Padget proposes shift to part time supervisor

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Should Canton cut its full-time township supervisor's duties to part time? Is a professional "manager" style of government more efficient?

Trustee Robert Padget proposes to take that issue to Canton residents in the form of an advisory question on the November ballot.

Padget wants to trim the supervisor's position to a part-time job of chairing board meetings. A full-time professional manager or superintendent would be hired to administer policies set by the Township Board under his plan.

"The elected supervisor would become part time with a substantial reduction in salary," explained Padget. "He would still be the chief policy-maker."

ALTHOUGH THE Township Board has the authority to implement such an administrative change, Padget wants to hear residents' opinions on the proposal.

"What I'm really looking for is: how do most people feel?" said Padget. "We don't hear from many of the people at public hearings."

There was some discussion of the idea during Tuesday's Township Board meeting, but action was postponed to Aug. 24 so all board members can take part in the debate.

Supervisor James Poole — who has supported the manager concept in the past — was absent from Tuesday's meeting because of illness in his family.

CANTON CURRENTLY has a full-time, elected township supervisor who chairs board meetings and oversees operations at Township Hall. The supervisor's salary is $32,500.

Padget noted his proposal has cropped up in the past — usually during a political campaign. His thrust isn't meant to reflect on the performance of Poole or any previous supervisor, he added.

He supports the manager concept because of its efficiency, accountability to the board and consistency during "election turnover."

The plan should be debated now because salaries of elected officials cannot be changed after they take office, said Padget. He said the township's attorney should review the plan.

"The logical time would be to act upon it between elections, when you don't get tangled in the rhetoric of elections," said Padget. "It would be implemented concurrent with the election in the fall of 1984."

INITIAL REACTION among board members was lukewarm.

"I haven't heard anybody clamoring for a manager," said trustee Carol Bodenmiller, who chaired the meeting in Poole's absence. "I don't believe a manager is responsive to the people."

Treasurer Maria Sterlini and trustee Steve Larson said they support the concept of a manager but doubt the meaning of an advisory question.

Residents may not understand the job duties involved in such an issue, said Sterlini. Larson said he was concerned about residents being fully informed, based on the limited wording allowed on the ballot.

"Advisory" questions often create lengthy debate that lingers long after the question appears on the ballot, added Larson. "I'm not sure if they are perceived as 'advisory.'"

This is one of many clowns who will pass out balloons at the second annual Canton Country Festival Parade at 11 a.m. Saturday along Ford Road.

It's festival time!

Parade, cow chips highlight activities

Canton Country Festival Board officials are offering suggestions to help Plymouth-Canton residents enjoy this weekend's seventh annual festival Friday through Sunday.

Most of the activities take place at Griffin Park on Canton Center, north of Cherry Hill.

Three activities highlight Friday's activities. First, families can enter their pet in a pet show at 5:30 p.m. at Griffin Park. Judging and prizes will be awarded around 6 p.m.

After the pet show, barbecue dinner will be served by the Canton Business and Professional Women's Club. Dinners are $2.50 each include a one-half pound grilled hamburger, cole slaw, baked beans, dessert and beverage. The picnic-style dinner runs from 5-8 p.m.

Then festival-goers can take in the live music of Manny Perez the rest of the night.

CANTON'S ROTARY Club starts Saturday morning off early with its annual pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Griffin Park. National Guard helicopter rides and the five-mile country festival run begin around 9 a.m.

By 11 a.m., parade-watchers should be parked somewhere along Ford Road between Canton Center and Sheldon for the second annual Canton Country Festival Parade.

Dancers, clowns, 10 musical groups, 26 floats, costumed characters and marching units are part of the parade, which has attracted 117 units from all over the state.

Parade participants will begin lining up along Saltz between Sheldon and Canton Center at about 9:30 a.m.

Youngsters interested in decorating their bikes and riding in the parade should meet at the corner of Saltz and Canton Center at 10 a.m. The decorated bikes will be judged by Easy Rider Bike Shop of Canton. First-, second- and third-place ribbons will be awarded to youngsters in three different age divisions.

The bike-decorating contest is sponsored by Burger King of Canton.

The parade will travel north on Canton Center to Ford; east on Ford to Sheldon; and south on Sheldon back to Saltz.

Following the parade, other Saturday activities at Griffin Park include: a puppet show at 1 p.m.; musical performance by the Windsor Scarlett Brigade at 1:30 p.m.; tug-of-war at 2 p.m.; Syrena Dance Assemble at 2 p.m.; and a garden tractor pull at 3 p.m.

Canton's firefighters will begin serving their spaghetti dinner at 4 p.m. The dinner will last until 8 p.m. Music, drinking and dancing will follow until 11 p.m. Merchant display tents also will be open on Saturday.

Teen saves kids from fire

A fire caused $30,000 damage to a Windsor Park subdivision house last week, but the occupants are safe — thanks to a plucky teen baby-sitter.

The blaze occurred about 9:15 p.m. Friday in a colonial-style house on Arlington near Morton-Taylor and Warren, said fire marshal Capt. Art Winkel.

The Jim Mitchell family was entertaining relatives from New York. Kerry-Lee Sikinger, 14, was watching her brother Peter, 8, and cousins Tanya Mitchell, 12, and James, 5.

The adults had gone to Pine Knob for a Johnny Mathis concert.

The blaze broke out at the top of the basement stairs, where clothes were hanging, according to reports. The cause of the fire remains under investigation.

"(THE CHILDREN) were playing Atari in the family room," said Jim Mitchell, a salesman for an advertising directory. "Tanya went into the kitchen for a drink of water and saw flames."

Kerry-Lee hustled the children out of the house, preventing James from going back to pick up a favorite toy, said Mitchell. She tried to beat the flames with a rug, suffering blisters on her legs, he added.

The children sought refuge with a neighbor.

"She (Kerry-Lee) really did an excellent job," said Winkel.

'Both Kerry-Lee and Tanya are experienced baby-sitters. I'm absolutely certain the children weren't playing with matches.'

— Jim Mitchell house-fire victim

Fire officials haven't determined what started the fire. Mitchell said he was bothered by rumors that some of the children had been playing with matches. Both Kery-Lee and Tanya are "experienced baby-sitters," he added.

"I'm absolutely certain the children weren't playing with matches," said Mitchell.

The kitchen and family room were severely damaged, said Winkel. The upstairs sleeping areas sustained heat and smoke damage.

Students gain 2nd chance at Learning Options

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Some teens from Plymouth and Canton simply cannot afford even a few months interruption in their education.

The teens — 28 boys and four girls — are learning to control disruptive behavior so they eventually will earn the right to a seat in a regular classroom.

Summer school classes are part of a year-round alternative education program called Learning Options. It is sponsored by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Half-day summer classes maintain a link between teachers and students, most of whom are at the middle school level. Classes, held at Growth Works agency in Plymouth, are geared to students' abilities.

Teens are referred to the program through regular schools, with the cooperation of parents. Problems range from chronic truancy to defiant behavior. Many have failed grades because of poor adjustment.

"Academically, we get them caught up," said Mike Spitz, a coordinator of the program at Growth Works. "We look at behavioral concerns. Many have gotten used to confrontation, swearing, threatening. It's a behavior we have to address right away."

THE YOUTHS spend about 1½ hours in physical activities, and about an hour studying English. Physical activity promotes good health habits.

"English is an academic skill they need to succeed," added Spitz. At Learning Options, "success" is learning to behave in a responsible manner, and staying in school.

The alternative education program for students unable to fit into a normal educational setting is financed by grants through the federal government. Funds are set through the first semester of the 1983-84 school year, according to Ned Cooper, an alternative program specialist.

The school district also covers part of the costs.

STUDENTS ARE forbidden to bring weapons to school, said Spitz. Belligerent behavior results in loss of privileges — such as missing a field trip.

Staff members use both encouragement and confrontation with students, who are "surrounded by" discipline and "limits on behavior," said Spitz.

Program benefits many youngsters

Tim Jones used to solve disagreements with his fists and dared teachers at Central Middle School to apply discipline.

For more than a year now, Jones has attended special classes called Learning Options, an alternative education project operated by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. It is housed at Growth Works agency in Plymouth.

Jones is learning to control his hot-headed behavior. When summer school ends, he hopes to make a fresh start at Plymouth Canton High School, where he will attend special education classes.

Larry Smith has attended the Learning Options program for a couple of months. His parents put him into the program because he smoked marijuana, skipped classes and fell behind in his school work.

Smith and Jones are made-up names, but their stories are real, and typical of the students attending classes at Learning Options.

THE STAFF employs both confrontation and encouragement to change behavior, said Mike Spitz, a Learning Options coordinator. The goal is to teach students how to make "wise" behavior choices, he added.

For example, Jones is the type who "gets very physical," said his stepmother, Mary Jones.

RADIO STOLEN: Someone entered an Epping Court resident's house July 27 and a Toshiba AM/FM Stereo cassette player was stolen, according to a police report. Someone entered the house through the southrear doorwall (which had a broken lock) and exited the same way, police said. The stolen item was valued at $100.

QUIK-PIC PICKED: The Quik-Pik on Joy, between Hix and Haggerty, was broken into July 27. A police report indicates that suspects entered by climbing on the roof of a vacant store next to Quik-Pik, removed a piece of wood covering a hole in the roof and jumped down. The suspects then proceeded to the southeast corner of the building and chopped a 3-by-4-foot hole in the wall and entered the store through the men's restroom, police said. Missing goods are unknown. No suspects, witnesses or physical evidence exist, police said.

KISS-AND-RUN: A Honeytree Blvd. resident got an unexpected kiss about 6 a.m. July 27.

Someone broke into the apartment through an unlocked doorwall and went upstairs while the resident was asleep, police said. The male intruder kissed the resident on the face, awakening her. She screamed and pushed him away, causing him to run downstairs, exiting the same way he entered, according to a police report. One purse, some keys and money were stolen, totalling $100.

ESCAPEES CAUGHT: Three escapees from Detroit House of correction were caught and arrested July 27 4:30 a.m., according to a police report.

Police received a call about three suspicious persons observed checking out houses and vehicles. All three were in similiar work-type clothes, and all clothing was wet to the knee area, police said. Upon questioning, they admitted they were ecapees from the Detroit House of Correction.

ARSON SUSPECTED: Police suspect arson in a car burning at 1:50 a.m. July 21 on Beck, south of Proctor. The entire vehicle was gutted by fire and was unsalvagable, according to police. No spare tire or hubcaps were on the burned vehicle. The case was forwarded to the arson investigation committee, police said.

Police observed that tire tracks of an unknown vehicle were parallel to the burning vehicle, then backed up and turned, heading southbound on Beck.

FBI arrest 2 for bank heist

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Two Detroit men were arrested, and a third man is being sought in connection with last Thursday's Detroit Bank and Trust robbery.

The two men, Nathaniel Pierce, 24, and Timothy Harvey, 22, were arrested by FBI agents at their Clements Street home Monday night.

A federal warrant has been issued for the third man, a 45-year-old Detroit resident. As of Tuesday the third man hadn't been apprehended, according to FBI spokesperson John Anthony.

Pierce is currently being held in Wayne County Jail on another armed robbery charge. Harvey is being held in jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, following his arraignment before a U.S. magistrate Tuesday.

Detroit Bank and Trust, at 42345 Ann Arbor Road east of Lilley, was robbed by three men shortly after it opened at 9:30 a.m. last Thursday. The men, armed with a .38-caliber revolver, escaped with some $7,300.

FBI agents recovered about $1,000, a gun and clothing used in the robbery, according to Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry.

Although $1,000 rewards were offered for robbery information, the arrests came as the result of an FBI investigation, Anthony said.

"We would like to say thanks to the FBI for the quick solution and arrests in this robbery," Berry said Tuesday.

Armed bank robbery is a federal crime which carries a maximum sentence of 25 years in prison.

Police are uncertain if the Plymouth Township robbers are responsible for other recent Detroit area bank robberies, Berry said.

An FBI spokesperson earlier said the township robbery was similar to a recent Detroit bank robbery, where the robbers vaulted the front counter.

Fingerprints on evidence left behind, including a stolen car, were expected to give the FBI a lead in the investigation. The stolen car was left in a parking lot when the robbers transfered cars during the getaway.

The Detroit Bank and Trust robbery was the third Plymouth area robbery since 1968.

Ford Road to close during festival parade

Remember to properly plan your Saturday shopping trip to Canton if you're planning to travel Ford Road.

Ford, between Sheldon and Canton Center, will be closed to traffic shortly after 11 a.m. to approximately 12:30 p.m. Saturday because of the second annual Country Festival Parade.

All traffic will be routed north to Warren, according to Canton police Lt. Larry Stewart. Persons traveling eastbound on Ford will head north to Warren along Canton Center. Persons heading westbound on Ford will turn north to Warren along Sheldon.

No access will be permitted in or out of businesses along Ford Road during the two-mile parade, Stewart added.

4 Democrats battle in 37th District

Four Democrats and one Republican will be on the ballot Aug. 10 in the 37th Michigan House district, which includes the southwest portion of Canton Township.

In that race a voters guide was prepared by the League of Women Voters of Plymouth, Northville, Canton, Novi in cooperation with the Canton Observer newspaper.

Questionnaires were sent to all candidates and each could respond with up to 40 words of biographical information and up to 50 words per question with five questions being asked.

The League is a non-partisan rganization dedicated to informing voters and to encouraging residents to participate in the electoral process. Although the League at times does support ballot issues, it does not support or oppose candidates.

The candidates for the 37th District include: Theodore W. Jacques, 36, of 28498 Greenview, Romulus, Republican; Roger J. Cadaret, 37, of 12325 Hannan, Romulus, Democrat; Jim Kosteva, 30, of 41105 Northwind Drive, Canton, Democrat; Edward E. Mahalak, 60, of 9404 Chamberlain, Romulus, Democrat; Betty Jo Price, 51, of 13163 Lake Pointe, Belleville, Democrat.

BIOGRAPHICAL information on the candidates follows:

Mahalak: State Representative, Wayne University and Detroit College of Law, Justice of the Peace 1955-1964, State representative 1965-1982.

Price: Wayne County Deputy Sheriff- Circuit Court, Nursing Administration, Mercy College; BA, Social Science and Criminal Justice, Madonna College; graduate school, University of Detroit; U.S. Navy Lt.; registered nurse; Wayne County Sheriff; chairman board of trustees and executive board, Wayne County Sheriffs local 502.

Kosteva: Director of Community Planning-Canton Township; B.A. Metropolitan studies North Central College; graduate work, University of Michigan; lifelong area resident with eight years local government service in positions that require balanced judgement and experience in a diversity of area.

Cadaret: General Motors executive; B.I.E. General Motors Institute (1970); juris doctor, Detroit College of Law (1974); 17 years with G.M. Management. Coast Guard Reserve; eight years part-time law practice; one year on staff with U.S. Congress; Extensive community involvement; finance committee, P.T.O. and school elections.

Jacques: Industrial machine repair machinist; high school diploma plus apprenticeship in machine repair; have had some involvement in local politics and a deep interest in helping my fellow homeowners and in making their lives better.

THE QUESTIONS asked by the League and the answers given by each responding candidate follows:

1. Describe two of the major problems facing the state and your proposals for solution.

Jacques: Over-taxation and over-legislation. Reduction of both taxes and legislation.

Cadaret: A reversal of priorities between welfare and education. By having "attractive" rather than "protective" welfare and allowing schools to go bankrupt, we are causing a taxpayer revolution. Even worse, we are risking the proliferation of welfare by failing to insure a good basic education for the least affluent Kosteva: One problem, Michigan's economy, can be improved by encouraging compromise and cooperation between labor, management and government to stimulate existing businesses and create diversified jobs. Secondly, priorities need to be re-established as the cost of government has gotten out of hand. Only necessary taxes should be levied under simplified laws.

Price: Unemployment: Attempt in every way to reduce unemployment. Provide jobs by enticing industry back to Michigan by using tax incentives. Crime: Lead a crime revolt, emphasizing the victims' rights. Mental Health programs to keep criminally insane off the streets. Adequate law enforcement and enforciment of present laws.

Mahalak: A depression economy with its negative ramifications (high unemployment, failing businesses, declining tax revenues, etc.) is by far the state's biggest problem. All other problems are miniscule when compared to our economic situation. I wish to emphasize that our troubles have largely been created by forces existing outside of Michigan.

2. List any incentives you feel state government should offer to private industry to encourage location in Michigan

Price: Tax incentives.

Mahalak: As for incentives, let us look at some fundamentals. Michigan has greater surface fresh water resources than any other state. It has a highly skilled and disciplined work force. Its system of public community colleges and universities is undoubtedly one of the nation's finest. And it has a good highway system

Kosteva: Tax reduction and low interest loan incentive should be redirected to smaller businesses, particularly those already in Michigan. Small businesses accounted for 80 percent of new jobs during the last decade. Abundant regulations must be simplified, and the Single Business Tax reformed to focus more fairly upon business income.

Jacques: Lower taxes for all Michigan residents, both business and individual.

Cadaret: Short-term tax incentives; workmen's comp. and unemployment comp. revisions; site development and location assistance; employee retraining incentives. Any and all incentives must be given only after a detailed cost effectiveness evaluation.

3.What changes, if any, would you propose in Michigan's taxation system? Why? ?

Cadaret: Over a period of time, property taxes should be phased out of financing education and probably out of county finance. Property taxes should fund only local functions. I do not favor discriminatory or regressive taxes. I believe in "ability to pay" concept. Taxes levied against consumer activities or puchases apply an unfair burden

Jacques: Elimination of state income tax.

Kosteva: School funding should be shifted from the property tax to the sales and/or income tax because they are more reflective of a person's ability to pay. Also, change the homestead tax credit so that homeowners receive their credit in December when bills are due, not after returns are filed.

Mahalak: One area of taxes which is a sore spot with most taxpayers is property tax. I favor cutting property taxes and making up the lost revenue by raising the state income tax — maybe even going to a graduated state income tax, which can be done to let middle-income taxpayers come out ahead.

Price: The tax structure should be implemented and budgets appraised so that every possibla dollar collected go to the necessities and not the frills and luxuries and political waste programs so there is a reduction of property tax and taxes or necessities and these taxes be transferred to items of luxury.

4. What are the greatest threats to the natural resources of Michigan and how would you deal with them?

Know your district

This map shows how Canton Township is divided into two districts for the Michigan House of Representatives, under the reapportionment plan. The 36th District includes Plymouth and Northville. The 37th District includes Wayne, Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter Township and VanBuren Township. The majority of Canton residents live in the 36th District. All of Canton is included in the 11th District for the county commission. All of Canton joins Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and part of Redford in the 6th District of the Michigan Senate. Finally, all of Canton is part of the 15th Congressional District, which includes Westland, Wayne, Garden City, Taylor, Romulus and southern Livonia.

County commission hopefuls answer League questions

Nine Democrats and two Republicans will be on the ballot Aug. 10 in the newly formed Wayne County Commission 11th District, which includes all of Canton Township.

In that race a voters' guide was prepared by the League of Women Voters of Plymouth, Northville, Canton, Novi, in cooperation with the Canton Observer newspaper.

Questionnaires were sent to all candidates, and each could respond with up to 40 words of biographical information and up to 50 words per question with two questions being asked.

The League is a nonpartisan organization dedicated to informing voters and to encouraging residents to participate in the electoral process. Although the League, at times, does support ballot issues it does not support or oppose candidates.

The candidates for the 11th District include: Loren Bennett, 31, 2780 Denton, Canton, Republican; Darrell Kress, 40, Box 205, Belleville, Republican; J.B. Boroff, 47, 32436 Woodbrook Dr., Wayne, Democrat; Berna Valentine Chenault, 52, 7340 Oakville Waltz, Carleton, Democrat; Edward D'Angelo, 25, 48951 Denton No. 301, Belleville, Democrat; Margaret Leduc, 35, 15486 Anthony, Romulus, Democrat; Milton Mack, 33, 2921 Elizabeth, Wayne, Democrat; Bouglas Ritter, 30, 42010 Fairview, Canton, Democrat; Robert Smith, 35, 45161 Harmony Lane, Belleville, Democrat; Leonard Wisniewski, 22909 Huron River Dr., Rockwood, Democrat; and Gary Bates, 24765 Bell, New Boston, Democrat.

Wisniewski did not respond to the League's questionnaire.

BIOGRAPHICAL information on the candidates follows:

Bennett: Corporate officer, broker — West Point Real Estate Co.; trustee — Canton Township; Schoolcraft Community College 1969 and 1970; comptroller of area Sheraton and Hilton Hotels, Canton Township's representative on planning commission. Hotel and apartment complex management — two years.

Kress: Receiving checker Ford Motor Co.; Henry Ford High School, Chadsey High School, Faithway Baptist; Precinct Delegate 6th; insurance two years; ran for county commissioner, '80.

Boroff: Machine setter, Ford Motor Transmission Plant — Livonia; Wayne High School; background: "Worker!"

Chenault: Unemployed; 2 ½ years at U-M; 12 years Realtor Associate — Real Estate One 10-½ years, Earl Keim 1-½ years; trust accounting, Mfg. National Bank, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company Agency — bill investigation; certified by state to appraise real property; Planning Comission & Zoning Board; board of appeals.

D'Angelo: Legislative and Planning Analyst; B.S.S.W., Ohio State University, 1978; M.S.W. specialization in Policy and Planning, U-M, 1979. Since 1979, involved in program planning, research, evaluation, analyses of legislative proposals, legislative research, cutting budgets, making programs more accountable and cost effective.

Leduc: Community organizer; master in social work, University of Michigan; member: school board; Steering Committee and chairman of Belleville/Romulus FISH; National Association for Social Work; actively advocated with SEMTA for Senior Citizens busing service; experience in obtaining Community Block Grants.

Mack: Eastern attorney; Eastern Michigan University (B.S., 1972), Wayne State University (J.D., 1975); Wayne city councilman; mayor protem; named one of the outstanding councilman in western Wayne County by Associated Newspapers in 1982; Outstanding Young Man Award, Wayne Jaycees 1981-1982.

Ritter: Material control analyst, Warehousing & Distribution Division General Motors; Eastern Michigan University; Married — three children; elected trustee and former chairman of Founding Board; Canton Jaycees. Communications Portolio Mgr. Michigan Jaycees; Michigan & Canton Historical Societies. Michigan Citizens Lobby; Canton Tax Limitation Committee.

Smith: Computer programmer, Wayne County Sheriff; Trenton High School 1965; Eastern Michigan B.S., 1969; Lived in Wayne County for 35 years; worked way through college by working as substitute teacher; ambulance medic; lifeguard; and gas station attendant. Army infantry company commander, Vietnam.

Bates: Nurseryman — landscape contractor; O.S.U. '67 Graduate — land architect; Elected 1980 Huron Twp. trustee; Rotarian; Applefest chairman '81; Goodfellow.

THE QUESTIONS asked by the League and the answers given by each responding candidate follows:

1.To bring county expenditures in line with revenues which budget items would you cut? Which items would you seek to protect?

Bates: The issue of, ". . . which county expenditures to cut," is an interesting challenge. I'll tell you what has been done so far. A reduction of the Sheriff's Department budget has been proposed in an effort to intimidate the public into passing a countywide millage. I guarantee every sleeper on the county payroll will be gone before we lose one deputy sheriff.

Smith: Many budget problems have been addressed in the new charter, streamlining provided will help our financial crisis. Areas I would seek to eliminate are: The office of fiscal advisor; the office of Criminal Justice; the county lobbyist to Lansing; the county civil defense; and public information director. Total Savings approximately $1.2 million.

Ritter: Cuts are necessary and will be made, but only after thorough commission review of all programs. Absolutely no department, commission or bureau will be immune from this review.

Wayne County should not pay the state share of programs that the state creates but does not properly fund.

Mack: Obtain independent, professional, nonpolitical advisors to review all county financial practices to establish a framework for long-range sensible budget practices. I would eliminate all unnecessary and unproductive county and road commission positions and increase the efficiency and productivity of all positions through use of private-sector productivity standards.

Leduc: I advocate: for a moratorium on hiring; and to conduct a complete and independent audit of all county departments; in order to accurately determine where available money can best be utilized. I seek to protect: Office on Aging; Human Relations; Board of Health; Park and Parkways; Detroit Metropolitan County Airports.

