a publicity seminar for non-profit community groups in Plymouth-Canton.

This year's seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 24, in The Loft of the Roundtable Club, Mayflower Hotel.

Those attending will be able to meet staff members and obtain information about how to tell their story to the community.

Space is limited and so reservations will be accepted on a first-come basis. To register call Bridget Lucas in our local news office at 459-2700.

The seminar will last from 7:30 to about 9:30 p.m. with a break for light refreshments.

Breathing patterns show variation

Breathing is the act of life, but how we breathe varies enormously.

According to the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, we normally inhale and exhale about 10 to 15 times a minute — whenever we sit quietly. After a minute, we've gone through five quarts of air.

Some people take in less air per breath, but they breathe more often. Others breathe less often but more deeply.

If you deliberately try to inhale more slowly, an automatic adjustment takes place. You take deeper breaths. Conversely, if you start inhaling much faster, each breath becomes more shallow. Either way, you still take in about five quarts of air, which is all your body needs when it's not exercising.

The situation is totally different during exercise. From five quarts a minute, the lungs take in 125 quarts as soon as you run. If you climb a mountain, you have to inhale more air to keep supplying the same amount of oxygen

Halloween efforts will aid charity

A Canton Township couple is asking for young volunteers to collect donations for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation while making their Oct. 31 Halloween rounds.

Lynn and Richard LaBell plan to supervise a canister drive for the charity in conjunction with a Halloween show at their home on Maidstone in the Sunflower subdivision.

Their efforts have been approved by the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation, which is providing the canisters and other Halloween paraphernalia.

According to Mrs. LaBell, children can either take the canisters from door to door or make donations in a fishbowl on the front porch of the LaBell home.

The Halloween show will feature the "nutty professor." The LaBells porch will be decorated to look like a space ship. The couple plans to create a fog around the house to add to the atmosphere.

Volunteers who wish to help supervise children on the canister drive or who want to help with the show may call the LaBells at 455-7196.

through the federal CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) program.

In order to run an independent program, Wiacek said, other communities would have to contribute the services of their own CETA employees and whatever funds could be set aside.

The city of Plymouth, in conjunction with Northville and Plymouth and Northville townships, had also applied for a home services grant from the area agency.

The grant was turned down initially because the application was filed with incomplete information.

Plymouth officials still entertain hope that the $20,000 grant request will be approved and were expected to meet with area agency director Ferris in order to discuss that possibility.

Idling down Ford

Two road construction projects on Ford Road in Canton Township have probably piqued some hot tempers lately. The projects which will widen Ford to five lanes from Interstate 275 to Haggerty and from Sheldon to Canton Center, were originally scheduled for completion this fall. But a spokesperson for the Michigan Department of Transportation said the actual completion date will depend on the type of weather November brings. Both projects may have to be finished next spring. Neptune Aquarium

One man, Richard Graham, of North Canton, Ohio, has spawned 8,000 goldfish in his basement this year.

Goldfish became fashionable in France in the mid-18th Century when Louis XV imported some to amuse Madame Pompadour.

Who brought goldfish to the U.S.? Some historians say the showman P.T. Barnum did; others credit a retired American admiral.

Goldfish are getting fancy. There now are 126 varieties—some so exotic they turn up at fish shows.

For the greatest range of varieties in fish, come to Neptune Aquarium. Fresh and saltwater species, live and artificial plants, everything to help you enjoy a delightful hobby!

The fate of Baptist church school in limbo while prosecutor ponders

(P.C)5A

Military

By TERI BANAS
The Wayne County Prosecutor will decide Friday whether Plymouth's Central Baptist Temple School should be closed and its administrator arrested for violation of the state fire code. The church's pastor, Dr. Stanley Jenkins, said he will not conform to state laws by upgrading the facility. Jenkins said rather than adhere to state fire codes which regulate all Michigan schools, he will seek changes to the jurisdiction over private schools such as Central Baptist Temple.

"There isn't a likely possibility for us to be OK'd as far as state fire codes are concerned," he said. "But we still contend they should not apply to us."

Assistant County Prosecutor Robert Sage and Jenkins met Tuesday to discuss the Baptist's schools adhering to state fire codes which Sage said "almost amounts to them finding a new place."

Jenkins, however, said it was financially impossible for his congregation to make structural changes. More importantly, Jenkins said they will not comply because private schools should not be governed by the same safety standards as public schools.

JENKINS SAID HE will go as far as the attorney general's office for an exemption to state law.

While Jenkins met with Sage Tuesday, another meeting was held across the state that focused on the fight of private schools and state laws.

According to Jenkins, a group of Christian pastors met with state Sen. John Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, in Flint to discuss establishing separate laws governing safety standards in private Michigan schools.

Jenkins said Christian leaders are pushing for self-regulation in such issues as teacher certification and building standards for private schools.

"We hope, in time, to place this before the attorney general for his opinion," Jenkins added.

Sage said if Jenkins agreed to building changes, "We'd give him time to conform before proceeding criminally." He added Jenkins faces a charge of 90 days imprisonment and a $1,000 fine as well as the closing of the school.

Jenkins said he "will not" close the school unless the fire marshal's department "proves the building is not safe."

Jenkins maintains the building is safe from fire because smoking is not allowed and children are prohibited from carrying matches.

Asked if he feared arrest, Jenkins said: "I've anticipated that and I'm ready for it."

JENKINS ADDED he's willing to become the focus of a test case between church rights and state laws.

Sage, however, said: "I don't want to be put in the position of persecuting them. But if we ignore the law it could be a precedent for all other Michigan (private) schools."

The Central Baptist Temple School, which opened its doors for kindergarten to grade 12 classes this fall, has 36 schoolchildren from Plymouth, Canton Township, Novi, Livonia, Westland and other neighboring communities.

All children are taught in one open classroom by four teachers, two of whom are state certified. The classroom is located in a partially submerged basement room with an exit door leading to the front of the building.

The state marshal determined this year that the school's wood structure defied state law, which requires that schools be made of non-combustible material. He added the school also lacked fire prevention measures, such as fire extinguishers and smoke alarms.

Fate reunites former sweethearts

Long ago, in the deep South, Janette and Lenny were childhood sweethearts. They dated through their high school years and planned to be married.

Their parents, however, felt they were far too young to be so serious and insisted upon their attending separate colleges a long distance apart.

Forced to separate for a time, they declared their love for each other, and vowed that they would be together again.

AT FIRST THEY WROTE to each other faithfully. But after awhile, studying and college life in general seemed to interfere, and the letters became fewer and farther between.

One family moved, so going home for the holidays no longer put them in the same town. Gradually, over the years, they lost contact and began dating others.

Janette obtained a teaching job in Michigan, where she married another teacher and raised a family. Her husband died young, and Janette raised her family alone, on her income as a teacher.

WHEN HER YOUNGEST child was in college, she found herself lonely and began to take part in more social activities, to fill the evening hours when she wasn't working.

One evening, just a year before she was due to retire, Janette went to a concert in Detroit. Imagine her astonishment when she discovered that the man in the seat next to her was Lenny — her childhood sweetheart.

He, too, had been married, but was now alone. They talked and talked about the times they were together, and the years between. They vowed that, since fate had brought them back together, they would not be separated again.

They were married five years ago, and are now spending their retirement years happily together.

COINCIDENCE? It certainly seems more than that, doesn't it?

There are those who would call it Karmic Law: while we have the power to change and shape our lives as we go along, there is always a greater power watching over us to provide a few surprises along the way.

NANCY AUSTIN

Americans have more heart attacks

By NANCY AUSTIN
Heart disease and stroke are entirely preventable.

Seventy percent of all deaths in the United States are self-induced. The single biggest cause of overweight is inactivity.

It's never too late to fit. These are just some of the facts that Dr. Joseph Arends told an audience Monday night at Plymouth Canton High School.

Arends is a cardiovascular health expert, specializing in preventative medicine. He is dedicated to the proposition that average Americans are not healthy Americans. To be a normal American requires basic changes in attitude towards eating habits and exercise.

He is quick to point out that it took him 15 years to come to that realization. At one time, Arends weighed 240 pounds and considered himself a prime candidate for a heart attack.

Now he says he never worries about a heart attack because he does not have any of the risk factors associated with persons who are in the high-risk category.

"I DON'T EVER want you to be an average American," he said. "If so, you have the highest chance of heart attack or stroke of anyone in the world."

Charts, graphs, and statistics continually reinforced his definitive facts. There is no doubt about it. As the affluence of society increases, so does the incidence of heart disease and stroke. The reason is that the increase of beef consumption typifies an affluent economy. With the increased consumption of beef, there is also an increase of fat consumption in the diet.

Arends pointed out that the first consideration in reducing the build up of fat in the body is to reduce the amount of fat eaten. For this he recommends that people refrain from eating foods that include fat on beef, pork or lamb, hot dogs, poultry skin, oil-packed tuna, luncheon meats, whole milk, cheese, butter, eggs, gravies and deep fried foods.

"Before a person can change his eating habits and take control of his life, he must first understand what is happening with your present habits," Arends told his audience.

While the rate of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) is different for each person, he said, fat plaque begins to be laid down at the age of 10.

IN THE KOREAN War study, 78 percent of American soldiers who died from trauma, were found to have signs of arteriosclerosis. Of those, 15 percent had a 50 percent closing of a major artery.

Arends at this point, after all the gloomy statistics, gave his audience enthusiastic encouragement.

"You can stop the disease. You can even reverse the disease." It isn't genetic. If it were genetic, then why did the United States get all the bad genes?" he quipped.

Arends gave his listeners a three-pronged program which, if they achieve these goals, assures the individual he will not be a prime candidate for heart attack or stroke.

"If you don't smoke, if you do exercise, and if you have a blood cholesterol level below 160 you won't have a heart attack." He said.

For exercise, Arends insists that a person be able to walk one mile in 18 minutes three times a week for one year. "That is an absolute minimum," he pointed out. "And a teen," he continued, "should be able to run two miles in 15 minutes as a minimum standard."

He openly criticized the public school lunch programs, hitting particularly at the American Dairy Association's contribution to high-fat products.

IN ADDITION, the need for salt in the diet is exaggerated as is the desire for something sweet. Mothers, he said, will give into a child's desire for a pre-sweetened cereal 88 percent of the time.

Our idea of being physically fit is a misconception promulgated by our sports and health teachers in the school systems, he said.

"Physical education people are not physical ed people. They are coaches."

"Golf, archery, baseball, bowling, the martial arts, and weightlifting equal zero conditioning. Football is minimum conditioning."

"Basketball, soccer, cross-country skiing, and racquetball are very good conditioning sports."

It's good, too, he pointed out to vary the physical activity you choose to keep the boredom level low.

Find an activity that increases your heart rate for a sustained period of time, decrease your fat consumption, quit smoking. Don't be an average American.

If you ever want to be cheerfully admonished, cajoled, and otherwise prodded into a healthy life, make it a point to hear Arends' talk. He may change your life.

College Night is on Oct. 30

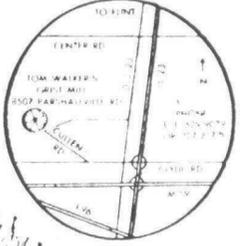

A College Night program for juniors and seniors and their parents from Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Novi, Northville and South Lyon high schools will be hosted by Canton High on Oct. 30.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and last until 9:30 p.m. More than 40 college and university representatives will be available to talk with interested students in 30-minute sessions.

A good place to have a heart-to-heart talk.

When you come to Perkins, you don't have to "pay rent" on your table or booth by ordering a big dinner, or something elaborate. Just come in and talk things over with a good cup of coffee. At Perkins, no one hustles you out to make room for newcomers. Ours is not the clutter-bang kind of place that makes relaxing and quiet conversation impossible. So, come in for a visit. Anytime Perkins is a great place for a heart-to-heart chat, a quiet business lunch, a cozy dinner, a late-night snack. You're always welcome. Honest.

Daniel's Den

By Emory Daniels

When rights can be limited

Central Baptist Church in Plymouth is considering filing a lawsuit on the issue of separation of church and state.

The church has plans to operate a private school for grades K-12. The school has hired a principal and four teachers and is enrolling students.

But two problems have cropped up. The first concerns a state fire marshal with the Michigan State Police post in Northville.

The second involves Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, which has sent a letter to parents informing them that the church's school has not been approved by the state. State law and the Michigan Constitution require children to attend public schools or private schools approved by the state.

In the second instance, the school doesn't have a particular problem. The pressure is placed on parents to comply with a state law, not upon the school.

The matter with the fire marshal, however, directly affects the school and is a difficult matter to remedy.

The fire marshal is convinced the school is a safety hazard because it has wooden walls and a hallway he considers too narrow.

The fire marshal is seeking to have the school closed because he believes there is no way the fire hazards can be corrected, short of tearing down the building and constructing a new one.

THE ISSUE OF separation of church and state is an interesting one from a legal standpoint.

The original intent of the U.S. Constitution was to bar the government from interfering in any way (abridging) the right to worship God. The intent was to protect worship, not particularly to protect other activities of a religious institution.

Since then, though, many court opinions from all levels have been handed down to expand the original protection afforded in the constitution. That has happened to a number of constitutional rights.

Today it is pretty well established that the separation of church and state protection covers the right of a church to operate a school.

That right, however, is not unbridged. Courts have granted governments the right to insist upon certain requirements, such as a minimum academic curriculum and degrees for instructors.

In general, whenever a church's activities extend beyond the act of worship, the state has been given more latitude to impose a limited regulation.

IN THIS CASE, the church may be able to legally challenge the state's right to require its approval before the school is recognized as an alternative to public school attendance.

The state's theory, of course, is that it is not insisting upon approving the school in order for the school to operate. The state is enforcing the legal duty of children to be educated. It becomes the responsibility of parents to send their children to public school or a private school approved by the state.

Thus, the state has an approved list of schools because of its relationship with parents who also happen to be citizens of the state bound by its laws and constitution. The state argues that the separation principle cannot be used in a way to interfere with that relationship between government and citizen.

Even then I'm not sure that practice can sustain a legal challenge, if it's taken to the U.S. Supreme Court.

BUT THE PROBLEM with the fire marshal is quite a different issue.

The state clearly has the right and obligation to protect the health, safety and welfare of its citizens. Within the law, that is the highest obligation of government — its most powerful and widely recognized police power.

All courts have recognized that the separation principle does not allow the health, safety and welfare of citizens to be endangered — particularly safety.

The fact, a church may have a right to operate a school does not include, in any way, a right to operate a public building which is unsafe. The state can even insist a church building cannot be used for worship if the structure is unsafe.

-From our readers-

Editor:
Regarding your editorial opinion column of Sept. 13, you are absolutely correct.

"Teachers should not have a special privilege of striking and still receiving full pay. They should be subject to the same penalty any other worker in America is subject — loss of pay." Bravo, Emory Daniels, on your perceptive view.

Perhaps you can suggest how the Plymouth-Canton School District can make up the loss of funds ($336,000) by docking the pay from the 730 striking teachers.

A good formula would be to multiply the amount of teachers by the amount of striking days (9) and multiplying that by their daily wage.

Using the average teacher's salary of $18,500 (as mentioned on the school board taped messages during the strike period) divided by 180 days of school, that figure would be $102.78 per day. Therefore, 730 times 9 times $102.78 is $675,264.60.

That would eliminate the necessity of any extra mileage request, more than make up the loss of funds, and inhibit any future teacher strikes.

Since the teachers' contracts are not finalized, the undersigned taxpayers of the Plymouth-Canton School District agree that such an amendment should be stipulated/inserted into the contracts, thereby discouraging any future teacher strikes by penalty of loss of pay.

From Plymouth: Dan N. Bennett of Northville Road, a BS in electrical engineering; and Jennifer Ann Diehl of Lakewood Drive, a bachelor of business administration degree.

Teamsters file labor charges on city's DPW suspensions

By TERI BANAS

Despite the city's concern over a possible strike, Plymouth's DPW workers returned to their jobs Tuesday following a two-day suspension by the city, said DPW Director Ken Vogras.

And in response to that suspension, Teamster's Local 214, (representing some 14 employees) has filed an unfair labor practice charge and a grievance demanding three day's back pay from the city, confirmed union spokesperson Jim Markley.

Markley added the union has "no strike plans" at this time. The suspensions were made after some 12 workers called in sick Thursday and then failed to produce doctors' verification of their illnesses, said Assistant City Manager John Zeck. He added such action against workers is provided for under the contract.