D'Angelo: Each budget item must be analyzed to identify instances of waste and overlap. Salaries of Wayne County civil servants must be frozen, and employees must be employed more effectively. All measures must be taken to force the County Road Commission to make better use to the revenues it receives.

Chenault: Wayne County has been operating with one mill for approximately 10 years. The budget has been cut by more than 10 percent within the last five years. All items are critical to the community. Furthermore, it is schools which demand the largest cut from taxes, and the people need to be educated on the subject.

Boroff: The county commissioner's position is a part-time job and always has been. County commissioners' pay should be cut 50 percent. Department heads should take a pay cut. Every department must be looked at and gone over with a fine-tooth comb.

Kress: To cut these items which the individual can do for himself or herself and keep the police and firemen on the job.

Bennett: Wayne County has been crippled by its financial crises. No budget item must be protected. The county must not spend more money than it generates and, I will never vote for a budget that exceeds revenues. That vote, however, is not enough. It must be backed with leadership to say NO to budget busters.

2. What do you consider the most critical problem facing the county and how would you solve it?

Bennett: Financial credibility is the most critical problem facing the county. I believe I can solve the problem by investigating expenditures before they are made and never spending money we don't have. The county should not be bailed out. I demand financial responsibility.

Kress: Crime. Lack of work, business levy, high taxes, the laying off of critical forces. By lowering taxes, getting government out of things that the individual can do for themselves and protecting life and property. Man can survive best by earning what he gets. Money received and not earned deteriorates the human character.

Boroff: Credibility. The answer to question one must be the first step in regaining the people's trust. I would work hard to show the people that government is for their benefit and not just for professional politicians.

Chenault: Not enough revenue to operate the county. Assessments have been escalating because of a multiplier or factor created through real estate sales. Majority rule does not seem to apply to the 90 percent or more of real estate which does not sell. Amending state constitution would solve some of the problems.

D'Angelo: The elderly population in Wayne County is growing rapidly, and these residents have the right to live here with a sense of security and dignity. Those services which help the elderly stay healthy, and active in the community must be maintained. Police, fire, and emergency medical services must be available.

Leduc: Consulting with appropriate committees to determine options for broadening taxing powers of the county by means other than millage-related levies (hotel-motel rentals; 50 cents surcharge on airport passengers utilizing in-out flight entertainment admissions). Adjust statutory nonstatutory services fees for recovering acutal costs and providing for economic increases.

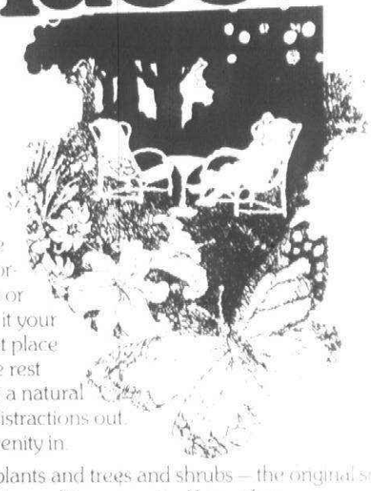

Mack: Delivery of services at a fair costs. The first duty of government is to serve the people, not itself. Just I have fought the road commission people, not itself. Just I have fought the road commission as the attorney for the Charter Commission against their hastily formed executive union. I will continue to work for reform of Wayne County.

Ritter: Wayne County's fiscal crisis. Solution: Elimination of top-heavy administration and waste by investigation and cuts; to develop more realistic revenue estimates and better budgets; make the state of Michigan pay its fair (legal) share of the programs it delegates to the county; and get rid of slippery methods of property taxation.

Bates: Complacency is the most critical problem. Elected officals are complacent. Supervisors are complacent. Employees are complacent. The whole structure is a rat's nest of complacency. If I'm elected, I will lift up the lid, and you will see the rats run. I just hope the voters aren't complacent.

Smith: The most critical problem is that the budget will not balance. This can be accomplished in the long term by implementing the above (changes in Question 1). Short term, some temporary employee concessions or layoffs may be needed. Also needed is aggressive administration to prevent overspending on budgeted expenditures and subsequent supplemental funding.

37th House hopefuls respond

Mahalak: Many of the sunbelt states do not have abundant fresh water sources as does Michigan. I believe we must keep our water for use in our state. I believe this water must be kept fresh and pure. And, I believe that we must move to protect our valuable land resources

Price: Toxic waste; air and water polution; nuclear threat; food contamination; destruction of habitat for wild life.

Stricter regultions, tougher penalties and enforcement of both.

Kosteva: Contamination of water and loss of agricultural lands are major resource concerns. Water quality must be protected through should reulation and capable, credible enforcement. To retain agricultural land, we should adopt taxation on crop value (use), not market value. Preservation laws should be revised to address problems of suburban farmers.

Jacques: I have not studied this question enough to answer at this time.

Cadaret: Waste disposal seems to be the greatest threat at present and the state has not approached this problem effectively. Statewide short-term and long-term planning is required and the input of local government and business must be solicited.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next legislative session?

Jacques: Lower taxes.

Cadaret: To establish myself as an effective leader in the legislature. To support my consituents relative to all state functions. To propose solutions to the above problems and tirelessly work for their implementation. To keep my constituents informed.

Kosteva: To communicate with and truly represent the people in the 37th district is my first priority. Legislators communicate too much with lobby groups and too little with the people. Secondly, I intend to re-evaluate state government to the best of my ability, eliminate waste, fraud, unnecessary programs and bureaucracy.

Price: Human rights of employment, protection under the law, education and equal opportunity. Rights to clean air, clean food and clean water. Right to maintain property without fear of loss to taxes and inflation. Right to competent, reponsible government whose members put rights of people before their own greed.

Mahalak: Michigan's highway system is in need of repairs. One of my personal priorities in the new Legislature will be to work on transportation improvements and funding for those improvements.

ENERGY.
We can't afford to waste it.

7th annual festival comes this weekend

SUNSHINE SERVICE by the Canton United Council of Churches begins Sunday events at 8 a.m. at Griffin Park. After the service, Canton's recreation department is sponsoring an 18-hole golf tournament at 11 a.m. at Fellows Creek Golf Course on Lotz north of Michigan Avenue.

It's back to Griffin Park around 12:30 p.m. to watch the Canton Kitchen Band, Polish dancers, Banjo's of Michigan and the corn-eating contest.

The second annual Cow Chip Fling begins at 2:30 p.m. at the park. The contest, which has attained popularity nationwide, features residents and local celebrities tossing a dried cow chip like a Frisbee for accuracy and distance.

The contest has its own queen, Ruth Huebler, 54, who will officiate at the activity. She also will ride on a manure spreader during the parade. The spreader is donated by long-time Canton farmer Roger Bordine.

Canton Wheels square dancers will be on stage at 3:30 p.m. During that time, the Canton Chamber of Commerce will serve its annual chicken barbecue dinner from noon to 6 p.m.

Various softball games and a tournament will be featured at the park throughout the three-day event.

Alternative education benefits many students

"The first thing he would want to do is punch," she added. "He is a little behind, scholastically."

The youth came to Canton three years ago to be with his father and stepmother.

"It was a lot thrown at him at one time," said his stepmother. "He has made a lot of progress. They (staff) really seem to care about the kids."

AT LEARNING Options, Jones is learning to control his emotions, and he's taking more interest in his classes. He enjoys art, and likes to write reports when he is allowed to select the topic.

"They do deal a lot with behavior, but they deal with it as far as privileges," added Mrs. Jones. "If they continue (with disruptive behavior), more privileges are taken away. They're unable to go on field trips."

Larry Smith is trying harder these days because he doesn't want to go back to West Middle School. Smith's absenteeism has resulted in flunking the ninth grade, and at 15, he's older than the other students.

"He isn't really proud of going to Growth Works," said his father, Carl. "If he doesn't do a good enough job, they will send him back to West. He was in school with sixth and seventh graders."

IN THE PAST, father and son struggled for the upper hand, fighting over the youth's skipping and marijuana smoking. Mrs. Smith hid problems from her husband, which created discord.

The Plymouth family went to counseling, which helped the parents. Now, Larry Smith is learning that more freedom will come from better behavior — not the other way around.

"For three weeks, he hasn't been high," said the elder Smith. "His reports are coming good. Basically, everyone at Growth Works has a problem — the problems may not all be the same. I highly recommend the program."

Youth get 2nd chance to learn

"It's a little intense down here," he added. "They have it coming at them all the time."

On a recent visit, a group of about 10 students studied and discussed slang and use of idioms. Teacher Joe Galura instructed, while Spitz maintained discipline.

The students were restless. One boy stuck his pen into an electric fan, incurring the anger of another student. A girl got up to peek at someone's test paper, and the boy next to her pulled away her chair.

Weekly progress reports are sent home to parents, and there are parent groups which discuss issues and goals of the program.

About 75-80 percent of the students show improved behavior and remain in school, according to Spitz.

"We measure behavior against the condition the student was in when he or she arrived in the program," Spitz added. "We get them to a position where they can make wise choices."

Will seek tax relief

Ford gets development district

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Ford Motor Co. is expected to request tax relief for a proposed $38.6 million in improvements at its Sheldon Road plant.

The request will follow the establishment Tuesday night of an industrial development district encompassing the 143-acre site.

The district must be created before Ford can ask for the 50-percent tax abatement on capital improvements at the site. Ford will ask for 12 years of tax relief, the maximum under Public Act 198.

The company is considering re-equipping the climate control plant to perform vacuum brazing. The re-equipping would bring the latest brazing technology to the plant (coating with a metal having a high melting point, such as brass).

Some $35.5 million is expected to be spent on equipment, with $3.1 million being invested in building modifications, Ford spokesperson Jerry Brown said Tuesday.

Should the abatement be granted and Ford approves the project, some $3.5 million would be generated in new tax revenues $2.5 million to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $689,000 to Wayne County and $327,000 to the township.

If Ford goes ahead with the project, the continued use of the Sheldon Plant would be insured, Brown said.

The plant was built in 1967, and reached its peak employment of 1,500 in 1974. Currently the plant employs 825 people and produces heating and air conditioning units for Ford cars and trucks.

The plant workers, members of UAW Local 845, favor the project, according to workers attending the board meeting. Many workers at the plant live in the Plymouth area.

The project would keep the manpower at the current level, plant manager Jerry Kania said.

"Any upturn in the economy and upturn in the vehicle output would assuredly increase the number of jobs," Kania said.

Township officials are expected to set a hearing date for the tax relief later this week.

Band preps for camp

The Plymouth Community Educational Park (CEP) Band Boosters are seeking all ninth graders in the middle school music program who are interested in joining the CEP Marching Band for its 1982 season.

All students with two years' music background (in band, orchestra or chorus) are invited to join the band. Students also must be enrolled in a music class in a middle school to participate.

An orientation meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Aug. 17 in the band room of Phase III at Plymouth Canton High School, Canton Center Road just south of Joy, for all band students and their parents.

Aug. 13 is the deadline to apply for the CEP Marching Band

Because of the limited time before band camp (Aug. 22-28), it is essential that all interested ninth graders contact either Kathy Hurtebise at 981-4213 or Mary Jo LaBeau at 453-3512 for further information.

Kammer: Focus on business, not labor

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

State Sen. Kerry Kammer said he wants to put more state funds into education, drastically reform Michigan's workers' and unemployment compensation laws and see M-275 extended northwest.

The two-term legislator from Clarkston is making a bid for the Democratic nomination for governor. He said he's not a traditional Democrat, influenced or supported by big labor.

"My attitudes are different. I support business interests because, unless we have employers in this state, we won't have jobs," Kammer said.

"Michigan ought to be something other than a social experiment for labor," he added.

KAMMER SAID he supports the M-275 extension from Novi to Clarkston because of the western Oakland County lakes area's heavy population growth.

"We have to take a realistic attitude about the downtown areas. I'd like to create some inducements to recreate a strong commercial and industrial business activity in urban centers," he said.

"But if the people are moving out of the urban area, it's government's role to meet their transporation needs," the senator said.

ON EDUCATION, Kammer promotes what he calls the "20-percent solution," or Senate Joint Resolution O.

Kerry Kammer
"attitudes are different"

A proposed constitutional amendment, it may be put to Michigan voters in November. It would set aside 20 percent of the total state budget (excluding federal funds) for K-12 education.

"To make the jump from the present 15 percent to the proposed 20 percent funding level feasible, SJR O calls for phasing in the change over a five-year span, guaranteeing 16 percent in 1983-84, 17 percent in 1984-85 until the 20-percent threshold is reached," Kammer said.

Once the 20-percent guarantee level has been reached, school aid each year would be guaranteed to increased sufficiently to cover inflationary cost increases, as measured by the Consumer Price Index. It would be allowed to increase up to 2 percent each year for real growth beyond inflation, he said.

Kammer noted that in 1965, the state funded 55 percent of K-12 education.

"Since then the state has been shifting the burden on the local governments through property taxes and tuition," he added.

Kammer said he has more educational endorsements than any other candidate, notably from the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

WHILE GIVING more money to education, Kammer wants to take some away from general assistance programs.

"I support a 6-percent reduction to the general assistance budget to make it competitive with neighboring states. We've got to bring AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) in line.

"I also don't exclude workfare. We need to give people (on welfare) the tools to involve themselves in meaningful work," Kammer said.

KAMMER, LIKE other candidates, said he supports making Michigan a competitive business state.

"But before we work on bringing other companies into Michigan we have to figure how what we can do to retain the ones we have," he said.

"We have to determine what's causing our rates (for unemployment and workers' compensation insurance) to be higher than surrounding states. Why do we have so many abuses?

"I voted against the single business tax in 1975, and I'm still against it. We should switch to a profits tax," he said.

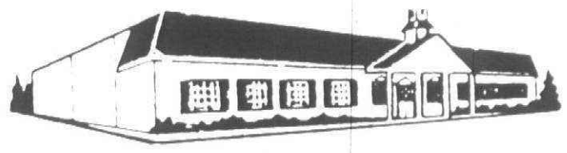

KAMMER WAS Pontiac city clerk for two years before toppling veteran Republican state Sen. L. Harvey Lodge in 1974. Prior to that, he was a regional manager for an insurance firm. In 1978 he was re-elected unopposed from a north Oakland district that included Pontiac.

Kammer said he gained his economic background from his work on the Senate Appropriations Committee.

He is the chairman of the subcommittees on school aid, the Department of Education and the Department of Natural Resources.

He is also a member of the Agriculture Subcommittee and the Capital Outlay Subcommittee.

School system takes a beating

To the editor:

I write in the interest of preserving one of the few outstanding programs left intact at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP). That is, it was intact and thriving when I last participated in it.

As of September 1982 it may very well decay, along with several other fine programs such as foreign languges, journalism, etc., which were severely maimed by the last budget cuts and have gone wherever sound educational curricula goes to die. I speak of the philosophy department, headed and taught soley by Stephen Williams.

Rumor — and official notification of the above mentioned teacher — has it that Williams will be moved to the middle schools this fall, presumably to teach social studies and history.

This most recent personnel maneuver may be to the benefit of his middle school students. Williams is a skillful motivator and can urge your children to go beyond good grades to a rich enthusiasm in their learning. But the gain for a few is a loss for many. Indeed, when he leaves CEP, the philosophy department also leaves, for Williams is the philosophy department.

Such a loss may not seem important to anyone who sees philosophy as a "frill" or "impractical." However, that is not reflected in the sentiments of many students who, after history and/or philosophy with Williams, decide to continue their education when 10 long years in public school systems have told them that it's not worth the work; students who previously wouldn't work for a "B," and now aren't satisfied with an "A."

Students who, perhaps for the first time, see learning as a necessity — not some arbitrarily assigned task to be forgotten when the test is over.

As a freshman at Oberlin College this fall, I will not directly encounter many of the regressions of the CEP curriculum. However, if the philosophy department at CEP is eliminated, many of your children will.

With all due respect to the efforts of the social studies teachers elected to "fill in" the position to be vacated by Williams, there simply is no one at CEP with sufficient background to assume that role. It would be tantamount to replacing a surgeon with a sculptor and saying, "It's OK — they both work with their hands."

All in all, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has taken a beating. It is losing quickly what prestige it had. Admissions officers at various well-known colleges have noted that our college prepatory curriculum leaves much to be desired as it is sparse and narrow. To effectively eliminate philosophy only adds to the demise of the school system.

I urge you as parents and citizens to give your children the advantage of a fine background in philosophy by retaining it intact (i.e., headed by Williams). The quality of their lives depends upon it.

Responds to edit on Lucas

To the editor:

I feel I must respond to your editorial in the July 29 edition regarding the new county executive.

While it is, of course, your right to endorse whomever you want, I feel you could have done it in a much cleaner way. Bad-mouthing another candidate while praising your own has never appealed to me; I think it's childish, petty and in extremely poor taste. It does not speak well of any newspaper.

If you honestly belive that Sheriff William Lucas and his "henchmen" are responsible for the county deficit, you have been listening with only one ear and to men who are jealous and/or afraid of Lucas.

Of course Sheriff Lucas took on the county commissioners. He knows that is where the problems lie. That the commissioners were "instructed" to disband the road patrol and, in effect, Sheriff Lucas, is at this point irrelevant. That they were successful in this endeavor is just a minor setback for the sheriff.

The sheriff is a county man all the way. He knows what he is doing. Any man who stands up to the commissioners is a fighter. Instead of bad-mouthing him all the time, grow up and give him a break.

While Ed McNamara probably knows how to run Livonia, that alone does not quallfy him to govern all of Wayne County.

We must keep in mind that no man is perfect. McNamara also his faults, and to be fair about this situation, they should be both given equal opportunity.

Homes found for the French

To the editor:

As Michigan coordinators of the North Atlantic Cultural Exchange League (NACEL), we want to express our gratitude to the Observer for the article about our need for host families.

Thanks to you and people like you we found almost 100 volunteer families in 2½ weeks, and we were able to place all our French students with excellent families in Canton and Plymouth. These families were thrilled that they had the opportunity to participate in the exchange.

When we begin our search for host families next year, we will be contacting you again and hoping that you will still be interested in helping us spread the word. This really is an excellent program, and we feel you have a right to be proud of making this super opportunity available to families who wouldn't have heard about it otherwise.

Meanwhile, let us again express our sincere appreciation. Thank you, or should we say, "Merci beaucoup."

"HE'S RIGHT ON THE ISSUES"

JOBS
"We have to take some positive steps to get Michigan's economy back in shape again. A large part of our problem is the poor business climate in Michigan today."
LAW wants to make Michigan more attractive for existing and new business to encourage diversification, expansion and jobs.

PROPERTY TAX RELIEF
"Inflation has taken the control over property tax growth out of the hands of the voters. The continuing inflationary rise in property values has resulted in spiraling tax bills. We must move ahead now to develop a program of relief for homeowners." LAW's intent is to restore that control to the voters where it belongs.

CRIME
"Stiff mandatory sentences for major drug dealers and legislation to allow adult courts to deal with juveniles committing violent felonies should be adopted.
In addition, the current practice of allowing "early release from prison" which lets many criminals get away without the punishment they deserve, should be eliminated."

LET'S ELECT LAW STATE REPRESENTATIVE REPUBLICAN

GOP sees chance at county exec post

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

Republican Wayne County executive hopefuls think they may have a shot at winning the race Nov. 2 if the Democratic nominee is Sheriff William Lucas.

"No one believes a Republican can win in Wayne County . . . but the chance might come if Lucas wins the Democratic nomination," said Republican contender Harry Stearnes.

No Republican has won countywide office in Wayne County since 1946.

None of the candidates supports the board's ballot proposal asking voters to approve a one-mill increase to reduce the county's present $17 million deficit.

A HALF-DOZEN candidates are on the Aug. 10 Republican primary ballot, but only two are campaigning heavily — Stearnes, 58, of Plymouth Township, and Robert FitzPatrick, 48, of Dearborn.

FitzPatrick, a lifelong Democrat, tried to file for both the Democratic and Republican primaries. After losing a court fight, he "reluctantly" withdrew as a Democrat and chose to run as a Republican, insisting the office should be nonpartisan anyway.

"Polls showed that Sheriff Lucas had a commanding lead in name recognition and probably would win in the Democratic primary. My decision to run as a Republican enabled me to be in a position to reach the finals," Fitzpatrick said.

OTHER REPUBLICAN contenders, who are campaigning only lightly if at all, include: J.C. Johnson Jr. of Detroit, Gary R. Salisbury of Ecorse, Lawrence G. Schweiger of Livonia and Stephen Wrobel of Hamtramck.

Stearnes, public information officer for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, writes the board's news releases that are sent to news media across the county. He earned a bachelor's degree at the University of Michigan and has been in the news and public relations business most of his working years.

As county executive, Stearnes said his goals are to: bring the county's auditing prcedures in line with the rest of the state; expand county road patrol into areas willing to pay for the service; and establish firm specifications in hiring tests. He also favors autonomous operation of Wayne County General Hospital by the Board of Institutions.

Stearns said that as CEO he would tighten budgetary leaks, reduce entry-level salaries and balance the countyy staff to avoid overtime payments.

FITZPATRICK is executive director of the Wayne County Economic Development Corp. He earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Pacific Western University and Florida State University.

FitzPatrick was chairman for two terms of the County Board of Commissioners (1971-74) and chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

He suggests using the old County Building, presently being renovated with EDC funds, for the CEO's office. He also favors scaled-down government.

Fitzpatrick said he will ask for resignations from all appointed county department heads (other than those who are elected), reorganize civil service and seek an amendment to the charter to eliminate the drain commissioner. He also favors eliminating cost of living allowances for officials and replacing jail deputies with civil service employees.

Hearing set on anti-drug education

A public hearing on a 1982-83 drug abuse prevention program in the schools will be held by the Board of Education and the staff of the Wayne County Intermediate School District on Wednesday, Aug. 11.

The meeting will begin at 3:30 p.m. in the Intermediate District Education Center, 33500 Van Born, Wayne.

The hearing precedes submission of a proposal to the Michigan Department of Public Health, Office of Substance Abuse Services, for a grant of $176,811. The funds will be used for in-service training of public school teachers, administrators and support and staff in areas related to substance abuse education and prevention.

4 are on ballot for Congress in 15th District

William D. Ford (D)30

U.S. Congressman William D. Ford is seeking re-election from the 15th Congressional District. The district includes the southern section of Livonia, all of Garden City, Westland and Canton Township, several downriver communities and part of Monroe County.

Ford, 54, was elected to Congress in 1964. he is now serving his ninth term. He received bachelor's and law degrees from the University of Denver. He also attended Nebraska State Teachers' College and Wayne State University. A native of Detroit, Ford attended Henry Ford Trade School and graduated from Melvindale High School. He served in the U.S. Navy and was an offier in the U.S. Air Force Reserve.

Ford is chairman of the post office and civil service committee and is the second-ranking majority member of the House committee on education and labor. He is a member of the National Commission on Student Financial Assistance and chairman of the Education Commission of the States' Task Force on Migrant Education. He formerly served as an education advisor to UNESCO (United Nations' Education Scientific and Cultural Organization) and is now a member of the advisory commitee for Harvard University's newly formed Institute for Educational policy Studies.

1. Specifically, how would you deal with the current state of the economy?

First, lower strangling interest rates so consumers can buy and businesses can invest, thereby reducing the deficit. Reduce defense spending increases, defer 1983 tax cut, perhaps the 1985 indexing plan and end giveaway tax breaks such as those to profit rich oil companies.

2. List any modifications you would make in the Social Security system.

It would be unconscionable to cut Social Security benefits. To get over the short-term difficulties, inter-fund borrowing must be permitted. By 1990, all trust funds will be solvent until about 2025. We should not be panicked into ill-advised and unfair actions.

3. Would you advocate reducing the projected federal deficit, and if so, how?

It is essential to reduce the deficit to restore confidence and lower interest rates. But we should not try to balance the budget on the backs of those least able to carry the burden. First, we should defer the 1983 tax cut, close loopholes that benefit the rich and reduce defense spending increases.

4. What changes, if any, are needed in the U.S. Defense policy?

We must maintain a nuclear arsenal sufficient to deter attack. But we must insure that we do not extravagantly over-build at the expense of all our social progress. And we must improve our conventional forces so nuclear arms remain the final deterrent.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next Congress?

First, we need a full-employment policy to end the devastating recession. This is the only true path to meeting all our commitments to a strong defense, social justice and economic progress. As a first step, the Congress must enact legislation requiring that automobiles sold in the United States included a large percentage of parts and labor from North America ("local content" legislation).

Gerald R. Carlson (D)

Gerald R. Carlson, 40, of Wayne is seeking the Democratic nomination from the 15th Congressional District.

Carlson received a bachelor's degree from the Univerisy to Michigan. He has studied in Germany and Sweden and was a Russian linguist in the U.S. Air Force. He works as an electrician and private detective.

1. Specifically, how would you deal with the current state of the economy?

Lower interests rates so people can buy houses and cars, and businessmen can borrow money. Deport all illegal aliens. Make sure rich pay their share of taxes. Balance tariffs with all countries. Enforce laws — all crime drains economy. Oppose other big-spenders like Bill Ford.

2. List any modifications you would make in the Social Security system.

Cut off Social Security for illegal aliens and so-called political refugees from Cuba and Haiti. Cut off Social Security for prisoners. Do not fund educational programs through Social Security. The people who pay into the Social Security system should benefit from it nobody else.

3. Would you advocate reducing the projected federal deficit, and if so, how?

Yes. Instead of increasing defense spending $30 billion, only go $20. Stop foreign aid of $3 billion annually to Israel — cut other foreign aid. Make sure the rich pay their share of taxes. Cut size of federal bureaucracy — especially free-loaders. Cut back on welfare.

4. What changes, if any, are needed in the U.S. defense policy?

Do not recruit incompetent soldiers, (Army reading level is 3rd grade). Discharge dope users and riff-raff. Defend our borders against penetration by illegal Mexican aliens, boat-people and Cuban and Haitian rabble. Maintain technical superiority over Russians and improve our intelligence gathering. Support space exploration.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next Congress?

To get equal rights for America's white minorities: Swedes, Poles, Italians, Irish, Germans, Hungarians, Greeks, Ukrainians, Czechs, Finns, Lithuanians, etc. plus southerners, who are minorities, up here. There is no United White Majority — working whites have nothing in common with radical liberals or the rich.

Glen Kassel (R)

Glen Kassel, 57, is candidate for the Republican nomination from the 15th Congressional District.

A Westland resident, Kassel is a real estate broker and owner-operator of Sims Agency in Wayne. He teaches real estate classes for the Wayne-Westland School District adult education program. He is a registered mechanical engineer. He attended the University of Michigan, Chrylster Institute and the American Real Estate Academy.

1. Specifically, how would you deal with the current state of the economy?

Action. Upon taking office, I will work to obtain immediate federal relief for our area, and secure honest, straightforward commitments from Washington for the long term recovery of Michigan.

2. List any modifications you would make in the Social Security system.

I favor legislation that would guarantee the future of our Social Security system by automatically drawing from other federally-funded programs, such as foreign aid, if ever required. Please understand that I am not against foreign aid, but absolutely believe that even the thought of Social Security being "threatened" is out of the question.

roll call report

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 22-28.

HOUSE

NERVE GAS — The House adopted, 232 for and 181 against, an amendment to prevent the U.S. from manufacturing nerve gas for chemical warfare. The vote deleted $54 million from the fiscal 1983 defense authorization bill that was earmarked for resuming nerve gas production, which was suspended by President Nixon in 1969. The $177.1 billion military spending bill (HR 6030) was headed for final passage and conference with the Senate.

Supporter Ed Bethune, D-Ark., said "peace-loving people all over the world agree with the American stand against biological and chemical weapons. They know that poison gases kill and main more civilians than soldiers."

Opponent Richard White, D-Texas, said the U.S. needs a chemical warfare capability to deter the Soviet Union from using its chemical weapons against western forces. "This is the real world, not the world we would like it to be," he said.

Members voting "yea" opposed U.S. development of nerve gas for chemical warfare.

Reps. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth; David Bonior, D-Mount Clemens; William Ford, D-Taylor; William Brodhead, D-Detroit; James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge; and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, voted "yea."

DRAFT EVADERS — The House adopted, 303 for and 95 against, an amendment to deny federal student loans to young men who fail to register for the draft. An estimated 500,000 to 700,000 youths have failed to sign up, many of whom now get or plan to apply for government education loans. The amendment was attached to HR 6030 (see preceding vote).

Supporter Thomas Hartnett, R-S.C., said "the Chinese laundry operator had an old saying, 'no tickee, no laundry.' I think the American people expect their young men, it they are going to receive financial assistance from this government, to at least abide by the laws of this land."

Opponents said the amendment discriminated against poor and middle-class youth who depend on student loans, and that the law already contains penalties for draft evaders. Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., said one reason for the high non-registration rate is that millions of Americans "feel that this (draft) law is absurd and useless."

Members voting "yea" favored cutting off federal school loans to draft evaders.

Broomfield voted "yea."
Pursell, Ford, Brodhead voted "nay."
Bonior and Blanchard did not vote.

HIGHER TAXES — By a vote of 208 for and 197 against, the House accepted without change the Senate-passed bill (HR 4961) generating $99 billion in new tax revenue between fiscal 1983-85 while cutting domestic spending by $17 billion over the three years. This was largely a political maneuver by the Democratic-controlled House to saddle Republicans, who control the Senate, with the stigma of having raised taxes in an election year. GOP critics said the House's failure to pass its own tax bill violated the constitutional requirement that all revenue-raising measures originate in the House. The bill is now in House-Senate conference.

Supporter Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, said that while he had "deep personal misgivings" about the unorthodox legislative procedure, "the servere economic distress and volatile political environment . . . dictate that we travel this route."

Opponent John Rousselot, R-Calif., said supporters were "totally abandoning the Constitution" while approving a foot-and-a-half thick bill that few if any House members had read.

Members voting "yea" supported the Senate-authored revenue bill.

Pursell, Ford and Brodhead voted "yea."
Broomfield voted "nay."

SENATE

WITHHOLDING — By a vote of 47 for and 50 against, the Senate rejected an amendment to block a new procedure for collecting taxes on interest and dividend income. The vote left intact a requirement that financial institutions withold 10 percent of such income they pay to virutally all individuals except the poor and the elderly. This would not increase anybody's tax liability, but it would increase federal revenues by about $12 billion over the next three years by insuring collections from tax cheaters who fail to report dividend and interest income under the present system. Presently, taxpayers are expected to pay dividend and interest taxes annually when they file their returns with the IRS. Under the new provision, taxpayers would at the end of the year pay and dividend and interest income taxes they owe in addition to the 10 percent already witheld.

The vote occurred during debate on a bill (HR 4961) to raise $99 billion in new taxes between fiscal 1983-85 while cutting $17 billion in domestic spending. The bill was later passed and sent to the House.

Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., who wanted to block the withholding provision, said the new collection procedure is "a disincentive toward savings and investment" that would place a heavy paperwork burden on the IRS and financial institutions.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who opposed the amendment, said "the case for withholding is based on the premise that no one has the right to cheat on taxes."

Senators voting "nay" wanted taxes to be witheld from interest and dividend income.

Sen. Donald Reigle, D, voted "yea."
Sen. Carl Levin, D, voted "nay."

THREE-MARTINI LUNCH — The Senate adopted, 57 for and 40 against, an amendment reducing by half the tax deduction for business meals. Presently, the full cost may be deducted. Under the amendment, only half the cost of meals eaten in the taxpayer's home area is deductible. The deduction while travelling remains at 100 percent. The amendment, attached to HR 4961 (see preceding vote), is designed to raise $2.8 billion annually.

Sponsor Bob Dole, R-Kan., said that under present law "unfairness and abuse result . . . because meal and entertainment deductions are allowed for expenses that are essentially for the personal benefit and enjoyment" of business and businesswomen.

Opponent George Mitchell, D-Maine, said he would prefer raising about $3 billion by deferring the third year of the personal income tax cut for people earning at least $150,000 annually.

Senators voting "yea" wanted to halve the tax deduction for business meals.

Levin voted "nay."

TAX HIKES — The Senate passed, 50 for and 47 against, a bill (HR 4961; see preceding votes) that is the largest peacetime tax increase in U.S. history. Weight against corporations and wealthy individuals, and concentrating on more efficient collection of existing taxes, the bill would raise $20.9 billion in fiscal 1983 and $99 billion between 1983-85. The bill also cuts spending for Medicare and welfare by $17 billion over the three years. It was written by the GOP-controlled Finance Committee and virtually all of the votes against it were cast by Democrats.

Supporter Steven Symms, R-Idaho, said that while this marked his first vote ever in favor of a tax bill, he viewed the measure as necessary to reduce the national deficit and as legislation that stresses "the basic objective of fairness to the American people."

Opponent Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., Said it would have been preferable to repeal some of the massive tax cuts enacted last year "rather than adding 700 pages of new tax law to our already complex and convoluted tax code."

Senators voting "yea" supported the tax-hike legislation.

Riegle and Levin voted "nay."

White & White to break ground Monday at park

White & White Surgical Supply and Pharmacies will break ground Monday for its new regional offices and distribution center in Plymouth.

The firm's four-acre site is located in Metro-West Industrial Park at 5 Mile and Sheldon in Plymouth Township.

Among those attending the ceremony will be Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and Robert FitzPatrick, executive director of the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) of Wayne County.

Designed, engineered and constructed by the R.A. DeMattia Company of Farmington Hills, the 40,000-square-foot facility is being financed by a tax-free industrial development bond issued through the EDC of Wayne County.

Plymouth Township trustees designated Metro-West as an industrial development district under Public Act 198, enabling White & White (headquarted in Grand Rapids) and any future construction in the park to qualify for tax abatement.

DENIAL NAMED

Roy Denial of Canton has been named vice president of marketing for Judnich Typographers.

Denial's appointment is part of a reorganization and expansion of services for Judnich, which now is adding a division to be known as Judnich Creative Services.

Denial, a veteran advertising executive, once owned and operated his own public relations firm on Main Street in Plymouth and since 1979 was was vice president of Rossi & Company advertising agency in Detroit. Before that he had operated his own advertising agency and public relations firm for more than 20 years.

The new division will more adequately reflect recent growth in providing art preparation, keylining, copywriting, and photographic services, says president Richard Judnich.

Judnich recently moved from its headquarters in Dearborn to a new 3,600 square-foot facility in Southfield.

NEW ASSOCIATE

Dr. Timothy A. Schabeck has joined Odiorne International, Inc., a Plymouth management consulting organization, headquartered here since 1968, as a senior consulting associate.

Schabeck will retain his vice presidency with Practical Management Consulting, Inc. (PMC), a Royal Oak computer service organization which markets small business computers, packaged and custom software and time sharing services.

"Schabeck is a valuable addition to our staff and brings many years of education and experience in the data processing, computer security, and management consulting fields," says Jack Bologna, president of Odiorne International.

"The array of services we now can supply our clients will dramatically increase with his addition to our staff and with our affiliation with PMC.

"Featuring Point 4 medium-sized business computers and distributed processing," added Bologna, "we can provide high quality data processing services at reasonable rates to many local business and professional firms and governmental units."

Schabeck has been involved in the managerial and technical aspects of computer operations, systems design and analysis, and systems and applications programming since 1965.

He is internationally recognized as an expert in computer security and computer crime investigation. He has authored numerous articles on those subjects and two books: "Emergency Planning Guide for Data Processing Centers" and "Computer Crime Investigation Manual."

In his spare time, Schabeck serves as a chaplain for the Detroit Police Department and ministers to the inmates at the Federal Correctional Institution in Milan.

SALES AWARD

Charles and Ron Hoole of Canton Center Road, Plymouth, has been awarded a personal sales award plaque for their outstanding sales achievements as Amway distributors.

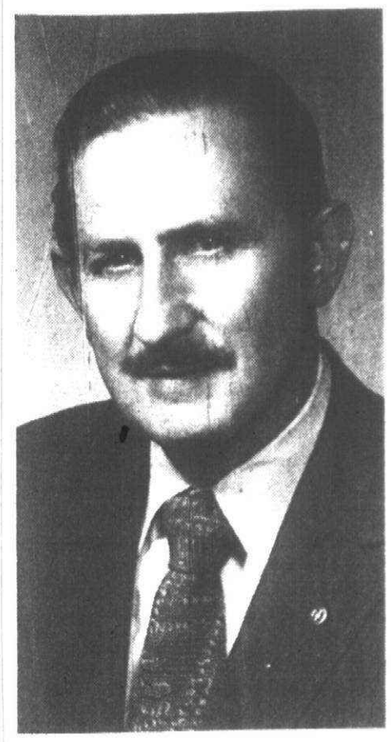

Headquarted in Ada, Mich., Amway started as a two-man business operation in 1959 and reached worldwide retail sales in 1979 in excess of $800 million.

CHAMBERS EXPAND

The chambers of commerce of both Plymouth and Canton continue to expand their membership.

Ford seeks Democratic nomination

3. Would you advocate reducing the projected federal deficit, and if so, how?

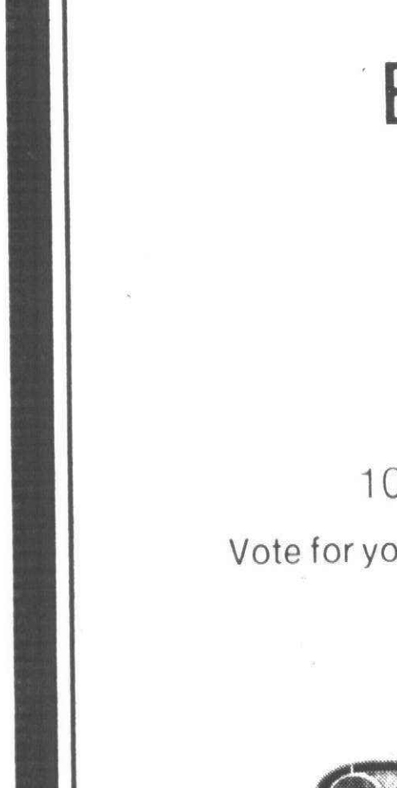

Yes. An important first step is to re-evaluate current government programs for both waste and effectiveness. Secondly, I support a balanced federal budget. We can not continue to spend more than we receive. A family can't do it. A business can't do it. Our govergnment can't do it.

4. What changes, if any, are needed in the U.S. defense policy?

I am in favor of a strong America, and believe the greatest single deterrent to foriegn aggression is military strength. To this end, I am in favor of our current U.S. defense policy. This is an area that requires trust in Washington. The general public cannot, for security reasons, be informed of all information related to our current defense policy. Above all, let's keep America free.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next Congress?

Obtain both immediate relief and long term commitments from Washington for the economy recovery of Michigan. Work to take the "treat" from our Social Security system. Cut back on federal taxes, and keep it that way. Work to stimulate the "genius" within our great country . . . not through bland, and ineffective government funding, but through a basic human nature orientated reward system. Example: Wanted . . . a solution to our automotive industries' energy consumption (fuel) problem. Reward . . . $1 million . . . tax free. Requirement: Simply fulfil above. (This kind of approach reaches people, and it was this kind of climate that motivated Edison and Bell and Ford).

Mitchell Moran (R)

Mitchell Moran of Taylor is a candidate for the Republican nomination from the 15th Congressional District.

Moran, 51, is in engineering management at Ford Motor Co. He is a former Taylro City Councilman and is a past director of the People's Community Hospital Authority. He served with the U.S. Marines in Korea.

He attended Henry Ford Community College and the Ford Motor Co. Institute.

1. Specifically, how would you deal with the current state of the economy?

We must reduce interest rates with a balanced budget and a goal to reducing federal deficit. Congress must encourage workfare and reduce welfare and thereby strengthen Social Security.

2. List any modifications you would make in the Social security system.

Bring the Social Security system back to the the purpose for which it was originally intended. Delete some of the programs which were added to the system. Congress must review the system annually with the adminsitration until it becomes a sound program with a cost reduction to the workers.

3. Would you advocate reducing the projected federal deficit, and if so, how?

The federal deficit must be reduced by reduction of the military spending. Reduce the manufacturing of nuclear weapons but continue research and development.

4. What changes, if any, are needed in the U.S. defense policy?

I believe the defense policy should be research and development into weaponry but reduce manufacturing.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next Congress?

- Balance budget.
- Reduce federal deficit.
- Reduce manufacturing of nuclear weapons.
- Job training for those who don't for college level education.

All talented need a chance

To the editor:

We should applaud the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education's action in allowing ninth-graders to participate in high-school athletics.

It appeared the board felt that although the ninth-graders could contribute to a better program at the middle schools, the best thing for the individual who is gifted in athletics is to participate in the professionally coached, advanced programs at the high school.

The many speakers at the board meetings rightly compared athletics to other areas of talent — such as music, art and dramatics. Tom Yack, board president, made the point that athletic talent can be compared to academic talent as well.

Some people still believe that an academically gifted student can "make it on his own." But talent is talent.

All talent needs the same kind of management, the best instruction available, and the encouragement and inspiration of challenging peers.

This is a fine opportunity to put to rest the mistaken impression that it's OK to nurture and encourage athletic talent, musical, artistic and other kinds of talent but to give academically talented children special attention is somehow elitist or undemocratic.

That kind of thinking is much out of place — especially in our enlightened community.

It is a significant indication of community awareness that, in a recent districtwide telephone poll coducted by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, 61 percent of the respondents were opposed to reducing the program for talented and gifted students.

The school board and administration are to be congratulated for their leadership in support of special programs for all the talented children, including the academically talented.

Joan Kotcher
President
Plymouth-Canton Association for Academically Talented

Please help pave our rocky roads

To the editor:

North Canton, I am very envious of you. The roads leading in and around your subdivisions are made up of smooth, concrete cement. Ours, in some areas of Canton, are made up of horrible, pot-holed ditches.

These are the holes that wear on your cars and finally destroy the shocks and exhaust systems. Our roads are so poorly maintained that when you pull over to the side to let someone pass, you get stuck in the mud at the side of the road.

On Aug. 10 on the ballot will be the question of an assessment for road improvements throughout Canton. Since I have lived in Canton, I have been hoping and praying for the chance to get a paved road.

The cost of about $32 a year over a period of five years is three times less than what I (would) have to pay for car repairs throughout the year because of our poorly kept road.

Furthermore, if you itemize on your tax return, the $32 you pay could be reduced.

I realize that when you have the pleasure of paved roads into your subdivision, it becomes very hard for you to vote a paved road for us.

However, I want you to think about our children coming home on school buses on iced-over, pot-holed roads. There are no seat belts in our children's buses. Heaven forbid the wheel catch one of our many huge pot holes. The bus could easily slide off the road and cause a terrible accident.

For my own child's sake, and the sake of other Canton residents' children, I would gladly pay $32 a year to perhaps help prevent a fatal accident.

Emergency vehicles during the winter — and after hard rains — also have problems getting to us as quickly as they should. One man in another township in Wayne County died because the ambulance got caught in a muddy, chuck-holed road.

From one Canton resident to another, please help us get a paved road. If not for the cars' comfort, for the children who put their lives in the hands of bus drivers everyday while traveling our horrible dirt roads.

Please vote yes on Aug. 10 for paving our roads.

Lisa Winkler

Don't overlook our 10th graders

To the editor:

As a concerned parent of both a ninth and 10th grade student, I welcome the chance for my ninth grader to participate in the high school programs. It is a shame that my 10th grader could not have had the same opportunity.

My concern is that in an attempt to prove how important this program is, that every effort is going to be made to include our ninth graders in the sports program.

Let us make sure our 10th graders are not overlooked. Let's give these boys and girls the chance they deserve.

Dining Out With THE AMERICAN EXPRESS® CARD

New Gourmet Seafood Specialties At J. Ross Browne's

Three new house specialties featuring succulent shrimp are being debuted by the creative chefs at the four J. Ross Browne's seafood restaurants located in the Detroit area.

Their new Shrimp and Scallops Madeira entrée has a savory Spanish flair. It features sautéed shrimp and scallops topped with J. Ross Browne's own Madeira sauce—a delicious blending of mushrooms, shallots and fresh tomatoes simmered in sweet Madeira wine, brandy, herbs and Espagnol sauce.

Spirits flavor the new Shrimp-Crowned Halibut dinner as well. Delicate white halibut is lightly sautéed and then topped with baby shrimp, mushrooms and shallots that have been sautéed in brandy butter.

The third entrée being premiered is especially for shrimp lovers—Shrimp a la Crème. They can enjoy a generous portion of shrimp sautéed with shallots and mushrooms and covered in a special champagne sauce.

J. Ross Browne's popular house specialty, Gourmet Stuffed Shrimp, is also a tempting offering, with five giant shrimp filled with a crabmeat and sautéed mushroom stuffing. These are covered with Monterey Jack cheese and baked so that they arrive at your table an appetizing bubbly brown.

The restaurants' perennially favorite gourmet delight, The San Franciscan, still tops the menu. It is a pure white fillet of mild seabass coated with sesame seeds and breadcrumbs, sautéed to a delicate brown and served flambéed with banana, pineapple and a hint of dark Puerto Rican rum.

J. Ross Browne's restaurants are located in Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Okemos and Warren. For reservations or information, call the location nearest you.

Steak Market

A Big Success At Mountain Jacks

The Steak Market section of the menu at all Mountain Jacks restaurants offers steak lovers just the steak they are hungry for—no matter what their appetite may be on any given visit.

At Mountain Jacks, there are 15 outstanding cuts of steak from which to choose. Each steak is corn-fed beef, aged to peak flavor and richly marbled for juicy tenderness. All are available in the Light Appetite Cut, the Full Cut, or, for those who are really hungry for a big, thick, juicy steak, the House Cut.

Included among this impressive array of superb steaks are a Delmonico, the tasty rib-eye which is the favorite choice for robust beef flavor; a Top Sirloin, selected especially for those who enjoy fine beef; a Marinated Top Sirloin, marinated in a flavorful blend of ingredients; the top-of-the-line gourmet prize, Filet Mignon; and the traditional steak lovers favorite, New York Strip Steak.

Beef enthusiasts also will not want to overlook the magnificent Prime Rib served at Mountain Jacks. It is so carefully selected and prepared that the restaurants stake their reputation on every slice served. The Prime Rib is available in a petite, standard or full cut.

Dinners are served with all the homemade soup of the day you wish, a salad you create from an array of fresh ingredients, fresh, hot bread with butter and your choice of long grain and wild rice, home fries or baked potato.

In the greater Detroit area, Mountain Jacks restaurants are located in Troy, Warren, Ann Arbor, Farmington Hills, Lansing and Dearborn Heights. Call the restaurant nearest you for further information or reservations.

Food And Fun Served At Carlos Murphy's

SOUTHFIELD...Carlos Murphy's Irish-Mexican Cafe, 29244 Northwestern Highway, is a successful combination of Blarney and Bull.

The Murphy's concept is Good Food, Good Drinks and Good Times—all of which this zany restaurant/drinking establishment provides. The food and drinks represent imagination and creativity as only an Irish-Mexican leprechaun could concoct. A lively bar caters to hundreds of happy revelers every night of the week.

A blending of traditional Irish fare, flavorful Mexican dishes and good old American favorites makes for an exciting and diverse menu. Likewise with the libations, which include such specialties as the Blarney Stoned, Green-Go, Irish Laced, Baja Sunshine, Acapulco Gold-rush and Siesta Sangria. "Don't drink the water, and we won't water your drinks" is the Carlos Murphy motto.

The restaurant, decorated with artifacts of every size and description, incorporates different levels and extensive open space to create an atmosphere where every guest can participate in the fun. As a result, Carlos Murphy's has become known as the Southfield place to mix and mingle.

In addition to a selection of Mexican, Irish and Hickory smoked dinner items, an extensive appetizer menu features both traditional American favorites and a sampling of Mexican offerings.

Carlos Murphy's is open daily from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. Sunday brunch is served from 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

Burroughs Farms

The North Country lives on in Brighton

photos by IRIS SANDERSON JONES

Burroughs Farms has cottages (above) just like the one your grandmother once owned, as well as campsites, golf courses, a boat dock and a beach. John Rioux and his daughter Mary Jo of Livonia (right) were among those relaxing on the beach recently.