The union, on the other hand, contends the men took a legitimate sick day and were locked out on Friday when they attempted to return to work. Markley said this was the basis of the unfair labor practice charge. On Friday, their attorney advised them to file the charge.

"We're seeking remedies in that we feel they have been in violation of both state law and our contract," Markley said.

ALTHOUGH WORKERS were suspended for only two days, a misunderstanding developed as to the termination of that suspension.

While members did not return to work until Tuesday morning, city officials say they expected to see them on Monday morning.

Markley said union members expected to return Tuesday after they were handed notices on Friday announcing the two-day suspension.

Zeck, on the other hand, said he told Markley Friday morning that the suspension was up Monday morning despite the mix-up as announced in notices to workers.

"They backed themselves into a three-day suspension," Zeck added. Markley responded the city could not suspend retroactively, referring to Thursday. The union is demanding salary payments for their Thursday sick day, as well as last Friday and Monday.

MARKLEY HAS SAID the city violated its contract with workers by not allowing them to work Friday.

He said the city should have served them with written reprimands and refused payment for Thursday rather than suspend them. In that way, he said, the issue could have been resolved through grievance hearings.

The grievance was received by Vogras Tuesday and a hearing is expected by law within 10 days.

Police talks at impasse

While city DPW workers faced a two-day suspension last Friday, negotiations were ongoing that day between the city and members of the Police Officers Association, representing some 14 employees.

Both sides claim an impasse was reached that day.

Although union spokespersons Mike Gardner says a state mediator has been requested, the city has not received word of that action, says assistant city manager John Zeck.

The officers have been working under an expired contract since last June.

According to Zeck, the union proposed a 20-item package which the city was not prepared to respond to at that time.

"Several of those items had to be discussed among the city team members, offered and seen by the city manager," he said.

Although the union would not say what the points of contention were, Gardner said they discussed economic and non-economic issues.

Zeck says the city is waiting to hear from the union while city officials review the union proposed settlement package.

Senior citizens pay when bureaucrats play politics

Once upon a time, an unnamed bureaucrat was sitting in the office, daydreaming, and came up with an idea.

The idea was that senior citizens shouldn't have to be shuttled off to homes for the aged just because they were having a little trouble living by themselves.

Maybe all the seniors really needed was a little help in order to maintain their independence.

Out of this simple, yet brilliant, concept came the state and federally financed home services programs. Under these programs, volunteers and part-time workers went into senior citizens' homes and assisted them with housekeeping, shopping, lawn care and home maintenance.

The programs were relatively inexpensive to operate and didn't require an excessive amount of time for each senior citizen involved.

What the programs did, if run correctly, was to give an elderly person a helping hand without robbing him of his dignity.

CANTON TOWNSHIP, at least on paper, was one of the communities offering a home services program — until last month. That program was discontinued when the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA, which administered it, got out of the home services business.

Although Canton and four other communities applied for a grant from the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging in order to continue the home services program, it now appears that the bid was unsuccessful.

The area agency gave the communities of Canton, Westland, Wayne, Garden City and Dearborn Heights $3,000 in order to buy equipment such as mops, buckets and brooms.

The grant application was for $48,000.

WHY THE GRANT was denied remains a mystery. Fred Ferris, director of the area agency, isn't talking. Although he runs a public, tax supported agency and is responsible for administering millions of dollars, he doesn't seem to feel he has to account for his actions to you or me or anyone else.

Agency records, finances and reports are generally labeled confidential and considered nobody's business.

We suspect the main reason the grant was turned down is that Canton has been complaining loudly that it was not getting its fair share of service from the YMCA program.

Strangely enough, the city of Plymouth, which also filed a grant application (along with the city of Northville and Plymouth and Northville townships) has not been given a flat turn-down even though the application which was filed was incomplete.

We suspect the application would have been approved without question had the reaction of Canton to such a move not been feared. We suspect the application will be approved sooner or later.

YOU SEE PLYMOUTH, unlike Canton, had enough sense not to criticize the area agency.

Squeaky wheels don't always get greased.

This has been a story about politics and bureaucracy and how they work.

But the real story is about people such as the 75-year-old man with a heart condition who called our office the other day.

The man lives in Canton with his wife. The couple had been getting some help from the home services program. Although Y director Janet Luce denied that seniors were ever charged for the services, this man maintained that he did pay a small fee.

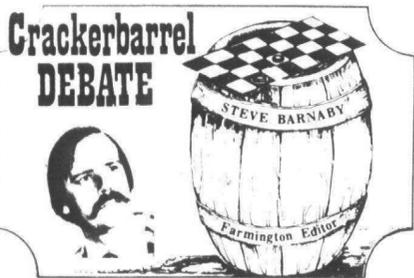

Now, even that limited service has been discontinued, and the man wanted to know if there was some other way to get help.

The couple's social security benefits add up to just a bit more than the eligibility qualifications for state social services allow. But they certainly didn't have enough to hire a maid or maintenance person.

Thanks to the petty maneuverings of politics, there is no help available for this couple or for senior citizens like them in the Canton area.

Maybe Canton can come up with its own program. In the meantime, these people will just have to fend for themselves.

Better luck next time.

Integration fails again

Once again, we've been reminded, integration in the metropolitan Detroit area is a failing effort.

This year's report comes from the University of Michigan Population Research Center. It says, in short, that prospects for residential integration in Detroit and the suburbs aren't good.

In situations of minimum integration — defined as one black to 14 whites — 7 percent of those queried would move out and 27 percent would be unwilling to move in.

When black families make up three of 15 families, 24 percent of the white respondents would move out and 50 percent said they would be unwilling to move into such a neighborhood situation.

These statistics were gathered in a survey of 400 blacks and 734 whites taken in 1976. The report was just released.

Concerning whites, the study concluded that they believed black neighbors cause declining property values, crime, vandalism and juvenile delinquency.

On the other hand, blacks expressed a reluctance to become the first family to integrate a neighborhood because of fear of violence or scrutiny from neighbors.

While blacks preferred to live in a community with a 50-50 racial mix, they tended to live in predominantly black neighborhoods because there are few racially balanced communities.

THE STUDY FOUND three common excuses given for the failure of integration to be untrue: "blacks cannot afford to live in suburban housing; whites are prejudiced; and blacks prefer to live with other blacks."

To expand on these three points, the study noted that while blacks' incomes have risen substantially over the last 20 years, there wasn't an equal increase in the number of blacks in suburban communities.

Since 1942, whites have become more accepting of the concept of blacks in predominantly white neighborhoods — 40 percent in 1942, 84 percent in 1972.

So what is the problem?

Fear is the barometer. No one enjoys being rejected, as happens to many blacks. Neither does anyone like the idea of losing a cultural identity, as do many whites. Included in that identity is a person's house — the supreme benchmark in the American white society.

The study's results can be summarized in one word — fear.

Cultural education is the answer. But society doesn't provide it and the young aren't getting it. We are allowing them to grow up with the same misconceptions and fears with which we grew up.

THIS GENERATION of Americans has pretty well gone down the tubes when it comes to acculturation. The fears have been well beaten into our heads. But that is no excuse for the next generation to suffer through the same comedy of errors which ironically leads to tragedy.

'Hey, look who's coming!'

An 'easy' World Series

Now that the baseball World Series is under way, would you believe that years ago one of these fall classics was virtually decided on the day before play began?

Well, it happened. It isn't listed that way in the baseball annals. Not even by an asterisk. Or a footnote. Or even in the famed Guinness Book of records.

But those of us who were fortunate enough to be around in 1934 when the Tigers, after a wait of 25 years, qualified to meet the St. Louis Cardinals and Dizzy Dean will never forget how it happened.

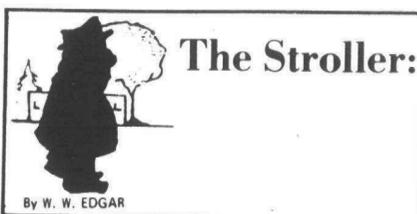

It was about mid-afternoon on the day before the series was to open in what was then Briggs Stadium (it is Tiger Stadium now). The Tigers were just finishing their final workout when word came that the Cardinals — the famed Gas House Gang — had arrived at the park.

SURE ENOUGH, there was a howl when Dizzy Dean, the legendary pitcher, lead the "Gas House Gang" into the playing area. Big Diz, with a white cowboy hat, was hilarious as he leaped the barrier and headed toward home plate.

Still in his street clothes, Diz grabbed a bat, and yelled, "Throw me one."

Kiddingly, the batting practice pitcher threw him one and Diz promptly belted it into the stands. Laughing aloud, he called to Mickey Cochrane and the rest of the Tigers, "You guys are going to be easy."

The Tigers seemed stunned at the remark, and the truth of the matter is that they never got over it. The next day Dizzy was still laughing at them and easily won the first game.

So badly were the Tigers upset that Charley Gehringer, the all-time great second baseman who seldom erred during the season, committed two errors in the first inning of the opener. And with each one of them, Dizzy carried on in front of the dugout.

"Me and Daffy (his brother) will have a picnic with you fellows," he kept yelling. And that's about what happened, though the Tigers did manage to beat Daffy in his first start.

FROM THE BEGINNING the series was a rough house affair. It got so bad that when Ducky Medwick, Cardinal left fielder, slid into third base and almost spiked Marv Owen, Tiger third baseman, the fans went on the rampage.

When "Ducky" took his place in left field at the close of the inning the fans showered him with so much fruit that Judge Landis, then the baseball commissioner, ordered Medwick out of the game "for his own sake." It is the only case in baseball history where a player was removed by a commissioner to protect his well being.

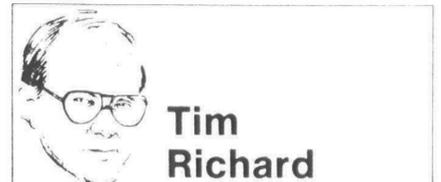

The real fun came in the final game when Diz faced the Tigers for the third time. He had scored two victories and vowed he'd make it three in a row.

He was untouchable and as the Cards piled up a margin of 13 to 0, the most jovial fellow in the place was Dizzy out there on the mound.

In later years, when he toured the country on the banquet circuit, Dizzy often told the story of that final game.

"That was the day I got the worst insult I ever got in my life," he would tell his listeners. "We are ahead, 13 to 0, and Frankie Frisch, our manager, sent our pitchers out to the bull pen to warm up — and we don't have another game until next spring."

There never has been a World Series like it since those days and Old Diz settled it the day before play began when, in street clothes, he belted the ball out of the park and shouted, "You guys are going to be easy."

Avoid buying now

Contradicting the Realtors

In the last few months, the real estate market has softened. Sales have been tougher to make.

Interest rates are 12.5 percent, and you need a 20 percent down payment. Buyers are being driven out.

And so the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Boards of Realtors called a press conference last week. They announced that by 1985 an average existing house price in such typical new suburbs as Troy and Livonia would reach $100,000.

The conclusion, as one of them said in an interview with our reporter: You won't save any money by waiting for prices to go down, so buy now. But then, realtors — er, Realtors (trademark) — are always saying that.

WHEN TIMES ARE tough, Realtors say, "Buy now — prices are down."

When times are improving, Realtors say, "Buy now — the market's getting good."

When inflation is running rampant, Realtors say, "Buy now — land won't get any cheaper."

When the population is increasing, Realtors say, "Buy now — the supply of property can't be increased."

When the population is declining, Realtors say, "Buy now — well, I don't know why."

Realtors live off commissions, not salaries. The rest of us have to buy and sell property to survive. We can't forget their motives in advising us to "buy now."

WELL, NOW IS NOT the time to buy, if you can humanly avoid it.

From a consumer's point of view, a 20 percent down-payment is utter madness. A 12.5 percent interest rate is madness. A mortgage with payments that climb each year for five years is madness.

And the latest is that home heating costs will take off again — yet.

Those of us who can possibly refrain from buying housing should do it. Just sit tight. Stick with the apartment or mobile home, hold off having kids.

Let the industry suffer for a year or two and see if they don't figure out ways to stabilize prices.

Did you notice, in the last round of inflation figures from Washington, what item was leading the price hike list, right after oil? Housing.

The builders blame the suppliers of materials. Others blame the construction trades, which bargain for big wage hikes even when their members suffer depression level unemployment.

They all blame local government for requiring lots of inspections to protect us consumers.

ALL OF US SUFFER, not just house buyers, from this inflation-leading industry.

When prices of new housing soar, prices of old houses and tax assessments follow.

Contrary to what Dick Headlee has been telling you, the housing industry has been more to blame for rising property taxes than those governmental "bureaucrats."

Now is the time to save. Money is a vile thing, so the way I figure it, we should make money work for us whenever possible. The savings and loans associations, which provide most home mortgage money, are offering terrific deals these days.

Saving is not only good personal finance, but it's the patriotic thing to do. Some of the more sophisticated magazines are starting to come out with the truth about the American economy. They're telling us we have the highest incomes and the lowest rate of savings of any major industrial nation in the world.

With low saving, we have low rates of capital investment. With low capital investment, we have the lowest rate of productivity increase of any major industrial nation.

Was that a real saint visiting us?

His whole approach was so down-to-earth. He moved as easily among the great leaders as the ordinary citizens.

Wherever he went there were spontaneous outpourings of joy.

Little children enchanted him. He patted their heads, he held and hugged them.

His words and gestures expressed great love for humanity.

His influence on people was impossible to measure. But most agree it was tremendous.

THOSE THOUGHTS could well have been written 2,000 years ago in another nation of another man.

Today, they refer to Pope John Paul II, who last week sped around the United States in one of the most unbelievable trips of modern times.

An average 39-year-old might shutter at the timetable. To a 59-year-old, the pace was exhausting just to read about.

But the holy father did it. And he seemed to thrive on the pace. Apparently the brotherhood of man sustained him.

The question might be: Do we have a living saint here?

That's a mighty tough one with which to deal.

BUT WE HAVE SEEN and heard so much in such a short time about the Polish pontiff that it leads you to wonder.

Just being elected pope was sort of a minor miracle.

The way John Paul has reacted to his role and the vast responsibilities that accompany it are good barometers.

He not only loves his fellow human beings, he reaches out to support them in their needs.

But he isn't weak-kneed or a political opportunist. When he has to be firm, he is — iron willed, some of those whom he disappointed might say.

John Paul drew opposition when he reiterated the official precepts of the Catholic Church. He condemned abortion and artificial birth control. He spoke out against divorce, married clergy and women in the priesthood.

THOSE WERE ISSUES that a lot of Catholics were hoping he might show a change of heart. But he didn't. And it seems unlikely John Paul — or, for that matter, any future pope — will.

Some church laws just are never going to change, no matter how much people might wish that they would. Others, which are man-made, can. But it takes time.

Speaking as one Catholic, I would have been jolted had John Paul made an announcement that, for example, seminaries now would be accepting female candidates. That's not because I am for or against the concept, but because this was neither the time nor the place. Such a move should only come after long study and deliberation with a wide variety of religious and lay people.

WHATEVER A PERSON FEELS about married priests or divorce or the other weighty matters, when he or she considers John Paul as a man and as a religious leader, the conclusion is about the same.

John Paul ranks among the truly great ones. There is that aura of the common man about him. I'd wager that anyone who happened upon the pope would feel perfectly at ease to say hello, stick out a hand and introduce himself.

What might follow would be an animated conversation about the weather or the area where they met, sports or children. And you can bet the pope would be asking about his new acquaintance's life.

WHAT THIS ALL GETS down to, the way I see it, is the role of the clergy in our modern society.

It's apparent that John Paul, by his actions, had a subconscious word of advice for religious leaders, no matter what their faiths.

Go to the people, John Paul seemed to be saying. They are the children of God. Show you are one of them. Share their concerns and joys.

And finally, the pope was saying, when it comes to the law, stand up for the things you believe are right.

Any danger in sex after a heart attack?

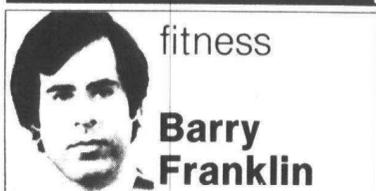

QUESTION: Is sexual activity "too demanding" for the post-coronary patient, e.g. likely to precipitate another heart attack? Are special precautions recommended before or during the sex act, and if so, what should they be?

The cardiac cost of sexual intercourse is only modest.

Drs. Hellerstein and Friedman studied (1970) the cardiovascular responses of both normal and post-coronary subjects during daily living and during sexual activity. Peak heart rate responses during intercourse generally lasted less than 30 seconds and ranged from 90-144 beats per minute; average peak heart rate was 117.