THE SPEEDBOATS make a wake across Little Crooked Lake, past private cottage docks to the picnic tables and beach at Burroughs Farms.

The houseboat around the corner of the shore is parked here for the summer. The motor and sailboats in the tiny marina are more temporary.

It is late afternoon now and the sunburns are still on the beach, but soon they will go back to the cottages and campgrounds, prepare a bonfire for the kids and join members of the family who have been playing golf all day on the championship golf course beyond the fence.

THE SCENE is not 200 miles away in the North Country, but half an hour's drive from Detroit near Brighton, where Burroughs Corp. built a summer resort for its employes in 1927. The property was bought by private investors and opened to the public this year.

Burroughs Farms is a 535-acre resort with 50 unfurnished cottages, 80 furnished cottages, 117 campsites, a playground-beach-boat dock area, plus an 18-hole and a nine-hole golf course.

If your idea of a resort is a log cabin lodge or a swimming pool with service, this is definitely not for you. The cottages at Burroughs Farms are just like the one your grandmother once owned — little wooden huts with bunk beds, holes in the fly screens, peeling paint and all.

Unlike grandma's place, you don't have to go out back to the outhouse. Cottages have indoor plumbing, running water, a refrigerator and other comforts of home, although the quality of the cottages is very uneven.

NUMBER 237 is a blue clapboard cottage in an uneven row of cottages, with a big kitchen, two bedrooms, bathroom with shower and a big sun porch. You can sleep at least two in each bedroom, two more on bunks in the sun porch and another couple on the pull-out sofa-bed.

That's the good news. And it will cost you $200 a week, $72 for a weekend.

At the other end of the spectrum are unfurnished cottages rentable by the season for $1,000, or by the month for $400. Some are tiny one-roomers, others larger; most are very basic.

one-of-a-kind traveler

contributing travel editor

Myron Serbay, who grew up in Redford and is now the manager of the property, wants people to know that they are just cottages, unglamorous but clean, and that they are being upgraded one by one.

Some of the renters have made the transition from company to private resort. John Rioux of Livonia has been coming here as a Burroughs employee for years. This summer he took six couples, with a total of two dozen children, to the farms.

On a sunny weekday afternoon, he could be found stretched out on the busy crescent of sand beach with his wife, Diana, and his daughter, Mary Jo. Five other children were around the property somewhere, the older boys happily putting on the golf course.

The golf course is as deluxe in its rich green rolling hills as the cottages are plain. The 18-hole, par 71 course has 6,300-yard championship hilly terrain. Annual memberships cost $300. Weekend green fees are $14.

THE ESSENCE of any vacation is knowing what pleasures you. Bill and Nikki Westberg of Farmington Hills knows what pleasures them, and their daughters, Cathy and Laura.

The girls get up early for swimming lessons. The family goes to the beach to play on the paddle boats and in the sun. They go back to their cottage for lunch, and light a big bonfire out back at night.

When the weiners are roasted, Bill sometimes plays Pac-Man in the Activity Center with the kids, but he always loses.

For information, contact Burroughs Farms, 5341 Brighton Road, Brighton 48116, or call 227-1381. Take Interstate 96 to Exit 147, turn right and drive through Brighton and on out Main Street about two miles until you see the sign.

Daily admission is $3 a carload on weekdays, $3 a person on weekends. You don't pay for tennis rackets, horseshoes, etc. You do pay for boat rental.

Prognosis good: Pontiac Lake fishing is on the way back

By Lem Mesee

Pontiac Lake again will be loaded with fish, especially the popular largemouth bass.

The prognosis is good to excellent fishing by mid-1983 and excellent angling again by 1984.

Pontiac's waters were drawn down last winter for repairs to the dam which creates the 585-acre impoundment. During the low water time, an aerator malfunctioned, and much of the fish stock perished.

RON SPITLER, state Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist, gives this prognosis for anglers at Pontiac Lake:

- Bass — "Good reproduction is giving us fast growing fingerlings, and the 2,000 to 3,000 five-eight inchers stocked earlier will be pushing legal size by next summer. The 1,300 or more adults are short of the desired goal, and nearly impossible to get in numbers. . .More will be stocked."
- Bluegill — "More than enough spawners and adults assures a good future fishery, and some nice ones are being caught now."
- Crappie — "Good spawning success assures a future fishery, while efforts will continue to get another 2,500 or more adults stocked."
- Perch — "An excellent hatch of young is bringing on a good population, but few adults will be available until more are collected this fall."
- Pike — "The fast growing survivors of the fry plant should give plenty of action by mid-1983, while some of the adults may 'bust tackle' with weights of 10-15 pounds."
- Catfish — "Good fishing continues (creel limit: five) with a few available to 15 pounds. If natural reproduction occurs — and it should — look for a good future for these fish."

IN MID-JULY, Spitler's efforts suffered a damaging setback.

"A Michigan DNR hatchery crew picked up a shipment of bass from a private catfish farmer in Arkansas, noting that the bass were roughly handled by the private hatcher," he said.

"Some 325 bass that flushed out of the large hatchery truck were dead. Many others appeared healthy, others obviously stressed. My crew picked up the dead bass that morning, and I collected several specimens to send to our fish pathologist at our Wolf Lake Hatchery."

The pathologist's report: Some bass were suffering badly from stress (damaged fins and gill covers, missing scales, external hemorrhaging). Many were infected with a roundworm parasite that is not damaging to humans and a bacteria that is non-transferrable to humans.

In short, one-third of the 2,000 bass died, but Spitler added, "The fish are safe to eat, and the lake is not polluted."

KENT LAKE, long (in)famous for small crappies, is now great for bigger ones averaging 9½ inches. Drop your minnow or pinkie jig in deep water.

Walled Lake is also good for crappie, bluegill and perch. Minnows are the best bait choice.

Lake Orion is a good place for smallmouth and largemouth bass, crappies and some small bluegills. Some are 13-14 inches in size, but the catch is slow moving so you will be waiting longer for success.

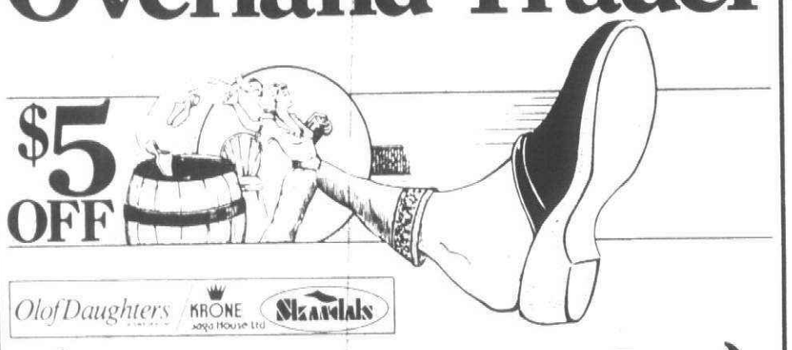

If you're on the St. Clair River, try drifting and deep trolling in the daytime, using night crawler harnesses, for walleye. The evening catch has not been good.

HURON-CLINTON Metroparks have plenty of nature programs in the next two weeks.

- Every Saturday and Sunday at 5 p. m., the Kensington Farm Center, at the north end of Kensington Metropark near Milford, features goat milking demonstrations. Farm hands show participants how a goat is milked and discuss the processing that milk goes through before it is ready for human use. Participants can try their hand at milking. The program is free.
- On Sunday, Aug. 8 at 10 a.m. at Hudson Mills Metropark near Ann Arbor naturalist Julie Cerbus will lead a 1½ hour walk through the wildflowers. Persons should meet at the nature trail sign in the Oak Meadows Picnic area. Insect repellant is suggested. The program is free, but register in advance by calling 685-1561.
- On Sunday, Aug. 8 at 2 p.m. in the nature center of Kensington Metropark, naturalist Mark Szabo will offer a program called "Insects That Bite and Sting. The 90-minute program is free, but advance registration is required by calling 685-1561.
- On Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 10 a.m. at the Hudson Mills Metropark near Ann Arbor, a family nature program called "Enjoying Nature with Your Tot" will take parents and children ages 3-5 for a tour using children's books, songs and games. Meet at the Hudson Mills Metropark nature trail sign in the Oak Meadows picnic area. The program is free, but advance registration is required by calling 685-1561.
- On Wednesday, Aug. 11 at 6:30 p.m. in the nature center of Kensington Metropark, a program called "Nature by Bike" will tour five miles in 1½ hours. Naturalist Mark Szabo will conduct the tour along the paved bike trail which will feature sights and sounds of the outdoors. The program is free, but advance registration is required by calling 685-1561.

A $2 vehicle entry permit is required for admittance to the parks.

THE KIDS WERE apprehensive as they headed for Ball State University in Muncie, Ind..

Members of the high schools' drama club had been invited to perform at a meeting of the top high-school theater groups in the country. They would attend seminars conducted by professionals in all phases of theater. And they would be judged by professionals. Gloria Logan, their drama coach, was wishing she'd at least attended one of these gatherings so she would know what to expect.

They planned to do part of "Feiffer's People," their fall play, in the competition. Mark Holland, male lead, was walking very slowly and carefully with a cane. He had had an emergency appendectomy less than two weeks before they were to perform. He rode in the van with Norm Logan, Gloria's husband, who had been admonished to treat Mark gently.

Each member of the cast played many characters in the drama, and Mark's 12 characters could be described as taxing. His parents had offered to fly him down to Muncie if he didn't feel up to the six-hour ride in the van.

" HE HAD HIS appendix out on Wednesday, and we left the following Tuesday. It was nerve-wracking," said Gloria. " The kids had put on mime shows to raise money for the trip — to help pay for gas and their fees and we were competing with the best from each state."

Ball State was impressive. There are three theaters. The major theater seats 3,600. Then there are the University Theater and the small experimental theater. The workshops were excellent.

Doug McKeon, the 16-year-old actor who played the boy in "On Golden Pond," was there. Gloria described him as being poised and "warmly sophisticated." He took open questions from the floor — an audience of 3,500 young thespians — and came through as a very articulate person.

Mark discarded his cane for the Friday performance. He was named outstanding male actor, and from then on, Gloria says it was an ego trip for the gang from the Centennial Educational Park.

After the show, a representative from a state university approached Gloria and asked, " Has that tall, skinny boy decided where he's going to school?" (He was referring to Mark.)-

Gloria told him both Mark and Pat Chevillot have drama scholarships at Eastern Michigan University. He intimated that his school might make a better offer.

"I didn't know they did that," said the drama coach.

THE TRIP HOME was a happy one.

"They were still so high on success, we probably could have made it with empty gas tanks," was Gloria's assessment.

Adjudicator Mort Clark, president of the Association for Non-Professional Theater in the United States, must have been impressed. When she picked up her mail at the school, there was a post card from Budapest. It was from Clark, who is in the Hungarian capital working on a summer theater seminar.

Gloria has been visiting some of her former drama students who are now professional actors. She saw Dennis Cockrum in Chicago and Linda Dwyer in New York.

She probably mentioned the trip to Muncie.

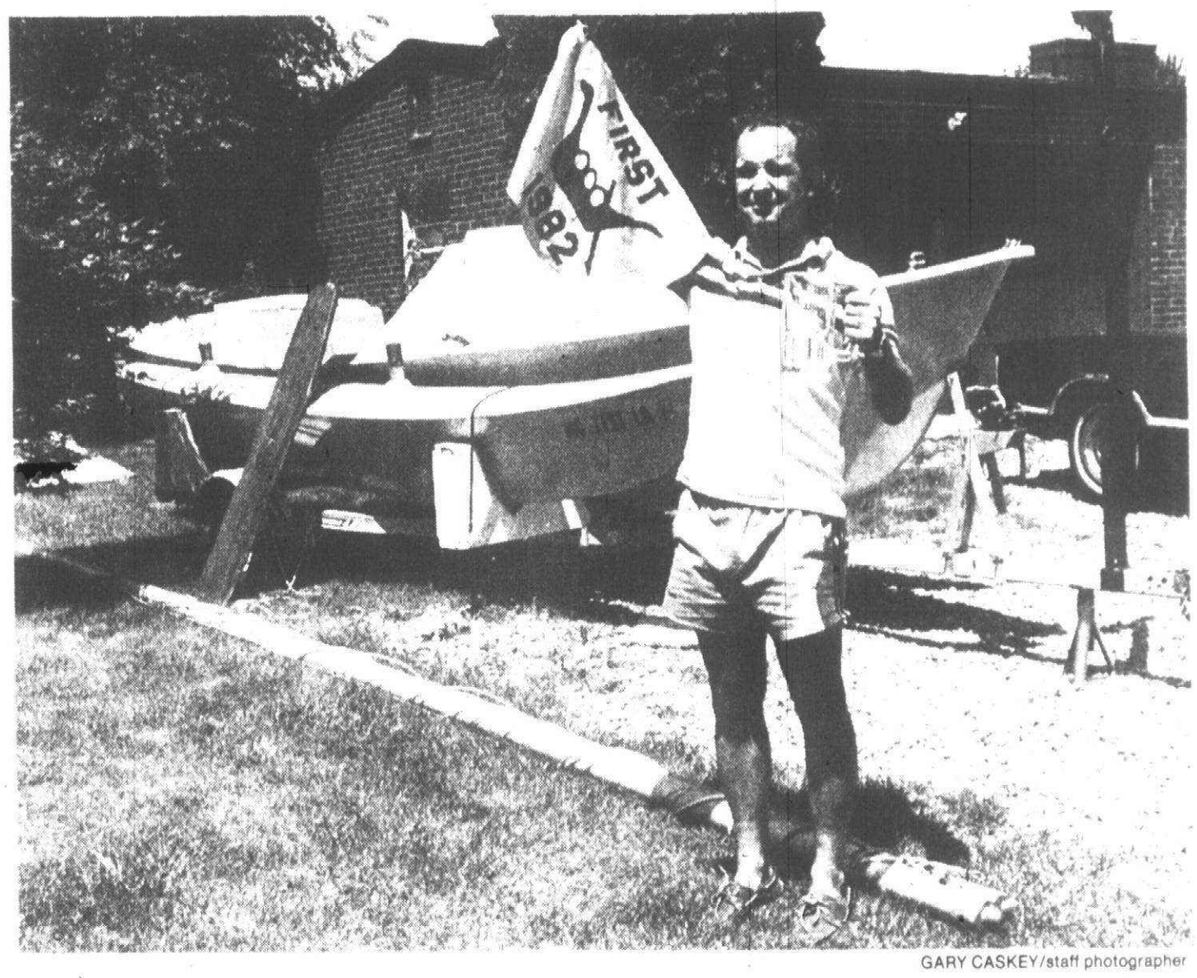

THERE WERE 10 tables in play last Thursday at the party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Lidia LaCombe had high score, and Carl Peters had second high.

AMONG THE FALL classes and workshops offered by the Northville Historical Society is Contemporary Historic Landscapes. Instructor John Brugeman will help his students decide which landscape is correct for their building and how to develop and maintain that landscape. Period landscaping will be emphasized with plantings to suit the house. Some period homes will be visited, and students are asked to take along a notebook, sketch pad and pencil.

The class will be limited to 16 persons. It will begin Wednesday evening, Oct. 6, and run for six weeks in the New Church School in historic Mill Race Village. For information, call 349-2659.

The Rogers City race is the top race for multi-hulls in the area.

Little Serendipity comes through

By Elinor Graham
staff writer

It wasn't outright laughter. But there was some snickering.

In sailing circles, betting odds were 2-1 that Bruce Harwood and his Serendipity would not finish the 190-mile race from Port Huron to Rogers City. The evening before the race, as Capt. Harwood and his crew, Ed Brown, studied a chart, a fellow sailor stopped at their table to ask, "Lost already?"

Harwood, who lives on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth Township, has a trimaran, a three-hulled sail boat with a 23-foot Hoby Cat as center hull. He is a member of the North Star Sail Club headquartered on the Clinton River near Mt. Clemens.

When requirements for the Port Huron-Rogers City race were posted, minimum length for entries was restricted to 25 feet.

Harwood wrote a letter of protest to the Viking Multi Hull Sail Club, sponsor of the race: "As owner of a Tremolino Tri, I object to this rule. If safety is the object of this rule, I suggest that design and proven ability of the boat be the deciding factor, not the footage."

The designer of the boat, Dick Newick of Martha's Vineyard, said the Tremolino Tri was safer than a catamaran. Newick, three-time ice boat racing champion, designed the trimaran for ocean racing.

THE SERENDIPITY was permitted to enter the race. Harwood has the first in his class pennant and second overall award to prove he was there.

It was not easy sailing and the competition was formidable — including some company-sponsored entries with paid crews.

Harwood likes to refer to his boat as "the little boat who could." Equipped with a radio directional finder (RDF), speedometer and compass, he has about $8,000 invested in the Serendipity.

He was competing with the newest on the market, race-equipped $50,000 to $60,000 boats, with computers and Loran-C navigation systems.

The Serendipity has an auto helm and an inflatable life raft. Harwood said that although Ed Brown was not an experienced seaman, he "is intelligent, he listens, and he learns fast."

They had an early morning weather briefing, motored down the Black River into the St. Clair River and Lake Huron. At 8 a.m., they were off.

BROWN HAD the first two-hour watch that night, from 10 p.m. to midnight. Harwood settled down for a rest. Excerpts from the ship's log tell the story:

10 p.m. — Storm, Ed has two-hour watch, eating salami, six to eight-foot waves. Ship wallowing.

11:30 p.m. — Surfing down and over.

11:45 p.m. — Take watch. Auto helm working fine. Visibility low, heavy rain, position lights reflecting yamas. Riding well.

Midnight — Ed can't sleep. 16 knots. Ten-footer dropped us.

1:30 a.m. — Waves building. Center of storm, downpour, lightning blinding, close eyes not to lose night vision. Worked half hour to take down jib. Halyard tangled. Tried to reef main. Wind over 40 knots. (They learned later that it was more than 50 knots.) Still can't reef.

2:20 a.m. — Pulling sail down with Ed, in harness, holding flashlight. Waves breaking, rain. Turned into wind, luffed main, ran into sea. Manual steering trying to reef main. Concerned it would pitch pole (flip). Boat handled well.

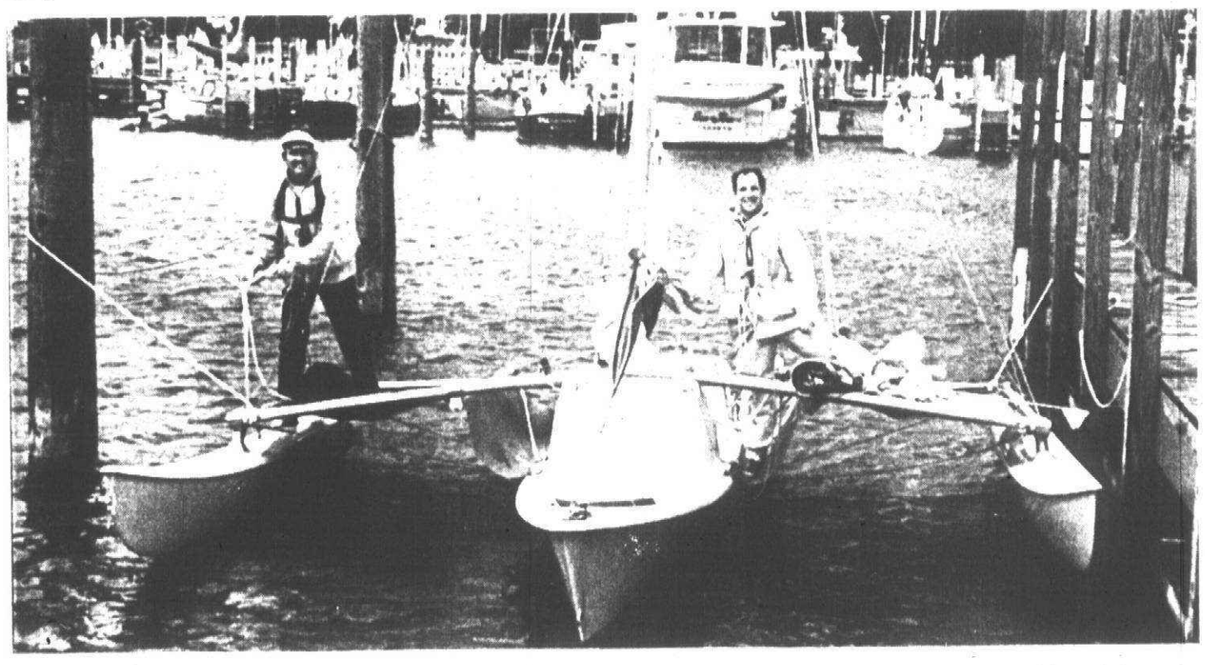

3 a.m. — Sea building, laker put spotlight on us, about half a mile away. (Wished we were on it).

3:20 — Luffing main, still beating, hope we don't ruin sale or pitch pole, pounding.

4 a.m. — Wind subsiding, turned to run with sea, 10-foot waves. White above. North at unbelievable speed, more than 20 knots. No panic on Ed's part, terrific, worked.

4:30 a.m. — Counting minutes to daybreak and some visibility. Position lights out, used autohelm. Couldn't see waves. They surprise you.

("We ate granola bars, candy and oranges.")

5 a.m. — No sunrise yet. Ed wondering if we're lost.

5:45 a.m. — Light enough to hand steer, Ed learns very fast to steer in big waves, dead reckoning.

6:30 a.m. — Altered course, north by northwest.

7 a.m. — See freighter steer west.

7:30 a.m. — Freighter turns west to Presque Isle. We're still in the race.

UNTIL THEY GOT their bearings on where the freighter had turned west, they didn't know how far north they were. They immediately headed north.

At 7:45 they saw land for the first time and saw another boat on the horizon, five to seven miles ahead.

"We caught him, passed him and gained 14 at the finish," said Harwood.

At Thunder Bay they ran up the jib. There were four to five-foot swells. The wind was high but they were protected. At 9 a.m. they sighted a catamaran to starboard. They were going more than 20 knots.

Last entry, 10:01 a.m. — Finish. Joy and relief.

Bob Williams of Mt. Clemens in a Kaulua 31 was the overall winner. With corrected time, Harwood was second overall and first overall in the Trimaran Class I. There were 17 boats in the fleet.

That evening, at the awards banquet in Rogers City, Brown, Harwood and the Serendipity received a hearty ovation.

"We had earned the respect of the fleet," smiles Harwood.

He added, "I've raced cars, hydroplanes, motorcycles and I'm a pilot, but the multi hulls are speed buffs of sailing."

After the race, Harwood single-handed the Serendipity through the straits and down Lake Michigan to Frankfort, where he grew up.

And where his dad started teaching him about the lakes when he was 10 years old.

Jobs will involve robots, lasers

Dr. Sonya Friedman

By Judy Celmer
staff writer

The future will be a time of innovative careers, of changing career patterns, of unpredictability, flexibility and technology.

That world of the future, described by TV talk show hostess Dr. Sonya Friedman at a career opportunities fair at Schoolcraft College, has been called future shock, she said. According to Friedman, "Future shock is now."

"This is an innovative time," she told an audience of about 600 at Schoolcraft's Waterman Center. The theme of the fair was "Where Do We Go From Here?" Its aim was to provide direction and support for the unemployed.

Friedman, keynote speaker at the day-long seminar, peppered her opening remarks with personal stories and philosophy. But she also told her audience what life in the working world promises to be within the next 30-50 years and probably beyond.

News of the future is both good and bad, said the West Bloomfield psychologist.

Energy costs will go down, but the price of gas will go up. There will be talking machines in the office, and workers will have new titles, like robot technicians instead of tool and die makers.

ROBOTS, SHE SAID, don't go on strike. They don't ask for vacations, coffee breaks or raises, but they will open up new jobs.

"Lasers will perform surgery brain surgeons now perform," she explained. There will be a need for gene engineers and bionic technicians, who will make limbs and synthetic organs that will allow the blind to see and the deaf to hear.

Innovative careers will include solar technicians and oil engineers, who will likely have to go to the Southwest to work, she continued. Housing rehabilitation technicians will renovate old homes to make them livable again.

A need will also have to be filled in the area of restaurant chefs, Friedman predicted. With more and more women joining the work force, a scenario of the future may be one woman in a neighborhood cooking enough food to sell to households with working parents. A woman on her way home from work could stop in to pick up a hot meal for her family at the "neighborhood commissary kitchen."

FRIEDMAN BELIEVES there is no reason to fear the coming age of robotics. It will offer new jobs for technicians, engineers and repairmen.

"There will be 1.5 million robot technicians on the job market by 1990," she said, and by that same year, "there will be a need for 2 million people in the laser industry.

"In the medical field there will be a greater need for physician assistants, paramedics and a new one: geriatric social workers. We are the pioneers of the future jobs. Changing (career) patterns isn't easy when you're 40. Ask me! This year I start the 12th career of my adult life," said Friedman, 46.

"SOME OF US are going to find ourselves out there working with those 20 years younger than us. Or men working for women for the first time in their lives — and they don't-like-it-one-bit."

It's all part of what's to come, she said.

"Life in the future will never be like it was in the past. It used to be life was very predictable. Kids used to go into the same profession as their parents, they would grow up and live in the same neighborhood, go to the same church.

"The most important thing we can do is to change our philosophy, to allow for more flexibility, more excitement, more productivity."

Friedman called it a "branching philosophy," using the analogy that the mind is like a parachute — it only works when it's open.

Sr. Modesta hospital president

Sister Mary Modesta is the new president of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

She succeeds Sister Mary Columbine as chief administrator of the facility run by the Felician Sisters of the Livonia Province.

Sister Mary Renetta was named executive vice president to fill the post vacated by Sister Modesta. The two women take over their new positions Aug. 7.

Rita Radzialowski will remain in her position as hospital administrator.

The new leadership was announced by Mother Mary Clarentine, provincial superior of the Felician Sisters and president of the corporate board of St. Mary Hospital.

Prior to her appointment as executive vice president in 1978, Sister Modesta worked as an administrative technologist for 18 years in charge of St. Mary's laboratory, which she had organized at the time the hospital opened.

As executive vice president, she organized and coordinated the hospital's quality assurance program and was responsible for the operation of its eight professional service departments.

ST. MARY'S new president was born in Detroit and graduated from Madonna College in 1956. In 1971 she earned a master of science degree from Wayne State University and in 1980 a master's degree in administration from the University of Notre Dame.

Before her certification as medical technologist and her assignment to St. Mary Hospital in 1959, Sister Modesta taught for 13 years in elementary schools staffed by the Felician Sisters.

As an elected delegate to the community's general chapter in Rome this summer, she presented the Felician Health Care System Plan, which she helped formulate as an executive member of the Felician Health Care Task Force.

Sister Modesta serves on governing boards for St. Mary Hospital, the Michigan Catholic Health Association, the Hospice Support Services and Madonna College. She is a member of the Michigan and American Society of Medical Technologists and the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. She was admitted in 1982 as a nominee to the American College of Hospital Admistrators.

SISTER MARY RENETTA was first appointed to the hospital in 1969 as business office manager. She was named director of fiscal services in 1971, a position she held until 1980, when she was admitted to the hospital administration program at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Sister Renetta completed her administrative residence at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital and received her master's degree in hospital administration from Xavier last May.

While at Xavier, she was a member of the team that won first prize in the national competition of the financial management and regulation game conducted by the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Sister Renetta graduated from Madonna in 1968. Before coming to St. Mary she taught for seven years at schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit. Presently a student affiliate of the American College of Hospital Administrators, she has applied for advancement to nominee status.

Sister Renetta is also an advanced member of the Hospital Financial Management Association and a member of the board of trustees of St. Mary Hospital.

SISTER COLUMBINE was the first administrator of St. Mary and its director for 17 of its 23 years. She will assume the position of administrative consultant.

Sister Mary Calasantia, who preceded Sister Modesta as executive vice president and was executive director of St. Mary from 1971-77, is retired because of ill health.

Under the administrative leadership of Sister Columbine and Sister Calasantia, St. Mary grew from a 185-bed hospital in 1959 to its present size of 335 beds. Together they directed three major expansion programs at the hospital and the addition of services.

These included intensive care, cardiac and mental health units and hemodialysis, ambulatory surgery, cardiac trauma, nuclear medicine and post-operative departments.

BOTH NUNS have been active in professional organizations and held membership on health, education, civic and business committees and advisory boards.

In 1971 Sister Columbine was elected to the six-year term of provincial superior for the Felician Sisters of the Livonia Province, and returned to hospital administration in 1977. She was recognized in 1969 in "Who's Who of American Women" and in the American Catholic "Who's Who" in 1976.

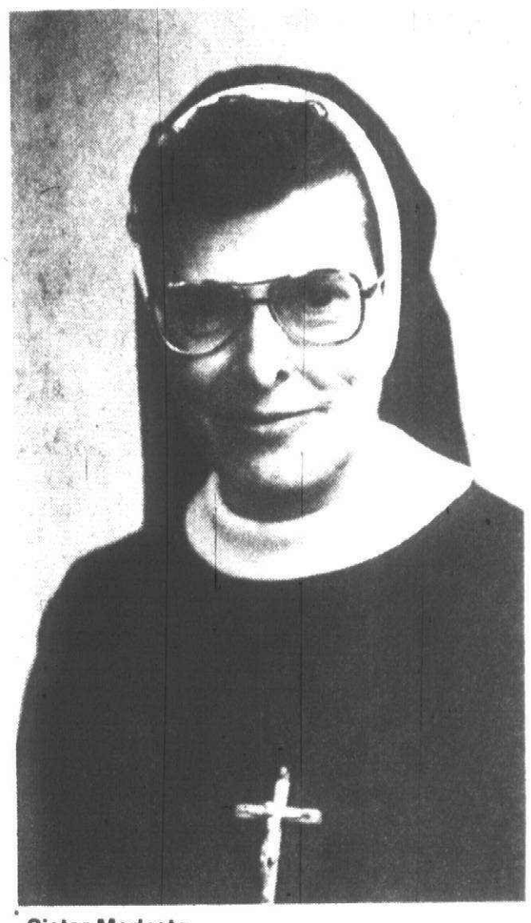

Sister Calasantia was the first director of nursing at Madonna. She was the first nun named to the board of directors of the Manufacturers Bank of Livonia, and the first recipient of the "First Citizen of Livonia" award.

Western adious for library buckaroos

Canton chatter

Kathy Freece

Dave and Bev Whiddon have been inspirational in the growth of the Canton Public Library through the Friends group. Dave was the first president of the Friends of the Library, and both have been very active in maintaining a positive public awareness of our fine facility.

A chance for advancement came their way so they are heading southwest to the Lone Star State. Glenna Johnson and Carol Dugan gave a surprise going-away party for the last round-up of their friends. Guests wore Western duds and the hors d'oeuvres were served with a Southern barbecued flavor.

As they arrived at Glenna's home they were presented with a sheriff's badge and an official Gene Autry album. Country music is not their first love, but they will have plenty of time to enjoy it in their new environment.

Cowhands who attended the shindig have enjoyed working with Dave and Bev on many community projects and will miss their special friendship. Tom and Mary Feltz, Nancy and Merrill Neal, Carol and Don Perrin, Lynn and Bob Spielman, Elaine and Marios Tsangaritides, Carol Moranty, Donica and Michael Keough, Deborah and Patrick O'Connor, Ken Johnson, Mike Dugan, Sharon and Bernie Busselmeir presented Dave and Bev with a silver tray at the party.

Canton always will be a special memory for Dave and Bev because they shared so many good times and enjoyed watching Canton grow with their hard work and dedication.

LANA AND TIM Christy put together a surprise birthday party and there were four guests of honor.

Tom and Mary Flack, Mike Hartke and Dan Renberg live a few homes apart, and all have birthdays with 10 days of one another. Lana did a good job of getting Mary and Jim down to her home. She requested time with them to sit down and start working on a road rally they must put together by October for Canton Newcomers.

Toni Hartke summoned her husband, Mike, across the street to Lana's house, and he did not want to stop in the middle of his landscaping project. Toni finally had to tell him there was a party going on, and everyone needed him to shout surprise, but still he would not budge. He finally agreed after finding out all of the neighbors were waiting just for him.

Just before Dan and Cathy Renberg headed out for a usual picnic with friends, and neighbors Dan was called into work. Lynn and Bob Spielman, Lois and Ray Munson, Cathi and Dick Schettler gathered around the phone along with the birthday people and sang "Happy Birthday to Dan" so he would have his own special party away from the party.

The exciting aspect of the get-together was all of the couples had their children with them, and the children outnumbered the adults. It was quite a crowd to serve dinner to but Lana and Tom did a super job seeing to large and small appetites.

The early-afternoon and evening gathering was fun for everyone.

A SPECIAL event just took place in the short life of Aaron McDowell. Usually kids go to kids' birthday parties and adults go to adults' birthday parties. In Aaron's case adults came to his party. Aaron is just a few weeks old. His parents, Donna and Jay, are fairly new to the community so to welcome their new addition to the Canton area, Donica and Michael Keough planned a welcome home party.

Phyllis and Dave Baldwin, Cindy and Glenn Trevisan, Lori and Craig Pasche joined with many other friends and neighbors with gifts of clothes and cold-weather outfits for him.

Welcome to Canton, Aaron, and may your days be filled with happiness and sunshine.

A FEW NIGHTS ago a little girl was missing from her home for three hours.

The neighbors came to the aid of her parents as well as the quick response of the Canton police. It was a warming sight to see people pooling their efforts for someone in need.

Situations like this have happened to many of us as our children wander innocently away from familiar surrounding locations.

What a wonderful thing it would be if every block in Canton could be this responsive to their neighbors.

Kitty Carlisle opens Plymouth Town Hall series

Tsoucaris-Butler

The engagement of Peggy Stephanie Tsoucaris and Frank R. Butler was announced at a dinner party at Cervi's White House Manor in Novi. The bride-elect is the daughter of Bessie Tsoucaris of Northville and the late Steve Tsoucaris. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Butler of Birmingham.

The bride-elect is on the staff of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools as a guidance counselor at Lowell Middle School. She is a graduate of California State College in California, Pa., where she earned a bachelor of science degree. She received a master of arts degree from Eastern Michigan University. Her fiance is a graduate of Michigan State University with a bachelor of arts degree in business administration. He earned a master of science degree in finance at Purdue University in Indiana. He is employed as a financial analyst by Ford Motor Co. in the World Headquarters Building in Dearborn.

They plan an October wedding in Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church of Detroit.

Stop excusing your life away.

Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, every year 52,000 men and women die of colorectal cancer in this country alone. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment. Two out of three. So what is your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the guaiac test. This can detect signs of colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. While two out three people can be saved. Ask your doctor about a guaiac test, and stop excusing your life away.

FRI., AUG. 6

9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain)
INMATES: A LOVE STORY. Men and women locked behind bars in a co-ed prison are trapped between the rules and regulations and their own passions. Kate Jackson, Perry King, Tony Curtis and Shirley Jones.

SAT., AUG. 7

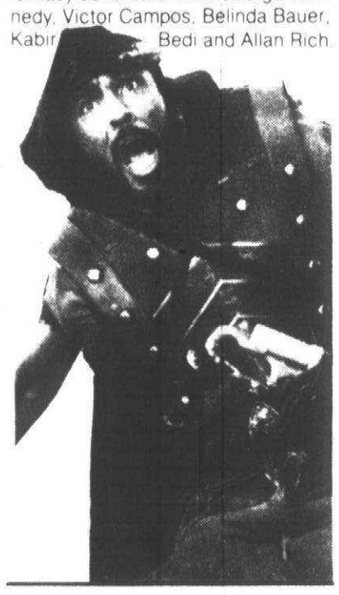

8-10PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain)
STRANGE MONSTER OF STRAWBERRY COVE. Mystery and intrigue envelop this Disney tale of three teen detectives when they unsuspectingly discover a band of unscrupulous smugglers. With ole pros Burgess Meredith and Agnes Moorehead.

SUN., AUG. 8

7-9PM ABC (6 Central/Mountain)

THE BAD NEWS BEARS
WALTER MATHAU
TATUM O'NEAL

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)
THE ARCHER. A handsome young wanderer (Lane Caudell) in a mysterious dark world of witchcraft and barbarism seeks to find a legendary sorcerer and wise man who will help him reclaim his heritage and avenge the murder of his father. A spooky fantasy/adventure with George Kennedy, Victor Campos, Belinda Bauer, Kabir Bedi and Allan Rich.

9-11:55PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain)

A STAR IS BORN
BARBRA STREISAND
KRIS KRISTOFFERSON

MON., AUG. 9

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)

THOU SHALL NOT KILL. Oscar, Tony and Emmy winner Lee Grant is a lawyer faced with the tough uphill battle of trying to prove that her auto mechanic client (Gary Graham) is innocent of two separate murder raps against him in spite of an enormous amount of evidence to the contrary. With Robert Culp, Diana Scarwid, Albert Salmi and James Keach.

TUES., AUG. 10

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)
THE SOLITARY MAN. Earl Holliman is a blue-collar family man whose world is ripped apart when his wife (Carrie Snodgress) one fateful day blurts out that she wants a divorce.

WED., AUG. 11

8-10PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain)
THE RENEGADES. Excitement and drama hit the streets when a carefully selected group of seven rival gang leaders join together as a special unit of the Los Angeles Police Department.

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)
THIN ICE. This has nothing to do with skating but is about a popular high school teacher who skims along through her history classes and falls in love with one of her students. News of their affair leaks out and causes a community uproar that dramatically alters their lives. Kate Jackson, Gerard Pendergast and Lillian Gish co-star. A couple who forgot to mind those A B C's.

8-10PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain)
AMERICAN HOT WAX. A greatly scrubbed up look at the latter life of pioneer deejay Alan Freed and the police's attempt to censor rock music in the late '50's. Tim McIntire, John Lehne, Lorraine Newman, Fran Drescher, Chuck Berry and Jerry Lee Lewis. Full of anachronisms, but with a definite sense of the time.

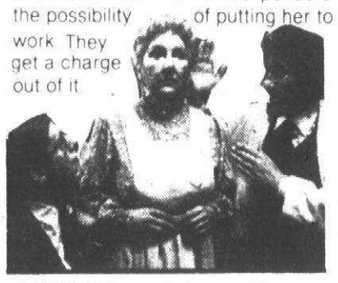

SAT., AUG. 14

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)
NO PLACE TO HIDE. Mariette Hartley, Kathleen Beller and Keir Dullea in a psychological suspense thriller about a young woman who, for unknown reasons, is stalked by a man who threatens to kill her.... threats for which she can produce no evidence or witness. A heebie-jeebie.

SUN., AUG. 15

7-8PM NBC (6 Central/Mountain)
THE ELECTRIC GRANDMOTHER. Maureen Stapleton, Paul Benedict and Edward Herrmann in a sci-fantasy involving a factory owner who creates a surrogate granny while a widowered father of three ponders the possibility of putting her to work. They get a charge out of it.

8-9PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain)
THE BIG EASY. Drama with the always pleasing William Devane as a tough detective in New Orleans, who goes into high gear after he discovers he has been suckered into finding a beautiful woman (Mary Crosby) so that she can be murdered.

9-11:30PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain)
FORCE 10 FROM NAVARONE. Five desparate allied soldiers and one beautiful gal, torn between divided loyalties, deal with the entire 11th German Army Corps and an unknown traitor in their midst as they plot to blow up a dam and destroy an impregnable bridge. Harrison Ford, Barbara Bach and, in his final film, Robert Shaw. A WWII adventure and sequel to The Guns of...

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)
NURSE. The pilot film which led to the popular and sensitive dramatic series with Emmy-winning actress Michael Learned. A picture of what it means to be a contemporary nurse... no longer a doctor's handmaiden, rather an accomplished professional responsible at every working moment for the lives of the patients in her charge. With Robert Reed, Tom Aldredge and Hattie Winston.

WED., AUG. 18

8:30-11PM CBS (7:30 Cent./Mt.)

A PIECE OF THE ACTION
SIDNEY POITIER
BILL COSBY

SAT., AUG. 7

10-11PM NBC (9 Central/Mountain)
THE GAME AND ITS GLORY: BASEBALL'S HALL OF FAME. Noted Canadian-born actor Donald Sutherland, a self-confessed boyhood fan of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, takes viewers on a nostalgic tour of the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, New York.

MON., AUG. 9

9:30-10PM CBS (8:30 Cent./Mt.)
FILTHY RICH. A new comedy series.

FRI., AUG. 13

10-11PM ABC (9 Central/Mountain)
THE UNITED NATIONS. A news investigative report on the U.N.

SAT., AUG. 14

8-9PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain)
THE ADVENTURES OF LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY. Distinguished veteran actor John Mills and 9-year old newcomer Jerry Supiran in a new dramatic adventure.

10-11PM NBC (9 Central/Mountain)
JAPAN VS. U.S.A.-THE HIGH TECH SHOOT-OUT. A close look at the Japanese threat to American superiority in high technology.

TUES., AUG. 17

10-11PM ABC (9 Central/Mountain)

Inner-city mission service earns award

By Margaret Miller
staff writer

A Livonia church is supplying a good share of the muscle for the helping hand being extended into Detroit's Cass Corridor.

The program of Detroit's Baptist Center is steered by Lowell Lawson, a Livonia resident who is a home missionary in the Southern Baptist denomination and a member of Livonia Baptist Church.

A majority of the volunteers who keep that program running come from the local congregation.

And recently Livonian Mary Sue Sickafus, former member of Livonia Baptist, was named Volunteer of the Year for varied services to the inner city center.

Sickafus was honored at a luncheon along with Walker Knight, senior editor of the Home Missions magazine of the Southern Baptist Convention. Other volunteers with long service, including Margaret Lang of Livonia who has put in 100 hours, also were singled out for praise.

LAWSON SAID Sickafus has made "outstanding efforts as a volunteer over an extended period of time," including the teaching of a Bible class for four years and sponsoring with her husband Ed an annual picnic at their Livonia home for those who go regularly to the center.

"Mary Sue was one of the first people I met when I began my work at the center in November 1976," he added.

"We wanted to reward her continuing effort in the spirit of volunteerism. She uses her talents in any way needed — including one day when we had a flooded bathroom and another when there was no one to fix a meal that had been planned.

"She does what has to be done."

Lawson also noted that the honoree is "a person of strong feelings who expresses them," often in advocacy for residents of the depressed area who use the center.

"She calls all of us who are professionals to do our very best," he added.

BAPTIST CENTER opened shortly after Detroit's 1967 riots and is part of a far-flung foreign and home ministry of the Southern Baptist Church.

Besides its programs like the Bible class, there are meals served regularly, a thrift shop, a food distribution program and social activities for residents of the neighborhood where the institution is located.

A day camp in summer and a Christmas shop in the winter are provided and the center is establishing a telephone reassurance ministry.

The building also is church home to three congregations, one East Indian, one American Indian and one Southern Baptist, and houses two community programs. It provides a field office for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) and an operations base for a Detroit Police Department crime prevention section.

The Bible class began with six persons, Lawson said, and now has about 40 enrolled with about 25 in attendance weekly.

It's part of a busy Wedneday schedule at the center when there is also a senior citizen club meeting, the thrift shop open and a meal served.

"Many go to chapel too," said Sickafus, "but they're not sticky about that."

Helping to furnish many of the services needed on Wednesdays are more than 50 volunteers from the Livonia church.

LAWSON SAID he is one of the home missionaries who join the cutreach program of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The denomination, he noted, grew out of a Baptist split in 1945 but no longer emphasizes any regional character. "We are in all 50 states now and we have home missions in all 50."

Building of the Detroit center was in line with the denomination's policy of establishing mission work in the centers of cities.

Lawson is full-time director of the Detroit center, which is affiliated with the Greater Detroit Baptist Association and the Baptist State convention as well as the denomination nationwide.

Married and the father of four, he graduated from seminary in 1962 and served in a post in Louisville for 15 years before coming to Michigan.

"Our program here changes as needs change," he said, "but we will be here as long as we feel there is a ministry for us.

"But our staff is small and can only run with the help of volunteers. I tell those who help us that four abilities are needed by volunteers, capability, adaptability, flexability and, most important, dependability."

That last, he indicated, is a major reason for the choice of recipient of this year's top volunteer award.

"When Mary Sue Sickafus says she's going to do something," Lawson said, "you know it is as good as done."

Sickafus also volunteers with the American Red Cross and FISH of Livonia and takes meals to homebound senior citizens in Livonia one day a week.

Mary Sue Sickafus of Livonia receives an award for volunteer service to the Baptist Center in Detroit from center director Lowell Lawson (center).

Perspectives as important as goals

Rev. Charles Erickson

News about the transition from Alexander Haig to George Shultz in the office of Secretary of State includes a fascinating lessior for all of us. They share the same goals that should be expected of appointees of the same president. Reporters point out, however, that the two men have quite different perspectives.

Shared goals with different perspectives gets us into the old debate about the relationship of means and ends. Moral philosopy has long taught that the means becomes part of the end so we will not necessarily achieve the same goal by different methods.

A common remark that the choice of religion isn't important because we all want to go to heaven just isn't true. The meaning of heaven differs according to the way we seek to get there.

Haig is described as a military man who thinks about countering Russian efforts, building alliances, protectionism, thwarting enemies, and suppressing rebels. Shultz is described as an economic man who thinks analytically about policy, strength, confidence, realism and social progress. Viewing life as a military or as a business process makes a striking difference.

MOST OF OUR DEBATES and choices are not about goals but about the route to aims we share. We all want peace, for example. We would agree that a health care system must be adequate to the needs, scientifically advanced and compassionate. We argue about responsibility for the system by those in immediate need and those who are only potential users, about the economics of scientific development, and about the meaning of compassion.

Perspective looms as more crucial than goals. The masthead of this column uses a plural world which hints there are many moral perspectives. No, there is simply a moral perspective, and the plural means we write about the perspective on many issues.

We look at issues with a priority on morality rather than on economics or the military or any number of other areas.

Education and experience equip a person to think a certain way. Each profession has its own way of thinking. Lawyers think in a legal perspective, doctors in a medical perspective, clergy in a theological perspective, and so on. All of us are often advised to think in the historical perspective.

The perspective of a mother is revealed when riding in a residential area with a mother driving and feeling the car slow at every chance to look and marvel at a child at play. Perspective is a way of viewing reality. It sets priorities.

IN A DEMOCRACY each of us is a little secretary of state. We must comprehend complex issues, voice our opinions and vote for candidates whose perspective seems best to us. We need to be more aware of our own perspective. Such awareness enables us to weed out some views, cultivate some and grow as citizens

One of the major features of this century is the necessity of thinking more inclusively. This is one planet with people interacting in one world. Our perspective simply must become broader. We must become uncomfortable with our tendencies to be provincially narrow or colonially manipulative.

Perspective came into our language from a word meaning to look through. It has slight ancient relationship to the root of perceptive which means to see with discernment. The lesson from the news is that awareness of perspective increases perception. The added benefit is becoming more self confident as we become more sensitive to our own perspective.

Experts are self confident. We can be experts by cultivating the best of whatever perspective we have chosen to live by. A professional differs from an amateur in ability to stay on course in the midst of distractions and temptations to change a different game. Each of us owes ourselves the self-confidence which comes with clarity about our perspective.

wine

Richard Watson

Chardonnay has 3 different faces

What is the taste of Chardonnay?

This grape produces what the world in general acclaims to be the greatest of the white wines. Some lovers of Riesling will dispute this, but they can be discounted as a perplexing minority. The Chardonnay reigns supreme wherever it is grown, and it is grown throughout the world: the Finger Lakes in New York, in Napa, in Australia, Italy, Argentina and many other places.

But it is in France that the grape reaches its quintessence. Certainly if consistency is a factor in wine production France must be known as the true home for the grape. Its known production goes back into the 12th century. (Compare that with the few decades that wine has been produced in California.)

Not only does France produce the greatest wines from Chardonnay, it also produces the greatest variety of style of the wine. To answer the opening question of this article, it depends on which Chardonnay one drinks.

THERE ARE, essentially, three possible answers.