The estimated energy requirement was approximately four to five times that at rest. In contrast, the average heart rate during occupational activity was 120, higher than that during peak sexual activity.

The conclusion: symptoms and the heart rate and ECG responses during intercourse were comparable and no more severe than those which occurred during the ordinary workday.

fitness

THUS, THE VAST majority of heart patients can safely indulge in sexual activity, oftentimes within three to four weeks of hospital discharge.

Many physicians feel a patient who can climb two flights of stairs at a moderate pace or take a brisk walk without complications is ready to resume sexual activity.

A more objective assessment can be made from the patient's response to low level exercise on a treadmill or stationary bicycle at a work load designed to elicit the anticipated heart rate and energy requirements of sexual activity. Such an evaluation serves to assess the risks of resumption of sexual activity, and provides reassurance to the patient and spouse.

Recently, Dr. Richard Stein reported (1977) that heart patients showed a decrease in peak coital rate from 127 to 120 beats per minute, following a 16-week stationary bicycle exercise program. Many also reported decreased anxiety, increased self-confidence, and reduced symptoms (e.g. chest pain).

Similarly, Hellerstein and Friedman reported that both the frequency and quality of sexual activity improved as a result of a physical fitness enhancement program. These data suggest that a regular exercise training program may decrease symptoms and the work load on the heart during sexual intercourse.

OTHER PRUDENT recommendations may include taking anti-anginal medications (e.g. nitroglycerin) prior to intercourse, and avoiding sexual activity after heavy meals, after drinking alcohol, when excessively fatigued, or in too hot or too cold an environment.

Alterations in sex position (for example, man-on-top to man-on-bottom) may offer a slight reduction in cardiac cost, eliminating isometric support of the body weight by the arms.

Finally, extra-marital sex may be more demanding on the heart, and hazardous to one's health. According to one Japanese study, 80 percent of deaths during intercourse occur in hotel rooms "in relations with lovers," rather than wives.

A Ph.D. Barry Franklin is co-director of cardiac fitness at Sinai Hospital and assistant professor of physiology at Wayne State University. General questions may be sent to him in care of this newspaper.

Corrected just for you:
School schedules for '79-80

A three-year school calendar has been adopted by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education. The three-year calendar has no split sessions, no Saturday classes, no four-track days, no transfer of students to other buildings, and no total cutback of summer vacation. The nine days lost because of the strike are made up by a readjustment of some breaks, by carrying school longer into the summer, and with a one-time after-Labor Day start in 1980. The administration and teachers still are working out final arrangements on Easter vacation for the second and third years. Listed below are the school calendars for 1979-80 for those buildings on a traditional school year (TSY) and for those on an extended school year (ESY):

OCTOBER
Classes in session all month with no holidays, conference days or professional days. Total of 23 class days.

NOVEMBER
Classes in session Nov. 1-14; Nov. 15 is an elementary conference day and Nov. 16 is a conference day for middle schools and high schools; Classes in session balance of month except for Nov. 22-23 when Thanksgiving break is taken.

DECEMBER
Classes in session except for period of Dec. 23-28 and Dec. 31 when Christmas holiday break is taken.

JANUARY
No school on Jan. 2 with classes resuming Jan. 3 and continuing for balance of month except Jan. 28 when a professional day is scheduled.

FEBRUARY
Classes from Feb. 1-14; a vacation break on Feb. 15, 18; and classes for the balance of the month.

MARCH
Classes from March 3-13; a day off on March 14 for a professional day; and classes for the balance of the month.

APRIL
Classes on April 1-3; no school during Easter Break from April 4-13; classes resume April 14 and continue for balance of month.

MAY
Classes scheduled each weekday of month without interruption.

JUNE
Classes from June 2-18 with June 18 being last day for students. Teachers will work June 19-20 as these are scheduled professional days.

(One more day will be made up during the year, but it will be scheduled differently by the individual school buildings.)

OCTOBER
Track A will be in school Oct. 8-31; Track B in school from Oct. 1-5, and off until Oct. 29-31; Track C in school Oct. 1-26; and Track D in school Oct. 1-31.

NOVEMBER
Track A will be in school Nov. 1-21, on vacation Nov. 22-23, back in class Nov. 26-30; Track B in school Nov. 1-21, on vacation Nov. 22-23, back in class Nov. 26-30; Track C on break through Nov. 16 and in class balance of month except for Nov. 22-23; Track D will be in school Nov. 1-16 and then will be on break the balance of the month.

DECEMBER
Track A will be in school Dec. 3-7, and then go on break for the balance of the month; Track B in school Dec. 3-21 and then on Christmas break balance of month; Track C in school entire month except for Christmas break — Dec. 24-31; Track D in school Dec. 10-21 and on Christmas break balance of month.

JANUARY
Track A in school Jan. 3-31; Track B on break through Jan. 18 and in school Jan. 21-31; Track C in school Jan. 2-18 and on break balance of month; Track D in school Jan. 2-31.

FEBRUARY
Track A in school Feb. 1-29; Track B in school Feb. 1-29; Track C on break through Feb. 8 and then in school Feb. 11-29; Track D in school Feb. 1-8 and then on break balance of month.

MARCH
Track A on break through March 21 and in school March 24-31; Track B in school March 3-21 and on break balance of month; Track C in school entire month; Track D in school entire month.

APRIL
Track A in school entire month, except for Good Friday, April 4; Track B on break through April 11 and in school balance of month; Track C in school April 1-11 except for April 4, on break balance of month; Track D in school entire month except for April 4.

MAY
Track A in school May 1-23 and on break balance of month; Track B in school entire month except for May 26; Track C on break through May 9 and in class balance of month except May 26; Track D in school May 1-9, on break May 12-26, classes from May 27-30.

JUNE
Track A on break through June 13, in school balance of month; Track B in school June 2-13 and on break balance of month; Track C in school entire month; Track D in school entire month.

JULY

Editor:
As a resident of Plymouth Township, I strive to patronize Plymouth shops. Frequently I hear the merchants of Plymouth express concern that it is difficult to compete with large stores and suburban shopping malls. I can understand that a mall is difficult to compete with. The convenience of a mall, the free parking, and store charge accounts are difficult to compete with at best. But still a great many local residents continue to shop in Plymouth and sacrifice conveniences for the friendly, small town atmosphere and, at times, even pay a premium but feel it is for the good of the community.

However, in order to compete with the malls and larger stores the small "friendly store" is going to have to extend some of the courtesies of the larger stores and malls. In Plymouth when one requests a restroom location you are usually told "we don't have public facilities." In my opinion the people who depend on the public for their bread and butter should probably extend public courtesies. Today, when shopping at a favorite shop in Plymouth, I requested telephone usage to make an important call. I told the clerk I would reverse the charges to my home telephone. In reply the clerk rudely replied that the pay phone was across the street in the Mayflower Hotel. Yes, I realize that our local shops are not public restrooms or telephone booths. However, the most important reason people shop in Plymouth is the personal touch and the small town atmosphere. If regular customers aren't going to be treated with any more respect, then I ask, why shop in Plymouth? Why sacrifice the conveniences? Yes, I know why the malls are so very much in competition. And I should add that not all are guilty, but then I remember a "few bad apples."

Despite poor foul shooting

Chiefs stay spotless in league

By SCOTT ADLER

Thanks to poor free throw shooting, the Plymouth Canton varsity girls' basketball team again let an easy win become a close 41-36 victory over Livonia Churchill.

"Our foul shooting was weak," said Canton coach Mike McCauley. "And that's what made it a close game. We shoot well in practice but when we get to a game we miss. It's a lack of concentration."

The Chiefs were 11-22 from the foul line. But eight of those shots were the front end of a one-and-one situation which would have given Canton another eight shots if they had been made.

Despite the poor performance from the free throw line, the Chiefs still picked up their fourth straight win, raising their record to 6-3 overall and helped them remain undefeated in the Western Six League at 3-0. The Chargers dropped to 2-7 overall and 2-1 in the league.

Canton led the entire way, jumping out to a 10-3 first quarter lead over the hapless Chargers only to play haplessly themselves in the second quarter. Churchill outscored them, 12-9. The Chiefs held a 19-15 edge at halftime.

After a basket by Marianne Pink, the Chargers rattled off six straight points to tie the game at 21 with 3:45 left in the third period.

But with 3:20 remaining in the third quarter, Pearlle Cunningham went to work scoring eight straight points to put the Chiefs on top to stay.

Churchill mounted a charge late in the game with Canton leading 37-27. The Chargers' Mary Watson hit a free throw and then scored on three successive rebound baskets to close the gap to three points, 37-34.

But on Livonia put the game out of reach on two free throws with 1:18 left to play.

Pink finished with 12 points for Canton. Pearlle Cunningham added 10 points, eight in the third quarter. Cindy Sovine played a fine game for the Chiefs, pumping in 10 points and leading Canton on the boards. Sommerville added six points.

"Our defense was pretty good, but we were still sloppy at times," said McCauley. "We need to work on holding on to the ball."

"Our defense was pretty good, but we need to learn to hold on to the ball."

— Canton coach Mike McCauley

The Canton junior varsity squad was defeated, 51-32, by the Churchill reserves. Sue Gerke and Lisa Cavell led the Chiefs with 10 points apiece. The Chiefs record now stands at 3-6 overall. The loss halted a three-game win streak for Canton.

The Canton freshmen won its second game in a row, defeating cross campus rival Plymouth Salem, 39-20. Lisa Cavell pumped in 14 points and Janine Carpenter added 11. Cindy Ebmeyer followed suit with 10. The Chiefs are now 2-0.

Rock playoff chances real

Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer knows his team can control its own destiny in the coming weeks.

The Rocks, 4-1 overall, are still in the state playoff picture heading into the sixth week of the season.

Salem, a member of the state Class A Region II group, suddenly became a possible state playoff contender when three of the five rated teams lost last week.

Adrian, the top rated team in Region II, had little trouble last week with Ann Arbor Huron. Adrian, however, must play unbeaten Redford Union on the road in the final game of the season.

Farmington Harrison, which plays Salem the last game of the season, narrowly got by Walled Lake Western last week, 14-7. The No. 2 rated Hawks still must play Livonia Churchill (4-1) Friday and North Farmington (3-2) before it meets Salem.

Salem's playoff chances were also helped out by Wayne Memorial, the third ranked team. The Zebras suffered their first loss at the hands of No. 1 rated Dearborn Fordson.

Niles, which moved up to the third spot this week, appears to have a clear shot at making the playoffs barring an upset.

Niles will play Class B St. Joseph (0-5) this week-end. The only stumbling blocks for the southwest Michigan team appear to be Kalamazoo Loy Norrix (4-1) and Class B Dowagiac (3-1).

Salem can also enhance its playoff chances by beating league rivals Edsel Ford (5-0) and Trenton (4-1). Edsel is currently ranked fourth overall in Class A and fourth in Region IV behind Redford Union, Detroit Catholic Central and Dearborn Fordson.

MOSHIMER KNOWS his Salem team still has a shot, but he must first be concerned with St. Clair Shores Lakeview this Friday at home.

"We mentioned the state playoffs as one of our goals," said Moshimer. "The league however is number one right now."

Salem was upset in its first game of the season, losing to Livonia Franklin (2-3), 12-9.

"I think we finally recovered from the Franklin loss last week," said Moshimer, whose team pounded Belleville on the road, 34-8.

"We have to worry about Lakeview," he said. "They are a big and strong team."

"They're a power-orientated team which runs the ball a lot off tackle and outside."

"In my opinion, this will be the best team we'll face so far."

Lakeview, sporting a deceiving 2-3 record thus far, has won its last two games. Lakeview beat Mt. Clemens Clintondale last week (12-6) and defeated L'Anse Creuse the week before (34-7).

Lakeview has been beaten by Utica Eisenhower (3-0), Lake Shore (8-0) and Grosse Pointe North (20-13).

SALEM will be playing its first home game of the season, welcoming Lakeview in its homecoming game.

Lakeview, which has emphasized defense in its first five games, has also developed a good running attack led by speedster Tom Badlementi. Lakeview will use the I-formation offensively, according to Moshimer, and will alternate two quarterbacks.

"Badlementi is tough," said Moshimer. "When we scouted him he stood out like a sore thumb."

A crowd of about 5,000 is expected to greet the Rocks in their home opener.

Salem girls triumph; tonight meet Bentley

By BRAD EMONS

With Dearborn Edsel Ford out of the way, coach Bob Blohm and his Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team can now focus on Thursday's matchup on the road with Livonia Bentley.

The game, slated to start at 8 p.m., will pit the two Suburban Eight League favorites.

Down 30-26 at the half, Blohm's troops played a strong second half Tuesday night to put away a scrappy Edsel Ford team, who was not expected to give Salem much of a battle.

Salem outscored Edsel Ford 38-19 in the final two quarters and went on to post a 64-49 triumph.

"It was a tough game," said Blohm. "Edsel Ford played a tremendous transition game. We never really got set, especially in the first half."

Edsel Ford, now 3-3 overall, gave Salem fits in the first and second quarter with its fast break style of play.

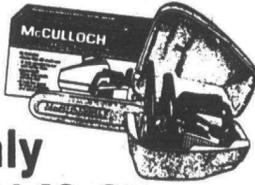

"We needed this game in order to get ready for Bentley," said the second-year Salem coach. "I don't think we were looking ahead. I just don't know

Stevenson captures RU Relays

Once an athletic team wins a championship, it's big goal usually is to retain that title.

Livonia Stevenson, with first-place finishes in four of the 10 events, bested the field last weekend at the sixth annual Redford Union Girls' Swimming Relays.

Stevenson had won the championship in 1974-75-76, but not since then.

The Spartans totalled 90 points. Eleven schools were represented.

West Bloomfield, the defending champion, finished first in three events and placed second to the Spartans with 73 points. The Lakers were hurt by disqualifications in two races.

Farmington landed third with 57 points, Northville fourth with 52 and Livonia Bentley fifth with 36.

Two of Stevenson's first-place finishes set new meet records.

Jackie Cogo, Jean Shellman, Polly Adzema and Stephanie McArec clocked 2:16.7 in the 200-yard breaststroke relay. Carol Dotson, Laurie Smith, Cheryl Balnaves and Cogo had an effort of 1:56.9 in the 200-yard butterfly relay.

The Spartans also won the 400-yard medley relay with the quartet of Karen Tatigian, Karen Bierman, Karen Walters and Deb Tracy timed 4:33.0 and the 200-yard backstroke relay when the foursome of Heidi Santo, Lisa Cluett, Sally Rozman and Tatigian put together a time of 2:04.7.

Stevenson placed among the top six finishers in every event but two.

WEST BLOOMFIELD swimmers also established a new meet record with one of the victories.

Donna Land, Dara Stevenson, Kirsten Schipper and Lynda Stevens set a pace of 4:59.6 in the crescendo relay. That race consisted of successive freestyle legs of 200-150-100-50 yards.

Sue Gierschick and Monique Ozimkowski earned first-place points for the Lakers in diving with a total of 218.35 points.

West Bloomfield also won the 200-yard freestyle relay in 1:51.2 with the combination of Wendy Beckner, Lisa Schmidt, Heidi Perlman and Jeanne Kopins.

FARMINGTON received a record-breaking performance in the 400-yard freestyle relay. Sally Schueler, Amy Edwards, Dawn Stanton and Kim Pogue had a swim of 3:51.2

Farmington also placed second during the meet in the 400-yard medley relay, 200-yard breaststroke relay and 200-yard butterfly relay.

Northville accounted for the final meet record set during the competition. Tammy Selfridge, Allyson Farquhar, Sue Cahill and Kim Storm clocked 1:55.6 in the 200-yard medley relay.

Bentley's best finish in the meet was third in the 400-yard freestyle and 200-yard butterfly relays.

Plymouth Salem, which placed sixth, finished third in the 400-yard medley relay and in the 200-yard backstroke relay.

The best finish for Plymouth Canton, which placed ninth in the team standings, was fourth in the 200-yard medley relay.

Host RU, which tied Kennedy for 10th place, had a fifth-place showing in the 400-yard medley relay.

Rock tankers romp; Chiefs split

Plymouth Salem raised its non-league girls' swim mark to 5-1 with an easy 121-48 victory over Livonia Churchill Tuesday night.

Salem begins its Suburban Eight League swim season on the road Thursday night against Livonia Bentley at 7 p.m.