The first "taste" is that found in the glorious Cote d'Or of north-central Burgundy, principally from the Cote de Beaune. Here are found the great names of the French White Burgundies: Meursault, the various Montrachets and Corton-Charlemagne.

The wines of this region, as well as those to the north in the Cote de Nuits, are characterized as mouth-filling, rich, buttery; full of earthy elements and highly complex in nature.

The grapes in the Cote d'Or are allowed to mature fully and then are either fermented in oak or are at least exposed to considerable oak aging following fermentation.

From the soils, the wood and the rich fruit come wines of incredible profundity, full of nuances and depth. Associative names are given to the properties of these tastes: wild figs, apples, melons and rich cream among them.

The second "taste" of the Chardonnay grape is found only a few miles to the south, still in Burgundy, in the area known as the Macon. Here the wines are dramatically different, owning to weather, soil conditions and the preference of the provincial winemakers.

HERE WOOD is not used in either fermentation or aging, and the wines tend to be harvested with considerably lower levels of sugar. The Maconias want their Chardonnays to be reflective of the true fruit of the grape, a clean, simple, straightforward, direct experience.

And then, some hundred miles to the north, in a colder climate that frequently lacks sufficient sunshine to allow satisfactory ripening, is the region that produces the third "taste" of Chardonnay — Chablis.

Here the preference of the winegrowers is not fruit or butter but steel. The wines, the best of them, from this region are often hard, acidic, unyielding, austere; all of these not especially attractive descriptors. But the wines are great; tremendous backbone, deep character and vigorous body. These are the accompaniments to shellfish and oysters; clean but not simply so.

One may enjoy a Macon, worship a Montrachet, but one loves a Chablis.

So, the taste of Chardonnay? Try them all and choose. I have.

"A Lion Is in the Streets" (1953), 1 a.m. Tuesday (late-night Monday) on Ch. 50. Originally 88 minutes.

The life of ex-Louisiana governor (and near-dictator) Huey Long inspired no less than two films during the late 1940s and early '50s. In "All the King's Men" (1949) Broderick Crawford won the Best Actor Oscar as the Long-like character. Four years later a middle-aged Jimmy Cagney tackled a similar role in "A Lion Is in the Streets."

The two films, both rarely seen these days, differ in scope. While "All the King's Men" chronicles its protagonist's rise and fall, "Lion" stops when its demigod first reaches the big time. Cagney gives a powerful performance, naturally, with support from John McIntire, Warner Anderson, Barbara Hale and Anne Francis. The director was Raoul Walsh, who earlier had directed Cagney in his last great gangster role, "White Heat" (1949). Rating: $3.40.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?
A ratings guide to the movies

Bad	$1
Fair	$2
Good	$3

"Sink the Bismarck!" (1960), 11:30 p.m. Monday on Ch. 9. Originally 97 minutes.

The British are just tying up the loose ends in the Falklands War, and here's a film about another awesome English naval clash in the Atlantic, this one during World War II. The German battleship the Bismarck was the biggest warship ever afloat, and the story of how the Royal Navy hunted it down — only after it sank a couple of British battleships — makes for an exciting, near-documentary film, taken from a book by C.S. Forester. The film's star, Kenneth More, may have survived the Bismarck's big guns, but he succumbed to a fatal heart attack in real life several weeks ago. Rating:$3.10.

"The Big Broadcast of 1938" (1938), 1 p.m. Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 90 minutes.

Long before "The Love Boat" sailed, this film put together a mixed bag of celebrities aboard an ocean liner. While nothing can save "The Love Boat" from its swamp of mediocrity, at least this film had the talents of W.C. Fields and a young Bob Hope to keep it afloat. Amid the musical numbers and silly plot about a race between super liners, the all-too-brief comedy bits by Fields are like a gust of fresh sea air. And Hope, straight from Broadway in his first film, gets to sing "Thanks for the Memories," which from that day forward would be his theme song. Rating:$2.25.

"The Old-Fashioned Way" (1934), 1 a.m. Saturday (late-night Friday) on Ch. 50. Originally 66 minutes.

Ah, yes, this is more like it. Undiluted W.C. Fields for those who like his comedy straight, without guest stars, musical numbers and other excess baggage. Well, come to think of it, this film is saddled with one of those boring love affairs between the secondary leads. But the story, about a traveling theatrical troupe around the turn of the century, fits W.C. to a T. As well it should; he wrote the screenplay himself. Rating:$3.30.

Performer Steve Mattar featured in U-M musical

Steve Mattar of Bloomfield Hills will perform the role of Bellomy in the University of Michigan Opera Theater production of "The Fantasticks," Aug. 12-15, in Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre, Ann Arbor.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Aug. 12-14 and 3 p.m. Aug. 15.

Mattar is pursuing a bachelor of musical arts degree at Michigan, where he is a student of Beverley Rinaldi. He recently sang the role of Betto in the school of music production of "Gianni Schicchi." He also was seen in "The Robber Bridegroom," a production at the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford.

"The Fantasticks" is the longest-running show in American musical history. It was premiered at the Apollo Theatre, London, and soon moved to New York, where it has presented up to seven shows a week for 21 years.

Tickets for the U-M production are available at the Lydia Mendelssohn Ticket Office. Hours are noon to 4 p.m. Mondays-Fridays. For ticket information, call 763-5851 from 9 a.m. to noon or 763-1085 from noon to 4 p.m.

Albee's 'The Zoo Story' opens at Attic Theatre

Edward Albee's short melodrama "The Zoo Story" will be presented at midnight Fridays-Saturdays at the Attic Theatre in Detroit's Greektown.

"The Zoo Story" is about a young man who uncautiously lets himelf be drawn into conversation with a stranger in Central Park.

Hal Youngblood plays Peter, a self-satisfied young executive in a book publishing house who is reading on a park bench as the story begins. Gary Andrews plays Jerry, a shabbily dressed, aggressive stranger who insists on striking up a conversation with Peter.

Jerry is returning from a visit to Central Park Zoo where he had hoped to find a parallel for himself in the way people get along with animals and animals get along with each other.

Tickets are $5 for general admission and $4 for senior citizens, students and Attic Theatre subscribers.

Livonia steals a victory

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Few, if any, of the players or coaches on the Livonia Adray baseball team expected the first round of the league playoffs to be that difficult.

Livonia, the regular-season champions of the Livonia Adray League, had to go 10 innings to beat a gritty Dearborn Vacuum team, 8-7, Sunday night in the opening round.

In the first end of the twin-bill, Michigan National Bank cruised past Westland-Redford Adray, 13-4. The top four teams in the Livonia League qualified for the league playoffs.

Dearborn Vacuum, which has been struggling throughout the season, allowed Livonia to score the winning run in the bottom of the 10th on an infield error.

Dave Slavin started off the 10th inning for Livonia with a single. Nino DeVitis then bunted and Dearborn pitcher Charles Johnson fielded the ball. Johnson elected to go to first, but his throw went wild over the first baseman's head and into right field, allowing Slavin to come home with the winning run.

JOHNSON, WHO pitched only the final inning, suffered the loss.

Dan Smith started for Dearborn and went the first nine innings, allowing seven runs on 12 hits. He struck out six.

John Recker hurled the final three innings in relief for Livonia and was credited with the win. Recker did not allow a run, fanning six batters.

Left-hander Blaise Isley started for Livonia and was effective for the first five innings, allowing just one run. But the flood gates opened in the sixth inning and Dearborn tallied five runs.

Isley struck out 12 Dearborn batters before giving way to reliever Martin Vucinaj in the seventh. Mike Tetreault also pitched for Livonia.

KEN SURCINE had four hits to pace the Livonia offensive attack. Slavin added three hits and Bill Kopanakas chipped in with a double and a triple.

Smith collected two hits for Dearborn.

"We didn't struggle with them all year," Livonia coach Ron Hellier said following the game. "But when you get to playoff time, it's a different ball game. They (Dearborn) sure got up at the right time. We didn't expect them to play as well as they did.

"But when our kids got behind, they showed that they can come back," Hellier added.

Livonia jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first on a RBI triple by Kopanakas and a two-run triple off the bat of DeVitis. Two runners in that inning, however, were picked off base by Smith.

Dearborn sliced Livonia's lead to 3-1 in the top of the fourth as Bill Hanis and Smith reached base on singles and Hanis scored when Clint Scollard bounced into a force at second.

IN THE fifth, Livonia made it 5-1 on a run-producing double by Kapanakas. He later scored on Devin Lowery's sacrifice fly.

But Dearborn came back and rallied to tie the score at five-all in the sixth.

After two walks, and two men were out, Scollard brought home one run with a single. Fred Rumberger then followed with the big blow, a two-run triple to right field. Rumberger scored the tying run on Rick Giese's base hit.

Giese scored an apparent go-ahead run after he stole second and came home on Mark Humitz' single. But he was ruled out on an appeal play when the umpire ruled he missed third base.

"It was a very questionable call," Dearborn coach Jeff Monroe said. "I don't know how the ump could have seen it (the play) from the angle he was at. I thought he touched the bag.

"But we played a good ball game. We had them on the ropes but we just couldn't put them away."

Dearborn went ahead in the top of the seventh, 7-5, on RBI singles by Vince Colarassi and Smith.

Livonia, however, tied it up in the bottom of the seventh, thanks to Surcine's run-scoring triple. Lowery followed with a single, scoring Surcine, to tie the score at 7-all.

THE SECOND CONTEST was a sloppy affair of errors and fundamental miscues.

Westland-Redford committed five errors in its losing cause, while Michigan National Bank made two errors.

Jim Arnold was the winning pitcher for MNB, allowing just one earned run in eight innings of work. He struck out seven, walked two and yielded five hits.

Dave Czarnota started for Westland and suffered the loss, surrendering eight runs in 7⅓ innings. Four of those runs were unearned. Gary Beggs and Ralph Scharf finished up in relief.

Dean Fracassi and John Nadratowski had three hits each to lead the MNB offensive attack. Eric Stoubel added a two-run homer in the sixth.

Tony DeMare paced Westland with a single and a triple.

Westland-Redford Adray and Dearborn Vacuum met in the first part of a twin-bill last night and Livonia Adray and Michigan National Bank squared off in the nightcap as the double-elimination tournament continued.

The results of Wednesday night's game along with the results from tomorrow's contest in the Adray League playoffs will be carried in the Monday editions of the Observer.

Leaseway reigns in Massey

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

In baseball, pitching is the key to success.

Westland Leaseway proved that to be more than theory last weekend by belting its way to the Don Massey Cadillac Tournament of Champions title.

Leaseway used a three-run rally in the fifth inning to squeeze past Gregg's Emergency Room of Wayne, 15-13, in Sunday's final. The loss was Gregg's second to Leaseway in the double-elimination tournament, which began Friday.

Shortstop Gary Shiemke slammed a two-run homer in the decisive rally for Leaseway to break a 12-all tie in the bottom of the fifth. Shiemke's blast was the fifth homer of the game for Leaseway.

LEADOFF MAN and right-center fielder Bob Goodlow smashed a pair of homers and drove in four runs for the winners. Carl Parrish and Bill May also collected round-trippers, with Parrish knocking in three runs.

Gregg's trailed, 6-3, before staging an eight-run rally in the third. Terry Johnson led off the inning with a homer. Singles by Keith Drake, Bud Daniels, Gary Bowman, Ron Reid, Dean Minton and Gary Knapp produced four more runs, and consecutive doubles by Dave Raimer and Bob Fogarty got three more runs in.

But Gregg's scored just two more runs after that, as Leaseway waltzed to the title without a loss. Johnson topped Gregg's with four hits, including two homers, and three RBI.

Gregg's collected 20 hits to 17 for Leaseway, but only four of Gregg's hits were for extra bases. Leaseway had six extra-base smashes.

THE TOURNAMENT is an annual event sponsored entirely by Don Massey Cadillac in cooperation with the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department. The best men's softball teams from Plymouth, Canton, Westland, Northville, Wayne, Redford, Garden City and Livonia are invited to play at no cost to the team.

Sixteen teams vied for this year's title. Joining Leaseway and Gregg's were: Winner's Circle and Sheehan's on the Green (Northville); Little Bill's and Pittmans (Wayne); Laws Auto Sales and Harrows (Redford); Garden City Merchants (Garden City); Livonia Softball Club and Sheehan's on the Green (Livonia); MBM/Jerry's Bikes, Don Massey Cadillac and Finlan Insurance (Plymouth); and Canton Sports and Sonar Softball Club (Canton).

LEASEWAY BESTED MBM/Jerry's Bikes, 11-7, in the semifinals, again using home-run power to spark the victory. May's three-run shot in the sixth inning was the key blow in a four-run Leaseway rally that provided the winning margin. Goodlow and Ted Kowalski also contributed solo jobs for the champs.

MBM struck for four runs in the top of the seventh on run-scoring singles by Bob Smith, Mike Pniewski and Lanny Stephens and a sacrifice fly by Ron Smith, but it wasn't enough. Dale Sherwood's three hits topped MBM.

Again, power was the difference. MBM collected 14 hits but just one for extra bases. Leaseway had 18 hits, five for extra bases.

Finlan splits a pair

The Finlan Insurance Agency women's fast pitch softball team divided a double-header with the Lansing Lassies Sunday.

Errors and mental errors on the part of the Finlan team accounted for four runs as Lansing drubbed Finlan, 8-1, in the opener.

Lansing combined nine hits with six walks to pick up the easy victory.

Finlan scored its only run in the fifth inning when Julie Stafford tripled and scored on a single by Vickie Forrest.

Gail Oljace was the only bright spot for Finlan as she connected for a triple and a single and also made several excellent defensive plays.

IN THE NIGHTCAP, Finlan composed itself and defeated Lansing, 6-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Jan Boyd, who notched her 17th victory in 19 decisions.

Only two balls were hit out of the infield off of the University of Michigan hurler. Boyd, a Plymouth Salem alumni, received all the runs she needed in the fourth inning when Sandy Taylor belted a three-run homer.

Finlan put the game out of reach in the bottom of the sixth inning when Stafford cleared the bases with a double to left field.

Finlan had eight hits in the contest

Finlan will close out its regular season schedule Aug. 7 when it travels to St. Johns for a double-header with Central Michigan Lumber.

Faithful football fans call shots at workouts

Jim Hughes

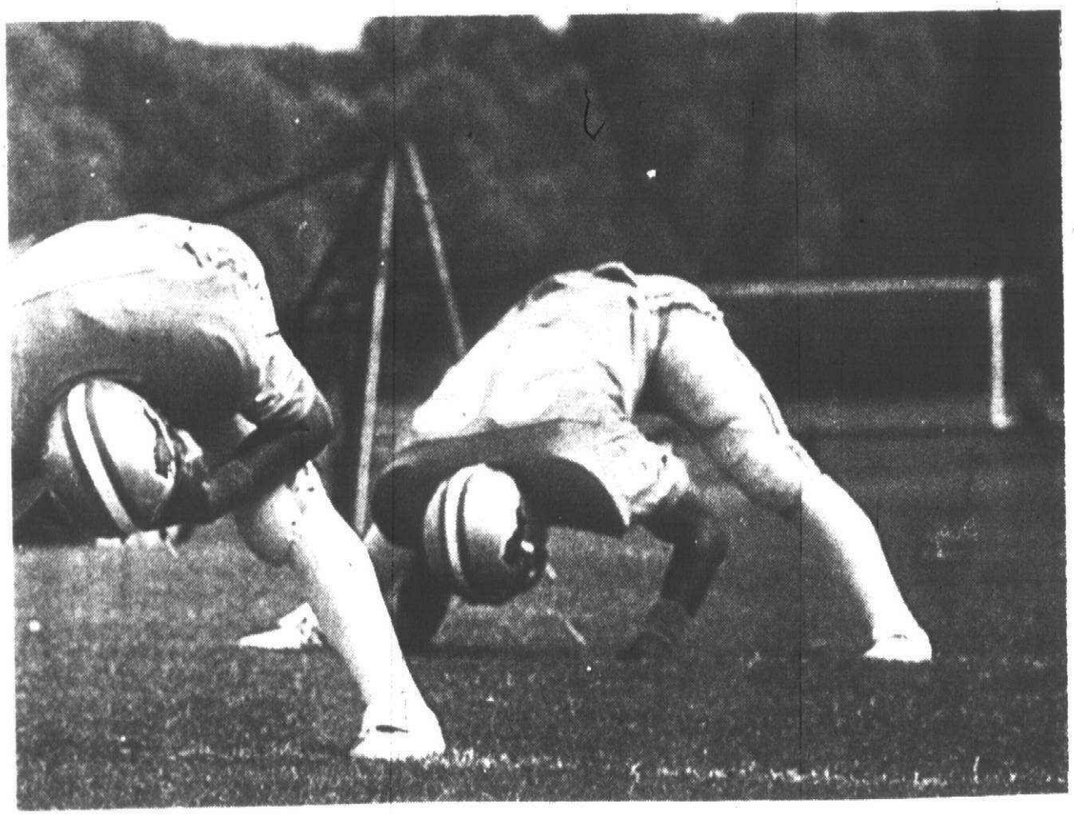

The giants strolling down the hill toward the practice fields at Oakland University in Rochester commanded all the attention.

As the Detroit Lions made their way to the fields, young autograph hounds thrust sheets of paper in front of the players. It didn't matter if the player was a battle-tested veteran like Freddie Scott or an untried rookie like Mike Machurek. They all are — at least for the moment — professional football players.

The older crowd, more content to record the occasion with cameras or by memory, lined the fences of the athletic facility and viewed the proceedings.

It wasn't a monumentous occasion by any stretch of the imagination. It couldn't compare to the workouts at the Pontiac Silverdome in January when the San Francisco 49ers and the Cincinnati Bengals tuned up for "Sweet 16." It was merely another day in the monotonous routine known as training camp in the National Football League.

Fans: Lions' chances rest in Sims and secondary

The Lions make Oakland University their home for preseason workouts. With good weather, the practice sessions are open to the public. But when it rains, the Lions are forced into the Silverdome, and workouts are closed.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, the Lions, who were driven indoors that morning due to early rainfall, returned to the outdoor facility with modest number of fans looking on.

Win, lose or draw, the Lions can be certain of one thing: The Silverdome will be filled to near capacity each Sunday Detroit plays at home. The fans — albeit a testy bunch — will come out in droves to cheer or jeer the home team.

The proof is in the numbers. Since 1975 when the Lions first made the Silverdome their home, they have drawn nearly four million fans in paid attendance. That comes out to a lofty 72,034 average paid attendance crowd. Not bad for a stadium that holds 80,000. And given the fact the Lions are 45-61 (a winning ratio of 42 percent) during the same time period, the numbers are even more impressive.

While making my way around camp Monday, I asked some of the loyal fans what it would take for the Lions to win the title in the "Black and Blue" NFC Central Division, which also lodges Green Bay, Minnesota, Chicago and Tampa Bay.

The common opinion is the Lions need an improved defensive secondary, and, most importantly, a happy Billy Sims in camp. Sims, the star running back for the Lions, is, as of Wednesday, engrossed in a contract dispute with the Lions' management. He is currently in the third year of a three-year contract.

"I think they have a reasonably good team," Nick Boersma of Plymouth said, "I just wonder about their depth. They should have a reasonably good year if they stay healthy. They need help from their defensive backs, though."

JIM COWPER of West Bloomfield believes help in the secondary along with better specialty teams could help the Lions improve upon last season's 8-8 record, but his biggest concern is how they perform at home.

"They need help with defensive backs and the special teams; that's were they lost football games last year," he said. "As long as they go 8-0 at home, that's all I care about. I'm a season ticket-holder."

Mark Digiroano, formerly of Birmingham and now a Waterford resident, is pessimistic as the season draws near.

"They won't win," he said rather bluntly. "They don't have the talent and the schedule is too tough."

Bloomfield Township resident Socratis (not to be confused with the Greek philospher) Stergiou, however, is more optimistic about the Lions' chances.

"I think they'll be as good, if not better, than any other team in the Central Division," he said. "I think they helped themselves picking up some defensive backs in the draft, although it may be a year too late (since San Fransisco reeled in the cream of the crop last year). Also, they need a happy Billy Sims."

Meanwhile, four high-school quarterbacks from Muskegon sat on bleachers erected inside the fence and cast watchful eyes on Eric Hipple, Gary Danielson, Jeff Komlo, Mike Machurek and John Wangler.

THE GROUP was in town for the annual Brother Rice Quarterback Camp, and they took a keen interest in the signal-callers.

"They need Sims to come back, and they need Hipple starting," Tim Fairfield, from Reeths-Puffer High School in Muskegon, offered.

"Hipple's the best one they got," Dana Olsen added.

"I think they have to go with Hipple," Jeff Jordan of North Muskegon High said."Sure, he needs some experience but give him another year. I think he's the best."

I wondered if attending the Lions' practice session was a requisite for Brother Rice coach Al Fracassa's QB camp. Fairfield said it wasn't. "He suggested it," Fairfield said, "but we were coming to watch anyway."

Dave Severson of Rochester believes he has the answer which could turn around the Lions' fortunes.

"I think it's pretty simple. I think the secondary play has to improve, and I think they need more team enthusiasm. And, of course, they have to stay away from injuries.

"They've got to have that level of intensity, and in order to achieve that, you have to be enthusiastic. You can see that in the Detroit Tigers right now. They don't have that enthusiasm, and as a result, they're failing," he added. "The Lions have to win those close games they lost last year. It's those types of things that helps generate enthusiasm. I still think they're a year away, though."

"I THINK it's all gonna depend on how well Eric Hipple does," Rich Weber of Bloomfield Hills said. "And if we get Billy Sims back."

Dave German of Rochester, along with most other Lions' fans, is concerned about the secondary and the plight of star Billy Sims.

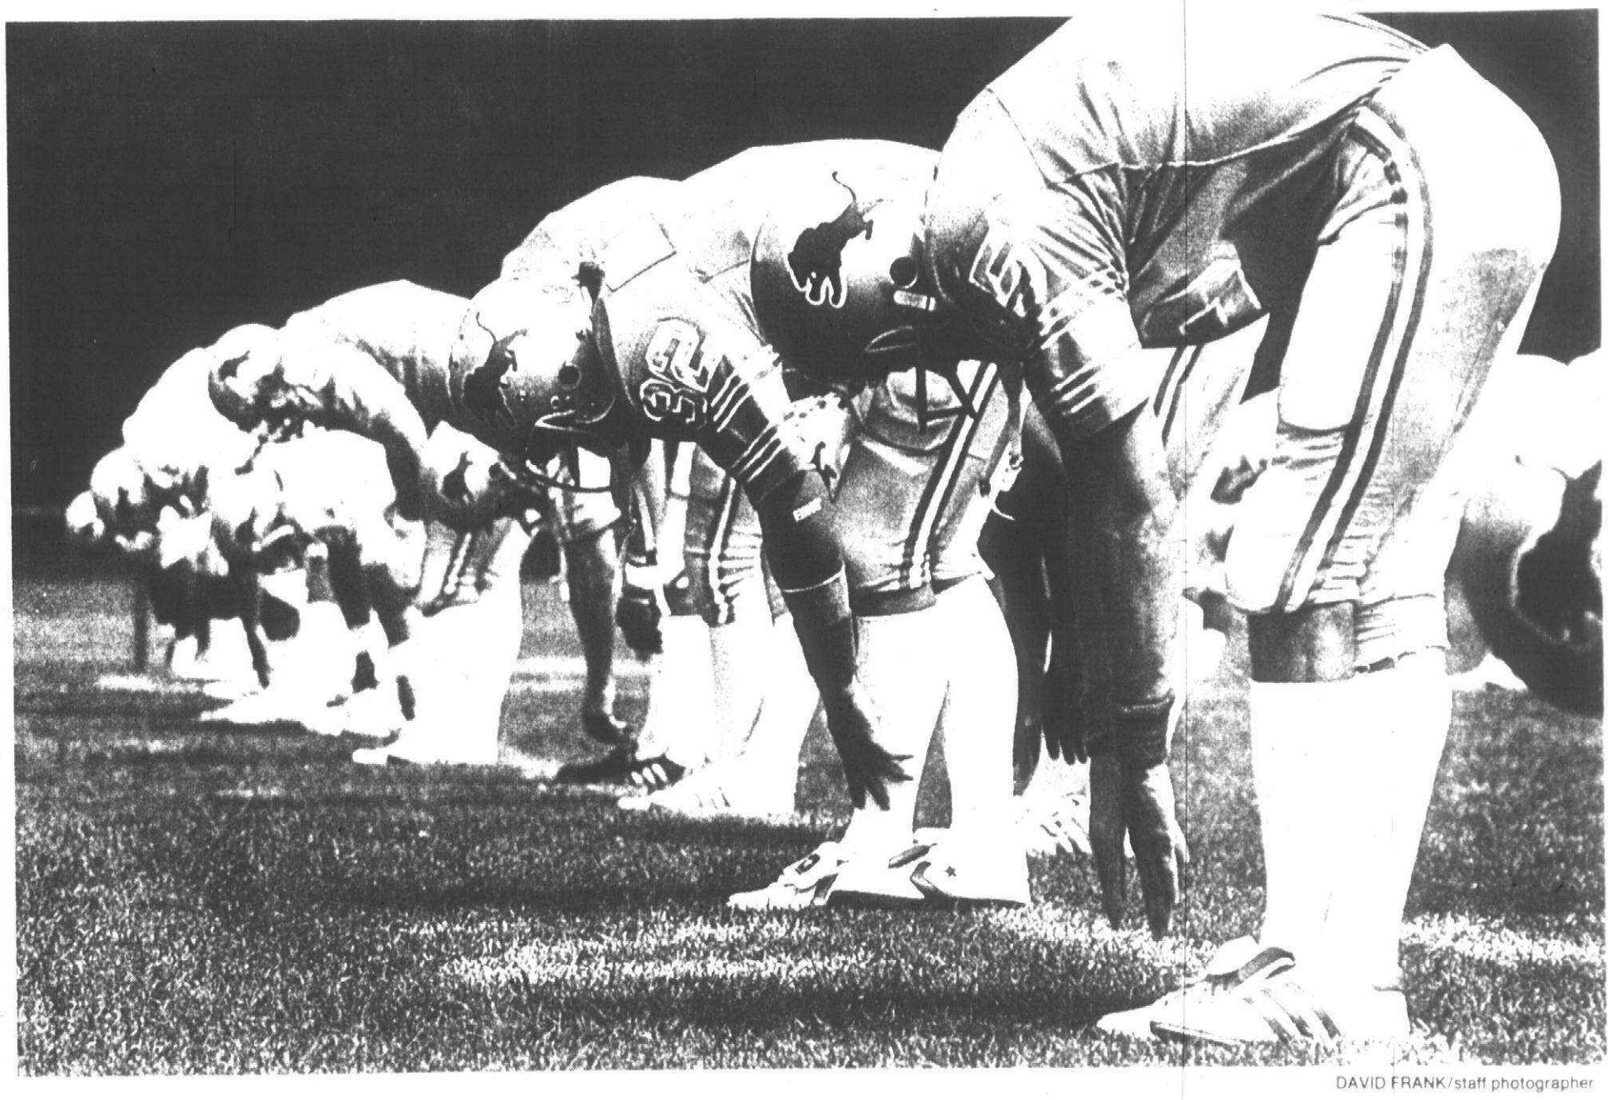

"I think we need someone to fill in Jimmy Allen's (free safety) spot, and we need Sims back, but they shouldn't give him what he wants. He's holding out for too much money. I like Hipple. I've seen him play, and I think he's the more dominant player. He's not afraid to take the short run."

Sisters Lori and Bea Hickey, also of Rochester, are hoping the passing game improves as well as the play of the secondary.

"I hope their defensive backs are better," Bea Hickey said. "Wayne Smith was pretty bad last year. They need better people there."

At this stage of the game, predictions and hopes are the norm. While the Tigers strt Division, fans with hopes of watching a local team in the playoffs look toward the Lions. Just like frustrated Red Wing and Piston fans looked to the Tigers to fulfill the fantasy last spring.

My prediction? Billy Sims will be back. The secondary, with Alvin Hall filling in for the traded Spiderman Allen, and James Hunter at one of the cornerback slots, will be a shade better than last season. But that's only if Wayne Smith has worked on his man-to-man coverage.

Leaseway claims Massey title

THE LOSS DROPPED MBM into the losers' bracket to play Gregg's. In a rare pitcher's battle, Gregg's emerged on top with a 3-1 victory.

Gary Bonman was the winning pitcher for Gregg's, allowing nine MBM hits. MBM's only run was scored by Sherwood, who singled and came home on Mark Fydeck's base hit in the fifth inning.

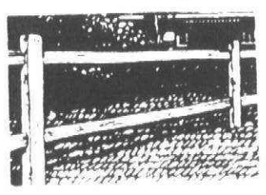

Johnson provided the heroics for Gregg's with a two-run homer in the sixth that pushed the winning runs across.

Gregg's fell into the losers' bracket when it was clobbered by Leaseway, 24-7 in the third round. And it was Goodlow and Ted Kowalski who were responsible for the rout.

Follow some simple rules for an improved swing

Whether the student is a junior boy or a senior lady, the fundamentals of golf seldom vary.

The swing includes grip, stance, ball position, target and, finally, a rhythm that will provide a balanced swing toward that target.

What makes the swing feel unnatural is that it's vertical instead of horizontal. I believe if the student understands the basic concepts of the swing, he or she will execute it with greater efficiency.

THE GRIP is vital, as it is the only connection between the golf club and the body. It's not important whether you use the "baseball" grip or the "interlocking" or "overlapping." Just be certain the hands are in the correct position on the club.

The stance, very simply, is approximately the width of the shoulders — possibly a little wider on tee shots and a little narrower on chip shots.

This basic guideline may vary if the student has a physical handicap of some sort, which all good instructors should know by talking to the student.

THE BALL position is important because it will affect the height the ball will or will not obtain and the direction the ball will travel.

Basically, the woods are played with the ball nearer the forward foot (meaning the left foot for right-handers and right foot for southpaws). The irons are played with the ball nearer the center of the stance.

Some players like to pitch or chip the ball with a narrower stance so they think they are playing the ball more off the right of center.

THE RHYTHM and balance of the swing is most essential if a student is to develop any consistency in contact and scoring.

Many golfers like to just hit the ball hard, figuring the harder they hit it the lower their score will be. Score will improve by simply making more good golf swings in which the golf club does most of the work.

I've always tried to convey to a student that you don't hit golf balls, you make golf swings. The swing will hit the ball.

Youths shine at Fitness Meet

Seven area youngsters were among 144 boys and girls ages 9-14 to claim winner's plaques for first, second and third places in the 25th Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Meet.

The competition was held at Kensington Metropark July 29.

The only local first-place finisher was Carrie Dul from Redford in the girls' Class B running broad jump. Dul leaped 13 feet, 3½ inches to top the opposition.

In the girls' Class B running hop-step-jump, Jenny Kincer from Canton Township leaped 26-½ for second place.

In the boys' competition, Ryan Johnson from Canton took second in the Class C softball throw with a toss of 149-9.

TYRONE REEVES from Canton took second in the Class B running hop-step-jump with an effort of 33-9½, while Tim Jackson from Livonia placed third in the event with a jump of 33-2.

Scott Filipiak took third in the Class A running hop-step-jump with a mark of 32-8¼.

In the chinning event, Bob Ferrence from Garden City placed second in the Class A event doing 18 chin-ups.

More than 2,000 youngsters competed in the annual competition as finalists from 39 communities converged at Possum Hollow Playfield Area in Kensington Metropark.

The 25th Anniversary Event was sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan and was coordinated by Marilyn Webb of the insurance group's community relations department. Blue Cross/Blue Shield supplied trophies, patches and refreshments.

Huron Township Parks and Recreation Department claimed the John J. Consodine Award Trophy, a memorial to the founder of this event, which is presented to the community representing the best in sportmanship, conduct and appearance during the track and field events.

Salem's Humphries signs to attend WMU

Joe Humphries, a 1982 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, has signed a national letter of intent to attend Western Michigan University this fall and play baseball.

Humphries posted an 8-2 record at Salem this past spring and had a 1.99 earned run average in addition to a .341 batting average, with two home runs and a perfect fielding mark.

Humphries was team captain at Salem and was named Most Valuable Player for his efforts this past spring. In addition, he was named to the All-Suburban Eight League team and was a member of the Observer All-Area team.

This summer, Humphries hit .431 with three home runs in 21 games in the Livonia Adray League for the Westland-Redford team and was elected to play in that loop's all-star game in Tiger Stadium.

With the Salem Elks in Connie Mack play, he hit .435 in 16 contests with four round-trippers.

"Joe has the potential to be as hard a hitter as Mark Gerard was for us," WMU head baseball coach Fred Decker said.

"We'll work with him in the infield and the outfield to determine his best position," Decker added.

Cage coaches needed

If you're in the basketball coaching business and you're looking for a place to practice your trade, then a good place to start your search is Livonia Clarenceville High School.

Clarenceville athletic director Leo Kinsella is seeking coaches to fill three positions: boys' varsity, girls' varsity and a boys' junior varsity basketball.

The two varsity positions became available after both of last year's coaches, Jon Thostenson (boys) and Lori Staciak (girls), accepted teaching and coaching positions in other school systems.

For further information concerning the three jobs, call Kinsella at Clarenceville (476-2270).

Five local tennis players discarded one title by winning another over the weekend.

All five — Melissa Smith, Scott Hobbs, Michelle Dubuque, John Kolb and Warren Smith — were winners of the Observer Novice Tennis Tournament, cosponsored by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department.

The tournament was reserved for netters who have not accomplished much in tournament play. By winning their respective age groups, the five players each earned the title of champion while ridding themselves of the novice label.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

The men's Over-16 winner at the Observer/Plymouth Parks and Recreation department Novice Tennis Tournament was Warren Smith, who beat Jeff Downing in the finals to capture the title.

The tourney, which attracted 37 players, started Thursday and finished Sunday.

SMITH, COMPETING in the girls' 12-and-under age division, lost just a single game in cruising to the title. She shut out Lori Penland, 10-0, in her first match and beat Pam Penland, 10-1, for the championship.

Hobbs' trail to the 12-and-under boys' title was more difficult. He beat Jeff Binder, 10-1, in his opening match, then handed Tom Weber a 6-3, 7-5 defeat.

In the finals, Hobbs battled Jim Gallagher for three sets before claiming a 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 victory.

In the girls' 15-and-under division, Dubuque knocked Ravinder Dhaliwal out of the tournament by a 10-2 score. Dubuque then hung on to beat Kari Amador, 10-9, in the championship match.

Kolb started his run to the boys' 15-and-under crown with a 10-4 win over Dave Hawkins. He followed that with a 10-5 defeat of Joe Miller.

KOLB RAN INTO trouble in the semifinals, going three sets against Tim Melican before emerging with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 victory. Kolb set Mike McKenney down in straight sets in the final, 6-4, 6-1.

Smith encountered few problems in capturing the men's 16 and over division. He ripped Jim Borneman, 10-0, then beat Vern Stubbe in the semifinals, 6-1, 6-0.

In the finals, Smith downed Jeff Downing, 6-1, 6-1.

There was also a champion in the 16-and-over women's division. Julie Keros was a winner by default — no one else entered. Whether the victory affects her novice standing is undecided.

Keros could be the only defending champion ever to compete if she enters next year's Observer Novice Tennis Tournament.

Crowe falls in districts

Livonia Crowe's season and bid for a Connie Mack district championship came to a simultaneous end Friday in a 7-1 loss to Detroit West Seven at Southfield.

Crowe fell to Madison Heights, 5-1, in the opening game of the double-elimination tournament Thursday but battled back later in the day to blast Ann Arbor, 17-1, and advance to play on Friday.

In the first game Friday, Livonia defeated Southfield, 6-4. But Crowe's tournament bid ended in its next effort, a loss to Detroit West Seven.

GREG EVERSON led the Livonia offensive attack during the tournament. He smacked a grand-slam home run against Ann Arbor, collecting six RBI in the game.

Against Southfield, Everson had a solo homer and went 3-for-3 with three RBI.

Curt Boyea was on the mound for both of Livonia's victories.

In the Ann Arbor game, which was ended after five innings by the mercy rule, Boyea struck out five and walked three, giving up just two hits in going the distance.

In the Southfield game, he struck out four, walked two and gave up five hits in picking up the win.

Livonia finished the season with a 14-7 overall record.

Beech Daly vaults to 2nd

Beech Daly Clinic pulled into a tie for second place in the Garden City Class A Invitational Baseball League on the strength of a 12-4 shellacking of the Players Sunday at Garden City Park.

Ken Browe and Mark Wegzyn led a 13-hit Beech Daly offensive assault with three hits apiece. Browe banged three doubles and Wegzyn collected two runs batted in with a single, double and a triple in three trips.

Jay Traver and Kevin Desjarlais each had two hits and an RBI for Beech Daly, which improved its record to 11-4. Traver got the win, pitching in relief of starter Stan Cross.

Bruce Morrison was the loser for the Players. Todd Corvin had two of the seven Players' hits, knocking in one run, and Mark Moran drove in a pair of runs with one hit.

BEECH DALY'S victory, combined with A&K Electric's forfeit loss to Mr. McK's Wine Shop Saturday, left both teams with 11-4 records. Still atop the league standings is Three Kegs Round with a 12-1 mark.

Warrick Clutch solidified its fourth-place standing by blasting the Garden City Golden Leafs 13-1 Sunday at Garden City Park.

Winning pitcher Scott Hill and reliever Enzo Evangelista stopped the Golden Leafs on five hits. Mike Duminske was saddled with the loss, as the Golden Leafs helped Warrick by committing 10 errors.

Matt Creute delivered three runs with three of Warrick's 13 hits. Joe Salvato knocked in two runs with three hits, and Jerry Schultz banged a two-run single.

Duminske collected two hits for the Golden Leafs.

The win boosted Warrick to 8-7. Tied for fifth place with 6-9 records are the Golden Leafs and Runners Unlimited. The Players and Mr. McK's are next, both with 6-10 marks, and Sinkey and Sons Painting is last at 1-13.

Colt tourney is slated

The Garden City Youth Athletic Association (GCYAA) will host the Colt Baseball North Zone Tournament today through Sunday on diamond five at Garden City Park.

The double-elimination Colt (15-16 year old boys) tournament will feature championship teams from Bay City, Garden City, Waukegan, Ill., and Topeka, Kan. Play is at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. today and tomorrow, 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and, if necessary, 1 p.m. Sunday.

Admission for the tournament is $1.

Bean makes U-M investment pay off

By John Raby
special writer

Former Southfield High School football standout Vince Bean knew he made a good investment when he signed a letter-of-intent in 1980 to play at the University of Michigan.

After all, his broker is G.E. Schembechler. And when Bo talks, Vince listens.

Bean, a junior split end, hasn't received the attention or playing time given to other Wolverine offensive stars like All-American Anthony Carter.

But the Southfield product has visions of becoming a pass-catching threat for Michigan in 1982.

If that happenes, Michigan could have two of the most-feared pass-catchers in the Big Ten in Carter and Bean.

In a recent interview, Bean didn't hesitate to give The General credit for teaching him the fine art of playing college football.

"Bo's very knowledgeable," Bean said. "He knows what he's doing. The best thing I can say about him is that he's a very honest man. He's fair. I like him."

But, Bean was asked, isn't Bo hard to please? Doesn't he yell at you?

"Oh, all the time," Bean answered. "He yells at everybody on the field all the time. You know how coaches are."

BEAN CAUGHT Bo's eye as a blue chipper at Southfield High in 1979, the season he scored 18 touchdowns for the Blue Jays. Bean also was an all-league selection in basketball and a record-setting long jumper in track.

With Schembechler's blessing, Bean decided to pursue both football and track at Michigan.

But Bean suffered torn ligaments in his right hand in a fall a week before the opening football game of his freshman season. The injury sidelined him for six weeks and resulted in his being red-shirted.

In the spring of 1981, Bean went out for track and was an instant success. He placed third in the long jump at the Big Ten outdoor meet behind teammates James Ross and Derrick Harper.

Spring football practice found him still a second-stringer behind Carter at flanker and Fred Brockington at split end.

To his surprise, Bean found he was Michigan's No. 1 split end when he reported in the fall. "I didn't know the job was mine, because they told me earlier that it wasn't mine," he said.

Bean was a starter in the first game, but his nervousness showed.

"Wisconsin," Bean remembered, "That was the toughest.

"It was my first game and [Wisconsin's)" defensive backs just killed me because I didn't know what I was doing."

BEAN ENDED the 1981 season with 16 catches for 336 yards (21 yards per catch) and one touchdown. His longest catch went for 46 yards.

Michigan receiving coach Bob Thornbladh emphasized Bean's steady improvement.

"In track, they worked hard to improve his running form and make him a more efficient runner," Thornbladh said. "That made him a faster runner. I think he had trouble getting into the pass routes as quickly as we would have liked.

"Vince has a very good mind. He understands his position and what we're trying to do. He has real fine hands and is a great leaper. He's improved dramatically as a blocker.

"He still has to continue to improve overall. He's not yet a finished product."

MICHIGAN'S SWITCHING from a running game to a pass-oriented offense has been an advantage to.

"Other teams forced Bo to pass, because they moved everybody else up on the defensive line," Bean said. "You can't run into all that. You're going to have to throw the ball.

Bean said he thinks the key to Michigan's success in 1982 is a balanced offensive attack. Last year, the team moved the ball well but failed to score at crucial times, he said.

"We had good runners and a good passing attack," Bean said, "but we never seemed to combine them. Either we'd run the ball all the time or pass it all the time. We never had a balance.

Bean is studying film and video at Michigan and hopes to work in television editing and production after graduation — unless there's a professional football opportunity.

New experiment will speed up league play in the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

In an effort to find a solution for speeding up league play, the American Bowling Congress (ABC) has approved an experiment for the coming season.

In conjunction with the Bowling Proprietors Association (BPA), the ABC has announced four plans, each of which will be tried in every section of the country.

Under the plan, one establishment in each area will be chosen for the experiment and careful watch will be kept on every move to bring back the two-hour run of each league.

Here are the four plans to be used:

TWO-FRAME FORMAT: League members bowl two successive frames on one lane in regular order, then alternate lanes for two more frames until six frames are bowled on the starting lane and four on the alternate lane.

ON DECK PLAYER: The team player bowling next must be in a designated 'on deck player area' before the preceeding player completes a frame. Any bowler not in position would receive a zero for that frame.

DESIGNATED TIME TEST: A specified time period will be allowed team play such as: five-members would get two and a half hours; four members would get two hours; three members one and a half hours. Any team not finished in that time would stop bowling.

TIMING DEVICE: A specified period will be allowed for each bowler to deliver the first ball, with a time device signaling when the period has elapsed. A zero will be given for that frame for non-compliance.

The establishment to be used in the metropolitan Detroit area has not yet been selected for the experiment.

SEVERAL TONS of hot dogs are expected to be sold over the weekend when the proprietors again sponsor "The Good Old Days" for a three-day period.

The price of bowling will be 25 cents, the same price for a hot dog and for a soft drink.

This has always been one of the most popular promotions of the entire season and gives the bowlers a chance to practice for reduced rates.

WONDERLAND LANES will join in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon on Sept. 3-6. All bowlers in the area are invited to take part. It is the first time one of the western suburban establishments has been a participant.

Ted Ratkiff earned his way in to the 700 club at Westland Bowl during the week. Bowling in the Monday morning men's league, he linked games of 220, 243 and 246 for a 706. Behind him came Pat Jones with a 668 and Steve Cotter with a 658.

● MANTLE REGIONAL

The Salem Diponio Mickey Mantle baseball team, in conjunction with the Little Caesar's Amateur Baseball League, will host the National Regional playoffs for the National Amateur Baseball Federation's Junior Division today through Sunday at the Salem and Canton high school fields.

Game times are noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. today and tomorrow and 11 a.m., 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday. Sunday's championship contest will start at noon.

● SOCCER TRYOUTS

Plymouth Canton High School's soccer team will hold at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 10 in front of the Phase III gymnasium. Anyone interested in playing soccer this fall at Canton must attend.

For futher information, call Coach Lonigro at 459-3675.

● CANTON GOLF

The Canton Festival Golf Tournament is slated for 11 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 8 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The tourney is a three-person scramble team format. All Canton golfers are invited to participate. Cost is $33 per team. Deadline for registration is Friday, Aug. 6.

For further information, contact the Canton Parks and Recreation department at 397-1000.

● YOUTH HOCKEY

Any youths between 6 and 17 years of age interested in playing hockey this year, take note: registration for the Youth Hockey League is 6-9 p.m. Monday, Aug. 9 at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Registration fee is $40. You must bring birth certificates with you. Beginning skaters are welcome. For more information, call Carolyn Kocis at 459-6394.

● CANTON RUN

The time has come. Put on the jogging shoes and shorts and start training, because the fourth annual Canton Country Festival 5 mile run is less than a month away.

The date is Aug. 7. The day is Saturday. The time is 9 a.m. The race starts at the Township Administration building (1150 Canton Center) and ends at Griffin Park. Competition is divided into six age groups in both men's and women's divisions.

Cost is $5 before Aug. 5 and $6 after. Register at the parks and recreation office in the administration building. For further information, call 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

● SALEM SOCCER

All boys interested in playing soccer this fall for Plymouth Salem are invited to attend the opening day of practice 9-10:30 a.m. and 5-6 p.m. Monday, Aug. 16 at the Salem soccer fields, located south of the CEP tennis courts. Aspiring players must attend both sessions. Wear soccer attire and report to coach Ken Johnson.

● BENEFIT SOFTBALL

The disc jockeys from WABX-FM will don their softball uniforms and take to the diamond to battle the University of Michigan-Dearborn chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity in a benefit softball game.

The fun begins at 1 p.m. Sunday at King-Boring Field, located behind the Dearborn Civic Center at Michigan and Greenfield. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

All proceeds go to Children's Hospital.

Marty Budner

PHIL RASHEAD said it best.

"I'd like to say Eddie Feigner is a real professional. (Feigner) probably came expecting to find a fast-pitch team. We were a group of slo-pitch players. But, they did their best to put on a good show."

Rashead, a West Bloomfield resident, was one of a group of slo-pitch softball all-star players who served as bait late Wednesday afternoon for Mr. Eddie Feigner — the self-proclaimed king of softball.

Before 1,500 fans at the Southfield Civic Center, Feigner provided the dipsy-doodle, fancy wind-up pitching that he's become so famous for more than the 37 years that the "King and his Court" has been on the road.

He threw sinkers, sliders and risers from pitcher's mound and second base. Advanced in age (exact years he refuses to reveal) but forever the master, Feigner pitched balls behind his back, between his legs and even while blindfolded.

"I FIND it amazing that the man, at his age, can still throw that hard," said Rashead, who plays from the Birmingham Fisher Foods/Wesley Drugs softball team.

"I've seen him before, and I've always admired him. It's his longevity that's absolutley amazing. The man's a great showman.

"But, I wouldn't be surprised if he was giving us a break because he knew we were slow-pitch players. I've seen him before when he's thrown harder. He pretty much threw the same speed and elevation to me while I was batting."

Rashead, a former infielder in the Kansas City Royals farm system, got a couple hits off Feigner and his talented three-man Court. Actually, the all-stars mustered enough hits to score four runs.

The King and his Court, however, scored eight and won easily. It was just another road victory for Feinger's team.

EDDIE FEIGNER still sports that familiar crew-cut. But, his face has a few more lines, his stomach is a little larger and he struts in a slow, semi-crouch — like he's wearing ski boots — because of a pair of gimpy knees.

His body definitely shows the strains of constant travel. Here are some figures:

- 7,121 games pitched (5,878 wins, 960 losses and 283 ties).
- 110,010 strike outs.
- 793 no-hit games, 1,698 shut outs, 225 perfect games, 11,948 exhibition games.
- 3,719 cities played in (including a record 57 games won over a 41-day span).

It's a gruesome schedule. Wednesday, for example, after entertaining in Southfield, Feigner received a police-escort to the north side of town to go to East Detroit for a 9 p.m. show.

FEIGNER PITCHED 18 games last week in eight days — enough to make even Arnold Schwarzenegger's arm weary. His caravan often travels from state-to-state in less than 24 hours.