Renee Lakatos, Corinne Cabadas, Sharon Ross and Terri Eudy got Salem off and running against Churchill with a victory in the 200-yard medley relay (2:07.6).

Nancy Lazarus was a double winner for the Rocks. She won the 100-yard freestyle (1:05.6) with teammate Kathy Bomback gaining second (1:14.8). Lazarus also won the 200-yard freestyle (2:26.9) as Sallie Weimer took second (2:30.4).

Eudy took first in the 200-yard individual medley (2:29.6).

In the 50-yard freestyle, Salem's Julie Cabadas took first with a clocking of :29.9 with teammate Devora Camen placing second (:31.5).

Ross won the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:44.7. Robin Cummings was second (6:58.3).

In diving, Natalie McClumpha took first (185.3) for Salem and teammate Celia Stuart gained third (144.3).

Sue Evans garnered second spot in the 100-yard butterfly (1:14.4) as did Lakatos in the 100-yard backstroke (1:10.9).

Karen Kohler of Salem placed second in the 100-yard breaststroke with a clocking of (1:22.8).

"We moved a lot of people around," said Chuck Olson. "Most of our girls swam only one or two events."

Canton tri-meet

Two first-place finishes by Tarja Tuominen were not enough as the Plymouth Canton girls' swim had to settle for second place in the Livonia Franklin triangular meet held Tuesday night.

Livonia Bentley won the meet with 119 points. Canton was second with 80 and Franklin followed with 49.

Tuominen recorded firsts in the 500-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley, the only first places for the Chiefs all night.

The loss dropped Canton to 4-4 overall. The Chiefs are 2-0 in Western Six League meets.

Kim Massey and Missy McMurray gained second place finishes for the Chiefs in the 100-yard breaststroke and 50-yard freestyle respectively.

Canton's 200-yard medley relay team also took second with a time of 2:06.0. McMurray gained a third place in the 100-yard freestyle.

"We were tired tonight," admitted Canton coach Mark Griffith. "It was our third meet in six days and we were exhausted."

"I was very pleased with Kelly Salyer. She's a freshman and improved her time tonight by six seconds in the 100-yard freestyle."

Griffith's squad will return to action Tuesday at Walled Lake Central in another non-league dual meet. The Chiefs will meet Western Six League power Northville on the road next Thursday.

Both meets start at 7 p.m.

Dillon 'tomahawks' way into Redskin grid lineup

By BRAD EMONS

When he looks back on his athletic career, Tim Dillon can always say he was part of the Miami University (Ohio) football "Tomahawk Tradition."

The Plymouth Salem graduate has danced a long path toward being a starter in the Redskins' lineup.

The 5-foot-11-inch, 178-pounder, now in his fifth season of eligibility, has been instrumental in Miami's strong early season showing.

For his stellar play in Miami's narrow 24-21 loss to Michigan State (Sept. 27), the senior defensive back earned himself a starting berth the next Saturday against Central Michigan.

Although somewhat discouraged by the MSU last-minute defeat and the 19-18 loss to CMU, Dillon, a 1975 grad of Salem, is confident he can hold his starting position the rest of season.

"I thought we outplayed Michigan State," said Dillon. "It was a big game for me. All my family and relatives were there."

Miami, a proud football school with a large big-time coaching fraternity, has been known as a giant killer of sorts. "We have about 20 to 30 tomahawks in our locker room," explained Dillon, a major in business education. "Michigan State was a tomahawk game. There one of the big schools we play on our schedule."

Miami recently has been classified as an NCAA Division I-A football school. The Michigans, Purdues and MSUs are classified as Division I, a cut above schools in the Mid-American Conference of which Miami is a member.

"EVERY TIME we beat a bigger team, we earn a tomahawk," Dillon said.

Dillon and his Redskin teammates earned a tomahawk the second week of the season with an upset 15-14 victory at Kentucky, a member of the prestigious Southeastern Conference.

"We weren't satisfied to just scare Michigan State," he said. "I thought we should have won. We had it an let it get away."

"A lot of people think we're too small to play. We have a tackle that's only 190 pounds. Our whole defensive line averages about 210. Michigan State had a tackle that weighed 280."

In 1974, Dillon led Salem to a 9-0 record as an option quarterback. Recruiters shied away from him. Michigan State told him he was too small although Eastern Michigan offered him a scholarship.

Dillon decided to walk on at Miami as a non-scholarship player. "I didn't play at all my freshman year," recalls Dillon. "I played on the demonstration teams."

In the 1976 season, Dillon moved up and saw action on Miami's special teams, but the next season he dislocated his elbow.

He decided to stay home for the fall term in 1977. Dillon worked and coached football at Adams Junior High in Wayne.

LAST SEASON, Dillon returned to the Redskin camp and was made a member of the special teams besides filling in occasionally at defensive back.

His 1978 season was cut short by another dislocation, this time on his other elbow.

Dillon made several tackles in the Michigan State game although he did not start. He drew the tough assignment of covering the Spartans' all-Big 10 receiver Eugene Byrd.

"I thought I did pretty well against him," said the soft-spoken Dillon. "I think he (Byrd) caught three passes on me."

The Salem graduate did not see much action to his side of the field in his starting debut against Central Michigan.

"The Central game was important," he said, "because we were playing for the league. I'd have to say that playing Michigan State was something special."

"It's something hard to describe. It was a different feeling. We didn't have a letdown against Central. We missed a field goal and had an interception down at the goal line."

"I thought we played well, but everybody had a part in the loss. I'm confident we can come back. The league is better balanced this year and we're only one down in the loss column."

Despite Miami's two heart-breaking road defeats, Dillon said he and his teammates in no way have given up.

Now on scholarship, Dillon said he puts in almost five hours daily on football which includes practices, meetings and watching game films.

"MY RESPONSIBILITY is to get out with the wide receiver, one-on-one," said Dillon, explaining his Apache back spot. "We have a lot of man coverage and I'm the late support on the option."

One of eight children, Dillon's brother Paul, a freshman at Kalamazoo College, also started (Sept. 29) at the defensive back spot against Kenyon College.

In Kalamazoo's 24-7 victory, Paul intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble, reported Tim.

All in all, September was a good month for the Dillons.

the reason for our performance in the first half." Guard Patty Jones hit a jumper with one second left in the first quarter to stake Edsel Ford to a 17-16 lead.

WITH 1:18 to go in the second quarter, Edsel Ford forward Linda Jagger collected a missed shot and scored to give the Thunderbirds their biggest lead of the game, 29-24.

"We didn't attack their zone at all and did too much dribbling," said Blohm. "I was not pleased with the way we played defensively."

At the start of the second half, Salem came out full blast and put away the Thunderbirds with an 18-8 scoring binge.

"I have to give my kids credit for coming back," he said. "They stepped out and accepted the challenge."

"We made better passes in the second half and also had better floor position. We've been in a transition game before, and we have to win games against those kind of teams."

Guard Nan Horwood, and frontliners Patty Weidman and Cheryl Sobkow sparked Salem's surge in the third quarter.

Weidman hit a five-foot jumper with 1:54 left in the third period to put the Rocks ahead for good, 38-36.

Sobkow, a 5-9 senior forward, scored on a rebound with 21 seconds left in the quarter to give the Rocks a 44-38 lead.

In the fourth quarter Weidman came alive. She tallied eight points as Salem kept pulling away from the pesky Thunderbirds.

Junior cage sign-up slated for Saturday

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA) will hold its annual registration for the coming season on Saturday, Oct. 13 and 20, at the Canton High School Phase III gym from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Registration is open to boys and girls, grades three through 12. All registrants must be accompanied by a parent.

This year's leagues will be divided into these classifications: Girls C, grades 3-4; Boys C, third grade; Girls B, grades 5-7; Boys B, grades 4-5; Boys A, grades 6-7; Girls AA, grades 8-12; Boys AA, grades 8-10; Boys AAA, grades 11-12.

The registration fee for C Leagues is $12 per person; B, A, and AA leagues, $15; AAA boys, $20.

All interested participants are encouraged to register early. Youngsters in grades 7-12 intending to try out for school teams must also register at the above dates. The registration fee will be refunded in the event an individual makes a school team.

Practice sessions will last 1 1/2 hours each week. Games will be primarily scheduled for Saturdays, except for certain AA and AAA games which will be scheduled for evening hours during the week.

The PCJBA will open its season Oct. 29 and end March 1.

Interested referees are also encouraged to register at the above dates. The PCJBA does not require officials to be members of a school basketball team. Recent high school graduates are also needed for AAA games.

ACCORDING TO PCJBA rules, all players are placed on a team regardless of ability. Players are not required to make a team.

All players are required to play one-quarter of each game and not more than three quarters. Third grade leagues are instructional and each player must participate in half the game.

According to Ron Mack, a member of the PCJBA, the program will have about 800 boys and girls.

Northville harriers win RU tilt

Northville, which placed first last month at the Schoolcraft Invitational, added another feather to its cross-country cap Tuesday by out-running 20 challengers at the ninth annual Redford Union Invitational.

All five of the Mustang scorers were among the top 20 finishers in the field of 157.

Northville compiled 57 points. Farmington, which had won the RU championship the last two years, placed second this time with 80 points.

Livonia Stevenson finished third, 116, Dearborn fourth, 133, and Walled Lake Central fifth, 196.

Northville's Harry Couyoumjan completed the three-mile challenge at Cass Benton Park with a time of 16:14 to lead all runners across the finish line.

John Murphy, from Farmington, finished second and Dearborn's Bill Courtney galloped home third.

The Falcons, which finished second as a team and third-place Stevenson each placed three harriers among the best 20 finishers.

Farmington's Bill Atkinson and Eric

Leidlein landed seventh and 18th, respectively.

John Grant placed eighth for the Spartans, Rich Dubois ninth and John Bowie 15th.

Plymouth Canton, which finished a surprising seventh in the team standings, was paced by Dan Inloes, who placed 25th.

Many other Observer & Eccentric-area teams participated in the race. Those teams, their team standing and best finisher were:

- Walled Lake Central, fifth; Jim Owens-14th.
- Westland John Glenn, eighth; Tim Unold-30th.
- Livonia Churchill, ninth; Jim Patterson-28th.
- North Farmington, 10th; Rich Fruitman-40th.
- Plymouth Salem, 11th; Jeff Haertel-19th.
- Southfield, 12th; John Yuchas-fourth.
- Walled Lake Western, 13th; Steve Sutherland-sixth.

• Redford Union, 14th; Darryl Koski-44th.

• Livonia Bentley, 15th; Craig Allen-10th.

• Garden City East, 16th; Mike Stapleton-fifth.

• Garden City West, 17th; Dennis Outlaw-62d.

• Farmington Harrison, 19th; Marc Contardi-41st.

• Redford Thurston, 20th; Mike Bauman-58th.

• Clarenceville, 21st; Devin LaRowe-39th.

Canton ups golf record

Despite cold and windy conditions on the tough Bay Pointe Golf Course, Plymouth Canton was able to edge Walled Lake Western in a Western Six League dual match Tuesday afternoon, 230-232.

The victory increased Canton's overall mark to 5-7. The Chiefs are 4-5 in the Western Six.

The match was not decided until the final foursome finished.

"We were even until the last hole," said Canton coach Casey Cavell. "The scores were a little higher than normal."

John Matthews, a Canton senior, and Joe Golden of Western tied for medalist honors — each carded a 39.

Other Canton scores included Kevin Norton (46), Dave Visser (47), Kirk Rasmussen (49) and Scott Hand (49).

Canton will host Farmington Harrison at Brae Burn Thursday at 3 p.m.

Plymouth Salem and Canton will compete in the 21-team Class A regional at Brae Burn on Friday.

Canton will then compete in the Western Six League meet Monday at Godwin Glen.

Field goal lifts chief reserves

By STEVE GRAY

A 37-yard field goal by Dennis O'Flynn with just two minutes remaining in the game lifted Plymouth Canton's junior varsity football team to a 3-0 triumph over Northville last Thursday at Centennial Educational Park field.

Despite the victory, Canton coach Dean Naude was upset because the game was so close.

"We should have won by three touchdowns," said Naude. "We executed well, but up until the end we choked in the clutch."

Canton failed to put the game away early, fumbling twice on Northville's one yard line. Another potential score went awry when the Chiefs were penalized 15 yards after getting down to the Northville 10.

Canton, now 2-1 overall, plays its next game at home, Oct. 11 at 4 p.m. against Livonia Churchill.

Salem-Belleville

Two Belleville touchdown passes covering 45 and 60 yards proved to be the difference last Thursday as the Tigers rolled to a 24-6 victory over the Plymouth Salem junior varsity team.

The Rocks will travel to St. Clair Shores Lakeview, Thursday, Oct. 11 at 4 p.m.

A hot engine could put your car in cold storage.

Draining and replacing anti-freeze this fall is no guarantee that your car's engine won't overheat and leave you out in the cold.

Because in any kind of weather, radiators and cooling systems should be kept free from rust and harmful build-ups. In fact, most automobile manufacturers recommend that your car's radiator and cooling system be flushed before draining to refill with anti-freeze.

That's where WYNN'S® X-TEND® Power-Flush corrective maintenance program can help. Because it helps scour and clean your car's radiator and cooling system, and gives added protection to help stop leaks, corrosion and overheating — real enemies of engine life.

So ask for WYNN'S X-TEND Power-Flush when you take your car for service.

It'll help keep your engine from overheating, while it puts expensive repairs on ice.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

Another bright star is appearing on the bowling horizon and the veteran critics who have seen him in action predict that much will be heard of him in the next few years.

He is Dave Hamilton, now competing in the high school league at Farmington Lanes where he carries a 205 average.

After posting a 225 game in a 620 series last week, he caused Fred Hamlin, proprietor of the lanes and a keen judge of youth bowlers, to remark that Hamilton has more potential than any youth he has seen in quite awhile.

"He had a 695 at Bel-Aire last week," Hamlin pointed out, "and you don't find high school boys with that kind of ability. You'll be hearing more about him."

JOHN HURLEY who made a habit of rolling 700 series last year, came through with another one Monday morning in the men's league at Westland Bowl. He started with a 222, followed with a 202 and closed with 268 for 745. It was his second 700 series of the past week as he performed his favorite role with a 700 series at Cherry Hill Lanes.

With his 745, Hurley was far ahead of his closest rivals as Dick Carney closed with a 234 for 648, two pins better than Bill Heffner and Bob Grenier landed fourth with a 254 in 631.

In the Little Caesars Classic, Dick Beattie and his wife, Geri, took the major honors in scoring last Friday.

Dick showed the way in the men's division with a 688 on games of 206, 289 and 193. Only a few lanes away his wife rolled 238, 250 and 195 for 683. Close to the two leaders was Bob Schmidt with 678.

JOHN WADARSKI had an unusual experience at Plymouth Bowl. He faced the 3-10 split three times in his three games and each time he rolled the ball between the two pins without touching either of them.

Meanwhile, Gene Gross paced the senior citizens with a 605 made possible by a closing game of 234.

VIRGINIA MEGA set a new high for the season in the ladies classic at Garden Lanes when she found the range for a 689 series. She got away to a fine start with 256 and followed with a 230 and finished with a 203.

She finished far ahead of her closest rivals as Marilyn Bueck landed second with 626 and Mae Lackey landed third with 600. Others among the leaders were Marge Duziak with 573 and Marge Weurth with 576.

In the Suburban Traveling League, Quinton Green was top man with a 687 that included a 283 opener. Behind him came Bob Patterson with 628, Larry Brandt with 613, William Crawford with 609 and Jim Potter with 605.

MARY MOHACSI returned to the winners circle in the Merri-Bowl Doubles with a 677 count. After a 187 opener, she came through with 247 and 243 for the winning total.

She was the only one to better double century figures as Marlene Androff, in second place, had 596 and Sue Sternett landed third with 578. Ellen Jensen followed with 550 to lead the Monday Morning Merri Belles.

In the senior league, Ralph Feasel was the leader with a 245 in 644. His closest rival was Sam Reick with 554 and Al Jay had a 520.

PENNY BEHN and her Bonanza team made a strong bid for a high place on the national honor roll Monday night when they put together games of 1030, 1061 and 1026 for a 3117 series. Jan Smith was high with a 688 series and Gerry Ritter had 267 for high game.

Stevens lifts Hope golfers

Craig Stevens, a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Salem, recently helped Hope College to the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) golf championship.

Stevens, co-captain for the Salem team in 1978, gained runnerup medalist honors in the MIAA Golf Tournament held at Blythefield Country Club in Grand Rapids.