> 'Age is relative. It doesn't matter how old you are — you just get out and do your job. . . . The best part about it is the people — I really enjoy the people.'
> — Eddie Feigner softball king

Later this year, Feigner said he plans on entertaining in the heat and sands of Saudi Arabia and Africa. How does he do it at his age?

"Age is relative," said Feigner, who played before his largest crowd ever (16,000 fans) last year at the Pontiac Silverdome.

"It doesn't matter how old you are — you just get out and do your job. But, sometimes it's like any job — it get repetitious and you get tired of it. The best part about it is the people — I really enjoy the people.

"The only time it really gets to me is when I play a triple-header," he said. "You're bound to get tired after that."

THE KING is totally in charge of his entourage. He's the producer, director and programmer, all packaged into one aging body.

After sauntering to the middle of the gravel-coated infield of diamond No. 1 on the Civic Center's north side, Feigner, still bundled in his heavy warm-up jacet, was greeted warmly by his admirers.

Feigner told the audience what to expect — blinfolds in the fifth inning, pitching from second base the next inning and a pitching exhibition after the game.

In the top of the first, Feigner ordered two runs and he got them. First baseman and team comedian Gary West, catcher Eddie J.R. Feigner and shortstop Dave Barnett ran and hit with authority.

The all-stars came to bat and quickly scored a run on back-to-back doubles.

THE COURT scored two more runs in its next turn at bat, and the King asked for some quick outs over the next few innings so they could get to East Detroit on schedule.

The Court obliged. West was caught sliding into second base on one occasion, and young Feigner hit an infield grounder — then threw his bat at the ball after the fielder threw it toward first base.

Late in the game, the all-stars picked up a run on a play which had the King steaming — proving he still retains that inborn competitive flair.

With an all-star on base, Barnett raced into the outfield to pick up a hit through the middle. Barnett threw a perfect line drive to home plate, only to find the younger Feigner following the runner around first base. The throw skipped to the backstop as the King watched from the pitcher's mound in disbelief.

AFTERWARDS, IN the dugout, as the fielders heatedly discussed the misplay, the King spoke, "Let's make sure we get it done right the next time — either throw behind the runner or throw to home plate. Don't throw it if there's no one there to catch it. We're supposed to know what we're doing."

Despite the miscues and obvious 'set-ups' with the all-stars in certain situations, the crowd enjoyed the action.

"It was fantastic," said Lee Griffin of Rochester, who plays for the Birmingham Bull in the Birmingham league and was Feigner's catcher during the post-game pitching show.

"He was throwing up and down — straight drops and sometimes the ball would go straight up. He was throwing fast, but I don't think he was pitching as fast as he could.

"Everyone was saying he can really pitch the ball."

Rock won't be escalated at Meadow Brook scene

By Nick Charles
special writer

FOR MANY AREA residents, summertime means relaxing under the stars at Meadow Brook while enjoying some fine wine and, of course, elegant symphonic music.

This scene will continue in the summers ahead. But on some nights the sounds of violins and tympani will be replaced with electric guitars and drum solos.

Nevertheless, classical music buffs do not have to worry. Rock and roll is not going to take over Meadow Brook.

"We aren't interested at all in some of the really heavy metal rock groups," said Stuart Hyke, managing director of Meadow Brook Music Festival, which is presented at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

"THE FESTIVAL will remain to have a profile like it's had in the last few years. Our principle function is to act as the summer home to the Detroit Symphony. I don't think we'll get any heavier into comtemporary entertainment that we are already."

Meadow Brook, now in its 19th season, has been including popular concerts in the summer schedule since 1970. Before then, the festival was exclusively reserved for symphonic programs.

Last year, Meadow Brook presented shows by Jimmy Buffet, Al Jarreau and the Charlie Daniels Band. Each of these shows is considered contemporary but not rock.

Buffet falls under the category of island rock as he sings about palm trees, boats and coconuts. Jarreau is a jazz vocalist, and Charlie Daniels is considered country-rock.

Although Meadow Brook has hosted contemporary concerts like these previously, it has never staged what can be considered "rock and roll" shows — until now.

"NO, WE ARE NOT trying to become the next Pine Knob," Hyke said, referring to another outdoor music theater which stages several rock concerts each summer near Clarkston. "We are just interested in getting new groups of people to come out (to Meadow Brook)."

One reason for the contemporary concerts is financial. Although Meadow Brook is known for its classical concerts, it actually loses money on them. It stays afloat by holding contemporary shows and patron donations.

"We lose over $300,000 on the Detroit Symphony concerts," Hyke explained. "Our popular entertainment will generate $150,000 to cover some of our loses."

Even though the contemporary concerts are financially successful, they tend to bring about other problems not usually associated with classical concerts. One of the most noticeable problems is noise.

It was clear noise was going to be a problem when Meadow Brook presented its first rock concert July 12.

"SOUND LEVELS were much louder than expected," Hyke said. "To the public living around the festival who heard the concert, you have our sincere apologies."

The volume problem was not caused by the headline band, Cheap Trick, but by the opening act, Saxon.

"The Cheap Trick portion of the show was pretty good. It was still loud, but it was tolerable," he said. "They were considerably more melodic than Saxon."

Cheap Trick and Saxon's show was the loudest one that will take place at Meadow Brook this season. The upcoming contemporary acts are considered mild.

In association with Brass Ring Productions, Meadow Brook will present Elvis Costello and his band The Attractions on Monday. Costello falls under the catagory of "New Wave."

HE JUST released his seventh album for Columbia records called "Imperial Bedroom." The English singer/guitarist has written songs performed and recorded by other artists, including Linda Ronstadt and Dave Edmunds.

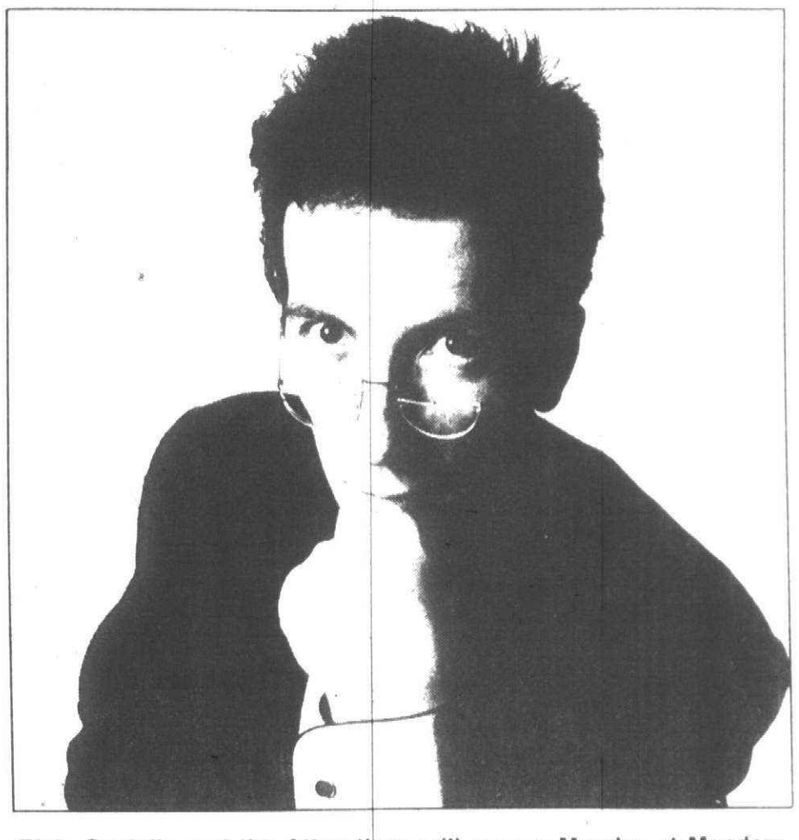

He has been an inspiration to many performers and is known for the songs "Accidents Will Happen," "Green Shirt," and "Girls Talk."

Meadow Brook will fall under the charm of Scottish singer Sheena Easton when she appears at the festival Aug. 18. Although she's just in her early 20s, Easton hs earned recognition as one of the world's top female vocalists.

Her latest album, "You Could Have Been With Me," is best know for its title track, and her debut album contains the hits "Morning Train (Nine to Five)" and "Modern Girl."

Easton is also known for singing the theme song from the last James Bond movie, "For Your Eyes Only."

Other Brass Ring concerts scheduled at Meadow Brook include Utopia on Aug. 19 and the Osmonds (including Donny and Marie) on Sept. 2.

Elvis Costello and the Attractions will appear Monday at Meadow Brook Music Festival. Special guest will be Talk Talk.

Doc Severinsen, DSO team for top-notch concert

By Judy Jablonski
special writer

On the "Tonight" show, his outlandish attire is often the subject of Johnny Carson's ridicule, but his music receives nothing but praise.

So, it was no surprise when Doc Severinsen, garbed in glitter, gave an outstanding performance to a near sell-out crowd Saturday night at Meadow Brook Music Festival on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

Severinsen's contemporary jazz sound was enhanced by the sophisticated sound of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, conducted that night by Newton Wayland. The collaboration of Severinsen's brash trumpet solos and the DSO's melodic wonders was a fantastic explosion of musical fireworks.

In addition to highlighting Severinsen's trumpet talents, the evening served as a showcase for the versatility of the symphony.

review

THE DSO OPENED the show with the standard "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," burst into a highly polished and patriotic "Variations on America," then played a delightfully bizarre piece from Franz Waxman's "Bride of Frankenstein" score.

In contrast, Severinsen's first number was a concerto written expressly for him eight years ago.

"This piece shows off with great brilliance Doc's own brilliance," Wayland said as he introduced Severinsen. "He is bold, irreverent, highly disciplined, energetic and creative. He's the best."

Severinsen has been receiving such praises since he was named best trumpeter in the state of Oregon at age 9. Among his mentors in the years that followed were Charlie Barnet, Benny Goodman and Tommy Dorsey.

He then became a member of the NBC staff and occasionally played for Skitch Henderson on Steve Allen's "Tonight."

IT WAS IN 1962, the same year Johnny Carson joined the show, that Severinsen actually became a member of the "Tonight" show staff. Undoubtedly this 20-year association with Carson and company has helped to mold Severinsen into the extraordinary entertainer he is today.

Severinsen knows what the audience likes, and he plays upon that. His flashy clothing, wry wit, expressive eyebrows and occasional bumps and grinds to the beat of the music have become his trademarks.

During the first half of the show, however, Severinsen was somewhat subdued in dress and speech as he poured himself into his music. His sparkle-studded three-piece beige suit, a modest outfit for Severinsen, was fitting for the classical music that he and the symphony were playing.

He muttered a few quick "thank yous" and left the stage.

Surely if it weren't for that sparkled suit, people seated on the lawn might have thought Severinsen had followed the pattern of his boss and taken the night off, while this mild-manned, though excellent, trumpeter filled in. Had the flippant Doc flipped and gone straight?

NOT AT ALL. After the symphony opened the second half of the show with the moving "Laura," Severinsen bounded on stage wearing a white outfit plastered with multi-colored sparkles, frills and guitars studded on the back — the rhinestone trumpeter!

He brought his Burbank band along for this part of the show: bass, guitar, drums and keyboard players. Their electric sound added yet another dimension to the Severinsen-symphony combination.

Severinsen conducted this jazz-rock-symphony orchestra in a fabulous pop medley that included music by Billy Joel, Elvis Presley and the Beatles.

Severinsen the showman was at his prime in this second half of the show as he altered music, talking with the audience, and humor, in a fast-paced manner. These constant changes made for an exciting and unpredictable show.

An unexpected and highly entertaining moment came when, during the medley, Severinsen turned the entire string section into a mass of fiddlers as he clapped his hands and stamped his feet, conducting a hoedown number. The crowd loved it, and these newly ordained fiddlers seemed to be having a great time.

SEVERINSEN RETURNED to his trumpet while Wayland conducted a fantastic rendition of "MacArthur Park." It was amazing to hear Severinsen and the symphony play so wonderfully together and realize it was the first time they ever joined forces on stage.

They complemented each other so well it appeared as though they had played together for years.

Severinsen has performed with many orchestras, but he continually praised the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as standout musicians.

"When I learned that I would be playing with them, I told everyone how wonderful they're supposed to be and that I was excited to play with them," Severinsen told the audience.

"Now that I've played with them, I realize they're even better than I thought. They are surely one of the world's greatest group of musicians, and it has been an honor to play with them."

Severinsen, in turn, receive dnumerous standing ovations. Though it's back to Burbank and playing third banana to Johnny Carson, Severinsen was the star at Meadow Brook.

7th drum corps contest slated

The seventh annual Drum Corps International Northern Championships will be held Aug. 13, for the sixth time in Eastern Michigan University's Rynearson Stadium in Ypsilanti.

Tickets for the preliminary competition which begins at 8:30 a.m. are priced at $4 general admission. Tickets for the finals competition which begins at 7:30 p.m. are $4 (outside of the 20-yard lines) and $7 (between the 20-yard lines).

Tickets are available at the Ypsilanti Area Chamber of Commerce.

'Otherwise Engaged'

The private world of Simon, aloof publisher (Richard Klautsch, center), is examined in Simon Gray's "Otherwise Engaged," alternating in repertory through Saturday at the Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival at Wayne State University in Detroit. The cast also features an aspiring author (Maureen McDevitt, left) and an obstreperous upstairs tenant (Phillip W. Moss). For ticket information call 577-2972.

upcoming

● BLUEGRASS FESTIVAL

The sixth annual Mountain Bluegrass Festival will be presented from 1:30-9:30 p.m. Saturday-Sunday at Ford Field in downtown Northville. Josh White, Jr., will be the headlined attraction. Tickets are $4 minimum donation at the door. Children under 12 are admitted for $2. Infants are free. Proceeds go toward research on Huntington's Disease.

● PLYMOUTH BLUEGRASS

Plymouth's second annual Bluegrass Festival is Aug. 6, 7 and 8 at the 65-acre Western Wayne County Conservation Association site, 6700 Napier, in western Plmouth Township. A $17 ticket is being sold for all three days; lower daily rates and discounts for children and senior citizens are available. Food, drinks and ice will be sold. Spectators should bring blankets and lawn chairs. Phone 453-9843 or 455-8579 for advance ticket information.

● TWO ONE-ACTS

Culminating its first Summer Theater Workshop, the Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild will present two one-act plays at 8:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday and Aug. 13-14 at the guild's playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly south of Five Mile in Redford Township. Tickets at $2 can be obtained by calling 453-3532.

● LASER LIGHTS

Laser light concerts entitled "Lasera" will debut throughout the summer months at Cranbrook Institute of Science. Featured in the presentation is a krypton laser, whose light is split with a prism to splash color images on the planetarium dome. The show is synchronized to the rhythms of rock music selected by WRIF radio. Show times are 3:30 and 4:15 p.m. Tuesdays-Thursdays; 4:15, 5, 8:30 and 9:15 p.m. Saturdays and 4:15 and 5 p.m. Sundays. Lasera fee is $1.25 in addition to regular museum admission of $2.75 for adults, $1.75 for students and senior citizens. Children under 5 cannot be admitted to the planetarium.

● LOUIS ARENA

Queen, with special guest Billy Squire, appears at 8 p.m. Friday at Joe Louis Arena in Detroit. Tickets are $10.50, $11.50 and $12.50. For more information phone 567-6000.

● HERMAN'S HERD

Forty-six years of big band history come to the poolside terrace at Detroit's Hotel Pontchartrain when Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd take the P'Jazz stage on Monday. The Dave Sporney Big Band has its turn on the outdoor terrace Wednesday. Doors to the terrace open at 5 p.m. Both shows start at 6 p.m. For ticket information call 965-0200.

● AT YESTERDAYS

Interiors, a six-member Top 40 dance band led by a female vocalist, is appearing through Aug. 14 at Yesterday's in the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel. The band performs from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Mondays-Saturdays. There is no cover charge. The hotel is at 17017 W. Nine Mile Road.

● DANCE MUSIC

Randallen is playing rock music for dancing through Aug. 14 at Bootleggers, 32305 Grand River, Farmington. The group appears from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays.

● MUSICAL REVUE

Rosemary Clooney, Helen O'Connell, Martha Raye and Kay Starr appear in the musical revue "The New Four Girls" through Sunday at the Star Theatre of Flint. This show is the sequel to "4 Girls 4." Opening Star Theatre's sixth week on Tuesday will be the musical "Oliver!" starring comedian Rip Taylor. Performances continue through Aug. 15. A special half price ticket policy for children applies to all performances of "Oliver!" For more information call 239-1464.

● NORTHLAND SOUNDS

The Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band will play at Calypso Night from 5:30-8:30 tonight at Northland Center in Southfield. Northland also is planning a big "Salute to Montreaux Jazz" from 5-8 p.m. Aug. 27. Performing will be the Jack Brokensha Quartet featuring Matt Michaels, Ursula Walker, the Austin Moro Big Band and Larry Nozero. Both events are open to the public without charge.

● SAXOPHONE STAR

Larry Nozero is playing a month-long engagement through Sept. 4 at Dewey's in the Michigan Inn in Southfield. Saxophonist Nozero has been one of the Detroit-area's top-rated musicians for more than 10 years. He has appeared with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and has toured the United States. Nozero performs from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Mondays-Saturdays. The Michigan Inn is at 16400 J.L. Hudson Drive, next to the Northland Theatre.

● COMEDY CASTLE

Detroit comic Tim Allen is appearing tonight at the Comedy Castle at Maximilian's Restaurant in Royal Oak. Allen is soon to be seen on ON-TV with Robert Klein. Robert Wuhl will be the Comedy Castle star Friday-Sunday. Wuhl is from ABC's "Police Squad" and played Newbomb Turk in "Hollywood Knights." Mike MacDonald, from Yuk-Yuk's in Toronto and New York's "Catch a Rising Star," will be featured Aug. 11-15; native Detroiter Thom Sharp, from the "Tonight Show" and the film "Body Heat," Aug. 17-22; and Ritch Shydner, from the Comedy Store in Los Angeles and the Laff Stop, Aug. 25-29. Open Mike for New Talent nights are Aug. 10 and 24.

Symphony offering gifts for early subscriptions

The Oakway Symphony Orchestra is celebrating its 10th anniversary season with an offer of a recording or a book for contributions and ticket orders received by Aug. 13.

A check or pledge will entitle the individual to receive one of the gifts. Sustaining members who contribute $45 will get six subscription concert tickets and a choice of one of the four following recordings:

"Tchaikovsky Violin Concerto and Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens," "Brahms Violin Concerto in D Major," "Beethoven Symphony No.7" and "Saint-Saens Symphony No. 3."

Patrons who contribute $75, in addition to 12 tickets, have a choice of either of these two books: "Opera Libretto to Library" and "Music of the Western World."

Sponsors, contributing $200 or more, receive a choice of "Larousse Encyclopedia of Music" or "Ballet Art."

Checks should be made payable to: Oakway Symphony Society, Inc., P.O. Box 171, Farmington 48024.

Recordings may be picked up at the Oakway Symphony concert Sept. 26 at Madonna College in Livonia. Or, recordings may be obtained from noon to 3 p.m. Mondays or Wednesdays at the Oakway Symphony office on the lower floor of the Detroit and Northern Savings, 22725 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington.

of the Cavendish North backgammon club

● BEYOND THE OBVIOUS

It has been almost 400 years since Shakespeare, through the personage of one of his three heath honeys, uttered the fateful words, "Fair is foul and foul is fair." During the centuries that followed, it seems, these words have inspired military and political leaders as well as baseball umpires and tax lawyers, but backgammon players have known it all along.

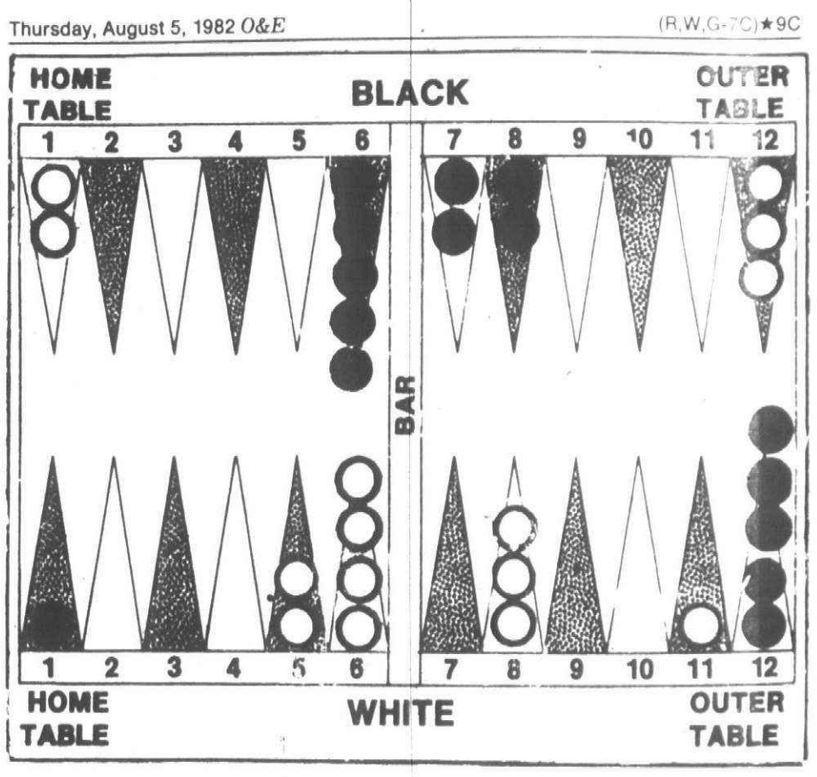

All experienced backgammon players know that when they roll double sixes, they will be on the bar, and when their opponents get the same roll they will win a hopeless race. Consequently, good backgammon players have learned to cast a jaundiced eye on what appears to be a perfect roll or an obvious play.

In the diagrammed position, white rolls 4-2. Many players would make their 4 point while congratulating themselves on their fine rolling. Indeed, the 4 point is a valuable asset and will substantially improve white's position, but making it would leave black too much counterplay.

If black is able to secure his 5 or even 4 point while white still has two men on the black 1 point, the advantage in the game would swing over to black's side. This is so because black has escaped one of his back men and now has 14 of his 15 men available for use in blocking in the white stragglers. If both sides are able to build a prime and contain the opponent, black should be able to maintain his blocking position two or three rolls longer than white by virtue of the fact that he has the extra man to play his numbers with. So what should white do?

If black rolls a perfecta (3-1, 1-1, 3-3 or 4-4), he will make his 5 point and there is nothing white can do about it. If black rolls 2-2 or 4-2, he will make his 4 point and again white is helpless to prevent it. The only other numbers that are good for black are 6-4 and 6-5, which will leave him well placed to enter a winning race. This accounts for one-third of the possible rolls black may get on his next turn. In other words, it is twice as likely that black will get some other roll, which he will probably play by bringing two men from the white 12 point into his outer table where they will be poised to make his 5 or 4 point on subsequent rolls. There is certainly something that white can do about this.

By playing a four from black's 1 point to his 5 point and a two from the black 12 to the white 11 point, white threatens to accomplish three objectives, any one of which would neutralize the timing advantage that black currently enjoys:

- Hit any loose man black brings into his outer table.
- Escape from the black 5 point, thereby equalizing his position.
- Make the black 5 point, thereby eliminating the threat of being blocked in.

It is important that white make this play now. If black can play just one man to one of the vacant points in his outer table, he will be just about even money to make his 5 point on the next roll and will be a decided favorite to make either his 5 or 4 point next time.

It is therefore imperative that white split to the black 5 point before his opponent can mobilize the men stacked on the white 12 point. Note that if black already had one additional builder in his outer table, the risks of coming up to the black 5 point would outweigh the potential gain and white would be well advised to make the "automatic" play of building his 4 point.

Satire of Broadway opening at theater

A fast train from Chicago to New York is the setting for the Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur classic "Twentieth Century" opening at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre, Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

The show satirizing Broadway of the 1930s will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays through Sept. 11. Individual tickets are $4.75. A dinner-theater program is offered at $16.50.

Reservations for the dinner theater may be made by calling 271-1620, Ext. 415.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.