The Hope freshman also scored a 77 in a pair of dual-meet matches held last week.

Stevens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stevens of Plymouth.

Canton golf event

Registrations are still being accepted for the first ever Canton Men's Open Golf Championship, slated for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 13, at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The entry deadline for the two-day event is Thursday, Oct. 11, at 5 p.m. A $15 fee, which includes greens fees and trophies, will be accepted at the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 South Canton Center Road. Checks should be made payable to "Canton Township."

Players competing in the 36-hole event will be divided into three flights after the first round.

For more information, call 397-1000.

Piston discount tickets

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department will be offering tickets to selected Detroit Pistons basketball games.

Discount tickets will be available for the Friday, Oct. 12, game against Indiana Pacers and the Friday, Oct. 26, game against the San Antonio Spurs, both at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Reserved seat tickets, normally $7, will be offered for $4.50.

For more information, call 397-1000.

Duo takes league

Bruce Watt and Bill Lindley won the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Fox Hills Men's Golf League title by defeating Gary Rehberg and Dan Riggs in a special playoff last week.

The special match was set up when Watt and Lindley captured the eight-week first half crown while Riggs and Rehberg took the second-half title.

In the playoff, Rehberg turned in the best round with a nine-hole total of 41. Lindley carded a 45.

Watt and Lindley captured the championship with a 3½-1½ victory.

Grid story correction

The Observer would like to apologize for an error made in Monday's Oct. 8 story by Brad Emons regarding the Churchill-Plymouth Canton football game won by Churchill Friday night, 20-0.

Churchill halfback John Bielis, a sophomore, was incorrectly identified as Craig Williams.

Bielis caught a key 35-yard swing pass from quarterback Bill Keller which set up Churchill's first touchdown. Bielis also grabbed a nine-yard pass in the same series to keep the drive alive.

In the game, Bielis carried the ball 13 times for 43 yards.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

THREE OF the fellows at Bode Coffee House saved the day for some of the participants in Sunday's Great Chicken Race Parade.

While waiting for the parade to begin, spectators and parade people down by Krogers and the railroad tracks were becoming numb with the cold. Bode's is not open on Sunday, but it happened three of the staff were in there getting ready for Monday morning.

They made a big pot of coffee and with true neighborly spirit, invited the waiters and watchers to come in out of the cold. The invitation was accepted — most gratefully — and they were quite revived when the parade got under way.

John Knierim, Jeff Meacham and John Meacham were the "good Samaritans." Their boss, Richard Meacham is owner of Bode's. He and Abby Norris were married on Saturday. Because of

Chisanbob: Fingers are legitimate calculators

By NANCY AUSTIN

As an adult, you would be frowned upon if another adult or even a child saw you calculating math problems using your fingers.

That was a method used only during childhood. The fingers were convenient, but a child progresses from using fingers to other counting objects such as blocks. Eventually, the mature person learns to use his head for mental calculations.

Now an ancient Korean method of calculation called chisanbop, is gaining attention in the United States. The method employs the use of fingers — and as such is running into some resistance. Nevertheless, some teachers are viewing the system with interest.

Ron Zang, a Plymouth math teacher is enthusiastic about teaching the Korean finger-counting system to his students. Most of them are equally receptive to the idea. While Zang does not believe in replacing the traditional math system of calculating, he does believe it is an excellent supplement.

"I believe in horizontal learning, as well as vertical learning," Zang said. "Chisanbop can be taught both for fun and for enrichment."

ASK ANY CHILD if he knows what it is and chances are he will ask if that is the method he has seen advertised on television. He will then most likely proceed to spread his fingers over a level surface, press some fingers down while others are suspended above the surface.

Ask any adult if he has ever heard of chisanbop and he will most likely say "Heard of what?"

"If you break the word down into its syllables, it literally translates into chi (finger), san- (calcu) bop (method)," Zang explained.

It is a system based on assigned values to the digits on both the right and left hand. The right hand fingers have a value of one, with the exception of the thumb which counts five. The left hand fingers count 10 with the exception of the thumb which has a value of 50.

As a digit is "pressed" on the table its value is added, while other fingers are "cleared" to be made available for the next calculation.

"YOU CAN LEARN the basics quickly if you are logically inclined," Zang said. "You can learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide without any degree of difficulty. You can add two 10-digit numbers as easily as two 2-digit numbers."

Zang explained that there are short cuts, too. But it all takes practice.

When an individual is accomplished in the methods of chisanbop he should be able to calculate as fast as a calculator. XP8063.PRF:1

Zang, who teaches at Miller School in Canton, learned chisanbop because he was curious about it. His curiosity led to a course offered for teachers last summer at the Livonia Northwest Staff Development Center. Phyllis Livingstone, teacher at Cleveland Elementary School in Livonia, taught the course to several area teachers.

Ms. Livingstone calls her class "Finger Calculating Math" and says the interest among area teachers and students is widespread. She took a course in New York, followed by an advanced course taught in Florida because she thought it might help learning disabled children. She discovered it does.

"They get the message through their fingers," she said. "They can do things they didn't think possible and they feel good about themselves."

Finger-calculating is a pilot program at Cleveland Elementary. "Teachers and students often give up their lunch hour to practice and advance themselves," said Ms. Livingstone.

Zang is teaching his math classes the traditional methods of math, using chisanbop as a supplement. But he also is teaching the course in Plymouth through the YMCA as a course in itself.

Offered to students in grades three through six, Zang believes that the basics of addition and subtraction should be firm in a child's mind before he learns chisanbop. It should not be taught exclusively to the average child. "You still have to know how to add and subtract in your head," Zang said, "because there are situations in life where you must be able to calculate in your head."

His Y class is limited to 15 students, because the practicality in teaching more than 15 won't work. A student has to be able to see the instructor's hand position simultaneously. If he looks at his hand in the reverse, the student would become confused in trying to translate the finger movements. Interest in the class was high and because of a limited number of students, many were disappointed they could not enroll.

At this time Zang does not know for sure if there is adult interest in the community but suspects there might be. Last year the faculty at Miller School wanted to learn the method, so he complied with their request.

IN ADDITION to teaching this system of math to traditional school children, Zang has strong feelings that it would be a valuable tool in teaching learning disabled children. In this category, he includes both children who can't retain their addition and multiplication facts, and those who are mentally handicapped.

"Some children simply can't retain those facts, some don't understand how to borrow in subtraction. This can make the difference between learning and not learning how," he said.

Retired teachers honored at tea

Retired teachers were the guests of honor Monday when Alpha Delta Kappa, an international honorary sorority for women educators, hosted a tea in the library of East Middle School.

Two of the retirees, Nancy Tanger and Gertrude Fiegel, have elementary schools named after them. They were seated at a table with Dorothy Stein, Marjorie Bain and Kathryn Bowles.

Conversation was animated among another group of guests, Bill Grimmer, Loren Grieves, Jessie Hudson, Betty Nelson and soon-to-retire Fred Nelson. Don Rank and Ed Brown made the rounds, visiting from table to table.

Elizabeth Donnelly, Leah Stormont, Margaret Bishop, Margaret Roberts, Kay Bock, Marguerite Ross, Kay Touhey, Lucille Finkbinder and Mable Bloxson were among the guests.

MUSICAL entertainment was provided by the East Middle School Chorus directed by Diane Dettler Brady.

Joan Davis and Mary Ellen Eckler co-chaired the tea. Serving on the committee were Marguerite Ross, Adina Rice, Mary Uhl, Marilyn Dwyer Barwick, Sara Haas, Dolores Smith, Barbara Lockwood and Martha Koehler.

Mary Childs, teacher and mayor of Plymouth, attended the party. She had signed a proclamation designating Oct. 7-13 as International Alpha Delta Kappa Week.

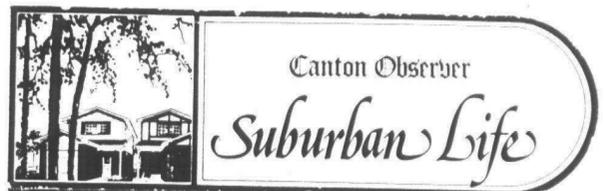

In the proclamation the major goals of the sorority were listed:

- To give recognition to outstanding educators.
- To build fraternal fellowship among educators adding to their effectiveness in promotion of excellence in education.
- To establish high standards of education.
- To promote educational and charitable projects and activities enriching the lives of individuals into happy, constructive and fulfilling lives.

More than 300 volunteers representing the communities served by Madonna College are calling this month to help the college secure $144,400 for next year.

The goal is a 15 percent increase over last year's fund campaign receipts, said Sister Mary Francilene, Madonna president.

Livonia mayor Edward McNamara is chairman of the fund-raising effort for the fourth consecutive year and U.S. Rep. Carl D. Pursell, R-Plymouth, is his honorary co-chairman.

"No time in recent memory has been as challenging for the private college," said McNamara, who is a member of the Madonna board of trustees.

"In view of the current decline in the pool of potential students, we can be proud of Madonna's record of increasing enrollment and growth in quality programming."

Maintaining quality education at the Livonia college means raising more money from private sources.

Team workers are covering the communities under the leadership of 11 vice chairmen. Their calls are divided into the areas of business and industry, professions, alumni, college community, parents and friends and Madonna students.

Andrew R. Brodhun, chairman of the Madonna board of trustees and president of Michigan National Bank-West Metro, is a campaign vice chairman for business and industry in Livonia, along with Jerry H. Brown of the Ford Motor Co., F. Harger Gren of General Motors Corp. and Peter A. Ventura, Livonia councilman.

Heading volunteers for business and industry in Northville and Novi is Donald A. DiComo, vice president of Kamp-DiComo Associates and Thomas G. Notebaert, Plymouth Township supervisor.

Vice chairmen for the professional community is Charles G. Tangora, attorney, and Joan B. Pachota has that post for the alumni. Alan E. Eichman, associate professor and director of Madonna's criminal justice program, is taking the campaign to the college community, Joanne Prochnow to college parents and Tom LaCross, a senior from Alpena, heads the student drive.

The goal of $144,400 is divided into smaller amounts sought from each area. The drive aims to collect $25,700 from parents and friends, $38,400 from the college community, $53,000 from business and industry, $5,000 from the professions and $3,000 from the students.

Symphony concert Sunday

Baritone Charles Roe will be guest soloist with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra at 4 p.m. Sunday as the orchestra opens its 34th season in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

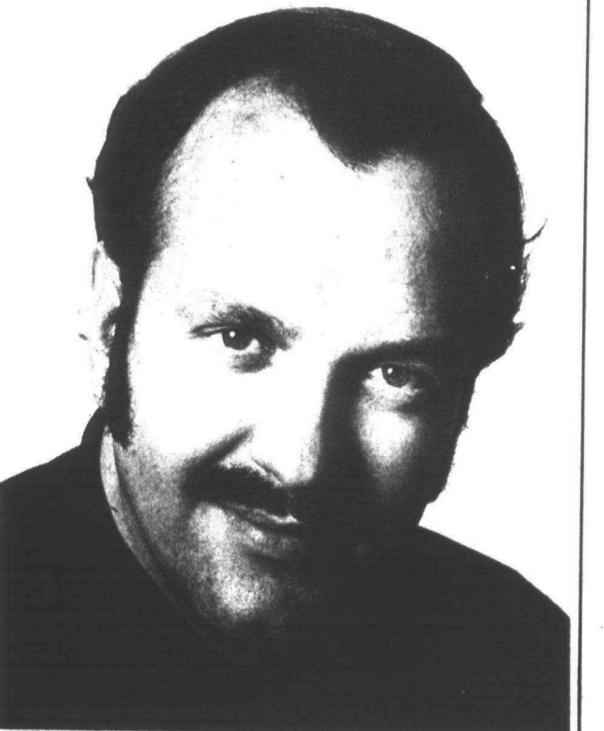

He will sing Mahler's "Songs of the Wayfarer," and also has scheduled a group of solos from Viennese operetta.

Since his debut with the New York City Opera, he has appeared in the "Magic Flute," "Die Fledermaus," "Pagliacci," and as baritone soloist in Orff's "Carmina Burana," an exceptionally demanding role requiring unusual vocal range and flexibility.

This will be his first appearance with the Plymouth Symphony although he has appeared as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Flint, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Toledo symphonies.

Guest conductor Mark Flint has programmed Schubert's "Rosamunde Overture," Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz" and Wager's Prelude to "Die Meistersinger."

Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens. Tickets are available at the door. Students, kindergarten through 12th grade, will be admitted free.

Charles Roe, baritone, will be guest soloist at Sunday's season opener of the Plymouth Symphony Society.

WHEN THE FIRST publicity releases came through for Charles Roe, guest soloist for Sunday's opening concert of the symphony season, Fran and Charles Lang discovered he was a fellow-alumni of Baldwin-Wallace College. In fact, Charles Lang and Charles Roe are fraternity brothers — both members of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The baritone graduated a few years later and is one of three outstanding grads who will be honored during Conservatory Weekend at B-W this year. Back in his student days, Roe was soloist with a night club combo that entertained during the dinner hour. He also directed the Sigma Phi Epsilon singers at inter-fraternity sings.

Mark Flint, guest conductor for the first concert, has intimated that he has been extremely pleased (and surprised) with the orchestra.

Miller-Brennen team wins Forest Brook rally

Forest Brook subdivision spent Saturday, Sept. 8, on the happy pastime of "seeing America by getting lost on a rally."

Actually, the rally didn't cover all of America, just the immediate Western suburban area. Some of the rallye participants still aren't convinced of this.

Nancy and Gary Burns were the devious minds behind the rallye route. They spent many happy hours planning ways to lead their friends and neighbors astray.

Terry and Ed Miller and Nancy and Thom Brennen proved to be up to the challenge. They arrived at the starting point in their van decorated with streamers and a sign which read "Road Rallye Roudies." They were dressed like old-time ralliers, wearing caps, long scarves, and knee socks pulled over their slacks. To complete the ensemble, they even wore badges reading "Driver," "Map Reader," "Clue Interpreter," and "Bartender."

Other rallyers still are trying to decide if the winning ingredient was the good driving, good map reading, good clue interpreting, or good bartending. But, whatever it took, the Miller-Brennen team had it all, as they handily captured first-place honors.

THE SECOND-place team arrived at the finish line 12 minutes after the Millers and Brennens. Barb and Larry Birdsall and Renee and Steve Larson felt they really could have won, and already have challenged the first place team to a rematch next year.

Cathy and Bob Mellon and Jane and Ron Smith were the third-place finishers, followed by Louise and Tom Dykstra and Charlene and Gary Harla. Rose and David Sego and Pam and Jim Patter arrived next, followed closely by Joyce and Phil LaVeck and Kathy and Jack Mallon.

The team of Lori and Ron Dorogi and Irene and Pete Martin decided to relax and enjoy the scenery along the way. They easily nailed down a last-place finish logging a time of five hours, 41 minutes.

They were never seen along the rallye route. It is only known for sure that they did leave the designated starting point, and finally arrived at the finish line.

Canton Chatter

By SAM NICHOLS

RUMOR HAS IT that the Dorogis and Martins spent over an hour looking for the phone booth at Northville Road-Edward Hines Drive. They weren't sure exactly what they were looking for, so decided to check out the telephone poles at the intersection. When the telephone poles failed to yield a clue, they wandered around Hines Park for a while, and finally checked out all the construction equipment parked nearby. No one is sure if they ever found the phone booth.

The final clue led the rallyers to the Tin Lizzy at Interstate-94 and Belleville Road for a roast beef and ham dinner. Prizes were awarded and the dinner ended with a chorus of "Happy Birthday" sung to Kathy Mallon.

Following the dinner, many of the couples went to the home of the Millers for a "sign along" until the wee hours of the morning.

MARY LOU and Warren Stretke recently spent a very pleasant few days in Toronto, Canada attending the Michigan Pharmacist's Association Convention. Activities were planned for the wives while the men attended classes.

After breakfast, the pharmacists' wives enjoyed a bus tour of the city. Meetings followed, including one to help wives better understand pharmacy.

Mary Lou said the speakers chosen for the wives were absolutely excellent. They were informed and entertained by a psychic, and had the opportunity to hear a talk about how to communicate. The speaker geared his talk to the women, and stressed how to be assertive without being aggressive.

BARBARA and John Clemons spent the past week at their cabin near Clare. John went bow and arrow hunting, while Barbara enjoyed the week catching up on reading and relaxing. It wasn't quite all relaxing for Barbara though, as the hunters proclaimed her chief cook and bottle washer. She did such a good job, she has been invited for the next trip. Sometimes we must learn not to excel, Barbara!

When Barbara and John returned Sunday, they were greeted by family members, including their first grandchild. Barbara's son Mark and his wife Alicia are the proud parents of Cory Allen Abraham, born Oct. 1. Cory weighed 7 pounds, 1 ounce, and is 20 inches long.

While the hunting trip was unsuccessful, the rewards upon homecoming were much more than satisfactory. Congratulations to the happy family.

Toebe's bid lowest on job

An Oakland County construction company will likely be awarded the Zilwaukee Bridge expansion contract by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The bridge, carrying I-75 over the Saginaw River, will be elevated and widened to provide uninterrupted traffic flow. The present bridge, the bane of vacationing drivers, has to be raised for certain boats, which has caused lengthy traffic delays.

Walter Toebe Construction Co. of Wixom recently teamed with a company from the Netherlands to submit the apparent low bid of nearly $76.8 million. The bid was one of five submitted.

The contract will not be awarded until after the State Administrative Board approves the bid on Oct. 2, said Jan Blake of the transportation department contracts office.

He expected the contract to be awarded to Toebe and the Dutch firm during the first week of October. Construction would start within 10 days of the contract award. "All indications point to no problem," Blake said.

MODEL RR-10A

- Exclusive Rotawave™ Cooking System — a rotating shower of power that cooks more evenly and cooks most foods faster than ever before!
- Cooks by time or cooks to temperature.
- Even holds at temperature to tenderize economy cuts of meat.
- A wide range of Cookmatic™ power levels because different foods cook best at different speeds.
- Advanced memory Touchmatic II can remember an amazing combination of defrost and cook programs.
- Even remembers the time of day.
- Automatic start time.
- Separate timer you can use anytime.
- 700 watts of cooking power cooks most foods in just one-fourth the usual time with 50% to 75% less energy than a conventional electric range.
- Stainless steel interior.

After Radarange Ovens passed a series of 21 torture tests, the U.S. Government granted Amana an exemption from displaying a warning label on the door of all "RR" series Radarange Ovens (and derivative models).

In one of these brutal tests, Amana actually hit the door seal and front frame with an axe — a 60 pound impact! And after every test, the Amana ovens did not allow microwave leakage in excess of the Federal standard. Because the patented Amana Choke Door Seal reflects microwaves back into the oven.

No other microwave oven manufacturer in the world has earned this U.S. Government exemption.

Annual league event: Symphony of Fashions

A rolling vista of green lawns and trees in bright autumn color will provide the background for the Plymouth Symphony League's annual luncheon and fashion show at Meadowbrook Country Club.

"Symphony of Fashions" is the theme of the event arranged by the Vice group of the league under the general chairmanship of Fran Lang. Elinor Chelian is in charge of prizes; Carolyn Jacobs is handling decorations and Aiden Broderick will be fashion commentator.

The date is Wednesday, Oct. 17 with the social hour beginning at 11 a.m. (cash bar). Lunch will be served at noon and the parade of fashions will begin at approximately 1:30 p.m. Tickets at $8 are on sale at Bed 'n Stead in Forest Place Mall.

Shops participating in the Symphony of Fashions are Clare Kelley, Pendleton Shop, Kay's, Me and Mr Jones, The Sophisticats of Plymouth, Reflections Boutique, In the Meantime, Clothes Tree Plus, Accent Bin, Willow Tree and New Gal in Town.

Minerva's Dunning's is joining the show as well as the showing of some men's wear.

Planning committee and the Meadowbrook chef have agreed on the luncheon menu which will be the Meadowbrook salad, quiche Lorraine, green beans amandine, hot rolls and butter, peach melba for dessert and beverage.

Prizes will be awarded throughout the afternoon.

Proceeds from the luncheon-fashion show will go to the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

THE SHOW will begin with an early morning robe from Van Dam's and will end with a bride and bridegroom from Geneva's Bridal Shop.

In between will be a series of casual, sports, after-five, travel and at-home fashions for all members of the family.

Elinor Chelian (left) displays a Christian Dior velour robe from Van Dam's and Aiden Broderick, who will be fashion commentator for the show, has a three-piece suede outfit from New Gal in Town. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Grose-Hollander

Former Plymouth residents Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Grose of Mentor, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Diane Leigh, to George Edward Hollander Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hollander of Trafford, Pa. The bride-elect graduated from Mentor High School and is a student at Lakeland Community College, Kirkland, Ohio. She is employed by Quail Hollow Inn. Her fiance is a 1971 graduate of Robert Morris College, Pittsburgh, Pa., and is employed by the Troy Hilton in Troy.

They plan to be married in April in Hope Ridge United Methodist Church, Concord Township, Pa.

Kenworthy-Wilson

Della Frances Wilson and Robert H. Kenworthy exchanged wedding vows Sept. 28 before Judge Dunbar Davis. The bride's attendant was a friend, Vickie Wells. Michael Wilson, the bride's brother, was best man. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wilson of Canton Township. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kenworthy of Plymouth are the bridegroom's parents.

CONDOMINIUMS DIAMONDS ARE A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND.

Until recently few women bought their own homes. Financing and maintenance problems kept them away. Now all that has changed. Women like you have been quick to realize the advantages of condominium home ownership; having a good hedge against inflation, building financial equity and enjoying tax advantages.

Our attractive condominiums are designed to provide a high measure of personal security. Outside maintenance is taken care of for you so you can enjoy outdoor amenities like pools and tennis courts where you can meet and socialize with new friends. Decorating's more fun, too, when your place is your own. And we make financing uncomplicated and easy to get. Of course, there's more. But why not see for yourself. Could be the best bargain you ever found.

CHURCH BULETIN

MT. HOPE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, 30330 Schoolcraft, Livonia, will present the Rev. Haralan Popov, a Bulgarian national who became a leading voice from behind the Iron Curtain, in a program at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 17.

Arrested in 1948 after he had become widely known as a Christian leader, he was held by secret police for seven months, then convicted of working against the Communist regime and sentenced to 15 years in prison. He served 13 years of that term, and after his release he made his way to Sweden.

Currently he serves as president of an organization called "Evangelism to Communist Lands," and at present he is on a tour across the country to seek support for his group.

UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will close its week of mission convention with a visit by the Rev. Eugene Grams and his wife, Phyllis, for its 11 a.m. worship and 10 a.m. Sunday school, Oct. 14.

The Grams have served in mission work in South Africa since 1952 and have assisted in establishing many Assembly of God congregations there.

GALILEAN BAPTIST CHURCH, 28875 W. Seven Mile, Livonia, will hold its third annual King James Bible Believers Conference beginning Sunday, Oct. 14, and ending Sunday, Oct. 21.

Sunday services will be held at 10 and 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., and there will be weekday programs at 10 a.m. and 1 and 7 p.m.

Speakers include the Rev. Cabel Roberts, the Rev. Don Green, the Rev.

Chip Williams, the Rev. Lanny Hasbrook, the Rev. Larry Bartlett and the Rev. Peter Ruckman. A rally Thursday will feature the film, "They Stood."

GARDEN CITY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 6443 Merriman, will mark the burning of its mortgage Sunday, Oct. 14. The Rev. Alfred T. Bamsey, district superintendent for the denomination's Detroit West District, will be speaker for the 10:45 a.m. service, and a special 4 p.m. service will celebrate the burning. The speaker will be the Rev. Eskil Fredrickson, who served the church from 1956 to 1966.

LAKE POINTE BIBLE CHAPEL, 42150 Schoolcraft, Plymouth, will hold its annual series of "Happy Night" meetings for children 5-13 7-8:15 p.m. Monday through Friday, Oct. 15-19.

The speaker will be Frank Kierdorf of Northville, long connected with children's Bible club work. Transportation is available and may be arranged by calling 532-3514.

CANTON CALVARY ASSEMBLY OF GOD, 7933 Sheldon, will welcome the Rev. Walter Crawford to its pulpit for the 9:45 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, Oct. 14.

Rev. Crawford, a native of Scotland, worked as a fisherman on the North Sea in his teens but later prepared for evangelistic work and traveled around his native country in preaching missions.

He is now a popular speaker for meetings and conventions in this area.

GRACE MORAVIAN CHURCH, 31133 Hiveley, Westland, will hear a presentation on mission work by the Rev. Timothy Boal during services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. A former resident of Frankfurt, Mich., Rev. Boal is involved in an inner-city ministry in Indianapolis. The public is invited to hear him speak.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, 34500 W. Six Mile, Livonia, will present Alice Giffin, former missionary to China and the Philippines and associate secretary of the American Baptist Board of International Ministries, in talks at 9:30 and 10:45 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14.

Born of missionary parents, Miss Giffin was among the mission workers forced out of China in 1944, but she returned there in 1946 to stay 15 years. Later she was assigned to the Iloilo area of the Philippines.

The church also plans a layman's Sunday program at 7 p.m. Sunday and on Wednesday, Oct. 17, will present the 40-voice select male chorus of Bentley High School in a concert under Jerry Smith. The public is invited for that event and a nursery will be provided.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH will sponsor a retreat titled "Thinking Like a Christian" Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 13 and 14. Beginning with coffee at 9 a.m. Saturday at Livonia's Rotary Park, Six Mile at Hubbard, the retreat will feature sessions at the church and a pot luck picnic at the park.

Supper back at the church will conclude the activities.

The cost for the event is $1.25 for the day and is open to the public. A children's program will meet concurrently with the adult activities.

BETHLEHEM LUTHERAN CHURCH, 35300 W. Eight Mile, Farmington Hills, will break ground for a new building and install a new minister Sunday, Oct. 14.

The groundbreaking will take place at 11:45 a.m. following morning worship as the congregation takes the first step toward realization of a $400,000 structure designed by Lindhout and Associates of Livonia.

At 6:30 p.m., the congregation will install the Rev. Lowell L. Anderson as its pastor, succeeding the Rev. Eino Tuori, who served Bethlehem for 33 years.

Former pastor of Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Grand Rapids, Rev. Anderson arrived Oct. 2 with his wife, Eleanor, and two sons to take over his new responsibilities.

CHURCH OF THE SAVIOR, 38100 Five Mile, Livonia, will hold its annual bake, plant and rummage sale put on by its women on Friday, Oct. 12, and Saturday, Oct. 13.

The hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia, will hold a bake and rummage sale 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12, and Saturday, Oct. 13.

Featured will be a Good as New shop and a snack bar with sloppy joes, chili and home baked desserts.

ST. PAUL UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Five Mile west of Inkster, Livonia, will have a pancake breakfast and brunch to be served by its youth beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 14, and continuing through 1:30 p.m. The fee will be a donation to the youth group's 1980 mission trip.

Youth and parents interested in the church's confirmation program are invited to attend at 8 a.m. to discuss confirmation with the Rev. Bob Cox.

HOSANNA-TABOR LUTHERAN CHURCH, Laverne north of West Chicago, Redford Township, will hold a rummage sale sponsored by its Ladies Christian Fellowship 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13.

ST. MEL CATHOLIC CHURCH, 7506 Inkster, Dearborn Heights, plans a book fair Friday through Sunday, Oct. 12-14. Hardcover and paperback books as well as greeting cards and cassettes will be on sale 2-7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

RIVERSIDE PARK CHURCH OF GOD, 11771 Newburgh, Livonia, will stage its Christmas Bazaar 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13. Baked goods and refreshments as well as craft items will be offered.

What is women's place in church?

"Women and Religion" will be the top of a panel discussion by three female church leaders for the meeting of the Livonia Ministerial Association Wednesday, Oct. 17.

The session will take place 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Farmington Road at Six Mile.

The speakers will be the Rev. Carol Allen, a minister at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Jean Lambert, academic dean at St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth and Mrs. Bartlett Hess, well-known Bible teacher and wife of the senior minister at Ward.

They will consider such matters as the historical role of women in the church, the Biblical view of women as interpreted in the scriptures and the impact of the women's movement on the church today.

A general discussion will follow the panel's presentation. The meeting will be an open one and all clergy in the area are invited to attend.

Church offers family life films

A new film series on family life will be presented for the next seven Sunday evenings in the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, 46250 Ann Arbor Rd., Plymouth.

The programs will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. The series features family expert James C. Dobson and is entitled "Focus on Family." All were filmed life at family life seminars.

Titles of the films are "The Strong - Willed Child," "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit" and "Christian Fathering."

The last two titles are divided into two parts each.

A presentation on "Preparing for Adolescence" deals with "The Origins of Self - Doubt" and "Peer Pressure and Sexuality."

The last in the series is entitled "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women," and is on "The Lonely Housewife" and "Money, Sex and Children."

Have a question about your energy bill? I'm here to help.

As a Customer Service Representative, it's my job to answer questions you may have about your bill.

I'm here to help you five days a week, but the best days to call are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. On those days the phones are less busy and I can get to your question even faster than on the other days.

Another hint is to have your bill ready and refer to your account number when you call. This helps me locate your account faster and will save you time.

Even though I work for Consumers Power, I'm a customer too. And I know how important it is to have accurate, efficient answers about our energy bills.

Accent on the unusual is theme

Ronnie Seubert's Accent Bin at 615 N. Mill Street in Old Village is one of those specialty shops that encourages browsing in Plymouth's Old Village.

True to its name, the Accent Bin offers a wide assortment of items that add a decorator accent — an unusual touch to a room or office.

Ms. Seubert has the exclusive Michigan franchise for a line of appliques, A Pretty Penny, which is made in Pennsylvania.

She also features made to order sculptures. These one-of-a-kind metal creations have attracted attention in area businesses.

The 5-by-3-foot three-dimensional sculpture of the Wilcox House and Kellogg Park fountain was commissioned by Century 21 real estate. The Carbaron Plaza sculpture on Main Street was a special order from the Accent Bin.

A trucking company ordered a replica of a fleet of trucks for its lobby; a construction company selected a drawing of five men working to be reproduced as a copper sculpture.

"We can produce anything of any size. We've had an antique car for over a fireplace, also a spray of maple leaves and a golfer," said Ms. Seubert. She said her sculptor uses all new copper and a torch to create his wall hangings and standing pieces.

"You have to see the details he includes to believe what he can do with copper."

New voices

Wes and Felecia Blaine of 7703 Provincial, Canton Township announce the birth of their son, Raymond Wesley, Sept. 25, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Special ed expert is MACLD speaker

Gary Hessler, who has been involved with special education since 1965, will speak at the October meeting of the Plymouth, Canton, Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 18 in the cafeteria of Pioneer Middle School, 46801 W. Ann Arbor Road.

Hessler will discuss areas that should be evaluated to determine if a student is experiencing a learning disability. Specific tests and what their scores reveal will be explained.

Hessler earned bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees at Michigan State University. He has an educational specialist's degree and a Ph.D. in special education leadership from Wayne State University. He has been involved with special education as a teacher and teacher consultant for the emotionally disturbed and learning disabled. He has been an employee of the Macomb Intermediate School District since 1973.

The MACLD meetings are free and open to the public. Advisors are on hand to answer questions regarding learning disabilities after the meeting.

Visit the Capp Homes Open House this weekend...

And discover how your finishing touch can give you more home for the money!

Since 1946, CAPP has made quality, custom-built housing affordable for more than 60,000 families. And the reason is our unique, "Finish-It-Yourself House" concept.

CAPP Homes are not pre-fab or modular. We build our homes the traditional beam-by-beam way, with the finest materials, on the lot and foundation you provide. When our carpenters leave, your custom-designed home is fully enclosed and ready for you to finish. Or, you can act as your own general contractor, hiring local help, and still come out money ahead. Either way, you'll get a home that is uniquely yours—one that will be worth far more than you paid for it the day you move in.

But don't take our word for it. Come on out this weekend and see for yourself. Look at the quality of the construction material. Feel the wood... knock on the doors... slide open the windows.

Most of all, talk to the buyers of this home. They'll be here to answer any questions... while they work. You'll see them actually finishing their home. Folks just like yourself. We think you'll discover how you, too, can save money on a CAPP Home by "finishing-it-yourself".

CAPP Homes. Your finishing touch means quality... and savings... for you.

Come on out. We'll be there rain or shine.

Arts council, symphony to receive MCA grants

The Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Plymouth Symphony Society have been awarded grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

PCAC is to receive $9,000 and the symphony society, $4,000.

Funding for both will be locally matched. Both organizations should receive the money by mid-October.

Announcement of the grants was made by State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"I'm always pleased to be able to announce the awarding of grant money, especially to organizations such as these, which I feel deserve our support," said Sen. Geake. "These groups do an outstanding job of encouraging more local people to become involved in the area's art community."

SECTION 4 your pleasure

Caveat emptor

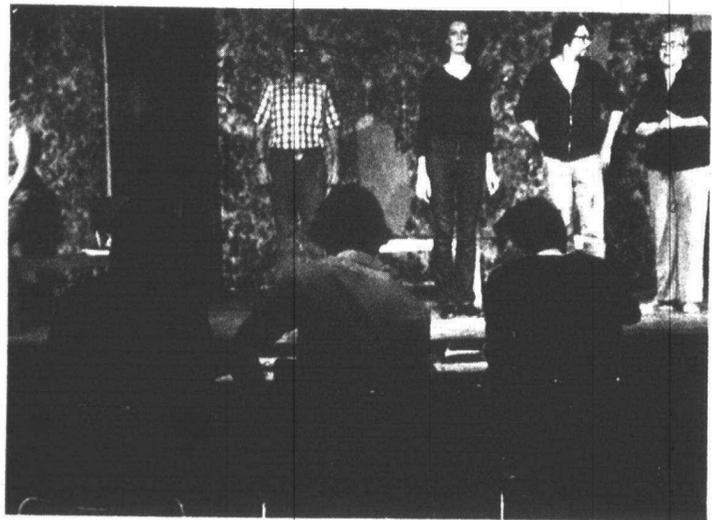

It could be the opportunity of the year!

Looking for a Christmas gift for that person who has everything? The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus is giving away bags of exotic manure 10-11 a.m. Saturday at the back of Cobo Arena. Honest.

The circus folks say the pure, unadulterated mineral-rich manure is "generated constantly in gargantuan proportions" and has a high concentration of nitrogen, phosphorous and calcium. This is a great opportunity to avoid the waste of a great natural resource, they say.

Striped tomatoes from zebra manure? Who knows?

The director and assistants watch as the actors run through their parts.

Rehearsal

All's well that ends well

By DENNIS ROSENBLUM

It's less than two weeks before opening night. All is not well.

Members of the cast stumble as they forget their lines and the director watches intently from the front row.

It's a rehearsal.

Nobody is much worried about the problems at this stage, though, because they're to be expected.

IN THE STOREFRONT playhouse of the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford, the cast and staff have been preparing for Friday's opening of "John Brown's Body."

This is not the typical fare for community theater. It's essentially a "reader's theater" production, with little costuming and props. Everyone on stage will be in formal evening wear and there will be no real scenery.

The setting is the Civil War era, and the lead characters are a Northern and a Southern soldier. Historical figures such as Grant, Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis pop up throughout, and the second act includes a long speech by Lincoln.

The Pulitzer Prize-winning drama, written by Stephen Vincent Benet, was made famous by the original production with Tyrone Power, Raymond Massey and dame Judith Anderson. And the script is actually an epic poem, albeit there's a muffled rendition of "Glory, Glory Hallelujah."

"This is a very unusual choice," says director Ron Worsley. "It's a narrative poem, not really a play."

"But I think the audiences of this theater are used to trying adventurous things."

BACK AT THE rehearsal, there is a strange contrast between the lines and the cast. The 20th century blue-jeaned actors are fighting their way through a history book script:

"Sometimes the earth is torn by something blind. . . . Geez . . . It will employ . . . unchangeable?"

"Unreasonable!" says the assistant director. "Oh, Christ. Let me try this again."

This goes on for awhile, with people frantically glancing at their scripts between parts. Sometimes they flub the words, grimace and just keep going.

But in short time, the flow of the story becomes hopelessly lost.

"Alright. Let's go back, people. We can't have that," says the director.

AT A BREAK, the staff again become real people who have no problem with words.

"I'm excited, I'm not worried," says Ellen Akins, a veteran of productions in Dearborn

"John Brown's Body" is on stage at the Guild playhouse for three weekends — Oct. 12-13, 19-21, and 26-27. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m., except for a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Oct. 21.

Admission is $4, with special rates available to students, senior citizens and groups. The playhouse is at 15138 Beech Daly, just south of Five Mile Road in Redford. For reservations, call 255-2547.

but now in her first work with TGLR.

"I just hope the audience will like it," she adds.

Matt Higgins, a student who said his mind was spinning after a long day hitting the books, was one of those having trouble with his lines.

"No sweat, I'll have it before this week's over," he says.

Ron Samuel, a veteran of two TGLR productions, says he views his part in "John Brown's Body" as "an extreme challenge."

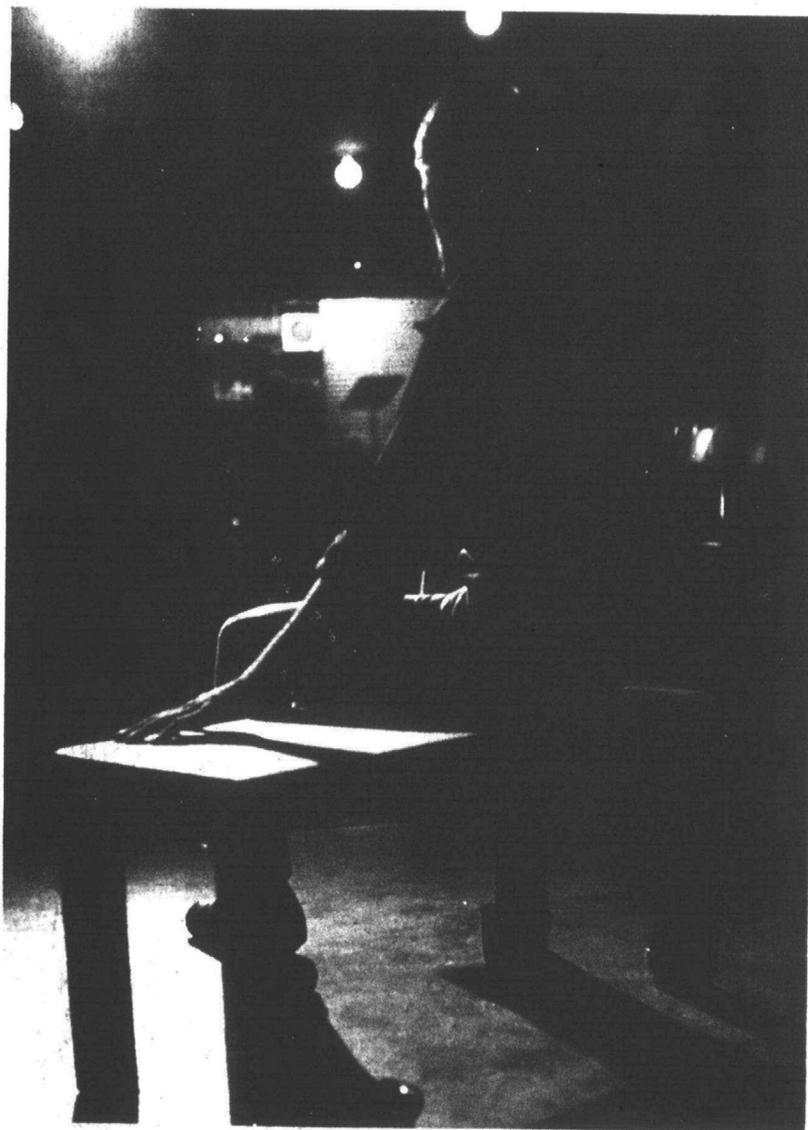

"We have to develop the fervor of the poem," he says. "It will be different fare for the audience but I think they'll appreciate it."

Worsley, the director, is a bit concerned about the problems with forgotten lines.

"There's no point talking about interpretation because they haven't gotten the lines down," he says.

The big question: Will all those problems in the rehearsal be worked out by Friday?

"We'll have our act together," says Samuel. "We damn well better."

Doug Wisby (above) looks to a nearly deserted theater as he practices his lines.

THE FRIDAY night film series at Schoolcraft College continues this week with "McCabe and Mrs. Miller," Robert Altman's portrait of a circa 1900 mining town starring Warren Beatty and Julie Christie. The showing is free at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater on the campus, on Haggerty Road north of Six Mile Road.

MUSIC at Noon they call it, but the flute and piano recital with performers Miriam Ciesla and Rochelle Peterson is actually at 12:30 p.m. Monday. It's free, at the Fair Lane Conference Center (the former home of Henry Ford) on the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus, Evergreen south of Ford Road.

At 8 p.m. Monday, there will be a free concert of baroque music with Penelope Crawford on harpsichord and Enid Sutherland on viola da gamba. It's also in Fair Lane.

THE TRAVELING Smiles Story Theater at the Black Sheep Repertory Theater in Manchester (southwest of Ann Arbor) starts a program for children at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday. Kids should bring ideas for characters, places and situations to make up stories about. Or they can bring stories they'd like to bring to life. The children will become the actors, writers and directors. For more info, call 428-9287.

THE LIVONIA Artist Club meets at 7:30 tonight in the Carl Sandburg Library, 30100 Seven Mile Road. Gawaime Dart, an instructor in ceramics and watercolors, will demonstrate a landscape abstraction. Guests are welcome.

THE EAGLES will give their only Michigan appearance at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Ann Arbor's Crisler Arena. Tickets are sold at the Crisler and Michigan Union box offices in Ann Arbor and at the Huckleberry party store in Ypsilanti. For more info, call 763-2071.

GRETA Garbo is a Russian agent who falls in love in New York in her classic film "Ninotchka," at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Friends Auditorium of the Detroit Public Library's main branch on Woodward across from the Art Institute. Tickets are $2.50 at the door. This is the second program of the season for the Detroit Film Society.

THE DESIGN Lecture Series, sponsored by the School of Architecture at Lawrence Institute of Technology, continues at noon Tuesday, Oct. 16, with "The Beginning Collector's Guide to Graphics." Mary Wright, owner of Xochipilli Gallery of Rochester is the speaker. The free lecture is in the school's architecture auditorium on the campus, 10 Mile Road at Northwestern Highway in Southfield.

THE ORGAN concerts at the Redford Theater continue this weekend. Singing organist Lowell Ayars will be at the keyboard of the theater's giant pipe organ. He'll be joined by comedian and ventriloquist Eddie Jaye. Shows are at 2 p.m. Friday and 8 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are available at the Redford box office, 17360 Lahser at Grand River.

If you've got news of entertaining events anywhere in the area, let us know about it. Write to Section 4, the Observer, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Give us at least a week's notice of scheduled events.

'That's my philosophy. I raised my kids to find out what's more fun than anything else in the world, and find out how to get paid for it.'

Donley combines an acting career with fun

By ETHEL SIMMONS

You get a warm welcome and a cup of coffee when you arrive at veteran actor Robert Donley's mobile home on the Oakland University campus.

Donley, an ageless, charismatic personality, rolls his own cigarette before he settles down to be interviewed.

But you don't really interview Donley. Mostly you listen to his energy-charged speech. His words flow in an untheatrical voice that weaves a spell nonetheless.

You may start to put down your notebook to listen to a story, then realize that's the supreme compliment, forgetting you're there to write it all down.

DONLEY IS that most delightful of companions, a storyteller, or raconteur, who seems to have nearly total recall of almost everything that's happened to him.

Having spanned many years as a performer, playing with big-name talents on Broadway, radio, television and lately even in a feature film, he has had fascinating experiences.

But Donley also seems to have an interest in just about every subject, expounding on everything from reluctant tops of ice cream cartons (he just loves ice cream) to dumpy Broadway dressing rooms for actors.

"Have you ever been backstage in a Broadway theater?" he asked. Describing the dismal, cramped dressing rooms there, he said, "Most of them you wouldn't put a sick goat in."

Asked if he cared to reveal his age, Donley replied that he generally gives stock answers, such as, "I'm still 39," and so on. Then, he added a line about age from a 95-year-old character he played in "The Red Bluegrass Western Flyer Show."

"That's just a number. It don't mean nothing to me. No one's gonna add up my life."

AS DONLEY, he continued, "There's a tendency to put people in slots."

You get the distinct impression no one every put Donley in a slot.

"I've been lucky, as far as parts are concerned," he said. "I never got stuck in a type."

Born on a Pennsylvania farm, Donley ran away from home to Detroit at the age of 17. He worked his way up from bus boy to elevator operator in six months at the Detroit-Leland Hotel.

Actor Robert Donley, based in a mobile home at Oakland University, offers long years of experience to students. (Staff photo by Dick Kelley)

Returning home, he enrolled in Waynesburg College in Greene County, Pa.

"In the backwoods, you don't think about going into the theater," he recalled. At college, however, Donley organized a drama club, which put on a couple of one-act plays.

"One day walking across the campus, it hit me like a thunderbolt. People get paid for this. That's my philosophy. I raised my kids to find out what's more fun than anything else in the world, and find out how to get paid for it."

THE BEARDED ACTOR is back on campus at OU near Rochester to play the role of Sir Oliver in Meadow Brook Theatre's opening production of the 14th season, Sheridan's "The School for Scandal." The show runs through Nov. 4.

Donley was a member of the resident company at Meadow Brook for the theater's inaugural season, appearing in the first show "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" and "You Never Can Tell."

He brought his twin sons with him then, and one of them played a role in "Chalk Circle" with the other son as understudy.

Donley has appeared on television in many of the detective and police dramas, including "The Rockford Files."

"I did the pilot on that, playing Jim's (James Garner's) father. Jim and I hit it off right away. He's from Oklahoma and I spent a couple of years there."

NBC network brass wanted a bigger name, Donley said, and Noah Beery got the role as the father. But it's easy to picture Donley, with his relaxed personal style, playing Dad to Garner's down-home manner.

"I WORKED with a lot of the good ones," he said, about his theatrical career. He appeared on Broadway in "The Visit" with the Lunts ("they're perfectionists"); toured with Melvyn Douglas in "Inherit the Wind," playing Detroit for a month; and was on Broadway and on the road with Tammy Grimes, as her father in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" (he once played a scene locking her shoulder under his arm to keep impetuous Tammy from upstaging him).

More recently, he was on Broadway as Pa in "Twigs" and co-starred with Liv Ullman in Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie."

Apples

They get the squeeze at all the cider mills

A stop at a cider mill is as much a part of fall as raking leaves or following football. At many nearby mills, visitors can watch apple harvesting and see pressing while sipping fresh cider and eating warm doughnuts.

Michigan ranks third in the nation in apple production and first in production of Jonathons and Northern Spies — two favorites for making cider. Mills range in size from tiny roadside stands to huge businesses with hydraulic presses.

Right now is peak apple-picking season. The Automobile Club of Michigan says cider prices should range from $1.50 to $2.80 per gallon, with doughnuts going between $1 and $2.20 a dozen. Some mills let customers bring their own containers to save about 25 cents a gallon.

To watch pressing operations, it's a good idea to phone ahead since pressing schedules vary according to the availability of apples.

Some mills have wagon rides, tours, antique and gift shops and animal farms.

We've provided a map of cider mills close to home. Information is below.

Michigan's deer herd is smaller than the last few years, but a good season is still expected.

Deer

Hunters start out with a 10% success rate

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

As Michigan deer hunters look forward to a good — but not spectacular — season, a local group is opening up its shooting range for those who want to "sight in" their rifles.

The Western Wayne County Conservation Association, headed by John Moore of Westland, will open its range six days a week (all but Tuesdays) from Oct. 20 to Nov. 14.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the fee is $5 for the day.

The club provides individual shooting benches, spotting scopes, targets, sand bags and range officers to supervise shooting.

Club grounds are at 6700 Napier, north of North Territorial Road, Plymouth Township. If you have questions, call the club headquarters at 453-9843.

BOW HUNTERS are seeing lots of deer signs, but so far pressure and success have been light, says the Pontiac district office of the state Department of Natural Resources. Archery season for deer opened Oct. 1.

The average archer's chance of success is one in 10.

In the shooting season, which begins Nov. 1, DNR thinks 1978's record will stand.

"With three successive severe winters in a row, the deer population has got to drop," says Joe Vogt, DNR deer expert.

"Our spring pellet survey found an estimated 700,000 deer survived the winter. With new spring births, that number should be about 900,000 deer by now," he said.

In contrast, during the last three years, the deer population was estimated at more than one million prior to the opening of hunting.

Car-deer collisions, usually a good indicator of how hunting will be, were down 11 percent this year.

Last year's hunting take (followed by this year's prediction in parentheses) was:

- Bucks, nearly 107,000 (about 80,000).
- Archery kill, 25,000 (possibly 20,000).
- Total kill taken by hunters, 170,000 (at least 130,000).

Outdoors

Last year there were 205,000 archers, 747,000 firearm hunters and 21,000 muzzleloader hunters in the field.

METROPARKS doings for nature lovers:

Hudson Mills Metropark has nature walks, guided by a naturalist, for groups of 10 to 35 Tuesdays at 10 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. through October. The park is on the Huron River at North Territorial Road in Washtenaw County. To make an appointment, call the metroparks office at 961-5865 and ask for the nature interpretive program.

A beekeeping course is being offered Saturdays at the nature center of Kensington Metropark south of Milford on Saturdays from Oct. 13 to Nov. 17 (except Nov. 10). Fee is $5. To register, call the nature center at 685-1561.

A nature walk at Kensington starts at 9 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 13, and runs 1½ to 2 hours. Naturalist Dave Moilanen will tell why colors dazzle, how birds know when to migrate and when squirrels cache food. Bring binoculars and call to register in advance.

A color cruise aboard the Island Queen excursion boat departs the boat dock at Kensington at 9 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. The charge is $1, and you'll see geese, gulls, herons and other water-life. Register by calling.

Did you bag a big one?

If you live in the Observer circulation area and you bring home a buck this season — eight points or better, please — we'd like to know about it.

Give us a call and we'll try to get your picture with the prized beast.

Room for Design

Want to remodel your kitchen? Here's how

Where do you start when planning your new or remodeled kitchen? Appliances, storage units, and counter tops should be on top of your priority list.

Less easily defined essentials — efficiency, attractiveness and practicality — are next on the list to be considered. When planning for a new kitchen, there's so much to be decided and achieved.

First, you should know that wise use of space is the secret of kitchen planning. It's the starting point for designing a room that's right for your needs and purposes. A large floor area alone won't guarantee efficiency. In fact, a large kitchen with misused space can be twice as effort-wasting and annoying as an unhandy small kitchen.

One of the main aims of kitchen planners is to avoid run-around and unnecessary backtracking to do daily jobs. This is achieved by following a few simple rules and by using a lot of common sense.

IT MAKES SENSE to arrange your major appliances so you can go from one to another without too much walking. Storage space for utensils should be close to the place where they are used most often.

Many of the nicest features in a kitchen have to be anticipated in advance. These, such as islands and peninsulas, fireplaces, unusual ceilings, practical and pretty backslashes, easy care and attractive flooring, all must be built into a kitchen. It costs a lot more if you decide after your kitchen is half done that you need or want these built-in features.

When you have a plan that satisfies you, it's a good idea to try a final check on the space and efficiency by imagining daily jobs in the kitchen. Imagine that you are clearing the table after dinner, doing dishes, or putting them in the dishwasher, mixing a cake, making a salad, unloading groceries. Be detailed enough to visualize the small equipment you would need for each job. This is one of the best tests to give any kitchen plan.

Average measurements that are used in most of the new kitchens can serve as your guide when you're planning. Even your preliminary sketches should be done to scale so you can tell how much space is available.

IDEALLY, EVERY appliance will have a work top immediately adjoining it.

The refrigerator door should open away from its work top. For most jobs, plan for at least 24 inches of counter. One counter can then do two or more jobs.

Here are standard heights and depths for kitchens:

Usual work top is 36 inches from the floor. Food preparation and mixing top is 32 inches high. A sit-down counter is 26 to 30 inches from the floor. Bottoms of wall cabinets are 55 inches from the floor. Outlets and switches measure 44 inches high.

Without great expense, most kitchens can't be rearranged to correct mistakes in design and organization. Built-in appliances become a permanent part of your room. Consider carefully what you need — don't buy a piece of equipment that you don't anticipate using often. Major appliances are a big investment, and they should justify all the money you spend.

There are several basic styles for each range, refrigerator, freezer, sink and dishwasher. In cooking equipment, you can have an eye-level oven and cook-top stacked on a base cabinet, a freestanding console with one or two ovens, a drop-in or slide-in unit, a separate wall oven and cook top or the familiar freestanding range unit.

Because insulating techniques are better now, larger capacity refrigerators fit where smaller units once stood. There are adjustable shelves, special food storage compartments, no-frost and movable models from which to choose. Try to look at many different brands.

Don't skimp on space when you plan your family's dining center. A cramped eating area is a major annoyance that's apparent three times a day. For comfortable dining, you should allow at least 24 inches of table or counter elbow room per person.

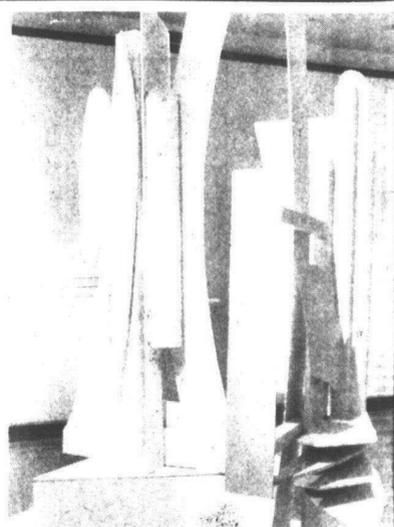

A desirable kitchen lighting plan starts with a ceiling fixture, or fixtures, scaled in light output to the size of the room. In addition, each counter work center should have its own lighting unit.

A GOOD VENTILATION system is needed in every kitchen. Walls, cabinets, draperies, other furnishings stay clean much longer if grease and smoke are removed before they escape into the room.

Nevelson work shown

Louise Nevelson's sculpture, which caught attention when her "Bendix Trilogy" was installed in corporate headquarters, has opened an exhibit of her sculpture and prints at the Cranbrook Academy of Art. The show continues through Oct. 28 with seven metal works and 20 recent prints. The artist is known for her huge outdoor pieces. The museum, at 500 Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills, is open 1-5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Hear the music of the great Frederick Chopin brilliantly played by internationally renowned piano virtuoso Flavio Varani. Appearing this season with the Oakway Symphony, West Bloomfield Symphony, Scandinavian Symphony and at Meadowbrook with the Detroit Symphony, Flavio Varani has concertized to great acclaim in Paris, New York and his native Brazil. He is currently Artist-in-Residence at Oakland University. Hear Flavio Varani in the romantic setting of the historic Marquis Theatre in Northville, newly restored to its original grandeur.

It's Brahms on Tuesday for Oak Park Symphony

The Oak Park Symphony Orchestra will open its season with an all Brahms program at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Oak Park High School, 13701 Oak Park Blvd.

Italo Babin, first cellist in the Detroit Symphony, will be the soloist in Brahms' Double Concerto for Violin and Cello. The program also includes the Academic Festival Overture and a group of Hungarian dances.

and Morris Hochberg of Wayne State University and the orchestra's conductor.

Ticket information can be obtained by calling 548-0323.

BABINI BECAME first cellist for the Munich Chamber Orchestra and toured with them for many years. He studied with Pablo Casals while he was in Puerto Rico.

In 1960, he became the first cellist in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. In addition to his symphony work, he is making records. One record has been completed in which Babin performs a cello sonata with George Walker, the composer of the works, on the piano.

Morris Hochberg, the orchestra's conductor, resigned as assistant concert master of the Detroit Symphony after 13 years to become head of the string department of Wayne State University Music School. He now heads both the string and chamber music departments.

He is also the conductor of both the Oak Park and the St. Clair Shores symphonies.

Gem and mineral show has lots of gold

The Michigan Mineralogical Society presents its annual gem and mineral show Friday through Sunday at the Detroit Light Guard Armory, East Eight Mile and Ryan.

Show hours are 6-10 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2 for adults and 50 cents for children under 15.

This year's show features an assortment of gold. Natural crystals, leaf and nugget specimens will be displayed by the Smithsonian Institution and the American Museum of Natural History.

One large gold nugget found in 1977 weighs 13 pounds. A wreath, composed of leaves of gold formed naturally in the earth, is seven inches by seven inches.

The Smithsonian display is being shown for the last time before it is placed in a new showcase at the museum.

ALSO INCLUDED in the show are a variety of exotic gem and mineral crystals.

Jade carvings of large objects such as bowls, candelabra and sailboats are all original designs by a craftsman-collector in the Detroit metropolitan area, and will be highlighted in two large cases.

Working demonstrations will have masters at work polishing rubies and sapphires, faceting and tumbling gems, and polishing Petoskey stones.

Guests are invited to polish a stone cabachon, view minerals through a microscope or have identification made of their rock, fossil and mineral specimens. There is a limit of three identifications per person.

EIGHTEEN MUSEUMS are taking part in the show, and the 175 displays represent many private collections.

Dr. Joseph Mandarino, curator of minerals at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto, will serve as moderator for the Mineral Symposium 8 p.m. Saturday.

Dr. Aurele LaRocque, professor of paleontology at Ohio State University and author of "Ohio Fossils," will speak at 1 p.m. Sunday.

It's easy. Simply make a qualifying deposit of $500.00 or more in a new or existing savings account at any office of Michigan National Bank-West Metro or Michigan National Bank-Ann Arbor. Then, choose one of 12 beautifully framed masterpieces of photographic art by William Plante or Dale Fisher — at a bargain price. After that, watch your savings build an "interest collection" — more money for your money — in one of our savings plans.

Visit your neighborhood banking office today. Select from one of our seven savings plans (ranging from a statement savings account that pays 5 1/4% annual interest, continuously compounded to provide an effective annual yield of 5.467%, to our high-interest 182-day Michigan Money Market Certificates) for the one which will best suit your needs.

Start your collections today — fine art and fine interest — both from the Michigan National Banks!

NOTE: Limit is one photo art masterpiece per savings account. For prices on additional photographic art, consult your neighborhood branch manager. Offer good October 9, 1979 through November 24, 1979, only at offices of Michigan National Bank-West Metro and Michigan National Bank-Ann Arbor.

Our World Revolves Around You

REALTY WORLD

We won't promise you the moon. We'll deliver it.

Former Astronaut...

Wally Schirra for REALTY WORLD

People used to think the moon was made of green cheese and real estate companies just sold houses. Space technology disproved the first theory and REALTY WORLD is changing people's minds about the second. REALTY WORLD people are trained to provide the services you need to make your move as easy as possible.

3 1/2% Selling Your Home?
 Lets start with things you don't expect at 3 1/2%
 • Multi List (more multi list exposure than almost any firm)
 • 2000 office national network for transfer referrals • Home Warranty
 • interim financing (using our own funds) • separate closing department
 • visa, master charge for purchaser's deposit • 3 1/2% ten year resale guarantee on homes sold through us - and that's just the beginning
 Because we're Broker owned and operated (since 1950)
 Each Broker keeps 100% of commissions earned. Other firms pay their sales associates 25%.
 • We're in a unique position to charge less - but earn more per sale.
 • Because we're Brokers you enjoy greater - not lesser - experience.
 • Full service Brokers - not part time sales associates. • We provide equal exposure services - in fact every service - priced elsewhere at 7%.

ROBERT BAKE ~ Realtor
 1005 W. Ann Arbor Trail
 Plymouth 453-8200

NEW ON THE MARKET! PLYMOUTH! CLASSICALLY SYMMETRICAL. THIS BRICK GEORGIAN COLONIAL has the quiet dignity characteristic of this time-honored design. An Acre of age-old trees complement the stateliness of its exterior. Available for the first time in over 35 years, there are 4 bedrooms, a gracious formal entry hall with an open-string staircase (slender balusters carry the handrail up to the second floor), 1 1/2 baths, a 25 ft. living room with fireplace, a study, a separate formal dining room, full basement, and 3 1/2 car detached garage. Two additional outbuildings, a newer roof, and enduring charm result in an offering DESERVING OF YOUR EARLIEST INTEREST. $89,900. 453-8200

NORTHVILLE! A GAMBREL ROOF, NARROW SIDING, AND SHUTTERED MULTI-PANED WINDOWS identify the ever popular "DUTCH COLONIAL". Its Colonial heritage is further enhanced by the home's landscaping and interior decoration... tasteful selections of floor coverings and extensive use of moldings. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, a spacious entrance hall, formal dining room, a lovely family room with an oversized fireplace and wood storage box, 1st floor laundry, full basement, and oversized 2 1/2 car garage. A well conceived patio and a preferred cul-de-sac location are among the many extra's of this attractively developed home. $134,900. 453-8200

NEVER BEFORE OFFERED! CITY OF PLYMOUTH! The handsome brick front exterior of this seven year old custom built home is pleasantly balanced by the garage and living room wings on either side. Its setting, within favored "HOUGH PARK" is predictably beautiful with a variety of mature trees and 200 feet of depth to assure valued privacy. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, a formal dining room, a delightful wood stained foyer that displays the handsome turned posts of the staircase, an efficient kitchen with an island counter, 1st floor laundry, a cedar paneled family room with fireplace, full basement, and side entrance 2 1/2 car garage with opener. CENTRAL AIR, A WOOD DECK AND ALUMINUM TRIM ARE AMONG THE VALUED EXTRAS OF THIS DESIRABLE NEW OFFERING. $145,000. 453-8200

FIRST OFFERING! ALL PRESENT DAY FAMILIES WOULD BE COMFORTABLE. INDEED, IN THIS COLONIAL HOME. It abounds in more than its share of desired features and has a particularly popular exterior. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, formal dining room, a family room with a raised hearth fireplace and bookcases, 1st floor laundry, a finished recreation room, and side entrance 2 1/2 car garage with opener. An enclosed rear yard, beautiful carpeting throughout, and a faultlessly maintained interior. $98,900. 453-8200

OPEN HOUSE — SUNDAY 2 to 5
 14607 HUNTINGTON, PLYMOUTH, EAST OF BRADNER and NORTH OFF SCHOOLCRAFT. A Lakepointe Village home that deserves a visit this Sunday afternoon. A cleverly planned 25 x 15 family room promises to be the hub of family activity. There are 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, a full brick wall fireplace in the family room, walk-in closets, finished basement, and 2 1/2 car garage. This striking brick one story home has a newer roof, aluminum trim, and Central Air. BE SURE AND SEE THIS HOME SUNDAY AFTERNOON! $72,500. 453-8200

PLYMOUTH! NEW ON THE MARKET! Distinguished by its excellent location, framed by a forest of trees, and capped by an elegant exterior. This handsome two story has a location that will bring added enjoyment. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, formal dining room, an excellent kitchen arrangement, family room with fireplace, an extravagantly finished recreation room, and 2 1/2 car side entrance garage. AN EXCITING REAR YARD OF LASTING PRIVACY GRACED BY AN EXPANSIVE REDWOOD DECK. BE SURE AND SEE IT VERY SOON! $125,000. 453-8200

CITY OF PLYMOUTH! LOCAL SENTIMENT RUNS HIGH FOR OLDER HOMES OF SUBSTANCE AND CHARACTER... particularly when they possess a pleasing location. Our example boasts a renaissance of recent improvements such as a new kitchen, electrical and plumbing. There's a cheerful breakfast room with windows on 3 sides. Beveled french doors enhance the formal dining room. 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, a den or study, basement, screened porch, and a 1 1/2 car garage with additional space for a workshop. Pleasingly maintained with a long list of nice features. AVAILABLE FOR THE HOLIDAYS. $69,500. 453-8200

"PLYMOUTH HILLS"... A LOCATION DIFFICULT TO IMPROVE UPON. NEARLY TWO ACRES OF LAWN AND TOWERING TREES has resulted in a story-book setting for this original owner brick and redwood contemporary. Architecturally designed with that welcomed sense of space and openness. There are 5 bedrooms, 3 full baths, slate foyer, a dramatic sized living room with a sloped ceiling and fireplace formal dining area, family room, full basement with a second fireplace, and a 27 x 26 garage-with opener. There are many built-in conveniences and the best of views from all interior rooms, A TERRIFIC FAMILY HOME. $149,500. 453-8200.

ALL THE COMFORT OF THE TRADITIONAL TWO STORY HOME IS CONTAINED in this superb located offering. Sidewalks and the ability to walk to Elementary and Middle Schools are satisfying benefits to a well-cared-for home. 4 bedrooms, 1 1/2 bath, formal dining room, a U-shaped kitchen with a generous breakfast area, family room with wood-burning fireplace, a finished basement area, and 2 1/2 car attached garage. YOU'LL NEVER TIRE OF ITS BEAUTIFULLY LANDSCAPED AND PRIVATE REAR YARD/PATIO AREA. $84,900. 453-8200
